NOVEMBER TERM OF DISTRICT COURT ENDED WEDNESDAY NOON; PEARSON IS SPECIAL JUDGE

Many cases were disposed of during the regular November term of the District Court of Ochiltree County, which convened November 15 and adjourned at 12:15 p. m., Wednesday, December 1. A goal of $1,000,000.00 has been set by those sponsoring the purchase of the land for the park.

In The Spotlight

Perryton business men seem determined to fill up the Perryton Hospital: Jack Kelly, popular Chevrolet dealer and president of the school board; is just doing fine. Jack came out second best when he was picked up at the side of the road with a badly broken right leg, after a car chased the Kelly car off the highway, sideswiped it and otherwise committed assault and battery. Anyway, Jack is going to be up in the hospital for some time and likes to see his friends.

Ray Wier, owner of Wier's Waffle Shop, is taking time off from his business also. He underwent an operation at the Perryton Hospital Wednesday morning. Ray will be out of circulation for at least two weeks. The many friends of these two men are wishing for them a speedy recovery.

A short time ago we heralded the fact that the Moore County News

TO DECORATE MAIN STREET

FOUR BLOCKS OF MAIN STREET TO BE DECORATED WITH LIGHTS AND EVERGEEN NEXT WEEK

Due to the cooperation of the Senior Chamber of Commerce, the Lions Club, the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the officials of the city of Perryton, visitors this Christmas will be greeted with a dazzling array of colored lights and decorations.

It was decided at a committee meeting Wednesday night composed of members of the different organizations to dicard the old wire that has been in use several years and buy 3,000 feet of new and lighter wire and enough sockets and bulbs to place the lights six feet apart. Heretofore they have been ten feet apart.

The decorations will start at the Donley building on the north end of Main street and extend to Holdeman Motor Co. on the south.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce will furnish the labor as their contribution to the program.

It is thought that the decorations will be installed by the 10th of December.

These organizations deserve the thanks of the entire community for their efforts toward making this city a more beautiful place in which to live.

Mrs. J. M. Anderson, Mrs. J. W. Wright, and Miss Hope Gardner attended a reunion of the Dargitz family at their old homestead, Snyder, Texas, November 22. Mrs. Wright, a member of the Dargitz clan, says that all of the children were together for the first time in 30 years.

James Flowers was operated on for appendicitis at the Perryton hospital Monday. He is getting along nicely.

State Patrol Here Tuesday to Check on Motor Vehicles

Four State Highway Patrolmen of the Department of Public Safety were in Perryton Monday evening and Tuesday in order to acquaint the people with, and also enforce, the Texas laws relating to motor vehicles, highway traffic and registration. Patrolmen T. R. Lovelace and O. K. Huddleston were examining applicants for Drivers' licenses. Examinations will also be held on Monday evenings if applicants will contact and make appointment with Deputy Sheriff Fred Huston on Monday.

Patrolmen J. E. Young and Robertson were checking and inspecting Texas cars, trucks, etc., to determine if requirements were being met by motor vehicles. Several cars were found having only one headlight burning, or no tail light, or probably there was only one license plate on the car. These were among the law violations, and the owners were warned to correct all car defects.

To meet Texas registration laws, two or three out-of-state drivers were required to purchase a Texas driver's or chauffeur's license. A car can only operate 26 days in Texas without a Texas license. A commercial car can make two trips into Texas in any calendar month, not to exceed four days each trip, provided that the state in which the vehicle originates grants the same privilege to the Texas truck.

One truck was picked-up for overloading. This truck driven by Fred Eichman, Dodge City, Kansas, Was hauling fruit and vegetables from the lower Rio Grande Valley to Dodge City. The driver was taken before Justice of the Peace Dewey R. Allen and fined $12.00.

It is the duty of every State Highway Patrolman to strictly enforce all traffic laws. The public should observe the laws and cooperate with the Patrolmen in their attempt to make our highways safer. Before any patrolman is permanently appointed, he must take a special training course of at least seven weeks. Any where in Texas, the Highway Patrolmen "shall be charged primarily with the duty of enforcing all State laws relating to vehicles and traffic on public highways; and they are also vested with all the rights and powers of peace officers, to pursue and arrest any person for any offense when said person is found on the highway." The law further states, "In addition they shall be, and are hereby clothed with all the powers and authority which is in this Act or otherwise by law given to members of the Texas Ranger force."

Members of the State Highway Patrol will make regular trips to Perryton. Have your car in good repair and you will need have no fear of these men. They come to help us.

DRIVER'S TEST GIVEN ON MONDAY EVENINGS

There has been only one time in the week that it was possible for a person to apply for a driver's license, and that is Tuesday mornings between the hours of 8:00 a. m. and 10:00 a. m. Under a recent law, licenses must be obtained thru the Department of Public Safety. On Tuesday mornings, beginning November 16, State Patrolmen T. R. Lovelace and O. K. Huddleston have conducted these examinations in Perryton, headquartering in the office of Sheriff J. S. Talley. The last two Tuesdays, the examiners did not have sufficient time to complete the examination of all applicants. For this reason additional time will be given on Monday

Examiners Lovelace and Huddleston announced that since they arrive in Perryton on Monday evening, they will give drivers' test every Monday evening, provided that there are enough applicants to warrant the night work. Persons desiring to take the examination on Monday evening must contact Deputy Sheriff Fred Huston before five o'clock on that day.

It was voted by members present that the Jaycees would cooperate with the Lions club and Senior Chamber of Commerce in stringing the street decoration for Christmas. The newly appointed committee on Civic Improvements will be in charge of this work.

Harold Platt, chairman of the dance committee reported that the organization is to sponsor a dance at Donley Hall on Thursday night, December 9.

Tentative plans were made at the meeting for the sponsoring of a Santa Claus Day in Perryton within the next two weeks. A special committee was appointed to contact the Lion's club and the Senior Chamber of Commerce and get any suggestion from them in regard to putting it over.

Irvin R. Buchanan was elected as honorary member and Parliamentarian for the organization.

All members voted by acclamation to support the coming Invitation Basketball meet at the school house December 10-11. There are around 200 teams invited to participate in the meet.

The next meeting will be held in the courthouse, December 6. The membership committee is working on a permanent meeting place. There were 27 young men present at the meeting. This does not comprise the entire body of members which totals 45 at the present time.

Twenty Questions on Social Security

Question No. 16

QUESTION: If an employee changes jobs, residence or name, should he report the change to the Social Security Board?

ANSWER: If an employee changes his job or his residence, he is not required to make any reports to anyone insofar as the Social Security Board is concerned. All he need do is to report his account number to his new employer. Employees will be credited with wages paid to them as a result of the required periodic reports made by their employers.

In case an employee wishes to change his name, he may make a request to that effect to the Social Security Board, Washington, D. C., or to any of the field offices. A new card with the same number, showing the new name, will be issued.

FORD offers two new cars for 1938—the Standard Ford V-8 and the De Luxe Ford V-8. They are different in appearance — but built to the same high standard of mechanical excellence — on the same chassis.

Because people liked our 1937 car so well, they bought more than of any other make. They liked its looks, its smooth performance, and the way it handled. We have improved on that car in the newly styled Standard Ford V-8.

But some folks wanted still more size and style, with the same Ford advantages. For them, we designed a new De Luxe line.

The De Luxe Ford V-8 Sedans are longer with more room, larger luggage space, and finer appointments all around. De Luxe cars are equipped with the 85-horsepower engine only.

The Standard is even lower priced than the De Luxe. It has graceful new lines and well-tailored interiors—with a choice of engine sizes—85 or 60 horsepower.

