Planes Blast Factory, Killing 68 Laborers

By The Associated Press

Israeli jets attacked targets near Cairo today, and the Egyptians said the planes hit a civilian scrap metal factory, kliling 68 laborers and injuring 166.

An Egyptian Interior Ministry announcement, carried by the Middle East News Agency in Cairo, said Israeli planes bombarded the "national company for metal industry." It gave no details.

The Israelis said later that one of their warplanes may have dropped bombs outside its target area.

Defense Minister Moshe Dayan advised the Egyptians that one 840-pound delayed-action bomb was set to go off after 24 hours.

Dayan's warning—setting a precedent in the Arab-Israeli conflict— was conveyed through the International Red Cross.

The Israelis did not say where the bombs fell, but an Egyptian spokesman said it was at a scrap metal plant in the area of El Khanqa, 12 miles north of Cairo one of three targets which the Israelis reported hitting in air raids today.

The Israeli military command said it emerged from a debriefing of pilots that the bombs were dropped outside the target area because of a "technical error."

In an almost unprecedented step, the Egyptian Information Ministry officials invited news photographers to the scene of the factory.

HIT RADAR SITE

The Israeli military command said its jets struck military positions near Cairo and a radar site at Jebel Awebed, on the Cairo-Suez railroad, 24 miles west of the Suez Canal.

An Israeli spokesman said the planes first attacked equipment and ammunition stores at El Khanqa, located 12 miles north of Cairo, in the area where the Egyptians claim the factory was located; and the radar site. Two hours later, the spokesman said, Israeli planes hit a military camp near Dahshur, 23 miles south of Cairo on the Nile, and military targets in the central sector of the canal.

The Israelis said all planes returned safely.

SABOTAGE ATTACKS

The command in Tel Aviv also said a mobile Israeli army canteen was found abandoned along the southern sector of the canal Wednesday, and its two occupants apparently had been abducted by Egyptians. The Egyptians claimed earlier they had crossed the canal, wounded 20 Israeli soldiers and captured two in an ambush on an army patrol.

The Israeli spokesman said the Egyptians probably were referring to the canteen truck and denied there had been an attack on a patrol.

The Israeli army put a dusk-to-dawn curfew on the entire Gaza Strip which was seized from Egypt in the 1967 war and for 300 yards out to sea. No reason was given, but Gaza has been the scene of numerous sabotage attacks on vehicles and rail lines.

RESIST WITH FORCE

In Amman, the Jordanian capital, tension eased following a meeting between King Hussein and Arab guerrilla leaders who had vowed to resist with force new security measures imposed by Hussein's government. The king assured the guerrillas that the new measures were not aimed at restricting their freedom of action. An official announcement quoted a commando representative as saying the conference was "a positive one."

ORDERS INTEGRATION — Superior Judge Alfred Gitelson looks over papers at desk in his office in Los Angeles Wednesday after he issued an order to integrate the entire Los Angeles city school system by September, 1971. The nation's second largest school district was instructed to launch the integration plans next September.

Sen. McCarthy Might Remain In Demo Fold

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Eugene McCarthy, the reluctant Democrat who only a month ago was talking of helping form a new party, now says he may stay in the fold.

In his most conciliatory gesture to the Democratic party in a year, the Minnesota senator said if the party maintains its present course, "It would be quite easy for me to stay within the party in 1972."

Before, during, and after his unsuccessful 1968 bid for the presidency, there was talk in the McCarthy camp that he would lead a new political movement, primarily based on opposition to the Vietnam war.

Last Jan. 12, McCarthy told newsmen in Paris he might help form a new political party in 1972 but would not lead it.

He told American students there if the American people are not given an adequate political choice in the next presidential campaign, "there may be an obligation on those concerned with political life" to offer such a party.

Because of the George Wallace movement, he said, any new party "would have to be considered a fourth rather than a third party."

But the senator spoke enthusiastically about the Democratic party as he chatted with reporters in the Senate radio-television gallery Wednesday.

He had just announced his opposition to President Nixon's choice for the Supreme Court, Judge G. Harrold Carswell.

Drug Arrest Follows Dad's Plea For Help

NORTH MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Hours after his father emotionally pleaded for help in creating a youth center to combat drug abuses, the son of a city councilman was arrested on a charge of selling heroin.

Gregory Scott Gerardo, 19, was taken into custody Wednesday night a short time after his father, Robert Gerardo, had used the youth as an example of why he wanted to create a coffeehouse-youth center for drug users.

