New American Legion Home to Be Living Memorial to Living and Dead Vets of World War II

With the gift of a site by the City of Perryton for a New American Legion home, the Perryton Post and Auxiliary Unit of the American Legion will soon launch a campaign for raising of funds for the erection of a living memorial to the men and women of World War II. The site donated by the City is the northwest corner of the City Park. This is an ideal location, conveniently located to both residence and business sections of the city. The location, adjacent to the municipal swimming pool and the picnic grounds in the City Park, will make it useable for veterans and their families.

A. N. Dowers, Post Commander of the Legion, announces the following committee who will formulate the initial plans for the building and the raising of funds: O. R. Truax, chairman; C. B. Rogers, W. H. Lackey, Arch Talley, Sidney Jines and E. W. Thomas.

The present American Legion home was entirely too small to serve the World War II veterans. Now with the membership of the Post and Unit increased about two hundred per cent by World War II, a new home must be provided. The present home, the old Ochiltree County courthouse, was constructed at old Ochiltree more than 55 years ago.

While no definite plans have been made, it is supposed that the present building and site will be disposed of for business purposes.

Scholastic School Census Starts Mar. 1

Superintendent J. A. Anderson of Perryton Public School announced Wednesday that the annual scholastic census would be taken in Ochiltree County starting March 1. F. B. Sumpter will act as enumerator.

The State will authorize approximately $30 per capita for the operation of the school and each pupil or prospective pupil should be accounted for. Students will be issued cards to be signed by parents.

Presently enrolled in the Perryton Schools are 934 students. In the elementary and junior high are 635 pupils and in senior high 299. Future trends will, in all probability, show a decided increase in elementary school enrollments, Mr. Anderson said. It is definitely an established fact that the second and fourth grades, which are now in

Man Cannot Serve Two Masters

People who fail to closely study political problems are today sadly bewildered. Why do supposedly Democratic papers often harshly criticize a Democraict Administration?

Why are traditionally Democratic Senators fillibustering against legislation, marked must by a Democratic President?

The answer lies in the unwieldly structure now making up the Democratic party. Originally a farm state party, the party of the South, of agriculture of the unorganized people, the underdog party it has now within its ranks, the great political machines of the big cities, the CIO, the negroes of Chicago and many peoples, who never before were associated with it.

But economic need is the true bolster of party affiliation. Any intelligent membership in a political party, depends upon the belief that generally speaking, it serves the section of country one lives in, ones friends and neighbors or one's group of associates.

Slowly, the difference in needs of the various factions, is splitting the party asunder. To win as titular head of the Democratic party today, one must have the CIO, the large city vote and the heavy negro votes from blackbelts in otherwise doubtful northern states.

These people constitute a buyers' market, while the South and Southwest are producers and sellers of raw commodities and natural resources.

These people want high wages for making farm machinery, automobiles and the things the South buys. Theirs is a constant struggle for control, low prices, high wages, rights of the organized as against owned and vested interests, class and social equality as against any established local customs, all of which conflicts with the seller, the land owner, the natural resource owner of the South and Southwest.

There was a time when many of these pressure groups were in the minority or formulative stage and it was possible to group them as underprivileged and serve them alongside agriculture.

But, now they have grown to formidable proportions, to where their power in the party far offsets that of the agricultural South and the oil and cattle producing Southwest and so, party service has swung away from the group it formerly sought to serve and to the newer giants, to whom it must bow.

Thus there is a constant struggle within the party and newspapers and Congressional representatives from various states are arrayed against each other, even though they are called Democrats.

The trouble is even deeper than that. A political party cannot long serve factions, whose everyday interests are constantly opposed. Certain of the above described elements are going to be served and sooner or later the others are going to be forced outside of present party limits, to organize in their own behalf.

Babson Discusses Home Mortgages

ROGER W. BABSON, Editor-in-Chief

Babson Park, Fla., Feb. 8. Mortgage money is cheaper today than ever before in the history of the United States. Even th Cooperative Banks, which have charged six per cent ever since their organization years ago, are now loaning money at four per cent. Moreover, the terms are very much easier than ever before. During the years preceding the last depression home mortgages were written for from three to five years as a maximum. Now the borrower can be accommodated by mortgages written for twenty years, or perhaps longer.

Cost of Building

Although it is much easier to borrow money today than during prewar days, the cost of home building now averages about 50 per cent higher. However, the carrying charges at four per cent on a house costing $7500 are no greater, in total, than were the carrying charges at six per cent on a house costing $5,000 in prewar days. Hence this is a good time to plan a new home. Surely the land should be purchased at once.

The very fact that money rates are very low and building costs are high makes mortgages less attractive to the lender. In fact, I see little inducement for private individuals to loan money on mortgages at this time unless they do it to help the sale of property which they desire to unload. As a cold to tie my money up for twenty years at three and one-half or business proposition, I should hate to tie my money up for twenty years at three and one-half or four percent interest. This is why I am bearish on most high grade, dong-term bond issues.

"Packaged" Mortgage

Borrowers have another advantage today in many communities. I have just noticed an advertisement by the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of New Haven, Connecticut, offering to "loan money for building and equipping a home with all mechanical conveniences for comfortable living." This includes insulation, cooking range, refrigerator, washing machine, garbage disposal, ventilating fan as well as complete heating and lighting equipment and the latest plumbing fixtures. I understand that some banks are even including air conditioning.

