Feed Lot Sought For Norwood Area

A one-half million dollar beef cattle feed lot with a feeding capacity of 60,000 head per year is in the planning stage for the Samnorwood area.

This was revealed Monday, February 26, by W.R. Breeding, one of the men working to bring about the facility.

Money to fund the project is being raised. Mr. Breeding explained that it is planned to have one-half the capital, $250,000, raised at the time construction begins. About half of this is already pledged and available. Shares are sold at $25,000 each.

The location chosen for the feed lot would be one-half mile west and one mile south of Samnorwood on FM Road 1548.

Declaring this to be an ideal location, Mr. Breeding said it already has three-phase electric power lines, it is on the Samnorwood Rural Water System, and the Lone Star Gas line.

A feed lot in this location would not be obnoxious to other residents, the backers believe, and drainage can set up so that no feed lot waste will get away, explained Mr. Breeding.

Cemetery Fund Drive Opens This Week

The Wellington Cemetery Association will launch its annual fund-raising drive late this week, County Judge Zook Thomas, association president, announced.

This will be a letter campaign, as it has in the past, and as many persons as possible who have interest in any of the three cemeteries will be contacted.

Unusually heavy expenses during the last year have almost drained the association treasury, Judge Thomas indicated.

Almost everything the cemeteries require has increased in price — labor, equipment and supplies — it was pointed out. These higher costs are going to mean that more money will have to be donated just to maintain the plots at their present state, without allowing for needed continuing improvements.

County Park Gets Approval from PRPC

Approval of the proposed Collingsworth County Park at the Highway US 83-Salt Fork River intersection was given by the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission directors in a meeting Wednesday, February 21.

This is a $42,942 project, and application has been made to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department for funding.

The park consists of 8 acres on the north bank of the river, and the county is looking into the possibility of acquiring additional acreage, according to County Judge Zook Thomas. It is hoped that approximately 12 acres can be added to the present site.

The next step will be submission of this project to the Governor's office for approval.

Donor Recruitment Begins for Bloodmobile Visit to County

"Blood must be on the hospital shelf because it's too late to call in donors when an accident victim is on the table in surgery," county Red Cross Blood Program workers were told as they prepared for the Bloodmobile visit here Tuesday March 13.

The speaker, Mrs. Sherry Walker, field representative of the Red River Regional Blood Center, conducted a workshop here Tuesday, Feb. 20, and spoke enthusiastically of the large number who are working in the program in behalf of Collingsworth General Hospital.

The Bloodmobile will be at Bura Handley Community Center from 1:00 to 6:00 p.m. This later hour will give working men and women an opportunity to become blood donors.

The county's quota of 110 units of blood not only represents blood which will be used for patients here, it will go toward replacing blood for anyone who goes elsewhere for hospitalization and requires blood transfusions, Mrs. Walker explained.

"Any resident of your county can receive blood elsewhere and it will be replaced from the Wichita Falls Blood Center," continued Mrs. Walker, pointing out that there is no charge to the patient for this blood, only the charge made for processing the blood and the laboratory work needed to administer it. One patient, the blood program workers were told, received 28 pints of blood in an out of county hospital, and this will be replaced from the Wichita Falls Center.

Radiologist on Consulting Staff For Hospital

Dr. Bill Reed of Plainview is now on the consulting staff of Collingsworth General Hospital as a radiologist, Garner Altom, administrator, announced this week.

Dr. Reed has been servicing Plainview hospitals and other area hospitals for about 20 years.

A licensed pilot, he will fly into Wellington each Monday afternoon for in-hospital radiological studies.

"This is an added service for our hospital patients," said Mr. Altom. "It will enable our doctors to do special studies that heretofore they have not been able to do."

Mrs. Ernest Hartwell, x-ray technician for Collingsworth General, will continue to make x-rays through the week as the doctors order them. Dr. Reed will then read all x-rays and make the special studies.

Mr. Altom explained that the charge for the x-ray services at Collingsworth General will include those of the radiologist. Formerly, when x-rays were sent to Wichita Falls for reading, patients were billed separately for making the x-ray and for its reading.

Dr. Reed pilots his own plane and serves hospitals in Dimmitt, Dumas and Childress, among other hospitals.

Heart Attack Takes Life of County Employee

Raymond Ledbetter, 64, of Samnorwood, an employee of the county road department, died about 11:00 a.m. Wednesday, February 21, of an apparent heart attack while working on a piece of equipment north of Wellington. He had suffered from a heart condition.

