Bitter Texas Primary Campaigns Brought To End

Gladys O'Donnell Boosts Lead To Nearly 2 Hours As Three Forced Down

(By Associated Press)
WICHITA, Kan., Aug. 22.—Successful negotiating a severe wind and rain storm which forced three other entrants to make forced landings, Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell, of Long Beach, today increased her lead in the Long Beach-Chicago Women's air derby to an hour and 50 minutes.

Miss Marjorie Dole, Danbury, Conn., second in the race in elapsed time, lost her way soon after leaving Enid, Oklahoma, but soon corrected her mistake and followed Mrs. O'Donnell into Wichita, tonight's control point.

Encounter Bad Weather
The fliers encountered the worst weather of their trip between Amarillo, Texas, where they spent the night, and Enid, Oklahoma, where they halted for lunch. Ruth Stewart, of St. Louis, was forced down in a corn field near Enid City, Okla., farmers aided her in taking off again in the rain.

Mildred Morgan of Beverly Hills, California, was forced down near Enid, and Miss Jean LaRue, of Kansas City, near Waukomis, Oklahoma.

All the derbys reached Enid in time for scheduled takeoff for Wichita however, Miss LaRue was third to land in Wichita; Miss Stewart, fourth; Miss Morgan, fifth, and Ruth Barron, Hollywood, sixth.

The racers will rest here for 24 hours and take off for Kansas City at 3:30 tomorrow afternoon.

Two Slain At Sacco-Vanzetti Meeting

Killer Sought By Police in Pennsylvania

Meeting in Boston Broken Up by Officers; Three Arrested on Third Anniversary of Execution of Pair

Reports Conflict

Gathering Ends in Disorder; Near Panic Results with Men, Women and Children Struggling to Escape

(By Associated Press)
VERILLA, Pa., Aug. 22.—Two men were shot to death here tonight at what authorities described as a Sacco-Vanzetti meeting and state police and county officers were seeking the killer whose identity was undetermined.

The meeting, being held on a vacant lot near town, broke up in disorder, Coroner William B. Baker reported.

Baker said one of the dead was George Harkoff, 33, of Cross Creek township and that the second man was unidentified.

Conflicting reports were given by persons at the gathering. Some said that Harkoff and the other victim of the shooting had addressed the meeting, while others told police the two were merely in attendance at the observance.

A near panic was said to have resulted from the shooting with men, women and children struggling to escape from the grounds.

BOSTON, Aug. 22. (P)—Police tonight broke up on Boston Common a meeting held in memory of Nicola Sacco and Bartholomew Vanzetti, who were executed three years ago today. They arrested three persons who attempted to deliver a speech. About 4,000 persons had gathered for the demonstration.

The men arrested were Nathan Kay, 26, organizer for the International Brotherhood of Shipyard Workers, and two others.

Some Recommendations An Editorial Concerning the Elections

TODAY between 700,000 and 900,000 Texans will select state officers for the next two years. The issues of the campaign have been discussed from many platforms, weaker candidates were eliminated in the first primary and Texas now stands at the cross-roads where action by the voters must decide.

The Morning Avalanche regrets that in some races personal abuse, and not issues, has been in the foreground. And because in some of the races personal abuse has clouded the issues, The Morning Avalanche will not discuss, in this final appeal, either issues or personal attacks.

Instead, The Morning Avalanche simply recommends the following:

That ROSS STERLING be elected governor on the grounds that general business and political unrest can best be corrected by him rather than by his opponent, Mrs. Miriam Ferguson and her husband, James E. Ferguson.

That EDGAR WITT be named lieutenant governor because of his broad experience as a legislator and presiding officer of the state senate; because of his acknowledged interest in West Texas and his past support of Texas Agricultural College.

That ROBERT LEE BOBBITT be elected attorney-general, because he is thoroughly familiar with and has successfully handled the routine business of his office, including such items as suits to recover approximately $10,000,000 from corporations; because he aided in the breaking up of the San Antonio and South Texas political rings which have stuffed ballot boxes in the past and have thus cancelled the votes of thousands of legitimate Texans in other sections of the state.

That PAT NEFF be named chairman of the Railroad commission because of his experience as governor, as a member of the federal board of mediation and in the position he seeks; because of his interest in and generosity to Texas Tech in the past, which makes the people of this section duty-bound to consider his candidacy most seriously.

That CHARLEY LOCKHART be named State Treasurer, because of the fine record he has made in public office in one of our neighboring counties, Sevier county.

That A. H. KING be selected as Commissioner of Agriculture because, through years of residence in West Texas, he is thoroughly cognizant of the needs of the farmers.

The important thing is that all Texans who are eligible to vote, cast a ballot today. The Democratic party was given a body blow two years ago but is recovering its poise. Now that the Republican party nationally is going to pieces Texas, as a leader of Democratic states should show a full vote and a logical choice throughout.

It is to be hoped that a full vote today will be followed by peace and harmony within the party and a solid line of Democratic unity may be shown two years from now, when Democracy will need Texas to help clear up abuses at Washington.

Sterling Has Statement on Eve of Voting

Houston Gubernatorial Candidate Sure of Victory as Campaign Closed; Continues Attack on "Fergusonism"

Jim Ferguson Brings Wife's Plea for Votes to End in Speech at Marlin; Sterling Winds Up at Galveston

(By Associated Press)
HOUSTON, Aug. 22.—Following his speech at Columbus today, Ross Sterling of Houston issued the following statement on the governor's race:

"I have carried the banner of responsibility in government over as much of the state as I could reach in the time allotted for the runoff campaign. I have made the best fight I could and victory is at hand."

Scores Opponents

"A campaign of amazing violence and slander has been waged against me in their desperation to get their own hands again upon the reins and purse strings of our state government," Jim Ferguson and his gang have cast aside all restraint, trampling the truth beneath their heels. Falsehood after falsehood has been piled, but like the hydra-headed monster which two heads have grown in place of every one stricken down.

"Tonight I rest my case with the sovereign people, who tomorrow must sit as a jury upon the candidates and issues of the campaign. The people must decide whether Texas again shall present to the nations of the world the humiliating spectacle of a corrupt proxy government, or whether they believe my candidacy offers an honorable and businesslike administration, fair to all the people, which is my aim."

Bandits Slay Five Hundred

Chinese City Left in Ruins After Two Thousand Kill Poor Natives and Kidnap 800 Others for Ransom

(By Associated Press)
SHANGHAI, Aug. 22.—Two thousand bandits, descending on the helpless city of Hangchow, western Honan province, killed 500 natives and kidnaped 800 others for ransom, said Chinese press dispatches today.

The atrocity, latest reported since rebellion, communist depredations and widespread banditry gripped China, took place during a fortnight occupation of the city. Methodically and thoroughly the brigands stripped the townspeople of their possessions, slew the poor and carried off the prosperous, their lives dependent on ransom payments.

Firing the city and leaving it in ruins, the bandits marched off with their prisoners to the mountains of eastern Shensi province. Safe there from pursuit by the military, which is engaged in civil war, they may prepare for another attack on defenseless towns or country side.

Communists, whose armies have roamed over several provinces, despoiling, looting and burning were preparing to strike directly at the capital of the nationalist government when a score of their leaders were arrested today in Nanking. There plot was to overthrow the government by dynamiting several of its buildings was frustrated and large quantities of explosives, and communist literature seized.

Road Workers Press Claims Of Affidavit

Lamb County Workers Hold to Charge That Politics Cost Them Jobs; Sterling Urges Claims Be Overlooked

Reiterating that the affidavits, circulated here yesterday, were true and that they were discharged from the employ of the State Highway department because they were supporting the gubernatorial candidacy of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, three Lamb county men were pressing their claims in Lubbock yesterday afternoon.

The men, J. M. Jenkins, Jesse Winn and W. E. Jones, said they signed the affidavits, which charged politics had taken a place in the highway department operations, and were willing and ready to stay with their story despite the fact that it had official denial.

Caldwell Seeks Statement
Joe H. Caldwell, division engineer, said Thursday that the men were not discharged, but with three other workers had been laid off, due to lack of funds for maintenance work and the dry conditions which made working the highways unavailing.

The men declared that, as the affidavits set forth, they had been discharged because they chose to support Mrs. Ferguson for governor instead of Ross Sterling, chairman of the State Highway commission. Jenkins said he had been working for the highway department for more than three years. Winn for more than five years and Jones for

STILT CONTEST ENDS

O'Donnell Youths Spend 52 Hours in Endurance

O'DONNELL, Aug. 22. (Special).—A still endurance contest which three O'Donnell boys entered Tuesday ended here today when Lonell Pugh got off of his walking sticks after spending 52 hours, 13 minutes and 13 seconds on them.

Newman Cadell and Woodrow Barber were the other participants in the still contest. Ages of the trio ranged from 15 to 18 years.

The winner, Pugh, received donations of wearing apparel, collections of wearing apparel, collections and a purse of about $10 from O'Donnell merchants.

Nomination of Candidates to Be Made Today

State Voters to Make Choice Between Ross Sterling and "Ma" Ferguson for Next Governor of Texas

Expect Heavy Vote

Campaign Managers Predict Sizeable Majorities; Polls Throughout State to Open at 8 O'Clock This Morning

(By Associated Press)
DALLAS, Aug. 22.—Texas tonight saw the ending of one of her strangest and most vitriolic primary campaigns preliminary to her choice tomorrow for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination between her first and only woman governor, wife of a seasoned, veteran campaigner, who himself twice was governor and impeached and removed in the middle of his second term, and a newcomer to the field of elective politics.

Ross S. Sterling, Houston newspaper publisher and chairman of the state highway commission, and Mrs. Miriam A. ("Ma") Ferguson survived for tomorrow's run-off primary from a field of eleven which contested at the first primary a month ago.

A month ago 833,442 votes were cast in the Democratic primary, the total of Sterling and Mrs. Ferguson being 412,113 as against the greater figure, 419,729, divided among the nine defeated candidates. In that contest Mrs. Ferguson led with 343,888 and Sterling became her opponent by polling 170,734.

From throughout the state reports have indicated an intensely close contest and tonight the campaign managers seemed to be the only ones making predictions involving any appreciable majority.

Murphy W. Townsend, Sterling's North Texas manager, forecast the Houston man's nomination by a minimum majority of 80,000, with an unusually large vote probably running the majority higher.

Heavy Vote Forecast
Joe Morris, Mrs. Ferguson's North Texas Manager, predicted she would win tomorrow by 130,000, also predicting a total vote of 800,000 somewhat smaller than that of a month ago.

