service on August 6, 1942. He was sent to Camp Wolters, Texas, for basic training and from there he went to Seattle for overseas shipment.

He went from Seattle to Urnak in the Aleutian Islands, spending 7 months there before coming back to the states on a furlough. After six weeks training at Camp Cook, Calif., he was sent to New York and then overseas, arriving in France on March 3, 1945. He was a member of the Army Ground Forces during the European fighting.

He lost his life on April 29,

Body of Orvel Buechner on Way to States

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Buechner of Booker have been notified that the body of their son, S/Sgt. Orvel W. Buechner will be returned for re-burial within two months.

Place of the war hero's interment will be the National Cemetery at Jefferson Barracks, near St. Louis, Mo., the letter from the Army Quartermaster General stated.

Due to the circumstances of Sgt. Buechner's death, he will be buried as part of a group of soldiers.

Sgt. Buechner, a turret gunner on a B-17 plane, was killed over Bulgaria when his plane collided with another American plane. The planes had a crew of 10 each. definite identification of each man was made that led to the identity of the other 19 crewmen. He was stationed in Italy at the time.

Congress has provided that in the event of mass deaths, where bodies could not be separated for individual burial, the entire group will be buried in an honor grave with appropriate ceremonies.

Balko School Carnival Indefinitely Postponed

The All-School Carnival which was scheduled to be held at the Balko schools on Friday night, December 3, has been postponed indefinitely, it has been announced. Due to the bad conditions of rural roads after the two snowstorms, it was felt that attendance would be cut too much for a successful carnival.

Other criminal cases include seven swindling cases, one case of removing mortgaged property, three forgeries and one theft.

Civil cases include 17 divorce actions, two suits on contract, one adoption, four trespass to try titles, two damage suits, four suits for debt, a garnishment case, foreclosure of mortgage, and one marriage annullment.

Judge Jack Allen will preside over the court, and the state will be represented in criminal actions by W. L. McConnell, district attorney. Mrs. Sue Ragan is district clerk.

Stroke Fatal To Pioneer Blasingame

J. M. Blasingame, pioneer Ochiltree merchant and resident of the county since 1901, died Wednesday morning at his home eight miles south of Perryton. He suffered a stroke at approximately 8 a. m. and died less than an hour later.

He was the county's first dry goods merchant, setting up a store in the Ochiltree schoolhouse in 1901, where he and his wife lived for two years. They later moved to their new store building in Ochiltree.

In 1906, he sold his store and moved to Glazier, where he went into partnership with the late Cap Dennison, also an Ochiltree county pioneer. The partners operated the business until 1912, when Mr. Blasingame moved back to Ochiltree and opened the Pioneer Mercantile Co.

When the rest of Ochiltree moved to Perryton in 1919, Mr. Blasingame sold his store and devoted his time to farming.

He was a member of the Perryton Methodist church.

Survivors include his wife, a daughter, Mrs. Emily Brahlman, Denver; a son, Leroy Blasingame, Amarillo; two sisters, Mrs. Mollie Spencer, Frost, Texas and Mrs. Julia Looney, Fresno, Calif.; two brothers, Arthur Blasingame, Phoenix, Ariz., and Price Blasingame, Galveston; and two grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed as the Herald went to Press.

Damage to Stored Wheat Noted on Ochiltree Farms

Local wheat producers who have wheat in farm storage are urged to inspect their grain, whether it is under a government wheat loan or not, as there is a good chance that it may be damaged. Elliott Lee, county ACA secretary, reports that there is a lot of wheat in farm granaries that has been severely damaged by heat and weevils, and that much of this grain has to be moved because of its poor condition.

Harvesting of the wheat before it was dry, failure to treat it, and inadequate storage, in

No New Developments, But—

Sinclair-Lips Oil Well Proves Andarko Basin in This Area

Although no new developments have been announced since the news broke last week about the Sinclair-Lips oil well in Roberts county, speculation is still going strong as to what the well means to this section of the country.

The Sinclair-Prairie Co. has made no announcement whatever concerning the well, but it seems well established that the well hit pay at a depth of 5,919 feet, in the Pennsylvania formation. The test resulted in the production of 36 barrels of distillate in 12 hours. The gravity is from 55 to 65, according to reports, which indicates a producing area of extreme value.

Distillate, which is usually pale yellow in color, is high in propane and butane value; and if this well is an indication of what is to be found in further operations, it means more in development than ordinary oil wells.

Geologists have maintained that somewhere in this area discoveries would be found to prove the existence of the Anadarko Basin. This well is proof of that theory.

That basin has meant the development and expansion of several new oil fields; and since the Sinclair well is proving its existence here, an immediate effect can be assured in new oil activity in the Panhandle.

Drilling is reported to be still in progress at the well, indicat-

Perryton Schools Will Hold Open House for Public Tonight

Tonight, Thursday, the public will have an opportunity to inspect the newly remodeled junior high school building and new heating plant of the Perryton schools. The Open House will start at 7:30 p. m. and will continue until 9:30 p. m. superintendent Gilbert Mize stated.

The major phase of the remodeling program was the converting of the auditorium into class rooms. The wing which formerly contained the auditorium now holds the junior high library and study hall, in addition to the class rooms. The gymnasium was also altered, with the two east entrances and the balcony being torn out and replaced by a single door and concrete steps leading down into the gym from the east side.

Visitors will begin their tour of the three buildings in the north, or elementary grade building, proceed through the center building, then to the high school building, where they will be served refreshments in the home economics department at the close of the tour.

This open house not only gives patrons of the school district a chance to see the changes made in the plant, but affords an opportunity to meet the new members of the school faculty.

Her journey to the U. S. was

She plans to leave Oklahoma for Cornell to take her doctorate, and after that, will go to India where she plans to open an orphanage.

Santa Claus Sends Word to Youngsters

The Herald this week received a wireless from the North Pole, signed by Santa Claus, which reads as follows: "Am anxious to learn why the little boys and girls of Ochiltree county haven't written me yet for this Christmas as we have thousands of letters from boys and girls everywhere else all over the world and only two letters, so far, from Ochiltree county, Texas. Time is growing short, Mr. Editor, and would you please tell the boys and girls that they'd better write soon or I won't know what to bring to Ochiltree county." There it is, boys and girls. Write your letters at once, mail it to the Herald, and we'll see that Santa Claus gets it. We'll publish it, too, just before Christmas.

Legion Cage Team Opens League Play Wednesday Night

The Legion basketball team, after losing their season-opener Friday night to the Balko independents, 29-37, will open in the NPAA league Wednesday night against the strong Spearman team, doped as league champions. The game will be played in Spearman.

The NPAA league is split into two halves, with Spearman, Perryton, Stinnett and Gruver in the east half and Sunray, Cactus, Dumas, Texline, Channing and Dalhart in the west half.

A league champion, which will participate in the state tournament, will be decided from the winners in the east and west sections.

Perryton players who saw action in the opening game are Joe McClung, Lindsay McWilliams, Bob Schell, Irvin Williams, Kenneth Hocking, Edward Dear, E. R. Bell, Tommy Pletcher, Bill Talley and Coke Harlow. Irvin Hergert manages the team.

Late Christmas Mail Might Not Be Delivered on Time

An appeal has been made by the local post office force for local residents to mail all Christmas greeting cards and packages "just as early in December as possible."

An even heavier flood of Yuletide mail is expected this Christmas than during the record-breaking 1947 holiday season, reports acting postmaster Arvle Hale. All packages should be mailed before December 10 to assure delivery before Christmas Day, he said. Christmas cards for out-of-state delivery should be mailed also before December 10 and cards for local addresses should be in the office at least a week before December 25.

Early Christmas mailing is extremely vital, the postmaster said, because handling the Christmas mail load is divided into three phases. First, the mail for out-of-town must be collected and dispatched by rail and air. Then, delivery of Christmas greetings being exchanged locally becomes the big job. Finally there is the last-minute flood of cards and packages from out-of-town to be handled.

"Whenever these three operations overlap, there's a jam in the post office and deliveries are

Special Meeting Of Ranger Club Tuesday Night

Plains Country Battered Again By Second Blizzard Within Ten Days; Less Damage This Time

Perryton and Ochiltree county residents, along with the rest of the Panhandle, took another battering from Old Man Winter Saturday afternoon and night, when the second full-size blizzard in nine days blew down from the north. This storm, while not quite so severe as the one which hit on November 18, nevertheless blocked traffic on highways and country roads and reduced visibility to near zero.

The storm began Saturday morning with a gentle rain, but by mid-day, heavy snow was coming down. After that, the wind rose, and by late afternoon and night, the area was gripped by a real blizzard.

The west side of the Panhandle fared better than the east side, where the storm centered. It roughly blanketed about three-fourths of the Panhandle region and extended over into the Oklahoma Panhandle and the eastern section of the Sooner state.

Although only an estimated one or two inches of snow fell, the high winds whipped the snow into high drifts. There was no wind damage to buildings in Perryton, however, as was the case in the first storm.

Moisture content of the latest snow was .10 inch, while the snow on Nov. 18 amounted to .12 inch, according to the official rain guage maintained by Judge Jack Allen.

Christian Church To Show Picture 'Beyond Our Own'

The outsanding religious film, "Beyond Our Own," has been secured by the First Christian church and will be shown at the church on Sunday night, December 5, beginning at 7:30 p. m., it has been announced.

The picture is being shown as part of the "Woman's Day" annual observance. A short devotional program will be held preceding the showing of the picture, with Mrs. Jim Anderson as leader.

"Beyond Our Own," which has been seen by thousands during the past year, and which was seen in the Methodist church of Perryton last winter, tells the story of two brothers, one who becomes a successful attorney, the other a doctor missionary in China. The influence of the missionary shows the attorney that there are things in this world "beyond our own," and leads him to a radical change in his way of life.

Technically, the film is a top-quality production. Dramatically it is moving in its sincerity and impact of message.

Standard District Supervisors Elect Board Officers

Supervisors of the newly formed Standard Soil Conservation District met Tuesday afternoon in the courthouse to elect officers to serve during the coming year.

Martin McCartor was elected chairman of the board of supervisors, with Roger Pearson as vice-chairman and Herman Hargrove secretary-treasurer. Other supervisors are S. L. Brillhart and Harlan Hawk.

It was decided to hold meetings on the second Tuesday of each month to transact the business of the district.

Louis Dawkins, of the state soil conservation board, met with the supervisors and explained the standard soil conservation set-up under state law.

A number of speakers will be on the program which will be highlighted by a talk, "The Relationship of Alcohol and Medicine," to be made by a prominent doctor from the South Plains.

with HAROLD HUDSON

Now that the bowl game picture for January 1 has been completed, it is interesting to note how the bidding went to secure the New Year's Day opponents. Bowl games are really in the big business class.

At New Orleans the Sugar Bowl promoters are putting out something like $150,000 per team as a increase over last year because of the enlargements at Tulane Stadium. The stadium now seats 51,000 fans. North Carolina and Oklahoma will get this sugar.

Orange Bowl promoters bid $75,000 per team for their New Year's classic, and the bowl will hold 63,000 for the Georgia-Texas game.

At Dallas however the ante is upped. Southern Methodist and Oregon will receive well over $100,000 each, as much as the Sugar Bowl participants, even though the Cotton Bowl seats 67,245, considerably less than the Sugar Bowl. The host team is always the Southwest Conference champion, a unique situation in the nation's bowl picture.

