Navy's V-1 Plan Offers Youths Opportunities

With registration of all young men from 18 to 20 years of age imminent under the Selective Service Act, attention was focused today on the Navy's V-1 program which enables young men to continue in school and prepare themselves to serve their country at the same time.

Recruiting officers pointed out that the V-1 plan of enlistment is the Navy's long-range officer procurement program. Under amendments to the original Selective Service Act, the Army may call in those in the 20-year group for service at once.

Young men, who recently graduated from high school and who intend to enter college, may enlist in the V-1 program and continue their studies. At the end of two years of college, the Navy will determine if the student should remain in school working toward a degree or go on active duty in the Navy. Upon enlistment and entering college, youths are given an opportunity to choose a branch of the service, such as assignment with the fleet or to the air service.

The point was stressed that the V-1 plan is "an opportunity of a life time for young men," and recruiting officers urged them and their parents to make an investigation about the manner in which it operates. Many accredited colleges in the South are cooperating with the Navy in this long-range setup. Full information may be obtained from the college deans or at any recruiting station.

O'Daniel, Collins Draw Good Crowd Thursday Noon

Lamesa was treated to its first double political bill Thursday noon, when United States Senator W. Lee O'Daniel and Hal Collins, Mineral Wells, business man, addressed the people of Dawson County on the courthouse lawn. Senator O'Daniel spoke in behalf of his candidacy for re-election and Mr. Collins pressed his campaign for the Democratic party nomination for governor. Mr. Collins opened the Lamesa Rally.

The huge crowd remained to hear Senator O'Daniel. His address was filled with humorous jabs at his "twin" opponents. He charged that America is in grave danger of losing its freedom and that he proposed to stay in the United States Senate for the next six years to keep up the fight against communism and labor racketeering so that when the boy in the service of the country returned to their homes they will have a government such as that bequeathed to the present generation by the builders of the nation.

The labor leader racketeers are spending vast sums of money in Texas to carry this election, he said, for his opponents. He said that the racketeers have hired murderers, arsonists and thugs of every kind to fight him and that some of these paid hirelings are trailing him over the state trying to break up his meetings and called attention to the heckling of a woman at Big Spring Wednesday night, whom the authorities said was a stranger in the city.

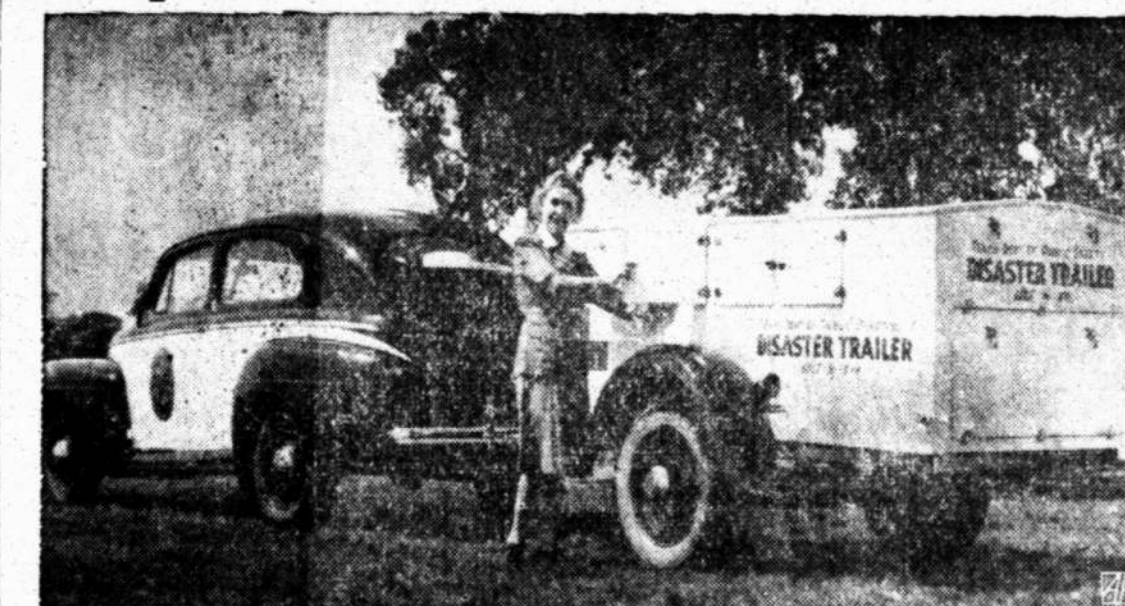

The campaigners went on from Lamesa to Tahoka for a meeting at 4 p. m. and into Lubbock for a night rally. Senator O'Daniel said there will be no runoff in his race; that there will be no gasoline rationing in Texas unless President Roosevelt says it is necessary and that the Allies will win the war. He said Texas is doing more to win the war than any other state in the union and that because of the O'Daniel anti-violence strike law there have been no strikes in Texas in defense industries.

