BRYAN LOSES AS EVOLUTION WINS

Schools Teaching Hypothesis Not To Be Cut Off From Funds

Associated Press Dispatch

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 22.—William Jennings Bryan was defeated and evolutionists scored a victory today when the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church of the U. S. A. defeated the Commoner's resolution to bar schools permitting the teaching of the evolutionary hypothesis from use of church funds.

Goes Down Fighting

The assembly adopted a sub resolution offered by John Willis Baer of Pasadena, which in mild terms directed synods and presbyteries to withhold their official approval from educational institutions "whenever any teaching or instruction is given which seeks to establish a materialistic evolutionary philosophy of life, or disregards, or attempts to discredit the Christian faith."

The fundamentalists, under Mr. Bryan's leadership, went down fighting one of the most bitterly waged struggles the assembly has seen.

It reached personalities, when Mr. Baer, presenting his resolution, declared Mr. Bryan "Is as honest as he can be—but he is mistaken as he has been before."

"I want to object to the statement made by Brother Bear," the Commoner shouted when the assembly granted him 15 minutes to reply. "I don't want any republican to appeal

He said it will be impossible to reduce materially appropriations already made. MAN ENDS LIFE BY POISONING

W. N. Chapman Dies At Night After Period Of Illness

Returning from town where he had gone for a shave, W. N. Chapman, aged 37, retired to his room at the home of his mother, Mrs. M. A. Williams, a short distance beyond Holliday creek on the old Henrietta road, and ended his life at 10:30 Tuesday night by drinking the contents of a bottle of strychnine. He was found in agony by his mother and died before medical attention could be summoned.

Empty Bottle Found.

Forefathers Decreed Economy in Our Government, You Do Likewise, Texas Retail Merchants, Tell Legislators

Solons Urged To Defeat All Tax Measures Now Before August Body

Associated Press Dispatch

EAGLE PASS, Texas, May 22.—The Texas legislature was urged, in a resolution adopted here today by the Retail Merchants Association of Texas, to defeat all tax bills pending before the body.

The resolution reads:

"Lieutenant Governor Davidson, R. E. Seagler, speaker, Austin:

"The Retail Merchants Association of Texas, in convention assembled, urges the legislature through you to promptly defeat all tax bills now pending. We urgently ask the legislature to immediately modify appropriations for the department of the board of control, the fire insurance commission, the health and adjutant general's department.

"We believe the work of the agricultural department would be better and more profitably handled by the Agricultural and Mechanical college. We can see no reason of necessity for large appropriations for the department of labor, the board of water engineers, the livestock sanitary commission, and the highway department.

"Our forefathers of Texas decreed the government should be economically administered. Unless so administered, the tranquility of the people along with the government would be destroyed if taxpayers be not given opportunity to enjoy the fruits of their labors.

"The United States and Mexican commissioners assembled in Mexico City, with full confidence of your ability and high moral purpose, are making an effort to bring closer fellowship with the sister republics of the United States and Mexico. We retail merchants express sympathy with the mission which called you together, and hope at an early date your good, honorable body will recommend full recognition be extended to the republic of Mexico."

That's What Flo Leeds Says Although She Drops Her Suit

International News Dispatch

NEW YORK, May 22. — "Flo" Leeds, former chorus girl, today precipitately abandoned her announced intention to bring suit against James A. Stillman, to force him to support her and her 5-year-old son, Jay.

Her attorney, Randolph Hicks, made this announcement this afternoon after an hour's conference with his client.

Mrs. Leeds still believes, the attorney said, that she had been badly used by the millionaire.

$460,000 Paid Her

"She received nothing remotely approaching the amount she was supposed to have received from the banker," Hicks declared.

During the latest action in the Stillman divorce suit in Brooklyn, counsel for Stillman said Mrs. Leeds had received something like $460,000 from him.

"This was grossly exaggerated. She received from him only the $1,000 a month allowance for a period of three years," Hicks said.

Allowance Cut Off

In a statement preceding her conference with her attorney, Mrs. Leeds said she had not seen Stillman for 18 months and that her monthly allowance of $1,500 was cut off by the banker more than a year ago.

She said that her baby, Jay, who is now nearly 5 years old, was the third child born to the banker. Two of their children died at birth, she said.

DOUBLE GUARD FOR MISS CLARA

Officers Take No Chance On Escape Of Hommer Slayer

International News Dispatch

TEGUCIGAPA, May 22.—Under-Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz of Los Angeles, Cal., who came here to take back the woman suspected of being Clara Phillips, the notorious hammer murderess, has asked the local authorities to put double guards around the prisoner, as he believes she has an accomplice here who is waiting an opportunity to help her escape.

Biscailuz and Deputy Sheriff Hunter went immediately to the American legation, after their arrival and later interviewed the suspected Clara Phillips in her cell over police headquarters. Although "Mrs. Jesse Carson," the woman believed to be Clara Phillips, was calm and collected during the interview, the California authorities feared she would commit suicide rather than go back to jail and asked that she be watched very carefully.

Hello, Mrs. Phillips

When the women were brought before the California officials, Biscailuz exclaimed

"Hello, Mrs. Phillips!"

The woman refused to make any sign of recognition.

Biscailuz then turned to the other woman, known here as "Mrs. R. M. Young," but who is said to be a Mrs.

No News From Chinese Bandits After Zero Hour

Associated Press Dispatch

WASHINGTON, May 22.—The Washington government had been without advices from Minister Schurman in Peking for more than 24 hours today when the cabinet met to devote the entire session to consideration of the plight of the foreigners, including American citizens, held as hostages by Chinese bandits. Friends of Oklahoma Indian Woman Rally to Combat Charges of Bigamy

International News Dispatch

TULSA, Okla., May 22.—Resenting the charge of bigamy brought against Mrs. Bula Croker, widow of Richard Croker, Tammany chief, influential Oklahoma friends of the Cherokee Indian princess have prepared documentary evidence to show the falsity of the charge and with the exhibits left Tuesday morning for New York, from which port they will sail for Dublin to testify in behalf of Mrs. Croker in the still suit.

Following a message from W. W. Hastings of Tahlequah, congressman from the second Oklahoma district, friends of the Cherokee Indian woman gathered evidence under the direction of W. Tate Brady and S. R. Lewis and others and Mrs. M. E. Adkins, Eugene S. Adkins, her son, and Mrs. Besse Brady Adkins, his wife and a daughter of W. Tate Brady of Tulsa left for New York today.

On their trip to Dublin to clear the record of Mrs. Croker, this party will carry with them documentary evidence to prove that at the time attorneys for Mrs. Ethel C. White alleged in paper filed in the court of appeals in Dublin that Mrs. Croker was married to Guy Marone in Northampton, Mass., she was teaching school in Muskogee and boarding in the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Adkins, pioneer citizens of the Indian territory.

Brady and Lewis, who worked Monday, gathering all possible information on the case, declared the records of Muskogee county showed that Mrs. Croker was teaching school in Muskogee at the time she was alleged to have been married to Marone and that the records showed she signed regularly for vouchers.

GRAHAM WILL PAVE SQUARE

Council Asks Bids For Concrete Street Construction

Special Dispatch to Record News

GRAHAM, May 22.—Sealed bids have been asked for by the Graham city council for the paving of a portion of the public square.

The specifications call for paving with reinforced concrete or three-inch brick on a concrete base, to include that part of the square on Elm street from Third street to the north side of the square, and on Oak street from the north side to Third street.

A certified check for 5 per cent of the bid must accompany to assure that, if successful, the bidder will go through with the paving, according to specifications. The right is reserved by the board of aldermen to reject any and all bids and to waive aside any technicality. The proposals are to be submitted with the name of the bidder on the outside and addressed to the city clerk, Graham, Texas, and marked "Bid for paving portions of the public square." The bids will be received until 8:30 p. m., June 7, 1923.

The call for paving bids marks the culmination of agitation that has been going on for some time. Chiefly through the instrumentality of Secretary Dack Walker of the chamber of commerce, business men of the city have taken up the proposal with the result that they are to pay for that portion of the paving that is in front of their business houses, while the city is to pay for the street intersections.

The size of the suare has been the chief obstacle to paving, it being 165 feet wide from the business houses to the courthouse lawn, on all four sides. Visitors to the city have commented that it was the largest public suare that they had ever seen.

AKES POOR WITNESS IN OWN DEFENSE

Special Dispatch to Record News

FREDERICK, Okla., May 22.—The case of the state against Cleo Akes, charged with the murder of Herman (Harry) Laubach on the streets of Mantou, a village in this county, January 25, went to the jury Tuesday afternoon at about 4 o'clock.

Akes was the last witness on the stand for the defense, and it is believed that his own testimony was the most damaging given against him. His lawyers had built up, through witnesses, seemingly irrefutable proof that the slain man was the aggressor in the quarrel that led to his death, only to have the prisoner at bar refute this testimony by declaring that he had provoked the quarrel that ended in the killing of Laubach and the wounding of Akes.

Akes admitted having had relations with Martha Laubach, the dead man's sister. He stated that he had visited the Laubach home and had declared that either he or that "kid" must leave the country, and he did not propose going.

Caponizing Will Be Demonstrated By Experts Here

By AL OLSTON.
Poultry Extension Department, Maricole Coal and Feed company.

There are a goodly number of people who are eager to learn caponizing and the culling of chickens. In fact so many here in Wichita Falls that I am unable to write the valued information to all of them, so therefore have decided to give a demonstration next Thursday evening starting promptly at 2 o'clock at the sales room of the Maricole Coal and Feed company. Everyone who is interested is invited to come as it is a free demonstration. I am hoping to have Miss Georgia Lansford, our well known county demonstrator present, so as to meet all the poultry and farmer inclined women. Also hope to have Guy Jones, our county agent there. He bars no sex, he always wants to meet all. I also have invited the agricultural agent of the First National bank of Iowa Park. There will be interesting talks by some of our well known produce men and others.

I will do my utmost to make you feel welcome and see that you go back satisfied with the time spent. You will receive actual knowledge as I shall have enough birds on hand so as to let anyone who feels so inclined to try it themselves. Come as my personal guest and enjoy the afternoon.

The address is 810 Eleventh street. Tell it to your friends and thereby help me to make the demonstration a huge success. Come yourself and bring someone with you.

2,500 PEOPLE IN "TEN COMMANDMENTS"

Paramount's European agents have sent a dozen cases of rare draperies, ancient bronzes and antiques to Cecil B. DeMille, which will be used in the producer's new effort, "The Ten Commandments." The materials were bought in the antique shops of Germany and France.

