Irish To Pay Tribute To St. Pat

Great Pageant Will Be Held Today In Ireland County

CELTS all over the world—if they have honest Irish hearts—today will pay tribute to St. Patrick who 15 centuries ago landed on Irish soil to begin his missionary work.

A great allegorical and historical pageant is planned in Dublin, Irish Free State capital, and at Saul, County Down, on the Mountain of Slieve Willin, 400 feet above the shore where in 432 A. D. the Emerald Island's patron saint landed, sod will be broken for a giant statue of St. Patrick and an altar in his honor.

One historian declares that St. Patrick was born about 389 A. D. As a youth he had been captured and sold into bondage in Northern Erin. Assigned by the pope in Rome, St. Patrick brought Christianity to Ireland—and so the legends have it, drove snakes from Erin's shores.

Huge Pipeline Result Of Suit

Missouri-Kansas Company Is Seeking $75,000,000 In Action Against Doherty And Associates

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Mar. 16. — Accusations of conspiracy, repressive acts and short selling of the plaintiff's stock were made today against Henry L. Doherty and several other defendants when the Missouri-Kansas pipe line company filed the complaints in its suit to recover $75,000,000 damages.

The suit charges violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. The damages demanded are treble the extent of injuries the plaintiff claims it suffered.

Several Firms Involved

Preliminary papers were filed several weeks ago. The defendants, in addition to Doherty, are the Henry L. Doherty Co., Christy Payne director of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey; the Standard Oil of New Jersey; the North American Light and Power Co., and its vice-president, Louis E. Fischer of Chicago.

The complaint charges the defendants owned an interest in a natural gas pipe line running from Texas to Joliet, Ill., from January, 1930, to August 31, 1930, the plaintiff alleges it had a controlling interest in the Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line company of Delaware, which had under construction a pipe line following the general route of the one in which the defendants were interested.

Short Selling Charged

It is alleged in June, 1930, the defendants conspired to defeat the plaintiff's financing plans, and indulged in short selling of Panhandle stock on the New York curb without owning shares of the stock.

This, it is claimed, caused owners of the stock to sell their holdings

Roosevelt Is Winner Over Alfalfa Bill

New York Governor Increases Lead In Presidential Preference Voting In North Dakota To Nearly 2 To 1

Voting Is Record

All-Time Record For Party's Vote Is Broken In Tuesday Primary; Curley Starts Drive In Massachusetts

(Copyright, 1932, by The Associated Press)

FARGO, N. D., Mar. 16. (AP) — Franklin D. Roosevelt won the North Dakota Democratic presidential preference contest in Tuesday's primary on the face of returns tabulated by the Associated press election bureau tonight from more than one half of the state's 2235 precincts.

In 1,324 precincts Roosevelt maintained a nearly two to one lead, receiving 33,125 votes while his oppenent Governor William H. Murray of Oklahoma, polled 19,115.

Murray Leads In Few

With 48 of the state's 53 counties reporting partial returns Roosevelt held a lead in 40 of the counties while the others gave Murray the margin, none, however, particularly impressive.

The amazing number of democratic ballots cast in this normally republican state set an all-time record for that party's vote in a presidential primary. The highest previous vote was around 13,000.

Already 52,000 democratic ballots have been tabulated, and indications were that the total from the state would exceed 60,000.

Returns from 1,082 precincts for Republican presidential choice gave Coxey 12,482; France 18, 428.

Boston Mayor Starts Drive For Roosevelt Support

BOSTON, March 16. (AP)—Boston's militant mayor, James M. Curley, started a drive tonight for a Roosevelt delegation from Massachussets "notwithstanding the formidable array of political generals upon the ticket pledged to Alfred E. Smith."

In launching a campaign for the Massachussets Democratic delegation to be chosen in the April 26 primary, Mayor Curley, in an address, criticized Gov. Joseph B. Ely and supporters of Smith.

Backed by the formal consent of Smith himself, his supporters have completed a full slate of candidates for delegates and alternates. Heading the list of delegates-at-large are the two United States Senators, David I. Walsh and Marcus A. Coolidge, and the governor, Joseph B. Ely.

Huge Corporation Goes To Receivers

WILMINGTON, Del., Mar. 16.(AP) Three weeks after its management successfully fought a battle to retain control, the $42,000,000 American Republics corporation, of Houston Texas, today went into the hands of receivers.

The action followed upon the filing of a receivership bill in chancery court by John Walsh, of Washington, D. C., a stockholder. The corporation immediately filed an answer, admitting insolvency and consenting to the appointment of receivers.

Joseph S. Culinan, of Houston, former president of the corporation, and Sylvester D. Townsend, a Wilmington attorney, were named receivers by Chancellor J. O. Wolcott.

The American Republics corporation was organized in 1916 as a holding company owning or controlling 1,750,000 acres of oil lands in Texas and other southwestern states and operating concerns which produce supplies for the oil industry.

Securities May Lead To The Capture Of Stinnett Bandits

STINNETT, March 16. (AP)—Hope of capturing two "tramp" robbers who took $5,800 from the First State Bank of Stinnett yesterday, officers believe, lies in the possibility the pair will attempt to cash $800 of securities. Nearly $5,000 in cash was taken and the robbers overlooked about $400 in silver in their flight after locking seven persons in a vault of the bank.

Lloyd George Steps To Fore In English Politics Again; Brands Present National Rule "Sham"

Veteran Liberal Leader Says He's Ready To Take Lead Of Anti-Tariff Forces

BY FRANK H. KING
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, March 16. (AP) — David Lloyd George reentered the political arena today with a challenge to progressive men of all parties to rally round him and save Great Britain from what he declared would be four years of reactionary rule by the "sham" national government.

Lloyd George

The 69-year-old liberal leader, who has been recuperating from an operation, signalled his return to activity by a slashing attack against the MacDonald government in a speech before the Junior Liberal club.

"The national government is a sham—a naked sham or, if not a naked sham, it wears but the meanest of loincloths," he declared.

The crowd jamming the junior liberal club cheered lustily and there were cries of "lead us! lead us!"

Mr. Lloyd George indicated he was ready to take the field at the head of the anti-tariff forces.

Concerning Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, Mr. Lloyd George said that "no man can do nothing better and do it with a flourish."

Huggins Maintains Stand Not To Call Confab Again

State Democratic Chief Says No Further Action Will Be Taken Since Action Was Unanimous

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, March 16. —W. O. Huggins, chairman of the state democratic executive committee, today reiterated he would not call the committee to reconsider its decision to require a party loyalty pledge in precinct convention, unless a majority of the committee requested such an action.

Mr. Huggins made public a copy of his reply to Mrs. Claude De Van Walls of Austin, president of the Texas Woman's Christian Temperance union, who had severely criticized the committee's action.

The letter:

"Dead Madam:

"Your letter of yesterday respecting the resolution concerning the test for the approaching precinct conventions as passed at the recent meeting of the state Democratic executive committee, is received.

"Since the action of the committee on the resolution was unanimous, I believe I would not be justified in recalling the committee to consider it again unless such is the desire of the members themselves. If a majority of the members of the committee join in a request that the committee be reconvened to reconsider this resolution, I shall take pleasure in complying with such request. Very respectfully,

"W. O. HUGGINS."

Spree Is Fatal
Bossy's Owner Is Seeking Damages

Pilgreen declared liquor mash which killed the cow was placed in the reach of Old Bossy by the Miller county sheriff's department after a raid on a still.

He has filed suit for $100 damages against the sheriff.

Kidnaper Gets Life Penalty

Maximum Sentences Meted Out To Kidnaper Of De Jute Child; Three Robbers Of Iowa Bank Get Life Terms

(By The Associated Press)

WARREN, O., March 16. — The maximum penalty of life imprisonment was meted out today to the first of two men tried for the kidnaping just two weeks ago of 11-year-old James De Jute, jr., son of a wealthy Niles contractor.

Branding kidnaping as "one of the most cruel and heartless" crimes, Common Pleas Judge B. Griffith held Dowell Hargraves, 31, of Youngstown, guilty of participation in the abduction and declined to recommend mercy. Such a recommendation would have reduced the sentence to 10 to 30 years.

Hargraves had "nothing to say" when asked by the court if he would reveal the identity of a third man still sought.

Next week John De Marko, also of Youngstown, is to be tried on the same charge as Hargrave — kidnaping with intent to extort.

High Official Declares Not Even A Theory On Type Of Criminals Responsible For Crime Has Been Reached

Clues Still Appear

Police Investigating Latest Tangible Clue Of German Servants Disappearing From New Jersey Home

By ROBERT J. CAVAGNARO
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOPEWELL, N. J., March 16. (AP) —Although police still are convinced the kidnaped Charles Augustus Lindbergh, jr., is alive, a high police official said tonight, they are no nearer a solution of the strange case than they were two weeks ago.

The statement was made one of the authorities directing the hunt for the famous flier's son, but he refused to allow the use of his name.

Have No Theory Of Type

Although he characterized the work of investigators as clever enough to rival the best efforts of Scotland Yard and of the fictional Sherlock Holmes, he said they had thus far been unable to form a theory even about what type of criminal was responsible.

It still was a matter of conjecture, he explained, whether a professional gang, a band of amateurs or maniacs were responsible.

He said Salvatore Spitale and

Blast Wrecks 3 Buildings

Panhandle Grocer Strikes Match To Locate Gas Leak And Explosion Follows; Four Are Injured

(By The Associated Press)

PANHANDLE, March 16. — A match struck to locate a gas leak in a grocery store today resulted in an explosion that injured four persons, wrecked three buildings, and did damage estimated at $50,000.

W. H. Rogers, grocer, smelled gas leaking. He went to investigate. The building had a vacant second story and it was thought the gas accumulated sufficiently to fill up the entire building.

Delivery Boy Hurt

A small fire burst, and before Rogers could shout a warning to others in the store the blast came. Roscoe Vance, 20, delivery boy for a grocery across the street from the Rogers store, was on the point of entering the front door. He was hurled into the street and painfully burned. Tonight at an Amarillo hospital his condition was said to be serious.

Rogers was cut and bruised by falling debris, and J. I. Raines, the store butcher who had just entered the back door, was pinned under a large refrigerator.

Theft Ring Is Thought Bared

Arrest Of Two Men Believed To Have Broken Ring Of Car Thieves; One Man Had 2 Cars In His Possession

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, March 16.—With the arrest of two men and the recovery of two stolen motor cars, police here continued tonight to investigate activities of an alleged theft ring said to have operated extensively in Texas and Colorado.

The investigation already has led to location of 10 or more stolen motor cars in widely scattered parts of the Panhandle, according to Police Chief W. R. McDowell.