SMU must divert 25 per cent of their take to the Southwest Conference, the money to be used to defray expenses of the executive secretary's office and to provide a fund that probably will be divided among members schools from time to time.

Southwest Conference schools are strong in the bowl picture this year, with SMU in the Cotton Bowl, Texas in the Orange Bowl, and Baylor in the Dixie Bowl. The Texas School of Mines is in the Sun Bowl and Sul Ross, the only undefeated and untied team, will play in the Raisin Bowl.

Those who miss the school open house Thursday night will have a chance to look over the face-lifting job in the gymnasium next Tuesday night when the Rangers lift the lid on the basketball season. The balcony on the east side, with the two flights of steps leading downstairs, has been torn out and replaced by a single door on the east side leading down into the gym. It looks roomier inside, although the playing court is just as small as ever.

The Rangers will play in three tourneys during this year besides the district tournament in Dalhart. They are scheduled to participate in the Canadian, Spearman and Borger tournaments. Last year, due to a late start, they went to only the Canadian tournament, which they won.

Canyon will probably be the favorite in the district 1-A race this year. They have back several members of their championship team which the Rangers nosed out in the first round of the regional tournament last year.

Edward M. Nyflor of Lansing, Kans., reported that his car had been side-swiped and forced off the road by a vehicle which, he said, failed to stop after the accident.

The only tangible clue to the identity of the driver was an automobile license tag, which apparently fell off the car in the impact.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Why Dutch is Growing a Beard

That beard on Dutch Miller's chin doesn't mean that he's getting ready to play Santa Claus. He's simply paying off the election bet he lost to Cappy Swanson.

And while some folks allow it's all a lot of nonsense — like the wheelbarrow ride that Cappy had to give Dutch after last election day—from where I sit, it's a mighty wholesome aftermath to a difference of opinion.

Because good Americans all take their politics and voting mighty seriously. But when the issue's settled, and the die is cast, they accept the verdict in a spirit of good humor.

And that's as it should be when it comes to any difference of opinion. Some folks vote for beer as their favorite beverage—others vote for cider. In fact, we all have differences of taste in almost everything! But that doesn't mean that we can't live together in a spirit of good fellowship.

Thanksgiving to Christmas Declared Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation Month; Drive Starts

GONZALES—Texans from the Rio Grande to the Panhandle this week girded for a statewide drive to strike back against poliomyelitis which thus far in 1948 has stricken more than 1,600 persons in more than 150 counties.

Gov. Beauford H. Jester proclaimed the period from Thanksgiving Day to Christmas as Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation Month as a statewide organization, headed by Dana X. Bible, University of Texas director of athletics, swung into action to secure financial support for the institution which cares for young children stricken by polio and other crippling diseases.

Chairmen in key counties throughout Texas are assisting Mr. Bible in bringnig the story of the Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation to the people of the state, says Ross Boothe, president of the foundation. Equipped to care for 110 crippled children, the Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation uses the water from warm natural springs and modern medical facilities and trained technicians to assist those who have been crippled to regain their health. It is supported largely by the contributions of Texas citizens, says Boothe, and any child suffering from a crippling disease may obtain admission and treatment, he declared.

A number of statewide organizations are cooperating in the statewide campagn for financial support, Boothe, reported.

More than 500 persons have received treatment at Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation since the institution started receiving patients in 1941.

HE CAME THROUGH — Gil Stephenson of Army was the question mark at the beginning of the season. He has proved himself during the year ,however, and has been outstanding in the Army's undefeated season.

Mrs. Roy Stinson drove to Dallas last week-end to take Gene Stinson, who attends school there.

Coming home from Texas Tech were Gale Rogers, Raymond Hall, Phil LaMaster and J. C. Jones.

Mrs. Henry Richardson and Marilyn, and Mrs. Ike Vernon and Phyllis drove to Dallas last week-end to meet Mr. Richardson who came in from Austin. They attended the SMU-TCU game before returning home.

New Fire Snuffer

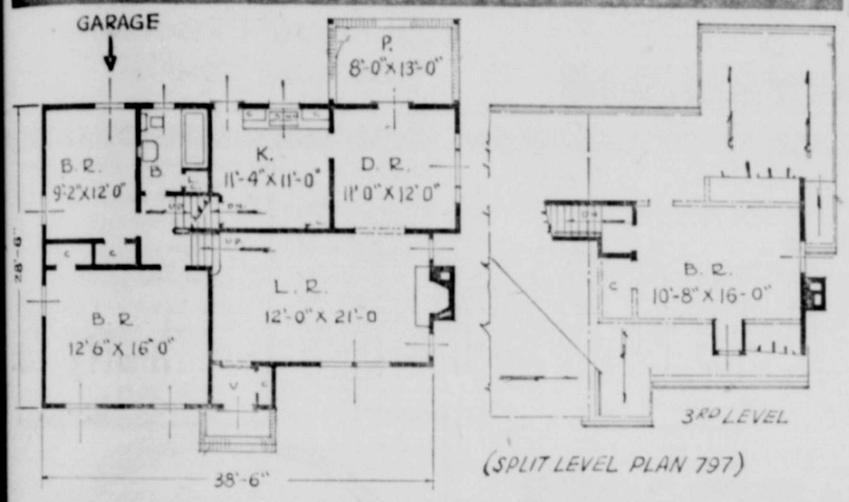

NEW YORK (AP)—A new fire snuffer to battle airplane engine fires is announced by Walter Kidde & Co. after tests in planes. The chemical is monochloromonobromomethane, nicknamed "CB". It was developed by the Germans during the last war, and has since been perfected here.

"CB" is as effective as methyl bromide in smothering fires, and somewhat more effective, on a weight basis, than carbon dioxide, the company said. All three kill a fire by robbing it of its oxygen supply. The new chemical can be stored as a liquid under pressure in containers within the plane fuselage. It's released as a spray into a burning engine compartment, and vaporizes into a colorless gas, heavier than air. It expands to many times its stored volume. Kidde engineers said "CB" was less corrosive to metals than methyl bromide.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Day and daughter spent the week-end visiting Mrs. Day's sister in Amarillo and their son, Vernon Day who attends school in Canyon.

I. S. Burger went to El Reno to spend the Thanksgiving week with children there.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

(SPLIT LEVEL PLAN 797)

(AP Newsfeatures)

THIS HOUSE is planned for people who do not like to climb stairs. There is not a full flight of stairs in it. Each level is half a flight up, with garage half a flight down from kitchen, and basement half a flight down from garage. This Split Level plan 797 can be used on either a sloping or flat plot. It allows for a basement garage without too much excavation. The house has an area of 1,060 square feet and the compact arrangement of the rooms makes for economy of construction. McMurray & Chirgotis, 968 Stuyvesant Avenue, Union, N. J., are the architects.

Mr. and Mrs. Ike Sharpe's son, Harold Sharpe, and family from Pantex spent Thanksgiving holidays in the Ike Sharpe home. While here they also visited Mrs. Harold Sharpe's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Schroeder.

Commercial Feeding Test Designed To Fatten Calves at Less Expense

LUBBOCK, Nov. 23—A commercial feeding test involving 10 Hereford calves with an eye to saving time and money at no sacrifice to quality cattle is underway at Texas Technological college.

Dean W. L. Stangel, head of the animal husbandry department, expects the experiment to continue a year. To further substantiate findings of the initial test, a scond group of 10 Hereford calves will begin identical testing in January.

Calves under observation are to be fed as stockers through the winter and early spring. They will be placed on pasture in the late spring, summer and early fall. Then for the final feeding period they will be divided into lots of five each and one group hand fed while the other group is self-fed.

The experimental calves will make their first public appearance at the spring livestock show in Lubbock, and will be exhibited in one group as stocker calves.

Result of the test, feeds used along with charted weight grains and time spent will be posted a year later at the Southplains livestock show where they will be entered in the fat yearling steers class.

Possibilities of commercial feeding will greatly lighten the burden of raising show calves, Dean Stangel said, emphasizing that commercial feeding will cut the financial burden for youngsters interested in raising show cattle. It will relieve the necessity for nurse cows and for so much personal attention by the boy, an attendant or his parents.

Exact techniques employed and proper feeding of the cattle commercially will be available along with any other information desired from the animal husbandry department on the successful completion of the project.

The calves to be used in the project are from the Pan Tech farms, Amarillo.

The Record Shows What Texas 4-H Club Boys and Girls are Accomplishing Nowadays

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 27—If you've ever wondered just what the 4-H Club boys and girls in Texas do, here's the answer.

This is last year's record of nearly five thousand 4-H Clubs in Texas with a membership of over 110,000 youngsters.

These kids produced food and they conserved food. And they made more food available to their families, as well as to families overseas, J. W. Potts, extension state 4-H club specialist of Texas A. & M. College, says they had more than 23,000 gardens. The boys have raised more than 368,500 chickens and turkeys. They had nearly 7 thousand poultry flocks.

The 961 thousand quarts of food these youngsters put up in cans and jars doesn't include the hundreds of pounds stored in the freezer lockers.

Feed wasn't the only item on the program by any means. These 4-H boys and girls helped make their homes more attractive and livable. The girls' projects included making more than 59,000 new garments and remodeling over 33,000 other items of clothing.

Fire and accident prevention programs also held the interest of many of the club members. They spent time improving their own health as well as that of their families and communities.

Soil and water conservation practices played a big part on the 4-H Club program, too. The clubs had nearly 110,000 acres in conservation management. Besides this, they raised more than 54,500 head of livestock, while the girls were planning more than a million and a quarter meals.

That's what the record shows. In doing all these things, says Potts, they gained a better understanding of their place in the world today.

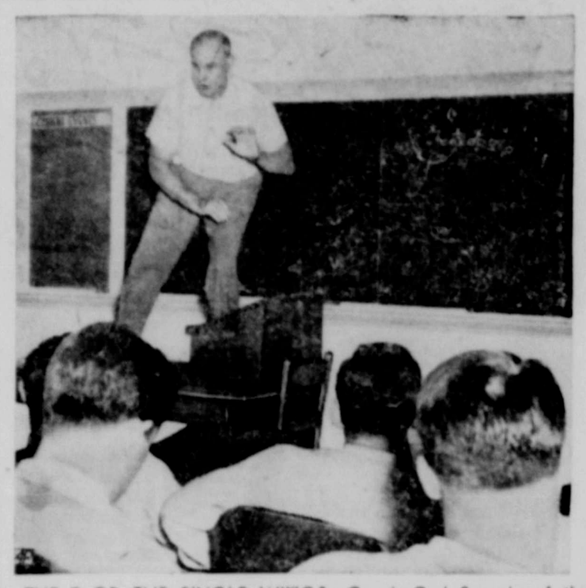

FUR ON THE HOOF—Spectators can see just what they're buying at this fur farm drive-in, located near Evergreen, Colo. The store offers customers a complete service from a wide selection of live fur animals to the finished garment. If your wife's taste runs to mink, better be prepared to peel off the greenbacks, though. The minimum number of milk pelts cost in the neighborhood of $3,750.

Cemetery at Sea-Bottom

DARWIN (AP)—A cemetery of human bones has been found at the bottom of the Timor Sea near Melville Island.

The bones were found by a diver from a pearling lugger, operating along a sea lane from the Timor Sea into Darwin. They may be the remains of the crew of the 2000-ton Philippine freighter Don Asidro. The freighter was bombed and burned by the Japanese in February, 1942.

The ship was loaded with American beer, and became the war's most unique canteen. Local divers let a Royal Australian Air Force station on a nearby island have a constant beer supply.