Up to the present time, when these electrical appliances were available, it has been possible to buy them on installments, running over about eighteen months. This, however, has been a heavy burdon on young people. Now, under "packaged" mortgages, all these brand new appliances can be included with the original cost of the house, and paid for over a period of twenty years. Furthermore, this program is much more convement to the borrower because he is dealing with and making payments to only one concern, namely the bank, instead of to several local dealers. I estimate the cost of such equipment would add only about sixty cents a month for every one hundred dollars worth bough on the above basis.

To keep the house up-to-date these "packaged" mortgages allow for replacement of appliances and provide payments therefor by the addition of a few cents to the above-mentioned monthly figure. It should also be remembered that under such a program the cost of the appliances is considerably reduced as the agent's commissions are either eliminated or cut down to a nominal figure. Whether or not your bank will pay for your electrical appliances, it will take your mortgage on a monthly payment basis which will include payment of taxes, insurance premiums, legal title fees, and other expenses. All of this amounts up to no more than you are now paying for rent. Moreover, under this new system you will some day own your home outright without any more payments.

Bullish on Electrical Companies

When I saw the government cancelling its big war contracts with the General Electric, the Westinghouse, and other similar companies after Japan collapsed, I became fearful. Although these companies would save considerable through the elimination of the excess-profits taxes, yet I doubted if new peace business would offset the loss of war business. The more, however, I study these "packaged" mortgages the more hopeful I became for the electrical appliance stocks. Certainly, if this new form of loaning money to home builders becomes general, it should be a boon to the electrical equipment industry. Home owners will buy much more equipment and much better equipment. Furthermore, this trend will make housework lighter, conserve and protect foods, and perhaps reduce the cost of living. One other thought: This expansion should greatly increase the demand for "fix-it" shops which is a suggestion to returning G. I's.

AMERICAN LEGION

On behalf of the veterans of the World Wars, the members of the Pierce Johnson Post and Auxiliary Unit of the American Legion express thanks and sincere appreciation to the City of Perryton for their offer of a building site for a suitable memorial to the veterans of World War II.

The site proffered by the City of Perryton is the northwest corner of the City Park. This is an ideal location, conveniently located to both residence and business sections, adjacent to the municipal swimming pool and picnic area of the park.

It is the intention of the Legion and it's Auxiliary Unit to erect on this site, a building that will serve as a clubroom and meeting place for veterans.

Our tentative plans are for a structure that will be a credit and asset to the community, a building that will serve a great need, a building that will be a living and useable memorial to the dead and living of World War II.

In thanking the City of Perryton for the generous gift of this site, we ask for the support of all the people of the Perryton area in assisting us in the building of such a memorial.

We pledge that we will be ever grateful and continue to carry on, in peace as in war, for God and country, for community state and nation, with our every effort for the protection and maintenance of those ideals of Democracy for which our buddies gave their all.

'Yes, Dear, I'm on My Way Right Now'

Yes, radio dial telephones for autos! Think of it: you're driving home from the office, you hear a buzzzz, you pick up the receiver from the dashboard and your wife, at home, says, "Darling, I'm so sorry, I forgot the lamb chops. Will you—" But don't worry, the radios won't be on market for several years. Shown demonstrating is Frederick T. Budelman, chief engineer of the Fred M. Link Corp., New York. Transmitting and receiving equipment occupy a small space in the luggage compartment.

Meat Freezing Advice Given

Meat may be frozen at temperatures as low as 40 to 114 degrees F. blow zro in th future should the resulting tenderness prove worth the extra cost of such very low temperatures, Roy W. Snyder, meat specialist of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, has predicted according to Virdie P. Wheeler, Ochiltree County H. D. Agent.

Beef frozen at 18 degrees and then thawed is about 8 per cent more tender than comparable unfrozen beef, he said. The usual freezing temperatures now in use are from zero to 10 degrees.

Snyder explained recent findings of the U. S. Department of Agriculture research workers which showed that beef frozen at 114 degrees below zero was 29 per cent more tender than unfrozen beef by pointing out that the increased tenderness was due to action of ice crystals.

In slow freezing at 18 degrees larger ice crystals form between the muscle fibers. These draw water from the fibers as they form and push the fiber out of shape without breaking them.

In fast freezing at 10 degrees, smaller crystals form within the crystals because there is not time for the water to be drawn out. As they form, the crystals break the fibers.

The lower the temperature and the faster the freezing, the more small crystals form within the fibers and the more the fibers break it was said.

At 114 degrees below zero the freezing is so rapid that nearly every fiber in the meat splits.

LeRoy Livecy, S 2/c, came in Monday for a weeks visit with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Pattison and other friends. He will report to Norman, Okla. February 23.

Watson Warns Against Defacing Highway Markers

O. C. Watson, maintenance foreman for the Texas State Highway Department, says the defacing of state highway markers by the youths of this vicinity must cease. According to Mr. Watson, the signs are not only ruined by shooting up the markers, but in some instances the entire signs have been torn down and carried away. Several reports have been received where signs have been destroyed by being deliberately run over by trucks and pickups.

The State Highway department will not tolerate such destruction and theft of property. Some of the offenders are already known to officers. If the practice is not stopped at once, Mr. Watson says they have no recourse except arrest and conviction.

The area around Perryton, Spearman, Booker and Follett has the worst record in the state for the destruction and theft of state highway markers and other property.

LOOKING AHEAD at ELECTRICAL LIVING

No more stay-at-home washdays
. . . when you get your new

Automatic Washer

You can say goodbye to Blue Monday when you get your postwar automatic washer. No longer will you have to spend weary hours over steaming tubs and a stubborn wringer.

With an automatic washer, you simply put in soiled clothes, add soap, set the controls and the washer does the rest. It fills itself, tumbles clothes clean, thoroughly tumble rinses, spins clothes damp dry, empties itself and shuts off . . . automatically. You don't even have to put your hands in water! And you can leave your house or busy yourself with other tasks while the washing's being done to snowy-white perfection.

