

SO WHO NEEDS PAVING?

THIS TYPE OF TROUBLE is what Olton's city council had in mind recently when they proposed a new paving project for the city. The council especially would like to see blocks like this one, near the new post office, improved. The city has asked that any persons interested in new paving contact the city hall for more information.

FASTER MAIL SERVICE GOAL OF NEW SYSTEM

A change of major proportions occurred in Olton Saturday, but it occurred so quietly that many people probably never noticed that the whole workings of the Post Office were changed. No, the same people are still working in the same building -- but the method of work has changed.

Saturday the new "sectional center facilities" postal system became effective in Texas -- designed to speed the flow of mail across the state and the nation.

To implement the new system, which ties in with the recently inaugurated ZIP codes, sectional centers have been set up in various population centers.

A sectional center in Amarillo will handle this area, and the towns served by this center, will be all those ZIP code numbers begin with "790." Olton -- 79064 -- is included in this group.

Other sectional centers in the area are located at Lubbock and Childress -- each handling a different ZIP code.

All Olton mail, except that destined for Olton, Plainview, and Hart, is now funneled into Amarillo -- where crews quickly dispatch it to the proper town or sectional center.

A network of night-time deliveries between sectional centers is scheduled so that all incoming mail in each sectional center can be delivered to nearby sectional centers early the next morning.

Postmaster I. B. "Doc" Holt, who is a true believer -- of sorts -- in the new system, said the plan is designed to speed mail flow so that Olton mail can be delivered to nearly any town in the Texas Panhandle the morning after it is mailed here.

Incoming truck schedules have been altered to conform to the new system. Where Olton has been receiving mail four times a day, deliveries will be made only twice a day from now on.

Previously the first truck in arrived at 7:15 a.m., and the last one in came through at 2 p.m. Now, however, the first truck comes in at 4:30 a.m. and the last one arrives at 8 a.m.

The two early morning deliveries bring in 96-97 per cent of Olton's mail according to the postmaster. He says that all Olton mail is now received by noon.

The first truck brings mail directly from the Amarillo sectional center, and the second comes in through Plainview -- with mail from the Amarillo center, and with mail posted in Plainview for Olton.

One change will be made in the delivery schedule from Olton to accommodate the new arrival times. Rural mail routes will be run one hour later than they have been run previously. Postmaster Holt says that the delay of one hour will allow some mail from within the state to be delivered as much as 23 hours earlier than before.

Mail leaves Olton now three times each day. At 9 a.m. mail addressed to Hart is sent north -- and only mail addressed to Hart. Then at 11:30 a.m. mail for Plainview is sent east -- and only mail from Olton addressed to Plainview is sent. On weekdays all other mail going out from Olton is sent to Amarillo at 5:15 p.m. On Saturdays this dispatch is at 4 p.m. and on Sundays and holidays the box outside the Post Office is emptied as the truck comes through.

In Amarillo the mail is worked, and all parcels and letters with the "790" ZIP code are dispatched to their destination. All other mail is combined and dispatched to other sectional centers.

The 5:15 p.m. dispatch time means that most mail to be sent out from Olton needs to be in the Post Office by about 4 p.m. to be canceled, sorted and worked in time to make the truck.

The new system should provide several advantages for Olton residents. Mail which has previously reached the Post Office at 2 p.m. is now in Olton by 8 a.m. Fort Worth and Dallas papers, for instance, theoretically can now be received by mail the day they are dated.

Recapping the postmaster said that letters to Olton from any point in the nation will be routed through Amarillo SCF (sectional center facility) under the new system -- coming easily by ZIP code designation (7 -- Texas, 90 -- Amarillo, 64 -- Olton).

Work crews will be waiting each morning in Amarillo to process all incoming mail for area towns -- including Olton.

With this new system, the postmaster stressed the importance of use of the ZIP code on all mail. Mail will still be accepted without the code, but it will be delayed in getting to its destination -- and as the system grows, the delay will become longer.

The postmaster said coded mail has been taken care of. Eventually the major centers will use computers to read the code and dispatch the mail -- and the machines will toss out mail without the code, and it will be worked by hand when the rest of the mail is worked.

