

Train Wreck In Italy Claims 61 Lives

Candidates Maintaining Torrid Pace

By The Associated Press There was no letup Thursday in the torrid sprints toward the finish by John Connally and Don Yarborough in their race for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Each addressed a big rally Wednesday night in the populous Houston area, nominally the home grounds of Yarborough. Both moved on to plug for support at other points Thursday.

70 Others Are Injured

By SERGIO MARSOTTO VOGHERA, Italy (AP)—A fast freight train hurtled into a standing passenger express jammed with Riviera-bound holiday crowds early today and 61 persons were reported killed.

The station master said the freight had run a red stop light. Seventy persons were reported injured, 10 of them gravely, in the pre-dawn collision at the main station of this industrial city 30 miles south of Milan.

IT'S OFFICIAL NOW—Although the calendar says summer is still three weeks away, the hundreds of small fry and adults who turned out yesterday at the Towle Park pool seemed satisfied that summer was already here.

More Witnesses Called In Probe

FRANKLIN, Tex. (AP)—Court aides prepared to call more witnesses today for a county grand jury investigation of the mysterious shooting of Henry H. Marshall, one of the first Agriculture Department officials to question activities of Billie Sol Estes.

Dist. Atty. Bryan Russ said a pathologist wanted to make additional laboratory tests, meanwhile, on the disinterred remains. The grand jurors recessed Wednesday. They will reconvene Monday.

Buying Wave Erases Stock Market's Loss

By DARDEN CHAMBLISS AP Business News Writer NEW YORK (AP)—A buying wave poured over the stock market today, pushing prices higher with a great burst that more than erased the 1959-like plunge early this week.

Evidence that institutional buyers were playing a prominent role came from the size of some big transactions in early trading. Some prices were a little under the average of 30 industrials was about 9.3 to 12.59.

Four Plane Crashes Push Holiday Deaths To Record

By The Associated Press Traffic Boating Drowning Miscellaneous Total. Four plane crashes which killed 13 persons helped push to a record high of 195 for the nation's Memorial Day toll of accident deaths.

The previous mark was 174 for a one-day Memorial holiday in 1956. The traffic death toll of this year's holiday rose nearly to the record 109, also established in 1956.

The National Safety Council, in a pre-holiday statement did not estimate a specific number of deaths for the midweek holiday. It said between 100 and 150 persons could be killed in traffic accidents during the 30-hour holiday period.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

MEXICO CITY—Sunday is the big day at Chapultepec Park. Half the city goes there to parade around for the chimpanzees and zebras in the zoo.

Apparently the monkeys get a big charge out of this. Being the companionable types. The zebras and lions are a little indifferent. So everyone gathers at the monkey cages watching them scratch each other's chiggers and turn flips.

The spectators contemplate this scene of G. O. P. I.

And the monkeys look back and say, "Whoo. If I was one of those guys I'd have to work for a living. It's a black day for the whites, what with taxes and rent and groceries."

The rest of the park is a vast picnic ground. Intellectuals gathered beneath huge trees for open air chess contents. And millions of rowboats nudging each other about the lake while the passengers duck everybody else's ears.

A few hundred years back, Emperor Montezuma (R-Artec) had a weekend lodge here. There is a bubbling spring where he sauntered down to scrub his back in the morning sun.

The present castle atop the big hill was built by Emperor Maximilian around 1860. A few years later he found himself staring at the business end of a firing squad.

After the chain of government command occupied the castle a number of seasons, everything was turned over to the civilians. And it is now public domain.

All of which leads up to a point. This being that at unexpected intervals your sad correspondent gets involved in an excursion around the zoo. It generally begins with a very innocent, "Papa, can we go for a short ride?"

Now the young people around our spread know that Papa would rather face a typhoon than Sunday at the zoo. Likewise that Papa does not wish to lose up a few moments of fresh air for them, although a siesta would be infinitely more satisfactory.

The ensuing maneuver is executed in a very clever manner. "Let's go this way...now turn right, here...straight ahead, Papa."