The polls will open throughout the state at 8 a. m. and close at 7 p. m. and a continuation of the hot, dry weather has been forecast generally over the broad Texas reaches.

Only the contest for the gubernatorial nomination for state attorney general has nearly kept pace with the gubernatorial nomination contest in its appeal to public interest. As in the case of the fight at the head of the ticket, that contest developed into a bitter exchange of personalities between the incumbent, Robert Lee Robbitt of Laredo, and James V. Allred of Wichita Falls, runner-up

Major Simpson Flays Record Of Fergusons in Speech Here

Amarillo Attorney and World War Veteran Makes Appeal for Ross Sterling Before Crowd of Five Hundred

DEVOTING most of his argument to attacks upon the character and public record of Jas. E. Ferguson, with frequent interpersing of "If that isn't true, I shouldn't say it," Major E. A. Simpson, Amarillo attorney, addressed a crowd of nearly 500 persons here Friday night in support of Ross S. Sterling's gubernatorial candidacy.

Victory Seen In Both Camps

Leaders of Ross Sterling and "Ma" Ferguson Forces Here Optimistic of Outcome in Primary Election Today

Both Ross S. Sterling and Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson will be elected governor of Texas, if predictions by chieftains of the two groups of supporters in Lubbock county are to be accepted at face value.

Each camp has announced that its candidate will poll a majority vote in Lubbock county and likewise will win the count throughout the state.

Robert J. Murray, head of the Ferguson-for-Governor club in Lubbock county, was optimistic this morning, but to use the common vernacular, "had nothing on" Ross Wilson, who has presided over the Sterling camp within the same environs. Both Messrs. Wilson and Murray are their favorite ahead—and that's all there is to it.

"Ma" to Carry County
"Mrs. Ferguson will win the nomination by a 125,000 vote lead, based on this prediction on the first primary total of 833,000 ballots," Mr. Murray opined. He sees "Ma" breaking all precedents for primary elections and carrying Lubbock county for the first time. "She'll carry Lubbock county," he said, "by about 400 votes, due to her popularity in the rural sections. I think the city of Lubbock will be fifty-

Charge Farmer With Slaying

Wortham Man Held Under Bond of $7,500 After Tenant Is Shot to Death in Argument Over Cotton Crop

(By Associated Press)
WORTHAM, Aug. 22.—W. C. Butler, 50-year-old farmer of this community, was under bond of $7,500 today following a shooting on his farm four miles east of here, which resulted in the death of Oscar T. Harrison, 29, his tenant. The shooting was said to have followed an argument over the cotton crop.

There were no eye witnesses to the affair. But Butler's 18-year-old son, Rex, was at the barn where the shooting occurred and had seen both his father and Harrison immediately before he heard a shot fired. Harrison was slain with a shotgun. The shooting occurred about 6 a. m.

Justice of the Peace E. C. Crouch of Wortham conducted an inquest. Butler waived examining trial and declined to make a statement.

According to the story told Justice Crouch by Rex Butler at the inquest, he had seen the tenant about the farm immediately before the shooting and saw him go under a shed near the barn. He saw his father about the same time. The slaying, he testified, took place under the shed out of his view.

Rex told the justice his father the night before had told his family "I took an awful cussing today."

Prospect Good For Low Taxes

President Hoover, Secretary Mellon Indicate That One Per Cent Rate Will Be Continued Through Next Year

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Pessimism in treasury circles yesterday over continuing the one per cent income tax reduction next year changed the optimism today with President Hoover and Secretary Mellon agreeing prospects were fair for keeping the lower rates.

Treasury experts, who took into account dwindling collections, and increasing expenditures, felt yesterday there was only a slight chance of continuing the reduction in 1931, but after the views were made known, there were conferences at both the White House and treasury.

Hoover Statement
President Hoover talked to Secretary Mellon and under-secretary Mills and a statement from the chief executive followed in which he said there was no ground for the prediction "that a deficit was impending which prevented the continuation of tax reductions established last year."

Indications of the trend of opinion had come previously from both the undersecretary and Mr. Mellon. The former talked to Mr. Hoover and later said there was a "probability" the lower scheduled might be kept. The treasury secretary in a formal statement said there was a "very real hope" of continuing the emergency tax cut voted by congress last December. Stimulus legislation would have to be passed at the coming December session if the lower rates continue since the reduction was provided only for taxes paid during 1930.

Co-Op Office At O'Donnell

Chamber of Commerce Agrees to Underwrite Expenses of Sub-Office of Texas Cotton Cooperative Association

(Special to the Morning Avalanche)
O'DONNELL, Aug. 22.—The O'Donnell chamber of commerce agreed to underwrite the expenses of a sub-office for this city of the Texas Cotton Cooperative Association, at a meeting held this afternoon. The amount of the guarantee signed is $3,000, which will provide six months' service of a government licensed cotton grader and stapler at this point.

Every one of the seven gin managers in O'Donnell have agreed that all cotton handled by them will be graded and stapled by the cooperative grader and classifier. They may buy cotton, as heretofore, but all bales so handled they will abide by the grade and staple of the association.

The chamber of commerce will have credited to the guarantee 20 cents for every bale sampled by the association's expert, whether the cotton is delivered to the association or not.

Ruth McCormick to Follow GOP Party

(By Associated Press)
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 22. (P)—Ruth Hanna McCormick, Republican candidate for the United States senate, today announced that if the voters of Illinois at their referendum in November ask for repeal of the prohibition amendment, she will be guided by their decision.

Before she had spoken, the Republican state convention adopted a platform with exactly the same attitude on the question as expressed by Mrs. McCormick.

"If a majority in Illinois are re-elected as favorable to repeal of the 18th amendment," she said, "I stand ready, when elected senator, to obey the mandate and I shall vote to submit the question of its repeal to the various states."

"If the expressed will of the people is for modification of the Volstead act, my course as a member of the senate would be in sympathy with the principles so approved, but the definite course to be pursued would be dependent, of course, upon the nature of the modification demanded."

Local Concern Buys Airplane

South Plains Air Transport Company Will Open School for Pilots; New Ship Will Be Ready Within Week

Ben Branson, chief pilot for the South Plains Air Transport company, will leave within the next week for Troy, Ohio, where he will receive and pilot home a new training plane for his company, H. P. Bradley, vice-president of the local concern, announced yesterday.

The purchase will bring to Lubbock the latest Model P Waco training plane, with a Warner air-cooled radial type motor. Mr. Bradley stated, also pointing out that telegraphic advice from the factory were that the plane would be ready for delivery within one week.

As soon as the plane was ordered, officials of the company announced that a flying school would be opened here immediately and they expect at least 20 students will begin training by September 1. Pilot Branson, who has transport license, will be flight instructor.

The South Plains Air Transport company is also dealer for the Waco and Stinson planes in a large section of which Lubbock is the center.

Two Derbyists Land Minute Apart at E. St. Louis

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., Aug. 22. (P)—Running a neck and neck race on the next to the last of their two races, two derbyists from Lubbock, Texas, as to Chicago, Jack Livingston of Aurora, Ill., and W. G. Moore of Kansas City, landed at Curtis-Stenberg airport one minute apart from Springfield late today. Moore landed at 4:32 p. m., and Livingston at 4:33.

The fliers will remain overnight here and complete their race to the national air races at Chicago tomorrow.

Moore flew here from Springfield in 1:56 and out two minutes off Livingston's unofficial elapsed time lead, reducing it to one hour and twelve minutes.

WACO, Aug. 22. (P)—Gullen P. Thomas of Dallas spoke here tonight in the interest of Ross Sterling, candidate for governor. He called on "the forces of righteousness to fight against Ferguson as a political nuisance."

THE WOMAN'S ANGLE

BY BLANCH E. DEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

Mrs. W. W. ROYALTY, president of the Lubbock Parent-Teacher council, M. H. Duncan, superintendent of the city schools, and others who are promoting the P-T-A. interests are urging parents of Lubbock school children to attend the P-T-A. section of the South Plains Teachers institute this fall.

The institute will be in session during the first three days—September at the Texas Technological college and arrangements have been made to have speakers appear before a conference group for parents and teachers. Whether or not a man or a woman has ever worked in the P-T-A. or expects to be in the organizations, he is eligible to attend the sectional meetings and is urged to attend. Mrs. Royalty explained, because this course is designed to instruct them in the workings of the parent-teacher association.

SOCIETY GIRLS WORK
A proof of the fact that many girls work because they like to rather than because of necessity, is recent story that has come out of Chicago telling of the careers followed by many of the society girls of that city.

One girl is selling automobiles, another is with a travel bureau, and a third is a secretary. The French and German. This latter one explains that she buys her clothes and accessories with her salary. Other girls are running ready-to-wear shops, travelling with stock companies, selling advertising, running book stores and doing a number of other things which appeal to their particular fancies.

Even in Lubbock it is not always the girl who needs the money who is working or preparing for a profession. There is no "upper 400" in this city or any barriers that may be drawn about the elite of the city, yet there are some young women who might well enough devote their youth to seeking a good time. Some of these are in college and yet they are almost universally taking courses which will prepare them to earn money in some profession.

QUEEN AN EGOTIST
ZOE BECKLEY, a newspaper woman whose stories are widely read, relates a story of Queen Marie, of Roumania, in illustrating the colossal egotism of this woman. While talking to a friend one day, the queen remarked that she was puzzled over their friendship as they seemed to have nothing in common. "Oh yes, we do have a mutual understanding," the friend replied, "you think you are wonderful and I agree with you."

Many noted people are supreme egotists. Perhaps that is one factor in their success for haven't we all cut through the chapel exercises in the schools of our day listening to the old, old story about the train which pulled up the hill with an "I-think-I-can, I think I can."

One of the greatest egotists I have ever met was a Dr. Davenport, a Russian-Pole, although she is now married to an American. She is 106 years of age and spends much of her time going from city to city lecturing on hygiene. She has 11 living sons, has been married three times, entered medical school in Vienna after she was 50 years of age and graduated in the face of a strong prejudice against women students. She plays Bach and Beethoven and the other masters, she goes through her daily dozen and has the vitality of a woman of 30 years of age. When she married Dr. Davenport, who makes these tours with her, he was 24 years of age and she was 68. "A lot of young women have tried to take him away from me, but he stays with me just the same," I heard her say.

