Telethon

Club Buying Equipment

$5,842 In Bank Assures Operation

Mitchell County Boys' Club counted $5,842 cash in the bank Wednesday and made ready to install new equipment and hire a paid director.

Most of the money is the fruit of a tremendously successful Sunday afternoon telethon which -- in 5 hours 17 minutes -- brought $6,049 in cash and pledges.

Additional contributions Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday sent actual cash-on-hand to the $5,842 mark with numerous telethon pledges yet to be paid.

Yet, as the Boys' Club officials began buying new equipment they emphasized that more financial support is necessary if the club meets the expected first-year costs of $7,500.

Here is the line-up of new equipment on the way to the club:

1. Two trampolines, expected to arrive by Saturday.

2. Two bumper pool tables, ordered with expected delivery in mid May.

3. Boxing gloves, punching bag, mat and other equipment, ordered with delivery expected next week.

4. Several small participation-type games, ordered for delivery in May.

5. Basketball goal and backboard, being installed now outside the club building.

The equipment ordered and being installed is expected to broaden the interest and participation for club members quickly. Even with meager equipment and volunteer adult supervision, the club has been attracting more than 35 boys daily and has a membership of approximately 200.

Hiring of a paid director and purchase of the equipment were placed by the club's board of directors as No. 1 priority.

J. C. Britton is chairman of the committee which will recommend to the board a director.

"A capable director is essential for the club's successful operation," said club president Harrison, "and the selection committee already has been discussing the requirements.

"What we need for the club now is a director who will organize and supervise the club approximately 20 hours per week."

Current schedule (until schools dismiss for summer vacation) for the club is from 5 p.m. until 8:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, except for early closing for Wednesday evening church services.

The club is open all day Saturday, from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

"We have discovered one important instrument for our club -- a piano," Harrison said.

"When we rented the building from American Legion, an old piano was there for the club.

"And, it is the center of much of the activity with several young members providing music for others to enjoy."

Harrison said the club was hopeful of obtaining a better piano as a permanent club attraction.

There is another definite need -- a club library -- that can be met by interested citizens.

"We can use all types of good books -- fiction, instructional, biographies," explained the club president. "The club has some books which have been donated but not nearly enough for eager readers."

The club is hopeful all telethon pledges will be paid within a few days to speed the fund campaign toward a successful ending April 24.

Boys' Club donations can be mailed to the club's account at City National Bank or to Jimmy Harrison or to Joe Morren, the club's treasurer.

$20 Per Minute

450 Persons Contribute

The "skinny Swede" from Big D delved into his television adjectives and came up with nothing better than fantastic.

He may not be far from right.

Because Mitchell County's community of citizens mixed their hearts and pocketbooks together Sunday in a splendid outpouring of support for a newly organized Boys' Club.

Their donations of coins, bills and bank checks ranged from pennies to $200.

They numbered more than 450--men, women and children.

Within 5 hours 17 minutes their pledges and cash totaled $6,049--almost $20 for every one of the 317 mintues.

Each dollar to enable an embryo club--already with 190 members--to provide a wholesome place and program for kids of every walk of life.

Those who have worked to make Boys' Club a reality were amazed at the response.

Verne Lundquist, the personable Swede, who reports sports for a Dallas TV station grabbed a plane from Dallas, to share emcee duties and help spur the fund drive forward.

When he hurried from Colorado High Auditorium at 4:30 p.m. to catch a plane for the Dallas Chaps pro basketball playoff game that night, the telethon was at the $4,000 mark.

"I can tell you are going to reach $6,000," Lundquist commented. "It's fantastic for a small community like this."

When an overworked and almost out-of-words Drew Ballard halted the event at 6:17 o'clock, the adding machine tape counted $6,049.

The kids came all afternoon--150 of 'em with nickles, dimes and some with $5 bills.

"I saw 3 young kiddoes in the line together once, each with 5 dollar bills in their hand," said Boys' Club President Jimmy Harrison.

Jaycee-ettes, working in shifts, worked busily at phones receiving calls and listing donors, their addresses and amount of contributions.

Hurrying back and forth in cars collecting the cash were Jaycees.

And the cooperative interest and effort kept surging. It still continued Wednesday, but Boys Club leaders knew they would need to rekindle the campaign before the $7,500 goal is met and the drive completed April 24.

