The Scurry County Coliseum and livestock-agriculture building are getting a lot of traffic this fall and this week and next week are especially busy.

The Anxiety 4th Hereford Breeders came in over the weekend for their big sale today, and next Monday is the date for the big district meeting of public school teachers. District XIV of the Texas State Teachers Association holds its annual session here every third year, rotating between Snyder, Abilene and Sweetwater, and we understand there is a possibility that the Anxiety 4th Hereford sale could become an annual event here.

These two events require facilities that are not available in many places. The teachers association usually brings around 3,000 people into town, and they need a place large enough for all to assemble for a general session, which is available here in the coliseum.

The new agriculture-livestock building adjacent to the coliseum offers fine facilities for the Hereford sale.

Year Round Daylight Saving Time Club mostly lost a battle last year—although not completely—and consequently the state is going back on Standard Time for the winter months this coming Sunday. So, we feel it our duty to remind all that clocks and watches should be moved back an hour when you retire Saturday night. That is, if you go to bed at midnight, move your time pieces back to 11 o'clock and enjoy that extra hour of sleep Sunday morning.

Dick Roberts, who once did his typing exercises in this office and now toils for the Travel Information Division of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation, has an article in the Texas Highways magazine concerning famous memorials to animals, including Scurry County's white buffalo.

As soon as the November issue of the magazine got off the press, Roberts dashed off a note of explanation of some lines accompanying a picture of the white buffalo. It seems that a few words got left out somewhere around the print shop and it read as if the Snyder square was "a few miles northwest of the city."

"Since the Snyder Daily News never drops any lines, or has any typos, you probably won't understand how this happened," said Roberts in his best facetious manner.

Anyway, we do understand and it is a good picture of the original white buffalo statue, and it is in company with such distinguished representatives of the animal world as Odessa's giant jackrabbit, Muleshoe's Mule and the Glen Rose Dinosaur.

Roberts did have one complaint about our newspaper.

"You are sure putting a lot of pictures of strangers in the paper," he observed, which served to remind that he has been gone from Snyder for nearly a decade.

This November issue of Texas Highways likely will be as well known for its article, with impressive color photographs, about the famous "Lost Maples" of Texas on the Sabinal River. They are due to be included in a future state natural area.—WACIL McNAIR.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, Oct. 21, the 294th day of 1975. There are 71 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1805, an English fleet under Lord Nelson defeated French and Spanish fleets off Spain's Cape of Trafalgar, ending Napoleon's power on the seas.

On this date:

In 1797, the U.S. frigate Constitution, known as Old Ironsides, was launched at Boston.

In 1879, Thomas Edison invented a workable lamp at his laboratory in Menlo Park, N.J.

In 1938, the Japanese captured the Chinese city of Canton.

In 1944, the first large German city to fall to the Allies in World War II, Aachen, was captured by U.S. troops.

In 1945, women voted for the first time in France.

In 1967, thousands of demonstrators against the Vietnam War stormed the Pentagon in Washington, and at least 250 were arrested.

Ten years ago: President Lyndon Johnson returned to the White House from Bethesda Naval Hospital, 13 days after an operation for removal of his gall bladder.

Five years ago: The Nobel Peace Prize was awarded to Norman Borlaug, the American scientist who launched the socalled "Green Revolution" to help feed the world's poor.

One year ago: President Ford and President Luis Echeverria of Mexico met at the Mexico-Arizona border and discussed, among other things, the problem of illegal Mexican immigrants.

Council Makes New Rate Offer To Lone Star Gas

The Snyder City Council last night approved a 38.99 per cent rate increase for Lone Star Gas Co.

An ordinance setting the new rates was passed on first reading during the council's third session of studying the gas company's request for a rate hike.

Lone Star had asked for a 42.61 per cent rate increase, plus a cost adjustment provision which would enable it to adjust rates as the price it pays for gas fluctuates. The council rejected the cost adjustment proposal, and the approval of the 38.99 per cent rate increase came on a split vote of the council.

There was no immediate indication as to whether Lone Star would accept the rate proposal offered by the city. Darwin Melton, Lone Star's local manager, told the council that he would be happy to submit any proposal the council approved, but could not predict whether it would be acceptable to the company.

Earlier, Lone Star officials had told the council that its request for a 42.61 per cent rate increase would provide a return of eight per cent on the company's investment in facilities here and that the company felt this was the minimum figure it could consider.

The city's proposal specifies a rate of $2.90 for the first thousand cubic feet and a rate of $1.5161 for all above that amount.

The proposal passed on a 4-2 vote, with Councilmen Jerry McWilliams, Jack Cummins, John Fagin and Rod Waller voting for it and Councilmmen Charles Blakey and Truett Bryan voting against it.

Earlier, Blakey's motion to offer Lone Star an increase of 25 per cent was deadlocked and Mayor W.A. Vestal voted off the tie by opposing it. Vestal said he felt certain that the 25 per cent increase would not be acceptable to Lone Star.

The ordinance granting the 38.99 per cent increase will be up for second and final reading at the council's November meeting on Nov. 3.

Lone Star had advised that its request for a rate increase had been based on new "gate rates" approved by the Texas Railroad Commission. The gate rate is the amount Lone Star's Transmission Division is allowed to charge its Snyder distribution system for gas. The new gate rate takes into account the higher prices Lone Star is paying producers for gas, including a contract with LoVaca which had resulted in a special "pass-through" fee since last spring. The new rates would eliminate this fee.

In other business at the special session, City Manager George Patterson was authorized to submit an application to the Criminal Justice Council for a $25,275 grant to fund a juvenile program within the Snyder Police Dept. The project will provide a full-time juvenile investigator and a secretary to establish a juvenile division will assume the duty of investigating all cases involving juvenile offenders in the city.

The council also a approved a plan for citizen participation in the city's community development program.

N. Y. Governor Urges Aid Bill

By MIKE WATERS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York Gov. Hugh L. Carey told Congress today that unless a bill to aid deficit-ridden New York City is on President Ford's desk by early November, both the city and state will be going into default.

Carey told a House economic stabilization subcommittee that the Ford administration's reluctance to help New York indicates the White House "is content to allow the fate of 17 million Americans and the economy of our nation to twist slowly in the wind ..."

Carey testified one day after the New York state fiscal watchdog committee for New York City approved an austerity plan that will cut the city's budget by $724 million over the next three years and slash thousands more municipal workers from the payroll.

The governor told the subcommittee today that "the entire world is watching to see if the Congress of the United States will prove, once again, that our government can take care of its people."

Carey said that if federal help is not forthcoming, the city will default in early December "and then the state of New York, its vital agencies, many of its school districts and many of its local units of government will be forced into default soon afterwards."

The state has run out of resources to help the city, he said. Unless Congress can pass a bill and have it on the President's desk by early November, "Any help you might consider will be too late to be of consequence," he added.

Carey, head of the Emergency Financial Control Board, startled other board members Monday night when he told a meeting of the City Club that 55,000 jobs would be eliminated by 1978.

DOCTOR TESTIFIES

Medicine Can't Help Karen Ann

MORRISTOWN, N.J. (AP) — A neurologist testified today that medical science can do nothing to bring Karen Ann Quinlan out of a coma.

Dr. Julius Korein, who examined Miss Quinlan as well as 200 other comatose patients in the last few years, made the assertion in testimony at a trial of a plea by Miss Quinlan's parents that she be allowed to "die with dignity."

"Can the art of medicine repair the damage?" asked the Quinlan's attorney, Paul W. Armstrong.

"In my opinion, no," the neurologist said.

"Is there any course of treatment that will lead to the improvement of Karen's condition?" Armstrong asked.

"No," the brain doctor said. "I and many of my colleagues do not believe in saving a life that will lay as a vegetable for 10 years."

