

FOR GRAHAM JOB

City Finance Officer Quits

Rogers Nanny, city finance officer and secretary, tendered his resignation today to Harry Nagel, city manager, effective July 31.

According to Nanny, the decision was made in order to enable him to accept a position in Graham. Aug. 1 Nanny will assume the duties of business administrator for the Independent School District of Graham.

"The new job will mean more money and I will be moving to a part of the country I am very fond of," Nanny said today.

"Although I have been here only a short period of time, my association with the city has been most rewarding, and I shall always cherish the friendship of those with whom I have been privileged to work and associate while employed with the City of Big Spring," Nanny said in his resignation letter.

Nagel was not available for comment this morning as to whom the city has selected to replace Nanny. Apparently the resignation came on short notice.

Nanny went to work with the city the latter part of 1971 in the position formerly held by Charles Smith. Prior to coming to Big Spring, Nanny was the finance officer for the City of Sweetwater.

School Busing Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — House and Senate conferees agreed today on a compromise school busing provision that would delay for 18 months court desegregation orders requiring busing.

The compromise, reached near the end of an all-night bargaining session, cleared the way for final agreement by the conferees on a $20-billion higher education bill.

The bill would provide a wide variety of aid for college students and the institutions they attend and also establish a national institute of education to foster research on the learning process, and authorize $1.5 billion to help schools desegregate.

In reaching agreement, however, the conferees softened three tough House antibusing amendments, which could make it difficult to pass the measure on the House floor. The House, by two overwhelming votes, has insisted the conferees stand by the House provisions.

The key antibusing amendment agreed it would prevent court busing orders, even those already issued, from going into effect until all appeals have been exhausted. As adopted by the House the provision would have been permanent law. The conference agreement puts a Jan. 1, 1974 expiration date on it.

Supporters of the compromise hope by that time the Supreme Court will have further clarified the busing controversy. It is scheduled to hear arguments in a Denver school case this fall and a decision is expected by the summer of 1973.

The agreement also includes language from the Senate bill urging the courts to place limits on busing based on the age of the children and the distance they would be required to travel. And it would prohibit busing a student to an inferior school.

'Sexy' Doc Is Stripped

AUSTIN (AP) — A San Antonio physician whose license was revoked after he allegedly had intercourse with a young patient and tried an unsuccessful abortion on another lost his plea today to the Texas Supreme Court.

The high court refused to hear further arguments in the case of Dr. J. J. Martinez. It affirmed lower court rulings without writing an opinion.

Martinez' lawyer had complained that charges against the doctor were not supported by reasonable evidence and also that the law was unconstitutionally vague because it allowed members of the State Board of Medical Examiners to determine what violated the law.

The board stripped Martinez of his medical license in 1970, following a hearing attended by Martinez and his lawyer.

Gov. George C. Wallace has scored overwhelming victories in the Michigan and Maryland presidential primaries, and his managers are mapping new contests in behalf of their wounded candidate, hoping to deadlock the Democratic National Convention.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey was resuming today the campaign he suspended when Wallace was shot; Sen. George McGovern said he would take up the race again Thursday.

Felled by a gunman and partially paralyzed, Wallace received 51 per cent of the Democratic vote in Michigan to score his first Northern victory as a presidential campaigner, and parlayed that with a 40 per cent victory showing in Maryland.

McGovern ran second in Michigan, with 27 per cent of the vote, Humphrey third with 16 per cent. In Maryland, Humphrey's second place share was 27 per cent; McGovern trailed him with 22 per cent.

The South Dakota senator said he was pleased with what he termed strong showings in both states.

Humphrey congratulated Wallace, but said he could draw no conclusions from Tuesday's two primaries. He said his prospects of winning a second Democratic nomination had not been damaged by the outcome.

On the Republican side in both states, President Nixon won easily over token opposition.

BIG MARGINS

Wallace had been the favorite in both contests, with his opposition to school busing for desegregation a big plus in Michigan, and with the electorate in much of border state Maryland clearly receptive to his kind of Democratic protest.

But his margins were bigger than expected, and it appeared that votes of sympathy for a felled campaigner and a stiffened resolve among his supporters, had bolstered his showings Tuesday.

The Democratic ballots in both states were crowded—11 entries in Maryland, seven in Michigan—but only Wallace, McGovern and Humphrey gained significant shares of the vote.

In Michigan, voters could choose the ballot of either party, and Democratic leaders said a massive crossover of Republicans had inflated the Wallace vote.

With 99 per cent of the Michigan precincts counted, the votes lined up this way:

Wallace 791,321 or 51 per cent.

McGovern 416,671 or 27 per cent.

Humphrey 246,546 or 16 per cent.

SHORT OF GOAL

National convention votes were awarded there on the basis of the primary vote shares of candidates who polled at least 5 per cent. Those figures translated into 72 convention votes for Wallace, 38 for McGovern, 22 for Humphrey.

Humphrey thus was falling short of the goal he said would be a satisfactory outcome, a 25 per cent share of the Michigan delegation.

In Maryland, virtually complete returns gave:

Wallace 216,019 votes or 40 per cent.

Humphrey 144,849 votes or 27 per cent.

McGovern 118,311 votes or 22 per cent.

IN FORSAN DISTRICT

School Tax Rate Dropped 10 Cents

FORSAN — Tax payers in the Forsan Independent School District got some good news Tuesday night.

The board of trustees, meeting in regular session, decided to lower the district's tax rate from $1.85 to $1.75.

Earl Bruce of the firm of Pritchard and Abbott, oil and utility evaluators, meeting in joint session with the board of equalization, said tax evaluations would increase slightly in the district. That influenced the decision of the board to drop the tax rate.

The increase in evaluations reversed a trend within the district over the last couple of years.

In other action, the trustees decided to leave the cost of meals the same for the 1972-73 school year. Students will again pay 40 cents, adults 60 cents for meals served in the school cafeteria.

The board discussed the 1972-73 school budget but took no action on it. That will come after the board of tax equalization meets again at 10 a.m. next Monday in the high school auditorium.

The trustees also accepted for another year the contract of the

CURE FOR BALDNESS?

PEDERBOROUGH, England (AP) — Harry Biggs says he thinks he has stumbled across a new cure for baldness — horse manure.

Biggs, a 69-year-old pensioner, went bald 15 years ago. A friend gave him a manure mix to fertilize his garden and in the process some of it rubbed off on Biggs' head about six months ago. Now his hair is growing back.

But a spokesman at the local factory that makes the manure mix Biggs used — horse manure, peat and chalk — thinks the whole story smells.

"We have lots of bald men working here and they handle the stuff all day," he said. "But their hair never seems to grow."

President Has Yet To Ask Agnew To Run Second Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, who says resigning Treasury Secretary John B. Connally can handle any public office in the land, has yet to ask Vice President Spiro T. Agnew to run a second time.

Set side by side, these facts are encouraging renewed speculation that Connally, a conservative Texas Democrat, might wind up as Nixon's choice for second place on the 1972 Republican ticket.

Agnew, however, has publicly suggested that the choice may not be entirely Nixon's.

NEW POLICY
In an April 28 question-and-answer session with students at the University of Maine, Agnew said he is not even sure he would want the No. 2 job for another four years.

Agnew also emphasized that he would step aside gracefully—and campaign hard for the GOP ticket—should Nixon judge that someone else could provide greater appeal as a running mate.

In announcing Tuesday that Connally is resigning after 18 months at treasury, Nixon told newsmen the Texan was "the architect of the new economic policy," leader of the fight against inflation, chief negotiator of international monetary accords and "a tower of strength for the President."

LOOKING AHEAD

Looking ahead to the November balloting, it can be assumed that Nixon would welcome Connally's aid in attempting to carry Texas—a state that eluded him in 1960 and 1968. And a Connally on the ticket might swing greater weight with Texans than one standing in the wings.

After the President personally announced Connally's impending resignation, Nixon told some three dozen top Treasury officials that "no member of the Cabinet has been more closely associated with me in a personal sense."

Nixon reported he solicited Connally's advice not only on Treasury matters but on a broad range of national and international concerns and said the Texan has the qualities he seeks in a close adviser.

"When the going is the toughest," said the President, "Secretary Connally is at his best."

Connally responded that he has the "profoundest admiration" for Nixon and gives complete support to his policies, foreign and domestic.

At the White House, Connally told questioning reporters, "I have no political aspirations and no particular ambitions."

His wife Nellie, standing nearby, nodded her head in vigorous approval but held up crossed fingers.

Asked if he would run as Nixon's vice presidential candidate if asked, Connally said he did not think that would happen. He declared he wanted to avoid "that type of speculation at this point in time."

"I'm not going to withdraw from the human race or from the political life of my nation."

Paralysis Caused By Shot Wounds May Not Be Total

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP) — George C. Wallace, elated by smashing presidential primary triumphs in Michigan and Maryland, showed continued improvement from gunshot wounds today.

A medical bulletin giving the latest word on the condition of the Alabama governor, partially paralyzed since being shot Monday during an election rally, said:

"The governor spent a comfortable night. He is very alert and aware of his surroundings. He is reading the paper avidly. He is continuing to improve.

"Paralysis of the legs remains unchanged.

"At this time, despite reports to the contrary, the exact nature of injury to the spinal cord cannot be determined until surgery is performed."

The bulletin, issued by Dr. Joseph F. Schanno, appeared to challenge published reports that Wallace already faced permanent paralysis from the hips down because of damage to the spinal column.

