Cold Weather To Continue

By The Associated Press

Unseasonably cold weather and gusty, raw winds held a vice-like grip over most of the eastern two-thirds of the nation today.

There appeared little prospect of an immediate, general break in the bone-chilling weather.

Record low temperatures were reported in most of the ice belt for the second straight day — 10 days in advance of the official start of the winter season.

In the snow-covered sections of the Northeast, pounded by storms for nearly a week, more heavy snow fell. Weary highway crews struggled to keep the main arteries open. Snow depths measured eight feet in parts of northeastern Ohio.

The main core of the Arctic air centered in the North Central region. Brisk winds powered the sub-zero cold southward to the Gulf Coast and eastward to the Appalachians.

Temperatures far below zero were reported in the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin, ranging to as low as 18 below in Huron, S.D.

Below-zero marks were general in the Midwest.

The South shivered in the season's coldest weather. It was near zero in sections of North Carolina, Kentucky, Arkansas and Tennessee and in mountain areas of northern Georgia and Alabama.

Florida reeled from the abnormally low temperatures for the second consecutive day. The bitter cold threatened winter vegetables. Damage to crops varied but some estimates are in the millions of dollars. No serious damage was reported immediately to citrus crops.

The beaches in southern Florida were bare and the tourists were clothed in nearly bought sweaters and coats. Miami's 38 above Tuesday was a record low for Dec. 11. It was 48 this morning.

New low temperatures for the date were set Tuesday in many sections of the icy belt. The mercury continued its downward plunge during the night and early morning, threatening record lows for today.

Much of the eastern half of the nation felt the effects of the storm and cold which packed the punch normally expected in mid-winter.

"Miserable" was the Weather Bureau's description of conditions in the Great Lakes and Ohio Valley regions.

More heavy snow was dumped along the eastern shores of Lakes Michigan, Erie and Ontario. Drifts piled up higher than four feet in some places.

A state of emergency was declared in Connecut, if northeast Ohio, as huge drifts from the 30 inches on the ground blocked all roads leading into the community of 16,000. National Guardsmen brought a supply of food and fuel into the snowbound area and used some tanks and heavy trucks for a shuttle service to a hospital.

Two men died of heart attacks while shoveling snow in Ohio, raising the death toll in Ohio alone to 25.

Storm-related deaths since the storm struck in some areas last Wednesday were more than 70.

There were monumental traffic jams in many parts of the snow belt. Schools remained closed in many areas. In Cleveland, John Carroll University announced its 3,916 students would begin Christmas vacation immediately. It had been scheduled to start Dec. 18. All public and Catholic schools remained closed in Cleveland as was Case Institute of Technology.

Hundreds of schools also were closed in other parts of the snow-covered sections and in cold sections of the South.

In upstate New York, the State Thruway's 66-mile stretch from south of Buffalo to the Pennsylvania state line was reopened late Tuesday after being closed by two heavy snow for 18 hours. Snow tapered off in the Watertown area where it measured nearly 30 inches. But forecasters predicted more snow.

A three-inch snowfall in Washington during the peak of the evening rush-hour caused a major traffic jam. Many motorists who live in Virginia and Maryland spent three to four hours driving home from the nation's capital.

NOT BAD FOR A FIRST TRY—Jack, the Mexican burro at the Baltimore zoo, takes a critical look at his first attempt at abstract art. Zoo Director Arthur Watson gave Jack his chance after Khrushchev said that one isn't able to tell if abstract painting is drawn by man or "smeared by the tail of a donkey." The painting, called "Black Whisk" was shown to art instructor Wilson Binebrink, who praised the painting. Watson plans more tail paintings for Jack after the summer fly season returns. Speech Tone Is Defensive

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev declared today that if American pledges on Cuba are not fulfilled "we will be compelled to take such actions as the situation requires of us."

He was speaking to the Supreme Soviet.

The statement was made at the end of an hour of speaking in the great Kremlin hall during which the premier said the Soviet Union had demonstrated it could preserve peace.

"We will never leave revolutionary Cuba in trouble," Khrushchev said.

"We will defend the right of the Cuban people to pursue their bright future."

He paid credit to President Kennedy as having an interest in preserving peace in the Caribbean and said both were negotiating so that pledges on both sides would be kept.

It was then that he thundered out his warning that the pledges must be kept.

Khrushchev, referring to what he apparently meant by President Kennedy's "pledge", said the United States had promised "not to attack the republic of Cuba and to restrain its allies from doing so."

But despite the implied threat, the Khrushchev speech appeared to have a defensive tone. He remarked that there was no question of who won in the Cuban crisis, saying that "sanity and the cause of peace" were the winners.

Khrushchev's warning came after he had claimed the Soviet Union had prevented an attack on Cuba by "aggressive circles" of the United States to avert "the direct threat of a thermonuclear world war."

The Soviet leader, in a major foreign policy speech, called for "renunciation of war among states as a means of settling international disputes and their solution through negotiations."

Khrushchev called the solution of the Caribbean crisis "a major victory for the policy of peace," but he repeatedly attacked "the aggressive circles of imperialism."

And in an obvious retort to the Chinese Communists, who criticized the Soviet backdown in Cuba, Khrushchev asserted:

"Events have confirmed that the peace forces are able to overcome the most dangerous international crisis, to curb the imperialist aggressors."

Seated in a place of honor on the rostrum was President Dito of Yugoslavia, who was branded as a "traitor to world communism" a week ago by the Red Chinese.

Carlos Rodriguez, head of a Cuban trade delegation which arrived here Monday, was also on the rostrum.

School Audit Is Accepted

The formal yearly audit of the school system was presented by the auditing firm of Diefenbach and Yorgesen at the school board's regular meeting Tuesday night. The board accepted the report and approved the $2,534 fee.

