Cosden-Petrofina Pact Is Announced

The long - expected announcement of the impending acquisition of Cosden Petroleum Corporation by American Petrofina, Inc. has been made.

Directors of the two companies said in New York Wednesday evening that an agreement had been approved by the boards and signed. The deal is contingent on obtaining favorable federal income tax rulings, the completion of financial arrangements, and the approval by Cosden stockholders of the proposal.

Target date for closing the transaction is April 29, 1963.

Cosden's processing operations here will retain the Cosden name.

As planned at this time, the refining and petrochemical activities will continue under a new corporation likely to be known as Cosden Chemical Company. It will be organized and wholly owned by American Petrofina, Inc. Raymond L. Tollett, president of Cosden Petroleum since 1939, will become president of the new corporation.

The present Cosden Petroleum Corporation will be liquidated when the transaction is closed with American Petrofina. Cosden officials estimate that their stockholders will be paid a minimum of $23.50 per Cosden share. However, in view of the impending deal, the customary 25 cents per share quarterly divident payable in March is being omitted. This would make the effective return $23.50 unless additional payments are made.

When W. R. Grace & Company bought the controlling interest in Cosden Petroleum Corporation by acquiring 1,586,682 of the shares, or 53 per cent of the outstanding 2,996,639 shares, it paid $25 a share. The number of shares since has been increased to 3,060,573, which reduces the Grace percentage to about 52 per cent. At $23.50 per share, the total to be paid to stockholders would be something like $72,000,000.

A stockholders meeting will be called April 25 by Cosden to pass on the proposal.

In January, 1963, managements of Grace and Cosden announced a plan under which Grace would take over the assets and liabilities of Cosden subject to a reserved oil and gas production payment. The announcement indicated that Cosden stockholders other than Grace would receive a distribution equivalent to an estimated $24 or $25 per share, partly in the form of new Grace preferred stock. The Internal Revenue Service, however, never furnished a favorable tax ruling on the proposal, and the merger did not come off.

Twice before succeeding, Grace had made two efforts to secure Cosden. On April 26, 1956, announcement was made of a proposed outright purchase for an estimated $55,000,000, and both boards of directors approved. However, Grace called off the deal on June 14, 1956 due to a disagreement over estimates of Cosden oil production reserves. Grace then made an offer to trade one share of Grace for two shares of Cosden, but this was declined by Cosden's board on Nov. 23, 195. Then in January of 1952 with Cosden listed on the stock exchange at 22¾, Grace offered $25 a share for the first 51 per cent of the stock made available to it. This was oversubscribed and Grace took 53 per cent at the same price. Cosden has since been operated as a subsidiary of Grace.

The details of operations have not been made final, but in a message to company employes recently, Tollett told of negotiations. He said that the acquisition as proposed, would not affect the Cosden family immediately. Most employes would have job security for at least a year, he said, and no changes would be made in the pension fund benefits.

Negotiations were commenced between Grace and Petrofina more than two months ago, and Tollett made a trip to Brussels, Belgium in early January at the request of officials of Petrofina, S. A. American Petrofina is an affiliate of Petrofina, S. A., an international oil company.

Red Ship Pulls Out Of Cuba, More Promised

WASHINGTON (AP)—One Soviet ship carrying a small number of troops has left Cuba under the new Soviet promise to pull several thousand out of Cuba by March 15.

Reporting this today, officials said four other ships are known to be on the way to Cuba. The ships have a potential capacity to haul away eight or nine thousand Soviet soldiers.

Presumably the one ship known to have sailed is the luxury liner Baltika, reported Feb. 21 to have set out with a then undetermined number aboard.

Commenting on a New York Times news service report that the Russians had notified the United States that a force would be left on the island, Asst. Secretary of State Robert Manning said:

"We have received no such notification. Nor have we drawn any such inference from any communication or conversation with them."

The Times story said the notice from Moscow was interpreted in Washington as meaning a pull-out of up to 7,000 men, leaving about 10,000.

Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin told Secretary of State Dean Rusk on Feb. 18 that the Russians would remove several thousand troops from Cuba by March 15. Shortly afterward Central Intelligence Agency Director John A. McCone told a congressional committee that four ships were en route to Cuba. Officials then understood substantial troop removals would begin early this week. The removals did not occur in any substantial numbers.

It is assumed by authorities here that the four ships now enroute are supposed to remove the troops necessary to make good on Moscow's promise.

Officials said that since the number of troops and military technicians in Cuba now is around 17,000, the removal of several thousand obviously would not provide for withdrawal of the entire force under the present Moscow commitment. But they said the United States expects progressive reduction of the force.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk has said a continued Soviet military presence in Cuba is not acceptable to the United States. Privately officials say this country's aim is to obtain complete withdrawal of Soviet military forces from Cuba.

President Makes Civil Rights Plea

Program Is Termed Realistic

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy appealed to a divided Congress today to reinforce the Negro's right to vote and to attend desegregated schools in a nation where he said "the cruel disease of discrimination" still exists nearly everywhere.

For the first time, in a special message, Kennedy outlined a specific civil rights program to Congress. In addition to legislation directed at the ballot and the school house, he asked for an extension of the life of the Civil Rights Commission, with expanded duties.

"The program outlined in this message," Kennedy said, "should not provide the occasion for sectional bitterness."

Yet White House officials told reporters they recognize the built-in possibilities of a filibuster by Southerners in a Senate which has just rejected a bid to clamp down on filibustering. They said, though, that the program was tailored in realistic style, that it ought to be passed, and there is a good chance it will.

BLOCKED, DELAYED

In the century since Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation, the President's message said, slavery has vanished but progress for the Negro has been blocked and delayed too often.

"Equality before the law," he said, "has not always meant equal treatment and opportunity. And the harmful, wasteful and wrongful results of racial discrimination and segregation still appear in virtually every aspect of national life, in virtually every part of the nation."

Kennedy credited his administration with a sparkling two-year record on civil rights. But he said a broad national effort still is needed, an effort embracing state and local governments, private citizens and organizations, and the congressional machinery.

His requests for legislation are expected to be submitted within 10 days or so as three separate bills.

THREE CATEGORIES

They fall into these classifications:

1. Education.

The main request here was that Congress authorize a program to provide federal know-how and money to push desegregation in public schools in communities which need and seek financial help.

2. Civil Rights Commission.

First set up in 1957, the commission goes out of business next November unless Congress acts. Kennedy asked that its life be extended at least four years. And he asked that Congress authorize it to expand into a national clearing house to provide information, advice and technical help to any public or private agency which wants them.

3. Voting rights.

Kennedy mentioned this first and gave it more attention than any other of his bids for legislation.

"The right to vote in a free American election," the President said, "is the most powerful and precious right in the world—and it must not be denied on the grounds of race or color."

PRIORITY TO VOTES

He recommended, therefore, that priority treatment be granted voting suits in federal courts. He proposed that while the suits are pending federal referees be empowered to pass upon qualifications of would-be voters. (Under present law, referees can be appointed only after a court finds that discrimination exists.)

These two requests—administration officials said each offers an entirely new idea—would apply to both federal and state elections.

But there would be these limitations on referees:

They would follow only state law and state regulations—these would not be changed. Their decisions would be subject to court review. They would serve only in some 200 counties, mainly in five Southern states, in which less than 15 per cent of any racial group is registered to vote. Officials described the bid for interim referees as important because in terms of time Negroes might be able to register and vote immediately rather than in two or three years.

OTHER REQUESTS

Kennedy had two other requests, applicable only in federal elections.

One was for a specific ban on the application of different tests and standards to different people. The other was for a declaration that anyone with a sixth grade education is presumed to be literate.

Since a presumption could be challenged, this latter proposal would be less stringent than a provision of a literacy test bill that fell by the wayside in the last Congress. Last year's measure would have made it a rule of federal law that anyone who passed

COL. WILSON H. BANKS

Col. Banks To Vietnam Post

Col. Wilson H. Banks, Webb Air Force Base commander, today received orders reassigning him to Vietnam, where he will be Deputy Chief of the Air Force Military Advisory Group.

Col. Banks is to report to Washington April 22 for an eight-weeks briefing on his new assignment.

There has been no word from Air Training Command Headquarters as to his replacement as Webb commander.

Col. Banks has been in command of the training wing here since August 14, 1961. During his tenure, Webb was brought into the Undergraduate Pilot Training program, and was the first base in the Air Training Command to convert from T-33 aircraft to the new T-38.

Col. Banks came here from Williams AFB, Ariz., where he was deputy commander. He is a native West Texan (Brownfield) and completed his flying training at Randolph Field in 1938. The following year he was selected to make the "goodwill" flight around South America—the first long range mass flight of heavy bombers ever attempted by the United States. For his participation in that flight he was presented the Order of the Southern Cross by President Vargas of Brazil.

In 1944, Col. Banks was assigned to the Southwest Pacific forces, and flew with the 90th Bomb Wing in the Philippines and Formosa. He is a graduate of the University of the Philippines, the Command and Staff School, as well as the Air War College.

Col. Banks has been extremely active in maintaining and furthering base - community relations while in Big Spring. He has had membership on the Chamber of Commerce board, has been a member of the Rotary Club, was a leader in the United Fund campaigns. He has been a guiding hand behind the Base-Community Council, which has handled most of the affairs affecting military and civilian relations.

Mrs. Banks and two of their children will remain in Big Spring while the Colonel is in Vietnam. Ronnie is a high school junior and a basketball star; Jacquie is in Goliad Junior High. The oldest child is Will Jr., now in the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Mrs. Banks, also has been active in community development. She is a Red Cross Gray Lady, and spearheaded a movement to have Webb wives sponsor a program for school-age patients at the Big Spring State Hospital.

SOON TO BE ESTABLISHED HERE

American Petrofina Listed Among Nation's Top Firms

American Petrofina, Inc., which now promises to become the owner of Cosden Petroleum Corporation, is listed by Fortune magazine as one of the nation's top 500 firms.

It has assets of some $100,000,000 and its sales of petroleum and products approximated $72,000,000 last year.

The company is fully integrated (with its own production, exploration, refining, transportation and marketing divisions). In addition, it has refineries at Mount Pleasant and Wichita Falls in Texas and El Dorado, Kan. Under Fina Supreme and Fina brands, it markets gasoline through some 2,300 outlets in the 13 Mid-Continent and Southwestern states.

It is listed on the American Stock Exchange at $6.50 (Cosden closed Wednesday on the exchange at 22.125), and there are some 8,000 stockholders in every state in the Union and in many foreign countries.

The company's principal operating subsidiary is American Petrofina Company of Texas, headquartered in the Dallas Mercantile Building. It is regarded as one of the largest integrated oil companies in the state.

As an affiliate of Petrofina, S.A., an international oil company, American Petrofina, Inc. was incorporated under the laws of Delaware in late 1956. The same year it merged with Panhandle Oil Corporation of Dallas, acquiring in the deal the 12,000-barrel per day refinery at Wichita Falls. This unit has a catalytic cracker, skimming stabilizer, thermal cracking and polymerization units. Panhandle also had some 250 marketing outlets in Northwest Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

Petrofina then merged with American Liberty Oil Company in 1957, obtaining another refinery at Mount Pleasant with a capacity of 20,000 barrels per day. It had catalytic cracker, polymerization and asphalt units, and it also had some 500 retail outlets in New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana.

In early 1958, American Petrofina made its third major acquisition when it purchased Petro-Atlas Corporation and a wholly-owned subsidiary, El Dorado Refining Company. This added the 20,000-barrel-a-day El Dorado refinery equipped with a Platformer and alkylation units. This also added another 500 retail outlets in the Mid-continent area.

Petrofina has carried on a program of building retail outlet stations, having added 224. Modernization programs also have been carried on at the refineries.

Petrofina is one of the nation's leading asphalt producers, and the acquisition of Cosden (which previously had acquired the Col-Tex refinery at Colorado City will make Petrofina a major source of asphalt supply.

American Petrofina has a subsidiary in American Liberty Pipeline, gathering system in East Texas to furnish its Mount Pleasant refinery. This connects via a 135-mile 6-inch line to the Grapevine terminal in the Dallas-Fort Worth marketing area. It also has lines to serve East Texas and connects with Cosden's River Pipeline Company at Wichita Falls, affording a connection to the Mid-Continent market.

Officers of American Petrofina, Inc. are Harry A. Jackson, president; Richard I. Galland, vice president and general counsel; J. M. Shea Jr., vice president for marketing; Frank Durham, treasurer; John MacKenzie, secretary; Josh Cosden, administrative assistant to the president.

Richard I. Galland is president of American Petrofina Company of Texas. Other officers are J. M. Shea Jr., senior vice president; Frank Durham, vice president and treasurer; Verne H. Maxwell, vice president and general counsel; J. A. Hammack, vice president for acquisitions; Rosa Lea, secretary; T. E. Cook, general sales manager; and L. G. McKinney, general manager, marketing services.

Charge Derided

NEW YORK (AP)—White House press secretary Pierre Salinger says "I think I see my job, and the President sees my job, as getting out the information to the press—all the information we can within the limits of national security."

Salinger, who made the statement on a television program Wednesday night, also said "I think the news management story is a greatly overworked one."

Hospital Bid Opening Set Today

Bids were to be opened at 2 p.m. today for a proposed clinic building for the Malone & Hogan Foundation Hospital.

Trustees for the foundation were to receive the construction proposals and make an announcement concerning possibility of award after an analysis of the bids.

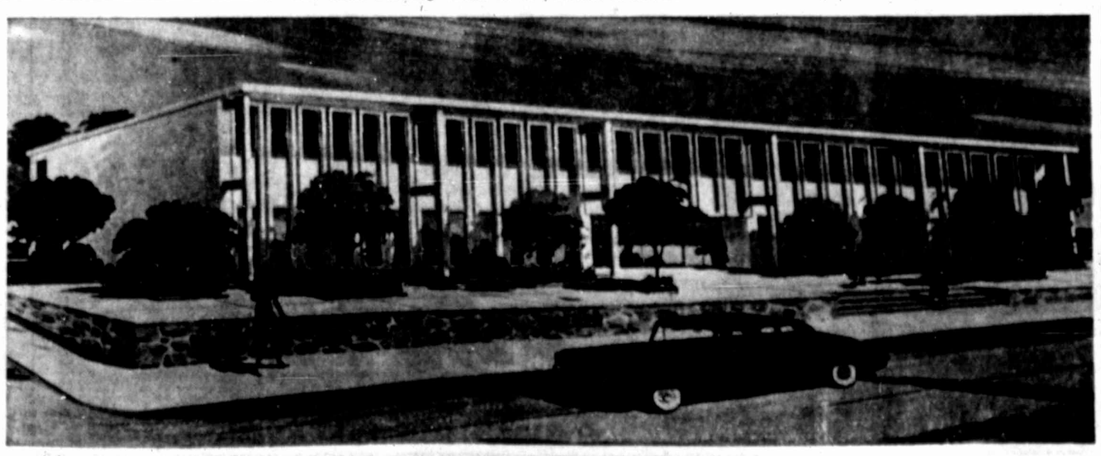

If proposals are within range, trustees hope to let a contract for construction of a three-floor clinic structure, plus two levels of parking.

The structure would be connected with the present hospital building by a tunnel under Ninth Street. The city commission previously granted permission for this as well as a change in zoning to permit a multi-story structure.

The clinic building would be located on the north end of the half block tract Malone & Hogan Foundation Hospital has between Ninth and Tenth Streets and facing west on Main. The parking area would be south of that and is designed to have two levels at the outset, if funds permit. Thereafter, if additional floors were added to the clinic, then additional levels of parking will be added.

The construction of a clinic building would house offices for doctors, clinic labs, and specialized equipment to serve outpatients. In turn, the second floor of the present hospital area would be freed for hospital uses.

The proposed clinic building was designed by Jacob E. Anderson, Dallas architect.

Storm Warning For Wide Area

By The Associated Press

A 120-mile wide strip of the upper Texas coastal plains, centered by the densely settled Houston area, was warned Thursday of severe thunderstorms with large hail and damaging winds during the afternoon.

The Weather Bureau's severe thunderstorm forecast was for 2 p.m. to 8 p.m. It extended 60 miles on either side of a line centered from 20 miles west of Victoria to 30 miles north of Beaumont.

Included in the warned area were Houston and its more than a million people, Beaumont, Port Arthur, Galveston, Victoria, Baytown, Huntsville, Navasota and Jasper.

Stock Market Shaves Losses

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market shaved some early losses early this afternoon but remained lower.

Declines among key issues generally were fractional and a few small gains appeared on the tape.

Trading was fairly active but had slowed from its opening pace.