He had lived in the Plymouth-Samnorwood area since he was a small boy, and farmed there before going to work for the county a number of years ago.

Born May 7, 1908, at Broken Arrow, Oklahoma, he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. A.M. Ledbetter. He was married to Miss Ruby Neely on February 3, 1929, at Wellington.

Mr. Ledbetter was active in the Samnorwood Baptist Church, of which he was a member.

But any blood donor receives benefits far exceeding the pint of blood he donates. Not only is he eligible to receive blood at any other out of county hospital, the Red Cross Blood Program will also cover the spouse, all children under 18 years of age or children over 18 who are unable to donate blood; his parents and parents-in-law; the grandparents and grandparents-in-law for a period of one year after the donor gives his unit of blood.

Norwood Lions Plan Annual Auction Sat.

Samnorwood Lions will hold their annual benefit auction sale Saturday, March 10, in the area west of the school gymnasium. It will begin at 10:00 a.m. and continue until all the items are sold, according to W.R. Breeding, who is helping with arrangements.

Already consigned to the sale are a large quantity of tractors, farming equipment, trucks and cars, seed and miscellaneous items, as well as a variety of antiques and hand tools.

Jerry Jernigan will be the auctioneer and lunch will be available. If the weather turns bad, the alternate sale date is Saturday, March 24.

The Norwood Lions hold this auction each year, and proceeds go to finance its projects. Among the most important of these is its work with the High Plains Eye Bank, Amarillo, which makes possible cornea transplant for a number of people who otherwise would be without sight.

There are other projects, including a children's camp, Girls Town, and work with needy boys and girls living within the community.

Easter Seal Appeal Letters Out This Week

Easter Seal Appeal letters are to be delivered this week in Collingsworth County according to Jack Neeley, the Easter Seal Representative of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Texas. As Representative, Neeley serves as contact representative for disabled persons needing Easter Seal rehabilitation services and also serves as Treasurer of the Easter Seal Appeal in Collingsworth County.

The Easter Seal Society offers physical and occupational therapy, speech and hearing programs, and special equipment loans to enable disabled persons to make the best use of their abilities to overcome handicaps. These services are financed by the annual Easter Seal Appeal.

The Society also provides for research into the causes and cures of crippling conditions, finances public education programs, and provides scholarships for training of professional personnel to staff rehabilitation centers.

Neeley pointed out that all these programs are important if Texas is going to continue to provide the best in rehabilitation services for its own disabled citizens.

During 1972, the Texas Easter Seal Society provided treatment and services for 16,572 children and adults who were in need of assistance. Easter Seal services are available to any disabled person who can benefit from help provided by the Easter Seal Society, and who do not qualify for any other assistance, Neeley said.

The Easter Seal Campaign will continue through Easter Sunday, April 22.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Curry visited in Duncan, Oklahoma, over the week end with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Snider and boys, Larry and John D. Joining them were the Curry's other daughter, and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Maxey Tarver of Garland. Mrs. Tarver is working toward her master's degree at the University of Texas-Arlington.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Crabtree Observe Diamond Anniversary

By Mrs. G.T. Stephens
Mr. and Mrs. T.C. Crabtree, long a vital part of the Quail community, noted their Diamond Wedding Anniversary - the 60th - recently.

The former Miss Hettie Johnson and Tom Crabtree were married February 16, 1913, at Hobart, Okla. They farmed in Oklahoma prior to moving to Quail, where they still operate the Quail Mercantile.

Mr. Crabtree was born in Celina, Tenn., in 1886. It was there he grew up and received his education. He graduated from Mount Vale College in Celina in 1909.

He came to Quail on July 4, 1910, to visit his sister. He also found here a number of people that he had known in Tenn. People were so friendly and they, along with the county, offered so many inducements, he decided not to return to a job he had in St. Louis, Mo. At first, he worked for Dr. Ed Beck, the only doctor for the west part of the county, and owner of a general mercantile store for about two years.

Mr. Crabtree went to visit in Cordell, Okla., and here he met Miss Johnson, who became his wife in a short time.

He did not come back to Quail for several years. But in 1919, J.R. Self, another merchant here, wanted to sell his general merchandise store, so Mr. Crabtree bought it.

That was the fall of 1919, erations were only partially successful, and her vision gradually dimmed.

During World War I, she was an ardent suffragette. Before its end, Degas died, and her last years were lonely ones, although she continued to receive friends from America.