THE T OR THE SINGLE WING?—Coach Carl Snavely of the North Carolina Tarheels says he is not crusading on behalf of the venerable single wing formation, but his University of North Carolina teams seems bent on asserting superiority over the increasingly popular T. In sweeping their first five games, the Tarheels, whipped four teams employing the T, Texas, Georgia, Wake Forest and LSU. Above, he gives his squad a few pointers.

Mystic Potions of Jungle Studied for Helpful Drugs

By MAC ROY RASOR

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Locked somewhere in the voodoo inspired mystic potions brewed deep in South American jungles by headhunting Jivaro tribesmen may be cures for many of man's ailments.

Dr. Wilburn H. Ferguson, a robust, research-minded physician of Quito, Ecuador, speculated there may be a cure for cancer.

He came to Texas to urge Texas scientists and philanthropists to take on a long-range laboratory search into the hundreds of drugs known to the Jivaro brujo (medicine man) since the dawn of its history.

From a leather suitcase Dr. Ferguson brought half a dozen human heads shrunk monkey-sized. Only the skull had been removed from the head and then everything else dwarfed — features, skin, bones, and cartilages.

In a small vial he displayed a potion he said the savages used in the head shrinking process.

"This mystic solution has intrigued me for years with the possibility that there might possibly be some specific drug that would stop the wild run-away growth of cancer and might even reverse the pathological process," he said.

For 17 years Dr. Ferguson said he traveled from one side of the Amazon basin of South America to the other without even a single hint of a medicine man who would give him some of the potion. Finally he found one who prepared not only some for the doctor but gave him one of the ingredients and promised to supply more for the experiments.

"We feel that the few drugs that already have been adopted from the Jivaro medicine—quinine, cocaine, ipeca, caffiene, cascara, curare and others of world-wide importance—are only a few of several hundred drugs used by the Jivaro that can be utilized to provide new weapons against pain and disease in modern therapeutics," he said.

The first obstacle to block scientific inquiry into the drugs has been the difficulties and hazards of penetrating into dense jungles to obtain them in enough quantities for research. Dr. Ferguson said he now has native boys to go in after the plants and keep them in supply.

They'll be coming to the University of Texas, where Dr. Painter said study of the drug plants would help build a strong research program in pharmacy. Twenty-five jungle plants heretofore unstudied will be first on the list.

The Dean of Pharmacy, Dr. Henry Burglage, said such research will be an unmeasurable contribution to medicine if only one new compound is discovered.

Theodore Roosevelt Inspired Forward Pass

NEW YORK (AP) — President Theodore Roosevelt was the inspiration of the forward pass in football, reveals Sid Luckman, great quarterback of the Chicago Bears, who became famous throwing them.

Here's the story: The president became alarmed when he saw a picture of Bob Maxwell, star of the 1905 Swarthmore eleven, after Maxwell had taken a terrific beating in a game against Penn. Roosevelt promptly issued a proclamation that unless football abolished such rough play, he would take steps to abolish football.

That winter, according to Luckman's story in his new book, "Passing For Touchdowns," the rules committee adopted the forward pass to placate the President. However, it still was some time before the weapon became an integral part of the game.

Before World War II Britain produced only one-third of its food.

Four Major Issues Are Warnings For Legislature

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)—Four major issues already loom like big black thunderheads over the 51st legislature.

This far in advance of the Jan. 11 meeting the storm warnings are already flying on these questions: finances and taxation; reorganization of the public school system; election law reform and revision; overhauling of the prison system.

The 51st will be a legislature unique in Texas history in that it will have more money—certainly more ready cash — to spend than ever before. It is impossible to say just now what the precise amount will be, but the fiscal experts believe it will be in the neighborhood of $240,000,000.

The last session spent every cent in sight. Some of the hardest feelings growing out of the 50th legislature were an aftermath of the additional appropriations that died because there was not enough money on hand or in sight to pay for them. Whenever there is a large chunk of change lying around, the competition among those who want it is bound to be fierce. It could result in a struggle falling only a point or two shy of mayhem.

Nearly all the issues faced by the 51st are linked directly or indirectly with the allied questions of finance and taxation. The cry for election law revision is an exception. This should not cost much in money. All it would take would be conscientious application, work and brains. The latter should include a healthy portion of horse-sense, if the result is to be practical.

If the legislature spends all the ready cash, then almost surely the agitation for new taxes will be revived. It may not wait for that. The Fort Worth democratic convention came up with some talk favorable to increased taxation of natural resources. That might get somewhere in the House but hard going can almost certainly be predicted for any move in that direction in the Senate.

The new legislature, incidentally, includes 10 of 31 senators serving for the first time in that branch, and there will be 51 new faces in the 150-member House.

Perhaps the biggest job faced by the 51st legislature is to digest then act upon, the report of the Gilmer-Aiken education committee.

This 41-page printed document with revolutionary proposals close-packed in every chapter, can not be grasped in one quick reading, and it actually is only an outline of the committe's ideas. A conscientious legislator would have to read it plus the entire minutes of the committee's work to have a sound notion of what it undertakes to do in revamping the public school system.

Complete overhauling of the prison system as proposed by its new management and the prison board would be a big job for any body of lawmakers. Gov. Beauford H. Jester has promised to aid this undertaking, particularly the need for an immediate four million appropriation, emergency status to help ram it through.

These are only the immediately apparent major issues.

There will also be demand for modification of the labor control legislation that swept through the 50th session, opposed by sentiment that those laws be allowed to stand. This will produce thunder and lightning.

New water laws will be proposed, as well as the usual measures labelled as promoting oil and gas conservation. Plenty of differences will develop in these fields.

Also a cinch to produce a session-long battle will be renewed efforts to give the game, fish and oyster commission full regulatory powers, and for a universal state hunting and fishing license law. Many legislators will be reluctant to give their power over local game regulations into the hands of any commission, even if the size of the commission is increased to give all section of the state representation.

A big segment of the house especially will be yelling for more and better rural roads and this could touch off the fight on taxation. Whether or not the school-teachers will be satisfied with the Gilmer-Aiken committee's recommendation for minimum $2,400 annual salaries (compared with the present $2,000) is highly questionable. The school teachers generated much of the last legislature's fireworks.

This only hits the high spots. Here are some specific proposals for legislation that have been announced:

Abolition of the poll tax as a pre-requisite to voting.

A real legislative redistricting bill, following adoption of the constitutional amendment providing for automatic redistricting if the legislature does not act.

Broadening of the basis of taxation by municipalities to help ease their growing pains.

Insecticide Paint Gets More Lethal

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Paint treated to kill insects becomes more rather than less poisonous as time goes on, studies by the University of Florida indicate. The University's engineering and industrial experiment station made tests with insecticidal paints, lacquers and varnishes over a two year period.

"It was observed that the coating surfaces did not become less toxic but rather, became more toxic with age," S. S. Block of the experiment station reported. He said the insecticide appeared to force itself gradually to the surface of the paint to form tiny crystals. The crystals were produced because the paint was so full of the poison that it threw some of it off from time to time.

Because of this characteristic, poison which was lost through wiping or washing the painted surface was replaced shortly after being removed. One test, made with asphalt varnish mixed with DDT, showed the poison crystals appearing as a white dust on the surface of the painted article.

"When the surface was wiped with a cloth, the crystals were removed and the surface was as black as when the coating had been applied. Within three to four days after removal of the dust, it had again reappeared," Block said. "This process was repeated several times with similar results. Even after several months, when the same surface was again wiped clean, the crystals of DDT reappeared at the surface within a few days."

Though most of the station's experiment were DDT, several other insecticides were tested and similar results were obtained.

Block said there is no risk of poisoning people in the use of this paint. It acts the same as sprays now used on walls for killing insects and is no more dangerous. If the paint should peel off, it should be kept out of food.

SHARP GUESSER—Arthur Stahl of Booker proved his guessing ability in the contest held recently by the Goodyear Service Store. Object of the contest was to guess the number of feet of cotton cord in a 10 x 38 4-ply tractor tire. The correct figure was 28,800 feet and Stahl hit the figure right on the nose. He received two 6:00-16 studded Sure Grip tires. Mrs. Henry Helfenbein, also of Booker, won second, and Doris Stapp of Booker won third in the contest.

The well is located 23 miles south of Perryton, just across the Ochiltree-Roberts county line.

Jobs Lacking For Singapore

SINGAPORE (AP) — This key British colony in the far east will, within a generation, face a grave problem of mass unemployment, says Singapore Commissioner for Labor R. P. Bingham. The coming unemployment, he says will be due to a rapidly expanding population and restricted "avenues of employment."

"Even today," Bingham adds, "there are more people of employable age in Singapore than there are jobs." In Singapore now there are 30,000 more births than deaths each year. This results, says Bingham, in about 1,000 persons each month reaching the age to work. But opportunities for employment, he says, so far are limited by a lack of large industries in the colony.

Hondo Bats Were Cheated Out Of War Service by Atom Bomb

HONDO, Texas, Nov. 23 (AP)—Listen to the strange story of Medina county bats, how they were conscripted for a secret role in World War II, only to be cheated out of service by the atom bomb.

For a long time the secret was kept as dark as the Frio and Ney caves near here, where the bats lived in peace—until the war came.

Of course they were signed up in the air corps, no less.

Hondo learned of the bats when F. Alton Everest of the Moody Bible Institute came here to look over the two caves as a possible scene for a religious movie.

He's interested in bats. He's studied them. That's how he happened to learn of the part South Texas bats were designed to play in winning the war.

The Army, he said, made elaborate plans to use them as flying wings for powerful incendiary bombs to destroy the Nipponese war industries.

Military strategists were ready to strap the bombs on the bats and send them overseas. Then came the A. bomb. The bat bomb went out.

The army, after attaching the bombs to the bats, planned to freeze them, ship them by air to the Japansese islands and drop them out over major targets.

As the bats came nearer the warmer air close to the ground, they would begin to thaw and fly around until a time fuse ran out, exploding the bomb and scattering fire in all directions. It was suicide for the bats.

Experiments were carried out at the air force base here. Most of the bats, ready to give their lives to their country, came from the Frio and Ney caves. The experiments proved successful.

A unusued airbase in New Mexico was used as an experimental target.

The "bat-ting" average was high. The place was left in charred ruins.

Barbed Wire Stops Polish Boars

POZNAN, Poland (AP)—Barbed wire defenses are going up again in Poland. But this time they are directed against wild boars, not Germans.

The boars have been causing widespread damage to crops in Western Poland, pushing their way through wooden fences. Now the government is aiding peasants to erect barbed wire barriers.

TEXAS WHEAT CHAMPION

For growing the best Texas wheat exhibited at the Tri-State air at Amarillo, W. P. Axe will have his grain judged for the national Pillsbury prize at Minneapolis, Minn., next spring. Axe grew his prize-winning Westar wheat on 300 acres of irrigated land near Hereford. Leonard Wright of Farnsworth, who won second place at the Tri-State Fair, also is eligible to compete for the national prize. This is the first year that Texas wheat has been entered in this competition.

They Kept the Fish In the Bedroom

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — An Australian farming family returning to their home at Lismore (New South Wales, Australia) after recent heavy floods found their dinner flapping round in a puddle in the best bedroom. Two 7 lb. mullet had swum in with the flood waters and been trapped. After returning a family had to kill 42 "squatting" snakes. On a third farm, the owner and his two sons killed 122 snakes in the house and its immediate neighborhood.