Barriers To The War Efforts Are Numerous

By JOHN GROVER

War necessity is forcing Uncle Sam to shake a big stick at states which have been building legal "spite fences" around their borders.

Some farmers arrived on horseback and afoot, over the snow-blocked roads, but three fellows came in on a huge tractor. It had taken them 17 hours to travel 30 miles from what they called "the frozen north country."

The number of state laws setting up truck weights, heights, widths, load limits and operating rules ranges into the thousands. Already these statutes have seriously impeded the nation's war effort. Truck operators say peak efficiency is reduced by 10 to 50 percent.

Army camp construction has been slowed because two-for-a-nickel justices of the peace jailed truckers on technical violations of nut laws. Ships carrying materials to strengthen Panama Canal defenses have had to sail without critical equipment because some country copper insisted on rigid interpretation of truck regulations, and the vital goods didn't get to the dock.

"No two state truck laws are the same. One state may limit loads to 16,000 pounds, and the next state permit 40,000-pound cargoes. These laws don't distinguish between defense material and non-essential goods. Ammunition hauled in one load in a high-limit state must be broken up into three truck loads when it reaches the border of a state with a low load limit.

The waste of gasoline and rubber is bad enough, but the delays in movement of munitions must be ended, and that's cold turkey talk straight from Joseph B. Eastman, coordinator of defense transportation.

Eastman said there are two alternatives: The states must clean house and revise, repeal or suspend their laws affecting movements of critical goods, or the federal government will do it for them under the war powers of the Constitution.

While hundreds of instances of state laws stalling munitions highlighted the Washington conferences of governors, restrictive laws have impeded the war effort in fields other than transportation.

Local laws against pre-fabrication and others requiring certain equipment in dwellings have slowed construction of defense housing projects. Community health has been endangered by shortages of physicians created by laws which virtually deny license to out-of-state doctors.

Some states prohibit Sunday labor, and vital munitions and transport work has been lost, or patriotic violators fined. "Favorite son" industries have been spoon-fed with legislation that denies out-of-state competitors equal rights, and forces war construction costs up.

Revision of restrictive transport laws is sure to be enacted, by the states or by the federal government. What's more important, the necessity to clear the way for the war effort will spotlight the whole sordid mess of government - by - minority working through state legislatures, and likely will cause repercussions that will force sweeping reforms.

Eastman said frankly that organized railroad and railway labor lobbies had blackjacked legislatures into passing truck regulations designed solely to cut the throat of truck competition.

The abuses outside the field of transportation can be traced to like sources. Labor groups have been active in urging legislation against pre-fabrication of houses. Doctors, veterinarians and other professional groups have not infrequently put the heat on legislators to limit competition. Anti-migratory laws in 27 states may create a problem in 1942 farm harvests.

The general public in the several states, which ordinarily views its legislature as a biennial albatross to be borne stoically like measles, has finally waked up to the fact that minority pressure groups have been making their legislators jump through hoops, almost invariably with the result that the consuming public is "stuck" for higher prices.

DAL-PASO DRUGS

The County USDA War Board met at a called meeting at 10 a. m., Saturday, June 27, for the purpose of discussing labor problems as they affect farming operations in Dawson County.

Progressive reports on the infestation of cotton fields throughout the state shows to date that there is some hopes that Texas farmers will fare better in 1942 than in 1941, states B. J. Baskin, County Agent, but future conditions will be the determining factor. There is some leaf worm infestation in the Valley area, and this has spread up the coast to a certain extent. Flea infestation has not made any expansion in the past few weeks, though there is some infestation scattered throughout the early cotton sections of the state.

This office will try to keep up with any spread in cotton insect infestations, and report same through this column from time to time, states Mr. Baskin. However in regards to the cotton flea hopper it is suggested that each farmer make a weekly check on his cotton crop.

Leaflets on the Controlling of Cotton Insects are in the county agent's office, and interested parties may receive same by asking for them.

A funneled-shaped bag, 24 inches to 30 inches deep, sewed to a 16 inch hoop attached to a short stick or old hoe handle, can be made of blue or black percale in just a few minutes. This net can be passed back and forth over your cotton, just barely brushing the tops of the stalks as it is swung back and forth, one hundred times. If there are 15 to 25 cotton flea hoppers caught in your bag the infestation is heavy enough to justify dusting with sulphur.