Camp Fire Girls Learn of Flower Arrangement

Members of the Novocompact Camp Fire group met at the First Methodist church Wednesday afternoon. The art of flower arrangement was discussed and 24 bouquets made of snapdragons, gerberas, golden glow, daisies and asters which the girls had brought home. Later they took them to a local sanitarium for distribution to the patients.

The next meeting, which will be of an educational nature, is to be held next Wednesday.

By BETSY SCHUYLER
NEA Service Writer
SARATOGA, SPRINGFIELD, N. Y., Aug. 22.—Horse racing, that old sport of kings, bids fair to become the sport of queens in this modern world of ours.

Over 40 women race their own colors here this year, under the jurisdiction of the Jockey Club.

Twenty-eight or so, blue-bloods of the first water, maintain stables down in Kentucky, Virginia or Tennessee, with strings of horses ranging from 25 to over 100 in number. Others, for instance Mrs. Elizabeth Altemus, fiancée of "Jock" Whitney, owns a single horse, "Jock" Whitney, who she races at Saratoga for the first time this year.

Three of the best-known horsewomen also claim the proud distinction of being grandmothers, Mrs. Graham Fair Vanderbilt, Mrs. Louise G. Kaufman, and Mrs. Payne Whitney.

Mrs. Payne Whitney owns the largest stables, the Greentree Stables, named for her Long Island estate, with 68 horses in training, not counting stallions and brood mares. Her bill for feed alone, for horses and men, is reputed to be $1,000 a day!

Way back in 1911, when the horses ran at Piping Rock and a portable stand took the place of a comfortable one, Mrs. Whitney used to stand through every storm, often in pouring rain, when every body but herself and the newspapermen sought more shelter than dripping umbrellas could afford.

Prince's Hostess Active
Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark, whose devotion to horse racing is evidenced by that she has a big stable of famous jumpers which is always an important feature of the Saratoga meet. She is remembered as the distinguished hostess to the Prince of Wales at her Long Island home on his visit here. After the Belmont season closes in the fall, she and Mr. Clark usually sail for England to join the hunt meets at Melton.

Mrs. John D. Harris, of Chicago, got the name of "Lucky" when her thoroughbred, Reliance, won the $55,375 Kentucky Derby, the $6,000 Saratoga Cup and the $28,430 Lawrence Realization all in the same year, netting over $100,000. This year she is racing a string of thoroughbreds here, including Chigga King, 2d, Wrigley Field, Out Bound and Portage.

If you go to the track here early of a morning, between six and eight, to be precise, you will be likely to see one of the women who count in the racing world on one hand, before you stop-watch in one hand, field glasses in the other, clocking her famous steppers. She is Mrs. Henry C. Phipps, of Philadelphia, sister of Ogden Mills. Mrs. Phipps runs the stable owned jointly by them, never misses a day at the track and is thoroughly interested in every phase of her pastime.

For popularity, no one runs ahead of Mrs. Charles Minot Amory, friendly and capable mistress of the famous Sagamore Stables down in Maryland. Mrs. Amory's devotion to her favorite sport is shared by her son, Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, whose father's interest in horses, especially in the show ring, was shown on both sides of the Atlantic before his death on the ill-fated Lusitania.

Mrs. Richard T. Wilson, who has not felt equal personally, to attending Saratoga this year, after all the pleasurable seasons she has enjoyed here with her late husband, association president for many years is "carrying on" at Kirklevington Farms, Kentucky, the stables founded by Mr. Wilson. There she has 30 of the finest mares, royally bred and young, and three famous stallions, Ombels, Tall Timber and Fillory.

One who never misses a day during the August meeting, nor a single chance to be in the paddock looking them over, is Mrs. William F. Hitt, the former Katherine Elkins, whose big string of thoroughbreds are represented on the racing program. She will be recalled as the Virginia belle who was at one time engaged to the Duke of the Abruzzi, but met Mr. Hitt, who wouldn't take "No" for an answer, so he didn't have to!

Then there is Mrs. William Ziegler, a former Troy girl, who owns and runs her Middlebrook Stables in Virginia, where highstepping thoroughbreds are raised.

Others in Field
Other well-known society women racing here this season include Mrs. Lawrence Harriman, the former Mrs. Averill Harriman, Mrs. James Complimentary to Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Dorow, of Deerfield, Fla., who have been visiting Mrs. Dorow's mother, Mrs. M. A. Hicks, Miss Ethel Hicks entertained with bridge Thursday evening at 1629 17th st.

Three tables were in play and high scores were made by Mrs. Dorow and R. B. Fairly. Low scores in the game were made by Miss Cora Sealy and Leonard Brown. Those playing were Mrs. and Mrs. Dorow, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Fairly, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brewer, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hicks, Miss Cora Sealy and Garnett Reeve.

Mrs. and Mrs. Dorow and Miss Hicks left yesterday for Wichita Falls where they are to visit the sister of Mrs. Dorow and Miss Hicks, Mrs. Terry L. Wood. From there the Dorows will go to their home.

Nazarene Revival Closes on Sunday

A revival, which is in progress at the Nazarene church, is to be concluded tomorrow with an all-day meeting at the church, Avenue Q and 14th street, according to an announcement made yesterday.

A basket dinner will be served at noon in the church basement, and Rev. C. E. Touey, the evangelist, is to preach at 3 o'clock in the afternoon on the second coming of Christ.

Crep paper soaked in a small amount of water and then squeezed out with result in ink that can be used in an emergency.

er Corning, Mrs. Francis P. Gartin, sister of the late Nicholas Brady, and Mrs. Amory L. Haskell, of Red Bank.

Fully 30 of the 40 women who have entered horses in the race have this year are aristocrats of the social register. The remaining include some enterprising wives of trainers who may have bargained and got a single thoroughbred yearling at an auction and are, what you might say, racing on a shoestring.

This aspect of the business is fully as interesting and significant as that of the huge stable owners. It means that women are in the racing game to stay.

VOTE FOR E. L. PITTS FOR COUNTY JUDGE

August 23rd

Judge Pitts is a clean, conscientious, honest and honorable citizen and he will make an efficient, fearless, capable official, if elected.

The county is now confronted with a large program, which, if properly handled, will mean more for the development of Lubbock County and all the South Plains than any other one thing that has influenced the growth of this county in the past. Judge Pitts is thoroughly acquainted with the work of a county judge in every detail and especially is he well acquainted with the work from every angle of the great program just ahead of us in this county.

A vote for him will be a vote for GOOD GOVERNMENT, and we need the services at this time of this energetic, experienced man in the position he now seeks.

dent of Tech, introduced the commencement speaker, Dr. J. A. Hill, of West Texas State Teachers College at Canyon.

"Education and Society," his theme, Dr. Hill stressed modern society's need for leaders and declared that responsibility of leadership in a rapidly changing world rested upon the college graduate of "Historians in writing of the early the change from the strict personal problems which confronted every household to the social relationship, which we have at the present time," said the speaker.

Mentions Modernism

movement of freedom, and the new social philosophy of life has brought about were mentioned.

Three persons faced federal prose-counterfeit half dollars.

R. B. Miller, 23, tenant farmer west of Drumright; Gerald Hunt, 23, and his 15-year-old bride, Mrs.
Hattie Hunt, were arrested yesterday in Creek county. A plant for making the spurious coins was seized near Miller's home. Sheriff D. B.

closed that Hunt signed a confession a month ago in which he admitted counterfeiting activities and implicated the other two. The confession followed Hunt's arrest on a grand larceny charge.

ONE MINUTE PULPIT
For every creature of God is good, and nothing to be refused, if it be received with thanksgiving; For it is sanctified by the word of God and prayer.—Timothy, iv, 4, 5.

DON'T GO FISHING
WITH today dawn the climax of a bitter political campaign, during which Texans have heard many charges and counter-charges—and a great deal of personal abuse. One must bring one's self up to a jerk to remember that at the bottom of it all we are selecting a Democratic nominee for governor—not holding a sort of a public popularity contest.

At the conclusion of the first primary West Texans awoke to the fact that slated for the run-off were two candidates, neither of which are normally popular in this section. On one hand was being offered the catch-all platform of James E. Ferguson; on the other the pleas of a newcomer in state politics, Ross S. Sterling. West Texans scratched their heads and looked at the limited field over. As the smoke of the first election cleared away fully two-thirds of the people of this part of the state admittedly "didn't know which way to jump."

As the second drive progressed and a large slice of bitterness was being served prospective voters everywhere, an appreciable number of West Texans, unimpressed with the personality of Mr. Sterling and disgusted with the past strategies of the Ferguson campaign, threw up their hands. "I don't like either of them," was the gist of the decision. "I reckon I'll go fishing on August 23rd."

Now that election day has arrived there are still hundreds of voters who cling to their decision to "go fishing"—which in political parlance means "stay away from the polls." The situation is acute and must be remedied if good government in Texas is to have its footing.

Jim Ferguson's "rest pocket vote"—that group of citizens who stick with him through thick and thin—are going to the polls to "vote for Old Jim like I always do and always will." The Bell county politician has an uncanny knack of holding his own to him in a manner unequalled in the state. Jim Ferguson, running behind his wife's petticoats, is going into the race today with more than 200,000 votes "in his old sock," and 200,000 votes is a handicap for any opponent.

Every Lubbock and South Plains man who stays away from the polls today is giving Jim Ferguson half a vote. To defeat him will take the combined efforts of Texans who shudder to think of Fergusonism again holding sway in the capital and it is our opinion that these Texans who threaten to "go fishing" hold the balance of power in the election.

The Morning Avalanche frankly opines that there are many persons in Texas who would be more acceptable to the voters of this territory than is Ross Sterling, of Houston. Had it been the power of this newspaper to choose from the first primary the candidate to oppose Mrs. Ferguson in the run-off, that choice would certainly not have been Ross Sterling. However the voters decided the issue and limited the field as only voters can. As the situation has shifted down, there are but two candidates—Mr. Sterling and the Fergusonism—and as we see it, for the good of all Texas, Mr. Sterling should be the choice.

It is to those who have decided to "go fishing" that this editorial is addressed as a last minute appeal to patriotism.

Texans who would see their constitution upheld, those who yearn for a business administration in Austin, those who would see peace reign again in Texas politics and public life are urged to vote today as a matter of duty. Ross Sterling is not yet your idea of good gubernatorial timber, but if you would help save Texas from Fergusonism it is your duty today to cast a vote for him.

The people who vote today will decide the issue that is before us. Those who stay away are disqualifying themselves—by robbing themselves of that same right of ballot for which our forefathers gave their lives and blood.