In his informal remarks after presentation of the audit Russell Yorgesen complimented the schools on their improved system of accounting for "moveable equipment" issued to the various schools. In last year's audit a qualification was made in this area, and it had been suggested that some improvement needed to be made.

The card system which the schools have put into effect was described by Charles Blakey, accountant with the auditing firm, as being as near fool-proof as was possible. Yorgesen added that "No qualifications were necessary as a result of this year's audit."

Superintendent of schools T. F. McCollum reported to the board that a driver education course would be added at Lincoln School next year. Calvin Edwards has been authorized to attend a training school in the subject next summer. It was also reported that there is a possibility that Spanish will be added at Lincoln.

The board appointed a textbook committee to choose the books to be used in Snyder schools next year. Only books in certain courses will be selected this year.

To serve on the committee the board appointed Superintendent McCollum to serve as chairman. On the music book selection they appointed Mrs. Dorothy Kayser, Miss Luanne Presley and Miss Joyce Elliott; for Texas history, Charlie Sparks; economics, James Stehley; algebra, Lynn Fisher and Ollie Peck; geometry, Miss Virginia Groves; physics, R. O. Thomas; Spanish, Mrs. Willa Roach; homemaking, Miss Vera Pedman and Miss Etta Sue Simpson; and for industrial arts, W. A. Mayfield and Joe Harwell. C. D. Henry, curriculum director and official textbook custodian, will meet with the committee.

McCollum also informed the school board that the four coaches involved in seventh grade basketball and athletic director Horrace Bostick were developing plans which would emphasize the teaching of fundamentals and de-emphasize the competitive aspect of the game in that grade.

A visitor at the school board meeting was Ty H. Jones, who discussed a grievance at length. He alleged unfair treatment of his daughter by high school officials. The board agreed to look into the matter.

★ ★ ★ Mercury Sags To 18 Degrees Here ★ ★ ★

The official thermometer dropped to 18 degrees in Snyder this morning as the severest cold spell of the season held most of Texas in its grip.

Although a slight warming was expected to set in today in northwest Texas, the Weather Bureau indicated that sub-freezing readings would return tonight as the cold weather moved south.

Vegetable and fruit growers in the three counties of the lower Rio Grande Valley escaped the Arctic chill, but were warned that an even colder night was in prospect with the mercury slipping to 20 degrees in the upper Valley.

The mercury dipped to 15 degrees at Sulphur Springs in North east Texas and to 17 in the Panhandle.

At dawn, most Valley temperatures were near 40 degrees. A low of 30 was recorded at McAllen.

Farmers said some damage might result from gusty winds that occasionally whipped to 30 knots during the chilly night.

A heavy cloud cover was credited with keeping the temperature up before dawn Wednesday. Forecasters said the cloud cover will continue and may continue to avert a frost.

The Weather Bureau termed the cold wave that has enveloped the nation "one of the greatest outpourings of Arctic air ever to invade the country during any December in history."

Forecasters said North and West Texas will not be quite as cold Wednesday night and a slight warming trend would begin Thursday.

Subfreezing marks included Dalhart, Amarillo, Childress and Texarkana 17 degrees, Lubbock and Abilene 18, Odessa, Midland, Fort Worth and San Angelo 20, Wichita Falls 21, Alpine and Waco 23, Austin 25, Beaumont 27, San Antonio 29, Houston and Victoria 30 and Galveston 31.

Other readings included El Paso 14, Corpus Christi 26, Laredo 32, Presidio 33 and Brownsville 43.

Cotton Bill Outlined

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman E. C. Gathings, D-Ark., of the House Cotton subcommittee said today he will seek passage early next year of a cotton bill applicable to the 1963 crop and aimed at solving two vexing problems.

These problems, he said, are:

— Elimination of an 8½-cent-a-pound disparity between the price paid by domestic mills for U.S. cotton and the price paid by foreign mills for the same cotton; and — Holding the income of cotton farmers in 1963 as near the 1962 level as possible.

Gathings' subcommittee will get a running start with a two-day hearing starting Thursday.

The hearing follows a Memphis meeting at which Charles Murphy, undersecretary of agriculture, outlined generally the aims of the administration in a new cotton program.

Gathings, saying the cotton industry is sick, said foreign mills are flooding the country with manufactured goods made from U.S. cotton they are able to buy for 8½ cents a pound less than what the domestic mills must pay. Domestic cotton costs more than foreign, but the United States pays exporters 8½ cents a pound so that U.S. cotton can compete in world markets.

"They (the domestic mills) need to get their cotton for about the same price as foreign mills get it," Gathings said. "We will try to eliminate that disparity. This makes for urgency on the part of congress."

The other problem involves preventing a cut in income of the cotton producer for 1963.

The national cotton acreage allotment for 1963 has been set at 16 million acres, compared with 18 million acres for 1962 — a cut. Gathings said, of about 11 per cent in the acreage for producers.

He said there is apprehension by growers that the Agriculture Department might cut the 1963 cotton support price.

These two actions together would seriously affect the income for cotton farmers, he said, and so again "We need early action."

The 1962 cotton support price was set at 82 per cent which provided a support of 32.47 cents a pound for middling inch cotton. Producers, he said, oppose a cut in this support price on top of the acreage reduction.

A 1963 acreage reduction was made because producers this year grew 1.2 million bales of cotton more than was required for the domestic market and the export trade.

Gathings said the objectives sought by his subcommittee will be difficult to attain, but it can be done "with the full cooperation of all segments of the cotton industry."

★ ★ ★ Scurry Farmers Vote For Quotas ★ ★ ★

Scurry County cotton farmers joined with growers throughout the state and nation yesterday in continuing the present marketing quota and price support programs for the 1963 upland cotton crop.

