Gulf Storm Watched As Alert Issued

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Weather Bureau turned a suspicious eye on a storm in the Gulf of Mexico today.

A weather bulletin reported: "An area of above normal shower activity and possible squalls has developed over the northern portion of the middle Gulf about 100 to 200 miles southeast of New Orleans."

"Radar shows the showers moving northeastward and they will be moving into coastal Alabama and extreme northwest Florida during today with some locally heavy rains and possible squalls to about 35 knots. An aircraft will investigate the area today."

Meanwhile, the northeast quarter of Texas, including Dallas and Fort Worth, was placed under a severe thunderstorm alert today. The Weather Bureau warned of hail and damaging winds.

ISSUES ALERT

Thunderstorms had rumbled through the Red River Valley early today before the Weather Bureau issued its severe weather forecast for 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The forecast area was for an area 120 miles wide and centered by a line from Wichita Falls to a point 20 miles southeast of Shreveport. It included that part of Texas north of a line from Wichita Falls to Breckenridge, Corsicana and Hemphill on the Louisiana border.

Also in the area were Wichita Falls, Denison, Denton, Sherman, Paris, Gainesville, Tyler, Longview, Marshall, Mount Pleasant, Nacogdoches, Lufkin, Mineral Wells, Breckenridge, Jacksonville, Corsicana, Ennis, Waxahatchie, Gladewater and Center.

The largest thunderstorm, which was accompanied by hail, moved from the Red River southeastward through the Clarksville area early Monday.

TWISTER HITS

A small tornado flattened a sheet metal building at Archer City early Sunday as scattered thunderstorms persisted during the day.

Span-Tunnel Turns Fiery Death Trap

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A collision on a bridge of the $200-million Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel turned the span into a flaming death trap today for four persons.

There was no immediate identification of the victims, but they were reported to be riding in an automobile bearing Connecticut license plates.

LAI TO BLOWOUT

Police said the collision apparently resulted when a tire blew on a tractor-trailer moving across the two-lane bridge. The heavy vehicle and the auto then collided on the span and burst into flames.

It was the first fatal accident on the 17.5-mile under-and-over-water route since it was opened a little over a year ago.

MARVEL OF AGE

The bridge-tunnel has been hailed as one of the engineering marvels of the age.

More than 1.25 million vehicles have traveled the bridge-tunnel complex, which carries US 13 from Kiptopeke on the tip of Virginia's Eastern Shore to the mainland at Norfolk.

Barry Airs Viet Views

WASHINGTON (AP) — Barry Goldwater, the 1964 Republican candidate for president, says President Johnson should let the military run the Vietnamese war.

"I think the President should start being the president and stop trying to be the general," he said Sunday on NBC's radio-television "Meet the Press" program.

The former Arizona senator also said he doesn't believe nuclear weapons are necessary in Viet Nam and that he wouldn't "engage our ground forces in any large-scale action" if he were president.

Hundred More Viets Massacred By Cong

Red Defectors Given Offer Of New Life

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — The Saigon government is finding out it's cheaper to buy a Viet Cong than to kill one. So is Uncle Sam.

With the firm backing of the United States, a determined effort is under way here to switch Viet Cong defectors to a new life.

It is still too early to assess the success of the program — known as the Open Arms project. But reliable sources say perhaps 18,000 Communists have been welcomed back with "open arms" by the government since late 1963.

This year about $1.5 million has been budgeted to carry out the program — almost as much as is spent each day for the war effort.

A WAY OUT

"The aim of our Open Arms program is not only to get returnees, but to prepare right now a way out for the people under the North Viet Nam Communist regime," explains Tran Van An, the Open Arms minister.

"They are looking forward to the free world for their rescue and escape," he adds. "We have the duty to open our arms to admit them and give to the patriotic an opportunity to join our young revolution."

U.S. sources acknowledge that a large gap exists between the ideal and what has been accomplished. For instance, of 44 Open Arms centers planned — one for each of the provinces — more than a third are either inadequately staffed or still under construction.

UNSTABLE REGIME

The instability of the government, the war in the provinces and a less than enthusiastic attitude toward the project by the military has slowed progress.

"The only good Viet Cong is a dead Viet Cong," some military leaders say quite frankly. At odds with this view, the government is pushing ahead its program in the belief that pacification and open arms are one, that fighting alone is not enough to win the Vietnamese conflict.

The showpiece of the program is the Chieu Hoi center in Saigon's neighboring Chinese sister city of Cholon. At this center the "elite" of the Viet Cong defectors undergo a one-month indoctrination course and then pledge to become good citizens upon returning to their villages.

EX-MINH OFFICER

The director of the school, Le Quang Dien, is a former Viet Minh officer who served the Communist cause for nine years before switching sides.

The students, many in their teens, appear enthusiastic in their dedication to the south though some once fought with the Viet Cong.

Some of the trainees say they gave themselves up because of the brutality of the Communists. Others say they are tired of fighting. Women in the center say they want security for their families.

Officers say they are well acquainted with both Latin-Americans and have had trouble with them on other occasions.

Saunders said that Valles, Romero, Maldonado and Marquez, had been riding together earlier Saturday night. They had driven to the Valles home and were standing in front of the house.

Brito drove up and Valles, the sheriff said, began an argument with the newcomer about an incident which had occurred earlier in the day. It was this argument which Romero appears to have sought to end.

U.S. Troops Move In

Men of the U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade leave C-123 transport plane following arrival at Phuoc Vinh airfield. Thieu Named Leader Of New Regime

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Vietnamese rangers combing a rubber plantation just north of the shattered town of Dong Xoai found the bodies of about 100 government troops today, the remains of the 7th Airborne Battalion, a U.S. military spokesman announced.

Dong Xoai was reported quiet but braced for more trouble from the Viet Cong.

As the rangers moved through the French-owned Michelin rubber plantation a few miles north of Dong Xoai they found an assortment of grim relics left behind by the Viet Cong, among them the wreckage of a U.S. Army helicopter and a U.S. Army man's identification tag.

TO AIRFIELD

U.S. authorities announced "at the request of the Vietnamese government, elements of the 173rd U.S. Airborne Brigade have moved to Phuoc Vinh to protect the airfield and aircraft there."

Phuoc Vinh is the main airfield for the Dong Xoai area. The U.S. paratroopers had been expected to move from there into the Dong Xoai conflict but the Vietnamese commanders were reluctant to ask for them.

South Viet Nam's general staff announced by radio it had formed a 10-member committee under the chairmanship of Maj. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu to set up a new government and organizations "along with a war cabinet."

BECOMES CHIEF

The 10 members include army corps commanders, chief of general staff and air force commander Brig. Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky.

In effect, Thieu thus becomes chief of state, although civilian Phan Khanh Suu remains for the time being as caretaker chief of state with Premier Phan Huy Quat. Thieu was defense minister in the Quat government.

The Viet Cong mounted a number of attacks and ambushes in various parts of Viet Nam today, all the way from the 17th Parallel to the southern tip of the nation.

Ninety American and Vietnamese planes hammered targets in North Viet Nam in a series of separate raids.

ATTACK BARRACKS

Twenty U.S. Air Force jet bombers escorted by 30 other jets attacked the Ban Xom Lom barracks 70 miles southwest of Hanoi. Five buildings were reported destroyed and 10 heavily damaged.

Forty-two planes hit three areas of the Ba Bon army barracks 60 miles north of the demilitarized zone, U.S. spokesmen said.

Heavy air strikes also continued inside South Viet Nam against suspected Viet Cong targets. U.S. Navy and Marine Corps planes were said to have flown 118 sorties Sunday. Pilots claimed heavy damage to targets and suspected troop concentrations.

Chicago Gives Spacemen, Wives A Hearty Welcome

CHICAGO (AP) — James McDivitt and Edward White II, the Gemini 4 astronauts, came to Chicago today and were greeted by a tumultuous welcome.

McDivitt, a native of Chicago, said he felt "very humble" and added: "We were just doing our jobs."

The wives of the astronauts were handed large bouquets of red roses when they left the plane in which the party flew from Houston.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, making the official welcome talk at O'Hare International Airport, said: "No one is more deserving of plaudits than these two great Americans—astronauts, yes, but Americans first."

They were whisked to the downtown lake front in open white cars. Waves of cheers from crowds five deep rolled along with them.

"When I was a kid in Chicago," said McDivitt, "I never dreamed of a day like this."

"The last few days make me feel very humble. We were just doing our jobs."

White, responding to greetings at the airport, said, "We are very greatly honored to have the day with you. We are accepting it for the industry that created the space craft and the booster."

Meantime, school protest groups, whose demonstrations since Thursday have resulted in traffic jams and nearly 450 arrests, plan to assemble for what their leaders say will be another demonstration.

"We will act in relation to the White House Salutes Arts."

From the East Room to the South Lawn, the mammoth Festival of the Arts has taken over for today.

Props, costumes, musical instruments, sculpture, paintings and photographs are in place and scores of performers are set to go on stage.

Nothing like it has ever happened at the White House — or probably anywhere else for that matter.

IT'S VARIED
You could bump into Alexander Calder's huge sculpture "Whales II" on the lawn, or Helen Hayes preparing to serve as mistress of ceremonies.

A threesome from the cast of "The Subject was Roses" was catching up on rehearsal time they missed Sunday night to get a Tony award for the best play of the year.

All the White House was a stage for men and women of the arts at the invitation of President and Mrs. Johnson.

Mrs. Johnson, opening the festival she called "a rich feast indeed," declared all of the arts "are warmly welcomed in this house."

SALUTES CREATORS
She gave a special salute to "the men and women who create all these wondrous things for our mind's pleasure and our soul's delight."

She said in her prepared remarks they had "earned the gratitude of every American for the beauty, the meaning and the zest you are contributing to our lives."

"There would be nothing for the rest of us to support if a very few did not make the personal sacrifices necessary for the arduous act of creative-ness," the First Lady noted.

Stanton Youth Killed, Another Faces Charges

By SAM BLACKBURN

STANTON—A 22-year-old Latin-American, who attempted to intervene in a quarrel between two other young Latinos, is dead and one of two disputants is in the Martin County jail charged with murder with malice.

The slaying occurred around 11 p.m. Saturday in front of the residence of the alleged slayer Santos Romero, who lived in Stanton for 19 of his 22 years.

Saunders said that the fatal affray was the climax to a quarrel between Valles and another young Latin, Eleno Brito. Apparently, the sheriff said, this dispute was ending when Romero stepped forward and intervened. The sheriff said that witnesses told him Valles whipped a knife and stabbed Romero in the stomach. He fell to the ground. He was stabbed a second time under the left arm. Valles fled from the scene. Felix Maldonado and Ramon Marquez, who were also present, picked up the wounded Romero, loaded him in their car, and took him to the hospital. He died a short time later.

Enrique Valles, father of the alleged slayer, ran out of his house when the altercation broke out and sought to pull his son off the fallen Romero, he told officers.

Sunday morning, the father brought Valles to the county jail and turned him over to Sheriff Saunders.

Pickett, Sheriff Saunders, and other officers, said they obtained statements from Valles, as well as from witnesses.

Saunders said that Romero was married, but that he is separated from his wife. Mrs. Romero lives in Sinton with their two children. Valles is unmarried.

Officers say they are well acquainted with both Latin-Americans and have had trouble with them on other occasions.

Saunders said that Valles, Romero, Maldonado and Marquez, had been riding together earlier Saturday night. They had driven to the Valles home and were standing in front of the house.

Three In Jail On Charges Of Murder

STANTON—Saturday night's homicide in this county-seat town has stirred memories of another sensational crime.

The knife death June 12 of Santos Romero, it is pointed out, occurred almost to the hour exactly one year after the rape-murder of 82-year-old Mrs. W. S. McDonald.

The scene of the McDonald crime was approximately a mile from that where young Romero was fatally stabbed last Saturday night.