The system theoretically will work something as follows:

The mail goes through the first reader and is sorted by the first digit of the ZIP code -- separating it into the ten major postal divisions of the nation.

The mail is fed through another reader and separated for the various sectional centers.

Then the mail is fed through another reader and separated by the fourth and fifth digits -- thus automatically being separated by various towns served by the center.

Efficient dispatch of the mail depends to a large extent on patron co-operation, says the postmaster. Each detail adhered to -- early mailing, ZIP coding and legible writing -- helps speed the mail to its final destination.

Bulk mailers -- such as the Enterprise -- are already switching over their mailing list to conform to the new system.

For example, before the papers are taken to the Post Office, bundles are made and tied for various cities, sectional centers and states.

With the increasingly speedy service comes one warning: Watch those checks mailed to distant points with intentions of getting Saturday's check deposited before the check returns. The Post Office may have the check speeded to the intended receiver and have it back clearing the bank before you get home from mailing it.

For residents of Lamb County is the cost of local government greater or less than it is for people in other areas?

For the first time in five years, the Census Bureau has made a detailed study of finances in each of the 3100 counties throughout the United States. The results are reported in the current Census of Governments.

So that comparison may be made, all figures have been related to the same period, fiscal 1962.

They show, for people living in Lamb County, that the total cost in the year for governmental operations came to $163 per capita, of which $100 was for education.

The average in the rest of the United States was $214 per capita and, in the State of Texas, $184.

In all, it took $39.8 billion to run the various county, township, municipal and district governments in the nation and to provide the public with services in the fields of education, highways, health, welfare, police and fire protection, sewerage and sanitation, parks, housing, libraries and the like.

That was $9.2 billion more than it cost in 1957, when the previous Census of Governments was taken.

This problem was vividly demonstrated by the explosion in the culvert. The blast tore up the culvert casing, and left no fragments of the bomb around for inspection.

"If this is not stopped, it may result in serious injury," Burrows said.

He added that the blasts are, at present, just "nuisances" in the area, but he pointed out that the nuisance would become tragedy if someone were killed by one of the bombs.

The police chief stressed the danger involved. Even experts with explosives have been known to get themselves killed -- a science teacher at Lockney last year when a classroom experiment with explosives blew up in his face.

Saying, "You can hear a lot in a small town," the police chief sounded a warning that he needs the co-operation of area parents to prevent a possible tragedy of major proportions. "We know several names," he said, "but somebody could get killed before we catch them in actual possession of one of the bombs."

Warning Is Issued By Police

BY MIKE READ

Police Chief Emmett Burrows sounded a warning this week for Olton area residents, parents and teenagers.

Burrows said the area is experiencing a rash of homemade bomb explosions -- one of which demolished a culvert on the G. R. Smith place about a week ago.

Burrows added that the explosive devices appear to be the handy work of a group of Olton and area teenagers. He believes some 40 or 50 youngsters may be involved in the experimentation.

The first of the explosions occurred about three weeks ago, and evidence of continued appearance of the small bombs has been mounting ever since. The police chief, pointing out that he is not an expert on explosives, said the devices appear to be some sort of a mixture of sulfur, chlorate and sugar -- plus some other ingredients.

What sort of casings are being used for the bombs is something of a mystery at the moment, according to Burrows, because the explosions invariably destroy whatever was used to contain the exploding mixture.

All nine contestants missed five games.

The winner was Truitt Sides, who guessed Olton would beat Dimmitt, 20-6. The final score was 19-0, making Sides seven points off on the tie-breaker.

Second and third place money of $6 and $4 had to be split, $5 each, to two persons who wound up in a tie.

They were R. D. Bryant of Olton and Fred Conner of Plainview. Both men missed five games and guessed 20-7 on the tie-breaker, making them eight points off.

Other contestants who ran a close race were Donice Gullett and Mrs. V. J. Trusty, each 13 points off; Pat Trotter, 15; Billie Norfleet, and Waldo Baxter, 16; and T. J. Roberson, 26.

LAST CHANCE IN CONTEST IS FRIDAY

Only one more day is left to enter the final Enterprise football contest of the year, which features the Texas Tech-Arkansas game as its tie-breaker.