The local vote showed 243 voting for continuation of the program, and 40 against.

In Texas as a whole the vote showed 29,612 for, and 6,028 against, for a percentage of 83.2 for.

Reports from the Agriculture Department showed the nation's farmers voting 201,169 in favor of keeping the program and 13,488 against, or a 93.7 per cent favorable vote.

Officials said the results of the vote were no surprise since the cotton industry has been hit increasingly in recent years as cotton surpluses mounted. Exports have fallen off and domestic textile mills have also cut back on use of cotton.

The vote in favor of continuing the program was far in excess of the two-thirds affirmative vote needed to keep it operating.

Roy Hanson, local office manager of the ASC office, is attending a district meeting today in Colorado City. Details of administering the program and performance figures are being analyzed by the office managers and performance clerks attending the meeting.

Compact Commission Is Due To Ask More Import Curbs

By MAX B. SKELTON

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Interstate Oil Compact Commission was expected to ask President Kennedy today to make further restrictions on oil imports.

A resolution on imports went before the final session of the annual meeting of the 33-state oil and gas conservation group.

Kennedy announced Nov. 30 a new imports control program for the first half of 1963.

The resolution is expected to commend the changes made but call for new provisions designed to stabilize the economy of the domestic petroleum industry.

Several of the changes in the 1963 order were in line with previous recommendations by the compact. Its officials have indicated, however, the new order needs strengthening in such areas as residual or heavy fuel oils. Current import quotas and the 1963 order do not apply to residuals.

The conservation officials also planned to consider a resolution on the Federal Power Commission's area formula for controlling wellhead prices of natural gas.

The gas resolution was expected to protest several recent changes the FPC has made in the formula. There was some indication the compact also has asked to renew its plea for legislation to remove producer prices from federal control.

The compact traditionally has favored such legislation but this policy has not been pressed vigorously since the FPC began developing its area pricing concept late in 1960.

An oil economist who has been active in the fight for tighter restrictions on oil imports told the compact the new order for the first half of 1963 will prevent an imports increase that would have occurred next year.

Minor Jameson Jr. of Washington, D. C., said imports east of the Rocky Mountains would have increased 75,000 to 100,000 barrels daily over the 1962 level without the Nov. 30 changes.

LBJ Predicts Big Regional Growth During Space Age

By MIKE COCHRAN

FORT WORTH (AP) — Vice President Lyndon Johnson predicted today that the region from Georgia's east coast to the west edge of Arizona will get most of the growth stemming from space age technology.

He said Texas will emerge within 50 years as one of the world's major centers of industrial, economic and social leadership.

Johnson, ending a two-day visit in North Texas, appeared at Arlington State College. He spoke Tuesday night at a Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce dinner.

"The first Americans to reach the moon will when they return to earth, land at Houston," he told Arlington State students.

Johnson asserted that the Peace Corps provided one of the great satisfactions of his public life.

Side trips by helicopter also are on the schedule before Johnson and his wife return in midafternoon to Austin. There they will attend a dinner in honor of retiring Gov. and Mrs. Price Daniel tonight.

"We can believe, at this moment in history, that the revolution of freedom which began in this land is the tide of the future —a tide still running, a tide which will bring the ultimate triumph of freedom everywhere before this century comes to an end," he told his dinner audience of 1,800 Tuesday night.

"Where the Communist bloc is surrounded by enemies, we of the United States can count as our blessing that we are surrounded by friends."

Johnson said he did not know what the meaning of recent events will ultimately be but the Cuban crisis marked a turning point in the destiny of this republic.

"Recent events," he said, "leave no doubt about two crucial points.

"First, there is no doubt that the assumptions of Communist strategy—about the eventual collapse of the ability or will in the West—have been proved failsires.

"Secondly, at the same time, the concept purposes, and conduct of the policies of the West —initiated by the United States—have been proved correct."

Many Businessmen Doubtful About Effects Of Tax Cut

EDITOR'S NOTE—The question of taxes, whether to cut them or leave them alone, dominates much of business thought these days. Will a tax cut stimulate the economy? Can the nation afford tax cuts? This last of three articles, based on a nationwide tour to study the climate of business opinion, explores this vital field.

By DARDEN CHAMBLISS
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Getting America going again, say many businessmen, is not nearly so easy a matter as merely cutting taxes.

Some, while they feel it must be done, doubt that it would pep things up much.

Others, while they feel it would indeed pep things up, question whether current budgets could stand it.

Interviews with businessmen and business economists across the nation found little agreement on the administration's reported plans to try to reduce taxes on personal and corporate incomes by $10 billion in 1963.

The Kennedy administration thesis is that cutting taxes will generate enough additional business activity to produce enough new tax revenue to replace cuts.

"I can't get it through my head," said R. O. Belcher, president of International Harvester in Chicago, "how you can get more money by cutting revenue."

There's general agreement in principle, however, that taxes are too high in relation to business activity.

Harvard economist John Lintner says, "present tax rates were fine for the days of the immediate post-war era when pent-up demand threatened to overheat the economy. Then, restraint was needed."

"The economy today," he adds, "is not characterized by excess money."

The case for cutting taxes in the lower brackets is less a matter of incentives and more a matter of expanding basic purchasing power. This is the area cited by the administration and most economists as offering the best lever for moving the economy.

"The great bulk of the people," said Howard M. Packard of A. C. Johnson and Co. of Racine, Wis., "have to scramble to make ends meet."

A Dallas banker said there is little doubt in his mind but that these people would spend almost every additional cent they would retain through tax reductions.

Du Pont economist William H. Shaw estimates, however, that only about half the money freed would be spent in 1963. Also, he said, higher social security taxes taking effect Jan. 1 would tend to mask much of the increase in available spending money. Thus, he doubts there would be a big immediate impact on the economy.