Finally, the family scat wagon is caught in a stream of traffic going into Chapultepec Park. And cannot get out of the line.

This is where we hear, "Let's stop for a minute and let the baby see the giraffes."

This baby has no more interest in giraffes than I have. And, I know as well as the rest of the world that from where we park, the giraffes are clear across the zoo. Which means we walk through the entire business.

Naturally, I do not comment on the situation since nobody listens anyhow. The monkeys recognize us and say, "man, they got him here again." Hyenas laugh fiendishly. Lions, bears, tigers and elephants couldn't care less. Or maybe it is only an attitude of contempt.

After a few bales of cotton candy, the next step is a trip around the zoo on the midget train. The engineer straddles the locomotive and toots a peanut whistle every hundred feet.

The birds and the beasts stare at us as we chug around the course. Every time the engineer goes "toot toot," the seals go "honk honk" and dive in their pool. This is the only short ride of the day.

My pocketbook suffers from chronic anemia at all times. And when there are but a few coins rattling in my jeans, we approach the subject of education.

"You ladies and gentlemen have a good bit of homework pending, as I recall," I begin, sternly.

"Oh Papa, just a little longer. Please."

My determined foot goes down. "Listen, school is no light proposition these days and you have to study. Don't you want to be well educated?"

"No, Papa. We want to be like you. Let's go see the hippos."

Naturally, we go see the hippos. Also a number of other creatures.

Well, I do not expect to win them all. But it would be pleasant to get a tie now and then.

China Discourages Youth Marriages

By JOHN RODERICK TOKYO (AP) — Communist China, its 670 million people plagued by serious food shortages, has started a campaign to discourage youth marriages.

The official reason is the same given for its program of birth control: The health of individual Chinese. The effect of both, however, is to put brakes on an exploding population.

The campaign against early marriage is being waged by the China Youth News, a publication which reaches most of the young people of the nation.

Besides printing letters from readers who regretted their early marriages — "I have become so thin that I seem to have only bones but not any flesh" — the paper carried an article on the subject by Yeh Kung-Shao, dean of the department of public health of Peking Medical College.

He said the comparatively ideal age for marriage was 23 to 27 for girls and 25 to 29 for men. The Red Chinese marriage law sets the minimum legal age at 18 for a girl and 20 for a boy.

The reader who said he had wasted away to nothing but skin and bones was Liu Fa, who at 25 has been married 12 years and is the father of five children.

He was under 16 when the first baby was born. His wife, who is 26, "is very weak owing to too many childbirths and often falls ill," he wrote. The first three children were not able to walk until they were two years old.

Liu Fa said he now suffers from a nervous disease, dizzy spells and has a poor memory.

"Such experiences have caused me to feel that one will have nothing to gain but everything to lose from early marriage," he said.

Chun Hsiang, 22, who is about to have her fourth child said, "I have worked in a rubber plant before, and were it not for the fact that I have many children, I would have kept on working beside that machine which I love so much and would probably have done a lot of good things."

Iranian Landlords Face Treason Counts

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Iranian landlords who have been soliciting foreign help to check land reform in this country will be charged with treason and seeking foreign assistance against national interests, an official said Thursday.

Agriculture Minister Hassan Arsanjani was commenting on reports that some landlords had petitioned foreign embassies, allegedly accusing the United States of aiding communism in Iran by backing the government's land reform program.

Winner Ward Stands To Pocket $100,000-Plus

By DALE BURGESS
Associated Press Sports Writer
INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Rodger Ward, who dresses like a bank president and plays tournament bridge and golf in the low 80s, will politely relieve Speedway owner Tony Hulman of something over $100,000 tonight at the annual 500-mile auto race victory dinner.

Ward, 41, was just as smooth Wednesday when he drove his new A-1 Watson custom-built speedster to his second Memorial Day victory in four years. He set a record of 140.292 miles per hour against A. J. Foyt's year-old mark of 139.13.

It was a remarkable 13th consecutive start in the world's richest auto race for the veteran Indianapolis sportsman-businessman. And he proved again that you can't beat experience at the 32-year-old track.