Contestants should turn in their entries by 4 p.m. Friday to any of the merchants sponsoring the contest.

It's easy to enter. Just pick up a copy of the Nov. 12 Enterprise and fill out the form.

The tie-breaker was the all-important game last week as nine contestants battled it out for the prize money.

Ginnings Total 7,822 Bales

The miserable weather of the past several days has brought cotton harvest to a screeching halt in the Olton area, but the six area gins turned out 7822 bales of the white crop before the weather brought things to a standstill.

The 7822 figure is a hefty increase over last week's 3923 bales.

With the cold weather, came moisture -- more than a half inch of it. And the weatherman still insists that more is on its way.

The moisture is not helping the cotton crop. Area ginner were in unanimous agreement that wet weather would lower the grade of the cotton -- as much as full grade in some instances.

The ginner were of the opinion that staple length could also suffer from the moisture. The muddy fields will probably result in cotton that's a little dirtier than it might otherwise have been.

The proper order of things for the future would be a drying spell, followed by a quick killing freeze.

But as one ginner put it, "We'll take a freeze any way we can get it."

The freeze is late this year -- currently almost two weeks later than average -- and the harvest will not get under way in earnest until ten days to two weeks after the freeze (if the weather will turn dry).

The weather forecast Tuesday called for another round of lower temperatures, with the possibility of showers and snow flurries, as another cold front entered the area Wednesday.

But Wednesday morning the weatherman had changed his mind. The new cold front was reported in difficulty -- and the forecast called for a continuation of the present wet, cold weather through at least Friday.

The cold front which hit the area this past weekend was supposed to bring the first killing freeze of the year, but it just didn't quite make the grade -- though it definitely turned out to be winter weather.

The freeze last year -- Nov. 18 -- was one of the latest on record (the actual record date for late freeze being Nov. 26), but "Old Man Winter" has turned out to be even lazier this year than last.

Farm Census Plans All Set

Plans for taking the 1964 Census of Agriculture in Lamb County were announced today by Marvin Vann, newly appointed census crew leader for the county.

The job will be done in three stages, Vann said. First will come recruitment and training of enumerators to count all farms in the county. About one enumerator will be needed for each 150 farms.

Shortly after November 19, the Bureau of the Census, an agency of the U. S. Department of Commerce, will start the second stage by mailing agricultural census questionnaires to all rural boxholders in the county.

This will give farm and ranch operators, who are required by law to fill out the forms, a period of time to consult their records and fill in the answers to the questions.

In the final stage, enumerators will visit each farm in the county to collect the questionnaires.

At the time of this visit, the enumerators will help the farmers complete answers to any questions the farmers may have had difficulty with.

Enumerator visits are scheduled to begin in this county on November 23 and will take about three weeks to complete.

The Census of Agriculture is taken every five years in -- the years ending in "4" and "9" -- to gather up-to-date information on the nation's agricultural resources and production. Such information is vital in making decisions affecting many segments of the U. S. economy.

Data gathered include the number and size of farms, acreage and harvest of crops, livestock inventory, information on farm equipment and facilities, farm products sold, and use of fertilizers, insecticides, and herbicides.

MUDSLINGERS

ONE OF THE BUSIEST PLACES in Olton, the new post office, is catching the most mud as a result of the drizzly weather of the past few days, possibly because several unpaved streets are nearby. Above, Postmaster Doc Holt, left, wonders what it'll take to clean up the place, while Eddie Moore, custodian, thinks a shovel may be the answer. Basil Sherman, right, adds a little fuel to the fire.

Zip Up Yule Mail

The Christmas "rush" brings a very old quote to mind: "Neither snow nor rain, nor heat, nor gloom of night stays these couriers from the swift completion of the appointed rounds." This was said by the Greek historian, Herodotus in the Fifth Century B.C., but it is still true of the postal service.

However, Postmaster I. B. "Doc" Holt recently added a thought. "While it is true that bad weather doesn't stop the mails, it certainly can slow them down."

He mentioned that planes can't get off the ground, switches on railroad tracks can freeze up. Trucks must move more slowly and cautiously over highways. And, in many places, mailmen might wish for the warmth of an igloo. Even the impish Mr. ZIP can't assure next-day delivery under these conditions.