Brokers said investors appeared to want to play it cautious for a while and take some profits in view of uncertainties over the Kennedy tax program and international affairs.

Motors, rubbers, aircrafts, chemicals and rails eased. Steels and tobaccos were mixed.

Ill Youngsters Are Returning To Class

Absenteeism in the Big Spring schools continued high Thursday but there was an indication the number of youngsters missing from classrooms is diminishing.

Sam Anderson, superintendent, said that there were 816 absentees Thursday, compared with 835 Wednesday and 862 Tuesday.

Marked improvement was shown at Runnels Junior High which had the heaviest absenteeism Tuesday. Wednesday, 199 were absent from this school and Thursday the total had dropped to 147.

Anderson pointed out that not all of these absentees are suffering from the current wave of upper respiratory illness which resembles influenza. He said some of the youngsters are ill with measles, mumps, chicken pox and other diseases. Bulk of those ill, however, are suffering from the same ailment which has resulted in jamming the city's hospitals to full capacity.

The greatest reduction in absenteeism Thursday was in the high school and junior high school. The elementary schools showed a slight increase over Wednesday's figures. There were 406 absentees in the secondary schools Wednesday and 346 this morning Wednesday, there were 429 absentees in the elementary schools compared with 470 Thursday.

Airport, Bauer, Boydstun and Marcy elementary schools showed slight increases in the number of boys and girls out of school Thursday. Park Hill, Cedar Crest, College Heights and Washington showed bigger attendance.

Goliad Junior High was down to 80 absentees compared with 87 Wednesday.

Anderson said there were 11 teachers absent due to illness but he added some of these were suffering from other causes than the current epidemic. He said it appears the boys and girls who have fallen victim to the illness are not gravely sick. The disease is most uncomfortable, but there have been no critical cases.

Shot To Death

CHICAGO (AP) — Alderman Benjamin F. Lewis of the 24th Ward, a Negro Democratic leader who was re-elected Tuesday by an overwhelming margin, was found handcuffed and shot to death in his office today.

Bills Could Put Some Congressmen Out Of Jobs

AUSTIN (AP) — Some Texas congressmen could be put out of jobs by measures presented to a committee Wednesday night.

One bill, referred to the attorney general for an opinion on legality, would have six Texas congressmen run for three present U. S. House seats.

It is by Rep. Bill Walker of Cleveland. The measure would give Dallas County another representative, Harris County its third seat, and let Bexar and Tarrant counties keep their present congressmen plus vote with surrounding counties in a "floater" district.

Another proposal was by Dallas Republican Dick Morgan and other Dallas members.

Morgan was questioned on whether dividing Dallas into east and west districts to give it the new congressman would help Republican Bruce Alger, R-Tex.

"There aren't many ways you can divide Dallas and hurt him," Morgan said.

Morgan's bill would leave other congressional districts as they presently are.

The other proposal, by Rep. Ronald Bridges of Corpus Christi, would give South Texas another congressman.

Midland Republican William Davis said the bill would put Republican Ed Foreman of Odessa in the same district as O. C. Fisher of San Angelo. The Midland and Odessa Chambers of Commerce asked that their two counties not be divided in any redistricting bill.

Walker's proposal would put Reps. Lindley Beckworth of Gladewater, and Wright Patman of Texarkana in the same district; Graham Purcell of Wichita Falls and Omar Burleson of Anson together; and Fisher and Foreman in the same district.

"RELIABLE PRESCRIPTIONS"

RELIGIOUS DIVISION

By T. B. Tarbet, Preacher
Church of Christ, 2000 West Highway 80

My correspondent thinks that in I Cor. 1:10 we have justification for dividing into denominations. There was division at Corinth; but it was admitted that Paul reproved them for their division. It was admitted that there were no denominations there. This was not organized division. But it was assumed that if the division had gotten worse and denominations had been formed, yet all parties concerned would have been recognized as Christian. This was merely assumed.

Well, if Paul reproved them at Corinth for disunity within the one church, why am I denied the right to reprove denominationalism which is a more glaring and permanent form of disunity?

At Corinth, these people were still recognized as Christians; but Christians in error. When Christians are in error and are reproved for it, what should they do? Should they seek to justify their error, or should they correct it? Most of the denominational people seems inclined to justify and defend their division, and their denominational affiliation, even as my correspondent does.

I am told it is impossible for people to "pluck themselves out of God's hand." Let us consider this next. —adv.

Shipshape For Spring

A shipshape costume of three travel parts, featuring canoe-neck pullover, slim skirt and open jacket with embroidered nautical emblem. The trim good looks of this wearable wonder are built-in to stay.

New Knit Fabulous Style Note

It is not just wool-gathering to exclaim over the versatility of the double-knit fabric. It is surely the most talked-about sensation of the woolen industry. The women who wear the wrinkle-shunning double-knit garments are elated with their discovery, and are refusing to relinquish them to merely one season.

The fluid double-knit, flowing right into spring and summer with a flair for being prophetic and timeless, is making fashion history. There are the sweater miniatures for summer formals and daytime shifts ingeniously fashioned with slashed V-backs and fronts, lattice panels, short-step mu - muus with aerated slits opened practically up to the set-in sleeves. There are bubble-cloud knits of the sheerest, laciest wools ever seen, teamed with matching skirts lined in taffeta.

Tremendously casual but enormously elegant are the woolknits for socializing, particularly in the tailored street-length jacket-dress in an abstract pattern of whisper-weight wool gleaming with lights in silver or gold.

If you have never owned one of these fabulous fashions, there's a treat in store for you. They are always "instantly" ready to wear; they pack like rubberbands; never show any signs of wear; and they look just as elegant at a dinner for diplomats as they do when seen at a tea or P-TA meeting.

Problems Of Mail Noted

The Big Spring Chapter of the National Secretaries Association heard of problems in mailing, Tuesday evening at the Cosden Country Club. Speaker for the evening was Postmaster E. C. Boatler who stood behind a simulated post office widow. Mailing problems were submitted to him in wrapped packages, prepared by the 14 NSA members and guests.

The program was presented as part of a nationwide educational project conducted by 500 chapters in the United States. This was the result of a request made by U.S. Postmaster General J. Edward Day to the NSA.

"Know Your Postal Service Better so It Can Help You More," the program theme, was based on the premise that a better understanding of postal service will save money. Knowing when and how to mail is the key to less costly and better service.

Special information and rate sheets, stickers and labels change of address forms and about 15 other pertinent items from the local post office, were packaged in folder form and given to each person attending.

Topics discussed and illustrated were when and how to use endorsements; how to pack and mail an heirloom china cup and saucer; if the required fee is paid, does the sender have the right to restrict the delivery of a registered letter to anyone he desires; how to mail a will; how to alter or eliminate the amount of COD charges after the article has been mailed; the difference between special handling and special delivery.

Cosmetics Shown To Xi Mu Members

Mrs. Daryl Highley was the model for a make-up demonstration at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Xi Mu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

Mrs. Charles Neefe was hostess to the 13 members who heard Mrs. R. L. Collins, a cosmetic firm representative, tell the proper method of make-up application. She was introduced by Mrs. Buddy Redden.

Named to the nominating committee was Mrs. John Gary, Mrs. Highley, Mrs. Adrian Randle and Mrs. James Cape. A donation was made to the BSP state project in the Rio Grande Valley, which is a botanical garden.

Mrs. Chub Jones announced that a dance for members and guests would be held Saturday at 8:30 p.m., at the Settles Ball Room.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with brown linen. Orange candles in white pottery holders were used with crystal and silver appointments.

Mrs. Bill Pollard will be hostess for the March 12 meeting.

Soften Yeast

It's safe to soften compressed yeast in water that is 80 to 85 degrees, granular dry yeast in water that is 105 to 110 degrees.

Mrs. Bowers Named As Nominee

Mrs. John Bowers, Home Demonstration Council delegate, was elected the nominee for the THDA district meeting by members of the Wasson Road HD Club Monday afternoon. Mrs. Edward R. Kennedy, health and safety chairman, opened the meeting, held at the home of Mrs. R. W. Dolan.

Mrs. Kennedy warned members against door-to-door salesmen and foods and quackery in diet treatment. Mrs. Bowers reported on the HD Council.

Guests who became new members were Mrs. F. D. Shaw and Mrs. Chester J. Faught.

The devotion was given by Mrs. Tommy Freeland, and prayer was offered by Mrs. A. J. McCall, after which plans were made for selling food products to provide building funds.

After refreshments were served to 13 members, the next meeting was announced for March 11 at the home of Mrs. Freeland, the Old San Angelo Highway. Mrs. Delaine Crawford will present the program.

Local Missionary Is Program Topic

A day in the lives of a Methodist missionary couple, the Rev. and Mrs. Richard Deats, was the program presented for members of the Reba Thomas Circle of the First Methodist Church when they met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Reeves Moren.

Mrs. Roy Rosene gave the devotion. Mrs. Martin Staggs was in charge of the program, which was tape recorded and sent to Mrs. Rex Baggett, mother of Mrs. Deats. A guest of the circle, Mrs. Baggett played the tape, which was made in the Philippines, covering a trip made by the Deatses.

Nine members were present.

An executive meeting is to follow the program, and there also will be a children's service at 7:30 p.m.

Book Published For Secretaries

"Secretarial Study Guide," a two-volume book and the first publication of its kind, has been published by the National Secretaries Association, according to Mrs. William Bryant, president of the Big Spring chapter.

There has never been a publication which satisfactorily covered the important elements of secretaryship, and this book fills the need, Mrs. Bryants pointed out.

Study topics have been geared toward the daily duties of the professionally oriented, top-level secretary. To supplement the study outlines, a total of 43 text books, their authors and publishing companies are listed as basic references. Volumes I and II may be purchased together or individually.

Legislature Agenda Has No Big Bills

AUSTIN (AP) — Senate committee action on a proposed revamping of the State Banking Board headed the legislature's agenda today.

Neither chamber scheduled work on any major statewide bills before the usual adjournment until Monday.

The banking measure, sponsored by Sen. Bruce Reagan of Corpus Christi, is part of Gov. John Connally's legislative program.

It provides for a three-man board appointed for six-year terms by the governor. Currently the board is composed of the attorney general, state treasurer and state banking commissioner.

The bill would retain the position of commissioner, but he would no longer be a board member.

LIQUOR HEARING

The House Liquor Regulations Committee scheduled a hearing on a bill which would permit sale of liquor by the drink in Texas. It is sponsored by Rep. Jake Johnson of San Antonio.

Women's Christian Temperance Union members served notice they would appear to protest the measure.

Rep. Dick Morgan, Dallas Republican said he will press for an early House vote on a resolution proposing an immediate investigation of alleged election frauds in five South Texas counties. It was introduced Wednesday.

The resolution asks probes of recent elections in Brooks, Duval, Jim Hogg, Jim Wells and Starr counties.

The House passed and sent to the Senate Wednesday a bill requiring government boards and agencies to hold meetings open to the public. This measure, by Rep. Chet Brooks of Houston, was amended to limit its effect to "governing" bodies.

PETROLEUM BILL

Senate State Affairs Committee members sent to subcommittee a measure which would enact into law Railroad Commission rules on oil and gas production that were in effect Jan. 1, 1962.

Also sent to subcommittee was a bill which would increase firemen's retirement fund payments by 3 per cent in cities of less than 185,000 population. Mayors of Midland and Kingsville appeared before the House Municipal and Private Corporations Committee to oppose the measure.

Wednesday night developments included:

The House State Affairs Committee cleared for debate an amended version of a Senate-approved bill allowing creation of a national seashore area on Padre Island. The Senate bill was amended to conform with the House-passed version, now before a Senate committee.

JOINT MEETING

Sponsors of the Padre Island bill hope House action on the Senate measure will get the matter into the hands of a joint conference committee sooner. Rep. Menton Murray of Harlingen said it likely will come up for House action next Wednesday.

The House State Affairs Committee refused 7-7 to discuss a new draft of a local option horse race betting proposal sent to a subcommittee several weeks ago. Its author, Rep. V. E. Berry of San Antonio, said he wanted to submit the rewritten bill so it could be sent to the attorney general for an opinion on constitutionality.

The state affairs group accepted a subcommittee report recommending passage of a bill that would set up a new state agency to license professional sanitary engineers. However, the full committee voted to wait until March 29 to decide whether the bill should be cleared for floor debate.

SCHOOL SHELTERS

A bill that would let local school districts hold referendums to decide if school buildings should be constructed so they could be used also as fallout shelters went to a state affairs subcommittee.

Likewise sent to a subcommittee was a bill that would license aerial applicators of chemical pesticides and fertilizer.

The House Game and Fish Committee sent to subcommittee a bill that would make the Health Department responsible for seeing that oysters are not harvested from polluted waters.

The House Congressional Redistricting Committee heard three proposals to redivide the state into new congressional districts and sent all three to a subcommittee. One would limit Dallas County to a single congressman. Another would put six incumbents running for three posts.

Bipartisan Foreign Policy Tradition Has Hit Bottom

WASHINGTON (AP) — With Democrats and Republicans shaking accusing fingers at each other, bipartisan foreign policy has touched bottom in Congress' frustrated uproar over the Soviet takeover of Cuba.

Since the 1940s when the late Sen. Arthur Vandenberg, R-Mich., started it all, it has been politically fashionable for office seekers and holders to proclaim their adherence to the idea that partisanship stops at the water's edge.

Bipartisanship has been reserved for programs, such as foreign aid, where the executive felt he needed every vote he could scrape up in Congress to put over proposals that lacked political appeal among the voters.

But when it came to such decisions as those of former President Harry S. Truman to send American fighting men to Korea, Congress learned of the decision only after it was made.

Similarly, the present disturbance stems in significant part from (1) President Kennedy's rejection of Republican contentions that there was an offensive threat in Cuba and (2) GOP claims that Republicans were not consulted before Kennedy decided last October to order a quarantine on arms shipments to the island.

Party leaders were summoned to the White House at the time. Their testimony is unanimous that although their comments were asked for, they were told finally that the decision already had been made and would be put into effect.

Bypass Construction Making Fast Progress

The east leg of the new IS 20 bypass is rapidly taking shape and right-of-way has been cleared through the entire length. Several bridge and drainage culverts are completed and construction is largely preparation of the base material for the paving. In this view, a deep caliche cut was made in the foreground, which is near the Snyder highway; in the upper left is the beginning of construction at the T&P grade crossing with Birdwell Lane. West To Continue Ban Talks Despite Dilemma

GENEVA (AP)—U.S. and British disarmament negotiators seemed to face a grim choice today between unacceptable Soviet terms for a nuclear test ban or failure after four years of negotiations.

Despite the Soviet stand, American and British spokesmen said their governments would persevere with their efforts in the 17-nation disarmament negotiations. They said they thought agreement still was possible.

The external evidence pointed the other way.

The Soviet terms for a test ban are simple: A maximum of three on-site inspections per year to check on indications of underground nuclear explosions and three sealed seismograph recorders—black boxes—on Soviet territory.

Premier Khrushchev told a Kremlin audience Wednesday, "nothing more can be expected from us."

The U.S. and British governments consider three inspections and three black boxes totally inadequate to provide a foolproof check on the vast territory of the Soviet Union. The Western powers have demanded a minimum of seven of each.

The Soviet Union has not given an inch in this argument since the talks resumed on Feb. 12.

Soviet Ambassador Semyon K. Tsarapkin startled the Western delegations Wednesday with a new damper on their hopes for an acceptable treaty.

The Soviet Union will not allow the black boxes to form an independent detection network covering all of Soviet territory, he said. In the Soviet view, the black boxes would only be auxiliary instruments in the Soviet Union's three most earthquake-prone areas which would cross-check reports from other nations' seismic stations.

Niki Seeks To Take Red Rift Out Of World's View

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
An AP News Analysis

Premier Khrushchev's latest pronouncements in the interminable dialogue with Red China may mean a Peking-Moscow meeting to explore the painful split in the world Communist front.

This does not mean the rift is closing but rather that Khrushchev is anxious to remove the war of words from public view and take it backstage.

In his attempt to accomplish this, Khrushchev has applied the soft answer to turn away Red Chinese wrath.

Only hours after Peking had lashed him violently, demanding an apology for his attitude in the quarrel over how world communism should be advanced, Khrushchev replied with notable mildness.

He reminded the Red Chinese—and those who side with Peking—that only Moscow is strong enough to go to their aid should they be in danger. He said he would be willing to go to the aid of any Communist country attacked by "the imperialists." But he thoughtfully singled out by name Cuba, Red China, North Viet Nam, North Korea and East Germany.