Although she lived for more than a decade retained painting, Mary Cassatt retained her original enthusiasm and dedication to art until her death, June 14, 1926.

Attending the Excelsior Club meeting for this study were Mrs. E.F. Bartlett, Miss Vicki Mayhugh, Miss Marie Shadid, Miss Bonnie Willis, Mrs. Lowell Wells, Miss Rose Shadid, Miss Dorothy Robertson, Mrs. J.F. Michael, and the hostess, Miss Wells.

Fix-It Tip

In making a spring inspection of the roof of your home, if shingles are slightly torn, nail down with roofing nails after using roof coating on the underside. Then put a dab of the coating on the nail heads. Broken shingles should be carefully removed by gently lifting the shingle above and lifting out the exposed nails. Slide out the old, slip in a new shingle and nail in place.

American Artist Mary Cassatt Is Studied by Excelsior Club Recently

The Excelsior Club study of the artist, Mary Cassatt was presented Thursday, February 15, when Miss Hattie D. Wells was hostess and program leader.

Mrs. Lowell Wells, president, conducted the business meeting, in keeping with the nearness to George Washington's birthday, a color motif of red, white and blue was used.

Miss Wells opened her discussion of Mary Cassatt (1844-1926) with Edgar Degas assessment: "I am not willing to admit that a woman can draw that well," he said after seeing one of her color aquatints. That was in 1891, after the two had been associates for a decade.

"The artist herself said before her death, 'After all, a woman's vocation is to bear children.' These statements give some indication of the social and psychological restrictions which faced a woman who wished to be an artist in the latter half of the 19th century. Mary Cassatt not only struggled against the disapproval of her family and the disregard of critics, but she had to contend with her own mixed feelings about her role in society and her worth as an artist," said Miss Wells.

Born in Pennsylvania of French-Huguenot stock, Miss Cassatt's father, Robert, was prosperous and he took them to live in Europe, first in Paris because it was the center of all that was new and imaginative in art," continued the speaker. "A number of younger artists, including Manet and Degas, organized an independent art exhibition. She also met Louise Waldron Elder (later Mrs. H.O. Havemeyer) and persuaded her to purchase one of Dega's pastels, the first impressionistic painting to come to the U.S., and the beginning of one of the finest art collections in the country."

"In 1877, Mary Cassatt met

Edward Degas and was asked to exhibit with Manet, Courbet and Degas. When they first met Degas was 43, ten years older than she. Both were intelligent and opinionated, sharing similar tastes in literature as well as art. During many years of association they were often at odds. While Cassatt was indebted to him for inspiration and development of her mature style, he needed her for appreciation and encouragement.

The decade of the 1890's was her most creative period. Characteristics of her style include: opposition of the straight and curved; contrast of patterned chintz and plain walls; use of the mirror which opens up the composition unity produced by subtle handling of white with gray and brown shades.

Her picture, "Girl arranging her hair," was the result of an argument with Degas.

Mary said that a certain artist's work lacked style and Degas said that woman knew nothing of style. Taking this retort as a personal challenge, she painted this picture of an awkward adolescent girl. Degas was enchanted and exchanged one of his pastels for it. The palette has been restricted to white, lavender and shades of brown and rose. The arrangement of the arms and coil of hair creates an S which unifies the composition.

After 1900 there was no great bursts of creativity. A great deal of her time was taken up in the search for paintings for the Havermeyers and other collectors.

The death of her brother, Gardner, to whom she was devoted, caused a physical and nervous breakdown. She stopped all work for nearly 2 years and never resumed print making.

As early as 1910, Marry Cassatt wrote to Louise Havemeyer of trouble with her eyesight. A number of op-

March 6 Meeting Set on Area Law Communications

County and city law enforcement officers will be concerned with the March 6 meeting of the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission and Criminal Justice Council engineers conference on the area's law enforcement radio communications network, Sheriff John Rainey said this week.

These plans to link the area's law enforcement communications under one network got under way last year and were proposed for completion by January 1, 1973, the sheriff reminded. Various delays held up the project, and he expressed doubt that it will be completed this year.

In the meantime, Sheriff Rainey said that the radio equipment in his office is about worn out, and repair costs will probably increase. The new network will be on a different frequency from equipment now available. Purchase of new radios would eventually mean that the local agency could communicate only among its own staff.