"Why," you may ask, "does the postmaster bring this up?"

"Simply to let people know that there is a factor that we just can't control, the weather," Postmaster Holt said. "It is important that people mailing Christmas cards and gifts make every effort to shop early and mail early to assure on-time delivery. This is especially true during the Christmas rush when an ever increasing avalanche of mail moves through the postal system."

The Post Office Department has several new tools to use in this year's mail service. The most important is the ZIP Code and transportation-distribution system that came into being with the Zoning Improvement Plan (ZIP). Postmaster Holt is urging everyone to use the five digit numbers because in most cases the code cuts down the number of times a piece of mail must be handled. This saves time, labor, and money.

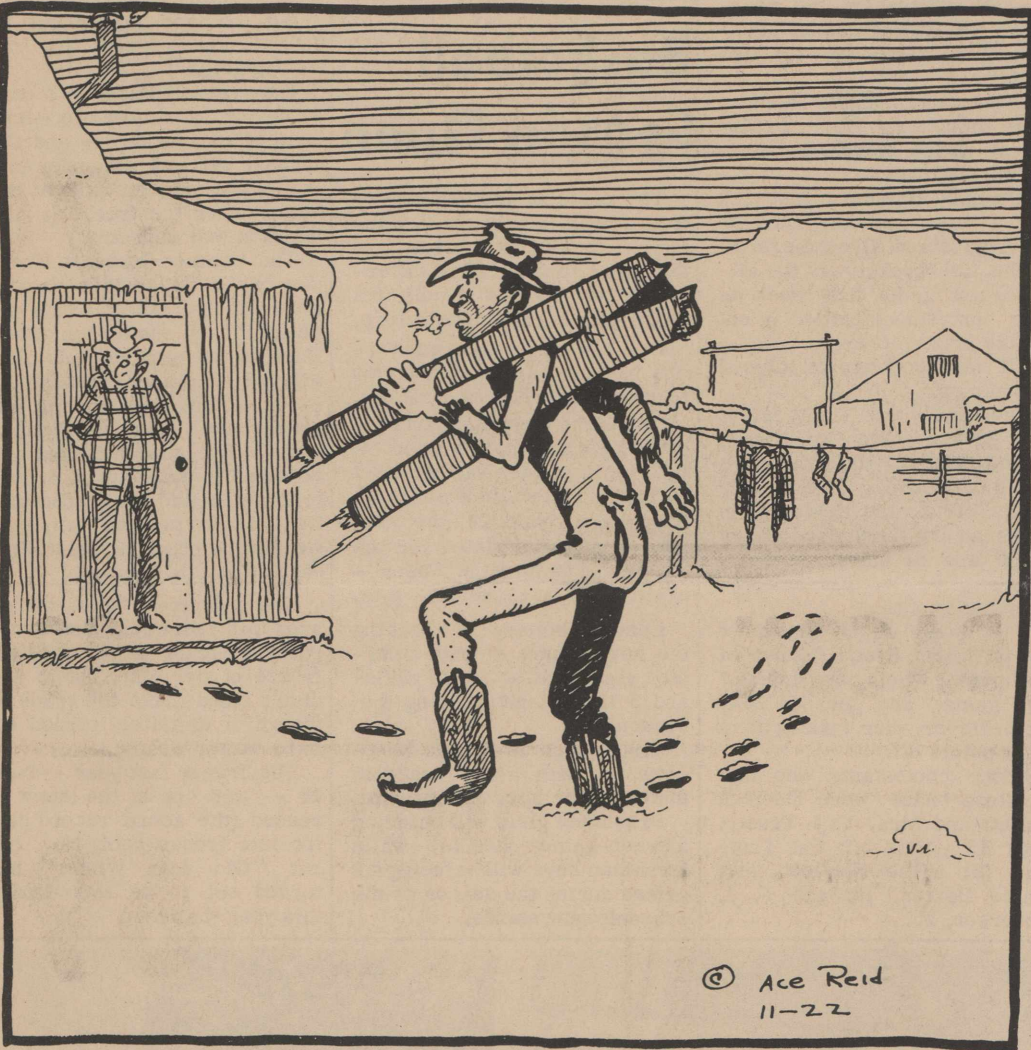

He suggests that even if you don't know the code for the addresses of the people to whom you'll be sending cards and gifts, you should use the code on your return address. And you should record the codes from the return addresses of those who are writing you.