The Communist parties of North Viet Nam and North Korea side with Peking in the quarrel. They support the Red Chinese contention that Khrushchev fears paper tigers and thus sacrifices opportunities for communism to advance swiftly, particularly in the backward areas of Latin America, Asia, Africa and the Middle East.

East Germany's Communist leadership has been nagging Khrushchev on the issue of West Berlin, which he virtually promised four years ago to deliver to them. And Cuba, of course, was included in this blanket pledge of Soviet protection for a specific purpose.

The Red Chinese claim Khrushchev showed the white feather last October by agreeing to withdraw Soviet missiles from Cuba after the Kennedy blockade showdown.

Patiently Khrushchev repeated in his speech to a Kremlin election rally Wednesday that he did what he did to "arrest the oncoming avalanche of thermonuclear war." He said he had definitely not "left heroic Cuba at the mercy of the big sharks of American imperialism." He assured Cuba of Soviet support in any "hour of need."

Still speaking softly, Khrushchev cautioned his critics in the Red world that communism's enemies are using and exaggerating their quarrel. He expressed confidence that the Communist parties would find a way to patch up their differences.

Peking belligerently says it is ready for a private meeting to talk things over. Peking wants a backdown from Khrushchev, an admission that he has been wrong and has been an arrant "revisionist" all along. The Communist Chinese will not get any such thing.

The Chinese created a stir last week by publishing texts of Khrushchev's, Pravda's criticisms of Peking, and other materials on the subject including the highly critical speeches of the Italian and French Communist leaders.

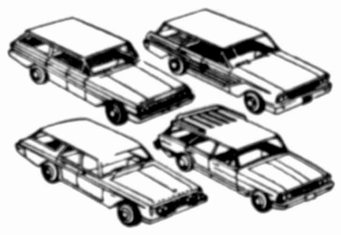

What the Red Chinese did was to set up the statements of Khrushchev, Pravda, and the others for the purpose of knocking them down. In doing so the Red Chinese party proved to the Kremlin that it was strong enough to operate that way.

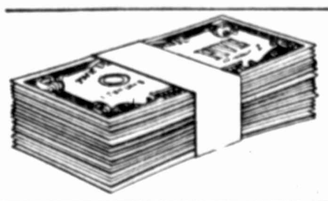

Mao Tze-tung has had a meeting with the Soviet ambassador in Peking. Sitting in on the meeting were other high-ranking Chinese Reds, including Wu Hsiu-chuan, the Central Committee member who was subjected to boos and catcalls in the East Berlin meeting of world Communists in January.

It seems reasonable to conclude that they were talking about arrangements for a high-level Kremlin-Peking meeting and the terms for it.

Nominations For Courtesy Awards Coming In Slowly

Letters of recommendation for the most courteous sales or service person in Big Spring are arriving at the Chamber of Commerce at almost a snail's pace this week.

Through this morning there have been 13 letters received, Kenneth Pace, assistant Chamber manager, said. A week ago there were almost three times this number.

Although the entry form is being printed again for the convenience of those who desire to nominate a candidate for the award, it is not required. Any letter meeting the specifications will qualify. The letters of nomination must be 35 words or less and must be postmarked not later than midnight Sunday.

Winners for the first week have already been selected and three more persons will be chosen Tuesday. After 12 winning letters have been picked, a board of judges will select a grand prize winner.

The three weekly winners and persons selected each receive a $5 gift certificate which will be honored by any local retailer. Grand prize is a $250 gift certificate.

During the month-long campaign to recognize sales and service persons who are always courteous to their customers, merchants are also conducting a get-acquainted drive. Most of the persons who serve Big Spring shoppers are wearing name tags.

Mark Barr Shows Reserve Champion

Mark Barr's visit to the Houston Fat Stock show stands to be a pretty profitable project.

His 1,000 pound Hereford steer, Yellow Britches, entered in the heavyweight division of the junior competition, won first honors and then went on to take reserve championship in the Hereford division.

In competition Wednesday night for the championship of the show, all breeds, Yellow Britches was nosed out by Connie Swinford, Wichita Falls, whose steer was both champion Hereford and champion steer of the show in the junior division. Connie is a veteran showman and winner of many prizes.

Reserve champion steer of the junior show was an Angus shown by Jackie Horne, Coleman County 4-H.

Herb Helbig, county farm agent here, said that Jackie was one of the youngsters he formerly worked with in Coleman.

Maxwell Barr, Mark's brother, was Mark's closest competitor in the heavyweight division. His 985 pound entry won second place in the heavyweight Herefords.

Helbig said that Mark will sell his steer at the auction which will climax the show.

"He won't get less than $1 a pound for the steer," said Helbig. "That's about the standard price for a reserve champion in a division." Mark's steer was bred by J. C. Sales, Stanton.

Judy Houston, the only other Howard County youngster to enter a steer in the Houston show, did not place.

There were 130 Herefords competing in the show.

The grand champion steer of the Houston Livestock Show will be named tonight.

Mark Daniel of Goldthwaite had the champion shorthorn steer. The reserve champion was owned by Dewain Phipps of Friona.

Roberto Perez of Fabens repeated as owner of the grand champion lamb, a lightweight southdown.

J. P. Smith, 13, of McCamey showed the reserve champion lamb, a Hampshire.

Foreign Student Needs A Home

A home is being sought in Big Spring for a foreign exchange high school student, Mrs. Wayne Basden, president of the Big Spring Deanery of the Council of Catholic Women, said Thursday.

"This is in cooperation with the President's request to aid in promoting Americanism," Mrs. Basden said. "We hope we can find at least one home in Big Spring for a foreign student, preferably a boy, who wants to attend high school in the United States."

Mrs. Basden said a letter from Mrs. Thomas Egan, president of the San Angelo Diocesan Council of Catholic Women, had been received, with the request that a home be located early in March. She is to report to the San Angelo office March 7.

"Anyone wanting more information about the exchange program may call me at AM 3-3228 or write me at 803 E. 13th," Mrs. Basden said.

Pan American Project Tests Oil In Fusselman

Pan American Petroleum Corporation No. 1 Willene Roberson, prospector about two miles west of O'Donnell in Dawson County, has tested oil from the Fusselman on drillstem test.

Operator tested a section from 10,809-855 feet with tool open five hours. Mud surfaced in 2¼ hours and oil surfaced in four hours, flowing at the rate of 15 barrels of oil an hour. Another 53 barrels of oil and 13 barrels of water were reversed out. There were five barrels of oil and three barrels of water below the circulating sub and other recovery was 1,200 feet of water below the second sub.

Operator swabbed Fusselman perforations between 10,860 - 864 feet and returned 30 barrels of oil and 19 barrels of water in 2½ hours.

Retainer has been set at 10,856 feet and the project is set to perforate and test. Location is C NE NE, section 70-8, EL&RR survey, about five miles northeast of the Adcock (Mississippian) pool.

The venture was originally a Wichita - Albany and San Andres wildcat, but when these zones proved unproductive, operator plugged back from total depth of 4,900 feet for the field pay. The well is on the southwest edge of the field. Location is 2,060 feet from the north and 540 feet from the east lines of section 43-30-1s, T&P survey.

Speakers Tell Of Growth Of Co-Op Power

Growth of rural electrification in this area was outlined to the Downtown Lions Club Wednesday by James Hull, Colorado City.

He is assistant to the manager of Lone Wolf Electric Cooperative. Also a guest of the club was James Eiland, Stanton, assistant to the manager of the Cap Rock Electric Cooperative.

In 1935, when the REA program came into being, said Hull, 10 per cent of the rural homes had electric service. Today 98 per cent have availed themselves of the service. While most of this has been done through cooperatives, the REA act provides for loans also to municipalities and to private concerns, he added. Whether co-op, private or public, the borrower takes an area covenant to serve those wanting service within the territory.

The role of the rural electrification agencies is not finished, now that a near-saturation point has been reached in percentage, Hull continued. Growth in demand has made it necessary to convert systems from two to three phase. When the program began, he said, the average farm home consumption was 25 KWH per month; now it is 100 and growing.

National figures show that rural electric customers will spend a billion and a half dollars for wiring and appliances in 1963, he continued. Based on the established ratio of $4 spent privately for each $1 invested by REA in providing power, a $34,800,000 market for wiring, appliances, machinery, etc. has been created in the Lone Wolf and Cap Rock territories over the past 25 years. He said that the combined value of the two units serving this area was $8,700,000. There are 52 employes and an annual payroll of $265,000.

Killed By Truck

TEMPLE (AP) — A truck hit and killed George Arnold, 48, of Temple at a road intersection 5 miles west of here Wednesday night. Police said he apparently had started across the road from a parked car and the accident was unavoidable.

Criminal Appeals Court Is Studying John Myers' Case

John Edwin Myers' fate is now in the hands of the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

That body will decide whether the Illinois drifter, who has confessed he slew four persons, had a fair and impartial trial. The trial was at Rusk where the jury found Myers guilty of murder and fixed his punishment at death in the electric chair.

Myers moved for a new trial, alleging that the jury was guilty of three instances of misconduct in the jury room. This was denied by the lower court and Myers' attorneys appealed the ruling to the Criminal Court of Appeals.

Wednesday, the court heard oral argument by the state and by the defense. Gil Jones, district attorney, who prosecuted the case against Myers, opposed the new trial; Orvan B. Jones and Richard L. Stone, Myers' attorneys, pressed the court to reverse the lower court and give their client a new day in court.

Meantime, Myers continued in his cell in the Howard County jail. With exception of a few weeks during which the trial of his case was in progress in Cherokee County, Myers has been in the county jail here since his arrest Sept. 1, 1961.

Dist. Atty. Jones said that the court, in the event it refuses the motion for a new trial, will probably review the entire case. It will go through more than 1,000 pages of testimony and the voluminous briefs offered by both state and defense.

If it holds that the trial jury erred in its conduct, it will order a new trial for Myers. If it overrules the motion and goes through the entire record of the case, it will hand down a ruling, either affirming the death penalty or, perhaps, reducing it.

If the lower court's findings are affirmed, Myers will be taken back to Rusk where the judge will pronounce sentence and set a date for his execution.

Jones said there is no criterion on how long it will be before the appeals court will rule on the issues before it. He said it is possible a ruling, in the event the motion for a new trial is granted, could be handed down in a month. If the court does not intend to grant the new trial motion, and undertakes a complete review of the case, there is no way to know when the matter will be terminated.

Myers was found guilty of the Sept. 1 roadside murder of Arthur DeKraai, an Iowa hitchhiker. The slaying occurred on IS 20 a few miles west of Big Spring. DeKraai's body was dumped on a lonely ranch road.

At the time, Myers was in company with Donna Marie Stone, then 13 years old, and in the four days the pair had been on the road from Bellville, Ill., they admitted they killed four persons. DeKraai was the last victim—the two slayers were apprehended in Midland a few hours after the slaying of the Iowan.

Donna Marie was later returned to Illinois where she pleaded guilty to a voluntary manslaughter charge in the deaths of a 47-year-old Illinois man and his 11-year-old daughter. She is now in custody of the Illinois Youth Authority.

Blount, DA Square Off Over Investigation In Gregg County

LONGVIEW (AP) — Gregg County Judge R. E. (Peppy) Blount says he expects to have evidence "in due time" that will result in criminal indictments evolving from alleged irregularities in this East Texas county's government.

Dist. Atty. Ralph Prince claimed Wednesday that Blount had refused to produce such evidence.

Blount replied in a statement made public by his office that "in due time I can promise our district attorney that evidence shall be given to him for presentation to the grand jury."

He said he regretted "the impatience of Mr. Prince to receive the report of private investigators presently at work in Gregg County."

The district attorney declared that his office knew "absolutely nothing concerning any criminal violations connected with county officials" and if such violations existed it was the duty of the grand jury to investigate such matters.

UNDERSTATEMENT

In reply, Blount declared that the statement by Prince's office concerning no knowledge of violations "is obvious and a gross understatement."

In a copyrighted news story last Saturday, the Houston Chronicle quoted Blount as saying that a Houston investigative firm working secretly in Gregg County had found irregularities involving hundreds of thousands of dollars, and evidence indicating "misuse of county equipment and manpower and illegal purchases paid for by the Gregg County tax money."

The judge said he will present evidence of such a nature that citizens "shall not only expect but shall demand the return of criminal indictments and the full support of the prosecution by same" by Prince.

The Chronicle said Wednesday it stands by the news story. This replied to a Senate speech in Austin by Sen. Jack Strong of Longview.

"FULL" STORY

Strong claimed that news stories and editorials in the Chronicle and other Texas newspapers did not tell the full story and thus gave an improper picture. The Chronicle should "remove the mote from the eye of Harris County before questing for specks in the eye of sister counties," Strong asserted.

The Chronicle said: "We were, of course, the first newspaper to report the investigation of possible irregularities in Gregg County . . . The Chronicle reported Harris County's probate court scandal as thoroughly as it intends to report the investigation in Gregg County."

Dist. Atty. Prince said in a statement:

"This office knows absolutely nothing concerning any criminal violations connected with county officials of this county, and if such violations are in existence it is the duty of the grand jury to investigate such matters for appropriate action."

NOT QUALIFIED

Prince also said:

"This office deplores the employment of private investigators who, in my opinion, are not qualified to evaluate criminal violations and who are apparently seeking publicity for financial purposes.

"Furthermore this office and the grand jury certainly do not condone flagrant charges issued by investigators or any other person when such charges have not been presented to the district attorney or the grand jury for their determination.

"This office and the grand jury stand ready to receive any evidence of criminal violations which anyone may possess."

Blount's reply to the Prince statement:

"I regret the impatience of Mr. Prince to receive the report of private investigators presently at work in Gregg County and financed by local vigilant citizens. His statement that 'the district attorney's office of Gregg County knows absolutely nothing concerning any criminal violations connected with county officials' is obvious and a gross understatement.

"In due time I can promise our district attorney that evidence shall be given to him for presentation to the grand jury upon which the people of Gregg County shall not only expect but shall demand the return of criminal indictments and the full support of the prosecution of same by him.

"In full agreement with Mr. Prince, our district attorney, I deplore the sensational stories that cast Gregg County as a sordid and corrupt locality, bringing disgrace to us all. However, I had no part in producing this condition and the only disgrace would be to allow it to continue.

"People receive as good a government as they demand and as bad as they will put up with. My purpose and promise to the people of Gregg County has been to work continuously and unceasingly for the restoration of honest, sound and efficient government and to this I am dedicated."

KENNEDY

the sixth grade was literate for voting purposes.

While he was at it, Kennedy urged every remaining state legislature to join the 13 which have ratified the proposed 24th Amendment to the Constitution which would outlaw the payment of poll taxes as a requirement for voting.

NO JOB PLEAS

Kennedy had no legislation to recommend in the realm of racial discrimination in employment. But he held a sort of club over labor unions accused of discrimination, saying he hoped administrative and legal action would make legislation unnecessary.

Part of the message was a recitation of administration actions.

"In the last two years," the President contended, "more progress has been made in securing the civil rights of all Americans than in any comparable period in our history."

While he embarked into detail, Kennedy summed up in one sentence.

"Progress," he said, "has been made—through executive action, litigation, persuasion and private initiative—in achieving and protecting equality of opportunity in education, voting, transportation, employment, housing, and the enjoyment of public accommodations."

NO RELAXATION

But he added that "pride in our progress must not give way to relaxation of our effort."

"The Negro baby born in America today—regardless of the section or state in which he is born," the President said, "has about one-half as much chance of completing high school as a white baby born in the same place on the same day—one-third as much chance of completing college—one-third as much chance of becoming a professional man—twice as much chance of becoming unemployed—about one-seventh as much chance of earning $10,000 per year—a life expectancy which is seven years less—and the prospects of earning only half as much.

"No American who believes in the basic truth that 'all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights,' can fully excuse, explain or defend the picture these statistics portray.

"Race discrimination hampers our economic growth. It hampers our world leadership. It mars the atmosphere of a united and classless society in which this nation rose to greatness. It increases the costs of public welfare, crime, delinquency and disorder.

"Above all, it is wrong."

Permit Cards Are Being Torn Down

Building Inspector Tom Newton said Thursday morning that trouble in Suburban Heights and Wasson Place additions, is being experienced by builders when youngsters in the neighborhoods tear down building permit cards.

"The cards are required in conspicuous places on buildings until they are completed and inspected," Newton said. "We have been finding only four tacks, and the corners of the big yellow cards, indicating that they have been pulled off.

"The law in Texas makes it unlawful for anyone to remove or deface the cards during construction of buildings," Newton continued, "and we hope the trouble will stop before we have to take action."

Woman Held For Shoplifting

One shoplifting report and two thefts, along with two minor accidents, were investigated by Big Spring police Wednesday. One arrest was made.