Yes . . . the automatic washer is a boon to busy homemakers . . . and so are many other new and improved electrical servants soon to be available. Plan now to add the appliances you need. Enjoy better living electrically!

Electrical Living Is Better Living

Gone are the days when homemaking meant an endless round of monotonous, time-consuming household tasks. Today, electric servants take the hard work out of housework at the snap of a switch. And the cost for each service performed is measured in pennies or fractions of pennies per day. It costs little to live better electrically!

Linda Lee is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Johnson, several aunts and uncles and a host of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Pugh spent the weekend in Canyon visiting their children, Betty, Delos and Bruce Foster, who attend West Texas State College. They returned home Tuesday after an extended visit with Mrs. Pugh's sister, Mrs. Bert Day, Amarillo.

Christian Science

"Soul" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 17.

The Golden Text is: "The sun shall be no more thy light by day; neither for brightness shall the moon give light unto thee: but the Lord shall be unto thee an everlasting light, and thy God thy glory" (Isaiah 60:19).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "But thou, O Lord, art a shield for me, my glory, and the lifter up of mine head" (Psalms 3:3).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Truth will at length compel us all to exchange the pleasures and pains of sense for the joys of Soul" (page 390).

Japan

Dear Mom and Dad;

I have almost reached the Over-sea-Soldiers "Utopia". I only spent two days on Okinawa after we got off the boat, then I was sent up here to Kanoya. I can't say that this is the most beautiful place in the world, but it is comfortable. We are quartered in an old Jap hospital which miraculously missed receiving any direct bomb hits, though it was straffed a little. It is a big two story building set right in the middle of one of the largest airplane repair depot I have ever seen. That is, it was a large depot. It has been bombed until there is nothing left of the hangars, which stand on all sides of us, but the steel framework.

Jap airplanes of all types are everywhere but have been systematically wrecked by our engineers. However the devastation around us doesn't impair the comfort of the quarters.

We live two to four in a room depending on its size and have radios, plumbing and hot showers, all in all it looks plenty good after a few months Ie.

I have a little more responsibility here than on Ie but the living conditions make up for it. There are seven ships here that haven't had any work on their radios for three weeks. With a little luck though, I think I can get them fixed.

Everyone was issued a rifle the other day, anticipating trouble with the Japs over the holidays, but nothing happened. As far as I can see they are pretty docile. They do all the work here. We even have on who cleans our room every morning. We give him a couple of cigarettes and he is happy.

There are several Japanese interperters who relay orders. One old fellow lived in the States for thirty years, returning to Japan in 1941. He seems to think there may be more trouble when the army returns from China and Manchurea.

We were paid the other day and I drew 6963 yen ($484.) It was the largest pay I have ever drawn and I need it less. As soon as I can get money orders I'll send some home. May be if I stay over here long enough I'll be able to buy a car when I get back.

I got some of the papers you have been sending at last. They had been up in Korea for nearly a month—how they got up there I don't know, but then the mail service over here works in a strange way. I have received three papers and three or four Readers Digests since I have been overseas.

I don't know what is going to happen over here if men keep going home. We are down to twelve E. M. and four officers with six planes to maintain and fly. Of course there is not much flying now but there should be at least five men to each ship besides the crew so you can see its no easy job.

Things would be better if there were a few replacements coming in but apparently there aren't any to be had. A man in the States with twenty one months service can't be sent over seas but, from the way it looks now, plenty of men with three years and over will be kept here for some time.

VETERANS MOVE INTO LAAF OFFICERS QUARTERS

After several weeks of negotiations, Lubbock Housing Authority of the City of Lubbock last week opened bachelor officers quarters to married veterans wishing to attend Texas Technological College at Lubbock. First to move in was A. G. Martin, formerly Captain in the Air Forces, and his bride of five months of Temple. Others whose applications are now on hand are expected to fill most of the first units made available. Housing officials plan to open additional quarters for both single and married veterans who may seek housing in Lubbock, either to attend Tech or to work in the area. Veterans desiring to attend Tech or to secure housing in Lubbock should communicate with the Lubbock Housing Authority, 232 Avenue F. This is the first Texas use of an inactive Army installation for housing under Public Law 292 passed by Congress in late December and may be the first such program in the nation. Local housing, City, Chamber of Commerce and College officials have all cooperated to provide this particular housing for veterans.

I can't see stopping the draft now. It's not a matter of Military training it is one of maintaining the occupation forces at a safe level.

When the 50 points men left the other day, I was left alone in this room. Its about like living in a hotel. I have a writing desk, a small writing desk, a small chest of drawers, and best of all a Jap who cleans up every morning.

Outside of being so busy on the line things are almost too good to last. We are constantly afraid of being called by to "Okie" and its tents.

I have a dog now, a pup about two months old. She doesn't like Japs at all and sets up quite a row when Tom comes in to clean up. Its lots of company.

Ichanohe, Japan
December 11, 1945

Dear Mom and Dad,

I guess it will be near Christmas by the time this reaches you. I'm out of air mail stamps and I can't get any more at the present.

I've moved from Morioka down here at Ichanohoe. I'm darn near at the north end of Honshu Island now. This is really a beautiful country here. Mountains and I have never seen such beautiful snows. It snows all the time but I really like them as there isn't a bit of wind and not too cold. I go sleigh riding every day on the hills around here. We use the Japs bicycles and sleds all the time.

