County Landowners to Vote Saturday on Standard District

Willing to be Primary Voting Boxes

Landowners of Ochiltree county were reminded that this Saturday, July 24, is the date for the Standard Soil Conservation District to replace the present Erosion District in the county.

On this question will be placed at the ten polling places in the county where voters will be asked to vote on the primary.

McCartor, chairman of the Standard District, said that some erroneous information regarding a Standard District would force them to perform farming practices. Such a case, says McCartor, is a violation of the Standard District is strictly a conservative and there is no compulsory about taking a Standard District will encourage the landowners of the district to get together on sound conservation practices, and supervision of the district by the county and state. The district will also have money available to help in conservation practices.

The preliminary steps of establishing a standard district have been taken and if the district will go into operation immediately.

Balko Schools Establish Ag Department

Plans are going forward for the establishment of a complete new vocational agriculture department at the Balko schools, under the direction of Bob Meisner, new agriculture teacher.

Meisner, who joined the school system on July 1, is now helping get the necessary equipment and laying the groundwork for the agriculture program this fall. This will be the first year that vocational agriculture has been offered in the Balko schools, and Balko is one of the first schools in the Oklahoma Panhandle to have the course approved by the state department.

The agriculture department will be housed in a separate building, to be located adjacent to the new Balko school building now under construction. In the agriculture department will be placed complete equipment for metal working, woodworking and welding.

Tools and equipment in this department are designed to give practical training which boys can use on the farm.

A Future Farmers of America chapter will be organized as soon as school starts this fall, stated Meisner. There are approximately 30 boys expected to enroll in this first agriculture course.

Meisner, who graduated from Oklahoma A. & M. in June this year, is a native of Okene, Oklahoma.

The establishment of the vocational agriculture department is being handled by the state department.

County clerk Sue Ragan reports that 102 absentee ballots have been received for the Democratic primary, indicating a rather strong voting interest on the part of local citizens. This total includes both those who voted in person at the county clerk's office and those ballots received by mail before the deadline Tuesday.

Borger Lawyer Enters Race for District Attorney

A new development has been created in the district attorney's race with the announcement this week by K. M. Dally of Borger that he would be a "write-in" candidate for the office, opposing Robert Galloway, also of Borger.

Dally, who visited in Perryton Tuesday, stated that he entered the race at this late date only because of the withdrawal of W. L. McConnell, present district attorney, and that he felt his experience better qualified him for the office than his opponent, Galloway.

Dally has practiced law in Hutchinson county for the past 19 years. He served for six years as county attorney of Hutchinson county, and was unopposed for election on each occasion. He did not seek re-election in 1944.

The 84th Judicial District is composed of Hansford, Hutchinson and Ochiltree counties.

Services Held Wednesday Mrs. Sebastian

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Christian church for Mrs. Emma V. Sebastian, a Perryton resident for 22 years, who died in a local hospital Monday morning. She was 77 years of age.

Mrs. Sebastian, who lived alone in her home at 614 S. Colgate, suffered a broken leg in a fall at her home Saturday morning and was taken to the hospital.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Lucy Hicknell of San Antonio; a grand daughter, Mrs. Virginia Ray Riestenberg, also of San Antonio; two sisters, Mrs. Fannie Long of Gray and Mrs. Jessie Fay of Arnhem, Calif.; a brother, S. C. Joplin, Eureka, Mo. two nephews, Joplin Franze and See No. 4, Page 8

Bradford Farm Sale Scheduled Tuesday, July 27

Donald Bradford, who has sold his farm located 15 miles northeast of Perryton, has announced a public sale to be held at the Bradford place on Tuesday, July 27.

Included in the sale are farm machinery, livestock, household goods, buildings and miscellaneous items.

Refreshments will be served by the Blue Mound Ladies Club. Onas Littleton will be the auctioneer for the sale and Jerome Woods will act as clerk.

Receive 102 Absentee Ballots by Tuesday

County clerk Sue Ragan reports that 102 absentee ballots have been received for the Democratic primary, indicating a rather strong voting interest on the part of local citizens. This total includes both those who voted in person at the county clerk's office and those ballots received by mail before the deadline Tuesday.

Herald Election Party To Be Held Saturday

Ochiltree county people are again reminded of the Herald election party to be held Saturday night July 24. The party will begin as the returns come in from the precinct boxes in the county, and up-to-the-minute results of all county and precinct races will be posted on a large bulletin board outside the office. The Herald office will be the official tabulation place for the county Democratic committee and all returns will be brought to the office.

New City Well Is in Operation

The new city water well was turned into the underground reservoir Monday afternoon, and city officials expect the production of this third well to provide adequate water for the city's needs.

The new well pumps 550 gallons per minute, and this, combined with the 700 gallon capacity of the other two wells, gives a total output of 1,250 gallons per minute into the city reservoirs.

This new well has been completed for about two weeks, but has not been attached to the reservoir until a new concrete sand trap could be constructed.

J. D. Mayberry, city superintendent, stated that the addition of this well would mean ample water, but that residents in certain areas would still have to be served by the existing wells.

Wheatheart Invitations Go Out to 35 Neighboring Towns

Letters have gone out to approximately 35 neighboring cities, containing entry blanks for this year's Wheatheart contest, which will be one of the features of the Perryton Celebration on August 21. Several local firms and organizations have already indicated they would have Wheatheart entries.

The Wheatheart contest, inaugurated last year as a highlight of the celebration festivities, drew such a favorable response from the celebration crowd that it was decided to hold the Wheatheart contest as an annual feature.

Wheatheart entrants will compete for prizes totaling $350. First prize is $200, second prize $100, and third prize $50. There is no limit to the number of entrants from any city, provided each contestant is sponsored by a business firm or civic organization in her home town.

Deadline for entries is August 15, stated Irvin Hergert, manager of the contest.

Winners will be picked at a bathing beauty show and contest results will be announced at the Jimmy Grier celebration dance on the night of August 21.

Directory Crew Now Working in Perryton Area

A crew from the W. J. Winters Publications is in Perryton and Ochiltree county this week, compiling data for the Four County directory of Hansford, Lipscomb, Hutchinson and Ochiltree counties.

The company has finished their work in Lipscomb and Hutchinson counties and expect to be through in Hansford and Ochiltree counties within a short time.

The directory will list all persons living in the towns of Perryton, Spearman, Gruver, Stinnett, Booker, Sanford, Barrowzett, Higgins, Lipscomb, and Fritch, and also all farmers of these four counties.

W. J. Winters, who has been here with the crew, said persons living in towns would be listed in regular city directory form and that farmers would be listed according to post office address. In addition to their address, other information will be given.

Perryton Baseball Team Meets Cactus Here Sunday Afternoon

Perryton will meet the Cactus baseball team at the local ball park Sunday afternoon, and there is a possibility that the Cactus juniors may come along to play the Perryton Junior League team.

Virgil Olmstead, manager of the junior team, hadn't been able to contact the Cactus junior team late Wednesday, but hoped to make arrangements for the game.

Cactus, which was beaten last week by Dalhart, is in seventh place in the NPAA league. On May 23, in their previous meeting, Perryton beat them, 10-6. Perryton, with 6 wins and three losses, is now in a tie for second place with Dalhart in the NPAA league standings. Both Perryton and Dalhart are now but a game behind league leading Texhoma. The locals have won their last four games.

The game with Sunray, which was postponed on account of rain, is due to be played Wednesday night at the Dumas ball park. Sunray is in the league cellar, and Perryton is expected to win this one, unless the unfamiliar lights throw the locals off their customary game.

Game time Sunday afternoon for the Cactus game is the customary 2:30 p. m.

Much Interest Shown in Four Contested County Races; Good Turn-out Expected at Polls

Although there are only two contested county-wide races and two contested precinct races, Ochiltree county voters are expected to show a strong turn-out at the polls for the Democratic primary on Saturday, July 24. Much interest has been shown in the county judge's race and the race for sheriff, where three candidates seek each of these offices.

Rebuilding of Wolf Creek Dam 'Just a Rumor'

Apparently those rumors regarding the reconstruction of the Wolf Creek Dam have been unfounded.

Gene Worley, U. S. Congressman from this district, wrote the local Chamber of Commerce this week as follows: "Have done considerable checking but have been unable to substantiate any of the rumors we discussed over the phone. After getting the bill out of committee, I tried every way in the world to get it finally approved in both houses, but this, like a lot of other good bills, was counted out."

The bill to appropriate $750,000 for the reconstruction of the dam had been approved by the House Agricultural sub-committee.

All-Time High in Number of Eligible Voters

More people in Ochiltree county are eligible to vote in this year's elections than ever before in the history of the county, according to records of poll tax payments and exemptions.

There have been 1,990 poll tax receipts issued, 68 exemptions, and an estimated 260 voters not required to have either poll tax or exemption.

This makes a total of 2,250 eligible voters, an enormous increase over the previous high of 1,485, set in 1947.

A ruling is in effect concerning voters over 60 years of age which makes a poll tax exemption unnecessary if the person resides in a city under 10,000 population. This ruling will allow persons to vote who became 60 before January 1, 1947.

Persons who became 21 years of age during 1948 do not need a poll tax exemption certificate, but those who became 21 during 1947 do need one.

Those persons who have moved into the county after January 1, 1947 must secure an exemption certificate.

'River Lady' Tale About Lumbering

The raw, breath-taking beauty of the upper Mississippi lumber region is shown in the Technicolor melodrama, "River Lady," which plays at the Ellis on Fri., Sat., July 23-24.

Yvonne DeCarlo, Dan Duryea, Rod Cameron and Helena Carter have starring roles.

Miss DeCarlo plays the glamorous but iniquitous proprietress of a gambling boat which lures the rough and tumble lumberjacks. In addition she plays a bold game on the side in which she seeks to crush the community's independent lumber operators. Her partner in crime is Duryea and he tries unsuccessfully to become her marriage partner besides. But it is Rod Cameron, in the role of an independent lumberman, she loves and this love later boomerangs to her misfortune.

Reds Get Food From Lupine

MOSCOW (AP) — From White Russia it is reported that lupine, which formerly was raised only as fodder for cattle and as a natural fertilizer, is being used as a raw material for industry. Two Belorussian scientists have discovered a means of removing harmful alkaloids from the lupine crop and it thus can be used as raw material for food products and medicines. Another scientist has discovered how to separate protein from lupine seed and obtain a product not inferior to protein of animal derivation. From lupine, states "Izvestia," there can be made high quality and cheap artificial wool, plastics and plywood glue.

NAKED CITY—Ted De Corsia prepares to deal a deadly blow to Walter Burke, a partner in crime, in one of the exciting scenes from the late Mark Hellinger's production, "The Naked City," starring Barry Fitzgerald. The picture comes to the Ellis on Sun.-Tues., July 25-27.

'Naked City' is Tribute to the Genius of Late Mark Hellinger

The late Mark Hellinger's final production, "The Naked City," demonstrates how a picture can be honest and adult, yet have entertainment value. In building this celluloid monument to New York City, producer Hellinger also built one to himself before he died.

"Naked City" appears at the Ellis on Sun.-Tues., July 25-27, starring Barry Fitzgerald, as Detective Lieutenant in New York's Homicide Squad.

Important as the story itself is the fact that all the action was filmed in New York City. Never has New York been so fabulously and graphically presented on the screen. One hundred and seven familiar sections and landmarks were used, placing this picture in a class by itself.

Opening with the Homicide Department being called to investigate the murder of a girl model, a documentary step-by-step police procedure unfolds, finally involving another model, her fiancé, a doctor and a killer. Taylor, as the younger detective working with Fitzgerald, follows his own theory, one which is climaxed by a breathless chase through the teeming heart of the East Side tenement district, to the very top of the Williamsburg Bridge where, against a panorama of Manhattan's skyline, a gun battle is fought that brings death to the murderer.

Oil Hunt Resumes In Bavaria

MUNICH (AP)—The acute fuel oil shortage in Germany has caused geologists to resume their search for oil in the Bavarian mountains.

Years of researches which were halted during the war convinced geologists that oil can be found in the deeper soil in the mountain area. Test drillings are under way in several parts of this American-occupied state, newspapers report, but results are said to be meager.

The only active oil wells in Germany, in the British-occupied region around Hannover, have very small yields.

Davis and Davis Star in Picture 'Winter Meeting'

Off the screen for over a year, Bette Davis returns in "Winter Meeting," which plays at the Ellis on Wed.-Thurs., July 28-29. A new co-star appears in this film tall James Davis, who was selected personally by Miss Davis for the assignment.

As the somewhat prim New England spinster who pens poetry and falls in love with a returned naval hero, the role gives Miss Davis a chance to emote in her well-known style. Davis plays the naval hero, just back from dangerous sea duty, who suffers an emotional hero which involves the poetess.