The Washington Post in today's editions reported that the bullet had severed Wallace's spinal cord. It quoted unnamed medical sources as saying chances of the governor ever walking again are "zero."

Earlier, Billy Joe Camp, Wallace's press secretary, told a reporter that the Post story was "unfounded."

Camp said the governor had asked him this morning to get the latest vote totals from the two primaries.

"He was in good spirits," Camp said. "He was already aware he'd won the primaries."

There had been indications that Wallace's gunshot wound affecting the spine might not be as serious as had been feared. Wallace had been paralyzed from the waist down since he was shot at a campaign rally in Laurel, Md., Monday afternoon. But his campaign manager said Tuesday night the governor has "some slight sensation in one leg."

The encouraging news came as Wallace was receiving word of his big doubleheader primary victories, his first outside the South.

Wallace, who has been heavily sedated since undergoing five hours of surgery Monday night, awakened briefly to be told of his primary victories.

Aides said Wallace's wife, Cornelia, gave him the news;

he nodded and grinned.

"He knows he has won both states," campaign manager Charles Snider relayed later. "And he's very happy."

Snider said the votes in Maryland and Michigan were a mandate to go on: "We've got to continue."

Meanwhile, Arthur Herman Bremer, the 21-year-old, white Milwaukee man accused of wounding Wallace five times with a .38-caliber pistol, remained in the Baltimore County jail under $200,000 federal bail. He was arrested minutes after the shooting.

Snider said the team of physicians attending Wallace at Holy Cross Hospital in Silver Spring were guarded in their expectations but that indications of recovery were improving.

BUT OBSERVERS WONDER WHERE AND WHEN

Look For Connally To Reappear On State Political Scene

AUSTIN (AP) — Home state politicians are expecting John B. Connally to reappear on the Texas political scene—but they don't know where or when.

"We're just as surprised as when he went to Washington," said a former Connally aide. "We're just waiting now to hear from him."

Connally announced Tuesday he was resigning as Secretary of the Treasury. When asked by newsmen if this cleared the way for President Nixon to choose him for a running mate this November Connally said he did not anticipate a presidential decision of that sort and "I don't want to engage in that type of speculation at this point in time."

'TOO FAR LEFT'

Just last week Connally told a reporter stationed in Washington for a Texas newspaper that he thought most of the Democratic contenders for the presidential nomination were "too far left" but said:

"I have no plans now to change parties."

He also repeated that he would not go this year to either the Democratic or Republican national conventions.

"I have said all along that John went to Washington to do a job for his country and that he would be back in Texas when he thought he had done it," said Wayne Connally, a brother who is in a hot Democratic runoff race for lieutenant governor.

"Of course, I know he is for me in my race. However, I do not know that he will be able to return to Texas in time to help me in my race, in that he will no doubt remain in Washington until his successor is on the job," Connally said.

President Nixon also said Tuesday that the former secretary would undertake some "temporary, unpaid assignments for the President after the summit talks in the Soviet Union."

John Connally's political plans became a matter of national discussion last month when Connally invited about 200 of his most influential and best financed political friends to his Floresville ranch while Nixon was there overnight. Nixon gave the guests a detailed discussion of his political views. There was considerable speculation that the ranch party was a prelude to possible organization of a bipartisan group like the "Texans for Nixon" of 1968 that was headed by former Gov. Allan Shivers.

THIN MARGIN

Shivers was governor of Texas during the 1952 and 1956 elections when Texans chose a Republican candidate for president over a Democrat. The state went narrowly for John F. Kennedy in 1960, by an overwhelming margin for Lyndon Johnson in 1964 and again by a thin margin for Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey in 1968.

"I hope his contribution to economic policy formulation will not end with his departure from Washington," said Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., who has been friendly with Connally for years except at general election time.

"I join with all his Texas friends in welcoming him back home and in wishing him well for the future," said Barefoot Sanders, a Democratic runoff candidate for the U.S. Senate.

With about $84,000 in hand this year and $62,000 due for each of the next two years from settlement of claims in an anti-suit, directors elected to apply only about 25 per cent, which is mandatory, toward retirement of bonds. This will permit application of the rest as general revenue, which could help in modifying requirements from the cities.

The finance committee of the district was invested with authority to advise the general manager in the continuing investment of balances in the various trust fund accounts.

A water sales contract with Pearson-Selbert Company for a pilot water flood project for Coke County was approved on a short-term basis. This calls for 21,000 gallons a day for an estimated six months.

The board extended until Jan. 1, 1973 the reduced contract quantity for American Magnesium's plant in Scurry County. The facility is undergoing extensive renovation. Also approved was a contract with Blue Cross for hospitalization for employees.

O. H. Ivie, general manager, reported 10,900 acre-feet of increase in Lake Thomas and Lake Spence, within the past fortnight. Paschal Odom, assistant manager, reported that the system is in good order for summer demands, and that Ward County water would be delivered as part of Odessa's water requirements starting June 1. This fits into the District's off-peak power rate schedule.

Atmospherics, Inc. has made 10 cloud seeding flights in its first month of operation, said R. A. Schooling, administrative assistant in coordinating the project. More data is being assembled this year, and he hoped it will help aid in better evaluation of the work.

They Skip Sports

BONN, Germany (AP) — Despite a nation-wide drive for voluntary physical fitness and weight control, 37 per cent of West Germans never indulge in sports of any kind.

NEVER TOO YOUNG — Stefanie Kitts, 1, and Susan Kniffen, 2, at right, are the youngest students of Mrs. Sonnhild Kitts, Gainesville, Fla., who employs the Suzuki approach to teach young children to play the violin. The philosophy behind the method, which was founded by Japanese violinist Shinichi Suzuki, is that just as a child can learn to speak his native language at a very early age, a child can also learn to play an instrument.

'Hoss' Was To Get Married On 'Bonanza' Show Sept. 12

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — In two weeks, "Bonanza" was to begin filming its 14th season on NBC with a two-hour premier show in which Hoss Cartwright got married.

That show, "Forever," will never be made. Nor will "The Witness," in which Hoss tracks down a witness to free his brother Joe of a charge of murder.

Dan Blocker, 43, died of a blood clot May 13, and his humor, gentleness and finely etched portrayal of Hoss will be missed in future episodes.

"Obviously, the show will change. There's no question about that," said David Dortort, the creator and executive producer.

Dortort said he was not sure how the show would change. "How do you replace a man who's irreplaceable?" he asked.

Dortort said that, in the beginning at least, he would rely heavily on the other characters, Lorne Greene, Michael Landon and Mitch Vogel. He said that Landon, who had begun as a juvenile and matured on the show would be given more responsibility.

"I'll never be able to find another man like Dan Blocker," he said. "But if it gets to that point I don't think I'll bring in an obvious leading man type. None of these things have ever been discussed yet, let alone decided."

In the planned premier show in the new Tuesday time slot next Sept. 12, Hoss was to get married. His wife was to become pregnant, but in the end she would be murdered.

Daughter Of Sen. Ratliff Appears Before Grand Jury

AUSTIN (AP) — Former Sen. David Ratliff's daughter has testified before the Travis County grand jury in a probe of her father's possible violation of the state nepotism law.

Lynnora Ratliff spent about 30 minutes with the jury Tuesday, then refused to talk to or march from the courthouse.

CAMPUS CRUSADE Miss Ratliff reportedly worked fulltime for the Campus Crusade for Christ at the same time she was on the payroll of Rep. John Allen of Longview.

Ratliff supposedly endorsed some of the House payroll checks issued to his daughter.

The state nepotism law forbids legislators to hire their own or other legislators' relatives. The practice of hiring each other's relatives has been a longstanding — and illegal — one in the legislature, but Ratliff is the only lawmaker reported to have hired his own relatives in recent years. He had five of them on his payroll at one time or another.

The jury is scheduled to hear Allen's daughter, Peggy, next Tuesday. It will take testimony Thursday and next Tuesday in cases involving the alleged misuse of legislators' contingency funds.

Former Rep. Hudson Mayer of Amarillo reported paid off a $6,000 bank loan with postage stamps he received from his expense fund. He returned $6,000 worth of stamps last week. The jury will hear Amarillo witnesses in that case Thursday.

MAIL WOES Rep. Tom Holmes of Granbury reportedly is being investigated next week to see whether he used postage stamps to buy a pickup truck.

A pretrial hearing for former Rep. Walter Knapp of Amarillo is set for the same day. Knapp was indicted on a charge he used $1,200 in postage stamps to buy a used pickup truck.

Holmes told a news conference Tuesday he paid cash for the truck. When asked how often he makes major purchases with cash, he said he always carries a lot of money. He pulled out his wallet and displayed about $1,000.

Holmes said he and his lawyer, Ben Sudderth of Commerce, tried in vain to get Travis County Dist. Atty. Bob Smith to expedite grand jury action in his case.

Holmes said he was in a hurry to get the grand jury matter over with because he is in a runoff race against Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells.

"The timing of this thing is most disastrous," Holmes said. "The assassination attempt sold them to the Granbury on Gov. (George) Wallace State Bank," he said.

couldn't have been more fatal than the assassination attempt they have tried on my political future."

He apparently meant that the grand jury probe hurts him politically.

But both Holmes and Sudderth denied they were accusing Smith of any political motivation.

"It's a low ebb when he (Creighton) can get to the Travis County grand jury and request an investigation," Holmes said.

