CITY ACCEPTS NEW VALUATION SCHEDULE, CUTS TAX RATE

An increase of about 8.5 per cent in city taxes appears to be the result of a reappraisal of taxable property and adjustment of the tax rate.

Taxable values will be approximately doubled as a result of the new appraisals, but the tax rate has been cut almost in half to account for the 8.5 per cent increase in the tax levy.

City commissioners last night accepted a tentative report on the reappraisal survey conducted by Pritchard & Abbott, property valuation engineers.

The report showed actual value of all taxable property within the city limits to be $78,087,730 at present.

However, commissioners decided to assess taxes on the basis of 50 per cent of the actual value, which would reduce the value for tax purposes to some $39,000,000.

This is approximately double the city's 1957 assessed valuation of $19,662,340

VALUES UP, RATE DOWN

But partially offsetting the increase was the reduction of the tax rate from $2.05 per $100 down to $1.20 per $100 of property value.

As a result, the net increase in city taxes will average slightly less than 8.5 per cent.

A $10,000 house, for example, would have had as assessed value of $2,700 on the old roll. With the rate at $2.05 per $100, its annual city tax bill was $55.35.

Under the new setup, the same house will go on the tax rolls with a value of $5,000. The new tax rate of 1.20 per $100 will result in city taxes of $60—an increase of $4.65.

Under the higher valuations and lower tax rate, the city tax levy this year will be about $460,000. Last year, under the old system the levy was $402,000. The gain here is about 16 per cent, but helping to account for that is the natural increase in values through new construction, etc., since Jan. 1, 1957.

The Pritchard & Abbott survey turned up $62,191,850 in real estate and $15,895,930 in personal property for the total $78,087,780 of taxable property within the city limits.

This is approximately the same as was reflected by the city's old tax roll. The assessed valuations totaling $19,662,340 last year were based on 66.66 per cent of actual 1941 values. Perry Johnson, city tax assessor, has kept current rolls up to date on the premise that 66 per cent of the 1941 values amounted to 27 per cent of present values. On that basis, property listed on last year's tax roll had an actual value of $72,800,000. Construction completed since last year's roll was tabulated has amounted to about $3,000,000 so the Pritchard & Abbott findings exceeded city estimates of actual values by only $2,000,000.

ADJUSTMENTS

While relatively little additional property was added to the city tax rolls, considerable adjustment was made in the valuation of individual parcels of property, Pritchard & Abbott representatives told City Manager H. W. Whitney.

The value of some items was increased sharply, while the value of others was reduced appreciably. Given as examples were First Street, where values were generally lowered, and Gregg, where values in many instances were raised in line with current actual values.

Equalization of taxes and the addition of any property that may have been missed under regular assessment were the two principal objectives of the revaluation survey which was undertaken jointly by the city, school district and county earlier this year, officials of the three agencies said.

NOTICES MAILED

Property owners will receive individual reports on all changes in values of their holdings. Notices of the changes will be mailed within the next two weeks and equalization boards will meet the week of Sept. 8 for consultations with all property owners who wish to discuss their individual cases.

The city and school district will use a joint equalization board, while county commissioners will serve as the equalization board for the county. Both groups and representatives of Pritchard & Abbott will meet at the same time and place for the consultations with taxpayers.

The Pirtchard & Abbott survey report shows property valuations totaling $111,300,000 in the school district and $260,000,000 in the county. The school district is expected to base its assessments on 50 per cent of actual values, the same as the city, while county assessments are on the basis of 20 per cent of actual value.

Ike Offers 6-Point Plan For Peace In Mid-East

SHOOT-FOR-THE-MOON TRY SLATED SUNDAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Informed sources said today the Air Force may make its first try at launching a moon rocket next Sunday morning.

If conditions are satisfactory, the three-stage rocket, more than 100 feet tall, may blast off from Cape Canaveral, Fla., around 7 a.m. (EST.)

However, the commander of the missile test center at Cape Canaveral, Maj. Gen. Donald M. Yates, today denied a time has been set for the launching attempt. He said he didn't know when the attempt will be made.

If it does not prove possible to launch with a half-hour's time, the attempt may be postponed to a similar brief period Monday morning. If once again a launching is impossible, the attempt may be postponed to Tuesday.

Those are the three most favorable days this month for a moon shot. Experts say it will be possible to make still another try next Wednesday, although conditions would be marginal.

After Wednesday, the rocket specialist said, any lunar probe would have to be postponed until the middle of September. Every 28 days the orbiting patterns of the earth and moon are so aligned that conditions are favorable for a shot.

It will take 2½ days for the lunar vehicle to reach the vicinity of the moon.

The rocket will be equipped with a photoelectric scanning device which, if it functions properly out in space, could relay close-ups of the moon back to earth.

Should the probe actually orbit the moon, this television-type equipment would provide the first crude photographs of the far side of the moon, the side that is never visible from earth.

The lunar probe also will carry equipment to measure the impact of particles in space and gauge the gravitational field of the earth and the moon.

A requisite for a lunar probe is an escape from the earth's gravitational field. To accomplish this, the missile must attain a speed of 25,000 miles an hour.

Although the chances of a successful launching and of an escape from the earth are believed to be fairly poor, the probe also will have rockets to adjust it to the proper speed and direction to attain a lunar orbit if it gets close enough to the moon.

Ex-Governor Said A Word For Hoffa

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Gov. Payne Ratner of Kansas testified today he arranged for better treatment of James R. Hoffa in a 1953 congressional investigation. But he denied he engineered the mysterious squelching of the inquiry.

The stormy 1953 House investigation of Hoffa, now president of the Teamsters Union, was dropped by its co-chairmen, Rep. Wint Smith (R-Kan) and Clare E. Hoffman (R-Mich), with an explanation to newsmen that this was because of pressure "from way up there." They never said from whom the pressure came.

Ratner, who was serving as counsel to the Teamsters Union in 1953, told the Senate Rackets Committee he interceded with Smith to "keep Hoffman on the track" in the hearing, but denied the union had hired him specifically for that purpose, so far as he knows.

Letters secured by the committee from Ratner's files were introduced. They referred to conferences between Ratner and Smith and told of Smith's balking at a move by Hoffman to cite Hoffa for contempt of Congress.

"I never asked him (Smith) to call off the hearings," Ratner testified. He said he did ask Smith for a postponement because a grand jury was also investigating Hoffa.

One letter, from Smith to Ratner, said chances for a contempt of Congress citation against Hoffa had died.

Ratner was counsel for the Teamsters in a 1953 House Investigation which was dropped mysteriously.

Smith and Rep. Clare E. Hoffman (R-Mich) co-chairman of a special House subcommittee, have said the investigation was dropped because of political pressure from high places. They never have elaborated.

One letter, dated Nov. 30, 1953 from Ratner to Hoffa said:

"Wint told me today that he certainly got in bad with Hoffman and the staff by having gone along with me in his treatment of you Friday.

"I, of course, expressed my appreciation to him and told him that I have always thought no one had to worry very much about doing the right thing."

A March 11, 1954, letter from Ratner to Hoffa said Smith had refused to sign a contempt citation against Hoffa prepared by Hoffman.

There was also a March 31, 1954 letter from Smith to Ratner which said:

"I have heard nothing more about any contempt citation for Hoffa, and I think it is a dead issue."

County Gins Its First Bale

Howard County's first bale of 1958 cotton rolled out of the press at Planters Gin Co. here at high noon today.

The cotton was produced by Oliver Nichols & Son of the Elbow community. The farm, owned by Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Barnett of Dallas, is about five miles southwest of Big Spring.

Nichols said he picked over about 50 acres to gather 1,900 pounds of seed cotton. It turned out 840 pounds of lint, said Clay Ingram, gin manager.

Planes Probing Atlantic Storm

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Navy planes and three instrument-loaded aircraft from the national hurricane research projects joined the Air Force today in probing the season's second storm.

Air Force planes normally scout the area daily during the hurricane season but with the storm, named Becky, showing signs of growing into a hurricane, the services moved in for a close look.

Highest winds were estimated at 55 m.p.h. in squalls, with gale force winds extending 175 miles to the north and 50 miles south of the center.

Becky offered no immediate threat to land but a tropical storm watch was in effect for Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Social Security Veto Challenged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex) said today he wants the Senate to pass a good social security bill despite threats of a veto by President Eisenhower.

"We are not going to be deterred by this veto stuff," the Senate leader told newsmen as he asked senators to begin another day and night session pushing for adjournment.

The administration has approved the provisions in the House-passed social security bill for increases in old age and survivor benefits and the taxes to finance them, but Secretary of Welfare Flemming has said he will recommend a veto if increases in the federal contribution for public assistance, such as the needy aged program, remained in the measure.

THINGS TO BE DONE

Later in a Senate speech Johnson repeated his comments on social security and expanded his list of things to be done before Congress goes home. He named adequate farm, housing, education, social security and other legislation.

"I don't think that's going to be done this week," he added.

The Democratic leader made his remarks as the Senate moved toward action on one item on his list, the 1½ billion dollar bill to spur U.S. education in the missile.

The education bill before the Senate would provide college scholarships and student loans as well as measures to raise the level of teaching.

It carries 280 million dollars for four-year college scholarships of up to $1,000 a year each. It also includes 315 million dollars in student loan funds and 280 million for grants to the states to buy laboratory equipment for grade schools and high schools.

Additional millions are earmarked for institutes and training centers to improve instruction in science, mathematics and foreign languages as well as to better the teaching of general subjects.

The Senate passed three major tax bills yesterday in a sudden burst of speed which somewhat brightened hopes for an early adjournment. All three bills went to conference with the House, which had passed them previously in different form.

First the Senate passed a bulky excise tax revision bill. Then, in a late night session, it finished work on an equally complex technical tax revision bill and added to it a hitherto separate measure designed to give tax relief to small business.

The excise tax revision bill would cost about 39 million dollars a year in revenue.

Toes In Temple

Church is where a six-year-old boy should be on Sunday morning but — a brand-new pair of tight shoes is a little too much. So, off they had to come, thought Mickie Klatt, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Klatt of Lubbock, and suiting thoughts to action, did just that. No one would have known if he had only not forgotten to put them back on when church was over, and he got caught, sock-footed, that is. (AP Wirephoto).

U.N. Police Force Urged Immediately

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — President Eisenhower today set forth a sweeping six-point plan for building enduring Middle East peace — including swift creation of an emergency U.N. police force and an international economic development program.

In a dramatic personal appearance before a tense extraordinary meeting of the United Nations General Assembly, the President at the same time accused Russia—without naming the Soviet Union — of stirring up war hysteria with tactics of "ballistic blackmail."

Eisenhower laid down his proposals for peace and economic stability in a major foreign policy speech carried coast-to-coast on television and radio, and beamed around the world by the government's Voice of America radio.

He said his program would promote "a true Arab renaissance." The alternative, he asserted, is:

"The danger that nations under aggressive leadership will seek to exploit man's horror of war by confronting the nations, particularly small nations, with an apparent choice between supine surrender, or war."

Again without naming Moscow, Eisenhower compared the Kremlin's conduct with someone who cries "fire" in a crowded assembly.

The President's proposed six points:

SIX POINTS

1. A standby United Nations peace force.

2. An Arab-run Middle East economic development loan fund and a technical assistance program, financed jointly by the Arab states, the United States and other countries, presumably including Russia.

3. A constant U.N. check to curb inflammatory propaganda broadcasts to and from the Middle East nations.

4. A U.N. study of possible controls on arms shipments to Middle East countries, including Israel, to avert an East-West munitions race in the area.

5. Unspecified new U.N. moves to guarantee Lebanon's security and independence after American troops are withdrawn.

6. An expression of U.N. determination to assure Jordan's survival as a nation, presumably by replacing British troops now there with U.N. personnel.

NO BLAME FIXED

Calling world attention to the tense situation in that tiny kingdom, Eisenhower warned that "indirect aggression discernible in Jordan may lead to conflicts endangering the peace." He did not fix blame for this, but said consequences of a far-reaching nature could result.

Eisenhower proposed fast general assembly action on the parts of his program dealing with the peace force, Lebanon, Jordan and the curbing of subversive propaganda. The regional economic development plan and arms control he left for handling through other U.N. machinery.

The President made it clear the Arabs first of all must agree on the regional development plan. He said:

"Should the Arab states agree on the usefulness of such a soundly organized regional institution, and should they be prepared to support it with their own resources, the United States would also be prepared to support it."

TROOP ACTION

With Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko on hand, Eisenhower strongly defended his decision to rush U.S. troops into Lebanon, and said against the background of Russia's bitter denunciation of that move:

"This world of individual nations is not going to be controlled by any one power or group of powers....please believe me when I say that the dream of world domination by one power, or a world of conformity, is an impossible dream."

The President served notice that if necessary the U.S. again would go to the aid of a threatened country, particularly any small nation, which appeals for help within the spirit of the U.N. charter.

Eisenhower's 30-minute address to delegates from the 81 U.N. countries included no sensational surprises.

The President did not spell out the kind of police force he has in mind. But informed officials said he favors a highly mobile force of about 3,000 men, equipped with small arms only. They would be the U.N.'s first permanent police force, ready to speed to the help of any country appealing for such aid.

BID FOR ARAB SUPPORT

The force would be stationed in the capital of a threatened country, and not used to patrol frontiers as Russia proposed Tuesday.

In a clear bid for Arab support of his plan, Eisenhower sprinkled his speech with high praise and backing for Arab nationalism. But no place did he mention leadership of that movement by President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic.

Eisenhower said that if his Middle East peace program can be carried out, then "in a few short years we may be able to look back on the Lebanon and Jordan crisis as the beginning of a great new era of Arab history."

He said that the six parts of his plan should be acted on together as integral elements of a single, concentrated peace package.

DEVELOPMENT

In dealing with economic stabilization of the Middle East, Eisenhower urged that U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold consult immediately with Arab nations to find out whether agreement can be reached on creation of an Arab development institution on a regional basis.

He did not estimate how much money should be put into this program at the start.

However, some informed authorities said they believe the fund should get under way with about a 100-million-dollar kitty. The money would be contributed not only by some of the outside nations but by some of the oil-rich Middle East countries.