Before Ford made V-type 8-cylinder engines available to every one, they were used only in expensive cars. Since then, four million Ford owners have learned the genuine enjoyment of driving an eight-cylinder car with all-around economy. The thrifty "60" engine, especially, makes possible in Standard models a very low first cost and equally low operating cost. With two distinct designs, two engine sizes and two price ranges, you'll find a 1938 Ford car to fit your needs exactly.

PRICES FOR CARS DELIVERED IN DETROIT—TAXES EXTRA

Standard Ford V-8 (60 hp.)—Coupe, $599; Tudor, $644; Fordor, $689. Standard Ford V-8 (85 hp.)—Coupe, $629; Tudor, $669; Fordor, $714. De Luxe Ford V-8 (85 hp. only)—Coupe, $689; Tudor, $729; Fordor, $774; Convertible Coupe, $774; Club Coupe, $749; Convertible Club Coupe, $804; Phaeton, $824; Convertible Sedan, $904.

Standard and De Luxe cars equipped with bumpers, bumper guards, spare wheel, tire, tube, tire lock and band, cigar lighter, twin horns, and headlight beam indicator on instrument panel, at no extra charge.

In addition, De Luxe cars are equipped with extra tail light, windshield wiper, sun visor; also de luxe steering wheel, glove compartment lock, clock, and chrome wheel bands, at no extra charge.

"Texas Trail"

New Hopalong Cassidy Film Has Top-Notch Cast in Dramatic Tale of Old West

"Texas Trail," latest in the series of popular Clarence E. Mulford's Hopalong Cassidy Western adventure films, which shows at the Ellis Theatre, Saturday, December 4, was adapted for the screen from Mulford's latest best-selling novel, "Tex".

The picture, which shows a hard-riding bunch of cowpunchers and their efforts to round up a herd of wild horses for the Government, only to be hijacked after their herd is complete, stars William Boyd and features a splendid supporting cast headed by George Hayes, Russell Hayden, Judith Allen and Billy King.

ANNAPOLIS SLANG INCORPORATED IN NAVY FILM

Linguistic Hollywood, accustomed to all tongues and dialects on earth, has acquired a new one.

Robert Young and James Stewart are blamed, or credited, with the latest phrase of film slanguage.

In their vernacular a "greaser" is one who applies soft-soap to the boss, in effect, a "yes man." A "bilge" is a failure and a "red mike" is that rare man who has no interest in pretty girls. A "fusser" is the fellow who is lucky in love, and a star who falls in a scene "hits the pap."

The cabalistic code was drawn from the slang phrases of Annapolis Naval Academy. Young and Stewart, with Tom Brown, Lionel Barrymore, Florence Rice and others, are appearing in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Navy Blue and Gold," showing at the Ellis to-night and Friday, December 2-3, in which the navy slang predominated.

Duck Season Opened Saturday; Regulations to Observe

The season for hunting ducks and geese opened Saturday, November 27, and will close Sunday, December 26, 1937, inclusive. Ducks and geese may be legally taken from 7:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m. The U. S. Game Management Agent has announced federal duck hunting regulations for Texas. Certain ducks are protected and cannot be killed at any time. Following are extracts of federal regulations for Texas which must be observed by hunters.

All persons over 16 years of age must have on their person an unexpired federal migratory waterfowl hunting stamp (commonly known as the Duck Stamp) when hunting ducks and geese regardless of whether or not they are hunting on their own land.

All pump, repeating or automatic shotguns must be plugged so as to hold only three (3) shells at a loading; that is, two in the magazine and one in the barrel. All rifles, including 22 rifles, are prohibited.

The federal regulations do not permit the use of a motor boat, sail boat or any craft or device of any kind towed by power boat or sail boat. It is a violation to shoot doves or any migratory game birds from an automobile. A hunter may use a row boat as a blind for taking migratory waterfowl as long as there is no motor attached to the boat.

No live decoys may be used, directly or indirectly. Example: Tame decoys on a lake must be removed from lake and placed where their calling or any noise that they may make could not be directly or indirectly the cause of attracting wild ducks or geese to lake, river, slough or any shooting stand where wild ducks are to be shot.

It is strictly against the federal regulations to place, scatter, or cause to be placed or scattered, any grain or substance to attract ducks or geese to a shoting lake, slough, river, or any shooting stand for the purpose of shooting waterfowl that are attracted.

Buffiehead, canvasback, redhead, wood ducks, ruddy, or butter ball may not be killed at any time.

The bag limit is ten ducks in one day. Any person may not possess more than 10 at any time. Limit on Geese or Brand is five in aggregate of both species in one day. No one may possess more than 5 at any time. Jacksnipe or Wilson snipe: 15 in one day.

Ducks killed during season may be kept for 10 days after the season closes; only one day's bag, 10 ducks and 5 geese.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Stowe returned from a weeks vacation at Lincoln, Arkansas. They visited with Mrs. Stowe's parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. B. Smith and family.

Inventor Shows 24-Hour Clock

A clock for telling the hours of the day from 1 to 24, rather than the usual 12-hour period is displayed above by its inventor, Otto George Wolf, of Magdeburger, Germany. The face of the clock shows only 12 hours, but is so arranged that the hour numbers change from 1 to 12 to 13 to 24 at noon.

Berlin, Germany—Applying to motorists the rule governing the hours of duty for railroad engineers, automobile drivers on the new superhighways of the Reich must at the end of eight hours of continuous driving take advantage of several hours' relaxation in the rest houses conveniently provided along the otherwise "foolproof" high speed roadways. Sleepy drivers are believed to be the only menace possible on double-track roads that have no grade crossings.

LETTERS from OUR READERS

The Herald will print communications that are acceptable to it. They must be free of libel and personal abuse. Short ones will be given preference. Author's names must be signed to manuscript and their addresses must be given. Only original communications addressed to The Herald will be printed; open letters or letters otherwise addressed to various persons in public life are not acceptable.

(Editor's Note: The Herald has just received another of Del Spicer's interesting letters on the ways and customs of old Mexico. Mr. Spicer, who has been doing special work at Monterrey, N. L., Mexico, for a year, has had an opportunity to study and observe the people of this country. The Herald is pleased to share these letters with its readers. The following was written on November 23:)

At about this time I'm getting to feel like a regular commuter between Perryton and Old Mexico. Daily commuting was one of the things I hated in New York but if all commuting could be like my last trip down here it would be fine, for the entire journey was beautiful. Weather was perfect; no wind nor rain; all sun; and no "narrow squeaks" on the road; no bad detours. I learned what a "pig stand" is. In case you don't know, it's a quick-lunch place where pork sandwiches are served, sometimes known as barbecue.

Weather has cooled off considerably, however. And we're now "freezing" with 46 degree temperature.

A short time ago I was invited to a party in one of the outlying districts and a narration of it might do for comparison with the several similar events I read of weekly in the Ochiltree County Herald. The town I was to go to had a reputation of a murder every week-end and I presume it was for this reason that an hombre came to my house to escort me to the social. The occasion was called a musicale, but closely allied with it, I learned, was the fact that the host had recently butchered a fat hog which is always the signal for a tamale party. Now tamales always make me sick but since I was the only guest from above the Rio Grande, the biggest and hottest tamales were thrust at me. For some unexplained reason the big ones are more intimately known as "drunken women." A large plate of these good smelling delicacies is set between two people. There was no plate from which to eat and no silverware, so looking stealthily out the corners of my eyes I observed how the old-timers handled the situation and did likewise. This meant grasping the tamale boldly in the naked hand and commencing to work enthusiastically upon same. Grease dripped down to the wrists, but I had to smile and tell Senora Hermandez what a wonderful cook she was. One sympathetic guest must have felt sorry for me for suddenly out of the thin air came hurtling two pieces of linen which I took to be napkins, one for the gentleman who called for me. These emergency napkins were round doilies of about four inches in diameter with two inches of lace about the edge, and had been plucked from beneath two vases on the piano. I observed that others not as fortunate as I used the edge of the table cloth as napkin.