Cromer Arrested

Louis Cromer, 24, arrested here in possession of two cars, one stolen at Denver and one at Houston, already has been sentenced to a term of two years in prison for theft. Cromer, brother of Aubrey Cromer, 22, held in Denver in connection with the ring, entered a plea of guilty at Abilene.

The second man held here has been implicated in the theft ring, police say, but no formal charges have been filed against him.

Police in Amarillo said state officers and representatives of an auto theft bureau at Dallas had joined in the Panhandle investigation, expected to lead to more arrests and the recovery of more cars.

Indian's Brother-In-Law Says Seymour Told Him Of Crime

GLOBE, Ariz., March 16. Seymour is on trial for the slaying of Henrietta Schmerler, Columbia university student of anthropology.

Seymour, Gatewood declared in sputtering Apache through an interpreter, said he had been intimate with the white woman and she had threatened to make trouble so he killed her.

Gatewood said Seymour washed blood from his hands and told him "if you say anything about this I will do same to you."

Powers Denied Habeas Corpus

"Bluebeard Of Quiet Dell" Is Doomed To Hang On Friday Night Unless Intervention Is Made

(By The Associated Press)

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., March 16 —The hope of Harry F. Powers to escape a murder's death on the gallows waned today when Federal Judge William E. Baker denied him a writ of habeas corpus.

Unless extraordinary steps are taken, the "bluebeard of Quiet Dell" will be hanged in West Virginia penitentiary at Moundsville Friday night for the murder of Mrs. Dorothy Pressler Lemke, Northboro, Mass., divorcee. Virtually the only avenue open to Powers now is executive intervention.

Powers Seems Cheerful

Powers, who trifled with the hearts of women all over the country through correspondence and finally killed two of his mail order sweethearts to be rid of them, seemed healthy and cheerful in his death cell at the state prison today.

In addition to being convicted of Mrs. Lemke's murder Powers was indicted for the killing of Mrs. Asta Buick Eicher and her three children of Park Ridge, Ills.

The last they had heard of him he was in Tijuana, Mexico.

Mrs. Nye, seeking entertainment through her radio, said she found Nye singing lullabies from a San Antonio station. Orange county authorities asked San Antonio police to hold him.

The sheriff's office said the bigamy charge was based upon the marriage of Nye and Louise F. Russon, 18, of San Diego, Calif., in Fullerton, Calif., Oct. 17, 1931.

Approximately Fifty Party Members To Join Independent Republicans In Opposition To Administration Act

BY CECIL B. DICKSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 16. (AP) — Approximately 50 southern and mid-western Democrats tonight at a closed session decided to bolt the party leadership and join the Republican independents in an attempt to defeat the sales tax in the new revenue bill.

The move, tantamount to an open revolt, was the first of its sort since the Democrats assumed control of the house and elected Speaker Garner. It came shortly after the Republican independents at another closed session decided to ignore the Republican leadership on the bipartisan legislation designed to balance the federal budget.

North Carolina Chairman

The chairman of the Democratic group, representative Doughton of North Carolina, a member of the ways and means committee that drafted the $1,096,000,000 bill, announced:

"It is apparent an overwhelming majority of the Democrats in the house are opposed to the bill and we believe we will beat it."

Although he did not specify, the chief objection of the group is to the sales provision designed to bring in nearly $600,000,000, he said "ways and means were discussed to defeat it" but he did not divulge the plan of campaign.

Mesdames Gordon Inman And Harry Meyers Gain 1,300 Over Mesdames Bondurant And McWhorter Last Eve

Mrs. Gordon Inman and Mrs. Harry Meyers of Amarillo, exponents of the "official system" of contract bridge as approved by Sidney Lenz, at 11 o'clock Wednesday night were leading Mrs. Ross McWhorter and Mrs. D. K. Bondurant of Lubbock 1,800 points at the end of the 24th rubber of a "bridge battle" being played here.

The Lubbock team, which plays the Culbertson forcing system, handily defeated the North Plains duo March 10 and 11, winning by 4,700 points in 100 rubbers. The local "battle," which started here at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, is to be ended Thursday. They will play 100 rubbers.

Of the 24 rubbers played at 11 o'clock, Mesdames Bondurant and McWhorter won 11 and Mesdames Meyers and Inman won 13. The cards were uniformly good and the advantage in points shifted frequently. Contract bridge experts here who observed the playing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. McWhorter at 1808 Avenue Q observed that excellent bridge was being played.

Mrs. Meyers formerly lived in Lubbock.

Marriage Vows To Be Read Tonight For C.D. Eaves, Miss Luta Pelham

The Woman's Angle

* * *

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

HOUSTON—Nature is yet stingy with color in South Texas woods. Coming down this way from Fort Worth was a sheen of green among the trees but little else. Below Waco the woods were flecked with occasional red berries and greenery became more rank underfoot as we drove further South.

* * *

An occasional pine and a few palms heralded the coast country.

* * *

Jack frost nipped early gardens, flowers and fruits all the way down and, although it was warm during the afternoon, children were returning from school wearing winter coats. We were told it was freezing this morning.

* * *

We shed our coats at Waco and drove without them during the afternoon. The unexpected hot wind played havoc with our winter complexions and tonight we have the appearance of a couple just out of the boiling pot. Mrs. Wade Border, who is coming down with me, lived in and near Austin for years and knows this section down here much better than I. Her account of the mattresses they used to make from this moss that hangs from trees interested me.

* * *

The mattresses were once prized possessions in every household, she says. The moss was first buried to rot off the gray coating, later it was removed from the ground, boiled and stuffed into ticking. It made a wonderful mattress, Mrs. Border tells me, but one found it necessary to remove the moss and loosen it occasionally as it packed.

NOTE ON FARMING

MY KNOWLEDGE of farming could probably be tucked neatly under your finger nail, but somehow I can't feel that a man is getting much out of his field until he removes the stumps. The irregular shapes of fields bother me, too. All of which marks me for what I am, a West Texan.

* * *

Some farmers of our section probably would open their eyes at these farmers down here, if I am able to judge what is happening. It appeared to us driving down that some of these fields were barely being scratchedenough to allow the seed to be dropped beneath the soil. Little of the deep plowing is done.

* * *

THE OLD SOUTH

THE citizens have an air of prosperity equal to that of other years, apparently, but the smaller towns down in here have the sleepy appearance of a mid-summer afternoon. These old white houses with columns across broad fronts and the ancient chimneys interest me because our section of the country has no such evidences of age. One feels that he has come down into the old south in a lot of this country because of these evidences of plantations and the prevalence of colored people.

* * *

The brick school houses, painted farm houses and bungalows built according to plan, such as spot the country above the cap rock, are entirely missing down here. Old churches, gabled houses, ancient chimneys that are tumbling into decay and the large cemeteries that stand outside villages are evidences of pioneering that preceded the civil war.

* * *

CATCHING THE SUN

TODAY must have been the first sunshiny one after several cloudy days. Mattresses, pillows and quilts were sunning on almost every front porch that we passed. Washings hung from many farm house lines or were whipping against trees and bushes in the yard.

* * *

BUT NO BABY

WE WONDERED if people who dashed passed us in cars from the northern states felt our scrutiny. In common with others in the south, we almost unconsciously scanned automobiles bearing New Jersey or Massachussets licenses and thought of the kidnaped Lindberg baby. There were few children in these cars, however. Most of the occupants were large men smoking six-inch cigars and haughty appearing women. They were almost invariably headed south and passed us as though we were not in the road. We saw more dogs than babies peeping out of the windows.

Two Brothers Farming On Big Scale In Hockley And Terry Counties; Have 8,000 Acres

Two brothers who farm 8,000 acres in Hockley and Terry county were in Lubbock Wednesday. They are J. D. and R. J. Beasley, who last fall harvested about 2,000 bales of cotton in addition to tons of feed.

The Beasleys came to the South Plains from Jones county last year and are leasing the big farm from Hardy and Earnest Grissom, Abilene merchants.

"Hail destroyed nearly 3,000 acres of cotton for us last year, and we didn't pick a single row on that land, but we gathered about 2,000 bales," R. J. Beasley said. "Most of the land will be planted to cotton in 1932 and the remainder in feed."

The Beasleys operate 21 tractors, four trucks and have their own gin—a veritable Southern plantation on the South Plains. In addition to their farming activities they are feeding out 500 head of cattle.

Mrs. Thomas F. West has returned from a visit to Fort Worth where she attended the marriage of Miss Camilla Collett and Edwin W. Ritchey.

Ceremony Held For Local OES

Initial Candlelight Service Is Impressive Feature For Evening; Banquet Will Be Given Next Week

Members of the local Eastern Star order met at the Masonic hall Tuesday evening in a celebration of their first candlelight-obligation service. This is to become an annual affair.

Even more enthusiasm was centered on the affair Tuesday evening because the Recanvassing of Old Members campaign which has been in progress since the first of February closed, with the East side winners by 17 members. The West side will be hostesses to the East side at a banquet to be given at the Masonic hall next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Louis Bynum was captain of the winning side and Mrs. Alva Allen headed the West side.

The candlelight-obligation ceremony proved to be one of the most impressive ever held in the local chapter of the organization. Candles, blending in color with the red, yellow, white, green and blue points of the star furnished the only light. Mrs. A. D. Montgomery, presiding officer, called on the other officers to recite poems, the themes of which were in keeping with the obligations of the members to the order. Flowers were laid on the altar at the close of the services.

Coffee That Men Really Enjoy

Why Only 2 Homes in 5 Ever Have It

Here Are 20 Different Brands... But The Coffee Inside Is The Same In All

Why You Must Do More Than Change "Brands" To Get Better Coffee

Is coffee a problem in your home?

Most women, domestic science experts tell us, find it hard to get the kind of coffee men really enjoy, for one simple reason.

Almost 70% of all coffee sold in the United States, according to the Department of Commerce, is all one kind, grown in the same country—just put up in different packages.

For a real change you must do more than change "brands." You must get coffee from a different producing country.

FOLGER'S COFFEE
VACUUM PACKED

Almost 70 per cent of all Coffee sold in stores is grown in one common country—It's all the same kind of coffee—just put up in different packages. For a real change try some of the choicer, rare flavored coffees from other producing countries.

From Central America

Down along the west coast of Central America we procure coffees utterly different in flavor and richness. These rare mountain coffees, world experts concede, have a rare tang and mellow richness not duplicated in any other region.

Less than one pound in 20 of the world's coffee is grown here. It is a flavor few people in a lifetime have a chance to enjoy. So if you want something different, try it.

Folger's Coffee comes in special key-opening vacuum tins that bring it right to your coffee pot as fresh as it left the roaster. Order a pound from your grocer today. Drink it tomorrow morning. Next morning serve the coffee you have been using. The third morning serve Folger's again. Then choose between them.