The broadness of concern continues to surprise Boys Club workers. It is a club for boys, but interest knows no age.

An elderly man Monday delivered $10 to the club--dollars he had saved from his last week's social security check.

"I'm interested in boys," he said handing over the money, "and I know of no better cause in Mitchell County."

Harrison met a man, almost blind, walking around the club

Spring Vocal Concert

Ticket Sale Assists Choir Trip

Colorado High's vocal music department, winner of 16 first division medals in Regional Interscholastic League competition, will present its spring concert Monday.

Mixed choir, girls choir, vocal ensembles, soloists and instrumentalists will be featured in the two-part program in Colorado High Auditorium.

The concert, "Sounds of Spring," will begin at 7:30 p.m. with Miss Margaret Mathis, directing.

Tickets for the event are on sale now and can be purchased from any student choir member or at the door Monday evening.

Proceeds from the ticket sale, 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for children, will assist the choir with expenses for their trip to First Greater Southwest Annual Music Festival April 23-24 in Amarillo.

"Our concert will provide variety in a manner to musically interest the entire audience," said Miss Mathis.

Three of the selections by the Colorado High mixed choir will be the choir's contest repetoire for the Amarillo festival. These are "Psallite" by Praetorius-Greyson, "Alma Redemptoris Mater" by Palestrina and "Hallelujah Sing" by Scott Wilkinson.

The mixed choir also will present a unique arrangement of "God's Trombones," combining the poetry and music in the tradition of Negro spiritual.

Featured with the girls choir will be the first division award winning trio of Tammy Allen, Sherri Long and Margi Palmer. Selections by the girls choir will include "Sound the Trumpet" by Henry Purcell, "Dear Lord, We Praise Thee" by Sergei Rachmaninoff and "Echo Song" by di Lasso.

Another first division medal winner, Clara Taylor, will be presented as soloist with the choir and guitarists Rickey Parks and George Gray and pianist Debra Ruffin.

In this final portion of the concert will be "Let It Be," "Cherish," "For All We Know," "We've Only Just Begun" and "My Sweet Lord."

Mrs. Hooks Association Official

A Colorado City citizen has been elected vice president of Big Country Tuberculosis & Respiratory Disease Association.

She is Mrs. A. J. Hooks, who is a member of the 32-county association's board of directors with another Colorado City member, Mrs. A. H. Jackson.

Mrs. Hooks was elected vice president at the Big Country Association's second annual membership meeting last week in San Angelo.

Named president of the association was H. G. Adams with Dr. W. A. Miller president-elect. Elected secretary was Mrs. Doyle Condra and named treasurers were H. N. Anderson and Bobby Fletcher.

The board heard reports that the association had cooperated with Division of Tuberculosis Control, Texas Department of Health, in promoting tuberculin skin test surveys in several West Texas counties. More test surveys are planned for the summer and early fall.

Appearing on the program were Dr. Robert H. McCarty and Miss Peggy Boyd.

Attending the meeting with Mrs. Hooks and Mrs. Jackson from Mitchell County was Mrs. E. L. Tiller.

No. 1 To Jr. High

Choral students at Colorado Junior High are happy with their first Division 1 trophy in 4 years.

One of their choir groups received the top rating in concert.

Two other choir groups received Division 2 rating in concert.

Division 2 rating went to the mixed chorus in sight reading.

Approximately 90 students, all under the direction of Miss Margaret Mathis, were in the group competing in the Cisco festival.

They were divided into 3 groups for the concert competition, Miss Mathis said.

The Division 1 rating was the first for Junior High since 1967.

Judges commended the choir for a "remarkable. . .overall fine job" and told the students "you are on your way toward becoming a fine choral organization."

Requests 'In' For Aid

Busy Farm Sign-Up Today, Friday

Formal applications to include Mitchell County in emergency haying-grazing and livestock grain programs are in College Station with State Agricultural Stabilization & Conservation Committee.

Decision on the application will not come until after the state committee meets April 19.

"I don't expect to hear anything from College Station until the last of the month. . . probably around about April 30," said Don Stewart, executive director for Mitchell ASCS.