During Korein's testimony, Julia Quinlan walked wobbly-legged from the courtroom with tears welling in her eyes. The slender, red-haired homemaker left in apparent reaction to Korein's description of her emaciated, contorted 21-year-old daughter, who has feeding tubes and a respirator hooked to her body. The daughter is in a vegetative state and has difficulty breathing without the respirator, Korein said.

Mrs. Quinlan and her husband, Joseph, were scheduled to testify after Korein. They are seeking authority to disconnect the respirator, which has been keeping their daughter alive for six months.

The parents were accompanied to court Monday by another daughter, Mary Ellen, 19, and the family's parish priest, the Rev. Thomas Trapasso, who supports the right to unplug the respirator.

Two physicians caring for Miss Quinlan testifed when the trial opened Monday that they would not disconnect the respirator even under court order, although there is little likelihood she will recover from the coma.

Kissinger, Mao Meet In Peking

By KENNETH J. FREED
Associated Press Writer

PEKING (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger held a surprise meeting today with Chairman Mao Tse-tung. The talk in Mao's Peking home lasted one hour and 40 minutes and came at the invitation of the 81-year-old Chinese Communist party leader.

A State Department spokesman would not provide any meaningful information on the session, saying only that the "secretary found the meeting very useful."

China's official news agency Hsinhua, monitored in Tokyo, said Kissinger and Mao conducted their conversation "in a friendly atmosphere ... on a wide range of questions."

"Chairman Mao asked Dr. Kissinger to convey his regards to President Ford," it added.

Kissinger was holding his third meeting of the past three days with Deputy Premier Ten Hsiao-ping at the Great Hall of the People when the summons came.

Aides said Kissinger had no advance word that he would be called to Mao's home and had planned to spend the night at a reception given by the head of the American liaison office in Peking, George Bush, and at a private dinner.

The lateness of the meeting and its length caused cancellation of these plans.

Kissinger arrived at Mao's home accompanied by his wife Nancy and seven aides. After being introduced to Mao, Mrs. Kissinger and five of the aides left. Bush and Winston Lord, Kissinger's special assistant, remained for the talk.

Despite his meeting with Mao, there was no indication that Kissinger would get to see Premier Chou En-lai during his five-day visit to the Chinese capital. Chou is reported very ill with heart trouble and is not known to have seen a foreign visitor in six weeks.

Before his late-afternoon meeting with Teng, Kissinger spent most of the day in a sightseeing excursion to the Fragrant Hills, an hour's drive to the west of Peking.

Kissinger spotted a family at a crossroads and went over to their two small children.

Kidnapers Surrounded

MONASTEREVIN, Ireland (AP) — Armed police and troops stormed a house today in this sleepy town 40 miles west of Dublin where kidnaped Dutch industrialist Tiede Herrema is being held, police said.

A squad of troopers smashed down the front door of the two-story house and police officers led by Supt. John Fleming of Dublin's special branch force charged in to occupy the ground floor, a spokesman said.

The kidnapers fired five shots at the assault group, but no one was hit, police reported. The assault team did not shoot back.

"Self Destruct" Agencies Proposed In New Charter

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

ED NOTE: This is another in a series of nine stories prepared by the Associated Press on the proposed new state constitution that will be voted on Nov. 4. This article discusses the provisions concerning the Executive Branch. Others will deal with other phases of the eight propositions on the ballot.)

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The idea of "self destruct" state agencies is the most intriguing, and controversial, part of the proposed new constitution concerning the executive branch of state government.

Proponents say the proposal to recreate state agencies every 10 years would give the governor and the legislature more control over the approximately 200 state agencies which sometimes in the past have grown so powerful they paid little attention to the elected officials.

"Can you imagine the turmoil 10 years hence?" says Sen. Peyton McKnight, D-Tyler, head of a statewide group opposing the entire new constitution. "It puts every agency—those with responsibility for essential services such as mental health and mental retardation, law enforcement, rehabilitation, highways and parks—in the position of lobbying for continuing their existence instead of doing their jobs. It would also create an atmosphere for personal vendetta (by legislators) against various state agencies."

The new constitution briefly provides that statewide agencies with appointed members, except institutions related to higher education, shall have a life of not more than 10 years unless renewed by the legislature. There is no similar provision in the 1876 constitution.

Other new provisions of the proposed constitution affecting the executive branch include:

—Upgrade the agriculture commissioner to become a member of the executive branch.

—Provide for four-year terms for all executive branch officers and limits the governor to two four-year terms.

—Allows the governor to designate the chairman of state government agencies.

—Allows governor to remove agency members that he appointed, if the Senate does not disapprove by a majority vote.

—Mandates the legislature to provide funds for a governor-elect prior to inauguration to allow him to get his office in operation.

—Designates governor as chief planning officer of the state and allows the legislature

Sen. Bayh Will Seek Presidency

By DARRELL CHRISTIAN
Associated Press Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Sen. Birch Bayh of Indiana returned to the scene of his political beginnings today to announce his candidacy for the 1976 Democratic presidential nomination.

Bayh's declaration came after he received a rousing reception from his home town of Shirkieville, a small western Indiana farming community near Terre Haute.

Residents, who had decked out the town with banners proclaiming their support for Bayh, gathered at a tent on the Bayh family farm to hear the senator tell them of his intentions. The crowd was estimated at about 600.

The third-term Indiana senator, still fighting off laryngitis, saved the formal announcement for a speech in the Indiana House of Representatives where he started his political climb 22 years ago.

"I am running for the presidency to provide the kind of leadership that will not be content to tell the country what we can't do, but instead will tell the country what we can do, and show the way to get it done," Bayh said in his prepared announcement.

"Moral leadership demands not the fear that too many jobs will cause inflation, but the conviction that too few jobs will cause human suffering," he said.

Bayh listed the basis of the platform that he hopes will lift him over eight other already-announced candidates. He called for closing tax loopholes, breaking up oil company monopolies, vigorously enforcing antitrust laws and reforming the Federal Reserve system.

"The president who leads us into our third century must understand that the nature of the problems we face has changed and we cannot end the decade of the '70s with the institutions of the '30s, the priorities of the '50s and the programs of the '60s," he said.

Back in Shirkieville, a 30-foot banner was stretched across the main street in front of the the town tavern saying: "Our Sen. Birch Bayh — Our Next President."

Two Indicted In Ford Plot

By PATRICK ARNOLD
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The theft of a television set from a motel room was the undoing of carefully laid plans for what had for assassinating President Ford, federal officials say.

The two were indicted Monday by a federal grand jury for conspiring to assassinate Ford in Sacramento on Sept. 5 — the same day Manson follower Lynette Fromme allegedly pointed a gun at Ford as he walked through a Sacramento park.

A Justice Department spokesman said the alleged plot had no known connection with Miss Fromme's alleged attempt on Ford's life.

The indictment Monday said the assassination attempt was to include the bombing of a sewer as a diversion while shots were fired at the President.

The indictments charged Gary Steven DeSure, 32, and Preston Michael Mayo, 24, of Warren County, Va. They are tentatively scheduled for arraignment on the indictment Oct. 28.

Federal officials said DeSure had walked away from the state mental hospital in Warm Springs, Mont. He had been committed there for threatening President Ford last year during a court hearing on an request to extradite DeSure to California on forgery and stolen credit card charges.

DeSure had written a note to District Court Judge Robert H. Wilson of Billings saying, "I am going to kill the President of the United States. I am going to blow him straight to hell."

They were arrested in Santa Barbara, Calif., where they were arrested Aug. 26 — 10 days before the Fromme incident — in connection with the theft of the television set. They pleaded guilty to that charge and were sentenced to 90 days in the county jail.

They were arraigned there last month by a U.S. magistrate on charges of threatening the President and are being held in lieu of $100,000 bail each.