Test of this kind can be made in about five to seven places in a cotton field, states B. J. Baskin, County Agent of the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service. These tests can be made once per week, and should continue until a good crop is set.

The Scrap Rubber Collection Campaign has shown the need for the saving of rubber in all forms, states B. J. Baskin, County Agent. Today we are using up our rubber at the rate of 3 1-2 percent per month. At such rate we will soon find that our automobiles, etc., will be without tires.

Farmers, producers of food, feed and fibre of this country, are urged to cooperate in the conservation of rubber by:

(1) Drive slowly; (2) no sudden stops; (3) don't skid around corners; (4) use brakes gently but firmly; (5) keep wheels in perfect alignment; (6) avoid over-inflation and under-inflation of tires; (7) shift tires from wheel to wheel; (8) start car gently—do not spin wheels; (9) do not bump curbs, etc; (10) slow up on bumpy and blowed-out roads; (11) remember tires wear out twice as fast in summer as in winter; (12) tires wear out 4 times as fast at 70 miles per hour as they do at 35 miles per hour.

Farmers are urged to "tear a page out of the defense plant works book" and follow their example by "pooling their cars," states B. J. Baskin.

Form a "car pool" in every neighborhood. It is not essential that every car in every neighborhood go to town every day. Try out the suggested plan. It may be a little inconvenient, but it could not be as inconvenient as having no tires at all. Let Mr. A's car come to town today; Mr. B's car come tomorrow; rotate on a six day basis using each car only once per week. It will save tires, and it will get the job done.

There will be plenty of sacks to harvest our cotton crop this fall, states B. J. Baskin, County Agent. "But they are likely to be different from any cottonsacks we have ever seen."

"The WPB has issued a ruling that will permit cotton sacks to be made of osnaburg with a cotton ducking side where the sack drags on the ground. It is possible that this ducking may, in some cases, be treated with a compound that will resist friction to a certain degree, and thereby increase the number days of service of a sack. Care will have to be exercised, however, when weighing cotton, because of the weaving of the osnaburg. Properly cared for these sacks will give much useful service."

"My 4-H Club gilt is growing into one of the prettiest pigs I ever saw," says Don Phipps, 4-H Club boy of the Grandview Community. "I am glad that I won her, and I am doing my best to make her grow into a gilt that will give all of the other

Eligible Tire Users Get New Restrictions

An amendment which tightens restrictions on use of tires by some eligibles under rationing and also extends eligibility to certain automobile users not heretofore provided for has been issued by the Office of Price Administration, Max L. McCullough, region OPA administrator, has been advised.

More stringent requirements to be met by physicians, surgeons, farm veterinarians and practicing ministers, to be eligible for tires and tubes, are contained in the amendment to the rationing regulations. Mr. McCullough said. Vehicles operated by such users must now be used "exclusively" for professional services or religious duties, instead of "principally," as heretofore.

Eligibility for recapped or obsolete new tires is extended to school officials and teachers who must travel by car from one school to another in an area where no other transportation is available. Certificates will not be issued to any teacher or official whose duties are performed wholly at one school.

Other changes in tire rationing regulations are:

Licensed chiropractors and osteopaths are made eligible under the same conditions as apply to doctors of medicine.

Eligibility of ministers is extended to "any religious practitioner qualified to administer to the religious needs of the members of a congregation."

Designation of nurses eligible for tires is changed from "visiting nurse" to "public health nurse."

KLONDIKE BAPTIST CHURCH
Next Sunday, July 5th, the pastor and this good church will celebrate the completion of two years service together.

Our attendance is even better than it was one year ago. Through the month of June our average attendance was 111. We are expecting 150 in Sunday School next Sunday. If you live in the Klondike Community, you will be one of these.

We have had some 80 additions these two years, and one of the finest spirits of fellowship and co-operation prevails that one will find anywhere.

This good church is striving to magnify the Savior with one Heart and One Mind. We invite you to be with us next Sunday.

"The Church with a friendly welcome." Ernest Phillips, Pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. Olen York and Mr. and Mrs. Thebert York are vacationing at Red River, New Mexico, this week.

Miss June Winners is visiting with relatives and friends in Amarillo this week.

4-H Club boys a run for their money this fall.

"Tell the other Sears winners that they betted go to work. My gilt is really developing into a wonderful pig. With her help I am trying to win that registered Jersey heifer," says Levin Davis, 4-H Club boy of the Harmony Community.

"Let those other 4-H Club boys watch their step," says L. D. Langham, Key 4-H Club boy. "When fall rolls around I am going to bring my gilt down there and mix things with them."

"I am well pleased with the ter-races on my farm," says W. E. Spinks, of the Wilson Community. "It is my plan to widen these terraces, and add a few more as soon as I can get to it."