City Finds Crime Doesn't Pay

ELDORADO, Ill. (AP)—Experimentally, the city of Eldorado fixed a 5 cent fine on each motorist who either failed to deposit a nickel in their parking meter or upon overtime violators. The violators were even permitted to pay the nickel fine in any handy meter and not be haled to the city hall. Revenue fell off one third during the two-week trial. So the city council voted to get tough with violators—and fine 'em two bits.

Calls Reds Too Smart to Fight

BERLIN (AP)—The Germans are being told that the Russians are smarter than Hitler—too smart to start a war with the west.

This is the theme of a pamphlet put out by American Military Government. It is one of a series distributed in Germany and described as "reliable interpretation" of the world situation. The pamphlet is called "Russia—The Story of a Great Bluff." It was written by Franz Borkenau, former professor of modern history at the University of Marburg in the U. S. zone of Germany.

Mrs. R. H. Holland, Mrs. Clifford Burns, Barbara Jo and Bobbie Sue, and Mrs. Bob Schuster and Linda were in Alva, Okla. Monday and Tuesday of last week visiting Mrs. Mary Bolte, Mrs. Holland's foster mother.

Deer Season Means Meat In the Locker

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 30—It's deer season again.

There'll be more meat in the locker the next couple of months. You can store that venison right in there with the beef and the pork, and look forward to a fine meal of venison steak some evening.

Texas ranks about sixth in the nation in deer population, says R. E. Callendar, extension wildlife conservation specialist of Texas A. & M. College, with about 300 thousand deer. Hunters in Texas will harvest legally around 40 thousand deer this season.

Besides having the sport of tracking down a big ten-pointer, every hunter that bags a buck will add more than a hundred pounds of meat to the family menu. Game cannot be sold legally in this state, but landowners will still be on the legal side when they pocket money for leasing out hunting privileges on their land.

Callender says you can keep upland game birds or game animals in cold storage as long as you want, but 90 days is the limit after the season closes on migratory birds and waterfowl according to federal law.

The care of the meat should begin as soon as the animal has been killed. Properly bleed and field dress the animal where he falls. Some hunters use a sack made of heavy canvas or bleached sheeting to cover the deer in the field or camp to protect it from the insects. Keep the carcass dry, and don't skin the buck until you get to a place you can put the carcass right into cold storage.

If the weather's cool, the deer can be kept in camp until the hunting party is ready to go back to town. But warm weather makes it necessary to get the freshly killed carcass into storage right away. If this isn't possible, then it's a good idea to hang the carcass out at night and keep it wrapped in blankets in the shade during the day.

Callender advises saving the hide to tan later on. It can be made into gloves or jackets, and now it's legal to sell deer hides in this state, Extension Bulletin B-86 will give you the clues on how to tan leather at home.

This is deer season, says this wildlife specialist, but shoot to kill. Don't let a wounded animal get away.

The cost of her complete outfit was $31.00 including all accessories. State winners who participate in the National 4-H Dress Revue at Chicago will each receive a $25.00 U. S. Christian Science

Corner S. W. 7th Ave. and S. Colgate

"God the Only Cause and Creator" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, December 5.

The Golden Text is: "Thus saith the Lord that created the heavens; God himself that formed the earth and made it; he hath established it, he created it not in vain, he formed it to be inhabited: I am the Lord; and there is none else" Isaiah 45:18).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Among the gods there is none like unto thee, O Lord; neither are there any works like unto thy works" (Psalms 86:8).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Spiritual causation is the one question to be considered, for more than all others spiritual causation relates to human progress" (page 170).

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

THE STATE OF TEXAS, TO G. W. FULTZ, DEFENDANT IN THE HEREINAFTER STYLED AND NUMBERED CAUSE:

You are hereby commanded to appear before the District Court of Ochiltree County, Texas, to be held at the Courthouse of said county in Perryton, Texas, at or before ten o'clock, a. m. of the first Monday after the expiration of 42 days from the date of issuance hereof; that is to say, at or before ten o'clock, a. m. of Monday, the 10th day of January, 1949, and answer the petition of Helen Marie Fultz, plaintiff in Cause No. 1044, styled Helen Marie Fultz vs. G. W. Fultz which petition was filed in said court on the 3rd day of November, 1948, and the nature of which said suit is as follows: Plaintiff sues defendant for divorce, alleging that plaintiff and defendant were married on January 28, 1948, and separated on May 8, 1948; that no children were born and no community property was accumulated; that plaintiff conducted herself with propriety during the time of said marriage, but that the defendant disregarding his marriage vow was guilty of unkind, harsh and tyrannical conduct toward plaintiff and often became intoxicated, as well as at certain times striking plaintiff; that said marriage relations still exist; that their further living together as husband and wife is insupportable; that plaintiff's maiden name of Helen Marie Little should be restored to her.

If this citation is not served within ninety days after date of its issuance, it shall be returned unserved.

Given under my hand and seal and issued at office in Perryton, Texas, this 23 day of November, 1948.

WHAT IT MEANS:

Use of Radioactive Isotopes

WASHINGTON — Sixteen nations are receiving radioactive isotopes, by-products of the atomic bomb propect, from the United States. Six others have qualified to receive such materials.

This means that thousands of scientists in Europe and other parts of the world have the opportunity to participate in or observe isotope experiments and results. It doesn't mean we are giving these other nations a glimpse of our atomic secrets.

Radioactive isotopes are elements such as iodine, gold, tin, and zinc that contain radioactivity. Except for this radioactivity they are identical to regular elements. The radioactivity is produced as a by-product of splitting atoms, or by exposing elements to an atomic pile. Making them radioactive is like placing a bell or a headlight or a tag on an element. The radioactivity marks them as plainly as if they were ringing a bell or glowed like a light. Here's what this means to a scientist:

He can place these radioactive elements in soil. He can detect them as they are absorbed by plants that live in the soil. He can still detect them in the body of a cow that has eaten the plant that grew in the soil. Or he can feed them to an animal or inject them into an animal body. Then he can detect them as the circulation carries them through the organs of the body.

In fact the possible uses of these isotopes in nearly all branches of science seem almost unlimited. They have opened up a whole new field of study for research scientists. Before the atomic project such radioactive isotopes were produced only at great cost, and in minute quantities. Only a very few chosen scientists could work with them.

Now the U. S. isotope program produces them in comparatively large quantities and makes them available to thousands more scientists. The isotopes were made available to foreign scientists because the U. S. wanted their aid in attempting to solve as many scientific mysteries as rapidly as possible.

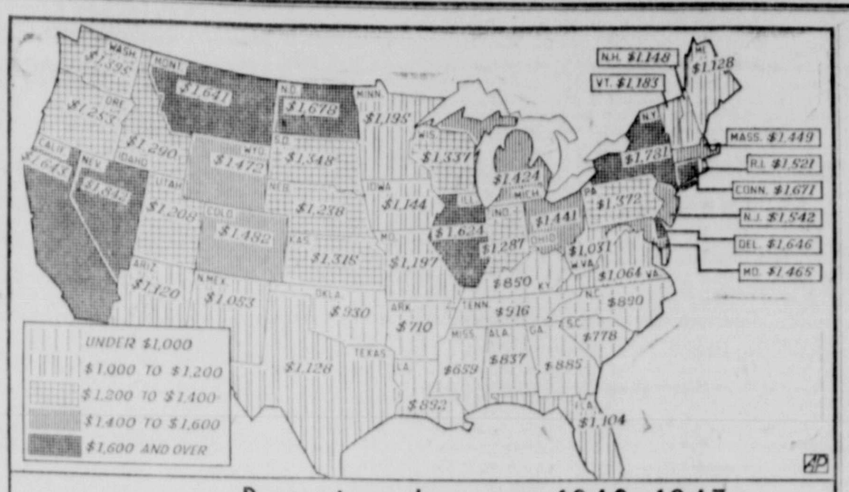

Any nation may apply for U. S. radioactive isotopes and receive them merely by meeting a few simple qualifications. The most important qualification is that the foreign scientists (as well as American) must give other scientists permission to visit their laboratories. They also are urged to publish the results of their experiments. The purpose of this requirement is to distribute the information as rapidly as possible among all the world's scientists.

So far more than 200 isotope shipments have gone to Argentina, Australia, Belgium, Canada, Denmark, Italy, The Netherlands, Norway, Peru, Spain, Switzerland, Sweden, Turkey, The Union of South Africa, the United Kingdom and France.

Cuba, Chile, Iceland, India, Ireland, and New Zealand have qualified to receive shipments.

Among those nations that have not applied for shipments are Russia and her satellites.

UNDERPRIVILIEGED FAMILIES WITH $7,000 ANNUAL INCOME—Now you can start worrying about those underprivileged families of four with only $7,000 a year income. Latest figures compiled show that a $7,000 a year family of four is actually below par in Nevada and New York, the highest income states. In these two states, the average income for every man, woman and child is $1,842 in Nevada and $1,781 in New York. Thus, families of four in these two states are below average if they have $7,000 a year income. The chart above shows the individual income for all 48 states.

Sarawak Asks Uo So Sympathy

SINGAPORE (AP) — The United States, which in 1850 became the first foreign power to recognize Sarawak as a free nation, has been asked for "sympathy and understanding" by native organizations campaigning to restore the little British colony's independence.

Sarawak—land of the "White Rajahs"—is in Northwest Borneo. Gold, oil and rubber come from its 50,000 square miles. For a century Sarawak was an independent and sovereign state under British protection. It was ruled by the fabulous Brooke family, the "White Rajahs."

In 1946 the last of the White Rajahs, Sir Charles Vyner Brooke ceded Sarawak to Britain. On July 1, 1946, it was annexed as a crown colony. Controversy has raged over the annexation ever since. The heir presumptive to the throne, Capt. Bertram Brooke and his son, Anthony Brooke, claim the cession was illegal and should be annulled. Their cages is in the courts of the Sultanate of Brunei in Borneo. Eventually it is expected to go to the Privy Council, Britain's highest judicial body.

In Sarawak itself, the burden of the paternal Brooke rule has o fthe paternal Brooke rule has been carried out by the Malay National Union of Sarawak, the Sarawak Youth Movement and the Malay Youth Movement of Sarawak. Their joint appeal for sympathy from the United States was made in a message forwarded from Kuching, the capital of Sarawak, to The Associated Press at Singapore. You are hereby commanded to appear before the Honorable 84th Judicial District Court of Ochiltree County at the Court House thereof, in Perryton, Texas, at or before 10 o'clock A. M. of the first Monday next after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being the 3rd day of January, A. D., 1949, then and there to answer Plaintiff's Petition filed in said Court on the 20th day of November, 1948, in this cause, numbered 1045 on the docket of said Court, and styled,

CLARENCE J. WITTLER, Plaintiff, vs. L. J. NUCKOLLS, ET AL, Defendants.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows:

Plaintiff alleges that on the first day of September, 1948, this plaintiff, Clarence J. Wittler, was and still is the owner in fee simple of the following described lands and premises situated in the County of Ochiltree and State of Texas, and described as follows, to-wit:

ALL OF SECTIONS NOS. THIRTY-FIVE AND FIFTY-FIVE (35 AND 55), EACH AND BOTH BEING IN BLOCK NO. TEN (10), ABSTRACT NO. 121 AND 131, RESPECTIVELY, CERTIFICATE NO. 5/20 AND 5/30, RESPECTIVELY, ORIGINAL GRANTEE HT&B RR. CO. SURVEY OF LAND, LYING AND BEING SITUATED IN OCHILTREE COUNTY, TEXAS, said Section No. 35 above described containing 644 Acres of Land, and said Section No. 55 above described containing 643 Acres of Land in Ochiltree County, Texas; and likewise, on the first day of September, 1948, the plaintiff, Clarence J. Wittler, alleges that he was, and still is, the owner in fee simple of the following described lands and premises situated in the County of Ochiltree and State of Texas, and described as follows:

SECTIONS NOS. ONE HUNDRED ELEVEN, ONE HUNDRED THIRTEEN AND ONE HUNDRED FIFTEEN (111, 113 AND 115), EACH AND ALL OF SAID THREE SECTIONS OF LAND BEING LOCATED IN BLOCK NO. ELEVEN (11) AND BEING ABSTRACTS NOS. 50, 51 and 52, RESPECTIVELY, AND BEING CERTIFICATES NOS. 78, 79 AND 80, RESPECTIVELY, ORIGINAL GRANTEE, Wm. AHRENBECK & BROS. SURVEY, LOCATED IN OCHILTREE COUNTY, TEXAS;

and plaintiff alleges that said Sections Nos. 111, 113 and 115 above described each contains Three Hundred Twenty (320) Acres of land, so that the aggregate of the five sections of land herein described and sued for is TWO THOUSAND TWO HUNDRED FORTY-SEVEN (2,247) ACRES of land.