The alleged plot came to light the day after their arrest in Santa Barbara when DeSure allegedly told Detective Robert Zapata about the plan. Zapata said he had "built up a rapport" with DeSure, who "told me they had a plot to assassinate the President."

Zapata said DeSure had not disclosed any motive for the alleged plot — "I don't think he really has any strong political convictions.... When you try to talk to him about his political views, he doesn't really have any strong political convictions that I can see."

The indictment alleged that DeSure and Mayo planned to plant a bomb in a sewer near the California state Capitol during Ford's visit. DeSure "would detonate the explosives and stand as a lookout" while Mayo "would fire a shot at the president," the indictment charged.

A Justice Department official in Los Angeles said it is believed that the explosion was to be a diversion.

Asst. U.S. Atty. John J. Resch Jr., said the pair tentatively are set for arraignment Oct. 28 and would be tried in Los Angeles.

The alleged plot was the third involving Ford in the past two months. In addition to the attempt by Miss Fromme in Sacramento, Sept. 5, Sara Jane Moore, 45, was arrested in San Francisco Sept. 22 and charged with firing a shot at the President as he left a hotel.

DeSure and Mayo each were charged with conspiring to assassinate the President, which carries a maximum term of life in prison, and with threatening the President, which carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $1,000 fine.

to grant him powers of fiscal controls over state agencies.

—Requires the governor to report to the legislature every two years on the organization and efficiency of the executive branch and to submit reorganization plans, which must be acted upon by the legislature.

The new constitution would retain the Board of Pardons and Paroles and the Railroad Commission within the executive branch.

Since the executive branch and legislative provisions of the new constitution are lumped together as Proposition No. 1 on the November ballot, voters will have to vote for or against both of them.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe came out against the entire new constitution stressing that he was "unalterably opposed to annual sessions of the legislature. There is, in my opinion, nothing in the Legislative-Executive Articles that in any small degree offsets the detrimental effect of annual sessions of the legislature."

Former Gov. Allan Shivers has said publicly that he likes the executive article because it would strengthen the governor's role and "give him the authority which he needs."

However, Shivers said he would vote against Proposition No. 1 because he is opposed to a provision in the legislative article that calls for annual sessions of the legislature.

Former Gov. Price Daniel Sr., now an associate justice of the Texas Supreme Court, praised the new executive article and said he would vote for the entire new constitution. "The governor had needed more say about the budget and the power to do something about seeing that the appropriated funds are spent as they were appropriated for a long time," he said.

Former Gov. Preston Smith is against the new constitution. "I see no reason whatever to just junk it and start over," he said. "It's not antiquated, like some say, because we've amended it and kept it up to date."

District Court Judge Fred Red Harris of Dallas, a former state legislator, said he agreed with Shivers "there is some good in the executive article and that might make it easier for the executive branch. But what we would have to pay for that is too dear. It's time we tightened our belts and started taking a good look at how we can save some money instead of spending it all."

Record Apple Crop This Fall

WASHINGTON (AP) — In one of its "food marketing alerts" to consumers, the Agriculture Department says the record apple crop this fall will mean huge supplies on store counters everywhere.

Officials said Monday that processors have large inventories of canned and frozen items, however, and that "intensifying pressure" is being put on apples sold fresh.

"From east to west, all apple-growing regions are reporting crops well above last year's harvest," the department said. "Eastern states report a 75.3-million box crop, a 14 per cent increase over last year. Central states, with a 31-million box crop, report a 17 per cent increase, while western states expect their total to be over 66-million boxes, or 9 per cent above the 1974 crop."

AARP SPEAKER—State Rep. Mike Ezzell was guest speaker for the Snyder chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) Monday in the Senior Center at Western Texas College. Ezzell discussed the proposed new Texas constitution and answered questions about its provisions. It was announced that the Senior Center van will be available to provide transportation to the polls on Nov. 4 when Texas voters will begin balloting on the constitution.

White Appointing Voting Task Force

By The Associated Press

Texas Secretary of State Mark White says he is appointing a Voting Protection Task Force for the Nov. 4 election that will decide the fate of the proposed new state constitution.

"I am in the process of appointing more than 500 lawyers across the state who have volunteered to serve as election inspectors," White said at a news conference Monday in Houston.

White said the inspectors would have the authority of poll watchers—they could not stop elections, but would report any irregularities they found.

"We want to be sure every registered voter in Texas is able to vote freely in this important election," White said.

In addition to the local inspectors, White said, members of his staff in Austin will be stationed on election day at key locations across the state and will be available to any polling place within an hour.

Meanwhile Monday, statewide organizations continued to debate the proposed new constitution. There were these developments.

—Gov. Dolph Briscoe announced that the State County Judges and Commissioners Association of Texas meeting in McAllen had adopted a resolution urging all their members to work and vote for the defeat of all eight propositions of the proposed charter.

Briscoe announced his opposition to the entire constitution last week. He was scheduled to make a speech in Rocksprings today on the new constitution, followed by a news conference.

—The American Legion Department of Texas announced that it has endorsed the new constitution and urged all of its 80,000 members, plus the 25,000 auxiliary members, to vote for its adoption.

—Former Texas Supreme Court Chief Justice Robert Calvert, head of Citizens for the Texas Constitution, praised the San Antonio Express-News and the Dallas Morning news for their Sunday editorials endorsing all eight propositions. The Dallas Times-Herald endorsed the document aweek earlier.

—The opposition organization, Citizens to preserve the Texas Constitution, pointed out that the Fort Worth Star-Telegram asked readers Sunday to vote for six of the articles but to reject two articles, those on the legislature and finance. The Houston Chronicle earlier urged opposition to the new constitution.

—Calvert also announced the names of 50 more Texans as members of A Thousand for Texas, a group supporting adoption of the new constitution. "These people from all walks of life and all parts of Texas will be spreading the truth about the new constitution and its vast improvements in their communities from now until election day," Calvert said.

Two Mishaps Are Reported

City Police investigated two traffic mishaps yesterday in Snyder.

The first occurred at 9:12 a.m. in the 3700 block of College Avenue. Involved was a 1972 Ford Pick-up driven by Shara Francis Porter of Porterville, Calif., and a 1972 Chevrolet operated by Vickie Marie Snyder of 2300 Avenue G.

Later in the day at 7:10 p.m., police investigated a one-car accident.

Terry Underwood Webb of Rt. 1, Snyder apparently lost control of the 1973 Mercury she was driving in the 3700 block of Houston Avenue and hit a utility pole.

Only minor damage occurred in both mishaps.

Two Linked In Shooting

MEMPHIS (AP) — Memphis police say there is evidence linking two men arrested at Memphis with a shooting spree and robbery near Stuttgart, Ark. that claimed the lives of two persons and left five others wounded. Memphis police say the two men were arrested Monday night at Memphis after authorities received a tip from an undercover investigator. A search continues for a third man.

Three men participated in the robbery and shooting Monday afternoon at Cloud's Grocery in Casscoe, Ark., a farming community of about 200 persons located about 15 miles east of Stuttgart.

Memphis police said that, after receiving the tip, they stopped a car carrying three men in downtown Memphis. Two of the men were captured, but the other fled on foot.

"There was evidence found that linked the two arrested parties with the robbery and murder in Arkansas," said Lt. D. O. Lewis. Lewis said he could not say what evidence had been found. Earlier, authorities said police confiscated a pistol and some money in the arrest.

Franco Has Heart Problem

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Generalissimo Francisco Franco developed a heart problem in addition to influenza, but specialists said his condition improved during the night, informed sources reported today.

Premier Carlos Arias Navarro called on the 82 year-old Spanish chief of state at the Pardo Palace today to inquire about his health, according to the Spanish news agency Europa Press.

Informed sources said the doctors found that Franco had had an attack of endocarditis, inflammation of the heart valves.

Franco was reported to have passed the crisis quickly, the sources said, but they gave no indication of the treatment.