Bill Carpenter, 4-H Club boy living just west of Lamesa, has weaned his registered Duroc pigs. These eight pigs are really nice, and will be the foundation stock of his future hog business.

The County Extension Agents say "thank you" to the people of Dawson County for your patience and willingness to cooperate in the "sugar for canning" work. "You have been nice to us and our helpers. You have been patient and thoughtful. We appreciate your co-operation. We hope that this service will really be a SERVICE to you," said both Miss Phenix and Mr. Baskin.

There are many complaints on the part of buyers of eggs that our 1942 production of eggs is below normal in quality, and therefore is effecting prices of eggs, states B. J. Baskin, County Agent.

The chief complaint made, states Mr. Baskin is that most of the eggs are fertile, and therefore break down rapidly. This complaint can be corrected in a hurry by selling off all the roosters. The egg production will not drop, the eggs produced will be a better marketing egg.

Farmers are in this war—no fooling—states B. J. Baskin, County Agent. How? By producing food. Take the following examples:

(1) The average cargo ship uses the products of 3,800 farmers each time it leaves port.

(2) It takes the products of 42,000 acres of land to feed the laborers that build a 35,000 ton battleship.

(3) It takes 169 acres of flax to produce the linseed oil needed to put one coat of paint on a battleship.

(4) It takes the entire food production of 155 acres to feed the men that build one bomber.

(5) It takes all the food produced by 71 acres to feed the men that build a tank.

W. M. Yates Makes Statement To Voters Of County

My Friends:

Before announcing my candidacy for the office of County Judge I thought long and seriously about my experience and qualifications for this very important position.

First, I thought of the legal responsibilities. My record for four years as County Judge caused me to feel well qualified for this phase of the job.

Second, I thought of the financial responsibilities as presiding officer of the Commissioners Court, and again I thought of my four years in that capacity and the accomplishments of that period, as well as many years successful experience, farming and in the mercantile business, so I felt again that I could measure up to your most exacting requirements even in times like these.

When the question of dealing with delinquents presented itself and I recalled the many years I had with boys and girls in the school room, before serving as Judge, and among my most highly prized memories, are the testimony of boys and girls and even fathers and mothers who state that the patience and kindly consideration shown them when they were in trouble started them on the road to good citizenship, at a time when good citizens were needed worse than at any time in our history and again I felt worthy of your confidence.

I could go on indefinitely stating the duties of County Judge and my fitness for meeting them but for fear of tiring you, may I say that I believe that the greatest responsibility of every American is to try to find the job that will lend itself to our war effort, and I am just as sincere in believing that I can serve best as County Judge during this emergency as I was in believing that I could serve best in our armed forces in 1918, so I am volunteering my services, even as I did then and hope you will see to it that I do not have any more trouble getting in now than I did then.

Thank you, (pol. adv.)

Guard Health On July 4th Picnics And Outings

A plea for a safe and sane Fourth of July was issued today by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, who declared, "We should not forget that the glorious Fourth is the anniversary of American freedom—a freedom which is now in jeopardy."

"This nation needs every man, woman, and child at maximum physical strength. Unnecessary loss of life or time from careless accidents is a form of sabotage against our total war effort."

Dr. Cox stressed the fact that hundreds of accidents occur each year among Fourth of July celebrants, including drowning, traffic casualties, and serious injuries from fireworks. He declared that every day's time lost in this manner will handicap the nation's war effort.

"The celebration of American independence is a custom dear to the hearts of all Americans," Dr. Cox said, "but this year as never before care should be taken to avoid accidents which cripple or kill since our maximum manpower is needed for the successful prosecution of a war to defend that same American freedom."

"Using caution in water sports and in traveling on the highways will aid materially in cutting down the total number of accidents, and the cautious handling of all fireworks will result in fewer painful injuries to small children," Dr. Cox declared.

"For these are the lasting, truthful things..."

Reasons
Why

1. By investing in War Bonds you help provide the planes, the tanks, the guns and the ships we must have to survive and conquer.
2. You prove that you are a patriotic American.
3. You aid the morale of our fighting men, by showing them that the entire Nation is behind them.
4. You prove to our enemies that we are a United People.
5. You protect your own financial future, as every $18.75 you invest in a War Bond brings you back $25 in 10 years. You make the world's safest investment, by buying a share in the world's most powerful country.

This is an American soldier.

He goes to war not with any fanatical theories of race superiority, of any special "place in the sun," nor any desire to rule the world by fire and by sword. He fights for something greater. For decency—for his loved ones—for his Country, not as some warlike symbol, but as the one great refuge in this world where the humble, the meek, and the righteous may live and work in peace.