Mrs. McDonald was smothered to death with a plastic bag in her living quarters at the rear of her small store. The tragedy occurred about 11 p.m. June 12, 1964.

Romer was stabbed at 11 p.m. June 12, 1965, and died a few minutes later.

Sheriff Dan Saunders pointed out today that Daniel Odell McDonald, 19, who was convicted of the murder of his aged grandmother last January, is still in

Red Chinese City Said Suffering 'War Nerves'

HONG KONG (AP) — Chinese travelers report Red China's southern metropolis of Canton is very tense and suffering from a bad case of war nerves.

The travelers from Canton to Hong Kong report Communist authorities are whipping up war fears and urging older residents to move to rural areas for safety.

These travelers said young men are being recruited for military service on the Red Chinese island of Hainan, off the coast of North Viet Nam in the Gulf of Tonkin.

WAR EVACUATION

Some Hong Kong newspapers speculate that a "war preparation evacuation" has begun.

Western intelligence sources here said they had no immediate confirmation of any mass movement of people. They did not discount the possibility that Communist authorities were whipping up war tension in an effort to move some civilians out of crowded Canton, which now has a population estimated at more than 3½ million.

Some Western sources believe it is part of the program to force unproductive industrial workers out of the cities and into agriculture. The Reds have been drumming the need for agricultural workers for several months.

Other sources believe the Reds are using increased war tension, including urging flight to safer areas, as internal propaganda in hopes of securing more cohesion among the populace should war come.

SCORE U.S.

There is also some belief here that the Reds, by seeming to prepare for U.S. strikes against the China mainland, hope to convince the United States that China is about to send troops into the Vietnamese war.

Behind this is the theory that China still hopes to frighten the United States into at least relaxing the air strike pressure it has been putting on North Viet Nam.

White House Salutes Arts

It's even upstaging the President.

Spirited Opposition Persists But Fluoridation Is Winning

DALLAS, May 1 (AP)—It is common in America to find city councils wracked by indecision over whether to add fluoride to the water supply. Pressures on the councilmen reach an emotional level.

But those favoring fluoridation seem to be winning — one third of the population will be drinking fluoridated water by the end of this year.

Fluoride is added to water to reduce tooth cavities. Hereford, Tex., for instance, where the water supply is strong in natural fluoride, calls itself "The town without a toothache."

Opponents maintain that fluoridation encompasses evils ranging from socialized medicine to cancer and sterility. Those church groups opposing medicine fight fluoridation on the ground that it is against their religion.

CALLS HARMLESS
Rejecting the arguments that fluoridation is socialistic are such opponents of socialized medicine as the American Dental Association and the American Medical Association. These groups, along with the U. S. Public Health Service, also declare fluoride in the water is harmless.

Dallas is one major city which has never finally settled the issue. Dr. A. C. Dodson, a practicing dentist and chairman of the Dallas Dental Society Fluoridation Committee, raises these major arguments for fluoride:

1. Poor families which get almost no dental attention badly need the protection of fluoride. Higher income families make certain their children receive fluoride through drops in milk or water or by special vitamin-mineral supplements.

2. The mineral reduces cavities 50 to 70 per cent and is harmless.

NATURAL AMOUNTS
Certain fluorides simply restore what is found in such natural sources as wells — if persons used well water they probably would receive more than the recommended treatment.

4. Not enough young dentists are coming along to care for the nation's dental needs. "Preventive dentistry (fluoridation) is our only hope."

Twenty years have passed since fluoridation was tried first in the United States at Grand Rapids, Mich., and Newburgh, N. Y.

Today, about 48.5 million people are served by artificially fluoridated water systems, the Public Health Service says.

That will be swelled by 11 million this year when the supplies of New York City and Detroit are fluoridated.

Another seven million persons drink well water which has the natural mineral.

MANY USE IT
About 2,800 communities now

add the odorless, colorless, tasteless element to their water, the health service reports, and about 200 towns and cities join the group annually.

Only Los Angeles and Houston do not fluoridate or do not plan to of the 12 largest cities.

Among endorsers of fluoridation are the American Hospital Association, the American Cancer Society, the American Legion, the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce, the AFL-CIO, and hundreds of state and county dental and medical societies.

And yet spirited opposition persists.

Many members of the John Birch Society are against fluoridation, although the society takes no formal stand.

John Rousset of San Marino, Calif., official spokesman for the Birch Society, told The Associated Press that the leadership does encourage members to advocate citywide referendums when fluoridation is proposed.

"It should be done by a vote of the people and not by some bureaucratic or dictatorial decree (city council action)," Rousset said.

City councils can add fluoride under their inherent police powers, although some call for a real-life professional racing car driver, triumphed over all sorts of difficulties before and

Show Pulls Reversal But Draws Interest

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—A happy ending is one thing a television viewer has come to expect.

Therefore the ending of Sunday night's ABC special, "Phil Hill: Assault on Le Mans," came almost as a shock. Phil Hill, our hero for the hour and a real-life professional racing car driver, triumphed over all sorts of difficulties before and during last year's famous sports car race. In the end, he was a loser.

TROUBLES RECORDED
Hill, a three-time Le Mans winner, last year was driving a new, sleek high-powered car — the first American manufacturer's entry in the great French race — and ABC cameras started concentrating on his activities about two days before the start of the run, just in time to record all of his troubles.

The Hill story was a natural for a television special. He is a handsome young man in a romantic and dangerous profession. The background of racing is colorful, the contest is dangerous and exciting.

As one of "The Daring American" series, it would have been perhaps more enlightening if it had fulfilled its promise at the outset to reveal some of the background and life of this daring driver.

As it was, we primarily witnessed his angry impatience with engine trouble and bleak disappointment with the car's failure.

AROUSES INTEREST

If the program did nothing else, it stimulated viewers' interest in this year's Le Mans race next Saturday and Sunday. Hill is scheduled to drive the American car again and ABC expects to cover portions of it live via Early Bird satellite.

The television networks continue to be fascinated by the now familiar film of Astronaut Edward H. White's space walk. NBC reprised it, plus the film of the Russian's exploit — on its "Sunday" program in mid-afternoon. CBS had a half-hour special later in which it matched up White's own description of his adventure with the film. Each time it is rerun, the viewer sees something new and fascinating in it.

Blaze Destroys Longview Hotel

LONGVIEW (AP) — The 86-year-old Moberly Hotel was destroyed by fire early Sunday.

The cause of the fire was not immediately determined.

A Longview businessman, Pat Ferchill, had planned to restore the unoccupied East Texas landmark, but it was recently condemned after one of its walls collapsed.

Firemen said the three-story structure was a mass of flames when they arrived on the scene before dawn.

Ex-Riding Champion Arrested In Slaying

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexican one-time Olympic riding champion General Humberto Mariles was arrested Sunday by authorities here while arriving to see his family after almost a year of fleeing from justice.

Mariles, who is charged with fatally shooting a workman in the local park of Chapultepec, said he was planning to surrender himself to authorities just after seeing his family.

"Please, not tears no crying," he told his wife Alicia Valdez de Mariles and four children (two daughters, two sons), as members of the judicial police grabbed him at the door of his attorney's home.

"It had to happen sooner or later," Mariles told his captors. "I am at your service."

However, he asked permission of Melchor Cardenas, chief of the judicial police, to have a few words with his family, inside the fancy residence of his lawyer, Adolfo Aguilar y Quevedo, in one of Mexico's most exclusive residential sections.

FAMILY Huddles
Permission was granted, and an emotion-laden interview which lasted almost an hour followed under the watching eye of six policemen.

Mariles, who had his 52nd birthday Sunday, looked aged and tired. He wore a riding outfit, complete with half-boots.

"I've come back to Mexico to clear my name and tranquilize my family," he said.

Mariles had been sought by police since August 14, when he fatally wounded a 32-year old stonemason, Jesus Velazquez Mendez, following a minor traffic incident.

The man died nine days later at the Red Cross Hospital.

FLED HOSPITAL
Mariles was detained at the scene of the shooting, but he escaped shortly afterwards through the window of a bathroom at the hospital where he was taken along with the wounded man.

After nine months of fruitless police search, Mariles appeared last week in Edinburg, Tex., where he granted an exclusive interview to the Edinburg Review.

Mariles' lawyer said Saturday he expected the general to surrender himself to police in a day or two, "or perhaps within hours."

Retired Brigadier-General Mariles won a gold medal in the 1948 Olympic games in London and the nations' trophy, riding on his famed one-eyed horse "Arete."

By a strange coincidence, the fatal incident with Velazquez Mendez took place exactly 18 years later on the date on which he won his Olympic championship in London.

If convicted, Mariles could face a jail sentence ranging from 8 to 20 years.

Barriers Loom For Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — After more than six months of fairly smooth sailing, Congress is heading into shoal-infested waters that may wreck its plans to adjourn by Labor Day.

Voting rights, union shops, foreign aid, health care for the elderly, minimum wages, closing of some military bases, legislative reapportionment, excise taxes, the anti-poverty program and pay raises for military and civilian personnel are among the snags that lie ahead.

Not even one of the dozen annual appropriation bills to finance the government for the fiscal year starting July 1 has been sent to the President, although most of them have cleared the House.

FALL SESSION?

Although publicly voicing confidence that all the necessary legislation can be disposed of by Labor Day, some congressional leaders already are considering a summer recess followed by a fall session. Such a recess is a distinct possibility for the House, which is legislatively in better shape than the Senate.

Two of the major pending bills are on the Senate calendar this week. They are the foreign aid authorization bill and a measure which would cut or repeal emergency excise taxes. Both have passed the House, but Senate changes will require further House action.

Only one major bill is on the House schedule this week. It calls for creation of a Cabinet-level department of housing and urban development.

VOTING RIGHTS
The voting rights bill passed by the Senate after a curtailed filibuster has been approved with major changes by the probably will be held up several more weeks in the House Rules Committee and is not expected to reach the floor before next month. The threat of another filibuster confronts it when it goes back to the Senate.

House Judiciary Committee. It

A bill to prohibit state laws against union shops has been approved by the House Labor Committee but has not yet been considered by the Senate. It is being held up in the House pending action on separate legislation to protect Negroes' job rights. The whole subject may be dropped until next year.

The health care bill, passed by the House more than two months ago, is bogged down in the Senate Finance Committee.

The administration's bill to broaden application of the minimum-wage law is in the hearing stage in the House Labor Committee.

PAY RAISES
Pay raises for military and civilian personnel are in the hearing stage in the House Armed Services and Civil Service committees.

State legislature reapportionment measures stemming from the Supreme Court's one man-one vote ruling are progressing slowly in the Senate and House Judiciary committees.

Has Marina Now Found Happiness After Tragedies?

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The night club operator killed her husband. But Marina never lost faith in America, her adopted country. And recently she may have found happiness. Marina was married week before last to Kenneth J. Porter, an electronics technician, after a whirlwind courtship. Porter is a drag racer and a fishing and boating enthusiast for whom his neighbors and fellow workers have high praise. On the following Sunday, a low

C-City Man Killed In Sunday Night Collision

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Henry C. Barron, 33, employee of Todd Aaron Drilling Co. Midland, who lived on Route 2, was killed in a two-car collision at 8:30 p.m. Sunday. The accident occurred three miles northwest of Silver on State Highway 208. Barron was driving alone in a 1956 model car and was returning to Colorado City from San Angelo when the accident occurred. Gerald Baker, highway patrolman who investigated, said Barron's car was apparently on the wrong side of the highway when his car, and a 1965 model vehicle driven by John Shepard 20, of Richardson, collided. Shepard and a passenger, Mike Teubner 18, of Dallas, were taken to Rood Memorial Hospital for treatment. Shepard had a fair night, according to hospital attendants. Teubner was not admitted to the hospital. The two young men were employees of Shell Oil Co. and were en route to Silver. Barron was born Jan. 11, 1912 at Gorman. He was married to Helen Martin in San Angelo in 1951. The couple had moved to Colorado City from Sterling City four months ago. They had previously lived in San Angelo. He was a member of the Gorman Baptist Church. Services are pending at Kiker and Son Funeral Home. Survivors include the widow; two daughters, Carolyn 12, and Letha Jean, 2, both of the home; two brothers, J. E. Barron, Coahoma, Eldon Barron, Big Spring; three sisters, Mrs. H. L. Nunn and Mrs. Allene Gregg, both of Coahoma, and Mrs. Meryle Swope of Dallas.