Sudderth said Smith refused to tell him either the nature of the investigation or the names of his informants.

Holmes said he owns about 29 per cent of the Granbury State Bank and estimated his net worth at $80,000 to $90,000. "If I said I hoped she (my wife) and visit us when I get home, I could certainly have it," he said.

DEAR ABBY: I'm not very good at writing letters, so I make tapes to send to members of my family. (I am overseas in the service.)

I made two the other evening. One for my wife and one for my mother. I put them in the wrong envelopes and my mother got the tape I made for my wife, and my wife got the one I made for my mother.

I told my wife that when I came home next month I would rather that we just be alone, and I would try to get out of having my mother come to visit us. (My wife and my mother don't hit it off very well.)

In my tape to my mother I said I hoped she could come and visit us when I get home!

Well, my wife wrote and told me she got the tape I made for my mother, so obviously my mother got the tape I made for my wife.

Now what do I do.

WORRIED IN NAME
DEAR ABBY: Take your lumps like a man. And if things get too hot stateside, you can always re-enlist!

DEAR ABBY: Every time I read a letter in your column from a mother who has practically become unglued because of a shocking letter she has "accidentally" come across while cleaning her child's desk drawers, I am reminded of some of the letters I used to write when I was a teen-ager.

I used to dream up the most fantastic tales to make my out-of-town friends think I was popular and wild. I realize now that some of the stories my correspondents wrote to me must have been equally fictitious.

I'm lucky my mother never snooped in my stationery box or she surely would have had a heart attack — for nothing! OVER FIFTY

DEAR OVER: Your letter should be included with the literature put out by the HEART ASSOCIATION.

DEAR ABBY: There is a blind man who sells newspapers downtown. He has a seeing eye dog, but yesterday I noticed that he was hesitant to cross the street so I gently touched his elbow and said, "I'll tell you when you have the green light."

He thanked me warmly and said, "I wish more people were educated to let me know when the 'go' light is on. If I get started all right, I'm okay, but last year I was struck by a car."

I suppose because a blind person has a seeing eye dog with him, everyone assumes he needs no help in crossing streets. They don't realize that ALL dogs are color blind, and cannot read traffic signals.

I didn't know this until recently. If you will pass it on, Abby, you will help many blind people.

MRS. E.H.N.
DEAR MRS. N.: I am informed that, although all dogs are indeed "color blind," guide dogs are trained to escort their masters across streets by going with the flow of traffic. However, not all masters have complete confidence in their dogs, so if you observe such a situation, it would be kind to offer assistance.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069.

Band Of Gas Around Earth Discovered

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — A mysterious band of gas around the earth was discovered by studying pictures of the earth taken from the moon by the Apollo 16 astronauts, an astrophysicist said Tuesday.

The same photograph that showed the mysterious band of gas also showed a similar band at the equator that was known to exist from measurements made by unmanned satellites, Dr. George Carruthers said.

In all, the astronauts photographed three bands of gas that were theorized to exist but the "most unexpected photograph made by a gold-plated camera left on the moon is one of a whitish band at about 40 degrees latitude," said Carruthers, of the Naval Research Laboratory in Washington.

"This (the whitish band) is not associated with any known feature," he said at a Manned Spacecraft Center briefing.

The three bands of gas that were photographed for the first time were made up of atomic helium, ionized oxygen and hydrogen in what is called the lyman beta band of the spectrum.

Local RCA Rider Looks To Success On Circuit

Jack Himes, employed in the garage at the Jack Lewis Buick-Cadillac Motor Company, is making money head over heels.

He's employed as a general helper in the automobile concern but on the Rodeo Cowboys Association circuit, he's far better known as a bareback rider.

Himes has ridden a hot streak that began midway through last year currently to become either the eighth or ninth ranked bareback rider in the nation. All of which means a lot of money to him.

So far this year, Himes has won more than $6,000 riding on the backs of bucking horses and occasionally on the backs of bulls.

Last year, he captured a total of $10,000 — all but about $800 coming after the middle of May. Since then, nothing has slowed down the 29-year-old blond who moved to Big Spring in December 1970.

He has been riding in an astounding number of rodeos. Last year alone, he was entered in 83 different ones.

"I went all the way from the Cow Palace in San Francisco to Miami, Chicago, Denver and Houston," Himes said.

His career as a bareback rider started inauspiciously enough when he was eight years old. His parents purchased a ranch in Colorado and he and his brother started riding horses just for the fun of it.

Himes progressed rapidly to the point that when he was in high school in 1969, he won the state high school championship in bareback riding. He had participated in the Junior Rodeo Association to develop his talents.

His brother, Jay, had some talent, too. In 1967 he was ranked third in the world in bareback riding.

Recently, Himes had one of his biggest weeks. He won first place in bareback riding at Lufkin, then proceeded to take second in bull riding. The two finishes were worth about $1,000 to him. But that wasn't all.

His wife, Terri, daughter of Jack Lewis, was in Tulsa, Okla., at the time doing some barrel racing on her own. She won her specialty which netted another $1,100.

"We had a real good week," Himes said.

USES BARREL

Himes said that a rodeo performer gets just about all of the practice he can endure on the circuit when he does feel the need to practice, he has a "bucking barrel" that he uses.

The "bucking barrel" is a regular barrel which has its top part shaped somewhat like the back of a horse. Several ropes keep the contraption suspended in the air. A network of springs produces a movement not too much different from that of a bucking bronc.

If he has a good year this season, Himes thinks he can make a mass something between $25,000 and $30,000. He will be disappointed if he doesn't win at least $20,000.

"Anything more than $10,000 on the circuit is a good year considering that there are more than 5,000 competing," Himes said. He expects that Terri will win $7,000 to $10,000 from her barrel races.

Himes' ambition is to earn a place in the National Rodeo Finals in Oklahoma City, Okla., this year. At that rodeo, the two top-rated performers in each event plus the top five over-all money winners are invited to participate.

After his riding days end, Himes hopes to become a salesman. But Jack Himes has a long way to go before his riding days are finished.

'Spread Eagle' Before Beating

HOUSTON (AP) — A man arrested for auto theft in 1970 told a federal jury Tuesday that two former Houston police officers forced him and a companion to lie on their backs while the officers kicked them in the stomach.

The testimony of Larry Taylor, 25, came in the trial of the ex-officers, Arthur N. Hill and Jack McMahon. They are charged with violating the civil rights of Taylor and Bobby Conner, who died after the alleged incident.

Taylor had to undergo surgery for internal injuries. If convicted, both Hill and McMahon could be assessed a life sentence. Both were fired the day after the incident but a state court jury in New Braunfels last year found them innocent of murder charges.

A Houston policeman and another ex-officer testified earlier they saw Hill and McMahon kick and beat the prisoners. Taylor testified Monday that Hill had told him to get "spread eagle" on the floor before the beating while telling him, "I'm going to show you what Houston officers can do for you."

But Tuesday, Taylor said he was not sure the officer was Hill. "I couldn't swear it was Mr. Hill," he said, adding it was a uniformed officer who gave him the order.

Taylor said he was unable to distinguish between the uniforms of Houston and Galena Park officers.

The alleged beatings occurred in the police station at Galena Park, a Houston suburb. Hill and McMahon had responded to a call for help from the Galena Park, a Houston suburb, chased Taylor and Conner by car and on foot.

Ohioan Loses Life Savings To Thugs

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Police were looking into a house burglary that netted thugs $83,000—the life savings of the victim.

Mike Martin, 52, a steelworker for 22 years, told police he did not believe in banks. He said he had kept his savings in a suitcase in his bedroom.

Whitten To Direct Fina Production

Appointment of D. G. (Buddy) Whitten as manager of production for American Petrofina Company of Texas, was announced here Tuesday. Whitten was promoted from district manager, production at Big Spring.

Richard C. Bott, assistant district manager, production, Permian Basin area, succeeds Whitten.

Whitten joined American Petrofina in Dallas in the late 50's as an engineer. In June, 1963, he transferred to Big Spring following the company's acquisition of Cosden Petroleum Corporation. Bott joined Fina in Wichita Falls in 1964. His assignments have included district manager, Ventura, Calif.; project engineer, Dallas; and project engineer, Tyler.

American Petrofina is engaged in exploration and production activities in the Southwest, Mid-Continent, and Rocky Mountain regions and operates refineries in Texas and Kansas.

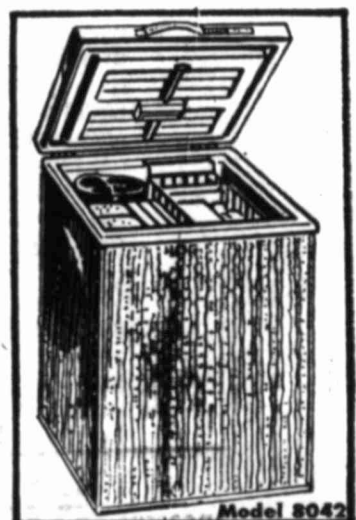

A native of Seymour, Whitten received his bachelor of science degree in petroleum engineering at Oklahoma University. Professional organizations include Society of Petroleum Engineers, member of the Inde-

Hospital Hearing

The Howard County Hospital Authority has been created anew following a public hearing by the Howard County Commissioners Court.

The application drew several protests, based chiefly upon a tax-exempt status on physical properties while other hospitals would continue to pay taxes. Another was the matter of proximity to one group of doctors as compared to others. On the other hand, the application drew warm support from a number who saw in the authority an opportunity to bring new hospital facilities geared to medicine of the future.

