Twinkles

Maybe we ought to have pure air up here on the high plains—we keep it on ice a great deal of the time these days.

Writing of Centennial songs indicates that maybe we'd do better to let the past stand on its own merits and not try to memorialize it in doggerel of the moment.

Knee injuries are now attributed to the fact that football players ride too much, walk too little. College scouts will probably try recruiting young postmen.

It gives us a most uneasy feeling when a member of the fair sex covered up in a fur coat, begins to let the ash grow long on a drooping cigaret.

If dogs have good eye-sight why is that Skippy, the family pup, always smells our ankles when we return from a trip, before going into his usual gestures of ecstasy?

Musing of the moment: Maybe this state has too few colleges in proportion to size and population. Why not a high school football ranks higher here than in any other state. For in no other state does the Associated Press gather high school football scores.

Brevitorials

BACK HOME. We've been attending an annual session of the Texas Associated Press Managing Editors' association. It was held in Dallas; the next meeting will be in Houston. Last year it went to Amarillo. Mexico City is being considered for a later gathering. More than 50 papers were represented by their managing editors—all members of the Associated Press. Managing editors are generally misunderstood by the public. They are news gatherers, not editorial writers. Where a paper is not large enough to have both editors and editorial writers in charge is likely to be busy, indeed. On the biggest papers, the editors do little editorial writing. They have specialized editorial writers, who have daily staff meetings, vote on or talk about the issues for the day, and assign the writing of the editorials. Often assignments are made weeks in advance to permit the needed research. Not all good editorials are written with such leisure; however, haste sometimes makes for excellence in "inspired" editorials.

Editorial writing was not discussed by these daily newspaper executives. Essentially, it was a business meeting—about the business of getting the news. Such things as the coming elections, the Centennial, special sessions of the legislature, and what to put on the over-burdened leased wires required much time for discussion. The Associated Press is an association, and these managing editors actually control its policies. These executives are from papers large and small, Protestant and Catholic as to personnel, of various shades of political belief. The good-naturedly achieved average of their opinions makes up the initial report of the association.

CLEVER. Those fellows, executives from all parts of Texas, and surprisingly unchanging as to personnel of the association. Meeting year after year, having no axes to grind, no competition for honors, no hope of special privilege, they spend many hours in what amounts to a round-table discussion. Such gatherings would be impossible in most countries of the world. They illustrate why the United States has the fairest press in the world.

There is absolute democracy among managing editors of A. P. newspapers. The Pampa Daily News has the same vote as the famous and honored Dallas News. There is no jealousy, only wholesome rivalry, and everyone is heard regardless of the size of his paper. This writer regards the managing editors' association as one of the most powerful, although one of the least known and understood, in the state.

I Heard . . .

Will have to take lessons on goose hunting in case the Amarillo Sandies defeat the Harvesters here Thanksgiving. This corner was talking when listening might have been the wisest course and took the Harvesters for a goose dinner with Jerry Malin on the other end of the water. The goose must be shot, dressed and cooked by the loser. Come on you Harvesters!

That W. M. Craven, city tax assessor, collector, secretary, and court judge, just hates to be called "Judge." In fact, it is a finale offense.

$64,000,000 Span To Link New York's Boroughs

A few more girders riveted into place and steel workers will have locked up the 1,400-foot Hell Gate span of the Tri-Borough bridge (above) with its Long Island foothold bringing nearer completion the huge 19-mile project that links New York City's Queens, Bronx, and Manhattan boroughs in the biggest sociological engineering undertaking on record. Scheduled to be opened next July, the project will have cost more than $64,000,000.

Building Has Spurt Here As Structures Are Begun

Interest in the Federal Housing act is so strong here that Wyatt W. Lipscomb, field representative, will remain another week or possibly longer. He is at the B. C. D. office.

Title 2 of the FHA, which concerns building, improving, or financing homes, has attracted the most interest. A number of applications have been filed lately and others are pending as plans and specifications are being drawn. Title 1, which includes machinery loans for such things as refrigerators and washing machines, is being used by a number of local firms.

Work on a 50-100-foot brick and tile structure for the H. A. Marr Grocery company across the street from the Foxworth-Galbraith Lumber company on East Tyng street started today. The building permit was for $6,000.

Other recent permits include: Rotary club, $800 for Boy Scout clubhouse, 16-30 feet; W. C. Mitchell, remodeling residence, $1,800; Everett Westbrook, 20-24 house, $1,000; H. B. Atkinson, 36-36 residence, $1,000; Mrs. Ellen V. Chapman, addition to house, $1,000; J. B. Sheppard, 12-28, $1,500.

Benefit Show Arranged For Memorial Fund

Will Rogers Memorial Fund week, which is making considerable progress from day to day in its appeal to persons of all ages, will include a benefit show at the La Nora theater Friday night. A generous portion of the receipts will go to the memorial fund.

The feature picture will be "Annapolis Farewell," with Richard Cromwell and Sir Guy Standing. There is much additional stage performances, of which there will be two during the evening.

Yesterday the Jaycees gave liberally to the fund. Today the school and Rotary club added many contributions. Pampa Lions will do their part tomorrow. Saturday will be housewives' day. There will be contribution jars in the grocery stores. An aviation program to benefit the fund is being planned as the climax on Sunday. Contributions may be given to THE NEWS or the First National bank.

Will Rogers was a many sided friend—a friend in need and a friend in deed—says Fred Stone, theatrical star and one of Rogers' intimates.

He relates several incidents portraying sidelights on Rogers' life. "The day I met him at the stage entrance of the Knickerbocker Theater, New York City, 'Are you Fred Stone? I'm Will Rogers.' That was all. A handshake—a friendship formed that was to last many happy years.

"Watching him advance was a thrill, too, and anyone can understand this who knew Bill.

Football Called 'Evil' Because of Liquor Drinking

EL PASO, Nov. 20. (AP)—Criticizing liquor drinking at football games, Dr. Joseph Artman of Chicago told the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers here today that "we set ourselves back in the character race when we brought liquor back."

"I saw more drinking at the Rice Institute home-coming game in Houston than I have seen at any ball game in 10 years," he said. "If I were a college president I would not have a football game."

He assailed football as one of the "glamor" evils of today.

Mrs. Annie Wood criticized the state legislature for its asserted failure to provide laws that have been sought.

"The PTA has worked diligently for health measures," Mrs. Wood said. "We have supported every public health measure that has come up. We worked hard for the child labor amendment. We have been balked at Austin by lobbyists. The legislature is to blame and not the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers."

'NO STARVATION,' SAYS FDR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—President Roosevelt, after saying the federal government would allow no person to starve, placed next year's budget at the top of his work schedule today as he made ready to leave on his annual visit to Warm Springs, Ga.

Daniel Bell, director of the budget, and Representative Buchanan of Texas, chairman of the house appropriations committee, have been asked to meet the president at Warm Springs next Monday

1,000 Ethiopian Marksman Check Italian Advance In Hills, Killing Many Foes

Haile Selassie Located at Harar In Auto

BY ALBERT W. WILSON, Associated Press Foreign Staff, ADDIS ABABA, Nov. 20 (AP)—Fitaurari (Commander) Bakala Ayala, commanding 1,000 of Ethiopia's best marksmen today successfully halted an Italian advance in the Radowa Hills, inflicting heavy losses. It was reliably reported here.

Bakala Ayala, formerly Emperor Haile Selassie's chief huntsman, was ordered several weeks ago to hold an important pass in the hills at all costs.

Government officials here pointed out that no counter-attacks are permitted yet by orders of the emperor.

Dispatches received here from Harar said Emperor Haile Selassie had passed through that city in an automobile proceeding in the direction of Direwada.

The emperor, whose movements have been guarded with the utmost secrecy since his sudden departure from here by plane yesterday, had been believed by observers to be on the southern front, inspecting the headquarters of Ras Nasibu, commander of Ethiopian forces in that section.

Ethiopian warriors were reported marching to attack the Italian northern front between Dolo and Makale today, after a sharp battle on the southern front had caused casualties reported at more than 450 on both sides.

The Italian headquarters at Asmara received word that a strong column of Haile Selassie's soldiers was advancing toward Selicot eight miles below Makale, into territory in which the Italians had been consolidating their position.

DEADLINE FOR PAYING TAXES IS NEAR AGAIN

HALF OF LEVY MUST BE PAID BY NOV. 30

Tax-paying deadlines are near in Pampa and Gray county.

For payment of county, state, or school taxes under the split-payment plan, the first installment must be paid by November 30. Half can be paid at that time and the second half on or before June 30. If the first payment is not made by November 30, the entire assessment will be due on or before January 31 and the extra costs of delinquency will start at that time. Just what these costs will be will likely be uncertain until legislative action is taken or determined. It is emphasized by F. E. Leach, tax assessor-collector, that the split-payment plan does not apply to poll taxes, which must be paid in full.

Gray county tax values are about four millions greater than last year because of new oil development. The new total is $28,281,755.

The first installment of 1935 city taxes is payable on or before December 28, the third on or before May 31, and the fourth on or before August 31 of next year. A 10 per cent discount is allowed on payments made before January 31 or by installments before the four other deadlines.

Unofficial dispatches reaching Harar, in Eastern Ethiopia, said more than 150 native Somali troops

JAPS SEEK TO FORCE CHINESE TO BUY GOODS

Conquest Is Aimed at Destroying Anti-Jap Sentiment

BY CHARLES E. HARNER, Associated Press Foreign Staff, NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)—The indirect or fundamental cause for the forthcoming transition of North China into an autonomous state is Japan's absolute necessity for expansion of her commercial and industrial market.

The direct or immediate cause is anti-Japanese sentiment, which takes in the spread of communism on the one hand and the development of Chinese nationalistic feeling on the other.

The Japanese claim this sentiment is officially inspired and demand that the inspirations cease. The Chinese officially answer that officials have nothing to do with it, but that it is the fault of the Japanese. Moscow denies any concern with the matter.

Japan backs up its demand with a concentration of troops at the great wall; certain powerful elements in North China demand economic and financial independence from the republic of China; Chinese officials in Peiping say that they must yield to these demands in order to forestall invasion by a Japanese army.

Japan is firm. It wants that huge Chinese market for its goods without foreign hostility.

Her spokesmen have said she does not want to bar other nations from trade with China—Japan has already illustrated that her manufacturers can meet competition on practically any ground.

What the Japanese do want, they have repeatedly stated, is elimination of government-directed antagonism.

This attitude was flatly defined in the "hands-off China policy" announced in 1934.

The statement, summarized, was: 1. Japan considers herself primarily responsible for the maintenance of peace and order in East Asia; 2. The time has passed when other nations can exploit China; 3. Japan intends in the future to oppose any unfriendly foreign activities in China, and Japan herself will be the judge of what is unfriendly.

The Japanese had special interests in southern Manchuria and declared that communistic theories penetrating from Soviet Russia

Mountain Jury Gives Girl 25 Years in Pen

Convicted of Slaying Father Because He Beat Her

WISE, Va., Nov. 20 (AP)—Attorneys for comedy Edith Maxwell, convicted of killing her blacksmith father because he objected to her coming home at midnight, pushed attempts today to sweep aside her 25-year prison sentence.

Her uncle, W. W. Doolson, said he would seek a motion for a new trial in the court room where a jury of mountaineers brought in a first degree murder verdict last night after deliberating 30 minutes.

If the motion is denied, he said, he will carry the case to the supreme court of appeals.

"Justice has been done," was the only comment of Commonwealth Attorney Fred B. Grear.

He cited the scriptural injunction, "honor thy father and thy mother," in urging the jury yesterday to convict the girl whose code had clashed with that of her "old-fashioned" father, Trigg Maxwell.

The girl's mother, grief-stricken over the verdict, faces trial in the spring on a murder charge. She was indicted with the daughter for the slaying of Maxwell, who was found dead July 21 in his cabin in Pound, Va.

The defense used each of three eye witnesses to the tragedy, the defendant, her mother, and the accused woman's 12-year-old sister, Mary Catherine, in an effort to show that the father, "roaring drunk," had attempted to beat the girl and that she had struck him with a shoe.

Veterans to Sell Tickets to Show

Ten squads of Veterans of Foreign Wars and Auxiliary members will sell tickets to "The First World War" to be shown at the La Nora theater December 3 and 4 under the auspices of the local V. F. W. chapter.

C. J. Maisel was named general chairman of the ticket committee at a meeting last night. Squad captains named were Jake Garman Jr., D. A. Bartlett, Hamp Waddell, J. I. Bradley, W. C. de Cordova, H. A. Neath, Jake Robinson, H. P. Lusby, L. O. Cox, L. L. McPolin.

Paul Hill was appointed chairman of a war trophies committee. Windows of stores near the theater and other merchants who wish to donate window space for displays will be used to exhibit war relics and trophies advertising the picture.

The picture is taken from the book of the same name, written by Lawrence Stallings. With the picture will be presented a three-reel picture showing the V. F. W. orphan home at Eaton Rapids, Mich. Tickets will be 40 cents.

Helium Plant to Open

WINFIELD, Kan., Nov. 20. (AP)—The Dexter helium plant—one of the three known sources of the non-inflammable gas—will re-open here Monday after a two-year shutdown. W. T. Abbott, manager, said the demand for helium to inflate balloons and huge comic figures led in holiday parades caused the re-opening. Other plants are located at Amarillo, Texas, and Thatcher, Colo.

Ralph Randel To Be Honored Here Thursday Night

Reservations for the Lions club's ladies' night banquet honoring District Governor Ralph Randel of Panhandle were nearing the 150 mark today. It was reported by R. C. Wilson, secretary.

The banquet will be held at the First Baptist church Thursday evening, beginning at 7:30 p. m.