While the awaiting the drouth measures, the local ASCS is expecting a heavy rush of business Thursday and Friday.

That's because Friday is final deadline for Mitchell farmers to sign for participation in 1971 cotton, feed grain and wheat programs. More than 100 farmers remained to be signed the last two days.

Deadline for cotton lease transfers was April 5, notices of transfers still were arriving by mail at mid week.

However, Stewart emphasized that all farmers with transfers must verify all cotton leases received.

"When all their lease has been reported," the executive director said, "they must come by the office and verify the transfers."

After the verification, revised acreage notices will be sent out and a second office

CONVERSATION CORNER

When the time comes that you get happiest when it's time to go to bed at night and can't wait until time to get up in the morning you're in the process of aging, according to some observer or other.

That may or may not be so. But it definitely is true that most people in this world can be divided into two classes--day people and night people.

Day people delight in getting up early and look down their noses at people who like lying late in bed.

Night people hate going to bed at a reasonable time if there is any way they can possibly avoid it. They frown upon the "early to bed" believers.

Neither the day people nor the night people are too tolerant of their opposites and what is known this season as their "life styles."

* * *

NIGHT PEOPLE may not accomplish as much, visibly, as their "early to rise" contemporaries. More than likely they have a lot more fun.

One does not just have to be an evil-doer to love night best. One can be a composer, say. Probably the world's greatest music was mostly scored by candlelight. Can you honestly think that Schubert was inspired to compose his haunting Serenade right after breakfast?

Even the words set to the melody by some later lyricist go "All night long my heart keeps singing. . ." That lyricist knew.

* * *

FAIRLY NEW country music hit "Help Me Make It Through The Night" does not sound as if it were written in mid-afternoon, either.

Many ballads and popular songs do hail the day. But many more salute the night.

Musicians, poets, playwrights, novelists, inventors, love the night. Also astrologers, lovers, playboys, movie fans, and mother of little children. . .unless the brood is in and out of bed with chickenpox.

The plain, average, non-genius ones who love the night love it for different reasons. And to each his own reason.

* * *

THERE IS something about night that's magic. The small house becomes a haven--a little oasis. And the brain gets busy when the body stays still.

Part of the magic of night is that it fires the imagination. All the best planning, the best problem-solving, the best work, the best ambitions, the best character-revisions come at night.

More changes have been wrought by active minds in the middle of the night than this world dreams of--or ever sees come to pass, either.

Non-magic part is that day breaks the spell. The light of day drags even the most elaborate dreamer back to reality. The perfect solutions, the perfect poems, the perfect masterpieces need stardust. . .moon over the prairie. . .or even wind in the locust trees. . .to make them real.

* * *

LOVING NIGHT does not mean you have to hate the day. It's entirely possible to be fairly well pleased with both.

They're just different. As different as night and day!

Think day and what do you think? Work. . .errands. . . menus and mealtime. . .school or Sunday School. . .neglected chores crying at you. . .duty all over the place.

Think night. Well? Unless you are going through a terribly lonely stage or painful illness you can think rest. . .the lamp light's glow. . .a book in hand . . .music for listening to. . . memories. . .a better tomorrow . . .beauty.

Day is a little like the meat and potatoes of life. Night. . . ah, night is for dessert!

* * *

GOD made the day with his Let there be light. . .

And then He blessed His world with night.

'Spring Fling' Features Family Fashions

An audience of about 100 persons last Thursday evening viewed spring and summer fashions during Zeta Delta Study Club's "Spring Fling" in Lone Wolf Electric Medallion Room.

The style show featured bridal fashions as well as sports, vacation, casual and dress apparel for the entire family.

Thirty-one men, women and youths modeled fashions from seven local stores-Sue's Flowers and Bridal Shop, Anthony's, Mode O Day, Landau's, Marshall's Downtown, Ed Thrift's and Cowen's.

Mrs. Bobby Nobles was commentator for the evening. Elroy Devorce, pianist, provided background music. Devorce and a group of youths sang during intermission.

First to model was Mrs. Betty Norris who wore a persimmon blouse and persimmon, black and tan pleated skirt appropriate for campus togs.

Near the end of the show she also showed a bridemaid's gown of violet rayon chiffon.