Plaintiff, Clarence J. Wittler, alleges that on the first day of September, 1948, also he was in possession of such premises and lands as are described in the five sections of land above set forth, and afterwards on the said first day of September, 1948, the defendants and each and all of them jointly and severally unlawfully entered upon and dispossessed him, the plaintiff, of such premises and of all such premises and lands, and withhold unlawfully from him, the plaintiff, the possession thereof.

Plaintiff alleges that defendants and each of them have occupied and used such premises under such unlawful possession for a period of ninety days, and the rental value thereof during such occupancy is $100.00 per section, aggregating $500.00 in which amount by virtue of such wrongs the defendants and each of them jointly and severally are justly indebted to the plaintiff, Clarence J. Wittler; but though repeated demand for the payment thereof has been made of defendants by plaintiff, the defendants and each of them have failed and refused and still fail and refuse to pay same to plaintiff's damage in the sum of $500.

Further pleading herein, the plaintiff alleges that he, Clarence J. Wittler, is named as grantee in a deed to Sections Nos. 35 and 55 in Block No. 10, HT&B RR. CO. Surveys of Land in Ochiltree County, Texas, said deed being dated September 1, 1935, executed by Nora M. Condon and recorded in Vol. 63, Page 222, Ochiltree County, Texas deed records, with a correction deed dated September 19, 1936, recorded in vol. 63, Page 225, Ochiltree County, Texas deed records, and plaintiff alleges that he is named as grantee in a deed conveying Sections Nos. 111, 113 and 115, each and all located in Block No. 11, Wm. Ahrenbeck & Bros. Survey in Ochiltree County, Texas, said deed dated September 1, 1935 and recorded in Vol. 63, Page 222, Ochiltree County, Texas deed records, with a correction deed recorded in vol. 63, Page 225, Ochiltree County Deed Records, dated September 1936; and plaintiff states under oath that he does not know, and his attorney, E. A. Simpson does not know the names of any persons claiming title or interest under either or both of such conveyances other than as is stated in the plaintiff's petition, and plaintiff does not know whether any of the defendants named in his petition are incorporated or unincorporated, except upon information and belief the plaintiff alleges that the defendant City Bank of Houston is a defunct banking corporation, organized under the laws of Texas, and the defendant Houston Tap & Brazoria Railroad Company of Texas is a defunct railroad corporation organized under the laws of Texas, and the defendant Hutchins Land & Trust Company is a defunct corporation organized under the laws of the State of Texas.

This suit is brought expressly subject to the rights of the legal owners of all valid subsisting oil, gas and mineral leases outstanding on any of the lands above described, and without intending to divest the owners of such oil, gas and mineral leases of their title to such interests in said lands, and it is brought subject to the rights of the holders of any valid existing farm and/or grazing leases on these lands, or any part thereof.

Plaintiff prays that each and all of the defendants be cited in the manner and for the time prescribed by law, and particularly prays that each of the above named defendants be cited by publication in the manner and for the time prescribed by law and required to answer herein, and plaintiff prays that on final hearing hereof he have judgment for the title and possession of the above described premises and lands and all of same, for his damages, for costs of suit, for title and possession of the five sections of land above described, and he prays that the title and possession of said land be divested out of each and all of the defendants and invested in the plaintiff, and he prays for a writ of possession, and such other and further relief as he may be entitled to either at law or in equity; as is more fully shown in Plaintiff's Petition on file in this suit.

The officer executing this process shall promptly execute the same according to law, and make due return as the law directs.

ISSUED AND GIVEN UNDER MY HAND AND SEAL OF SAID COURT, at office in Perryton, Texas, this the 20th day of November, A. D., 1948.

NORA M. CONDON, a Feme Sole, Plaintiff, vs. L. J. NUCKOLLS, ET AL, Defendants.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows:

Plaintiff alleges that on the first day of September, 1948, this plaintiff, Nora M. Condon, a feme sole, was, and still is the owner in fee simple of the following described lands and premises situated in the County of Ochiltree and State of Texas, and described as follows, to-wit:

ALL OF SECTIONS NOS. ONE HUNDRED THREE, ONE HUNDRED FIVE, ONE HUNDRED SEVEN, ONE HUNDRED NINE, ONE HUNDRED SEVENTEEN, and ONE HUNDRED NINETEEN (103, 105, 107, 109, 117 AND 119), EACH AND ALL OF SAID SECTIONS BEING IN BLOCK NO. and likewise on the first day of September, 1948, the plaintiff, Nora M. Condon, alleges that she was and still is the owner in fee simple of the following described lands and premises situated in the County of Ochiltree and State of Texas, and described as follows:

ALL OF SECTIONS NOS. THIRTY-SEVEN, THIRTY-NINE, FORTY-ONE, FORTY-NINE, FIFTY-ONE AND FIFTY-THREE (37, 39, 41, 49, 51 AND 53), EACH AND ALL OF SAID LAST DESCRIBED SECTIONS OF LAND BEING LOCATED IN BLOCK NO. New Methods of Cancer Treatment Will be Shown Newest methods of detection and treatment of cancer will be demonstrated for Texas doctors at the third annual meeting of the American Cancer Society, Texas Division, in Houston Dec. 5 and 6.

Members of the Society from throughout the state will attend scientific and lay sessions featuring the two-day meeting, according to Frank C. Smith of Houston, president of the Division.

Speakers will emphasize the need for every doctor's office to be a cancer detection center and will describe the part volunteer men and women are playing in the state's expanding cancer control program.

A presentation for all present by nationally known specialists will describe the present and future of medical control of cancer, will emphasize that much cancer can be cured with what is now known, and will explore some of the possibilities which present-day research holds.

Dr. E. W. Bertner of Houston, executive committee chairman, said that actual patients will be presented during one of the professional meetings. Conditions will be similar to those in a typical cancer clinic, and representatives of 10 Texas tumor clinics which receive support from the Society will act as the medical staff for this demonstration. All Texas physicians, dentists, and nurses are being invited to attend.

Awards for outstanding service to Texas cancer patients will be presented during the annual dinner, and business sessions will also be held. An open public meeting presenting some of the outstanding speakers will be held at the Houston YMCA Dec. 6 at 8 p. m.

Q. While living in Canada, I converted my National Service Life Insurance to a permanent plan. Now I learn that because of Canadian currency controls, I cannot send enough money out of the country to cover my premiums. What can I do about this?

A. There have been a number of similar cases. You should contact the currency control office of the country in which you now reside, and if you cannot make a satisfactory arrangement, you should go to the nearest U. S. consulate and explain your problem.

Q. I am a World War II veteran and would like to know if my wife is entitled to VA hospitalization?

A. If she is an ex-service woman she will be entitled to hospitalization in her own right, but being the wife of a veteran will not of itself make her eligible for VA hospitalization.

Q. After my discharge from World War II, I surrendered my $10,000 National Service Life Insurance converted policy for the cash value. I have re-enlisted and want insurance again. Am I eligible?

A. Yes. Application for a new NSLI policy may be made while you are in active service.

Q. I have a service-connected disability rated at 20 percent. Am I entitled to an increase because of dependents?

A. No. Your disability must be rated 60 per cent or more before additional compensation for dependents is payable.

Veterans' News

Ochiltree county veterans are served by county service officer Tom Davis, whose office is in the courthouse annex. The daytime phone number is 36 and at night or in an emergency, the phone number is 487. Veterans who need assistance in any way are urged to make use of the services provided by the county service officer.

Veterans studying under the GI Bill who want to transfer to another school at the end of the fall semester should notify the Veterans Administration at least 30 days before they intend to make the change.

To enroll at a new school, VA explained, the student-veteran needs a supplemental certificate of eligibility. He also needs a statement from his present school showing that his progress there is satisfactory.

A student-veteran may obtain a supplemental certificate of eligibility by applying to the VA regional office which has his file.

Veterans who have appointments for service authorized by the Veterans Administration are urged to appear at the appointed time.

VA said veterans should make every effort to keep their medical or dental examinations at the time specified. These examinations are set on a regular schedule. When a veteran fails, to appear, he wastes not only the time of VA personnel preparing to give the examination or treatment, but prevents them from re-scheduling some other veteran for that period.

Broken appointments also result in unnecessary delays in medical and dental care to all veterans of the surrounding area and reduces the number of veterans who can be served by VA.

If an appointment cannot be kept, VA should be notified in advance.

Coyotes Abuse Yellowstone Sanctuary

DENVER (AP)—Western cattlemen and sheepmen, who have reason to hate him, will admit that ol' Br'er Coyote is plenty smart.

As any visitor to Yellowstone national park in northwestern Wyoming knowns, no wild animal may be shot once it's inside the park boundaries. The coyote say the stockmen, is hep to this. They contend that hundreds of them stay in the park while eating is good, then, come winter, move out to prey upon the stock grower's lambs and calves.

The federal fish and wildlife service listened to the ranchmen's complaints and decided to see how right they were. Since then, says Weldon B. Robinson, biologist in the Denver office of the service, 319 coyotes in and near Yellowstone park have been trapped, ear-tagged and released. So far, 65 of these tags have been turned in by hunters killing the coyotes outside the park. One of them was shot 115 miles airline distant from the reservation, others have wandered as far as 50 miles before catching a bullet.

Robinson insists the coyote, while cunning and furtive, is no coward. Cornered, he'll put up a terrific fight. Hungry coyotes, Robinson said, often go far out of their weight class to tackle an antlered deer or elk, only to be slashed or trampled to death.

Frost-Nipped Forage May Be Dangerous

STILLWATER, Okla., Nov. 30—(Special) — Keep livestock off frost-nipped cane, sudan, pigweeds and Johnson grass, warns Dr. C. H. McElroy, Oklahoma A. & M. College veterinarian, for these forage crops when damaged by frost may produce a deadly poison known as prussic acid.

Cases develop suddenly and death comes so quickly that little can be done to save stricken animals. Sheep and cattle suffer more from the poison than other livestock because they normally consume more roughage.

The symptoms of poisoning by prussic acid consists of uneasiness, rapid respiration, depression, stupor, convulsions, paralysis and death. The entire process may require only a few minutes or many last for several hours.