Company "G" moved up here. There is only one company of us on this out post. We are right in the town; in fact, we are staying in Jap hotels. All the luxuries of civilian life. They have watch shops, trinket shops, laundries, fruit stores and nearly everything you need. I am beginning to feel at home now.

Oh, if only I had a camera. Just any kind; I'd be in "hog heaven." I could take pictures of everything over here. The people make interesting subjects themselves. There is a girl uptown here that I know fairly well, and I'm going to get a picture of her or bust. She is cute as a kitten and small, but she is 21; however, she looks 16.

I should get paid the last of this month. I'll get around $200.00 I think. $10 over here goes as far as $75 does in the states. I can get my teeth cleaned for six yen (40c) and get a tooth filled for six yen by a Jap dentist uptown. I better sign off for now. Answer soon.

February 3, 1946

Dear Mr. Stewart:

I am finally getting around to writing you. I wrote a letter about a month ago and just before mailing it we get orders saying we are going to Ft. Oglethorpe, Ga. We had to go down there to school for four weeks. I really do miss the paper. I didn't write until I was sure of a regular address.

They have been sending me all over the country. They told us when we were in Gorgia that we when we were in Georgia that we at least a year unless we became eligible for discharge. I don't expect one for quite a while yet. They had some talk about us going overseas and working in the Stockades. It may be O. K. but I don't think they are going to send us overseas.

We had quite a time when we were in Ft. Oglethorpe. We were about nine miles from Chattanooga. That is quite a place, too. It was too cold down there to go anywhere. It rained about every day and then froze solid. I was really glad to get back down here. It isn't nearly as cold.

I guess we will start back to work tomorrow. This kind of work makes a guy lazy. We don't have to do anything except be there. Two guys escaped yesterday from a work detail; I hope the guys in my section don't try any of that.

It is about time for chow so I guess I had better go see what they have. I hope everything is O. K. in and around Perryton.

Camp Pendleton, Calif.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Stewart:

I received your card today and wish to thank you very much for your thoughtfulness. I also want to thank you and the U. S. O. for sending the paper. It is most welcome and read from front to back.

Things here at Camp Pendleton are about to close down. The camp is to be closed soon and only a small part of it to remain active.

The weather here is far from what the Chamber of Commerce would have you believe. Today is cloudy and the "tropical breezes" you read of are a cold thirty miles per hour gale. There is nothing like advertising.

Will close for now and thanks again.

Yours truly,

Almost 47 per cent of all Americans expect to spend more in 1946 than in 1945, according to a survey by Fortune. The same survey indicated that our productive efficiency probably will exceed all records, barring strikes and unrealistic price policies.

According to the records of the local office of the state highway department, Perryton does a pretty good job of voting dry and drinking wet. In a recent clean-up by O. C. Watson's state highway employees, two pick-up loads of empty liquor and beer bottles were picked up on Highway 117 from Perryton, east about six miles to Twichell. And, as we understand it, Perryton is legally dry

Many of these liquor containers dumped along the highway came from Perryton homes whose owners didn't have the nerve to put the empties in their garbage cans, so they carry them out and dump them on the highway. Watson says that if you are ashamed of your drinking habits, then carry your old bottles to the city dump grounds and not create a traffic hazard by dumping them along the highways.

Highway markers are being destroyed and stolen by the thoughtless youth of this community. There's another angle to this violation of our laws besides the damage and loss in dollars and cents. Many of the markers being destroyed are warning signs on curves and other traffic hazards. The markers are placed on the highways to direct motorists to safer driving. We are sure that those who are guilty have never thought that some of their loved ones could be killed just because of the absence of a warning marker. It could happen! Think it over before you try out your marksmanship on the markers.

Millions of Gardeners Want Victory Garden Gains Made Permanent

Millions of Victory gardeners, who transformed neglected vacant lots and back yards into productive war gardens, are organizing to keep up the good work in peacetime.

For three years they have produced 40 per cent of the nation's fresh vegetables, and last year they canned 3,400,000,000 quarts of canned food. Vital as this contribution was to the maintenance of a high nutrition level in both army and civilians, many judges deem the social value of this great garden movement to be almost as important.

Neglected areas of our great cities have become cultivated plots of beauty, through the efforts of war gardeners. Neighbors have been brought together in a community of effort that has spread sympathy and understanding, and developed practical democracy. There is an old motto: "Gardening is an occupation for which no man is too high or too low." This has been literally true in thousands of cases, where millionaires and their wives have worked side by side with maids and janitors, in growing the carrots, lettuce and greens which have saved America from the malnutrition from which most other warring countries are suffering.

Too Valuable to Be Lost

That all this is too valuable to be lost because peace has come is a thought which has been expressed in meetings held by Victory gardeners throughout the country. It was put into a definite recommendation by the National Victory Garden advisory committee, meeting in Washington, which addressed the following recommendation to Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson:

"The gains of the Victory Garden program should be made permanent. A broad program of home gardening and food production to promote health, economy, attractive surroundings and recreation should be made a definite part of the plans of the Department of Agriculture, state agricultural colleges, the extension service and all appropriate state agencies, including the public schools, and the numerous private agencies which have so successfully contributed to the garden program in wartime."

Government Support Sought

Government support of a nation-wide peace garden movement will not come as an idea handed down from the higher levels, but rather in response to the demands of enthusiastic gardeners who are estimated to number 19,000,000, not individuals, but families. This is more than half the total families in this country and at least double the number that, prior to World War II, had ever been interested in gardening.

Many of them were novices when war gardens began, but in three years they have acquired skill and knowledge in the art and have experienced the rich rewards which home gardening brings to its devotees.