Martha Sparks modeled two summer sports sets. First costume was red and white tank top and white cotton pants, complimented by white shoes. Her next suit was white shorts topped by a blouse of navy and white checks fashioned with lace and contrasting checks on long sleeves. With it she wore a flop hat of red, white and blue.

Larry Kinard Jr. showed a chocolate brown sta-prest shirt with button front jeans in rayon and polyester.

In his second appearance, Larry wore a shirt styled with long pointed collar, full sleeves with wide cuffs in Aztec print of orange, brown, gold and black on white with slacks of dacron and rayon. His belt in two shades of brown leather harness cowhide had a wide buckle.

Seven-year-old Jana Bassinger was a picture of Easter fashion in a yellow acetate and nylon dress, crisp white gloves and lacy knee socks.

She also modeled a two-piece scooter set-a white blouse with a large brown sailor collar and an orange tie with polka dots matching the belt of scooter shorts of brown.

Her little brother, Raymond was ready for Easter week end activities in a three piece suit of cotton including a three button jacket in shades of green, blue and turquoise, short turquoise slacks and white shirt.

Striped bell bottom pants and a long sleeved blouse of beige with embroidered braid trim was chosen by Terre Pawkett for her first appearance.

She also presented the denim look with a long sleeved blue denim blouse with embroidered braid and orange accents and blue denim shorts.

A maxi dress of screen print rayon and cotton in red, white and blue was worn by Vicki Lenard.

Debra Price modeled a pullover blouse of bright red with flare leg, hip hugging slacks.

Later in "Spring Fling" Debra wore a dress of beige rayon and flax fashioned with a stand-up collar, hem and tie belt of brown embroidery. Long sleeves were highlighted by brown and gold buttons that were repeated down the fitted bodice.

A father and son duo, Jack and Andy Parse, wore casual outfits.

Rev. Parse, minister of First Presbyterian Church, was dressed in a red polyester shirt, easy care knit pants and corfam shoes. Andy's white deck pants of 100% cotton were topped by a blue and white shirt.

Fay Wistrand showed a "Date Bait" dress of dacron and cotton made by Colorado City's branch of Jeanne Manufacturing Company.

Gay Oliver's red and white striped shirtwaist school dress was of arnel terry. Red shoes complimented her costume.

A other school frock, a navy and white trimmed pant suit of textured double knit acetate, was modeled by Eddie Garcia. With it she carried a navy crushed patent shoulder bag.

Mrs. Dennis Wright wore a coordinated ensemble consisting of blue and white horizonal stripe knit shirt and blue connton knit pants.

Stepping into "Spring Fling" with a red and blue dress was Connie Carter. The empire bodice was piped and laced with white.

Mrs. Doug Simmons modeled a costume featuring a long tunic top which can double as a dress. Gold accessories accented the frock.

A shirt of Tycora polyester in nutmeg brown with mock turtle neck was matched with flare leg pants for Joe Kirschbaum's appearance in the style show. His slip-on continental shoes are featured in this month's issue of Playboy magazine.

Pam Johnson was dressed for party or church in a white pleated skirt and top of bonded rayon. Navy and white blouse was highlighted with a big white collar, brass buttons and chain.

Nine-year-old Debbie Wright looked like a birthday girl in a dress featuring white bonded lace in long torso design. White lace gloves and small white hat completed her outfit.

A tennis dress of navy and white featuring a pleated skirt was worn by Betsy Mann.

An after-five party pantsuit was modeled by Mrs. Frank Derebigus.

Joey Wright wore pants with a western flair, a wallpaper print shirt and wide belt.

Cheryl Hays topped navy blue and white pants with a jersey shirt in navy blue.

Play clothes for Angela Simsons included red shorts and an apron style red top styled with a low back closed with two buttons and trimmed with white daisies.

A dressy beige pant suit of nylon, acetate and rayon was worn by Esther Perales. The lace creation was accented by a large pointed collar and long sleeves.

John Sanchez was dressed in navy flare leg pants and red shirt.

Larry Williams' multi-colored pants was complimented by sheer nylon knit shirt in navy. His semi-boot type shoes featured side buckles.

Ruthie Green displayed red, white and blue flare bottom pants and a bright coordinating red knit pullover. The polyester blouse sported a large front zipper.