Red Delegate Charges U.S. As Aggressor

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) —Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko answered President Eisenhower's Middle East peace bid today with a charge that the United States was the main threat to peace in that area.

The Soviet leader addressed the emergency Middle East meeting of the 81-nation General Assembly shortly after Eisenhower had outlined a broad program for U.N. action, including creation of a standby police force and a regional agency to finance better living.

Refusing to take the President's cue for playing down East-West differences, Gromyko charged that policies of the United States and Britain "threaten to hurl mankind into the abyss of a new war with all its consequences."

He accused the United States of trampling on the U.N. Charter by sending military forces into Lebanon. He also charged that indirect aggression was a firm part of U.S. foreign policy.

"Oil, oil and oil again," Gromyko said. "That is what is tempting the monopolists of the United States and United Kingdom in the Middle East, and that is what prompts them to take military intervention in the Arab states."

President Eisenhower, appearing here for the first time in nearly five years, told the Assembly the United States is ready to support both a Middle East peace force and a bold new agency to help finance economic projects.

He was given a rousing round of applause as he concluded his 30-minute speech.

HIGHLIGHTS OF IKE TALK

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) —Highlights from President Eisenhower's address today:

This world of individual nations is not going to be controlled by any one power or group of powers. This world is not going to be committed to any one ideology.

The danger is that nations under aggressive leadership will seek to exploit man's horror of war by confronting the nations, particularly small nations, with an apparent choice between supine surrender, or war. This tactic reappeared during the recent Near East crisis. Some might call it "ballistic blackmail."

The United States reserves, with the spirit of the charter, the right to answer the legitimate appeal of any nation, particularly small nations.

Change can and should be brought about in peaceful ways. In this context the United States respects the right of every Arab nation of the Near East to live in freedom without domination from any source, far or near.

I believe this Assembly should take action looking toward the creation of a standby United Nations peace force.

I propose that consultations be immediately undertaken by the secretary general with the Arab nations of the Near East to ascertain whether an agreement can be reached to establish an Arab development institution on a regional basis.

Rusk County Cuts Officials' Salaries

HENDERSON, Tex. (AP) — Rusk County is cutting salaries of its officials because of reduced oil revenue.

The county commissioners climaxed a 2-day economy session yesterday by reducing the salaries of all elected officials and abolishing three jobs on the county payroll.

The move was blamed on the current condition of the domestic oil industry, the county's biggest taxpayer, which is caught in a squeeze between foreign imports and low production allowables.

The salaries of the sheriff, county clerk, district clerk, tax assessor and collector and four commissioners were cut from $6,000 to $5,500. Allowances and fees also were reduced.

To Abandon Line

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Texas Short Line Railway was authorized by Interstate Commerce Commission Examiner H. J. Blond yesterday to abandon a 10-mile line between Grand Saline and Alba, Tex. He said the line had insufficient business.

Rayburn Sees Possibility Of Farm Bill This Session

WASHINGTON (AP)—Speaker Sam Rayburn said today there is some prospect of cracking the deadlock over farm legislation before Congress adjourns.

Rayburn said he had been conferring with members on a way out of the present stalemate, and declared:

"It looks like we may get together on some bill that may be satisfactory at this point."

Rayburn's statement gave weight for the first time to talk of a farm compromise, which began developing yesterday under pressure from some Southern farmers who want to head off a sharp cut in cotton and rice acreage next year.

It was also the first evidence of yielding on Rayburn's part from his seemingly adamant stand against allowing further farm legislation to come to the floor after two earlier House defeats of farm bills and a presidential veto.

The Senate has passed a bill which would lower floor price supports as low as 60 per cent of parity, and substitute a new average market price method of computing support levels.

House farm leaders have thus far refused to consider the Senate bill because it abolished the 25-year-old parity concept for computing supports.

Otherwise, however, the House bill would go far toward secretary of agriculture Benson's flexible support goals by providing a parity floor of 65 per cent.

Both Senate and House bills would prevent rice and cotton acreage cuts and provide alternate dollar support floors.

Second Atomic Sub Crosses North Pole

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States staked a new claim to mastery of undersea pioneering today after a second atomic submarine had crossed under the North Pole.

The U. S. S. Skate reached the pole at 8:47 p. m. (EST) Monday —just six days after its older sister, the Nautilus, emerged from an historic 1,830-mile trip across the polar cap. The Nautilus arrived yesterday in Portland, England, and got a big welcome.

The Navy released word of the Skate's achievement last night without any fanfare—in a two paragraph statement. This contrasted sharply with the special White House ceremony arranged last Friday to announce the Nautilus' voyage.

CONTINUING UNDER ICE

The bare announcement last night said the Skate surfaced in an ice field some 40 miles from the North Pole to radio word of the trip. The Navy said the Skate, the third U. S. atomic sub built, was continuing under-ice explorations.

The Skate's path to the pole was just the opposite from the Nautilus, which began its journey from the Pacific. The 265-foot long Skate left New London, Conn. July 30 and entered from the Atlantic.

As with the Nautilus, Navy officials did nothing to call attention to the military significance of the transpolar trips. President Eisenhower cited the Nautilus' achievement as pointing the way toward a new commercial seaway between the world's two major oceans.

But the military importance of the feats was made plain in remarks by Sens. Prescott Bush (R-Conn) and Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM).

Bush, telling the Senate of the Skate's trip, spoke of the Navy's delivery of a "one-two punch."

Anderson said the submarines may have given the United States the means of preventing war.

"We now have vast new ocean areas from which to wage war," Anderson said.

"There our submarines can hide, can remain undetected for long periods of time, and can fire mssiles at anyone who dares to attack us."

The United States currently is building a fleet of 33 atomic subs. These include three already in service, several soon to go into service and others in the process of construction or on the authorization list.

Scooter Mishap

HOUSTON (AP)—Paul Poylett, 18, was killed last night on U.S. Highway 90 when his scooter collided headon with a trailer truck.

The driver of the truck, Gerald Kratzer, 24, of Harlingen, was not charged.

House Vote Due Today On Goldfine Contempt Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House votes today whether to cite Bernard Goldfine, Boston millionaire and gift-giving friend of presidential assistant Sherman Adams, for contempt of Congress.

Such a citation, recommended unanimously by the House Commerce Committee, would be based on Goldfine's refusal to answer 22 questions put to him by a subcommittee probing his relations with Adams.

If the House votes to send the citation to the Justice Department and if Goldfine is then prosecuted and convicted, he could be given a maximum penalty of $1,000 fine and a year in prison.

Goldfine, at a hearing last July 11, refused to answer 22 questions about the finances of the Boston Port Development Co., a real estate holding company he controls. He contended, among other things that the questions were not pertinent to the committee's assigned task of investigating federal regulatory agencies.

In connection with the questions, subcommittee counsel Robert Lishman pictured Goldfine, majority stockholder in the holding company, as milking the firm to the detriment of minority stockholders.

Lishman suggested Goldfine had borrowed a total of $104,973 from Boston Port Development, received a $20,000 commission from it and that the company wrote off $68,000 of interest on a mortgage it held on a Goldfine building. Some questions also concerned alleged debts of others to the company.

The committee, in a report to the House, said Goldfine's refusal was "a specious attempt to kill off pertinent questions exposing the evil of exploitation of corporate assets by a dominant stockholders."

Ex-Governor In Rackets Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former governor of Kansas was summoned today by Senate rackets investigators to explain his part in a congressional probe of the Teamsters Union that was mysteriously called off in 1953.

At the time, former Gov. Payne Ratner, a Republican, was counsel for the Teamsters in an inquiry by a special House subcommittee in Detroit.

Representatives Clare E. Hoffman (R-Mich) and Wint Smith (R-Kan), co-chairman of the subcommittee, have said that the Detroit investigation was abruptly stopped because of political pressure from high places.

But they have refused to name anyone. Just what did happen to halt the proceedings has never been explained.

The Senate Rackets Committee is conducting hearings on the union and its president, James R. Hoffa.

New Fight Looms On Govt. Secrecy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new round in the battle over federal secrecy shaped up today even though President Eisenhower has signed a bill designed to cut down on such secrecy.

The fight promised to be a long one. It could involve a deeper constitutional tangle than ever before over how much information about federal activities can be withheld from the public.

One skirmish ended Tuesday when Eisenhower signed a bill by Rep. John E. Moss (D-Calif) ruling out a 169-year-old administrative law as authority for keeping information secret. Most executive departments had opposed the bill.

News industry witnesses and other supporters of the measure had hailed it as step against unwarranted imposing of secrecy by federal officials. Eisenhower's statement upon signing hit a different theme.

Eisenhower said Congress, in considering the bill, made clear that executive branch decision-making and investigative processes must be protected. Also, he said, the bill's history shows it could not change what Eisenhower called inherent constitutional power of the executive branch to keep matters secret.

Moss clashed with Eisenhower in a statement issued today.

"I cannot agree with the President's contention that in enacting the freedom of information bill Congress recognized any inherent executive rights or powers to withhold information," Moss said. "Such rights and powers exist for executive departments only when specifically granted by statute."

The congressman said his House Government Information subcommittee will study future executive secrecy claims in the group's attack on the never-ending problem of assuring the American people that their constitutionally guaranteed right to know will be recognized."

The 1789 law amended by the Moss bill empowers department heads to make regulations for use of records.

Murdered Premier's Widow Unaware That He Is Dead

LONDON (AP) — Mrs. Nuri Said, 65-year-old widow of the murdered Premier of Iraq, is living in a London apartment nearly destitute and unaware her husband is dead, the Daily Mail reported today.

With her are the widow and children of her son Sabah, another victim of the July 14 revolution in Iraq.

The Mail gave this account:

Sabah's widow knows the fate of her husband and father-in-law but no one so far has had the courage to tell Mrs. Nuri Said. She knows there has been a revolution in Iraq, but since she does not read or speak English, she has not learned about her husband and their son. Her fears are growing, however.

Nuri left the family in London 10 days before the revolt, saying he would return in two weeks. Almost the only money he left was a year's rent for the apartment in which they are living.

"A few days ago," the report said, "a friend who heard of the women's circumstances took them some fish for their dinner. There was no other food in the apartment."

Sabah's wife is 39, a graduate of the University of Paris and a doctor of law and economics who speaks five languages. She says she will have to go to work soon but at the moment spends all her time looking after her mother-in-law.

An official at the Iraqi Embassy told the Mail: "Mrs. Nuri's position is the same as anyone else holding an Iraq passport. If she has no money, she can return to Iraq."

New Tapir Born; Name Is Just 'It'

CHICAGO (AP) — A 45 - pound tapir born at Brookfield Zoo Tuesday, it appears, is a mixed-up young animal. For the present its only name is "It."

It is related to the horse and rhinoceros, looks like a pig and is living in the zoo's elephant house.

The sex of the South American river animal has not been determined.

"It keeps hiding behind its mother," said Director Robert Bean. "So, temporarily its name is 'It.'"

Baptist Laymen Urged To Avoid 'Cheap Viewpoint'

George L. Graham, assistant to the president of Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene, urged Baptist laymen Tuesday evening to avoid a cheap viewpoint of things.

"There are some things about which we cannot afford to take a cheap attitude," he said. "Among these are our boys and girls, our churches and schools, other people and life in general."

Christian people ought to take a more wholesome outlook on life than others, he told the First Baptist Brotherhood group.

New officers were elected, including Dr. Earl Burnett, who will serve as president, succeeding R. W. Whipkey, who will become membership vice president; Dr. Marshall Cauley, who will be program vice president; Billy T. Smith, who will become activities vice president; and J. C. Ebersole, who was re-elected secretary Announcement was made of the Texas Baptist Brotherhood convention in Fort Worth Sept. 29-30.

Rebels In Lebanon Under Close Watch

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Reconnaissance units of the U. S. Army keep a constant watch on rocky ridges beyond which the mysterious forces of rebel leader Jamal Jumblatt make their camps.

The American watchers work with helicopters, jeeps and on foot. The blue Mediterranean glistens about four miles away. They get down to the beach about once every three days to swim off the dust that goes with soldiering.

They are not looking for trouble and have not had any. Like the cavalry of old they are the eyes of the Army. They should be among the first to know if the present uneasy truce in Lebanon breaks down.

In the most advanced position of all, members of Troop C, an airborne reconnaissance unit of the 17th Cavalry, are dug in snugly. Working with Lebanese security troops and patrolling on their own, they keep track of any disturbances in rebel territory.

Maj. Oran K. Henderson of Indianapolis, the commander, said: "According to our information Jumblatt's army has about 35 per cent local people from his own area in its ranks with the other 65 per cent being what we call strangers. These are said to be Lebanese from other parts of the country, Syrians ann even Egyptians.

"Jumblatt, who is even respected by his opponents, can keep the local people in his army from starting the shooting again. His control over the strangers is questionable, however; that is why we are here to keep a watch on things."

"There has been little to report from here since the recent election of Gen. Fuad Chehab as Lebanese president," said Lt. Douglas Fingles, Storrs, Conn. "Before that there used to be some noise in the hills but nobody seemed to be shooting at us."

Fingles commands the outfit's reconnaissance platoon.

Reservoirs In Texas Go Down

AUSTIN (AP) —The Texas Water Reservoirs started August at 91 per cent of conservation capacity, the Board of Water Engineers said yesterday.

Usable water in the 34 major reservoirs decreased 296,880 acre feet to 9,272,210 acre feet during July. Total storage, including temporary storage in flood pools, was 11,005,220 acre feet, or about 51 per cent of the total capacity.

Streamflow declined generally during July although flooding occurred earlier in the month in the middle Brazos River Basin and near San Antonio in the San Antonio River basin.

Moderate flooding occurred on the Canadian and Red River watersheds but streamflow was characteristic of usual summer conditions with some streams drying up.

Levels in various observation wells declined from 0.7 foot in the El Paso area well to 8.1 feet in the Winter Garden area near La Pryor. A rise of 1.8 feet was recorded near Uvalde and of 0.8 foot in the Travis County well near Buda, which put that well at an all-time high. Record all-time lows were recorded in the El Paso area well and in the Pasadena well.

Ample moisture fell on the High Plains during July and thunderstorms set off hail that damaged crops in areas of the Panhandle. In the southern half, rainfall was below normal. Beaumont and Galveston recorded their seventh straight month of below-normal rainfall.