Parnelli Jones of Torrance, Calif., who turned the first 100-mile-an-hour lap over the relatively flat track during the time trials, did his best to back up predictions that he would run away from the pack in his Aganlian special.

Jones, in only his second 500, led for more than half of the race but brake line trouble messed up his pit stops and he finished in seventh place.

Foyt, of Houston, Tex., last year's winner, led briefly on one of Jones' pit stops, then Ward took charge on the 15th lap. Foyt lost a wheel and was lucky to walk back to the pits.

Ward's teammate, Len Sutton of Portland, Ore., led nine laps after Ward made his last pit stop, then came back to finish second after his own final halt for tires and fuel.

Ward and Sutton drove on the leader card team, financed by Robert C. Wilkie of Milwaukee, who also owned Ward's 1959 winning car. Their one-two team finish was the first since Mauri Rose and Bill Holland dominated the late 1940s in the Blue Crown special.

Popular Eddie Sachs, Coopersburg, Pa., was a hard luck loser for a second straight year. Taking third money, he actually was on the track a shorter time than Ward by Sutton. Sachs finished 8:43 seconds back of Ward, and his pit stops took 34.5 seconds longer than Ward's efficient stops.

Troy Ruttman of Dearborn, Mich., the 1953 winner, also displayed some tremendous character to the large crowd. He started in 30th place and fought his way up to second before an overheated engine retired him.

Unofficially finishing back of Sachs were Don Davis, Phoenix, Ariz., fourth; Bobby Marshman, Pottsville, Pa., fifth; Jim McCellen, Arlington, Tex., sixth; and Lloyd Ruby, Houston, Tex., eighth; 1960 winner Jim Rathmann, Melbourne; Fla., ninth, and Johnnie Boyd, Fresno, Calif., tenth.

All of the first four finishers broke the record.

For the fourth straight year, the race was run without a fatality. And for the second straight year, Jack Turner of Seattle, Wash., was the only driver hurt. He suffered a fractured pelvis injury in a four-car pileup early in the race but was reported in good condition.

The wreck also took out Bob Christie, Grants Pass, Ore.; Chuck Rodes, Indianapolis, and Allen Crowe, Springfield, Ill. Shorty Templeman of Seattle, who had been rated a strong contender, got back in the race after bumping the wall and finished eleventh.

The amount of the purse, which depends on the gate, will not be known until the victory dinner tonight. It totaled $100,000 last year, with Foyt winning about $17,000.

Merchants Score Softball Sweep

Snyder's Merchants swept a holiday softball doubleheader from Rotan here Wednesday, romping to a 2-2 victory in the first set, then following that up with a 6-1 win in the nightcap.

Bill Chambliss hurried the opening win, allowing four hits to the visitors. Three of those safeties were realized in the first frame, one a bases-empty homer by losing hurler Louis Hayes. Dick Graham connected for the only extra-baser for Rotan, powering out a double with one out.

Seven of Snyder's eight hits went for extra bases. Carrying the biggest bat was Chester Simons, who blasted a roundtrip in the second with one out. He also came through with a triple.

Kenneth Baker smashed a double and triple to help things along, also, and Chambliss, Lynn Hatambeck, and Johnny Drake each contributed a two base blow to the winning effort.

Hayes hobbled himself by giving up 11 bases on balls, while his mates saddled him with six fielding bobbles to further add to his woes.

In an unusual switch, the Snyder Merchants furnished Rotan with a battery in the second game, as Simons assumed catching chores and Lonnie Crosby took over mound duties.

Guy Sullivan checked that 6-1 win, sending 11 Rotanners down on strikes. Crosby whiffed seven in suffering the loss.

Slapping the big blow for Snyder were Jim Wesson, who hit a two-run double in the fourth, and Sullivan and Mickey Sterling, who tripled and doubled, respectively, with none aboard.

T. Charles rapped a seventh inning two-bagger to account for the only extra-base knock off Sullivan. Graham collected two singles in a like number of trips, also.