J. W. Carter, Gibson's Discount Center, called police at noon to arrest a woman for shoplifting. The 22-year-old Latin American had several articles of clothing valued at $8.30. She was placed in the city jail for shoplifting.

O. R. Alexander, 1102 W. 6th, reported the theft of acetylene welding equipment and assorted hand tools valued at $100. Alexander told officers that his son saw a man take the items from a pickup Saturday, but that they were brought back when the son ordered them returned. They were gone again Wednesday.

A bath tub, metal medicine cabinet, and kitchen sink trim were reported stolen from a house under construction at 4219 Calvin. Charles Carter, who reported the theft, said the items were valued at $130.

Accidents, in which there were no injuries, locations, and drivers of vehicles involved, were: 2400 Gregg, Ross Callahan, Sterling City route, and Riss Roberts, 1302 Michael; Fifth and Abrams, Rayburn Merrill, 1809 Johnson, and Ramon Torres, 808 Magnolia.

Electrocuted

SEMINOLE (AP)— R. L. Williamson, 40, of Hobbs, N.M., was electrocuted in an accident on an oil lease 6 miles northeast of here Wednesday.

Student Social Workers Complete Part Of Training

Two student social workers at the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital have successfully completed the first third of their field training here. The stamp of approval on their progress was given Wednesday by Mrs. Leona R. Doherty, assistant professor with the Worden School of Scoial Work.

The two students, Wally Whitworth of Corpus Christi and Charles E. Saylor of San Antonio, have been taking the field portion of their first year of graduate study at the local hospital since mid-January. They will be here until May 14.

Mrs. Doherty has been in Big Spring the past two days reviewing their work. She will return again in April, this time to cast a more critical eye on the work with dispensing of grades in mind. The men have been working under the supervision of Tolford Durham, chief of social work service at the hospital.

"The men have done well here. Cooperation and assistance has been excellent. This is quite evident to the outside observer," Mrs. Doherty said.

Progress made may not be apparent, especially to the two men who are getting their first acquaintance with field work. During the first semester in field work, they are learning to recognize situations pointed out in classwork and to implement theories presented in school.

They will return to the school for another half-year of training. Then, once again, they will go into the field to practice what they have learned and to gain additional experience. However, Whitworth and Saylor will not return to Big Spring because the school desires to have the students work in as many of the areas of social work as possible. Next year they may be working with underprivileged children or in some other area.

"Not everyone is qualified to be a social worker," Mrs. Doherty pointed out, "and the student usually finds that out while working in the field. A student may have the scholastic ability, but not be able to cope with the work when he or she must put it into practice."

It is now known at this time whether the local hospital will continue to participate in the program.

Area Students Win Honors

Ilameta Carr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Carr, Vincent, led the list of local and area honor students in the College of Fine Arts at the University of Texas during the fall semester of 1962.

She earned Cum Laude Ampla Et Magna honors among art, drama and music students, according to Dean E. W. Doty. Miss Carr is a 1961 graduate of Big Spring High School. Last year she attended Howard County Junior College. She is now studying drama at the University.

While attending Big Spring High School, she earned many honors, including first places in district and regional Interscholastic League competition and the American Legion Award for scholarship, leadership and character. She was a member of the National Honor Scoiety.

Jimmy A. Anderson, Forsan, was listed by Dean Lee F. Worrell as earning high honors in the College of Pharmacy at the University.

Other area students in the College of Fine Arts who were on the scholastic honor roll are: Suzanne Frances Martin, Midland, and Karen Dodd Webber, Odessa, both Magna Cum Laude; and Larry K. Bell, Abilene, and Janet Susan Claassen, Odessa, Cum Laude.

FPC Approves Gas Settlement

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Power Commission has conditionally approved a settlement proposed by Socony Mobil Oil Co., Dallas, covering natural gas sales offshore from Jefferson County, Tex.

Under the settlement announced Tuesday, Socony Mobil will refund about $150,000, plus 6 per cent interest; charge a rate of 18.46 cents per 1,000 cubic feet instead of its proposed 22.8 cents; and agree to waive the right to file increased rates prior to July 1, 1967, subject to the outcome of any area rate proceedings covering Texas Railroad Commission District No. 3.

The gas involved is from the High Island Block 10 Field offshore from Jefferson County.

HC Winds Up Home Season At 8 P. M.

Howard County Junior College winds up its home basketball season in an 8 o'clock game tonight with Amarillo College.

The Hawks defeated the Badgers, 65-64, previously this season in a conference game at Amarillo—only to have that decision taken away by the league's executive committee.

The Jayhawks go to San Angelo Monday night to play their last game of the season. There will be no tournament play for the locals this year—they've been barred from competition by the Western Conference.

HCJC will carry a 23-7 won-lost record onto the floor tonight, including the two games it had to forfeit in league play.

The Hawks and the Badgers also tangled in the HCJC Christmas tournament here and the Big Springers won that one rather easily, 81-58. The Badgers gave the Hawks all they could handle for a half, however.

San Angelo has already won the Western Conference championship. Amarillo is seeking to nail down the runnerup spot in the circuit.

In their last start, HCJC's Hawks knocked off Clarendon College, 95-50, using their reserves more than half the time.

Toby Hall, one of the aces on the Amarillo team, was named the most valuable player in the last HCJC tournament, Perhaps the deadliest shot on the Amarillo team, however, is little Bob Dibler, who has shown an ability to hit from just about anywhere inside the center line.

Others who will perform for the Badgers include Pete Roberts, John Bigby, John Dickerson, Tim Tucker, Mike Wesbrooks, Chester Dunavan, Bruce Francis, Richard Englen, Robert Hoffman, John Stevenson, Pat McDaniel and Jimmy Jennings.

Dr. Bob Carter, coach of the Amarillo team, is the dean of the Western Conference coaches. He's been associated with the Panhandle school ever since it first fielded a team.

Local basketball buffs get their last opportunity to see such greats as Walter Carter, most prolific scorer in the history of the local school; Ernest Turner, Bill (Cotton) Thompson and Conroy Lacy perform on the local floor.

Carter and Turner are considered by many to be the best one-two punch the local college ever had.

Their departure means that Coach Buddy Travis faces a major rebuilding job next year.

Hawk scoring:

Player	FG	FT	TP
Walter Carter	164	158	486
Ernest Turner	174	106	454
Bill Thompson	121	63	305
Conroy Lacy	84	96	264

Bill Sinches	18	15	51
Dick Ebling	13	23	49
Terry Williams	0	6	6
Robert Harrmack	2	2	6

Total points, 2303; opponents' total points 1839. HCJC's average points, 76.8; opponents' average points, 61.3.

Lewis Takes 11 Hawks To Fort Worth Meet

Coach C. L. (Red) Lewis will take an 11-man team of HCJC athletes with him to Fort Worth tomorrow for the annual Southwestern Recreational Track and Field meet.

The Jayhawks, who have seen limited action in two indoor meets to date, will be competing against university freshman boys, as well as against other junior college talent.

Bad weather has handicapped the Hawks thus far but Lewis reasons his team is about as far along physically as most other teams in the state.

The meet will mark the long-awaited debut of Michael Hill, who will throw the weights for HCJC.

Hill, an Illinois product, is regarded as a coming champion in three events—the discus, shot put and javelin.

There will be no competition in the javelin at Fort Worth but Hill will take part in both the discus and the shot put. He has hurled the saucer past 180 feet and the shot over 52 feet in practice sessions.

Gary Walker will also represent the Hawks in the discus throw and he figures to prosper, too. He's getting off much better throws than he did last year.

Only sprinter Terry Williams, a freshman from Hobbs, will not be able to accompany the team. Williams is barred from the meet due to the fact that he is a Negro but he'll be able to run in the Border Olympics at Laredo next week and in most meets this spring.

The Hawks sprint relay team may suffer because Terry won't be present to pick up the baton in one of the heats.

Tommy Wise, a hurdler, is doubtful, too, because of an injury. If he does run, he's apt to go in the 330-yard intermediate hurdles and the sprint relay.

Here's the team, by events, Lewis will probably enter at Fort Worth.

100-yard dash—Don Carter.
220—Carter, Tommy Yarbro.
440—Bruce Teagarden.
880—Milton Marrow, possibly Lewis White.
330-yard hurdles—Wise.
Sprint relay — Larry Mauldin, Teagarden, Yarbro and Carter. Wise could go in place of Mauldin.
Mile relay—Teagarden, Marrow, Yarbro, Carter.
Broad jump — Kenneth Windham.
High jump—Windham.
Pole vault — Ronnie Overton and Mauldin.
Shot put—Mike Hill.
Discus—Hill and Walker.

COMMERCE — The East Texas State Lion track squad journeys to Fort Worth to open the 1963 season with the Southwestern Recreational Meet Friday and Saturday.

The Lions will have 20 men entered in 13 events at the two day meet. The East Texas team finished fourth at the meet last year, behind Northeastern Louisiana and Howard Payne.

MICHAEL HILL

Entered in the sprints will be R. L. Lasater, sophomore letterman from Big Spring; James Springer, freshman from Dallas; Keith Newell, freshman from Marshall and Ronnie McNeill, freshman from Corsicana.

In the quartermile the Lions will have David Hales, freshman from Fort Worth (Carter-Riverside); Basil Clark, sophomore letterman from Wilmer; Morris Kyser, freshman from Pearland and Newell.

Sophomore lettermen Pete Collumb, Newark, N.J., and Larry Ernst, Dallas (Wilmer-Hutchins) will run the 880 along with Hales.

The mile entrants will be Billy Humphries, freshman from Commerce; David Donowho, sophomore letterman from Denison and Wilbert Bennett, freshman from Whitewright.

Joe Clifton, junior from Dallas (Sunset), will enter the 330-yard intermediate hurdles.

In the field events, the Lions will have Jackie Gallagher, senior two-year letterman from Gainesville, in the high jump. Dudley Haas, senior two-year letterman from Corpus Christi (Ray), and Bob Green, junior from Vernon, will enter the high jump.

David Sikes, junior letterman from Ozona, will enter the pole vault with Cooper Ford, junior from Freeport. Marvin Kenneally, Albany, N.Y. freshman, will heave the shot put. Ford will also enter the discus along with Carroll Selby, Dallas junior.

Maxwell Shares Pro-Am Awards

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Pro golfers may get a stiff test on the water-dotted Lakewood Country Club course in the $40,000 Greater New Orleans Open beginning Friday if pro-am results are any indication.

Only eight pros bettered par on the 7,000-yard layout Wednesday in the pro-am.

"That course is rough," said defending champion Bo Wininger of Oklahoma City, who didn't turn in a card after the pro-am.

Wininger, who won his title last year at municipally owned City Park, said the fairway traps were too severe.

Arnold Palmer, the golden boy of golf, toured the tricky layout in a even-par 72.

Peppery Phil Rodgers and Bill Maxwell, one of the masters of the short iron, shared top honors in the pro-am with 69s. Each collected $277.50.

Gary Player and Doug Sanders, the short-swinging pro who won the 1961 New Orleans Open, turned in 71s.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Watch Don Carter's smoke the coming track season.

The HCJC sophomore was bothered by foot trouble last year but he's ready to run and he has a heart as big as a watermelon. His best race appears to be the 220, although he'll also compete in the 100.

HCJC's strength appears to be concentrated in the field events this year but Carter will pick up a lot of points along the way in the sprints and the relay races.

* * * *

Lubbock High's Westerners, who meet the Big Spring Steers twice in baseball this spring, lost two of their better players, both juniors, before the season began.

They were Alan Johnson and Vic Correll, both of whom moved from Lubbock. As sophomores in 1962, Johnson and Correll gained Honorable Mention on the All-District 3-AAAA team.

* * * *

Track will be emphasized as it never has been before here on the junior high school level, now that spring football training has been cut out for the eighth and ninth graders.

* * *

Shed no tears for the financial status of Jack Nicklaus, the 23-year old golfer who won the National Open last year.

Some linksters live on hamburgers what time they're on the tour in a struggle to make ends meet.

Nicklaus, who won $61,000 in his first year on the tour in 1962, recently signed a four-year contract with the Tucson National Golf Club to represent that city on the tour. His pay for that period will be $50,000.

The pay of most pros to represent certain courses ranges between $2,500 to $3,000 a year.

* * * *

Footballer Victor Castillo, who led San Antonio Brackenridge to the Class AAAA state championship last season and who recently signed a letter of intent to attend Kansas State, had offers from Southern California, New Mexico State, Washburn and Trinity, among other schools.

* * * *

Incidentally, track and field athletes are being wooed by senior colleges as they never have been before.

Wake Forest has already made inquiries about several HCJC boys. Many colleges which have made only token appearances in track meets in other years are now going in strong for the sport.

* * * *

Big Spring's Dale Hopkins, back from a shotgun shoot at Andrews last weekend, says he saw in 16-year-old Britt Robinson of Tahoka a young man who is sure to develop into one of the world's best marksmen with the weapon, if all goes as expected with him.

Hopkins, who himself is regarded as quite a deadly shot with a gun, says that young Robinson boasts quicker reflexes than anyone he's ever seen.

Britt, says Hopkins, is already carrying about all the handicaps allowed under existing rules.

* * * *

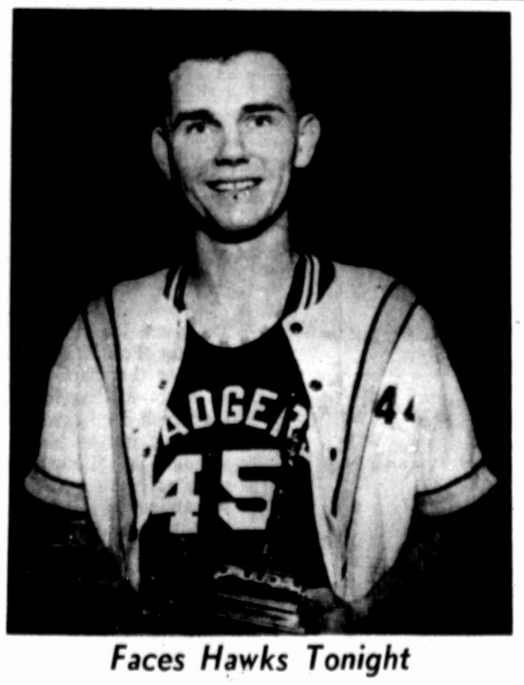

Big Spring's gift to the big leagues, Camilo Pascual, recently was fined $500 by baseball commissioner Ford Frick for playing baseball out of season in Central America but the Minnesota star may get the money back.

Camilo argued that he got permission from his bosses to play in two or three exhibitions, would not have donned a uniform for a diamond appearance, otherwise.

Li'l League Sets Meeting Friday

President Bob Clark of the Texas Little League has called a meeting of all persons interested in the welfare of the circuit for 7:30 p.m. Friday.

The conclave will be conducted on the second floor of the Howard County courthouse.

Faces Hawks Tonight

Toby Hall, pictured above with two trophies he won in the HCJC Christmas Basketball Tournament here in December, leads the Amarillo College Badgers against HCJC in the Jayhawk gym tonight. Hall was named the Most Valuable Player in the tournament. The other trophy is for having been named to the all-tournament squad.

Duke Is Heavy Cage Favorite In The East

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The also-rans get a second chance, for whatever it may be worth, in the Atlantic Coast and Southern Conference basketball scrambles today.

Those two conferences open their annual post-season tournaments with powerful Duke, winner of 15 straight and ranked second in the nation, a lop-sided favorite in the ACC while West Virginia is favored to add to its history of success in the Southern Conference.

Duke ripped out a 14-0 record against ACC opponents in regular season play and West Virginia compiled an 11-2 mark against its conference opponents. Those records, however, are good only for the top spot in the bracket as the leagues go to tourney play to determine their NCAA representatives.

The ACC champion gets a bye in first round NCAA eastern regional play and meets the winner of the Pitt-New York University game in a regional semifinal. The Southern Conference champ goes against the Yankee Conference winner in an eastern regional first round game.

Bowling Green backed into the NCAA Mideast regionals when Western Michigan edged Toledo 69-64 Wednesday night. Bowling Green will play Notre Dame in a first-round NCAA game.

The Irish warmed up with a 78-72 triumph over Evansville at South Bend while third-ranked Loyola of Chicago, also bound for the NCAA, whipped visiting Ohio University 114-94. The victory pushed Loyola's record to 24-1.

St. Francis of New York, which has accepted a bid to the National Invitation Tourney, stumbled before visiting Seton Hall 71-62.