There undeniably is some advantage of being a public agency, but to venture out upon project of some $2.5 in new construction deserves encouragement from some source. While advantageous, the tax feature likely will not affect the existing institutions because patients are first patients of doctors, who enjoy (and justly so) a loyal clientele.

One of the best things which could happen for the authority would be for an increasingly broader range of physicians to move toward staff privileges.

There will be some who disagree with the unanimous conclusion of the court, but few if any who can quarrel with the orderly, dignified manner in which Judge A. G. Mitchell and the commissioners conducted the hearing. The matter was aired soberly and completely and in general with little acrimony.

Fixing Accountability

Environmentalists may be forced to prove their serious intent when they go to court to block roads in the future.

A North Carolina court has required $75,000 bond from petitioners against a proposed road there and Transportation Secretary John Volpe sees hope in that case to show how to eliminate frivolous lawsuits.

Volpe has said, "It doesn't matter how small the group is, they've been able to get to court — and many a project has been halted as a result." The result has been, he said, to delay work for two years and more at an added cost of 10 to 15 percent.

Environmental protection— even enhancement is desirable. But putting petitioners under bond, where courts stopped work previously cleared by appropriate authority, seems only fair.

The Great Word

Around The Rim

Joe Pickle

We have just gone through at our house an experience which is common to most who have children who grow to maturity — only ours was so long delayed that we despaired that it would happen. But miracles still happen; one of our boys is to be married.

ALTHOUGH THERE had been no basis other than knowing that No. 2 son had dated a girl more than twice, we never had any occasion to suspect that anything serious was in the wind. We kept hearing, however, a certain name crop up in his conversation and correspondence. Finally curiosity, combined with paternal loneliness, got the best of us, and we went to spend a weekend with him and incidentally got to meet Jan.

WE WERE delighted but dared not vent our unqualified approval for fear it might frighten her off the nest. Mama was certain that if she evinced the slightest interest in her, it would immediately jinx the relationship.

When he announced plans to be home for Easter, and to bring Jan along, we scarcely even let suspicion creep into the subconscious. Hence, the evening of their arrival was spent in light, relaxed banter. Consequently, we almost missed the bombshell.

WHEN AT LAST there was a hull, Gary slipped in an off-hand question: "By the way, could you be in Houston Aug. 26?" Before either I or Mama could assimilate this, his Aunt Ga

Ga sensed the import, shouting: "I can, I can," even before he could finish his sentence. "Jan and I are getting married." I muttered some inane phrase about it being ideal on account it would occur when we had planned on a vacation. I was prepared to say Mama sprang to her feet, singing the Doxology, but she vigorously denies it.

WE LEARNED it had not gone any smoother the weekend before when they went to break the news to her parents. They kept waiting for an appropriate opening all one evening, then the next morning — and always there was interference, or someone was leaving for work, or to get the groceries or something, until finally late the next afternoon they got the clan together for an instant. Silence parted the sea of babble, and suddenly the spotlight was on him. His carefully worded speech evaporated, and all he could think to say was: "This is it."

OH WELL, IT isn't important that news of this sort have a flawless setting. It's how you feel about it, which, I suppose, was reflected in the moment when they prepared to get in the car and leave. Of course, we felt impelled to embrace the "daughter" we never had, and that would have been all right except she said "you're sweet." Mama dissolved in a flood of tears. So we all felt great about it.

John Gets His Gun

Robert E. Ford

This is one of those now-it-can-be-told stories because time has passed and thereby the heat is off; a fellow we will call John Doe since that isn't his name.

THE OCCASION was the Veterans of Foreign Wars national convention some months ago.

John is one of those persons who when he decides to join something does his share of the work and then a little extra.

He is particularly active in the Cooties, the fun side of the VFW which, like the iceberg, has depths that are not seen by the casual observer.

The Cooties for instance, maintain residential areas for the elderly as well as the young. This costs members considerable money and a lot of labor.

The VFW convention meant extra effort for the local members.

For one thing, they were kept busy making arrangements for parades and memorial services, and John, the willing worker, was assigned to both.

NOW WHEN you think of veterans you think of guys who once carried rifles.

But they're like photographers. When photographers hold conventions and want to take pictures of the new officers, you can't find a camera within miles.

The same is true of veterans' posts and rifles. You can't find a shootin' iron anywhere when you need one. And honor guards must carry rifles. It's a tradition.

John set out to find a couple.

He finally located a pair at one VFW post which uses them for funeral volleys for departed members.

NOW JOHN Doe was staying in a downtown hotel for the convention because it was too much trouble to drive back and forth home since something was going on 18 or 20 hours a day.

So he picked up the rifles — he describes them as beautifully kept Springfields, the old '03 so revered still by military men and others who want an extremely accurate, long-range weapon.

John had to take the rifles out of his car and walk along the sidewalk and into his hotel.

Suddenly he became aware that two strangers were in his vicinity at all times and didn't go away.

JOHN TOOK about 30 minutes to make the connection once he was aware of his escort.

You just don't walk around the streets of any city carrying rifles when a president is coming to town.

If you do, you are likely to get an escort of sharp-eyed, crew-cut young men who draw their pay and traveling expenses from the Secret Service.

And President Nixon was due in town in a couple of days to address the veterans.

The two young men even followed him into the corridors of his hotel room floor. Occasionally John would stick his head out the door to see what was going on in the world, and there the two would be. For all he knows, they spent the nights in the hallway.

BUT OVER a period of several days, they didn't say a word to him. Yet "everywhere I went, the same two jokers were there," John relates.

A couple of weeks after the convention, John retired from the Army.

Thus he was around the other day at the veterans post making another pitch for his beloved Cooties who at that moment needed a little money for some charity project.

It involved a contest. What would the winner get? A brand spanking new rifle.

LOSING SOME OF ITS PULL!

Bureaucratic Irritant

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Business is becoming more concerned with the Price Commission.

It used to think of the commission as another bureaucratic irritant that must be lived with. Now the irritation is beginning to sting, and there seems to be growing fears that a running sore is developing.

The commission is being blamed as much as the Vietnam war for stalling the stock market, and there is concern that a timid stock market could undermine business confidence as well.

The reasons for concern are easily culled from conversations at business meetings or from casual remarks during interviews. Among them:

—A realization that the commission's rulings can really cut into profits, a fact that business was slow to appreciate.

—A feeling that the commission's pronouncements are sometimes difficult to comprehend and comply with.

—Evidence that the commission trips over its own red tape, as in inaccurately charging some companies with failing to file required profit reports and then having to apologize.

—Fear that controls may not work.

While this latter reason may or may not imply a lack of confidence in the commission itself, it seems clear that some businessmen have lost what little faith they had in controls. Indirectly, this attitude is reflected in reports of corporate economists that increasingly express the belief that inflation will be rekindled later this year and be a serious problem in 1973.

After supporting the imposition of controls as a desperate but necessary stopgap, some businessmen now seem to wonder why they foresook their traditional belief that a free market is the best market.

Among the more outspoken critics is Albert H. Cox, Jr., chief economist of Lionel D. Edie & Co., and former special assistant to Paul McCracken when he was chairman of Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers.

Edie's clients, which include some of the country's largest companies, have just received a "confidential special analysis" on "Nixon, Grayson, and the outlook, in which Cox lambasts the commission.

Cox implies that it is sometimes the commission's methods rather than its decisions alone that concern business planners. He specifically cites the commission's "publicity" about price rollbacks and non-compliance.

The commission, he states, "does not have the 'horses' to handle such a complex job, and it never will." The word "never" is underlined in the report.

He concludes that if "it," presumably meaning the alleged inefficiency, "goes on too long, profits could be throttled, the upswing in capital spending could be threatened, and unemployment could go higher instead of lower."

What Went Wrong?

Marquis Childs

BONN — As a young lieutenant commander in the Navy, Richard Nixon played high-stakes poker so successfully that he returned to civilian life with a handsome little nest egg. He is engaged in a gamble today of a scope so far reaching that it can scarcely be exaggerated.

THE CHANCES of peace for a generation turn on whether his extension of the war ends in compromise or a confrontation between the two nuclear giants with a greatly widened conflict. We are all on edge waiting for the outcome, not knowing what our destiny will be.

In the grimmest view it is another Cuban missile crisis, with the difference that the showdown this time is 10,000 miles away instead of 90 miles off the coast of Florida. Those who put their trust in President Nixon believe that by calling the signals in advance via the hot line between Moscow and Washington Soviet ships are free of Haiphong harbor. Europeans are being told that the exchanges on the hot line are almost continuous in their frequency.

SO MUCH is shrouded in secrecy, unknown even to the principals in the game. The Nixon decision to mine Haiphong Harbor and carry the bombing throughout the north must be put down as a political rather than a military decision. Except as intimidation of the north, and this has never worked in the past, it cannot stop the offensive of the North Vietnamese armies.

What led up to the decision is still in large part conjecture. Yet certain pieces fall into place. They center on the enigmatic figure of Henry Kissinger and his role in the drama.

WHEN HE returned from his four-day secret mission to Moscow he was almost euphoric in his optimism. All the negotiations with the Soviet Union were on course. The implication was plainly that nothing could stand in the way of the President's journey to the summit.