Local Lions who have not made reservations are asked to do so today by calling Mr. Wilson.

Mrs. E. W. Voss and Mrs. Harry E. Hoare and son, Robert Bernard, were visitors in Amarillo yesterday.

PHARES WIRES HIS EVIDENCE IS SUFFICIENT

SAYS HIS FORCE WILL CONTINUE TO RAID RESORTS

AUSTIN, Nov. 20. (AP)—L. G. Phares, acting director of public safety department said today Rangers would continue to raid Top O' Hill Terrace, a resort near Fort Worth, and similar establishments.

The Tarrant county grand jury failed to indict Fred Browning, operator of Top O' Hill, which Rangers raided recently. The Rangers had filed charges of gambling.

"The only statement that I would care to make," Phares said, "is that we are going to continue to raid Mr. Browning's place and all others. I am issuing instructions to all members of the Ranger force that in the future they are not only to arrest the operators but all of those violating the law."

Phares sent a telegram to the Fort Worth district attorney requesting institution of condemnation proceedings, in which he asked the attorney general's department to join.

The telegram said in part: "According to press notices operators of Top O' Hill . . . are not being held liable for the evidence. In addition to Rangers who made raid . . . I have available an undercover investigator from my department who was in such a house on two different occasions immediately preceding raid and saw the operation in such a house. I wish to present witness to you immediately institute condemnation proceedings on such . . . equipment and I am requesting the attorney general's department to join with you in such proceedings. I will furnish you with legal authority that no such warrant is necessary to search such public place . . ."

Stalcup Says Most Gas Has Been Wasted Since Enforcement of Law

AUSTIN, Nov. 20. (AP)—Reception of evidence on which to base a gas proration order impregnable against court attacks was on the railroad commission's docket today as it resumed a state-wide oil and gas hearing.

H. M. Stalcup of Tulsa, vice president of the Skelly company in charge of production, was the state's lead-off witness of a series intended to present testimony on which to predicate a new order.

Madden Hill, assistant attorney general, said other witnesses would detail various operations of the field. Stalcup, acquainted with the world's largest gas reservoir for 11 years, told of ineffectual attempts to prevent waste.

Waste in the field, he said, reached nearly one billion cubic feet of gas daily before enactment of the new gas conservation act, and since its enforcement has been enjoined, he calculated waste exceeded that figure.

A grand riot of wasteful operation, Stalcup said, asserting no other example of waste of a natural resource would "even get to first base in approaching what we all have not done out there."

Stalcup said estimates of the oil reserve in the Panhandle varied from 600,000,000 to 1,000,000,000 barrels and of gas from 15 to 25 trillion feet, but only 227,000,000 barrels of crude and four and one-half trillion feet of gas had been produced.

He told of the advent of casing-head and later gasoline stripping and carbon black plants which he said used immense quantities of gas. Various efforts in legislation to aid owners of unconnected gas wells were reviewed.

Disposition of gas, he said, also "is gutting and ruining the greatest oil field, on the basis of acreage, the world has ever known." Because of a low virgin pressure, he said, conservation of gas, the principal driving force in the field, was

Son of Wichita Falls Capitalist Injured in Wreck

Joe Kell, son of Frank Kell, Wichita Falls capitalist, was taken to Pampa-Larratt hospital in a C. C. Malone ambulance last night after he had been found lying by the side of the highway east of LeFors. He was found by a Mr. Anderson, who took him to LeFors for emergency treatment.

Mr. Kell, cut and bruised but with no broken bones, said this morning that the last he remembers is that the lights on his car went off and before he could stop his car it ran into a ditch. It is believed that Mr. Kell dived from a blow on the head, left his car and started to walk to LeFors, losing consciousness soon after leaving the scene of the wreck.

The car, badly damaged, was found some distance from where Mr. Kell collapsed. His father has ranch property in this section and an uncle resides on a ranch near here.

Lubbock Man Is Named on State Pensions Board

AUSTIN, Nov. 20. (AP)—A three-member old age assistance commission appointed by Governor Allred today selected Orville S. Carpenter of Dallas, now state auditor, as executive director.

Pension commissioners appointed were: Judge A. W. Cunningham of Harlingen, formerly district judge of the Brownsville-Corpus Christi district for eight years, county judge of Cameron county and mayor of Harlingen.

H. T. Kimbro of Lubbock, formerly a member of the industrial accident board, a regent of Texas Technological college and a wholesale dealer in grain.

W. O. Davis of Omaha, active vice president of the State Bank of Omaha and former mayor and president of the school board.

Aviators Will Stunt on Sunday For Will Rogers

Aviators will stage a stunt program here next Sunday afternoon for the benefit of the Will Rogers Memorial fund. It was announced this afternoon by Gilmore N. Munn, chairman of the county fund committee.

The air show will include a stunt crash, acrobatics, and features by local and visiting flyers. A percentage of the proceeds at the gate and from passenger rides will go to the Rogers fund.

Santa Claus Sends Word That He Will Let Party From Pampa See Castle

BY CAPT. F. E. KLEINSCHMIDT
Special Correspondent to THE NEWS and Head of Expedition to Home of Santa

STATION FEK SANTA'S LAND.
Nov. 20.—HURRAH!—We are on our last lap to the home of Santa Claus. We are breaking camp and hitching up our teams, so I am in a hurry to get this glorious message of our success to you.

Jimmy Aide Returns
In my last lengthy message, I told how we had met one of Santa's little men, and how Jimmie Aide had promised to talk with Santa, and return with a message from him if he would receive us.

"Morning came only too suddenly for our sleepy party. All night Mrs. K. dreamed of little gnomes and fairies dancing around the campfire. When the Eskimos woke us up, another startling incident was before us. There, all dressed up with his whiskers tied in a neat bowknot behind his back and tending the fire, coffee pot and frying pan, stood Jimmie Aide, the dwarf who had appeared so suddenly the night before and who left under orders to send a message to Santa Claus.

Breakfast Was Ready
Jimmy Aide, true to his name, had not neglected to make himself useful. He had heaped great loads of food which we had not brought along. There were sweetmeats, cookies, jams and jellies all set on a little low table with a fine cloth and silver and china dishes. We could scarcely believe our eyes and Pa-tu-nuk and Kitesenna were even more astonished. Never had the Eskimos seen or tasted such delicacies. The coffee was even better than Mrs. K. could make and that was quite a compliment to the dwarf.

"Jimmie Aide" she shouted, "you are a wonderful cook. Did you hear from Santa?"
A gleam darted from the dwarf's eyes. "Of course I did," was his answer. Excitement ran through the crowd, who pressed around the little whiskered dwarf. Even the reindeer seemed to know that something unusual had happened and they snorted and scampered around. "What did he say?" I queried. "Yes, please tell us at once," Mrs. K. begged him.

"Be calm my good friends from the far south and you shall hear what the great Santa said," the dwarf replied, holding up his hand for silence.

"First I was called upon to say that you were from and were on an expedition for the Pampa Junior chamber of commerce. That seemed to please Santa. He asked how many persons were in your party. When I told him he seemed to be greatly relieved and asked how you fared with the wolves the night he used his magic lights on them and scared the beasts away.

Asks About Children
I assured Santa that you were grateful to him for saving your lives. He also mentioned that he noticed you were battling with Lay-luk, the North Wind, one night, and he was elated that the monster was not successful in driving you back or hurting you.

What Santa was most interested in, of course was the little boys and girls in Pampa and the attempt of the Jaycees to assist Santa in making all the boys and girls of the Eastern Panhandle happy. I tried my best to tell him that I had read in your hearts—that it was not curiosity but love for these children that had sent you all up here to face these dangers and hardships. Was I right?"

"Jimmie Aide you are a darling," said Mrs. K. pently and patted him on the shoulder—a gesture he seemed to like for he moved closer to do all lonely persons when affection is shown them.

"I told him also," I do not know how you could tell, but you were right, even Kitesenna and Patunuk came because of the love they bear the great spirit of whose kindness Anuk tells them about.
"A-hump," said the dwarf satisfied. "Well the great Santa was much pleased when I told him these things, so I gave him your name, Captain, and he said that he heard of you. Of course Santa stated that he had never received a human being in his Castle, but that in this case he would make arrangements to see you and make you stay a pleasant one. He sends a special greeting to Mrs. Kleinschmidt and he says he will grant the wish she made before starting on the expedition, that she might have tea with Santa Claus.
Santa Claus is such a kind hearted man that I would not be surprised if you tell him how much you love him, that he would even allow you to take pictures of him in his castle. Now to my mind that is saying a lot, but when I mentioned it he said he would consider it and let you know later."

Knows All Children
"Did you tell Santa," I asked Jimmie Aide, "that we want to give him all the names of the boys and girls who read the Pampa NEWS?"
"I did," the dwarf replied, "But that was not needed for Santa Claus already knows their names and has been keeping a close check on their behavior. Most boys and girls in Pampa, he says, will receive gifts, and a few who have disobeyed their parents will be given a few more days to overcome their black marks. I know you will find Santa a great man," Jimmie Aide continued, "for in all the world there is only one Santa Claus."

To Act As Guide
"I have special instructions how we are to approach the castle, and I will act as your guide, for without me or Santa's permission, you could hunt all your life and never find it. You see it is quite invisible to mortal eyes unless those eyes have permission to see."

"You are so very kind and considerate, Jimmie Aide," Mrs. K. said, "and we will never forget your kindness."
"Never mind about me," the dwarf chattered—"just wait until you see Santa Claus and his fairy castle, his great workshop and all his gnomes and fairies. You may have been all over the world from one sea to another, Captain, but you have never seen anything until you see the greatest gift shop in the world. You see Santa is the most generous man in all the world, his gloves are tipped with charity, and when he soars over the world Christmas eve there will be showers of gifts."

Off For Santa's Castle
You may imagine it did not take us very long to break camp, hitch up our reindeer who seemed eager to be off for the last dash to the castle of Santa Claus.

Here we had another surprise—when we had finished our breakfast Jimmie waved one hand and the table whisked up in the air and out of sight. The Eskimos stood flabbergasted, but Mrs. K. burst out laughing.

"Jimmie Aide, I would like to have a table like that one—so obliging—no work cleaning up. Do you suppose I could get one to take back with me?"

"You do not realize the honor done you," said Jimmie seriously. "That table is one of Santa's most prized possessions and was loaned to me by the Grand High Keeper of the Magic Appearances."

"You are so kind and considerate, Jimmie, what would we have done without you—is there anything we can do for you?"

Jimmie shook his head and untied the knot in his beard sighing: "I thank you just the same, I am afraid there is nothing you could do, Santa must have obedience you know. It is a high mark of favor that I am allowed to take you to the castle, it means that I shall once more see my beloved workshop. Oh, Santa, is good indeed." He turned and brushing aside a tear, he called in a sweet high voice and from among the herds of reindeer came our team, prancing and dancing in fine fetter, nuzzling around and curvetting as they were hitched up.

We will be off now in a few minutes and I must sign off. My next dispatch will be the most momentous one — MEETING SANTA CLAUS.

Delegate Chosen By Auxiliary for District Session

Naming their president, Mrs. Roy Sewell, as delegate to the district meeting in Beger next week, members of the American Legion Auxiliary met for a business and social hour Monday evening.

A Thanksgiving project was planned. Two baskets will be filled for needy families. Gifts for these baskets may be left at the Southwestern Public Service office until 5 o'clock next Tuesday.

Mrs. Weaver was a new member present. Mmes. Pat Crawford, Green, and Barrow were guests. Members present were Mmes. W. C. deCordova, L. R. Hartell, Hupp Clark, W. M. Voyles, Ida Burns, Scott Green, Pollard, Katie Vincent, Johnson, Sewell, Al Lawson, F. E. Wallace, Widener.

In games that followed the business session, Mrs. Vincent made high score in forty-two and Mrs. Sewell in bridge.

NAVAL PARLEY ASSUMES NEW SIGNIFICANCE

AMERICA TO UPHOLD A DEFINITE POLICY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20. (P)—The Roosevelt administration's surprise move in naming William Phillips, undersecretary of state, as a delegate to the London naval conference opening Dec. 6 was interpreted today as a sign the parley is considered of major importance.

Phillips, a career man with long experience in international affairs, will be a member of a delegation headed by Norman H. Davis, "roving ambassador." Admiral William H. Standley, the navy's highest ranking officer, was selected as another member.

The first indication of the policy to be upheld by the American delegates was given last night by President Roosevelt. It is a policy of opposition to any increases of naval strength beyond present limits.

The United States, Mr. Roosevelt said, will oppose the building of navies that cost nations more than they cost today. Whether this meant that the United States would oppose Japan's long-standing desire for naval equality with the United States and Great Britain was not stated, though some observers placed this construction on the American position.

Japan, which is assigned the "3" under the existing 5-5-3 ratio, has taken the position that it is incompatible with her national prestige.

It was believed that the United States would say, in effect, at London: Navies should be reduced, but if this is not possible, present treaty limits should be observed.

Baptist Men Hear Talks at Meeting

Men's Brotherhood of Central Baptist church, meeting last evening, heard a series of short talks on the titling system in use by the church, and its benefits. Speakers were the Rev. John O. Scott, D. M. Scafe, F. E. Hicks, and E. Bass Clay.

In the business session, a resolution was passed opposing plans for a dance at the high school gymnasium on Thanksgiving evening, as

The Science of SEEING

The perfection of an instrument known as, "LIGHT METER," in recent years has put SCIENCE into SEEING, and we can readily appreciate the modern conception of light and seeing as an important science. It can be seen through these recent discoveries how a great forward step in human efficiency can be made.