It is said that over 2,500 people will take part in reproductions of the life of the ancient Egyptians and Hebrews as detailed in the Book of Exodus. Biblical scenes will be influenced by the famous Gibbs-Irwin Bible in 50 volumes which was printed in 1836. This priceless collection is being very carefully studied for costumes, properties and customs of the time. The cast has not yet been named, but Mr. DeMille states that there will be two separate casts, one playing the Biblical scenes, and the other the modern parts, both containing many famous names.

THAT CANARY ACT IN "THE RUSTLE OF SILK"

In one of the scenes of the new Paramount picture produced by Robert Brenon, "The Rustle of Silk," closing today at the Olympic, Betty Compson releases a canary bird. It looks simple, but in order to do it successfully, an entire set at the West Coast studio had to be enclosed in cheese cloth. It wasn't because they were afraid of losing the bird so much as because it was necessary to repeat the scene two or three times and the same bird had to be on hand.

DOUG., JR. STRICTLY OPPOSED TO KISSES

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., who has been breaking into print lately through his desire to emulate his famous dad, has returned from France where he has been studying the past eight months. Young Doug will appear under the management of William Elliot and will be starred in pictures with an adventurous line of action. The boy has inherited his dad's frankness as well as his physique.

"One thing I am firm about in my film plans," he said to the newspaper men at the dock, "I am not going to play in any picture that calls for kissing on my part." As the youngster is only 13 years of age, we'll forgive him for his lack of romantic fervor. Four or five years more and his secretary will be swamped, autographing his pictures to be sent to the girls.

Mack Sennett has persuaded Mabel Normand to sign a new long term contract and is to feature her in larger productions than ever.

Nazimova is back from her trip to Europe and will return to the screen. She has purchased Izola Forrester's novel, "The White Moth."

SMART HATS AND GOWNS FOR SUMMER

By ELOISE.

What to wear on an afternoon in midsummer may be solved with any of the costumes shown here. If one does not want sports clothes and it is too hot for suits, here are two gowns which are more than smart for afternoon and other informal wear. Pure silk knitted fabrics and printed silk crepes are the most popular materials for this type of frock. The one at the left here is made of gray silk knitted fabric, woven very closely and trimmed with a darker gray border on the wide sleeves and the skirt. The frock is made on straight chemise lines with a narrow belt of self material.

Flat crepe in gray, printed in a most unusual design, is shown at the right. It is covered with skyscrapers, buildings houses, churches and all kinds of things one never expects to see on a piece of silk, and although the design is very modern, it gives the effect of Egyptian motifs. It, too, is made plain and straight and sleeveless. It is cut into a low V at the neck and filled in with a white crepe vestee. The neckline is outlined in white fur. A huge sash of gray moire is the only other trimming.

The hats pictured show how popular and fetching the large shapes will be for mid-summer year. A plain gray straw bound with darker gray velvet and trimmed with a huge pink rose which is obscured from view by the large brm s shown at the right. Shading from delicate pink to deepest red are the geraniums that form the garland on the lovely horsehair hat in the center. It is bound with sand colored gros grain ribbon to match the straw.

Haynie conducted the devotionals, taking for her subject "Jesus the Teacher." Mrs. C. P. Warman read the fourth chapter of "Building With India," and Mrs. Claude M. Mrs. Clyde Foster gave two readings, "The Secret," by Carlyle, and a parody on "Mande Miller." Mrs. Grace Higgins sang "Just Been Wondering All Day Long," and "I Love a Little Cottage," accompanied at the piano by Miss Stella Holt who also gave for a piano number "Song of Love."

MILK MONEY FOR THE BABIES

Sixty-three thousand New Yorkers paid $390,000 to see ten big boxers battle in stadium for the milk fund for the babies of New York. Total expenses of the bout, $130,000. Net receipts for the milk fund, $260,000. Jess Willard was one of the boxers and he came back. For his appearance he was paid $25,000. He did not turn back a cent to the milk fund.

Fred Fulton, the heavyweight, received $5,000 for his appearance. He turned back $1,000 for the milk fund and never blinked an eye.

Tex Rickard staged the gigantic spectacle and handled the money. Tex is a sure enough Texan. Tweny-five years ago he was a cowboy in Clay county and 30 years ago he was a wild young rider of the free grass range.

Some few reformers criticized the function and the functionaries but the babies will never know the difference when they drink the milk. More than a quarter of a million dollars is certainly some contribution to a milk fund for babies who are too poor to buy it.

Mayor John F. Hylan of New York has proclaimed sugarless Mondays until the price is reduced within reason. Mayor Hylan of New York knows the value of publicity. He would rather be a first pager every day than governor or senator.

WOOL

Wool growers of the West are not facing disaster. Arizona growers, Oregon and Washington and Wyoming growers have sold at prices ranging from 35 to 50 cents a pound. Texas growers sold at 35 cents last week and the demand for mohair at fancy prices is said to be very pressing. Three years ago the sheep men of America were damning the democratic tariff and the Wilson administration. Now they are damning high taxes and high wages. Man is never satisfied with himself or the conditions which surround him.

HOW IT READS

American seam have been given a lift. That it, their wages have been raised 15 per cent. According to a statement issued by the shipping board this increase was made necessary by the cost of living and a desire to get good men to stabilize the shipping industry. The head of the shipping board said there was no place in the American merchant marine for the riff-raff element and the disloyal radicals. Reads like a standpatter's speech on the eve of an important election.

—o—

Congressman Loring M. Black, Jr., of New York, has elected Albert D. Lasker, press agent and general manager for the president of the United States now and hereafter until the close of the campaign of 1924. This announcement is subject to an 80 per cent discount. Congressman Black is a violent democrat.

—o—

Ten thousand travelers sailed from New York for Europe on nine passenger steamers in one day and all the liners report capacity bookings in advance. There must be plenty of spending money in the pockets of Americans. This year they are going to see Europe first.

—o—

London living costs are the highest in 18 months and the Economist Index numbers shows heavy increase in foods and textile prices. There is to be a world cotton famine this year unless all the prophets are false prophets.

—o—

Canadian crops, with the exception of those in British Columbia, are two weeks late. Same here. Texas crops are two weeks late. This is one reason why there are so many prophets who say that cotton will go to 30 cents before the coming of September.

—o—

Sugar has fallen to 8 cents a pound in New York and thousands of club women the country over are continuing their boycott. Eastern newspapers say that the boycott of sugar has assumed nation-wide proportions. It is a sure enough buyers' strike and all the big refiners are slashing.

—o—

President Harding has told his friends that the isolation policy is futile in America and believes no one can serve as president and uphold it. James M. Cox said the same in 1920 and the people did not believe him. There is going to be a merry old fight next year.

HOOT MON!

NO-MAN'S-HAND

By Hugh MacNair Kahler

Corcoran refuses to leave town, in spite of the threatened danger, and Larsen infers that he has some money-getting scheme that makes him want to stay. Rackham, paroled, explains he plans no vengeance of violence against Corcoran, but hopes to get back a sum equivalent to that stolen.

"The Justic Syndicate" is an organization existing for the purpose of seeing that criminal investigations rightly determine the guilt or innocence of accused persons instead of the relative abilities of the lawyer for the state and the lawyer for the defense. One of its members is Charlotte Grey, who has taken up the case of

Bobby Rackham, just paroled, after serving three years of a term in prison on his confession that he had embezzled $8,000 from the firm he worked for. Miss Grey, however, ascertains that

Phil Corcoran, a dissolute young man, admired by Rackham, had induced Bobby to take the money with the understanding that he was to lend it to Corcoran, who would return it before the firm would discover its loss. However, Corcoran failed to return it, and Rackham assumed all the guilt, mentioning Phil's part in it only to his sweetheart, from whom Charlotte learned the facts.

Alfred Bleeker, a wealthy, somewhat miserly and pompous man, has taken a great interest in Corcoran. He overhears a telephone message and sees a note, each of which convey a threat of death to Phil. He tells these incidents to Olaf Larsen, chief of detectives. Larsen ascertains that Corcoran's business and dealings and affairs of the heart have made him a great many enemies, a number of whom could be considered to menace his existence. Rackham assures Larsen (who, by the way, is another member of the "justice syndicate") that the vengeance he contemplates will not be a violent one. Nevertheless Larsen reiterates a warning to Bleeker that Corcoran should leave town. Corcoran has refused to leave, hinting at a business deal which will bring him in considerable money. Bleeker summons Larsen to his house one night, and while they are discussing the case, a shot is heard and they find Corcoran dead in the library, shot through the mouth, as, apparently, he had leaned over a smoking tabouret to light a cigar. Larsen finds Rackham concealed under a settee in the library. Rackham denies any guilt, saying he had been summoned there by Corcoran who had given him $1,000 in part payment on the embezzled sum.

Carol Bleeker, young and beautiful wife of Alfred, is seen leaving the library immediately after the shot. Her coldness and calmness, and Larsen's inability to find the pistol which Bobby, if guilty, must have used, leads the officer to ponder over the possibility that Mrs. Bleeker, herself, had killed Phil. She, however, scornfully suggests that Larsen's men look in the fireplace of the library, and there they find the pistol. It seems almost conclusive evidence against Rackham.

Charlotte Gray's intuition tells her that Mrs. Bleeker knows something more than she has told.

The Lady and the Bills.

"Herself, I suppose?" asked Olaf.

"Of course not! She might be capable of it, but she didn't do it. I was sure of that the second I saw her. I can't say why. I just knew," declared Charlotte.

"Nobody seems to take much stock in a suicide theory, anyway," said Enfield. "I had an idea it might be that. But I can't see how the gun got into the fireplace afterward."

"There's hardly possible. I had it on with the removal, the recoil, the fall of the limp arm—such things have happened. But it's hardly water-worthy, I'm afraid."

"He didn't kill himself," said Charlotte shortly. "His kind never does! You'll find that that's about as absolute as any rule you can lay down about men and women. People like Corcoran lack the physical courage for suicide. Besides, she wouldn't act that way if he'd done it. She knows who did, and she's glad about it. Can't you feel that when you look at her?"

"I do, now you speak of it," Larsen started. "She acted glad last night. And she was gladder to-day. That's true. But why?"

"She hated Corcoran probably. Plenty of women would, and she's the type that would hate him hardest. There's no room in her for his sort of society. She's perfectly cold."

Larsen pondered this. "Well, I wanted to tell you that I'm not going to let 'em bear down very hard on Rackham. I can manage it so he can get off with a manslaughter plea if you'll have him offer it."