Don't "go fishing!" Cast a vote for Texas' best interests, regardless of personalities!

THERE OUGHT TO BE A LAW
Diabolical violence is not unusual in labor disputes, but the airplane bombing in Kentucky was a fiendish act. Only the fact that the nine bombs were amazingly bad and dropped with bad aim prevented loss of life and great property damage.

Kentucky has no law imposing for this heinous and barbarous offense a penalty commensurate with the nature of the crime, not even the most fanciful of lawmakers having foreseen how dangerous a weapon aviation would place in the hands of the unconscionable.

There having been no special law for this crime on the Kentucky statute books at the time of the bombing, there naturally were many who said there ought to be a law. And this talk of another law wasn't limited to the blue grass country. The outraged citizenry wanted a federal law.

States may be leaguers in dealing with crime and the airplane does defy state boundaries, but neither of these arguments, nor both of them, outweigh the accumulated objections to extending the federal police powers.

On the Firing Line at the Nation's Capital

SAID "IT AIN'T OUR FAULT" WOULD BE SAID "IT AIN'T OUR FAULT" WOULD BE WARCRY OF REPUBLICANS

By Charles P. Stewart
(Central Press Staff Writer)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22—Senator Simon D. Pess of Ohio is the victim of an atrocious libel.

Conscienceless politicians have started the yarn that his first act as chairman of the Republican national committee, succeeding Claudius H. Huston (resigned, deposed or whatnot), was to choose for the G. O. P.'s slogan in the approaching autumn's congressional election, the warcry: "It ain't our fault!"

Senator Pess is a distinguished educator; a former college president; an English stylist 100 per cent pure. To suggest that he ever included the vulgar colloquialism "ain't" in his vocabulary not only is slanderous, but ridiculous.

True, he did express some anxiety lest prejudice and ignorance lead a great many voters to blame the administration for slack business, a measure of unemployment and even for 1930's prolonged drought—which, as he views the agricultural situation, furnishes the farmers with their only just ground for present complaint.

Accordingly he counseled a campaign of education to convince the electorate that, insofar as the times may appear more or less out of joint, "it is not our fault"—meaning the Republican party's.

Such really legitimate objection as has been raised to this plan seems to be based on the contention that it places the G. O. P. in an unbecomingly defensive position—an attitude strongly disrelished by candidates who argue that an attack is the best defense.

Coupled, as it is, with the name of a statesman of Senator Pess' scholastic attainments, the "ain't" story however, is a canard on its face.

It is ill-matured, for all that, and the worst of it is that it is a recently originated in disgruntled Republican circles. The Ohio senator naturally expects to be misrepresented by jealous Democrats, but it must be pretty painful to him to catch folk in his own crowd inventing derogatory fiction concerning him.

G. O. P. Strategist like Postmaster General Walter F. Brown obviously realize that Senator Pess, in the Republican national chairmanship, is in much the same fix as John J. Raskob, at the head of the Democratic committee.

That is, there are cogent reasons why the senator must be the controlling G. O. P. group, precisely as the group in Democratic control is best suited with John J. Raskob. Nevertheless, the former group is aware that there is a lot of minority dissatisfaction with the Ohioan, even as the latter group is keenly alive to plenty of dissatisfaction with the motor magnate.

The Democrats bosses showed considerable ingenuity in trying, at least, to play both ends of their party difficulty against the middle, and the Republican bosses thought well enough of the Democratic method to copy it—as they were perfectly entitled to do; the Democrats never copyrighted it.

On the one hand it is the Al Smith Democrats' policy to hang on to Chairman Raskob, for whatever ultimate use they may want to make of him—while the Hoover Republicans' policy to play up to Chairman Pess as long as they need him—with ex-Commissioner of Internal Revenue Robert H. Lucas striving to duplicate Jett's performance, set to G. O. P. music.

The rival teams will be interesting to observe, as events develop.

Raskob and Shouse have had quite a test. Their team work is excellent. Not a peep out of Partner Raskob! Sweet melodies by Partner Shouse on the dulcimer!—which it takes two hammers to operate—a dry hammer and a wet hammer, the way Jett does it.

Pess and Lucas have yet to prove themselves. Robert H. really is unknown nationally. It may or may not be significant that he is from the semi-southern state of Kentucky. It also may or may not be that this will win the approval of Colonel Horace Mann and his following of Dixieland Republicans; the emphasis appears to be on the "not," from present indications.

Even if Bob turns out to be as clever as Jett, let Senator Pess be content to keep quiet and let him play his prettiest, uninterfered with—as John J. has done, to avoid interrupting his teammate.

Senator Pess is over-talkative, or tactless, or plain unskilful or something.

Illustratively it is almost simultaneously with the senator's first few remarks as G. O. P. chairman that Commissioner Carl Williams of President Hoover's federal farm board broadcast his warning that there will be "bloodshed" unless the administration forthwith and really relieves agriculture.

Your Health
EVERY ACTION IN HUMAN BODY IS RESULT OF CHEMICAL CHANGE

By Dr. Morris Fishbein, Editor Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, The Health Magazine

Before the coming of the modern era, the physician had no way of knowing exactly how well the vital organs of his patient actually were functioning.

When it began to be realized that the body is a great physical-chemical mechanism in which all sorts of chemical and physical reactions are actually going on, means were developed for measuring the rate of speed of these reactions and their functional efficiency.

Everything that takes place in the human body is to some extent the result of a chemical change. Thus, the temperature of the body is maintained by this mechanism. Whenever any organ performs its duties, energy is used to do so and transformed into some equivalent of a different character. Energy comes from food.

When the food is taken into the body it is broken up into fundamental constituents which are taken up by various organs and transferred into the purposes for which the body needs them. The sum of all of these activities is the basal metabolism, a matter which is influenced by many factors.

As has been said, the food itself is the source of energy. However, the rate at which the food is broken down and retransformed is influenced by the activities of the various organs, by exercise, by the temperature of the body, and by many other factors.