Saturday night will find the Snyder Merchants hosting White and Everett of Abilene in a 7:30 encounter.

Acc Runners To Rice
HOUSTON (AP)—Scotty Middlebrook, Robert M. Spriggs, and Charles Lowe, Lamarque middle distance runner, said today they will enter Rice University this fall.

The two are to sign pre-enrollment applications Friday.

Middlebrook took second in the state meet in the 100 and 200-yard dashes. Lowe placed third in the state meet in the 440-yard dash.

CLOSE CALL—Sunday's 22 rifle match involving the Canyon Gun Club Auxiliary ladies could hardly have been closer. The scoring judge — Dr. Harry Ward — had his hands full in determining the winners, Doris Blackard (left) and Bobbie Krause, who tied for first with readings of 19-32nds of an inch. Margie Lammert was second with 21-32nds and Helen Roberts third with 22-32nds. The next auxiliary meeting has been set for June 3 at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Lammert.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To The Daily News:
This is a very inadequate reply to Mae Krop's tirade against our organized summer baseball leagues for Snyder boys.

I am the mother of two benchwarmers—one past and one present. During the first year in any league, the majority of the boys get only the seat of their pants dirty, but if they watch each play they learn plenty. The benchwarmers are just as enthused over their team's winning as they are disappointed when they lose.

If my boy isn't a good player, I don't expect him to hold back his team because mama just can't applaud another boy's good play. A manager has to play his best players. The "not-so-good" players usually get to play at least two innings.

These overly criticized managers put in a full day's work, and instead of going home to a shower and an air conditioned home, they spend three extra hot, sweaty, tiring hours batting, pitching, and coaching boys. I don't envy them one bit.

Every game is started with the intention of winning. That's the whole idea of swinging that bat. Just because a boy dons a uniform doesn't make him a good ball player. You can't say, "O.K. fellow, you look like a ball player. Now let's see you act like one!"

Interest in a game doesn't start at game-time. Both of my boys are catchers, and I've had my hands blistered, my fingers bent, my legs bruised, and I've gotten my daily exercise, but good, by "warming them up" before a game.

There are many of the mothers, including myself, who work eight hours a day and still give their time to the concession stand. It's much easier to do that than to have each boy pay a $10 registration fee as they do in some other towns because their leagues don't own their own concession.

I think the boys learn a lot—coordination, team work, and sportsmanship. It's hard to shake the hand of a winning pitcher but they do it. The next practice session is spent on the weaker points that were evident in the previous game.

We've been in baseball since our Colt Leaguer was a nine-year-old bench-warmer. He also sat out the games his first year in Pony League (then Teenage League).

We have a part-time bench-warmer in Farm League, and in three hours we'll have another one.

I am so very appreciative that my boys have the opportunity in our community to have something to do with their afternoons and nights. We know where they are because we put them there.

The managers might not answer you, Mrs. Krop, but we "mothers of the leagues" can say plenty. Come to the next game, have an iced cold drink, sit back and relax—if you can! I'm going out there to see my boys win and I hope their managers want them to win enough that they put in their best players. Of course, they don't get paid but you couldn't tell that from the way they put everything they've got into that game.

Thanks for being my "sounding board."

Sincerely,
Alyce Gay

Giants Retain Slim Loop Lead Over LA

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Two traditional rivals streaked through the first of baseball's big holiday spectaculars at full clip, still waxing their personal two-way duel at the top of the National League.

Both San Francisco and Los Angeles swept Memorial Day doubleheaders, leaving the Giants with the same game and a half lead they've held over the Dodgers for the past week.

The Giants extended their current winning string to seven at Philadelphia, 4-3 in 12 innings and 5-2 over the Phils. The Dodgers, before the biggest crowd in the majors this season, won 13-6 and 6-5 over the New York Mets.

Every other club in the league lost some ground. Third-place Cincinnati slipped six games back by splitting with Milwaukee, losing 4-3 and winning by the same score in 16 innings. Pittsburgh, now seven games off the pace, took a single game from St. Louis 3-1. Houston beat out Chicago 8-5 in 14 innings.