C.L. Abernathy, criminal justice council coordinator for the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission said the March 6 conference in Amarillo will be staged to work out what he said was "nitty gritty stuff."

If bids are called for June 1, they could be opened after 90 days. Another 6 months would be needed for delivery and installation of equipment.

THE WELLINGTON (TEXAS) LEADER

AUSTIN, Tex. -- A new kind of "drug war" seems to be shaping up in the legislature.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe spelled out his recommendations for complete revision of drug laws and promised to "Lobby hard" with all the resources at his command as governor to get the bill passed.

As introduced in the House and Senate, it called for harsh penalties against dope pushers, annual registration of those who deal in legal drugs -- and lowering the penalty for first time offense possession of marijuana to a misdemeanor.

Briscoe's bill would allow possession of up to eight ounces of marijuana without risking felony charge on first offense. However, the misdemeanor, would be punishable by up to a year in jail and/or $2,000 fine. The Governor also called for stepped-up education and rehabilitation programs. The bill was drawn, said Briscoe, to mesh with the 1970 federal controlled substance act to allow governments at all levels to work more effectively together.

A few days later, however, former Sen. Don Kennard of Fort Worth, who headed a Senate study committee on drug abuse, assailed the governor's proposals as "an out-and-out fraud as a reform measure."

Sen. Chet Brooks of Pasadena introduced in bill form the far-reaching provisions of Kennard's committee. Brooks' bill would "decriminalize" marijuana possession and set moderate felony penalties for sales. It would also make simple possession of most drugs (heroin excluded) a misdemeanor and provide for commitment of users to rehabilitation facilities. On the other hand, it would call for non-paroleable life sentences of convicted "big time" heroin dealers.

The controversy continues to boil on the reduction of penalties on use of marijuana -- and increasing penalties on those who sell marijuana or hard drugs.

H.B. 86 by Rep. Lindon Williams implements more stringent penalties on those who sell drugs.

It is backed by the Austin based Legal Drug Control Society, headed by E.E. Armistead. Armistead has passed petitions for over a year, and submitted these to the Legislature.

"The Legal Drug Control Society asks that concerned citizens write their legislators to express support for H.B. 86," Armistead says. "We realize that there is no simple solution on this complex problem of drug abuse, but removing the pusher and dealer from the scene will certainly be a giant step in the right direction."

Armistead started his crusade against the drug pushers when his daughter jumped from the University of Texas tower two years ago. Her notes told about experiments with drugs.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where a strange thing has happened. A President has hinted that the earnings of a free people should be a little more theirs to spend on themselves.

This principle has been held to be void by the know-besters in the political racket, who long ago arranged for themselves the authority to tax us 100 per cent as soon as they think they can get away with it.

But even the thought of Nixon's plan to increase federal spending a little slower is giving massive withdrawal pains to the congressional squander addicts.

Growth Coming from Within Will Be the Most Stable

There is indication that Collingsworth County's growth is going to come from within, from people and enterprises familiar with the ground they stand on.

With a break in the weather, work is progressing on the Hay Camp Recreational Complex -- faster than many are aware.

Now it can be told that efforts are being made to establish a feedlot near Samnorwood. With the successfully established and still growing Sagebrush Feedlot near Wellington, the county would indeed have a toe-hold in this fabulous industry.

The proposed Norwood feedlot is being promoted by men within the community, and one of its major objectives is to make it possible for young Collingsworth men to pursue successful careers in a growing industry without having to leave here.

The situation is ideal: a site on FM highway, with a three-phase power line, natural gas, and on the water system. This is in the irrigated belt, and one thousand acres of irrigated alfalfa lie within the community.

Industry developed such as these, the established Sagebrush, the developing Hay Camp, and the proposed feedlot north of Salt Fork, growing from within our economy, are the kind most likely to give the county solid growth.

To Draw Good Teachers

We suggested in this column some months ago that school funds be invested in teacherages so that when competent prospective teachers are being interviewed for positions on the Canadian school faculty suitable housing can be offered to them. Time and time again we have lost good faculty prospects who would have been happy to come to Canadian if only housing had been available for them. The investment of school funds for this need makes as much sense as investment in new school buildings, new equipment, new books, or any other material things. Our schools will be no better than the faculty we hire. And we should not expect faculty members to live in homes any less desirable than our own.

But next August is not the time for teacher housing to be sought -- the time is NOW.

More Than He Can Handle?