If, for any reason, you decide against Folger's, your grocer will refund your money. We will pay him—gladly. That's fair, isn't it? Try this test. You will be glad you discovered Folger's. 134

Cattle Ranges Of State Are Better

AUSTIN, March 16. (AP)—Condition of Texas cattle ranges was 82 per cent of normal March 1 as compared to a five-year average of 81.4, a report of the federal department of agriculture issued today said. Range conditions March 1 last year were 86 per cent of normal.

Condition of cattle March 1 was 80 per cent normal, compared to 84 on the same date last year.

Range conditions improve four per cent over Feb. 1. The report today did not reflect the unseasonably cold weather of the past several days whether conditions during February were reported to be ideal all over the state, although too much rain fell in some places and made the grass sappy. In the extreme south portion additional rains were needed to fill water tanks.

Sheep improved during February and were rated at 83 per cent normal compared to 81 one month ago, but still were five points under the conditinos on March 1 last year.

The report stated Texas, Eastern New Mexico and Southern Arizona were well supplied with feed but that Montana, the Dakotas, Wyoming, Western Colorado and northwestern New Mexico were short and were shipping in feed.

Business Failures Showing Decline

AUSTIN, March 16. (AP) — Commercial failures in Texas during February were approximately 50 per cent under the number in January, a report from the bureau of business research of the University of Texas issued today disclosed.

The number of firms which failed in February was 82, compared to 163 in January and 91 in February, 1931. Total liabilities of failing firms was $1,734,000, less than half the $3,649,000 liabilities the previous month and 14 per cent under the total for February last year. The average liability was $21,146 in February.

The population of France has increased 1,000,000 since 1926. It is now 42,000,000.

Fight Beer Tax—With Cognac

And to think the Germans are complaining about a TAX on beer when many Americans would be glad to get it at twice the price. Here is an indignant patron of a Berlin bar drinking coffee and cognac instead of the amber brew. The placard calls for support of a beer boycott as a protest against recent heavier taxation of the popular beverage.

Standard Change

Library Known As Reading Place

Changing standards of library service have brought about more activity on the part of librarians," Miss Rutillia Eubank, Lubbock county librarian, has commented.

"Formerly, a library was a place where books were to be preserved; now it is a place where books are to be used and borrowed for home reading; it is a place where people can read," she amplified.

Rural school teachers and club women have been helped by the librarian in compiling lists of materials for study purposes. Books, pamphlets, magazine articles, pictures, and encyclopedic references are listed. Campfire Girl leaders also use the service.

Coordination Of Methodist Colleges In Texas Sought

FORT WORTH, March 16. (AP)—Coordination of all Methodist colleges and universities of the state and their administration by a single executive will be proposed at a Methodist educational conference called by President T. W. Brabham of Texas Woman's college, to meet in Dallas Friday.

Presidents of seven Methodist educational institutions of the state have indicated they will attend the conference and several already expressed approval of President Brabham's coordination plan.

All Data On West Texas Cave To Be Published In Annual Society Organ

ABILENE, March 16. (AP)—Recent announcements from Washington that Dr. Edgar B. Howard of the University of Pennsylvania had discovered evidences of ice-age man in a West Texas cave brought the information from officers of the Texas Archaeological and Paleontological society that all the data gathered by the Howard party will be published in the annual bulletin of the society this fall. Dr. Cyrus N. Ray of this city is president of the Texas society.

Dr. Howard and four other University of Pennsylvania scientists spent a week in the Abilene territory in 1929, paying particular attention to a site on Clear Fork river, where Dr. Ray had discovered some curious human bones believed to be of extreme antiquity. The Howard party at that time also found what they said were human bones far below the surface of the earth.

The party found musk ox bones around primitive hearths, indicating human beings had cooked and eaten those Arctic animals. At a shallower depth, they found camel and horse bones, apparently showing that these animals from the temperate zone has occupied the country after the departure of the ice which had brought the musk ox.

Superimposed on these strata was a stratum of Indian basket weaver culture. The problem now, Dr. Ray said, is to connect the musk ox with co-existent humans which would prove a theory long held by a few pioneers in southwestern archaeology—that mankind inhabited West Texas in the ice age. The stone spear point has been definitely connected with the musk ox bones.

Dr. Ray said that Dr. Howard and his party are expected to return to this area soon.

A Michigan malt tax, instead of yielding $1,000,000 a year, is yielding only $600,000, and plans to build a new state hospital must be abandoned.

Senators Need One Hurler To Round Out Strong Lineup

French Netters Eradicated In Joust; Three West Texas Teams In AAU

Fifty G's For 'Right Man' Is Clark's Offer

Washington Could Also Use A Dependable Infielder, Then Chances For Title Would Be Something Like Good

BY RALPH WHEATLEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

BILOXI, Miss., March 16. —Clark Griffith is willing to pay $50,000 in hard cash for an experienced and dependable pitcher to bolster the mound crew of the Washington Senators.

One more strong-armed hurler and a utility infielder are the big worries of Griffith and his Manager, Walter Johnson.

So Johnson finds himself in the same predicament as Roger Peckinpaugh of the Cleveland Indians. Neither can find a youngster to fill his shoes, Peck a shortstop and Walter a pitcher.

Three Given Chance

The "Big Train" gives three of his rookies a chance to make the grade. Of the three, he likes best Frank Ragland, 185-pound right-hander from the village of Paris, Miss., because of his poise and cool head. Then there is Lynn Griffith and Robert Friedrich, who, along with Ragland, came down to the training camp from the Chattanooga club of the Southern Association.

Johnson has about decided to add Monte Weaver to the regular staff. Weaver came to the Senators late last season from the Baltimore club of the international league after winning 21 games.

With this set up, Johnson has turned to his stalwarts, Fred Marberry and Alvin Crowder to lead the way for the pitchers, who will include Lloyd Brown, Robert Burke and Carl Fischer.

This season probably will find the veteran, Joe Judge, on the bench most of the time as Joe Kuhel is expected to be assigned as regular first baseman. Heinie Manush, a veteran, is running true to form and appears safely settled in the left field berth, but across the way in right field, the veteran Sam Rice is batting with Carl Reynolds, obtained from the White Sox, so far in practice Rice has held his own.

Strong Outfield

The Senators have a wealth of outfield material. For this reason, Ralph Boyle, the .310 hitter and outfielder from Baltimore, may not stick.

Johnson is trying to make up his mind whether to bring the versatile outfielder, Dave Harris, into the inner defense, where he has only Johnny Kerr, the ex-White Sox, for utility at second and third and short.

Roy Spencer hits serenely as regular catcher and watches the battle for second line backstopper between Cliff Bolton, last year's pinch hitter, Howard Maple of Oregon State University, and Moe Berg, formerly of Cleveland.

State Committee To Consider Cisco Gridiron Case March 30

AUSTIN, March 16. (AP)—The executive committee of the Texas Interscholistic league has set March 30, to announce a decision on the recommendation of the Abilene district committee that Cisco High school be barred from competing in league football for one year, Roy B. Henderson, athletic director of the league said today.

Cisco was charged with having violated eligibility rules by using Fred Hightower within 30 days of his transfer to Cisco from Tyler. The charge was made by Breckenridge and sustained by the district committee, which recommended Cisco's suspension.

Economy Program Is Launched By Gov. Woodring Of Kansas

TOPEKA, March. 16. (AP)—A $2,000,000 economy program for the state of Kansas during the next fiscal year under which Gov. Harry H. Woodring will accept a ten per cent salary cut was announced today by the chief executive.

Calling for a 25 per cent slash in expenditures under legisaltive appropriations, the program is designed, the governor said, to enable the state to maintain its tax levy at the same figure as last year in the face of a shrinkage in property valuations estimated by the tax commission at from $400,000,000 to $500,000,000.

In keeping with the program, the governor will accept, he announced, a ten per cent cut in his $5,000 annual salary.

Two-Year Sentence Is Given Adams In Abilene Theft Case

A two-year penitentiary sentence was imposed on Johnny Adams, returned the night before from Lubbock, when he pleaded guilty of theft of a radio by bailes before Judge W. R. Chapman in 104th district court at Abilene, Wednesday.

Arrested at Amarillo by a state highway patrolman, Adams was taken to Lubbock. Two Taylor county deputy sheriffs came here and took him into custody.

Adams was charged in connection with a radio taken "on approval" from an Abilene electric shop.

Major Robert R. Neyland, football coach at Tennessee, says injuries will increase rather than decrease under the recent football rule changes.

Britton Found Ineligible For 1932 Football

Because records were found which show that he entered at least two non-conference football games as a substitute in the Westerner lineup early in the 1929 season, O. E. Britton, above, will not be eligible to don a Lubbock High football uniform next fall, it was disclosed last night by Coach Weldon Chapman.

With tears in his eyes, Coach Chapman reported finding the records which make Britton ineligible. The Interscholastic league rules say that a player may represent his school four years, but that if he enters a game of any kind as a representative of the school for so much as a second in addition to the four years he is ineligible thereafter. Britton entered high school at Dallas in 1928 and lettered that year, moving to Lubbock in 1929 where he was declared scholastically ineligible to play football. He was used in a minor game or two regardless and the season of 1931 officially wound up h's high school athletic career, though he has another year of high school work. The ten-semester rule would not have effected him next fall. He played here under Frnka part of the 1930 season and blossomed last year into one of the best quarterbacks in the state, placing on a majority of District 1 all-star selections.

Tech Team For Trip Is Named

Coaches Announce Athletes To Meet N.M.M.I. Teams Monday In Dual Wrestling, Boxing And Swimming Contests

With Coach Del Morgan at the helm as instructor and team supervisor, nineteen Texas Tech athletes will journey to Roswell, N. M., next Monday to meet New Mexico Military Institute teams in a dual meet.

Five of the Tech contingent are boxers, six are wrestlers and eight are swimmers. The boxers and wrestlers have earned the right to make the trip by dint of consistent training and interclass contests, topped off with final eliminations last weekend. The swimming team is a self-admitted group of water-Matadors who have been assigned places on the representative squad on their own recognizance. Lack of a pool here has prevented swimming practice and eliminations.

The boxing team, which will meet opponents in five weight classes, is as follows: Pete Davidson, 125; Melvin Havis of Lubbock, 135; Lonnie Riggins of Groom, 145; Kempy Cannon, 155; Demp Cannon of Slaton, 165 and Ross Ayers of Wheelock, 175.

Wrestlers and their weights who shall make the trip are T. L. Bean, of Roby, 135; Bob O'Hair of Lubbock, 145; Harvey Dunn of Ralls, 155 Lester Tribble of Sherman, 175; and Truett Owens of Sherman, 200.

Swimmers selected and the events are as follows:

Fifty-yard dash: Bud Hoffman of Hannibal, Mo.; J. A. Loughridge of Waco and John Mast of Lubbock.