Despite their yeoman service it was necessary to join the throng out in the dark yard and wash up in the community wash basin after the feast. Incidently, the ladies were served first and after long delay the gentlemen were herded into the dining salon. Fortunately, in anticipation I had eaten a light supper at home just before leaving for Independencia.

The home I was visiting was that of a likeable and normal type of Mexican family situated behind a small store on a street so irregular that the springs of the latest cars would groan under the strain. In the darkness I walked straight into two mud puddles and one porker who had not yet reached the hot tamale stage.

Gathered in the front room we sat on chairs, boxes and the edge of the bed that was opposite the piano. No rugs were on the rough cement floor. Old chromos (the wedding day pictures) of mama and papa hung from the walls at angles of 45 degrees. Many present took turns at the piano and violin and most of the results were really very commendable, especially one little girl who could rattle over the ivory keys like a concert soloist. They likewise offered to play any American jazz or swing music that I requested.

The love window in the room stretched from the floor to the top of a twelve-foot ceiling and contained no glass but had shutters. Large iron bars stretched the full length and these bars were covered with varying groups of neighbors and children, closely watching all events of the evening. At one time I counted nine clinging to the bars, all the world like little brown monkeys, some gaping in amazement.

The refreshment of the evening was pulque, a sweet drink made from the juice of the cactus. There was so much pulp on top I had difficulty in getting through to mine and the host offered to strain it.

As time, music, and good fellowship wore on I began to think the end was due, but was told that most of them would still be there at three and four o'clock in the morning. This was my cue and I started saying "adios." One old gentleman insisted on hugging me and kissing each cheek in true native custom. It wouldn't have been so annoying if he had shaved within two days—but being a mark of high regard I suppose I should have felt honored.

On the way out, through the store, my attention was called to a hen roosting on a cracker box up on a shelf. My personal body guard came along faithfully and I tried to dismiss him as soon as we were over the bridge a little closer to civilization, but he would leave me only at one place and that was the front door of the domicile from which he had taken me.

I managed to live through it, but that was perhaps because I took too much poison which is better than just a little.

Viva la Mexico,
Del Spicer.

BEAVER TO ERECT NEW COMMUNITY HALL SOON

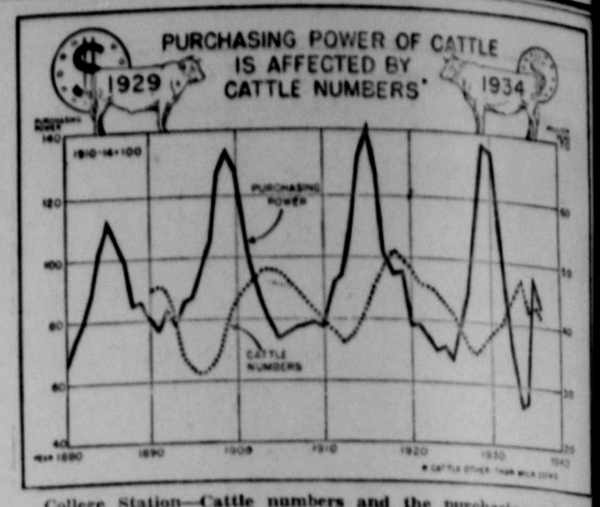
STILL FIGHTING BLACK

Washington, D. C.—Rebuffed in his first attempt to unseat Associate Justice Hugo L. Black by petition to the Supreme Court, Albert Levitt, former Federal judge in th Virgin Islands, has asked Chairman Ashurst of the Senate Judiciary Committee to introduce legislation declaring Justice Black's appointment unconstitutional. In New York, the Review of Columbia University Law School states its opinion that Justice Black's tenure of office on the Supreme bench depends solely upon his reappointmnt at the expiration of his previous Senatorial term in 1939.

MIAMI CLEANS HOUSE

Miami, Fla.—Alarmed at the influx of criminals from New York's underworld after the election of Thomas E. Dewey, Gotham's militant special prosecutor, as district attorney, the better elements of this resort have served notice on known gangsters and racketeers that their favorite night clubs and gambling houses will not be permitted to re-open this season. Already one notorious hang-out owned by a New Yorker with a long criminal record has been totally wrecked by an aroused band of citizens. Others have been warned to put up their shutters and leave town.



College Station—Cattle numbers and the purchasing power of cattle follow cycles varying from 14 to 16 years in length, according to W. E. Morgan, economist of the Extension Service division of Texas A. and M. College.

When the purchasing power of cattle is high, production is stimulated, and cattle numbers increase, Morgan points out. On the other hand, when purchasing power is low, production is curtailed.

In 1920, there were about 49 million head of cattle in the U. S. Morgan says. In that year a steer was worth, in terms of what the ranchman could buy with the proceeds of the sale, 79 percent as much as it was in the years of 1910 to 1914. In 1930, 10 years later, there were 38 million head of cattle in the country and a steer was worth 34 per cent more in buying power than it was in 1910-14.

International Sunday School Lesson

Christians Promised Rest

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Dec. 5. Text: Matthew 11:28-30; Hebrews 4:1-11.

PROFESSED leaders and masters of the world have made glittering offers to their followers, but only Jesus has promised rest to the heavy laden.

Monarchs and military leaders have offered men glory, and they have found the response of millions who would suffer and die for an intrepid and attractive leader.

Masters and demagogues of finance have offered the allurements of wealth; and they, too, have found a response from the masses who too trustfully have yielded themselves to be shorn of what they had.

Others have offered ease and pleasure, or have dangled allurements of adventure before humanity.

But here is Jesus who stands before the world and says, "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest."

HOW unique He is, and how accurately He discerns the deepest need in human life! For man cannot exist in life, and cannot go on, without rest. It is the one thing that all men need whether they seek it or not, and that they find ultimately in the grave if they do not find it as a heritage of life.

The conditions of the world, no less than this elemental need, emphasize what Jesus has to offer. We live in an age of unrest. Our modern life, particularly, is jumpy and hard-driven. We have not only speeded it up in purpose, but we have all the instruments and environment to make that speeding-up process terrific. The last thing that we think of is rest; nevertheless, it is the deepest need. We cannot go without it.

Jesus is equally unique in the sort of rest that He offers. It is not the rest of mere ease, or of apathy, or of irresponsibility. It is the rest that comes through responsibility, and through learning, through discipline, through the meekness of heart that removes man from the areas of greed and violence and ambition. It is the rest that comes through bearing the yoke.

The late Sylvester Horne preached a great but simple sermon from this text in London many years ago. He drew an illustration from our Civil War, citing the type of man who was irritable and uneasy in his personal and business relationships, whose temper made him a problem to his family and his friends. He pictured this man voluntarily accepting the responsibility of a great cause, accepting hardship and danger without complaint, finding rest and satisfaction through bearing the yoke.

That truth may be found in wide ranges of life that are not associated with battlefields. Paul gave a great commentary upon these words of Jesus when he said to the early Christians, "Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ."

Can there be any real rest for those who do not know what it means to bear a burden?