On the issue of cutting corporate income taxes, there is broad disagreement how the extra money would be spread among dividends to stockholders, salaries, plant expansion, modernization and reserves.

New plants will be built only if the company can expect to earn more profit by doing so, some businessmen say.

Many executives say that there is so much overcapacity today that most additional money would go into cost-cutting and modernization.

An official of Dresser Industries in Dallas comments also that business investment may already be stunted by individual industries worrying that they may get stuck with additional taxes to make up revenue lost in tax cuts.

Implicit in this is the attitude expressed by International Harvester's Bercher, who said: "We may get a reduction in tax rates but not a reduction in taxes. They'll just put the monkey on a different back."

President Kennedy, at a White House luncheon in honor of Chile's President Jorge Alessandri, commented that Alessandri told him that he and two of his brothers were members of the Chilean Senate at the same time.

"My view is there should not be such concentration," Kennedy said in a tongue-in-cheek toast to his Chilean counterpart, "but he has survived and maybe others will."

Kennedy's two brothers, Robert F. and Edward M., are the U.S. attorney general and a U.S. senator, respectively.

Gen. George H. Decker, who recently retired as Army chief of staff, will join the Manufacturing Chemists' Association as assistant to the president, it was announced in Washington. Gen. John E. Bob Hope is still alive—just in case you heard a rumor he was dead.

Told that an American newspaper had been flooded with calls from people asking if it were true he had died in London, where he's making a movie, the comedian quipped: "I'm working with Anita Ekberg, and that's no spot to die—or even feel like it, you know."

Rules Are Used As Weapon By Union

LONDON (AP) — The National Association of Overseas Telegraphists said Tuesday its members had been instructed to work strictly according to rules from Dec. 19 to 26 in a jurisdictional dispute with the Post Office, which controls the telegraph system.

By complying minutely with every rule in the book laid down by the General Post Office, the association's 1,500 members would cause heavy delays in overseas cables moving in and out of Britain, said an association spokesman.

The association issued the order because, it said, the General Post Office refused to recognize the association and give it negotiating rights.

Nehru Says No Guarantee

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru said today India has given no guarantee it will continue to observe the cease-fire the Chinese Communists proclaimed in the Himalayas.

"We have given no guarantee on the future of the cease-fire," Nehru told Parliament.

"It depends upon the circumstances. But for the time being India is accepting it."

Nehru said India does not wish to impede the cease-fire and welcomes reports of Chinese withdrawal on the northeastern frontier. The Chinese are insisting on holding their present positions in Ladakh, at the northwestern end of the border, where they occupied more than 2,000 square miles in their invasion.

Whatever the outcome of the cease-fire and the Chinese withdrawal, Nehru said, India will have to continue to strengthen its defense forces.

Mariner 2's Date Is Near

LOS ANGELES (AP) — As the weekend approaches, and with it Mariner 2's Friday date to fly by the planet Venus, the builders of the spacecraft are not unlike youngsters anxiously awaiting Christmas.

Reason for the scientific anxiety is the possibility of new discoveries, coupled with the slight chance that Mariner still might fail from overheating.

Dr. William H. Pickering of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory at nearby Pasadena, where Mariner 2 was built, told a Los Angeles news conference Tuesday that it may upset present concepts of what Venus is like.

If all goes well, the instrumented vehicle will speed past Venus at noon on Friday and will report back the planet's temperature, surface measurements and, if possible, data on the surface.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Mariner 2, launched Aug. 27, is expected to pass within 20,000 miles of Venus Dec. 14, at 7 a.m. EST today was 34,021,772 miles from the earth and 709,444 miles from Venus.

The radio signal is good.

Fine Is Assessed

The minimum statutory fine of $25 plus costs of $26.35 was assessed this morning in county court against Warren Bihn, 1101 Twenty-ninth Street.

Bihn pleaded guilty to a charge of aggravated assault on a child. The charge grew out of an incident in which Bihn separated some children who were fighting. A parent felt that he was unduly rough in his handling of the situation.

209 More Slant-Well Indictments

LONGVIEW, Tex. (AP)—A 10-month-old state investigation of slanted oil well drilling has resulted in 209 new indictments naming 44 men, including a state court judge.

The indictments Tuesday allege theft, conspiracy to steal, acceptance of a bribe and accomplice to theft bribery.

The Gregg County grand jury also delivered a formal report declaring:

"This grand jury, to a man, takes the position that illegal drilling must be eliminated forever by whatever means necessary."

Oil experts have testified before the Texas House Investigating Committee, which joined the state attorney general and the Texas Railroad Commission in the probe, that slanted wells may have drained oil worth $1 billion from leases of rightful owners in the past dozen years.

Drillers have testified that the practice of angling wells under the property of others, sometimes as far as half a mile to one side, was far from uncommon in the vast East Texas field and three smaller fields.

The railroad commission, which regulates the oil industry, said Tuesday tests have detected 243 deviated wells. Dozens of civil suits claiming millions in damages have been filed.

Grand juries in Gregg, Rusk, Upshur and Wood counties have voted a total of 358 criminal indictments, naming 62 persons accused profiting illegally from slated wells.

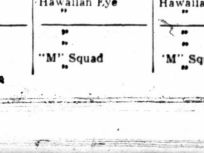

In addition, a federal grand jury has indicted two men on charges of shipping illegally produced crude to other states.

Judge David C. Moore of Gladewater, who has occupied the 124th District Court bench since 1956, is accused of stealing oil in one of the new indictments. He failed to appear when summoned before the legislative committee probers.

Moore said he will insist on an immediate trial, adding:

"I believe I can establish my innocence when all the facts are presented to a jury."