100-yard dash: Jim Bob Pool of Brady and Paul Hace; 440-yards: W. B. Holden of Clarksburg, W. V., and Houston Hinson of Lubbock; 150-yard backstroke: Bill Stubbs of Corpus Christi and Loughridge. 220-yard breast stroke: Holden and Hinson; relay: Pool, Mast, Loughridge, Hace and Hoffman.

Diving: Pool and Stubbs.

The teams will leave early Monday by bus. The swimming contests will be held Monday afternoon and the boxing and wrestling events Monday night.

Swimmers listed above are required to call at the office of the Tech coaches at the gymnasium today. Head Coach Pete Cawthon said yesterday, to receive final instructions.

Berkeley Bell Downs Borotra As Big Thrill

Texas Netter Eliminates The Great Jean In Quarterfinal Match; Mangin, Seligson In Victories Over French

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, March 16. —They turned out the lights on the Frenchman in the national indoor tennis tournament today, assuring an all-American final the last of the week.

Berkley Bell, Gregory Mangin and Julius Seligson formed a committee of three that eradicated the foreign threat abruptly and thoroughly.

Bell, the diminutive firebrand from Texas, attended to the great Jean Borotra, France's second ranking star and defernding champion, 6-2, 6-4, in a spectacular quarterfinal match that kept the crowd in a tumult.

Mangin, pride of Newark, N. J., turned back Christian Boussus, third-ranking Frenchman and prospective Davis Cupper, 6-3, 6-4, and Seligson, New York, subdued Antonie Gentien, 6-3, 6-4, both in the fourth round.

Seven Americans remained.

George Lott, jr., of Chicago, advanced by defeating Eddie Jenkins, of New York, 8-6, 6-4; Frank Shields of New York erased Eugene McCauliff of New York, 6-4, 6-4; Sidney Wood, jr., New York, won from Harold Gerkin, New York, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4, and Frank Bowden, New York, outlasted Lincoln Halberstadt, New York, 3-6, 6-4, 6-1.

The Frenchman fared equally poorly in doubles, Borotra and Boussus taking a beating from an American pair, William Aydelotte of Schenectady and Perrinne Rockafellow of New York, in a third round match. The scores were 4-6, 6-3, 7-5.

Bell and Mangin continued through to the semi-finals by defeating W. D. Cunningham and Wilson Rogers of New York, 6-3, 4-3, 6-2.

The Athletics made good six out of eight hits gotten off Hallahan, Johnson and Derringer. Rommel and Cain allowed the Cardinals the same number of hits.

INDIANS AND PELICANS GET TOGETHER; INDIANS WIN

NEW ORLEANS, March 16. (AP)—Eddie Montague's home run clout over the left field fence in the fourth inning with Luke Sewell on base, gave the Cleveland Indians a 7-6 win over the New Orleans Pelicans today. Eddie's homer was the first of the Indian exhibition series.

BABE FAILS TO HIT AS YANKS BEAT BRAVES

ST. PETERSBURG, March 16. (AP) With Babe Ruth playing his first exhibition game of the season, the New York Yankees came from behind to defeat the Boston Braves 8-5 in eleven innings today. The Babe failed to get a hit.

BROOKLYN DODGERS DROP SECOND STRAIGHT GAME

LAKELAND, Fla., March 16. (AP) Despite a 5-run rally in the ninth inning, the Brooklyn Dodgers dropped their second straight game to the Newark Bears of the International League today. The score was 8-7.

HOLDOVER CATCHERS REPORT TO SHREVEPORT CAMP

SHREVEPORT, La., March 16.(AP) Two catchers, Clarence Rowland and Francis Laveque, holdovers from the 1931 team, reported to the Sports today. The workout was cut short due to a light rain. An intra-squad game was booked for tomorrow and was limited to five innings. Crenshaw, a Dallas sandlot third baseman, and Corcoran, a semi-pro second baseman from St. Louis, are the leading rookies in camp.

HOGAN AND VERGEZ DOUBLE TO GIVE GIANTS VICTORY

LOS ANGELES, March 16. (AP)—Successive doubles by Johnny Vergez and Francis Hogan in the sixth inning off Charles Root, gave the New York Giants baseball club a 5-4 victory over the Chicago Cubs in the last of their exhibition series here today.

The win gave the Giants a 5-3 edge in the series.

THREE STILL MISSING FROM SPUDDER CAMP

WICHITA FALLS, March 16. (AP) With the exception of Dick Florrid and Fred Vincent, pitchers, and Herb Bryant, catcher, all hands at the Spudder camp were accounted for today, with the arrival of Art Scharein, holdover shortstop.

The squad took its regular workout today. Howard Taylor and Paul Spencer heaved over the first curve balls seen at the camp.

REDWINGS BEAT REDBIRDS IN HOUSTON SERIES

HOUSTON, March 16. (AP)—The defensive work of the Columbus Red Birds was erratic today and the Rochester Red Wings breezed through to a 9-3 victory. Pete Fowler of Rochester and Carlisle Littlejohn of Columbus, both one time Houston twirlers, hurled well.

YANNIGANS GET BEST OF REGULARS IN RED SOX GAME

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 16. (AP)—Johnny Reder, Fall River soccer player who is striving for an infield job with the Boston Red Sox, today slammed out a ninth home run off Horace Lisenbee and gave the Yannigans a 4-3 decision over the regulars.

EIGHT INDIAN ROOKIES FEEL WEIGHT OF SAN ANTONIO AXE

SAN ANTONIO, March 16. (AP) — Eight Indian rookies felt the first swing of the axe this afternoon upon conclusion of a three-hour workout in league park under a broiling sun.

They were pitchers John Hoffman of San Antonio and Jim Hammond of Austin and catchers Ben Grantham of Kerrville and Dave Wood of Hordheim, who were under contract and were released outright, and pitchers Aulcie Hay, Russell Stein and Roscoe Marshall and Outfielder Cosmo Peche, all of San Antonio, who were on the squad for a tryout.

Texas Longhorns To Clash With White Sox At Austin

AUSTIN, March 16. (AP) — The University of Texas Longhorns plan to open their 1932 baseball season here tomorrow against the Chicago White Sox, American League club. The Sox, who are training in San Antonio, will bring eighteen men to face the collegians, Manager Lew Fonseca has announced.

Henry "Hank" Swanson, University of Washington basketball center and All-Pacific Coast star last year, is shooting biscuits instead of baskets this season. He bought an interest in a Seattle bakery.

Hold-Out Drama Ended As Babe Ruth Signs Papers With Yanks Calling For $75,000 Pay This Season

Magnanimous Babe Accepts Slice Of 5 Grand

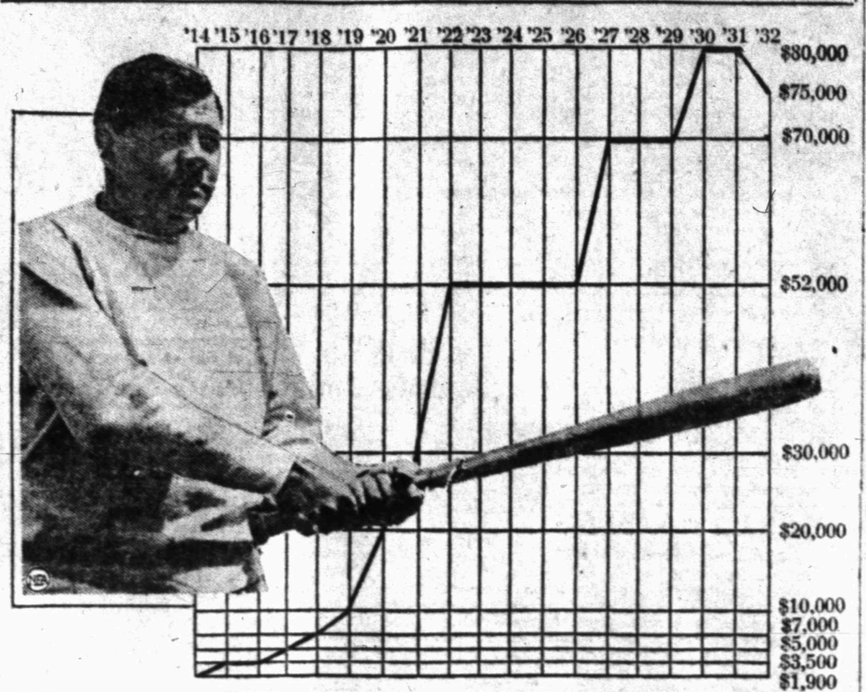

ST. PETERSBURGH, Fla., March 16. (AP)—To the accompaniment of sound effect in a garden setting of tropical beauty, the great man of baseball, George Herman (Babe) Ruth, magnanimously accepted a $5,000 salary cut today and signed a one year contract for $75,000.

For the sixth time in the 13 years he has been with the New York Yankees, the Babe put his signature to a document that keeps him in a class by himself among ball players and assures him for 1932 the same salary paid the president of the United States.

The club's original offer was for $70,000 for 1932 only. The Babe had rejected this and countered with a demand for the same salary he has been getting for two years, $80,000, unless the Yankees would give him a 2-year contract.

Shortly before noon today the Babe and Colonel Jacob Ruppert, the Yankee owner, went through the formal business in the flowered, pretentious patio of the royal hotel where the Ruths are living.

Dollar "Signs" Of The Bambino's Times

In these days of drooping stocks and bottomless business charts, one stands out singularly at a consistently high and sensational mark. It is the "dollar signs" that make up Babe Ruth's skyrocket rise to the top in baseball salaries. Starting in 1914 at $1900 for one year, the Babe's annual stipend zoomed to $80,000 in 1930. The fact that a general depression swept the country is probably the only condition that keeps the figure from soaring higher.

Judging Work Is Arranged

Schedule Calls For Judging Of Canned Goods On March 23; Sale Of Calves, Pigs To Be March 25

Judging schedule of the annual Panhandle-South Plains Meat show here March 24 and 25 was arranged Wednesday by the general steering committee meeting at the chamber of commerc. Several committes will be named this week to direct work of the exposition, said Dr. I. E. Barr, Chairman.

Judging will begin March 23. Canned meats are to be judged at 9 a. m. next Wednesday; cured meats at 9 a. m. March 24; hogs at 2 p. m. March 24 and calves at 9 a. m. March 25.

To Name Committee

This tour will include visits to local industrial plants, Texas Tech and other points of interest. Other committees to be named this week include one to interest local buyers in the sale of meats, another made of women of the city to act as hostesses during the two-day affair. Two Meat Shows This Week To Serve As "Feeders" To Lubbock Show; Spur And Floydada Show Friday, Saturday

Serving in a manner as "feeders" for the Panhandle-South Plains Meat show, to be held in Lubbock on March 24 and 25, a number of expositions will be staged over the South Plains territory within the next two weeks.