Couple Buys Whole Village

MENLO PARK, Calif. (AP) — In the sagebrush and jack-rabbit country of lonely northeastern Nevada, Kenneth Krueger, a train-weary San Francisco Bay area commuter, found the little town of Currie—population 50—for sale. It was just what he and his wife Jeannette had been looking for. So they bought it with their life savings of $85,000. Tuesday, Krueger, 45, and his wife will pull up stakes at their apartment here and point their station wagon east for Currie. The ex-suburbanites are assured of a cordial reception. Krueger, until last week motor vehicle inspector for Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co. in San Francisco, automatically will become the town mayor, sheriff, fire chief, ranger, assessor and landlord. RUNS STORES That's because he not only bought the town's 75 acres but its few houses and businesses as well. Krueger and his wife will run the general store, the service station, a bar and a trailer park. Until 1900 Currie was a railroad for cattle and sheep growers. Now the livestock goes to market in trucks but Currie still caters to hunters and fishermen. It lies at the foot of the towering Goshute and Ruby mountains whose slopes abound in elk and deer and whose streams tumble with trout. A blink of the eye and you're past it on U.S. 93, 76 miles north of Ely. The Kruegers don't know exactly when they got the yen to flee suburbia. But, Krueger says, "five years ago, on our vacations, we began probing all the desolate areas of California. We were hunting for a spot where, if you wanted to make it as such, you could practically live the year 1859 all over again." For various reasons the land they saw in California didn't appeal.

Boy Flood Survivor Gives Grim Account

SANDERSON, Tex. (AP) — "I grabbed a tree, but there was a snake on it and I let go. I went under 5 times, maybe 10 times. I thought I was going to die." This was the grim story of Michael Johnson, 12, as he told of his brush with death in the flash flood that temporarily isolated this southwest Texas community Friday. The slender, blond youth, speaking from a hospital bed at Ft. Stockton, 65 miles north of here, said: "We were on the roof of this motel when it started cracking all to pieces. Mother said, 'Michael, get hold of Paul.' I tried to grab my brother but he was too far away..."

Donates To Library Fund

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The Colorado City Business and Professional Women's Club has made a donation of $2,000 toward a new library building, according to Mrs. George Witten, chairman of the Library board. Plans for a new library building were recently announced by the Commissioners Court of Mitchell County, which supports the library, operated as a club project by the County Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Ruth Dozier is head librarian. Mitchell County will supply approximately $35,000 toward the building, and hopes to secure matching funds from federal sources. Mrs. Witten says that about $40,000 must be in sight before applying for the federal grant, and the B&PW donation will leave about $3,000 which the library board hopes will come in donations by other clubs and individuals. Mrs. J. L. Jones, spokesman for the B&PW, said that the club has been working and investing its money since 1941 with the thought of making a substantial donation toward some civic project. Mrs. Jones said that most of the money was earned selling programs, candy, operating concessions, rummage sales, and waiting on tables at Civic House.

Congress Urged To End Cotton Price Supports

WASHINGTON — Congress was urged to end cotton price supports and acreage allotments quickly and compensate cotton farmers $1.8 billion. The proposal was made by spokesmen for the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, who said that it would be a bargain for U.S. taxpayers and put cotton farming on a sound economic basis as well. Testifying for the Chamber before the House agriculture committee were W. B. Camp, a cotton farmer, who is president of W. B. Camp & Sons, Bakersfield, Calif., and Walter B. Garver, manager of the chamber's agriculture department. Despite having spent many billions of dollars, and giving promise of spending many billions more, the cotton program is "close to disaster," Camp and Garver said. Artificially high price supports are continuing to stimulate vast overproduction. The chamber's proposal would compensate farmers for losses caused by removal of the price supports and would let producers, themselves, tailor production to market demands, they said. The one-shot compensation would be in the form of purchase of acreage allotments, the spokesmen said. The price per allotment suggested was 24 cents for each pound of cotton the allotment normally yielded. Thus, a farmer who normally grew 10,000 pounds of cotton a year would get $2,400. In addition, Camp and Garver proposed that the government pay extra compensation to farmers who quit cotton farming altogether. This compensation would be based on the same formula proposed for allotment purchases. They said the compensation to cotton farmers is justified on the grounds that artificially high price supports have given cotton farms an artificially high value, which would be lost with removal of supports. They also said the program will encourage the speedy retirement from cotton of those too small or too ill-equipped to survive in the competitive production of upland cotton.

Red Camps' Rift Persists; Meet Asked

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Communist party appears to be making a new drive for a showdown meeting on the split with Peking. The Chinese Reds have unleashed a new attack on the Kremlin's leadership. Pravda, the Soviet party paper, published Sunday a resolution adopted last month by the pro-Soviet Portuguese Communist party calling for a world Communist party conference to discuss the dispute. Peking, which has opposed such a meeting, charged in a broadcast that the new Soviet leaders were being more covert and cunning than Nikita Khrushchev in trying to pervert communism. The Russians also were accused of being "busy in Washington, London and Paris" trying to initiate peace negotiations on Viet Nam "in a painstaking effort to find a way out for the U.S. aggressors." Recent statements from the Soviet Union and members of the Soviet bloc have raised speculation that the Kremlin might place Viet Nam high on the agenda of an international Communist meeting.

You're missing a lot when you own a Volkswagen.

A VW has fewer parts than other cars because it needs fewer parts. There's no bulky drive shaft to transfer engine power to the rear wheels. Our car's engine is in back to start with land to maintain traction with. That's why it doesn't need a drive shaft. And it doesn't need a radiator, or a water pump, or hoses. Because the engine's cooled with air, not water. (When you drive your first VW, you may miss putting in antifreeze, rust inhibitors, and whatnot. But you'll soon get used to it.) The stuff a Volkswagen doesn't use, it doesn't have to haul land waste gas on. Which is one reason it averages 32 miles per gallon of regular. And the parts you don't buy, you'll never repair. So you can't waste money on that. Now you know why you can drive a VW for years and years with a lot of parts missing. And never miss them.

Violence Toll Dips In State

By The Associated Press

The violent death toll in Texas totaled 23 over the weekend—far below the count of other recent weekends.

Only 11 deaths were attributed to traffic mishaps in the Associated Press tabulation which started at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

Henry C. Barron of Colorado City was killed Sunday in a two-car collision 3 miles northwest of Silver on Highway 208. One other man was injured.

Constable George Hines, 55, was shot to death Sunday night outside of a tavern at Charlotte, 35 miles south of San Antonio.

Officers arrested a 35-year-old Latin-American man and his wife two hours later at Cotulla in connection with the slaying of Leonard Moczygemba, 22, of San Antonio.

San Antonio was shot to death Sunday night in a Schertz residence. Officers held a 16-year-old youth for questioning.

Roy James Hodge, 23, of Greenville was killed Saturday when his car went out of control on a highway in the Dallas suburb of Garland.

CAR OVERTURNS
George Arthur Bray, 34, of Longview was killed Saturday when his car overturned near Kilgore.

Mrs. Willie Levrett of Ames and one-year-old Raymond Earl Cadore of Port Neches were killed in a one-car accident Friday in Liberty. Three others were injured.

Armando R. Garcia, about 24, of Corpus Christi was killed Saturday when his parachute failed to open fully after he jumped from a rented plane near Petrolia in an attempt to skydive.

Barbara Jane Nicholson, 24, of Garland was fatally injured Saturday when her small car left the road and crashed in the Dallas suburb of Farmers Branch. Olegario Garcia Valdez, 29, was stabbed to death during a fight at a San Antonio tavern Friday night.

FATALLY SHOT
Willie Lee, 41, of Fort Worth was fatally shot Saturday in a bar on Fort Worth's south side. Police are seeking a man.

A small Dallas boy drowned Saturday night in a boating accident on Lake Tawakoni in North Central Texas. He was Donald Riley, 4½-year-old son of Jody Trammell of Dallas.

A Greenville man, Martin M. Fanning, died Sunday in a two-car accident on the edge of Greenville, in North Central Texas. He was riding alone.

Three other persons in the second car escaped with minor injuries.

A New Braunfels man, 22-year-old Nicholas Villanueva, died early Sunday in a two-car collision a mile north of New Braunfels on a county road.

A 16-year-old boy, Santos Diaz, drowned Sunday in a stock tank on a farm near Peris, south of Dallas. Investigators said the youth was walking with a companion and his mother when he slipped and fell into the pond.

CAR ACCIDENT
An 18-year-old Southeast Texas construction worker, William Steven Bryan, died in a Woodville hospital Sunday morning of injuries suffered in a one-car accident 4.8 miles east of Chester in Tyler County.

A 35-year-old Port Arthur construction worker died Saturday night in a pickup truck accident within the Port Arthur city limits. He was Lawrence Wiltz.

Houston police have arrested a suspect in the shooting death Saturday of 29-year-old Tom Varela. Investigators said the Houston man was shot three times as he was walking along a street.

A 29-year-old Houston man, Jerry Simpson, died Sunday in an early morning fire in his apartment. Firemen said the fire may have started from a cigarette.

B. T. Atkins, 30, of Houston, was shot to death Saturday night and his wife, Mrs. Mittie Lee Atkins, 27, was charged with murder. The incident apparently stemmed from an argument about spanking one of their two children.

FOUND HANGED
A 12-year-old Houston boy, Kirby Jerome Blanc, apparently hanged himself Saturday while putting various knots in a rope. His mother, Mrs. J. Pete Blanc, told officers she found her son's body hanging from a closet doorknob in his room.

Ted Morgan, 13, of Fort Worth was killed Sunday in a car-truck collision in northwest Tarrant County. Officers said the youth was riding on the front fender of a pickup truck when it collided with a car.

Jefferson Forrest Gregory Jr., 14, of Houston, drowned in a community swimming pool Sunday. He was the son of the regional director of the American General Life Insurance Co. at Houston.

Here's Day For Modern Cowboy

STAMFORD, Tex. (AP) — The brown-and-white calf bawled in terror as the S and M branding irons seared its hide.

Then in less than a minute the second S brand was applied: the calf's left ear sliced; the budding horns snipped off; the wounds cauterized and the calf gelded.

Then the cowboys stepped away, a lever was released, and the calf scrambled away to the safety of the herd of anxious mother cows looking on, wide-eyed.

MODERN SPREAD
It was mid-morning of a chilly day in January — branding time on the S. M. Swenson Throckmorton ranch, one of the most modern of the great "spreads" in Texas.

The cowboy crew had been up since 5:30 a.m. After a big breakfast, they had trucked their horses about five miles to the branding pens, and started rounding up the grazing cows and calves. The men wore sheepskin or leather jackets, levis, dirty boots with spurs, and battered Western hats.

The roundup had been difficult. Four times the nervous herd broke out of control as the shouting, circling horsemen drove them toward the open gate of the branding corral.

Finally, urged on by the shrill "hyahh" cries of the cowboys, the herd had poured through the gate on the fifth try and the job begun of branding and de-horning.

It was a typical day for the men on the Swenson ranches, which supply some 10,000 yearlings and calves each year to cattlemen in the Midwest corn belt, for fattening before slaughter.

The vast Swenson ranches, 165 miles west of Fort Worth, are rich in the traditions of the old West — as well as in oil. Although modern cowboys don't pack six-shooters, many still "roll their own" from Bull Durham tobacco, and ride the range as lustily as ever.