Short on action, but heavy on emotion, "Winter Meeting" is just the kind of picture Bette Davis fans will enjoy.

ROY ROGERS — LYNNE ROBERTS — ANDY DEVINE — Bob Nolan and The Sons of the Pioneers in—

"Eyes of Texas"

The action of this exciting Trucolor revolves about a newly established camp for war-orphaned boys. The camp founder is tragically killed by a pack of wolves. Details of the alleged accident attract the attention of U. S. Marshall Roy Rogers who soon discovers the "accident" was cold-blooded murder!

U. S. Fencer Could Surprise Europeans at Olympic Games

By ED CORRIGAN

UP Newsfeatures
NEWARK, N. J.—Europeans who have held a monopoly on Olympic fencing honors down through the ages, may be in for a surprise at this year's festival—all because Gerald Centruo arrived in the United States from Italy in the 19th century.

The Centruo family, whose name has become synonymous with fencing in this country, will be represented in London by Dean, one of Gerald's sons. He will shoot for top honors in both the foil and sabre events. He is the national sabre champion and runner-up in the foils competition.

Gerald, whose name means "wielder of the sword" became the first United States professional fencer in 1906.

He introduced the American system to the fencing world. The style takes the best parts of the Italian method, which is concerned with the scientific principle of the blade, and the French mode, which deals more with body movement. All that may sound pretty high falutin', but fencing is a scientific sport.

Centruo also brought about the development of the American foil hold, which, without going into technicalities, is completely different from that used by the Europeans. It probably will be used by members of the United States team.

Of Centruo's four sons, all of whom achieved prominence in the fencing world, Dean, the youngest, is best known. When he took runner-up honors in the foils in the nationals this year, he came within a whisker of winning the title. Had he done so, he would have been the first fencer in history to win both sabre and foils.

Dean grabbed off the national interscholastic championship and then became the youngest swordsman—and the first collegian—to win the National AAU crown. While at Seton Hall College he won 96 straight matches. Last year Dean won the foil and was runner-up in the sabre to Dr. James Flynn of the New York Athletic Club.

This year, in the sabre, Dean swept to an effortless victory, polishing off 21 adversaries without a setback. Five hours later he dropped two matches to take second to Nathaniel Lubell in the foils. Lubell dropped only one match—to Centruo by 5-0.

Dean, who has been termed the "best fencer ever produced in the United States" by Giorgio Santelli, co-coach of the U. S. Olympic Team, won't make any predictions as to the outcome of the games. He says the United States has not faced any of the European powers in dual meets and thus doesn't know what to expect.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Rupprecht and family, Logan, Okla., visited Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Frommelt and Eldon Rupprecht.

Passenger Planes? Ordinance Says So!

KISSIMMEE, Fla. (AP)—Are thousand-passenger airplanes in the offing? They are if a municipal ordinance proposed as a joke by the mayor and city attorney of Kissimmee nearly 40 years ago proves as prophetic in this field of aviation as it has in many others. The measure, suggested in 1908 when there probably were less than 25 airplanes in the world, would have imposed a license tax on aircraft, required to carry parachutes and regulated low flying. It would have licensed airports too—a step which now has been taken by 39 states—and it even forecast airspeeds of over 200 miles per hour.

The only catch to the Kissimmee ordinance is that it never was adopted. The proposal was printed in the Kissimmee Valley Gazette. The day after it appeared, the mayor declared he had been "ridiculed out of town" and planned to leave the next day for California. However, his mind was changed by the attention the proposal drew. Scores of tributes were paid the "wise and farsighted" mayor and city attorney. Requests for copies of the ordinance came in from foreign countries.

This still didn't make Kissimmee adopt its ordinance. But it wouldn't have to make many changes to put it into effect today—though it might see fit to eliminate the provision requiring airplanes to carry and use bells, whistles or horns.

STOCKHOLM (AP)—A youth at Malmoe, Sweden, jumped into an enclosure for bears in a public park on a bet. He climbed up to a platform in a tree, one of the bears following him. Hundreds of spectators were attracted, women screamed and objects were thrown at the bear which climbed almost to the platform. A fire-brigade turned a jet of water on the bear and a fire-ladder rescued the youth. He had lost one shoe.

"He was lucky," one of the guards in the park said, "that none of the she-bears chased him. One of them is a very good climber."

Asks for Drink Finds Her Daughter

MANILA (AP)—A house hunting woman who stopped at a store for a drink of water was handed the glass by a little girl whom she immediately recognized as her long-lost daughter.

The reunion was a dramatic climax to a 39-month search for nine-year-old Violeta Ngo by her parents, the police and the Philippine Red Cross. The child, separated from her parents in liberation days, was picked up off the streets and adopted by the Briones family, owners of the shop where Violeta's mother stopped for the water.

Nehru Hints Asian Union

NEW DELHI (AP)—A closely-knit grouping of Southeast Asia nations for purposes of trade and defense is envisaged by Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru. The sphere would include a broad sweep of rich, largely undeveloped lands stretching from Pakistan and India on the west to Indonesia on the east. And ultimately, says Nehru, it should include the Philippines, Australia and New Zealand. Nehru stressed that the basis of the idea would be geography—not race or religion.

He said the movement probably would begin with two or three countries and widen gradually. He suggested that Pakistan, Nepal, Ceylon, and Burma might be among the first to draw together. Siam, Malaya and Indonesia might follow.

number one issue, as I stated it in all my speech-world peace.
foreign policy should be solely toward the promotion of world peace. We have had a real American foreign policy.
failure of the League of Nations at the end of World War I due solely to the fact that League of Nations policy was made by isolationists in the partisan political struggle between the two major parties in 1920.
I have often said that we lost at the end of World War I because of our vacillating, un-entire attitude in our relations with other nations of the world. Rapid blunders we made at Versailles and at Potsdam in our dealings with Russia are largely responsible for our critical position at this moment in Berlin. We were strong at the end of World War II and were able to write our own ticket, we had been realistic in our dealings with Russia and should have made certain that our position in Europe could not be jeopardized by any possible action that Russia might take.

Foreign policy problems will arise continuously during the six-year term for which I seek election. I believe my experience in two world wars in dealing with the governments and peoples of western Europe will enable me to render valuable service to my country in the field of foreign relations.
Second: another continuing problem that will require constant study and careful, intelligent, attention, lies in the field of labor relations. In my opinion a constant tug of war between employer and employe, each seeking an advantage over the other, with little regard for the consuming public, will destroy free enterprise in America and usher in state control and regimentation of all production and labor.
The sole aim of government in this field should be equal justice under the law for employer and employe alike and with equal regard for the consuming public. Much has been said about the Taft-Hartley act being designed to create slave labor in America. I see nothing in that law which is calculated to bring about such a condition. In my opinion, the principal opponents of the Taft-Hartley act are the labor bosses who don't like the provisions of the law which curb their powers and place the control of the union in the hands of the laboring people, the membership of the unions.

Had I been in the Senate, I would have voted for the Taft-Hartley act. I have said and I repeat that if, in actual practice under this new law, it is found that the employe can be oppressed and deprived of his just rights, I shall favor such amendment of the law as to eliminate such oppressive provisions of the law.
In this regard, I shall be governed solely by the principle stated that any law in this field must give equal justice and equal protection to both employer and employe.
Third: There are too many people in America on government payrolls. The deadwood should be removed. Efficiency and economy in government, with a resulting reduction in the tax burden, must be a chief concern of the United States Senate in the next six years.

I shall labor unceasingly to eliminate useless bureaus and useless government jobs in those departments of government essential to the operation of government. I am one who believes that the government which governs least, governs best. In my opinion, the continued increase in the number of bureaus and in the number of people on government payrolls ultimately will lead to a government bureaucracy as destructive of democratic government as was the fascist, nazi and communist regimes in those countries which fell a victim to those systems.
I have no pets in government bureaus and have no entanglements with people who are in the habit of getting special favors and privileges through the practice of political influence by congressmen or senators. I shall be free to devote my energies to the steady reduction of the expense of government and a corresponding reduction in the tax burden on the people.
Four: I shall resist with all my might any further extension of government controls over private industry. I shall resist all encroachments of the federal government into fields which under the constitution, are particularly the province of the several states. On this principle, I favor clearing the title of the several states to their tidelands and I oppose federal legislation contemplated in the civil rights program announced some months ago by the president of the United States.
I deplore the efforts of politicians to inject the racial issue into partisan politics. Any efforts to direct by law the social relations of people, regardless of race, color or creed, are doomed to failure and can result only in unhappiness, distress and chaos for every one concerned.
I think a principal issue in this campaign concerns the restoration and elevation of public office to its rightful status as a public trust. I deplore the use of public office in a game of power politics to build up political machines for the purpose of continuing in public office those who so misuse the powers and privileges of public office.
A vicious circle, wherein the officeholder dispenses special favors and privileges to powerful individuals and groups who in turn pay for those privileges and favors by spending large sums of money to continue in office the dispenser of such favors and privileges, must be broken if true democratic government is to survive.

The long continuance of individuals in positions of power, where those individuals are known to use the power of public office to build up political machines, is a constant threat to Democratic government.

I think the serious problems of the future can best be solved by men whose slates are clean and who have no obligations to pay.

We desperately need in office men who can face the problems of the future free and untrammelled and bound by no obligations other than the obligation to serve the best interests of all the people fairly and impartially.

Jonathan, Loyal Friend
 Lesson for July 25, 1948

WELL might we term this a lesson on the facets of friendship. Rarely will one come upon such a splendid example of friendship in all literature. Cole-ridge put it well when he wrote, "Friendship is a sheltering tree." Diogenes Laertius, writing on Aristotle, says, "He was once asked what a friend is, and his answer was, 'One soul abiding in two bodies'."

Such was the friendship of Jonathan and David—a sheltering tree—one soul abiding in two bodies. Although Jonathan's father attempted at least ten times to kill David, Jonathan was drawn the closer to David, with whose soul his was knit.
 The record of this friendship is found in our scripture and devotional readings for the lesson, with the golden text from Proverbs 17:17, "A friend loveth at all times."

A PRINCE SHARES WITH A SHEPHERD

JONATHAN was the crown prince apparent. David was a shepherd boy. Saul expected to place Jonathan on the throne. God had selected David.
 Jonathan would, no doubt, have made a better king than Saul, his father but he had no desire to be king when he discovered the kingly qualities in his friend, David. Not once did Jonathan ever indicate any disappointment in not becoming king.

JONATHAN STANDS UP FOR HIS FRIEND

WHEN Saul openly plotted the death of David, Jonathan begged his father to reconsider his course and spare the life of the man who had killed Goliath and had proved himself the valiant friend of Saul. This was the final test of Jonathan's sacrificial love for David. He might have remained silent, thus aiding in the death of the one man who stood between him and the throne. But Jonathan was made of the stout texture which counts no sacrifice too dear for a friend. He was willing to stand up and be counted when it meant that he would not become king. Thus we see that true friendship is not always easy. It usually is very costly, but it pays big dividends in the coin of eternal wealth.

FRIENDSHIP THAT COSTS

AND like as Jonathan stood up and witnessed his lasting friendship for David, at a very great cost, so are we today summoned to this ennobling type of friendship for Christ. "Ye are my friends if ye do whatsoever I command you," he once said.
 Young people find it rather costly to be loyal friends of Christ today. There are many siren voices that invite young people to take the low road—social drinking, gambling, delinquency of one sort and another, satisfaction of sensual desires. But the true friend of Christ will withstand these voices, choosing rather the high road of Christian gentlemen.

SACRIFICIAL FRIENDSHIP

"FRIENDSHIP is the loveliest flower in the garden of humanity," according to my cherished friend, Dr. Hight C. Moore. I would add this thought—true friendship flowers in the garden of humanity, but it finds its life in the Garden of God's Perfect Eden.
 I have not known one single friendship that has impressed me that did not stem from above. "How can two walk together except they be agreed?" And the only cement that will hold human hearts together—one soul in two bodies—is the grace of God.
 "Friendship is as God, who gives and asks no payment," said Richard Hovey, and not until the human will is yielded to the will of God, even as was the will of Jonathan, can sacrificial friendship come to flower and to harvest.

Magic Ministry

A club of ministers who use magic to illustrate religious lessons has been formed under the name of "Magi-Ministers." Most of the members practice amateur magic. One of their favorite tricks is the passing of a handkerchief through a tube marked "Church" which changes its color from black to white, illustrating how a blackened soul may be cleansed of sin.