"Victory gardens," reported national advisory committee, "made it possible for families to have many more vegetables in the diet, develop better food habits, and improve their health. Millions of our people, both urban and rural, will continue to be interested in home vegetable gardening and improving their food habits, as well as in home grounds and civic improvement."

Extension Service to Aid

M. L. Wilson, director of extension work of the United States Department of Agriculture, has supported the committee's findings and recommendations in a letter to all state directors of agricultural extension in which he said:

"Certainly the extension service will want . . . to help all urban people with whatever resources available to carry on vegetable gardening in urban and suburban areas. But there is in addition the challenge of contributing to a much wider appreciation of improved home grounds and communities. Such improvement as well as continued increase of interest in home gardening will depend upon conditions are favorable, will contribute very much to better food supplies, improved food habits, health, recreation and enjoyment of life."

Thus from the Victory garden campaign of World War II, a great wave of interest in all forms of horticulture is expected to grow, which, if its leaders are good prophets, will maintain the improvements which Victory gardens brought to American cities and, through its influence upon slum reclamation, and zoning regulations, make them in time worthy to be called, true garden cities.

Six Local Men Seek Enlistment

Six local men left Tuesday for Amarillo to take physical examinations for enlistment in the U. S. Army, Sgt. Richard H. Judd in charge of the Perryton Recruiting Station announces. Those making application were James Ferguson, James Taylor, David Turner, Jimmy Baumbeck and Gene L. Nemsberg of Perryton, and Jack Morgan of Farnsworth.

David Walker was accepted Feb. 8 for a three year enlistment in the Air Corps and will be sent to Ft. Bliss.

The local recruiting station was opened last week with offices in the grand jury room in the courthouse. Hours are from 9:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m.

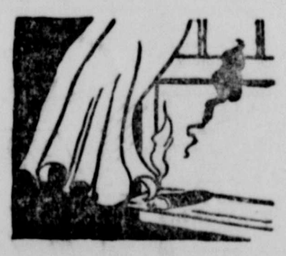

The accelerated drive for enlistments for the regular army has a two-fold purpose for the national welfare, it was pointed out by the recruiting service. First, recruiters seek to secure volunteers to release men who have long and arduous war service and who desire to return to civilian life, and secondly to build up the regular army to a strength which will be adequate for insuring the protection of the hard-won peace. In both instances the army encourages the enlistment of young men of 17 to 34 who may avail themselves of the educational benefits of the service through travel, the United States Army Forces institute on-the-job training, and afterward the college education offered under the GI Bill of Rights it was said.

The purpose of the band will be to encourage early participation in the school's musical program. Veterans' SERVICE BUREAU

EDITOR'S NOTE: This newspaper, through special arrangement with the Washington Bureau of Western Newspaper Union at 1616 Eye Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., is able to bring readers this weekly column on problems of the veteran and serviceman and his family. Questions may be addressed to the above Bureau and they will be answered in a subsequent column. No replies can be made direct by mail, but only in the column which will appear in this newspaper regularly.

When Will Vets Return?

The Washington office of Western Newspaper Union has received scores of letters from parents, wives, sweethearts and friends of men in service, all asking when their loved ones will get out of the service. We cannot answer these letters with any degree of accuracy because there is no way of ascertaining when men with a given number of points in a given theatre will be released. There are too many circumstances which must be considered in any particular area.

Here, however, is the promise of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, made in his recent address before a joint session of congress January 15, as regards enlisted men:

"By April 30, 1946, all enlisted men, except volunteers, with 45 points as of September 2, 1945, or with 30 months' service as of April 20, 1946, will be separated from the army or aboard ship returning home.

"By June 30, 1946, all enlisted men, except volunteers, with 40 points as of September 2, 1945, or with 24 months' service as of June 30, 1946, will be separated from the army or aboard ship returning home."

General "Ike" further said that whether this rate of discharge can be maintained depends directly upon the rate of replacements or inflow into the army. So this commitment is limited to July 1, 1946.

Questions and Answers

Q. I am a widow of World War II with one child. I drew an allotment for myself and baby until he was killed in action in the navy. His insurance was made to his parents and neither the baby or I was mentioned in the papers. Now his parents are drawing this. Is there any way for me to get this or any part of the insurance?—Mrs. O. M. C., Crossville, Ala.

A. There is no way for you to obtain this insurance if you were not named as beneficiary, unless parents of the serviceman are willing to share with you. You, however, are entitled to a pension for yourself and baby.

Q. Would it be possible for a veteran's widow who is receiving a Spanish American war pension of $30 per month, to exchange it for a World War pension to which she is also entitled? How would she go about making the exchange?—B. M. D., Elk Mills, Md.

A. Yes, the veterans' administration says it is possible. Consult your nearest regional veterans' administration office, probably at Richmond or Baltimore.

Q. We had a nephew who was in the army in the Philippines when war was declared. He was taken prisoner and died in a Jap prison camp in July, 1942. He did not carry insurance. His mother is a widow and is she entitled to receive any compensation? The boy's father was a World War I veteran and died in 1930.—His aunt, Watsontown, Pa.

A. I would say that the widowed mother, if she was dependent upon the veteran, is entitled to a pension. However, she should file a claim with the nearest office of the veterans' administration, probably at Philadelphia or Pittsburgh, and they will determine her eligibility.

Q. My son has been discharged from the army. He entered service February, 1941. Is he entitled to the pre-Pearl Harbor ribbon? He was entitled to three bronze stars, but only one was shown in his discharge. Is there some way this can be put on his discharge and where can I obtain the information?—Mrs. W. M. J., Purvis, Miss.