In the tight American League race, Cleveland maintained its half game lead by splitting a pair of 7-0 decisions with Baltimore; New York divided with Minnesota, winning the opener of the day-night doubleheader 10-1 and losing the second game 5-4 in 11 innings; Detroit and Chicago broke even, with the Tigers taking the first 7-3 and the White Sox the second 6-3; Washington also split with Kansas City, the Senators winning 9-0 and the A's 5-2; Los Angeles whipped Boston two times, 10-5 and 4-0.

The Giants had a struggle with the Phils in their opener, blowing three leads before Jose Pagan's looping single brought in Felipe Alou with the winning run in the pitching victory in relief with three shutout innings.

The Giants made it easier for themselves in the second game. They pushed across two runs in the first and got a two-run homer from Tom Haller in the second, staking Mike McCormick to a comfortable lead.

The Dodgers, appearing in the Polo Grounds for the first time since their move West after the 1957 season, combined with the Mets to put on a stirring production before the packed house of 55,704 roaring fans.

In the first game the Dodgers mounted a 19-hit attack.

Dodger base-running flash Maury Wills turned slugger with two homers, one left-handed and one right-handed. Souppaw Sandy Koufax gave up 13 Met hits, but added to his impressive strikeout total with 10.

The second game was a cliff-hanger, decided by Willie Davis' homer in the ninth. Former Dodger hero Gil Hodges was chiefly responsible for keeping the Mets in it with his second and third homers of the day, giving him 389 for his career and tying him with Ralph Kiner for 10th place on the all-time list.

Hank Aaron of the Braves and Don Blasingame of the Reds got the deciding hits in the marathon doubleheader at Milwaukee, which stretched out to nearly eight hours. Hank singled home younger brother Tommy in the ninth inning of the opener, which Ron Fiebert won with a sixkicker.

After being blanked by Jack Curtis, Hank Fischer and Tony Cloninger for nine innings, the Reds nicked Don Notbart for the second game's winning run in the sixth, behind the seven-hit pitching of Earl Francis and Diomedes Olivo.

Arnie-Gary Duel Looms
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—The $40,000 Memphis Open Golf Tournament gets under way today and fans are looking for something they were denied last year — a duel between big money winners Arnold Palmer and Gary Player.

Palmer, the circuit's top money maker, and Player, one of his chief rivals, missed the tourney in 1961 but they're on hand this time at the par 70 Colonial Country Club.

Other top entrants include Mike Souchak, Joe Campbell, Julius Boros, Bob Goalby, defending champion Cary Middlecoff, Billy Maxwell and Tommy Bolt.

Woman Traveling Alone In Need Of Unique Protection

BY INEZ ROBB

There has long been a firm belief in this country that heaven will protect the working girl. Would that this protection could be stretched to cover the woman who travels alone!

Alas, the woman who travels alone in this, my own, my naive land doesn't need a knowledge of judo or a gold police whistle or her charm bracelet to protect her from unwelcome attentions. Let me assure you, and this is the voice of experience speaking, any attentions, just ANY, would be welcome to the woman traveling on her own, without benefit of husband, brother, father or uncle. It would be a pleasure to deal even with a wolf. At least it would let the woman know that someone realizes she exists, is alive and breathing.

It is my contention that on any domestic airline, a lone woman passenger could drop dead and no one — certainly not the stewardesses — would be the wiser until the clean-up squad came in at the end of the journey to police the plane.

For millenniums it has been a woman's pleasure to wait on man and see that he is comfortable. And for millenniums it has been man's unquestioning right to monopolize such attentions. So stewardesses are just doing what comes naturally when they lavish all their attentions on the male passenger and let the female, unless she is a young mother with a baby, shift for herself.

I've reached the point where I no longer expect my coat to be hung up. If the girls remember, it's theirs never any room left after the gents' coats have been swiftly picked up and put away. They will fuss around, carry a man's brief case or his small under-the-seat valise. But if I came up the gangplank with my small typewriter and both arms broken, you know what I'd be carrying that machine in my teeth!