 The public is cordially invited "Truth" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 25.
 The Golden Text is: "Ascribe ye greatness unto our God. He is the Rock, his work is perfect: for all his ways are judgment: a God of truth and without iniquity, just and right is he" (Deuteronomy 32:3, 4).
 Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "All the paths of the Lord are mercy and truth unto such as keep his covenant and his testimonies" (Psalms 25:10).
 The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "No wisdom is wise but His wisdom; no truth is true, no love is lovely, no life is but the divine; no good is but the good God bestower" (275).

Title Mixed With Romance
 PERTH, Australia (AP)—Emily Stone, a 26-year-old try girl, had a shock when she heard her fiancée was a van Notten-Pole. He has become the fifth baronet of van Notten-Pole line on the death of Sir Cecil Van Notten-Pole in Gloucestershire, England. Peter, 27, works in an accountants office at Gnowangra, 18 miles from Perth, under name of Peter Pole.

Mr. and Mrs. LaRue announce the arrival of a son, othy Neal, born Sunday, 18. The baby weighed seven one-half pounds.

HOT WEATHER
 means extra duty for your ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR

Your electric refrigerator is working harder than ever these hot July days, protecting your perishables and providing you with extra quantities of ice cubes and frozen desserts. Help it serve you more economically... keep it operating at top efficiency... by following these timely suggestions:

- Defrost at least once a week. Frost acts as an insulator and makes your refrigerator work harder to keep foods cold.
- Don't waste ice cubes. If you use only part of a tray, refill the empty sections and return tray promptly to freezer.
- Use fast freezing sparingly. Keeping control at coldest setting for long periods increases running time and operating cost.
- After freezing desserts, turn control halfway back to normal to hold until served. Then return control to normal.
- Avoid frequent and lengthy door openings.
- Let hot dishes cool before putting them in your refrigerator.
- Check door gasket for tight seal. If it permits entry of warm air, have it repaired or replaced.
- Keep condenser clean. Dirt and dust interferes with its cooling efficiency and increase running of the motor.
- If your refrigerator is an open unit model, oil the motor according to manufacturer's directions.

Army Revives Hostels

HEIDELBERG —Germany's famed youth hostels, abolished by the Nazis, are being revived under U. S. Army auspices. Chains of hostels, a one-day's hike apart, were located through out Germany in the pre-Hitler era. They were meeting places for the youth of Germany and other countries. The Nazis abolished them because the resulting exchanges of ideas and experiences was considered detrimental to Nazism.

Gold Star Mothers To Receive Awards

Gold Star Mothers of the Perryton area are requested to secure application blanks from county service officer Tom Davis for the gold pins which the government is giving to all mothers who lost sons in service. Several of the applications have been given to Gold Star Mothers, but Davis stated that there are others who are eligible for the award who possibly do not know about the government pins. Those interested are requested to contact Davis at the courthouse annex as soon as possible.

Mike Murphy Wins $5,500 Purse at Maryland Track

Margaret E. a 3-year-old mare owned by Mike Murphy of Perryton, won first place in $4,000 allowance race, plus 5% of the mutual money which boosted her purse to $5,500 at Havre de Grace track in Maryland last week, it has been reported.

Murphy took five other horses to the Havre de Grace track, one of the largest and best known race tracks in the East, and one of his other horses won a second place two weeks ago.

The Murphy racing stable, probably the best in this section of the country, annually makes some of the larger tracks in the East and other horse racing sections.

Craig Answers Opponents on Tax Question

Bill Craig of Miami, seeking re-election as state representative, 124th District, has answered an opponent's handbills and speeches implying that natural gas pays no state taxes and therefore the state ad valorem tax has been raised.

In a statement to the Herald, Craig stated, "I am no spokesman for the oil and gas industry, but as a member of the Legislature, I am for the requiring of oil and gas, along with all other industries to bear their just share of the taxes necessary for good schools, good roads and other necessary governmental purposes."

However, in fairness to all, Craig stated that the oil and gas industry, under laws passed by the Legislature, is currently paying production taxes of almost double the amount paid in 1946. Consequently, there is now a surplus in the state treasury of over 65 million dollars largely accumulated by the greater taxes paid by the oil and gas industry. This surplus will be available for increased old age assistance, public education, schools, farm-to-market roads and other state expenses.

Craig stated, "This surplus has eliminated any state ad valorem tax for the next year, except that required by the state constitution."

He also stated that there was a move on foot to do away with the farmers' gasoline tax refund instigated by certain down state good road groups, but that he had fought and helped to defeat the same proposal before and would continue to oppose such unfair and discriminating legislation largely aimed against the people of the Panhandle.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Thomas and daughter, Pamela Kay, Port Arthur, Texas, are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Thomas. They plan to visit her parents in Beatrice, Nebr., for a few weeks and then come back to Perryton for a month before returning to Port Arthur where he is a member of the school faculty.

Miss Trixie Musgrave, Norfolk, Va., left Wednesday to return to her home after several weeks visit in the home of her sister, Mrs. E. W. Thomas and Mr. Thomas.

McGregor Moves Construction Office

The McGregor Construction and Engineering Co. has moved to new offices in the Shockley Electric building.

Bob Logan, formerly owner of the Perryton Rubber Works, has joined the firm as an engineer, and James McGregor, owner of the firm, stated that it is planned to expand the engineering services in the near future.

Logan is a graduate engineer from Colorado University, and had several years experience with the Gates Rubber Co. before opening his own business in Perryton.

The McGregor company opened in Perryton in January of this year, and has completed several construction jobs since that time. At present, the firm is constructing the new Farmers Co-Op plant on east Brillhart, and has built buildings in Spearman for the Glover Oldsmobile Co. and the Womble Implement Co. They also built a new International building in Follett for the firm of Smith and Gilbert.

Work Progressing On Equity Mill And Warehouse

Workmen are pouring concrete this week for the Equity's new feed mill and warehouse. Completion of this new addition to the home office plant is expected in about three months.

This mill building is being constructed just west of the present mill, in back of the Equity offices. When completed, it will be three stories high, 28 by 50 feet. Alongside the mill will be a warehouse, 40 by 80 feet.

Both of these structures will be of steel reinforced concrete.

The Chalmers and Barton Construction Co. of Hutchinson, Kansas, has the contract for this construction. Concrete is being furnished by the Ferguson Ready-Mix Co. of Perryton, and J. A. McClung did the excavating for the mill and warehouse.

New machinery for greatly increased output of Equity products will be installed in the mill. Among this new equipment is a cube machine, a new molasses mixer and molasses pit.

A conveyor belt system is planned for the warehouse, where sacks of feed can be carried by machine to the loading dock, which will be located at the west end.

Local Women Are Injured in Auto Accident

Two Perryton women were injured early Sunday morning when their car overturned at the Y just north of the Canadian underpass. Injured were Mrs. Edith Dorrance, mother of Mrs. Fred Osborne, and Mrs. Lillian Reynolds, receptionist at the Perryton Hospital.

A passing motorist took the two women to a Canadian hospital, and after receiving treatment, they were brought to the Perryton Hospital.

The accident occurred at about 6 o'clock Sunday morning, as the two women were en route to Lawton, Okla., for a vacation trip. Mrs. Reynolds was driving the car and apparently lost control at the sharp corner of the Y.

Both Mrs. Reynolds and Mrs. Dorrance received severe bruises and both suffered broken ribs. The car was heavily damaged.

Mrs. E. W. Thomas and her sister, Miss Trixie Musgrave, Norfolk, Va., returned last week from a trip through New Mexico, Nebraska, Colorado and Wyoming.

Little Miss Sandra Bralley, Tulla, has spent the past five days visiting her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Stephenson, Don and Bill. Mr. and Mrs. Stephenson drove to Amarillo Wednesday to take Sandra to meet her parents there.

Mr. and Mrs. William Fulker, Kirtsville, Mo., are houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Woods and family. They arrived in Perryton last Thursday.

K. H. DALLY Write-in Candidate for DISTRICT ATTORNEY 84th Judicial District To the Citizens of Ochiltree County: This is to announce my candidacy for the office of District Attorney for the 84th Judicial District. This is the position which is now held by W. L. (Bill) McConnell. You are familiar with the fact that Bill McConnell withdrew from the race after having filed for the office leaving only one person's name on the ballot. It was then too late for me to file regularly for the office. I am a "Write-In" candidate. I did not want to run against Bill McConnell. I have practiced law in Hutchinson County for the past 19 years, and believe that I can represent you faithfully and ably as your District Attorney. The work of the District Attorney for this district requires experience and ability as a trial lawyer. It is a difficult assignment particularly on account of the bulk of criminal work in Hutchinson County, and should be entrusted only to one of experience and proven ability. I served as County Attorney of Hutchinson County for six years, and was not opposed in any election. I did not announce for reelection in 1944, and since that time I have been engaged in private practice. I feel that my experience as County Attorney as well as my private practice has fitted me for the office which I seek. To cast a vote for me it will be necessary to scratch the name of 'ROBERT GALLAWAY' and write in the name of 'K. H. DALLY'. I earnestly solicit your support and consideration. Signed: K. H. Old Jesse James Has Been Big Headache to St. Joe for Years

By MERRIL CHILCOTE
News Editor, St. Joseph (Mo.)
News-Press

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — When an old man down in Lawton, Okla., turned up recently claiming that he was Jesse James, no one around St. Joseph was surprised. The folks around here are accustomed to that sort of thing. It has been going on for years.

Jesse James has become an American legend. His connection with St. Joseph was merely that he lived here briefly. But, unfortunately for the city that gave the world the pony express and launched Eugene Field on his career, Jesse James and St. Joseph are almost synonymous. Jesse had the hard luck of being shot in the back of the head, with fatal results, during the period he was hiding up here under the name of Mr. Howard. That was more than 66 years ago. Jesse was shot on the morning of April 3, 1882. It was the day of the hottest city election St. Joseph ever had, but hardly anybody bothered to vote after it was learned that the nice "Mr. Howard" who had been everybody's friend was really the outlaw, and that he had been slain for a reward.

The numerous claimants to the name of Jesse James in the last generation always have had to contend with the fact that since Jesse was hot for a reward, every legal effort was made to establish the identity of the dead man.

For about 50 years the identity never was questioned, so thorough was the proof at the time. About 1930 the new Jesse Jameses appeared. First off was a story from Florence, Colo., to the effect that a man who died there was believed to have been the real Jesse James. His body was exhumed and photographed.

The story was enough to cause the St. Joseph Gazette to go to a great deal of trouble to hunt down the facts. Judge T. F. Ryan, who was an assistant prosecutor at the time of the slaying, was interviewed Dec. 13, 1931. He was convinced that the man slain in 1882 was Jesse James. He described in detail the events of the fateful day.

He had received a telephone call from the city marshal, (St. Joseph had telephones in 1882 though few cities could boast of such a system). Marshal Enos Craig resorted to had two men in custody who said they killed Jesse James. They were the Ford brothers.

Judge Ryan described the day's events, including the tearful visit of the widow of Jesse James, asking for custody of the body. He never was able to find any legal basis for Governor Crittenden's pardon of the Ford brothers from their death sentence after their plea of guilty

Heart Disease is Still Number One Killer of Texans

AUSTIN, Texas, July 20—Heart disease continued in the top spot as the number one killer of Texans, according to figures released by the Texas State Department of Health.

Mortality rate figures show an increase of 255 deaths from the April, 1946 figure of 1,099, as compared to the April, 1943 total of 1,354. This represents an increase of more than 18.5% for the comparative period.

"So-called functional heart disease is usually traceable to nervousness, infections from other parts of the body such as teeth and tonsils, a disturbed function of the thyroid gland, and to influenza," Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer, said. "And the excessive use of tobacco, coffee, tea, or other heavy stimulant is often a contributing cause."

Malfunction of the heart is a correctable condition, the health officer said, insofar as the sources of infection may be located and eliminated, as in the case of bad teeth or tonsils. Incurable organic heart ailments exist only too frequent.

Strict adherence to competent medical advice will eliminate much worry about either functional or organic heart conditions, Dr. Cox said. He added that such adherence would unquestionably reduce deaths from heart disease materially.

to a murder charge. The fact that a $5,000 reward had been offered for Jesse James, dead or alive, had made no difference to him.

On June 22, 1932, a gentleman appeared at the office of the News-Press, which had taken over the Gazette, and calmly announced he was the original Jesse James. To prove it, he wanted reporters—and a photographer—to go with him to the old James house on Lafayette street, where he would submit convincing proof, he said.

The new Jesse James said it was true a man was killed in the home, but the man wasn't Jesse James. He said he and his brother Frank were riding toward the house when they heard the shot that killed the man later identified as Jesse. He took $50 in gold from the body of the dead man, ran outside, buried a gun and fled.

"Now to prove to you I am Jesse James I am going to dig up that gun provided it already hasn't been found. That gun will have the initials 'B' carved with a penknife on the black handle."