Doug Simmons modeled the latest in young men's suits-a two button coat in grey and rust pin stripes with new wide lapels, high center back vent and pants with slight flare legs. With it he wore a pumpkin colored shirt and a wide tie in an orange and yellow starburst pattern.

Mrs. James Huckbay protrayed a mother of the bride as she wore a candlelight silk linen dress with a matching full-length coat. The dress had short sleeves and cushion mum trim around the neckline and center front panel.

Concluding Zeta Delta's annual fashion show was Denise Bertl who wore a polyester organza bridal gown trimmed with Chantilace. Completing the costume was a lace bordered illusion mantilla.

Proceeds for the program will benefit the study club's annual scholarship fund.

SAFEWAY BRAND FOODS CARRY EASY-TO-READ DATES THAT HELP ENSURE THEIR FRESHNESS

On and off the shelves in a matter of hours! That's how fast our perishable foods (such as meats, eggs, coffee, bakery and dairy foods) sell at Safeway. Even so, the perishable foods that Safeway manufactures or processes carry open dates which can be checked by our employees (and our customers) to make extra sure no package is overlooked. Shown at the right, for example, is the date on a package of Safeway coffee. When the numbers "1-15" appeared, our employees knew the package was not to be sold after January 15. Being positive no package remains on our shelves after the printed date ensures that all Safeway coffee you buy will remain fresh and good for many more days after you take it home.

Marvin D. Igleharts Here After Marriage in Virginia

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Douglas Iglehart are visiting here following their marriage March 27 in Riverdale Baptist Church in Hampton, Va.

Mrs. Iglehart is former Carol Lonette Bennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie H. Bennett of Hampton.

Iglehart is son of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Iglehart of 528 East 14th Street who were in Hampton for the wedding.

The couple exchanged double ring wedding vows in an afternoon ceremony read by Rev. Ross West, Riverdale Baptist Church minister. Wedding music included "I Love You Truly."

Altar was marked by standing baskets of white chrysanthemums.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street-length gown of Chantilly lace over white satin. Long lace sleeves ended with scallops at the wrists. Dress back was styled with a train effect of lace. A white satin bow marked the front empire bodice.

She carried a bouquet of white carnations and yellow roses.

Mrs. Marlene Long of Coushatta, La., was her sister's matron of honor.

She wore a mint green Chantilly lace over white satin. Empire bodice was fashioned with a green velvet bow, square neckline and puffed sleeves.

Her bouquet was of mint green carnations.

The groom's father served as his son's best man. Ushering guests was David Bennett of Hampton, the bride's brother.

Home of the bride's parents was setting for a wedding reception honoring the couple following their marriage.

Bride's table was covered with a yellow net lace cloth over white and centered with three-branch candelabra holding yellow tapers.

Standing baskets of white chrysanthemums accented refreshment table area.

For a honeymoon trip to North Carolina and Texas the bride changed to a white long sleeved polyester dress topped by a multi-colored stripped coat and navy blue accessories.

After their visit here with the bridegroom's parents, the bridal couple will be at home at Norfolk, Va., where he is serving with United States Navy aboard the USS Independence.

The bride was graduated from Hampton High School and attended College of Hampton Road in Denbeigh, Va. Prior to her marriage she was employed by Wilfred Schade Company in Newport News, Va.

Study of Texas Courthouses Feature County Building

A study of Texas courthouses by Hesperian Study Club Friday afternoon featured a review of Mitchell County Courthouse.

Mrs. J. V. Glover presented the program hosted by Mrs. E. M. Majors. Mrs. O. F. Jones was leader.

Mrs. Glover spoke generally of Texas courthouses. She described the oldest still in use is the courthouse in Cass County, location next to Louisiana and Arkansas state lines. It was built in 1859.

The latest built and "perhaps the most expensive in the Dallas County courthouse at a cost of $18,500,000," she said.

The present Mitchell County courthouse is the third building, Hesperians were told.

First building was contracted in August, 1881. Contract was for courthouse to cost $20,823. and jail, $11,927.

"In April, 1883, the buildings were accepted," Mrs. Glover said, "even though there were a few cracks here and there and two chimneys were somewhat obstructed.

"Mitchell County had a courthouse and jail complete with lightning rods, cistern, privy and fence around the jail."