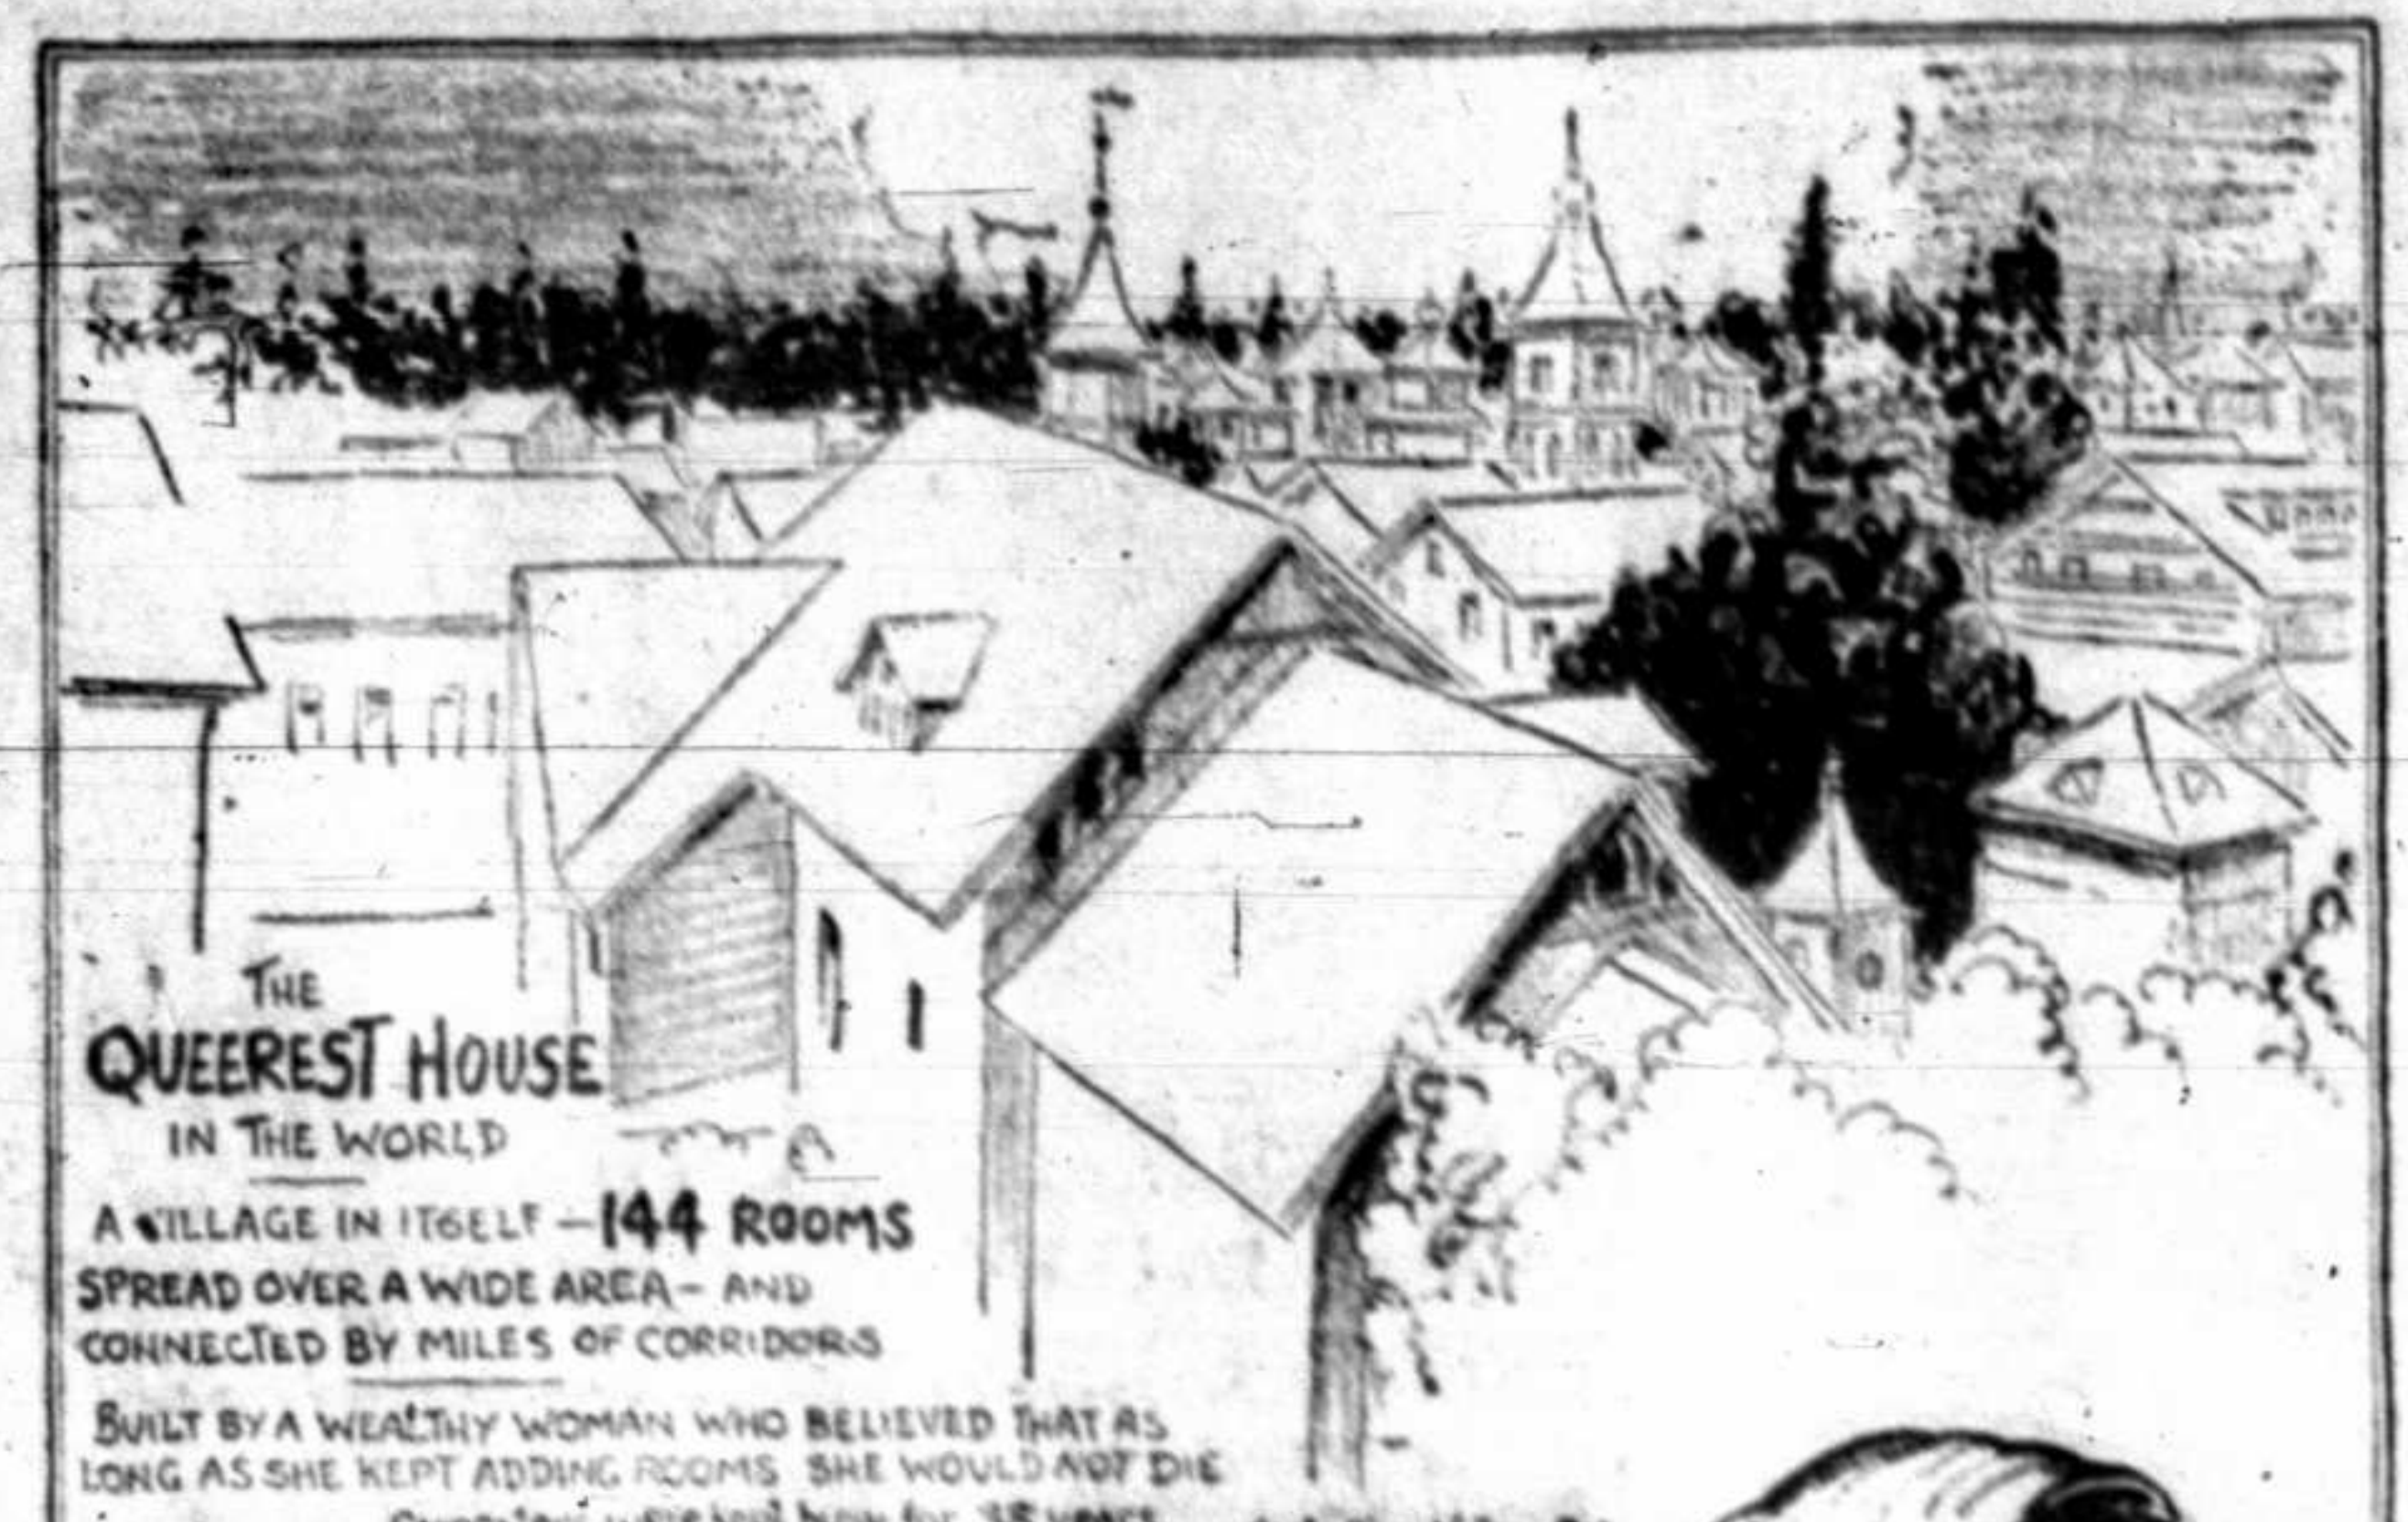

Various devices have been developed for measuring the basal metabolism of the human being, a figure usually expressed in terms of plus or minus and representing the speed at which exchange is going on within the body.

The fundamental foods, such as proteins, carbohydrates and fats are broken down into various constituents. Formerly the energy value of these foods was expressed wholly in calories. It was recognized that one gram of protein would provide about four calories, as would also one gram of carbohydrates. However, one gram of fat, which is more productive of energy than protein or carbohydrates, provides nine calories. A gram is roughly about one-thirtieth of an ounce. It may therefore be seen how small a quantity of food is necessary to produce four calories and why it is that butter and fats help to put on weight so rapidly.

Naturally a person doing a small amount of work does not need to have as much energy or to provide as many calories as one doing heavy labor. Whereas a clerical worker's eats from 2500 to 3000 calories per day, a sterclore or woodchopper consumes from 4500 to 6000, and a lumberman may take as many as 8000. In the same way a seaman's takes from 3000 to 3500, whereas a maid-of-all-work or a laundress consumes 2800 to 3500.

The Hollywood Story

BY NIA SERVICE INC. BY ERNEST LYNN

BEGIN HERE TODAY
DAN RORIMER, former New York newspaper man, who is now writing scenarios for Continental Pictures in Hollywood, gets a letter from ZIGGY YOUNG, an old friend in New York, telling him to look up a girl named ANNE WINTER, who had come from Tulsa, Okla., to "crash the pictures."

Dan complies reluctantly, as he is distrustful of Ziggy, but Anne proves to be charming. She has had stage experience—in stock companies, which Dan tells her is the best foundation for an extra to have. Anne gathers that he is a little dissatisfied with things at Continental.

The following Monday rehearsals begin on his picture, an adaptation of a story he had written. That evening he learns that Anne is to work the following morning, making the second time she has found extra employment. That same evening Dan goes to a Wampus dinner with PAUL COLLIER, who writes a daily movie column for a string of newspapers. Collier laments his inability to get hold of what he calls the "real Hollywood story"; the story of the thousands of extras—now they manage to live.

CHAPTER VI
Anne Winter was in high spirits when Rorimer called for her the next morning. She said, when she had settled beside him in the roadster, that she had prospects of a week's steady employment, possibly more.

"It's to be quite a big picture. I gather, with a lot of people. I'm thrilled to death, even though I am so unimportant."

Dan, inspecting her critically in her fat movie makeup, remarked the chiseled perfection of her nose and chin in profile, and the shadowed beauty of wide dark eyes against the lacy pallor of grease paint and powder. She was wearing a white polo coat, long and loose-fitting and sporty, and a white head.

"What's the picture?" he asked. "I don't know that they have a name for it. Sylvia Patterson is starring in it—she's lovely, isn't she?"

"Oh, I'm not so crazy about blonde," he drawled. "I prefer them with dark, grown eyes and black hair, and I like them to come from Oklahoma."

"You're headed straight for that telephone pole," she reminded him quickly, and he turned his eyes front.

"You look as if you're going out to play tennis instead of to work," he said.

Anne laughed. "Don't I, though? I'm supposed to be a guest at a fashionable house party. Today it's sports wear."

"You look like a million dollars," Dan told her, thinking that what clothes he had seen her in would indicate Anne Winter's wardrobe was, to say the least, adequate.

might have to work late; you can't tell. Perhaps you'd better not."