After the initial bombing of Haiphong and Hanoi he was convinced that North Vietnamese stores of gasoline and oil together with thousands of trucks had been totally destroyed. This meant that it would take the Soviet Union a year to a year and a half to bring in the material for another offensive. In the pipeline and the battlefield centers was enough stuff to keep the present offensive going for an additional two to three months.

SIMILARLY, WHEN in a public briefing he spoke of the return to Paris of Le Duc Tho, a high-ranking member of Hanoi's Politburo, Kissinger was optimistic. The never, he said, traveled for other than serious reasons of state. Plainly, something could be expected to come out of the renewed Paris peace talks.

Billy Graham

Many of my friends have large estates to leave to their heirs. My children are married and are struggling to make ends meet. I feel I have failed them as I have very little to leave my children. What can I do?

To me, one of the saddest things in the world is for children of rich parents anticipating their parents' death, so they can inherit their fortune.

Henry Van Dyke once said: "Remember, what you possess in the world will be found at the day of your death to belong to others, but what you are will be yours forever."

You might not be able to leave your children a great deal of this world's store, but there are many other things you can bequeath them. You can leave them the memory of a godly life, lived in the context of eternity. You can leave them the image of a man who put honesty above the acquisition of things, and integrity above stocks and bonds. You can leave them the memory of a life lived unselfishly, for God and for others.

A good child would never complain that you left them none of this world's goods, if you leave them a faith to live by, ideals to guide them, and the memory of a life lived in Christ and God. I would that many people who are building an estate for their children would not forget the value of these things that will outlive all of the money they may leave them.

first child Bobbi Jo when Wallace was in the army stationed at Alamogordo, N.M., during World War II. At right he is shown when he was in his first term as governor of Alabama in August of 1963. Exact dates of the other photos are unknown.

Supporters Vow To Keep Texas Campaign Going For Wallace

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Alabama Gov. George Wallace's supporters are keeping up their drive for about a third of the state's national Democratic convention delegates.

"We're going right on. That's what they (Wallace headquarters in Montgomery, Ala.) told us to do," said Mrs. Lee Sullivan, the Texas organization's secretary.

Monday night, she was still trying to collect results of Saturday's county Democratic conventions, but couldn't raise many Wallaceites on the telephone.

"After this happened, everybody was going to church for prayers," Mrs. Sullivan explained, referring to the attempt on Wallace's life.

County conventions Saturday gave Wallace about 28 per cent of the delegates to the June 13 state Democratic convention, according to an Associated Press survey. The state convention will choose delegates to the national convention.

"My thought is that we should have 30 to 35 per cent of the delegates," said Hall Timanus, Houston lawyer and self-styled "Shivers Democrat" whom Wallace personally picked to head his Texas campaign.

The target is as many of Texas 130 national convention delegates as Wallace can get.

"All we are doing right now is holding our people together and getting out instructions for the state convention," Mrs. Sullivan said Tuesday.

Wallace's success in Texas thus far has resulted from seven weeks of hard work, a tightly controlled organization with no pretense of democratic procedure and a charismatic candidate.

HE AGREES

Timanus says he agrees with that evaluation. Wallace started late in Texas, kicking off his drive for precinct convention support March 17, just after he won the Florida primary.

Insiders say he would not have bothered with Texas if he had lost in Florida. Precinct conventions were May 6. The state convention is June 13.

Despite a late start, Wallace showed nearly the strength at the precincts of the conservative Democrat "establishment," which pushed for an uncommitted delegation. And he apparently outdid the George McGovern organization, which started early in 1971.

"I foresee our coming out of the state convention with fair treatment and with the percentage of delegates we had at the county conventions," Timanus said. "... I've talked to Roy Orr (state Democratic chairman), and I know he will treat us fairly. I think he is an honorable man."

Wallace's careful records of contributors and letter writers, plus Timanus' personal connections from the 1968 American Party campaign for Wallace, provided the nuclei for the campaign.

After meeting with Wallace's staff in Montgomery in February, Timanus called 30 of these 1968 acquaintances to Austin to start planning the Texas campaign.

Following Wallace's Florida victory, Montgomery mailed 2,000 letters inviting his Texas supporters to the March 17 organizational meeting in Austin.

Wallace himself showed up and made sure everybody knew that Timanus alone was running the Texas campaign. There were bitter memories of in-fighting that split the American Party in 1968.

"The only help we got from Montgomery was they put this letter (the invitations) out," Timanus said.

Mrs. Sullivan, a no-nonsense grandmother, ran Wallace's

After he was first charged, a jury found him insane and he was sent to the Rusk State Hospital. Earlier this year, he was discharged by the state hospital and returned to the custody of Midland County.

This is a plug for Volkswagen.

Volkswagen is the world's first plug-in car.

No, we're not putting you on. We mean it. Every 1972 Volkswagen has a built-in system of sensor points spread throughout the car. They're in all the critical areas, like the electrical system and the engine. And they all connect with a socket that's located in the engine compartment of the car.

When that socket is plugged into a computer, the computer automatically checks things like ignition, compression, wheel alignment. All without any chance of human error.

When it's done—and it doesn't take very long—the results are printed out in plain English. Sixty vital service checks. You can read them and discuss them right on the spot with the mechanic.

The world's first plug-in car comes into its own starting later this year when the computer comes on at your Volkswagen dealer's.

If you buy one now, you'll be all set when it happens.

Wife Of 'MIA' Urges Support From Public

Mrs. Smith Swords, whose husband has been listed "missing in action" in the Vietnam war since December, 1967, was guest speaker for the Cactus Chapter, American Business Women's Association, Monday evening at Furr's Cafeteria.

between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. May 27 at Highland Center Mall. attendance prize, and Mrs. Ernest Bauch won the Davis.

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Wed., May 17, 1972 7-A

The difference between MIA's and POW's (Prisoners of War) was explained by Mrs. Swords, who said a MIA wife doesn't know whether her husband is dead or alive, whereas a POW's wife is assured her husband was taken alive, even though she may not have had any news since that time.

Mrs. Swords emphasized the need for civic clubs, churches and individuals to write letters to both domestic and foreign officials concerning the welfare and release of POW's and MIA's. She said the letters must not stop being written because the issue is too important to be put aside. Letters written in long hand are more beneficial than typewritten ones, and Mrs. Swords said a "public information wire" may be sent to Washington officials for $1. In writing to the North Vietnamese government, she said to address the letters to Premier Pham Van Dong, Democratic Republic of Vietnam, Hanoi, North Vietnam. Postage will cost 27 cents.

"The laws set by the Geneva Convention are bypassed every day," said Mrs. Swords. "Prisoners are not allowed to write their families, and a complete list of American men being held prisoner is not available. Your letters and prayers do help, so don't let the POW's and MIA's be forgotten."

Mrs. Swords has three children. She has been active throughout the country in work geared toward release of American servicemen in Vietnam. Also, she attends Howard County Junior College and plans to obtain a degree in special education.

Mrs. Arthur A. Wadle presided, and the vocational talk was by Mrs. Neiman McMichael of Ira who produces hydroponic tomatoes.

A LOVELIER YOU Buyers Can Choose Fabric Gain Or Loss

By MARY SUE MILLER

Many a lovely overlooks the importance of fabric to dressing attractively. The factors of quality and fashion aside, fabric has a measurable effect on one's figure.

In that connection, most of us concentrate on silhouettes and linear constructions. But fabric weights and patterns play an almost equal part in causing you to look heavier or thinner, taller or shorter. The most becoming sort of fashion-y fabric selections are listed on this chart:

To appear Taller and Slimmer (for 5-by-5 Figure) select light weights but not clinging; small, shadowy patterns. For instance, silky Honan as opposed to voile; sketchy geometrics, never large florals.

To appear Taller and Fuller (for Petites), choose crisp, starched textures such as gingham and organdy; dainty prints like narrow stripes or well-spaced tiny florals.

To appear Shorter and Slimmer (for Statuesque Figure), wear medium weights — silk-like seersucker and linen; conservative, scattered prints — polka dots here and there.

To appear Shorter and Fuller (for Slim-Janes), stay with full-bodied weights; striking patterns. Examples: denim, pique; garden flowers in profusion, splashy plaids.

While the fabrics listed are for summer wear, the same principles carry over into wintertime materials. Contouring the figure via fabric is a year-round proposition.

Briscoe Favors Budget Panel

By The Associated Press

Gubernatorial hopeful Frances Farenthold says she's gaining support daily "but we're not in great shape by a long shot." And her Democratic runoff opponent, Dolph Briscoe, has pledged to eliminate waste in state government if elected. In other Texas campaign activities, Sen. Wayne Connally says it remains uncertain whether his brother will help in his bid for the lieutenant governor's post. Sen. Connally made his remarks after brother John Connally resigned as secretary of the treasury.

RUSTY BUCKET
Rep. Farenthold said Tuesday in Austin, "A lot of people have told me they voted for my opponent in the May 6 first primary simply because they thought he was the one that had a chance."

These same people have now told her that they will support the Farenthold candidacy in the runoff election, she said, adding, "We're not going to see any change, I don't believe, if Briscoe wins."

Briscoe vowed in Tyler Tuesday night to patch up the holes through the "hard-earned tax dollars of Texans which have been leaking like water out of an old rusty bucket."

The Uvalde rancher said he favored a state budget commission rather than additional taxes.

"It just doesn't make good sense to keep filling up the bucket when it is obvious the bucket has so many leaks," Briscoe said.

Republicans, meanwhile, had a controversy on their hands after a GOP gubernatorial candidate told the party's state executive committee his runoff opponent's campaign expense report shows payment of a business loan with campaign funds.