Dr. McElroy points out that there is no sure antidote for the poison that can be given quickly enough under ordinary conditions to be effective. However, livestock suspected of being poisoned may be given a drench of a quart or more or sorghum molasses or corn syrup diluted with enough water to make it easily swallowed. A pinch of poassium permanganate, if available, should also be dissolved in the drench.

Because death comes so rapidly, Dr. McElroy recommends that a veterinarian be called as soon as possible. He can administer an intravenous injection of sodium nitrite that will save the animal if given in time. However, preventing stock from eating the poisonous forage in the first place is the best protection the veterinarian declares.

Old Timers Are Still Starring In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD—Movies just a young or middle-aged person's game? Not on your life. Consider a few of the screen's real veterans.

There's Sir C. Aubrey Smith, who at 85 has just finished another picture. Harry Davenport, another familiar character face, is spry at 82. Younger, but not exactly kids, are Victor Moore, 72; Lionel Barrymore, 70, and his sister Ethel, 69. Other 69'ers are Lewis Stone and Sydney Greenstreet. Charles Winninger is 64.

Still going strong at 68 is Jesse Lasky, who in 1913 established one of Hollywood's first studios. Another veteran producer, Sam Goldwyn, is 64. "Samson and Delilah" is the 68th picture for 67-year-old Director Cecil B. DeMille.

The actor's list must include monocled, cigar-chewing Charles Coburn. Charlie started me investigating screen senior's ages when he remarked that he's 71 now, enjoys good health, and finds as much zest and amazement as ever in his daily work. He's playing a police detective in "Impact."

Two years ago, an insurance company doctor checked Charlie over and reported: "I've just examined a man who's 35 years old physically."

Some exaggeration there, probably, in the medico's enthusiasm. But I asked Coburn what keeps him lively.

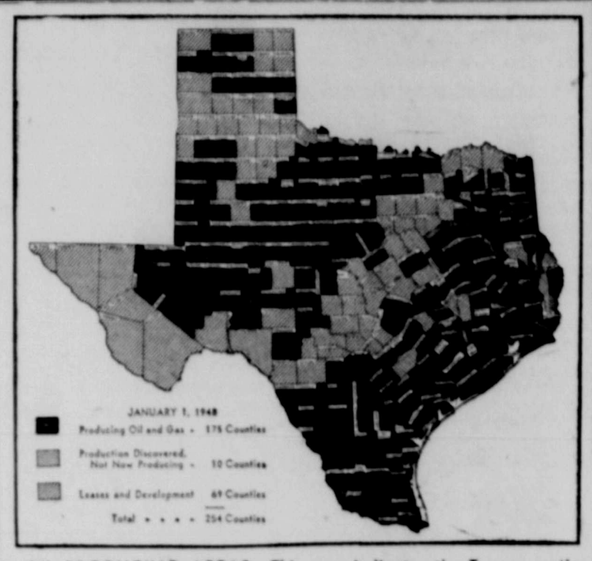

"I rode bicycles from the time I was 14 until I was 20," Charlie said; "I was an amateur and then a pro rider, in the South and East. I played baseball, fenced, played tennis, everything, until I was 40. Then I stopped. Even golf. I don't even walk if I can ride."

Charlie averages eight 32-cent cigars a day—"I never inhale" and may drink Scotch and soda of an evening. He refuses to worry about anything. He never goes to sleep before 2 a. m.—a habit from many years in the theater—but says he can equal two or three hours' sleep (or an average person) in 15 minutes in a chair on a movie set. He even sometimes dozes off at the table in friends' homes. "In long years of touring in the theater," Charlie explains, "I learned to relax.

Comes From Auburn

BROOKLYN, N. Y. (AP)—Brooklyn Dodger football coach Carl Voyles, in his first year as a professional coach, came to the All-America Conference from Auburn where he coached from 1943. He previously served at William and Mary for four years. In his last year at W & M, his team lost only one game.

Perryton visitors at the Texas Aggie-Texas University game in Austin Thanksgiving day were Clinton Hearn, Henry Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Shanks, Dean Denton and E. W. Thomas.

OIL PRODUCING AREAS—This map indicates the Texas counties which were producing oil and gas as of January 1, 1948. The petroleum industry spends about one-third of a billion dollars annually in 254 counties for leases, bonuses, and royalty payments.

One-Third of Texas Has Been Leased for Oil, Gas Production

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 30—(AP)—About 58,000,000 acres of Texas land, nearly one-third the state's area, has been leased for oil and gas exploration and production, a report published by the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association indicated today.

Land has been leased from landowners in each of the 254 counties, the report showed, and there is oil and gas production in 175 counties at the first of 1948. Ten more counties have had production but are not producing now. During 1947, Kendy, San Augustine, and Sterling counties produced oil for the first time.

The Texas petroleum industry during 1947 paid Texas land owners scattered over 254 counties, a total of $331,738,000 for leases, rentals, bonuses, and royalties.

Landowners last year received more than $89,348,000 in lease and bonus payments. The report said this sum was "a considerable income in view of the fact that only a portion of these leases will ever become productive."

"When the property is productive, the landowner receives 'royalty payments' which average slightly more than one-eighth of the oil or gas produced," the report stated. "These payments in Texas during 1947 were $242,390,000."

Canes for Embryo Soldiers

LONDON (AP)—"Spare the rod, spoil the soldier," the British Army believes—and parents of cadets agree. The war office says that it asks permission of parents of all boys in military schools to cane their children "if the occasion should arise." Seventy-five percent of the parents approve of the canings.

"The old fashioned punishment of caning is better than such punishments as keeping the boys in to do extra work," a war office spokesman explained.

Santa Fe Loans Stock Cars for Disease Control

Forty Santa Fe stock cars have been dedicated to the foot and mouth disease eradication program in Mexico, according to announcement made today by Fred G. Gurley, President of the Santa Fe Railway System at Chicago.

Through their loan to the joint United States-Mexico commission for the eradication of the foot and mouth disease in Mexico, the cars will relieve the acute shortage of stock cars on the Mexican railways and break the existing bottle-neck in supplying the vaccine plants with cattle.

Under the eradication program as implemented by the commission under the direction of General Harry H. Johnson, headquartering in Mexico City, clean cattle are moved from areas of Northern Mexico which now are free from the foot and mouth disease, to Valles, near Tampico on the East coast, where they are then trucked to vaccine plants and vaccinated. As the cattle become infected, they are slaughtered for the vaccine they have produced while the disease was germinating. Meat from these animals is not affected and is canned for Mexican consumption. The bones are burned to destroy the disease.

The commission's aim is to reduce and apply one million doses of vaccine per month and some 200 cattle per day are required at the plants to keep up the tempo of the eradication program.

Use of "Special Title" Christmas Cards Increasing

One unusual features of the 1948 cards is the considerable increase in both the number and variety of "special title" cards addressed specifically to individuals.

Most of this year's deluxe Christmas cards, with their heavy ribbons, gleaming ornamentation, and delicate art work, are special title greetings, although you can find these attractive individualized cards in all price ranges.

As befits a sentimental season, the majority of these title cards are for relatives. The most popular special title cards are those for Mothers. Sweetheart cards run a close second, just ahead of cards for Wives and Husbands.

There are both sentimental cards and humorous cards this year for practically every degree of relationship, from grand parents down to nephews, nieces and grand children.

Career girls will hardly overlook the Christmas card "To A Wonderful Boss"—especially at Christmas-bonus time.

1. Old fashioned onion soup served piping hot starts the main meal of the day in pleasing fashion and makes use of one of the most plentiful and reasonably priced fresh vegetables in local markets.
2. Or for variety, this plentiful food may make its appearance at the table baked in tomato sauce, fried in deep fat alone or with slice tart apples.
3. The red onions are heavier in supply than the white and more economical in price.

Ray McWilliams and Virginia Good Exchange Wedding Vows November 24

In an impressive double ring ceremony, Miss Virginia Good, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Good, 401 South Amherst, and Mr. Ray McWilliams were married in the home of the bride's parents on Wednesday evening, November 24, at eight o'clock. O. C. Curtis read the ritual before the mantle decorated with baskets of pink and white gladioli flanked by gleaming white tapers in wrought iron candelabra.

Mrs. Joy Hergert lit the candles as Mrs. Dean Blank, pianist, introduced the ceremony with a medley of prenuptial selections which included "Because" and "I Love You Truly." The traditional wedding marches marked the arrival and departure of. the wedding party.

Susie Learns About Life From Toyland

By DOROTHY ROE

(AP) Newsfeature Writer

PARENTS may expect some jolts from the new realism of 1948 toys. But Santa's theory this year, backed up by leading child psychologists, is that modern toys should reflect life as it is. Children, he explains, don't like to be kidded.

The newest baby doll will perform almost all the human functions. It can be fed crackers (later removed from a container in the back of the neck). It takes water from a bottle and later either wets its diaper or performs the same function on a small pot. It has hair that can be washed and when its stomach is pressed it burps.

SO THAT'S HOW IT'S DONE! Susie watches in amazement as gaily painted toy hen cackles, lays three eggs and then walks majestically away.

OH BOY—REAL MILK! Toyland's modern cow stands patiently while Susie milks her. The milk is inserted from a bottle through an opening on top.

FAMILY GROUP—The three baby bunnies shown here emerge from a zippered pouch in the Mama rabbit's tummy. Dog and puppies are also available, same style.

Sumatran Beauty Scores in Movies

SINGAPORE (AP)—Kasma Booty, the South Seas' first film star, has completed her second picture. It's a mystery film called "Chinta"—or, in English, "Love."

Electric Roaster Useful Addition To the Kitchen

"An electric roaster is a useful addition to the kitchen, and need not be considered a substitute for the range," Mrs. Bernice Claytor, extension home management specialist of Texas A. & M. College, says. "A roaster may be too small for convenient general family cooking, except in emergencies, but it is very useful whenever you are preparing meals for a large group or whenever the range is crowded."

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has had many queries regarding the use of the electric roaster, Mrs. Claytor says, and in answer, the specialists have several suggestions which will put the electric roaster to the best use.

Many farm families, they say, use a roaster for summer cooking, when wood or coal ranges make the kitchen uncomfortably hot. A roaster can cook a whole meal for a small family, and apartment dwellers will find that a roaster plus a hot plate will do the cooking very satisfactorily.

Two important advantages of the appliances are the ease with which it can be moved and the fact that it can be plugged into any outlet. It can be moved from the kitchen to the recreation room, for instance, or used in community halls for special occasions.

It's a good idea to have a convenient spot in the kitchen for the roaster, preferably a stand or table of comfortable height near an electric outlet, where it can be kept, Mrs. Claytor concludes. It's a nuisance to have to lift it out of a cabinet or cupboard each time it's to be used.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Morgan returned to Wichita, Kansas Monday.

Washington Letter.

WASHINGTON—Want to know how to control fleas? Mend your husband's pants? Grow gardenias? Cook with died eggs? Raise turkeys?

Ask the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The USDA's Office of Information gets from 3,000 to 5,000 letters daily, in addition to innumerable calls and queries from persons who visit it. The American people look to it as an information source of the first order.

I was chatting recently with Mrs. Eleanor Clay, who has charge of the information booth in the patio of the USDA building here. She and her assistants receive about 100 visitors a day, get about 300 phone calls.

"What can I call my new baby? I want names for a boy and names for a girl. I might have either one, maybe both," said a voice on the phone.