Duke, sparked by 6-foot-5 Art Heyman, ran up a 21-2 regular season record and is heavily favored in the tourney at Raleigh, N.C. Heyman takes an average of 25.8 points a game into tonight's first round match with Virginia, 5-19. Semifinals are scheduled Friday night, the finals Saturday.

West Virginia, winner of seven of the last eight Southern Conference tourneys, takes an 18-7 mark into the affair at Richmond, Va.

The Mountaineers go against Richmond, 7-17, in a first round match tonight with William and Mary, 15-8, playing Virginia Tech, 11-11, in the other game. Semifinals will be played Friday night, the finals Saturday.

Kansas State stayed ahead of idle Colorado in the Big Eight race Wednesday, trouncing visiting Kansas 74-60. The victory pushed the Wildcats' league record to 9-2, while Colorado is 9-3.

In some of the other major games, Air Force edged Regis of Denver 59-58, Lehigh beat Rutgers 81-65 and Niagara routed Syracuse 82-61.

San Angelo Rams Tops In Ratings

DODGE CITY, Kan. (AP) — Texans have captured the top team and individual scoring honors in the final basketball coaches poll of the season in the National Junior College Athletic Association.

San Angelo Junior College with a 22-3 record was picked as the top team in the nation.

Herbert Johnson of Jacksonville Baptist Junior College took individual honors with 938 points in 28 games for a 33.5 average. Johnson also had 67 points in a single game this year for a new association record.

Lon Morris Junior College, also of Jacksonville, with a 24-3 mark was ranked second in the nation. Kilgore Junior College was ranked 18th.

Smith's Opposes Temple Baptist

E. C. Smith Construction company's basketball team will oppose the Temple Baptist club of the YMCA Church league in a practice basketball tilt in the HCJC Gym at 6 o'clock this evening.

Smith's nosed out the Lakeview Y, 89-86, in a start earlier this week.

In that game, Delnor Poss scored 30 points, Al Kloven 22. Don Stevens 18 and Oakey Hagood 10 for Smith's. Keene had 22 and Brinkley 20 for Lakeview.

Reagan Is First In Rifle Shoot

Horace Reagan of Big Spring captured top honors in the Canyon Gun Club Shoot held in Snyder last Sunday.

The meet was designated for those using .25 calibre rifles and up.

Reagan received a trophy for his feat.

Steers Open Busy Weekend Friday

The Big Spring Steers probably will be short-handed when they take the field Saturday afternoon in their home baseball opener against the Snyder Tigers.

ROY BAIRD

Some of the seniors on the team will not be available due to other activities. One of those will be outfielder Rick Wisener, a letterman, who will be in El Paso taking an exam for one of the service academies.

It's doubtful if infielder Rick Peters will be able to play, although he will be in the lineup when the Steers go to Snyder for a 4 p.m. game tomorrow.

Two games will be unreeled here Saturday, with the first due to start at 1 p.m.

Coach Roy Baird has nominated five pitchers to work the weekend series. They are Roy New, Jack Roden, Eric Nichols, Freddie Miears and Pat Riley. The latter is due to be employed in relief, however.

Roden has been showing to advantage in early drills. Jack came along fast toward the end of last season.

Catcher Charley West has been sick. He'll start against Snyder, if he's back and hale. Otherwise, Jeff Brown is due to don the catching harness. Brown ordinarily will be at first base.

New, Roden and Nichols are apt to see service in the outfield, what time they are not pitching.

Bill Andrews is due to start at second base but will divide time at that position with Humberto Hernandez. Peters will play third Friday while Howard Bain will probably man the position Saturday.

Baxter Moore, a junior who has a good background in Little League and Teen-Age ball, will open at shortstop while Freddie Simmons and Buster Barnes will be available for duty on the picket line, along with New, Roden and Nichols.

New lettered here as a sophomore but did not play high school ball last spring. Nichols played for Abilene High as a sophomore.

Baird recently cut the squad to 33 boys and says he intends to carry that number the rest of the year. He wants to book several B games, if the budget will allow it.

Snyder, again coached by Speedy Moffett, has a lineup riddled by graduation and studded with sophomores. The Tigers are always tough for Big Spring to handle, however.

The Bengals finished with an 8-15 record last year and were 3-3 in conference play.

No fewer than 17 of the 29 boys on the Snyder roster are sophs. Included in those out are four lettermen. They are pitcher-outfielder Dalton Walton, first baseman Kenny Wellborn, catcher Jimmy Marcum and pitcher - outfielder Rob Hall.

Hall and soph Roy Miller are left-handers, the only ones on the Snyder mound staff.

Marcum has been converted from a second baseman and has impressed Moffett with his improvement.

The Snyder shortstop may be Leslie Brown, who had a big role in handing Big Spring a football defeat last fall.

Walton hit .556 in 3-AAA last year and must be regarded as a threat every time he walks to the plate.

The Steers play Lubbock Monterey here next Tuesday.

Snyder dropped its opening game Tuesday to Lubbock High, 13-4, yielding nine runs to the Westerners in the third inning.

The Tigers managed seven hits in the contest. Wellborn and Marcum connecting two each.

Walton, J. N. Wall and Blake Roberts divided time on the mound for Snyder, yielding only seven hits between them.

O'Brien Selected On All-Star Unit

David O'Brien of Forsan was named to the District 83-B all-star basketball team, chosen this week by coaches.

Others honored on the spangled club were Mike McBride, Barnhart; Marion Wood, Water Valley; Larry Trantham, Mertzon; and Jerry Payne, Sterling City.

Payne was named as the district representative for the summer all-star game, a feature of the annual Eight and Six-Man Coaching school.

H. K. Elrod and Kenneth Soles, both of Forsan, were named to the Honorable Mention list on the all-star squad, along with David Parsons, Water Valley.

Three Forsan girls were named to the all-district team, along with two from Garden City.

Forsan fems honored were Jodie Dodd, forward; and guards Judy Hughes and Patsy Gooch. The Garden City representatives were Judy Hirt, forward; and guard Sharon Jacobs.

The other girl named to the first unit was Vickey Dudley, forward, Mertzon.

Receiving honorable mention were Betty Conger, Forsan; Bonnie Simpson, Forsan; Rita Hardy, Garden City; Mitzi Davis, Sterling City; Lanelle Overton, Forsan; Tavie Daniel, Garden City; Temple Ann Foster, Sterling City; and Martha Crabb, Mertzon.

The mentors met last night in Mertzon to select the two squads.

Mantle's Contract Shown To Press

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—They win more than anyone else, but otherwise the New York Yankees aren't apt to cause much of a radical stir in major league baseball.

They shook off the cloak of conservatism Wednesday, however, when they:

1. Signed slugger Mickey Mantle for $100,000.

2. Displayed the contract for all to see.

3. And then landed slugger Roger Maris for $72,000 virtually before the ink was dry on Mantle's contract.

Thus, the world champions shattered precedent not only by signing their two highest-priced performers at the same stroke but also by showing off the salary figure on a player's contract—normally a top secret item.

Why the Yankees exhibited Mantle's signed contract to newsmen was not explained, but probably because the document puts the Oklahoman in a small circle of baseball's 100-granders. Willy Mays signed for that amount last week with the San Francisco Giants, and Stan Musial, Ted Williams and Joe DiMaggio have been the only others in the club.

DiMaggio, the Yankee Clipper whose center field job Mantle inherited, was on hand for Thursday's signing ceremony here.

Mantle, 31, has been an ailment-prone athlete in his 12 seasons with the Yankees but has established himself as a star of the first magnitude nevertheless. Last year, for example, the switch-hitting belter missed 39 games altogether and was limited to part-time duty in several others, mostly because of leg injuries.

Play In Coahoma Tuesday Night

The Sundown Roughettes (above) tangle with Jim Ned in a bi-district basketball game in the Coahoma gymnasium, starting at 8 o'clock Tuesday night. The Roughettes have been stage champions in Class A for the last two years. Seated, left to right, they are Sue James, Sondra Lough, Mildred McHam, Janice Ratliff, Brenda Perrin and Pat Bridges. Standing: Margie Joiner, Sandra Pirtle, Janice Gray, Elaine Stokes, Charlotte Jones, Evelyn Anderson, Cheryl Crabtree, Nota Stokes, Janie Giddens and Barbara Balwin (manager).

Lewis Mazzurana Won't Be Allowed To Play At Rice

HOUSTON (AP)—Rice University authorities ruled Wednesday that junior tackle Lewis Mazzurana, who failed to report a basketball bribe offer, can never again compete in athletics at the Houston school.

The 258-pound San Antonio lineman, who lettered as a member of the second team last year, thus received one of the strongest punishments ever dealt an athlete at Rice, although he can still remain a student.

"I don't know why this was done," Mazzurana said, "I haven't done a thing wrong other than keeping quiet about the bribe."

The big lineman held out hope he still would be able to play at Rice.

"I still want to play at Rice and I think I will. We'll just have to wait and see," he said.

A spokesman at the Rice information office said:

"Lewis Mazzurana will not be permitted to participate in intercollegiate athletics or to hold any office on the Rice campus during the remainder of his athletic career.

"It should be emphasized that Mr. Mazzurana has cooperated completely with the university, federal and state authorities in the basketball bribery investigation. This announcement does not represent an increase in the severity of action in this case."

The university spokesman said the change in Mazzurana's status was due to a misunderstanding between the intention of the university authorities and the athletic department and "it was the information from the beginning that Mr. Mazzurana would be barred from intercollegiate athletics at Rice."

Mazzurana roomed with Herb Steinkamp, who along with Dick Cramer, received an offer of $500 each from a Rice sophomore, since expelled, to fix the result of the Rice-Baylor game Feb. 19. Rice basketball Coach Johnny Frankie was informed of it by the two basketball players Feb. 5.

Because Mazzurana failed to report the offer, Rice football Coach Jess Neely announced Saturday his scholarship was being lifted. This was followed by the more severe penalty Wednesday.

NIT Field Set With 12 Teams

NEW YORK (AP)—The field is set for the 26th annual National Invitation Basketball Tournament, which will be staged at Madison Square Garden March 14-23.

Fordham and St. Francis of New York were named to the NIT Wednesday, giving the tourney its full complement of 12 teams.

The two New York clubs join Wichita, St. Louis, DePaul, Marquette, Providence, Canisius, LaSalle, Villanova, Memphis State and Miami of Florida for the 1963 classic.

Panhandle Gets Snow Blanket

By The Associated Press

Snow in the wake of a Pacific cold front lay a white cover over part of the Texas Panhandle and showers were expected to spread over much of the state Thursday.

As much as 3 inches of snow whitened the countryside around Vega west of Amarillo before dawn. It was an inch deep in the west edge of Amarillo.

State patrolmen said driving conditions were hazardous on U.S. 66 farther west between Tucumcari and Clines Corners in New Mexico, where the snowfall was heavier.

The forward edge of the weather front pushed as far south as a line linking Sherman, Mineral Wells and San Angelo before daylight. Temperatures were in the 30s to 40s behind the front and in the 50s to 60s to the south.

Light snow mixed with rain started falling about 4 a.m. in the area from Amarillo west and north into New Mexico.

Scattered showers were in prospect for most other sections of Texas and due to last well into the night as cooler air finished enveloping the state.

Forecasts called for chillier weather in all sections during the night, with readings down to 20 degrees in the Panhandle. The chill was expected to linger through Saturday.

Small craft warnings flew along the Texas coast.

The cool air mass moved in behind a windy and rather warm day in most areas of the state. Temperatures Wednesday afternoon ranged up to 86 degrees at Presidio in the Big Bend country.

Readings early Thursday varied from 34 at Amarillo to 67 at Brownsville.

Mariner II Gives Guidance Lift To Manned Craft

WASHINGTON (AP) — Manned spacecraft of the future may be simpler to navigate, thanks to Mariner II.

Donald W. Trask of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, Pasadena, Calif., a Mariner Project scientist, says the impressive ability of stations on earth to track a spacecraft, as demonstrated with Mariner, will greatly reduce the demands on computers aboard the space vehicles.

Trask told a news conference Tuesday that precise two-way radio tracking of Mariner during its 129-day flight to Venus and beyond provided the basic data that will help refine the physical measurements that apply throughout the solar system.

One-Day Mail Service Slated In Four Cities

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Post Office Department has announced one-day mail service will start soon in the downtown areas of four Texas cities — El Paso, Dallas, Midland and Odessa.

Under the expedited program, letters mailed in the business districts of the four cities by 11 a.m. will be delivered by 3 p.m. the same day in the downtown area.

Noted Soldier Of Fortune Dies At 81, In Hospital Bed

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Charles Sweeny, a millionaire's son who turned soldier of fortune to fight in seven wars under five flags, died Wednesday—in a hospital bed—of infirmities of age. He was 81.

A native of San Francisco, the tall, erect, ruddy-faced adventurer was one of the organizers of the Lafayette Escadrille in which Americans flew for France during World War I. Before America entered World War II, he organized the Royal Air Force's American "Eagle Squadron."

Sweeny's lust for adventure became apparent at the age of 16, when he enlisted in the U.S. Army and fought in the Spanish-American War.

He returned to graduate from the University of Notre Dame and the U.S. Military Academy at West Point. He rounded out his military education at France's Ecole Militaire.

Sweeny enlisted as a private in the French Foreign Legion in 1914 and rose to the rank of lieutenant colonel within three years. He was transferred to the U.S. Army in 1917 when America entered the war.

Wounded three times, he retired at the end of the war as a colonel.

Pursuing adventure, Sweeny fought as a general in the Polish army against the Bolsheviks, then joined the revolutionary army of Kemal Ataturk of Turkey.

In 1925, he was captain of an American squadron which fought for France in Morocco. He served as a military adviser to the Spanish loyalists in Spain's civil war.

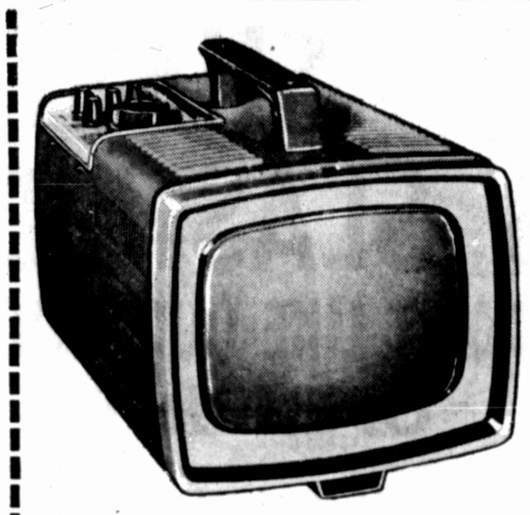

The French Foreign Legion commissioned him a major general in 1939 after the outbreak of World War II.

Sweeny picked out a handful of American adventurers and organized the Eagle Squadron of the French Air Force. When France collapsed, Sweeny and his U.S. flyers crossed the channel to England. Sweeny was given an honorary captaincy in the Royal Air Force as leader of the fledgling American Eagle Squadron.

During his career, Sweeny also served as a correspondent for American publications. He returned to the United States in 1942, and in 1944 made his home in Salt Lake City.

Rescued From Icy River

Arthur Boutiette, 14, of Woonsocket, R.I., is pulled from the ice-crusted Blackstone River after he and a companion were pitched into the water when their small boat upset. The companion, Ronald L'Heureux, 16, also of Woonsocket, drowned in an attempt to rescue Arthur, who does not swim. This photo was taken by Joseph L. Corriveau, an amateur photographer from Meriden, Conn., who was driving past the scene.

Private Debt And Spending Could Be Loosed By Tax Cut

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Personal debts have been rising much faster than the national debt. But the rate has slowed down in the last year or so—just as has the rate of economic growth.

And many advocates of a big federal tax cut now hold that this would lead both consumers and business to spend more and incline them to borrow more. Together spending and borrowing would act as a tonic to the rate of general economic growth.

All of this is conjecture. No one can be sure what people will do with any federal tax saving. They may spend it all. Or they may increase their rate of savings which has been going up of late. Or they may use the federal income tax saving to pay all the various other forms of taxation which have been going up and seem likely to continue on that path.

Total private indebtedness was $140 billion in 1945. In five years it jumped 79 per cent, in the next five 60 per cent, and from 1955 to 1960 it went up 45 per cent. In the last two years it has risen 15 per cent to $672 billion.

Chief reasons given for the slowing of the rate were smaller gains in home building, in business spending for new plant and equipment and in going in hock for consumer durables.

The federal debt has risen since 1945 at a comparatively slow rate from $259 billion to around $304 billion. State and local government debts have risen much faster.

The U.S. Treasury is now running a deficit and expects this to increase. But the debt rise will still be moderate if compared with the growth of the economy as a whole. Output of goods and services is now running at around $563 billion a year.