WASHINGTON LETTER

Financing New Farm Bill Adds to Worries of Special Session

BY SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 00.—The fight in Congress over the farm bill is on. But agriculture officials here do not expect any final action on farm legislation until the regular session which will follow the current or special session. They believe Congress is willing to give the country a new farm law, but that there will be debate and delay before a decision is reached on the point of how the cost of farm legislation shall be met.

When the Senate bill reached the floor, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, Republican, pointed to the section on appropriations which reads in part: "Beginning with the fiscal year commencing July 1, 1938, there is hereby authorized to be appropriated, for each fiscal year for the administration of this Act and for the making of Soil Conservation Act payments and parity payments under this Act, such sums as are necessary."

Senator Vandenberg protested that the bill as presented to the Senate does not specify how much money is needed or for what purpose it is to be used.

Senator Ellison D. Smith of South Carolina, chairman of the Senate Committee on Agriculture amused his colleagues more than informed them with his answer "Well, I don't know what the new farm program will cost. It will be on a sort of sliding scale."

WHATEVER is finally agreed upon as a fair estimate of the cost of the new farm legislation, there will be much difference of opinion over whether it should be paid for by processing taxes or by a general sales tax.

Chairman Marvin Jones of the House Agriculture Committee is in favor of a processing tax, while Chairman Ellison D. Smith of the Senate Agriculture Committee is opposed to this method. It is fairly representative of congressional sentiment on the question that one of the secret votes taken in the House Agriculture Committee to decide whether a processing tax on wheat should be recommended was 14 to 8 against that measure.

SECRETARY of Agriculture Henry Wallace and agriculture officials believe a processing tax is the way out. With the assurance that there will be $500,000,000 to spend on the farm program and the fore-knowledge that it will cost from $250,000,000 to $500,000,000 more to complete the program, they reason that a processing tax would raise the necessary funds by building up the consumer-price of commodities for which the market price is low.

To objections that this is unfair to the consumer their answer is that any price increase is a tax on the consumer, but that it is better for the consumer in the end to be required to pay a cent more for a loaf of bread because a processing tax on wheat had been imposed, than to pay a sales tax of 1 cent more for every loaf of bread. This widespread tax on sales they insist boosts the price of farm products and manufactured articles alike, and in many cases increases prices which are already unreasonably high.

There is provision in the Senate bill for payments to farmers who cooperate in soil conservation programs, and its authors claim for the law that it will provide an adequate and balanced flow of cotton, wheat, corn, tobacco and rice in interstate and foreign commerce. The methods suggested for achieving that end so closely resemble those employed in the outlawed Agricultural Adjustment Act that the question of its constitutionality is certain to be brought up frequently in the fight ahead.

MONOPOLY CURB HINTED

Miami, Fla.—The presence on President Roosevelt's fishing trip of Robert H. Jackson, head of the anti-trust division of the Department of Justice adds to the belief that a revision of the laws covering Federal control of monopolies is imminent. A tightening up of anti-trust legislation has been one aim of the Administration since a report submitted by Attorney General Cummings last Spring. The Presidential yacht Potomac will take the President's party on a short fishing trip in Florida waters.

EMPLOYERS MAY ASK POLL

New York City—A rule laid down by the State Labor Relations Board enables employers to invoke the Board's aid in determining the sole collective bargaining agency in behalf of their employees, and for the first time in any State ruled that any organization so chosen would retain its status for one year.

SEEK EUROPEAN PEACE

London, England — Conversations aimed at a more peaceful atmosphere throughout Europe continue this week between Premier Chautemps and Foreign Minister Delbos of France and Prime Minister Chamberlain, Foreign Minister Eden and Viscount Halifax, Lord President of the Council, representing Great Britain. The latter is expected to report on his recent discussions with Chancellor Hitler of Germany, the entire meeting being in the hope of ending the recurrent rumors of European war.

CAT AFIRE CREATES HAVOC

Jackson, Mich.—When a farmer's wife near here tried to prime the kitchen range with kerosene, the resulting explosion set fire to the houshold cat, which raced through the house, setting it on fire, then fled into a neigbor's barn, which also burst into flames. When firemen finally quenched the two fires outside of property damage, nine cows, six calves, a sow and a litter of pigs lay dead.

MORE MOTORISTS; FEWER DEATHS

Chicago, Ill.— National Safety Council records show 31,950 deaths from automobile accidents in the first ten months of this year, against 29,560 in the same period last year. Automobile travel increased 9 per cent but fatalities only 8 per cent during the period, and Milwaukee retained first place as the safest city of 500,000 or more population, with New York in second place.

URGES CHANGE IN AIR CONTROL

Washington, D. C.—Senator Pat McCarren states that he will at the coming regular session of Congress urge the passage of bills now before the Senate placing the country's airlines under the control of the Interstate Commerce Commission instead of the present dual authority of the Commerce and Postoffic department.

THE WEEK IN BUSINESS

Hearings are in progress this week before the Interstate Commerce Commission on plea of the railroads for a general rate increase designed to produce additional revenues of $508,000,000 yearly . . . Headed by Sir Josiah Stamp, eminent British financier and Director of the Bank of England, European economists, especially in Holland and Germany, attribute the business recession in this country to shaken confidence. All authorities say that it is temporary and greatly exaggerated as to its basic causes . . . Steel production continues to decline, reaching a low of 31.5 per cent of capacity . . . On a turnover of six-and-a-half million shares, prices on the New York Stock Exchange reached th lowest level's since April, 1935, although recoveries in later trading were general. It is evident that Wall Street has not yet discovered in the special session of Congress the concrete signs of remedial business legislation which was expected at the outset.

GOVERNMENT SHIP SALE ENDS

Washington, D. C.—Retaining 113 ships built during the World War for future use in a commercial or military emergency, the Maritime Commission will sell no more Government-owned craft except for scrap or non-operating purposes. Los Angeles, Cal.—Until all movement ceases in the huge slide in Elysian Park, which threw 1,000,000 tons of earth into the Los Angeles River bed, Riverside Drive has been abandoned in the threatened area and engineers are still doubtful of the possible danger to water and power supplies in surrounding districts. A concrete viaduct has been almost destroyed.

LARGER ARMY PLEA

Washington, D. C.—In a report to President Roosevelt, Secretary of War Woodring urges a larger and better paid army for the protection of America, "in an uneasy world, made restless by actual or potential warfare." The Secretary does not advocate our participation in the "feverish arms race," but holds that "as insurance against attack we should further strengthen our armed forces."

1937 Christmas Shopping Rush Begins With Bright Promise of Record Sales

WITH more money to spend than they have had in several years, America's Christmas shoppers have started the annual buying rush, bringing to business the bright promise of sales exceeding the record-breaking totals of last year.

Early buying has been brisk, retailers over the country have reported, although the actual holiday invasion of the stores is not expected to reach its stride until mid-December. With 21 shopping days in December, merchants anticipate the heaviest rush during Christmas week.

Purchasing trends point to conservative buying of useful articles, as was the case last year, although luxuries will not be neglected. Household furnishings, clothing, sports goods and automobile accessories hold the spotlight, but expensive liquors, perfumes and novelties have not been forgotten.

WELL-STOCKED stores await the buyers, and the shortages which confronted late purchasers in 1936 are not likely to be repeated. Since late summer increasingly heavy express and transport shipments have indicated retailers have been replenishing depleted stocks.

Almost any gift at a wide range of prices is available to the careful shopper. Lingerie, cosmetics, jewelry and clothing top the lists for women's gifts, with ties, clothing and accessories, sports equipment and motoring aids for men.