Former Gregg County Judge Earl Sharp of Longview was named in two of the latest indictments. Another jury indicted him earlier.

Argentina's Rebels Told To Surrender

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Argentina's new air force commander demanded today that his predecessor and a rebel garrison at the jet base of Cordoba surrender or face the onslaught of "overwhelmingly superior force."

Brig. Carlos Conrado Segundo Armanini issued the ultimatum—but without setting a time limit — as harried Argentine government chiefs met far into the night in attempts to find a bloodless solution to the nation's sixth military - political crisis in nine months.

Brig. Cayo Antonio Alsina set up the rebel headquarters at Cordoba, 400 miles northwest of Buenos Aires, after President Jose Maria Guido fired him Tuesday as air force commander in chief.

Armanini said Alsina had headed a minor group in a conspiracy to overthrow Guido's government and was fired "for this motive among others." Also dismissed was an air force combat commander, Brig. Gilberto Hidalgo Oliva, who was reported under arrest.

Guido has been striving to insure a united military command in support of his government's program of national elections in June. Some military leaders have called for a "democratic dictatorship" rather than elections because an estimated one-third of the voters still support the Peronists.

Stanfield P-TA Holds Annual Christmas Program

The Stanfield Elementary P-TA held its Christmas program Dec. 10. at 7 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

The President, Gene Green, opened the meeting and announced that there would be no business session and turned the program over to Miss Loyce Elliott, music supervisor of the school.

Miss Elliott presented a very unusual and varied program of Christmas music, using the boys and girls choirs from the sixth grade rooms. Solos and ensembles were used for a delightfully different type program that was far removed from the usual type of stereotyped Christmas program of an elementary school.

David McGinnis, a sixth grade student, was the narrator for the fast paced program There was no room count taken, but over 275 persons enjoyed the evening's entertainment.

After the program, an open house of the building was held so that the patrons could see the beautifully decorated rooms. The rooms shown held much originality and color. An eye catcher for the parents was the fifth grade room of Mrs. Barbara Bigham, done in shades of blues and pinks for the ceiling decorations, which highlighted the other displays done in shadow box effects.

Season Decor Presented At Hermleigh FHA

The Hermleigh FHA met Monday afternoon at 2:30 in the homemaking building.

Fresh Smelling Laundry

Many new models of clothes dryers feature two different types of germicidal lamps to sanitize clothes as they dry. One type is ozone, the other ultra-violet. The Manufacturers Association points out that either of these air fresheners injects a clean scent to all fabrics.

West P-TA To Hear Musical Program

The West Elementary Parent-Teachers Association will meet Thursday evening at 7 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

The musical program "Signs and Sounds of Christmas" will be presented by the second grade students and the sixth grade choir, directed by Mrs. J. M. Kayser. They will tell some of the legends of our Christmas decorations and our celebrations.

A rule of thumb for house hunters, offered by housing authorities of Allied Chemical Corp., is that a family generally can afford a home that costs about two and a half times its annual net income.

Blinkmanship Is Chancier Game Than Brinkmanship

BY INEZ ROBB

The crucial point in L'Affaire Adlai Stevenson, is not whether Stevenson remains as United States spokesman in the United Nations but whether there is a place for reason and reasonable men in councils of state in the nation's capital.

As the controversial article in the Saturday Evening Post of Dec. 8 made clear, this country is on the verge of entering an era of "Blinksmanship" vs. the Brinksmanship policy that was the child of the late John Foster Dulles.

Blinksmanship is an even chancier game than Brinksmanship. Blinksmanship, as described in the Post article, is attributed to Dean Rusk, Secretary of State. During the crux of the Cuban crisis Rusk is reported as saying, vis-a-vis the U.S. Russian position, " We're eyeball to eyeball and I think the other fellow just blinked."

It does not take much imagination to deduce that Blinksmanship is the ultimate. One could at least draw back from the Brink. There scarcely seems that much room for maneuver in Blinksmanship.

If the role of reason and honorable negotiation is to be ruled out of Blinksmanship in a highly dangerous world, then national policy has indeed abdicated to the sterile solution of all international controversy by nuclear war.

After reading the Post article, "In Time of Crisis" in which Stevenson is accused of wanting "a Munich" because "he preferred political negotiation to the alternative of military action" (and the possibility of nuclear war), it is obvious that there is a hard-nosed war party in Washington that prefers to reach for the rockets first.

It is equally obvious that the hard-nosed boys are out to get anyone who urges reason and negotiation before loosing the ICBMs.

The fact that through reason and tough negotiation the United States won a smashing victory in the Cuban affair, forced a humiliating backtrack on Khrushchev, cut Castro down to size, gained the support of the Western Hemisphere and reinforced our political and diplomatic position all over the world apparently cuts no ice with the hard-noses who want to try our rockets for size, no matter what the dread consequence.

The time may come, God forbid, when we shall have to resort to the nuclear arsenal. But not until after reason and negotiation have failed. Missiles should be a last, not a first, resort.

But if honest men who advocate reason and negotiation in supersecret government councils are to be pilloried publicly, to be disgraced by the false charge that they advocate "a Munich," then the voice of reason will be silenced in Washington and the jingoists will take over. Indeed, the jingoists would appear already to have a firm base there from which to launch a despicable attack on anyone they dislike.

Americans are prejudiced in favor of fair play. It is an interesting by-product of the Post attack on Stevenson that men who differ from him politically and who have never found much merit in him before have rushed to his defense.

The nation does not forget in the darkest days of the Cuban crisis that it was Stevenson who electrified the country when he told the Russian representative in the U. S. Security Council that he, Stevenson, was prepared to wait "till hell freezes over" for the Russian to explain the clandestine installation of missile bases in Cuba.