And while consumers have been busy running up a huge total of debts, they also have been building a huge total of savings in various forms.

Commercial bank savings deposits have soared, partly because of the inducement of higher interest rates. So have funds in mutual savings banks. Savings and loan associations report the trend is continuing this year. Life insurance companies are taking in more premiums. Credit unions report gains. Even the total invested in U.S. savings bonds climbs in spite of the competition with other forms of saving that pay more.

But beyond the generally accepted forms of savings, the public has been putting increasingly large sums into various forms of personal security, some private and some public.

Together these are now taking in about a billion dollars a week, the Institute of Life Insurance figures. It notes a steady increase in the amount flowing into life insurance and annuities, into health insurance and into corporate pension funds. These private forms of personal protection took in $11 billion in 1950 and more than $27 billion last year.

Here Are Some Pertinent Facts From School Census

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—There are 46 million school-age children in the United States, nearly 10 per cent of them in California.

"Thirty-six per cent of the total U.S. population is age 17 or under, 25 per cent in the 5-17 age bracket.

The average American aged 25 or older has completed 10.6 years of school, ranging from 12.2 years in Utah to 8.7 years in Kentucky and South Carolina.

These figures, and dozens more, which illustrate the problems and the impact of education in this country were reported today by the National Education Association in its annual "Rankings of the States."

The report, compiled by the NEA's research division, makes no attempt to rank the states in over-all quality of education. However, the 90 tables of facts and figures provide some clues.

For instance, Utah, with the highest average education, tied with Washington the lowest percentage of Selective Service registrants failing the mental test, 4.7. South Carolina, tied with Kentucky for the lowest average education, had the highest percentage of mental test failures, 54.6.

In the 1959-60 school year, only 16.7 per cent of the elementary school teachers in North Dakota had at least a B.A. degree, indicating four years of college preparation. South Dakota had 17.6 per cent, and Idaho, Iowa, and Nebraska were all below 40 per cent.

At the top of the list stands Oklahoma, where 99.7 per cent of the elementary school teachers have at least a B.A. degree. Arizona, 99.4 per cent, and Florida, 98.7 per cent, are close behind.

The report shows there were 46,382,261 school-age youngsters on July 1, 1962. California led with 4,153,812, followed by New York with 3,863,949, and Pennsylvania with 2,722,250.

The actual school enrollment for this school year was estimated to be 40,007,912, of which California enrolled 4,080,000, New York 3,088,000 and Texas 2,291,279.

Between the 1952-53 and 1962-63 school years, the total enrollment of public elementary and secondary schools increased 44.6 per cent. Alaska increased 150.9 per cent, California 111.2 per cent, and Florida 98.6 per cent.

Arkansas lost 3.8 per cent of its public school enrollment in the 10-year period and West Virginia gained only 2.2 per cent at the other end of the list.

In the median number of school years completed by persons age 25 or older, Utah with 12.2 was only slightly ahead of Alaska, California, Colorado, Nevada and Washington, all with 12.1 years.

The Utah and Washington figure of only 4.7 per cent of Selective Service registrants failing the mental test was followed closely by Wyoming, 5 per cent; Montana, 5.1 per cent, and Oregon, 5.5 per cent.

The 11 lowest states in this category were all in the South: Florida 31.9, Kentucky 35.8; Virginia 35.9; Tennessee 36, North Carolina 37.4, Arkansas 40.4, Georgia 42.9, Alabama 46.1, Louisiana 48.3, Mississippi 54.5, and South Carolina 54.6.

The national average was 23 per cent.

The NEA figures showed that 87.4 per cent of all youths aged 14-17 were enrolled in school in 1960. Oregon had the best mark, 93.9 per cent, while in South Carolina, only 77.7 per cent of the youths in the 14-17 age bracket were enrolled in school.

Let Your Tables Tell Of Lent With Myriad Forms Of Food That Flow From The Sea

Lent is the time to let your table sing with seafoods. With the approach of this religious season, fresh, frozen and canned seafoods in myriad forms smile at the variety-minded consumer from shelves, freezers and beds of freshly-crushed ice.

Versatile seagoods are rushed daily from seines to supermarkets and from harbors to households; with these quality products the imaginative consumer can let her culinary creativeness run rampant. Flexible fillets, savory steaks, palatable portions, convenient canned fish and tang-o-the-sea shellfish await her selection at nearby stores.

Not only do seafoods appear in endless shapes and sizes, but they lend themselves to countless methods of preparation. Steaks or salads, chowders or canapes, soups or sandwiches; broiled, baked, fried or flaked; breakfast, brunch, dinner or lunch—seafoods serve well.

The New Orleans Mardi Gras which precedes the Lenten season is internationally famous for its great show of imagination. With this imagination and her own special touch, the American housewife can let the sparkle of Mardi Gras linger on her table throughout the Lenten season.

DIXIELAND RAINBOW TROUT

6 pan-dressed rainbow trout or other small fish, fresh or frozen
¼ cup French dressing
12 thin lemon slices
Paprika

Thaw frozen fish. Clean, wash and dry fish. Brush inside and out with dressing. Cut 6 lemon slices in half. Place 2 halves in each body cavity. Place fish in a well-greased baking dish, 14 x 9 x 2 inches. Place a lemon slice on each fish. Brush top of fish with remaining dressing. Sprinkle with paprika. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees F., for 30 to 35 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Serves 6.

BIG AND IMPRESSIVE
A stuffed baked fish makes good eating for just the family or company.

ALMOST SAME AS BIRD

Sure, You Can Bake A Stuffed Fish!

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Note to brides: don't let a whole fish scare you. Stuff it and bake it and serve it up to company.

Stuffing's simpler than you may think. A fish takes to the same type of dressing as does a bird. The following recipe is one we adapted from a stuffing we have used for chicken. But know what you are cooking; this is the moist soft type of dressing mixture, not the dry buttery kind.

The only trick to stuffing a fish is making sure the stuffing stays where it should—inside. An efficient way to do this is to use skewers and lace them with white string. (At present one maker of foil is enclosing six of these small pins in a package of foil.)

By the way, we always bake fish in a foil-lined pan for two reasons: to save pan-scrubbing and for easy lifting out of the fish. Be sure to grease the foil, and don't over-bake or the fish is likely to stick to the foil.

BAKED STUFFED FISH

½ cup butter or margarine
1 small onion, finely chopped
½ cup finely chopped celery
1 pkg. (8 ozs.) herb-seasoned dry breadcrumb stuffing
1 cup boiling water
½ cup pickle relish
Whole fish (about 5-6 lbs.) prepared for stuffing

In a large skillet or saucepan melt the butter over low heat; add onion and celery; cook gently, stirring often, until onion is golden. Stir in the stuffing, boiling water and pickle relish.

Open fish; place as much of the stuffing as possible in a flat layer over bottom; flip top over; skewer and lace loosely—do not try to have edges of fish meet. Rub top of fish with extra soft butter; place on greased foil in a shallow pan; bake in a moderate (375 degrees) oven about 40 minutes or until fish flakes easily.

Place extra stuffing in a small foil package and bake with fish. Makes 6 servings.

Notes: Have your market scale, split (but not all the way through) and clean fish; leave head and tail on or off.

Orange Gives Flavor

2 cans (1-lb. each) red sour pitted cherries (water pack)
1 orange, quartered and seeded
2 cups sugar
1-3 cup lemon juice
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. red food coloring
Bottle (6 oz.) liquid fruit pectin.

Drain cherries. Put drained cherries and orange through food chopper. Place in a 2-quart saucepan. Add sugar, lemon juice, salt and red food coloring. Mix well.

Place over high heat and bring to a full rolling boil. Boil 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Add liquid fruit pectin and stir well. Chill. Makes 1 quart.

Make An Impression-Sukiyaki And Rice

Want to impress your dinner guests without spending all day in the kitchen? Then, translate the usual steak-and-potatoes menu into exotic sukiyaki and rice. Always prepared before the eyes of diners in Japan, sukiyaki can be cooked in an electric skillet at the table for an extra bit of showmanship. Or make your main dish chop suey or chow mein. Whichever you choose, serve it with hot fluffy rice, and a mandarin orange and lettuce salad tossed with dressing.

Keep the guests happy while you put finishing touches on the meal by letting them nibble Japanese Kabobs—made with that American convenience, refrigerated biscuits. They're best served warm but you can bake them ahead of time, let guests reheat them over a hibachi.

JAPANESE KABOB APPETIZERS

Prepare a marinade by combining ¼ cup cider vinegar, ½ cup soy sauce, 2 teaspoons granulated sugar and ¼ teaspoon ground ginger in a small bowl. Trim tops from 10 green onions. Soak onions and 2 (7-oz.) cans drained and deveined jumbo shrimp in marinade for 30 minutes. Drain.

Preheat oven to 450 degrees. Cut 1 can refrigerated biscuits into quarters and dip in marinade. Alternate on 4-inch wooden skewers: 4 biscuit quarters, 2 shrimp and 1 onion. Place on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake for 6 to 8 minutes.

Remove from oven and brush with remaining marinade. Makes 10 kabobs.

ORIENTAL EATING

Tuna Sandwiches

Pleasant to eat at home at noon or to pack into a lunchbox.

1 can (6½ or 7 ozs.) tuna fish
½ to 1 cup shredded and chopped green cabbage
Mayonnaise, lemon juice and yellow prepared mustard

Turn the tuna into a bowl without draining; flake and mix with cabbage. Mix mayonnaise with lemon juice and mustard to taste; mix with tuna and cabbage, adding salt and pepper to taste. Use as a spread for sandwiches.

Mardi Gras Memories Will Linger On At Dinner Table

By JO BRIGHT

Mardi Gras, the annual festivity preceding the Lenten season, is in full swing in New Orleans this week. One of the merrymakers visiting the city is Linda Moak, daughter of SM. Sgt. and Mrs. Hollis L. Moak, 233-A Langley.

Mrs. Moak is the featured cook this week, and is looking forward to trying out some of the recipes her daughter will bring back from that Southern city famous for its gourmet dishes. New Orleans has always taken pride in its French cuisine served the year round. During Mardi Gras, visitors may taste delicacies from all over the world. When the last reveler has returned home to work off the weight gained, Lenten dishes take the spotlight.

Mrs. Moak is from Alabama, and her husband was reared in Mississippi so she is a pretty fair hand at Southern Cookery. However, when she says that she learned to cook "everywhere," it's almost true. Moak has made a career of the Air Force. Since their marriage in 1942, Mrs. Moak estimates that the has moved at least 20 times. Most of the moves were made in earlier years of marriage, before the service made special efforts to keep families together and at the same base for longer periods. Often asked what she was going to do when her husband went overseas without her, the stock reply became, "Live, of course."

Moak will be able to retire before long if he wishes, but his wife does not look forward to it. "The Air Force way of life is what we enjoy," she said, "and we would all miss it very much."

Sgt. Moak was able to take his family to Okinawa for two years, while he was stationed at Naha Air Base. Food was always plentiful, but at that time there was an occasional shortage of fresh vegetables because of a bad typhoon season. Much of the produce used by base personnel was shipped in. The vegetables grown on the island were beautiful specimens, but the flavor was often flat. The typical native diet consisted of steamed rice, fish and vegetables combined in soy sauce. Mrs. Moak learned to cook sukiyaki (meat and vegetables in soy sauce) for which one recipe is given in today's food section.

Mrs. Moak receives recipes of many types, including Mexican and Italian, which her family likes. She experiments with them until they suit the entire family. Linda is 20, so has learned to like most foods. Daughter Holly is almost 12, and still has a few reservations about things like spinach and turnips. Both girls went to school on Okinawa. Linda was one of 99 in the graduating class of Kubasaki American Dependent High School—and sure, they had a school song.

Here are some recipes the family likes.

HAM FRIED RICE

2 cups rice
½ lb. ham (diced small)
1 bunch green onions (chopped)
1 large onion (chopped)
2 tbsps. soy sauce

Cook rice nice and fluffy, set aside. Brown the ham and onions in large fry pan. Cook until onions and ham are tender. Mix the rice into the mixture. Season with soy sauce. Mix thoroughly and serve immediately. Serves 4 or 5.

PECAN PIE

3 eggs
1 cup sugar
1 cup dark syrup
1 tsp. vanilla
1½ cups pecan meats
Dash of salt

Mix together, slightly beaten eggs, sugar, syrup, vanilla and dash of salt. Mix thoroughly. Pour in pecans. Bake in 9-inch pastry lined pie pan in 425-degree oven for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 375 degrees and continue for approximately 30 minutes or until a knife inserted into the middle of the pie comes out clean.

SWEET AND SOUR PORK

2 tbsps. corn oil
2 lbs. pork steaks cut in 1-inch squares
½ tsp. salt
¾ cup vinegar
¼ cup sugar
½ cup water
2 tbsps. chili sauce
2 tbsps. soy sauce
1 cup diced celery (about 1 inch)
½ cup sliced green peppers
1 cup diced pineapple
1 large onion (sliced)

Heat corn oil, brown meat on all sides. Mix salt, vinegar, sugar, water, chili sauce, soy sauce. Pour over meat. Cover and cook over low heat about 45 minutes. Put onion, pineapple, green peppers and celery on top of meat and cook about 15 minutes more. Serve with rice. Serves 4.

HUSH PUPPIES

1 egg
1 cup milk
1 cup meal
1 cup flour
1 tsp. salt
4 tsps. baking powder
1 large onion (diced)

Beat egg and milk. Sift and mix meal, flour, salt and baking powder. Beat slowly into mixture. Add onion. Drop by tablespoons into deep hot fat. Serve with fish.

SWEET POTATO BALLS

2 cups mashed sweet potatoes
1 egg
1 cup sugar
½ tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. allspice
1 doz. large marshmallows
1 cup crushed cornflakes

Mix potatoes, egg, sugar and spices. Form balls around each marshmallow. Then roll each in the crushed cornflakes. Lay in a lightly greased pie plate and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) for about 15 minutes until the marshmallow starts to dissolve.

Memory Magic

Linda Moak shares her experiences at the Mardi Gras in New Orleans with her mother, as Mrs. H. L. Moak prepares salads for the evening meal. One of the most memorable things about the festivity is the gourmet food served in so many fine restaurants. Linda collected some of the appetizing recipes and will help Mrs. Moak prepare them some evening when she wishes it were Mardi Gras again.

Best Buys This Week

By The Associated Press

Produce markets in Texas achieved a more normal spring pace this week. Supplies are up and quality of several items is improved, said the Agricultural Marketing Service.

Vegetables abundant at reasonable prices included cabbage, carrots, iceberg lettuce, yellow onions, potatoes, radishes, sweet potatoes, turnips, rutabagas, peanuts and peanut products.

Fruit best buys at many markets are apples, especially Rome beauties, bananas and lemons. Winter pears are ample.

Lower wholesale prices are noted on bananas, avocados, cabbage, lettuce and yellow squash.

Higher than last week are snap beans, celery, California oranges, and tomatoes. Prices on juice oranges and grapefruit remain steady. Peppers are scarce and high, although prices dropped some the past week. Imports of several items continue.

Eggs, cheese, cottage cheese, dairy foods in general, dry beans, peanuts and peanut products, seafoods and other high-protein nonmeat items are in excellent supply for increased Lenten demand. Pork and beef continue to sell at noticeably lower wholesale prices. Pork production, especially, is on the spring incline as the huge fall pig crop is marketed.

Shrimp Is Versatile

Shrimp, one of the most versatile foods available, are in plentiful supply at present and are available fresh, frozen, cooked, and canned, in all parts of the country. The fine flavor and good food value can be utilized in appetizers, soups, main dishes and salads—in every course except dessert!

Although the recipes for Shrimp Creole may be many and varied, the home economists suggest the following recipe to take care of your family's hearty appetites:

SHRIMP CREOLE

1½ lbs. shrimp, fresh or frozen
¼ cup chopped onion
¼ cup chopped green pepper
1 clove garlic, finely chopped
¼ cup butter or other fat, melted
3 tbsps. flour
1 tsp. chili powder
Dash pepper
1 tsp. salt
2 cups canned tomatoes
Rice ring

Peel shrimp, remove sand veins, and wash. Cut large shrimp in half. Cook onion, green pepper and garlic in butter until tender; blend in flour and seasonings. Add tomatoes and cook until thick, stirring constantly.

Add shrimp and simmer uncovered for about 20 minutes. Serve in a rice ring. Serves 6.

A Devotional For The Day

Whenever you stand up to pray, if you have anything against anybody, forgive him. (Mark 11:25. MOFFATT.)