"But I'll want to know how the day went."

"Then call me up this evening."

"How about going places and doing things?"

"Not if I'm working tomorrow morning," Anne said, shaking her head and laughing. "Early to bed, you know—that's what keeps the lines out of little girls' faces."

"But at least we can go for a little drive," Dan argued.

"Well, we'll see about that later."

His day dragged by on barren feet. Collins was exacting and the cast was not speaking its lines to suit him, and Dan had a chance to observe what a traitor a director could be. Though Collins, he told

Letters to the Editor

Bob Murray's Highway Figures Wrong, Writer Declares

Editor, Avalanche: At the Ferguson rally held here a few evenings ago, Mr. R. J. Murray, head of the local Chamber of Commerce, stated that the South Plains was not only not getting a fair return from its gasoline and motor vehicle taxes but was paying for the construction of highways in other parts of the state. To substantiate his statements he said that Lubbock was paying $1,000 per day of $335,000 annually into the state highway fund. I do not recall whether he said that city or county of Lubbock was making this contribution, but since the figure is wrong in either case, it may be well to note just what the South Plains is paying toward the maintenance and construction of its highways.

There is no way to ascertain the exact amount which the South Plains (State Highway Division No. 5) pays in the form of the gasoline tax, but a fair estimate may be made by assuming that the Division's proportion of the total state tax is in the same ratio which the Division's population bears to that of the state. The population of Texas is 5,821,272 and that of the 23 counties of this Division, 218,940 or 3.76 per cent of the state total. The total state gasoline tax now amounts to $22,500,000 annually, and by taking 3.76 per cent of this amount, we get $846,000 as representing this Division's share of the state's total gasoline tax. To this must be added $50,000 in automobile license fees; thus the total paid by the South Plains Division into state highway fund is, in round figures, $896,000. The total cost of maintenance is around $500,000 annually, leaving $400,000 per year to be expended in construction. It would thus seem that the Division's revenue for highway purposes is not yet sufficient for any considerable amount of construction, and the state's share of the paying now being done in Lubbock and Hal counties (amounting to probably $1,500,000) must necessarily come from the revenues of other divisions.

The total of motor vehicle registration in Texas is 1,400,000 for 4.157 per capita, and as this ratio holds good in the South Plains, it would seem that the above estimate cannot be far wrong—at least they show that the South Plains, so far from paying its own way with regard to its highways, must draw upon the revenue from other parts of the state in its present construction program.

I may say that I am no politician and am not connected in any way with the State Highway Department. I merely happen to know something of the highways, and my only object in writing this letter is that the record may be kept straight.

POLICEMEN WARNED

Officers in Illegal Liquor Raids To Be Prosecuted

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22 (AP)—Police officers were warned by superintendent Pratt of Washington force today that illegal liquor raids and homes in future will result in prosecution for the offending officers.

The action resulted from complaints of Assistant United States Attorney Hart that of the last 1-00 liquor cases submitted for prosecution by police, 200 had to be thrown out for lack of evidence or because the latter had been obtained illegally. Two policemen yesterday were reprimanded for searching a house without warrants and other officers were warned not to repeat similar searches.

Sunday-School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

International Sunday School
Lesson for August 24, 1936.
General Topic:Jonathan and David: A Noble Friendship.

Scripture Lesson:

1 Sam. 18:1-4; 20:14-17, 32-34;
43:1-3; 1 Sam. 23:27.

1 Sam. 18:1. And it came to pass, when he had made an end of speaking unto Saul, that the soul of Jonathan was knit with the soul of David, and Jonathan loved him as his own soul.

2. And Saul took him that day and would let him go no more home to his father's house.

3. Then Jonathan and David made a covenant, because he loved him as his own soul.

4. And Jonathan stripped himself of the robe that was upon him, and gave it to David, and his apparal, even to his sword, and to his bow, and to his girdle.

1 Sam. 20:14. And thou shalt not only while I live show me the loving-kindness of Jehovah, that I do not.

15. But also thou shalt not cut off thy kindness from my house

forever; no, not when Jehovah hath cut off the enemies of David every one from the face of the earth.

16. So Jonathan made a covenant with the house of David, saying, And Jehovah will require it at the hand of David's enemies.

17. And Jonathan caused David to swear again, for the love that he had to him; for he loved him

as he loved his own soul.

18. And Jonathan answered Saul his father, and said unto him:

Wherefore should he be put to death? what hath he done?

19. And Saul cast his spear at him to smite him; whereby Jonathan knew that it was determined of his father to put David to death.

20. So Jonathan arose from the table in fierce anger, and did eat no food the second day of the month; for he was grieved for

David, because his father had done him shame.

21. And as soon as he had gone, David arose out of a place toward the South, and fell on his face to the ground, and bowed himself three times; and they kissed one another, and wept one with another, until David exceeded.

22. And Jonathan said to David,

Go in peace, for as much as we have sworn both of us in the name of Jehovah, saying, Jehovah shall be between me and thee, and between my seed and thy seed, for ever. And he arose and departed; and Jonathan went into the city.

23. Saul's capital, Gibeah,

Mount Gilboa, where Saul and Jonathan died.

INTRODUCTION

One of the most difficult of all the Christian virtues to put in practice is that form of generosity that can without jealousy, give another advance into the place of honor and advantage that would naturally have been his own. It always demands something of that emptying of self that Paul pre-dictates of Jesus (Phil. 2:7).

Another shining Christian grace is unswerving fidelity in friendship;

friendship true to the limit, and until death; and beyond. Now these are the distinguishing marks of the friendship of Jonathan and David. The friendship of these two men, Saul's son and Saul's enemy, has become an undying ideal of human friendship, as well as of divine love. For, after all, the love of the divine, the love of God, is the love of the friendship of the Father and the Son.

THE VICTORY OVER GOLIATH

It is no wonder that David's combat with the Philistine giant,

Goliath, won the immediate admiration of Jonathan. The crown prince was prevented in some way, perhaps by absence, perhaps by Saul's will, from undertaking the battle himself; but he may be sure that he would have liked to do so. Jonathan had the same impetuous bravery that animated the young shepherd, and showed it in his exploit at Michmash (1 Sam.

14). Both were ready to make the most of the weapons and forces at hand. Both young men had the strength of ten because their hearts were pure. Both were capable of the most ardent devotion to high and unselfish ideals. Such a the-material of true friendship.

David, after his victory over

Goliath, was brought before Saul, and his answers to the king's questions were so manly as to arouse the prince's instant admiration. "And Jonathan loved him as his own soul." This is the ideal set before us by both the Old Testament and the New. Both by Moses and by Christ, that we should have our neighbor as ourselves.

JONATHAN INTERCEDES FOR

DAVID. 1 Sam. 19:1-7

The beginning of Saul's jealousy of David was in a popular strain which was passed from mouth to mouth after David had slain Goliath. The women of the Philistines sang it with exultation, and Saul was vexed therefore. It was not a song likely to please such a monarch as Saul,

for it ran:

"Saul hath slain his thousands, and David hath slain his thousands."

And David had ten thousands.

Saul and Jonathan were set against him, and Jonathan sought him with his sword, and he was ready to kill him. Jonathan, however, was a man of peace, and he sought to save him. He was a man of faith, and he believed in the power of God. He was a man of courage, and he was ready to

Cubs Reverse Thursday's Action To Smother Giants

Fighting Cubs Defeat Giants By 12-4 Count

Both Teams Reverse Form to Play Previous Game Again; Cubs Collect Five Runs in First Frame for Lead

(By Associated Press.) CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—Joe McCarthy's Cubs, battling to keep their lead in the National League, championship race, threw the New York Giants machine into reverse today, winning 12 to 4 and evening up their important series.

The general outline of the game was about the same as yesterday, as the Giants trounced the Cubs 13 to 6—but with everything in reverse.

A leading first inning which was worth five runs to the Cubs started the National League champions, and a tie which followed in which five more Cubs crossed the plate solidified the position.

Charley Root was just as good a pitcher today as he was against Brooklyn last week. He held the Manhattan team to one run and was in trouble only in the eighth when the Giants scored twice. Freddie Lindstrom, a Chicago boy, playing third base for the Giants, cracked a home run off Root in the first inning, but the blow was a pitiful affair compared to Gabby Hartnett's 7th of the season in the eighth with the bases full.

The defensive situation also was in reverse. The Cubs fielding just as well today as the Giants did yesterday, while the New Yorkers were guilty of four misplays.

Dave Bancroft, in charge of the Giants during the absence in New York of Manager John McGraw, started Pete Donohue as his pitcher. It took the Cubs about five minutes to drive Donohue to cover.

Pirates Trim Boston By 10 to 3 Score

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 22.—Old Tom Zachary was hit freely in the pitcher's box today by Larry French, but Boston's nine hits scattered last today and Pittsburgh defeated Boston 10 to 3. The hitting of Zachary, Pirate third baseman and captain, aided his club to run up the large score. He drove in four runs and made home himself.

It was the fourth straight victory for the Pirates.

Fourteen-Year-Old Lad Wins Most Coveted Prize; Moose Newman of Sweetwater Falls to Repeat 1929 Performance

VANDALIA, O., Aug. 22.—A 14-year-old boy from Wichita Falls, Texas, today won the Grand American Handicap championship, most coveted prize in the trapshoot world.

While more than 1,000 seasoned gunners from over the country looked on in amazement, Alfred Rufford King, Jr., took the highest honors in the annual tournament, when he tied for the lead in the feature event with L. H. Crumpton, Dayton, and Don Casey, Toledo, and later won the 25 target shoot-off.

Each had cracked 97 out of a possible 100 targets.

To Assist Cubs

Big George Kelly will stretch a point for the Cubs in their dash down the home stretch in the National League race. Kelly recently was obtained from Minneapolis of the American Association to play first base for the Cubs, whose regular first sacker, Charlie Grimm, suffered a spike wound that will keep him out of the game for some time. Big George spent 14 years in the majors with the Giants and the Reds, the latter team releasing him this year. In 33 games for Minneapolis, Kelly hit well over the 300 mark.

Eight Letter Men to Answer Call of Coach McCollum; Tornados Hope to Repeat Championship of 1929

BY VIC LAMB Sports Correspondent

LAMESA, August 22. (Special)—Machinery will begin operation here Monday in preparation of making another championship football squad out of over thirty candidates for positions on the Lamesa Golden Tornado eleven. Coach P. T. McCollum set Monday as the first day of practice, one week before school begins. Eight lettermen will be back to line this year, following the graduation of three regulars from last year's line-up. Sprayberry, Allen and Banta, filling posts of tackle, guard and half back, will be missing. These three Tornados were big reasons why Lamesa worked up so close to the bi-district crown last season.