He picked up a grubbing hoe started digging in a club of currant bushes and in practically no time had dug up a gun.

"Gentlemen, does that convince you I am the original Jesse James?"

A lot of people weren't convinced. The controversy raged until July 5, 1934 when Henry Bauman, now dead, came to the News-Press with a photograph. He was a grading contractor in 1895, and as part of the improvement of Lafayette street the whole top of the big hill had been cut off. A gun buried by Jesse in 1882 would have been at least 14 feet under ground in order to be within reach of a grubbing hoe in 1932.

That was the last St. Joseph heard of the Jesse James of 1932. But there have been others.

Giles Reports on Public Land Sales For Current Year

AUSTIN (Special) — Bascom Giles, Commissioner of the General Land Office, said today that the proceeds from the July School Land Sale helped swell the permanent education funds to $50,000,000 for the fiscal year.

This tremendous flood of money into these funds exceeds by five times the largest amount heretofore received for a similar period of operation by any former commissioner, Giles said.

The higher education fund and the public school permanent fund have now reached a total of $215,000,000.

The Land Office added an additional $1,144,184.00 resulting from the sale of 210,000 acres located in 68 counties. Only 30 tracts totaling 15,000 acres located in Presidio, Reeves and El Paso Counties failed to receive bids. The amount bid per acre doubled that for any previous sale.

Commissioner Giles pointed out, by way of contrast, that when Texas made its bid to enter the Union, it unsuccessfully offered its entire public domain to the Federal Government for $13,000,000. Now a small fraction of those lands are bringing in over $14,000,000 annually from oil and gas royalties alone for public education.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Walker, Kinsley, Kans., were in Perryton this weekend visiting relatives. They have leased a business building and will move their stock of ready-to-wear and shoes to Perryton soon.

About that time every circus and carnival company had an original Jesse James.

WHY LABOR BOSSES ENDORSE JUDGE JOHN A. RAWLINS

Candidate for Associate Justice
Supreme Court of Texas

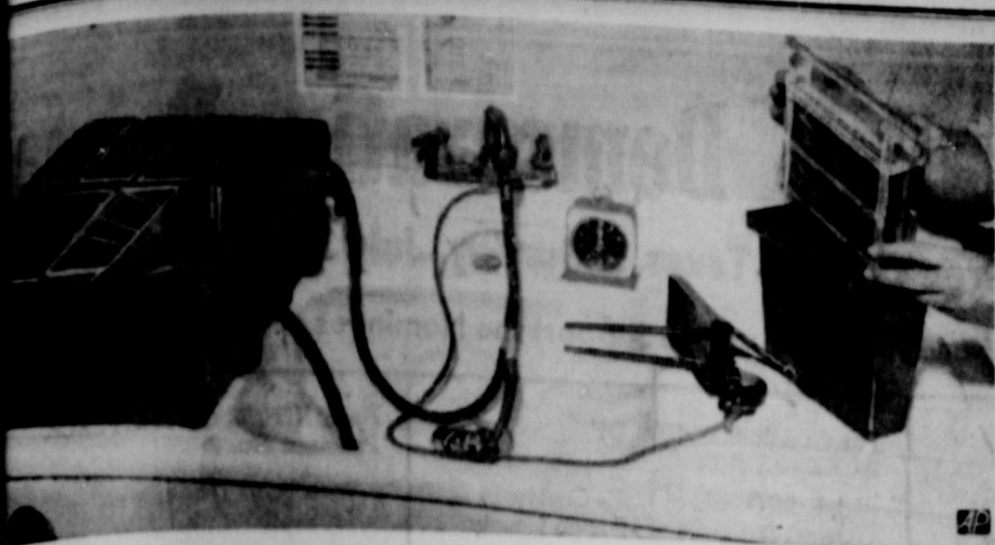

JUDGE JOHN A. RAWLINS

★ It is recorded May 9, 1945, in 188 S.W. Reporter 2d series, page 276 that James F. Hart, opponent of Judge Rawlins, was one of the attorneys for the labor unions in their unsuccessful and ill-advised attempt to petition the State Official to enforce the Texas law regulating labor unions, which was passed with the view of protecting public interest.

★ The Appellate Court, in upholding the law forbidding the unions from collecting work permit fees from non-union employees, reorganized the policy expressed by the Legislature in the preamble to the Act: "The right to work is the right to the job."

★ Judge John Rawlins is under no obligation to either labor or capital. He is now completing 20 years of service as a State Trial Judge. He is a family man, a World War veteran, and a church worker. He has the endorsement of the State Bar Association and is interested only in administering the law fairly and impartially in the interest of the public at large. He is a graduate of Texas University and Texas Christian University.

IMPACT COLOR-PROCESSING UNIT for the amateur photographers' kitchen. Two 120 rolls removed at the right from the developing tank—its cover with windshield wiper motor for agitation lies alongside. The hose connected to the mixer type faucet provides an even pressure to the water jacket of the two large tanks.

LIVING DESFOR
Director

Advanced amateur photographer who is interested in using his own color processing equipment, life in the darkroom has been simplified through an ingenious bit of machinery, a new color processing unit (Agi-Matic). I saw this when Robert Bagby of America's foremost color photographers gave it a test demonstration in his studio.

Results were clean, uniform, and free of the darkroom technicalities that were the bane of the amateur. In fact, once the negatives are loaded into the special tank in the dark, the whole actual operation moves into the full light of kitchen, bathroom or work room. There he can study the developing directions, watch the clock, test the water temperature and shift the tank from solution to solution without fumbling.

As Bagby pointed out, good color results depend on maintaining perfect temperature control of 68 degrees and perfect agitation every two minutes. In this unit the temperature control of all solutions is accomplished by the use of two water jackets. It is maintained by a constant flow from the mixing faucet, adjusted to 68 degrees, around the chemical tanks.

The agitation is the special pride of this unit. The system uses vertical vanes moving horizontally across the surface of the negatives powered by a continuous, uni-form motion. It is activated by the flow of water, so as long as the water pressure is maintained, you'll get that constant, even agitation. In an emergency, should the water fail, a steel spring is provided which gives the agitation by hand.

To return to the over-all picture of the unit, there are two large, chemically inert plastic tanks. Each of these holds three smaller tanks with a half gallon solution capacity. Thus you have six small tanks for different chemical solutions, nestled compactly, with water flowing around them to maintain them all at the same temperature from hoses attached to the mixer faucet. The large outside tanks have a bottom-draining, overflow nozzle which can be adjusted to maintain any height of water level inside the tank.

The developing tank, which contains the negatives, has openings at the bottom that are light-trapped. In seven seconds you can fill or drain solutions from this tank as you drop it in, or remove it from any of the six small tanks. Your hands never touch the chemical solutions, something some of the skin sensitive souls can be grateful for. Once in the tank, and with the hose attached and the water going away goes your windshield wiper agitating like clock work.

The outfit at present accommodates only four standard sheet film hangers up to 5"x7" but develops six negatives due to a back to back arrangement on two of the hangers. Special accessories include hangers which will take 35 mm, 120 and 620 roll films. Also covers for the small tanks to prevent oxidation of the solutions.

Of course, you can develop black and white negatives in this outfit, and with the small tanks removed, you have an excellent print washer. Its drawbacks are (1) its limited negative capacity and (2) its price, about $60 plus taxes and extras for accessories. Bear in mind to start with you must have the "mixer" faucet usually found in kitchens and bathrooms. If you have separate hot and cold water taps, you must find a way to combine them before you can attach the central hose.

In taking color pictures around the world for illustrative and advertising photography, Robert Bagby has a hint or two to pass on to the amateurs. By all means and at all times use

Russian Flag German State

BERLIN (AP)—Reports in the Socialist press here say Russian preparations for setting up an eastern Germany state have advanced to the point of mass-producing an "East Germany" flag. The official "Sozial Demokrat" reported the flags were being manufactured in textile factories in Saxony in anticipation of the proclamation of an eastern Germany government.

This preparation was proceeding, the newspaper claimed, while Russian propaganda was assailing the U. S. and Britain of "separatist" actions in plotting the creation of a Western Germany government. According to the "Sozial Demokrat," the Russian zone flag is red, black and white—but mostly red. "Production of the flag models," the newspaper said, "was undertaken under the special precautions of secrecy. All who worked on it were sworn to silence. In addition, they were told the product was for export."

Mrs. John Snell, Paris, and Mrs. Nancy V. Collins, Greenville, are visiting in the home of their sister, Mrs. G. W. Lindley and Mr. Lindley.

Russians may be striving for world peace, as they contend, but they are clever at hiding their efforts.

A light meter. A tripod is a must in scenic and still shots and a help at all other moments. The American made, color-corrected, coated lenses are superior to all others in color work, he has found. He thinks the best values are contained in the color roll films as compared with cut film. Avoid early morning and late afternoon light. Use tropically packed film, if available, and process as soon after shooting as possible.

WHOOPIING CRANES—New Orleans zoo officials are making wedding plans for a couple of great whooping cranes, the only known pair in captivity. But the two birds are not attracted to each other, and may be of the same sex, for all the zoo men know. In 1941, a hunter near Eunice, La., found a wounded whooping crane and gave it to the zoo. This first whooping crane in captivity was worth $10,000. Last fall, the second crane was added, also wounded, from Gotherburg, Nebraska.

Britain to Flex Air Muscles

LONDON (AP)—Britain's latest civil and military aircraft will be displayed publicly Sept. 7 to 12 at the annual exhibition of the Society of British Aircraft Constructors. The event will be staged at the aerodrome of the Royal Aircraft Establishment, Farnborough, where seventy thousand spectators can be accommodated. More than fifty of the most up-to-date aircraft, including new and experimental types, will take part in flying programs.

There is one mile of railroad in Canada for every 290 persons, and one mile for every 590 persons in the United States.

Federal Housecleaning a Pipedream

Those looking forward to a dramatic overnight housecleaning of political appointees, with hundreds of thousands of Federal jobs opening up for faithful party followers in the event of a Republican victory in November, are due to be disappointed. Most of the 2,061,000 jobholders in the Federal government now drawing an aggregate salary of $5,700,000,000 are protected by civil service.

Overnight mass firing of Federal employes with rehiring on a political basis is the last thing to expect from a Dewey administration, on the basis of the record in New York. Postal employes account for 489,000 Federal workers. "Blue collar workers" in arsenals, shipyards, naval stations and similar activities number around 471,000. Overseas employes number above 230,000. These three groups number over a million and will remain substantially the same regardless of any change in national administration. If the next administration is seriously economy minded the force of public employes may be curtailed to some extent through abolishment or revamping of existing Federal agencies. This would not create new jobs.

Political jobs as such, according to one estimate, may amount to less than one half of 1 per cent of the payroll at this time. That gives some idea of the job turnover that may follow immediately with a change of administration. One half of 1 per cent would involve 10,000 jobs inside the United States.

BABSON REMINISCES

ROGER W. BABSON, Editor-in-Chief

GLOUCESTER, Mass., July 16 —I am back again for an annual visit to my old home city. Can't help reminiscing and comparing conditions today with those of my boyhood days.

People More Prosperous
Certainly the people now have much more in food, clothing and shelter than ever before. They dress better and have better homes. Probably over half the families have automobiles and most children go to high school. Whether these young people are any happier than we were, is questionable. A ride on a merry-go-round is no more fun today at 25 cents than a nickel in my day.

These better conditions are not due to the people working harder or longer. In fact every one worked ten hours a day when I was a boy. These better conditions are due to the machine age and mass production. The chain stores have also brought goods to the people for less money although they are hard on the local merchants for whom I truly feel sorry. Surely, if some of the old time storekeepers should come back they never would recognize Main Street, bordered on both sides with flashy "chains," automobiles and gas stations.

Opportunities Are Less
The freedom and opportunities which we boys had fifty years ago no longer exist. Not only is it difficult now to get a good job without belonging to a labor union, but almost every trade is governed by laws and regulations. Everyone with whom you deal, from the nurse who takes care of your baby to the undertaker who buries you must register and have a license. This applies also to druggists, plumbers, painters, electricians, builders, masons and even barbers. Obviously, these "examinations" are demanded to protect the public, but they are fast developing into a racket.

Not only are young people handicapped today in getting jobs and learning trades, but the wage and hour laws discourage employers from building new plants and expanding the "drive" and willingness to take a risk, so evident in my boyhood days, is very rare today. Almost all are depending upon something apart from their own brain, thrift and energy to support them. It may be a state law, a labor union, a pension or some stocks and bonds—or perhaps Uncle Sam! Courage is lacking. The present habit of avoiding personal responsibility for one's troubles will someday cause a smash.