PRAYER: Our Father, purge us of our unforgiving spirit. Help us as we enter this Lenten season to put anything we have been harboring, consciously or subconsciously, in resentment against anyone. So may Thy forgiveness be real to us and bring us Thy peace. In Jesus' name. Amen.

None Of The State's Business

For many years Texas legislators have played a clever gambit in the great game of state politics. It is a political ploy recently in welcome decline, and may it be hoped that burial of three bills this session will finally rule it out.

The objectionable practice is for legislators to curry the numerous votes of municipal employes, especially firemen and policemen, by passing state laws hiking their wages, reducing hours and improving pensions and other fringe benefits. But the legislators have lost few votes from taxpayers over the higher costs that brought to local government, because the political buck for that was passed to the city officials though they had no choice but to levy the local taxes to pay the bill.

The Texas Municipal League has helped to educate city taxpayers to hold the legislators, not city hall, responsible for municipal government cost increases imposed by state law. The three bills now pending in the legislature on firemen's and policemen's pay, hours and pensions, for example, would cost the city of Big Spring more than eighty thousand dollars a year, and city taxpayers should be in no doubt as to whom to hold responsible for the 17-cent tax rate increase that would require.

It is obviously a violation of the principle of municipal home-rule, established by state constitutional amendment in 1912, for the state to dictate city governments' personnel policies. And it is equally evident unsound fiscal policy for the state to impose higher costs on city governments without providing them the means, either through state aid or broader taxing power, to cover these costs.

That all too many Texas cities underpay their public employes, and that their governments are less efficient for that unfairness, is beside the point. That issue is a local one and should be resolved locally, and it will be if voters insist that the state legislature stop playing politics with the cities' undenied right and responsibility to fix reasonable statewide minimum standards for public employment.

Keep School Fund In Trust

The 57th Legislature, in a moment of fiscal weakness, approved the diversion of one per cent of the permanent school fund to finance current needs. The 58th Legislature seems determined to correct that mistake.

Recently the Senate passed without a dissenting vote a measure which would prohibit further diversions of the principal from the permanent school fund. The House should not hesitate to approve this measure.

Through the foresight of earlier Texans the permanent school fund was set up to help finance public education. The fund has now passed the $500 million mark. The policy, until altered in 1961, was to maintain the principal intact and spend only the interest. That policy should again be enforced. The public school fund is a priceless asset for this and future generations of Texans, one that must not be squandered.

Tawdy Refuge In Prejudice

WASHINGTON—Critics who point out a lack of responsibility on the part of some of the Negro leaders in America are often called "racists." Public-school teachers in Washington hesitate to discipline Negro students for fear of being called "racists." The latest to decry criticism and attribute it to racial prejudice is Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr. (D-NY) chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee, who has been elected to Congress 10 times by the Negro population of the Harlem district of New York City.

When Sen. John J. Williams (D-Del.) recently made a speech in the Senate charging that Mr. Powell was being shown favored treatment by the administration and was not being compelled to pay up back taxes, the New York congressman replied with a denunciation of Mr. Williams as a man guilty of race prejudice. It happens that the Delaware senator has voted in support of most all of the civil rights legislation introduced in Congress since he has been in the Senate.

NOW COMES the New York Times to take Mr. Powell to task for his statement. The record of the Times as a long-time champion of the integration movement is well known.

The Times isn't being published in New York City because of the strike, but it continues to publish on the Pacific Coast a 14-page edition, including an editorial page, every day. In the issue of last Saturday, the lead editorial was entitled, "Because He Is a Negro?" It reads as follows:

"After a soul-searching self-inquiry into why in the world he should be under criticism, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr. has come up with the complete answer. It is 'unequivocally' because he is a Negro.

"NOBODY WOULD be objecting to his long, outrageous record as a congressional absentee; no one would have noticed his night-clubbing junkets to Europe, the presence of his wife on the congressional payroll at over $13,000, while resident in Puerto Rico, would have been ignored, as would Powell's own desertion of responsibility as a House committee chairman in the midst of important hearings. All these possible explanations for displeasure by his colleagues and other critics including ourselves have no validity, Mr. Powell states. His only mistake is that he is not white.

"It is not unexpected that Mr. Powell has chosen such a convenient and demagogic refuge. Appeal to race and the drumming up of charges of bigotry have long been his political stock in trade. The fact is that a Negro in high office usually—rightly or wrongly — receives favored treatment, and is nearly exempt from criticism, in the press and elsewhere, unless his faults are so obvious that silence becomes intolerable. There is a general and laudable desire to see a Negro succeed when he has attained a position of public trust. Criticism is avoided for the very reason that it might be mistaken for prejudice. Now Mr. Powell has again raised the racial issue in a desperate gesture of self-defense.

"HE IS not alone in being criticized for junketing around the world on flimsy missions at the taxpayer's expense. He is not unique in being criticized for having a member of the family on the payroll—although it must be admitted that such employes usually have the good grace to stay on the mainland, at least.

"His philosophy of everybody-else-is-doing-it, why-shouldn't-I? is, we suppose, a commonplace reaction of the most commonplace of politicians. It is disappointing, however, to see Powell—a spiritual as well as a political leader—not setting a better example. The tragedy of the long Powell career in office is that he, unusually gifted with intelligence, talent and personality, has chosen to be 'equal' with the least conscientious in Congress rather than the most.

"SO, TO VINDICATE himself and not be accused of 'running out' under attack, Powell said he has changed his mind and will not retire but instead will seek another term.

"This is really bad news, for New York and for Congress."

There are other implications in the episode besides the political aspects. Here's a man who is chairman of one of the top-ranking committees in Congress — the House Committee on Education and Labor. Legislation in the field of labor is highly important these days, and so are the many bills designed to furnish federal aid to the states for the benefit of educational institutions of all kinds. But Mr. Powell is frequently absent. Under the seniority system, he has been elected chairman and cannot be displaced except by a vote of his colleagues. They, however, are afraid to remove him because they, too, might be branded as having racial prejudices—a charge that could be intensified in local political campaigns.

PUBLIC OPINION alone can force a change. But leadership of such a movement would have to come from the highly respected Negro leaders in the country. They could not be charged with racial antagonisms. In fact, they would vindicate the judgment of those who, like this writer, have always contended that patriotism and dedication to the public interest are not confined in America to the members of any race or creed or religion.

Taxpayers Can't Resist

SHELBY, N. C. (AP) — Ever wonder about that little box in the upper right corner of your income tax form? You know, the one that reads, "Do not write in this space."

"You would be surprised at the number of people who can't resist writing in that box," an Internal Revenue Service spokesman told Shelby's Junior Chamber of Commerce. "And their words generally go like this, "I'll write any darn place I please.'"

The World Has Flipped In A Twinkling

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dismay and disarray.

Those two words paint a world which all in a few weeks changed from cheery to bleary. What looked nice turned to ice. Peace became as slippery as grease.

Talk—big, hot, critical, nagging, and some of it just bombast — compounded the human predicament which for a short time, as it turned out, had seemed as quiet as a lily pad on a mill pond in the evening.

It was only a few weeks ago —after Premier Khrushchev had meekly pocketed his Cuban missiles and shut his lip—that even President Kennedy was moved to think things might be getting better.

THEN FRENCH President de Gaulle threw a match in the gasoline can.

To show he looked upon the British almost as intruders in Europe, he called them "Anglo-Saxons" and blackballed membership for them in the exclusive international club called the Common Market.

And, if this wasn't enough to upset the alliance, he snubbed the United States by turning down Kennedy's still vague plan for some kind of NATO pool of nuclear weapons.

The British promptly criticized him. So did the United States. And, as if things weren't fouled up enough, the United States criticized Canada, which had been minding its own business, for not using U.S. nuclear weapons.

THE CANADIANS criticized back. And in England, meanwhile, Prime Minister Macmillan was being criticized for accepting Kennedy's offer of Polaris missiles instead of Skybolt missiles which Americans now said weren't as good.

Dismay swept Congress when it began to realize Khrushchev was playing with a marked deck. He had pulled his missiles out of Cuba but not thousands of Soviet troops. So, it turned out, he wasn't being so meek after all.

Republicans in Congress criticized Kennedy's foreign policy. Democrats in Congress criticized Republicans for criticizing Kennedy which, they said, was certainly contrary to bipartisan foreign policy as they understood it.

THE RED Chinese had been nagging their Russian friends for talking peaceful coexistence and the Russians nagged them for being reactionaries for not wanting it.

Western eyes got big with a luminous look: They envisioned a kind of Communist earthquake which would split apart the Communist world. The eyes clouded, however, when Khrushchev fell all over the Chinese ambassador at a party.

The Chinese, who could recognize soft soap when they smelled it, nagged harder than ever. And two days later, with almost strident criticism, they showed they were not mollified at all.

Right at this point Khrushchev announced Russia would defend Red China from attack. This must have astonished the Chinese since nobody had been attacking them or even talking of it.

MEANWHILE Khrushchev had set the Americans to biting at one another by suddenly promising to remove some of his troops in Cuba but not all. He didn't have to be a magician to figure what came next:

Demands in this country that Kennedy get the Russians out of Cuba although how he could do it without getting into war with Russia is something no one has explained yet.

The Scribe Turns 52

NEW YORK (AP)—My wife came into my sickroom and tossed the family crying towel on the bed.

"Well, what's the bad news now?" I asked her.

"Are you sure you're man enough to take it, Rover?" said Frances.

"Of course I can," I told her proudly. "Any man who is simultaneously suffering from Asian flu and the gout . . . any man who aches from his epiglottis to his tarsus . . . any man who can't cough without feeling his foot is going to fly off . . . that man can only smile at any further blow of fate. Just what is the dreadful news?"

"Well, the truth is that this is your birthday," said Frances. "You are 52 years old today. Shall I call up President Kennedy and ask him to declare you a human disaster area?"

"No, just tiptoe away and bake me a cake while I lie here and revel in my boyish dreams," I replied.

Time was when I was a birthday fighter. For weeks before I tore off that annual page on the calendar, I felt blue and was afflicted by dreadful feelings of mortality.

Not any more. Every birthday now I share the feeling of Joe E. Lewis, the night club comedian, who says that his first thought on waking each morning is, "Well, I made it again!"

While I see no reason for hullabaloo at reaching 52, or dancing in joy across the rooftops, I find no particular reason for raging against the gods either.

Probably a million and a half or more Americans will become 52 years old this year. If they can take it without lapsing into a coma, I can too.

The fact is that this achievement leaves me with a kind of quiet smugness, a snobbery of success, if you please.

The terrible years are those from 35 to 50. Then every birthday is taken by a man as a personal defeat, as he feels the prime of life slowly ebbing.

But at 50 you turn the corner. Every birthday from then on is a personal victory—if one has the common sense to look at it in that light.

After 50 you feel less guilty about what you haven't done, and more satisfied with what you did manage to do. Your memory becomes each year an ever-growing granary.

So, at 52, I found I had only one birthday wish to make as I asthmatically huffed and puffed out the candles on the cake baked for me by my wife and daughter—to make it to 53.

Won't you join me?

DT's Mean Just Too Much Alcohol

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I would like to know about D.T.'s. Can anything be done unless the person is willing? Is there a complete cure? Is it dangerous?—F.R.W.

D.T.'s, or delirium tremens is the end point of too much indulgence in strong drink. It involves jitters, nervousness, hallucinations, staggering gait—you name it. It's there.

Whether the victim is dangerous to others depends on circumstances and on what hallucinations he may have. It is certainly dangerous (and desperately uncomfortable) for the victim himself, since there is bound to be physical damage from the amount of drinking needed to bring on delirium tremens. Cirrhosis of the liver is the one that comes first to mind.

No there isn't much that can be done for the person unless he will co-operate, by which I mean quit drinking. But if he does stop, sedatives and perhaps tranquilizers may help him some, and getting him to eat and sleep properly will be still more helpful.

It's hard to say that a complete cure is possible because of the probability that permanent physical damage has occurred, but the D.T.'s won't return if he stays away from alcohol.

Dear Sir: You recently had an article on loss of potency in men. Kindly advise something I should take to create potency.—C.E.P.

What makes you think you should take something? General good health, maintenance of proper weight, and getting yourself in a healthy frame of mind are the important factors.

You don't "take something" except to correct what is wrong. For instance, if you happen to have a thyroid disorder, it should be treated. Or anemia. Or whatever.

But if you are reasonably healthy, the problem of loss of potency is almost always psychological. You know you are getting older and you start to worry about it, and the worry is the worst thing in the world for you in this regard.

You can't expect to be a vigorous, happy - go - lucky age 29 all of your life, so expect to slow down some. And don't think you can work yourself to a frazzle, stay up too late at night, worry yourself goofy about the household bills, drink several cocktails before dinner, get fat, get out of condition from lack of exercise, and still expect to "take something" that will correct all of that for you.

Dear Dr. Molner: I would appreciate your views on the "calories don't count" method of reducing. I'm especially concerned about putting a teen-ager on it. The lack of fruit and Vitamin C alarms me. My daughter should lose 50 pounds. The doctor can find nothing organically wrong with her.—R.B.C.

Calories DO count. So do foods with the proper vitamins. The best way to reduce the weight of a teen-ager depends on having the youngster really wanting to lose. Then she'll accept and follow a diet which will reduce weight gradually, provided she has what it takes not to snitch an occasional soda, bottle of pop, candy bar, bag of peanuts, or pizza.

Around The Rim

The Changing Scene

The elderly man stood looking across the street. He saw the tall, oak tree in the middle of the pasture, and dairy cattle, remarkable for their black and white sameness, lazed in its shade, munching their cud. Just beyond, he knew, was a small spring where they occasionally stopped for a drink.

Indeed, he had often stopped there for a drink when he and the neighbor lads hiked through the field on the way to a pecan grove. In the distance, he could barely see it, was the grove where he had often filled his pockets. Many times, he had been too eager and gathered the nuts before they were ready, staining his hands with the juice from the green coverings. He glanced down at his hands.

LOOKING BACK at the field, he spotted a hump of rock near the roadside, the only blemish on the flat grassland. There the boys had found an outcropping of quartz, which they had immediately decided was valuable for jewels. For weeks they had "mined" the quartz, then carried some to school, only to find it was relatively easy to find and break loose from the ground. It had been fun, though, deciding what they were going to do with all that money.

Just beyond lay the tall cottonwoods where the squirrels played. None of the boys had guns so they were satisfied watching the squirrels skip about, occasionally darting across the ground to the pecan grove.

IT WASN'T MUCH OF a creek, paralleling the roadside, but it sometimes had crayfish (craw-dads, they called them). Occasionally the boys found a minnow or a tiny catfish in it. It was a pretty good place to hide at nap-time and almost deep enough for a swim in the spring.

The knee-high grass bent gently in the light breeze. The first airplane he had ever seen on the ground landed out there. The pasture was smooth enough then. All the boys had gathered around and the adults helped the pilot get aid after an emergency landing. Everybody admired the airplane, and one of the boys got to sit in the cockpit. The next day the pilot flew the plane away, leaving only the crushed-down grass, and a few spots of engine oil as evidence he had been there.

"GRANDPA." The man turned around to see the youngster running toward him. "It's time for dinner." He looked back across the street. The boy came up to him and joined his gaze.

"Gosh, Grandpa. That sure is a lot of houses they've built over there, isn't it?"

The Sap Runneth High

"The year's at the Spring,
The day's at the morn"

And at this time of year, when the hounds of spring ought to be snapping at winter's traces, the nation anxiously scans the horizon to detect with what new rites the college set will greet the vernal season.

IN SHORT, how is the sap running?

Well, it isn't so much running this year as leaping. If pressed for an opinion, I would say that Johns Hopkins University of Baltimore is the pace-setter this year. When 14 students of Johns Hopkins staged a 17-mile leap-frog relay in honor of George Washington on the anniversary of the first President's birthday, they undoubtedly set the pattern for annual academic celebration of the rites of spring.

WHAT IS GOOD enough for Johns Hopkins, which sets a fast intellectual pace and maintains a high educational standard, is certainly good enough for the United States scholastic community. When the Johns Hopkins team leap-frogged from Mount Vernon, home of the first President, to the Washington Monument, 17 miles away in Washington, D.C., in an elapsed time of six hours, 40 minutes, it set a precedent in both mode of travel, distance covered and time consumed.

(Only one aspect of the jaunt puzzles me. The team carried a birthday cake with it, which it consumed at the monument to the strains of "Happy Birthday, Dear George." In an attempt to duplicate this extraordinary feat in my own living room, I fell into the cake on the first leap. All hail Johns Hopkins for both skill and endurance!)