Ultra-modern are the toys that will surround the 1937 Christmas tree. Streamlining is predominant in all wheel toys, mechanical trains, and airplanes. Semi-scientific toys are featured revealing the mysteries of radio, electro-chemistry and engineering.

Dolls that eat and cry in an amazingly human manner provide the young "mothers" with an early opportunity to study child care. Doll houses have gone modernistic, as have doll carriages.

Despite rumblings of war throughout the world, military toys have lost popularity and fewer tanks and guns are being sold. Musical toys approach a perfection comparable with that of the real instruments.

CHRISTMAS card sales have increased, and postal authorities are prepared for a deluge of mail greater than that of 1936. Already long lines have been forming before postoffice windows, and shipments to foreign countries have hit an upward surge.

Issuing the usual "Mail Early" pleas, postmasters cited delayed deliveries of a year ago, in an effort to avoid the last-minute jam.

Transportation facilities will be extended from the middle of the month until after New Year's as thousands trek homeward for the holidays. Extra trains and buses will be put into service and additional flights are planned by major airlines.

The poor, the sick and the aged will not be forgotten. Charitable agencies report ready response to appeals for funds and welfare authorities hoped that the demands would not approach the peaks of depression years.

Even in the face of a business "recession," Christmas, 1937, apparently will be one of the nation's merriest.

Area Doomed by Sliding Mountain

Increasing danger that Los Angeles' moving mountain soon may start its plunge into the river 600 feet below brought orders for immediate evacuation of homes and buildings of the imperiled valley, shown in the above view from the mountain's crest. Geologists predicted any attempt to halt the slide of the two-million-ton mass of soil and rock probably would be futile. Two highways, bridges, and railroad tracks will be covered if the avalanche occurs.

Dedicated to The Perryon Rangers

TO THE FRESHMEN WHO ARE NOW ENTERING HIGH SCHOOL

Don't make the terrible mistake of loafing through the last and dearest school years of your life. Enjoy school days in such a manner that in later years you can look back in the past and recall all of the fun and good that was derived from them.

Too many seniors are graduated without acquiring their share of the knowledge "exposed" them. All students of Perryton High School have a wonderful opportunity to broaden their minds in almost all of the important types of industry and phases of life. Naturally, all subjects are good, but do not take a course that you feel you will not need in your later business life.

There is one exception—if you plan to be a common laborer, then by all means take the easiest subjects you can find.

THROUGH THE KEYHOLE

Sibyl, you should know better than to leave that boy here when you go on a visit (or maybe you should take Cleo with you).

Why is Ray McWilliams so eager for Christmas to come?

Harvey is gaining weight because he is drinking so many malts. Do you pay visits to the place because of the malts, decorations, or what?

Margaret seemed to be rushed off her feet—especially over at the skating rink.

Leland says the only thing that can stop him when he skates is the opposite wall.

Dorris is saying that she had a swell time at her grandmother's during the Thanksgiving holidays. Now was it her grandmother or that extra passenger she took aolng?

Renfro can't make up her hind about who she really wants to go with, or maybe she likes all the boys.

Billy Hammon was surely giving some girl a rush last week-end.

Is it "Queenie's" recent birthday or all of this skating that's making her feel old?

This skating must be affecting everyone. Jean says her head aches everytime she sits down.

What is bringing these bashful boys out of it? Werner was seen with a girl during the holidays.

SOPHOMORE CLASS NEWS

The sophomore class met November 29, in the study hall. A party is to be given the night of December 3, at 7:30, in the school cafeteria.

The refreshment and entertainment committees formulated plans for the evening. Sophomores, be sure to be there!

IN APPRECIATION

The Perryton school wishes to express their appreciation to Van W. Stewart for his generous gift of a seven volume set of books on "Source of Records of the Great War."

CAMPUS CHATTER

In one ear and out the typewriter—that's the how of this, er-ershall we be presumptious enough to call it a column? This way please. We have verra, verra much to say today, because verra, verra many persons were disappointed last week, because some of our most valuable paragraphs didn't appear. Our typist thought them unfunny. Of all the noive! Be, therefore, untaken back and unsurprised if some of this stuff has a two-week-old label.

Let's talk about Myrtis. I think I shall always remember her sitting by the radio—staring into space—laughing to herself.

We've been asking Miss Rabel why she calls her pony Madge or Midge. Which is it and why?

And then there's S. R. who says, "O, let me tell that story. It's my favorite!" And, "Let me tell that one. It's my favorite." And so on and on and on.

Bette Jo says she isn't the kind of girl who can be limousined to sleep. She can sleep at home.

"Shall I eat this candy?" Harvey asks, and then adds, "I hope."

All week-end Mary Ellen would say, "Clothes, hang on, if you're going with me."

Ruth would say, "Isn't it nice to have a lazy morning once in awhile." We thought all of hers were like that.

Among the names we wish our mothers had given us are Elvira, Blanche, Molly, Carrie, and Flossie.

All right, all right, all right. You're right. We're wrong. No wonder we're wrong. The moon got into our eyes. Besides our feet got cold.

The only twins we have on the campus are the Cough Drop twins.

Some call it the old army game, but did you know that a certain college football team won by a large score last week? That's what we heard.

Focus your attention here, keeds. Last week we thought Bill Stark looked like Herbert Mashall. Now we know he's a double for Edward G. Robinson.

After so much talk, we are hongry. Crunch, crunch, crunch! And away goes the pecan pie. Good dracious! But ett ees good!

Well we could go on forever and include other names and happenings, but you understand. We have to save our family name.

TIME

Arthur Brisbane has said, "Time is the one thing we possess. Our success depends upon the use of our time, and its by-products, the odd moment."

Let's spend our odd moments in the pursuit of some worthy cause. I mean let's not just "fiddle away" the hours to be "killing time." Start the practice of (every once and a while) reading an inspiring book, or an intellectual magazine, listening to good music, or maybe studying a little extra on the side. You'll find that you will enjoy these things more and more. They will make your odd moments mean something to you educationally.

Another old adage is "The ruin of most men dates from some idle moment." So if we are sure to see that we use all our odd moments beneficially, we'll have a much better chance to achieve success in life.

MEET THE SENIORS

Joy Nowlin was born September 16, 1921, near Huntoon, Texas. Prior to her coming to this school five years ago, she attended school in Huntoon. Joy (just another Wimpy) is very fond of hamburgers. She is also a news enthusiast. Her ambition is to be a school teacher, but she is undecided as to where she will go to college.

Before coming to this school last year, Pauline Hummer had attended school at Huntoon and a country school in Oklahoma. She was born January 3, 1922, at Mutual, Oklahoma. She plans to attend Texas Tech and become an English teacher!

POEM

Fellow students, here is something for you to think about. I didn't have to think about it for, after all, I'm a SENIOR.

A FRESHMAN knows not and knows not he knows not;
A SOPHOMORE knows not and knows he knows not;
A JUNIOR knows and knows not he knows;
A SENIOR knows and knows he knows.

Hear ye! Mine fren' who is it who always says, "Let ME tell that story. It's my FAVORITE!", and "Let ME tell THAT one, too. It's my SECOND FAVORITE!" And so on and on and on.

By the way, we must confess that it seems a long time since we heard Don singing "Sweet Leilani", and "Blue Hawaii"! Perhaps we should send him some flowers.

Say, Ted wants to know if you have eaten any of that delicious pecan pie Stuff!