What color eyes do potatoes have? Does angora wool grow after it is made into a sweater? Do animals have spring fever? How does the water get into watermelons? How do I mothproof a mattress?

Mrs. Clay and people in other divisions of the USDA try to answer all questions answerable. If the USDA does not have the information, the caller is referred to some one who might have it. The USDA gets its answers after much research and experimentation in its laboratories.

Many USDA publications are best-sellers on the government lists. Directions on home canning of fruits and vegetables have gone through many editions totaling more than 10,000,000 copies. A bulletin on stain removal has totaled nearly 3,000,000. During World War II nearly 11,000,000 copies of a leaflet on "Ninety-nine ways to share the meat" were distributed.

The USDA is also one of the foremost civilian producers of documentary films in the world. It has been making them more than 30 years. These films, which touch on about 150 subjects, range from fighting forest fires to how to get better school lunches for the kids.

The USDA provides information for several radio programs. Its crop reports are used by the railways to determine the number of boxcars they will need at certain places at certain times. Its market news service announces prices to brokers and bankers. Farmers everywhere depend on the information it issues regarding destructive insects, fertilizers, disease-resistant plant varieties and management of domestic animals and poultry.

Unknown Cattle Disease Hits Nation's Herds

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 16—High school algebra keeps the students busy trying to solve for "X". And, right now, it's the same thing veterinarians are trying to do—solve for "X". Only in this case "X" is a cattle disease that was first reported in New York nearly ten years ago. Later it began cropping up in other states around 1943.

Now it almost covers the nation, except for the Pacific Coast states. At the latest count it was reported in over 30 states including Texas, says Dr. W. C. Banks, extension veterinarian of Texas A. & M. College.

"X" doesn't seem to affect anything except cattle. And, according to a recent survey made in the Southeast, it was found that nine beef animals were infected to one dairy animal. The most severely affected animals die from the disease. This survey also showed that 31 percent of all animals in 26 herds were infected, and 59 percent of the affected animals died. One of the common things among pergnant animals is abortions.

Symptoms of the disease include a watery discharge from the eyes and nose, and later on, as the disease develops, the animal's appetite fails, it loses condition, and becomes depressed. The skin gets thick, wrinkled, hard and leathery and lesions sometimes appear on the muzzle or in the mouth.

This "X" disease may be confused with pink eye, cobalt defieciency, Dallis grass poisoning or scabies by the stockmen. But for the veterinarian who knows the disease, it's not hard to diagnose.

It may hit the herd anytime of year, but is more likely to occur in the late winter and early spring months, says Dr. Banks. Its cause is not known, and for this reason there isn't any known treatment for the disease. No drug treatments have been efective for control.

Just about the only thing the stockmen can do is feed a good balanced ration and keep the herd and barns clean. Sanitation, good feeding and quarantine of new animals in the herd are about the only control measures there are.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ellzey went to Dallas last Wednesday to visit Mrs. Ellzey's parents. Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Scrogin and her sister, Mrs. J. L. Clark. They also visited in the home of Rev. and Mrs. Jack Ellzey and son.

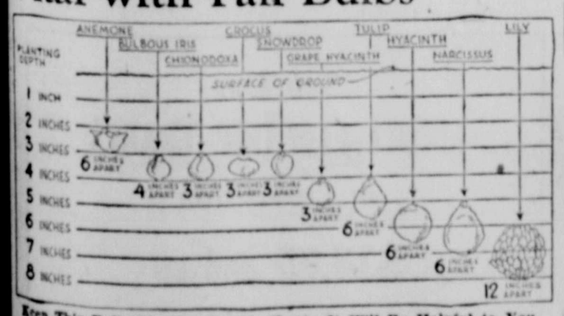

Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Shanks spent Thanksgiving in Austin in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Shanks Jr. and family. They returned home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Cudd and Genette spent Thanksgiving day in Spearman visiting with Mrs. Cudd's family and with Mr. and Mrs. Claude Sheets.

Lois and LaVerne Burger were home from McPherson College for the Thanksgiving vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Groves and children, Harold and Byron, went to Ada, Okla., to spend Thanksgiving with his brother. They returned Sunday.

Right Depth of Planting Vital with Fall Bulbs

Keep This Bulb Planting Depth Chart. It Will Be Helpful to You.

Fall bulbs should never be planted in poorly drained locations. If your garden is low, lacking a place where water never stands, but always quickly runs or drains away, then such a place must be created by elevating a bed six inches or more above the surface.

Remember that newly turned soil settles; so heap it above the bulbs, an inch or two, to avoid leaving a depression when it packs down. The depths of planting given in the table may be considered minimums; deeper planting may often be advisable. One of the chief hazards for all bulbs is "frost heaving," due to alternate freezing and thawing of the soil, which may lift shallow rooted plants out of the soil. Bulbs planted so late they cannot make roots in the fall are likely to suffer from it; and large bulbs not set deep enough will often be injured. A mulch placed over the bulbs after the ground has frozen will keep the frost in, and reduce frost heaving.

When it is intended to allow tulips to remain where you plant them several years rather than dig them up after they have blossomed and their leaves have turned yellow each summer, they should be planted two or three inches deeper than the normal depth.

Deep plating may cause flowering to be somewhat later, so all bulbs which it is desired shall blossom at the same time should be planted the same depth.

The lilies which need deep planting (7 to 10 inches) are those that make roots on their stems above the bulb. The madonna lily, which does not do this, needs shallow planting, 3 to 4 inches down.

Texas Writer Worried Over U. S. Illiterates

FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 23 (AP) — Editorial writer Robert Hicks of The Star-Telegram has revealed some startling statistics on illiterates in the United States.

And he is fearful that they are a threat to the freedom of the press.

There are 2,800,000 people in the U. S. over 14 who can not read or write, he said, compared with 3,400,000 people who have four or more years of college.

Newspapers perform an invaluable service in reporting and interpreting the news, but Hicks said people must be able to understand and judge the facts or the effort is worthless.

He blamed disregard for compulsory school laws for part of this bad situation.

"In Texas we have a compulsory school attendance law," Hicks said, "But it obviously is not being observed. We have 1,500,000 children of school age and the average school attendance is only 1,000,000.

He said plugging the loopholes in the school law would help maintain not only freedom of the press but the value of this freedom.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Balzer and children and Mrs. Marjorie Black were in Guymon Thursday visiting the Dick Gugliotti family.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Payne and guests, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Buhrer and Michael Tuley from Syracuse, Kansas, went to Canadian Thursday evening to visit Mr. and Mrs. George Ayres.

Bring Irish to Capital

WASHINGTON, D. C. (AP)—Ever since they began representing the nation's capital in the National Football League in 1937, the Redskins have had one or more ex-Notre Dame players on their roster every year except 1944, when Wayne Millner, the brilliant end, was in the Navy. Present ex-Notre Damer on the squad is John Adams, the six foot, seven inch tackle. Millner now is tribe end coach.

Babson Discusses Truman Promises

ROGER W. BABSON, Editor-in-Chief

NEW YORK CITY, Nov. 26—Leading businessmen are now trying to analyze Mr. Truman's promises. They were so sure that Mr. Dewey would win that they didn't bother to read Truman's promises. They were so sure that Mr. Dewey would win that they didn't bother to read Truman's speeches during the campaign. Now the New York Times and other newspapers are being beseiged by requests for back copies in order to read about Mr. Truman's promises. Believing Mr. Truman is honest, they take more stock in his promises than in those of his distinguished predecessor.

Promises to Labor and Farmers

The outstanding promise that Mr. Truman made was that the Taft-Hartley Act will be repealed. Only a coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats could prevent this, and I am sure that even they could not prevent radical amendments or possibly a return to the Wagner Act. Although the revised Act will give employers the same rights to talk to their wageworkers that labor leaders now have, yet most of the changes will be much to the advantage of labor in getting their fourth round of wage increases. Talks with some labor leaders indicate they are willing to agree to the Communist Test provided it applies also to employers.

Mr. Truman also promised the farmers that he would work for continued price supports and all other benefits which farmers now have. So far, so good. But Mr. Truman went a step further. In addition to promising higher wages and supported farm prices, he further promised lower retail prices to consumers. Of course, this is much like promising to make 2 and 2 add up to 5. As Mr. Truman has time to think this over, he will realize that it will be very difficult to keep all three promises.—to labor, farmers and consumers. His New Deal braintrusters may tell him that this can be done by reducing the profits of corporations, but of course this would tend to reduce production. It would be like "sinking the ship to clear it of rats."

Only One Way Out

The only way that these three promises can be kept is by subsidizing key employers. This was a policy used in many industries during the war. It is "beating the devil around the bush", but in many cases it reduced the price to consumers considerably more in dollars than the subsidy amounted to. On the other hand, as in the case of potatoes, there were instances where it was a terrible farce. It really means that in addition to throwing favors to labor, farmers and consumers, he will throw one more gift to certain manufacturers so that production will not be curtailed.

Of course, this means higher taxes. All subsidies must ultimately be paid by the taxpayers. I, therefore, would expect to see an increase in corporation taxes, and possibly in personal income taxes to take care of these subsidies which would be in addition to our tremendous expenditures for armament at home and "peace" abroad. There would be a tremendous yell against such increased taxes but otherwise the deficit budget would require the issuance of more bonds. This would surely mean further inflation.

What About Business Confidence

I have been unable to find a businessman — Republican or Democrat — who is going ahead with new plans not already arranged for before election. Of course, there are great backlogs in industrial building, new homes, improvements to machinery, material stockpiles, etc. This backlog should keep gross business fairly good during 1949. Net earnings and dividends, however, are sure to fall off. Businessmen who were all pepped up to go ahead with expansion programs under Dewey are now crestfallen and discouraged. President Truman certainly should make some statement to revive the confidence of businessmen or else the present decline may run into a riot.

Now as to the New York attitude regarding the stock market: "Eliminating the possibility of more inflation, it may be wise to take profits at the present time. A few safe common stocks, however, are a good hedge against inflation along with sound education for your children, producing real estate, good furniture, rare diamonds, and solid gold necklaces, even although the quotations for all of these things may decline during the next two or three years."

Your "happy birthday" will mean ever so much more if you remember with a fine Gibson card from our wide selection.

Wolf Creek Philosopher

He'll Help Economists Reduce Dollar Surplus

(Ed. note: The Wolf Creek Philosopher on his bindweed farm is confused again, his letter this week reveals.)

Dear editar:

While I ain't no economist, I'm up with the experts when it comes to inflation, that is, like them, while I can't see it comin I blamed sure know when it's here and while like them I can't see it leavin I blamed sure know when it's gone, and so I was amazed to pick up a copy of a newspaper out here Monday and read where the National Chamber has announced that the cause of inflation is too much money.

"The Chamber's committee on economic policy said prices would drop if the supply of money were reduced," the news article said.

Now as I say I ain't no economist and I want to do whatever is right, but will you get them chamber of commerce fellers in Washington or wherever they're located to explain to me how I'd be any better off under their plan?

I'll admit things is too high, steak ain't worth a dollar a pound, but bringin prices down by reducin the amount of money I got would leave me in the same hole I'm in. I can't see any difference in not havin quite enough to buy a 90-cent T-bone steak and not havin quite enough to buy a 40-cent one.

But this Washington outfit contends the supply of money has jumped from 36 billion dollars to 110 billion, and the way to bring prices down is to eliminate some of the money.