Sees Threat Of Cotton Shortage

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — A cotton official said yesterday the present government program, if continued, threatens a cotton shortage.

"With reduced acreage, the cost of production would be increased, a shortage of cotton would force the price upward, and customers would not be able to get all the specific qualities they need," said George Chance of Bryan, chairman of the National Cotton Council's board of directors.

He told the opening session of the 1958 Beltwide Cotton Mechanization Conference under present law cotton farmers face an acreage cut of 22 per cent.

"How can our customers have confidence in any policy aimed at making cotton competitive in price if we allow periodic shortages to develop and send the price shooting upward?" he asked.

"Mechanization more than anything else stands as a symbol of what U.S. growers can do to overcome the foreign producers' advantage of low-cost labor," he said.

George Kelly, president of Kelly Plow Co. of Longview, praised the cotton industry for "having done an outstanding job of ferreting out its problems, facing them squarely and taking positive action."

The conference continues through tomorrow.

Busy Season For The U.S. In New Scientific Developments

WASHINGTON (AP) — The North Pole achievements of the atomic submarines Nautilus and Skate have served to accent an especially busy season for U.S. scientific projects.

The Nautilus, the world's first atomic undersea craft, last week became the world's first vessel to cross the North Pole beneath the ice. The Skate, a smaller sub, reached the pole Monday night.

Other items on the U.S. scientific front:

BLIMP — A Navy blimp landed in South Weymouth, Mass., Tuesday after an 8,000-mile trip to the arctic. Capt. H. B. Van Gorder said the trip proved the blimp's ability to operate in the polar region under adverse conditions.

WARHEAD MISSILE — One was exploded Tuesday over Johnston Island from the U.S. nuclear testing range in the Pacific. An engineer estimated the blast occurred at a height of at least 60 miles, or about 20 miles higher than an Aug. 1 air explosion.

ANTI-AIRCRAFT MISSILE — The Army said its Talos interceptor successfully caught and theoretically destroyed the new Kingfisher target missile in a test Tuesday at the White Sands, N. M., proving grounds.

VANGUARD — A static test was given Tuesday to the second stage of a Navy Vanguard rocket at the Cape Canaveral, Fla., launching site.

MOONSHOOT — The Defense Department plans to launch next Sunday around 7 a.m. (EST) if all goes well, the first rockets which it is hoped will get close enough to the moon to relay important data. The Air Force will handle the first three rocket launchings from Cape Canaveral.

BALLOON — The Air Force hopes to send up from Minnesota this week another manned balloon to gain more information about man's ability to exist in space. Capt. Grover J. Schock will ride in the same gondola that carried Lt. Col. David G. Simons to a record 102,000 feet last fall.

SUBMARINE — The nation's latest and biggest atomic submarine—the 6,000-ton Triton — will glide into the water next Tuesday at Groton, Conn. The Triton, powered with two atomic engines, will be a triple decker with twice the tonnage of the Nautilus and equipped to handle 150 men.

ROCKETS — Six will be fired into space during the Oct. 12 eclipse of the sun in an effort to measure the sun's radiation and that of its corona in the blackout period. The planned firings, from Danger Island in the South Pacific, will be part of the International Geophysical year studies.

Quadruplets Born To English Woman

WINCHESTER, England (AP)—Quadruplets were born Tuesday night to Mrs. Irene Carpenter of Basingstoke. One was stillborn but the other three—a boy and two girls—are doing well.

The mother has two other children by a previous marriage and one by her present husband, a machinist who earns 9 pounds ($25.20) a week.

Arms Runners Get Suspension

HOUSTON (AP) — Federal Judge Allen Hannay suspended sentences yesterday given four men and a woman convicted of trying to run arms to Cuban rebels.

The five were given two-year prison terms July 11. Hannay reduced the sentences to 18 months and each sentence was suspended subject to good behavior the next 22 months.

All five paid $500 fines.

They were Abelardo Berrerra, Manuel Arques, Francisco Obregon, Mario Silverio and Evelyn Archer.

They were charged with violating the National Firearms Act after federal agents in February seized a ship and a quantity of firearms on Galveston Bay.

Similar charges are pending against Robert McKeown, former Galena Park resident who owned the house in which the firearms were found.

Israel Watchful Observer Of U.N. Mid-East Parleys

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Israel is taking the position of a watchful observer at the outset of today's U.N. emergency Assembly session on the Middle East.

But Israel has made plain to the Western Powers and Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold that it cannot be ignored in any vital decisions affecting the future of its area.

Israel's delegation to the Assembly is headed by Ambassador Abba Eban. He is being assisted by Arthur Lourie, the Israeli ambassador to Canada, and Moshe Tov, adviser on Latin-American affairs at the Foreign Ministry in Tel Aviv.

Authoritative sources said this was Israel's position:

Israel has served notice on the Western Powers that if Jordan seems about ready to fall into the hands of President Nasser's United Arab Republic, defense considerations will dictate Israel's course of action.

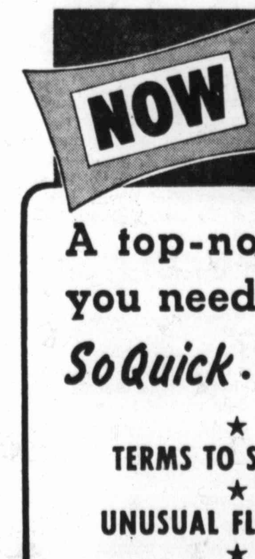

Uppermost in Israel's mind is what happened in Gaza. The Israelis feel they surrenderd Gaza to U.N. control, only to be confronted later by Nasser's forces in that area. They do not intend to see the same thing happen in Jordan.

The inference is that the Israelis will occupy all of Jordan west of the Jordan River and the Dead Sea, including the Old City of Jerusalem.

Eban intends to speak in the Assembly when it gets down to brass tacks on specific proposals.

He will stress Israel's contention that any state threatened by another has the right to invite help from a friendly power.

He will also stress that any guarantees given to Arab states in the Middle East should be applicable to non-Arab states as well.

Record

Skin diver John Gary manages a smile though exhausted as he emerges from pool at the New Orleans, La., Athletic Club after being submerged for 41 hours, one minute, to claim underwater endurance record. Every hour another diver would bring Gary a new tank of air as he moved slowly across the bottom of the 75-degree salt water pool. Gary, a singer by profession, was immediately given a medical examination. Only his hands and feet showed effects of long exposure, this due to poor circulation. (AP Wirephoto).

Tornadic Winds Cause Damage In N. Texas

By The Associated Press

Thunderstorms troubled Texas again Wednesday in the wake of damaging blows Tuesday.

Tornadic winds Tuesday damaged rural areas outside Bonham, Dallas and Fort Worth. Lightning slashed at Terrell and injured two men.

Scattered thundershowers dotted the upper coast Wednesday and scattered thunderstorms rumbled over the upper part of North Central Texas.

Witnesses said a small twister swooped into the Edhube community 5 miles south of Bonham, wrecking a barn and unroofing a home. Hail trampled cotton.

Winds northeast of Dallas on Lake Lavon sank several boats, tore the roof off a cafe and destroyed a house trailer.

The storm struck later in the Fort Worth suburb of Richland Hills, carrying away part of the roof on one home and doing minor damage.

Lightning at Terrell struck near Calvin Rushing, 55, and Esker Evans, 45, street department employes. They were treated for shock.

A hangar and several planes were damaged by the Terrell thunderstorm and a lumber yard building, a cotton warehouse and several smaller buildings lost their roofs. Power was disrupted. About half an inch of rain fell.

Slight Decline In Unemployment Pay

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Employment Commission has reported a slight decline in the number of insured jobless filing for unemployment pay checks last week.

Total individuals filing were 70,719 as against 72,497 for the week ending July 31. Claim actions totaled 72,309 compared to 73,936 for the same week.

State benefit payments totaled $1,421,308 compared to $1,311,820 for the previous week.

A year ago, $514,391 was paid out to 30,990 claims.

Clings To Hat In Suicide Leap

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The 179th known suicide from the Golden Gate Bridge "was holding his hat on his head with both hands all the way down," said ambulance steward Sam Rascon, who tried to grab the man but missed by inches.

"It was strange. He was holding onto it like he was afraid it was going to blow off on the way down," Rascon related.

Rascon, 32, said he knew what the man in the car ahead was going to do when the man stopped Tuesday, jumped out and ran for the bridge rail. "You could tell," Rascon said.

Rascon stopped, too, but the man was over the rail before he could reach him.

Police tentatively identified the victim from a note and billfold left in the abandoned auto as Eilert Johnson, 70, a retired shipyard worker from nearby Oakland.

A Bible Thought For Today

"But when the fulness of the time has come, God sent forth His Son, made of a woman, made under the law." (Galatians 4:4)

An Exciting Show Coming Up

There numerous reasons why you should attend the 13th annual Howard County Junior Rodeo on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings.

First of all, this activity is one of the chief sources of income which supports the 4-H Club programs during the following year. Howard County youngsters have earned quite a reputation in livestock shows and other events and a part of their expenses of participation are financed through profits from the junior rodeo.

In the second place, you will be lending encouragement to these young people and their parents in the project itself. A lot of hard work goes into preparations for a rodeo and certainly into the staging of one. It is a good experience for the young people.

Of course, you have the assurance of witnessing the rodeo in one of the outstanding rodeo set-ups in the country. The boast of there not being a bad seat in the entire bowl is certainly true. You just can't sit anywhere but what you have an unobstructed sweeping view of the field of action.

Finally, and this is a point we make habitually, you will see a bang up good show. Officials of the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo would probably be the first to admit that these kids exhibit an enthusiasm and reckless daring along with unpredictable skill that makes the junior rodeo more fascinating in some respects than the professional shows. One time a performer may almost break a record, and the next time this same participant may almost break his neck. You just can't tell, and that makes it doubly interesting.

Shadow Of A Red Smokescreen

Andrei Gromyko, the famous pedestrian who walked out of United Nations sessions so many times in its formative years that he developed flat feet, is back in New York to represent Russia in the upcoming General Assembly emergency session.

He gave a full-dress rehearsal of his role by calling a press conference upon arrival, thereby tipping the Kremlin's hand that it intends to make the session as much of a pro-Communist propaganda show as circumstances will allow. After all, his boss Khrushchev had been moving heaven and earth for months to get a "summit" conference for making big propaganda medicine, but since that campaign failed, the Soviet Union and its pals and well-wishers will make the most of what opportunities remain.

Khrushchev went all the way to Peiping for part of his ammunition. It is apparent that Communist China will be pushed to the fore at the U. N., with a Russian demand that Mao's minions be admitted to the conference as participating members. Purpose: to agitate for Red China's admission to U. N. Recent passes at Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist base on Formosa by mainland warplanes and heavier concentrations of military strength along the Red mainland shore are part and parcel of the all-out Soviet propaganda spurge.

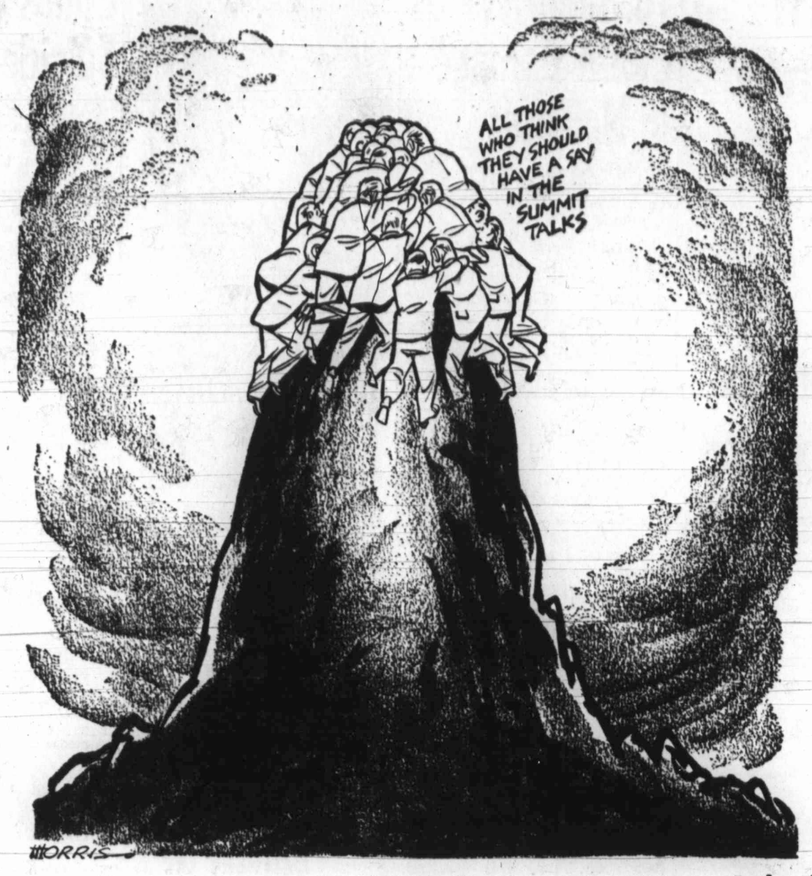

Diverting attention from Russia's role in the Middle East flare-up with a revival of a new war scare in the Far East could be a prime Kremlin objective at the U. N.

Dragging Peiping into the U. N. proceedings, even as a mere sideshow, could serve the Kremlin well; for some of our friends including Britain, have recognized Mao's Red regime, and several other friendly powers think we should not only recognize the de facto government of Mao, but admit Red China to U.N. as well.

So, the raising of the issue of Red China at the U. N. session now pending is calculated to embarrass the U. S. and the Soviet Union is tireless in its search for ways and means of embarrassing the U. S.

If by hook or crook Gromyko, now Russia's foreign minister, can raise a big stink about Red China before the U. N. General Assembly, Khrushchev will be well compensated for his failure to lure the West into a summit conference.

After all, his goal is anti-U. S. and anti-Western propaganda, and if the West isn't on its guard the chief beneficiary of the General Assembly meeting will be the Red propaganda machine.