Education is Worse

The most dangerous change is the source of education. In my boyhood our education came from the home, the school and the church. Today these great institutions have lost their grip on the youth. The young people of Gloucester and most every other city are today being "educated" by movies, radios and comics. None of these existed when I was a boy. They must be controlled or "God help America." The curse of liquor is bad enough, but the liquor problem is no worse now than during my boyhood. Our school committees are asleep.

Perhaps this flood of so-called comics (I refer to the pamphlets not to the newspaper strips) are perhaps the greatest new danger which I notice. Fifty years ago one could get the Police Gazette in most barber shops and saloons, but these new "comic" magazines are everywhere and are very much worse. I wish every reader of this column would buy and read a half dozen of these terrible publications; but then, please burn them! You will soon realize that these cursed comic magazines are responsible for most of today's juvenile delinquency.

Boyd, Okla.

Rain and more rain, about five nights last week.

My cousin, Mrs. Glen Drake, Clovis, N. M., came Thursday evening for a short visit with relatives here and at Liberal and to have Frank Ellexson, Turpin, and myself witness her papers in Beaver Friday to secure her birth certificate.

Mrs. C. Dodson, Mrs. Jim and Mrs. Virgil Dodson and daughter, Charmaine, were out Thursday morning for plums.

Bill McCartney, Edmond, Okla., visited in the Claybrook homes and at Bill Georges Friday evening.

Had the pleasure of looking through the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Penner Friday evening. Is surely a country home to be proud of.

Mr. and Mrs. John Brodie, were out for plums Sunday. Later Mr. and Mrs. Frank Leatherman, Ollie Mae and Mr. and Mrs. Chester LaTour and son came for a visit, then Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Wahl.

Blending colonial and contemporary themes, this two-story house is distinctive inside and out. Plan R-393 by Eimer Gyll-eck, architect, 120 1/2 So. Grove Ave., Elgin, Ill., this house has a volume of 24,000 cubic feet including a full basement. The two-car garage adds 4,800 cubic feet. The main portion of the house covers only 857 sq. feet, contributing to the economy of its construction.

Jack Oakie Wants to Portray Late W. C. Fields in Movie Life Story

HOLLYWOOD — Jack Oakie wants to portray his friend, the late W. C. Fields, on the screen. If any studio decides to do the biography, Jack hardly can miss getting the part.

He can talk out of the side of his mouth the way Fields did, in the same hollow, bombastic voice. He has the surprised hunching of the shoulders and the quick shuffle down pat. With the bulbous rubber nose he wears in "Burlesque," the Betty Grable picture now shooting, Jack bears a startling resemblance to Fields. "A very funny man," Jack says, shaking his head in recollection.

Fernando Valley acres and likes to don shorts, "lie by the pool and look up at the sun." His mother-in-law, Mrs. Eva Kemper, has remained as his housekeeper since his divorce three years ago from Vanita Varden—who now is back, temporarily, as her mother's house guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Crist Pshigoda spent several days last week vacationing at Eagle Nest, N. M. They were in Raton Sunday to attend the horse races.

He remembers Fields pretending to belabor some geese and swans on Toluca Lake with a blacksnake whip because "they hissed at me." To Fields, water was something that rusted pipes, and milk was "stuff they force into the mouths of innocent little babies." But when Fields began missing the cigar boxes he juggled, it was not from tipping but from failing eyesight, Jack says.

Jack Oakie is also a very funny man—plump, loud, and "always on" or putting on an act. Meeting a Mexican actor outside the studio commissary, he gives a bellowing, effusive greeting in high-school Spanish. He'll stand at a desk on the set and give a mock temperance lecture starting, "From the rockbound Coast of Maine..." He keeps his co-workers happy.

But trying to interview him is like asking a circus clown grave questions on atomic theory. You learn that he's "approaching 45"; was born in Sedalia, Mo.; weighs 210 pounds, and was a New York Stock Exchange clerk before getting into show business 25 years ago. He has a house on 10 San

- ★ High Moral Character and Integrity
- ★ Obligated only to the People as a Whole

Friends of the 84th Judicial District of Texas:

I want to take this opportunity to thank you all for the friendly reception and the encouragement you have given me during this campaign.

I want to tell you, too, that I am thoroughly conscious of the responsibilities connected with the office of District Attorney. I believe that I am capable of fulfilling the duties of the office to the satisfaction of all the people of this district. If perseverance, hard work, and honest effort have anything to do with it, then I know I can turn in a good job.

And I want to tell you that I am completely sensible of the relation of trust and confidence that exists between the people and the District Attorney's office; that I shall forever endeavor to be worthy of that trust.

I want you to know that I will assume this office entirely free of any obligation to any person or group of persons, other than to the people as a whole, throughout this district; and that I shall be guided solely by that duty to all, by the letter of the law, and by my own unfettered conscience.

Livestock Research to Cross-Breed Hardy Hereford with Tough Brahma

By MARTHA COLE

McGREGOR, Texas (AP) — The white-faced Hereford will be cross-bred with the humpbacked Brahma in the first livestock research project at Bluebonnet Farm near McGregor, Texas.

"We hope to establish a new strain that will be superior to either of its parents," said H. O. Hill, superintendent of the farm, newest agricultural experiment station of Texas A. & M. college.

The Brahma, sacred cow in India, has been cross-bred with European cattle before. King Ranch combined 3/8 Brahma with 5/8 shorthorn and produced its Santa Gertrudis breed.

"Cross-breeding the Brahma and the Hereford hasn't been taken through enough generations," Hill explained.

J. C. Miller, head of animal husbandry at A & M, said that selection and breeding of the Brahma and Hereford at Bluebonnet Farm will be based entirely on performance, plus certain standard requirements of body type and conformation.

"In the course of a few generations it is not unlikely that we will produce animals whose ability to gain rapidly and economically will surpass the average of the breed," Miller said.

"The superiority of the Brahmas in the deep South and Gulf coast country, in general due to their ability to adapt themselves to the climatic and feed conditions existing there, is recognized," Miller said.

The Brahma's drawback is that the calves and yearlings are best for marketing, not the steers. The hump-backed importation also has a stubborn streak to go wild on the range and become a problem child to handle.

The star in his crown is his immunity to Texas fever. A tough hide, short hair and a waxy secretion of the Brahma's ticks and flies avoid.

South Texas has become the chief center for the Brahmas. The cattle are the descendants of a herd brought to Louisiana from India in 1860.

The gentler Hereford was brought to Texas in 1876 when W. S. Iward, pioneer Texas rancher, visited the Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia and liked the white-faced cows in the cattle show.

Herefords now comprise an estimated 75 per cent of range cattle in Texas. They are hardy cattle, good grazers, mature early and have an ability to accumulate flesh at all ages.

"Everyone recognized the superiority of the first cross Brahma-Hereford over either parent for the production of mild fat calves at weaning time," Miller said.

"While our plans are not complete, we do contemplate the study of the various combinations of blood between the Brahma and Hereford. And if we succeed in finding a particular combination which is superior, that strain will be intensified through breeding in the hope of establishing a strain which will breed true and retain its superior beef ability."

Mrs. J. W. Erickson and children, Ellen, John and Charles, are visiting in the home of her mother, Mrs. B. B. Curry at Seminole this week.

Texans to Sow Less in Wheat

WASHINGTON — Agriculture Department officials indicated that farmers will be asked to grow less wheat next year.

"Good land use dictates this course as well as the fact that we are beginning to fill the gap in relief needs, one official said.

Last week the department forecast a 1,242,000,000 bushel wheat crop for 1948 and the largest corn harvest in history, 3,329,000,000 bushels. This huge grain output will probably mark the end of an era, officials said.

More than 71 million acres are being sown to wheat this year. A cut-back to 65 million acres within the next three weeks was considered likely.

State goals for 1949 wheat production will be announced next week. They have to be determined early because winter wheat planting in the Texas Panhandle and Oklahoma starts in Sept.

Science May Double Philippines Age

MANILA (AP)—The Philippines may be twice as old as geologists thought they were. Geologist I. Panzia of the National Museum has returned from the big island of Mindoro with mollusk fossils from the Mesozoic period, which goes back 120,000,000 years. Filipino geologists, on the basis of previous fossil findings, have always placed the Philippines in the Cenozoic period running back 60,000,000 years.

Q. What is the deadline for reinstatement of lapsed National Service Life Insurance on a comparative health basis?

A. July 31, 1948, is the last day to make application for policies which have lapsed for more than three months without taking a physical examination.

Q. Where do I get an application blank to reinstate NSLI policies?

A. VA form 9-353A should be filled out and mailed to VA on or before July 31, 1948. Blanks can be obtained from the nearest VA office, the service officer of any veterans' organization, the American Red Cross or most insurance agents.

Q. How much will it cost to reinstate my GI insurance?

A. Your application for reinstatement should be accompanied by at least two monthly premiums in the amount of insurance that you had at that time. If you wish a smaller amount, reduce your premium payment accordingly. For example, if you paid $6.50 a month for $10,000 while in service and you want only $1,000 now, you should send VA two premiums of 65 cents each, and continue to pay 65 cents every 30 days to prevent further lapse.

Q. If I cannot afford the full $10,000 can a lesser amount be reinstated?

A. Yes. Application may be made for amount from $1,000 to $10,000 in multiples of $500.

Mrs. T. O. Pugh returned home last Wednesday from a five day stay at the Pugh ranch near Boise City.

Trout Widow Pleased to Pay

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP)—Here's a way to keep "trout widows" happy. Dr. Gale W. McGee of University of Wyoming says it works for him. He keeps close tabs on how much his fishing and hunting trips cost. Against this, he balances the retail value of what he catches and shoots.

If this figure is higher than his expenses, he presents his wife with a bill. She ignores it. However, if his expenses are greater, he gives his wife the difference in cash. This she takes.

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON

BY TEX EASLEY
(AP) Special Washington Service

WASHINGTON, D. C. (AP)—The day may come when Texans can go to any of a number of cities throughout their state and shop for foreign-made goods just as if they were in some exotic, far-away land.

The key to such a situation is the so-called "Foreign Trade Zone."

There already are three such zones operating in the United States—in New York, New Orleans and San Francisco.

A Foreign Trade Zone is the American counterpart of the "Free Port" in other parts of the world. Europe has had them for centuries; there were 43 in operation on the continent at the outbreak of World War Two.

A "Free Port" is one where goods of a foreign land may be unloaded exempt from all tariff and custom regulations, so long as they are kept within a restricted area.

There they may be examined by prospective buyers.

If taken out of the compound gates for use in this country, the goods are subject to all existing tariffs. The purchasers may be an American exporter who acquires the stuff for shipment on to some other foreign land; it thus would never be subject to the U. S. custom fees.

Under existing law, only merchants or wholesale buyers or exporters may inspect the goods being held in a free trade zone. Legislation was introduced during the past session of Congress to broaden the law to permit exhibits or fairs in these zones so the public in general could enter and pick out miscellaneous items they would like to buy.

An entire waterfront of a city may be designated a free port, as in the case of Hamburg, Germany before the war. It may be, and usually is, a fenced-in portion of a city.

While the "zone" usually is a large tract of several acres, it might be limited to a single warehouse. Rent would be paid for the time the goods occupied space in the area, whether withdrawn for delivery elsewhere in the United States or sent abroad.

So far, the three free trade zones in the United States are limited to waterfront cities. That's where Texas may come in for a "first."

San Antonio business people have indicated an interest in es-

Establishing a free trade zone in that city, particularly for air cargo from Mexico and other Latin-American countries.

Thomas E. Lyons, executive secretary of the govern-board which designates foreign trade zones, says that the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce and a large warehouse operator in that city are corresponding with him on the matter.

A few days ago secretary of Commerce Snyder said he is expecting applications soon from San Antonio, Los Angeles and Seattle for permission to establish free ports.

San Antonio would differ from the three existing free trade zone cities in that it has no water commerce, and it is not a border city, which is noteworthy.

However, with air traffic steadily increasing, such inland points as Fort Worth and Dallas might well become the unload-

New President Of Tech is D. M. Wiggins

LUBBOCK, July 20—Dr. Dossie M. Wiggins, for the past 12 years president of the Texas College of Mines, has been elected president of Texas Technological College, effective Sept. 1.

He was named by the Texas Tech board of directors as successor to Pres. W. M. Whyburn who will become head of the Department of Mathematics at the University of North Carolina.

Dr. Wiggins, chosen from over 60 candidates, is a graduate of Hardin-Simmons University; holds a master's degree from Yale University and a Ph. D. from the University of Chicago.

He is 53 years of age, a native of Crowley, La., and previous to entering college teaching and administration was principal of high schools in Burkburnett, Vernon and Canadian and superintendent of schools at Canadian.