YOUNG, STRONG
The average age of the single men on the SMS ranches is 18. Most are rawboned, strong fellows who grew up in the ranch country and feel hemmed-in and nervous unless they're out under the open sky.

They still sleep in the time-honored bunkhouse, although now the building is a clean, white-washed concrete block building with a television set in the reading room and a shower in the bath.

The cowboys still troop to the cookhouse to eat fried steak and sourdough biscuits, but now the building is spotless, decorated with flowers, with pictures on the walls.

And while today's cowboy may speed to town in a high-powered car on weekends, he is in the saddle from sunrise to sunset on the ranch, and treats his horse almost as well as he treats himself.

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Monday, June 14, 1965 5-A

Speaker Has Wide Support

AUSTIN (AP)—Speaker Ben Barnes surprised nearly everyone with his deft management of the Texas House.

He spoke softly, listened intently, and maintained an open door policy for all members. But he proved a firm, unyielding maneuverer of Gov. Connally's program.

Amazingly, he emerged from the legislature unscathed by personal privilege attacks and unchallenged in his leadership. Colleagues who would have supported another candidate in a contested speaker's race praised Barnes' ability and his fairness.

FACED CONFLICTS
"He's the workingest speaker I've ever seen," said Longview Rep. John Allen. "He was on top of every major bill in every trouble spot."

"He has not made any pretense about being a liberal or giving liberal programs any assistance," said Rep. Carl Parker of Port Arthur. "But he has not been unfair or underhanded in any of his opposition to liberal moves. As far as I'm personally concerned, he has bent over backwards to be fair."

For Barnes, 26, the session was "one of the most constructive in the history of Texas—certainly this century."

The tall, husky blond speaker from DeLeon talks with assurance yet in a conflicting off-hand way, he plays down his own role in the session's success.

"The issues were more important than the individual," he said. "Connally provided good leadership—but you have to look at his program. The majority of it was good, and the legislature would have bought it regardless who had been speaker."

Not everyone would agree. Now that Barnes has proved his mettle in getting the maximum work out of 149 legislators, with a minimum of scalpings, it's easy to scoff at the beginning-session predictions.

that Barnes couldn't keep the members in line and that a free-for-all would result.

MARKED COUP
His capture of the speaker's post in the three frantic days after Byron Tunnell resigned marked a political coup of the first order.

Other candidates were more experienced, perhaps better liked than Barnes. But he shored up the pledges he'd collected for the 1967 speaker's race and in a whirlwind of corraling, rounded up the hold-outs.

The sudden switch propelled Barnes into office with few commitments collected by previous speakers during their normal two years of campaigning. It also put him in the speaker's chair with no program outlined in his mind and with a mammoth job of organizing ahead.

He gathered a team of young, experienced men.

His organization never equalled that of Tunnell's for its tightness or effectiveness, but he supplemented it with his own personal contacts.

"He was more cordial, more forgiving, and more understanding than Byron," said Grand Saline Rep. Bill Hollowell, a frequent critic of Connally. "Ben always considered the human element, and for anyone who's lived no longer than he, this is a remarkable characteristic."

Hollowell said never before had a speaker and a governor been so close, and he felt that the governor's program went through on greased skids.

"WAS FAIR"
"But Barnes allowed those of us who opposed the governor's program to have full debate. I think he's been fair. He's not a vindictive person, and on the whole his term as speaker has been successful," Hollowell said.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South vulnerable you hold:

♠A109642 ♥K3 ♦K3 ♣J103
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
Pass Pass 1 ♠ Pass

What is your response?

A.—While normally we would give partner a little leeway when he has opened in the third seat, in this instance it might be putting too much pressure on him to merely jump in spades, so we would gamble it out by leaping right to game.

Q. 2—Both sides vulnerable and as South you hold:

♠AK104 ♥1086542 ♦A5 ♣A
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♥ Pass 2 ♠ Pass
2 ♥ Pass 3 ♠ Pass
3 ♠ Pass 4 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Five clubs. While partner has not shown outstanding strength, he is to be relied on for a seven card suit. Your weakness in hearts should not be a deterrent, for partner is marked with a singleton at most. With two of the suit he should have returned to hearts after the three spade bid.

Q. 3—As South vulnerable you hold:

♠A953 ♥8 ♦K1094 ♣QJ73
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ 1 ♠
2 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Three spades, a cue bid suggesting slam possibilities. Your hand is worth 14 points in support of clubs and partner has opened and jumped. You will support clubs on the next round and the extent of your raise will depend on partner's next bid.

Q. 4—Neither side vulnerable, and as South you hold:

♠A43 ♥AK62 ♦642 ♣853
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
Pass ♠ Pass 1 ♥ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—One heart. No thought should be given to a jump bid. The old fashioned player would undergo a quick change in blood pressure at the thought of having passed three honor tricks. In point of fact this hand is worth only 11 points and, if partner passes one heart, no game will be lost.

Q. 5—Neither side vulnerable, and as South you hold:

♠A62 ♥A9754 ♦J3 ♣A42
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
Pass Pass 1 ♥ Pass
3 ♥ Pass 3 NT Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. You have a 5-3-3-2 distribution, one of the best for no trump, and with values in all suits you should prefer to play for nine tricks.

Q. 6—East-West is vulnerable, and as South you hold:

♠K98742 ♦852 ♣Q76
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
3 ♠ Pass 4 ♥ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. Partner presumably heard you bid three spades, announcing that your hand is worthless in anything else. If he bids four hearts it is in the belief that he expects to make the contract in his own hand. Don't be a nursemaid.

Q. 7—Both sides vulnerable, and as South you hold:

♠A652 ♥KJ987 ♦A6 ♣A10
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♥ Pass 2 ♥ Pass
2 NT Pass 4 ♥ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Our preference is for six hearts. It is true that we have only 16 points in high cards, but valued at hearts our hand is worth three more points after North supports the suit, one for each of the doubletons and one for the fifth card of the supported heart suit.

Q. 8—You are South, vulnerable, and you hold:

♠AJ10 ♥K97642 ♣AK83
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♥ 2 ♥ Double Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. It is true that we are normally reluctant to leave in a low level double when void of the adverse suit. In this case, however, we have more than enough defensive values to justify our opening bid, and it is very probable that partner is short in hearts when he chooses to double a nonvulnerable opponent.

Puzzle of Saturday, June 12, Solved

Genocide Pact Passage Urged

DALLAS (AP) — The United States can scarcely make accusations about human rights violations by other nations, a B'nai B'rith official says, when it has not ratified the genocide convention and other international treaties dealing with human rights.

Dr. William Korey, director of the Department of Intercultural Affairs for the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, spoke to the group's District 7 convention, which runs through Tuesday in Dallas.

"Since this is international co-operation year, which the United States is officially supporting," he said, "it would be highly appropriate now for the Senate to raise the two-thirds vote necessary for ratification of the genocide treaty."

Korey also said this country is blocking establishment of human rights legislation on an international scale by allowing the treaty "to collect dust on an out-of-the-way shelf for the past 15 years."

Prosecution Mapped In Fatal Holdup

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — A U.S. District Court judge was expected to appoint an attorney today for Duane Pope, who is accused of killing three persons in a bank robbery at Big Springs, Neb.

Judge John W. Oliver had been asked to name J. Whitfield Moody, a former assistant U.S. attorney, to represent Pope as long as the 22-year-old man remains in Missouri. Moody is public defender of the Jackson County Legal Aid Committee.

The recommendation was made by F. Russell Millin, U.S. attorney for Western Missouri.

Pope, football co-captain who graduated May 30 from McPherson (Kan.) College, is being held under $100,000 bond pending a preliminary hearing June 25 on a federal charge of bank robbery and shooting a staff member.

MAP PROSECUTION
Robert Richards, attorney for Deuel County, Neb., was conferring today with Theodore Richling, U.S. attorney in Omaha, to decide whether the federal government or the state of Nebraska shall prosecute Pope.

Richling said Pope could be tried in both states and federal courts without double jeopardy. The death penalty could be sought in both courts.

Pope, who surrendered to Kansas City police Friday, was visited in jail Saturday by his parents; a brother, Dennis, 19, and his sister, Ello, 14, who had driven from their home near Roxbury, Kan. The Papes, with tear-filled eyes, declined comment after the meeting.

Dr. D. W. Bittinger, McPherson College president, tried to see Pope during the weekend, but was denied admittance.

PHONED PREXY
It was Dr. Bittinger who had advised Pope to surrender when the young man telephoned him Friday from a Kansas City hotel room.

Baptist Worker Services Tuesday

FORT WORTH (AP) — Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Tuesday for Dr. Albert Venting, 62, a Southern Baptist worker for 65 years, who died Sunday at his home.

Dr. Venting held pastorates in Iowa, Ohio and Texas, and taught at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary 30 years. He founded the Department of Music at Baylor in 1952. Dr. Venting also wrote seven books on Christian theology and church music.

Racial Job Bias Ban Starts July 2

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sweeping new federal law designed to eliminate racial discrimination on the job begins going into effect July 2, and eventually will cover most of the nation's employers, labor unions and employment agencies.

It is the equal employment opportunity section—Title VII—of the 1964 Civil Rights Act. It forbids employment discrimination based on "race, color, religion, sex, or national origin."

Who is subject to the law? In the first year, employers with 100 or more workers are covered. The figure drops to 75 in the second year, 50 in the third and finally to 25 in 1968.

The same formula applies to labor organizations with more than 100, then 75, then 50 and finally 25 members.

Employment agencies are covered regardless of size. Is anyone exempt from the law?

The biggest exemption under employers is the U.S. government, but the law says "it shall be the policy of the United States to insure equal employment opportunities for federal employees without discrimination."

State governments and their political subdivisions also are exempt.

Polio Victim Walks Again

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Nancy Malinosky, 21, a polio victim confined to a wheelchair for 15 years, started practicing walking last January behind locked doors. Only a few close friends who helped her knew about it.

"My parents have done so much for me. I wanted to do it for them," she said. Her parents weren't told, she said, because she didn't want to build up their hopes.

Nancy's determination paid off in a big way Sunday.

She walked across the stage like the other 396 members of the Baldwin - Wallace College graduating class to get her diploma.

"The stage is 33 feet wide — we measured it last February," said Nancy. "Last Tuesday I practiced on the stage. It was sort of uneven, but I was sure I could do it."

Just to be on the safe side, she got word to Baldwin-Wallace President Alfred B. Bonds Jr. so that "if I got to him and he saw that I was shaky he would escort me the rest of the way."

When her name was called as the top student in her class, Nancy rose and walked with measured steps.

"I was too scared to remember much about it," she said later, but Dr. Bonds did meet her half way across and helped her the rest of the way.

Then, while she rested on Dr. Bonds' arms, the audience gave her a five-minute standing ovation.

Her mother, Mrs. Raymond Malinosky of Geneva, Ohio, cried for joy.

"It was a real gift for us," said Mrs. Malinosky.

White Rule In Rhodesia Faces Airing

LONDON (AP) — Leaders of British Commonwealth countries in Africa and Asia want the conference of Commonwealth prime ministers in London this week to disassociate the group from U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

African leaders are also seeking a showdown with Britain's Labor government on continued white rule in Rhodesia. They make no secret of their disappointment that the Laborites haven't taken stronger measures to bring democracy to Rhodesia.

Although 14 of the 21 Commonwealth members are feuding or fighting among themselves or with other countries, the basic issues before the conference opening Thursday are Rhodesia and the support which the British, Australian and New Zealand governments are giving the United States in Viet Nam.

Twelve of the 21 delegates are reported demanding a strong conference statement making clear that the Commonwealth as a whole does not back the U.S. policy.

Prime Minister Kenneth Kaunda of Zambia told newsmen on his arrival that the people of Viet Nam should solve their own problems, a clear implication that U.S. troops should get out. Of the U.S. role in Viet Nam, he said, "We are unhappy about that."