'Nautilus' Proves New Area Of Power

WASHINGTON—The United States Navy has done it again. It has revolutionized strategic warfare in the world today, as it has done several times in past history.

For while the "sputniks" whirl around in far-off space, their military value in relation to a precise target still much in doubt, it has been demonstrated that the atom-powered submarine, with its capacity to fire missiles, can become a major deterrent to war itself.

Most people who since school days have become accustomed to remember maps that separate the hemispheres do not realize that the borders of Soviet Russia lie across the top of the World and are bounded by a stretch of nearly 3,000 miles of the Arctic Ocean which in turn is accessible from both the Atlantic and Pacific sides of North America. The geographical circumstance means that Soviet Russia now is vulnerable to attack by missile-carrying submarines which can fire into her heartland and reach almost any city therein with atomic weapons.

The North Pole, pivotal point for the plane-carrying bombs of the U. S. Strategic Air Force that can go across the Arctic directly to Soviet Russia, now becomes also the rendezvous of American sumbarines hiding under the big ice-cap in the polar seas.

The latest exploit by the "Nautilus"—which cruised submerged from Hawaii by way of the Bering Sea along the coast of Alaska, then traversed the Arctic under the ice to a point beyond Greenland and, still submerged, headed this week for Great Britain—is startling in its military implications.

Perhaps the best way to understand the tremendous significance militarily of what has just happened is to quote from a copyrighted interview published recently in "U. S. News & World Report"—cleared by the Navy Department—in which Rear Admiral Hyman G. Rickover, sometimes called the "father of the atomic submarine," said:

"A large number of these (missile-carrying nuclear submarines) should be kept continuously at sea, submerged anywhere we want—many of them hiding under the polar ice-cap. They would constitute a fleet-in-being ready for immediate use at any time.

"That means that, if anyone declares war on us and actually fires missiles into our country—even if he should manage to destroy the United States—he knows that inevitably he himself will also be destroyed, because we will have these submerged missile-launching bases where he cannot prevent them from firing on him. So this missile-carrying submarine may turn out to be a real deterrent to war."

Admiral Rickover then went on to say:

"Consider the problem from the enemy's point of view. He can do something about missile bases which we or our allies may have on land. He can sabotage them, or overrun them, or he can fire missiles at them. But suppose these bases are somewhere in the ocean? Or hidden under the polar ice-cap? How is he going to find them under millions of square miles of polar ice-cap?"

The Admiral pointed out that the United States has a total of 22 nuclear-powered submarines that either have been built or have been authorized and that the last three authorized by Congress will carry Polaris-type 1,500-mile missiles. This is a non-air breathing rocket which has not yet been fully developed. But the Regulus-type rocket—which is air-breathing and can be fired from submarines surfacing at night—the admiral said, "are operational right now."

Thus seapower—long the bulwark of our offense and defense—joins airpower in the development of strategic concepts which, while designed primarily for use in war, can really serve to maintain world peace. For the history of international behavior has shown that, where one major power or alliance of powers has a military advantage, it can use its potential to secure respect for its words of diplomacy and thereby preserve peace.

America today, by reason of what the "Nautilus" has accomplished, is in a position once more to talk from strength. This deterrent power, emerging in an era of irresponsible dictatorships—which overnight might have pushed the world to the brink of war—can be hailed as an epochal occurrence.

U.N.—Much Noise And Heat, Little Light

WASHINGTON (AP) —How to keep itself from turning into a rumpus room. That was the United Nations' main problem today, despite President Eisenhower's appearance there with a Mideast stability program.

Since the 81-nation General Assembly had plenty of fish to fry—and the Soviet Union and the West had already built the fire — Eisenhower's quick departure after his speech was all that was needed to let the sizzling begin.

Perhaps no previous Assembly meeting has been preceded by such gloomy forecasts — so far as anticipated concrete or creative results go. The program looks like two weeks of noise and heat and little light.

No matter what kind of program Eisenhower offered it could not expect universal approval because of the conflict of interests between this country and the Soviet Union and even among the Mideast Arabs themselves.

The same goes for any program the Soviets offer. Perhaps the best that can be expected is that this Assembly will set up a commission to study proposals or dump the whole thing on the regular Assembly session starting in September.

Eisenhower got good mileage the last time he went before the Assembly. That was in 1953 when he offered his atoms-for-peace plan. It put the Soviets on the defensive.

This time the United States faces Soviet charges of aggression for sending American troops into Lebanon, a move which not only stirred up the Soviets and some Arabs, but displeased neutrals and some friendly nations too.

This country faced the task of offsetting the Soviet charges by trying to put the Soviets on the defensive with a charge of indirect aggression and at the same time, through Eisenhower's proposals, offering something besides mere countercharges.

Since the Assembly neeting was starting off in this atmosphere of big power hostility, the U.N.'s best hope seemed to be to avoid explosions that would make world tensions worse than before.

Major proposals must receive at least a two-thirds vote — 54 of the 81 members — to get Assembly approval. Neither the West nor the Soviet Union seemed capable of lining up a two-thirds vote on anything the other side really opposed.

When the United States ordered a battalion of Marines out of Lebanon it was interpreted as knocking some of the steam out of Soviet demands that the U.N. call for the departure of all American forces.

But this American move — just one day before the U.N. debate was to begin — can also be interpreted, and probably will be by the Soviet Union as a self-conscious performance by the United States and an obvious attempt to offset Soviet charges in the U.N.

From what is known here about the Lebanese situation, there seems to be no reason why the Marine battalion couldn't have been withdrawn a week or more ago. Nothing basically new has occurred in Lebanon in that time to indicate the Marines were less needed now than before.

Where Indians Made A Mistake

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the greatest mistakes made by the American Indians was their failure to set up customs posts all along the coast shortly after Columbus first landed.

Had they done so they could easily have checked the mass emigration from Europe to a dribble, and they'd still own most of the continent. But, no, they chose to fight the white man with weapons instead of the law's delays—and look what happened to them!

But the custom of customs inspection has spread now throughout the world. Half the ordeal of traveling abroad today lies in going through customs—or, rather, in waiting to go through.

The elements of the situation are always the same: The customs inspector tries as long as possible to keep you from entering his country; and you try to get past him and into the country as soon as possible.

There are a few tricks, however, which veteran travelers find sometimes speed them through the barriers.

Tell the customs man you are a secret courier from Washington, D.C., sent to expedite a loan to his country. To make it more plausible, offer to lend him a buck.

If you are in France, whisper that your wife is enciente. The French, who are crazy about motherhood, will rush her to a hospital—from which you can remove her to a hotel. If you want to attend the Folies Berger, you might even leave her in the hospital overnight.

Speaking just a few words of his native tongue is often helpful, as it shows the customs man you are really interested in his country. This doesn't work in Britain, however, where they distrust any Americans who speak English.

Never bribe a customs agent yourself to speed up his inquisition. Let your wife do it. It's cheaper. Women can always get more for less money.

Pretend you're in no real hurry. Open a bottle of wine and spread a picnic lunch. This strategem doesn't work well, however, in countries whose customs agents are poorly paid. They'll join in the feast and won't admit you to their country until the last crumb is gone.

Tell them you're a smuggler. This is admittedly a drastic step, but after all they can't take you to jail without first letting you into the country.

After you've outwitted the customs agents of half a dozen foreign countries, comes the acid test—on your return home.

All travelers since Marco Polo have agreed that the toughest part of a trip abroad lies in getting back into your own country when the trip is over.

Liz Taylor Is Coming Out Of Her Bereavement

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Notes and comment on the Hollywood scene—

Elizabeth Taylor is coming out of her bereavement over the death of Mike Todd. She is often dating Arthur Loew Jr., scion of the show business family and a friend since her early years at MGM. And Liz has indicated that she will be available for film roles that appeal to her.

"After Todd's death, she didn't care if she worked or not," said Richard Brooks, who directed her in "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof." "She finished the picture only because Mike was so hepped up on it. Now she wants to work some more."

Brooks said it was touch and go when Liz returned to work after the tragedy. A line like "You don't know what it is to lose someone you love" would break her up and work had to be suspended for the rest of the day.

Audrey Hepburn is not worried about being directed by her husband Mel Ferrer for the first time in "Green Mansions." After all, she argues, they have appeared together in a movie ("War and Peace"), on the stage ("Ondine") and on TV ("Mayerling").

"Marriage is a pretty complex relationship," she says. "If Mel and I can live together, we certainly ought to be able to work together" . . .

Gary Crosby's comment re Papa Bing's TV deal with ABC: "I understand he makes some films for them and then they give him the network." Gary wants no part of a series for himself, favors guest shots only. . . .

Hugh O'Brien didn't blow up over the renaming of his feature Western to "The Fiend who Walked the West." Says Hugh: "As long as it sells, I don't care what they call it. As far as I'm concerned, it can be 'The Teenage Fiend from Outer Space who Walked the West for the FBI'"...

"The Fly" was a big hit. Now comes "The Spider." This may confirm your suspicions that the movie business is getting buggy.

Around The Rim

Western Fiction Better Than Fact

Westward from Del Rio you cross over the picturesque Devil's River and skim over the top of the Pecos Canyon just above the river's confluence with the Rio Grande. Here is rugged country cleft by streams which change from lazy to treacherous.

But still farther west you get into a seemingly endless stretch of hills, rock, alkali dirt and a few sprigs of greasewood. The farther you go the hotter and drier and seemingly more barren the country grows. You search your brain for something good to say for this part of Texas, and you happily come up with the thought that it helps hold the continent together.

Presently you come to a place where the Rio Grande makes a horseshoe bend to the north, and once more you are within a stone's throw of the border. As you turn south to the little settlement of Langtry, you notice the "big cave" chewed out of the great limestone canyon wall that hems in the Rio Grande. On the other side is Mexico.

On this side, the center of attraction, is an old frame structure containing two rooms. It is unfinished inside and out, and if there were ever weather strips over the cracks between the planks, they have long since disappeared.

The walls are lined with newspaper pictures and clippings, and on a couple of crude tables are laid out relics of 50 and 75 years ago. At one end of the main room is a counter topped by a pine board, and at the foot of the counter a piece of iron pipe is cradled in the notches in two wooden blocks. Here thirsty souls once propped their feet and leaned on the bar while they drank.

In the back room, decorated now with a collection of photographic reproductions, "court" once was held, and the antics of the self-styled justice of peace who operated this place are what have made this a tourist attraction.

He was Roy Bean, or Judge Roy Bean as he called himself. Legends have grown up about the bulky, white-bearded man who ran the Jersey Lily Saloon and about Vinegaroon (later Langtry) with an autocratic hand. Latter day sagas and now a TV series have tended to glamorize this man who was a great deal more sinner than saint. Stories tacked on the wall tell how Roy Bean exacted tributes and tolls from defenseless and unsuspecting travellers until the Texas Rangers gave him some pointed advice on the subject. The old gentleman, however, did have a flair for the colorful and once promoted a world's heavyweight championship boxing match between Fitzsimmons and Marher just across the border because prize fighting was prohibited in the United States. He also brought Lily Langtry, the noted actress-beauty, to his oasis and the village named in her honor.

It's all very interesting because of its simplicity and largely unchanged state. Somehow in the back of your head you ask if this less-than-prosaic setting is typical of that on which most western lore is based. Probably, but don't shed a tear. Fiction in this case is better than fact, for whatever Roy Bean did and however much his captive customers drank must have been in rebellion against a desolate wilderness and boredom.

Troubles In The Restaurant Union

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
(Writing for Inez Robb, who is on vacation)

WASHINGTON—I'm not quite certain yet what Jimmy Hoffa, the embattled Teamsters union chief, had to do with Dewey's famous hamburgers in Philadelphia, but even so it's quite a tale. Without mustard or even pickle.

For certain is the fact that Dewey Yessner owns a chain of hamburgeroos in the City of Brotherly Love, where about 150 employes slide toasted delicacies, with or without onion, to the hungry multitudes on the other side of the counter.

Suddenly last year these workers found themselves members of Local No. 1 of something called the Independent Unionists of America. A few months later these same employes discovered they were members of Local 410 of the Restaurant Workers Union.

This came as something of a jolt to William J. Brennan, the long-time and widely respected head man of the Philadelphia restaurant union. What pained him even more, he told the Senate rackets investigating committee, was the fact that the new local was dominated by an assortment of jailbirds, hoodlums, and racketeers.

These included Abe Goldberg, a former business agent of the Teamsters Union, and Sam "Shorty" Feldman, also a Teamsters man. Abe and Sam both had lengthy criminal records.

The elderly Brennan, peering at the Senators through his thick-lensed eyeglasses, said when he discovered that thieves were in his own back yard, he snooped around and discovered from the District Attorney's office that Hoffa, himself, had used his influence to get the local into the Restaurant Workers. So Brennan protested to international headquarters, which promptly ousted Abe and Sam and put Brennan in charge. That's when his troubles began.

He said there were so many items in the papers about his gangster-infested local, with his name prominently displayed, that neighbors shied away from him. Members of his own family thought he was consorting with crooks. It wasn't fun.

He discovered that the previous management, during nine months of existence, had collected $19,000 in dues and initiation fees, spent all that, and then ran up $23,000 more in bills. When he took charge, checks were bouncing from wall to wall, he said.

The members of Local 410 were so unhappy about the situation they refused to wear their badges with that sorry number imprinted. "I had to buy 'em smaller buttons," Brennan mourned.

Senator John L. McClellan (D., Ark.) was sympathetic, and that reminded Brennan of something else. There'd been one Bert Brennan, a Detroit Teamsters official, who took refuge in the Fifth Amendment when asked about his unusual operations.

The Philadelphia Brennan said he didn't even know the Detroit Brennan, but that his own wife got 'em mixed up. "Now she thinks I took the Fifth," said the Philadelphia Brennan, "and when I get home I don't know whether I'll find my suitcase on the front porch."

He said he did not believe his friends and relatives read the newspapers carefully enough. He added that he'd cleaned up the union and paid its bills (except those he thought were phonies) and even changed its number to Local 87.

The Senators complimented him on that and called Shorty Feldman, who was a shorty for sure in a sand-colored silk suit. He wouldn't talk. Neither would another alleged hoodlum from Detroit, on Maxie Stern, who apparently had something to do with the hamburger deal.