He moved to the presidency of Texas Mines in 1937, leaving a post as dean of the department of Education at Hardin-Simmons. He is credited with bringing major growth to the College of Mines.

Mr. Wiggins, whose wife is the former Winnie Lee Kinard of Memphis, is a director of the El Paso chamber of commerce and the El Paso country club. He is a member of the Baptist church and the Rotary club and holds membership in the National Education association, Texas State Teachers association, Phi Delta Kappa, and Kappa Delta Pi.

Dr. Wiggins is expected to formally accept his appointment as president of Texas Tech at a director's meeting in Lubbock Aug. 12.

Counterfeiters Turn To Small Change

BANGKOK (AP)—Siamese counterfeiters are becoming more modest. The latest notes off the clandestine presses are of the lowest denomination yet—50-satang currency notes. That's worth about seven cents. Though irregularities of the ink and roughness of line make the bogus notes distinguishable, Siamese citizens are easy prey. They rarely bother examining the 50-satang notes.

ing spots for goods moving along high in the sky when they cross the border. They would become "free air port" cities.

Foreign trade zones are authorized under a 1934 act of Congress. The board which designates a zone is comprised of the secretaries of commerce, treasury and army.

Houston is the only city in Texas which has gone so far as to file a tentative application for a free port zone. That was during the war years. Brownsville and Laredo have shown more recent interest in establishing such a zone.

Arline Truax Glad To Return to NT After Night Spots

DENTON, Texas — Singer Arline Truax prefers the campus at North Texas State College in Denton to one-night stands with Vaughn Monroe's band at some of the nation's leading night spots.

A junior student from Canyon, the young vocalist is back on the campus furthering her musical education after two years of singing with the Moonmaids, the vocal group with Monroe's band.

Miss Truax returned to her home in Canyon last November after a serious illness. She was replaced by June Heft, another North Texan, in the Moonmaids group.

Asked if she missed the glamour of show business after three weeks back at NTSC, she comments, "No, it's good to be home." A former Perryton resident, Miss Truax is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Truax, former band director in the schools.

Jim Palmer and Alvin Holmes spent several days last week fishing at Eagle Lake. Mrs. Palmer joined Raton this weekend when group enjoyed the home.

An entire waterfront of a city may be designated a free port, as in the case of Hamburg, Germany before the war. It may be, and usually is, a fenced-in portion of a city.

While the "zone" usually is a large tract of several acres, it might be limited to a single warehouse. Rent would be paid for the time the goods occupied space in the area, whether withdrawn for delivery elsewhere in the United States or sent abroad.

So far, the three free trade zones in the United States are limited to water-front cities. That's where Texas may come in for a "first."

establishing a free trade zone in that city, particularly for air cargo from Mexico and other Latin-American countries.

Thomas E. Lyons, executive secretary of the govern-board which designates foreign trade zones, says that the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce and a large warehouse operator in that city are corresponding with him on the matter.

A few days ago secretary of Commerce Snyder said he is expecting applications soon from San Antonio, Los Angeles and Seattle for permission to establish free ports.

San Antonio would differ from the three existing free trade zone cities in that it has no water commerce, and it is not a border city, which is noteworthy.

However, with air traffic steadily increasing, such inland points as Fort Worth and Dallas might well become the unload-

New President Of Tech is D. M. Wiggins

LUBBOCK, July 20—Dr. Dossie M. Wiggins, for the past 12 years president of the Texas College of Mines, has been elected president of Texas Technological College, effective Sept. 1.

He was named by the Texas Tech board of directors as successor to Pres. W. M. Whyburn who will become head of the Department of Mathematics at the University of North Carolina.

Dr. Wiggins, chosen from over 60 candidates, is a graduate of Hardin-Simmons University; holds a master's degree from Yale University and a Ph. D. from the University of Chicago.

He is 53 years of age, a native of Crowley, La., and previous to entering college teaching and administration was principal of high schools in Burkburnett, Vernon and Canadian and superintendent of schools at Canadian. He moved to the presidency of Texas Mines in 1937, leaving a post as dean of the department of Education at Hardin-Simmons. He is credited with bringing major growth to the College of Mines.

Mr. Wiggins, whose wife is the former Winnie Lee Kinard of Memphis, is a director of the El Paso chamber of commerce and the El Paso country club. He is a member of the Baptist church and the Rotary club and holds membership in the National Education association, Texas State Teachers association, Phi Delta Kappa, and Kappa Delta Pi.

Dr. Wiggins is expected to formally accept his appointment as president of Texas Tech at a director's meeting in Lubbock Aug. 12.

Counterfeiters Turn To Small Change

BANGKOK (P)—Siamese counterfeiters are becoming more modest. The latest notes off the clandestine presses are of the lowest denomination yet—50-satang currency notes. That's worth about seven cents. Though irregularities of the ink and roughness of line make the bogus notes distinguishable, Siamese citizens are easy prey. They rarely bother examining the 50-satang notes.

ing spots for goods moving along high in the sky when they cross the border. They would become "free air port" cities.

Foreign trade zones are authorized under a 1934 act of Congress. The board which designates a zone is comprised of the secretaries of commerce, treasury and army.

Houston is the only city in Texas which has gone so far as to file a tentative application for a free port zone. That was during the war years. Brownsville and Laredo have shown more recent interest in establishing such a zone.

Arline Truax Glad To Return to NT After Night Spots

DENTON, Texas — Singer Arline Truax prefers the campus at North Texas State College in Denton to one-night stands with Vaughn Monroe's band at some of the nation's leading night spots.

A junior student from Canyon, the young vocalist is back on the campus furthering her musical education after two years of singing with the Moonmaids, the vocal group with Monroe's band.

Miss Truax returned to her home in Canyon last November after a serious illness. She was replaced by June Heift, another North Texan, in the Moonmaid group.

Asked if she missed the glamour of show business after three weeks back at NTSC, she comments, "No, it's good to be home." A former Perryton Miss Truax is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Truax, er band director in the schools.

Jim Palmer and Alvin Holmes spent several days week fishing at Eagle Lake, Mex. Mrs. Palmer joined Raton this weekend with group enjoyed the home

South Sea Handicrafts Get Class

Newsfeatures HONOLULU — The sophisticated South Sea islanders of today are turning out handicrafts that look as if they might have come from Fifth avenue.

"If we want anything primitive we have to make it ourselves," complained one importer. "Pacific natives are up on all the new trends—including the one toward high prices."

One Honolulu trader penetrated the remote Fiji islands not long ago, taking along his own jewelry designs. With the samples to go by, islanders now fashion sleek, modernistic watch bands and brooches of tortoise shell.

Lath-turned mahogany bowls form the Society islands are in Waikiki beach shops alongside "antique" wood carvings of pagan gods. Delicate shell necklaces from the Holiday islands complement the "new look" gowns at resort hotels in Hawaii. Table mats and handbags woven from Hawaiian hala tree fibre could appropriately be tagged with "made in California" labels.

Fall Fashions Show Longer Skirts, Deeper Colors, Simpler Designs

By MARTHA COLE Associated Press Staff

Skirts are still longer, colors are deeper and the design is simpler.

Other than that, there's not much difference in this fall's advance fashions from last year's. What's more, there is very little evidence of fashion's latest wrinkle—petticoats peeking out from skirts.

No startling innovation appeared in the fall showing of the American Fashion Association for Southwest buyer in Dallas in May. Some 4,000 buyers from 16 states, most of them from Texas towns, picked and bought from the offerings of 650 manufacturing lines displayed in hotel rooms.

The fashion revolution that stirred hold the hemline clubs to a counter-revolt last summer was undisputed winner of the melee.

"The new look jitters are over," one salesman explained. "The women have by now either worn out their shorter styles, lengthened them or bought new clothes."

Fuller and longer skirts reign supreme. Not that everybody likes it.

"I thought we were through with these full circular skirts," one salesman remarked, holding up a clack faille number, "but the women asked for it."

As for the hemline, it's still going down and it's a "terrific shame," another said.

Three Honorees At Picnic Thursday

Jean Neufeld, Irma Ratzlaff and Clarence Kilewer were the honorees for a picnic last Thursday evening at City Park. The three had birthday anniversaries during that week.

Games were played and a weiner roast was enjoyed.

Attending were Iona Karber, Lola Karber, Merlie Ratzlaff, Norma Neufeld, Ruby Penner, Elvera Unruh, Kenneth Unruh, Dean Kilewer, Archie Neufeld, Jess Karber, Donald Neufeld, Andy Neufeld, Leonard Friessen, Malvin Reimer, and the honorees.

Harolyn Malone Hostess to 'Gigs'

The "Gigs" of the Methodist church met in the home of Harolyn Malone last Tuesday evening for an outdoor session. During the business meeting a camping trip to be staged during August was discussed. Plans were also made for a mid-week service for the young people of the church.

The hostess served refreshments to 14 members and guests. The meeting closed with the organization benediction.

Mrs. Max Boyer Entertains Club

Friday club members were guests of Mrs. Max W. Boyer for their regular meeting this week. Mrs. W. C. Herndon scored high for club members in the games of bridge, and Mrs. Cecil Dodd was high for guests.

Seated for the games were Mesdames Vance Apple, Herndon, Harlan Hawk, H. C. Brillhart, G. W. Acker, Cecil Dodd, J. H. Brashears and Fred Osborne.

WEDDING DATE SET . . . Mr. and Mrs. Lee Little have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Melba, to Dick Woods, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Woods, Santa Barbara, Calif. The vows will be solemnized in a home ceremony on Sunday, August 22.

Miss Jackson, Charles Brillhart Marry in Dumas

The marriage of Miss Evelyn Jackson, Spearman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Jackson, Scottville, Ark., to Charles Brillhart, son of G. C. Brillhart Sr., was solemnized in Dumas, Tex., on Sunday, July 1.

Rev. Beechamp, pastor of the Dumas Methodist Church, read the double ring ceremony at the parsonage.

For her marriage the bride chose a tailored suit of cocoa brown gabardine.

The bride is a graduate of a Denver, Colo., high school and prior to her marriage was employed at the Spearman Equity.

Mr. Brillhart, a graduate of the Perryton high school, served in the Army during World War II, and his overseas service was in the European Theater.

The couple are at home on the Brillhart ranch near Spearman following their wedding trip to Raton, N. M. Mr. Brillhart is actively engaged in cattle breeding and wheat growing with his father and brothers.

Gary Crum Has Birthday Party

Gary Crum celebrated his fourth birthday with a juvenile party at the home of his parents on Monday, July 12. Upon the arrival of the guests, they were given paper hats, and during the party hours, the children blew bubbles and played with Gary's toys in the back yard.

Following the gift inspection, birthday cake and ice cream were served. Favors were whistles.

The guest list included Gloria and Carol Ann Coffin, Buddy and Sandra Bolerjack, John Charles Ellzey, Qlo Crum, Norma Jean Carter and Nancy Crum. Susie Holt and Bobby Luthi, who were extended invitations, were unable to attend.

Mrs. McCutcheon Entertains Club

Mrs. Dean McCutcheon entertained members of her bridge club and guest on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. James McGregor played high and Mrs. Clifton Bell, second high.

Enjoying the afternoon were Mesdames Bell, Giltner LaMaster, Malcolm Bealmer, Jack Todd, W. C. Herndon, McGregor and F. B. Sumpter.

Dinner Guests

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Dodd entertained guests at dinner last Wednesday evening.

Plates were laid for Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Sanders, Mr. and Mrs. Vance Apple, Mrs. Beth Fuchscher, the host and hostess.

District Head Of Church Council To Address Group

Mrs. Murry Elson, president of the 14th District, United Council of Church Women, will be guest speaker at the meeting of the Perryton council scheduled for next Thursday afternoon, July 29, at three o'clock. Mrs. Elson is from Amarillo.

Those present were Lunette Castle, Lois Carol Williams, Bobby Schwaik, Robbie Blackmore, Jo Nita Watson, Lynn Curtis, Janie Putman, Marvin Morgan, Darlene Russell, Frankie Humphrey, Terry Shockley, Ruth Ann and John D. Smith and Ronald Hoyt Boyd and Mallie James Boyd of Amarillo.

Reception Tea For Mrs. Clark Given Friday

A reception tea to honor Mrs. Max Herman Clark, a recent bride, was given last Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. R. T. Correll, 506 South Colgate. Hostesses were Mesdames Correll, W. E. McMullen, S. P. Whippo, A. K. Wilson and C. E. Whippo.

The entertainment rooms were made festive with arrangements of seasonal blooms. Forming the receiving line were Mrs. Rex Clark, mother-in-law of the honoree, Mrs. Max Herman Clark, her mother, Mrs. Jack Tolbert and her grandmother, Mrs. Jessie Tolbert, both of Canadian.