"He won't, thanks," Charlotte shot her lips firmly on the word. "He's absolutely innocent. And we'll prove it between us. There's one thing I want of you, Olaf. I want to see that room — quick. Why not take me there for photographs and measurements?"

"I guess so. I'll let you know." He rose. "I'll give you my theory if you care to hear it. Rackham's telling the straight truth up to the point of the killing. I think Corcoran really did lose his nerve and send for him; I've checked up the telephone call, and that's straight enough. I think, though, that when Corcoran saw how Rackham felt he tried to back out and keep the money. Rackham probably didn't look dangerous. And then Rackham pulled the gun that he didn't intend to use. He made Corcoran hand over the money, and, while he was taking it the gun went off. That fits all the circumstances. And if Rackham told that story he'd get off pretty lightly. I'd help him."

"Very ingenious, Olaf. The only trouble with it is that it is wrong," Charlotte smiled. "But you're coming on. You've got it through your head that Harry Rackham isn't a murderer, and that's something. The rest will come. I suppose I oughtn't be impatient with you. You mean well."

"Oh, come—"

"See here, Olaf Larsen, you told me yourself that you'd found out about 10 or more people who had beautiful reasons for wanting Corcoran dead. Doesn't it strike you as peculiar that you should forget all about them now—except—for one who had, as it turned out, no reason at all to kill Corcoran and every conceivable reason for not doing it, as Lings say?"

"You're right again, I suppose. The trouble is that none of the others were there on the spot—"

"How do you know that? Suppose you do some investigating and find out where those other candidates spent their evening? That's your job, isn't it?"

"All right. But it's no use, Rackham did it."

"Run along! You'll be sorry you said that, even once. And get me up there this afternoon if you possibly can. I may see something."

Larsen left, his doubts reviving. Charlotte's intuitions went wrong often enough. But he was impressed in spite of himself by her conviction in this case. She was right about one thing, Harry Rackham wasn't a murderer by any test that Olaf Larsen recognized. And yet he must have done it. Nobody else could have.

[illegible] to him after his hurried lunch. "Well, your friend Corcoran got it, all right, I see. Had it comin,' chief."

"Well, maybe. Suppose you take a look around the crowd that had it in for Corcoran. There's just a chance that one of them was in on the play. Make sure, anyway."

Parone slid away. Larsen himself took a list of the 10 numbers on the $100 bills and commenced a round of the banks. He had seen the four largest institutions without result, and was beginning to think that the money had been obtained outside of Pittland when he interviewed his friend Kenworthy in the Maritime Trust. Kenworthy's brows rose, and he whistled faintly.

"As it happens, I can answer that right off the bat for you. Those numbers went out to Finisterre & Moulton. I know because it's a custom of mine to record the numbers of new $100 bills. I remember their cashier coming in for new hundreds yesterday. I took note of the numbers of the bills as I handed them out. Those were included."

"Finisterre, eh?" Larsen meditated. How had the money reached Corcoran through the exclusive jewelry house which had a name for leaning over backward in its business ethics?

Old Abelard Finisterre was a crank on rectitude in commercial transactions. And yet—Larsen got to his feet.

"Much obliged. That settles my idea. I was all wrong." He went out.

He found the old Swiss in his office. They had dealt with each other for years, and trusted each other on sound experience.

"I'm going to ask a big favor, Mr. Finisterre."

"It's yours, Larsen. Say it, only. The rest is done now."

"I hope so. Because there's a man's life mixed up in it. I want to know who got 10 $100 bills bearing these numbers from you—"

Finisterre spread his hands helplessly. "My dear Larsen, if we kept a record of every bill we give out—"

"You can tell without knowing the numbers. It isn't possible that very many people got a $1,000 from you yesterday between 10 and four. Your cash entries would have to show it."

"Yesterday!" Finisterre's brows rose. "Oh, that is—Larsen, I could tell you myself. It was my personal affair. But I—I gave my word. There was reason. When a lady is—but, no I must not tell you that, either. But I will say that in my place you would have given the money and your word, too. And you would keep it—no?"

Larsen knew better than to persist. Finisterre would refuse to answer if subpoenaed to testify in court. There was one chance—a very long shot. He played it as he reached the door.

"Mrs. Bleeker knew whom to trust, Mr. Finisterre."

The old man's face betrayed him. He frowned as he saw assurance in Larsen's glance.

"That was unworthy of you, my friend. Now my parole binds you, as a man of honor—"

"I was bound before. You could have trusted me. It is all right." He hurried out. So the $1,000 had come from Carol Bleeker, and come in a fashion which had its own puzzling and suggestive aspects!

Larsen thought quickly. Evidently the money had been raised on jewels—raised in a hurry. That meant that Carol Bleeker dared not ask her husband for it.

And that meant, too, that she had no private funds. Alfred Bleeker kept her dependent on him for her spending money. It was like him, thought Larsen!

So far he followed easily enough. But how and why had Corcoran obtained it from her?

Blackmail or gift? It wasn't thinkable that she cared for him. Not even in an aloof, impersonal fashion. The man must have repelled her, as Charlotte had declared. And she had been glad when he died.

No, it must have been extortion of some sort. That fitted in well. Corcoran, cultivating Alfred Bleeker's flattered, lonely vanity, had spied on the wife and turned her to his profit, too.

And when he heard of Harry Rackham's release, he must have come to her for the money to pacify the man that he expected to be a deadly enemy.

That fitted in with Rackham's story. Corcoran had promised to pay the full $8,000. Later he had only offered one. The explanation must have been that the woman had first agreed to supply the larger sum and then failed to raise it.

Her jewels—Larsen's mind jumped back to the library, with its array of counterfeits, and he made another guess in the dark, with old Finisterre's phrase to guide him dimly.

"Given the money!" It had been a gift then. It all fitted perfectly.

She never knew that the jewels that Bleeker allowed her to wear were imitations; she had counted on raising $8,000 on them.

And only Finisterre's kindliness had supplied the $1,000 she gave Corcoran!

"Charlotte's uncanny; that's all!" Larsen marveled at the accuracy of her guesses so far.

He called up the Bleeker house and announced curtly that he was bringing up a photographer to take pictures of the scene of the crime, and overbore poor Bleeker's agonized objections. He telephoned to Charlotte Gray, bidding her meet him with her camera, at the house.

Bleeker led the way into the library, which had already been returned to its normal position, thanks to the complacence of the authorities.

Larsen glanced quickly about him, alert for any hint he might have missed. The tabouret once more offered its refreshment, in the cheap silver-plated cases. He crossed toward it. Bleeker misunderstood his purpose.

"A cigar, Larsen. By all means, help yourself." Larsen opened the humidor.

The cigars which looked up at him furnished him with a sharp disappointment.

The impressive Coronas were gone! In their place he saw perhaps a dozen forbidding weeds which seemed to challenge him to smoke them.

"You've changed your brand, I see," he remarked. "Thanks; I'll not smoke just now."

Bleeker looked slightly ashamed. "Oh, you mean those heavy Havanas? I never cared for them myself. A sound domestic cigar for my taste! I kept a few Coronas for poor Corcoran. He was very fond of them. Poor fellow! We're going to miss him sadly, Larsen, my wife and I."

"Yes." Larsen was short-spoken, contemplating the miracle of affection which had induced Alfred Bleeker, who smoked an execrable five-cent cigar himself, to supply Phil Corcoran with Coronas at half a dollar!

SHOOK HANDS WITH GEORGE.

Newspapers of 30 years ago this month were much interested in the death of William Krug, at the age of 102, the last known man who shook hands with George Washington. "If George were living with us today we should know him for a good sterling sort of citizen and churchgoer. We also know he was a good fighting man and a good president. The times he lived in demonstrated these qualities in him just as the times in which Grant and Sherman and Lee and Lincoln developed theirs. Washington was a first-class all-around fine and sterling American, but has come a sort of mythical figure, a superman, something superhuman.

COTTON CROP.

Lubbock and other South Plains counties are getting ready to grow a tremendous cotton crop. And the production of these counties is not to be sneezed at. Last year Lubbock alone produced 22,000 bales. The boll weevil has not yet invaded the plains. Hundreds of thousands of acres in the South Plains region have been plowed up for the first time this year. As an agricultural factor, West Texas is going to be supreme in a few years.—Abilene Reporter.

CABLES FOR PAPERS.

Seven dollars and 48 cents for two copies of the Electra News—this is a figure which the publishers believe entitles The News to the claim of having brought the highest price per copy of any newspaper in the southwest. Unfortunately, the money was not paid to The News, but was for a cable message asking that these copies be sent.

The cablegram is dated "London May 10." It is addressed to "The Electra News, Electra, Texas," and read: "Kindly forward two copies March 29 anniversary edition. Will forward charges." Signed: "L. V. Curry, American club, London."

Information given out at the local office of the Western Union Telegraph company is to the effect that a cablegram from London costs 24 cents a word, including address and signature. So that the Londoner paid $7.48 for his message.—Electra News.

HOT CHECKS.

Ranger merchants, grown weary of well doing in accepting bad checks from customers and casuals, have adopted a plan which is expected to bring about a falling off in the practice of handing out worthless bits of paper in payment of goods or for cash received.

The merchants are going to stick all such checks in the show windows, where all who run may read.

Many merchants, even in Abilene, have long been practicing the same thing in milder form, to the extent of decorating their showcases with worthless checks.

The legislature being too busy on important laws to fiddle with such trival matters as making a state law that will reach the hot check passer, the merchants are taking measures of their own in self defense.—Abilene Reporter.

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE

SUPERIORITY

If the ugly little creature called wheat weevil could think, it would probably have a profound contempt for the great hulking farmer who, despite his insecticides, cannot drive it out of his field.

The superiority complex is present in most of the creatures of the earth.

The rabbit develops it when he first evades the fox. The fox thinks proudly that he is brighter than the trapper, till he gets a little careless and finds himself in the trapper's snare.

Among human beings it is usual for people to feel superior to everyone else who cannot or does not, do exactly as they do—no matter whether this peculiarity arises from lack of education or from life-long custom.

Travelers abroad are prone to think that the French must be a bit stupid because they cannot answer questions put to them in English.

The little boy who is asked the way to Main street by a stranger in a city looks upon the stranger as a dreadfully ignorant man because, although full grown he does not know where Main street is.

Superiority is pardonable in children, and in the half-educated.

It is easy to understand why the Canadian guide thinks that a city-bred man who cannot tell by the trees which is north is a feeble-minded dude.

But unfortunately superiority is just as prevalent among the educated as it is among the ignorant. And among the educated it is inexcusable.