This is why he must win. For these are lasting, truthful things. They are not temporary drugs for the mind, but steadfast things of the heart and the soul. And when the flame of fanaticism finally flickers and goes out, the fires of American decency and honor will still burn.

It is this same sense of decency and honor that has bound us all together. We know we cannot all fight. But there is something we can do—and are doing—to help. We can help provide the guns, the planes, the tanks, and the ships to put might behind the right.

By the tens of millions, Americans are saving for Victory in the War Bond Payroll Savings Plan. Every payday we employees, workers and bosses are putting aside 10% of our pay—a dime from every dollar—and every time these savings amount to $18.75, we get a War Bond. And—because this is the free American way—our money is working double. First it goes in a mighty flow for the instruments of Victory, then—ten years later—it comes back to us, four dollars for every three we've put into War Bonds—$25 for every $18.75.

Now look at the picture again. Then imagine that this soldier were your brother, your son, or your sweetheart.

Would ten percent of your pay, in War Bond savings, be too much to help him win—and live?

HE GOES 200 MILES ON A GALLON OF GAS

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Neither gasoline nor tire rationing bothers J. T. Giles, 32-year-old photographer, who has traveled far and wide in a one-passenger home-built 3-wheel type of motorcycle. Giles bought a small one-and-one-half horsepower motor, built a chassis around it with parts picked up at random and now has a vehicle that travels up to 25 miles an hour and goes about 200 miles on one gallon of gas.

He recently took a trip to Washington and the east coast, steering with an axe handle. The trip was easy, he said. He just hooked a trailer containing his camping equipment to the vehicle and started out.

The motor, connected with the wheels by belts and chains, has only one gear. The only foot pedal controls the brake and the car has no accelerator. The gas feed is automatic.

Giles solved the tire problem, too. One of the pneumatic tires was made from a wheelbarrow, another from a one-wheel trailer, the third from a small tractor.

The inventor also has an emergency

Louis B. Reed Asks Re-Election As District Judge

The successful prosecution of the war is far more important than the election of any Judge. As much as I desire to come home, I feel it my solemn obligation to help in the great task of making forever secure our liberties. Consequently, it is improbable that I will be able to see you.

I seek re-election on my record and the Democratic custom of a second elective term. Few Judges have tried as many cases, nor as long and difficult ones, as I, during my term. Few cases were appealed, and of these, most were affirmed. I have tried to make court efficient and reduce the expenses, and in this connection state that I have not and will not receive a dime of my salary from the State of Texas during my

HAY, PROFESSOR—PITCH IN!

GOODWELL, Okla. (AP)—The professors were proud of the hay crop because they could remember when raising hay out here in the dust bowl was like trying to raise corn on concrete. So they went in a body to see Panhandle A. and M. College's hay crop being baled and put in barns. That night rain threatened. E. L. Morrison, president of the college, called for volunteers to save the hay for alma mater. And the professors, many of whom had wrestled nothing heavier than verbs and historical dates for years, toiled until 2:30 a. m. until all the hay was cut, baled and saved for dear old Panhandle.

The continuous terms, which we have through my efforts, eliminated delays and reduced expense to litigants and tax payers. It has attracted statewide attention and all courts of Texas will eventually adopt

I served in the other war, and now with many others from this district we are serving in the present world war. We do so proudly and willingly, although we desire to be home. We believe that upon victory and return home, you desire us to hold the same positions we held upon departure into the service of our country.

The Constitution of Texas permits an official to be a Reserve Officer on active duty and seek re-election. Many are doing so. To serve in our armed forces is a sacred duty, which I am performing. I ask a Second term so I may return to the duty of Judge.

By the only means available, I earnestly solicit your vote and active support.

Sincerely,

LONDON (AP)—Britain's double daylight saving time has seriously interfered with the love affairs of United States troops in England and Northern Ireland. It doesn't get dark until about 10:45 p. m.—dark enough, that is, to give cupid the go ahead signal—so listen to the complaint of Sgt. G. K. Hodenfield. "What good is night time if it doesn't turn dark? You meet a nice Irish colleen at a dance. And you talk real fast. You tell her about the Empire State building, the Indians of the wild and woolly west and about all the movie stars you know personally. Then you start walking a 'wee bit up the road' with her. And there's nothing sillier than trying to whisper sweet nothings in her ear when a guy two blocks away can read your lips."

Sure, it makes you mad!

DO YOU REALIZE that thousands of our good American soldiers are behind barbed wire—with Jap sentries marching up and down outside?

Do you know that American women and children, too, are in Jap concentration camps?

How long do you want them there—and what are you willing to do to get them out?