Presenting All-America Team of 1937; Colorado Star Gets Quarterback Post

BY IRVING DIX

THE 1937 football season is practically at an end, with nothing much more than a few New Year's Day "bowl" games left to occupy gridiron fans' attention, but no football season ever drew to a close without its All-America.

And because there's absolutely no reason at all why we should be different, we present herewith, after a poll of coaches and critics the nation over, our All-America of 1937.

Seven seniors and four juniors compose our first team, with two or three eager and very good sophomores just missing out.

Starting with the ends we have John Wysocki of Villanova, a 185-pound junior, and Andy Bershak, North Carolina senior of the same weight. Both are excellent pass receivers while Wysocki also showed deadly accuracy as a place-kicker this year.

Joe Beinor, 200-pound Notre Dame junior and Ed Franco, Fordham senior rate the tackle posts. Franco tips the scales at 210 pounds and has been a regular for three years in the Rams' forward wall.

No one could ask for better guards than Vard Stockton, California senior, and Joe Routt, Texas A. & M. husky, who also winds up his gridiron career this season. Both boys hover around 190 pounds and pack a lot of speed.

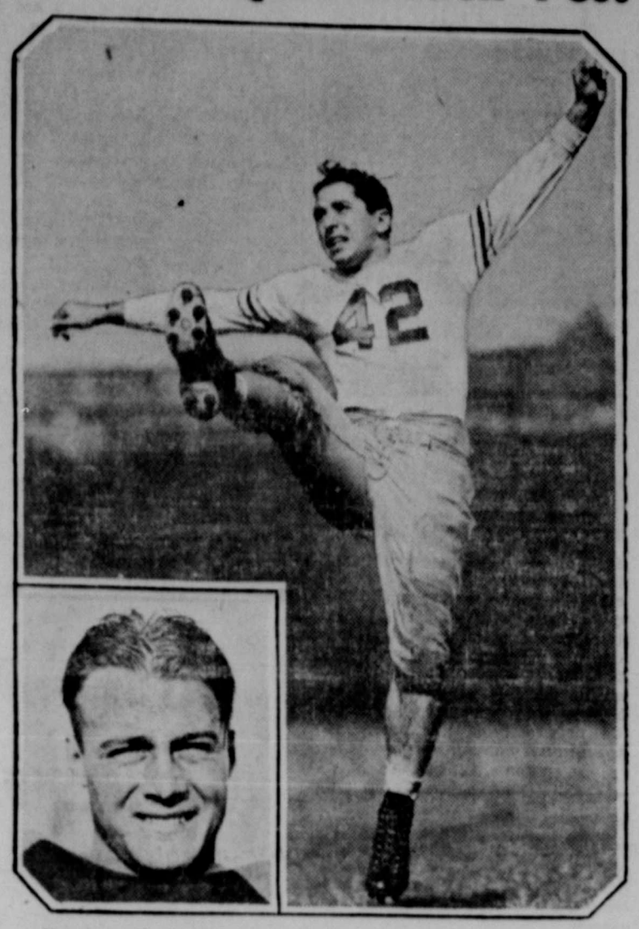
BIG Charley Brock, 210-pound Nebraska junior, wins the center berth, but only after the closest battle for a position our scouts observed all year. The Cornhusker pivot man had to beat off the challenge of such great snapperbacks as Alex Wojciechowicz of Fordham, last year's All-America, and Bob Herwig of California.

The backfield was comparatively easy to pick, even though the country was overrun with star ball-carriers.

No quarterback stood out like Byron (Whizzer) White of Colorado, 180-pound senior who is a triple-threat in every sense of the word.

Marshall Goldberg, Pitt's rampaging junior, who probably is the hardest-running back in the nation, is given one halfback position and Yale's Clint Frank the other. The Eli captain was the sparkplug of Yale's attack all season.

Corby Davis, 200-pound senior from Indiana, led the Hoosiers to one of their most brilliant seasons in many a moon. A great line-smashing fullback, Davis also was a fine passer and blocker.



Marshall Goldberg, above, Pittsburgh's great halfback is an eastern standout on the All-America this year, with Vard Stockton, inset, California guard, considered one of the finest players from the west.

OTHER boys who deserve more than passing mention are:

Ends: Frank Souchak, Pitt; Bill Jordan, Georgia Tech; Perry Schwartz, California; Ferd Dreher, Denver; Chuck Sweeney, Notre Dame.

Tackles: Tony Matisi, Pitt; Alex Kevorkian, Harvard; Pete Zagar, Stanford; Alex Schoenbaum, Ohio State; Fred Shirey, Nebraska.

Guards: Leroy Monsky, Alabama; Claude Evans, California; Joe Hays, Tennessee; Al Hoptowit, Washington State; Ralph Sivell, Auburn.

Centers: Carl Hinkle, Vanderbilt; Gene Moore, Colorado; Ralph Wolf, Ohio State; Pat McCarthy, Notre Dame; Dan Hill, Duke.

Quarterbacks: John Meek, California; Elmore Hackney, Duke; Crowell Little, North Carolina; Jack Robbins, Arkansas; Ambrose Schindler, Southern California.

Halfbacks: Vic Bottari, California; Don Heap, Northwestern; Sid Luckman, Columbia; Bill Osmanski, Holy Cross; Eric Tipton, Duke; Joe Kilgrow, Alabama; Dick Todd, Texas A. & M.; Billy Patterson, Baylor.

Fullbacks: George Karamatic, Gonzaga; Bill Hutchinson, Dartmouth; Johnny Rabb, Ohio State; Vernon Struck, Harvard.

PAMPA TO HOLD SANTA PARADE

JAYCEES ARE SPONSORING A COSTUME PORTRAYAL OF CHRISTMAS SPIRIT ON DECEMBER 4

Pampa, Tex.—Pampa and Gray county children are going to make their parade Santa Day, next Saturday, Dec. 4, so fascinating that Santa Claus will want to come here and see it.

The Jaycees who are trying to get Santa to attend the big Santa Day celebration are helping and encouraging school children in their parade plans. The Jaycees annually sponsor Santa Day.

At the head of the Santa Day parade committee is D. L. Parker of the Blossom Shop who is dealing directly with the school children for the Jaycees.

Mr. Parker announced that the schools have already decided which characters they will portray and which stories they will tell in the parade. The Jaycees will furnish part of the costumes, including false faces, masks, heads, hats and in some cases the lower portion of the costumes.

Hundreds of school children will take part in the parade which will undoubtedly be the most colorful and interesting ever staged on Santa Day here.

The school heads, teachers and pupils are cooperating "wonderfly" in the parade, Mr. Parker said. The parade will be fairyland in review.

No rural schools have entered the parade yet, but Mr. Parker, W. B. Weatherred, Claude Motley, general chairman, and other Jaycees are expecting most of the rural schools in the county to enter. They may portray any fairy story or characters of fairyland they wish.

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Spirit diversifies, classifies, and individualizes all thoughts, which are eternal as the Mind conceiving them; but the intelligence, existence, and continuity of all individuality remain in God who is the divinely creative Principle thereof" (page 513).