A. For answers to both questions write to the office of the adjutant general, enlisted personnel, war department, Washington, D. C.

Q. My husband has one child and has been in the marines since August, 1943, and overseas since June 1, 1945. How many points does he have? He is in Peiping, China. When can I expect him home?—Mrs. D. H. S., Lewisburg, Pa.

A. As of September 2, your husband has 38 points. He is not likely to be home soon since the marines are screening all low point men and regulars out of units scheduled to return home soon. Fifty points are necessary for discharge.

Q. I have had three years in the army. Received my honorable discharge in the fall and put in a claim for trouble with my ankle, also tonsils. Received my notice for examination in December, x-rays, etc. As yet I haven't heard from them. Am I eligible for a disability pension? —D. H. W., Salisbury, Md.

A. It may take several weeks for the veterans' administration to catch up with your claim. They will eventually, however. There is a shortage of manpower in all veterans' administration offices. Keep writing or calling the office where you filed.

Deanne Durbin In "Because of Him"

Co-starring with Miss Durbin are two of her former leading men, Charles Laughton and Franchot Tone, while the supporting cast includes the well-liked Stanley Ridges, Donald Meek and Helen Broderick.

In the story, Deanna portrays a waitress who aspires to become a stage actress. Laughton is a famous footlight ham and Tone a wolfish playwright.

Miss Durbin sings three numbers, which may well prove to be among the most popular she has done. They are "Lover," by the famed team of Rodgers and Hart, Tosti's "Good-bye," and "Danny Boy."

Durango Kid Rides at Ellis

In the Durango Kid's latest adventure, "Lawless Empire," starring Charles Starrett and coming to the Ellis Theatre, Saturday, Feb. 16, advance reports have mentioned that the Kid smashes the West's roughest, toughest outlaw band.

Ruling the range with hammering fists and blazing guns, once again he aligns himself with oppressed homesteaders against land-grabbing crooks and breaks up the ornery renegade out fit in record-busting time.

He is assisted by a fighting, straight-shootin' minister, who is one of the leaders in the small community. Tex Harding portarys the reverend, and we are told that in his quiter moments, he sings several songs, one of which, "Farther Along," has been a popular cowboy tune for many years. Bob Wills and His Texas Playboys accompany Tex and also deliver with several other Western songs.

Bulky, brawny Gen. Carl A. Spaatz, General Arnold's successor as AAF chief, has a long and distinguished record to fit him for his top job. In World War II he was Strategic Air Forces (bombing) Commander in Europe. Before that Spaatz worked all through the 1920's and 1930's for bigger and better airplanes. He was graduated from West Point in 1914, born in Boyertown, Pa., in 1891. Years ago he added an "a" to Spatz so people would say it "spots" instead of "spats."

utlook on arm Prices

COLLEGE STATION — Farmers nchmen now planning their 1946 erations can expect farm prices be moderately lower, but produe- n costs should remain about the me for the year just begun.

Farm prices of fruits, vegetables, d eggs are expected to drop more an prices of other agricultural oducts, in the opinion of two nomists for the Texas A and College Extension Service. W. Morgan believes the net farm ome for the nation will be 10 ' per cent under the record high 1945.

Farmers can rely on relatively th prices for about two-thirds the things they produce, since ces for these are supported by at 90 per cent of parity. There support prices on most "basic mmodities" such as cotton, corn, eat, tobacco, and rice, but pro- cts not covered include beef cat- sheep, fresh vegetables and uit, according to T. R. Timm.

On the bright side, farmers can pect more labor in the months ead. Morgan says the total labor rce in the country on the first niversary of VJ Day will be about million above what it was in gust, 1945. This should bring about the only drop in farm production costs—the cost of farm labor. Production efficiency of farm workers greatly increased during the war and for a few years before, but for 1946 it is more likely to decline rather than rise, he believes.

On a long-time basis Morgan says farm prices and production can remain at a high level, "if we can lick our unemployment problem by any means other than war." For the immediate future, increased population, high incomes for industrial workers, foreign purchases and UNRRA commitments should assure high consumption of farm products.

Automatic Watering Is Magic Trick for Seed Box

To equip a seed box with automatic watering, 1, bore hole in bottom; 2, put wick through hole, imbed frayed top in soil, drop bottom in pan of water; 3, fill box with soil, and make shallow drills; 4, sow seed, and as long as pan is full of water, wick will keep soil moist.

An important labor-saving device widely used in greenhouses is automatic watering. Unfortunately amateurs cannot use it on their gardens, but they can easily apply it to seed boxes, in which seeds are started either indoors or outdoors.

Through a hole bored in the center of the bottom of the seed box, a wick of fibre glass, or just a piece of clothes line 4 inches long, is inserted. The top is frayed and imbedded in the soil that fills the box and the bottom drops into a pan of water. As long as water is kept in this pan, the wick will raise it and keep the soil moist.

Tests have shown that plants watered in this way make maximum growth because water is always abundant, and yet not in excess; and since water is never applied to the surface, there is no washing, and no compacting of soil, which would check aeration.

With such a seed box, in a sunny window, hot-bed or cold-frame, you can give your favorite varieties of vegetables and flowers several weeks' head start this spring, and insure an earlier harvest of food or beauty.

Soil used in a seed box should always be put through a sieve. The coarse soil may be used in the bottom, the fine on top. Florists' potting soil is the best, or a fine garden loam, about half sand.

Sphagnum moss should be used to prevent damping-off, which is a fungus disease that frequently attacks seedlings. Rub the moss through a coarse sieve or colander and place a layer of this shredded moss over the soil in the flat to the depth of ¼ to ½ inch. Firm and saturate soil and moss. Drop the seeds on the moss, and cover very lightly with a thin layer of sphagnum. Proceed from this point on as with soil culture.