Came then Lulu Belle Rose, a tall-gangly Negro girl in a sack dress of red, green, and blue squiggles, with bows up and down the back. Lulu Belle, the hit of the day, was one of the hamburger shover-acrossers; she said she became a union member in spite of herself. It was that or lose her job.

The Gallup Poll

Smokers See Cigaret-Cancer Link

PRINCETON, N. J.—One of the strangest paradoxes in the whole controversy over cigarettes and lung cancer is the number of cigarette smokers who admit that there is a link between smoking and cancer—yet continue to smoke.

That this is true on an international level comes to light in a special World Gallup Poll on the subject in key opinion centers around the globe.

On the average, one cigarette smoker in every three says he believe that cigarette smoking is a contributing factor to lung cancer.

The number was highest in New Delhi, India where nearly six out of 10 cigarette smokers said they believe there is a link between smoking and cancer.

In terms of proportion of smokers, Brussels leads the list—with two out of three persons interviewed saying they smoke cigarettes. The lowest was in New Delhi where less than three in 10 say they smoke.

As reported earlier this week, the proportion of U. S. adults who smoke has been unchanged by the U. S. Public Health Service report on higher death rates among cigarette smokers—45 adults in every 100 in the U. S. smoke cigarettes.

Here are the percentages who smoke cigarettes in each of the major cities tested, as well as throughout Great Britain and the U.S.:

On the issue of a link between smoking and cancer, the following question was asked in each of the opinion centers:

"Do you think cigarette smoking is one of the causes of cancer of the lung?"

The average of results received from each of the centers shows the following vote on the issue:

CIGARETTE SMOKING ONE CAUSE OF LUNG CANCER?

	Per cent
Yes, is cause	45

Here is how cigarette smokers view the issue, based on an average of their replies from each of the centers:

CIGARETTE SMOKERS ONLY

Among non-smokers, an average of all results shows a majority believing that cigarette smoking is one cause of cancer.

Prince Of An Idea

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — A Romanian princess advocates the return of the American male to his rightful place as head of the household.

Princess Ileana, now Ileana Issarescu, American housewife and mother of six, believes it is the duty of the American woman to see to it that the men accept this position. "There must be resumed the strength of family organization and authority. Let us women—it depends so much on us—try to bring about that model of a family for the sake of our chldren."

The princess feels delinquency is mostly due to the falling apart of the family organization. The parents must set the example if they expect obedience from children.

Red Hot Termites

GEORGETOWN, Ky. (AP)—An exterminating company either killed or scared the blazes out of the termites in the George Southworth's house.

A termite-hunter left a can of insecticide near a hot water heater, and it exploded. The house was heavily damaged by the fire which followed.

Mary Zinn Circle Sets Plans For Coming Year

The forward look was the order of the day for the Mary Zinn Circle, when they met Tuesday for luncheon at the First Methodist Church. Goals for next year were discussed and the program schedule for the year was arranged.

During the business meeting Mrs. W. A. Laswell, who presided, told of the school of missions which she attended in Lubbock recently.

Mrs. J. T. Baird, program leader, presented the theme: "You are the light of the world", Matt. 5:14-16. One manifests influence in three areas, speech, action and prayer, pointed out Mrs. Baird, and she spoke in behalf of a more dedicated prayer life.

In telling of the strides made in the mission field, Mrs. T. G. Adams related Progress in Acquiring Love and Understanding and in Expressing Beauty. Progress in our Human Relations was Mrs. R. L. Warren's topic, and Mrs. S. R. Nobles' subject was "The Way Thou Shalt Go." Mrs. Laswell reviewed the mission work for the year, and Mrs. Baird dismissed the 18 with prayer.

The group will next meet at 3 p.m. Sept. 9 with Mrs. Adams, 507 Johnson. The date is designated circle officers' training day.

White daisies in a cutglass container centered the serving table, which was covered with a white cloth. Marshmallows shaped as tiny heads transformed the napkins into baby dolls.

Pinned to Mrs. Pettitt's frock was a corsage of baby socks, a token from the hostesses.

About 30 called during the morning.

The guest list included about 40.

Give Child Time To Get Accustomed To Water

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.

Good old summertime means swimming to most youngsters. Swimming is a wonderful exercise. It's good fun and what's more every child should learn this important skill.

But like all good things there are a few drawbacks that go along with it.

Almost every child is timid about his first encounter with a big body of water—anything bigger than the bathub. It doesn't make too much difference at what age this first experience takes place—he is going to be wary of getting more than the big toe wet. There is only one thing to do—go easy and let him play near the water until he is ready to go further. You make haste by going slowly.

Every summer at every beach you see enthusiastic fathers carry screaming children into the water. And every time you see this you can be sure there is a child who will be a long time getting over his fear of the water—if he ever does. Don't push; don't nag; don't belittle a child for being a sissy. Let him play on the beach, dig in the sand, or fool around the edge of the pool. Be on hand to go in with him when he is ready but wait for the signal from him that he is ready.

PATIENCE PAYS

Waiting and doing nothing is often the hardest thing to do. Especially is this true, if the trip to the beach has been made with infinite trouble and is not soon to be repeated. You had wanted so much to see your youngster enjoy the water and you leave with the feeling the trip is wasted if he doesn't go in. You will just have to swallow your disappointment. It takes some children a whole summer before they will venture in above the knees.

There are several rules about swimming that should be established. No one ever swims alone. This is as important for grownups as for children. No matter how good a swimmer you are there is always the possibility of a cramp or some other accident. There should always be a minimum of two people, both of whom can swim well.

"BUDDY" SYSTEM

Second, we have always found the "buddy" system most helpful if you have a group in swimming together. Each person has one person whom he keeps in sight every minute of the time. If anything happens to the buddy his pal knows it right away and can call for help. It's amazing how one child in a group of half a dozen or more can be out of sight for 10 or 15 minutes before the adult in charge misses him.

The buddy system not only helps the adult in charge but also gives the youngsters themselves some sense of responsibility and an awareness of the dangers of swimming.

In our household we had the rule, no child or children can swim unless there is an adult along. Finally the boys grew up to be so much better swimmers than I that they finally changed the rule to Mom mustn't go swimming unless one of the boys is along!

Opera Singer Tells Of Relaxing Routines

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD—One of the nicest things about the TV summer replacements is the appearance of Dorothy Kirsten on the "Chevy Show." Dorothy puts a high price on glamour. She doesn't look like the popular concept of an opera star because she counts her calories and works to keep her weight down.

When I appeared on the set at NBC to watch a rehearsal, everyone seemed to be racing at an ulcer-forming pace-everyone but Miss Kirsten, who was unmoved and calm. Later when I mentioned this to her, she laughed and said:

"I suppose it is my Nordic background that makes me seem relaxed when I have butterflies in my stomach and my heart is pounding. It's a wonder it doesn't show. In a live TV show everyone works under great pressure, and learning how to relax becomes imperative. I'm working on it, too," Miss Kirsten revealed.

"You are the last person I would expect to be tied in knots," I replied. "Do you have a special plan to relieve nervous tension?"

"After work nothing is quite as relaxing to me as a swim in my pool," she explained. "When this is not possible, it's helpful to lie with my spine against the hard surface of the floor. I can feel the tension flow from my muscles.

"Opera singers breathe correctly from training, but the average singer doesn't," she went on. "Making yourself inhale deeply — thus filling your lungs with oxygen—helps snap tension, too.

"Sometimes after an opera I'm so tense and my feet are so cramped that I can hardly walk. I find it relaxing to soak them in hot water and massage them with a cream afterwards. This reaches all over, because all the nerves in the body can be traced to the soles of the feet.

"You know that old song about the head bone being connected to the neck bone? Well there is a routine very much like that which someone taught me to use to release tension. I begin by concentrating on my scalp. My mind commands the scalp to let down. Then I progress to the face, neck, arms and on over the whole body. As this begins to work, I find myself yawning and I become relaxed," she said in conclusion.

Junior Rodeo Will Start Tomorrow

Howard County Junior Championship Rodeo, now in its 13th edition, will be launched Thursday afternoon. A parade will form at Second and Goliad under the supervision of Malcolm Patterson, parade marshal, and move through the business district as the initial event on the three-day program.

A general invitation to all who wish to take part in the parade was sounded. Any person who wants to ride in the procession is asked to be at Goliad and Second at least half an hour ahead of scheduled marching time.

Meantime, entries were pouring in at the office of the county agent. More than 100 entries had been listed at 10 a.m. Others were expected between that hour and 5 p.m. when the lists will be finally closed.

In some events, so many competitors have entered that the lists have already been shut down. This was the case in bull riding, for example, which drew such wide interest that the books had to be closed before the 5 p.m. deadline. The limit was determined by available stock.

Just how many competitors will be on hand when the curtain goes up at 8 p.m. on the initial show Thursday was not certain but Jimmy Taylor, show superintendent, said that he anticipated at least 150 boys and girls. Any boy or girl, 19 years of age or younger, is eligible to compete in the show which is staged under sponsorship of the Howard County 4-H Clubs and sanctioned by the American Junior Rodeo Association.

Three nights performance, opening Thursday and closing Saturday, are on tap. All points earned by competitors will be accepted by the AJRA as official in the final selection of the championship junior cowboy at the El Paso show finals next week.

All stock for the show is now on hand and the rodeo arena area has been put in good shape for the performances. There is plenty of parking space available and hundreds of choice seats from which to watch the contests.

A full program of events is on tap for each evening. The prize money will run nearly $3,000. All entry fees in each event go to make up the pot for that contest.

Jack Buchanan and Lawrence Davis are the judges. Bill Merrick will announce the show and Kenneth Williams is to be the clown.

Events on the program for each night of the three the show is to be performed include bronc riding, bull riding, calf roping, ribbon roping, barrel race, goat roping and milking, goat sacking and a boot scramble.

Coahoma Tax Board Winds Up Hearings

COAHOMA (SC) —Preparation of the tax rolls for the Coahoma Independent School District will start now that the equalization board has concluded its hearing.

Upwards of 100 property owners appeared before the board Monday and Tuesday to inquire about increases in valuations. On property other than oil, valuations had been almost doubled under formulas employed by Pritchard & Abbott, valuation engineers. The increase factor, however, varied in individual cases.

Approximately 15 of those appearing felt, after interviews with the equalization board, that their property was over-assessed. The others, after an explanation of how the formulas were applied, indicated they believed they had been treated fairly. A good percentage of the final protests were what might be termed unusual cases such as retired couples with limited means of income.

Several oil companies previously had filed protests with the board of equalization, claiming they did not believe property other than oil had been increased enough. Although the factor for oil valuation was not changed, values from oil and utilities, etc. were up about a million dollars for the district due to added development. The increase in other property will also approximate a million dollars for the Coahoma school district.

When the roll is completed, the school board will set the tax rate. The current rate is $1.50 per $100 valuation, and there was some speculation that this figure might be shaved slightly.

The assessments for property other than oil were at the rate of 40 per cent of the 100 per cent value as listed by the valuation engineers. One of the factors which made for substantial increases in some cases was a shift from a previous valuation policy which placed a progressively lesser value on property as the distance from the school increased.

C Of C Enlistment Campaign Slated

First of three special mailings to members and prospective members of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce will begin next week as part of the enlistment campaign.

In addition to making contacts on some 250 prospective members, volunteer workers will on Aug. 28 also follow up on about 400 potential adjustments in dues. These are the result of a re-valuation of present dues schedules.

By reason of the two, officials hope that the organization's budget may be increased from the present $27,000 to $35,000. All of the increase would be represented in expanded program and in a building fund which anticiaptes that some day the chamber will construct its own home.

The last three issues of the chamber's regular bulletin, "Progress," have been mailed to prospective members.

The special mailings will explain what a chamber of commerce actually is, how its organization is set up and operates, and why everyone interested in the community should participate as members.

Opposes Dividing Oil Companies, Service Stations

MIAMI (AP)—Harry Kennedy of Houston, senior vice president of Continental Oil, opposed yesterday cutting ties that link service stations to oil companies.

Regardless of who operates the stations the business will still depend on the laws of supply and demand," he said.

"I do not think the oil industries have built too many service stations during the past five years, although there may have been some localized overbuilding," he told the National Congress of Petroleum Retailers.

"But," he continued, "I do think we are operating too many of the wrong kind — those making marginal or submarginal profits."

Kennedy said better understanding and communication are needed between petroleum suppliers and retailers, toward the goal of good will.

Some of the service station men have proposed cutting ties that link them to oil companies in order to function more as independent businessmen.

Ruling Orders Utilities Paid On Highways

AUSTIN (AP) — Dist. Judge Harris Gardner ruled today that the Highway Commission must reimburse private and city-owned utilities which are required to move their facilities to make room for the interstate highway system.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Grady Chandler said the action would require the using of federal and state money that otherwise would go to construct superhighways.

"The law is constitutional," Gardner ruled, after closing arguments.

He said he could not uphold the state's claim that only a section of House Bill 179 was unconstitutional. The section provided that the state would reimburse utility companies required to move their facilities.

The bill, passed by the last Legislature, gave the commission expanded and new authority to go into cities for the construction and improvement of highways. Gardner said he believed the Legislature gave it this authority and realized that the expense which may result should be borne by the state.

Chandler said the decision would be appealed.

The attorney general filed the suits on behalf of the Highway Commission. Defendants were Southwestern Bell Telephone, Lone Star Gas, Southern Union Gas, Dallas Power and Light, and the cities of Dallas and Austin.

Other cities on the interstate highway system could be affected by the suits.

Whitney Harris, representing Southwestern Bell, said "this legislation is of benefit to the people of Texas. If it is declared unconstitutional, it would mean the people of Austin and Dallas would have to pay higher taxes for the construction of the projects which are a part of the national defense and more over for the benefit of the people in other parts of the state."

The Federal Highway Aid Act authorized eligible states to reimburse utility companies for moving their facilities. The federal government would pick up 90 per cent of the costs and the state the other 10 per cent.

BY CITY COMMISSION

Zoning Change Authorized, Three Small Plats Okayed

A minor change in zoning laws, approval of three subdivision plats, and an ordinance appointing a corporation court clerk were among the items given city commission attention during an extended session Tuesday evening.