The scientific facts that we now have are sufficient to guide us in revising present lighting standards and to accurately measure, FOOT CANDLES of LIGHT, received from lighting equipment. A series of tests conducted in offices of large firms before and after scientific lighting had been applied, showed that the transcription of shorthand notes averages 20.1 percent faster, typing from printed copy shot up to an increase of 11.2 percent.

Let us help you "MR. BUSINESS MAN," make your business modern and more efficient. Consult us about your lighting problems. We are glad to make a complete lighting survey for your business building or home. Of course, there will be no cost, or obligation to you.

FALL FESTIVAL IS GUEST DAY OCCASION FOR BPW CLUB

November Decorations, Program Mark Dinner

DINNER GIVEN AT HOTEL FOR LARGE GROUP

MAIN TALK GIVEN BY R. B. FISHER ON EDUCATION

Tables strewn with autumn leaves and centered with chrysanthemums were arranged for the annual Thanksgiving Festival of Business and Professional Women's club at Schneider hotel last evening. The club entertained a number of guests at a dinner.

Place cards stood before miniature figures of turkeys that were given as favors. Programs and menus were cut in the shape of leaves, in varied shades of yellow, red, and brown.

Bouquets centered each table, flanked by red or yellow candles. A huge basket in front of the speaker's table held yellow chrysanthemums, each labeled with the name of a club member who took it at the close of the program.

Supt. R. B. Fisher was the speaker. On some implications of Education and Democracy. He spoke of the educational systems of several countries, each aimed at training for a certain type of government. Confident that the democratic form of government in America is not seriously threatened by communism or any other type of government, the speaker nevertheless repeated warnings that education is the only safeguard of true democracy.

Out-of-town guests presented two program numbers. Mrs. A. L. Ludden sang a solo. With a Heart That Is Free, accompanied by Miss Margaret Harris, and responded to an encore with the ballad, End of a Perfect Day. Mrs. George Stanley read a humorous selection, A Lapse of Memory, Bitney, and a short poem as an encore. All the entertainers were from Amarillo.

For the benediction, Mrs. Bob Cecil read the club collect with a piano accompaniment by Mrs. Frank Keehn.

Mrs. Frances Sturgeon, toastmaster, conducted the introduction of guests. In addition to those on program, Miss Katherine Perry of Dalhart was an out-of-town visitor. Mrs. V. E. Fathere, club mother; Clara Lee Shewmaker, state secretary; Gladys Robinson, club president; and Mary Runyon, program chairman for the dinner, were present, as was Irene Irvine, district legislative chairman, who reminded members to pay their poll taxes and be ready to vote in next year's general election. Each club member then introduced her guests for the evening.

Saxette Band Is New in School's Musical Program

A saxette band, new musical group at Woodrow Wilson school, has been formed of second grade pupils to bridge the gap between rhythm band and regular school band work. Miss Vida Cox is director.

Twelve members have already learned scales and are now practicing on their first selections. The director plans to add other members to form a band of about 25. The flute-like instrument is easy to play, but teaches the notes required in playing more advanced band instruments.

DOUGHNUT SALE

Orders for home-made doughnuts will be filled by members of First Methodist Clara Hill class tomorrow, on call to the church office. The class is conducting this sale to benefit its fund for winter activities.

CIVIC CULTURE CLUB SELECTS WORK OF YEAR

Continues Study of Texas in Home of Mrs. Cole

A project of its own was adopted by Civic Culture club in a meeting with Mrs. Irvin Cole yesterday afternoon, and members also voted to assist the Council of Women's club with cleanup and Christmas charity projects during the next month.

The club chose as its own work this year the purchase of several benches for Central Park, to add to enjoyment of this city beauty spot next summer.

Thanksgiving suggestions appeared in game appointments and the refreshment course. Mrs. John Kilgore, continue its review of Texas history. Significance of the Civil War in Texas was stressed in the talks. Mrs. Kilgore spoke of the extent and importance of slave labor.

Mrs. Brannon told of efforts made by Sam Houston and other leaders to hold Texas in the union, and why they failed. Reconstruction days in the state were discussed round-table fashion.

Mrs. Bunting was a club guest. Members present were Mrs. George P. Bradbury, Paul Jensen, Claude Lard, W. B. Murphy, Ralph Thomas, Katie Vincent, Brannon, and Kilgore.

Girl Scouts to Welcome Group Into Troop Six

Mothers of members will be invited for an investiture service by Girl Scouts of troop six next Wednesday afternoon, the girls planned in a meeting yesterday. Troop members who have recently passed the tests in table service will form the refreshment committee.

A Thanksgiving basket of fruit, candy, and nuts will be prepared by this group next week and given to some family.

Girls who are to formally become troop members in the program next Wednesday are Ann Martin, Esther June Mullinax, Martha Frances Pierson, Betty Ann Culbertson, Myra Aberson, Nita Rose McCarty, Velma Rae Shackelford, Dorothy Rae Harris, Yetta Jean Westbrook, Joyce Warner, Margaret Sullins.

Others present yesterday were Evelyn Auld, a visitor, and Frances Babione, Betty Jean Burton, Netta Edwards, Peggy Mae Ford, Eleanor and Helen Gillham, Jean Lively, Loretta McArthur, Meredith Morehead, Doris and Eula Taylor, Betty Lee Thomas, Joyce Turner, Mary Elizabeth Tucker, Willa Dean Ellis, and the troop leaders, Mrs. J. O. Gillham and Mrs. J. M. Turner.

Reception Today To Greet Pastor

All members of First Methodist church are invited to a covered dish supper this evening to meet the new pastor, the Rev. W. C. House, who arrived in Pampa yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. House is in Fort Smith, Ark., with her mother, who is seriously ill, and date of her arrival here is indefinite. Mr. and Mrs. House have no children.

The informal supper and reception this evening will begin at 7 o'clock in the church dining room. The new minister will begin his work here at once, conducting services Sunday.

CLUB PARTIES AMONG EVENTS OF YESTERDAY

LONDON AND TUESDAY BRIDGE CLUBS ARE ENTERTAINED

When Mrs. John Sturgeon entertained London Bridge club at her home yesterday, Mrs. R. M. Bellamy was welcomed as a new member of the group, and Mrs. Howard Buckingham was a special guest for the afternoon.

Thanksgiving suggestions appeared in game appointments and the refreshment course. Mrs. John Sturgeon made high score in bridge and Mrs. Buckingham second high.

Members playing were Mrs. E. C. Low, Otto Studer, Clarence Barrett, Arthur Swanson, P. O. Sanders, John Studer, W. H. Curry, W. J. Smith, J. M. Lybrand.

Mrs. Carl Boston entertained Tuesday Afternoon bridge club at her home yesterday afternoon, with two tables arranged in smart black and silver motif for the games.

Mrs. C. H. Schulkey and Mrs. Ted White were special guests, and club members present were Mrs. Homer Elliott, Sherman White, R. Bourland, H. E. Carlson, P. C. Ledrick, and Jim White.

Mrs. Elliott scored high for members and Mrs. Schulkey for guests. A plate lunch was served after the games.

Birthday Party Given For Glen Roger McConnell

Glen Roger McConnell was host to five young friends Monday, his fifth birthday, at the country home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roger McConnell.

Games were enjoyed, and stories were told by John Edwin McConnell. A birthday cake iced with green to represent grass, in which food animal cookies, was served with ice cream. Balloons and toy airplanes were given as favors.

Guests were Dan and Lewis Stallings, Douglas Husband, James Boston, and Brent Fisher.

Chili Supper Is Success For P-TA

A successful chili supper at Woodrow Wilson school last evening added about $80 to the Woodrow Wilson Parent-Teacher association's piano fund, and entertained a large number of visitors.

While the chili, pie, and coffee were being served by members of the association, piano music was furnished by Mrs. W. L. Brummett, Mrs. Bob McCoy, and Mrs. Walter F. G. Stetson, who took turns playing throughout the evening.

The association last week placed a new piano in the school auditorium, and the supper was given to provide a payment.

CHURCH WEDDING AT WHITE DEER UNITES POPULAR COUPLE

WHITE DEER, Nov. 20.—The marriage of Miss Evangeline Skibinski and Laddie F. Kotara, solemnized at Sacred Heart church here Monday morning at 9 o'clock, was of wide interest in this section.

The church was decorated with red chrysanthemums on the side altar, and white and gold chrysanthemums on the center altar before which the marriage vows were said. Pews down the center aisle were tied with white and silver ribbons. An archway to the altar entrance was covered with the same ribbons. White candles burned during the service.

Miss Proxie Haldak at the organ played the Mendelssohn Wedding March for the professional. First entered the groomsmen, Antone Kalka and Joe Gordzielik, followed by the bridesmaids, Misses Geraldine Skibinski and Vera Kotara.

Little Dolores Kalka, niece of the bride was the flower girl who preceded Miss Skibinski and her father. They were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, John Kotara Jr.

The Rev. Father Dvorak, pastor of Sacred Heart church, assisted the Rev. Ed Dworaczky of Karnes City, cousin of the groom, with the ceremony, and the latter sang the nuptial mass. Miss Haldak played softly during the service, closing with the Wedding Chorus from Wagner's "Lohengrin" as the recessional.

Ushers were Sam Kotara and Ben Rapstine, and altar boys were Adrien Haldak and Florian Haldak Jr.

The bride's dress was of imported white silk Alencon lace over satin made on princess lines, with high neckline and long sleeves. The veil fitted her head in coronet fashion and fell over the long train. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and baby breath.

Miss Margaret Skibinski, maid of honor, wore a gown of peach-colored Chantilly lace over satin, with matching hat of matching color. Her bouquet was of pink sweet peas, blue and rose forget-me-nots, and baby breath.

Mr. and Mrs. Kotara both were graduated from high school at White Deer. He is now engaged in farming, and the couple will live in White Deer.

Mrs. Orville Schiffman has been reported very ill in Pampa hospital.

Mrs. A. W. Sheppard of Muskogee, Okla., has returned to her home after a visit with her sister, Mrs. R. L. Davis, and her father, C. C. Warford of LeFors.

The highway department has begun work of grading up to the sides of the pavement, filling holes, and making other improvements on the highway here.

Virginia and Dorothy Fagen of Dalhart are visiting their uncle, Hubert Fagen, and sister, Mrs. M. D. Morton.

SCENES FROM PRIZE NOVEL ARE DEPICTED

A. A. U. W. MEMBERS ENJOY AN UNUSUAL MEETING

"Now in November" Pulitzer prize novel which furnished the topic for the November meeting of A. A. U. W. members last evening, also inspired the decorative motif in the basement dining room at Schneider hotel.

Scenes from the book were arranged on the table. The farm family was shown moving in a wagon loaded with household goods. A vine-covered log cabin, with farmyard animals in the yard and corn shocks in the field, was erected as a centerpiece.

Autumn leaves decorated the room and the tables, and place cards were in leaf shape.

Opening the program, a November Prayer was read by Mrs. R. B. Fisher. Miss Lorene McClintock played a piano solo, November. Mrs. W. R. Campbell of Miami gave an interesting review of "Now in November" after Mrs. E. R. Will had sketched the life of the young author, Josephine Johnson.

In the business meeting, leaders of club educational projects reported that their groups were being organized for study. Members voted to cooperate with the Council of Women's clubs in civic and charitable projects outlined for next month.

Mrs. R. B. Fisher and her committee were responsible for program and decorations. Members were Mrs. L. L. Sone, A. J. Johnson, Will, J. A. Meek, and Miss Margery Savage.