$30,000 NOTE

Albert B. Fay said he endorsed a $30,000 bank note for opponent Henry Grover of Houston on Jan. 15, 1971, after Grover asked help in "carrying" some real estate until the property could be sold.

Fay, who ran second to Grover in the May 6 primary and faces him in the June 3 runoff, said Grover's campaign expense report shows $30,000 was paid to retire the note.

The report shows a payment of $30,068 to "repay Albert Fay (sic) note."

"This was a strictly business loan and should have never appeared in a campaign expense report. I do not understand why it was listed that way," Fay said.

Grover, who spoke to the committee just before Fay, listened to Fay's speech and told reporters it was a "misstatement."

AFTER BRISCOE — State Rep. Frances Farenthold, Corpus Christi, in a runoff with Uvalde rancher Dolph Briscoe for the Democratic nomination for governor at a news conference Tuesday. Mrs. Farenthold said she would be following Briscoe down the sidewalk if necessary to engage him in debate on the issues.

Long Phlebitis

Your Good Health

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband has phlebitis in his left leg and has been home from work for six weeks. He is under a doctor's care, and can't understand why it takes so long to overcome it. — Mrs. J.R.

Six weeks is a long time to be laid up with phlebitis, but there can be reasons. It may depend in part on what kind of work he does.

Phlebitis is inflammation of the wall of a vein, usually in the leg, and quite commonly related to varicose veins — one of several reasons for taking care of varicose veins before they get too bad.

But there are various other causes: injury, leg muscle strain, infection, blood disorders, even cancer somewhere in the system.

You didn't say what treatment he is receiving, but usually the affected area is supported by elastic bandages, which should extend from the ankle to the thigh. This gives better support than support hose for an active case of phlebitis.

Anti-inflammatory medication, such as phenylbutazone is used, and often one of the antibiotics.

Smoking most definitely can contribute to a slow recovery, so don't underestimate the importance of that.

The patient usually is allowed to walk about, but he should be careful not to bump or otherwise injure the leg.

Since in his case the trouble has lasted so long, a complete physical examination is in order, to make sure that no constitutional disorder is involved, particularly a blood disorder, such as polycythemia which increases coagulation of the blood.

If varicose veins are present, they should be removed as soon as the phlebitis improves; otherwise, a recurrence of the phlebitis is likely.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: If you have sexual relations with someone, is it possible to become pregnant if the boy withdraws before the sperm comes out? Also is it true that a girl can become pregnant only in the four days before her period?

My mother and I have never been able to talk about sex so I have no way to find out except from you and books. — K.G.

No, withdrawal is NOT a reliable way to avoid pregnancy. For one thing, some sperm can be released BEFORE the male climax. For another, sometimes the male either can't or doesn't withdraw in time.

No it is NOT true that "pregnancy is possible only in the four days before her period." In fact, pregnancy is most likely to occur in the several days at mid-cycle (or in the case of irregular cycles, the several days at about two weeks before menstruation). But experience shows that it is sometimes possible at other times, too.

I'm sorry for girls who can't seem to go to their mothers for sound advice. There's too much danger in the many erroneous ideas that are floating around.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What are the chances of a pendulous polyp of the colon becoming cancerous? I am 74 and feel pretty much okay. — M.I.M.

By "pendulous," I presume you mean one on a pedicle. These are less likely to be malignant than those on a solid base.

However, if the polyp can be reached by a sigmoidoscope, it should be removed. Otherwise, periodic X-ray to note any change in size is important. If changes are seen, removal is in order.

Life Cycle Cost Study Of Tires Under Way

What kind of tires would be best for the type of driving one does? Are radials really the most economical in the long run even though they are the most expensive initially?

The answer to these and many other questions the public has regarding American-made tires may be answered when results of a Department of Transportation (DOT) study are tabulated.

Directed by Dr. Cecil Brenner, head, Tire Systems Research Institute of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, DOT, "The Life Cycle Cost Study on Vehicle Tires" field testing is being headquartered at Webb AFB.

Webb, the only operating location nationwide, was chosen because of its proximity to the Texas-based test tracks of most American tire manufacturers and because of surrounding terrain and climate.

Logistical support in the way of gasoline and minor maintenance is being performed at Webb's Transportation Division. The base is also providing housing and messing facilities for the drivers who are on temporary duty from Sheppard AFB, Wichita Falls, Tex.

The accident occurred at 2:30 a.m., and Hale and his wife and daughter walked home from the accident scene, according to information given the investigating officer.

Texas Highway Patrolman John Ferguson investigated the accident.

Autos Damaged In Collision

A two-car collision Sunday night resulted in damage to the front and rear bumpers on the cars involved, but neither of the drivers were reported injured.

Juan Martinez, 43, of 4205 Dixon, and James Leffler, 30, of 1209 Douglas, were the drivers involved. The accident reportedly happened at 11:15 p.m. Sunday when one of the drivers pulled from the shoulder of Hwy. 350 into the path of the second vehicle.

The accident occurred 8.4 miles north of Big Spring. Texas Highway Patrol investigated the accident.

Dr. Brenner, who holds a Ph.D. in chemistry from Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn, has been involved with various aspects of tire evaluation since 1967. An expert on the subject, he has had numerous studies published in professional journals such as Rubber Chemistry and Technology.

Five Army, 10 General Services Administration and one specially equipped DOT vehicle costing $35,000 are being used during the test. During the month of May, the vehicles, normally driving in four-car convoy formation, are expected to cover more than 8,000 miles over prescribed, mapped and measured courses.

The tire test project was started after a 1966 federal law was passed requiring specific safety standards and a uniform quality rating system be adopted for tires. These standards and the rating system would in turn allow consumers to make a more informed choice on the type of tires to purchase considering the cost and life (treadwear) expectancy of the product.

Dr. Brenner reported that there are 15,000 different types of tires now produced under 1,200 brand names by 12 domestic manufacturers, taking into account the various sizes and three primary types. Scientific measuring criteria on the treadwear of vehicle tires includes moisture on pavement, temperature, terrain and materials used in laying out roads and highways, quality of product, type, position on vehicle, driving habits of operators and many, many more variables all of which Dr. Brenner has built into his tests.

Many future benefits may be derived by the Air Force as a result of Dr. Brenner's findings. In addition to the information needed to purchase a certain type of tire for a specific type of driving, procurement people might also find long term savings by purchasing bias tires for one area of the country while using radials for a base located in a different area. Dr. Brenner also foresees huge monetary savings in the purchase of aircraft tires which cost the Air Force millions of dollars a year.

South, the declarer at six no trump, made a very sound investment of 30 points which paid off a profit of nearly 50 times that amount, when a carefully contrived safety play proved essential to overcome adverse distribution in both major suits.

South's two heart opening should satisfy anyone's requirements and North's positive response of two spades is routine. After the opener's rebid of three hearts, North's raise to four was well chosen. BREMER'S POETRY

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Scraps of writing evidently by Arthur Herman Bremer provided more questions than answers about the man accused Monday of shooting Gov. George Wallace.

His West Side apartment, where he moved last year after leaving his family's South Side home, was explored by FBI agents and newsmen who found a Confederate flag, comic books, a gun catalog, an elementary-school report card, newspaper clippings about Wallace, and several bits of writing.

"My country 'tis of thee, sweet land of bigotry," a piece of paper said. Other writings included: "Happiness is hearing George Wallace singing the National Anthem or having him arrested for a hit-and-run accident."

"Nixon uses a night light."

"White collar conservatism."

A poem titled "Critique of My Life" begins: "Trying to impress people."

Slow To Talk

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

LOVE? (Q.) At the senior prom last May I met the most wonderful girl. We became very friendly before graduation but she went away for the summer and I lost touch with her.

At the last football game of the season, I saw her sitting alone and went to sit beside her. After that we started dating. At New Year's I gave her a ring. She said she loved it, but wasn't ready to fall madly in love with anyone.

We have dated several times since then and I had just about decided she cared for me. But last week we were talking on the phone and she told me she loved another boy she had known since childhood. That was really a blow.

Then the next day she called me back and apologized and told me she thought I was more important to her than the other boy.

Now I don't know where I stand. I know I love her and want to tell her, but I am scared if I do I will run her off. I know she likes me very much, but I don't know if it is love. With me it is. — Ready To Tell Her in Texas.

South, the declarer at six no trump, made a very sound investment of 30 points which paid off a profit of nearly 50 times that amount, when a carefully contrived safety play proved essential to overcome adverse distribution in both major suits.

South's two heart opening should satisfy anyone's requirements and North's positive response of two spades is routine. After the opener's rebid of three hearts, North's raise to four was well chosen. It may prove vital to confirm a fit in hearts. Had he rebid three spades, it would have placed South in an awkward position to take further constructive action.

With the heart raise, South was determined to reach at least a small slam and, in an attempt to go all the way, he embarked on a Blackwood inquiry even though he held all the aces himself. Over the expected five club response he bid five no trump. Had North shown three kings, it was South's intention to go the limit. When North responded with six hearts, perhaps South should have quit, but he persisted to six no trump in the remote chance that partner might carry on to seven himself, but North had already given his all—and he passed.