It was the second report of heart complications during Franco's current illness. An informant reported Monday that an arrhythmia, or fluctuation in the heart beat, had been detected briefly last Friday but was not considered serious.

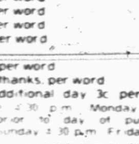

Doctors went again to Franco's palace on Madrid's outskirts early today, the sources reported. The palace appeared normal but telephone traffic was heavy.

But the sources said an official announcement on Franco's condition might be made.

A government source said Franco's Wednesday audience for civilian callers had been canceled and Franco had been advised to rest for a week.

The Spanish dictator became ill with what was officially described as a mild attack of the flu last Thursday. A spokesman said Monday that he was recovering slowly.

Burglary Attempt Stirs Memories

By DICK PYLE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Discovery of an attempted burglary at the offices of President Ford's campaign committee stirred memories of Watergate, but officials quickly discounted any comparisons.

Lester R. Benjamin, accountant for the President Ford Committee, reported finding two jimmy-bar marks on a file cabinet when he unlocked it Monday morning. But whoever tried to pry the cabinet open was unsuccessful and nothing was taken, he said.

The heavy-duty cabinet contained checks, cash and financial records but no political documents, according to Benjamin and Robert Visser, general counsel for the committee.

"We can't presume that burglar had any political motivations," Visser said. "There is no indication that this was any kind of a political attempt to do anything."

Visser said police concurred.

Nevertheless, the attempted break-in evoked memories of the burglary of the Democratic National Committee offices at the Watergate complex on June 17, 1972 — an event which ultimately led to the resignation of President Richard M. Nixon.

Five men were arrested in the Watergate burglary, which proved to have been planned by officials of the Committee to Re-Elect the President. In addition to attempting to photograph political records, their mission was to remove listening devices previously implanted in telephones.

By contrast to the nighttime Watergate burglary, Visser theorized that the attempt to open the file cabinet at the Ford committee offices in a downtown Washington office building could have occurred during the daytime when staff members and some workmen were in the offices.

He said the committee is on a seven-day week and six to 15 staff members worked both days of the weekend. Several workmen also were in the offices, which are undergoing a major revamping that includes the moving of walls and relocation of electrical and telephone outlets.

There was no sign of forced entry on the office doors or any other cabinets, including those which contain political records, Visser said. He said the locked cabinet is the only one of its kind in the offices.

Visser said the committee's security precautions were under review at the time of the incident and that proposals for changes are expected soon from the firm handling security for the building's owners.

TODAY'S TREASURES

A reader in Bremerton, Wash., who has done a lot of caning, has expressed her opinion concerning our somewhat negative attitude toward a do-it-yourself caning project. She expressed her hope that we will go ahead and try our hand at caning the seat of a rocker. Mrs. J.A. reassures us that "recaning is easy and that it usually strengthens a chair."

Another source of encouragement for our project is Mrs. L.D., Homestead, Fla., who said; "Don't let anyone talk you out of recaning a chair yourself. I found it easy and a most fascinating project."

She found step-by-step instructions in an Extension Service bulletin. Those wanting to attempt this project should contact their county Agricultural Extension Service office and ask for information on the subject.

Several readers have written to ask where supplies for caning can be purchased. Most craft shops either stock these or will be able to order what you need. If not, your extension office may be able to help you.

We appreciate your help and encouragement and can only promise to consider changing our mind about caning.

Another reader, C.L.W., of East St. Louis, Ill. ask information about a large, old family Bible which he has had for several years. He says that it originally belonged to the family of Henry W. Hoffman who died in 1905. Henry's brother, Luther, resided in Salisbury, N.C., at one time.

"I would like to know anyway to find if any of the family...would be interested in such a family heirloom," he wrote. If so, we'll be glad to put you in touch with the present owner.

For the first time in more than half a century, a complete set of "singers" of the Declaration of Independence will be sold intact at auction this month.

The rare set of letters and documents autographed by each of the 56 men will be sold at the Swann Galleries, New York City, for Haverford College, Haverford, Pa. The Haverford set – one of two owned by the college – is one of 34 known complete sets in existence. The college may realize as much as $250,000 from the set, according to the experts.

An interesting and informative booklet landed on our desk this week. Designed to put new knowledge into the hands of coin hobbyists, "A Bicentennial Numismatic Quiz" contains more than 100 brain teasers and answers to help collectors learn about the nation's history and numismatics at the same time.

The publishers of Coin Weekly, a weekly newspaper for collectors, have made this booklet available to readers of this column. It may be obtained for 25 cents handling cost from Coin World Quiz, Box 150, Sildney, Ohio 45365.

Make Halloween A Meet 'N Treat Time

Putting family fun and neighborliness into Halloween and taking the "trick" out of treating are the goals of a nationwide "Meet 'n Treat" campaign, now in its third year under the sponsorship of the National Confectioners Association (NCA).

"Supported by Kiwanis International and the United States Jaycees, the 'Meet 'n Treat' program not only offers an occasion for children, accompanied by Mom or Dad, to enjoy the tradition of doning costumes and visiting door-to-door for treats, but also affords an opportunity for parents to meet their neighbors," declared Nello V. Ferrara, Chairman of the Board of the NCA.

"'Meet 'n Treat' can also mean inviting children or families over for a neighborhood party after treating, organizing a block masquerade party, or holding school festivities including competitions for the best costumes," Mr. Ferrara said.

A Halloween safety program, based on the rules of the National Safety Council, is also part of the "Meet 'n Treat" plan which is designed to preserve the innocent, fun-filled tradition of Halloween for youngsters, while encouraging a spirit of parental involvement and neighborliness among adults.

Commonsense safety tips recommended by the NCA include the following: (1) Young children should be accompanied by a parent or other responsible adult on their "treating" rounds; (2) "Meet 'n Treat" visits should be confined to the neighborhood and made in the afternoon or early evening hours; (3) Householders are encouraged to give wrapped or sealed candy or other treats; (4) Persons welcoming children should turn on porch or exterior lights as a sign of hospitality; (5) Halloween costumes should be bright in color, short enough to prevent tripping, nonflammable, and decorated with reflective tape for greater visibility.

Basic pedestrian safety rules of the National Safety Council are also advocated by the Association.

In order to gain community support for the "Meet 'n Treat" plan, mayors and governors across the country are being requested to endorse the program and to proclaim Halloween as "Meet 'n Treat" day in their towns, cities, and states. Last year, hundreds of "Meet 'n Treat" proclamations were issued by elected officials, including Governors Dan Walker of Illinois; Ronald Reagan, California; Brendan Byrne of New Jersey; Robert B. Docking, Kansas; John D. Vanderhoof, Colorado; Sherman W. Tribbitt, Delaware; Jimmy Carter, Georgia; John C. West, South Carolina; and Francis W. Sargent, Massachusetts.

Among the nation's mayors who signed "Meet 'n Treat" proclamations last Halloween were Richard J. Daley of Chicago; Tom Bradley, Los Angeles; Virginia A. Young, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; George ;A. Cole, Sioux City, Iowa; Orville L. Hubbard, Dearborn, Mich.; and David E. Crosby, Brockton, Mass.

"The 'Meet 'n Treat' plan has been gaining greater acceptance each year," said Mr. Ferrara. "It is our hope that Halloween '75 will see an even greater number of families and communities enjoying the wholesome fun of 'Meet 'n Treat.'"

When you use the short club properly there are several rules to follow. The first one is that you do not bid it when your distribution is anything except 4-4-3-2 or 4-3-3-3. The second is that you do not bid it when you only hold two clubs. The third is that you do not bid it when you hold four diamonds to an honor.

Another name for the short club is the junior notrump since in general it is bid when you have notrump distribution and are too weak to open one notrump.

In general when you open a club with 4-3-3-3 distribution and your partner does not bid your suit you should rebid one notrump and conceal your four-card major. Thus, South rebid one notrump, not one spade.