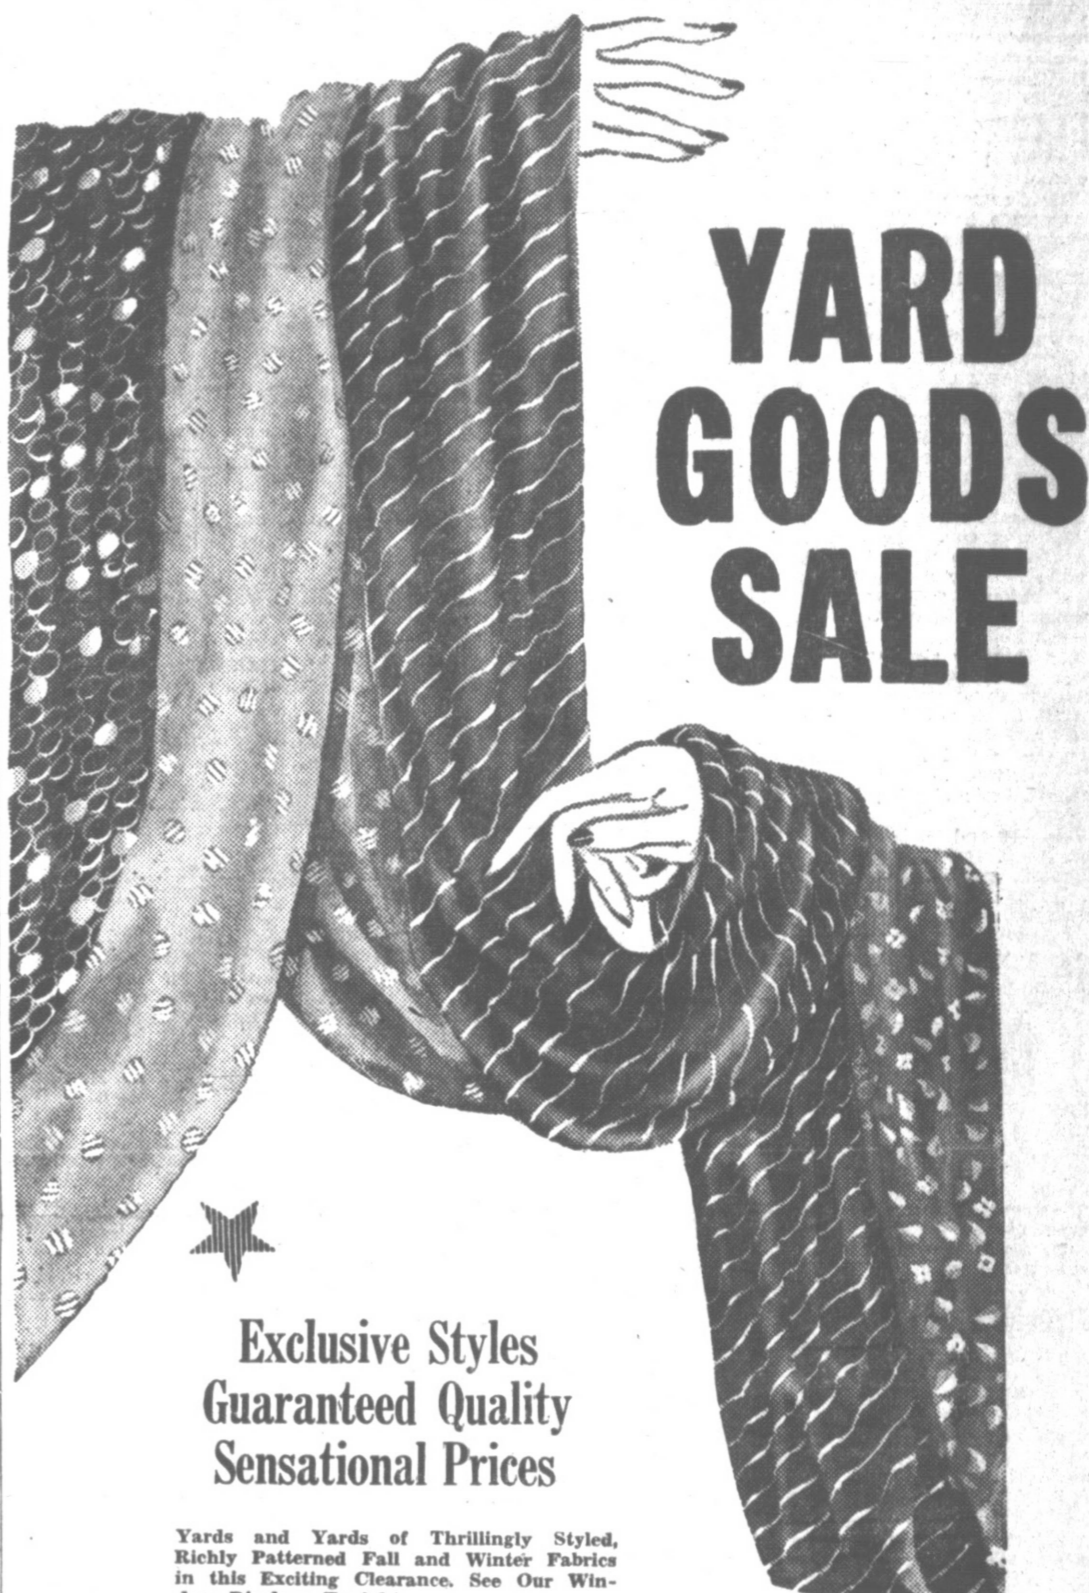

Others present for the dinner were Misses Margaret Baldwin, Clara Brown, Idelle Cox, Jean Daly, Loma Groom, Margaret Jones, Bernice Larsh, Helen McKinley, Kathleen Milam, Helen Martin, Claudine Pope, Angela Strnad, Alice Short, Jeannie Stennis, Evelyn Shanklin, McClintock.

Misses Lee Harrah, D. P. Hodges, W. J. Hurst, R. E. Koiner, Harry McEwen, R. C. Wilson of Louisiana, J. B. Massa, E. L. Norman, Earl O'Keefe, H. V. Patterson, Bruce Peck, L. K. Swope, N. D. Steele, C. C. Wilson, Hol Wagner, W. Stickler, Campbell.

GORILLAS TO PLAY LAST GAME TOMORROW; JUNIOR HIGH TEAMS, FRIDAY

PEEWEEES TO MEET LEFORS IN HARVESTER PARK TILT FRIDAY IN A TWIN-BILL ATTRACTION

YOUNGER BOYS WILL PLAY HALF AND JUNIOR HIGH AND MAGIC CITY WILL CLASH IN ANOTHER GRIDIRON TUSSLE

Two football games will be played at Harvester field Friday afternoon when the Peeewees of Junior high, coached by Ishmal Hill, tangle with the LeFors from LeFors Junior high school and the Pampa Junior high team of Coaches Tom Herod and W. S. Bennett play the Magic City eleven.

The Peeewees will clash at 4 o'clock and play a half. Then the junior teams will play one half of their game, the Peeewees finishing their tilt between halves of the junior game.

A new team will be presented by the Junior high coaches. They had a large number of boys out all season and some of them failed to get an opportunity to play much football. On Friday afternoon the former regulars will watch from the sidelines while the new team, which has been working together long and hard, gets its chance.

The local Peeewees are due to have a bad afternoon. The LeFors have been working all season together. They are well equipped, with uniform, shoulder pads and helmets, something the Peeewees have lacked.

The probable starting lineup for Junior high will be: Wagner and Williams, ends; Rumpke and Wrathford, tackles; Smith and Stiles, guards; Cash, center; Hubert, quarter; Prator and Robinson, halves; Esslinger, full.

The Peeewe starting lineup will be:

Palmiter and Coffee, ends; Green and Jones, tackles; McCowan and Maynard, guards; Hesse, center; G. Heskell, quarter; Schwind and Lewis, halves; Auld, full.

NOLAND IS IN HOSPITAL WITH BRONCHITIS; COACH IS GLUM

Philip Noland, veteran Harvester guard, was taken to Worley hospital last night with a serious attack of bronchitis which was accompanied by developing pneumonia. Attending physicians this morning announced they believed danger of pneumonia had passed and that the bronchitis would be checked.

Whether Noland would be able to play Thanksgiving Day against the Amarillo Bandies was in doubt. He will be in the hospital several days and will then have to take things easy.

Roy Lee-Jones, end, was also unable to practice with the team yesterday. He received a twisted ankle in the game with Fort Collins, Colo., Saturday and is still having to favor the member.

A ray of sunshine appeared through the gloom at Harvester field yesterday when W. J. Brown appeared in uniform. Brown received an injured shoulder two weeks ago in the Berger game and was believed lost for the rest of the season. No chance is being taken, and Brown will only do light work for the next few days.

Coach Odus Mitchell was still glum yesterday. It is seldom that the Harvester mentor makes a statement, but yesterday he predicted that his boys would be lucky to hold the Sandies to 30 points.

Work will continue behind locked gates at Harvester field. Fans, however, will get a glimpse of them by attending the Gorilla-Kelton game tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock and the Junior high-magic City game and the Junior High Peeewe-LeFors game Friday afternoon, beginning at 3 o'clock.

Welker Cochran Wins Cue Title

CHICAGO, Nov. 20. (AP)—Welker Cochran of San Francisco, again ruled as king of the world's three cushion billiard players today.

Willie Hoppe of New York, for nearly two generations the idol of American billiard fans, failed to realize his long ambition—to annex the three cushion title along with other billiard championship crowns he has won.

In the title game last night, the 37-year old Cochran defeated Hoppe 50 to 46 in a game that went 45 innings. In a dramatic finish Cochran went to the table in the 45th inning trailing 43 to 46.

The San Francisco player, calling on all his billiard wizardry, cut loose with an unfinished run of seven, that returned him the championship he lost to Johnny Layton, of Sedalia, Mo., a year ago. His run of seven was the high run of the match. Hoppe's best effort was six.

Hoppe will play Arthur Thurblad of Chicago, tonight in a 50-point match to decide second and third place honors. Each has won seven and lost two games.

The News' Want-Ads bring results.

30 Red Birds Will Be Sold, Claims Rickey

BY FRITZ HOWELL, Associated Press Sports Writer.

DAYTON, O., Nov. 20. (AP)—Baseball trade winds flew today as the minor league meeting opened—but few trades were consummated.

Most of the managers were holding off on final decisions in hopes of doing better later in the sessions. Lunches, tables, hotel rooms and corridors were the trading marts.

Brack Rickey, vice president of the St. Louis Cardinals, was very much in the spot light with his announcement that 30 of the 38 Red Birds were on the auction block.

Among the deals actually completed was the transfer of Bud Thinning, 27, right handed hurler, from the Columbus American association club of the same league via the waiver table.

A wholesale exodus of Albany players from the International league to Galveston of the Texas loop resulted from one deal. Vice President Roy Koehler of Galveston announced that his club had given cash and Catcher Claude (Bob) Linton to Albany in exchange for pitchers Mark Pillely and Beryl Richmond, Outfielder Charles Hooper, First Baseman Pete Susko, and Infielder Danny McGee.

Other deals resulted in managerial changes. Max Bishop of the Boston Red Sox dropped out of the majors to take over the reins of the Portland club in the Pacific Coast league. San Antonio of the Texas loop signed Bob Coleman, a former manager there, as the 1936 skipper.

The action—while it lasted—was whirlwind enough.

The Kingfish, armed with the conventional 6-ounce gloves, ambled from his corner at the bell and took a long range poke at Steele's battered nose. It was a broad target, but the King missed. Steele dived under his gloves and knocked him against the ropes.

The wrestler held Levinisky firmly from behind while the Chicago ex-fish peddler fanned with a vain backhand at the Steele kid-ys. Came then the referee and separated the two.

The Kingfish let go the long right haymaker he promised before the bout would lift Steele into the aisles. It dazed the wrestler but he remained substantially in the ring.

He ducked the follow-up, left and then circled Levinisky's knees with a quick dive, toppled him to the floor and smothered the bewildered boxer with an octopus body block. For the rest it was just a short exercise in mathematics for the referee.

Said the Kingfish in his dressing room after the bout:

"I was robbed. Twice I lifted my shoulder off the floor while the referee was counting ten. Each time, according to the rules, he should have started all over again."

Said Steele, the first "world mixed bout heavyweight champion":

"Sure, I'll meet him again. I can use $1,000. I always did say no boxer could last with a good wrestler."

Houston Polo Team To Defend Trophy

ARLINGTON DOWNS, Nov. 20. (AP)—The Houston polo team, which will defend the Tom Mix trophy when the El Ranchito fall tournament starts Saturday, will be composed of outstanding players.

Captain Robert Farish, Steve Farish, Billy Ditt, Wyn Humberston, Vernon Cook, and John Townes will ride for Houston.

Teams from Wichita Falls, Oklahoma City, Dallas, Fort Sul, and Shreveport are at El Ranchito practicing.

Centenary Dropped

AUSTIN, Nov. 20. (AP)—Ed Olle, business manager of athletics at the University of Texas, has announced that Centenary college of Shreveport would be dropped from Texas' 1936 football schedule. The Centenary date, Oct. 17, has been tentatively accepted by Baylor, Olle said, adding that he was reasonably certain Arkansas would be played November 20. The only other open date is September 26.

Commerce, Nov. 20

The East Texas Teachers college Lions have clinched a tie for the Lone Star conference crown, and have a mathematical chance to win the undisputed championship.

Although a three-way tie is expected for top position, the East Texans are the only ones who can finish easy having ended their season Friday with a 7 to 0 victory over San Marcos.

This week's crucial games will see the North Texas Teachers favored to beat the Southwest Teachers of San Marcos, and the Stephen F. Austin Teachers favored over the Sam Houston Teachers in the concluding conference games.

Victories for the North Texas and Stephen F. Austin Teachers would end the race in a three-way tie.

American dance records are losing their popularity in Germany to records of the classics. Germans are buying more folk song records, too.

STEELE PINS LEVINISKY IN MIXED MATCH

35 SECONDS REQUIRED TO WIN FALL FROM KINGFISH

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 20. (AP)—Whether a good boxer can whip a wrestler remained an unsettled question today, but there was no doubt that a good wrestler could do to a hit-and-miss slugger.

It took Ray Steele, patriarch of the grappling industry, just 35 seconds in the first round of a 10-round contest last night to pin King Levinisky, the late heavyweight boxing contender.

The bout, first "major" mixed battle in ring history, left some 12,000 cash customers disappointed and both principals drew a generous round of boos at the close of the brief fiasco.

The action—while it lasted—was whirlwind enough.

The Kingfish, armed with the conventional 6-ounce gloves, ambled from his corner at the bell and took a long range poke at Steele's battered nose. It was a broad target, but the King missed. Steele dived under his gloves and knocked him against the ropes.

The wrestler held Levinisky firmly from behind while the Chicago ex-fish peddler fanned with a vain backhand at the Steele kid-ys. Came then the referee and separated the two.

BILL WALLACE IS READY FOR BAUGH PASSES

BY BILL PARKER

When a great pass thrower and a great blocker of passes match abilities on a gridiron something is bound to happen, so Saturday's individual battle between Sammy Baugh, Texas Christian quarterback, and all-American Bill Wallace, Rice halfback, should be a rare treat.

Slinging Sammy, the Southwest conference's quickest and most accurate pass tasser, is ready to give approximately 25,000 persons a magnificent demonstration of his aerial heave.

And Wallace, the most difficult back in the conference to sizzle a pass over, is ready to give the same crowd a sample of alertness that has lifted him above the ordinary run of secondary defensive players.

The Texas Christian and Rice battle will be loaded with scintillating stars, but the Baugh and Wallace combat should develop into a classic.