Moving the Christmas mail is a hard, tiring job and the local workers who work so diligently during this period deserve all the cooperation they can get.

The postmaster said that shopping early, mailing early, and using ZIP Codes will really put ZIP into your Christmas mailings ...and give your mailman a hand too.

PHILOSOPHER

Government-Regulated . . . ?

Editor's note: The Running Water Philosopher on his Careless Weed Farm asks a puzzling question this week.

Dear editor:

Back during the campaign I was listening to two men arguing politics and one of them was making a big point out of President Johnson's money.

"I don't object to anybody making a big point out of President Johnson's money," he was saying. "I wish I had more, but I don't think a man in government ought to make his fortune in a government - regulated business, like television and radio."

"Yeah?" the other one put in, slamming his fist on the counter. "And just what business would you have him make his money in?"

"Why, plenty of things, he could make it in banking...nope, that's government-regulated. Or farming...nope, that's regulated. Or...say, just what business could a man get into that ain't government - regulated?"

He left the question unanswered and I came on home, stopping by the mail box to see if my government check had come, and have been thinking ever since and by George I'd like to ask you, what business could a man get into that's not government-regulated?

BEATLE-MANIA CAN BE A BORE!

Dear Amy:
Tell me if it's wrong to have long hair? My parents make me get a haircut everytime it gets long. They say it looks terrible, but my friends say I look good in long hair. I think I look better, too. What should I do?
Beatle

Dear Beatle:
The Beatles' long hair is their trademark. Unless you are one, establish an identity of your own. Get a haircut before it gets long. Then you will "see" what I mean. Beatle-mania can be a bore!

Dear Amy:

I am a young woman with 4 children. About 5 years ago I threw my husband out as things weren't going too good, mostly not enough money to pay bills, etc. My husband had quit his job and was getting a V.A. pension plus retirement money, but it wasn't enough to support the family.

After five years, I still love him. I never date any men. I only think of him. My children are very unhappy, too, and they miss their father. I have too much pride to tell my husband I still love him and that the children and I need him. What do you think I should do: Try and forget him or try and get him back? I was married six years and I don't believe in divorce.
Mrs. B. J. K.

Dear Mrs. B. J. K.:
I have seen that five letter word "pride" wreck too many marriages. Swallow it and get your husband back. If two people love each other, financial problems can be worked out. Good luck!

Dear Amy:

I always read your column and now I need your advice. My husband and I went to the store to buy something for the house, and a male clerk waited on us. My husband opened his eyes real big and nodded his head. Then the clerk turned his back to me and would not wait on me. My husband then went to the other men in the store, and I heard him say to them to be careful what they were doing. So that made me really mad and I walked out. Of course my husband came out, too. What I want to know is what a nod like this means? I wasn't doing anything wrong and I don't feel like going back in the store again. My husband is jealous of me and he tries to hurt me whenever he can.

Just Wanting To Know
Dear Wanting:
I have no idea what the 'nod' means. But your husband does. Before you take him shopping with you again, get an explanation . . . or better yet, leave him home!

Dear Amy:

I have a problem and I must ask now before it gets the best of me. My boyfriend (21) has a very "sissyish" boss who can talk anyone into doing anything. For instance, he asked us to paint his basement, pick his girl up and bring her home and help prepare for parties. Well, I personally cannot stand this "Kook", but my boyfriend has to put up with it so he won't be treated at work like a dog. I've just about had it with this boss of his, and if something isn't done soon, I'll . . .
Explode

Dear Explode:
What your boyfriend wants to do for his boss beyond the call of duty is his business. If it disturbs you to the point of explosion, stay away from the site of the dynamite. If there's any blasting to be done, it's your friends place to do it. Don't set the fuse!

Dear Amy:

My husband goes out with the boys once a week. They usually go to the gym and then stop for a bite to eat before they come home. Last week when he came home, there was lipstick (I think) on his handkerchief. He swears it was tomato juice and not lipstick. Should I believe him?
Doubtful

Dear Doubtful:
Yes! Just tell him to get rid of that tomato!