The serving table was covered with a white drawnwork cloth, hand drawn, and appointed in crystal. White tapers were in the crystal holders and a crystal bowl held the floral centerpiece of pink and white stock, mums, asters and baby breath. Punch was served from an heirloom cut glass punch bowl by Mrs. S. P. Whippo and Mrs. C. E. Whippo, alternately.

During the appointed hours, approximately 60 guests were registered.

Cactus Plant is Nucleus of New Phillips Chemical Co.

Chemical activities of Phillips Petroleum Company have been expanded through the formation of a wholly-owned subsidiary, the Phillips Chemical Company, it has been announced. The new chemical company was organized for the purpose of conducting Phillips Petroleum Company's chemical and synthetic rubber operations as well as its furnace-type carbon black operations now handled by another wholly-owned subsidiary, Philtex Chemical Company. Key officers of Phillips Chemical Company are Frank Phillips, chairman; K. S. Adams, president; Ross W. Thomas, executive vice president; Paul Endacott, Don Emery, G. G. Oberfell and R. C. Jopling, vice presidents. G. W. McCullough has been appointed vice president and general manager.

As a nucleus of the new program, Phillips Chemical Company has leased on a long term basis the Cactus Ordnance Works at Etter in the Texas Panhandle and will also build a new ammonium nitrate plant at Etter. Cactus Ordnance is one of the largest ammonia plants in the world and will be used by the company to produce ammonia for nitrogenous fertilizers. It is expected that present plant capacity will be doubled from approximately 70,000 tons to more than 140,000 tons. Under the lease agreement, the United States products from this plant for its foreign relief export fertilizer program until June 30, 1952. The company plans to divert the production of these facilities to the relief of our domestic fertilizer shortage as rapidly as the government's foreign program is reduced.

The company's plans for the future also include the acquisition of a large site on the ship channel near Houston, Texas, where a plant will be built for the manufacture of ammonium sulfate, another important type of fertilizer. This site is of sufficient size to permit the addition of the several other chemical plants which are planned.

For a number of years Phillips has been active in the development of chemicals based on hydrocarbon raw materials. The Cactus plant uses natural gas as raw material and is located in one of the largest gas fields in the world.

Supplying food for the increasing population of the world places tremendous emphasis on the need for more intensive farming. The accelerated food production of past years has robbed our domestic farm lands of fertility. To maintain the supply of food, the productivity of soils must be restored by replenishing the vital elements through an increasing use of fertilizers. The formation of the new Phillips Chemical Company will accelerate the availability of such fertilizers, and will inject a healthy competitive force in the far-reaching chemical field.

Dutch 'Lost Tribe' Traced to Eire

READING, Pa. (AP)—Persistent detective work by Dr. Alfred L. Shoemaker, curator of the Berks County Historical Society here, has disclosed a "lost tribe" of Pennsylvania Dutch living in County Limerick, Eire.

More than 200 years ago the tribe tried to reach American freedom in Berks County but were sidetracked. Now Mayor John F. Davis, of Reading, himself of Welsh descent, is extending an invitation to representatives to visit the city and county during the bicentennial celebration which reaches its peak Aug. 14.

Known as Palatines, members of the group left the Rhine region in 1709 and arrived in London enroute to America. Once there, Dr. Shoemaker relates, the immigrants awaited ships to carry them to America to join compatriots who had settled along the shores of the Schuylkill and Lehigh Rivers, Berks County, Pa. "Due to a lack of shipping space," he continued, "they were transported across the Irish Sea by the English and established a colony in County Limerick, where they live today."

From 1709 until 50 years ago, when the last "Irish" Pennsylvania Dutchman who spoke the language died, the group retained its identity. This was inevitable, Dr. Shoemaker explained, because the immigrants were the only Protestants in a solid Catholic community. Today the Palatines are conspicuous only by a slight Rhine accent, and by observing their old custom of "shooting in the New Year."

Some Movie Fans Never Saw a Bible

EDINBURGH (AP)—A report to the Church of Scotland deplores the finding that some children have never seen a Bible but do know all about the movies. The report observes: "There was a time, not so far distant, when it was safe to assume that most young people came from homes where they received at least some Christian teaching. That is now the exception rather than the rule."

equal numbers, account mainly for the general decrease. Estimates are made as of the first of the year, says Timm.

"Compared to World War I, we now have in supply fewer beef cattle but we can increase beef production quicker in view of a higher percentage of cows and heifers," Timm points out.

Right after the first World War, there were 400 head of cattle for every 1,000 persons in America. Today this picture is a little different. At the present count there are only 284 head of the same number of people. Even the number of beef cows and heifers, when related to population, lost ground instead of gaining, as did the total number of cows and heifers.

Another interesting fact about the beef cattle trends, says Timm, is that the number of pounds of beef hasn't gone down as much as the cattle numbers. All in all, it looks as if the cowmen have a pretty good outlook "price-wise."

Shortages Plague Turkey

ISTANBUL (AP)—Shortages are plaguing Turkey again. Sugar is virtually non-existent so far as the consumer is concerned. It is being "allocated" once again. The government will not use the word "ration." Rumors of a shortage of matches started a run that wiped out supplies in virtually every store and stand within a single day. Actually, there are plenty of matches, but the run reflected a deep concern among buyers. Tea is virtually impossible to find.

The wheat content in bread has been reduced and, unless you bake at home or find a black market source, you must be satisfied with a very heavy, brown loaf that hardly tastes like bread. But there's no shortage of food in general—for those who can afford to buy it. Markets are jammed with lamb and beef and any type of vegetable and fruit a person might desire.

Dave Shanks for County Judge

As a citizen and as an official I've tried to merit the confidence of all people by courteous treatment and faithful service and have always remembered any office I was elected to belonged to the people—not me. If some say I've been in office a long, long time, that is correct, and that is why—just remembered the people and that the office was theirs—not mine.

I've never held any office that the people didn't elect me to, and for 34 years as a public servant and private citizen, have always stood for high moral and social standards in our community.

Generally speaking, I believe that the YOUTH PROBLEM should be solved in the home and the community, not in the court house and reformatory.

Our County was the first in the State to pay out of debt after the depression and we have remained out of debt ever since. I do not claim all credit for this record for various Commissioners have helped make it, as well as the people generally, yet Commissioners have come and Commissioners have gone, but we have remained a debt free county. Any County can be a non-progressive tightwad, yet we have not been so. Remaining debt free is no particular credit, unless we have been progressive while doing so and that is just what we've done. Our County has been progressive enough to leave no thing undone that should have been done, consistent with sound business.

I'm making no criticism of any one as I prefer to seek office on my own record rather than on any fault or short coming of another.

I've never forgotten you in all the years I've served you, whether before or after election, be you rich or poor, old or young, new-comer or old-timer, regardless of your politics, religion or business, and have stood ready to render such service as I could.

My record as an individual and as a public servant is well known to Ochiltree county people, and on that record I stand, and ask you to re-elect me your County Judge.

Sleep Found To Check Ulcers

MOSCOW (AP)—"Red Star's" Leningrad correspondent reports that the now well-tried system of prolonged sleep has been proven successful in the treatment of duodenal ulcers. The idea was originated by the celebrated physiologist, Pavlov. It was first used in the treatment of Schizophrenia, then for shell shock and later for wounds. The method has been used for treating ulcers since 1945. "Red Star" said: It is used on patients who do not respond to other treatment.

Each patient sleeps from 16 to 22 hours a day. The entire course of treatment lasts for 12 to 20 days. The patients are given soporifics. The new method has already been tried on 88 patients and the majority of them have lost their pain. "Red Star" said. It said some of them have gone back to work and some have even lost their ulcers.

(AP) Newfeatures ABERDEEN, Wash. — Dan'l. Boone, partly remembered for having killed a b'ar in a tree, had the right idea, in the opinion of Jack Ekstrand.

Ekstrand, a veteran big game hunter, says bears are getting so thick in this coastal mountain area they have become a menace to the timber crop.

The bruins go after second-growth fir when food is short in the early spring. They pick on 60 to 70-foot trees and rip the bark away. The raiding was heavier this year when the berry crop was late.

The hunter believes the bear population hereabouts has increased from three to five times in the last quarter-century. "They are becoming more destructive than cougars, picking on livestock and poultry as well as the timber," says Ekstrand. The state regards bears as game animals. Ekstrand thinks bruins should be classed as predators and hunters permitted to bang away at them freely.

Fireman, Spare That Fire!

Employers Required to Deduct SS Tax Only on First $3,000 Wages

Employers are required to deduct social security taxes on only the first $3,000 of wages per year, J. R. Sanderson, manager of the social security office in Amarillo, said today. "Even at this late date," he said, "the Social Security Administration is still getting inquiries from employers and employees about these excess taxes."

The employer's quarterly tax returns should show the name, social security number, and amount of wages paid each employee. Sanderson pointed out, however, that after an employer has been paid $3,000 course of a calendar year, the employer should no longer include his name on his quarterly tax returns. Request for refund of taxes paid on wages over $3,000 should be made to the Collector of Internal Revenue and not to the social security field office, and made within a period of one year after the end of the year in which the wages were paid.

If You Think We've Got School Troubles, Look What Is Happening in the New Industrial Area Down-State

By J. CULLEN BROWNING

ORANGE, Texas (AP)—Down in the extreme southeast corner of Texas in a triangular district roughly 25 miles on each side and cornered by the cities of Beaumont, Port Arthur and Orange an industrial empire is being created.

From a pre-war start as the nation's biggest oil refining center, the area has become through conversion of war plants and the addition of new industries ranging in size from one-man hole-in-the-wall shops to multi-million dollar chemical plants, one of the brightest spots on the nation's industrial map.

This mushroom growth has created problems aplenty but none come close to matching in magnitude or severity that of the area's public schools. There has developed in the district a continuing series of school controversies, tax problems, student strikes and trustee rows so widespread as to be termed by one of its editors in a recent radio commentary "an area-wide disease with its roots deep in the social structure."

He suggested the organization of an area-wide committee of interested parents, taxpayers and educators, to study these problems on a regional basis and work out an overall solution.

Behind the editor's suggestion lay these incidents over a period of a few months, all originating in a radius of 25 miles.

1. A student strike at the Bancroft school in suburban Orange which began April 23 and continued until the term ended May 14. This walkout apparently set a new record for longevity for a situation of its kind and was termed by the principal, Miss Inez Wallace, as really a strike of parents. It is slated to wind up in the courts during the summer months.

2. An intra-community controversy in the Bridge City school district, eight miles south of Orange, which came up in the district court here May 14 with a hearing on an injunction suit seeking to restrain the board from holding an election May 22 on the question of restoring the district to independent status.

The injunction petition, filed by John O. Young, Orange attorney on behalf of a Citizens committee at Bridge City, contends that the election would not be legal because it comes within one year from another March 20, 1948, at which the voters decided to revert from independent to common school status.

District Judge F. W. Hustmyre declined to enjoin the election, saying it was a "political right not to be denied by an injunction." Young gave notice of appeal.

3. A controversy in the Port Neches independent district, 20 miles southwest of Orange, which wound up with a unique public hearing conducted in Austin by state superintendent L. A. Woods. This arose when members of a previous board of trustees terminated its contract with Supt. C. L. Yarbrough two years in advance of its expiration date. A short student strike ensued.

Following several days of testimony at the Austin hearing, Woods ordered the Port Neches trustees and Yarbrough to resign and the superintendent paid off for the remainder of his contract. A new board was to be elected. If it re-hired Yarbrough he was to return the money paid for the unused portion of his contract, otherwise the superintendent was to keep about $10,000 paid him on his resignation.

The new trustees re-employed Yarbrough, the money was paid back and outwardly the district has returned to normal.

4. An overcrowded situation in Port Arthur independent district, 18 miles south of Orange, which is complicated by an intra-faculty squabble recently aired in a public hearing. This district late last year voted a $3,500,000 bond issue for expansion of its schools. During the campaign there was some controversy as to locations which still bobs up now and then.

The faculty row started several weeks ago when the board of trustees honored a request by Supt. Z. T. Fortescue, who had the backing of a group of patrons, not to renew the contract of John Tomlin, athletic director and football coach. Tomlin asked for a public hearing, gathered around him his supporters, and the two groups spent several hours one night airing the pros and cons of the difficulty.

In the end the board reversed itself and renewed Tomlin's contract with a raise in pay.

5. The passage recently with some opposition of a $3,000,000 school improvement bond issue in the city of Beaumont, 25 miles west of Orange, this campaign was featured by full-page ads made up mostly of pictures of fallen plaster on teachers' desks, outmoded plumbing and electrical installations, tumbledown buildings, etc., all headed "These Are Our Schools."