You can't do it by flag-waving, by slogans, and by cheers.

It takes planes—tanks—guns—bombs—shells—ships. And these don't grow on trees.

You—and you—and you—must buy these things. Not the Jap way, nor the Nazi way, nor the Fascist way. The American way—gladly. In War Bonds.

The easy way—just by saving a dime from every dollar every payday. TEN PERCENT of your pay. The management of your company will save it for you, and every time it adds up to $18.75, they'll buy a WAR BOND for you.

You'll get interest on that money. It will increase every year, until for every $18.75 you invest, you'll get $25 in ten years.

And your money will buy the stuff to beat the Japs—to attack them—to bomb them, to make them wish to their heathen idols they'd never picked a scrap with Uncle Sam!

And the sooner you do your part, by backing up our boys, the sooner they will blast the Japs right out of their sandals.

Down will come that barbed wire, and out will come your fellow Americans. Home again—to a free, decent, clean country—the country we all love.

And you'll be sitting pretty, too. You'll have the clear conscience of having done your part, and you'll have built up financial protection for you and your family.

So let's get going. Do your part. Ten percent—a dime from every dollar every payday.

Invest your share in VICTORY!

5 Reasons Why

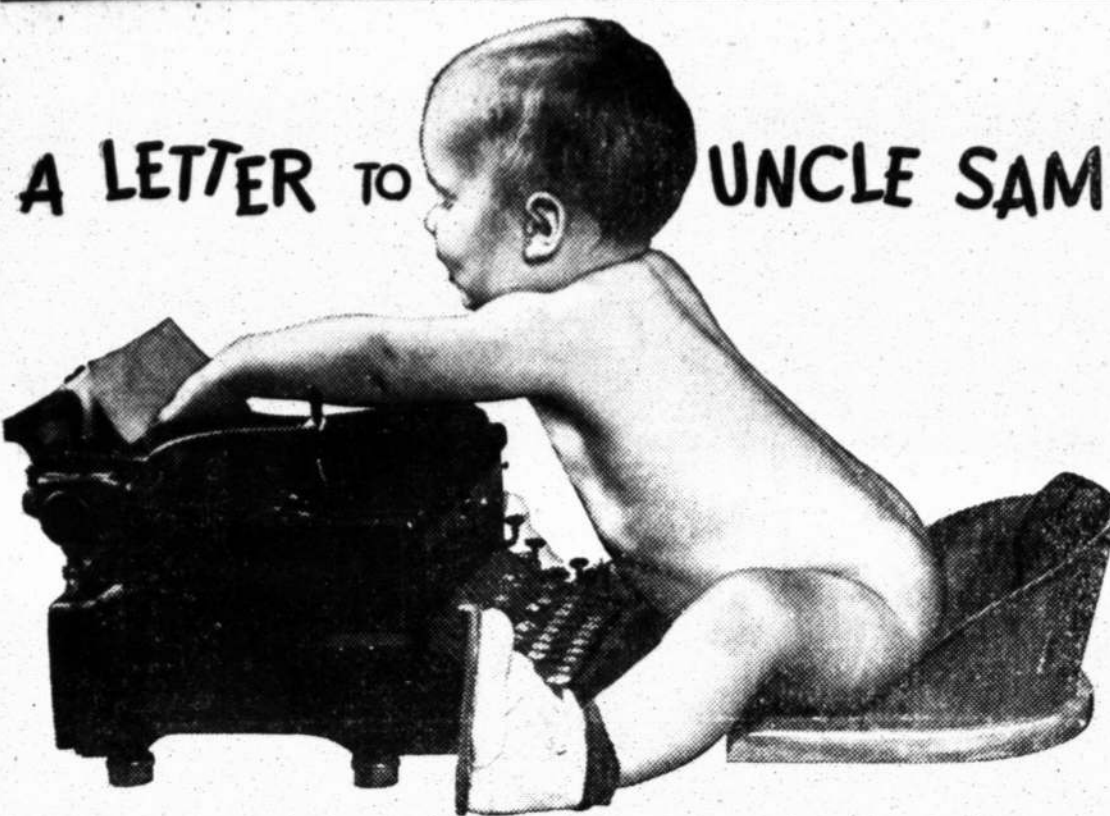

1. By investing in War Bonds you help provide the planes, the tanks, the guns and the ships we must have to survive and conquer.
2. You prove that you are a patriotic American.
3. You aid the morale of our fighting men, by showing them that the entire Nation is behind them.
4. You prove to our enemies that we are a United People.
5. You protect your own financial future, as every $18.75 you invest in a War Bond brings you back $25 in 10 years. You make the world's safest investment, by buying a share in the world's most powerful country.