Here was the kind of tough talk to the Russians that Americans had been longing to hear for years. Yet this is the man whom the hard-noses are conspiring to push out of government because he advocated what eventually became national policy in the Cuban crisis: reason and negotiation.

Christmas Also Great For Felines

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—They say Christmas is for kids.

But it is also a great time for cats.

In our house the cat we belong to seems to get more downright enjoyment out of Christmas than people.

During most of the year I have a secret guilty feeling that our cat, Lady Dottie, is somewhat cheated by life. She spends her time, except for a brief stroll in the corridor early in the morning and late at night, cooped up in our apartment.

It is a big deal for her when a daring, high-flying sparrow lights on the window ledge of our eighth-floor apartment, and flirts its wings saucily. Then Lady Dottie is suddenly transformed from a sedate old maid into a maddened beatnik.

She loses all her ordinary poise and aplomb and beats at the window wildly until the sparrow shrugs its feathers as if to say—"Well, it takes all kinds to make a world"—and flies away.

Outside of these occasional adventures with sparrows, Lady Dottie derives her greatest thrill from Christmas.

It turns her from a cool, plush sophisticate into a gawky, wide-eyed kitten.

Like a child at Christmas, she won't let you hide anything from her. She is into everything.

She races to the door when the mailman or delivery man comes. She snoops and sniffs at every package. She tries to undo the strings with busy paws.

"Why don't you grow up, Lady Dottie?" I tell her. "After all, you're getting along in years. Why don't you act your age?"

Lady Dottie pays no attention at all. Christmas makes her feel young, and she has an idea that the whole worldwide yuletide pageant is put on exclusively for her benefit.

One of her great joys is when we open a box. She leaps into it, bats the crinkly paper around to hear the sound, then lies down and turns on the inside motor of her delight and emits a mighty purr.

But her happiness reaches a zenith when we put up our two Christmas trees, and turn on the lights. We usually decorate two trees, a tall live one green with needles, and a small artificial tree with aluminum branches that someone gave us years ago.

Lady Dottie watches gravely as we put each ornament into place, interrupting us now and then to nibble tentatively at a green branch or an aluminum needle.

When the job is finally completed and the children down the hall come in to inspect it, Lady Dottie leads them on proud feet from one tree to the other, as if to say:

"See what I did?"

At the end of the season, as I take down the decorations, Lady Dottie watches me with sad, reproachful eyes, and I have the weird feeling that I am in some way hurting the idealism of a small child.

Junior Editors Quiz on FARMING

QUESTION: I have heard that nitrogen fixing bacteria are very important. Why?

• • •

ANSWER: Nitrogen is a substance necessary to life because it helps make up the protoplasm which is the living material inside the cells of our bodies. We must take in nitrogen all the time to renew these cells and build more. We breathe in nitrogen that is in the air but do not absorb it that way, so we must get it by eating plants or animals which have eaten plants. The plants, in turn, get nitrogen from the soil and the soil gets it in a number of ways such as from rain (A) and fertilizer (B). Another way is through the nitrogen fixing bacteria (C). Bacteria are extremely minute living organisms usually classed as plants. Some are harmful, many very useful, even necessary to our lives. The nitrogen fixing group of bacteria live on the roots of a family of plants called "legumes", which includes peas, beans, alfalfa and clover. These bacteria have the ability to take nitrogen out of the air which works down through the soil. After using this for their own living, they die and leave the nitrogen. Certain crops, such as corn, take a great deal of nitrogen out of the soil. The farmers often raise legume crops to improve the soil. Legumes are frequently plowed under for this reason.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Nitrogen is continually being passed around—from air and rain to soil, to plants and animals, back to the soil again. This rotation is called the nitrogen cycle. Find out the details about this.

Bull Rookie Of The Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Ronnie Bull, the Chicago Bears' fine running halfback from Baylor, was named Rookie-of-the-Year in the National Football League today by an Associated Press committee of sports writers and broadcasters from the 14 league cities.

Bull, the Bears' No. 1 draft choice a year ago after leading Baylor in running and pass receiving for three straight seasons, started his pro career working on defense. After a succession of injuries to Willie Galimore, Rick Casares, Charley Bivins and Joe Marconi crippled the Bears, Bull moved to offense.

"He hasn't reached his peak yet," said coach George Halas recently in Chicago. "He is going to be a great runner."

Although Bull carried the ball only nine times for 26 yards and did not catch a passin the Bears' first three games, his figures through last Sunday's 13th game show 37 yards in 103 carries for a 3.6 yard average and 29 passes for 324 yards. He also has returned nine kickoffs for 235 yards.

From the 39 panelists who participated in the rookie balloting, Bull received 17 votes.

Los Angeles' Merlin Olsen, the 6-feet-5 ligh, 265-pound tackle from Utah State was a strong second with seven votes. As a lineman on a last-place team, Olsel had to be outstanding to attract that much attention.

There were 12 first-year men who received votes in the rookie balloting. Ed Pine, San Francisco linebacker, had three and Irv Goode, St. Louis offensive tackle, Gary Collins, Cleveland punter and flanker back, and George Andrie, Dallas defensive end, each had two votes.

Joe Womack, Pittsburgh halfback; Ed O'Bradovich, Chicago defensive end; Bill Winter, New York linebacker; Mike Lucci, Cleveland linebacker; Mike Tingelhoff, Minnesota center; and Al Miller, Washington linebacker, each drew one vote.

The Trojanettes had even less trouble in marching to their triumph in the preliminary girls game, also a district encounter. The score in that one was 55-15, and the starting unit played only the first six minutes.

Evelyn Braziel and Yvonne Sanders were top scorers for the Lincoln girls with 31 and 15, while Theresa Watson hit 13 for the losers.