I've walked up and down both sides of Wolf Creek all mornin, in spite of the snow banks, tryin, to figure this out, and I'm blamed if I can see where I'd be any better off with less money and low prices than I am under more money and high prices. The way I see it, if your suspenders won't quite reach your pants, cuttin both of em off a little ain't gonna accomplish nothin.

However, they may know more about such things than I do and if they insist on it, I'm willin. I ain't had too much experience in eliminatin too much money but if the economic health of the country depends on it I sure as thunder would like to give the job a trial.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

'Rabbit Fever' May Result From Carelessness

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 3—Tularemia, or "rabbit fever", is transmitted to human beings through the careless handling of wild rabbits, and according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, every wild rabbit should be handled with extreme care from the time he is bagged, until he is placed on the table.

"If a rabbit is diseased, careless handling can cause tularemia. This serious disease is transmitted from rabbits to human beings, usually through direct contact with the infected animal or with objects contaminated by the meat or fur." Dr. Cox said, "Each year many persons contract tularemia because they fail to use proper precautions in the handling of the rabbits which are killed for food."

Dr. Cox said that one of the first precautions recommended is to shoot only the healthy rabbits with enough energy to run away from the hunter as he approaches. A listless rabbit that fails to run is probably sick, and should not be taken by the hunter.

A second important safeguard is for the hunter or the housewife to use rubber gloves in cleaning and preparing the rabbit for cooking. The gloves should be sterilized after using, and the refuse and paper that has touched the rabbit should be burned. Hands should be washed thoroughly after the meat has been set to cook.

Adequate cooking is a final safeguard that should be observed at all times. To destroy any germs that may be present, the meat should be cooked at boiling temperature for at least twenty minutes, regardless of whether it is to be fried or baked later.

By observing these safety rules, Texans may enjoy their rabbit hunts and rabbit dinners without fear of tularemia.

Austerity Brings Out British Art

LONDON (AP) — Owners of many of Britain's finest art collections are lending their pictures to public galleries throughout the country to escape increasing maintenance costs. Some of the collections contain masterpieces never before seen by the public.

One of the reasons for this new trend is that owners, unable to face increasing maintenance charges for their mansions, have moved to smaller quarters where suitable hanging space is not available. Others have found that fuel allocations are too small to provide a correct temperature for the pictures. Rather than store them and risk deterioration, they prefer to have them properly rehung in the galleries.

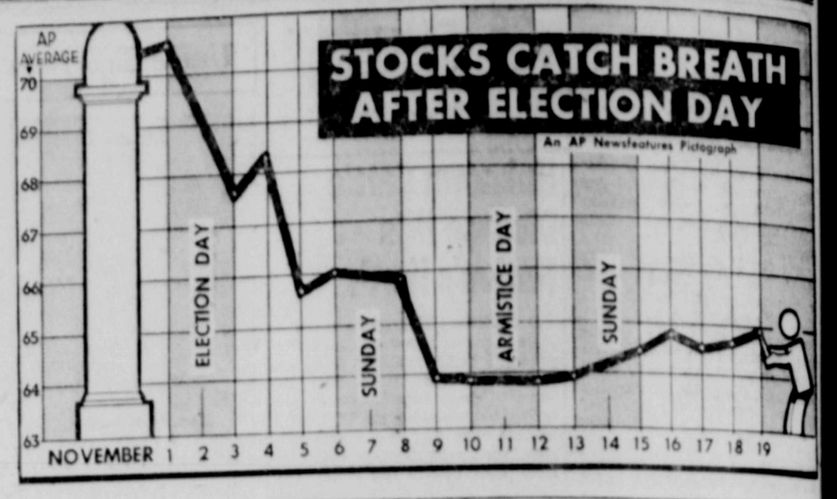

The Duke of Devonshire is one of the latter group.

"We are faced with the problems of light and heat," his assistant librarian at Chatsworth House said. "The pictures would be better off in galleries because in a few years of conditions here they would deteriorate seriously." About 20 of the Chatsworth collection are already on loan to museums. Another 60, the best, will be exhibited here soon, then rehung in museums. They will include Holbein's cartoon of Henry VIII, never before publicly exhibited.

The Earl of Ellesmore recently sold Bridgewater House, Piccadilly. Part of his magnificent collection has been loaned to the Scottish National Gallery, Edinburgh. Tapestries from two valuable sets, loaned by the Duke of Buccleuch to the ministry of works, are now hanging in the official residence of Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin. Four others are at the British Embassy in Rome. The remainder, now being repaired, will be allocated shortly.

Mrs. Lloyd Dickerson and son, Mark, of Wichita, Kansas, visited from Monday until Thursday in the home of her sister, Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Dunkle.

Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Dunkle and son, Stephen, spent Thanksgiving day in the C. R. Patton home, Higgins. Mrs. Dunkle and son remained until Monday before returning to their home here.

Catawba Indians Get New Homes

ROCK HILL, S. C. (AP)—Brighter days are ahead for a once-powerful, now almost defunct Indian tribe, the Catawbas. Tribe members are moving from their weatherbeaten huts on 600 acres of wornout land along the banks of the Catawba river into brand new cottages on 7,600 acres of fertile land near here.

The change came with transfer of the Indians two years ago from state to federal government supervision. State supervision was a hangover from a peace treaty between the state and the tribe made almost 150 years ago. The Catawba nation lists 360 surviving members who are being moved as they apply for land in the new federally-supervised area.

Fifty-seven of the tribe's [illegible] known families have made application for tracts of land ranging from one to 50 acres, and others are planning to apply. Many already have moved. The land is free and tax exempt, but the new homes must be paid for by the families taking them.

Only 25 of the Catwbas are classified by the federal Indian service as full-blooded. And only four, including retired Chief Sam Blue, still speak the Catawba language. Most of the adults have jobs in textile mills nearby while their children attend white schools here and in other school districts.

SWAPPING GUNS FOR SCALPELS—Existing civilian facilities in China will supply enough doctors for China's army, if the troops could wait 107 years. That's too long to wait, says Scotch-trained Surgeon-General Robert K. S. Lim of the Chinese army, so he has been speeding up the process. Cockroaches Do Carry Disease, Research Shows

AUSTIN, Texas, Dec. 1—Beware the cockroach, homemakers!

Cockroaches, University of Texas bacteriologists report, carry intestinal diseases, and everything possible should be done to exterminate them.

In research studies, Dr. O. B. Williams, chairman of the bacteriology department, and Miss Ruth Bitter, recent graduate, discovered that cockroaches have been known to carry paratyphoid fever, a form of dysentery, and food poisoning.

"It is possible that cockroaches live in close association with rats and mice in the wild state," Dr. Williams said. "In view of their feeding habits, the possibility of their becoming infected or acting as carriers of a variety of micro-organisms is clearly evident."

Miss Bitter studied the large winged American Cockroach found in the Central Texas area.

"Heretofore, because of lack of conclusive evidence that roaches can transmit diseases, these insects have been regarded with tolerance by a large proportion of the population, especially in areas where roach control is difficult," the bacteriologists said. "Results of our investigation show that they do carry disease and that every precaution should be taken to see that kitchen utensils and dishes are protected."

GOOD GOVERNMENT AWARDS

WHAT IT MEANS:

DDT's Failure to Kill '48 Flies

WASHINGTON — That super fly killer, DDT, is having trouble killing flies. Flies apparently are building up a resistance to it. Dr. P. N. Annand, chief of the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, says reports have come from several parts of the country that DDT isn't killing the 1948 crop of flies.

This is what the fly experts have feared. Apparently the flies are giving a good demonstration of the old jungle law of the survival of the fit. But the fly experts have several aces up their sleeves.

Dr. Annand says this is the situation:

Flies are killed by coming in contact with DDT, sprayed on surfaces. It works through their nervous systems. Apparently a fly gets a "hot foot" after he alights in an area sprinkled with DDT. Some flies already have received a killing dose of the poison by the time their feet begin to tingle.

Some other flies apparently can take more DDT and live to tell their grandchildren about it. After escaping they breed. And they pass on to their offspring this ability to take a dose of DDT that would be a knockout punch to another fly. Possibly their feet are more senstitve to DDT, too. So it turns out the weak flies, or ones with insensitive feet, are killed. Other flies, with sensitive feet, or of strong physique, survive to breed a super family.

Scientists long ago suspected something like this might happen and they went to work in laboratories. They sprayed flies, in cages, with DDT. They allowed the survivors of each spraying to breed. In the 43rd generation, with all the weaklings eliminated, they produced a fly that could take three times as much DDT, without curling up his toes, as an ordinary fly. Department of agriculture scientists see these two leading possibilities:

1. Possibly the surviving flies develop more sensitive feet thru each generation. They get the "hot foot" quicker than other flies when they land on the poison and fly away before they get a killing dose. 2. Or they are just all-around better flies, with more health and more vigor. At least they have more DDT-resistance. That's the most likely theory, Dr. Annand says.

He and other department scientists aren't too worried about the situation. In their laboratories they have been 43 jumps, or in generations, ahead of the wild flies—the kind that are getting harder to kill in your kitchen or stable.

They have found that if one or two generations of flies aren't sprinkled with DDT, the offspring lose some of their resistance. So they wait a couple of generations and then shoot such a heavy dose it wipes out the whole fly generation, with none escaping to breed bigger and better flies.

Another ace up the sleeve is a combination poison, mixing DDT with other insecticides. In some tests this has proved to be just the haymaker the doctor ordered.

Buenos Aires Chides City Purists

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—The city's "pure Spanish" campaign has backfired.

Just after the city hall decreed that ungrammatical posters would be torn down, a newspaper pointed out that the city's own subways signs referred to "paths" instead of "sidewalks."

Also the monument to the founders of the city speaks of "the anniversary of 'its' foundation . . . " rather than the correct spanish form "anniversary of 'the' foundation . . . " This mistake is cut into stone and can't be changed.

Mr. and Mrs. Ike Sharpe spent Thanksgiving day at Follett with Mrs. Mark Sharpe.

Poland Picks Political Teachers

WARSAW (AP)—Poland is building up a new corps of school teachers. A cardinal requirement is that they must be "politically active."

That's the program laid down by Stanislaw Skrzeszwski, minister of education, and an important figure in the Communist Workers party of Poland.

Skrzeszewski says he's out to "democratize" the educational system in Poland. Simultaneously, the Communist Workers party, as a whole, is trying to get as many teachers as possible into the organization.

Never Sleep in Tightly Closed Room, Says Cox

AUSTIN, Texas—With the advent of cold weather each year in this State, several deaths are usually reported, resulting from asphyxiation by gas fumes in improperly ventilated homes or sleeping quarters.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, has issued a warning in this respect, emphasizing that it is never safe to sleep in a tightly closed room with a gas fire burning. Even if there are no gas leaks, the air soon becomes vitiated and unfit to breathe.

"When occupying a room in which gas is burning, be sure always to have at least one window or door open, to admit fresh air," Dr. Sox said. "If the weather is too cold to permit leaving an open window in the room occupied, then play safe by opening a door into an adjoining room where a window can be opened."

Dr. Cox said he was prompted to issue this warning early in the season because of the fact that thousands of new residents in the State have come from districts where they have been used to burning coal, wood or oil, and they do not know the dangers of gas fumes in improperly ventilated homes.

"Occupying a room heated by an open gas flame, and at the same time keeping the room tightly closed, may prove disastrous the very first time it is tried," Dr. Cox said. "It is better not to risk it even one time. Always be sure that your room has plenty of fresh air, but make doubly sure when you have a gas fire burning."