The zoning change was authorized at the request of Elmer Tarbox. It will permit underground storage of petroleum products in a "G" commercial zone. Specifically, the change will apply to land at W. 5th and Presidio where Shamrock Oil Co. proposes to establish a wholesale outlet.

Three small plats were okayed. One covers 14 lots on Alabama Ave. on the south edge of Monticello Addition. Another establishes Drexel Ave. just north of and parallel to Cornell in College Park Estates. The third covers East Park Addition, a small area south of Washington Place and adjacent to the proposed FM 700.

An ordinance appointing the police warrant officer as clerk of the city court was approved, to facilitate the filing of complaints and other court activities.

Commissioners also gave their authorization for construction of a tower and brick screen in the edge of street right-of-way in front of E. 4th St. Baptist Church, but suggested that the church also secure approval from the State Highway Department which controls the roadway.

City Manager H. W. Whitney was authorized to work out an agreement with R. E. Jones Gravel Co. on use of Moss Creek Lake water in a gravel washing operation.

Authorization was granted for the transfer of a lease on radio station site in City Park from Big State Broadcasting Co. to Maples & McAlister Broadcasting Co.

The city manager also was authorized to advertise for bids for replacement of a police patrol car and a water department pickup.

Third and last reading of a revision of the city's traffic ordinance was approved.

Commissioners conferred briefly with Larson Lloyd, who spoke in support of Lloyd Curley's request for rerouting a new sewer line to serve property he controls near the Capehart Housing Area southwest of Big Spring. Lloyd was told that Curley must work out an agreement with Cecil McDonald, owner of adjacent property across which the sewer line would pass if rerouted.

Tyler Man Dies After Beating

DALLAS (AP)— James Harlan Shaw, 35, Tyler salesman, died today after suffering a beating Friday by a Dallas mechanic.

Shaw had suffered a broken jaw and head injuries.

Lloyd Sanders, 25, was charged Monday with assault to murder in connection with the attack.

The mechanic told police he beat Shaw after finding a man with his wife at 1:15 a.m. Friday.

Officers said Sanders saw a car parked in front of his house when he drove home from work. The car's motor was running, police said they were told. Sanders gave chase, curbing the other car about two blocks from his home.

After curbing the other car, Sanders said he went to the driver's side to inquire why the car had been parked in front of his house.

Upon reaching the car, Sanders told Detective Oliver, he saw his wife on the floorboard. A fist fight ensued between Sanders and the driver of the other car. After the fight was over, Sanders went to a residence in the neighborhood and called police.

Sanders' wife told newsmen she and Sanders were married last April. The woman, 32, said she had been married before. She said she had known Shaw before she met Sanders.

Mrs. Sanders said she had been in Shaw's company the night of the beating from about 9 p.m. until the fight took place.

Many Plans For City-County Provisions Of Fire Protection

A proposal by the city of Big Spring that the county pay the municipality $2,000 a month and that, in return, the city fire department will combat rural fires is generally regarded by county commissioners as unsatisfactory, a check indicates. The commissioners regard the fee proposed as too high—pointing out that it would aggregate $24,000 a year.

The $2,000 a month agreement is the same as is now in force in Midland County. The figure seems to have been reached by the city on the basis that rural fires comprise 18 per cent of the total runs the Midland City Department makes and that $2,000 a month would represent that percentage of the city cost of maintaining a fire fighting agency.

ALTERNATIVE SOLUTION

Howard County has an alternative—it can purchase its own fire truck and either set up its own rural fire fighting department or place the truck at the disposal of the city and reimburse the city for the manpower needed to operate the equipment. This was the method followed in the past when the county did own a fire truck. This truck was wrecked some time ago while making a run and since that time, the question of rural fire protection has been somewhat up in the air.

There is one catch in the matter of the county commissioners buying a truck. They must have the authorization from the voters to do so—an election must be held and the voters must approve the action.

Check shows that varied agreements and methods are employed in other counties in coping with the problem of protecting rural property from fire. The Midland contract, for example, by which the county pays a flat $2,000 per month for the protection afforded by the city department replaces an older contract under which the county paid the city $60 an hour for time the fire equipment was engaged in fighting rural fires.

Kerrville has a contract with Kerr County which stems out of a determination of the percentage of fires the department has to deal with in the rural areas. A three-year contract has been signed and for the first contract year, the payment is based on the assumption that 35 per cent of all calls the city firemen answer will be rural. This percentage will be revised as check of succeeding years indicates.

OTHER PLANS IN USE

Dallas has an agreement, under a special article, by which it pays $50 per call with a maximum of $21,000 per year. Gray County pays Pampa $50 a call plus $5 per mile with a $100 maximum. Fredericksburg gets $900 per year from the county for providing fire protection for rural areas. Cameron County has an agreement with Brownsville and six other cities to pay $25 per call plus 2.5 per cent of the city's fire department budget. Maximum amount payable by the county is $15,000. Woodsboro has an agreement now with the county by which it receives $10,000 per year. The contract runs through 1965.

In nearly all, if not all of these agreements, the question of liability for any act or accident is specifically set out.

Legal authorities point out that the question of liability is clearly settled by Article 2351a-1 which specifically states that where a contract exists which calls for rural fire protection, city employes are agents for the county while on fire calls outside the city and no city shall be held liable for acts of employes while on such calls.

However, where a contract does not exist it is the opinion of legal experts that there is a strong possibility that members of a city council who authorized the use of fire equipment outside the city limits may be held personally liable for damages resulting from negligent acts of the members of the fire department.

Meantime, the matter continues to be an unsolved problem in Howard County. It seems to be a mutually agreed that fire protection should be provided for rural residents. It hardly seems practical that the county can establish and operate its own fire department, even assuming that such a plan was laid before the voters and approved by them.

There remains the need for some agreement to be reached between the city and county on a method dealing with the problem.

Prospective D-O Students Asked To Contact Teacher

Louis Maneely, new co-ordinator of vocational industrial education (Diversified Occupations), is anxious to contact prospective students for the program.

Thirty-seven students have signed as applicants, he said, and others may be accommodated if they contact Maneely soon. He will be in his office at the high school from 9 a.m. until noon daily for most of the remainder of this month.

Placements will start as soon as applications are completed. Under the D-O program, students spend half a day in school on academic and related study and half a day actually on the job they are seeking to learn.

Maneely is not new to the Big Spring system, having been an instructor here for the past five years in industrial arts in the high school. Two years previously he taught at Levelland.

He began his college career at Howard County Junior College in 1947 and then completed his requirements for a B.A. degree in industrial arts at West Texas State College in 1950. He did graduate work at North Texas State College and later at Texas Tech, where he took his master's degree in education in 1954. He had done two other summer's graduate work at Texas A&M in industrial education.

Maneely succeeds Ed Shive as coordinator. Shive recently was promoted to district supervisor to succeed Joe B. Neely, who was drafted for service in the state office.

Stamp Dealer Is Indicted As A Smuggler

NEW YORK (AP)—A top American stamp dealer is accused of smuggling thousands of dollars worth of stamps from Red China.

The dealer, Kurt Weishaupt of Queens, was indicted in Brooklyn Federal Court yesterday under the Federal Trading With the Enemy Act.

He is scheduled to plead next Tuesday. If found guilty, he would face a possible maximum sentence of 40 years in prison and $40,000 in fines.

The six-count indictment charges the 45-year-old dealer imported the stamps from Shanghai between November 1953 and February 1957.

An unidentified American naval officer stationed in Japan was said to have tipped federal authorities to the operation.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Warren M. Deutsch said more than two million stamps were seized in Weishaupt's home. He reportedly paid more than $33,000 for them.

Weishaupt, a former president of the American Stamp Dealers Assn., was said to have sold smuggled stamps at 100 per cent profit.

The naval officer told authorities last year that Communist Chinese stamps were being sold at a concession at Gimbels department store.

Neither Gimbels nor the concessionaire was named in the indictment. Deutsch said they had cooperated fully in the investigation.

Bodies Recovered After Crash Of Jap Airliner

TOKYO (AP) — Nine bodies were recovered from the Pacific today after Japan's second fatal civil airline crash since World War II. There were no signs of survivors from the 33 persons including one American, aboard the twin-engine DC3 of All-Nippon Airways.

The bodies were not identified immediately.

The plane crashed 80 miles south of Tokyo last night after the pilot radioed a report of trouble in the left engine. The plane was on a flight from Tokyo to Nagoya, 150 miles west, by a roundabout coastal route to avoid mountains.

The first wreckage was found 15 hours after the radio report. Thirty-three ships and 22 planes, including 11 American aircraft, kept up the search.

Three Texas Banks In The 'Top 100'

DALLAS (AP) — Three Texas banks are listed among the 100 largest banks in the free world, figures compiled by "The American Banker" showed today.

The figures are based on deposits at the end of 1957.

The banking publication listed the Republic National Bank of Dallas, with deposits of $741,483,679, as Number 73; First National bank in Dallas, with deposits of $734,681,337, as Number 75, and the First City National Bank, Houston, with deposits of $642,737,637, as Number 85.

The three largest banks were listed as American—Bank of America, San Francisco, Chase Manhattan, New York, and First National City, New York.

Rayburn Will Attend Demo Convention

WASHINGTON (AP)—Speaker Sam Rayburn says in the interests of party harmony he may attend the Texas Democratic Convention in San Antonio Sept. 9.

Gov. Daniel says his conservative forces will control the convention.

Liberals grouped as Democrats of Texas contend enough uncommitted delegates will arrive from county conventions to make the control in doubt.

Rayburn said yesterday "if I attend the Democratic Convention at San Antonio, my main purpose will be to bring about harmony and seek to have a real Democratic party in Texas for the future.

"I will vote to seat every delegation that is legally elected.

"I shall advocate allowing each senatorial district to name its two representatives on the State Democratic Executive Committee if they will pledge themselves to support the Democratic nominees of the party—state and national.

"It would seem to me that any Democrats could and should agree to this program."

Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) couldn't say whether he will attend the convention. He said, "Like the speaker, I believe and always have believed that the Democrats should support nominees of the party."

Johnson Proposes Texas Water Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) introduced a bill yesterday to create a 14-member commission to study water control and uitlization plans for seven Texas river basins.

Johnson said the rivers—the Neches, Trinity, Brazos, Colorado, Guadalupe, San Antonio, San Jacinto, and Nueces—are not now covered by interstate or international compacts to promote their development, as are the Red River and the Rio Grande.

NUEVO LAREDO, Mexico (AP) —A recent flood clogged fire hydrants with mud. That kept firemen from getting enough water through their hoses and eight houses burned down yesterday.

Lasater Expected To Play Here, Despite Gun Mishap

R. L. Lasater, a track sensation here as a freshman last spring, is expected to recover without ill effects from a gun shot wound he suffered accidentally while hunting on his father's farm near Klondike recently.

The bullet penetrated Lasater's leg but missed the bone and arteries.

Al Milch, Big Spring High School football coach, said he had hopes Lasater will recover in time to start football practice with the Steers.

Milch said the mishap occurred while Lasater was walking along in search of game, snapping the trigger of a .22 rifle he thought was unloaded.

Lasater is one of the speedy sophomore backs the Steers must lean heavily upon this fall.

R. L. gained a measure of fame around the state last spring when, as a freshman, he sped 100 yards in 9.8 seconds, beating a promising Andrews sprinter, Ted Nelson, in the bargain.

Underwood, Jordan Division Winners

James Lee Underwood copped first place in the men's division of the putting tournament conducted at the Big Spring Country Club Tuesday night with a 66.

He finished one stroke ahead of Jack Wallace. Third was Bud Pickett, who tied Earl Reynolds with a 67 and then won a playoff.

Bernice Jordan was low among the women, with a 73. Ann McComb's 77 was good for second place. Madeline Atkins and Jean Cook had 82's for a third place tie, after which Mrs. Atkins copped a playoff.

A total of 28 linksters took part in the meet.

SIZZLING BUCS WRECK BRAVES' PLAYHOUSE

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Just when Milwaukee's world champs looked to have that National League pennant race under control, up pops Pittsburgh.

The Pirates, usually stone cold dead at this stage, ran their winning spurt to six games, took over second place and trimmed Milwaukee's lead to five games last night by beating the Braves 10-0.

Rookie right-hander George Witt blanked the champs on two hits, although it wasn't as easy as it sounds. It was his first major league shutout and gave the Bucs a sweep of the two-game series at Pittsburgh.

St. Louis skidded San Francisco to third by beating the Giants 7-3. Cincinnati belted Philadelphia 12-4 and the Chicago Cubs smacked Los Angeles 9-3.

Witt had to struggle for his sixth victory until Frank Thomas unloaded his 29th homer with a man on in the sixth off loser Bob Rush. The Bucs then put it away with eight in the eighth. Witt had little trouble with the Braves after the second inning, but the second was a pip.

Frank Torre lifted a pop fly to left that fell for a double and the Braves' first hit when Bob Skinner lost it in the lights. Then Witt, who walked four, hit Johnny Logan with a pitch, loading the bases with one out. Rush then bunted, Witt scooped up the ball and flipped to catcher Danny Kravitz for a home-to-first double play.

That's all the Braves managed against Witt, who has lost two, until Hank Aaron doubled with two out in the ninth.

The Bucs sent 12 men to bat in the big eighth. Thomas drove in his third run with a double, and Skinner tripled home two.

The Cards made it eight out of nine by overcoming a 3-2 Giant lead with a pair of unearned runs in the seventh. Sam Jones won his 10th, fanning seven but walking eight while matching loser Mike McCormick's six-hit job.

Jim Bolger hit a two-run triple and Lee Walls socked a two-run homer as the Cubs scored five runs in the third at Los Angeles. Walls also hit a solo homer in the ninth, his 23rd of the season. Dick Drott won his fifth, giving up Gil Hodges' two-run, 16th homer in the fourth. Danny McDevitt (1-5) lost it.

FOR ALL-STARS

Rice Ex May Open At Quarterback

CHICAGO (AP)—Will it be King Hill of Rice, Ray Brown of Mississippi, Tom Forrestal of Navy or Jim Ninowski of Michigan State?