The Tornados defeated Slalom, Lamesa's rival to decide an opponent for Ralls in the district championship play. Ralls was also defeated. The thirteen straight win during the schedule, but the loss hereford in a bi-district clash with a 6-0 count to lose the Class B championship of two districts on the Plains.

Eight Lettermen Return Lettermen remaining this year are Treadaway, half back; Evans, half back; Marr, right half; R. Moore, fullback; E. Moore, left half; Wiggins and Carrell, ends; Austin, Ham and Rigby, guards; Borden, tackle, and Salter, center.

This season's schedule has not been arranged. McCollum states, but a few matches have been assured. The first game will be played with a local team, known as the All-Stars, on September 12. The initial conference game will be with Ideals in Lamesa on October 21. Lamesa's greatest rival, Slalom, will have a special booster train to Lamesa on Armistice day for the annual event.

Bill Allen, captain of the team last year, will be absent from the work-out Monday, June 22, as he has moved to Amarillo. Sanders, Roger Elms, who assisted the Lamesa mentor last year, will be head coach at Seymour this year and his shoes will be filled by L. F. Gregg of Simmons.

Crocker, chief inspector of the State Department of Agriculture, in conference with D. F. Eaton, Lubbock county farm agent; P. C. A tour of Texas is being made by Mr. Crocker to confer with county agents and other agricultural authorities regarding the sweet potato quarantine.

Although no quarantine has been ordered in this immediately territory, authorities are anxious to prevent spread of the sweet potato weevil. All products shipped in here from infested areas must undergo state examination and inspection.

Lawyer Flays Bankrupt Law

Solicitor General Declares Measure Encourages Dishonesty and Disregard for Business Integrity

(By Associated Press.)
CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—Solicitor general Thomas D. Thacher condemned the American bankruptcy law in an address today before the 33rd annual convention of the American Bar association.

He described the law as one "perfectly designed to encourage dishonesty and reckless disregard of business integrity on the part of large numbers of people," and outlined what he termed were needed changes in the law. His address was based largely on the investigation of abuses revealed in the southern district of New York and conducted before him while he was judge of the United States district court here.

"Fraud Encouraged"
Relating the results of that investigation, he said, "it was obvious that estates were badly administered, with much needless delay and wasteful expenditure of money. There was little benefit in the statute for the creditor and the ease with which debtors procured discharge from their debts, seemed to encourage fraud and dishonesty in trade. One could not avoid the impression that back of many of the proceedings brought into court there was crookedness and collusion."

Six Lives Taken As Ship Wrecked

POWEY, CORNWALL, England, Aug. 22 (AP).—The 22-ton yacht Islander wrecked on the jagged rocks of Lantivet bay last night in a violent storm which pounded the English south coast, carried Commodore Henry Douglas King, a prominent member of parliament, and five other men to death.

Those on shore while the yacht was breaking up believed they heard cries of women and children aboard, but so far as can be learned only men occupied the vessel. Other reports said the bodies of two young children had been washed ashore, but officials stated tonight this was untrue.

Those aboard with Commodore King, who had chartered the Islander August 9 for a vacation cruise, were Commander Searle of Berwick-on-Tweed; Surgeon Captain A. R. Bartley, Dunmow, Essex; Captain Glasbrook of Bishop, Stortford; Harry Lucas, captain of the yacht, and his 17-year-old brother, Walter.

Protests and Agreements in Oil Proration

Reports on File with Oil and Gas Supervisor Concerning State-Wide Oil Curtailment Order of Commission

AUSTIN, Aug. 22. (P)—Agreements and protests to the state-wide oil curtailment order of the state railroad commission from many sections of Texas were on file today in the office of L. D. Parker, oil and gas supervisor for the commission.

Parker was coordinating the reports from various fields for hearing at the state-wide meeting here Monday.

Rules Mailed Out
Rules and regulations adopted by Panhandle operators for placing proration into effect were mailed out today. Reports had been received from Sugarland, Racoon Bend, Pettus, Refugio, Blue Ridge, High Island, Hankamer, Moorefield, Lost Lake and several other small fields.

Many of these fields are in the Gulf coast, reported that production already had been cut to the minimum for profitable operation. Others voluntarily offered to curtail production, and Parker was confident that Monday's meeting would be in harmony, and the maximum production for the state, 750,000 barrels daily, reached without difficulty.

Defiance Voiced
The only open defiance of the proration order came from Jake Jarman, Darst creek operator. Parker said, however, that the Jarman lease was operated by a receiver and that the receiver had registered no protest. No reports had been received from the Big Lake and Laredo fields, two of the principal protestants.

Seven of the larger fields are operating under proration agreements, Parker said. They are Yates, Winkler, Howard-Glasscock, Ector, Salt Flat, Darst and Van.

The Levelland branch offices of the Texas Cotton Cooperative association will serve the territory of which Cochran county is a part. Condition of both Cochran and Hockley county crops has been reported as satisfactory with indications that greater production will be obtained in both counties this season than at any time in South Plains history.

Burglars Don't Seek the Limelight

DARKNESS is their stock in trade. They work by stealth—unheard and unseen—their movements cloaked in secrecy. It's honest folks that seek the light. They are the only ones who can risk it.

It's the same way in business. The manufacturer or the merchant who is not sure of his goods does not dare to advertise. Advertising would hasten the end of his business career—put him to a test he could not meet.

The man who advertises, deliberately invites your inspection. He tells you about his product or his merchandise and then lets it stand on its own merits. You can depend on him. He knows his product is good.

That's one reason why it pays you to read the advertisements you find in the columns of this paper. It is through advertising that you are able to keep in touch with the good things that progressive business men are spending their money to introduce and to keep before you.

Advertisements are interesting, instructive and profitable. They throw a powerful light on the very things that concern you most. Read them.

himself, was a good-humored tyrant. His wide and easy-going grin took the sting out of the sharpest reproof. It spread his little blond, sharply upturned mustache, and crinkled the corners of his eyes, and flashed white teeth with healthy teeth.

He would say, holding up his hand: "Brand, you're speaking your lines like a ventriloquist's dummy. Don't give me a dead pan; put some animation in your face. Atwood, here, has taken your girl away from you and you're mad—see? You act as if he was doing you a big favor. Come on and get mad—think about that dough you lost on that horse at Caliente."

Then the grin and the repetition of the lines. Thus the day passed, and that evening Rorimer told Anne Winter he had formed a new respect for picture making.

"This Collins knows his stuff, Anne."

She had consented to go for a ride, provided he would get her back before ten o'clock. They were riding westward, through Beverly Hills, and Dan had in mind the beach at Santa Monica.

Her day, she said, had been eventful and pleasant, though somewhat wearying. "I'm a little tired, Dan," she confessed.

Gary Sloan, it seemed, was the director of the picture she was working in.

Dan said, "Gary Sloan, eh? Grand United's using his big gun—Sylvia Patterson and Sloan."

"I told you it was to be quite a picture."

"Do you know how long you'll be working on it?"

"No. A long time, I hope."

Dan said, "Has Sloan still got his crush on Sylvia Patterson?"

"Are they supposed to be that way?"

"I thought," Dan said, "that everybody in Hollywood knew about that. Sloan's married; you know—has a couple of kids."

She made no reply to that. She merely said, "Everyone says he's a wonderful director."

"One of the best, I guess. He's certainly got a big enough reputation."

They rode in silence for a while, and the three sang under their breath, and presently Dan turned the car to the right and down a driveway, and they beheld the ocean shimmering beneath the moon.

The car stopped beside a stretch of beach, where the sound of breaking waves fell pleasantly on their ears, and they sat very still, wordless and thoughtful in the sea's enchanting spell.

Rorimer lit a cigaret. He said presently, "Old Man Pacific looks a little different at night, doesn't he?"

He had shown her Santa Monica on their Sunday afternoon drive.

Anne nodded.

He said, "Sport clothes tomorrow? Give me all the details."

"Sport and evening wear," she said, smiling. "Oh, I forgot to tell you, I met the sweetest girl today. She's an extra, too, and working in the same picture. I may go to live with her—that is, if things work out right."

Her name, Anne said, was Mona Morrison. "She's adorable, Dan; we became friendly right away. She has the loveliest red hair—almost like Clara Bow's—and she's so cheerful and funny. She's cute!"

"Where's she from?" said Rorimer. "Remember, I'm responsible to Ziggy Young for you, and if you go around making friends you've got to tell me all about them."

"Yes, sir," Anne made a funny face; serious like a little girl taking orders from her father. And she spoke in a tiny little voice.

"How old are you, anyway, little girl?" he said sternly.

"Nine," she said, in the same little voice.

"No fooling."

Anne said, "Twenty-one."

"And I'll soon be thirty. I'm your uncle—understand? Now go on and tell me about Mona. I'm jealous, but go ahead."

Well, Anne said, Mona was from Chicago. "She has been in Hollywood almost a year. She told me all about herself. She won a beauty contest in Chicago, and made a few stage appearances in movie theaters and that sort of thing. She has some relatives in San Diego, and when they drove East last year Mona came back with them. She's crazy about pictures. Oh, you'll like her, Dan!"

"And you think you and Mona will hit it off together?"

"I'm sure we would. The only thing—well, you see, Mona is living with a girl now, named Eva Harley. They have an apartment and they've seen the cutest little bungalow, but the rent is too much for the two of them and Mona thinks it would be grand if the three of us took it together. It has five rooms."

Dan asked her if she had met Eva Harley. He really did feel a little jealous.

"No—not the bungalow either. She added that she would see both the next evening. Mona has invited me to their apartment for dinner. Eva isn't working and she's going to cook it."

"Is Eva an extra, too?"

"Yes. Mona says she's beautiful—a blond."

"I don't like blonds," said Dan. "I like brunets from Oklahoma."

Anne, holding her chin in her hand, laughed. "Dan, you're so absurd."

He laughed with her, and lit another cigaret, and listened with her to the sound of the water on the sand. A cloud went scudding across the moon, throwing them in temporary shadow. From one of the houses above the beach came the music of a radio or phonograph, and then silence once more, as though someone had opened and shut a door.