Throwing with such precision that he completely riddled the University of Texas last Saturday, Baugh promises the same performance against the Rice men, but this time he will have to maneuver his throws through Wallace.

When Baugh and Wallace are not throat cutting, the battle will rage with powerful ground tactics. John McCauley, Rice quarterback, will be striving to take the conference scoring lead from Robert Wilson of Southern Methodist. McCauley has scored a touchdown in every game Rice has played this season—having nine touchdowns for 54 points.

Texas Christian's ground threat will be husky Jimmy Lawrence, who has crashed through with 5 touchdowns for 30 points, and Baugh, who has scored three touchdowns and booted four placement kicks for 22 points.

At Dallas the Southern Methodist Mustangs will be putting on their tenth grid show of the season by engaging the Baylor Bears, undefeated and unbeat, the Mustangs are top-heavy favorites to take the Bears, who have held a "fix" over them but it is the consensus that it will take more than a Baylor nightmare to whittle down this year's Southern Methodist crew, which has four all-America candidates in Robert Wilson, Truman Spain, Harry Stunford and "Tom-man" Wetzel.

Sammy Will Have To Face Blocker Of Passes

NEW YORK, Nov. 20. (AP)—Is Billy Evans, out as business manager of the Cleveland Indians, going to wind up at Detroit? Good for Dartmouth for renewing Red Blak's contract, no matter what may happen Saturday.

Burt Keane of Hartford says Gaby Street is making progress. In 1935 he managed the Missions and in '36 he's to manage the Saints. . . . Maybe Wallace Wade didn't reward Duke for that new five-year contract.

Joe Louis winds up an exhibition tour in New England this week to start training for the Uzcudun fight.

Canadian To Play Panhandle Friday

Wildcats Have Given Fine Exhibition Of Fighting

PANHANDLE, Nov. 20. (SP)—Panhandle and Canadian high school football teams will meet at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon on Panther field in Panhandle to decide the championship of District 2B. Because of the size of the district, it was divided into two sections, with the two winners meeting at the close of the schedules.

Canadian's Wildcats gave a remarkable exhibition of up-hill football during the season. They dumped Spearman and Perryton from the district leadership, held by either of the two teams for many years. C. "Tuffy" Lopez is the ace threat of the Wildcats, along with Logan. Both have three years experience behind them.

The Wildcat line will have four players back from last season. The others will be newcomers. Dale Laughrey is the giant of the Wildcat team. The huge tackle is a sophomore who weighs 212 pounds. Thomas, the other tackle, tips the scales at 175 pounds. Tandy, guard, is the other big man on the team, weighing 180 pounds.

Fans from all parts of the Panhandle are expected to fill Panther stadium for the important tilt.

Let Pea Head Walker, Elton college coach, tell a pip of a football story:

"I have a halfback who is one of the best passers in the south. . . . He's been pitching that ball for us for nearly four years but one of his big troubles was our opponents intercepted about half his passes. . . . After every game I'd drill him and put him through the most vigorous practice. . . . He would appear to improve. He would rip the ball down the field with the accuracy of a rifle. . . . I believe he could throw the football into a barrel 50 yards away. . . . After watching him in practice I was sure he was all set, but when Saturday rolled around again the opponents would start snagging his passes. . . . Four years of this business has just about worn me out. . . . So the other day I had his eyes examined. . . . and what do you think? . . . Well, that guy is color blind and can't tell our Jerseys from the other team's."

COLUMBUS—The great majority of football men and followers had never heard of Francis Albert Schmidt until he arrived at Ohio State last year, but it didn't take him long to gain their respect and confidence.

Schmidt, 200 pounds of nervous energy from Texas Christian, caught the popular fancy, not only with winning teams, but with his explosive manner, plain-spoken personality, and brilliant wit.

The Ohio State faculty had a little difficulty getting used to Schmidt's virile, he-man language at first, but quickly accepted him as the campus' leading figure. He probably is the most popular coach ever to hit Columbus. Players and students consider him the last word in coaches.

Schmidt curses his boys plenty, but they love it. They'd rather be cursed than complimented by him. The athlete who gets bawled out the most has a good chance of starting the game.

Coach Schmidt Devotes 18 Hours a Day to Football.

Schmidt, a driver from away back who works 18 hours a day, continually thinks and talks football. He usually works in his office in his shirt sleeves. He welcomes visitors, but even though he's met them time after time again, he doesn't remember their names.

Schmidt has pet names for most of his boys, such as Bobo, Bono, Leatherhead, and Oil Can. He never uses a record of nicknames or wisecracks.

Schmidt refuses to wear a topcoat while sitting on the bench during a game. He claims that he never notices the cold during the heat of battle.

A born salesman and after-dinner speaker, Schmidt could hire out to speak every night of the week throughout the year.

His age seems to be a delicate subject with Schmidt, but he's 40 or 50. He was a star halfback at Nebraska in 1904 and '05. He was graduated from the law school there, but does not practice. He wears only bow ties.

Basketball Knowledge Asset to Buckeye Boss.

Schmidt's first coaching assignment of any importance was at the University of Tulsa, where he lost one game in the last four seasons of a five-year reign before and after the war.

He left Tulsa for Arkansas, where he had the reputation of getting the most out of his material for seven campaigns.

With less talent than larger rivals, Schmidt won two Southwest conference championships, tied for the title once, and finished second and third in five years at Texas Christian.

In 19 years, Schmidt's teams have compiled a record of 141 victories, 30 defeats, and 10 ties.

The head man of the Buckeyes has been even more successful in basketball than he has in football. His Arkansas teams won four consecutive Southwest conference championships, and his Texas Christian

EXTREME NATIONALIST CAMPAIGN GETS UNDER WAY

By GEORGE JORDAN

(Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press)

ROME, Nov. 20.—Premier Mussolini personally led fascist Italy today in the launching of a vast, intensive campaign of increased national production to defeat League of Nations sanctions.

He summoned the heads of the kingdom's fruit and vegetable growers syndicate to his office to discuss the program for heightened home production as it applied to their vital fields.

At the little town of Raccogli, in northern Italy, the hereditary Prince of Piedmont attended a ceremony of ground clearing before his castle to make way for exemplary raising of wheat, corn and similar products now imported.

Such domestic production became necessary, Italians maintained, to break the league's economic blockade, putting boycott on Italian goods and denying to Italy a selected list of raw materials because of the warfare against Ethiopia.

Commoners and royalty alike united in a war-time fervor of resistance to the economic blockade. At Turin, close by the royal ceremony at Raccogli, a popular collection brought into the fascist strongboxes 100 pounds of gold, 900 pounds of silver, and seven grams of platinum. Other gifts were 55 pounds of aluminum, 63,000 pounds of copper, brass and bronze, and 425,000 pounds of iron.

To stimulate the campaign for home production, the Rome secretariat of the architects' syndicate instructed the nation's builders to utilize national materials to the utmost.

The secretariat gave the nationalist program a cultural turn with an added admonition to architects to develop Italian styles and to cease imitations of foreign designs. All paper and cellulose firms were united in one great association to coordinate and accelerate their production of paper—one of Italy's most costly imports, taken largely from sanctionist countries.

Many economies in paper were invoked, including reduction in the size of newspapers to six pages and a campaign to do away with paper wrappings on parcels.

The government ordered paper manufacturers to increase their output, using only national materials. Public officers were directed to yield useless documents from their archives to be re-milled.

The oil industry, already restricted heavily, was notified that its reserve stocks must be maintained at 70 per cent of storage capacity to meet emergency needs.

The gold monopoly established yesterday by Benito Mussolini, informed sources said, for possible pressing into public service of private holdings.

The national institute for foreign exchange took over control of all gold transactions at home and abroad under a licensing system. The public was offered 5 per cent interest on gold turned over to the monopoly.

Morgan Attacks Taxing Policy In Interview

NEW YORK, Nov. 20. (AP)—Increasing taxes and governmental expenditures, in the opinion of J. P. Morgan, the financier, threaten to wipe out the great private fortunes of this country within 30 years unless a retrenchment policy is adopted.

"Why, even now, anybody who makes any money in the United States is working eight months of the year for the government, and who is going to be able to or will do that indefinitely?" he said last night on his return from England.

Asked what he thought of President Roosevelt's chances of re-election, Morgan said: "It is not time to worry about that. Really, you know more about it than I do."

Noting recent advances in the stock market, Morgan asserted he did not think "bull markets make for prosperity."

"It didn't a few years ago—at least, it didn't for me, and it didn't for a lot of people."

Morgan, more talkative than usual on shipboard, laughed when asked if he thought there was a war scare in Europe. He paused for a moment before he replied, "No, I don't think so."

England, he said, is doing a fine job in avoiding war. Recent elections there, he added, were satisfactory, and "just what everyone expected."

In England business is prospering, the financier said, "because the government lets it alone and does not double up the taxes on it."

Egyptian Riot Dead Now at 5

CAIRO, Nov. 20. (AP)—The number of dead from anti-British riots reached five today, in official figures, but Egyptian sources asserted twice that number had succumbed during the current disorders.

The death of Abdel Hakam Zagul, fourth student to die from wounds received in a clash with British police last week outside the city, caused more bitter feeling among the nationalists demanding an end to British influence in Egypt.

Authorities estimated that 10,000 students of the powerful Wafd nationalist party joined yesterday in the funeral procession for Abdel Hakam Zagul.

Many in the procession, it was learned, were armed with revolvers.

Instead of the stones with which the students thus far have fought the police.

Although the sixth day since the anti-British disorder broke out passed without further violence, grave fears persisted generally that the students might yet plunge the city into another riot such as that experienced in 1921.

Taxi Driver's Body Found Shot Through Head

ARDMORE, Okla., Nov. 20. (AP)—The body of Leo South, 35, Ardmore taxi driver, shot through the head, was found shortly after midnight, dangling from the underside girders of a bridge over the Washita river near Aylesworth. He had been dead at least 26 hours.

Officers searched the country in the vicinity of Boswell for a man wearing a "cowboy" clothing, who was South's fare when the driver left the taxi stand at 10 p. m. Monday.

The taxi, bloodstained and with South's hat, bullet pierced, was found a mile from Boswell yesterday.

Officers said that South's slayer apparently had driven on the bridge, stopped the car and heaved the body of his victim over the retaining wall of the bridge, believing it would topple into the river. Instead it caught on the girders.

South was survived by his widow.

threatened to undermine them. So Manchoukuo, the buffer between Soviet Russia and Japan, came into being.

Outer Mongolia has already developed into a communist state, cutting itself from China. Sinkiang province, on the northwest, is developing as a communist state at a point where it no longer pays taxes—or much attention—to the government at Nanking.

Communist activities are intense in some of the southern provinces. Japan has found that communist states are much more likely to trade with Soviet Russia than with a nation which is capitalistic and proud of it.

When the North China state comes into being, as is likely within the next few days, another buffer will have been set up between Japan and Russia.

It is significant that the governing body of the new state will be called "The North China Autonomous Anti-Communist Commission of the Chinese Republic."

the time he went with me to the bedside of my Dad and I saw my father's joy because he was there. How it cheered him thru the few remaining hours of his life!

"The gayest memory is of our first polo game. A friend of ours loaned us ponies and instructed us in the game. Bill came thundering after the ball riding me off. His polo mallet hooked in mine and he dragged me backward and off my horse as I had foolishly put the straps of the mallet about my wrist, and as I landed on the ground Will drawled, 'Say, Fred, in this game you're supposed to keep right on riding!'"

"The most thrilling memory is of my first plane trip. It was a flight across the continent to see Bill.

"The most tender memory is when I looked through heavy bandages as I lay in the hospital at New London, Conn., after my plane crash. Bill was grinning but the tears were running down his cheeks. Dear old Bill! He had wired me he would come and take my place in Mr. Dillingham's production of "Three Cheers," which was ready to go into rehearsal. I had then phone Mr. Dillingham in New York, who communicated with Bill and in a few days Bill flew East. He stood at my bedside trying to joke and telling me I never looked funnier. I tried to joke back through teeth wired together because of a cracked jaw. Will always made you want to joke and smile. How game he was! I know what a supreme effort it cost him to try to cheer me up while holding back his tears for he had the tenderest heart in the world.

"When he left to go to New York to start his rehearsal he said, 'I'll take care of Dorothy, Fred. I ain't a minn' to take your place. I'll do the best I can but I can't dance. All I can do is gab.'"

"I knew he would make a big hit and he did. It was the biggest personal success made in the theater in many years, but more important than even that was the tender expression of his friendship as he stood at my bedside. That lives forever in my memory. "God bless Will Rogers!"

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, Nov. 20. (AP)—A heavy selling wave broke over the stock market in the final hour today and prices tumbled for losses of 1 to 3 or more points.

The ticker tape fell some 5 minutes behind in the late deluge which was attributed partly to technical factors connected with the lengthy and virtually uninterrupted advance. The close was weak. Transfers approximated 4,000,000 shares.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 20. (AP)—Late reports that welcome rains in Argentina had become general, spreading from the south to the north, weakened Chicago wheat prices at the last today.

Toward the end of the board of trade session, wheat values here were minus any aggressive buying support. About the only purchases were of a scattered kind credited to mills.

Wheat closed easy, 1/4-1/2 under yesterday's finish. Dec. 96 1/2-74, corn 1/2-1/4 off, Dec. 60 1/2-74, and oats unchanged to 3/4 lower. Provisions rallied on commission house buying, and closed at 7 to 15 cents net gain.

"three times as important." He contended the gas and oil zones were inter-related.

AUSTIN, Nov. 20. (AP)—Three zones for prorating sweet gas production in the Texas Panhandle, in lieu of the present two, were recommended today by H. M. Staleup, vice president of the Staley Oil company.