That's the lineup of All-Star quarterbacks for the big game against Detroit's Lions Friday night at Soldier Field.

If the All-Stars hope to win, they'll need a sharp field general.

Otto Graham, former Northwestern University star and later the quarterback who led the Cleveland Browns to numerous professional football titles, has not announced his starting lineup.

But it's a good bet that Hill will be the quarterback. If not Hill, then it's anyone's guess. Graham says he'll play a wide-open game which, at best, means a lot of passing.

"You can't run through the pros," says Graham.

The All-Stars have a line that averages 234 pounds from tackle to tackle. They're well fortified up front and have the horses, if needed, in the backfield.

But since Graham is the coach, and he knows what it takes to beat the pros, he'll probably have his quarterbacks pitching to his halfbacks.

Graham is satisfied with his team's showing in drills and insists that it takes a lot of desire to beat the champions of the National Football League.

"The pros should win," says Otto, but somehow, somewhere, lurks the idea that his All-Stars might surprise the Lions in the 25th anniversary of the contest.

The game will be broadcast and televised nationally by ABC at 7:30 p.m. Big Spring time.

Tech To Land 8 Of Players Appearing In Grid Classic

CHILDRESS (SC) — Well over half of the players in the Greenbelt Bowl Game have signed letters of intent and indicated the colleges which they will attend. Leading the field is Texas Tech with eight.

All three ends on the East Squad will go to Tech. They are Mac Percival of Vernon, Tom Nash of Electra, and Jerry Elbert of Wellington. Seymour's outstanding quarterback, Billy Ryan, who will quarterback the East Squad Friday night, is also Tech bound, as is East halfback Kenneth Knowles of Holliday and East fullback Jim Hollingsworth of Vernon.

Two Amarillo boys on the West Squad, the center from Palo Duro-Franklin Brunson and the Sandie halfback Dickie Polsun will see action at Tech also.

West Texas State will draw five of the Greenbelt All Stars. From the West Squad will go center Franklyn Thrasher of Matador; tackles Tony Moyers of Lubbock; Randell Gilcrease of Spur; and Dory Funk of Canyon. Fullback Jerry Behrens of Clarendon is also a future West Texas State star.

Six boys will leave the state for their college football. Eastern New Mexico will draw Stinnett center Boyd Patterson from the Squad and Tommy Richards, Paducah end from the West. Tulsa University will draw the only Oklahoma boy on either squad, Altus halfback Buster Chisum who will play for the East Team.

Oklahoma will draw Borger's tackle Harold Smith and Breckenridge outstanding end Ronny Payne, both from the Greenbelt West Squad. Oklahoma State will see Perryton's Don Seymour in action at a fullback spot for the West this Friday.

The University of Texas will get Fort Worth Arlington Heights star tackle, Kay Brockermeyer, Groom's big tackle Leon Anglin, and Dimmitt's speedy halfback Keith Lowe. Brockermeyer will play for the East Squad, while Anglin and Lowe will play for the opposition.

The University of Houston will also get three Greenbelters in Johnny Rogers, Seymour tackle, Chuck Colvin, Abilene halfback; and Big Spring's big guard Daniel Lee Birdwell. Rogers and Colvin will play for the East and Birdwell for the West.

Jerry Don Trentham, East quarterback from Electra, will go to Tarleton State College. Doyce Walker, East halfback from Burkburnett, plans to play at SMU. Howard Payne will get Quitaque guard Murray Wise, who will play for the West. Hardin-Simmons will see a lot of Leslie Bevel, West end from Littlefield, while Texas A&M can expect great things from Jesse McGuire, West halfback and All State boy from Plainview.

Many of the remaining boys will have scholarships and some have several to choose from. Some others, as has always happened in the past, may receive a scholarship by virtue of his play in Friday night's Greenbelt classic.

Upwards To 70 In Tournament

Upwards to 70 persons may compete in the best-ball tournament at Webb AFB's golf course Saturday.

The linksters will be shooting for prizes to be awarded to low foursomes in a meet conducted on the order of the pro-amateur tournaments which have become so popular in this area.

Amateurs will lead most of the teams, however.

The meet is part of the course's observance of its first anniversary.

The public has an open invitation to take part in the meet. Entry fee is $2 per person and play will begin about 9:30 a.m. Golfers will be handicapped by W. O. Maxwell Jr., and Jack Starnes, employes of the course.

Each member of the low teams in each of three categories will get some sort of merchandise award. The women players have a special invitation to take part.

Those interested can contact the pro shop, telephone number of which is Ext. 520, at the base.

Cosden Oilers 1-Up In Playoff

MIDLAND (SC) — The Cosden Oilers of Big Spring went one-up in their Shaughnessy playoff series with Gulf Oil to decide a champion of the Midland Softball tournament by winning an 8-4 decision here Tuesday night.

The same two clubs clash again Thursday. Should Gulf surprise the Big Spring club, a third contest would be needed to determinte the winner.

In last night's other Shaughnessy game, the Eagles blanked A&J Electric, 3-0.

Troy Wetsel and Billy Paul Thomas divided time on the mound for Cosden, yielding six hits between them.

Cosden combed the offerings of Davidson, the Gulf hurler, for 11 blows, including three singles each by Gene Gross and Spot Cockrell and a triple and single by Thomas.

The Oilers crowded three runs across the plate in the first inning, another in the second and put the verdict out of reach with a three-run third.

James Tidwell lashed out a third inning round tripper for Big Spring with Thomas up front. Ted Gross had a double for Cosden.

Al Valdes, manager of the Big Spring team, must go to the tournament site early tomorrow to discuss playing rules and entrance requirements.

KBST To Broadcast Cardinal Contest

Radio station KBST Big Spring will air a play-by-lay account of the Big Spring-San Angelo first round game in the State Senior Teen-Age baseball league tournament, direct from San Angelo, Thursday night.

The game gets under way at 8 p.m. Should the Cardinals win the opener, the local station will also broadcast the second round contest involving the Big Spring team, it has been announced.

Painters Gain 6-2 Triumph

Nabors Paint Store defeated Tarzan's softballers last night, 6-2, in a seven-inning game at the City Park.

Tarzan took a 2-0 spread in the third inning, but watched Nabors promptly bounce ahead in the top of the fourth, 6-2.

Head of Nabors offensive charge was Frank Jones who walloped a home run in that inning with two men in front. The hit was Jones' sole blow in three advances.

With a secure lead, Nabors continued to defense the losers effectively and winning pitcher Alvin Mize whipped out four scoreless innings. Mize, in canning his 28th win of the season, yielded four hits, all singles.

Loser for Tarzan was Welch, who relinquished six hits. Ralph Murphree of Nabors managed two singles and Jones' only hit was a home run. Others getting singles were Morrison, Fortenberry and Sarmiento.

The Painters play next Thursday night at 7:30 p.m., meeting the Webb Dusters in a double header.

Cus Says Champ To Prove Self

By BOB MYERS

OCEANSIDE, Calif. (AP) — Floyd Patterson, in at least one man's opinion, will emerge a great world heavyweight champion in his title defense with Roy Harris of Texas in Los Angeles Monday.

The one man, who admittedly is prejudiced, is Cus D'Amato, Patterson's turbulent and controversial manager.

Patterson renewed old friendships here today and D'Amato reviewed old feuds as a delegation of fellow New Yorkers, all boxing writers, visited the champion's camp.

* * *

D'Amato told about making the match between Patterson and the unbeaten hero of Cut and Shoot, Tex. Among others, he said, he talked to Lou Viscusi of Houston, Roy's managerial adviser, long prominent in the fight game.

"Viscusi put it this way," related D'Amato. "He said Harris had never been really tested, nor had Patterson.

"But he said, 'I'll promise you this will be a terrific fight between two young fighters and whoever wins will be a great champion." So we made the match," D-Amato concluded.

D'Amato made it clear he is still rankled that Floyd hasn't received the attention he thinks the fighter merits.

And he is sore that comparison was made between Floyd's six-round knockout over Pete Rademacher and the four rounds it took Zora Folley to dispose of Rademacher.

"I'll give you the explanation for that," declared D'Amato. "When Rademacher met Patterson, he had an appetite for fighting.

"After he met Patterson he had no appetite to fight anybody."

Fiery Cus recalled Patterson's five-round knockout over Archie Moore which gave him clear claim to the title in 1956.

"Moore was made a 5-1 favorite by the boxing writers. He must have looked good in training for them to have picked him to win by so big a margin.

"But Floyd knocked Moore out—and everyone said he knocked out an old man."

Title Go Set For 9 P.M.

ODESSA (SC)—Mail orders are being accepted now for the closed-circuit TV showing of the Floyd Patterson-Roy Harris heavyweight championship fight Aug. 18 in the Ector County Coliseum.

Co-promoters A. P. Brown and Abe Gerson are filling ticket orders at their office, 111 W. Third in Odessa.

Orders should be mailed to: Fight Tickets, 111 W. Third, Odessa, Tex. They should include checks or money orders and self-addressed, stamped envelopes.

Reserved section tickets are $5.40 and un-reserved section tickets are $3.60.

The fight will be shown on a 16-foot square screen, which will be situated on the coliseum floor, facing east. The fight, being staged in Los Angeles, will begin at 9 a.m. Odessa time.

The bout will not be seen on TV nor heard on radio. With those mediums 'blacked out', the Teleprompter showing is an exclusive. The nearest cities to Odessa that will show the fight are El Paso, Fort Worth, San Antonio and Amarillo.

A ticket booth at the coliseum will be open all day Monday, Aug. 18, so that fans can buy tickets early and avoid standing in line that night.

San Antonio beat Edinburg 7-4 last night to force the playoff in the double-elimination tournament. Each team has lost one game.

Oregon State Looks To Be Class Of Coast Conference

By ALAN CLINE
AP Staff Writer

Don't be surprised if one of the Pacific Coast Conference Northwest "country cousins" takes home the final PCC football trophy.

Oregon and Oregon State, co-champions last year, are loaded. So is Washington State.

The conference dissolves next June, and, ironically, one of the major factors in its demise was the desire of the big California schools to eliminate the round robin requirement which forced them to play all the conference schools except Idaho.

The big schools wanted intersectional gate attractions in place of the smaller Northwest teams.

Another major issue was penalties meted out to California, UCLA, Southern California and Washington for violating conference rules.

Oregon State looks like the class of the conference. Even Coach Tommy Prothro admits it. He says his Beavers first team should be close to last year's and he'll have more depth in second and third units.

Speedster Charley Tourville is the lone returning backfield starter from Oregon's Rose Bowl squad, but Len Casanova has an experienced line with four top-notch linemen back for another season. Casanova also has his entire second line from last year.

Washington State has 26 lettermen returning. Veterans include quarterback Bobby Newman, the nation's total offense leader in 1957.

At UCLA, Red Sanders, one of football's winningest coaches, already has lost four potential starters through scholastic difficulties.

He adds: "And then we have that fiendish, five-game senior ordeal. We have seven senior starters who can only play five games."

The five-game maximum is part of the PCC penalties for infraction of aid-to-athletes rules.

Southern California, California and Washington have much in common. All had trouble aplenty last season with new coaches trying the split T offense.

Stanford's new coach, Jack Curtice, is a man in search of a quarterback. None of his signal callers have much experience. His line has plenty, though.

Coach Skip Stahley figures to have another good line at Idaho although he lost most of his veterans.

Adam Powell Wins Despite Tammany

NEW YORK (AP)—Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr. buried his opponent in an avalanche of votes today to win the Democratic renomination for his Harlem congressional seat despite the opposition of powerful Tammany Hall.

The 49-year-old Negro congressman, seeking an eighth term in the House, easily defeated Earl Brown, a Negro city councilman and an assistant editor of Life magazine, in yesterday's primary election.

Returns from all 143 election districts gave Powell 14,837 votes to Brown's 4,935.

The victory assured that Powell will be on both the Democratic and Republican ballots in November. He was the unopposed GOP designee. Brown, 55, once again will be Powell's opponent—running on the Liberal party ticket, where he was unopposed.

Barring unusual developments, Powell seemed a good bet to defeat Brown in November and return to Congress, where he has been the self-proclaimed champion of the American Negro and of the people of Harlem in particular.

Harlem is about 85 per cent Negro, with much of the rest Puerto Rican.

Powell won, however, even in a section of Harlem that was heavily Italian and Puerto Rican. Powell said the area is a "powerful Tammany district run by Carmine DeSapio's leader, Frank Rosetti." DeSapio is New York secretary of state and the Tammany Hall leader.

The victory was a blow to DeSapio and the fortunes of Tammany, which backed Powell's previous seven successful bids for Congress but turned against him this time.

The Tammany leaders said they dropped Powell because he supported President Eisenhower in the 1956 campaign. Powell said he supported Eisenhower because the Democrats took too weak a stand on civil rights.

Powell is awaiting trial on charges of federal income tax evasion, and the outcome could be one factor in the fall election. His indictment played little part, however, in the primary campaigning.

Both candidates campaigned mainly on racial issues. Powell called Brown a "hand-picked Uncle Tom"—a Negro considered subservient to whites. Brown replied that Powell's vaunted civil rights advocacy was mostly talk.

Brown, like Powell, opposes segregation but has not been as vociferous about it.

Miller Rites Slated Today

Services were to be held Wednesday at 4 p.m. in the Nalley-Pickle Chapel for B. F. Miller, 85, pioneer settler of Howard County.

Mr. Miller died Monday afternoon.

Last rites were to be in charge of the Rev. Jack Power, Trinity Baptist minister, with the Rev. Jim Fields assisting. Interment was to be in the City Cemetery.

Mr. Miller was born March 13, 1873, in Morgan community of Johnson County, and he was married on Jan. 10, 1900, to Miss Tina Elizabeth Davidson. They came to Howard County in 1901 on one of the early day "immigrant trains" and settled in the R-Bar community, where he was instrumental in organizing the R-Bar school. He donated land for the school, the Salem Baptist Church and also for the West Noble Church in Martin County.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. B. F. Miller; three daughters, Mrs. M. A. Thomas, Mrs. M. W. Harwell and Miss Eva Miller, all of Big Spring; and three sons, Claude Miller and Roger Miller, Big Spring, and Cecil Miller, Deming, N. M. In addition, Mr. and Miller leaves 10 grandchildren, eight great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

Pallbearers were to be Frank Arner, D. H. Griffiths, Ray Groseclose, Stanley Wheeler, Truett Thomas, Doc Wilkerson, Paul Bishop and Lloyd Wasson.