Two of these shows are being held on Friday and Saturday, one at Spur and the other at Floydada. Majority of entries in these towns will be moved to Lubbock for exhibition here next week.

Expect Good Exhibits

Grady I. Lane, county agent; Dewey L. Granberry, secretary of the Spur Chamber of Commerce and Miss Clara Pratt, home demonstration agent, are in charge of the Dickens county affair. C. B. Middleton, vocational agriculture teacher in the Spur schools, expects to have a number of his students show calves and pigs while others will likely be entered by four-H club boys of the county.

Women of the home demonstration clubs will bring in their cured and canned meats. Judges from College Station will officiate.

Miss Martha Faulkner, home demonstration agent, and S. W. Ross, secretary of the Floydada Chamber of Commerce, are in charge of the Floyd county exhibits. Both have announced that a great deal of interest is being shown in the event.

In addition to the Floyd and Dickens county shows, others are scheduled in Hockley and Lamb counties next week. The Hockley county show will be held at Levelland on March 22 while that in Lamb county is also scheduled at Littlefield on March 22.

High School Boys Planning To Attend Special Program

RALLS, March 16.—Many of the vocational agriculture boys of the Ralls high school are planning to go to Lubbock on Friday March 18, for the annual "Swift Day" being staged by the Lubbock branch of that concern.

J. H. Taylor, vocational agriculture teacher, is planning to take all of the boys of his group that have majored in poultry. Some of the boys who studied dairy and beef cattle also will be in the party.

Scores "Dudes"
Veteran Puncher Utters Disgust

EL PASO, March. 16. (AP)—One of Texas' oldest and richest cowmen expressed his scorn of a recent arrival on the range—the "dude ranch" cowboy.

W. P. H. McFaddin, 76, of Beaumont, Texas, who says he has been a cowboy 70 years, snorted contemptously at the mention of the city-bred species of cowboy.

"You can't call 'em cowboys," he protested. "They don't do anything but loaf around a country club ranch, dancing, drinking and necking the women." McFaddin himself doesn't drink, smoke or go to Juarez.

"But I like the ladies," he grinned. "You know," mused the powerfully-built, gray-haired cowman, "that is the trouble with so many cowboys. They don't know how to handle cows because they don't know anything about women. You should treat cattle gently, like women."

Judge Pitts To Address Judges

E. L. Pitts, county judge, will be one of the speakers at the annual County Judges and Commissioners association of West Texas at the Abilene convention April 28 and 29, according to the program just completed and announced by Tom Eplen, Taylor county, president.

Judge Pitts speaks on "When the County is Liable for Damages to the Building and Maintaining of Roads."

F. C. Abernathy, county judge of Hale county, speaks on "Consolidation Possibilities for Economy Purposes in County Government."

The organization was formed here in 1929. It meets in April and September.

Asphalt Paving Being Tried Out In Improving Streets

A block of test paving—of rock asphalt on caliche base—has been opened to the public on Avenue S between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets, it was said Wednesday at the city hall.

Rock asphalt on caliche base also is being tried on small unpaved stretches on Main and Avenue M. J. L. Holt, city secretary, said. The First Baptist church is aiding in paving of a strip on Avenue M between Main and Broadway and the city is paving a short stretch on Main at Avenue O.

Rock asphalt for the Avenue S improvement was provided by the Oklahoma Rock Asphalt company, curb and gutter work is paid for by residents, the city laid the caliche base and the Panhandle construction company applied the topping.

Olton Claims Move Costly

Loss Of Courthouse And The Amount To Be Paid On It Will Be Suffered, Leaders In Fight Declare

(Special To The Avalanche)

OLTON, March 16. — This city's bids to retain the Lamb county seat in the election Saturday are based largely on the facts that it has a courthouse adequate for present needs and that moving the county seat eventually will necessitate a bond election for a new courthouse.

The election Saturday will determine whether the county seat is to remain at Olton or be moved either to Amherst or Littlefield.

Backers of Olton point out that if the county capital is moved "the tax payers of Lamb county will have lost the $23,740 that already has been paid on the present building and the $16,000 that still is due."

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third of a series of articles on the Lamb county seat election. The contentions or offerings of Amherst and Littlefield for location of the capital in their respective cities have been given in previous articles.

The present courthouse consists of six office rooms, county courtroom and ladies rest room downstairs, and five office rooms, district courtroom and men's lavatory upstairs, making a total of 13 rooms in all, furnished and heated modernly. The district courtroom, it is pointed, has ample space.

Littlefield has offered use of its city hall. Local voters allege that the Littlefield city hall, which they claim is smaller than the courthouse here, cannot provide both for the city and county government. J. W. Richards foresees "an emergency" in which the citizens of Lamb county "would face a bond issue of such proportions that would erect at Littlefield a building that they would naturally hope would hold the county seat for all time."

The Olton courthouse was built nine years ago of brick, and is claimed to be adequate for all the county's needs.

Hurlwood Will Be Host To Monthly Farm Meet Friday

First of a series of monthly Farm Bureau meetings in Lubbock county communities will be held Friday night at Hurlwood, with W. A. Fincher, school superintendent there in charge. The communities are competing for cash prizes for the best programs.

Speakers at Hurlwood includes Mrs. William A. Dingus of the Texas Technological college faculty, who is to discuss "Home Beautification," and Mrs. W. W. Ferguson, farm woman leader, who will talk on "Community Work." Contest judges will be District Attorney Durwood H. Bradley, Miss Mae Murfee, county superintendent of schools, and J. H. Brock of the chamber of commerce.

The program was postponed from last Friday night. An invitation for Lubbock business men to attend has been extended by G. K. Horton, secretary of the Hurlwood school board, Mr. Fincher, and W. R. Ferguson, Hurlwood principal.

Senator Johnson "On Right Track," According To Opinion Of City Bankers

Lubbock bankers generally agree that Senator Hiram H. Johnson of California is on the "right track" in his accusations regarding the activities of international bankers.

The California senator Tuesday levelled a bitter attack at administration officials, branding international banking "a racket" and rebuking the government for "smug complacency and supine indifference" while American investors were losing billions of dollars in foreign securities.

"I am of the opinion that the American government has acted very foolishly in allowing the public to believe it is under writing foreign bonds," said O. L. Slaton, First National bank president here. "It is very evident that the government underwrites no such bond sales.

"Of course," he said, "local banks have little or nothing to do with these activities. Our only operations come when one of our depositors requests that we buy for him a certain amount of stock. Then we must take up the matter with one of the larger banks of New York.

"It is true, the public has lost enormous amounts in these operations." He cited as example the $4,000,000 loan made to a South American country. "Stock in this loan sold at very near to par at the time," he explained. "Now this stock is worth barely nine cents on the one dollar."

Even in Lubbock a large amount of money has been lost by investors, he declared.

"During the last 18 months stocks and bond sales have sky-rocketed more than at any other time. This situation was caused by lack of confidence of the people in the banks of our country. Afraid to leave their money in banks, depositors withdrew it to buy stocks and bonds. In doing so they literally 'burned their fingers'."

Mr. Slaton gave one specific example, a company which sold its stock to numerous Lubbock persons at near 94. Recently this concern has gone into hands of the receivers.

"I believe that a conservative estimate would be that almost $160,000 was lost in this one company by persons right here in Lubbock," he stated. "Personally I know of several men buying from $10,000 to $15,000 worth of stock."

The bank president is of the opinion that little chance is offered for government legislation to regulate this condition. For this reason—The big monied interests of the nation control politics, more so in the Republican party. They make their money in just this way and do not want a change."

Speaking of banking problems as a whole Mr. Slaton declared that one of the greatest difficulties at this time is competition for banks by the government for deposits.

W. O. Stevens, vice president of the Citizens National bank, practically concurred in the opinions of Mr. Slaton. "Hiram Johnson is a 'go-getter' and I believe he is on the right track," he said. "Huge losses have been sustained by American investors and even in this city I know of thousands of dollars which have gone in this manner."

C. E. Maedgen, president of the Lubbock National bank, said that he had rather not express an opinion at this time until he had had a chance to study Senator Johnson's accusations.

Negro Woman Is Being Held For Passing Bogus Dollar

A negro woman was arrested Wednesday by Constable J. C. Roberts shortly after she attempted to pass a counterfeit dollar on an apple vendor at Avenue F and Broadway.

The woman was turned over to Deputy U. S. Marshal J. P. Edgar, who said a charge probably would be filed gainst her before Commissioner Victor H. Lindsey Thursday. The negress allegedly placed the counterfeit dollar in the merchant's pocket and asked for change. When he did not have the change, it was discovered the coin was counterfeited, Roberts said.

The coin was given to the woman by a negro man, she told Edgar. Several bogus half-dollars and dollars have been reported in the Lubbock vicinity this winter.

Many people about town are repairing or remodeling their homes, painting and papering and otherwise fixing their places up.

"Farmers are busy and they are building a little. I don't know where all the business is coming from, but the stores tell me they are having better trade now than they have had for weeks."

SELF POISONING

If you are often headachy, upset, irritable, "on the ragged edge," call it "nerves" if you must, but the truth may surprise you.

Millions of people who complain of "nerves" are really suffering from self-poisoning. Poisons from putrid waste in the intestines have been absorbed into the blood. The polluted blood in turn carries these poisons all over the body, making you achy and "nervous," and in time affecting the kidneys and other vital organs. Often the irritation reaches the brain.

So why be in a hurry to call it "nerves"? Why not try to learn the truth by making a simple little test?

AN AMAZING TEST

For the next three nights take B-L Tonic. If your case is like those of thousands of other so-called "nerve" sufferers you will be amazed at the improvement in three days. Your "nerves" will rapidly quiet down. Your system will eliminate a startling amount of foul-smelling poisons. You will feel healthier, happier. But that is only a promise of the reward to follow. Continue taking B-L Tonic every night for three weeks. You will thereby keep the poisons from regaining a foothold in your blood. Meanwhile the stimulating properties of B-L Tonic will sharpen your appetite, improve your digestion, and thus help build up a more robust resistance to disease. Nine chances out of ten that's all you need to get rid of your "nervousness." Get B-L Tonic at

Moving Against The Reds

THE bill before Congress proposing to exclude alien communists as well as alien anarchists was given added impetus Tuesday by testimony of one William F. Dunne, member of the central committee of the communist party. Appearing before a Congressional committee, Dunne openly urged revolution on the part of communists here—which was the best thing he could have done to spur action against malcontents of his type.