West opened the ten of clubs. East played the queen and South won the trick with the king. There appeared to be tricks to burn on the deal and declarer was tempted to cash the ace of spades, cross over to North's king of hearts and then try to run the spade suit. The five and queen of diamonds can be discarded on the king and queen of spades and if the jack drops, South has 13 tricks — six spades, three hearts, one diamond, and three clubs. If this fails, he can still attempt to run the heart suit which merely requires a three-two split. Even should the jack hold out, there is still a chance provided that the player with the long heart is out of spades.

Altho the odds in declarer's favor are overwhelming, he would have gone down to defeat had he tried for all the tricks inasmuch as West held both major suits stopped and when he gets in with the jack of hearts, he may be expected to cash the jack of spades.

South observed a way to improve his chances for the small slam at the price of a mere overtrick. At trick two he led the three of hearts and when West followed with the four, the deuce was played from dummy. East won a very cheap trick with the six of hearts and shifted to a diamond. Declarer put up the ace, played the ace of spades and then crossed over to the king of hearts. When East showed out, the merit of South's safety play in that suit was revealed.

The king and queen of spades were cashed on which the five and queen of diamonds were discarded. The closed hand was reentered with the ace of clubs and the ace and queen of hearts dropped West's jack and thereby established South's remaining hearts, so that he could claim the balance and his slam.

Flood Toll Slides To 16

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The discovery of a man's body in the Guadalupe River south of Seguin has raised the total of known dead from the flooded stream to 16.

The Department of Public Safety said the body of James C. Spencer of McQueeney was found half a mile south of Seguin Tuesday.

Three persons remained missing, the DPS said, Mrs. Melvin Nolte, Mrs. Lester Engler and Mrs. Bertha Weiss. Gov. Preston Smith toured the devastated areas of San Marcos, New Braunfels and Seguin Tuesday.

"As soon as the state survey teams complete their assessment of the damage and the losses, I will appeal to the president for a disaster declaration and all necessary assistance to the affected areas," he said.

No Services For 'Hoss' In DeKalb

DEKALB, Tex. (AP) — Dan Blocker, one of the stars of the "Bonanza" television series, is to be buried today beside his father in the family cemetery plot.

Burial is to be private with only the immediate family in attendance. No services were scheduled.

Blocker, 43, died Saturday in Los Angeles of complications following gall bladder surgery May 1, according to a family spokesman.

Blocker's body was flown to Dallas from California Tuesday afternoon and taken to DeKalb, the small Northeast Texas town he was born in and where his mother, Mary, still lives.

The 6-foot-4, 300-pound Blocker, who played the part of Hoss Cartwright on the long running series since its inception 13 years ago, moved from DeKalb to O'Donnell in West Texas when he was six. A former school teacher, he was working on a doctorate in education at UCLA when he went into acting to help support his family.

Hearing Thursday On T&P Overpass

The public hearing on the proposed overpass of the Texas & Pacific railroad at Owens street is set for 10 a.m. Thursday at the Howard County Courtroom.

The hearing is required on all major highway projects. Earlier the city commission had authorized signing of an agreement to participate in right-of-way purchases for the new structure.

The Chamber of Commerce highway committee, which has been working toward this project for the past four years, will appear in support of the program estimated to cost in excess of a million dollars.

Outbreak Of Burglaries Plagues Local Police

Six successful burglaries and two attempted burglaries were either reported or discovered by police early today.

Similar to the burglaries pulled on gasoline stations and cafes several weeks ago, the burglaries reported today mostly resulted in money taken from coin operated machines.

The first burglary was discovered by a patrolman at approximately 1 a.m. today at the Mobil station at Fourth and Johnson streets, only one block away from the police station. The cigarette machine was broken into and an undetermined amount of money taken.

Shortly after the report of the first burglary officers in another part of the city discovered that someone had broken into Fina's Cafe, La Mesa Drive. All the coin operated machines in the cafe were hit, with an undetermined amount of money taken.

MACHINES OBJECTS
Officer Larry Lee then found the Wagon Wheel No. 3 Drive-in had also been burglarized.

Again coin operated machines were the object of the burglary. W. E. Buckner reported later this morning to police that someone had entered the Downtown Cafe, breaking into the cigarette machine, and taking cigarettes and money. Only days ago police investigated an attempted burglary at the Tap Room Cafe across the street from the Downtown Cafe.

Also this morning police received another report from the Nichols Automatic Laundry, 209 NW 2nd, in which unsuccessful attempts had been made to break into three machines. However, three other machines were broken open and an undetermined amount of money taken.

Pat's Bar and Grill, 103 Main, was the next stop on the burglars' apparent busy list last night. But the thugs were not so lucky there. They only got as far as to break off the handle on the front door. A double lock on the inside held the door fast and no entry was gained.

Mrs. Ramona Navarrete also reported an attempted burglary at her establishment, Navarrete's Place, 506 NW 4th. No entry was gained there, but in this case a person might have witnessed the attempted burglary.

SLOW TO REPORT
According to police reports, the witness saw a man outside the tavern at 3:30 a.m., but failed to report it until 5:47 a.m. today. Police found an orange money bag on the ground outside the door. Also the Domino Parlor, 501 N. Bell, was broken into and money was removed from two machines.

Capt. Jack Jones, of the police detective division, said this morning he feels all the burglaries were done by the same people. "They are beginning to set a pattern for us and seem to be hitting the same places," Jones said.

When asked why it was always these places involved in burglaries, Jones said it is because they are the handiest for burglars to hit. However, the captain said he does not feel the burglars at work last night were the same people who pulled a string of burglaries approximately a month ago on nearly all the same places.

Jones based his opinion on the method of operation used in each outbreak. Different from the last burglaries, the burglaries last night resulted in much damage being done to every one of the coin operated machines.

Special Theme In Fly-Over

American prisoners of war will be remembered in the Armed Forces Day parade at 10 a.m. Saturday by a fly-over of T-37's and T-38's in the "missing man" formation.

The planes will be part of the Armed Forces Day celebration and parade to include almost 3,000 marchers.

The parade up Main Street will be led by Webb AFB Commander Col. Malcolm Ryan and the Lackland AFB band. Col. Ryan will leave the parade at the reviewing stand to join a host of dignitaries watching the parade.

The march honors the founding of Webb and the establishment of the Air Force as a separate branch of the service as well as Armed Forces Day.

The Big Spring High School band will sit across from the reviewing stand to provide cadence for the marching units.

The Webb drill team and at least two floats will participate in the parade down Main from First Street to Sixth Street, east to Rannels and then back down Rannels to First Street.

Ricky Myers Powers T-Birds With Homer

By DAVID PICKLE

Steve Normandeau and Ricky Myers teamed to pitch a two-hitter, and to strike out 11 batters Tuesday night to lead the T-Birds past the Sabres, 8-3, in International Little League action.

Myers, who pitched the last three innings, also hit a two-run home run in the bottom of the fourth.

The Sabres scored two runs in the top of the second and added one in the third to jump to an early 3-0 lead. That lead disappeared in the last of the third when the T-Birds tallied four runs. The T-Birds put the game out of reach in the next inning when they scored another four.

Besides Myers, offensive stars for the T-Birds were Normandeau with two singles, Gary Normandeau with a triple, Peter Neill with a double and a single and Chip Koser with two singles.

Ralph Clark and Carl Yarbrough collected the only Sabre hits. Both were singles.

Lennie Smith, losing pitcher for the Sabres, struck out 10 batters before he was relieved by Jerry Gaskins. Normandeau was credited with the win.

The Colts opened up with 10 runs in the bottom of the first inning Tuesday night and coasted on to an easy 15-7 win over the Jets in the American Little League.

The Colts, who now have a record of 8-0, were led by first baseman Roy Don Beauchamp and second baseman Scott Vick with three hits each. Players with two hits included Mike Egan, Hank Adams, Gary Howell and Kirk Wade.

The winning pitcher was Randy Crockett, and the loser was Bobby Williams. The loss left the Jets with a 1-5 record.

STARS

The Ravens scored two runs in the bottom of the fourth to capture a 12-10 win over the Tigers in International Minor League action Tuesday afternoon.

Bucky Mitchell of the Ravens had a two-run triple and David Camp added a single for all of the Raven hits. James Leighton had two singles for the Tigers for all of their hits.

The winning pitcher was Camp. Brian Hurst went the distance to suffer the loss.

The Firebirds burned up the Tigers, 15-1, Tuesday afternoon in the American Minor League.

Tommy Rodriguez gave up just three hits in getting the win. Willingham was the loser.

Jenkins was the offensive star of the game as he got three hits. Williams had two hits for the Tigers.

McCamey Golf Tourney Opens

The annual McCamey Men's Partnership golf tournament will be May 20-21 at the McCamey Country Club.

Jack Milam, tournament chairman, is pleased with the condition of the golf course. He said: "After all the rain we have had in the past couple of weeks, the course is in better shape than it has been for several years. Our fairways are green from tee-box to green, and the greens are better than ever."

The tournament will be limited to the first 72 teams entered. There will be six flights with 12 teams per flight.

Milam continued: "Players should try to play their qualifying round as early as possible on Saturday, so that we can serve barbecue to all players and their wives. We will have a happy hour, entertainment, and barbecue on Saturday night."

There will be a shotgun start on Sunday. Prizes such as golf irons, woods, bags, and balls will be awarded to the top four places in each flight.

A limited number of carts will be available to rent. The entry fee is $35.00 per team.

Call 652-9904 anytime after 2 p.m. to enter the tournament.

Biggies Are In Memphis Open

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer return to action this week to challenge defending champion Lee Trevino in the $175,000 Danny Thomas-Memphis Open Golf Classic.