FRIENDS, knowing my interest in the annual collegiate salute to spring all across the country, had made small wagers with me that campuses and roads adjacent would be filled with coeducational walkers on a 50-mile, 20-hour kick, set off by President Kennedy's challenge to the armed forces.

However, I had a hunch—and rightly—that anything even politicians (see Bobby Kennedy) could do would be scorned as too simple and mundane by serious college students. As a result of that hunch, I am $1.10 the richer.

ANY STUDENT of this educational salute to spring can tell you that since its inception, the tasks have, year by year, become more and more difficult, more and more challenging to savant ingenuity. In the beginning there was gold fish-swallowing, a feat that takes no more skill than swallowing an oyster.

Then came panty raids, which required brawn rather than brains. Then came the jamming of as many warm bodies into a telephone booth as was possible without breaking down the walls.

That feat was followed, as night the day or spring the winter, by crowding as many students as possible into small European sports cars. (Among the civilian populace this resulted in the highly advertised "Stamp Out Sports Cars" campaign).

Just a year ago now the road test of hospital beds was under way on dozens of campuses. The result at that time was valuable proof that a hospital bed, on the road, can stand up as long as a collegian.

IT IS FULLY anticipated that the scientific value of the leap-frog frenzy of 1963 will be further proof that where there is no feeling there is a corresponding lack of pain.

But, let's look at it this way: leap-frogging undoubtedly keeps students out of Communist-front organizations and-or the John Birch Society. It uses up energies that might otherwise be spent in trying to overthrow the existing political system, as in Latin-American and Middle-East countries. And, in the long run, it's probably every bit as beneficial as sassafras tea.

The Monster Of Atomic Energy

WASHINGTON — The shortest distance between the 19th and the 21st Centuries is a non-stop elevator ride which lifts the passenger from the street-floor of the Capitol to the office suite of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee.

THE ALL-BUT-HIDDEN elevator stands behind a statue popularly known here as "Three Broads in a Bath Tub." It is a tripartite marble figure of three old-fashioned dames—Lucretia Mott, Susan B. Anthony and Elizabeth Cady Stanton. The elevator rises from this archiac depiction to the sleek, flat-surfaced, indirect-lighted offices and hearing room of the Joint Committee where the wonders of the future, in war and peace, are revealed to the legislators by generals, scientists and hard-browed administrators.

There is one thing the visitor can always be sure of seeing when he visits this dome of the future: He will see mere mortals in the presence of a subject much too big for their comprehension. He will find men sitting in awe. The very enormity of everything Atomic sets heads to spinning and knees to knocking.

RECENTLY I WENT to ask a committee member about small-yield, tactical nuclear weapons which, I felt, would surely be used to save American lives if we should have to invade Cuba. But the committee-man blanched at the thought, and entreated me not to write such a column. The mention, let alone the use, of even minimal Atomic weapons would have such psychological reprercussions, if nothing else, that the subject itself was repellant and horrible.

Yet the congressman to whom I talked had been a soldier in the Philippines during the summer of 1945, ready to jump off for invasion of Japan when the A-bombs fell upon Hiroshima and Nagasaki. They saved an estimated 400,000 American lives, possibly including his own, and still he shunned the thought of Atomic warpower.

ON THE NEXT DAY, the Joint Committee heard witnesses on peaceful Atomic uses, but the stupendousness of the subject still dominated. Under discussion was the idea of using Atomic power to desalinate seawater in the Pacific in order to relieve the water-shortage in California and perhaps the whole Southwest. You might think it a tame enough subject. From 1952-63, the cost of producing fresh water from salt water has dropped from $5 per thousand gallons to about $1. This has come about by producing and using heat from conventional fuels. Would not the process be improved by switching to Atomic heat? Yes, it would—or it might—and the Oak Ridge National Laboratory has made a study of desalinization by nuclear power. The scheme is feasible—or will be in time—except for the overwhelmingness of everything involved.

THE PROPOSED plant would be six times larger than the largest nuclear plant ever built. The electricity generated would be five times more than is needed. The sudden plethora of federal-generated power would probably drive all electrical power companies into bankruptcy by competition. It is doubtful whether exploding populations in the Southwest could use up the billion-gallons-a-day of new water. It is certain that the mountains of salt and other by-products would wreck the present markets and tower high above our other stockpiles.

That's how it always is with everything Atomic. Its explosions, its products, its management and control are still beyond our human comprehension.

Jackson's bust, also known as "Wandering Andrew," and the hawk are kidnapped regularly by art students who use them as models. Since the removal is verboten, the vanishing duo is always returned in secret.

DEAR ABBY

Marriage Is Not For Kids

DEAR ABBY: I think the parent - planned marriages like they had in the old country years ago should become a custom in this country. Why not let the girls marry at 16 and finish their education in an all - married - girls' high school? It would save a lot of wear and tear on parents who have a tough time keeping their daughters in line. MRS. C.

DEAR MRS. C.: Marriage is for mature people — not children. Granted, some mature people make a poor choice, but the key to keeping daughters in line is not wedlock. When a girl marries she should be mature enough to make a home for her husband and to rear any children that follow. Mixing school books with milk bottles and bills is for the birds.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Just exactly what is an engagement ring supposed to mean, and how long should an engagement last? I got an engagement ring two years ago Christmas and so far my boy friend has made no plans for our future. When I ask him to help me set a wedding date, he finds a hundred excuses. The main one is that he is in debt. It is no wonder, the way he spends money before he gets it. Should I give him his ring back or wait some more? I am 22 and he is 24.

LONG ENGAGEMENT

DEAR LONG: Before you make that decision, collar your boy friend and ask him what his plans for the future are. If he has none —and doesn't want to make any— it means he is not seriously considering marriage. In which case, return his ring.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Will you please explain why a girl has to accept a date with the first boy who asks her for a special occasion—or else stay home? The creepiest boys get wise to this and ask unreasonably early. I realize a girl can't refuse on the grounds that she hopes someone more desirable will ask her. But if she tells the early caller that she "might be out of town" and then shows up with a date, she makes the early caller mad at her. It seems there should be a way out for a girl.

ONE GIRL'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: If a girl does not care to accept a date with a fellow (no matter when he calls her), she should simply say, "I'm sorry, I'm busy." (She could be "busy" at home, cleaning dresser drawers, etc.) The less fibbing a girl does, the better.

Judge Cleans Out Docket

Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, is doing a spring house-cleaning job on his civil court docket.

He announced Wednesday morning that he had ordered the dismissal of 74 divorce petitions, on the dockets for months and on which no action has been taken. He said he would set all of these cases for March 25 and where no response was made to the calling of the docket, he would summarily dismiss the petitions.

Wednesday afternoon, he found 11 old reciprocral child support cases, impossible to be handled, on the docket, which he dismissed.

He then turned his attention to a number of habeas corpus petitions, hand written by petitioners who are inmates of state penal institutions. These, the court explained, are not properly offered and the habeas corpus route which the petitioners have been following is not the proper way to seek the relief they may feel is due. He intends to dismiss these cases.

Later, he indicated, a long list of ordinary civil cases which have been on the docket for months and months will probably be dismissed the same way as the aged divorce petitions.

Winnie Closer To Citizenship

WASHINGTON (AP) — Honorary U.S. citizenship for Sir Winston Churchill, Britain's wartime prime minister, came a step closer Wednesday.

The House Immigration and Nationality subcommittee unanimously authorized Chairman Francis E. Walter, D-Pa., to introduce an appropriate bill and submit it to the parent Judiciary Committee March 5.

Exes Celebrate Early This Year

Texas Exes will celebrate Texas Independence Day a bit early this year. Reason: Guest speakers from the University of Texas are busier than usual at similar functions over the state and nation, and Big Spring's speaker will have an itinerary that brings him here March 1.

He is Dr. L. D. Haskew, scheduled to present a run-down on university developments at Friday's meeting of the Howard County Texas Ex-Students Association. Cocktails will be served at 7:30 p.m., with dinner at 8 p.m., at the Big Spring Country Club.

Tickets will be three dollars per person, and ex-students may bring guests. Other interested people also are invited. Tickets and reservations may be obtained from Bob Hickson at AM 4-8283.

Falls To Death

FARMERSVILLE, La. (AP) — Charles Cummings, 24, of Woodlawn, Tex., fell 30 feet to his death in a city water tank Wednesday. He was one of four men hired to clean and paint the tank.

Alcatraz Down To 64 Convicts

ALCATRAZ, Calif. (AP)—"The Rock" was down to 64 convicts today.

Only a year ago, the island prison near San Francisco's Golden Gate housed 260. In its time, it has held some of the nation's toughest cons—Al Capone, Alvin (Creepy) Karpis and Basil (The Owl) Banghart.

Now it's being phased out. Salt air, wind and time are wearing away Alcatraz, a prsion of one sort of another since 1858. It's too costly to restore.

Among 38 cons moved off The Rock Tuesday was Mickey Cohen, Los Angeles racketeer doing time for income tax evasion. They sent him to Atlanta.

The prison is expected to be empty by July 1.

"We'll certify the prison as surplus as soon as the prisoners are removed," said a spokesman for the Bureau of Prisons in Washington. The bureau is getting suggestions on what to do with it.

"I suppose it would be sort of a sightseeing place," a bureau spokesman conjectured.

"Some people wanted to make a restaurant out of it."

Changes Due In Bus Firms

CHICAGO (AP)—Greyhound Corp. and Dale Resler of El Paso announced they plan to form a new company to acquire control of Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma Coaches, Inc. and the business and properties of Carlsbad Cavern Coaches, Inc.

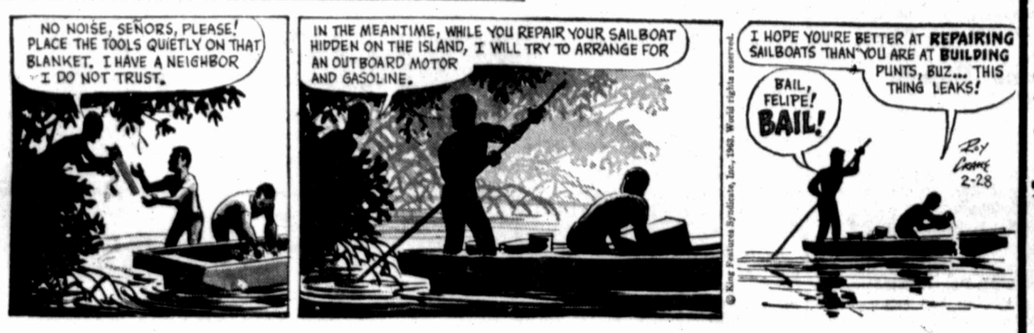

Resler is sole owner of the Carlsbad Cavern operation and owns 100 shares in Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma Coaches, Inc. He will transfer this interest and advance about $1¼ million to the new corporation.

Resler will own 60 per cent of the new company and Greyhound 40 per cent.

The two Southwestern companies have had connecting schedules with Greyhound. Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma Coaches will continue operation as an independent company with headquarters in Lubbock, and no change in management.

J. S. Owens, manager of the Big Spring Greyhound bus depot, said he had heard of some change but could make no comment until he heard from the Lubbock office. Owens said he was expecting definite word at any time.

Texas Schools Are Varied In National Measurements

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Education Association indicates Texas schools are above average by some yardsticks but fall short of upper national standards in many others.

The statistics disclosed today by the researchers are state averages and fail to note where one city's schools or another's are excellent. The figures often are estimates.

Some figures for Texas show oddities.

For instance, the state ranks fourth in the nation in percentage of elementary teachers with at least a bachelor's degree, and third nationally in percentage of high school teachers with masters degrees or better.

On the other hand, the state sinks to a tie with Connecticut for 36th rank in the per cent (8.1) of elemennary teachers with less than standard teaching certificates.

The association cites two other measurements.

One is the number of eighth grade pupils finishing high school and the other is in expenditures per pupil.

Texas ranks 38th among the states in percentage of students completing high school after finishing the eighth grade. The percentage is 60.6, while the national figure is 70.6 and Wisconsin leads with 92.3 per cent.

Expenditure per pupil in Texas is $379, ranking the state 33rd.

Half-Day Halt In Slant Trial

LONGVIEW (AP) — There was a half-day halt today in the oil and theft trial of Dist. Judge David Moore, which recessed after vigorous defense attacks on a well survey offered in evidence.

Court was to reconvene at 1 p. m. This permitted one of the jurors to attend the funeral of an uncle.

Moore is being tried in his own court on charges of stealing oil through a well angled under a lease owned by others.

Testimony at a session lasting until 10 p.m. centered on a directional survey made on a well operated by Moore in the East Texas Field.

Questioning centered on nine "dog legs," or abrupt changes in direction, reported by the Eastman Oil Well Survey Co. in the final 1,000 feet of the Moore-M. F. Fisher well.

The defense contended no well with contours like those in the survey could produce oil.

Jimmy Staton of Houston, a directional survey engineer for Eastman, testified he and Rennie Packard tested the well.

Defense lawyer Fred Erisman asked the young Staton about the effects of minerals, pipelines, power lines and other metals on compass readings taken in a survey.

John Baker of Fort Worth, an independent civil engineer, testified for the state that he had to correct a 29-minute difference in true north from the Eastman report to determine the bottom of the Moore well.

John Mouton of New Orleans, another Eastman employe, said he had made a plotting of the Moore well. He said defense drawings of the "dog legs" were correct "within a degree or two."

Tony Crutchfield of Kilgore, a Railroad Commission engineer, testified he assisted in a directional survey on the Moore well but he merely recorded data called to him by an Eastman employe.

Monpa People Of The Himalayas

Typical of Monpa people of Towang, a Buddhist monastery town high in the Himalayas in India, about a dozen miles from the Tibetan border, are these men, women and children. Most of them wear yakskin hats with tails hanging down on all sides. The tails carry off rain water. These are some of the people who remained in the area while Communist Chinese occupied that part of India's Northeast Frontier Agency. The invaders captured Towang last Oct. 24 and withdrew from it last Jan. 15 as part of their voluntarily giving up their conquest in northeast India.

Battle For Life Continues In Indian Area Hit By Reds

By HENRY S. BRADSHER

TOWANG, India (AP)—A battle persists in India's North East Frontier Agency, though the Red Chinese invaders have withdrawn and the Indian troops they routed have never returned.

It's the age-old battle of a simple, pastoral people to wrest an existence from grain fields and herds in the high Himalayas.

In miniature it's the pounding of grease from wet raw wool by a pigtailed Monpa woman squatting beside a white stone fountain in this 350-year-old Buddhist monastery town.

Or the struggle of families down the mountainside toward the Towang River, thousands of feet below, to live on the harvests of barley and millet from terraced fields and provide through icy winters for their pigs and chickens and shaggy yak.

In the past India's government has kept most outsiders from the 31,438 square miles of the North East Frontier to allow its 336,000 people to progress into the modern world in an unhurried way that would preserve their traditional values.

This "philosophy of NEFA," like the Indian defense policy that proved inadequate, is now being questioned.

If and when India builds up a military shield around the territory, it may institute changes to speed up the process of modernization.

Some of these tribesmen fled south when Red China sent its brigades across the crest of the Himalayas last fall to enforce its claim to thousands of square miles of disputed frontier territory.

But most were scarcely touched by the ebb and flow of lowland soldiers who, invader and defender alike, panted for breath in the thin, cold air. Towang is two miles high.

Indian civilian administrators and police are back.

Militarily the agency area is a no-man's-land.

Perhaps a hundred miles separate the opposing armies.

The Chinese are presumed to be camped on the Tibetan side of the McMahon Line, the frontier 12 miles north of Towang.

The battered Indian army is rebuilding in the area of Tezpur, a city in the flatlands of Assam State 90 miles southeast of Towang. Prime Minister Nehru has decided against returning his troops to the vacated territory at this time, feeling it might provoke another armed clash.

In Texpur, a city which the Chinese menaced but never reached, open-front shops are busy and government offices bustle with activity.

Tezpur has recovered from immediate effects of its moments of panic last November when thousands fled south across the Bramaputra River.

However, the people are apprehensive about the possibility of another Chinese attack. They talk in terms of when it may come, rather than if it will.

New Arctic Air Mass In Midwest

By The Associated Press

Another mass of arctic air, fanned by northerly winds, spread into the northern Midwest today.

But temperatures appeared moderating in much of the eastern third of the nation after Wednesday's severe cold from Maine to northern Florida. Readings were 15 to 25 degrees higher from the lower Mississippi Valley northeastward through Tennessee and the Ohio Valley into the middle and northern Atlantic region.

It was still chilly in the Southeast but temperatures were much higher than 24 hours earlier in most areas. The cold air dipped southward into northern Florida.