A LETTER TO UNCLE SAM

Dear Unc,

The priorities around this house are simply terrific. What a time I had getting at the typewriter to make up this letter of thanks.

You see, it's this way. Every Sunday, and after dinner weekdays, Dad used to take Mother and me for a ride. And did we dread it!

Mom said Dad used to drive like a maniac... no regard for my tender feelings and stomach. He'd honk and fight his way through traffic, missing fenders by an eyelash, at a speed that made my heart bump my tonsils.

Now, boyohboy what a relief!... Dad heard a Phillips news broadcast say that Uncle Sam wants every motorist to Care for his car—For his country. Then he saw a Phillips ad which said that any Phillips Service Station man would be glad to show him how to do it. Well, to make a long story not too long, the Phillips man whispered the magic words to him: DRIVE UNDER 40.

You'd never think anything so simple could change my whole life. But it did. Dad now drives like a human being. He has found out that he not only saves rubber, but also gas and oil... and saves his nerves, too. Mom swears that Dad is a different man ever since he started getting gas, oil, and car-care at the Phillips Service Station... you know, the ones that have the big Orange and Black 66 Shield.

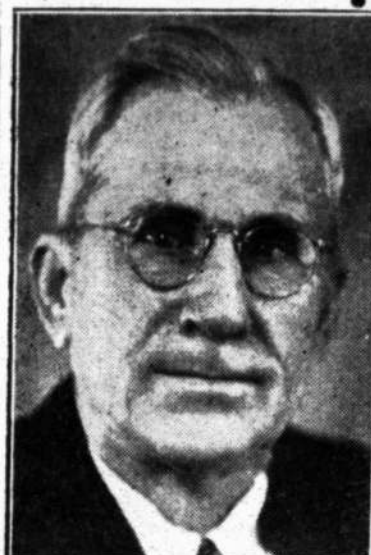

I guess lots and lots of other folks are going there, too, because I sure hear plenty of talk about Phillips 66 Gasoline and Phillips 66 Motor Oil.

I even hear that you're using some of it yourself.

Respectfully,

Your Grateful Nephew

PRECINCT NO. 3

In four elections you chose me as your commissioner. I served those eight years putting forth every effort to properly discharging the duties of the office.

In the last election I was not the choice of the majority and I bowed to the expressed will of the voters and retired to private life with the intention of spending my remaining days in the quietude of farm and home.

I would not have become a candidate again but for the fact that numerous citizens of the precinct made it known to me that they sincerely desired my services again. They complimented the way I had looked after the roads and other official duties and really made me believe that I had made a good official and put into me the desire to render further service, if their good opinion was shared by a majority of the voters of the precinct.

So here I am. It is needless for me to say how I served you. You already know, and if it is the peoples desire that I render further service during these trying days, I am at your service.

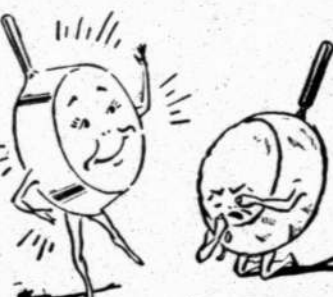

My life is closely linked with commissioners precinct No. 3. It has been my home for more than forty years. I married, established a home and raised my children in that precinct and if there is any portion of this globe in which I have a special interest it is Precinct No. 3 and if desired further I shall again serve you with the same loyalty that I have heretofore, and in doing so the many lessons that I learned in previous years will be helpful to me in serving you again, and I will have the consolation of knowing that during these serious times that I will be in a position to render the service for which by experience and long knowledge of conditions I am best equipped to render.

Your friend, (pol. adv.)

A SIMPLE CASE OF WRONG PARKING

LORAIN, Ohio (AP) — Police observed a group of youths shooting dice in an alley recently and proceeded to break up the game.

The youths, in a hurry to depart, left $1 in change and an auto which police said belonged to one of the boys. The police tagged the car for being parked on the wrong side of the street and had it towed away.

So far there have been no callers for the car.

COOK FOR SOLDIERS IN FIVE WARS

OGDEN, Utah, (AP) — Sergeant Steven Prince has cooked meals for soldiers fighting in five wars — the Spanish American, Boxer Rebellion, the Mexican Border skirmishes, the first World War, and this one.

One of his most vivid memories is of fighting in the Philippines. With front-line troops unfed for 36 hours, his mess staff strapped food on their backs and crawled through mud to the soldiers.

"A Service For Every Need"

You dished it out, with a head start by treachery — now we're going to see how you can take it!

We're ganging up on you, Tojo, in a way you and your Nazi friends don't understand.