Probably some young stewardess is still wondering about the identity of the woman passenger who laughed hysterically and then broke into tears the other day when the former spilled a pitcher of water on the latter. The plane was loaded with men. One was seated next to me; palanques of them were in front of me and behind me. But who gets the pitcher of water, right on her best suit? You know whom!

However, the girl did give me a few napkins with which I could try to wipe myself dry while she hurried back for more water for the thirsty man across the aisle!

As for food, the woman who travels alone ought to go equipped with pemmican and, if you will pardon the expression, instant coffee. A woman alone or even two women together are welcome in a first-class restaurant only at luncheon time.

The headwaiter of a good restaurant who'll condescend with some intimations of politeness to give a lone woman a table at luncheon greets her as a parish at the dinner hour. He pierces her with a frigid look, points a scornful finger at the exit and acts for all the world like the father showing the door to his erring daughter and her unfortunate child in, if I remember rightly, "Way Down East." (Next week, "East Lyn" and no kidding.)

And there is nothing for the lone woman to do but, as the erring daughter did, make her pitiful exit out into the snow. She, the lone woman, can then retreat to her hotel room and eat her heart out or try the pemmican.

Once upon a time a woman who was a paying guest at a good hotel could expect to be tolerated in the dining room at the dinner hour. But on my present safari, the headwaiter at a hotel where I have been a patron off and on for 20 years, could not find a table for me in an empty dining room and told me, if I wanted to eat, to go to the coffee shop.

The next time I take a swing across the U.S.A. it will either be with my husband or in one of his but-down suits, plus a false beard!

Junior Editors Quiz on BRIDGE OF SIGHS

QUESTION: What is the Bridge of Sighs and where is it located?

ANSWER: This beautiful bridge is in Venice, Italy, where many of the streets are actually canals. In 1589, when the bridge was built, it connected a prison with the Palazzo Ducale, the palace of the Duke. Political prisoners were taken across this bridge to be tried in the palace. If they were found guilty, they were returned across the bridge to be executed in the prison. The trip over to the trial was anxious and unhappy, and the return trip was dismal. Thus the bridge was called Il Ponte Dei Sospiri, which means the Bridge of Sighs. The prison is no longer a prison, but the bridge remains. It is a closed bridge with a roof on the top and it is rather ornate, as are most of the structures in this very old city. Venice is a favorite city for tourists. The "main street" of the town is the Grand Canal, an enormous canal with gondolas or river boats, going both ways. This is the largest canal in a city connected by waterways instead of streets. From 1100 to 1797 a Historic Regatta is held on the Grand Canal, with the entire population of Venice lined up along the banks, cheering on its favorite teams.

FOR YOU TO DO: Have you ever seen a bridge crossing a street? Some large department stores have such a bridge. Covered bridges on country roads are another example. See if you can find out how these bridges are constructed.

Phobias Are Available For Everyone

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Do you sometimes worry because you are too healthy?

Do you have an inferiority complex because you are too normal? Do you secretly envy a neighbor who comes down with a strange and interesting new disease?

Well, cheer up. The chances are that you suffer from a number of high-sounding ailments your neighbor never heard of, and you weren't even aware of yourself.

They are called phobias, and the medical dictionaries list at least 200 of them. New ones keep springing up all the time.

Let's look at a few examples: Do you dislike sitting in a draft because you think it may give you a cold? My boy, there's no doubt about it. You've got aerophobia. Are you a pessimist? It's an odds-on bet then that you suffer from gephrophobia, or fear of crossing the street.

How about when you are driving your car? Do you try to beat the traffic lights? That's a sure sign of creathophobia, or fear of the color red.

Like most husbands, you probably sulk when your wife buys an expensive dress. That's certain evidence of atephobia, or fear of rain, in this case financial.

Probably you stew and fret when your golfing buddy starts off the game with a 250-yard drive. You know what's gnawing at you? Nothing but rhapsophobia, the fear of being beaten.