This time it is all rather unimportant. North-South would reach three notrump on any bidding system and make an overtrick.

Ask the Jacobys

A Mississippi reader wants to know what you should respond to partner's forcing two-spade bid when you hold: ♠ K J 4 ♥ A 9 7 6 5 ♦ K 3 2 ♣ 7 4.

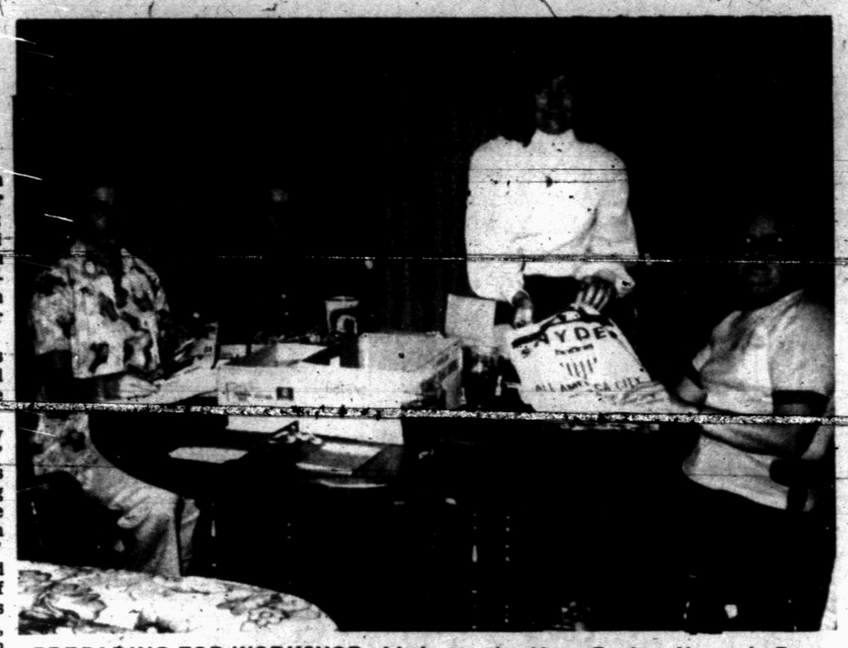

We recommend a mere raise to three spades to set the suit. Later on you plan to take further action to show that you really have a tremendous hand opposite a forcing bid.

Giants Upset Buffalo

By MARVIN R. PIKE
AP Sports Writer

BUFFALO (AP) — Steady John Leypoldt missed and unsteady George Hunt didn't.

As a result, the New York Giants upset the Buffalo Bills 17-14 in a National Football League game Monday night. The Bills were a two-touchdown favorite going into the nationally televised game.

Hunt, who went into the game with only one successful field goal in three tries and who missed two attempts against the Bills, his game-winner reminded him of his football days at the University of Tennessee.

"I kicked one with 13 seconds left and the Bills suffered their first loss of the season after four victories.

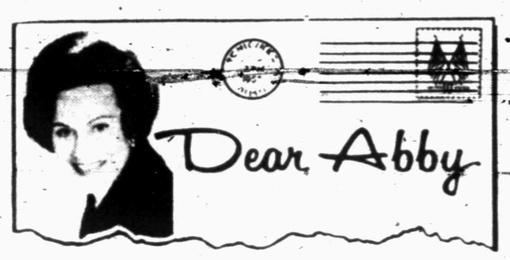

It was the Giants' second triumph against three losses.

Buffalo's Leypoldt, who made good on his three field goal attempts in earlier games, blew a 19-yard effort with 3:16 remaining in the fourth period. The score was tied at 14-14 at the time.

Then, with 1:12 to go, Leypoldt attempted a 50-yarder. It was tipped by the Giants and the Bills were dead.

Gal's Boss Barters Holidays

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I work in an office with three other girls. (I am the only one who's Jewish.)

I asked my boss if I could have one day off for the Jewish New Year since this is the holiest of all holy days for me.

He said, "Yes, if you come in on Christmas to make up for it."

He's quite a kidder, but I'm not sure he was kidding. What do you think?

ROSIE

DEAR ROSIE: He was probably kidding—unless your office is open on Christmas.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 24-year-old girl who got myself into a mess I can't get out of.

My best girl friend's father (I'll call him "Pops") had a real nice car for sale. I've been out of work for a long time and I needed one, so Pops offered to sell me the car for sex.

I'm not a bad girl, but I figured, for once, why not?

Well, I got the car and the papers, and I gave Pops the first "installments" of sex, and now he's in love with me! (I forgot to mention, he's 52, a widower and in pretty good shape for his age.)

Pop's daughter is leaving her husband because she found out he's gay, and her father offered to let us stay at his house. We're both broke and have no place to go, but I'm afraid if I move in, it will be hard to move out.

Pops has asked me to marry him, which I could never do, but I hate to hurt his feelings. Also, I don't want to spoil the relationship between him and his daughter.

I could sure use some advice.

MICHIGAN MESS

DEAR MESS: Your refusal to marry "Pops" should in no way damage the relationship between him and his daughter. DON'T move into his house. He might expect you to pay off the rent the same way you're paying off the car, and you'd be there indefinitely. The advice from here is to get a respectable job, go to work and quit bartering your body.

DEAR ABBY: We own a dog that is always kept on a leash when he's put outside.

Our neighbor has cats that are allowed to roam freely outside and onto our property. They tease our dog, causing him to bark until we put the cats back on their own property.

We have had anonymous phone calls informing us that our dog's barking is disturbing the entire neighborhood. Abby, if those cats didn't tantalize our dog, he wouldn't bark.

What do you suggest we do? We've complained to the cat owners, but they still turn their cats loose on our property.

FUMING

DEAR FUMING: Tell the cat owners that if their cats are found on your property, you will ring up the local pound. Then follow through. One "cat-astrophe" should do it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "TEX" IN DALLAS: It's much easier to forgive an enemy after you get even with him, isn't it?

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Lo-Vaca Hearing Set Today

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Lawyers representing the City of San Antonio were expected to seek a Nov. 17 trial date during a pretrial hearing today in the city's multi-million dollar breach of contract suit against Lo-Vaca Gathering Co.

Trial of the three-year-old contract dispute was set for Monday in 166th District Court here but both sides announced they were not yet prepared.

In motions filed last week, city lawyers said Lo-Vaca has refused to provide requested data about gas transactions to outside buyers while San Antonio gas shipments were being curtailed.

According to the suit, San Antonians paid $118 million above 1962 contract price to obtain natural gas and fuel oil from Lo-Vaca Gathering Co. during the two-year-period ending Aug. 31.

The city hopes in its suit to recover that amount plus $43 million in additional damages it claims.

The city also was expected today to seek a court order to compel Coastal States Gas Corp. board chairman Oscar Wyatt to file more complete answers to written questions. Coastal States is the parent corporation of Lo-Vaca and Coastal States Gas Producing Co.

The city will propose a final, pre-trial hearing for Nov. 10, to deal with remaining pre-trial conflicts, lawyers said.

Stennis Doing Fine

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., is "doing fine" after surgery at Walter Reed Medical Center to remove his gall bladder and a gallstone, his office says.

Subway Crash Probed

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mayor Octavio Segties blames "technical and perhaps human failure" for the rush-hour collision of two subway trains that took the lives of 26 persons and injured 55.

A spokesman for the mayor said there was no suspicion of sabotage. Key factors appeared to be that the train in front was slightly behind schedule because its emergency cord had been pulled twice, and an electronic emergency braking system on the second train "somehow didn't work," Red Cross authorities said.

An investigation commission went to work immediately.

The collision Monday morning was the first major accident on Mexico City's 6-year-old subway, built with French assistance at a cost of $640 million and modeled on the Paris Metro.