The speaker related that courtroom of the building was used before the building was completed.

After about a year another contract was let for a new two-story building to be built at a cost of $57,000. The old building, valued at $10,000 was used as first payment on the two-story structure which was completed May 14,1885.

The second courthouse served the county until summer of 1924 when the present three-story building was completed at a cost of $115,000.

Extensive repair and remodeling in 1965 and the building of a new jail has brought the local courthouse up to modern standards, Mrs. Glover explained in closing.

Guests for the refreshment hour were Mrs. Gus Chesney; her daughter and grandson, Mrs. Tim Bennett and Blake, of Paris, Tex.

Members attending were Mrs. John Hale, Mrs. D. M. Womack, Mrs. O. F. Jones, Mrs. G. D. Foster, Mrs. F. N. Thomas, Mrs. Sam Wulfjen, Mrs. O. L. Simpson.

Also, Mrs. C. C. Thompson, Mrs. E. H. Winn, Mrs. J. W. Watson, Mrs. Glover, Mrs. Bennett Scott, Miss Gladys Miller and the hostess, Mrs. Majors.

SPECIAL ACHIEVEMENT

It seems like that just about every day a student or group of students within our community is making special achievement.

Buth none overshadows that of Marsha Brownfield and Eddie Lee Nixon, the valedictorian and salutatorian for Colorado High's 1971 graduating class.

Their purposeful scholastic endeavor deserves the special recognition that accompanies the honor.

Deserving applause, too, are the other honor graduates--Patty Pattillo, Marsha Beights, Tommy Boyd, Bill Morris, Jean Costin, Ada Feaster, Brenda Bodine and Jim Wilkerson. Their records are alomst at the same level as the top pair.

All of 'em reflect good for their school and teachers as well as their individual families.

"I want to see this club go," he said.

George Burgoon of Midland, father of Ted Burgoon who has been a driving force in organizing and operating the club, contributed $50 cash and pledged $300 worth of club equipment.

"We would like to express thanks personally to each person and firm that worked, assisted or contributed to the telethon and fund campaign," said Harrison.

"There were so many, however, his personal contact is impossible.

"Everyone, though, has the appreciation and grateful thanks of Mitchell County Boys Club, its board and members."

Harrison emphasized that special commendation was due Dale Mathis and his Frontier Electronics Cable TV system. "He made it all possible," the club president said.

Mathis arranged for the telecast, donated services of his crews Saturday and Sunday, brought in special equipment and handled all the technical arrangements without a dime's expense to the club.

Driver In Collison Charged

A man who Sunday was rescued from under a wrecked car faced more trouble Wednesday.

A criminal charge in Mitchell County Court accuses Israel Santana of Colorado City with driving while intoxicated at time of the accident.

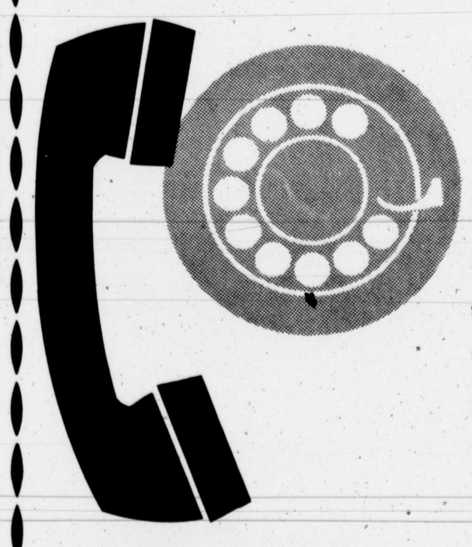

Santana was driver of a 1960 sedan that was in collision with a 1969 4-door sedan driven by Maria Leiva Rodriquez, DeLaney Circle, at intersection of Hickory and East 6th.

Santana, almost scalped in the wreck, was pinned beneath his car. However, Ray Crowder of Pride Service Station quickly ran to his aid with a jack and lifted the car off the injured man.

The woman walked away from her car, but collapsed 20 feet away.

Both were rushed to Root Memorial Hospital.

Policeman W. R. Upshaw reported that Santana's car was traveling on 6th and the Rodriquez car was traveling on Hickory.