The city man who looks upon his country cousin as provincial because he does not always dress in the modern fashion is really as foolish as the country cousin, who, when the city man visits him, smiles at his town-bred accent.

People of real intelligence take people as they find them, and judge them by their substantial qualities, not by their peculiarities, which may be inherited, or may be the result of early environment.

Many extremely able men have seemed clownish to their fellows, but that opinion hurt those who held it more than it did the objects of it.

People of great ability are never superior. For they have learned to know that manners and customs and peculiarity are only very thin veneer. And only the most penetrating student of human nature can discover on short acquintance whether he is superior to stranger or the stranger is superior to him.

What Today Means To You

By MARY BLAKE

GEMINI

Mercury and the Moon are in conflict until this evening, which tends to produce worry and anxiety. Be careful of your correspondence as anything written today may be used against you at some unexpected future time. Matters relating to art or amusement will succeed.

A child born today will be very adaptable and equal to any occasion or condition.

Genius is more often found in the sign of Gemini than any other, and if today is your birthday, you are a Geminian and should be endowed with a mind far surpassing the average.

Only through your temperamental duality will you successfully control serious nervous condition which will be brought about entirely by intense intellectual vigor. Conserve your energies, as a nature like yours often wears itself out just as success is attained. This is a condition that only you can regulate.

You should be happy in the realization of your self-sufficiency. You are indeed one of those energetic and romantic souls to whom everything is interesting, whether it be personal calamity or public benefit. To you it is just one more thing in a life already crowded with interests.

You naturally possess a clear, well-ordered, well-informed mind, which should fit you for any one of a number of callings. Your greatest possible success you will achieve in an occupation where your memory for minute details will be of service to you. It might be almost any technical pursuit.

You are excitable in temperament and easily distracted by unsympathetic response. This is because you believe profoundly in your own thoughts. It is often difficult for you to realize that others have ideas equally important to them.

You have a restless, romantic disposition and if not a tireless traveler, it is certain that you will not spend any great portion of your time in any one place. This restlessness will bring many changes in your life, and whether for weal or woe, variety is essential to the existence of your complex nature.

Bears Win Fifth Straight From Locals, 11 to 4

LUCAS KEEPS TEN HITS WELL DISTRIBUTED WHILE SPUDDERS FACE MOUNTAIN OF COUNTERS

Another Game Goes Down in Red Ink for the Locals — Kitchens, Bescher, Simon and Boone Get Homers—Berger Makes Swell Catch.

By "DINK" ADDINGTON

Walter Salm's Spudders who have not beaten San Antonio since some time back in 1922, were again victims of a splattering yesterday afternoon when the visitors cluttered up our ball yard for an 11 to 4 win. One good reason why the Spudders didn't win early was because Mr. Red Lucas was twirling ball they could not hit. When they did get to him later, there were so many runs against them they were lost in the smoke.

Hodges started for the domesties and got by with only one run until the fifth. He had a wide curve and was playing it on the corners. It didn't play just right all the time and he walked five men. Then some other matters began to take place in the fifth and Stauffer made his local bow in the sixth.

The former Cub came right in to face two bad bat wielders, Boone and Galloway. They both connected and Simon broke in with a home run. Five runs trickled over and Feigert took up the job in the seventh. A bit wild, he stayed out of trouble until the ninth, but the two runs off him hurt little one way or the other.

Make 'Em Count.

Lucas has allowed the Spudders only three hits in the first five innings, but they made them count for two runs. When they started banging him hard in the late parts of the turmoil, they were going right at someone and the bes, they could do was creep two notches nearer the Bears.

The Bears scored first in the first when Booe singled and scored on a switchback triple by Boone, which hit the right fence and bounced almost back to the infield. Lucas walked two in the first, but they were left on the pillows.

Frank Kitchens put the Spudders in a tie with the guests from the South when he busted himself a needed home run over the left fence with no one on.

War Breaks Out.

The third inning was one of umpiratical complications and jawbone jollification in which the Spudders forged one to the front. Boone had walked in the Bear's half and was nicked off first by Hodges. He was out at second after a run-up when Umpire Weir stepped out with the startling announcement that Hodges had balked. Boone had gone off the base and Kitchens had ambled down by second and tagged him to make sure of the out. Of course it didn't go and Boone was put back on the sack with instructions to stay there.

Chins began to wobble, tongues began to lash and probably some mean and cutting remarks were said. Umps O'Hearne had said his say and was content to let the rest of the boys fight over their marbles, but Weir, at whom the fip barrage was being directed, held his ground and Boone held his base. Skipper Salm was given a passport to the Gulf of Mexico or anywhere he chose to, just so it was out of the ball game.

The sector grew quiet for a spell and Galloway lined out. Simon hit a single over second which White knocked down and prevented a run crossing the plate. It was a pretty play and saved the humiliation of one more score. The side was retired without runs.

Firing Renewed.

In the Spudder's half of the attack, more flare bombs and grenades were thrown out on No Man's Land and Umpire O'Hearne all but mowed the entire Bear army down with a machine gun which swept their bench. Bescher singled and took second on White's out. Bescher scored on Tanner's single through the infield. Tanner was picked off first, but slid safely into second and the Bears began to throw shrapnel.

Elliott hit to Lucas who threw to Simon, who threw to Gross who chased Tanner who ran and came back and did it all over so many times he got Galloway dizzy looking and him and had him all set for what was to follow. At last when all concerned were worn out, Tanner was tagged. In the meanwhile, the Ace had been making for second and Gross summed up enough energy after his marathon with Tanner to toss to Galloway who tagged Elliott coming into second. Just as O'Hearne had finished waving him out and turned his broad back, Galloway dropped the ball.

Weir Saw It.

It was all Greek to O'Hearne, but Weir had seen it from his lookout station and Elliott was called safe. Of course the Bears opened up with their 75mm guns and everything else that was near the trenches, but to no avail. John Henry was sent back to the lines to keep Salm from getting lonesome. They occupied choice seats in the stands and there's three guesses as to what they were talking about. The Bear reserves occupied a section in the right bleachers and 'ere long Messrs. Salm and Henry were ordered to get out of the shade of the stands and joined their comrades in the sun seats.

To get away from the war and back to the game, Berger flashed into prominence in the fourth with a catch that would have made Nero quit fiddling and which did make Gross sick at heart. With two on and as many out, the Bear shortstop whammed one 6,000 miles a minute toward left. Berger scooted over far to his right, turned his left paw and made a great backhand stab of the drive. It stuck for there was nothing else for it to do and the gallery gave Joe a rousing applause.

Big Explosion.

A walk, two singles, a double, a sacrifice and an error, gave the Bears three runs in the fifth and they were off. Hodges left after the first two got on in the sixth and Stauffer was carved for a double, a single and a homer, counting five runs.

Grigsby's double, Whiteman's infield hit and Berger's sacrifice fly gave the Spudders a run in the sixth. Grigsby turned his ankle in sliding to the plate and was forced to retire behind the lines to the base hospital, Bischoff going to center. Bescher's long home run over the fence in center, added another in the seventh.

Gross' single and Boone's lusty wallop over the left lumber spelled two more for the Bears in the ninth.

The last of the series will be reeled off this afternoon and the Spudders will be at the task of trying to win a game from the Bears, who have some Indian witchery hanging over their heads.

Mays and Hoyt Handicap to Yanks

The failure of Waite Hoyt, one of the Yankee mainstays, and of Carl Mays, erratic submarine hurler, to round into form is the main reason why the American league champs aren't miles ahead in the race right now. Without their aid Huggin's team is playing along at a good clip.

YOUTHFUL DIVER ATTRACTS NOTICE

Charlie Veros, who boasts of but eight summers, has been showing boys twice his age a lot of things about diving this summer, and his stunts around the water have been attracting considerable attention for some time.

Yesterday Charlie dived off the highest accessible point in the tree which borders Havener's pool. He made the leap without hesitation, when others had looked twice and then decided to desist.

Charlie's mother was present when he made the dive, and because of the high wind was not anxious to have him perform. After he had done so, he asked his mother if she had lost her nerve.

"I wasn't afraid, because I knew God was with me," Charlie said.

Baylor Bears Win From Longhorns

Associated Press Dispatch

WACO, May 22.—Baylor University won its second Southwestern conference championship in a major sport of the year here today when it defeated Texas University in baseball the second consecutive time. Southern Methodist University of Dallas finished second. The Southwestern conference baseball championship had been held by Coach Billy Disch's University of Texas teams for the last eleven years.

Baylor won the football championship of the conference last fall.

The score was five to three, mainly because of wildness of the Longhorn pitchers, and consistency of Jake Freeze, hurling for the Bears. Score by innings:

Galveston Woman Upsets Champion

Associated Press Dispatch

FORT WORTH, May 22.—Defeat of Mrs. Wyatt Hedrick of Fort Worth, Texas champion, by Miss Priscilla Rogers of Galveston, was the only incident in the nature of an upset that occurred in the first match play of the Southern Women's Golf tournament here today. All favorites came through their matches easily and no feature battles sprung up except a twenty-hole victory by Mrs. Alf Luckett of Fort Worth over Mrs. Zenoe Nelson, also of Fort Worth.

Mrs. Dozier Lowndes of Atlanta defending her title, had little trouble beating Mrs. Knight of Oklahoma City, 7 to 6, while Mrs. David Gaut of Memphis, western champion, had the same margin over Miss Bess Maxey of Houston.

Scores of the favorites were again a bit high due to a sharp shower in the morning and a high wind. Mrs. Lowndes was 45 through the first nine, Mrs. Gaut 43 and others ranging on up to 53.

In addition to winning her match easily, Mrs. Lowndes won the drives contest. Her first drive was out of bounds, but her second was straight down the big middle more than 200 yards and counted five points. Her third ball was also long and straight, just short of the 200 post and gave her four points. Her total of nine was 2 more than Mrs. Gaut's.

This long straight driving enabled Mrs. Lowndes to defeat the Oklahoma state runner-up by a safe margin. With the wind to her back, the Atlanta golfer's drives were well above 200, one of them a good 250, while against the wind she was seldom under 100. Though inclined to pull her second shots, especially when using an iron, Mrs. Lowndes approached brilliantly and putted steadily. Two bad holes held her medal down.

Curing Your Golf Troubles

By Jim Barnes

"Dear Mr. Barnes:

"I have heard advocated the practice of swinging various clubs without a ball to obtain good form. Like a good many enthusiasts my time for practicing is limited, so in the evenings I have swung different clubs, but like some of my friends, I am wondering whether any real good is done in swinging the clubs without hitting a ball to see the results of the efforts. Your opinion will be appreciated. C. A. C."