So are Indian tribes and "bona fide" private membership clubs.

What constitutes discrimination under the law?

Generally, any action based on five points—race, color, religion, sex or national origin—that hurts an individual in his job, his attempt to get a job, his pay, working conditions, or privileges of employment.

An employer would violate the law if he fired or refused to hire; discriminated in pay, working conditions or job privileges; or segregated, limited or classified employees, on the basis of any of the five points.

A labor union would break the law if it barred membership, expelled a member, segregated its members, refused to refer an individual for a job, or caused an employer to discriminate, on the basis of any of the five points.

An employment agency would violate the law if it failed or refused to refer an individual for a job, or discriminated in any other way, on the basis of any of the five points.

It also is illegal for any employer, labor organization or employment agency to publish any job advertisement that indicates preference based on race, color, religion, sex or national origin. Government lawyers say a newspaper which printed such an advertisement would not be held responsible.

FEW EXCEPTIONS

There are a few exceptions to the ban on discrimination. It is not unlawful to hire on the basis of religion, sex or national origin if they are a "bona fide" qualification for the job.

Educational institutions are exempt in employment connected with their educational activities. Religious groups can hire members of their particular faith without violating the law.

The law also specifically exempts the hiring of Indians on or near a federal Indian reservation.

The protection for Indians follows general congressional policy of trying to help reservation Indians, who are wards of the federal government.

The law also sanctions job promotion based on a seniority or merit system, or hiring on the basis of an ability test, provided they are not used to mask discrimination. It also preserves veterans preference rights.

What are the penalties for violation of the law? If conciliation fails, a complainant can file a civil suit in any federal court. The court can issue an injunction against any discriminatory practice, and can order the hiring or reinstatement of an individual with or without back pay.

The court can provide an attorney for the complainant and free him of all court costs.

BRING PENALTY

Violation of a court order could, as in other cases, bring a contempt of court fine or jail sentence.

The law also provides a $100 fine for any employer, labor union or employment agency that "willfully" refuses to post in a conspicuous place a summary of the law to be prepared by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

Criminal penalties up to $10,000 fine or 10 years in prison are provided for forcibly resisting the commission or any of its agents.

Rain Soaks U.S. Areas

By The Associated Press

Heavy rain continued soaking parts of the South and Midwest today while the Northeast experienced another form of discomfort — unseasonably low temperatures.

Meridian, Miss., reported 1.57 inches of rain in six hours ending at 1 a.m. Rich Hill, in west-central Missouri, was doused with a 2.2-inch downpour in 45 minutes Sunday night.

While rain was falling in areas from South Dakota to the East Coast, a severe hail storm struck Broadus in southeastern Montana, inflicting damage estimated at $100,000.

Crops in surrounding areas were beaten to the ground. Early morning temperatures ranged from 34 at Marquette County Airport, Mich., to 86 at Needles, Calif.

Rice Milling Profit Key Pointed Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says the nation's rice milling industry could increase returns to growers and lower prices if it adopted more efficient labor methods. A department study said the total rice milling costs could possibly be reduced by about 10 cents per hundred.

DEAR ABBY

Matter Of Make-Up

DEAR ABBY: I am 22 and make-up. Don doesn't want me. Don is 26. We've been dating for nearly two years. I am no natural beauty and I'm sure it's love. There and I NEED make-up. I feel is only one thing we have ever positively naked without it. I fought about, and that is my don't wear a lot compared to most girls. I use a foundation base, just a hint of rouge and a tiny bit of blue eye shadow. Being a dishwasher blonde, my eyebrows and eyelashes are practically invisible, so I need a touch of eyebrow pencil and mascara. I use an eye liner, but that is considered fashionable these days. The lipstick I use is so pale it can hardly be noticed.

Everyone else thinks I look great. Last Saturday night Don told me I looked like a "..." (If I used the word, this would never get in the paper.) We had a terrible fight over it and I asked him to take me home. We haven't spoken since. Abby, I do love Don. He would make a wonderful husband if it weren't for this thing he has against my using cosmetics. What do you suggest I do? DEPRESSED: Kiss and make up. But in the future, "make up" more subtly.

DEAR ABBY: I was a widow for 16 years. I met a man and married him before I knew very much of his ways. I have worn pants around the house and sometimes to work because they are comfortable and convenient. He never objected to my wearing pants until after we were married. Now he is making a big thing about it. I like to do my housework and marketing in pants and always have. When my husband sees me in pants, he acts like a madman and says he won't look at me until I put on a dress. He says I look ridiculous in pants. Abby, I am 52 years old, weigh 140 pounds and am 5'7". I am not fat and I don't wear tight pants. We have had some pretty bad times over this and have almost separated twice because of it. I think if he really loved me he would let me wear pants. He says if I really loved him, I'd wear dresses. I would like your advice. LIKES PANTS: DEAR LIKES: It is not unusual for a man to want to be the only one in his family to wear the pants. Let him. It's a small sacrifice to keep the peace.

DEAR ABBY: So the father of girls is complaining. Ha! I have a husband, 3 sons and my brother living here. I'm the only woman in the house and with all the fighting, wrestling and arguing the place is like a madhouse. I can't put my car in the garage because they are always building something in there that never gets finished. I can't get in the bathroom because one of the men is always taking a shower, shaving or polishing his shoes. There is no room for my soiled laundry because of all the greasy clothes they leave behind after trying to fix somebody's car. I can't find a place to sit down because of the tools, TV and radio parts lying around. I can choke on their cologne. I iron 15 to 20 pairs of trousers a week and too many shirts to count. If I manage to live through it until the boys are married, they will probably bring their wives here to live. I'll trade places with "Father of Girls" any day. HAD IT

Columnist Hits Wilson For Honoring Beatles

LONDON: (AP) — A London columnist sharply criticized Prime Minister Harold Wilson today for making the Beatles members of the Order of the British Empire.

Bernard Levin wrote in the Daily Mail that Wilson's action "sets the state's most formal stamp of approval on the mindless ephemeral rubbish which the Beatles' music is."

In her annual birthday honors list last week, Queen Elizabeth II made the Beatles — John Lennon, Paul McCartney, George Harrison and Ringo Starr — members of the order for their contributions to the nation. They, along with 1,800 others named in the honors list, were nominated by the prime minister.

Saying he had nothing against the Beatles personally, Levin wrote:

"They are in no way different from the hundreds of entertainers who have momentarily come to the fore in recent years, have howled or capered for a season or two, boosted by salesmen and managers and publicity agents and the newspapers, and have then vanished, as these will when a new fashion in rubbish arises, into total obscurity."

"Our age is not declining because it likes the Beatles; but it declines because it is declining. It likes James Bond for the same reason, and frozen food, and killing itself in cars."

Austin Banker, Pal Of LBJ, Named Envoy

AUSTIN (AP) — Austin banker and attorney Edward A. Clark, a personal friend of President Johnson for 30 years and a powerhouse in Texas politics, has been nominated as ambassador to Australia.

Press Secretary George Reedy said the appointment was one of few in which a career foreign service officer was not promoted to an ambassadorship.

Clark will be 59 next month and still clings to a deceptively folksy East Texas accent. He has a quick wit, likes to spin stories, and dresses flamboyantly when he chooses.

His first job in Austin as a fledgling lawyer brought him about $330 a month. His worth now is measured in millions.

He is chairman of the board of Austin's Capital National Bank, with published reports listing his personal investment in the bank at about $1.1 million.

The law firm in which he is senior partner — Clark, Thomas, Harris, Denius and Winters — has a long association with Johnson.

FINANCIAL WHEEL
In political circles, Clark is referred to as the most powerful financial wheel in the Democratic party.

The Clarks and Johnsons met in the early 1930s, when Clark was head assistant to Gov. James Allred and Johnson was state director of the National Youth Administration. In 1937, Allred named Clark secretary of state.

The friendship and business connections developed through the years.

The families visit frequently and Johnson is the godfather of 8-year-old Margaret Wynn, Clark's granddaughter from Greenville, Miss.

Clark was one of the attorneys defending Johnson in 1948 after a contested runoff election for a U.S. Senate seat, when Johnson beat former Gov. Coke Stevenson by 87 votes.

He returned to court in 1960 to obtain the right for Johnson to appear on the Democratic ballot as a candidate both for the Senate and vice president.

One of Clark's law partners, Donald Thomas, has served as Johnson's personal attorney and also is attorney of record for KTBC Radio-Television, owned by Mrs. Johnson. Thomas also is corporate secretary and director of the former LBJ Co., changed after Johnson became president into the Texas Broadcasting Co.

Maritime Strike Deadline Nearing

NEW YORK (AP) — Federal mediators continue efforts today to avert a possible maritime strike Tuesday midnight.

Some shipping lines have been taking precautions against the threatened tieup.

The liner United States, flagship of the United States Lines, has been rescheduled to sail at 11 o'clock tonight instead of noon Tuesday.

Talks between the AFL-CIO Marine Engineers Beneficial Association and the American Merchant Marine Institute, which represents 12 shipping lines, ended Sunday night without agreement on a new contract.

Federal mediator Robert H. Moore said the talks had "not gone well" and that no further talks were scheduled.

WILL TRY

He said "we're always hopeful" when a newsmen asked about the possibility of a strike.

MEBA President Jesse Calhoun said, "We're not optimistic, but we're ready to negotiate up to the deadline."

Calhoun's union, composed of licensed engineer officers, has threatened to strike at midnight Tuesday when its contract with the institute expires.

A strike would affect immediately 187 ships operated by the 12 institute lines. It could spread to ships operated by companies that are not represented by the institute but which traditionally follow the pattern set by its agreements.

MEBA and another AFL-CIO union of officers — the International Organization of Masters, Mates and Pilots — have held out against 60-day contract extensions agreed to by four other maritime unions. Each of the officers unions represent about 10,000 men.

RESUMES TODAY

Negotiations between the masters' union and the American Maritime Association, which represents a number of shipping lines, resume today. No announcements was made on Sunday's negotiations.

The contract of the masters' union expires tomorrow midnight along with others.

Present wages for members of the engineers union range from $557 monthly for a third engineer to $1,191 for a chief engineer.

The union, in its package proposal, asked that all economic benefits of the new pact fall within the policy recommendations of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, "namely 3.2 per cent of employment costs of licensed engineers for each year of the contract."

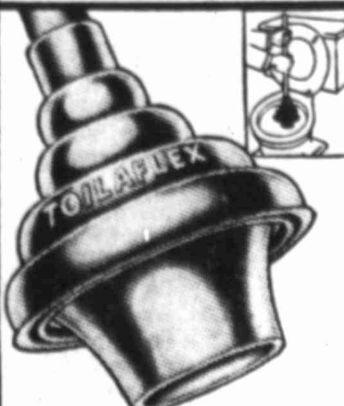

Management negotiators calculated this would involve a 26 per cent boost since it was based on pensions, wages and other employment costs. They had offered a 7.5 per cent increase, based on wages, over four years.

Present pay scales of the masters union were not available.

Don't Forget The Source

Seldom have prospects for a good crop of cotton and feed been as excellent for this time of the year as they are now.

Most of the county has cotton up to good stands, and virtually all has ample moisture for several weeks. Some areas have accumulated nearly enough to make a crop.

The time for getting a crop started also is ideal, so we are off and running.

Toward the end of April, however, nearly everyone was looking down his nose. There had been practically no moisture at all, and the outlook was worse than bleak. Fields were ripe to blow, and pastures were beginning to be as barren as a concrete floor.

All that is changed now. Fields are going like magic and pastures suddenly are green with grass that seemed to have been gone forever.

It is well to remember the source of all this bounty and to give thanks for it, and in due season, should God send more rain, to remember to return His part.

Selling Job To Do

When representatives from this area met last week to talk about a US 80 Highway Association, there was grist for the mill. This was especially so for us. Traffic count on IS 20 leaving Sweetwater dwindled by half by the time it gets to Colorado City. By the same token, the count on US 180 doubles from the time it leaves

Anson until it reaches Snyder. Clearly, there's a big diversion currently.