Between You And Me

BY JERRY JACKSON

That's quite a plant they've dreamed up in Flushing Meadow Park.

Flushing Meadow Park, for the curious, is located smack in the middle of New York City. The new stadium going up there will look down on—now, promise not to laugh—the New York Mets and the New York Titans.

A word of explanation. The Mets are made up of baseball players and the Titans of football players. Both finished in their respective cellars in 1962, and are currently waiting-next-yearing with quiet vim and quiet vigor.

Landing in the cellar, at least in the case of the problem children at hand, isn't the worst thing that could've happened to them. Both are young in their leagues and made extremely attractive doormats the past year.

Casey Stengel managed the Mets and proved to everybody—including himself—that it takes the right players to win the pennants. Harry Wismer—the Leo Durocher of the Front Offices—is owner of the Titans, who can be yours provided the price is right.

The Mets are the answer to New York's gnawing need for a National League entrant. After all, there's always the chance that the Yankees might not come through with a pennant some year, and if—heaven forbid!—such an extreme situation should ever arise, then the Mets might very well be able to take up the slack to some degree.

Things surely haven't been the same since the Dodgers and Giants deserted Ebbets Field and the Polo Grounds, respectively, for greener West Coast pastures. The cry of "dem bums!" doesn't ring true in Los Angeles. Never will. And—to add insult to injury—they didn't even turn the Polo Grounds back to the polo players when the Giants left. Made a new slum project out of it instead.

Anyway, this new stadium they're building is going to be geared for both football and baseball, and makes for a darling architect's drawing. The one big flaw, as I see it, is that they forgot to put a dome on the thing.

Speaking of Flushing Meadows, Dick Roberts tells us that there's a movement afoot hereabouts for the preservation of wooden bathroom fixtures.

If you think your problems are worse than anybody else's, consider the case of Eddie Byers.

Byers is Lamar 9th's basketball manager and was helping the team get ready to pull out for Stamford Monday when he strolled back into the field house to pick up some towels. When he came out again the team, the bus, the everything had pulled out and left him all by his lonesome.

Reef Meet Orbits Friday

The Canyon Reef Tournament, still in the market for one additional team to round out the eight-team bracket, gets underway in Tiger Gym Friday with potent Plainview the odds-on favorite for top honors.

Seminole is defending champion of the tournament and will be back to defend its title.

Winters had been scheduled to participate in the meet, but withdrew due to its involvement in the schoolboy football playoffs. Plainview was to have played the Winters five at 5:30 Friday in the first round but if another team is not secured the Bulldogs will automatically move into the second stage of play.

Seminole and Big Spring vie at 1 Friday afternoon to kick off tournament action. Snyder and Stamford then get together at 2:30 and Aspermont and Snyder B at 4 in other first-round conflicts.

One other game is on tap Friday and will match the losers of the first two contests in a 7 o'clock duel.

Following play of Saturday morning and early afternoon, the consolation championship will be decided at 4:30. At 6 o'clock is the third-place game, then at 7:30 the championship final.

Plans call for all eight tournament slots to be decided.

Snyder Coach Ned Underwood is directing the tournament.

Packers Dominate NFL Dream Picks

NEW YORK (AP)—Green Bay already has locked up 10 positions on the 22-man National Football League All-Star team selected for The Associated Press although the Packers still have not clinched the Western Conference title.

The New York Giants, who meet the Western winners for the league championship Dec. 30 at Yankee Stadium, put four men on the club selected by a committee of sports writers and broadcasters from the 14 league cities. Detroit, trailing the Packers by one game with one to play, also placed four men on the team.

Green Bay wound up with fullback Jim Taylor, tight end Ron Kramer, tackle Forrest Gregg, guard Jerry Kramer and center Jim Ringo from its offensive unit on the All-Star team. The Packers' defensive group contributed end Willie Davis, tackle Henry Jordan, linebackers Dan Currie and Bill Forester and corner back Herb Adderley.

Y. A. Tittle, the Giants' quarterback, and Del Shofner, his favorite passing target, made the offensive team along with big Rosey Brown at tackle. Jimmy Patton, veteran safety man, was named on defense.

As befits a club that leads the league on defense, Detroit placed four men on that unit, led by 296-pound Roger Brown at tackle, middle linebacker Joe Schmidt, corner back Dick (Night Train) Lane and safety Yale Lary.

Jimmy Brown, Cleveland's fullback who normally is a must for any All-Star team, and Green Bay's injured Paul Hornung, player of the year in 1961, failed to make the team.

Porkers Get Comeuppance In Overtime

By The Associated Press

The last unbeaten team in Southwest Conference basketball fell Tuesday night when Arkansas was edged by Oklahoma State 46-45. But the league did manage to break even in intersectional play when Texas A&M whipped Southern Mississippi.

Oklahoma State forced Arkansas into an overtime on Don Linsenmeyer's 25-foot jump shot with three seconds left in regulation time. Then sophomore James King sank a free throw at the close of the extra period to tumble Arkansas from its lofty perch.

Texas A&M, with nine players breaking into the scoring column, bashed Southern Mississippi 87-61. Reserves played the last five minutes. Jerry Windham and Bennie Lenox each shot 19 points to lead the Aggie offensive.

Baylor won its second game in three outings when the Bears whipped Trinity of Texas 90-70 as five players hit in double figures. Baylor was ahead 41-27 at the half and finally increased the lead to 25 points, when the reserves took over.

There are no games tonight but three come up Thursday night when Arkansas hosts Tulsa, Southern Methodist entertains Louisiana State and Texas Christian is in Ann Arbor to play Michigan.

Hartack Is Unmounted

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—One of the country's leading jockeys, Bill Hartack, spent the night in a hospital after falling from a horse at Tropical Park.