Seed may be broadcast one variety to a flat; or sown in rows, which allow several varieties to be grown in the same box, each row being labeled. Seeds which are broadcast are usually less crowded than those in rows. If you sow in rows, use the edge of a ruler to make shallow indentations in the soil; sow thinly, cover lightly, and firm the soil with a block of wood.

Keep the box in a dark place until sprouts appear, then place in the sunniest window you own. A kitchen window is good, because humidity is always greater there.

What's Happened To Our Butter

COLLEGE STATION Consumers cannot have more milk, cream, ice cream, evaporated milk and cheese and at the same time have more butter too.

That is the way W. E. Morgan, economist with the Texas A. and M. summed up the butter situation.

Morgan explained that butter production has gone down steadily since 1942. Before that time almost half of the milk sold by farmers was separated on the farm or dairy for sale as cream, which was used largely for butter, while the skimmed milk remained on the farm. To increase the wartime food supply, the Government urged farmers to deliver whole milk. Part of the whole milk was made into evaporated milk, Cheddar cheese, dried ice cream mix and dried whole milk. Much of this went to the armed forces and Lend-Lease. Meanwhile fluid milk consumption in this country jumped 25 per cent during the war years, and butter production in 1945 was the lowest in twenty years.

During the war, Morgan pointed out, the Army and other Government agencies bought butter during the spring and early summer, when production is highest, so that all of the winter months production would be available for civilians. Last summer Armed Services had to assume that the war would continue, and so butter stocks were bought to meet this winter's needs. With the sudden surrender of Japan all of the butter stocks were not needed. In December, for example, 70 million pounds were released for civilian use, so consumers actually had more butter in the last two months of 1945 than during any other two months of the year.

The Armed Services will continue to need butter and milk products and cheese, while evaporated milk and dried milk are still being sent abroad. Meanwhile, with the end of rationing, demand for butter has increased. Although whole milk production is expected to continue high, Morgan sees little hope that the butter situation will be brighter in 1946.

Those big shots you read so much about are just small shots who kept on shooting.

USO ANNOUNCES 1946 CAMPAIGN

Army, Navy Heads Praise USO Work, Urge Continuance

REPORT REVIEWS 5 YEARS OF SERVICE

The Navy pipes down while Larry Adler pipes up! The harmonica virtuoso, touring with a USO-Camp Shows troupe, at New Caledonia naval hospital.

Official announcement that USO will conduct its own fund raising campaign next September and October with a goal to cover minimum service requirements through 1947 was made by President Lindsley F. Kimball at a USO Fifth Anniversary luncheon held in New York, February 4th. Similar announcements were made at anniversary luncheons in other cities.

USO came into being on February 4, 1941, when six member agencies joined hands to create one organization to care for the needs of the men and women of the armed forces. So far the American public has contributed 200 million dollars.

At the New York luncheon the speakers were Lieutenant General J. Lawton Collins, Director of Information of the War Department, and Vice-Admiral Louis E. Denfeld, Chief of Navy Personnel, who described what USO had done in its five years of operation and what it still must do for the service men here and abroad.

Gen. Eisenhower's Message

"May I earnestly count on your organization and your host of volunteers to stay with us through the dangerous and difficult period of transition to final peace?

"We still have a pressing need for the services of USO and will be deeply grateful for your continued help in the future as in the past."

Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, Chief of Naval Operations, also sent a message of congratulation.

Need for Fund Outlined

The need for raising a terminal fund in the fall of 1946 is due to the fact that the National War Fund will finance USO only through 1946. Tentative, purely tentative, plans for 1947 call for the operation of some 350-400 USO clubs in the continental United States, largely in connection with hospitalized but convalescent veterans. Operation of station lounges for troops-in-transit, men on leave, and families of service people must continue. Overseas clubs will carry on in Alaska, Canal Zone, Hawaii, Philippines, etc. Camp Shows will still be seen and heard in 1947 by men in hospitals and men overseas.

Coincident with the announcement of the USO fall campaign, President Kimball made public his annual report, in which he says:

"USO finds that at its peak of activity, it was serving 1,000,000 people a day in one capacity or another, running up to more than 1,100,000,000 the total served since the organization was created.

3,035 Units at Peak

"The number of operations, such as clubs, lounges and similar activities, reached a high point back in March of 1944, a total of 3,035. As training camps closed and the men went overseas this number declined, but the over-all volume of work increased.

"The five-year peak of activity and cost came after peace in Europe and before the surrender of Japan. Redeployment of troops reopened many camps, doubled or vastly increased loads of various seaport cities. Expenditures climbed to $5,800,000 a month.

"Even today five months after V-J Day—USO must still operate on a basis of $4,000,000 a month. Over-all operations, aside from USO-Camp Shows, are carried on through nearly 2,000 units."

New Post-War Problems

Referring to the future of USO, Mr. Kimball says in his report: "The successful conclusion of the war does not, cannot, and will not return the United States to its pre-war status. It is clear even now that our armed forces in the postwar period must be numbered in the millions—and thus present a totally different problem.

"The USO was formed to serve a temporary purpose. It neither seeks nor shirks any specific responsibility, but the particular responsibility it did assume in 1941 will have to be discharged by the end of 1947."

The report concludes with the resolution of the Board of Directors:

"USO will complete its wartime, demobilization and reconversion services December 31, 1947.