COUNCIL MAKES SURVEY FOR LEGISLATURE -- County judges and clerks and District clerks and judges have been asked for important research information to help the Texas Legislature make decisions on current legislative proposals.

Questions on marijuana, automobile accidents, probation, etc., have been posed by the Texas Civil Judicial Council -- which is charged in state statutes with the duty of supplying information to the legislature affecting state courts. "It is understandably difficult for a legislator to judge the merits of proposed legislation wisely without any estimate of its impact," said Ronald Earle, chief counsel for the Judicial Council. "The Judicial Council is seeking to provide this needed information instead of conjecture."

In seeking information regarding the number of persons currently on probation the Judicial Council will be exploring uncharted territory, Earle added. "The impact of probation on the criminal process is too important to not consider in more detail."

Current proposals on changes in the Judicial Article of the Texas Constitution sets up machinery for an Administrator of the Courts -- whose office would compile statistics from the courts on a year-round basis.

COURTS SPEAK -- The State Supreme Court refused an appeal by Continental Oil Company to issue an order in an energy shortage action involving the company's inability to deliver natural gas under contract with other concerns. The high court upheld lower courts restraining Crystal City from locking what's left of the local country club and upholding a 1956 lease of city land.

Court of Criminal Appeals overruled a conviction for theft against a former Crane County hospital executive who allegedly sold a compressor unit used in treating respiratory diseases. The court decision said Crane County had never become owner of the machine, and there could have been no theft or embezzlement from the county.

OIL OUTPUT WIDE OPEN AGAIN -- The Railroad Commission ordered wide-open 100 percent market demand oil production for the 12th straight month.

In making the announcement, Commission Chairman Jim Langdon offered "some good news and some bad news." He said there were no "tremendously serious" shortages during the crucial winter months in spite of heating oil stock declines.

However, Langdon warned, the peak gasoline consuming season is just around the corner, and gasoline stocks are 19.2 million barrels below 1972 in the nation. Further, crude and products stocks in the U.S. are 70.2 million barrels off last year.

"The petroleum industry has managed to get out of the frying pan but now is in the fire," said Langdon.

AG OPINIONS -- Atty. Gen. John Hill held probably unconstitutional a bill requiring cities of more than 600,000 and less than 800,000 population to improve highway bridges. Hill indicated the bill would violate local or special law prohibitions which are frequently breached by such "bracket bills."

APPOINTMENTS -- Governor Briscoe appointed Waco newspaper executive Harry Provence as chairman of the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System.

Paschall's at Mended Hearts Banquet Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. M.W. Paschall of Lutie attended the 7th annual banquet of Chapter 54 Mended Hearts, Inc., in Amarillo Saturday night, Feb. 3.

Mr. Paschall is a member of this national organization and of the Amarillo Chapter, which is made up of people who have had heart surgery.

The guest speaker was Dr. Grady L. Hallman of St. Luke's Hospital, Houston, who discussed "The Development of Coronary Artery Surgery."

He showed a film on heart surgery and also pointed out that little work is now being done with heart transplants, but the use of the artery bypass is growing.

Dr. Hallman works at St. Luke's Hospital, world famous for the work that is done in the treatment of heart diseases.

Mr. Paschall said that America will host the National Convention of Mended Hearts, Inc., in 1974, when more than 400 out of state visitors will attend. At least five Collingsworth County people have had heart surgery in the last year or two, he added.

The national organization was started in Boston in 1961, while the Amarillo Chapter was formed in 1966.

There are two memberships in the Mended Hearts, Inc., active, for those who have had heart surgery, and associate, open to others interested in joining.

The Amarillo group has 103 current members in the Tri-state Area, and another Wellington member is Mrs. Drury Lacy. There are 34 accredited visitors - those who have completed a minimum of 10 hours of seminar study.

Group Attends Bankers Meeting

A group representing the Wellington State Bank was in Fort Worth during the week end to attend the Seventh District Texas Bankers Association convention.

They were Mr. and Mrs. C.T. Hubbard and their grandson, Scotty Gassiot, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hiett and Mr. and Mrs. Marlin Felts.

Approximately 2200 Southwestern bankers and their wives attended.

While in Ft. Worth, Mr. and Mrs. Hubbard and Scotty also visited their son, Chris Hubbard, a student in Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, and also with Mrs. Hubbard's sisters, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Elkins and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Green in Arlington.

Lowe Coaches Tech Freshmen

Andy Lowe, senior in Texas Tech University, is the student coach of the freshmen football team this spring. Lowe played with the Texas Tech Red Raiders two years.