Does symphony music bore you? Well, deep in your subconscious mind, you are probably a victim of alouphobia, the fear of hearing flutes being played.

Naturally, as does practically everyone, you brood over the possibility of atomic disaster. This is scientifically known as ballistophobia, the fear of missiles.

Do you back away from a barking dog? You've been swept by odontophobia, or fear of animals' teeth, and perhaps also by cynophobia, the simple fear of any dog.

It is likely that you groan aloud when your wife asks you to help her rearrange the living room furniture. That's because you have been stricken with a double ailment—staxophobia, the fear of disorder; and ergasophobia, the fear of work.

Are you superstitious about the number 13? The highbrows call that fear triskaidekaphobia.

You wouldn't be sensible if you didn't hate to lend money to an office deadbeat. That is aphobia, the fear of being touched.

So don't worry about being too healthy or normal. Man, you're sick, sick, sick. You're a walking bundle of phobias.

But the chances are there's at least one phobia you don't have that's chromatophobia—the fear of having too much money.

Japanese Minister In Personal Protest

TOKYO (AP)—Foreign Minister Zenzaro Kosaka protested verbally to U.S. Ambassador Edwin O. Reischauer today over U.S. high altitude nuclear testing over Johnston Island expected in a few days.

During the 45-minute session, Kosaka asked that the United States give at least 96-hour advance notice of every test, a foreign ministry spokesman said.

Japan served notice it will reserve the right to claim compensation for all damages incurred by the tests.

Landside of the northwest coast of the United States used to make raincoats out of cedar bark.

69 Persons Dead In New Delhi Mishap

NEW DELHI (AP)—Sixty-nine persons were killed and 18 injured when a bus crashed through a bridge railing and toppled into Mahor River 60 miles east of Ahmedabad Wednesday night, according to reports reaching Ahmedabad.

Ahmedabad is about 500 miles southwest of New Delhi.

One Of First Senators In Arizona Dies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Henry Fontaine Ashurst, an unschooled cowboy who practiced the art of oratory by thundering speeches to the "couch on the lone" Arizona page, died today at the age of 77.

One of Arizona's first two U.S. senators, Ashurst succumbed before dawn at Georgetown University Hospital where he was admitted May 16 after suffering a stroke in his hotel apartment.

In his 29 years in the Senate, from 1912 to 1941, Ashurst was recognized as one of the chamber's better orators. He liked to refer to himself as "Five-syllable Henry."

Still courtly and dignified in later life, he was just what the producers of the motion picture "Advice and Consent" were looking for when they sought someone to portray a senator.

Ashurst's origins were humble, however, and included both the covered wagon and the log cabin that American politicians have never found handier.

It was in a covered wagon carrying his parents to Arizona that Ashurst was born on Sept. 13, 1874, near Winnemucca, Nev.

And it was in a log cabin south of Bill Williams Mountain that the Ashurst family first settled.

The opportunity for schooling on the frontier was meager and at 13 Ashurst left the Flagstaff schools to work as a cowboy for his father.

He rode the range for six years and once recalled: "I could throw 56-pound wood clear across the Grand Canyon. As a matter of course, I went into politics."

At 19 Ashurst became turkey in a Flagstaff, Ariz., jail. This gave him time to read Blackstone's commentaries and help open the way to a career in law and politics.

Two years later he was elected to the Territorial House of Representatives, the youngest member of that body. At 23 he was admitted to the practice of law and was chosen speaker of the House.

After a turn in the Territorial Senate and a two-year course at Stockton (Calif.) Business College and a year at the University of Michigan studying economics and law, Ashurst was unanimously elected U.S. senator from Arizona by the state legislature. He was re-elected by popular vote in 1916, 1922, 1928 and 1934.

In the Senate, Ashurst helped make some of this nation's toughest decisions. As chairman of the powerful Judiciary Committee he championed President Franklin D.

Roosevelt's ill-fated proposal to reorganize the Supreme Court. When a senator was supposed to look like Ashurst did he affected a black-jacketed cutaway suit, a white shirt and a high collar. With his corded eyeglasses, which he twisted as he talked, Ashurst was the Senate's Beau Brummel.