ANSWER:

I regard practice of this kind as of real benefit for certain things and under certain conditions. Especially early in the year before you can get out, it helps to harden the hands and to loosen up the muscles.

But more than that, if you practice seriously and with a definite purpose at swinging the clubs, it will help in many ways. You should pick out a single spot, just as though you were swinging at a ball lying on this spot. Then you ought to try to carry out different pointers and tips that you have been given. Just merely swinging the club aimlessly won't do any good.

Suppose, for instance, that you have the habit of lifting your head too soon, or that you are inclined to take the club back outside the line running through the hole and the ball, or that you are given to lifting the club up too sharply on the back swing, or taking the club back too swiftly. In practice of this kind you can check up on any or all of these, and lots of others too numerous to mention here, that you have probably heard. Correcting most faults of these kinds is largely a matter of going over and over the thing many times until you get in a kind of habit of doing the thing in the way you want to. Of course, you can't always check yourself up to tell whether you are doing the thing exactly right, but on many of these points you can get a good enough idea to make it worth while to work in this way, when you can't get out to play.

(Jim Barnes will suggest a remedy for your golf faults. Write him care of the sport editor, enclosing stamped envelope if you want a personal reply.)

BERGER TELLS OF NEW PLAY IN GAME

This is a brand new one for the little blue book. It was pulled by Umpire Miller, substituting for Sweeney when the Spudders were playing in Fort Worth several weeks ago.

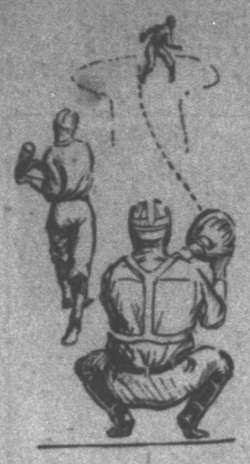

It's down in Joe Bergers' book as a play that has just been introduced into the game, and Joe can tell it just as it happened for it's one he won't soon forget.

The Fort Worth batter hit a slow roller toward first and Feigert, who was pitching, ran over and took the ball. He was only a few steps from first and needed only to make a toss to the bag to get the runner. It was a fairly close play, but it was apparent that the runner was out. Miller waved him safe.

The Spudders stormed and protested and wanted to know why he was out.

"I'll tell you, boys," said the umpire, "that's what you call one of those unbalanced plays." It was a new one to Berger and to most everybody else, but it went and the runner remained on the bag.

LITTLE LESSONS IN Big Sports

Does a good pitcher use a different style of delivery for the different sorts of balls he pitches?

Answered by

URBAN ("RED") FABER

Pitcher, Chicago White Sox, the man who allowed less runs per game than any other pitcher in the big leagues during the season of 1922.

Every ball pitched should be preceded by almost the same sort of motion and delivery. Otherwise the opposing batters will soon know just what is coming by the style of windup a pitcher is using. Deliver the fast ones, the slow ones, the straight ones and the croked ones from the same spot, as nearly as possible.

Two more home runs without anybody on base. Boecher's drive in the seventh was followed by two hits. Oh, why can't they come beforehand?

Berger and White pulled the fielding cookies of the game. Each of them made swell plays.

* * *

MEAN THING!

The umpire chased the manager,
Who found himself a seat,
Away up in the grandstand,
Away from all the heat.

The sun beat on the umpire,
And envy touched his heart;
So he beckoned to the manager,
And bade him to depart.

Cooter's ankle went flooey and he retired from the game. Then Grigsby hurt his prop sliding into home. Denver expects to be ready again today.

Rip Wheeler, prodigal son of the Spudders, turned up yesterday just before game time.

KNOW HIM?

There was a guy on our club,
And he was wond'rous wise;
Each time he stepped up to the plate,
He swung and shut his eyes.

* * *

He's in the grave. Bean ball got him.

* * *

Then there's another fellow,
Who never took the signs,
He used up all his salary,
In forking up for fines.

* * *

He had to quit. Flat broke.

* * *

And don't forget the speed king,
He thinks he's fast, no doubt;
He never stops a-running,
Until they throw him out.

* * *

He quit, too. By request.

* * *

Then there's the hard-shelled onion,
Who's never known to slide;
He doesn't want to take a chance,
Of peeling off his hide.

* * *

He finally slid. Back to the bushes.

* * *

Another one's the rockhead,
Who swings with three and none;
He thinks he'll cross the pitcher,
And lam a clean home run.

* * *

He got his home run. They told him to stay there.

* * *

The ape who tried to hit and run,
With not a soul on base;
We couldn't tell his sorry plight,
We haven't got the space.

* * *

Got his hit, all right. Still running.

* * *

Once more—the guy who wouldn't bunt;
When the sacrifice was on;
They're not quite sure which way he went,
But they know for sure he's gone.

* * *

Release too good. Killed him outright.

* * *

There's one who never says a word,
He never once complains;
He's never missed a signal,
He's caused the boss no pains.

* * *

He's deaf and dumb.

SUMMER SCHOOL ENROLLMENT165

Regular Class Work To Begin Wednesday Morning

Students attending the summer session of the city schools will be called for full classes beginning at 8 a. m. Wednesday, according to A. K. Presson, principal. Tuesday morning started with the record of only five absences. In order to stimulate interest and regular attendance, as well as good scholarship, exemptions from final examinations will for the first time be offered to summer students, provided a grade of 90 percent is made and the student is absent not more than three classes during the summer.

Registration Continues.

Although registration has been largely completed, other students will be accepted during the remaining days of the week. The total number registered now is 165, among which are 25 seniors who intend to graduate at the end of the session or next Christmas.

Mr. Presson urges all the pupils who wish to take advantage of the short summer term to register as soon as possible and not wait until next Monday, in order not to get behind in their work.

Crack Runners To Meet Here Today

Special Dispatch to Record News

GRAHAM, May 22.—Friendly enemies.

That's what they are, and what they have been for the past month or so, Curtis Dickinson of Graham, winner of the 220-yard race at the Interscholastic meet, Austin, tying the record of 22 3-5 seconds will meet Thomas of Electra, winner of the 100 and the 440-yard races, in Wichita Falls early Wednesday morning and from there the two will proceed to Chicago where they will enter the University of Chicago national meet, to be held May 25 and 26.

Dickinson will enter the 100 and the 220 while Thomas will enter the 100 and the 440. They will be in competition with entrants from 28 other states of the union. Both are fast and confident of winning.

The competition between Dickinson and Thomas started at the district meet at Iowa Park a month ago, Thomas beat Dickinson out in the 100, but in doing so had to tie the world record for that event. At the state meet the two did not compete but won their respective events.

Dickinson will graduate from Graham high, June 4. His examiantions have been moved up so that he will be able to go to Chicago. The schools of the city and the business men of Graham have made up funds for the trip.

OKLAHOMA—

damage running into millions of dollars had resulted from a heavy storm which isolated that section of the state yesterday and last night.

Crops and livestock were the hardest hit, according to the reports, rains at some places reaching cloudburst proportions, and raging rivers, destroyed the productivity of thousands of acres of farm lands.

Roads were virtually impassable but some progress was made during the day in re-establishing wire and rail communication.

Storm Grip Broken.

Tonight the federal weather bureau here predicted that the grip of the storm was broken.

Two tornadoes followed late this afternoon in the wake of yesterdays torrential rains and high winds. They were in widely separated regions.

A message from Freedom, in Woods county, near the Kansas border, said that a twister had caused considerable property damage near Salt Lake Springs, Edith, Freedom and Farry.

Mrs. Mary Broth, who lives north of Freedom, was seriously injured. Both her legs were broken. Her small daughter was killed. The new salt works at Salt Springs, was destroyed. Wires were down in the tornado section, according to the message.

Cyclone In Mountains.

Cyclonic conditions prevailed late today in the Wichita Mountain region in southwestern Oklahoma. A tornado passed several miles south of Elgin shortly after 4 o'clock. A number of barns were blown over with loss of live stock but no persons were reported killed or injured. It was indicated that the tornado traveled through the northern end of the Fort Sill military reservation.

Communication was established for an instant during the day with Leedey, in Dewey county and it was learned there had been no loss of life there as had been rumored last night.

BRIDGES AND LINES REPAIRED AFTER STORM

Bridges and lines of the M. K. & T. railroad between Woodward and Forgan, which had been washed out in heavy rains Monday afternoon were repaired yesterday and again put in shape for traffic.

Yesterday afternoon all trains were running on regular time and workmen were busy putting the line in better condition following its weakening by the storms. Dirt roads are again passable and are rapidly clearing and drying with better weather.

Tuesday morning light rains fell between Decatur and Fort Worth, stopping in the early afternoon, when clear weather was reported from all points.

Although clouds were seen on the western horizon yesterday afternoon reports from points outside the city were to the effect that there was no rainfall and that the day was unusually bright and warm. Reports from the Fort Worth and Denver, Missouri, Kansas, Texas and the Wichita Valley railroad offices were to the effect that on all lines out of Wichita Falls clear weather was reported, with light winds.

Youngster Lost All Day, Returns Home at Night

After being absent from his home all day yesterday, little Commodore Bebout, 7-year-old son of Charlie Bebout, deputy sheriff, wandered into the house at 10 o'clock last night. He calmly stated to his almost frantic mother that he had been lost, having followed his larger brother away in the early morning.

Officers of the city and county forces had hunted for the boy for hours when he suddenly made his appearance. He had not been afraid he said, but had had a hard time finding his way home again.

RAHL FUNERAL SERVICES HELD

Legion Post Attends In Body At Last Rites Of Ex-Soldier

Funeral services for Carter B. Rahl, age 27, who died at the local hospital Monday morning following injuries sustained in an accident on the Henrietta pike Friday night, were held from the residence of his mother, Mrs. H. Gordon Cross, 802 Brook street Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock with Rev. C. M. Simpson, officiating.

After the funeral services, Pat Carrigan Post, American legion, took charge of the body and bore it with military escort to Riverside cemetery. A firing squad gave three salutes and a bugler sounded taps as the casket was lowered into the grave.

Sam Beattie, Joe Marlow, Joe Hatchitt, D. M. Perkins, W. F. George and D. M. Wofford, all of whom saw service with the deceased in the 142nd infantry, 36th division during the world war acted as pallbearers. The casket was draped in the old company flag under which the deceased had fought in France.

to republican prejudices by referring to my democratic beliefs. I helped the nation get prohibition. Did you do any more, Brother Baer? Was I mistaken in that fight? I helped this nation get woman's suffrage. Did you do any more than I or was I mistaken then?"