There were other similarly dramatic examples along the route, and they all point up the need of promotion to get travellers on the route and to stay on it. We have a lot to sell on US 80 (IS 20), but it has to be sold.

More Appeals To The Russian People

WASHINGTON — President Johnson has five times in recent days addressed a direct appeal to the people of the Soviet Union to join with the American people not only in a mission of peace but in sharing the economic fruits of a better life for mankind.

While speaking, for instance, at the graduation exercises of Catholic University in Washington on June 6, the President appealed to the "leaders" as well as to the "people" of the Communist countries. He said:

"COME NOW, let us reason together. Our door is unshuttered. Our table is set. We are ready—we believe mankind is ready with us."

But the appeals have not been answered. Mr. Johnson, evidently conscious of the silence in the Communist world, mentioned this publicly on June 8. At a ceremonial signing of a bill establishing a National Institute for the Deaf, he said:

"Sometimes it seems that deafness is not simply an affliction of individuals, but an affliction of nations as well."

THE PRESIDENT at the same time pointed out that, while communications in space are instantaneous, communication between peoples is one of the most challenging problems that faces the world today.

Mr. Johnson has given plain hints that the United States would be willing to join in economic ventures which would truly benefit the people of the Soviet Union if they had the kind of government that was not a menace to world peace.

Many persons will wonder whether this will ever get through to the Soviet people. But the facts are that, when a President of the United States speaks, the radio carries the message everywhere and public discussion is thereby initiated. It is by word-of-mouth communication that messages of importance to every nation are eventually conveyed to the people even behind the Iron Curtain.

SOME OF THE THINGS that Mr. Johnson has said now should be broadcast repeatedly by the United States Information Agency. Excerpts from his speeches need to be read and re-read in the Soviet foreign office. For instance, President Johnson said on June 3 in Chicago:

"No true Soviet interest is going to be served by the support of aggression or subversion anywhere in the world. We of the United States of America stand ready tonight as always to go with you onto the fields of peace—to plow new furrows, to plant new seed, to tend new growth—so that we and so that all mankind may some day share together a new and a bountiful harvest of happiness and hope on this earth."

UNFORTUNATELY, the appeals for a genuine peace which President Johnson has been making have thus far evoked no response from the Kremlin. Perhaps this is because the question of how to reply has caused debate inside Communist party circles.

It could be, of course, that Russia's internal situation does not permit the kind of response that ought to be made, because there are factions in Moscow which want an even more aggressive course than has been pursued by the Soviet government. The instinctive wish of the Russian people themselves, however, is for peace with America, and hence nothing is lost by a continuance of President Johnson's appeals to them to manifest their desires in their own way to the ruling authorities in the Soviet Union.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

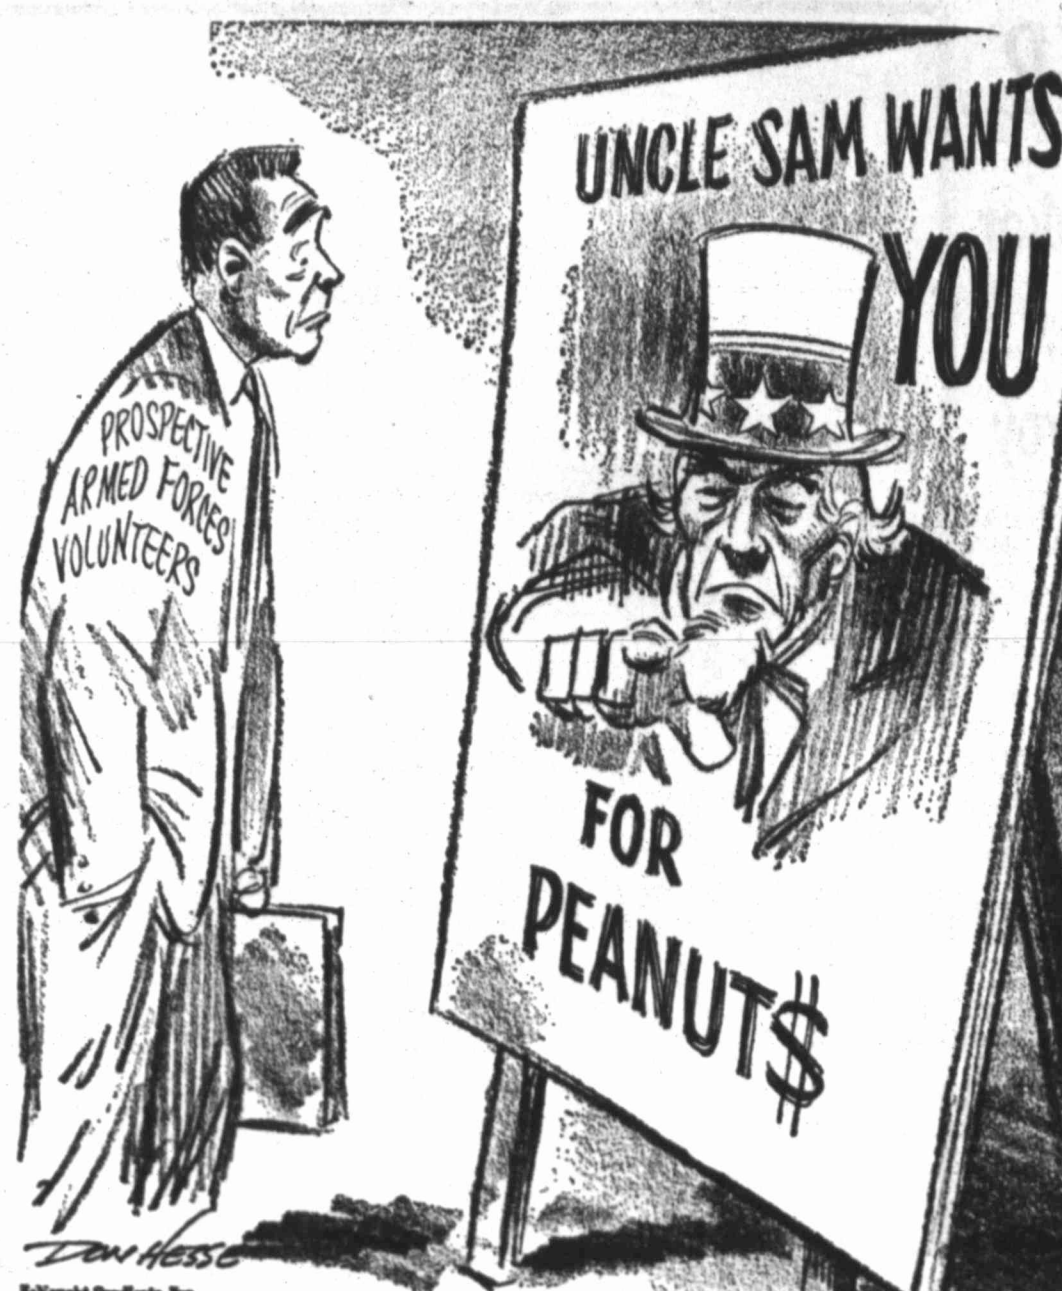

There is something strange about the plea of the governors that the President initiate a study of how the states should share in the Federal Income Tax. Usually the states guard their independence with a rather fierce determination. But the status of their treasuries is such that many of them seem not only willing but also eager to have the federal government levy taxes on them. It is a rather disturbing commentary on the status of our federal system.

As a practical matter, there would be many advantages to a sharing of income tax revenue. The Post has already endorsed the "Heller plan" to set up a trust fund from which the states might draw a few billion dollars each year to be used as general revenue without federal restrictions. The immediate result would be a stimulation of educational, health and welfare services. State and local governments are already drawing $10 billion a year in federal funds earmarked for highways, relief and other purposes. General-fund grants with no strings attached would doubtless be a logical extension of the federal-aid principle.

Some of the states now have personal and corporate income taxes of their own, but these provide only a little more than 7 per cent of their total revenue. Sales taxes and fees account for 46 per cent of state and local revenue, and most of the remainder comes from taxes on real estate.

The sharing principle seems to hold out a great deal of promise to the states. It would also involve serious risks, however, if it should merely make the states more dependent upon federal revenue without applying any pressure for improvement of their own obsolete fiscal systems.

It's Year Of Stillness In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is a strange year in Washington. The last one gave up several days ago when the president and premier resigned after four months in office.

Now the problem is to get another one which may last a while, and this time it will probably be all military, which means the South Vietnamese have had no voice in choosing it. So it will not be an elected government.

There has been very little sense of American action, or leadership, except in the Dominican Republic and Viet Nam where the United States has directly intervened.

THOSE TWO situations, in which the Johnson administration has been roundly criticized by many at home and abroad, might seem enough to occupy the President's time.

But he has found time for speechmaking and other White House activities.

Actually, this is no: the first Johnson year in which American foreign participation has been pushed into the background. It was the same in 1964 when Johnson concentrated on domestic affairs and getting elected.

Yet, in the two foreign problems where the United States has put most of its effort — the Dominican and the Vietnamese — the picture isn't clear and the solution is not in sight.

The Dominican revolution is far from settled. Where the United States is going in Viet Nam isn't clear at all, and Johnson isn't doing much to explain it.

THE SENATE Foreign Relations Committee is going to start an inquiry into the American role in the Dominican Republic but not Viet Nam.

In Viet Nam over the weekend the United States, once again, was confronted with the most continuing embarrassment of its long involvement there: the instability of the South Vietnamese government.

The United States has made a great point of insisting it is helping the South Vietnamese at the request of its government. But the question is being asked: What government?

South Viet Nam has had eight different governments in 20 months. The last one gave up several days ago when the president and premier resigned after four months in office.

It is generally assumed American involvement will be greater. No other conclusion is reasonable in view of the continuing American military buildup.

In the end the United States may be doing most, if not all, of the fighting for a people who seem ill-equipped to govern themselves, and if that happens the next question is inevitable:

Will the North Vietnamese then send in their army, and the Red Chinese their "volunteers," as they did in Korea, to help the guerrillas. If they do, the United States will be in a full-scale land war in Asia again.

undoing all the American effort?

But this is not the only uncertainty about events there.

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — A small group of American pilots called "The Blue Knights" have flown more than 750,000 miles in hope of tangling with enemy MIGs.

They are members of the U.S. Air Force's 47th Tactical Fighter Squadron and their speedy chariots are F104 Skyfighters.

"WE'VE SIGHED MIGs once or twice, but they wouldn't come near us," said Maj. Walter W. Irwin, Apple Valley, Calif. "To the best of our knowledge, they were North Vietnamese, not Chinese."

The Blue Knights got a hurry-up call to speed here from their California base after two MIGs shot down two U.S. F105 Thunderchief fighter bombers on a mission against North Vietnamese targets early in April.

Defending the fallen Thunderchiefs, Maj. Irwin remarked: "It isn't that the MIGs got them with superior airplanes. The Thunderchiefs were loaded down with bombs."

ON THEIR ARRIVAL here April 19, the Blue Knights were assigned to keep the MIGs off

Easier Method For Detecting TB

One thing and another:

The new method for seeking out the elusive tuberculosis germ in the human body can be downright pleasing to the patient.

Heretofore, it has been necessary to place a heavy, stiff rubber tube down the throat and into the stomach to wash out the contents.

THE NEW idea now has the patient breathing an aerosol foam from a tube placed in the mouth for upwards to 30 minutes.

Doctors say the new technique provides a more efficient means for obtaining positive finds for tubercle bacilli as well as malignant cells.

THE AEROSOL forms little droplets on the bronchial tree, irritating it and causing a cough reflex.

One expert says the lungs and airway feel so clear, patients look forward to coming back.