The accident occurred above ground at the Viaducto station, some 20 blocks south of the city's main plaza.

Train No. 8 was stopped at the station, putting off and and taking on passengers, when Train No. 10 crashed into its rear. The trains were packed with commuters on their way to work, women on their way to market, university students in blue jeans and schoolchildren.

"The impact was so tremendous that the second train ploughed halfway through the rear car of the waiting train," said Red Cross worker Arturo Luna. "The first train was thrust up into the station's roofing.

"There was blood everywhere, screaming and hysteria, and cries coming from within the twisted wreckage."

Many Farmers Get Fed Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers in many parts of the country have been collecting federal "emergency" benefits for years, sometimes receiving duplicate subsidies for crop and livestock losses, the Agriculture Department said today.

"Federal emergency assistance programs for farmers, amounting to hundreds of millions of dollars each year, are providing duplicative benefits to many farmers and are paying enormous subsidies to maintain farming in areas ... that are generally unsuitable for farming," the department said.

States listed with "a high percentage of counties with disaster designations in three or more years" included: Alabama, Arkansas, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Maine, Oklahoma, South Carolina and Texas.

The report included figures showing that some farmers in 528 counties — more than one-sixth of the nation's total — have collected federal disaster payments almost consistently in recent years. In 224 of those counties, farmers have been eligible in each year since 1970, officials said.

"In these counties, federal assistance payments have become a way of life and provide a specialized kind of welfare to supplement farm income," the report said.

"Although USDA has attempted to design regulations to prevent duplicative payments, the complexity of these regulations — and sometimes less than full disclosure by farmers — frequently results in windfall benefits," the report said.

The paper was made available at the request of newsmen who had asked about USDA's disaster and emergency programs to help farmers.

According to the information, farmers in the fiscal year which ended last June 30 collected nearly $1.4 billion under a variety of USDA aid programs, including $735 million in "emergency" loans in areas declared to be stricken by disaster. Although those had to be repaid, the loans carried subsidized low interest rates, officials said.

One of the main complaints involved "disaster" payments for crop losses authorized in the 1973 farm law which provides direct subsidies to help make up losses caused due to weather or other national causes. Those payments, which do not have to be repaid, total $557 million last fiscal year.

Beekeeper indemnities, federal crop insurance payments, dairy indemnities and emergency flood control repair subsidies also were listed.

In commenting on the direct disaster payments, the report said those are based on losses for individual crops, thus opening the possibility for duplication. Also, it said, the program is unfair to other farmers.

"A producer may compensate for a loss in one crop — for example, wheat — but more than make up the loss by a higher than expected return on another part of his farm enterprise — for example, livestock — but would still be entitled to a payment for his wheat loss," the report said.

Under the law, a farmer is not entitled to a disaster subsidy if his loss was slightly less than one-third of normal production. But if the loss was one-third or more he would be eligible for payments.

"Disaster payments are not limited to needy farmers," the report said. "Corporations or other high-income farms are entitled to payments in exactly the same way as low-income, single-crop farms," officials said.

During a six-year span, 1970-75, 47 per cent of all counties in the country had a disaster designation during at least three years; 28 per cent in at least four years; 17 per cent in at least five; and 7 per cent in all six years.

DESPITE DOOMSDAY PREDICTIONS

NY Scientist Sees Bright Future For World Society

WOODLANDS, Tex. (AP) — Despite the doomsday prediction of famine, shortages and chaos from many scholars, a New York scientist said here Monday that humanity is merely passing through a transition toward an era of "joy, fulfillment, peace and prosperity for nearly everyone."

Dr. Herman Kahn, presenting a solo of hope amidst a concert of dispair at a conference here on the future of mankind, said that bleak predictions about food, energy and materials shortages are actually underestimating the inventiveness of man to adapt and to solve his own problems.

Dr. Kahn is the leader of a team of scientists at the Hudson Institute in Coroton-on-Hudson, N.Y. who are analyzing problems now confronting world society.

And their conclusion, he said, is that the future can be bright.

"A consensus has indeed emerged among many scholars and publicists that a turning point has been reached in world history that portends a much more disciplined and austere—even bleak—future for mankind," said Dr. Kahn.

Adherents of this consensus, he said, rule out continued industrial growth and believe that a basic change is required, "from affluence to austerity," and a decline in economic expansion.

According to the Hudson Institute study, he said, "many of these positions may be based to a large extent on a misreading of certain current realities and their implications for the future.

"It also shows that many of the issues causing such concern today are more the growing pains of success than precursors of doom," he said.

"The application of ... intelligence and good management in dealing with current problems can enable economic growth to continue for a considerable period of time," said Dr. Kahn, and that the policies of "no growth" advocated by some scholars "would consign the poor to indefinite poverty."

He said the conclusion of many experts that mankind is heading for either a catastrophe or a "no-growth" society is "based on implausible assumptions" and that the Hudson study indicates growth "is likely to continue for many generations, though at gradually decreasing rates."

The Hudson study, he said, shows that mankind is in a transition period in the industrial revolution. In the next 50 years, he said, mankind will go through "a great transition from a world which was a vale of tears and suffering ... to a place of relative joy, fulfillment, peace and prosperity for nearly everyone."

This transition, said Dr. Kahn, is being made more difficult by the doomsday philosophy of many that the high use of resources by the United States and other industrial countries are causing hardship and poverty in underdeveloped countries.

Actually, said Dr. Kahn, poorer nations will be able to develop in the coming decades because "developed nations like the United States do use resources so intensely."

"Ten years ago most Americans felt pride in their high rate of resource utilization," he said. "Today they are generally being taught to feel defensive and even ashamed of it."

Dr. Kahn said the Hudson Institute team developed a transition scenario that includes these features:

—Rates of population and production growth will level off.

—In 200 years, the world population will be about 15 billion, compared to the present four billion, and the average income will be about $20,000 (in current dollars). —The gross world product in 2176 will be about $300 trillion, compared to the present $5 trillion.

—Shortages of raw materials will be overcome through substitutes, redesigns and alternative processes.

—The World will have enough land and water to feed itself, if used properly.

—Through innovation and progress with new technology, energy problems will be overcome and supply will be sufficient.

—Pollution problems will be solved and, in fact are in the process of being solved.

Dr. Kahn said the study views current problems of shortages and population can be only "transitory issues" if approached properly.

"We believe that many fashionable concerns of the day encourage the self-defeating beliefs that our present problems are either beyond recall or that efforts to solve them will only make them worse," he said. "Our view is different.

"We believe that available skill, sound management and sensible policies can transform some of the issues of today into memories," he said.

The remarks were contained in a discussion paper released by Dr. Kahn before his appearance before conference delegates for a forum of debate.

The paper was a rare note of optimism in the conference, which, by its very name—"Limits to Growth '75"—takes an opposite view. The conference has attracted more than 400 scholars, scientists and business executives here for discussions on the problems harassing the future of mankind.

Brazelton, Chief of the Division of Urban Education of the Ohio Department of Education, will speak on "A Mind Is a Terrible Thing to Waste" at the annual district convention for District XIV, Texas State Teachers Association to be held Monday, October 27 at the Scurry County Coliseum in Snyder.

Mrs. Dorthy Kayser, Snyder teacher who is president of TSTA, District XIV, said that approximately 2,500 members are expected to attend. The district covers Callahan, Eastland, Fisher, Haskell, Jones, Mitchell, Nolan, Scurry, Shackleford, Stephens, Stonewall, and Taylor counties.

The program will begin with certification of delegates at 5:30 p.m., Sunday at the Student Center at Western Texas College. The annual meeting of the House of Delegates for District XIV will be held at 7 p.m., Sunday at the Student Center following a dinner for delegates between the hours of 6 and 7.