A rising vote was taken on the question of substituting Mr. Bear's resolution for Mr. Bryan's and the evolutionists apparently were in the majority by more than two to one. On the question of final adoption only one dissenting voice was heard.

The Commoner spoke for nearly an hour ridiculing the Darwinian theory.

Darwin, he said, traces his hypothetical evolution of life "until it branches off in two stems, old world monkeys and new world monkeys—he won't even let us spring from American monkeys."

Mr. Bryan declared his resolution had been steam rolled by a machine-ridden convention, dominated by a minority group of clever politicians, who are lacking in frankness.

"I have had experience enough in politics to know a machine when I see it, and the machine in control of this assembly works perfectly," his statement said. "The so-called liberals have everything their own way. I found this out as soon as I arrived.

"My protest is against a lack of frankness, but frankness can hardly be expected from people who know they are in the minority and yet want to control the church and its policy. They have used the same tactics that politicians use under the same circumstances."

HOUSE KILLS 2 REVENUE BILLS

Burmeister - Baldwin Bills Knocked Out; Sulphur Tax Passes

Associated Press Dispatch

AUSTIN, Texas, May 22.—Two revenue measures were disposed of in the house today, both being killed. The Burmeister bill proposing a license fee on recreation halls was killed when the enacting clause was struck out, 77 to 15, and the Baldwin bill, which sought to place a graduated occupation tax on motion picture and other theaters, was postponed indefinitely by a vote of 60 to 44.

The Davis concurrent senate resolution providing for a joint legislative committee to prepare a plan for meeting the prospective state deficiency, was adopted. The speaker appointed the following house members: Quaid, Satterwhite, Dinkle, Bell and Wallace.

Third Bill Killed

The Burmeister and Baldwin bills are the third revenue bills to be killed by the house this session. Ft. Worth Promoters Indicted In Wisconsin

Associated Press Dispatch

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 22.—The federal grand jury today returned 45 indictments, mostly in connection with violations of the Volstead law. Included in the indictments are said to have been a number against prominent oil stock promoters of Fort Worth, Texas, charging use of the mails to defraud in connection with the sale of stock.

This belief is based on knowledge that a special representative of the attorney general's office presented to the jury several cases involving use of the mails.

It was understood that the Fort Worth cases were prosecuted in Milwaukee because letters soliciting orders for stock were received here. While the ordinary practice is to prosecute for misuse of the mails in the federal judicial district in which the letters were mailed, a prosecution may be brought in the district in which letters are delivered.

Labor Urged To Advertise to Win Favor of Public

Associated Press Dispatch

DALLAS Texas, May 22.—A national advertising campaign in behalf of trades unionism was urged by John W. Hayes of Indianapolis, Ind., president of the label trades division of the American Federation of Labor, and secretary-treasurer of the International Typographical Union, before the Texas Federation of Labor, in convention here.

Mr. Hayes urged the Texas body to support the plan in order to "win back to union labor the support of public opinion, in part alienated in the last few years through the open-shop movement and the publicity given to the "American plan" of operation of industry.

Such a plan, Mr. Hayes said, would involve the expenditure of about three million of dollars a year in newspapers and magazines, "but would be cheap in the end and far more economical than strikes and disturbances in industry, largely attributable to the misunderstanding of trades unions objectives."

FASHIONS AT BOXING MATCH.

Paris mannequins had their fashion parade at a boxing bout in which the handsome Georges Carpentier staged the greatest comeback of his career by knocking out Marcel Nilles, champion heavyweight of France. The mannequins again paraded at the Longchamps race course, where two American backed a rank outsider at a 100-to-1 chance and cleaned up a fortune. As to the fashion parade it had to do with summer styles. And experts estimate that the average gown could be mailed for five cents. In this wise do the Paris leisure class, and the American tourists seeing the sights, amuse and entertain themselves.

SMACKOVER'S AWAKENING.

Last autumn the town of Smackover, Ark., was a sleepy village of 200 and not on the map. Someone struck oil. In 48 hours Smackover had 10,000 inhabitants. A few days later Smackover's storekeeper post master notified the department at Washington that his post office was running wild: "2,000 to 7,000 letters were arriving daily, parcel post mail was coming by the ton; I can't open mail any longer, no place to put it; except resignation." Washington rushed 13 assistants to Smackover, the postmaster's salary was increased from $600 to $2,500 a year, but by that time the postmaster had made a fortune in oil and refused to bother with the job. Probably no village ever had such a landslide of prosperity all at once.

Baldwin Rises To Premier from Iron Trade Workman

Associated Press Dispatch

LONDON, May 22.—Stanley Baldwin, chancellor of the exchequer, is the British premier in succession to Andrew Bonar Law. Having followed the constitutional practice and ascertained the views of the conservative leaders, through the medium of his secretary, Lord Stanfordham, who had been busy since Sunday in necessary consultations, the king came to town today and without further delay offered the vacant premiership to Mr. Baldwin, who accepted.

That a man comparatively new to politics thus comes to the first position in the nation's councils, passing over well-tried and experienced statesmen like Marquis Curzon and the Earl of Balfour, indicates the change which have taken place on the political stage with the rise for the first time in the country's history of the labor party to the position of his majesty's opposition in parliament.

The new prime minister, like his predecessor, has graduated from trade, and, also like Mr. Bonar Law, from the iron trade. This also is also a departure from British tradition, the statesmen in the past being, to a large extent, recruited from the ranks of the aristocracy, or the legal profession.

Swastika 2-A Blows Itself In and Looks Good For 400 Bbls.

ANOTHER STIR IN OLNEY AREA

Considerable Gas Also Shown Along With Oil

Special Dispatch to Record News

OLNEY, May 22.—The Swastika Oil Syndicate well No. 2-A began flowing at 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon after blowing itself in, and continued flowing at a good rate, making lots of oil and considerable gas. The well looks good for a much better well than the discovery, No. 1-A, and is flowing steadily.

Yesterday afternoon the hole was partially bailed, when the well suddenly blew itself in, making gas. After watching the well flow natural for several hours, scouts who were present declared the well good for 400 barrels, with prospects of an even greater production later when the well is cleaned out.

The well, which is located 400 feet south of the discovery well, is drawing scouts and operators to the site from every direction, and is causing excitement in oil circles, for it is in the nature of proof of the field opened a few weeks ago by the bringing in of the discovery well, which is making more than 200 barrels.

It is the opinion of scouts that the bringing in of the new well will prove th territory for extensive drilling. Lease activity is greatly revived, and prices are again going up for leases near the wells.

Another well that looks good is the American Refining company's No. 1, which cemented casing yesterday at 1,350 feet, on top of a good-looking sand. The well is expected to make a producer, and will be completed within a few days.

Sweatt Makes Location

John H. Sweatt has made location for No. 1 well on lease A, on the Wilson ranch, section 24, A. T. N. C. L. survey. The well will be drilled at once.

Location has also been made for No. 1 on lease B of the Wilmot tract on section 4, S. P. R. R. survey.

Well Put On Pump

No. 2 well on lease F, Waggoner tract, in the South Electra pool of the Texhoma Oil and Refining company, was completed yesterday and put on the pump. Sand was found at 1,800 feet, and the well drilled in, making better than 100 barrels on the pump.

TULSA TO DRAW OIL MEN TO BIG PETROLEUM SHOW

Oil men in every walk of life, from the big financier to the rawest roustabout, will be interested in the plans of the International Petroleum exposition, which was originated by the producers and supply men of the Mid-Continent field, and which is to hold its first annual show at Tulsa, Okla., the week of Octo. 8, 1923.

One of the underlying ideas of the exposition is to bring together, in a general reunion, the oil men who, since the days of Oil Creek and Pithole, have scattered to the four quarters of the earth, carrying with them the gospel of oil and training hundreds of thousands of new hands in the use of the drilling rig and all its appliances.

To entertain the throngs who are expected to attend this oil men's round-up, the exposition management will provide a series of entertainments, games, pageants, spectacles, exhibitions, contests, parades, etc., on a scale never before attempted in the oil country.

The exposition is being guided to success by a committee of 10, comprising among its number large independent producers, representatives of the major producing, refining and transportation companie, business men, supply and tool manufacturers, geologists, engineers and technical men in all branches of the industry. Edward F. McIntyre, well known throughout the oil country, has been selected general manager of the enterprise.

Burial was in the Riverside cemetery.

WRECK DELAYS DECATUR WELL

Bull Wheel Rebuilt And Work Resumes On Hunter-Scott

Special Dispatch to Record News

DECATUR, May 22.—The wreck of the bull-wheel at the Hunter-Scott well, southeast of Decatur, has delayed the bringing in of the well a few days. The accident occurred yesterday while the well was being cleaned out, but the tools, which were being lowered into the hole at the time of the accident, were checked by the quick work of the drillers, and no damage to the well resulted. The wheel is being rebuilt today, and work will probably be resumed on the hole Wednesday.

The sand was struck two weeks ago at 3,260 feet, the same depth of the sand in the old Keystone well, which was so damaged last year as to be abandoned. After the casing was set the drillers have been busy bailing out the well, and every bailing has brought out a fine quality of oil in good quantity. Work of reaming out the hole was begun last Friday and was progressing nicely till a strong flow of gas necessitated setting the boiler back to a safe distance. This precautionary work was finished Saturday and the work of reaming was being resumed Sunday when the bull-wheel was wrecked.

The splendid showing the well has created a lively interest among the oil fraternity of the state, and hundreds of people have visited the well and many scouts and interested oil men are here watching closely the developments. The owners of the well believe they are sure of paying production when the drill goes into the sand.

Experienced oil men on the ground are optimistic as to the outlook of this rank wildcat. Several large companies are already arranging for offsets to the Hunter-Scott, and it is practically assured that this field will be the scene of much drilling within the next six months.

Since the Hunter-Scott hit the old Keystone sand, acreage has been very active at prices which have set a record for wildcat territory. Acreage over a mile from the well has sold as high as $35 per acre, while prices for closer locations have sold as high as $150.

Drilling has begun on the new Hunter well, eight miles southwest of Decatur.

Will Daniel, local oil operator, was elected a member of the school board Monday night, to succeed Judge A. H. Carrigan, who recently resigned. Judge Carrigan resigned from the presidency some time ago, and presented his resignation at that time, but it was not accepted until Monday night.

Mr. Daniel is out of town at present, but it is thought by his friends that he will accept.