Testifying at the monthly hearing of the railroad commission, taking evidence on which to base a new prorating order, Staleup suggested creation of a new intermediate zone between the eastern and western zones.

The eastern zone would be cut off from the rest of the sweet gas area by a line through LePore, as at present. The intermediate would be divided from the extreme western zone by a line running roughly along the east boundary of block 5 of the I&GN survey in Carson county.

Staleup argued that such zoning would accord with natural differences and development. In the east zone, leases are small, drilling has been dense and pipelines mostly run eastward of southeastward.

In the intermediate zone, leases would be larger than in the eastern zone and development has been more intense. Common ownership of leases on both sides of the suggested line separating the intermediate and western zones would minimize injury from migration of gas, he said.

Pointing out that land and leases in the extreme west area were mostly held in large blocks, Staleup said the three zones "were logical and would simplify putting into effect the ratable production features of the gas law."

He recommended drainage areas per well for the zones as follows: East, 15 acres; intermediate, 4 1/2 acres; and west, 2,580 acres, or four sections.

"There is no justification for a rule to force the drilling of a lot of wholly unnecessary gas wells," Staleup said, referring to the west zone. "Without rule a prudent operator would not drill more than one well to four acres."

Staleup recommended dividing the sour gas area into two zones, one of which would include the oil fields near and west of the developed territory nearby. The second would be composed of remaining sour gas areas.

For the east sour gas zone he suggested a drainage area of 160 acres. For the west a minimum of 640 and a maximum of 2,580 acres.

To apply prorating he recommended a formula of "acreage times potentials" which he said more nearly expressed the value for all than any others. He criticized a formula of "acreage plus potential" as "absolutely indefensible."

were killed or wounded on the Italian side in a battle in the south, while Ethiopian casualties were unofficially put at more than 300.

These reports said some Italian officers, leading a convoy of Italian trucks which were ambushed by the Ethiopians, were wounded but escaped.

The encounter was said to have occurred south of Sasa Banah, 150 miles southeast of Harar, on the left bank of the Pafan river. It was reported the Ethiopians seized 53 trucks.

In Paris, an authoritative source stated France feels that settlement of the war depends on the fighting of a decisive battle between Italian and Ethiopian forces.

France was understood to have expressed hope of an Italo-Ethiopian peace agreement as soon as possible, in a note replying to Mussolini's protest against league sanctions.

AUSTIN, Nov. 20. (AP)—The highway commission today tabulated low bids on $1,794,448 on 27 road construction jobs. Contracts would be awarded on jobs which federal aid after approval by the Bureau of Public Roads.

Low bids by counties included: Wichita—2.9 miles roadside improvement on highway 66 from Wichita Falls to Archer county line, and 3.3 miles roadside improvement on highway 5 from Jalonica street in Wichita Falls to near Clay county, A. L. Cook, Ottawa, Kas., $11,306.

Gray and Donley—1.61 miles calciche and limestone base course on highway 75 from Rockledge to Carson county, Field Bros., Lubbock, $111,375.

MUSIC FURNISHED CLUB BY LADIES

Popular and entertaining music was featured in a program presented before the Rotary club today. Arrangements were made by C. O. Huber. Mrs. Huber introduced the numbers. Those taking part were Mrs. B. W. Rose, Mrs. J. P. Welling, Mrs. H. M. Cline, Mrs. Roy Rung, Mrs. C. P. Fisher, Mrs. Fritz Weeber and Mrs. J. A. Arwood.

Visitors were C. A. Burton, Atchison, Kan., Dr. W. C. House and Rotarians H. H. Axelrod and C. T. Crow of Amarillo.

DICK DENNARD'S CAR IS STOLEN AND LATER RECOVERED

E. N. "Dick" Dennard, teacher at the high school and Gorilla football coach, was awakened by his telephone today. He answered and was asked if he had lost his car.

He answered "no" but happened to look out of the window and saw Mrs. B. W. Rose's car. He was then informed by city police officers that his car, a Chevrolet coupe, had been found during the night, abandoned in Panhandle.

The car had been taken from the driveway of the house where Mr. Dennard lives.

HOOPER ATTACKS CANADIAN TREATY

CHICAGO, Nov. 20. (AP)—President Hoover, attacked the Roosevelt administration for the second time in four days, charged the new trade pact between the United States and Canada would impose hardship on American farmers. He delivered this thrust at the treaty: "I presume it is more of the more abundant life—for Canadians."

Mr. Hoover planned to leave for California tonight.

NEW CARDINALS SELECTED

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 20. (AP)—Pope Pius today selected 20 new cardinals to be elevated at a secret consistory Dec. 16. No Americans appeared on the official list, given out by the Vatican.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Early!
The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food cannot digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up over your stomach. You feel uncomfortable. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sunk and the world looks punk. Laxatives are only makeshifts. A new bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harsh, irritating, and unwholesome. Buy them freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. No.

Four Down in Canal as Auto Leaves Highway

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 20. (AP)—Three women and a two months old baby of Galveston drowned yesterday when their automobile left a gravel road and plunged into a canal on the Burice highway, ten miles above Thibodaux, La.

The dead were Mrs. Beatrice Boskey, 25; Mrs. John Olsen, 59, mother-in-law of Mrs. Boskey; Miss Elizabeth Olsen, 17, sister-in-law of Mrs. Boskey, and the two months old baby of Mrs. Boskey.

There was not a survivor of the tragedy as all in the automobile were drowned. The party was en route to Galveston after a stay in New Orleans.

Mrs. Boskey had been in New Orleans for seven months and her baby was born here two months ago. Her relatives had come to join her and make the return trip with her.

Mrs. Boskey had been residing in New Orleans with her brother-in-law, William Warner. He hurried to Thibodaux as soon as he heard of the drowning.

The bodies were removed from the submerged car last night and were returned to New Orleans.

Rockefeller Will Be Offered Post On Housing Board

NEW YORK, Nov. 20. (AP)—The Daily News said today in a dispatch from Washington that Mayor Fiorella LaGuardia will offer John D. Rockefeller, Jr., a vacant post on the municipal housing authority.

The housing authority is in charge of slum clearance projects in New York City.

"If Rockefeller accepts," the Daily News said, "LaGuardia will have a group to delight in eye that engenders violent contrasts. For multi-millionaire Rockefeller will be working elbow to elbow with these fellow members: A socialist, Catholic priest, a woman social worker."

Bribe Alleged in McDonald Trial

AUSTIN, Nov. 20. (AP)—The state reopened its case today in a hearing before the house of representatives on charges of official misconduct against J. E. McDonald, commissioner of agriculture, and read testimony given by W. D. Thurman before a special investigating committee.

Thurman was agent for the department of agriculture in the purchase of jacks and stallions. The house board of managers said rangers had been unable to locate him to testify in person.

The portion of the testimony read into the record of the current hearing concerned a charge that McDonald "did unlawfully, wilfully, and corruptly accept a bribe" from Thurman and others in the form of two mares valued at $250 each. The mares allegedly were given McDonald by persons from whom he purchased jacks and stallions for the state, with Thurman contributing one-third of the purchase price.

McDonald's attorneys objected to introduction of the testimony but later withdrew it. They said the testimony was taken before the investigating committee in absence

Truck of Apples Stolen at McLean

City police officers, asked by a McLean resident to search for his stolen truck loaded with apples, found where the apples had been sold but failed to locate the truck. A few hours later they were notified that the truck was in McLean. The truck belonged to a Mr. Cunningham. He had loaded the truck with apples to be sold in Wheeler, he told the officers.

Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Hughey and daughter Miss Fern Hughey were Amarillo visitors yesterday.

Drunks Scorn Protection of Corpus Police

CORPUS CHRISTI, Nov. 20. (AP)—Things had been lagging in the "courageous" division of the local police force.

Only two inebriates had taken advantage of the offer to pilot tipsters drivers home and tucked them in bed. Sort of a safety measure, said the courteous chauffeuring cops, for pedestrians and motorists.

Business revived, however, when the telephone rang.

The voice was strangely thick. The desk sergeant had trouble hearing the speaker's wants. Finally he heard the thick voice inform him it was "very, very intoxicated and entirely out of tobacco."

Cautiously the thick voice warned of the perils if he attempted to drive his automobile in quest of tobacco. But he just had to have it and wouldn't the nice policeman send one of his "chauffeurs" out with two cans of tobacco? He would be glad to pay for it.

What the sergeant told the thick voice, in effect, was that a good thing again had been carried a little too far.

In the two months the offer has been in effect, only two requests have been made for "police protection" en route home.

Record Number of Disasters in Year; Relief Given in 128 by Red Cross

OLD Mother Nature visited an unusual number of varied cataclysms on her children during the past year, causing distress all over the nation to many thousands of men, women and children.

Her repertoire of disastrous occurrences included drought and dust storms in the midwest; explosions, fires, floods, epidemics of disease, shipwrecks, tornadoes and hurricanes in many sections.

As a result the American Red Cross reports that this year the organization gave relief in the greatest number of catastrophes in any one single year in its history. Relief was carried to victims of 128 disasters, which occurred in 37 of the 48 states and Alaska. Food, housing, clothing and medical aid were given to 110,000 persons in 306 counties—or in almost one-tenth of the territory of the nation.

Two disasters which called into the field every available worker of the relief forces of the Red Cross were the floods in New York state in August, and the Florida hurricane in September, both of which claimed a heavy toll of life, and caused great property damage. In New York state the Red Cross had more than 5,000 families listed for rehabilitation aid, after the storm wreckage was cleared away. In Florida the Red Cross prepared to aid a thousand families, and also to act in problems of the dependents of more than 300 world war veterans in government road construction camps in the keys, who lost their lives or were listed among the missing in the hurricane.

The work of mercy for these many sufferers was directed personally by Admiral Cary T. Grayson, new chairman of the Red Cross.

Funds are provided for this type of work by memberships in the Red Cross and by special relief funds raised in a restricted area. Memberships in the Red Cross are sought each year at the annual roll call period, and support both the local chapter work and the national disaster, public health nursing, war veteran and other work of the society.

The GOLDEN FEATHER

by Robert Bruce © 1935 NEA Service, Inc.

Several days later, Larry Glenn leaned back in his swivel chair, extended his long legs under his desk, dropped the letter he had been reading, and frowned thoughtfully at the blank wall of his office. For nearly a minute he sat thus, his hand clasped behind his head, then he reached for his telephone and gave the number of police headquarters.

"Detective bureau—Sergeant Hagan," he said, when he got his number. Then, a moment later, "Mike, This is Glenn. Can you drop up here for a few minutes? I got a funny one for you."

He put the phone away and continued to look pensively at nothing. When 15 minutes later, Mike Hagan came in, Larry ruefully handed him the letter.

"Seems as if our friend Evelyn is running around with somebody else," he said, "I send in those fingerprints off that glass, and there's no record of 'em. They're no more like Wingy Lewis' than mine are."

Hagan read the letter and dropped it on the desk.

"Look," he said, "did you see that waiter get the glass?"

Larry nodded.

"What'd he do with it? Bring it right to you?" asked Hagan.

Larry thought a moment.

"No, come to think of it. He went out to the kitchen with his tray of empties, and then he brought our order—and slipped me the glass."

His eyes met Hagan's.

"So," he said presently. "You think he switched glasses on me?"

Hagan ran his finger through his hair and took out a cigar.

"I think they're kind of a tough crowd at the Golden Feather," he said. "I got a notion that waiter thought things over on his way out and decided not to help turn in one of their star customers if he could help it. Maybe I'm wrong, of course

Maybe that guy isn't Wingy Lewis after all. Maybe that gal isn't even Evelyn Brady. But look; it stumps to reason, if the waiter thought twice about it, he'd guess you wanted the glass for fingerprints. And if those birds are mobsters on the prowl, it's a cinch Lanning and his gang know about 'em and are ready to help cover for 'em. So, I'm just saying—"

"Yeah," said Larry. "Yeah, that's probably what happens. And if he switches glasses on me, he's probably told Lewis about it—if it is Lewis—right afterward. . . . Which means that Lewis knows, by now, that somebody is interested in him. . . . which may mean that the whole mob'll run for cover."

There was another silence.

"If that is Lewis," said Hagan meditatively, "why isn't Jackson with him?"

"Too well known," said Larry. "The underlings in a gang like that can appear more or less openly. Jackson is too hot. He's probably got a stunner hidden out that we don't know about. He can be there and his gang, or part of it, can be here in Dover seeing the sights and burning up their money. . . . while Jackson lays his plans for a new job. One of these days they'll quietly visit a week and a week later we'll read about a bank robbery down in Texas or over in Pennsylvania somewhere."

There was another silence. Then Hagan asked, "Say, did you notice that long light-haired guy that was with 'em—I mean, did you notice him especially?"

"I took a good look, but it didn't tell me anything. Why?"

"Well, I looked, too; and it seems to me that he comes pretty close to fitting a description we got for one of the men that stuck up the Acme Box Company's payroll that day last week."

Larry looked up with new interest in his eyes; but all he said was "Well, you know what those descriptions are like—you could pinch most anybody on 'em."

"Well, I know," said Hagan. "It's not only that. Far as that goes, he fits it; six feet one or two, light-haired, tanned complexion, broad shoulders—but that isn't all. D'you know about that stickup?"

Larry shook his head.

"Just an ordinary stickup," said Hagan, with the air of one to whom robbery is no novelty. "Friday evening is payday at the Acme plant, and every Friday afternoon the cashier gets his flivver and drives over to the 105th street branch of the Dover Trust Company and gets the dough it runs to about $2000. Don't ask me why they didn't have an express company deliver it with an armored truck. They just didn't."