He and his wife, Linda, were here during the week end to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lowe, and her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A.B. Dean and children.

AMAZEMENT is one of my emotions when I consider the opinions of nonfarm residents on the relationship of prices for farm products and the cost of food on the table. They seem to think that if the price of pork drops 5¢ a pound that it should show up in the price of bacon at the supermarket month after next.

NOTHING could be farther from the actual operation of the economics of pork production, processing and marketing. Pork could fall in price and the loss to the grower might never be reflected in the price the housewife pays for ham and this could be for anyone of a dozen reasons.

THE DANGER of these opinions among nonfarm residents is that they eventually affect the thinking of the people these people send to Congress. And the thinking of the lawmakers will affect any farm program and the farmers directly.

THE SURFACE of the earth is busy heaving up or sinking down in many areas. Before me is a map of the U.S. showing what areas changed in 1972 and how. Fortunately we live in a vast section that did not change last year. This includes all of Texas except a strip along the Gulf Coast running into Louisiana and Mississippi. This latter strip sank from 2 to 4 inches.

THE UNCHANGED part of the earth's crust where we live also includes a vast segment of the Great Plains running into North Dakota but not into Canada. It includes all of Oklahoma, most of Arkansas, the eastern parts of New Mexico and much of Kansas, Nebraska and South Dakota. On the other hand, California had a section that had fallen as much as the Gulf Coast, and the eastern coast including parts of Maryland, Pennsylvania, New York and New England also had a vast area that sank from 2 to 4 inches. All of the Rocky Mountain area rose slightly. It is good to live on a part of the earth's crust that is stable.

HOLLIS CHASE has returned to Royalston, Mass. after a visit here with the James Sullivans and a similar stay with his son David in California. Spring is still weeks away in New England and it is too early for gardening; but Mr. Chase felt the first stirrings and had the urge to get his land ready for gardening. He continues to live on his farm two miles outside Royalston. Before leaving Wellington, he planted an early garden in the plot west of the Sullivan home. James is enthused about it now; but that enthusiasm will vanish in all probability with the first hot June wind.

WILLIS WYRICK is my new neighbor on the south. Before he arrived I was resting comfortably with the leaves, weeds, paper and other trash that accumulates during the fall and winter months. Brother Wyrick put an end to that comfort. He painted his house, trimmed the shrubs and performed a number of other strenuous tasks that made his place look neat and tidy. The contrast between his yard and my unkempt premises was so startling something had to be done in self defense.

County Heart Fund Reaches $674 to Date

Heart Sunday contributions from Collingsworth County residents totaled $674.08, not counting gifts still anticipated, according to Mrs. Stephen Schmidly, chairman of the 1973 Heart Fund canvas.

Miss Hattie D. Wells has reported contributions of $35.00 in memorial gifts so far. An additional $103.75 was made at the benefit basketball game Saturday night, Feb. 17.

"The contributions collected during the Heart Fund Campaign will be used for research, education and local community programs aimed at reducing death and disability from heart and blood vessel diseases. These kill more Americans each year than all other causes of death combined," said Mrs. Schmidly.

An approximate total of 289 residents contributed to the Heart Sunday Campaign. The gifts were collected by 48 volunteers.

Since this is the first Heart Fund campaign in Collingsworth County for several years, Mrs. Schmidly said she was "very pleased with the results."

"We sincerely hope that residents who were away when Heart volunteers visited their home will mail the 'Not at Home' envelope which was included with the heart saving information left at the door," said the Heart Fund chairman.

Contributions may be mailed in any envelope addressed simply to:

Speech Students See Production At CJC Feb. 20

Four Wellington students attending Clarendon College participated in the drama department production, "Life," Tuesday evening, February 20.

Among those attending were 12 WHS speech students and their sponsor, Mrs. Bob McAlister.

A variety entertainment, it included readings, scenes, music and ended with a one act play, "Once Upon a Playground." Wellington students compared the CJC presentation to their own when their speech class presented it last year.

Paula Kiker had the role of Tootie Shoe in the play and Jerry Bowen that of George.

Jerry Maxwell presented a reading and Alfred Saldana was guitarist for the musical numbers.