Now a movement is afoot for consolidation of the French and possibly South Park independent districts in suburban Beaumont with the city system. An election on the latter is being planned for June 30 and indications are either proposal will meet with opposition, particularly those in the smaller districts who fear they are about to be swallowed up.

6. Another controversy at Vidor, 15 miles west of Orange, where an attempt is being made to convert the district from its position as a rural high school area, largest of its kind in Texas, to independent status. This squabble threatened to reach the courts last January following an election on the question in the district. The election was held in a snow storm and the officials at one polling place failed to open the voting box because of the cold.

The proposition to convert Vidor to independent status was defeated by a margin of 14 votes and its backers protested the election because the box failed to open. Both sides got together, however, and appointed a Vidor resident, O. Woodrow Wilson, young assistant Orange county attorney, to arbitrate the dispute. He worked out a compromise whereunder a new election would be held. It has been called for May 29.

7. A rough-and-tumble intra-community battle over taxable valuations in the Orange independent School District where, because of its huge holding in real property, the federal government this year contributed one-third of the $750,000 cost of operating the schools.

This controversy arose several months ago when the school board, following a survey conducted by a Fort Worth appraisal firm, published new valuations reducing some taxes but upping most and creating an overall increase of about one-third the previous total.

Along with the new valuations the Orange school board published a schedule of present and former total taxable values. These showed a decline during the depression years, when the city's population remained fairly constant at around 7,500, from $10,000,000 (M) to $8,500,000 in 1947 with the population up to an estimated 35,000.

The board also pointed out that a sharp cutback in federal contributions to operating cost of the Orange Schools was expected, an opinion confirmed by Supt. C. O. Chandler following a trip to Washington for the communities to work in behalf of continued federal aid. Chandler said he found "stronger and stronger sentiment among the lawmakers in Washington for the communities to take over the burden of operation of their schools" regardless of federal property holdings in the school districts.

Some Orange taxpayers, however, were not satisfied with the Board's decision concerning taxable valuations and in less than a week there had been organized in the city a "Taxpayers Civic Betterment League." L. W. Stephenson, Orange attorney, was elected president.

A league committee was appointed to meet with the school board. That session, attended by reporters, was marked by sharp exchanges highlighted by Board President Hunter Beaty's statement to Stephenson: "I do not accept your committee as representing the sentiment of the taxpayers of this school district."

Then the local daily newspaper became involved in the controversy. Stephenson wrote the editor of the Orange Leader attacking the news account of the meeting between the taxpayer's group and the school board. The letter was printed on the front page in a column next to the paper's editorial reply. On several occasions since Stephenson has said publicly his organization plans to back another newspaper in Orange to serve as the "Voice of the Taxpayers."

The fight is far from ended. The school board has gone ahead with assessment of taxes on the new valuations and has served notice that it contemplates an election soon on the question of raising the school tax rate from its present $1.25 to the statutory maximum of $1.50.

Tennis Hopes Drop 5,000 Feet

COPENHAGEN (AP)—Although a Danish airlines radio operator, Erik Mathiesen, has 12 brand new tennis balls—a thing practically not seen in Denmark since before the war—he will not be able to play tennis for the time being. He bought them in Johannesburg. They were 12 hard-pumped, unused balls when he bought them. When he arrived in Copenhagen two days later they were as flabby as old apples. Johannesburg is some 5,000 feet above sea level, while Copenhagen is only a few feet above the sea. The pressure in the tennis balls was fitted to the atmospheric conditions in Johannesburg.

Each year the President of the United States receives hundreds of gifts; the practice started in George Washington's day.

Wanting a baby, she went to Europe to adopt one, as she relates in her book, and returned with a French boy she named Pat.

Coach Deaf to Insults, Gets the Job Done

AMARILLO, Texas (AP)—There isn't much heckling of Rudy Gamblin, baseball coach of Amarillo High School, because he's getting the job done. If there is any it's generally lost on Rudy because he is deaf and almost speechless.

Rudy sometimes goes out on the diamond and writes short, indignant notes to umpires. But this doesn't happen often.

Rudy became baseball coach here this spring and proceeded to take his team to a district championship and a place in the state tournament at Dallas. But championship athletic teams are nothing new for Rudy. While he was coach of all sports at the Texas School for the Deaf at Austin, he turned out one national championship football team and several undefeated baseball squads.

HOW U.S. TRUST FUNDS GROW

Improved Wheat Varieties are Cause of Larger Texas Yield

"The upward trend in the acreage of better yielding varieties of wheat" was credited by V. C. Childs, agricultural statistician of the U. S. D. A. for Texas in his July crop report as one of the contributing factors to the better than expected out-turn of the 1948 wheat crop in Texas.

"A comparison of the harvested acreages of acceptable milling and baking varieties in 1947 with 1948, county by county shows a total of 386,800 acres switched to these better varieties

This is an increase of approximately 6% in acceptable types of wheat," states Keats Soder, Director of the Texas-Oklahoma Wheat Improvement program whose job is to plug these new wheats.

Texas wheat growers were not able to kill their volunteer last planting season, so did not do as well as Oklahoma farmers who came up with 990,500 acres of additional improved varieties for a total of improvement of 14 per cent according to Mr. Soder. The total of 1,377,000 acres in the two states is almost exactly a 10% average improvement and means over 15 million bushels of additional good types for millers and bakers in the next few months. Fort Worth Lad's Shot Put National Record is Surprise

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

FORT WORTH, Texas — Most everybody was surprised when Darrow Hooper broke the national interscholastic record in the shot put—they had expected him to break it in the discus throw.

But he has another year at North Side High School to take care of that other detail.

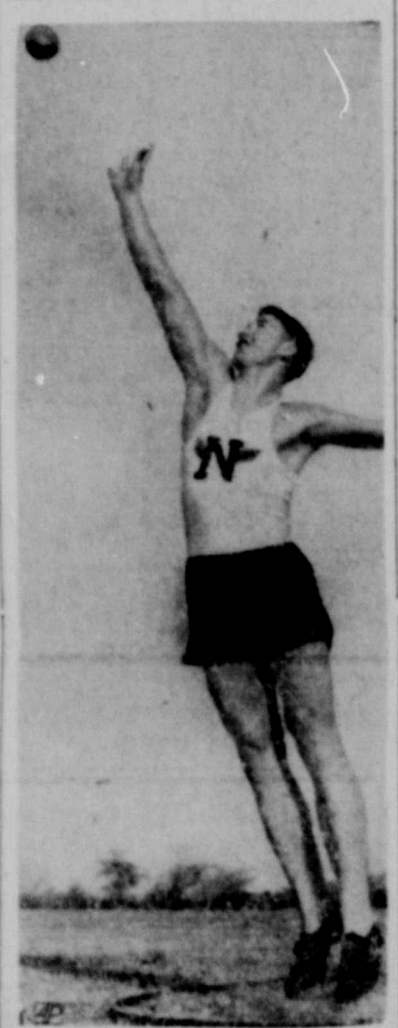

Hooper is a six-foot, three, 207-pounder at the age of 16 and apparently he doesn't know his own strength.

He pitched the 12-pound shot 59 feet 10 1/8 inches in the Texas Interscholastic League meet for big city schools to wipe out the national record of 59 feet 5 7/8 inches set in 1946 by John F. Helwig of Los Angeles.

But he had been building up to the national discus standard. He had sailed the platter 173 feet 2 1/2 inches, just three feet and two inches short of the record, in a practice meet.

After the Interscholastic League discus event was over and Hooper had won it although none of his throws reached 160 feet, the youngster, a trifle disappointed, decided he'd show what he could do and whirled the discus out 169 feet.

His record throw in the shot put, however, was no accident. At the age of 14 he had thrown this weight 50 feet and had slowly developed until he was hitting past 57 feet in practice this year. His best throw in competition has been 56 feet 5 1/2 inches.

Wanted: One Yank To Blow a Horn

MOSCOW (AP)—The only American jazz band in Russia has diminished to a trio—and not a very loud one at that. Organized in 1944 by George F. Kennan, then minister counselor at the United States Embassy, the orchestra consisted of nine loud and flashy pieces. Kennan, now chief of Secretary Marshall's planning section, and an old college guitar player, manned the same instrument in the Moscow outfit.

Kennan left Moscow shortly after the band was organized but his place was taken by Navy Radio Operator Harry Sedgley, of Trenton, N. J. Then one by one the members got transferred back home or to other places in the world.

Alarmed over the situation United States Ambassador Walter B. Smith is seeking to do something about it. "I've told them in Washington that when they send us someone new he'd better be able to play something," he says.

A Family Tapestry

BARCELONA (AP)—Gabino Stuyck, director of Spain's Royal Tapestry Factory, is the sixth generation of his family to hold this post. Jacobo Van der Gotten, Flemish artist, was the first director when Phillip, the fifth, founded the factory in 1720. A grand nephew, Livinio Stuyck, succeeded him, and ever since there has been a Stuyck as director of the Madrid factory where the ancient art is kept alive.

their income at least 5 bushels on every one of these acres for a total of $10 extra for every acre. "No wonder demand for seed of the Comanche, Westar, Wichita and Triumph varieties is in such strong demand today," concludes Mr. Soder.

Scientists Check on Noise from Stars

SYDNEY (AP)—Two Australian scientists are going to New Zealand shortly to try to track down those tricky noises that come out of space. The noises are heard on ultra-shortwave radio receivers. Their cause is unknown. They are believed to come from the Milky Way. The noises sound something like the static that is heard on an ordinary radio receiver.

The two Australian scientists, J. G. Bolton and G. J. Stanley, are attached to the Sydney receiver.

The two Australian scientists, J. G. Bolton and G. J. Stanley, are attached to the Sydney Scientific and Industrial Research Council.

Technical Secretary A. J. Higgs of the radio physics laboratory of the council says: "Bolton and Stanley are the closest of any scientists in the world today to establishing the exact source of strong cosmic noises. They are now on the road to finding out what stars may be responsible for the noises. They know the region—somewhere near the Milky Way."

Baseball for Moscow

MOSCOW (AP)—Excellent atmospheric conditions are enabling American residents in Moscow to hear baseball games broadcast direct from the United States. A Los Angeles shortwave station (KCBA) can be heard here very clearly and in considerable volume.

The station broadcasting an Armed Forces Radio Service program offers the news followed by "recreation" broadcasts, play-by-play of big league ball games. Several Americans are setting their alarm clocks and hearing their baseball—perhaps for the first time—direct from the states.

Dollars Get Action

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Joe Eakin likes to see his dollar produce more dollars for projects he feels are worthy. The 75-year-old retired farmer got a library-on-wheels moving in Fort Smith, Ark., that way. Somewhere in the planning stage the project bogged down. Eakin said he'd give a dollar a week until the bookmobile was on the road. It took 28 weeks, but they made it.

He's giving a dollar a month to the Gold Star fathers' organization, waiting for enough others to join him to make it a $10,- 000-a-month fund for children of veterans killed in service. Another of Eakin's producing dollars goes monthly to a hospital project in West Memphis, Ark.—and will until "the first patient is actually there." Other dollars go monthly to the publicity fund of a Farmers' Union and to an inter-denominational church mission in Memphis. A dollar can do a lot of good, Eakin figures, if it attracts others.

About 60 million acres in the United States consist of urban areas, parks, roads and railroad rights of way in 1940.

More Refugees Seek Homes

SALONIKA (AP)—To help relieve Greece of the burden of supporting more than 1200 political refugees, the United Nations Special Committee on the Balkans will ask the governments of countries to which the refugees have expressed a desire to migrate if they will admit some of the refugees as immigrants. These countries include Australia, France, Syria, Turkey, Great Britain and the United States.

Assigned last October to assist Greece, Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia in repatriating their refugees, UNSCOB recently admitted it could not accomplish the task because the satellite states refused to cooperate.

Hungry Germans Keep Pets

MUNICH (AP)—Germans are hungry. They are crowded into tiny living space. But they will not give up their pets. This was emphasized in a summary of the Munich city regulations which showed that 21,500 inhabitants of the city (population 700,000) have licenses to keep animals in their dwellings. In 1945, there were 6,000 less.

Most popular are fowl, understandable in a country where it is smart to raise chickens to stretch the meager ration. Owners have listed 73,000 chickens, geese and other fowl. There are 31,000 rabbits. One aged woman keeps 15 dogs in her kitchen. In the parlor of a villa is a horse. That's what the records say.

What Do You Mean You Lost Your Dog?

PORTLAND, Me. (AP)—L. C. White answered the best question he had ever heard at police headquarters. A dog named "White" had been found in a yard. His children liked the dog and he kept the dog? "What number on his license?" asked. "51659," said White. "You can't keep that dog," said White.