Olton's Mustangs rolled up three first-half touchdowns then coasted to a 19-0 victory over the Dimmitt Bobcats at Dimmitt last Friday night.

The win closed out Olton's season with a 3-2 mark in district 3-AA play, good for third place, and gave the Ponies an even break for the year, 5-5.

The Ponies tucked away their football gear for another year with a victory that came fairly easily, with Dimmitt making only one serious threat.

So steady was the Olton defense that the Bobcats moved inside the Olton 40 only once during the game, despite the fact they made 13 first downs and 154 yards rushing.

The Mustangs drove 52 yards in 12 plays for their first touchdown, then marched 72 yards in 10 plays for their second.

Defense provided the third touchdown, a 90-yard pass interception return after the Bobcats had advanced to the Olton 16 for their only serious offensive move.

The game was the final one in the careers of 10 Mustang seniors -- Ronnie Digby, Jerry LaFrance, Richard Hall, Joe Costello, Dwight Clark, Dennis Givens, Don Sophier, Ronnie Trusty, Junior Cordero and Darrell Glover.

Several of them stood out -- Hall, with sparkling defensive play and a touchdown on the pass interception return; Costello, with a six-yard per carry rushing average; and Glover with an outstanding defensive game.

LaFrance showed well as a ballcarrier, and Clark, Givens, Digby and Sophier had good defensive games.

The underclassmen came in for their share of the victory, too, with Joe Priest, Jack Burkhalter, Gail Bizzell, Tommy Hall, Dale DeBerry, Steve Moss, Curtis Hall, Don Mitchell and Charles Church all performing well.

Burkhalter led Olton ballcarriers with 50 yards in 11 carries, while Richard Hall picked up 44 in 11, DeBerry 40 in 6 and Costell 42 in 7. LaFrance carried five times for 17 yards.

Bernard Bossett paced Dimmitt with 61 yards in 7 trips.

The first Olton touchdown came on an eight-yard flip from Priest to Church with 1:05 to play in the first quarter.

Priest was almost bottled up on the fourth down play, but managed to get the ball away as he was hit. Church was all alone in the end zone for the six pointer.

Priest kicked the extra point for the 7-0 lead.

After the kick-off, Dimmitt advanced to the Olton 45 before running out of gas and Olton took over at its 28 after a short punt.

From there, the Ponies marched the distance in 10 plays.

Priest started it with a nine-yard pick-up, then Costello gained eight. LaFrance got seven and Priest added nine more to put the ball on the Dimmitt 44.

After Costello gained three, DeBerry raced for 13, then 18 more to the Bobcat 10.

Costello raced in for the touchdown from there.

After Priest's extra point try was blocked, Olton led 13-0 with 6:45 left in the second period.

Dimmitt took the kick-off and began its best offensive of the night.

After Steve Hutton, the Bobcat quarterback returned the kick 35 yards to the Kimmitt 45, he rolled out for five more, then lateraled to Tony Young, who carried to the Olton 44.

Bossett gained seven and Young five to the 32. Then Young moved 16 yards to the Olton 16.

Two plays later the Bobcats were back on their 18, courtesy of a tackle by Tommy Hall which caught the ballcarrier for a two yard loss.

On third down, Hutton threw to the Olton 10, but the receiver turned out to be Richard Hall.

Hall started up the left side, then reversed his field, found a bevy of blockers and raced down the right sideline for the score.

Priest's kick was blocked and the score was 19-0 with 25 seconds left in the half.

In that space of time, Dimmitt moved for two first downs, one on a 15-yard penalty against the Ponies and the other on a pass completion by Hutton to the Olton 40.

The second half was mainly an exchange of punts, with Olton threatening only once and Dimmitt's best advance to the Olton 47.

Early in the third quarter, Olton moved to the Dimmitt 42, where a 15-yard penalty killed the drive.

Priest recovered a Dimmitt fumble at the Olton 40 late in the third quarter, and the Mustangs began what appeared to be a scoring drive.