Going from here were Connie Bearden, Nancy Shoemate, Judy Peters, Susan Lowe, Elaine Romo, Paula Howard, Gertrude Aguirre, Barry Long, Gary Cummings, Gabriel Aguirre, Paul Gonzales, and Kim Wauer and Mrs. McAlister.

and a delegate to its state convention in Houston March 22 through 24. She taught first grade at Roosevelt Elementary School in Altus, Oklahoma, one year before going to Quail. She will be the second member of her family to participate in the conference this week. Her brother, Donald Hiett, is vice president of the SMU TAIR, which includes much of that section of North Texas.

TAIR gives emphasis to reading in early childhood, with programs for three and four-year-olds coming into being. Remediation as well as training is stressed. Kindergarten is a part of this program for five-year-olds. Now, under state law, kindergartens are becoming a part of the public school program.

The co-sponsor, IRA, is made up of reading specialists for the improvement of reading. Its international meeting will be held in Denver in May. The president of the Texas Council of IRA is Dr. Kate Bell of Houston.

Lee Acquires Ownership of Grocery, Station

Jerry Lee this week announced that he has bought the interest of his partner, Pete Scott, in the Scott and Lee Grocery, located at the northeast corner of town where Highway US 83 and State 203 intersect.

The new name of the business will be Jerry Lee Grocery and Station.

At the same time, Mr. Lee extended an invitation to people to come by and get acquainted, if they are not already friends of the business.

Mr. Lee was a partner in the business four years, and prior to that was employed by Mr. Scott for about a year.

He grew up in Wellington and is thoroughly familiar with the grocery needs and preferences of the people of the area.

Mr. Lee said he will continue all departments in both the grocery and market, which features only top quality brands. Operation of the Exxon Station will continue as in the past.

He will continue to give Buccaneer trading stamps.

Assisting Mr. Lee in the business are Mrs. Mary Belew, Mrs. Rodney Porter, Jody Lee, and part time, Mrs. Lee.

Whitten Enters Roswell Program

A Wellington youth, Bobby Whitten, has enrolled in the High School Equivalency Program at the Roswell, N.M., campus of Eastern New Mexico University.

This program is geared to rural youths who for some reason have dropped out of high school, and it enables them to secure their General Equivalency Diplomas, explained Mrs. Tess Burba of the Community Action Center.

The HSEP is not a Community Action agency, but Whitten is the second Wellington student the local CAC has referred to New Mexico, she explained.

Whitten will be at the center from three to 6 months, depending on the time required to secure his diploma. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Whitten.

Singers Meet Saturday Night

Collingsworth County gospel singers will meet Saturday, March 3, in Trinity Methodist Church. Singing will start at 7:00 p.m.

The new officers will be in charge, including R.H. Isbell, president; Hugh Bledsoe, vice-president; and Mrs. R.H. Isbell, secretary.

A large crowd with visiting musical groups is expected.

Attend Leader Training Meet

Mrs. Jerry Nix and Mrs. Kay Gassiot were in Shamrock Monday and Tuesday, February 19 and 20, to attend a Girl Scout leadership training meeting.

This was conducted by Miss Celia Fowler, a representative of the Quivera Girl Scout Council and was planned for adult leaders of units at Wellington, Samnorwood, Wheeler and Shamrock.

This also is effective for any hospital outside the county.

For the past 6 months, blood usage in the Red River Region has been up 30% over last year. For the calendar year 1972, the Region averaged only 69% of its quota.

"This should be of deep concern to everyone in the Region," said Mrs. Walker. We are continually having to struggle to get the blood the patients need. To date, we have been able to meet the needs, but these needs are increasing rapidly and only through continued community support will the program continue to be a success.

"In our region we contribute the increased blood need to the increased number of open heart surgeries and motor vehicle accidents. We also have numerous hemophilia and leukemia patients in the Region who are using a tremendous amount of blood. The Region is covering the blood needs of 360,000 persons and therefore you can see that the needs are extensive."

Earl Hunter, county Red Cross chairman, is in overall charge of the drive, and Mrs. Bill Hall heads the recruitment.

Judge Thomas pointed to another factor:

"So many of our older supporters — people who were regular contributors to our funds — have died during the past year. A check of our membership rolls shows a surprising number of these," he said.

The major portion of the money required for the cemetery upkeep comes in the annual fund drive. A smaller supplemental amount comes through the year from donations or from memorial gifts.

"We cannot — we must not — let our cemeteries return to their former unkempt state. For a number of years now, they have been a source of pride to all who live in Wellington. It is our tribute to our loved ones who have gone on that their last resting place is cared for," declared Judge Thomas.