"Anyhow, last Friday a touring car crowds this cashier's flivver over to the curb as he's on his way back to the plant. It's broad daylight, but it happens on one of those deserted streets back of the freight yards there and there's nobody to see. A young fellow gets out of the car, sticks a gun in the cashier's face, and takes the money before you can say Boo. Then he gets back in the touring car and his buddy at the wheel gives her the gas, and that's all there is to it."

"Well, what I happen to think of is this: The cashier gives us this description, which as you say doesn't help much, but he says that the guy with the gun sort of looked like a cowboy. Funny, ain't it? Looked like a cowboy. That's just how he put it. Said he used to live in Wyoming, and this robber somehow seemed like he ought to be on a cow-pony just in from the ranges."

"I didn't think much of it, at the time. But since we were in the Golden Feather the other night I have been thinking; that long drink of water at that table there—didn't he have a sort of a cowboy air about him?"

Larry pursed his lips thoughtfully. "I don't know but what he did, now that you mention it," he said. "He did seem sort of—western, come to think of it. Think your cashier could identify him?"

"Might be worth a trial," said Hagan.

"Well, in that case, let's get this cashier and drop around there tonight."

Hagan nodded slowly. "Of course," he said slowly, "we probably won't be able to hang anything on him. There's only one witness you see—just this cashier. And unless his identification should happen to be awful strong—"

"Listen," said Larry suddenly, "I don't care whether you can hang anything on this chap or not. But if you can get enough of an identification to warrant you in bringing a formal charge against him, you can take him down to headquarters and get his fingerprints. Then I can send them in to Washington and we can see if he has a record—and if he's a member of Jackson's mob."

He touched the detective's sleeve. "Do that," he said. "Have somebody pick him up tonight—he's pretty certain to be there at the Golden Feather, judging by past performances, and if he isn't there tonight he'll be there tomorrow night. Look, Mike. . . if this is part of the Red Jackson gang hanging around in Dover, they're hanging around for some reason. Something is being planned. Now is my chance to get on the trail of it. All I ask is that you can just get a charge placed against this fellow. Twenty-four hours after I get his prints I can tell you if he's in the Jackson mob or not. See?"

Hagan stood up. "I'll go back to the detective bureau now and detail a couple of men to go out there with me tonight and bring him in," he said. "And I'll have someone else get that cashier down to have a squint at him."

The unexpected angles to police work in a big city are numerous—Hagan did it he had promised that afternoon. To put the order through he got authority from the deputy inspector temporarily in charge of the bureau. The order was read at afternoon roll call. It passed through the hands of three clerks. And half an hour after it was issued, a man slipped quietly out of the detective bureau, went to a drug store across the street, entered a telephone booth and called a number.

He spoke into the instrument in a low voice, his lips close to the mouthpiece.

"Hello—Eve? This is Lanning. Listen, I got a tip for you. Pass the word to Oklahoma, will you? . . . Oklahoma—you know, the tall—sure, him. Listen: tell Oklahoma that he's gonna be fingered for the Acme payroll job. . . . Acme you lug—A-C-M-E—get it? Okay. At the club. Tonight. Tell Al."

Then he hung up the receiver and unobtrusively went back to the detective bureau.

And after a while, as Art Lanning walked from his office to the kitchen of the Golden Feather, one of the waiters drew him aside.

"I gotta tip they're going to put the finger on that sandy-haired guy from Oklahoma here tonight for the Acme payroll stickup," he said quietly. Lanning look at him, nodded, and went back to his office. There he took his telephone and dialed a number.

"Hell—Eve? This is Lanning. Listen. Tell Sandy to stay away tonight. I just got the word they're getting ready to hang a payroll rap on him. . . . Yeah, the Acme job. They're supposed to be here tonight to pick him up. . . . No, that's all I know."

Evelyn Brady strolled into the living room of her apartment. Lewis was at his ease in a big arm chair, smoking a cigar and listening to the play-by-play description of a ball game coming over the radio. Sandy was stretched out on the davenport, his muscular body relaxed, panther-like, his shirt open at the throat, a detective story in his tanned fist.

"Sandy," said Evelyn, "Lanning called. He got a buzz from somebody down town. Somebody's going to be looking for you at the Golden Feather tonight."

Sandy looked at her inquiringly. "What for?"

"Some payroll stickup. Acme, or something like that." Lewis peered at him over the end of his cigar. Sandy went back to his book.

"Well, what about it?" asked the girl.

"Keep your shirt on," he said. "I'll just stay away, that's all." "Going to stay in town?"

"Sure, I got an assignment here." She laughed. "Yes, I know. A blond assignment. She's kind of cute too, Sandy?"

"Yeah. She's cute all right. She's going to be useful, too." (To Be Continued)

a shopping list

The hall needs a new rug. More towels are needed for the bathroom, and the kitchen floor could certainly stand a coat of paint. The children need shoes. The car will soon need tires. Well, we buy a hundred things every year.

Scattered throughout the United States are manufacturers who make the very things we need. Their products are on sale in certain stores within easy reach. Certain of these products, and certain of these stores, are especially fitted to take care of our special need. But which products and which stores? Which can we afford, and which do we think is best? We must look to advertising for advice.

Advertising is the straight line between supply and demand. It saves time spent in haphazard shopping. It leads you directly to your goal. By reading the advertisements, we can determine in advance where the best values are to be found. With the aid of advertising, shopping becomes a simple and pleasant business, and budget figures bring more smiles than frowns.

From the pages of this paper you can make up a shopping list that will save you money.

EDITORIAL

GROWTH OF COTTON COMPETITION

Normally, more than half of the cotton produced in the United States is used in foreign countries, although more than 60 countries produce some cotton. During the 10-year period from 1891-1900, according to federal statistics, foreign cotton production was about 30 per cent of world production. When boll-weevil damage from 1921-25 drastically cut the American production, Russia increased her cotton acreage almost at will.

At the beginning of 1934, about 66 per cent of the world cotton carry-over was American, despite curtailment. It can be said that loss of the foreign market would reduce consumption of American cotton by half, but loss of the foreign market is more than a price question. If other nations produce cotton, it is to be expected that they will sell or consume it rather than buy ours.

Roughly, America's foreign competitors may be classed in three general groups:

First, countries which for many years have been engaged in the commercial production of cotton and have been exporting substantial proportions of their production. This group would include India, Egypt, Peru, Argentina, and Brazil, and possibly others. These five specified countries grow from 50 to 55 per cent of the cotton produced in foreign countries.

Second, countries such as Russia, China, and Mexico, which have been engaged in the production of cotton for many years, but in which most of the cotton produced is primarily for domestic use. These three countries account for about 35 per cent of the foreign cotton production.

Finally, the newer producing areas where the production has recently been expanded for reasons of national policy, or as a result of the development of new agricultural areas. In this group would be included such areas as Manchuria, Chosen (formerly Korea), and parts of Africa, and South America. These would account for about 10 to 15 per cent of the foreign cotton production.

Russia's communistic control of production, Japan's expansion in Manchuria, and Italy's drive into Ethiopia are significantly menacing to our agricultural export market, for those nations are seeking to step up their production of raw materials. England is seeking sources of cotton supplies within her vast empire.

Unrestricted cotton production in the United States would mean an annual production of 15 million bales or more. Such a production thrown into the world market would admittedly wreck world prices. In the face of a mounting list of trade barriers and reciprocal treaties, however, cheapness and quality alone would not guarantee absorption of American exports; the world carry-over would shortly become unwieldy.

Hence cotton-like oil, needs a program of control in which this country should neither abandon her export market nor dump huge surpluses on the world market. Holding of as much of the world market as possible is vital. At the same time, the South's acres are best fitted for cotton, and the west does not wish to lose a large portion of its corn-hog-wheat market through a basic change in Dixie agriculture. Salient facts on the American cotton situation in recent years:

- World carry-over of American cotton:

Aug. 1, 1932	bales	12,960,000
Aug. 1, 1933	do	11,588,000
Aug. 1, 1934	do	10,634,000
Aug. 1, 1935	do	9,009,000
- Average price received by producers per pound of lint:

In 1932-33 crop year	cents	6.5
In 1933-34 crop year	do	9.7
In 1934-35 crop year	do	12.6
- Number of acres taken out of cotton production and made available for producing food and feed crops and for soil building:

1933-34	10,497,000
1934-35	14,548,000
1935-36	14,000,000
- Total farm value of crops, plus benefits and cotton-optional profits since these were distributed:

1932-33 crop	$483,912,000
1933-34 crop	893,675,000
1934-35 crop	882,298,000

THE NEW DEAL IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—If the roar of the baloney-grinders would die down for just a moment, we might be able to hear ourselves think what those off-year election results really mean.

Unfortunately, the baloney-grinders are in full whir and there will be no stopping them for the next 12 months. You might be justified in saying that the really underlying significance of the elections was that they formally opened what is generally known as the "campaign year," along with toots from Governor Landon, Senator Vandenberg, and Colonel Knox.

The Republicans and Democrats won a glorious victory, as you already know. The chief value of this victory is the extent to which it will be used to whoop up campaign contributions, stimulate party spirit, and encourage all hands to organize for the great Armageddon of November, 1936.

What the elections actually proved. Chairman Fletcher and Chairman Farley notwithstanding, was approximately what every politician already knew. Roosevelt has slipped—measurably, but not far enough to satisfy Republicans nor far enough to put the Democrats in a panic.

According to a Texas physician, if a patient is very low, a doctor may use extreme measures to revive him. Such, for instance, as offering to cancel his bill.

Recent New Jersey news items arouse our curiosity as to what pupils of that state do when they aren't refusing to salute the flag.

"Exile Alexander Papanastassiou will return to Greece in a week." Or sooner than you could say Papanastassiou.

An Ethiopian commander said, "When the time comes, Ethiopians will know how to defend their country." Or, at least, the acre or two left of it.

With anti-German Britain sentiment so strong in Rome, billiard players there must now be referring to it as "putting reverse Italian on the ball."

Turkey Show To Be Held in Brady

BRADY, Nov. 19. (AP)—The Brady chamber of commerce at a meeting recently, voted to sponsor a turkey show in 1936 and award $250 in cash prizes. The object of the show is to regain some of the prestige Brady once held as one of the largest turkey-producing centers in the United States, the sponsors say.

A decade ago an annual "turkey trot" was held here but it was discontinued after growers discovered that the birds they paraded lost two or three pounds each in weight, and with 20,000 in line, this represented considerable money loss.

The day the turkey market opens next fall hundreds of raisers thru-out West Texas are expected to place their best turkeys in competition. The prizes include $100 for the largest flock sold on the Thanksgiving market by one family; $15 for the best pen of 25 young turkeys ready for market; $5 for the best individual tom, as well as prizes for each breed.

On account of improving prices it is expected that a larger number of laying hens will be held back this fall. Merchants are urging farmers to grow more turkeys next year.

"We shipped 80 carloads of dressed turkeys in 1931," said M. J. Benefield, secretary of the chamber of commerce, "but this year it is estimated that shipments will not exceed 15 carloads."

BEAUTIFUL BOAS
TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Boa constrictors in the Tulsa zoo writhed in pride—and ordinary facial cold cream—today. "It helps their looks and their health," said Curator Charles Allen, explaining the beauty treatment is an experiment, replacing regular baths, to keep the snakes' skins supple for easy shedding.

SHIRLEY TEMPLE DOLLS TO BE PRIZES IN BIG CONTEST

Six Shirley Temple dolls will be given away within the next six weeks in a contest announced today by the sponsor, Western Auto Needs, Texas Furniture company, La Nora and Rex theaters and the Pampa Daily News. Each doll is a 27-inch doll, and one will be given away each Wednesday at the La Nora theater beginning Nov. 27.

A doll will be given the girl, 10 years old or under, who has secured the most votes up to 5 o'clock each Wednesday. The winner each week is eliminated and the votes of the remaining contestants are allowed to accumulate until another winner is announced.

No employees or members of the families of employees of the sponsoring firms are allowed to participate. One hundred votes will be given with each ticket bought at the Rex or La Nora theaters. 1,000 votes with each yearly subscription or 500 votes with each six months subscription to the Pampa Daily News, and 100 votes for each 50c purchase at the Texas Furniture company or Western Auto Needs company.

Any girl 10 years of age or under may enter the contest by filling out the entry blank below and turning it in to any of the sponsoring firms.

Denials that the Japanese government was in any way responsible for the autonomy movement were issued by the foreign and war offices.

Summaries of Washington and London reaction to the North China campaign were displayed under banner lines in evening newspapers as an indication of Japanese anxiety over the world reaction to the autonomy movement.

It was learned Japanese officials were studying diplomatic reports closely, seeking indications as to how the United States and Britain were likely to move.

Rengo (Japanese) news agency dispatches from China said the declaration of autonomy may be delayed because two powerful generals deemed necessary still wavered.

Gen. Shang Chen at Peiping and heading his thirty-second Chinese army, declined an invitation to proceed to Peiping to join an autonomy declaration on grounds of illness.

Governor Han Fu-chu of Shanghai province was still at Tsinan, "watching how the clouds were drifting."

Silver Purchase Policy Mentioned As Cause

BY GLENN BARR.
(Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Nov. 20.—The campaign for political independence of North China from the Nanking government was attributed in part by a Japanese foreign office source today to American and British currency policies.

A summary of Japan's position, issued by this source, said the United States' silver purchase policy, intensifying China's economic troubles, and Britain's support of Nanking currency reform were among the factors "stimulating the spontaneous popular movement for autonomy of North China."

The question of application of the nine-power treaty guaranteeing China's sovereignty and territorial integrity, this summary set forth, could not arise in connection with North China's impending declaration of self-rule because the new regime would not affect China's territorial status.