MOST ALL PEOPLE who have taken driver's tests in recent years should feel for the 50-year-old woman in Milwaukee who not long ago knocked down a stop sign, bounced through an intersection, felt her car climb a curb, upend a utility pole and wind up with the front end of the vehicle jammed into a house — where she jarred a sleeping girl out of bed.

When the car ultimately stopped, the woman fled on foot, leaving her bruised driving instructor alone in the car.

I IMAGINE ALL shopkeepers would like to have salesmen with the enthusiasm a hairdresser showed in a large Southern city recently.

Told by a client that the customer's husband had suffered a slight heart seizure, the beautician expressed sympathy, then added:

"Oh, I'd better give you a permanent in case anything happens. You'll want to look nice."

IF REAR-END automobile collisions are increasing, and insurance companies will tell you they are, why not reflectors on back license plates?

There's legislation pending in California to make such a thing mandatory on tags authorized in that state. It might be just the thing needed in Texas, too.

The Mecca Of The Undesirables

WASHINGTON—Mrs. Mary Etheridge, 27, died here last spring of a blood clot in the lungs. It was a pitiful case because she was impoverished and Negro, with five children and an incontinent husband.

But the pitch of coverage and comment by Washington's liberal press was shrill and fictitious, not to say ghoulish. Mrs. Etheridge had died of a "broken heart" and a "broken spirit." Her life had been shattered by the stringency of the D. C. welfare regulations. The "architect" of heartlessness in the application of public assistance was Senator Robert Byrd (D., W. Va.), who should bear a "major share of the guilt" for the woman's death.

ROBERT BYRD has come to regard such calumny as a seasonal sign which indicates the nearness of another D. C. welfare budget. The Senator is a sturdy, nervy, conscientious, up-from-poverty success story, and is chairman of the Appropriations subcommittee which deals with local financing.

Byrd points out that Mrs. Etheridge makes a poor example of callous treatment at the welfare centers. A month before her death she had received a $191 payment. Four days before her death she had been given an $80 check in partial payment. She was authorized for continuing assistance through Aug. 31, 1965. But the Senator does not expect the facts to make any difference to his attack a racket-buster in Washington welfare. This has made him a marked man.

BOB BYRD, if I understand him, also feels that the circumstances of office have forced a mission upon him. If there is any stopping the capital city from a plunging descent into total degeneracy, Byrd must be the stopper. Nobody else in Congress seems willing to point out how welfare officials and welfare recipients have made swag of the relief funds.

A STUDY in 1961-62 showed that 60 per cent of the aid to dependent children was going to ineligible persons—much of it spent for drink and gambling. Some 59 per cent of the general public assistance was going to bogus claimants—some of them drawing relief money while in jail. As of last January, 41 per cent of the children on welfare were born out of wedlock. There are 170 mothers with 850 children on the relief rolls—it pays far better than working. More than 90 per cent of Washington crime is committed by Negroes, 95 per cent of the relief case load goes to Negroes, and the Negro population will reach 70 per cent by the end of the decade.

AS BYRD READS these and other statistics, they tell him what sort of immigrants this city attracts. A man or woman intending to get away with crime in the streets, intending to become a free-loader on public charity, intending to live it up sexually and let somebody else pay the costs, wishing to live where Negroes are a majority—where else to migrate but to Washington? The rules are loose and would be looser if only the liberals could get rid of Robert Byrd.

The Need For Legitimate Firearms

WASHINGTON—Hearings on anti-firearms legislation drag on in the ponderous fashion of Senate committees, but indications are growing that this is to be one case where lawmaking by hysteria will fail.

Gradually, and in spite of the overpowering outcry of the anti-gun forces, good sense is beginning to creep into the argument. It is being demonstrated that the bill, which Sen. Thomas Dodd (D., Conn.) had introduced and nurtured with all the power of his intellect, is a lousy bill. It meets the universal test of bad legislation, for it will not do what it purports to do, and it will do many things its backers deny it aims to do.

IT WILL NOT remove one boiler-iron pistol from the list of any hoodlum. But it will create the machinery under which firearms prohibition could gradually be brought to pass. Groups opposed to the bill have been shamelessly blackguarded by proponents, but they include responsible elements that deserve fully as much attention as the noisy claque that backs it.

The Wildlife Management Institute, for example, warned that unlimited powers granted under the bill to the Secretary of the Treasury offer "the prospect of extreme inconvenience to sportsmen with a minimum assurance of any substantial lessening of the criminal misuse of firearms. The proposal places penalties against the firearm and not against the misuser."

THE INSTITUTE went on to assail the most objectionable feature of Dodd's bill, warning that it permits the Federal government (through the Secretary of the Treasury) unlimited authority "for issuing regulations concerning the purchase, shipment, transport and sale of firearms and ammunition. Sportsmen are deeply concerned about the delegation of such uninhibited latitude to write regulations to the Treasury Department, because that Agency's restrictive views already are largely known."

JUDGE HILLIARD COMSTOCK, a respected member of the California bench for 35 years and a former president of the National Rifle Association, pointed out that powers granted under the Dodd bill could totally destroy the legitimate firearms industry and deprive the sportsman, the arms collector, the potential soldier, those requiring weapons for self-protection, and many other law-abiding citizens, and organizations of their basic rights and traditional privileges.

One need look no further than New York's notorious Sullivan Law to understand that once the cop mind is given authority, such as is contained in the Dodd bill, it does exercise it to the hilt. If the Dodd bill becomes law, the United States can bid goodbye to its proud tradition as a nation of outdoorsmen that can field a fair-to-middling fighting army overnight.

THIS DOLEFUL CHORE, let it be noted, has been necessary three times in this century. Indeed, if events in Viet Nam continue their bloody course, it may be necessary again soon. It seems a poor time to start the country on the same road that left the United Kingdom defenseless after Dunkirk.

Responsible sportsmen have no quarrel with firearms legislation well and truly written, including a law that would impose sensible restrictions on mail-order guns. But the Dodd bill that is now undergoing a badly needed airing is a far shout from any such rational measure. It is a blueprint for domestic disarmament, and as such deserves the fate that seems to be in store for it.

WARS SUCH AS the one in Viet Nam are rifleman's wars, and the United States may be doomed to fight such like for a century. It is a disservice to our youth to deprive them of the tools they need to learn the trade.

See Danger

NEW YORK (AP) — With population in Latin America and Asia expected to double in the next 35 years, "such overwhelming growth will virtually wipe out efforts for socio-economic progress in the poorer nations and will generate pressures that breed human despair," say a group of Roman Catholic experts in a new book, "Population Growth — Threat to Peace?," published by P. J. Kennedy & Sons.

Wacker's Store At 1103 Eleventh Place

This store, and the one at 218 Main Street, are loaded with needed items for Father's Day, vacationing, out-door living, lawn care, household hardware, lighting, toys, games, and many other lines, including women and children's wearing apparel.

Father's Day Gifts Are Available At Wacker's

Father's Day comes on June 20 this year, and both Wacker Stores—in the Eleventh Place Shopping Center—and at 218 Main Street for Father's Day. A fine selection of gifts is available.

There are fine neckties for men, at reasonable prices; prices that will enable Dad to have more frequent changes for every occasion.

Then Wacker's have stone set cuff links, billfolds and key case sets, tie racks, shaving sets, cologne, and other needs for a fastidious Dad. There are other needed items in his department.

If he needs a new key case or card case, these are in stock. One of the most popular brands in men's underwear is also on the shelves. The well-known "Fruit of the Loom" shirts, shorts, and other types are available.

And, since the time for vacationing is at hand, Wacker's carries a complete line of needs. These include vacuum jugs and bottles, ice chests, paper plates, plastic spoons, napkins, and cups—for hot and cold drinks.

For the family given to out-door living in the summer, Wacker's have lawn chairs, folding and straight, chaise longue, grills, charcoal, starter fluid, lights, and other items.

If cooking out is what the family likes there are also all kinds of kitchen needs which may be used in preparation of foods to be cooked out, knives, forks, spoons, all including the heavy duty kinds.

To have a beautiful lawn, on which to "live outdoors," the home owner can find garden tools, sprinklers, hoses, seeds, and the best brands of fertilizers. Take a look at Wacker's supplies.

For the kids there are swim good, suits, air masks, kiddie wading pools, life preservers, kiddie swim masks, snorkels, flippers, skis, and other nautical goods.

Tom Pender, manager at Eleventh Place, and Harry Cummings at the Main Street store, invite women and children to take a look at the good line of summer wear. They carry an excellent assortment of children's and ladies shoes, dresses, and other summer wearing apparel, lingerie, ready-to-wear, yard goods, and trimmings.

There is also a good supply of sewing notions, including thread, needles, and other items. Pender says the Eleventh Place store also carries a full line of tropical fish, aquariums, food, remedies, a good line of pet supplies, and a full line of drugs.

For the handy man around the house Wacker's offer a good line of household needs including electrical and hardware, along with a supply of tools. Household paints, brushes, and rollers are also available.

When something for the kid is being hunted, you need go no further than Wacker's. There are all kinds of toys, assorted coloring books, models, and games.

Wacker's Eleventh Place store also has a post office sub-station for the convenience of customers and others wanting to mail letters, purchase stamps, money orders, or mail packages.

Haston Electric Can Modernize Circuits

If you are planning a remodeling job at your home or business, or an addition to any building, you doubtless will want the services of an efficient electrician. He can help plan your circuits for any kind of outlet to handle whatever appliances or lighting you need.

Haston Electric, at 1606-B Gregg, owned by Gene Haston, has been in Big Spring many years, and the owner and employees know what is needed in installing electrical fixtures and outlets to handle the load properly. The firm is equipped to do residential and commercial electrical jobs, whether new or renewing.

A new building, in the planning stage, may be designed to carry light or heavy electrical loads, and Haston is capable of advising with planners for the best designed circuits and fixtures.

Some older buildings may have been constructed before the day of modern appliances and lighting systems. These may need rewiring to handle the loads, and the proper number of currents to prevent overloading.

Haston also carries a good stock of fixtures and supplies in the office. Call AM 4-5103 for consultation before starting a new job, or remodeling to handle additional loads and for modernizing.

Haston Electric can give an estimate on the cost and can advise what is needed to take care of the electrical load required.

San Angelo Pair Misses Tie When Final Putt Rims The Cup

A putt of about six feet that rolled into the hole cost the San Angelo tandem of Edwyn Staubaugh and Raymond Hart a first place tie in the third annual Big Spring Golf Open here Sunday afternoon.

Champions of the event were Wendy Green, a pro at Hogan Park in Midland, and his fellow townsman, Benny Burleson, who finished with a 13-under par 129 for the 36 holes.

Hart aimed for the cup on 18 and just missed. His team wound up all alone at 130.

Three strokes back at 133, all alone in third place, was the duet of Roland Adams and Randy Reiger, both of Lubbock. Three tandems deadlocked for fourth place and all got into the "money."

Earl Stewart Jr., and his son, Chip, both of Dallas, composed one of the units. Another consisted of the Plainview veterans, Horace Moore and Jack Williams, while the third included Luke Thompson, El Paso, and Big Spring's own Bobby Wright. Each finished with a 135.

BARELY MISSED

Just one stroke removed from the prize list were two teams. One included W. O. Maxwell

Jr., and Col. Gus Taute, the other Bob Westfall, Floydada, and Bob Lane, Lubbock.

Staubaugh and Hart gained a stroke on Green and Burleson the final 18 holes. Green started the first day with a sizzling 63, eight under par, and followed up with a 66.

Burleson two-putted No. 2 but still got a birdie to start his team off right. Green followed with a birdie on four and Benny chipped in with birds on six and nine.

The twosome accounted for only two birds on the back side. Green sinking on 14 and Burleson the other on 17.

Staubaugh and Hart were consistent, to say the least. They fashioned a 65 each day.

BEST OF DAY

Best golf of the day was shot by Adams and Reiger, who finished up in 64 strokes. They simply had too far to go.