Doctors said he suffered only bruises and shock and planned to release him today.

There was no word on when he would ride again.

Hartack's mount, Looking Ahead, apparently shied away from a reflection on the track. Running for back of the pack, the horse veered to the outside as he approached the stretch turn.

The 29-year-old Miami Springs jockey fell to the inside. He landed feet first, tumbled over, tried to get up and fell back on the ground.

Brezina Is Honored

HOUSTON (AP)— Senior halfback Bobby Brezina of Louise was honored as the most valuable player of the season at a University of Houston football dinner Tuesday night.

Under Bill Yeoman, in his first year as head coach after eight years as an assistant at Michigan State, Houston finished the season with a 6-4 record.

The Cougers began workouts Tuesday for their Dec. 22 date with Miami of Ohio in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla.

Pro Nolan Retiring

DALLAS (AP)—Dick Nolan, safety for the Dallas Cowboys in the National Football League, is retiring from pro football after eight years.

Nolan came to the Cowboys from the New York Giants this year as a player and defensive backfield coach. He has been handicapped by shoulder injury all season.

Moore Scores Decision In 10 Rounds

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Davey Moore, the featherweight champion, couldn't catch up with Fili Nava of Mexico City and had to settle for a unanimous 10-round decision in a non-title fight Tuesday night.

Nava stayed away from Moore virtually all the way and managed to land a couple of good punches while going bckward.

In the sixth round Moore reached Nava with a right and it knocked the Mexican halfway across the ring. In the ninth Moore hurt Nava with another right but couldn't set him up.

In the 10 round semifinal, Chato Herrera of Matamoros beat Sixto San Miguel of Laredo on a technical knockout when he opened a cut over San Miguel's left eye in the fifth round.

San Miguel was ahead on points but the ringside doctor wouldn't let the Laredo fighter answer the bell in the sixth.

Gotham Bowl To Come Off

NEW YORK (AP) — Focus on the Gotham Bowl football game between Miami and Nebraska was scheduled today to shift from bank balances to field fortunes.

Beleaguered promoter Bob Curran averted the possibility of a cancellation of the game, scheduled for Saturday, by verbally guaranteeing to place $30,000 in escrow today for each team.

That news enables the teams to start thinking about the game itself, rather than financial involvements.

Both teams balked at playing until their expenses were assured.

Tigers Topple Lobos In Overtime, 54-51

By JERRY JACKSON
News Sports Editor

In one of those affairs that leaves everybody completely limp and bleary-eyed, Snyder's come-from-behind Tigers bumped off the Levelland Lobos 54-51 in overtime here Tuesday night to begin their home campaign on the right foot.

The score was knotted at 51-51 at the end of regulation play after the Tigers elected to go for the "one shot" and failed during the final 22 seconds of the game. William Robinson, senior post performer who paced the team in both scoring and rebounding, lobbed in a free throw with 1:22 left in the three-minute overtime period to put the Bengals ahead.

Sophomore Leslie Brown capitalized on two free shots with 48 seconds to go to put the final icing on the cake and earn the Tigers their second win in four starts. The Lobos were dropped to 3-4 as a result of the defeat.

Snyder led throughout most of the first half, but never by more than four-point margin. The Bengals held advantages of 8-4 and 12-8 in the first period before a dry spell put them behind 12-16. From there they went on to knot the count at 16-16 as the period ended, then jumped ahead to 22-18 early in the second period. The first half ended with Snyder clinging to a 31-29 lead.

Midway through the third period the Lobos crept ahead by 37-36, and sustained the lead the rest of the game until Robinson dropped in a layup to put the Tigers into a 51-50 advantage that was erased when Lynn Waters sank a gratis toss with 32 seconds left to force the game into overtime.

Battled Back

The Tigers, trailing by 42-48 early in the final quarter, had to literally pull themselves up by their bootstraps to rescue victory from apparent defeat.

As an indication of the closeness of the contest, the score was tied on 12 occasions and the lead changed hands a total of 11 times.

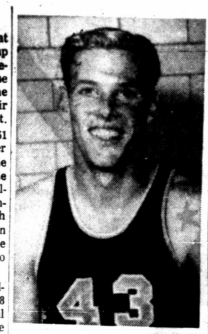

Coach Ned Underwood utilized the services of only six players in marching to the win. Composing the starting unit were Robinson, Brown Stuart Long, Drew

Stars In Win

Bullard and Harley Bynum, while the sole substitute throughout was Jackie Stewart.

Robinson and Long led all scorers with 18 and 16 points, respectively, and Robinson in rebounding with 20 grabs.

Pacing the Lobos were Butch Harrel and Larry Crump with 15 and 14 to their credit. Crump lived out the entire second half on borrowed playing time, as he was charged with four personal fouls during the initial two periods. He was the only player in the game to foul out, and it wasn't until the overtime period that he was relieved of duty.

Snyder made good on 12 of 22 free throw attempts, and hit for 35 percent from the field.

The Tiger B team had a minimum of difficulty in nailing down their third decision in five outings the same night by lowering the boom on Levelland B, 62-36.

The outcome was never in doubt, as they leaped out to a 19-3 first quarter advantage behind the shooting of Leslie Anderson, then coasted home to the win.

Anderson made 11 of his 18 points in that first period. He was held out the second quarter and used only sparingly during the second half. Reed Robinson was second to him in Tiger B scoring with 12, and Joe Valentine meshed 11 to be tops for the visitors.

The Snyder varsity will see its next action Friday at 2:30 against Stamford in the opening round of the Canyon Reef Tournament which is slated for Tiger Gym. Snyder B and Aspermont meet the same day at 4 o'clock in another first-round fray.

Dennis DeJordy of the Buffalo Bisons was the first American Hockey League goal tender to register two shutouts this season.