Burkhalter carried twice for 12 yards, DeBerry added six and LaFrance came up with another half-dozen yards, giving the Ponies a first down at the Dimmitt 36.

After Priest carried for 14, Costello ran three straight plays for a first down at the Bobcat 11.

There the Bobcat defense rose up to nail Priest for losses of 10 and 15 yards on two attempts to pass.

A few plays later LaFrance intercepted a Dimmitt pass at the Dimmitt 46 and returned to the Bobcat 15. A penalty came on the fine run, however, and the ball was moved back to the Dimmitt 41.

Olton drove to the 27, where a penalty and another big loss by Priest on a pass attempt spoiled things.

Late in the game, Glover intercepted a Bobcat pass at the Olton 42, but the Mustangs were unable to capitalize on it.

As the game ended, Hutton's passing tries went for naught, the Bobcats were still in their end of the field.

Texas Tech Homecoming Scheduled

LUBBOCK -- Texas Tech brings to a close one of its most successful seasons with possibly the toughest competition in college football at this stage of the 1964 season -- the University of Arkansas Razorbacks -- in Jones Stadium at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Arkansas's Razorbacks, already in the Cotton Bowl, will be seeking a possible No. 1 national ranking, a perfect season, and an undisputed Southwest Conference championship.

All the incentive will not be that of the invaders.

Texas Tech is also definitely in the running for a major bowl invitation. Furthermore, a Red Raider victory would tie the mark of Tech's last winning team, the 1955 squad that posted a 7-2-1 mark, and would please alumni assembled for homecoming.

More than the impetus of homecoming will be needed. Tech's homecoming record hardly is formidable, since the Red Raiders have won on 19 such occasions while losing on 14, tying one.

Not since a 28-7 win over Souther Methodist in 1960 has Tech won at reunion. The law of averages may be working for Tech, however. Arkansas has taken all seven games played.

Still, the Razorbacks are hardly to be lulled by previous meetings with Tech. Only last year the Red Raiders, behind 20-0 in the first half, rallied to tie the game before losing 27-20.

Last week the Red Raiders captured their sixth victory of the season by rallying to a 28-10 win over Washington State University. As a result of 119 rushing yards, Donny Anderson of Stinnett sent his season total to 877, six more than the Tech record of 871 established by another Panhandle product, Walt Schlunkman of Dumas in 1945. Schlunkman, later a star with the Green Bay Packers, is offensive coach of the St. Louis Cardinal footballers.

County Hikes Fire Money

In an effort to end the year long debate with the City of Littlefield over the amount paid for county fire calls, the County Commissioners Court, Tuesday night, voted to increase the amount paid from $25 per call to $50 per call, effective January 1, 1965.

In a joint meeting, which was attended by members of the Earth, Olton, Springlake and Sudan fire department, city councils, and school board officials, as well as Littlefield's fire department and city council, the county repeatedly expressed the belief that the amount requested by the city, $132.14, could not be met without increasing the county valuation.

David Maxey of the Olton fire department pointed out the Olton fire department was doing alright on the amount currently being paid by the county. "We are," Maxey said, there to perform a needed service to our people and trade area, not to get rich."

Maxey continued, "On a four year average, the Olton fire department fought 83 fires per year, at a cost of $90.72 per fire. Olton has 31 volunteer firemen and four pieces of equipment."

Earth, like Olton and Springlake said they were satisfied with the $25 amount, and if it meant raising taxes they were not in favor of an increase.

Littlefield Mayor, Bill Armistead, said the city like the rest of the county did not have any desire to raise taxes or valuation, and did not want to be the cause of anyone getting hurt by losing money in any way, but Armistead said, "We don't see where it would be necessary for the county to raise taxes when on October 1st this year the county showed a general fund surplus of $41,758.89 and at the same time in 1963 had a surplus of $32,501.04."

The commissioners said this figure was not true because it did not include two months officer salaries and various other expenses that arise, before revenue for the new year is put into the fund about November 20th.

After, over two hours of discussion and comments, County

For the women, Nora Lee Martin had high game, 187, and third high series, 463. Marlene Stewart had high series, 508, and second high game, 182. Laveta Phillips had second high series, 472, and third high game, 170.