A foreign office source said the autonomous northern provinces would maintain relations with the central Chinese nationalist government at Nanking similar to those here by the Canton government, ruling southern Chinese provinces. Dispatches mentioning the nine-power treaty in connection with official discussions in Washington and London brought forth this comment.

Denials that the Japanese government was in any way responsible for the autonomy movement were issued by the foreign and war offices.

Summaries of Washington and London reaction to the North China campaign were displayed under banner lines in evening newspapers as an indication of Japanese anxiety over the world reaction to the autonomy movement.

It was learned Japanese officials were studying diplomatic reports closely, seeking indications as to how the United States and Britain were likely to move.

Rengo (Japanese) news agency dispatches from China said the declaration of autonomy may be delayed because two powerful generals deemed necessary still wavered.

Gen. Shang Chen at Peiping and heading his thirty-second Chinese army, declined an invitation to proceed to Peiping to join an autonomy declaration on grounds of illness.

Governor Han Fu-chu of Shanghai province was still at Tsinan, "watching how the clouds were drifting."

Motion Pictures Of Game Stir up New Arguments

NEW YORK, Nov. 20. (P)—Motion pictures of the Notre Dame-Army football game stirred anew today the argument as to whether the penalty for interference which gave Notre Dame its chance to tie the score was justified.

Scientists Are In Race to Stop New Dust Storms

DENVER, Nov. 20. (P)—Scientists of the federal resettlement bureau are in a race with the weather to prevent new dust storms next year. Their big problem is to develop grass that will withstand drought and make a "blanket" over sandy ground that persistent winds cannot penetrate.

Elmer A. Starch, acting regional director of the resettlement bureau, disclosed today the government has purchased 1,165,000 acres of "poor" land in Colorado, Wyoming and Montana and has optioned many more acres as one of the first steps to eliminate western dust storms.

The occupants of this vast acreage have been or will be placed on more productive areas. Figures prepared for the bureau indicated 3,000,000,000 tons of top soil were blown away last spring in the intermountain area, that 35,500,000 acres of land virtually were destroyed for agricultural use through erosion and 125,000,000 acres were robbed of the top soil.

Dusting The Covers Of Texas History For THE TEXAS CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION OF 1936

(Note: The following is one of a series of weekly articles taken from the Bexar Archives at the University of Texas. This collection, considered the greatest single historical treasure on the North American continent, has been catalogued and is now being translated by the University of Texas. It consists of 400,000 pages of original Spanish handwriting documents comprising the official archives of the Mexican government for the department of Texas, for the period from 1721 to 1821.)

AUSTIN, Nov. 20.—The disastrous end that met the Mina and Perry expedition into Spanish Texas is graphically related in the Bexar Archives of the University of Texas Library. This was but one of the early invading companies of Anglo-Americans and Europeans who entered the war between Mexico and Spain in the interest of "democratic patriotism" or for other less altruistic motives.

On November 24, 1816, Francisco Xavier Mina, a young European Spaniard, arrived in Galveston with a force of two hundred well-equipped men. There he was welcomed by Commodore Luis Avry, "civil and military governor of Texas and Galveston Island in behalf of the republic of Mexico." Among the officers of Governor Avry was Colonel Perry, who commanded a force of one hundred men. The combined armies of Mina and Avry presented a formidable bulwark of democratic patriotism. Evidently Mina was imbued with the proper democratic spirit, for he was eager to advance with the entire republican force upon the tyrannical royalists. Having learned of the defenseless condition of Soto la Marina, on the coast of Nuevo Santander, now Tamulipas, Mina proposed to Avry an attack upon that seaport. Commodore Avry was a veteran advocate of democratic ideals, but he was also a cautious and conservative fighter. He knew that his budding republic required his immediate attention. Although the majority of Avry's followers were eager to march against the despised and haughty Spaniards and rescue the lowly Mexican patriots from the tyrannical clutches of the royalists, they were undisciplined and unprincipled. They felt it was their duty to destroy the power of Spain; therefore they waged a relentless war on Spanish merchantmen on the Gulf. Very often, however, these patriotic men allowed the bulk and value of a ship's cargo to obscure the colors of the flag flying from the ship's mast. Nevertheless, Commodore Avry was making an honest effort through his court of admiralty in Galveston to teach his men to adhere to and respect the stars and stripes.

In view of the sacred mission of the reckless Mina, who declared that he was "not fighting Spaniards but despotism," Avry decided to help transport Mina's army to Soto la Marina. The expedition was soon under way. On April 15, 1817, the republican army landed near Soto la Marina. The handful of royalists defending the town evacuated it without a struggle. Mina left his three ships and those of Avry anchored in the bay, fortified the town, and commenced to raid the nearby towns. He detailed Colonel Perry to scout around near Soto la Marina. Suddenly alarming news was received. Don Joaquin de Arredondo, commandant general of the eastern internal provinces, was advancing on Soto la Marina with two thousand men and seventeen pieces of artillery. Upon receiving this information, Avry immediately decided to return to Galveston Island. Baron Routh, one of Mina's aides, went with Avry. Colonel Young, commander of the so-called guard of honor, Lieutenant Colonel Meyers, commanding the artillery, and Colonel Perry decided to remain with Mina. However, when Mina renounced his intention to meet Arredondo in battle, Colonel Perry, his staff officers and fifty-one men at once decided to go to the aid of Avry, by land via Goliad and Nacogdoches. Perry had been on the republican side at the battle of Medina in 1813.

and one civilian. Five soldiers, one corporal, one bugler, and Lieutenant de la Hoz were wounded. The prisoners were taken to Bahia. Their examining trial was held there under the supervision of Captain Juan de Castaneda. The original copy of the report of this trial is found in the Bexar Archives of the University of Texas. A translation of parts of this record follows:

"The interpreter was asked to inquire from those present their name, what country they belong to, what sovereign they serve, and by whose orders they have come to this place. He said they have answered, saying their names are: the first, David Dadam (David Adam); the second, Hillen Dadam. (William Adam); Fransua Hilliam (Francis Williams); Sifiel Yeros; Jose Gilar, Juan Gallon; Pedro Gonsado (Pedro Gonsedeau), Guillermo Guted, Juan Manselo Jose Rolem, Roland; Jose Heumar, J Jose Manuel Costilla, Patricio Barie, and Juan Francisco Dublem. The first (a native) of Ithas Negras; the second from the same place; the third from Yuaere de Graeia in Europe; the fourth from Cay in the French colony of Santo Domingo; the fifth from Languler in France; the sixth from the American Noeyore (New York); the seventh from Philadelphia; the eighth from the same place; the ninth from Lorems (Orleans) in Europe; the tenth from the American Temesis (Tennessee); the eleventh from Philadelphia; the twelfth from Noeyore (New York); the thirteenth from America (United States); the fourteenth from the Villa of Camargo in the Colony of New Santander, the fifteenth Dutchman; the sixteenth European Frenchman.

"They came in the service of General Mina, and from Soto de la Marina they separated from him, together with Colonel Pere (Perry) to return to their own country of America (United States). "They were asked under whose orders they were, where they were going, how many of them there were, what the intentions of their commander were, and what commanders or officers they had at the head of their corps at the time of the attack. "They answered that they were under orders of General Mina, a Spaniard; Colonel Hubus, a Spaniard; Major Sarda, a Spaniard; and Colonel Hiem (Hume), American. "They said that they came from Galveston on their way to the Port of Matagorda, and from this port to Soto de la Marina, where they landed. They were Mexican, Spaniards, Americans and French, the first of these being the most numerous. They said that the intentions of General Mina and the other commanders were to make war, that they had withdrawn before the arrival of Commandant General Arredondo, that they have not had another attack, and that when they were taken prisoners they were under the orders of their Colonel Pere (Perry) and Major Gorlino (Gordon). "They were asked whether the officer that was hearing their statements, through an emissary, had let them know yesterday that if they surrendered, their lives would be spared, and if they did not, the Governor of the Province was on his way with troops, and they would be killed. When the Governor arrived, they were already on the march, and the Governor sent an emissary to tell them to halt and surrender their arms and their lives would be spared. If they did not surrender, they would be given no quarter. They were asked why they had not surrendered when they heard this warning and they replied that it is true that they were notified by the official that was taking the declarations, through an emissary, that their lives would be spared if they surrendered, and if they did not do so they would be lost because the Governor of the Province was coming with troops. However, only the interpreter Fuiel Veltran (Beltran), Major Gorlon (Goron), and Colonel Pere (Perry) knew about the notice, and with threats intimidated the interpreter, forbidding him to reveal the truth. They declared it was also true a second warning was given them by the Governor, through an Irishman that lives at Bahia, who caught up with them while they were already on the march. But he only spoke to the aforesaid Colonel and major, who kept the truth from them. "They were asked why they had not surrendered when the troops caught up with them and surrounded them for a whole night, during which they had time to think it over in view of warning which they should have suspected was given them through the messengers. They answered that they distrusted their own comrades who threatened them with death, for they threatened them with death, for a and that their fear made them hesitate to do it."

Alleged Gamblers No-Billed by Jury FORT WORTH, Nov. 20. (P)—Fred Browning and four others, arrested Nov. 6 when Texas Rangers raided Top O' Hill Terrace on the Fort Worth-Dallas pike, were "no-billed" by the Tarrant county grand jury today. They had been charged with keeping and exhibiting premises for the purpose of gambling. The others were George Cross, W. S. Jones, Dudley Goodstine and Harry Appel.

Assistant District Attorney Davis, who works with the grand jury, said the 25 names taken by the Rangers at the time of the raid proved to be fictitious. He also said the officers did not have a search warrant. Ranger Capt. J. W. McCormick and Sergeant Sid Kolson walked half a mile through timber, cut a fence and entered the back door of the establishment. They seized about $8,000 worth of gambling equipment. Davis said the "no bills" would not prevent destruction of the equipment by district court order. That action is pending. A few days before the Nov. 6 raid, former Ranger Captain Tom Hickman raided Top O' Hill Terrace but found no evidence of gambling. This failure, it was hinted at Austin, was one of the reasons for his recent discharge from the Ranger service.

TURKEY DAY CLASSIC COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 20. (P)—The Texas Aggies and Texas Longhorns have been battered out of a chance at the Southwest football title, but their traditional Turkey Day game is expected to draw a near record crowd. Officials said they expected between 20,000 and 26,000 persons to see the battle on Kyle field. They reported that ticket sales were brisk. A recent military pageant at Schofield Barracks, Hawaii, showed the Hawaiian division of the army to be completely motorized. The army mule had vanished.

CRATER MYSTERY IN MOON NEAR SOLUTION, ASTRONOMERS TOLD

CHARLOTTVILLE, Va., Nov. 20. (P)—A great mystery of astronomy, what caused the craters on the moon, came a step nearer solution today with the report of a discovery by the National Academy of Sciences. The craters, numbering more than 3,000 in an area about the size of the United States, have been attributed to volcanoes, to meteors smashing astonishingly large holes in the moon's face, and to some sort of cataclysm not yet guessed. The report today shows an unexpected uniformity indicating the likelihood that they were caused by one type of cataclysm, and not by a mixture of three. This finding came from the simple procedure of counting the craters, according to their sizes. This grouping into families was done by Dr. F. E. Wright of the Geophysical Laboratory, Carnegie Institution of Washington. In one family are craters four to eight miles in diameter, the next largest nine to thirteen miles, and so on. A half-mile diameter is the smallest that can be seen with telescope. The smaller sizes number hundreds in each family, the numbers in each dropping as size increases. When these sizes were plotted, a "smooth curve" resulted, the clue to some still-not-understood uniformity in the thing which made the craters. Road Runner has high quality. To Be Well Dressed "ALWAYS WEAR A CLEAN HAT ALWAYS" Factory Finished By ROBERTS THE HAT MAN At DeLuxe Cleaner Skellytown, Texas November 7, 1935

TO THE CITIZENS OF PAMPA AND GRAY COUNTY, TEXAS: A new proposed highway right-of-way to Borger through my ranch has been submitted for my approval. I find that the new survey through my ranch will forever ruin my pasture and farm land. About nine years ago I gave to the citizens a 100 foot road free of cost and fenced this at my own expense. The present road now running through my ranch was selected by the citizens and surveyed by Mr. Doucette. Since then another road was given you, more direct to Skellytown making two graded highways to the present time through my ranch. Now they are asking for another highway almost in the center of the present two highways, but eliminating Skellytown, Texas, to the north, which is detrimental to all its citizens. I am against the new highway for the reasons as mentioned, and I believe that the majority of your citizenship agree that I have been liberal enough in the past by giving two highways to Borger, Texas, and will not ask me to sacrifice further. In connection with this, your citizens are also vitally interested in the criminal waste of natural sweet gas which is functioning each day in the Panhandle. I am informed that the Cargray Plant is popping approximately 300,000,000 cubic feet of gas every twenty-four hours, wasting approximately one hundred and ten billion cubic feet of gas annually. This practice has been going on approximately three years. They have popped in the air their own gas over two years ago, in that there is only eight to fifteen million cubic feet of gas under each acre of land. They have been taking the gas from adjoining land-owners, who pay taxes and get nothing. This waste has lowered the gas pressure on my oil producing lands to such an extent that new wells now brought in only make 25 to 35 barrels initial production, whereas several years ago wells brought in on my land in this vicinity flowed from 500 to 800 barrels each. The lease owner on my ranch land refuses to drill further on this acreage, which is termed as ruined or depleted. About three more years of gas wasting will ruin the producing oil fields, and in that event new roads will not be needed through my ranch. HENRY SCHAFER Skellytown, Texas.