Nicklaus and Palmer, the dominant figures in the game for the past decade, both filed late entries that came as mid-but very pleasant-surprises to the sponsors of this rich event which begins Thursday on a spanking new layout.

Both have been out of action for two weeks.

It was in this tournament—but on a different course—that Trevino last year started a sensational streak that culminated in his sweep of the American,

Canadian and British Open crowns.

The site is the new South Course at the Colonial Country Club, a 7,175-yard, par 72 layout that is some 600 yards longer than the course on which Trevino won. It's so new, and the fairway grass so sparse, that so-called winter rules will be in effect with the players allowed to lift, clean and place balls on the fairway.

The field of 147 is very strong. Only 11 spots were open for qualifiers. Most of the season's leading money winners are on hand. Billy Casper and Gary Player, both out of the country, are among the exceptions.

McLain Pondering Move Down Into Minor Leagues

OAKLAND (AP) — Denny McLain planned to tell the world and Charlie Finley today whether he's willing to pitch in the minor leagues, four seasons after winning 31 games in the big time.

"I'm speculating about many things," the 28-year-old Oakland Athletics' pitcher said Tuesday night at his home in nearby Walnut Creek.

The A's optioned McLain, 1-2 with a 6.05 earned run average, to Birmingham, of the Southern League Monday. But after talking Tuesday with his attorney, A's owner Finley and American League President Joe Cronin, the right-hander still wasn't sure whether to accept the demotion.

CHARITY BOXING BAT CALLED OFF AFTER COMMISSION ACTS

BALTIMORE (AP) — The search originally was set for Saturday in Washington, D.C. but promoters announced that it would be moved to Baltimore's Civic Center after they failed to reach an agreement with the Washington Armory.

Board on division of the gate. Tuesday, the Maryland State Athletic Commission, put a veto on that plan too.

"They just didn't allow enough time to meet all the legal requirements... They never signed a formal contract or told us who Ali was going to fight," said Jack Cohen, secretary of the commission.

Softball Field To Be Fenced

Big Spring Slow Pitch Softball Association leaders have closed a deal with the City of Big Spring to erect a fence around the outfield at the Loop 700 and Eleventh Place softball field.

The fence which formerly enclosed the tennis courts at the old Couden Country Club was given to the association to install at the field. Approximately 500 feet of 12 foot high fence will enclose the field.

According to Steve Kotera, association president, the height of the fence will in effect make the softball field regulation distance for slow pitch softball standards. The fence will be permanently installed this weekend at the field.

There are 12 teams currently playing in the association, which has games usually twice a week at the field. League standings now see the Big Spring Jaycees and First Baptist leading one division and Price Construction Co. and St. Paul Lutheran squads pacing the second division of the double league association.

BSGA Tourny Slated Sunday

The Big Spring Golf Association will have a three-club tournament Sunday.

Golfers will be able to select any three clubs they want to play the 18-hole tournament. There will be a flight for golfers with a handicap of 10 or less and one for those with a handicap of 11 or more. The tournament will be medal play with full handicaps.

Deadline for registration will be 12:30 p.m. Sunday with the tournament beginning at 1:30 p.m. The golf association will have a short meeting immediately before the tournament begins.

Only BSGA members will be allowed to play in the tournament. Membership is $3. Tournament chairmen are Harry Nagel and Buddy Clinton.

Three Big Spring Assistants Leave

Three assistant coaches are leaving the Big Spring High School staff.

They are Bill Moore, Tim Smith and Tommy Fambrough.

Moore, the defensive tackle coach, is going to Stephen F. Austin, Bryan, to coach under former Abilene Cooper head coach Merrill Green. Smith, who coached the defensive ends, will go to Alamogordo (N.M.) High School to be an assistant to head coach Garland Braun, a former assistant at Big Spring. Fambrough will return to school at West Texas State to work on a teacher's certificate.

"All three are real fine coaches," said head coach Clovis Hale. "We hate to lose them. They are all going to be hard to replace. They know the system."

Hale said no replacements have been found but he expects to have all of the positions filled within two weeks.

STORMY MONDAY But Tuesday's Just As Bad

By The Associated Press
"It was too much Monday on Tuesday."
That, Philadelphia Manager Frank Lucchesi sighed, was the only way to describe what Chicago's Rick Monday did to his Phillies Tuesday night.
In the first inning, Monday hit a home run.
In the third inning, Monday hit a home run.
In the fifth inning, Monday hit a home run.
In the seventh inning—nope, Monday fouled out.
"It took me six years to have a night like this," the 26-year-old center fielder said after his three consecutive homers, the first one a three-run blast, powered the Cubs to an 8-1 victory. "I don't know if I'll ever have another."

"I've never been in a position in the lineup for home run hitting," said Monday, who once hit three in a game with the defunct Mobile club of the Southern League in 1966, was brought up to Kansas City later that season and, was acquired by the Cubs this year in a pre-season trade with Oakland. "I batted second, then eighth and finally, last season, I was platooned."
All but lost in Monday's heroics was a brilliant performance by teammate Burt Hooton. The rookie pitcher tamed the Phillies on just three hits. One of them, though, was Greg Luzinski's sixth homer. "I may dream about that one," said the knuckle-curling right-hander, who threw a no-hitter at Philadelphia on the second day of the season.
Monday said he had ideas of a fourth homer when he stepped to the plate in the seventh inning.
"I didn't know how many had ever hit four home runs in one game but I knew you could count them on the fingers of both hands. I was up there to give it a go."

He got slugger Frank Howard to hit into two double plays, once with the bases loaded, in Tuesday night's conquest of the Rangers.
Rooker said when Howard came up he thought to himself, "Go after him. I know Howard doesn't have to hit the ball very hard to get it out of the ball park."
"I won't say how I pitch to him but it's got to be hard... real hard."
Rooker gave up only four singles and walked only one.
Royals manager Bob Lemon agreed that Rooker is a different pitcher this season.

Houston Makes Sweet Sixteen

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Astros utility infielder Bobby Fenwick hit "only" one single but he wouldn't trade it for the two home runs Orlando Cepeda hit for the Atlanta Braves.

Cepeda knocked in four runs with solo and three-run homers and put Atlanta ahead 5-3 against the Western Division-contending Astros in their National League game Tuesday night.

Houston tied it up in the bottom of the eighth inning, however, and Fenwick belted a single off Cepeda's glove at first base that drove in the winning run for a 6-5 Astros victory.

Royals Overtake Rangers With Former Wild Pitcher

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Kansas City pitcher Jim Rooker credited a Venezuelan sports magazine today with eliminating the wildness that has made his stay in the major leagues a struggle.

"It was last winter," said Rooker, fresh from a 5-0 victory over the Texas Rangers Tuesday night. "I was playing winter ball in Venezuela."

"This magazine... it showed a close picture of me delivering a pitch. I realized my hands weren't where they should be on the windup and delivery. It was awkward."
He got slugger Frank Howard to hit into two double plays, once with the bases loaded, in Tuesday night's conquest of the Rangers.

Rooker said when Howard came up he thought to himself, "Go after him. I know Howard doesn't have to hit the ball very hard to get it out of the ball park."

"I won't say how I pitch to him but it's got to be hard... real hard."

Rooker gave up only four singles and walked only one.

Royals manager Bob Lemon agreed that Rooker is a different pitcher this season.

A LITTLE OFF BASE — Kansas City's Ed Kirkpatrick (8), on base with a walk, is safe at second when John Mayberry grounded to second baseman Lenny Randle of the Texas Rangers. Randle made a bad throw to second to pull shortstop Toby Harrah wide of the bag. The throw to first was not in time to get Mayberry. The Royals won, 5-0.

TREAD WEAR EXPECTANCY

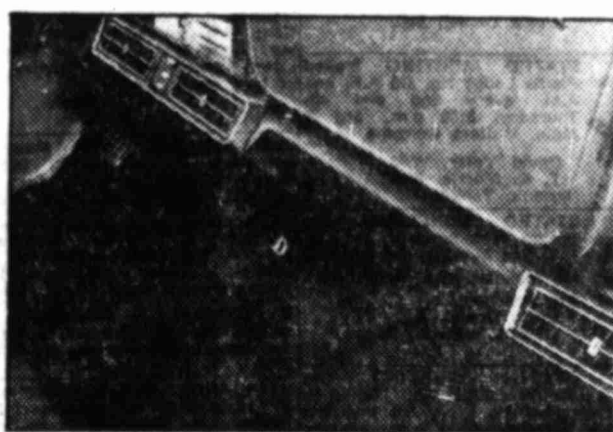

Because of variable driving habits and road conditions under which tires are used, it is impractical for Montgomery Ward, and conceivably misleading to our customers, to guarantee any specific number of months or miles of tread wear. We can, however, indicate the wear potential we have built into our tires in terms of service in normal family use. If a Riverside tire wears down to the tread wear indicators during the Tread Wear Expectancy, Montgomery Ward will upon presentation of the tire and evidence of date of purchase replace the tire for the then current price less the following dollar allowance:

Tread Wear Expectancy	Tread Wearout Allowance
40,000 miles.....	Miles Driven
45 month.....	$13.00
40 month.....	10.00
39 month.....	8.00
36 month.....	6.00
33 month.....	5.00
30 month.....	4.00
24 month.....	3.00
18 month.....	2.00

Tread Wear Expectancy after does not apply to tires used commercially.