Ceilings Set On Braceros In This Area

Farmers in the three-county area of Martin, Glasscock and Howard may be able to bring in all the braceros needed to harvest the cotton crop, according to a message received at the Texas Employment Commission in Big Spring.

The Secretary of Labor has certified to a shortage of workers in this area and a ceiling on the employment of Mexican National agricultural workers has been established.

The number which may be brought to Howard County is 735, for Martin 1,470 and Glasscock 245. The date of employment started Aug. 1 and ends on Sept. 30. These figures are subject to revision if sufficient native labor becomes available.

Soviets Silent On Sub Polar Trips

MOSCOW (AP) — The voyages of the U. S. atomic submarines Nautilus and Skate under the ice of the North Pole undoubtedly has given Soviet leaders something to think about.

But their exploits have produced mainly silence from the Soviet Union except for a brief report on the voyage of the Nautilus.

The Defense Ministry's newspaper Red Star, however, published a story today on the progress of the United States in the field of atomic submarines.

What the Soviet Union is doing to match the United States in the development of nuclear submarines is a question here,

Nudoscope Naughty, Say Mexico Censors

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico City's Entertainment Department has banned use of the term "Nudoscope" in advertising the movie "Enchanting Ladies."

Original ads said: "First—Cinerama—Panorama — Cinema-Scope—and now—Nudoscope."

The department said the term was too suggestive. The cast includes several noted flesh artists.

Marines Starting Lebanon Pull-Out

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A token withdrawal of U.S. Marines from Lebanon began today a few hours before Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko was to demand in the U.N. General Assembly that all 15,000 American troops pull out at once.

The 1,700 men of the 2nd Marine Division's 2nd Battalion worked barebacked in the blazing sun to load ammunition and heavy equipment on ships of the 8th Fleet. The battalion was the first to land July 15 at the request of Presdent Camille Chamoun to bolster his pro-Western regime after the Iraqi coup.

Loading of heavy equipment was scheduled to be completed Thursday. The men will finish going aboard ship Friday.

The other Marines and Army troops continued peaceful patrols around Beirut. There was no indication when they might leave.

Only a handful of Lebanese watched as the 2nd Battalion put its gear on landing craft for transport to 6th Fleet ships in the harbor. When the Marines landed 29 days ago crowds of Beirut residents turned out but now they had gotten used to seeing the Leathernecks.

One group of Lebanese dropped unsigned leaflets on the north beach saying: "Yankees go home. We swear we will not stop short of anything, even death, if American soldiers are not withdrawn from our country in the shortest time."

The Marines themselves weren't worried about the internal political struggle that brought them here. "We never did figure out the local politics and don't care anything about it either," said T.Sgt. Glenn Johnson, Light, Ark. "Marines are Marines."

Primary Winners Split On Race Issue

By The Associated Press

Men on the exact opposite side of the integration question were on top today in political races in New York's Harlem and in Arkansas.

Integrationist Adan Clayton Powell was an easy victor in Harlem over another Negro, Earl Brown, for the Democratic nomination for Powell's seat in the House.

Segregationist Jim Johnson held a narrow lead over Justice Minor Millwee in his efforts to replace Millwee on the bench of Arkansas' Supreme Court.

Opposing views, too, were in evidence in still a third primary election. This one, in Idaho, featured a photo finish race between State Sen. A. M. Derr and Max Hanson, a wheat farmer, for the Democratic governor nomination.

These two leaders in a field of four candidates had argued over bringing legalized gambling back to Idaho. Derr wants it. Hanson doesn't.

The winner will run against Republican Gov. Robert E. Smylie.

Politicians regarded Powell's victory as the most significant contest nationally.

They felt it provided at least an indicator of how Negroes themselves line up on whether integration should be fast or slow.

The contrasting political picture in Arkansas indicated that segregationist views still have a great appeal, coming as it does, so soon after Gov. Orval Faubus' big renomination victory.

But the contest was extremely close. It may not be known for a week, when the official results are calculated, whether segregationist Johnson or Justice Millwee won.

In the other contested Arkansas Supreme Court race, Justice Ed F. McFaddin easily defeated Griffin Smith Jr. Smith had only mildly introduced the integration question in this race.

NAACP Leader Gets Life In Prison

KOUNTZE, Tex. (AP)—Bryant Bowles, founder of the National Assn. for Advancement of White People, was formally sentenced yesterday for the May murder of his brother-in-law, James Harvey, 35.

The sentence was pronounced by Dist Judge H. E. Coe. A district court jury convicted Bowles here Aug. 5 and fixed his sentence at life in prison. His lawyers have said they plan an appeal.

Both Bowles and his wife heard the sentence without any outward show of emotion.

Wilson Will File Tidelands Brief

AUSTIN (AP)—Atty. Gen. Will Wilson left today for Washington where he will file the Texas Tidelands brief in the Supreme Court.

He carried the two-pound legal argument of Texas' side of the case in a set of 40-year-old saddle bags belonging to Texas Ranger Dudley White.

"There is lots of money for the school children of Texas riding on this brief," Wilson said before boarding his plane. "It is a good brief representing intensive work by our staff, Gov. Price Daniel and outstanding authorities. We hope that it will convince the court that the school children of Texas should retain off shore lands."

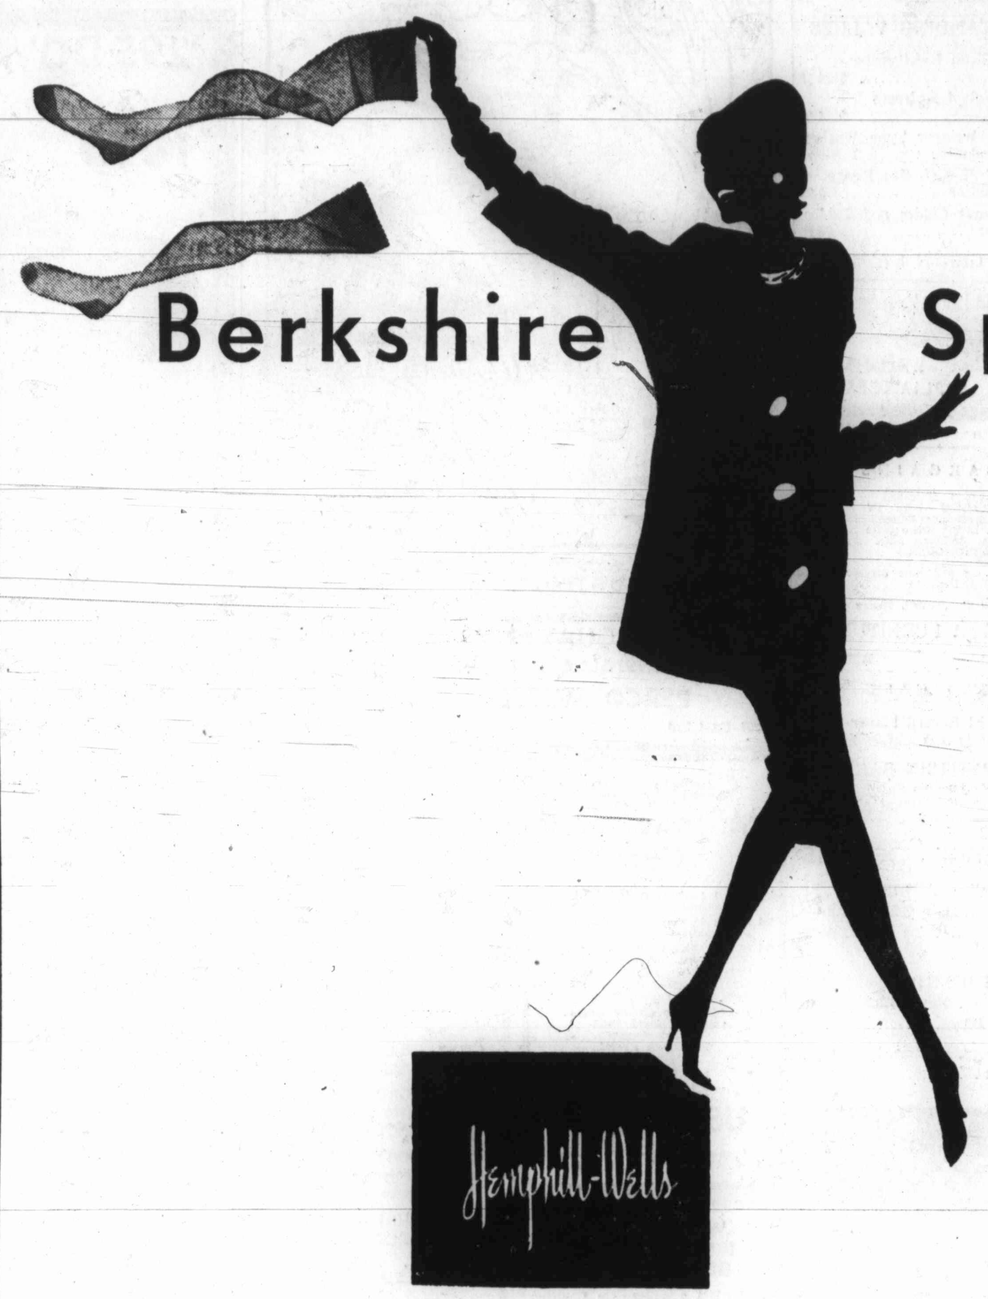

Trapped In Closet, Woman Succumbs

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A woman trapped for more than two days in a closet died Tuesday night.

Firemen used hacksaws to free 62-year-old Mrs. Ruby Hummingbird, Tuesday. Authorities said she apparently suffered a stroke and as she fell wedged between a folding bed and a closet wall. She lay helpless until discovered by a neighbor.

Mrs. Hummingbird used the closet for sleeping after renting out her apartment bedrooms.

Jailbreaker And Pal Arrested

GREENWOOD, Miss. (AP)—A gravely wounded Tyler, Tex., jailbreaker and his youthful companion were in custody here today.

Officers wounded Johnny Cooper, 34, in trying to arrest him at a motel Monday night. They later used tear gas in forcing Cooper and James Byford, 14, of Dallas to surrender.

Doctors said Cooper, shot in the chest and hand, had no better than a 50-50 chance to survive.

Sheriff Charles Lee said Cooper broke jail at Tyler in February, and he and young Byford admitted stealing three cars, robbing a store and cashing worthless checks in Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi.

The sheriff said young Byford told him the two held up a Little Rock, Ark., shoe store Aug. 7. Lee quoted the pair as admitting they drove a stolen car from Texas to Miami, Fla., took another from there to Norman, Okla., and picked up a third car to drive here.

Elvis To Bedside Of Ailing Mother

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) —Pvt. Elvis Presley, drafted rock 'n' roll king, made a flying trip to Memphis Tuesday to be with his seriously ailing mother.

The Army gave Elvis an emergency seven-day furlough — although Presley's company is on alert and expected to go overseas. A Memphis physician urged that Presley be allowed to visit his mother.

Mrs. Presley is suffering from jaundice and a liver ailment.

To Face Trial On Narcotics Charge

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP)—Jack Clayton, 40, accused of peddling a million dollars' worth of illegal heroin, cleared the way yesterday for his return to stand trial in Texas.

He waived a removal hearing in Joplin and U.S. Commissioner E. R. Crocker said he would recommend the federal court send Clayton to Mount Pleasant, Tex.

Clayton, from Blue Springs, Mo., where he was known as a sportsman and private pilot, faces a charge of selling heroin at Mount Pleasant last month.

Lad Dies In Fall

Man Is Drowned

KNOX CITY, Tex. (AP)—The body of Noah Hodges, 64, was found floating in a stock tank on a farm near here yesterday. Justice Peace W. E. Lovelace ruled accidental drowning.

DEAR ABBY

SUMMER TIME

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Just what do air-conditioning engineers say? How low should a thermostat be set in an office? We girls shiver while the men in the office wear wooolen suits and turn the thermostat down to 62. In winter you'd have your furnace turned on at 62! We can't wear our summer clothes to work because we'd freeze in them. We've all had our turns at stiff necks, colds and earaches because of the air-conditioning. Please say something in your column. These men don't believe anything unless they see it in black and white.

FIVE FROZEN GALS

DEAR FIVE: A comfortable (and sensible) temperature is 74. Push the thermostat up, Girls, and let he who is without conscience push it down!

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My neighbors moved away and couldn't take their collie puppy with them so they gave it to me because they know I love animals. After a few weeks I could see that my own dog (whom I've had for eight years) resented the new dog, so I thought it best to give the collie to a friend of mine in the country. When I went to see this friend three months later. I was shocked to see the puppy I'd given her, looking so sickly and thin. I asked if he had been sick and she said, "No, he eats good. We give him potato peels and tablescraps and plenty of it." This hurt me because I am a dog lover. It has been bothering me. Should I ask for the dog back and try to find it a better home.

DOG LOVER

DEAR DOG LOVER: Certainly. Ask for the dog and if you can't find a home in which it will be happy and well treated, your Humane Society will take good care of it.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem that lots of other mothers have so I will speak for all of us. It concerns my neighbor. She lets her small children out of the house before seven o'clock in the morning and when they get out they act like they have just escaped from a cage. They scream, sing and yell as loud as they can. Many people are trying to sleep at seven in the morning. I never let my children out of the house until after eight. Please tell me if I am wrong to complain?

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: Your neighbor is inconsiderate. Have a talk with her and tell her if she must let her children out so early to please instruct them to be quiet, or to stay with them and KEEP them quiet.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I can't let this opportunity pass without telling the mother who complained about her boys taking off their shoes just any place in the house. I know this mother loves her boys as I do mine, but she doesn't realize how quickly they can slip away even if it's only going out in life on their own. But my oldest son died last summer and believe you me I'd gladly help him find his shoes if I could just have him back. I looked for his shoes many times and it never got on my nerves. Tell her she doesn't have a problem, she has a blessing, and she should thank God for the boys who are still with her.

A SAD HEART