The Morning Avalanche can see little difference between anarchists and communists. Both groups threaten peace and protection, life and limb and both seek to tear down the civilization builded in this country. But if this newspaper were writing and proposing a bill to curb communists it wouldn't stop at excluding alien communists—it would add a clause to assure immediate deportation of those who foster and engage in demonstrations of force similar to those which caused the death and injury recently in Chicago and Detroit.

The Constitution of the United States sets forth ways and means of charging our government and those methods were placed into the Constitution for the reason to exclude force. Those who would wilfully endanger life, limb and property have no place here and if they don't want to agree with the majority of American citizens they should be removed from the landscape by strict deportation laws.

We hope Congress sees fit to pass the proposed bill, against which Dunne testified so boldly and we further hope that the forces of law and order will move swiftly to deal with those who favor chaos rather than order.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

"Why," asks a correspondent, "does America make so much of St. Patrick's Day when St. Patrick, we all know, is the patron saint of Ireland?"

Well, for one reason, because we believe St. Patrick was a very good American, although he never set foot on these shores nor knew the blessings of such a government as ours.

St. Patrick, dear correspondent, was himself a very lowly lad and not an Irishman at that. Indeed, his presence in Ireland was not of his own choosing. He was born in the British-Roman province of Valentia, the son of a retired Roman soldier, and was stolen when quite young and sold as a slave to Irish Celts of the County Antrim. A bold lad, like many another of his kind, he ran away and instead of determining to "get square" with those who had mistreated him, made up his mind to convert all Ireland to his religion.

So Patrick personified the typical American coming to our shores under the lash of the tyrant or the pressure of economic distress. Like him he did not sour under the bitterness of misfortune, but determined to make Ireland, his adopted country, the better for his presence.

And America likes St. Patrick, also, because America is democratic. America—the true America—knows neither race nor creed, but it does love a manly man, and St. Patrick was a man among men. America loves one whose head, though bloody, is still unbowed, and who is not subject to the caprices of misfortune and who finds sweetness still in adversity. America admires the up-standing and the courageous. America loves men like Washington and Lincoln, and St. Patrick in his way was a man of that type. America likes the Irish because America itself is so much Irish and because the Irish have given us so many of their virtues and so few of their faults.

So America loves St. Patrick and adopts him for her own. We honor ourselves whenever we step out of the narrow groove of nationality or religious creed to pay tribute to the man of convictions, the man of courage, the man of upright character and ideals beyond his time. We do well, indeed, to pay tribute to St. Patrick.

We hope this is a fair reply to a fair question.

Practical Health Problems

MILK BOOTLEGGERS MENACE TO COUNTRY

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
(Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine.)

The 18th amendment has made the word bootlegger significant to every person in the United States. However, the use of the term cannot and should not be restricted wholly to the illegal distribution of alcoholic beverages. There are bootleggers in almost every field of human life, and it is conceivable that the bootlegger in the health field may be even more of a menace to the community than the bootlegger of intoxicating liquors.

Because of the menace that exists from milk coming from tuberculous cows, from milk that has been collected under unsanitary conditions and from milk that is distributed without suitable hygenic control, the milk bootlegger may cause more disease and death than the purveyor of bad whisky.

Most large communities have laws regulating the collection, pasteurization, distribution and sale of milk. These laws involve in many instances adequate physical examination of the workers in the dairies and on the farms to make certain that they do not have infectious diseases.

The laws demand adequate refrigeration of the milk during transportation. pasteurization by the holding method, which means that the milk must be held for a certain definite period at a certain definite temperature, distribution in sterilized bottles and proper handling of the bottles that are collected from the homes after the milk is used.

Instances are recorded in which farmers owning one or two cows have collected the milk from these cows and peddled it from door to door in nearby communities, without observing any sanitary precautions, and at lower prices than can be met by reputable distributors who observe the law.

One instance is recorded in which such a farmer peddler delivered milk to a home where there was scarlet fever and each day collected the bottles from this home, rinsed them in his wagon nad refilled them with milk from a large can, and then left these bottles in other homes in the community.

Such a performance is far more menacing than bootlegging in any other field.

It is a wise precaution to check up on your milk man and be sure that his methods are sanitary.

Begin Losing Interest

BY CHARLES P. STEWART,
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 16.—The senate's investigation of the New York stock market might be intensely interesting if the folk who started it desired to make it so.

They appear to have changed their minds, however.

According to Senator Brookhart of Iowa and other economic malcontents in both political parties, the agitation for a "probe" was started by administration regulars, who were disappointed by the market's failure to soar more decidedly following creation of the Reconstruction Finance corporation and the adoption of various supplementary measures intended to lift the depression.

In brief, the idea was to ascertain what started prices down in the first place, and why, with the encouragement they have received, they do not rise faster and higher.

There is no doubt of this—the bears were the traders it was sought to put on the pan; not the bulls.

As soon as the suggestion was made that the inquiry's scope be so extended as to account for the tremendous figures at which stocks sold before the crash of 1929, the senators who previously had been demanding it lost interest; in fact, began to express objections to any inquiry whatever.

* * *

THERE PROBABLY would have been none, had those who originally advocated it had their way, but as soon as they began to shy in a different direction the progressives grew insistent.

Most of the discussion was carried on behind the closed doors of the senate committee on banking and currency. Nevertheless, enough of the proceedings leaked out to give a strong impression that the administration forces acquiesced in going ahead with the program less from any real liking for it than because they found it mighty difficult to oppose what they themselves had initiated.

As Senator Brookhart is quoted to have said. "They had the bears by their tails and were afraid to let go of them."

* * *

THE VICTORY of the progressives, it is true, was only partial.

They did compel the regulars to agree to an investigation of precrash high stock market prices as well as post-crash low ones.

The administrationists' plan was spoiled thus.

Their theory quite frankly is that market interests unfriendly to President Hoover's re-election have deliberately waged a successful campaign (by "selling short," as traders express it) to keep stocks down, prolonging hard times and unemployment until after the battle of the ballots in November.

That many speculators have been operating on the assumption that the bottom of the market has not yet been reached is indisputable.

It does not necessarily follow that they have been doing so with a view to injuring Mr. Hoover's political chances. They may simply be trading in accordance with the dictates of their own best judgment, and with no other purpose in mind than to make as much money as possible—instead of risking losses by buying for a general rise which they consider unlikely at present.

Still, there is such a thing as "market manipulation," downward as well as upward.

And downward manipulation, if any, certainly is what would be revealed by an investigation dating from the crash of 1929—the market ever since then having been almost constantly a "bear market," except for a few recent bulges of insufficient proportions or duration to satisfy hopes of a continuing, dependable recovery.

* * *

THUS A MARKET INVESTIGATION, strictly limited to the post-crash period, might reasonably have been expected to uncover what was described a few days ago by one of the senate banking and currency committee's witnesses (Joseph S. Lawrence, a financial expert) as "a plausible excuse for the depression."

But obviously an investigation designed to suit administration purposes must not reach back into the pre-crash period.

Anyone who recalls stock prices in those days will readily appreciate the undesirability, from a G. O. P. prosperity standpoint, of raking up a detailed story of the inflationary methods practiced during the Coolidge and early Hoover era.

It was by making the "probe" a pre-crash as well as a post-crash affair that the insurgents took all the joy out of it for the administrationists.

* * *

WHAT SPOILS it for the progressives is that it will not be much of a "probe" of any sort.

It is in the senate committee on banking and currency and Senator Frederic C. Walcott of Connecticut is the sub-committee's chiarman; Senator Walcott sponsored the investigation at the outset, when the scheme was to confine it to a frying out of the bears exclusively—and a proper regard for senatorial courtesy made it impossible to take the chairmanship away from him when the bulls were included.

Senator Walcott knows when an investigation ought to be an investigation and when it ought to be a whitewash.

ECONOMIC PROBLEM

In a nation at peace with the world there can be no greater enemy of the general welfare than a fluctuating dollar.

If the business of the country as it affects the affairs of the great majority of its citizens could be finished completely month by month, with all contracts filled, all debts paid and all other agreements consummated, variations in the purchasing power of currency would be of less importance. But the completed monthly transactions form but small part of business and for the great mass of people of ordinary means, the part of least significance.

The heartbreaking effect of dollar value fluctuation arises out of making contracts under one set of conditions which cannot possibly be fulfilled under other conditions. "We can buy a home," say the young couple in so-called good times. "If we set aside a fifth of our income each month, we can keep up the payments on a little house."

They buy the house with a first payment from their savings. For a few years they make their payments as they planned. Then they discover that it grows increasingly more difficult. As they express it, prices are coming down.

The debt they have contracted is twice the present value of their property. Their labor is valued at proportionately less. They must work much longer to earn the amount of their payments. They give up the struggle, lose their savings and the accumulation of their investment and join the renting class again. The shifting dollar has tricked them.

No more serious problem challenges the wisdom of this generation.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

The U. S. Senator Who Was Not a Candidate for Office:

In 1910 the election of the members of the United States Senate was not yet vested in the people of the several states. Instead, the U. S. Senators were elected by their State Legislature for a term of six years, one-third retiring every two years. In Jan., 1911, the newly elected Legislature of Montana met and proceeded to elect a Senator to succeed U. S. Senator Carter. A ballot was taken daily for sixty days during the entire duration of the session. Thursday, March 2, 1911, was to be the last day of the session. The balloting having continued all day with a negative result, the Legislature was about to adjourn sine die when District Judge Henry L. Myers' name was put up at the psychological moment, and he was elected by the unanimous vote of the Democratic majority.

Judge Myers, who was thus elected to the United States Senate, while he was completely unaware that he was even a candidate, served twelve years, being reelected for a full term in 1916.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Beautiful ELLEN ROSSITER, a salesgirl in Barclay's Department Store, lives with her mother, MOLLY ROSSITER, her elder sister, MYRA, and her young brother, MIKE. Molly has dissipated a fortune left by their father and the girls support the family. Molly foolishly spends money saved to pay the rent. Ellen decides to work nights at Dreamland as a hostess until the sum is made up. The hostesses must wear evening dresses and Ellen has none. STEVEN BARCLAY, 57 and her employer, lends her a dress. She forgets his kindness when at Dreamland she meets handsome LARRY HARROWGATE, an artist. Later Ellen discovers Larry is engaged to be married. Even though she thinks him a philanderer she continues to see him.

Myra and Molly openly favor Barclay. Ellen quarrels with them. Then MRS. BONDY, a store gossip, spreads scandalous stories of Barclay's attentions to Ellen and she determines to see him no more. Molly telephones that a guest is coming to dinner, but does not supply the name of this guest. Ellen supposes it to be BERT ARMSTEAD, her sister's fiance.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XVI

THAT evening as Ellen entered the shabby Brooklyn apartment house she felt a great peace stealing over her. The lobby was uncarpeted, the tiled floor was by no means clean, the treads of the stairs had been worn by many feet. As usual Mrs. Clancy popped open her door to see who had come in. Surely there was nothing visible here to induce happiness but the girl felt an odd lift of spirit. This was home. She had left the store behind. For 12 hours she need not think of it. She had stepped out of the ugly and complicated life she led there to return to a life of her own.