Spreading like wildfire from coast to coast and from Canada to Mexico is our Payroll Savings Plan — get that, Tojo? Not confiscation — savings.

By the tens of millions, workers and employees of plants in every state of our country are cooperating with their unions and with management.

Of their own free will they're agreeing to put ten percent — a dime from every dollar — of their earnings in United States WAR BONDS.

Every payday the plant management sets aside this ten percent, then, each time it adds up to $18.75, the worker gets his Bond.

See, Tojo? Hundreds of millions of good U. S. dollars are going into the planes, the tanks, the guns and the ships to blast you right out of your sandals!

And we're paying for it . . . the workers and employers . . . the farmers, doctors, lawyers . . . all of us of our own free will, lending it, from our pay.

And — because this is the American way of doing things — we're building our own financial security, too, against the day when the war will be over — when we've shown you what decent, clean, free people can do.

Every year those War Bonds of ours increase in value, Tojo, until, after ten years, Uncle Sam hands us back TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS for every $18.75 we invested in beating you.

Get it, Tojo? It isn't the Jap way, the Nazi way, nor the Fascist way.

It's the free American way!

So, when you see those clouds of planes over your troops, your ships and your factories — when the tanks come at you spitting lead — and our good American boys get you on the run — remember, we're paying for it — Smith, and Harrigan, and Cohen, and Godowsky, and Leblanc, and Havlek, Americans all, in a free country.

So take it, Tojo — you asked for it!

5 Reasons Why

1. By investing in War Bonds you help provide the planes, the tanks, the guns and the ships we must have to survive and conquer.
2. You prove that you are a patriotic American.
3. You aid the morale of our fighting men, by showing them that the entire Nation is behind them.
4. You prove to our enemies that we are a United People.
5. You protect your own financial future, as every $18.75 you invest in a War Bond brings you back $25 in 10 years. You make the world's safest investment, by buying a share in the world's most powerful country.

Industry's Coming Revolution After The War Is Over

By JOHN GROVER

There's a bright gleam in the eyes of long-range thinkers in Washington these days. The shape of things to come after the war is being altered by wartime industrial — scientific discoveries.

While these discoveries are vital in winning the war, their full impact will come later. Necessity is the mother of wartime invention, but the "children" grow up in peacetime. Radio and the airplane were babies of the last war.

Hard-headed industrialists, looking over the field now, envision a post-war economy that not even a crackpot could have dreamed up five years ago.

There'll Be Some Changes Made

Highly-placed economists foresee rendered obsolete by chemurgic progress; violent dislocations in the transportation system as new goods replace familiar ones; new trends in public buying, the result of appetites created by the war, calling for reorientation of manufacturing programs; shifts in labor centers with consequent reaction of realty values; new diplomatic ties as raw materials are succeeded by war-developed synthetics. That's just a partial list.

Take food. The government has been dining proper diet into Mrs. America's ears as a war health measure. Millions of young men in the Army are learning new food habits. It's leveling out the nation's diet. Sectional preferences are disappearing. Sales managers who get aboard the trend after hostilities will grab the new market.

Auto Men Face Problems

Auto makers face terrific readjustment. Out of business now, they must start from scratch. Designing a new model was always tough, betting million-dollar blue chips on public whims. It'll be tougher.

Nobody knows whether the ex-soldiers, driving midget cars now, will go for smaller machines then. The manufacturers must decide whether to go back to conventional models, or ring in radical new designs. They don't even know what kind of engines will be wanted.

Cars are built around engines. Engines are designed for a specific fuel. Up to now, gasoline has been the public's fuel, so engine design started from there. It's a different story now. Industrial alcohol production has been boomed skyhigh to make explosives. Alcohol makers have served notice that when their product is no longer needed for gunpowder they're going to fight for a whack of the motor fuel market.

Big Grain Usage Seen

Alcohol requires whopping quantities of grain. It's likely that alcohol-fuel firms would contract direct with the farmers for a steady supply of grain. That would put a kink in grain brokerage and related trade.

Synthetic rubber is another war baby likely to grow into a giant. It comes from either petroleum or alcohol, from which chemists get butadiene. It's in official reports that alcohol-synthetic rubber can be made now for 13 cents a pound, as opposed to 22 cents for natural rubber in normal times. Synthetic boosters say it will be cut to five cents in mass production.

The alcohol requirements of such a program would solve any surplus grain problem. Don't be surprised to hear of the corn-tire ratio instead of the corn-hog ratio in a discussion of post-war prices.

These are just hints of what lies over the after-Armistice horizon. Cargo airplanes have already taken the place of the Burma Road. They'll still be flying in peacetime, and there'll be thousands of pilots avail-