"In the meantime, the member agencies of USO which will have peace-time responsibilities in serving the armed forces will appraise those responsibilities in the light of the future plans of our country for the armed forces and, giving consideration to the pattern of cooperation set by USO, will determine in what fashion those responsibilities can best be discharged."

Highlights of USO Report

At peak, USO was serving 1,000,000 men a day.

During the five years (February 4, 1941-February 4, 1945) total of 1,100,000,000 served.

At peak, there were 3,035 USO operations.

Peak expenditures were $5,800,000 a MONTH.

Peak Overseas Units totalled 178.

During the half-decade, Mobile Services of all sorts totalled 59,000,000.

19½ million individual services performed by 121 USO-Travelers Aid Units.

Troops-in-Transit attendance totalled 70,000,000.

At the height of activities 700 USO Shows were given DAILY overseas and in the United States, by more than 4,900 entertainers.

June 1943 was the numerical peak of volunteers—729,000 of them working that month.

They worked a total of 165,000,000 hours in the 5 years.

American public has given $200,000,000 to service 14 million men and women in armed forces.

Baptist Revival On April 19-28

The Herald wishes to correct an error in last week edition in which we placed Rev. O. C. Curtis, pastor of the First Baptist Church, as pastor of the First Methodist. The story announced that definite plans have been made for the holding of their annual spring Baptist meeting. The dates were set for April 19 through the 28th.

Evangelist E. F. Cole, Fort Worth, will lead the preaching. Rev. Cole conducted a very successful revival meeting in this church two years ago. The singing for the meeting will be under the direction of Roy Camp.

Tree Planting Is Discussed By H. D. Agent Monday

"If you plan to set out new trees or shrubs on your place this year, don't wait much longer. Before you know it, the sap will be raising and they will be swelling with a spell of mild weather," Mrs. Virdie P. Wheeler H. D. Agent, said Monday.

"And once spring has set in for real your good intentions may be wasted. For trees set out late don't stand much chance of survival," Mrs. Wheeler, who at present is giving demonstrations on pruning of plants she continued.

"If you can, do that planting or transplanting job as soon as possible and preferbly after a rain. That way your trees and shrubs will be well established before leafing out time. And in case you didn't know, leafing out uses up a good deal of a plant's vitality.

"When you put out trees it's best to ball and burlap them to keep the roots from drying out. Now about the planting job iself. Use a spade or a long handled shovel for digging the hole, and make it deep enough that the trees will be about an inch deeper in the ground than they were in the nursery or the woods. Be sure the hole is large enough around to hold all the roots without crowding any or curling them up toward the surface.

"After you've set the tree, pack moist soil firmly around the roots by tamping it. If it's possible, a good watering will help settle the earth and get the tree off to a good start.

"And when you have time and good weather, remember that winter is the best time for pruning shrubs particularly evergreens. This will promote heavier growth of leaves and twigs", Mrs. Wheeler concluded.

Mrs. Wm. Boston and Joan, Wellington were weekend visitors in Perryton. Former residents of this city, they renewed acquaintences as well as visited with relatives.

Science O.K.'s Deep Spading; Here's Easy Way to Do It

While spading is the hardest work a home gardener has to do, it can be made easy by doing a little at a time. One hour's work a day for eight days will turn over spade depth 1,500 square feet, and leave its owner without even sore muscles.

Why spade? This question has been asked by progressive-minded critics, who examine all traditional practices with a skeptical eye. One answer has just been given by tests made at Ohio State college dealing with soil aeration.

These tests showed that to insure maximum plant growth there must be a complete change of the air in the soil, to the depth of eight inches, every hour. Compact soil interferes with this exchange; and it is easy to prove that garden soil is compact after a winter of rain and snow.

Spading loosens the soil, lets air into it, and leaves it in the best condition for both water and air to enter. Spading also can be used to mix with the soil coarse materials which will improve its condition. Good soil, Ohio State experiments showed, is composed of 25 per cent "pores" containing air, 25 per cent "pores" containing water, and 50 per cent solid matter.

Heavy clay soil has particles so fine that there are not enough "pores" in it. But it can be made good by mixing one inch of fine cinders or very coarse sand, an inch of manure or a substitute such as compost or peat moss, to four inches of clayey soil. This will give an idea of the quantity of coarse material needed to loosen heavy garden soil. Spread it evenly over the garden, and try to mix it evenly with the soil, so that it will create "pores" all through it, and thus improve aeration and also water retention.

To make sure that the soil is turned over a full eight inches deep drive the spade straight down, to get maximum depth, lift it high enough to enable you to drop the "spit" of soil bottom side up. Take your time about this, working not over an hour a day, and your garden will be ready in a surprisingly short time, with a minimum of sore muscles.

A good way is to mark out the area you intend to work at one time. Then open a trench at one end, depositing the dirt removed from it near the other end of the area. Now lift the soil adjoining the trench, so that a second trench is opened, and the earth from it deposited, bottom up, in the first trench, continue until the day's stint is done, filling in the last trench with soil removed from the first.

Need Workers At Red Cross Sewing Room

The Ochiltree Chapter, The American Red Cross, is appealing to every woman in this community to help make kits and do other sewing. The Chapter has just received material to make 360 service kits, and 150 capes for girls ages 4, 6, 8 and 10 years.

The Red Cross room in the Ochiltree building is open from two to five on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons, each week. Mrs. J. F. Cox is in charge of production during the absence of Mrs. E. L. Whippo who is ill. The service kits and the capes must be completed within three months.

Workers may either sew at the Red Cross Room on the above afternoons or take there articles nome. Mrs. Cox will be at the room each afternoon.

The chapter also has some khaki yarn on hand for sweaters. Knitters are needed to complete this assignment.