Anne sat looking out at the ocean, huddled in her coat against the night air. Rorimer wondered what dreams might be burning those dark, expressive eyes, what fires burned beneath her outward calm. And presently he slipped his arm around her.

Loot Taken From Hotel Room Here

Loot consisting of a gold watch valued at $50 and $25 cash was taken Friday morning from the room of Mrs. Len Chandler in the Lido hotel while she was preparing breakfast in another part of the building.

The woman had left her door unlocked when she departed from her home and upon her return discovered that a purse which had contained the watch and money was missing, along with its contents.

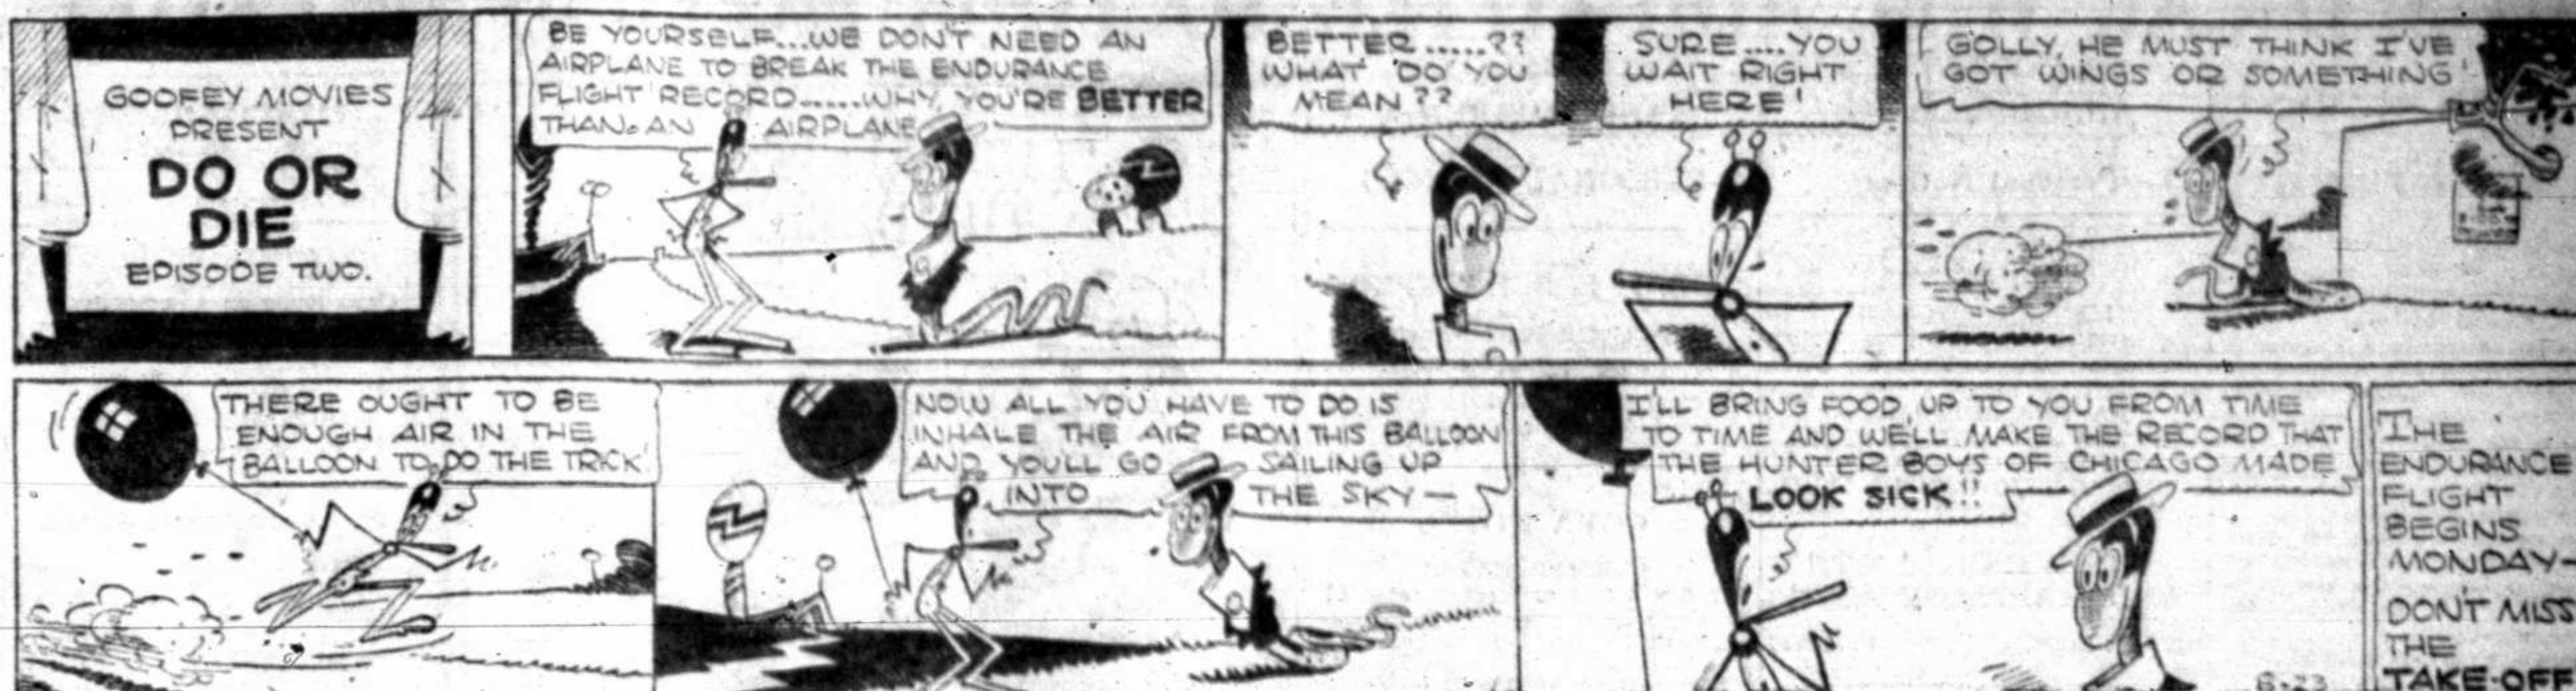

Police expressed the opinion that the theft was committed by some one who knew the hiding place of the purse, which Mrs. Chandler had placed in a suit case.

One Man Slain In Gun Fight

Attempt to Hijack Coupe of Whiskey and Alcohol Ends
in One Death in Detroit; Victim Identified

DETROIT, Aug. 22. (P)—One man was shot to death shortly before 4 a. m. today in a gun battle which grew out of the attempted hijacking of a coupe loaded with whiskey and alcohol on Brooklyn avenue near Grand River avenue.

The body of the man, later identified as William Butler, 22, who has a police record, was found in the street. He had been shot through the head and apparently had been thrown from a car.

The report of the discovery of the body reached the police shortly after a citizen on Brooklyn avenue had notified them that a gun battle was in progress between the occupants of a coupe and a truck. The truck was reported to have attempted to force the coupe to the curb after the battle the participants.

The police found the coupe on Brooklyn avenue. It was loaded with 15 sacks of whiskey and two five-gallon tins of alcohol.

CHILD KILLED

FORT WORTH, Aug. 2. (P)—Billy Taylor Abel, 11 months old, was killed and his mother, Mrs. Frank Abel, Jr., 18, of Fort Worth, was painfully injured today when their coupe turned over at West Berry street and Old Cleburne road after a collision with a truck.

Hoover Holds Reception Of Callers To Grant Audience To Two Texas Children

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22. (P)—President Hoover today held up the reception of many callers to grant special audience to smiling Gertrude Ann and Billy Windsor, who came all the way from Tyler, Texas, to see the executive and nearly lost out.

Gertrude, who is eleven, with pretty chestnut curls, and her brother Billy, three years her junior, drove up to the White House with their parents. While the mother and father waited in the lobby, Gertrude and Billy went to see Secretary Ackerson and gave him the following letter:

Letter Written
"Dear President Hoover:
"Billy and I came all the way from Tyler, Texas, to see you and now they tell us that we can't see you because the senators we know are away from Washington.
"I don't blame you for not wanting to shake hands with so many people, but isn't there some way we could just see you before we leave. I am eleven and Billy is eight.
"We have begged mother and daddy for nearly a year to bring us here and I'm afraid we won't get to come back for a long, long time.
"With love from Gertrude Ann Windsor."

Grants Audience
The president was shown the letter and immediately granted the children an audience and gave them pictures of himself. Neither Gertrude nor Billy were shy when confronted by newspapermen.
"We enjoyed it fine," the little girl said with a smile.
Billy was beaming too, and when asked what the president talked about, replied:

"Oh, he told us a lot of things. He told us about a dog he got from the South Pole—or maybe it was the North Pole—and it was so warm for him that whenever the leeman came around he used to sit on the cakes of ice."

Order Made in Kidnaping Case

Attempts of R. W. Morrison to Recover $75,000 Ransom Money Partially Successfully in Court Action

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 22. (P)—Attempts of R. W. Morrison, millionaire capitalist, to recover $75,000 ransom money which he claims to have paid J. B. Connor and T. B. Edmondson, were partially successful when Judge W. W. McCrory of 94th district court today issued an order directing M. D. (Buck) Jones, San Antonio attorney, to account for $32,500 said to have been turned over to him by the kidnapers and restrained the Commercial National bank from paying out $3,736 deposited there.

Connor, Edmondson and Will Wright are charged by indictment with having kidnaped Morrison and forced him to pay them $75,000 ransom money.

Morrison, on the witness stand yesterday in his injunction suit seeking to restrain his kidnapers from disposing of the money, identified Connor as the man who kidnaped him.

The court's order today named William Nuenhoeffer as a receiver and directed him to make formal demand on Jones for the $32,500 and obtain the money on deposit in the local bank.

HAWKS IN THE TEXACO 13 HAWLEY IN A NEW BUICK 8

ANOTHER coast-to-coast record toppled within a week! First Hawks, and now Hawley, clip hours from the best previous transcontinental time. The one in the air, the other over the road. "Stu" Hawley in a stock Buick Eight-66S set a new east-to-west and return record, beating the amazing time established by "Cannon Ball" Baker by more than fifteen hours.

This remarkable run, seventeen hours faster than the fastest train times is a mighty tribute to the stamina of the man, the car and the crack-proof Texaco Golden Motor Oil which cooled and lubricated the tireless engine throughout the grueling drive.