She was tired and she was coming home. She was glad even that she was not that night to see Larry Harrowgate. Tonight she wanted only Myra and her mother and baby Mike with loyal, stodgy Bert serving as a comfortable background. A leisurely supper, afterwards a bath and maybe a shampoo if she felt like it—a delightful way to spend an evening, thought Ellen.

She reached the fifth floor, unlocked the door and stepped into the Rossiter living room. She stopped at the threshold, gasped. What had happened to that beloved, familiar room? Since morning it had changed startlingly, miraculously. Everything about it had been changed. The worn carpet was gone. The floor had been polished and was covered now with summer scatter rugs. The familiar contour of the furniture was lost beneath smart slip covers in gray and orange. Curtains of the same gray and orange material fluttered at the windows. New pewter ash trays twinkled from the mantel cleared for once of Mike's school books. A new bridge lamp bloomed beside the easy chair. Everywhere were flowers.

What happened? As she ran into the dining room Ellen thought confusedly that perhaps her English grandfather had died and remembered them in his will. Perhaps the dreams that colored her childhood had at last come true.

* * *

IN THE dining room a colored maid polished heavy silver finger bowls. The table, decked in new linen, flaunted a centerpiece made of Steven Barclay's roses, tall and splendid in a silver vase. New rugs and curtains here, too. The maid glanced at Ellen, exposed white teeth.

"What are you doing here?" the girl demanded in astonishment.

"I wuk here."

Ellen dashed into the kitchen. The kitchen was not changed. Molly turned around from the stove and smiled at her.

"Were you surprised, honey?" she asked in a gale of merriment and high spirits.

"What in the world has happened anyhow?"

"We're giving you your chance—that's what's happened." Molly crowed. "I'd never have known how to manage but Mrs. Clancy told me how to borrow money on the insurance. I've had the most exhausting day. It took a long time to get the money and since then I've spun like a top."

"Have we both gone crazy? What are you talking about?"

"You'll see." Molly was convulsed with mysterious laughter.

From downstairs the doorbell rang imperatively. Ellen in a confused daze answered its summons.

"Go and see who it is," Molly commanded mysteriously.

As she ran back trrough the dining room Ellen noticed that the painting of her grandmother, which had been stored since her father's death, was in place on the wall. She reached the outer door and jerked it open.

Coming up the stairs was Steven Barclay.

"I'm afraid I'm early," were Barclay's first words. "Your mother said seven."

Letters To The Editor

Plainview Man Sees Need Of Third Political Party

Dear Editor: If the Texas Democratic Executive committee truly represents the Democratic party of the state and nation, then the party has again "gone and done it," and again verified that true and trite saying of President Grant, which he passed into a proverb, "that the Democratic party can be depended upon to act the political fool at the right time."

The committee says that those of us who voted in 1928 against Al Smith and the whiskey demon must sign a written pledge that we will not do so any more. That no matter what the party may dish up to us, whether Al Smith, John J. Raskob or the devil, and no matter what the platform declares for, whether the gold standard, a continuation of the present money or financial system which is the child of Wall Street, and has brought upon our nation the present, and former financial depression and panics, whether it declares for the whiskey traffic and open saloon or no matter what, we must like young birds open our mouths and gulp it down.

It is plain that the object of this pledge is to humble and humiliate those of us who voted against Al Smith and the whiskey traffic in 1928. But let me warn this self-constituted oligarchy that that pledge is surcharged with dynamite and a violent explosion is inevitable. Not only will the voters, aimed at in this pledge, resent and contempt it, but every red-blooded American in whose veins course a single drop of patriotic blood will condemn it. Instead of pouring oil upon the troubled political waters they have injected that which will further divide and alienate the party.

The very idea that a decent self-respecting conscientious voter binding him or herself up in writing to vote for anything that may be dished up to him by a few, it may be, truckling demagogues and politicians. It is plain that the Democratic party hopes and expects to ride into power this year on the slogan that Hoover and the Republican party have brought upon the country that terrible panic. But be it known to all men, that this money system was saddled upon the country before Hoover was born, by both the Republican and Democratic parties, and has by these parties been perpetuated, and caused every financial panic since the Civil war. And neither party has done anything to bring about permanent relief, but are marching hand in hand at the drum beat of Wall Street and high financial and corporation interests, and piling intolerable burdens upon our already overburdened people.

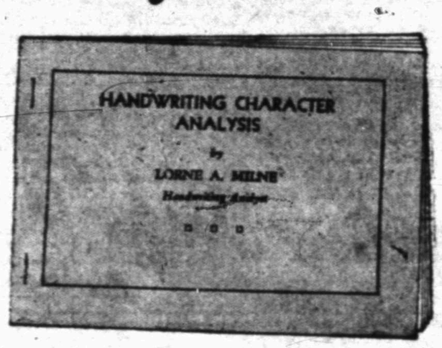

How long, Oh Lord, how long, will an intelligent and patriotic people submit to these conditions when they have the power and opportunity to prevent and remedy it?

To my mind there is not a ray of hope or relief or reform except through the organization of an independent party, and the sooner it is launched the better it will be for our country. May some Moses quickly appear on the scene to lead us into the promised land of prosperity.

Very respectfully,
T. J. TILSON.

The dime-a-dance girl

BY JOAN CLAYTON

beautiful in the doorway suddenly understood everything. By "her fiance" Molly had meant Steven Barclay. It was not the time—though her mother, to do her justice, could not have known that—to invite Steven Barclay as a guest. It was indeed not the place into which to introduce a millionaire. The makeshifts, so delightful to Molly, did not improve the down-at-heel apartment; they succeeded only in emphasizing the essential poverty of its occupants. But hospitality, deep rooted and instinctive, triumphed over lesser considerations in Ellen's mind.

Ellen stepped into the hall to greet her unwelcome visitor so warmly that he should never guess that he was not a welcome one. He was leaning against the balustrade exhausted by the long climb. His face was so white that for a moment Ellen feared he would faint. She had enough understanding not to mention his palpable weariness; enough understanding to keep silent until he made a gallant recovery.

"It's good of you to come," she said at last, extending her slender brown hands.

Seeing him rally his forces for a reply, she had a sudden flashing memory of Larry leaping up the stairs and shouting breathless and foolish nonsense.

"I'm glad you think so," Barclay said.

* * *

ELLEN noticed then, hesitating on the landing, a uniformed chauffeur laden with florist boxes, three of them. As he caught his employer's eye he came forward.

"Oh, you shouldn't have," Ellen exclaimed helplessly. "We've so many roses now—"

She stopped suddenly.

"Yes, I know I shouldn't have," Barclay agreed. "But you've no idea how I enjoyed myself. There's a box for each of you—for your sister and your mother and the pink roses are for you."

And then they entered the living room and Molly fluttered in from the kitchen and began exclaiming over the boxes and recklessly tearing them open until the room was a carnival of color. There was a smudge of flour on her pretty, tilted nose but she was far too excited to be conscious of her appearance.

"I feel as though I don't need an introduction to you at all," she bubbled, shaking hands with the guest. "Ellen has told us so much about you."

Molly's eyes and her daughter's flashed together. Ellen did not know what to do; she felt completely helpless. What could she say? There was no denying that Barclay seemed pleased.

"Well," he was saying, "I hope they were all nice things."

"Of course they were," Ellen replied a shade stiffly.

"Darling, could you get vases for the flowers?" Molly interposed, tossing aside layers of silky paper and filling her arms with sweet, purple lilacs.

Ellen concealed her reluctance at leaving her mother and her employer together and left the room. When she returned she found Molly, her lap overflowing with flowers, chattering like mad to Barclay. She was talking about the English Rossiters, "direct connections of ours, you know." Ellen understood now the reason for the portrait in the dining room. She was both annoyed and amused at her mother's childish vanity.

Although Steven was interested Ellen was exceedingly cross. She relieved Molly of the fragrant burden and arranged the lilacs, the creamy camillias and the pink roses in the already crowded room. What would Steven Barclay think of them? Surely he could see that her mother was trying to impress him; surely he could guess the reason. Ellen was too young to know that Steven was thinking nothing of the sort. He was indeed thinking that he had never been in such a charming, such a friendly place. Molly's very wiles were too transparent to seem vicious or grasping.

"You'll just have to make yourself at home," Molly urged, rising. "We live so simply that I'm afraid I'll have to take my little girl away from you. She's the only good cook in the house."

* * *

Audaciously Molly twined her arms about Ellen and drew the girl's rigid body close. Ellen knew her mother expected her to say something pretty, something deprecatory and graceful. But she said nothing at all.

"Perhaps you'd like a magazine," Molly suggested hurriedly when Ellen's stubborn silence was beginning to be embarrassing. Then she cried out, relieved. "But there's a key! It must be my older daughter, Myra, and her fiance. They'll keep you entertained."

Myra and Bert, dusty and hot, came through the dining room and into the living room. Both were plainly flabbergasted at Barclay's presence. There were more introductions. There were more exclamations over the flowers. There was more of Molly's ecstatic foolishness. There was more laughter.

Ellen maintained control until she reached the kitchen but when the kitchen door swung to after her and Molly she was in a state of towering rage, so angry she was incoherent. Never in her life had Ellen been so angry.

"I don't know what you're talking about," Molly said in a tone which she hoped would be bold but which was instead anxious and frightened.

"Can't you see how unfair you've been to me?" cried Ellen, trying to be patient. "You've borrowed money on our insurance which is the only thing that stands between us and complete ruin. You've put me in a false position with the man I work for. What sort of impression do you think you've given Mr. Barclay of all of us?"

"He likes us. I know he does! If only you hadn't stood there like a stick and left everything to me, Ellen Rossiter. I'm ashamed of you! I thought my own daughters knew better what was due a guest."

That was Molly's way. Ellen felt again that mood of intense helplessness. She saw Molly was convinced that although she herself might have been slightly at fault, Ellen's fault far outweighed her own. Tears were gathering in the black, thick-fringed eyes. Molly would forget that she had been even slightly at fault. She would only sobbingly remember that she had given her whole life to her daughter, cruel and unappreciative daughters who never remembered what she had done for them.

"All right, mother," the girl said with a heavy sigh. "You were right and I was wrong. Let's get busy at the dinner now."