When his efforts to win renomination in 1940 failed, Ashurst was appointed as a member of the Board of Immigration Appeals in the Department of Justice. He served there until his retirement in February 1943.

His wife, the former Elizabeth McEvoy Reno, whom he married in 1904, died in 1939. Since then Ashurst has lived alone in a downtown Washington hotel.

He is survived by a brother, Edward, of Wickburg, Ariz., and a sister, Maude West of Monterey, Calif. A stepson, John R. Reno, lives in Montclair, N.J.

WORLD WAR I HERO ILL—Alvin C. York, World War One's most famous hero is shown at St. Thomas Hospital in Nashville. The 75-year-old hero suffered internal hemorrhaging at his Pall Mall, Tenn., home and was brought to the hospital for doctors to determine the cause. With him is his wife, whom he calls "Miss Gracie." His physicians said York's condition was good. (AP Wirephoto)

Methodist Conference Urges Total Integration For SMU

DALLAS (AP)—Complete integration of Southern Methodist University "as rapidly as possible" was urged by the North Texas Methodist Conference in Dallas, said the report was not intended "as a criticism or a rebuke" of the trustees.

"We are grateful for the intentions of the trustees as they move toward desegregation," the Rev. Mr. Holmes said. "We are grateful for concrete advances made in that direction."

SMU, which is owned by the Methodist Church and operated by trustees representing its various conferences and other groups, has integrated its secondary, law and graduate schools, and Dallas College, the downtown night school.

Complete integration in this area, is in the third day of its annual meeting.

The Rev. W. A. Holmes, minister of the North Texas Methodist Church in Dallas, said the report was not intended "as a criticism or a rebuke" of the trustees.

"We are grateful for the intentions of the trustees as they move toward desegregation," the Rev. Mr. Holmes said. "We are grateful for concrete advances made in that direction."

SMU, which is owned by the Methodist Church and operated by trustees representing its various conferences and other groups, has integrated its secondary, law and graduate schools, and Dallas College, the downtown night school.

Two years later he was elected to the Territorial House of Representatives, the youngest member of that body. At 23 he was admitted to the practice of law and was chosen speaker of the House.

After a turn in the Territorial Senate and a two-year course at Stockton (Calif.) Business College and a year at the University of Michigan studying economics and law, Ashurst was unanimously elected U.S. senator from Arizona by the state legislature. He was re-elected by popular vote in 1916, 1922, 1928 and 1934.

In the Senate, Ashurst helped make some of this nation's toughest decisions. As chairman of the powerful Judiciary Committee he championed President Franklin D.

Roosevelt's ill-fated proposal to reorganize the Supreme Court. When a senator was supposed to look like Ashurst did he affected a black-jacketed cutaway suit, a white shirt and a high collar. With his corded eyeglasses, which he twisted as he talked, Ashurst was the Senate's Beau Brummel.

When his efforts to win renomination in 1940 failed, Ashurst was appointed as a member of the Board of Immigration Appeals in the Department of Justice. He served there until his retirement in February 1943.

Khrushchev Okays Goodman's Jazz

MOSCOW (AP)—Benny Goodman's jazz tour of the Soviet Union was off and running today after getting a personal nod of approval from Premier Khrushchev—but he made plain he's not hep cat.

Giving an imitation of the American band leader's on-stage leg movements, Khrushchev told newsmen: "I enjoyed it, but I don't dance so I don't understand it very well."

The official Soviet news agency Tass pronounced Goodman's opening performance Wednesday night as a great hit.

It was the first American jazz session in the Soviet Union, which only recently frowned on such musical goings on.

The opening concert left claudesville Soviet jazz fans a bit disappointed as Goodman led his group mostly through numbers dating back a couple of decades or more. Soviet youth particularly has developed a strong taste for modern jazz from black market records and voice of America broadcasts.

Goodman may have tailored his opening night performance to the after getting a personal nod of approval from Premier Khrushchev—but he made plain he's not hep cat.