Green won a total of $300 in the tournament, $200 for leading his team to victory and the $50 for tying for second low medal score among the pros with a 140 for the 36 holes.

Low pro for the tournament was the senior Stewart, with a medal score of 138. He earned $100 for that feat, along with $100 in team competition.

Earl Jacobson, San Antonio, and Adams tied Green for the runnerup spot in medal play and each was rewarded with $50.

Lecture Session Works As Phils' Record Climbs

By The Associated Press

Gene Mauch, the explosive Philadelphia manager, doesn't throw spare ribs any more. Now he conducts lecture sessions at 6:30 in the morning.

The subject of Mauch's dissertation Sunday was lackadaisical play. The object of Mauch's displeasure was outfielder Tony Gonzalez.

And the result of Mauch's disciplinary action was a homer, double and single by Gonzalez that carried the Phillies to a 5-0 victory over Houston for their fifth straight triumph, lifting them to the 500 level for the first time in almost a month.

Mauch, who has been known to throw spare ribs around the clubhouse when he's fuming, has kept his temper all season long while the Phillies have languished in the second division.

Chicago Gangbusters May Break AL Monopoly

By The Associated Press

With Dick Tracy cruising at full speed, Chicago's gangbusters stand a fighting chance of breaking the monopoly in the American League.

Tracy, as Bill Skowron is known because of his winter occupation, handcuffed the Washington Senators 2-1 Sunday and steered the White Sox to within one-half game of first-place Minnesota.

Skowron tied the game with a home run in the seventh inning, then tripled across the winning run in the ninth.

Local Girl Advances To Finals

A girl with an interest in drama, music, art, and languages is one of the finalists in the Miss Wool of Texas Pageant to be held in Odessa Tuesday through Friday.

She is Joanna Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Patterson, 407 Edwards. A freshman student at Howard County Junior College, Miss Patterson is a graduate of Big Spring High School.

Miss Patterson's interest in art has stood her in good stead as she has been an instructor in painting at the YMCA. As a beauty, she has been Junior Miss Big Spring, the high school junior class contestant for Harvest Queen and a senior class favorite. She also was first runner-up to be Miss Big Spring in her high school senior year, a finalist in the Miss Cotton Pageant, school beauty finalist, and second runner-up to the Miss Big Spring pageant when a freshman in college.

Other activities include being secretary of the freshman and sophomore classes, vice president of the junior class and secretary to the student council. During her senior year in high school, she was in the musical "Oklahoma," playing the lead part of "Laurie." Other high school activities include being a member of the radio club and the Order of Rainbow for Girls.

MRS. WILL J. STEWART III

Miss Patricia Dillon Weds W. J. Stewart

Miss Patricia Ann Dillon and Will J. Stewart III exchanged wedding vows June 6 in the Mission Drive Baptist Church in Superior, Ariz. The candle-light ceremony was performed by the Rev. Jim H. Goins. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. A. W. (Al) Dillon, former local residents who now reside at 1835 Pilgrim in Superior. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. James H. Pope, Phoenix, Ariz.

The double ring ceremony was read before an altar graced with arrangements of pink and white carnations, and nuptial music was by Max Stout. The bride was escorted and given in marriage by her father and wore a white satin princess-style gown, the bodice featuring a Sabrina neckline, elbow-length sleeves and flat bow at the waistline. A chapel train complemented the belled skirt, and her shoulder-length tiered veil of illusion fell from a white satin Dior bow. Pink and white carnations, centered by pink roses, formed the bridal bouquet.

ATTENDANTS
Mrs. Larry A. Dillon, matron of honor, wore a pink organza dress embroidered with white rosebuds.

The best man was Raymond P. Stewart, Phoenix, Ariz., and ushers were Lt. William A. Dillon, Alameda, Calif., and Dale Britt and Lynn Slatt, both of Phoenix.

WEDDING TRIP
The couple took a wedding trip to a cabin lodge in Northern New Mexico. For traveling, the bride chose a white knit dress worn with white accessories and the corsage of rosebuds. The couple will reside in Superior.

The reception was held in the church parlor where Mrs. Ray Stewart presided at the refreshment table. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with the traditional bride and groom, and Miss Georgia Dillon presided at the bride's book.

The bride attended Howard County Junior College and received a BS degree from McMurray College in Abilene. She earned a MS degree at North Texas University and attended the University of Indiana. The bridegroom attended Phoenix College and received a BA degree from Central Oklahoma Teachers College.

Mrs. Robert Hill, president of the Woman's Society of Christian Service, presided.

Family Reunion Held In Community Center

WESTBROOK (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. E. A. (Sam) Oden and children, Maritha, Junior and Tim, attended the Marsh-Moore descendants reunion last week at the Community Center in Colorado City. Children attending were Earnest Moore, Dallas; Pete Moore, Odessa; H. A. and Therman Moore, Colorado City; Mrs. Nora Varage, Big Spring; Mrs. Fannie Graham and Mrs. Martha Oden, Sweetwater; and Mrs. Faye Koon, Kermit.

Guests and relatives attended from nine area cities. Word has been received of the death of Mrs. Earl Baker, a former resident of the Carr Community. Funeral services were held in Andrews Saturday last week.

Mr. and Mrs. N. J. McMahan and son, Elmer, and Kathy Henderson attended the birthday party of the grandson, James Wallace, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Wallace, in Big Spring June 9. The child is four years old. Also present for the occasion were the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wallace of Coahoma. Seven guests attended. James returned to Westbrook with his grandparents to spend the week.

Mrs. T. O. Robinson and daughters, Carolyn and Lewana of Lamesa, and Mrs. Dale Merritt and Pam, Sweetwater, were guests of their parents, the Charley Olivers, Thursday. Their son, Jack Oliver, Big Spring, visited Friday.

Ted Jackson is in Houston this week to be with his grandson, Don Wood, who underwent surgery in a Houston hospital Monday. Don is the 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Wood of Colorado City. Mrs. Wood is the former Bernice Jackson of Westbrook.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleburn Rich and two sons moved into their new home in Westbrook this week.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Webb and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ellett are entertaining their little granddaughter from Falluria this week.

Grant Goes To Teacher For Study

ABILENE — Mrs. Lena Gilstrap of 1106 Sycamore, Big Spring, has enrolled for six weeks of graduate study at Abilene Christian College under a fellowship from the American Studies Program.

She is one of 39 persons to receive an American Studies Fellowship for graduate work at ACC this year.

Mrs. Gilstrap is a 1964 graduate of ACC, which awarded her a bachelor of science in education degree with a major in Spanish and a minor in English. She now teaches the first grade in Garden City.

Mrs. Gilstrap will study at ACC until the end of the first six-weeks summer term, July 16.

The American Studies Program at ACC was begun in 1957 with the aid of a grant from the Coe Foundation of New York City. It was the only such grant given a Texas college.

The late William Robertson Coe, concerned over the neglect of the teaching of the nation's youth, left a portion of his estate to the foundation for the purpose of "assisting colleges and universities to establish summer refresher courses in American Studies for selected teachers and professors."

200 Gather For McNew Reunion

Sunday marked the 39th consecutive annual reunion of the McNew family, with the exception of two years during World War II. Over 200 descendants of the late William and Mary McNew gathered in the Community Center at Forest Park in Lamesa, coming from six states.

Several of the elder descendants had from four to six generations of their immediate families present. The eldest was Mrs. Sarah Merritt, 83, of Lamesa, and the youngest attending was two months old.

The day's activities began at 8:30 a.m. with registration, visiting, and music. Additional work on the family genealogy, now dating back to 1863, was done by Mrs. Bonnie Bennett and Mrs. Dwight McCann, Big Spring, and Mrs. Byron McCracken of Stanton.

Those in charge of the 1966 reunion were Mrs. John Chaffin of Loop, Mrs. Gary Owens, Lamesa; and Mrs. Bennett and Mrs. McCann.

Couple Recites Vows In Dallas Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy James Blair are making their home in Dallas at 809 Manycliff Road following their marriage June 4 in the Stevens Park Christian Church in Dallas.

The new Mrs. Blair is the former Miss Susan Bednar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Bednar, 2313 Lynn, and her husband's parents are Mrs. Oneta H. Blair, 1602 McAdams, Dallas, and E. W. Blair, 828 Stevens Hill, Dallas.

The Rev. Daniel E. Bailey performed the double ring ceremony, and nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Oxford Carter, organist.

SILK ORGANZA

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a full-length gown of silk organza, the molded bodice featuring a rounded neckline and bracelet-length sleeves. The A-line controlled skirt was accented with seed pearls and lace and extended into a chapel train. A veil of illusion fell to the waistline from a calot of organza roses and seed pearls.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of feathered white carnations and lily of the valley centered with white orchids.

Mrs. Roeland T. Bell, Memphis, Tenn., was the matron of honor, and bridesmaids were the bride's sister, Miss Ruth Ann Bednar, Big Spring, and Mrs. Jack Van Zandt.

Don A. Reeves, Garland, served as best man, and Ronald T. Bell, Memphis, Tenn., and Don Banks, were groomsmen. The ushers were Mike Lott, Lynn Little, Jack Van Zandt and Jack Shemwell, Arlington.

Tina and Jimmy Bednar, children of Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Bednar, Garden City, were the flower girl and ring bearer. Mike Lott and Lynn Little lighted the altar tapers preceding the ceremony.

RECEPTION

The church parlor was the scene of a reception honoring the newly-married pair. The couple and parents were joined by Mrs. Wayne Gibbons, aunt of the bride, and the attendants in welcoming guests.

Serving at the refreshment table were Mrs. Wilburn Bednar, Garden City; Mrs. Moran Doggett, Miss Betty Glover and Miss Margie Philbrick. Guests were registered by Mrs. Don Banks and Mrs. Jack Shemwell, Arlington. The tiered white wedding cake was accented with a bride and groom motif.

For a short wedding trip, the bride was attired in a blue linen costume, embroidered in aqua, with which she wore white accessories.

The bride attended Trinity University at San Antonio and Arlington State College, Arlington. She is now employed by the United Cerebral Palsy Center in Dallas. The bridegroom is a senior student at Arlington State College and is working for Safeway Stores, Inc., Dallas.

Baking Pan Oils

Mix two parts of vegetable shortening with one part of flour and use for coating pans in which cake or cookies are to be baked.

Parker Vacations

A correction has been received for an item appearing in Sunday's Couden Chatter column. Frank Parker has not been replaced as business manager for Local 826. While Parker is on vacation, his work is being continued by C. E. Gressett.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Net Serves As Silver Basket

Dear Heloise: My silver teaspoons have very slim, tapered handles that always slipped partially through the silver basket in my dishwasher.

So, out comes your hero-nylon net.

I cut a piece to crumple into the bottom of one section of the silver holder, and placed the spoon handles on the net. It provides a holder without stopping the water's action.

And, it is held securely by the silverware, so that it doesn't become loose in the dishwasher. . . . K. Bishop

Now, that's real tricky, I'd say. . . . Heloise

Dear Heloise: Do your good readers know that the plastic lids from one pound coffee cans are ideal to put on one quart oil cans before and after the cans are opened?

The plastic lids keep out dust and dirt. . . . L. E. Waldmeier Sr.

Dear Heloise: I save all my detergent bottles for the children when they want to carry water outdoors. I've had the most beautiful mud suppers you have ever seen! A few pine needles, dandelions, mud and stones make very pretty mud pies.

In the summer, we have special bottles with the squirt tops for the pool. Squirting heads, stomachs, or sometimes even Mommie, is such fun.

They also have different colored sponges, and they love washing the swings, stone wall, toy tractors, bikes, or just about anything.

Why not let them have fun getting dirty, since they need a bath every night anyway? . . . Mother

Dear Heloise: In regard to writing on plastic with a felt marker . . . I use cellophane tape you can write on to label freezer containers. It can be pulled off easily