Cotton Gains Erased By Professional Selling — Livestock Prices Hold About Steady Wednesday — Grain Export Purchases Send Values Up

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, March 16. (AP)—Professional selling during the late session caused early moderate gains in cotton prices today to be completely wiped out, final figures being unchanged to 1 point net up on the day. The market had opened moderately higher and soon after advanced to net gains of 7 to 8 points for best levels of the day on good trade buying and a little short covering. Later in the day, this support was withdrawn and though offerings were light during midday, small recessions occurred. When stocks declined in the afternoon, the selling pressure became more pronounced, resulting in declines of nearly a half dollar a bale from the morning highs.

Final figures were unchanged to 1 point net up on the day but 8 to 9 points under the day's highs, May closing at 6.88; July at 7.04 and Oct. 7.23.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, March 16. (AP)—Early advances of several points in cotton today were followed by reactions on realizing combined with some local or commission house selling.

This was absorbed by trade buying and covering and after selling off from 6.95@6.86, May contracts closed at 6.88, with the general market closing steady net 1 point higher to 3 points lower. The opening was steady, at unchanged to an advance of 4 points on some trade and commission house buying.

Little southern selling was in evidence and with offerings limited, active months worked about 5 to 7 points net higher during the early trading.

The advance extended to 7.12 for July and 7.34 for Oct., but at these levels met more cotton. Thus the early advances were lost with July selling down to 7.04 and October to 7.26 making net declines of about 2 to 4 points on active months. Closing prices showed rallies of 2 or 3 pints from the lowest.

Stocks Show Quiet Decline Due To Adverse Divided And Trade Notices

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, March 16. (AP)—Adverse dividend and trade news imposed on today's stock market a weight of evidence which Wall street, in its current mood, was unable to counterbalance with any favorable arguments at its immediate disposal.

The decline was quiet, but it also was steady after a brief period of firmness following the opening. Events of the financial day worked in favor of a decline and optimists found themselves, for the moment, rather uncomfortably jostled. Bonds had a very dull time of it although a new high grade issue was quickly oversubscribed.

Heaviness of stocks was general. Rails gave what the technicians called an unfavorable performance, yet on the average they did better than either industrials or utilities. In these two groups several stocks stood out because of their reaction to specific developments. R. H. Macy flopped more than 8 points on an unexpected dividend cut to $2 annually from $3. Krueger and Toll was offered in substantial volume when it was learned that the Stockholm exchange on its reopening next Monday, would remove the issue from trading there.

General Motors slipped into new low ground under afternoon selling. U. S. Steel, American Can, Westinghouse, Sears Roebuck, Consolidated Gas and North American were off one or more, together with such rails as Canadian Pacific, Chesapeake and Ohio and New York Central. Otis Elevator steadied after its dividend cut was disclosed. American Telephone, Bendix, Allied Chemical, Du Pont and Santa Fe lost 2 to 2 1-2, Union Pacific 3 3-4 net and Auburn 5 1-4. Turnover was slightly less than yesterday's, amounting to 1,464,264 shares.

Justice Moves Swiftly In Clinton Bank Robbery Case

CLINTON, Ia., March 16. (AP) — Four men were sentenced to life imprisonment today for yesterday's $106,000 robbery of the City National bank here.

The men, Clifford Edwards, 22, of Clinton, and Guy Edwards Morris, 19; Earl Jeffries, 19, and Lester Stanley, 28, all of Louisville, Ky. pleaded guilty before Judge A. P Barker.

"We might as well admit it was a foolish thing to do," said Edwards after Judge Barker gave them a brief lecture on the futility of crime. The others took the sentence as calmly.

Within eight hours after the robbery, the youthful bandits had been captured and confessed.

Late today they were taken to the state reformatory at Anamosa to begin serving their terms.

To Sell Memberships

The plan was outlined by Herbert W. Cost, special representative of the Civic Concert Service, Inc., of Chicago and New York. Under such a plan, a series of great artist concerts would be presented annually without the necessity of raising any guarantee or in which there was no risk of loss, Mr. Cost said. No tickets will be sold, only members of the association being permitted to attend. Annual membership dues will be $5 for each adult member and $2.50 for juniors and students.

The arrangement provides for a minimum of three fine artists concerts here next season, if the membership permits. If sufficient members are not enrolled for three concerts, the due will be returned to the members. The directorate of the organization, as outlined, will include every social, civic, musical, religious and scholastic group Membership in an association here permits the holder to attend a concert without cost in any other city in which an association is functioning.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, March 16. (AP)—Despite setbacks in securities, grain values tended upward today stimulated by fresh export purchases of wheat, grown in the United States.

Wheat closed unsettled at almost the day's top, 3-8 to 5-8 over yesterday's finish, corn 1-4 to 5-8 up 7, oats unchanged to 1-8 higher, and provisions unchanged to 5 cents off.

Irving Bitz, who were named by Colonel Lindbergh as his "go-betweens," and Morris Rosner, who has acted on at least one occasion since the kidnaping as the aviator's emissary, were believed to have made little headway in their endeavors.

Servants Not Suspicionless

While he explained that police had no definite ground for suspecting any of the Lindbergh servants, he said none was free from suspicion.

The police conviction the child is still alive, he said, is based on a belief the kidnapers would not dare to slay the infant. He said officials were inclined to discredit the frequently advanced argument the abductors might kill the child if the hunt pressed too close. It would be easy for them to leave the baby in a hotel room, he added.

As the fifteenth day since the abduction drew to a close, the investigators were tracking down vaguer clues than ever before — queer anonymous letters, stories of old kidnapings and wild rumors that would not remain silent.

Hope Not Abandoned

But still no sign came from authorities or from the hilltop home of the famous flier that would indicate hope had been abandoned.

A general impression persisted in some circles that as soon as the frenzied search has quieted down further, new word may come from the child-stealers. This theory was based on a supposition that the curly-haired child is still alive and is being well cared for, but that those who made off with him are biding their time—waiting until they consider it safe to complete negotiations.

The most tangible clue being followed by state police sent investigators to Highland Park, N. J., where Mrs. Leandro Lightfoot told them two German servants, a butler and a maid, left her employ the day after the kidnaping.

Coincident with their departure Mrs. Lightfoot discovered that a chisel and some rough wood such as the kidnapers' ladder was made from had been taken from her estate. A chisel was found beneath a window of the nursery from which the Lindbergh boy was stolen.

"Our investigators are checking the story," state police officials said, but they have not reported results as yet to this office."

Stanley G. Crandall, a paroled convict who served time for kidnaping a child in 1923, offered to join in the hunt for the missing child after he had been freed of all suspicion in connection with the Lindbergh kidnaping.

Circular On Case Is Received Here

The most notorious kidnap case in U. S. criminology is echoed in a glazed eye-catching circular hanging on a file hook at Lubbock police headquarters. The sheet, distributed by Col. N. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of New Jersey state police, of Trenton, says in part: "Wanted—information as to the whereabouts of Charles A. Lindbergh, jr., of Hopewell, N. J., son of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, world-famous aviator." Two pictures of the child are on the circular.

EVEN SHIP BUILDING

Clyde, the British Isle's famous shipbuilding city, had its worst year on record in 1931. Business dropped 70 per cent below that of 1930, and 80 per cent below that of 1913, the last year on record.

PAIN IN SIDE, DIZZINESS

AUSTIN, Texas. —"I was never well after my baby's birth. I was troubled with dizziness and finally became so ill I had to go to bed. I had a pain in my side and had functional disturbances," said Mrs. S. B. McCall, 301 Colorado St. "The doctors advised an operation but my mother told me to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, for the ills of women, and Golden Medical Discovery, a general tonic, and I took these two medicines in tablet form, along with Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets as a laxative and they helped me greatly."

And The Governor Of Texas Said To The Governor Of Chihuahua—

EL PASO, March 16. (AP)—Here's what the governor of Texas, Ross Sterling, said to the governor of Chihuahua, Roberto Fierro, when they met at the international bridge today:

"Well, it's not a long time between drinks now."

"No," replied Governor Fierro, "not here in Juarez."

Governor Sterling declined an invitation to drink beer and other intoxicants. "I'm a tee-totaler," he said.

Methodists Meet Here Wednesday In All-Day Rally

Between 500 and 600 South Plains ministers and laymen attended an all-day spiritual life conference Wednesday at the First Methodist church, with Bishop Hiram A. Boaz of Houston as the principal speaker at the morning session.

The visitors from out-of-town brought their lunches and spread them in the church basement. The Rev. W. G. Bailey of Plainview and the Rev. J. O. Haymes, Lubbock Methodist pastor, spoke at the morning hour. "The Need of a Revival" was discussed by the bishop, who pointed out that several denominations reported net membership losses last year. He urged a more honest effort "in the winning of people to the church."

Wednesday afternoon the Rev. E. E. White of Plainview, the Rev. C. A. Bickley, Lubbock Methodist district presiding elder, C. A. Sanford, Lubbock layman, the Rev. W. H. Strong of Petersburg and the Rev. W. H. Wallace of Lamesa spoke. Round-table conferences were held at both sessions.

The Rev. R. N. Huckabee of Shamrock, who is assisting the Rev. Mr. Haymes at a revival at the First Methodist church here, will preach at 10 o'clock this morning.

A HITCH TO THIS!

LONDON.—Women who titter at jokes should be hailed into court and fined, according to J. B. Hitch, well known psychologist. Hitch says he has found, by "actual research," that "silly women forever giggling at nothing" have been the cause of the majority of divorces. He says that nothing will arouse a man's ire so much as "a woman who is a goose."

Youth Retiring
Only One Seeking Office Again

CROSBYTON, March 16.—Two of the three youthful officials of Crosby county are retiring from public office at the close of their term the first of 1933 and only one of the trio is a candidate for office.

When Elmer Reed, sheriff, was chosen for that office in 1926 he was just 22 and was the youngest sheriff in Texas at that time. He has served two full terms and is finishing his third term.

Two years later Edgar Hutchins, a school teacher, ran for county judge and was elected. He ran again two years ago and has since studied law and expects to open a law office at the close of his term.

Jarratt Martin, another man named to office when he was but 22, is finishing his first term as county attorney. He was chosen two years ago and expects to be elected again. So far he has had no opposition.

Druggist Gives New Formula To Stop Headaches

Realizing that no one drug can relieve all headaches, as they come from so many causes, a North Carolina pharmacist has developed a combination of several ingredients, so blended and proportioned as to relieve almost any headache in a few minutes. You can get this formula wherever drugs are sold under the name "B.C." 10c and 25c packages, and when you have one of those violent, nerve-racking headaches, from inorganic causes, "B.C." will give you soothing relief in three minutes. "B.C." should also be used for the relief of muscular aches and pains, common colds and neuralgia, reducing fever, and for quieting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics or such habit forming drugs. —(adv.)

The authoriation was the first for building here this week, the third this month, and the eighteenth this year. Permits issued this month represent an aggregate expenditure of $9,062.50 and this year $12,567.50.