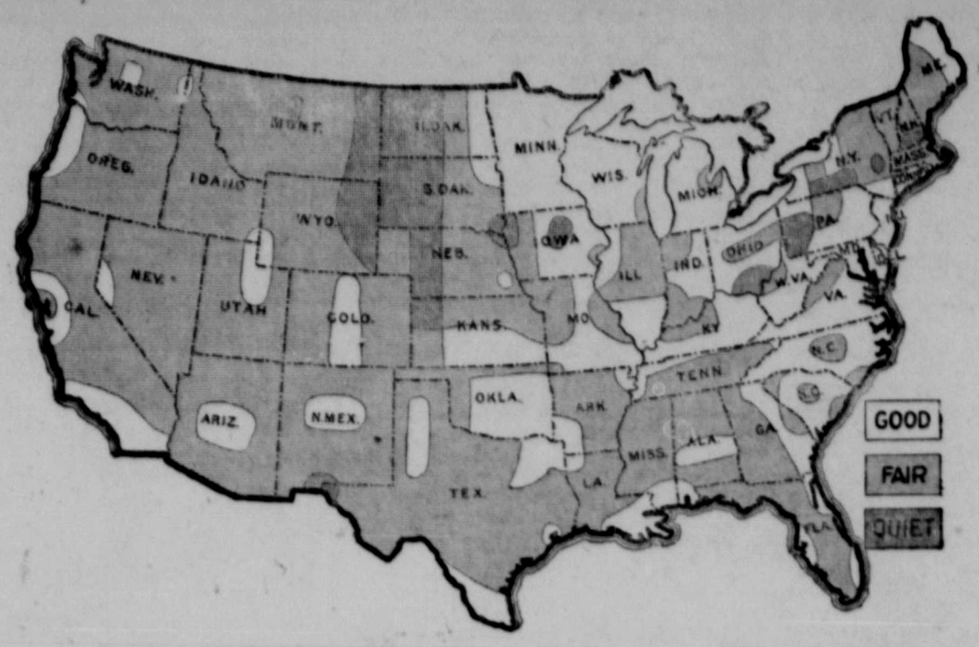
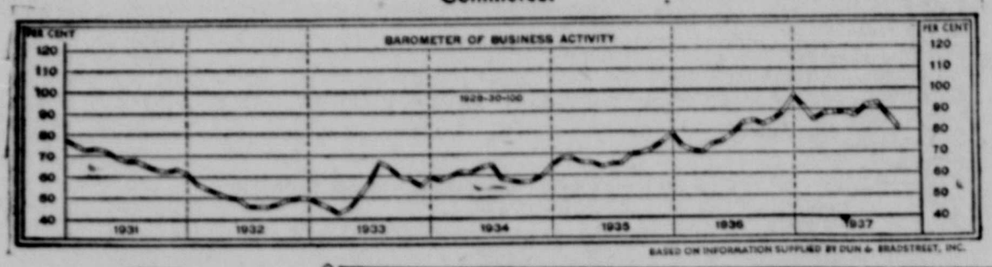
Lower Prices Continue to Shade Business Map



This map represents business conditions as of November 1, 1937, as shown in "Nation's Business", official publication of the United States Chamber of Commerce.



THE MAP

Lower grain and other commodity prices and the continued decline in business activity caused a further shading of the November 1 Map.

THE BAROMETER

The acceleration of the downward trend in business and the heavy industries during October found reflection in a further sharp dip in the chart line.

NIGHT CLUBS WARNED

New York City—Wearied by the practice of local night clubs to play for customers by exhibiting notorious characters, the police department has warned proprietors that their licenses will be revoked if they continue to advertise criminals. The new order came to a head when a local resort ballyhooed the appearance of Mme. de Fontanges, a Frenchwoman who shot Count Charles de Chambrun, former French Ambassador to Italy, because he "broke up her romance with Premier Mussolini," an alledged relationship which the latter has not admitted.

FRENCH PRETENDER OUSTED

Geneva, Switzerland — With 700 followers, believed to be pledged as "The Hooded Band" to restore a monarchial government to France, the Count of Paris, pretender to the French throne, was invited by the Swiss Government to leave the country immediately. In a statement to the Chamber of Deputies previous to the Count's appearance in Switzerland, Premier Chautemps admitted that the "Hooded Ones" (Les Cagoulards) movement was a dangerous threat to the country's peace.

THE STORY OF MY HOME FOOD SUPPLY PANTRY PROJECT WORK

By Mrs. Curtis O. Roach
Missouri Avenue Club

My work in the Home Food Supply Demonstration has practically all been done from a cooperators viewpoint. It was not until our last meeting in October, realizing that the Missouri Avenue Home Demonstration club was not to have a pantry to display for the County Achievement Day, that I offered mine. I firmly believe if a cooperator is to receive the fullest benefits from a demonstration she should do the same as the demonstrator.

The moisture which came last March encouraged us to try an early garden. Approximately 500 feet (nine 50 foot rows) of tile were laid. These were laid in sets of three rows each, all three being connected across the ends so the three are irrigated at one time. 350 feet of tile had been laid the year before, making a total of 850 feet of garden sub-irrigation. The first planting of garden was frozen but the next produced ample for table use and some for canning purposes though I did not have as much as I would liked to have canned. Twenty varieties of vegetables were planted (lettuce, radishes, spinach, swiss chard, bermuda plants, onion sets, carrots, parsnips, black wax beans, snap peas, butter beans, okra, squash, cucumbers, cantaloupes, tomatoes, and peppers.) The amount produced was very small because of the winds and grasshoppers. The cucumbers and cantaloupes grew abundantly. After making ten gallons of pickles I sold and gave away ten bushels. The same was true of the cantaloupes—many being given away. The asparagus plants were set out two years ago and supplied more than sufficient for thrice weekly on the table. Had a pressure cooker been available at all times, I could have canned more, but I did not become owner of a cooker until later in the summer. All the old bushes and vines have been raked from the garden and burned, leaving the garden in shape for fertilizing and plowing this fall.

Four years ago a permanent windbreak on the north side of the house and garden was set out. It was made up of four rows of trees, mulberry, American elm, Chinese elm and Junipers. A temporary windbreak for the garden was made of panels upon which sacks were tacked. These panels are normally used for individual hog pens but were not in use at this time. This gave good protection for the garden from the sweeping winds which undoubtedly aided in the setting on of sucumbers and cantaloupe blooms. We have 42 grape vines and 20 cherry trees. The late frost caught the cherries in bloom and the grasshoppers cut off the bunches of grapes so no production of either.

I believe the hardest task was the cleaning of the cellar as everything had to be carried out before white-washing. There is ample room to store my canned products and meat. I have found that meat keeps very well to leave it in the cellar the year around. As the jars were carried back to the cellar, they were labeled and classified according to the government bulletin C-76. The cheese case was made by my husband and then painted with some left over paint.

According to bulletin C-108, I have more than filled my canning budget with different varieties of vegetables, fruits and fruit juices, and meat, but I am sure it will keep for a year or two if not used. My pantry contains a total of 743 pints classified as folows: tomatoes and tomato juice, fruit and fruit juice, leafy, green and yellow vegetables, other vegetables, starchy vegetables, jelly, preserves, marmalades, and butters, sweet pickles, relish, sea food, and two gallons of home made vinegar. Last January 108 pints of beef were canned and 325 pounds of pork cured. No beef has been canned so far this fall but we are using a hind quarter and four hogs are being fattened to butcher in the next couple months. 110 pounds of lard was rendered last winter and 60 pounds of soap made.

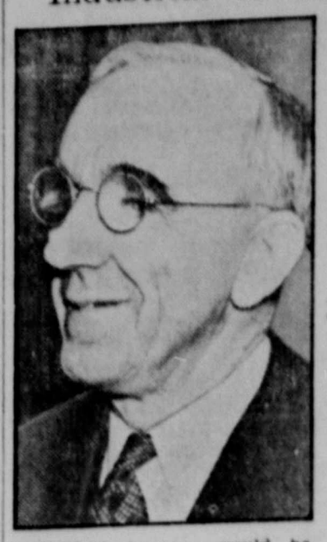
We do not store a very large quantity of fresh fruits or vegetables as we have found that spoilage is not offset by the advance in price. We purchase potatoes by the 100 pounds, select potatoes and onions by the peck, apples, grapefruit, and oranges by the bushel, flour and sugar by the sack. Most of these are purchased by trading our produce. At the present time there are still some carrots and onions in the garden.