The injured man is suffering from a fractured skull and other injuries and has shown no improvement since the time of the accident last Friday night.

NEW GEMS BY O. HENRY

A Treasure Trove of Humor From His Newly Discovered Newspaper Writings.

YOU CAN'T ALWAYS SOMETIMES TELL

Yesterday afternoon a man with long hair and a wooly appearance boarded one of the cars on Travis street.

He had been freely imbibing and besides that bore all the earmarks of a Holy Terror. The car was full of passengers going home to supper and a slight riffle of uneasiness went up and down both rows of seats as the bad man entered.

As soon as he had sized up the people in the car as quiet and inoffensive citizens, he proclaimed in a loud voice that he was the only man in Texas that could eat glass, drink Prussic acid, play with the catmounts or take Graeco-Roman falls with a trolley car just by way of recreation. He gave several whoops, and then called on the passengers to stand up and be pulverized by the worst man south of Ohio.

Everybody looked out of the windows and pretended to be greatly interested in something going on outside.

Anybody got a wild beast or a buzz saw or a hornet's nest, gentlemen, that I could chaw up just by way of a lunch. Can't somebody kick me or say I wrote "Beautiful Snow," so that I can use him for a door mat?"

One timid woman rang the bell and got off the car, and the conductor got out on the rear platform and pretended not to hear. In one corner of the car sat a young man who had been quietly reading a newspaper all the while. He was a determined looking fellow with a square jaw and broad shoulders. A druggist who was riding home to supper whispered to the man next to him:

"See that fellow reading the paper? That's Babbit, the best amateur boxer in Houston. He ain't afraid of anything on earth. There ain't anything in the Y. M. C. A. athletic rooms that can put on the gloves with him. If that fellow fools with Babbit he'll think lightning struck him. Babbit's a quiet man, but terrible when aroused."

Presently the bad man snatched Babbit's paper out of his hand and threw it out of the window.

"Now watch Babbit do him up," whispered the druggist gleefully.

The great amateur rose quickly and said, "I am going to give you a good thrashing sir, and don't say I didn't warn you."

Then he led with his famous upper cut for the bad man's jaw. The bad man ducked like a wild duck when you shoot at him, then he jumped about four feet high and kicked Babbit on the ear with a number 10 boot. Then he hit Babbit nine times on the nose, jammed him down in the corner and bit a piece out of his ear, tore his coat down the back and gave him four or five punches below the belt and then dragged the athlete down the aisle of the car onto the platform and bumped his head for a while on the brake and then threw him off the car and jumped off after him.

As the car rounded the curve, the passengers looked and saw the bad man sitting on Babbit and filling his mouth with sand.

"These things sometimes turn out different from what you expected," said the druggist, as he slipped a little piece of cinnamon into his mouth.

ROAD CONTROL UNDER DEBATE

Townsend And Swanson Express Views At University Club

Arguments pro and con on the proposed amendment to the state constitution giving to the state highway commission absolute control over all state highways were advanced at the University club meeting Tuesday noon in a debate between J. W. Townsend and F. G. Swanson, local attorneys.

Judge Townsend argued the affirmative side of the question: "Resolved: That the People of Texas Should Adopt an Amendment to the State Constitution Taking Away From the Commissioners Court the Power to Build, Operate and Control State Highways and Giving This Power to the State Highway Commission." Mr. Swanson upheld the negative.

Judge Townsend advanced the idea that with state control of highways, it would be possible to construct a highway system that would afford easy and rapid access to all portions. He also asserted that this county would be reimbursed by the state commission for the funds it has expended in constructing improved roads.

Mr. Swanson assailed all the points made by Judge Townsend and declared that the idea was nothing but an impractical and unworkable dream. He said that such a plan would strip individual property owners of their power and rights and would be unfair to all concerned.

A committee, composed of Judge Townsend, Mr. Swanson, Julian Bobo, C. A. Rogers and John P. Marrs was appointed to compile more data on the question to be presented at a public meeting of the club soon.

CHARLEY NEWS NOTES

CHARLIE, May 22.—Prospects are good here now for five crops this year. An unusually large acreage of cotton is being cultivated. Cotton is the chief crop. A shortage in farm labor is expected as the road work is still in progress and many hands are employed there.

Farmers of this vicinity are rejoicing over the recent rains, which began falling the latter part of last week. The indications for more rain are good.

An interesting and instructive picture show was given in the streets of Charlie Tuesday evening, by the county home demonstration agents. The show was largely attended and greatly enjoyed.

The North Methodist baseball team of Wichita Falls, arrived here Sunday afternoon to play against the Charlie team. The game was rained out in the first half of the fourth inning. The Charlie boys had much the advantage, the score being 11 to one in their favor.

A large number attended the Mother's day program here. As the church house in which the program was given was too small to accommodate the crowd, many were compelled to stay outside. Attending were the people of Charlie and Thornberry, and several from Henrietta, Bowman and Wichita Falls.

A school meeting was held at the Baptist church a few days ago by some of the leading citizens of this place. G. W. McDaniels, of Henrietta country school superintendent, was present at the meeting. It was decided that an attempt should be made to build a consolidated school at Charlie.

Some of the leading citizens of Charlie recently organized a new gin company for the purpose of building another gin here. The company which is to be called the Planter's Gin company, intends to start work on the gin this week. The new gin will be located in the north part of town.

Members of this association met to decide upon making an order for an ornamental fence to go across the front of the cemetery. The order for the fence was mailed the following morning. A girls reading contest is being arranged by Mrs. H. F. Dowdy and Mrs. E. Duggins, the admission fees of which will be added to the funds of the association.

The oil well two miles east of Charlie has been drilled to a depth of about 2,600 feet. It is reported that the well may be abandoned within the next few days.

STOCKS AGAIN HAMMERED LOW

Steels, Copper Standard Oil Sinclair And Motors At Bottom

Associated Press Dispatch

NEW YORK, May 22.—Persistent hammering by traders sent nearly four score stocks to new low records for the year in today's stock market before sufficient buying support was forthcoming to check the reactionary trend, which has continued with few interruptions since the first week in March. The sharp rally which followed the early decline with its enormous turnover was suggestive of the culmination of a long reaction such as has occurred on many previous occasions in market history.

When the market was at its low point of the day around noon, the averages of the barometric railroad and industrial stocks were near the lows of last November, which witnessed the turning point of the previous major reaction. The recovery was aided by a material easing of the call money rate, which dropped to 4 per cent after having renewed at 5 1-4, and the reported increase of 1 1-2c a gallon in the wholesale price of gasoline in the Mid-Continent field.

Some of the popular shares which touched new bottom prices for the year were United States Steel common, Bethlehem and Republic steels, Kennecott and Utah coppers, Standard Oil of New Jersey, the Pan-American issues, Texas company and Pacific, Cosden and Sinclair oils.

The afternoon rally started with California Petroleum and American Can and soon spread to the rest of the list. New York Central led the recovery in rails.

One of the many causes assigned for the recent decline was the huge sums of capital tied up in the enormous amount of securities issued in the last year and in real estate mortgages on speculative building projects, thus reducing the liquid funds usually available for supporting purposes.

Time money continues at a 5 per cent basis, with plenty of funds available for all but the longer maturities. New commercial paper is being received in limited volume, the best of the prime names commanding 5 per cent.

The feature of the foreign exchange market was the new low record of .0017 1-4c established by German marks. Trading in the other foreign exchanges was quiet, demand sterling holding steady around $4.63 1-4, and French francs around 6.65c.

Associated Press Dispatch

CHICAGO, May 22.—Materially higher prices for wheat resulted to a large extent today from unfavorable crop conditions in Kans. and Oklahoma. The market closed steady at 1 5-8 to 2 1-4 cent net gain, with July 1.18 3-8 to 1.18½ and September 1.16½ to 1.16 5-8; corn finished 3-8 to ¾ cent higher, oats 1-8@3-8 cent to 5-8 cent up, and provisions varied from unchanged figures to a rise of 17 cents.

Kansas reports said the weather was too cool for wheat growth and that the progress of the crop was unsatisfactory, with chinch bugs and Hessian fly doing damage in eastern Kansas. Meanwhile, an estimate of the probable yield of wheat in Oklahoma was 6,000,000 bushels less than had been indicated by the government's May returns.

Corn and oats derived much of their strength from the action of the wheat market.

In the provisions market, packers' buying of lard counted as more than an offset for lower quotations on hogs.

Associated Press Dispatch

NEW YORK, May 22.—There was an excited advance in the cotton market today on increasing apprehensions of low-end May crop condition report. July shorts covered, apparently influenced by prompt stopping of additional May notices.

July led the advance, selling up to 26.95 or 134 points above the closing quotations of yesterday and 228 points above the low price touched on the decline of May 12. July closed at 26.91 with the general market closing stronger at net advances of 93 to 140 points.

The market opened firm at an advance of 14 to 28 points on reports of rains in the western belt.

The first private crop report of the season placed the condition at 717 and the indicated yield at 12,250,000 bales. This evidently made a bullish impression which was intensified by a belief that because of prevailing weather, later reports would show a condition still further below the ten-year average. The market, therefore, was very firm during the late morning and early afternoon. Realizing caused slight reactions later but it brought a broadening demand and the highest prices of the day were touched in the late trading.

May sold up to 28.45, making net advances of 131 to 134 points on old crop months, while October advanced to 24.02, with new crop deliveries showing net gains of 98 to 105 points.

Exports today 3,314, making 4,380,153 bales so far this season. Port receipts today 7,173. U. S. port stocks 411,344.

COTTONSEED OIL.

Associated Press Dispatch

NEW YORK, May 22.—Cottonseed oil was sharply higher, due to scattered buying on the improvement noted in other markets and increased anxiety on the part of shorts in old-crop deliveries. Closing prices were off a shade from the top, but 35 points higher for May, and 10 to 21 net higher for the balance. Sales, 7,500 barrels. Prime crude, 10c asked; prime summer yellow spot, 12.00@12.50c; May, 12.15c; July, 11.46c; September, 11.11, all bid.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

Associated Press Dispatch

NEW ORLEANS, May 22.—Spot cotton steady, 25 points higher. Sales on the spot, 2,716 bales; to arrive, none. Low middling, 28.20; middling, 27c; good middling, 27.50.

Receipts, 1,900 bales; stock, 100,097.

DRYGOODS MARKET

Associated Press Dispatch

NEW YORK, May 22.—Cotton goods were quiet today. Yarns displayed a little more activity in small lots. The reported failure of a large shipper at Calcutta unsettled burlap markets. Manufacturers bought little raw silk. Wool and knits were quiet.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK.