The Monday general session will begin at 10 a.m. at the Scurry county Coliseum, with Mrs. Kayser presiding. This will be preceded by the serving of coffee in the coliseum annex where exhibits will be available for teachers to view. There will be a multi-media slide presentation presented in the main auditorium between 9:45 and 10. At the general session, special music will be presented by Mrs. Lynn Bethel at the organ. The invocation will be "The Lord's Prayer" offered by Darrell Collins, eighth grade student at Snyder Junior High School. TSTA greetings will be brought by Mrs. Grace Grimes of Marshall, current president-elect of the Texas State Teachers Association.

AMBROSE E. BRAZELTON

Some 28 sectional meetings will be combined with luncheons at various locations in Snyder to conclude the convention Monday afternoon.

Officers of TSTA District XIV, in addition to Mrs. Kayser, are Dr. Harold Brinson, president elect of Abilene; Bobbie Box, past president of Snyder; Eleanor Dryden, secretary of Snyder; Walter Stuart, treasurer of Moran; Virginia Grove, state executive committee member of Snyder; Don Simmons, state executive committee member of Abilene; Ruby Britt, district executive committee member of Abilene; and L.F. Newton, district executive committee member of Clyde.

Brazelton, the featured speaker for the Monday general session, has served as Chief of the Division of Urban Education of the Ohio Department of Education since 1973. He has a B.S. from the University of Akron and a M.E. from Kent State University. He was a classroom instructor for 13 years, and Project Director of Model Cities Technical assistance, Ohio Department of Education, for two years. He is a member of numerous professional associations including NEA. In 1963, he received the Valley Forge Freedom Foundation Teachers Medal and in 1971, the OAHPER Meritorious Service Award. He is the author of several publications on physical education.

Several Funds Founded On Social Consciousness

NEW YORK (AP) — A few years ago the concept of investing on criteria of social responsibility rather than on profit alone caught hold among some institutional and individual investors.

Churches and universities began scrutinizing their portfolios to weed out investments that might conflict with ethical beliefs. Individual investors asked questions about a company's position on ecology and equality.

Several mutual funds were founded with the idea of combining good investment practices with what they considered to be the social good. If a company failed to meet certain social criteria they were barred from portfolios.

Only two such funds now attract much attention. Both have grown more slowly than their founders had anticipated. Managers of both funds have the feeling there might have been a bit more talk than commitment among the socially conscious.

Kenneth Oberman, president of the Dreyfus Third Century Fund, found that some of the nation's top companies wouldn't talk to his analysts.

Nevertheless, Third Century and Pax World haven't fared nearly as badly as have most mutual funds over the past three or four years, when the market in general deteriorated.

Both funds feel they have demonstrated there is no basic conflict in their approaches. Corporate social consciousness, they say, is now an established criterion of good management.

Third Century, which began operations on March 29, 1972 at $11.41 a share was selling at $10.24 at the end of September, a decline of 10.2 per cent, compared with 25 per cent for the N.Y. Stock Exchange composite index.

More recently, Third Century has been advancing strongly, gaining more than 50 per cent in asset value in the calendar year to September 25, and nearly 65 per cent over the 12 months to that date.

A product of the multibillion dollar Dreyfus Corp., the fund has more than $20 million of assets and, according to Howard Stein, who heads Dreyfus, is ready to grow strongly.

The concept, he said, has proven to be viable, and he maintains he is convinced that in the country's third century of existence the corporate goal will be to "translate power and wealth into a more fulfilling life for people."

Pax World is much smaller, having assets of less than $1 million. It was founded in August 1971, and since then the per share price has fallen from $10 to about $7.50, although it has paid $1.50 in dividends.

Pax World was founded by two staff members of the Board of Social Concern of the United Methodist Church, J. Elliott Corbett and Luther Tyson, and has a much more restrictive investment policy than does Third Century.

Still, in a popular ranking of 550 mutual funds for 1974, Pax World ranked 137, a position it achieved despite restrictions on investing in any weapons producers, which excludes most chemical and electronics companies, among others.

Radar Used To Catch Smugglers

PHOENIX (AP) — The U.S. Customs Service has been using Air Force national defense radar since May 30 to catch airborne smugglers of Mexican narcotics.

Customs interceptors based at Tucson and San Diego have made 38 arrests and seized 15,000 pounds of marijuana, a dozen airplanes, 13 ground vehicles, and small amounts of heroin and cocaine in the past 30 days, officials said Monday.

The North American Air Defense Command (NORAD) confirmed that customs officers man Air Force radar consoles around the clock at Luke Air Force Base here, at El Paso, Tex., and Silver City, N.M., to catch smugglers flying across the Mexican border from Brownsville, Tex., to San Diego.

Customs officers see all data collected by NORAD's Southern Air Defense System, said Maj. Jon E. Prenez, spokesman for the 26th Air Division at Luke.

"We help train them on the equipment," Prenez sad. "We don't get involved with them as far as their work is concerned.

"They are tenants in our centers. In an air defense emergency, NORAD people would take off."

Seized Airplanes range from single-engine models to the DC3, a World War II vintage twin-engine cargo plane.

"There have been some guns, too," said a spokesman for the Customs Air Wing at Davis-Monthan Air Force Base at Tucson.

It was not known whether the planes also smuggled guns into Mexico before picking up their payload of dope, the spokesman said.

Dr. Lamb

No cholesterol in nuts

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—What is the cause of cholesterol in one's system? I understand that it comes from fatty acids in animal fats, butter, nuts, etc., but I wonder why some people have high cholesterol levels and others don't although each are on similar diets.

My cholesterol level is 343, and my physician has me on a diet and tells me the level shouldn't be over 250 at the most. I'm 58, male, in good health, no heart attacks, no high blood pressure. Will appreciate some help.

DEAR READER—Cholesterol is only an animal product. I keep getting letters asking about it being in nuts. It is not. The rub is that excess fat in the diet, particularly saturated fat found in animal fat, stimulates the liver to form increased amounts of cholesterol. Excess calories may do the same thing.

Your doctor is right to put you on a diet. It may help lower your cholesterol level, and it should be lowered.

Cholesterol is formed chiefly by the liver. The liver acts in many ways as a regulator of blood cholesterol. In some people with certain inherited characteristics the liver tends to form more cholesterol, even if the person is skinny and on a good diet. In other persons, even when obese, the liver seems not to form so much cholesterol. This may be a genetic factor, just as diabetes can be.

The cholesterol in your blood really comes from two sources, that manufactured by your own body, chiefly in the liver, and that absorbed in your food. Only a few foods are really high in cholesterol. Chief among these are the egg yolk and organ meats, particularly brains.

If you want more information on foods and diet to control cholesterol, write to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Send 50 cents, a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for The Health Letter number 1-3, Diet Preventing Atherosclerosis.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I don't have too big a problem, but would like some information. My hair stops growing after a while and doesn't get very long. I would like to know if there's some way to stimulate hair to make it grow.

DEAR READER—Contrary to some overly enthusiastic advertisement, there is absolutely no way to stimulate hair to grow where you want it to. That is why a number of people have turned to hair transplants. If a treatment were available that caused hair to grow successfully, it would have been used.

There are some interesting experimental projects using hormones to stimulate hair follicles, but that is about it.

Your hair is like an evergreen tree, and some hair is lost constantly while new hair is growing. The cycle and other characteristics (some inherited) control the length of your hair. Obviously a slow-growing hair with a short life span won't get too long.

You can correct some medical problems that are associated with falling hair. Women sometimes have this problem after pregnancy, but it is temporary. You can also help your hair by not working it over with beauty aids or severe types of hair styles. Anything that pulls and keeps the hair under tension increases the likelihood of losing hair. Some individuals do not tolerate repeated hair coloring using hydrogen peroxide in the process, and find that when they stop using these their hair improves.

Other than these minor points most of the factors that deal with hair are inherited or, rarely, related to hormone function.