At no time during my farm life have we had to purchase eggs, cream, milk or butter and very little meat. The average consumption of milk is three quarts daily, one-half pint cream and two pounds butter weekly. I make the American longhorn, the processed, and plain cottage cheese and am seldom out of one of these. From November 1, 1936 to the first of this month 144 dozen eggs were used. We have 175 White Wyandotte pullets for this year's laying flock, used 95 broilers, and sold 103 fryers. Records are kept on the chickens the entire year so that we know just what the pullets cost, egg production costs, profit per hen, etc.

Some of the provisions on my shelves were purchased from the grocery store by the case or container. Various reasons explain this: First the merchandise purchased are things which we could not produce this past season and are not produced very successfully in this county in any season; second, they are necessary in the diet; third, by trading out cases of eggs we receive a few cents premium above the market price, then a discount on the merchandise by purchasing by the case, so the groceries were most reasonable; fourth, the food was food we like, expect to have, and wanted handy for use and convenience in planning the meals.

The cost of my pantry for this year is $33.95, and I value it in dollars and cents at $132.77, leaving a profit of $98.82.

Urges U. S. Widen Industrial Rule



Individual incomes would be limited to $500,000 and federal control would be extended to include utilities, major industries and national resources under the proposal drafted by the National Farmers' Union, headed by John Vesecky, above, of Salina, Kan. Vesecky was elected president of the union at the annual convention at Oklahoma City, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Shanks, Carroll Mallett and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Clements and family were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Viva Buckhaults in the southwest part of the county.

WILL SHOW NEW FORD SATURDAY

1938 FORD DISPLAY HERE ON SATURDAY IS IN TWO NEW AND IMPROVED BODY TYPES

The 1938 models of the Ford V-type 8-cylinder cars—offered this year in two distinct lines—will be on display Saturday, December 4, at the Universal Motor Co., Perryton Ford dealers, successors to Johnson Motor Co.

One is a newly-styled Ford line, in coupe, Tudor and Fordor body types, powered either with the 85 or the 60 horsepower V-8 engine. The standard cars are designed to meet requirements of the many motor car owners, whose means dictate maximum economy in first cost, as well as in maintenance and operating costs.

The other is a newly-designed de-luxe line for owners who desire additional style and appointments. Powered only with the 85 horsepower V-8 engine, the line includes eight body types, the coupe, Tudor, and Fordor sedans, as well as the club coupe, convertible cabriolet, club convertible cabriolet, convertible sedan and the phaeton.

The two lines of cars have the same improved V-8 chassis, but their styling is distinctly different.

The de luxe cars are larger in appearance. The hood has been lengthened. Its nearly vertical front is carried in a "V" well down into the radiator grille, with the familiar V-8 emblem at the tip of the "V".

The new standard line cars also present a larger appearance, with a newly-designed front end, grille, hood and fenders.

Fenders in both cars are massive, formed lower to provide more complete coverage of the running gear and extending farther back. Headlamps are again recessed in front fender aprons, new type tail lamps in the tips of rear fenders.

Interiors of the two cars are roomy and attractive, styled in keeping with the exteriors. Both front and rear seats are wide enough for three persons. The driver seats of all cars except the phaeton are adjustable and the amount of adjustment has been increased. One of the unusual new features is the front seat of the Tudor sedans. The seat cushion is full width. Seat backs are divided, each being hinged diagonally so as to swing inward as it is tipped forward.

Night driving safety is also increased by addition of a headlamp beam control on the toe-board of both the lines. The control is operated by the foot.

The luggage compartment in all cars is closed off by a wall from the passenger space, and locked with a separate key. The compartment door hinges are concealed, the doors opening from the bottom.

See these new models at the Universal Motor Co., Saturday, December 4.

and bar pits built up to standard requirements.

It is necessary that this be done before the state lets the contract for the completion of the highway. This contract will probably be let in January. Under present plans for this and other main highways in Texas, deep bar ditches are being eliminated and shoulders are to be maintained in perfect condition, so that when a car leaves the pavement, it will not go out of control. To do this, it is necessary to obtain dirt from some other place than the regular highway right-of-way, hence the need for these extra right-of-way easements.

The state highway department is planning on placing more caliche on the No. 83 south of Perryton to the Wolf Creek. This is the portion of the highway that was caliched with WPA labor.

Mr. and Mrs. John Holland were dinner guests with Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Kiene Thanksgiving day. In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Ross Leatherman and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Anderson called and games of lively Bingo were enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Steele and son, Jackie Dee, visited in Follett, Thursday.

had ceased publication as a weekly and had graduated into the Dumas Evening News, a daily newspaper. Now it has been demoted, or maybe it is another promotion, but it has returned to its former status as a weekly and we expect the daily venture was pretty much of a "pain-in-the-neck," not to say anything about what it did to the pocketbook of the owners. Small town dailies that justify to be called a real newspaper, are seldom successful from a financial standpoint. We've had business men right here in Perryton seriously state that Perryton should have a daily. When it reaches the point when the business keeps the pay roll and many other bills paid up to date, then we might think about a daily. But why bother about that. If somebody wants to try the daily here in Perryton, we'll sell them our plant, that is provided they've got the cash for we certainly won't extend any credit to anybody crazy enough to enter the daily newspaper field in this town.

Frank Engleman and his brother down at Tulia did a mighty fine job with that splendid 36-page Historical Development Edition they published last week. We know Tulia folks appreciate this fine paper. In fact they appreciate the Tulia Herald every week. Why they've actually got grocerymen in that town that believe in advertising and dry goods firms that advertise oftener than once a month. Engleman & Engleman issue a good paper all the time but that 36-pager was a blue ribbon winner. Chuckfull of historical information concerning Tulia and Swisher county, and plenty of paid advertising from Tulia business firms.

Dozens of families in the Perryton area have availed themselves of the Herald's special $1.00 subscription offer and will have the Herald coming into their home every week for the next year. Remember folks, this $1.00 offer is good until the last day of this month and then the rate goes to $2.00 per year. This special price is for subscribers living in Ochiltree and adjoining counties. Elsewhere the price is $2.00 and after the first of the year, it will be increased to $2.50. We are forced to make this increase in rates due to the ever rising cost of newsprint and other items of expense connected with publishing a newspaper.

Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Campbell and son, Bob, visited Sunday and Monday with relatives in Dodge City, Kans. Mrs. Campbell's sister, Mrs. F. G. Nichols of Des Moines, Iowa, who has been visiting here several weeks, accompanied them to Liberal and took the train for Los Angeles, Calif., to spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hamilton, Canadian, were guests Wednesday and Thursday in the Geo. W. Cutter home.

Miss Viola Glaspie returned home Monday from a six weeks visit in Mexico and southern Texas. She and Miss Agnes Christie of Dallas spent a month in Mexico City and most of the remainder of the vacation was spent in Houston with Mrs. Evelyn Turner, sister of Miss Glaspie.

Duke and sons, Junior and Bob of Darrouzett, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Rice and daughters, Eleanor and Virginia af Hutchinson, Kans., Mr. and Mrs. Jake LeMaster and Frank Teague.