Associated Press Dispatch

FORT WORTH, May 22.—Generally steady prices prevailed throughout the cattle division today, all classes meeting with fairly good demand. Receipts were estimated at 2,000 head of cattle and 200 calves. Mixed shipments made up a large part of the supply.

Another decline was forced in the hog yards, but the loss was small, a nickel being all that buyers demanded. A run of 1,000 head went over the scales at a reasonable hour. The top was 7.35 to shippers and 7.30 to packers. Most sales ranged from 7.10 to 7.30. Demand for pigs held up and the best end of the supply cleared at 36.00@6.50.

Lambs gained 50 cents, the top being 14.00 but sheep values were only steady. Good wethers sold at 7.00 @7.15. Receipts amounted to 2,000 head.

75 SCOUTS TO ENJOY OUTING

Registrations For Summer Camp Coming In Rapidly

Chester Powell, scout executive, stated Tuesday that registrations for the scout summer encampment were steadily increasing and the thought the total number to go would reach 75 before the end of the week. The boys will leave Wichita Falls Monday, May 28, and the encampment will last for two weeks. All boys who intend to make the trip are urged to pay the scout executive the $7.50 before the end of the week as he intends to leave town Friday to get the camp in readiness for the boys. The scouts will meet on the Moore and Richolt lot, Ninth and Indiana next Monday morning and under the direction of I. H. Roberts, president of the scout council, will make the trip in cars.

Powell Returns.

Mr. Powell returned from the camp grounds, situated in the Wichita Mountains, in Crateerville Park, Monday and said the camping place would be in fine condition for the boys. Mr. Powell was only at the grounds for a few hours but in that time caught a nice mess of fish for his dinner. He said the park was in ideal condition, with natural springs, swimming holes, fish in abundance and everything possible to allow the boys to haveon wonderful time during the two weeks encampment.

The camping grounds, the same that were used last year, are situated 67 miles from this city and is a regular summer outing place for people from all over Texas and Oklahoma, due largely to the abundance of fish. The nearest town to Crateerville Park is Cache, Oklahoma, which is situated two and one-half miles from the park.

Showers In Wise

Special Dispatch to Record News

DECATUR, May 22.—Good showers have been falling over Wise county today. The rain was needed by all kinds of crops. Crops in general are looking good. There are fine prospects for good yield of wheat and oats in this section. Corn is average for this season of year, but cotton has been held up by cool weather.

LOCHRIDGE FOR MORE ROTATION

Also Thinks Big Land Owners Should Dispose Of Their Holdings

By A. M. M'PHERSON

L. N. Lochridge has lived in Iowa Park for the past 15 years. He is president of the First State bank of Iowa Park, a director of the Park Hotel company, and the owner of 780 acres of land in the Denny neighborhood, under the irrigation project.

Mr. Lochridge has on his land about 18 shallow oil wells, which are pumping from the 500 and 740-foot sands.

Out of the 780 acres he has put 300 acres into the district. This 300 acres he has divided up into tracts of from 10 to 25 acres, and is offering it for sale at from $175 to $250 per acre.

He has never done any farming himself since coming to this country from Randall county. He was born in Northern Georgia.

Mr. Lochridge has given considerable thought to the problem of disposing of the surplus lands on the project. He says that he believes the landowners must dispose of the greater part of their lands, on account of the taxes.

He does not believe that the people in Wichita Falls and the surrounding territory will be able to buy these farms, but that people will have to be brought in from the North, but realizes that this will cost money, and says that probably the best way to get people in here would be to turn the sale of these lands over to some selling company. He says he thinks that a selling company could get 15,000 acres to start on but does not know whether they could get the land at a price that would allow them to re-sell at a profit.

The price of land here is higher than it ought to be for farming purposes, because, Mr. Lochridge says, most landowners feel that they have oil under the land, and that if they sell they may be cheating themselves out of a fortune.

The agricultural possibilities are good here, he says, but believes that more crop rotation would benefit every one, that raising wheat year after year on the same tract of land is unprofitable.

Mr. Lochridge is a respected and prominent citizen of Iowa Park, and is well known over the whole county.

Improving Roads at Asylum

Decided improvements are being made on the grounds around the Northwest Texas Insane Asylum, especial attention being paid to fixing the roadways around the buildings. Crushed rock is being spread over all the drives and some grading done.

It is expected that when these improvements are completed the grounds will be considerably more attractive.

KEMPS APPROVE LIBRARY CHANGE

Transfer Of Control And Establishment Of Branches

Unanimous acceptance of the contract drawn up for the transfer of the Kemp public library to county control and the establishment of branch libraries in Electra, Burkburnett and Iowa Park, was made at a special called meeting of the library board Tuesday morning.

With this completed, the petitions asking that the county commissioners court enter into the contract with the city will be drafted, signed and presented, and the library branches in other communities opened.

Several distinct features developed at the meeting, chief among which was the pleasure shown by Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Kemp, donors of the library, that its services are to be extended to the entire county. Mr. and Mrs. Kemp were both present at the meeting and assured the library board that while they did not claim any jurisdiction over the institution or the policy of the board, they were tremendously pleased that its value to this section was to be increased.

Mrs. Kemp spoke briefly on the cooperation that the library board had received from the various city administrations since it was completed and in this connection mentioned especially the splendid work done by the former mayors, A. H. Britain, J. B. Marlow, W. D. Cline and the present mayor, Frank Collier. The work of Lucille Powell, librarian, was highly commended.

Mayor Collier assured the board that there would be no difficulty in securing the city council's endorsement and ratification of the contract and that he saw no reason why the county library project should not expand into a feature of tremendous advantage.

It was the opinion of those present that the acceptance of the contract was one of the biggest things accomplished here since the library was first donated by Mr. and Mrs. Kemp.

Following the conclusion of the meeting, members of the board were guests of W. D. Cline at a luncheon at the Wichita club.

MOTOR COP MAY TRY SPURS AND LARIAT

City Traffic Officer C. E. Griffin says the next bit of equipment he will buy will be a pair of spurs.

Late yesterday afternoon autoists were astonished to see him ride his motorcycle into the midst of traffic at the corner of Tenth and Brook streets and emerge, driving a big gray horse ahead of his machine.

Griffin not only drove the animal from the dangerous traffic, but by skillful maneuvering chased the horse through the entire city to the pound, unsaddled and riding his motorcycle all the way.

"I found him cutting corners and I thought I'd lock him up," said Griffin after the incident. The stray horse had obstructed traffic.

The Carter case, which was originally set for May 28, has been put off until June 7 and that against Jones, set for May 29, indefinitely postponed. In this latter instance, it is announced that the special venire of 100 men summoned for jury services, and in which appearance notices have already been sent out, are relieved from reporting.

Vegetables Scattered After Car Hits Truck

A scattering of canned goods and various kinds of vegetables was the result of a wreck on the Iowa Park road yesterday morning when a truck belonging to John Turkett, constable and groceryman of Iowa Park, was overturned. The accident occurred when the truck, being driven by D. D. Bain, was hit by a Buick touring car driven by W. N. Smith, of Texline, Texas, the truck being forced into the ditch, overturning and spilling a load of groceries.

Although the car which he was driving was not damaged, Smith, driving the Buick, fainted after he had stopped his car. No one was injured in the accident, although the truck was badly damaged.

Business Girls Lead Campaign For New Y. W. C. A. Building With Cash Donation of $1,000; Drive Starts Soon

The Business and Professional Girls' club meeting Tuesday night headed the list on donors to the fund for the construction of a Y. W. C. A. building, with a cash donation of $1,000. The donation came at the end of a talk by W. D. Cline, chairman of the committee working for the building.

It is announced that of the $1,000 fund, $655 was given in donations by individual members, with $345 taken from the club treasury. The substantial donation will boost the money taken up for the erection of the new building.

In this connection, it had been announced earlier in the day that the campaign for approximately $25,000 would be launched June 11. Sunday, June 10, is to be observed as Y. W. C. A. day in local churches, at which time the new building plans will be outlined.

The campaign for subscriptions continues through to June 15, it was announced.

Under present arrangements, it is proposed to erect a new $60,000 structure at Eighth and Burnett streets. The Y. W. C. A. now has about $35,000 in cash and pledges obtained in a former drive.

At the meeting, which was the last meeting of the year, the club voted to give $50 for an assurance policy for the foreign secretaries' bureau.

It was decided that the club will hold the annual picnic at Browning school next Tuesday, and the 50 members present at the meeting were enthusiastic over the prospects of a good time.

A committee of members to go as representatives of the local club to the meeting of the Y. W. C. A. community conference to be held at Estes Park, Colorado, in August, was elected as follows: Bess Gibson, Elizabeth Miller, and Jim Covey.

New members elected to the executive council were: Annette Coffield, Jim Covey, Mrs. Bruce Dixon Ruffner, Mrs. Irma Brumal, May Bennett and Maude Thomas. Old members retained were: Irene Davidson, Ithea Gardner, Mrs. Stella Mason, Mrs. Edna Voght, Mrs. Mildred Packer, Elizabeth Miller.

Equalization Board To Finish Work Soon

The work of the county equalization board will be completed by June 1, it was indicated Tuesday by members of the county commissioners court who are now sitting as a board of equalization. This is a considerable saving in time from that originally expected.

Notices for a public hearing on the valuations that have been raised by the court will then be sent out and the hearing held June 12, 13 and 14.

Autos Play Billiards In Tenth, Damaging Two As Three Tangle

Three automobiles played billiards on Tenth street, in front of the Record News office, Tuesday afternoon, with the result that one made a perfect carom shot and the other two were more or less seriously damaged. A large touring car, a fair-sized roadster and a small truck figured in the mixup.

The touring car, driven by W. C. Hilburn, was running west on Tenth street, when the truck, the property of the Star Furniture company, came south out of the alley between Indiana and Scott. The Hilburn machine struck the left front wheel of the truck and then glanced off to the left into the middle of the roadster, which was running east on Tenth. The latter car was piloted by C. I. Woodall.

The roadster escaped with a splintered runningboard, the truck with a broken spoke and a blown front tire, and the touring car with some damaged front fenders.

SEYMOUR ROAD CULVERTS COMPLETE

The 21 new culverts on the Seymour road between this city and the Archer county line, have been completed and accepted, County Engineer Isbell announced Tuesday. He will recommend to the county commissioners court next Monday that the county officially accept the work.

There is still some buck filling to be done before the road is opened up the entire way to the county line, but this will be pushed as rapidly as possible, Mr. Isbell stated.