Sentencing Set In Stock Scheme

NEW YORK (AP) — Sentencing has been set for Dec. 2 for two Texans and an Oklahoman who were convicted of conspiring in unlawful promotion of stock in a "shell" corporation based in Midland, Tex.

The scheme, spawned in 1969-70 in Lubbock, Tex., involved efforts to market $16 million worth of stock of Select Enterprises Inc., successor to a dormant Nevada corporation, Goldfield-Canadelaria Cooperative Mining Co.

Key testimony in the three-week trial came from three defendants who pleaded guilty and are to be sentenced Dec. 5.

A Manhattan federal court jury continued Monday to deliberate after deciding on three convictions and four acquittals Saturday night.

Those found guilty over the weekend were Joe Truman Boyd, 50, of Midland, Tex., a businessman who once owned Select Enterprises; Ernest D. Goodloe, 50, of Dallas, and Ernest R. Mullenax, 35, of Oklahoma City.

Each of the 53 counts of conspiracy and other violations could bring penalties ranging up to five years imprisonment and $10,000 in fines.

The jury acquitted accountant William W. Barnett, 45, of Abilene, Tex.; Roger Bissett, 50, of Reno, a lawyer and former Nevada state senator; Stanley Schleger, 35, an accountant of Great Neck, N.Y., and Michael Gardner, 35, of the New York area previously convicted in a separate stock scheme.

Deliberation resumed Monday as to M.S. Knisely, 65, of Midland, who was president of Select Enterprises; lawyer Robert E. Ford, 50, of Abilene; Emerson F. Titlow, 45, of Reno, a former state senator; Edward Vanasco 35, a New York broker; and Marvin J. Rappaport, 35, a lawyer, of Spring Valley, N.Y.

Those who pleaded guilty Sept. 16 and face sentencing Dec. 5 are Jimmy Calvin Joiner, 39, of Idabel, Okla., a truck operator who told of meetings in Lubbock and Lamesa, Tex., and Reno in 1969 and 1970; Alan Segal, 52, of Miami Beach, Fla., who is free on bail pending appeal of another stock-touting conviction, and John Wells, a New York securities salesman.

Waco Site Of Coastal Suit

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Lawyers for the City of Austin and for Coastal States Gas Producing Co. have agreed on Waco as the site for trial of the city's $30 million breach of contract suit against the gas company.

State District Court Judge Herman Jones said after meeting with the lawyers Monday he expects, by the end of the week, to find a judge in Waco to hear the case. Jones earlier had granted a motion for change of venue to move the trial from Austin.

More People Are Recognizing Value And Versatility Of Eggs

You almost always find Leslie McBeth of the McBeth Egg Farms on the run with little time to talk, but this time was different. He was on crutches from a knee ailment and had time to sit and chat. His youngest son, Carlos, is doing a good job of keeping the Snyder operation going.

Being on crutches you would not expect him to be in such good spirits, but he thinks the egg business is in for some sound business for a while now. He says feed is still high and will probably go higher but people are beginning to realize the true value of eggs and to economize, on the grocery budget by using more eggs. Most eggs are delivered to the grocer by the producer, and since there is no middleman to add to the cost, they are the cheapest high protein food. With large eggs selling for less than 90c and weighing more than 1½ lbs. that is only 60c per lb. Eggs are a food that are versatile, economical, nutritious, high in protein and low in calories.

The people who thought they could build an egg substitute have found that they cannot compete with a natural food and the best doctors now are saying that the egg cholesterol scare is a lot of bunk, McBeth pointed out.

The Pillsbury Co. with Kraft foods are distributing Egg Baskets. They are in four flavors and are used for breakfast, snacks and evening meals. A can contains four pieces of dough which is put in muffin cups in which a fresh medium egg is placed, then baked until golden brown. The cup costs less than 8 cents, the egg seven cents, which makes a total of 14 cents. With frozen orange juice at twenty cents per can of five cents per serving you have a meal for 19 cents. less than the cost of a soft drink with all the sugar and additives.

Dr. Ben Feingold, a well known pediatrician and student on child behavior, states that the increasing number of hyperactive children who cannot sit still and concentrate is caused by food additives. They can be helped by eliminating the additives and putting them on good natural foods. He says that additives are here to stay but it is absurd to level their guns on eggs, a good natural food. He says that some of the healthiest, sharpest, and most vigorous people he knows eat more than three eggs per day. When one limits his eggs to a few per week, he substitutes something more costly and not as good.

In fact, eggs have a lot going for them now. McDonalds Hamburger people are now featuring a breakfast around eggs and their business is increasing by unbelievable speed.

Yes, eggs are on the go for people on the go. There may soon be a shortage, but the price won't go like bacon as there in no middleman.

McBeth still has modern egg processing plants east of town and at Abilene.

TRANSMISSIONS IN STOCK—Jimmy Farmer, right, owner of Bill's Auto Salvage, and Johnny Ward, left, shop foreman look over one of the many transmissions they have in stock. Bill's Auto Salvage carries motors, transmissions, and all types of auto parts. They are also members of the Kolt and Southern-State Hotlines services.

Bill's Auto Salvage Provides Parts For Any Type Of Vehicle

Bill's Auto Salvage has all types of auto parts to suit your need.

They have motors, transmissions and rear-ends. They carry many body parts.

Jimmy Farmer, owner and operator of the firm for the past five years, stated, "If we don't have a part, we can get it for you in a day or two."

Bill's Auto Salvage is a member of the Kolt and Southern-State Hotlines which reach over 200 different wrecking yards in five different states.

All that has to be done is for them to pick up the phone and find the part you need at one of the many locations, and it is on the way in a matter of minutes.

Farmer explained that they will fix you up with a motor or will fix what is wrong with your old one.

"We install motors and transmissions," he stated, "and we will install or repair any kind of part or get our customer in touch with someone who will."

Bill's Auto Salvage also carries air conditioner compressors and power steering pumps. They stock tires and windshields—recently the firm has started stocking new windshields.

For the racing enthusist, Farmer said that they can get all kinds of racing equipment, from mag wheels to headers. "It will take about three days to get it in, but we can sure get it."

Johnny Ward of Snyder has recently joined the firm. He is the shop foreman, and is also a salesman. Johnny invites everyone to come out and look over their inventory.

Farmer also usually keeps some top used cars in stock. He now has for sale a 1971 and 1968 Corvette, a 1974 and 1975 Chevy Pick-up, a 1972 Ford Pick-up, a 1973 Impala, a 1970 Chevelle Super Sport, a 1973 Grand Prix and an economical 1974 Pinto Wagon.

Whenever the unexpected happens to your car, stop by Bill's Auto Salvage on the East Highway or call 573-9331. If they don't have the part to fix your car, they will get it for you fast.

Bob Hope Sure Special Is 'Hit'

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bob Hope celebrates his 25-year romance with the television tube Thursday night with a two-hour special featuring himself and 97 other stars from his past shows.

Never underconfident, the comedian is certain he has a hit.

"Why? Because of Dolores," he explained. "She has always been my worst critic. Many times after a show she'll tell me, 'That didn't make it.' I'll say, 'What are you talking about? The audience loved it.' That doesn't matter to her; she's still a critic from a 'class' standpoint.

"I took her to see a two-hour-and-40-minute compilation of the television shows. You know what she said? 'It's a shame to cut a foot of it."

Painfully, Hope and producer Paul Keyes cut the collection of clips to 90 minutes, the rest of the show being occupied by commercials and by tomfoolery with Hope pals Bing Crosby, John Wayne and Frank Sinatra. The four stars taped the interludes last week at NBC.

"Bob Hope's Quarter-century of Comedy" will offer a time capsule of show business history as well as a view of the extents to which Hope would go to induce laughter. Such as fighting with heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano, Bing playing the referee, the sketch ending up in a waltz that included Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney (the situation bears some logic, since Hope once boxed as Packy East).