The elder Gerardo had appealed to the governing Metro Commission to provide $5,000 to create the center, and said his son had been involved with marijuana last year.

"We didn't know where to turn," Gerardo told the commission. "We hardly recognized him. He had pneumonia, but we were able to get him on his feet."

"We brought him back, but it was a heartbreaking experience."

The commission declined to grant the funds.

Officers who arrested the younger Gerardo said they had seized 11 bags of heroin valued at $25 apiece. The youth was charged with possession of heroin, selling heroin and conspiracy to sell narcotics to minors. No bond was set pending a hearing.

EX-AMBASSADOR Key Campaign Aides Named By Yarborough

AUSTIN (AP) — Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., said today that former Texas speaker of the House and associate U.S. Commissioner of Education James A. Turman would direct Yarborough's re-election campaign.

He also confirmed a previous statement that former ambassador to Australia, Edward Clark of Austin, would be his finance director.

"I feel like Travis at the Alamo with Davy Crockett on one side and Bowie on the other . . . Each is an army within himself," Yarborough said, beaming as he stood between the two in the Texas House chambers at a news conference.

Yarborough, 66, faces Lloyd Bentsen Jr., 49, Houston millionnaire and political protege of former Gov. John Connally, in the Democratic primary May 2.

The Democratic nominee will face the winner of a Republican primary contest between Rep. George Bush, R-Tex., 46, another Houston millionnaire, and Dr. Robert Morris, 54, Dallas. Bush lost to Yarborough by 330,000 votes in 1968.

Turman, 42, a native of Fannin County (Bonham), said he sent his resignation to Washington today. He was appointed to the associate commissioner's job in 1965 during former President Lyndon Johnson's Administration. For about a year he worked in the Dallas regional office.

Turman was in the Texas House from 1955 to 1963 and was Speaker of the House in 1961-63. He ran for lieutenant governor in 1962 and led the ticket in the Democratic primary but was defeated in a runoff with Preston Smith, now governor, by about 50,000 votes.

"This is one of the highest honors paid me in my life, to be asked by Sen. Yarborough to head his campaign." Turman said.

Yarborough said he would name a treasurer later. He said state headquarters for his campaign would be in Austin.

Nixon Stops Short Of Flat Endorsement

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon went on record today as favoring the broad concept of two southern-sponsored Senate proposals on school desegregation—but stopped short of a flat endorsement.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon favors uniform school integration policies North as well as South and "to the maximum extent possible" opposes busing of pupils to achieve racial balance in the schools.

These are the principal objectives of two amendments to a pending secondary education bill that have been sponsored by Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss.

Ziegler said he could give no administration view of a third Stennis amendment aimed at promoting "freedom of choice" pupil assignments to schools but noted court decisions have generally struck down that concept.

Ziegler said that to the extent that one of the Stennis proposals could advance the idea of equal application of the law in school districts throughout the country, "The administration would be in full support of this concept."

$500 Settles 38 Cents Bill

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Lee County and the heirs of Edith Simmons finally agreed on a $500 settlement in a property tax dispute that began in 1942.

The county had foreclosed on the Simmons property in 1947 claiming the woman hadn't paid her taxes in 1942. Mrs. Simmons said she bought the property that year and the bill apparently was sent to the former owner.

After her death, the Simmons heirs took over the battle and Wednesday agreed to settle the overdue bill for $500. The original bill was for 38 cents.

Woes Of Black Africa Due Rogers Attention

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers turned his attention today to the problems of black Africa after outlining the Nixon administration's policy on the Middle East for eventual relay to Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Rogers met for an hour and 15 minutes Wednesday night with Yugoslavia's President Tito, who by coincidence also was visiting the Ethiopian capital. Tito flew to Kenya today and next weekend goes on to the Sudan, Egypt and Libya.

American officials reported Rogers and Tito agreed an effort should be made to secure an embargo on arms deliveries to both Israel and the Arab states. But a far more meaningful result of the meeting was the clear picture of the American position which Tito can now present to Nasser.

U.S. officials pointed out before the meeting that Tito's relations with the revolutionary Arab leaders—and with Nasser in particular—are much closer than those of the United States and that the Yugoslav leader could play a constructive role in efforts to find a negotiated settlement. The United States has no diplomatic relations with Egypt or the Sudan.

The U.S. officials declined to say whether Rogers asked Tito to convey any American proposals to the Arab leaders. But Rogers undoubtedly sought to enlist Tito's help in American peace efforts.

Both American and Yugoslav officials said the discussion brought the two countries closer together on the Middle East and other international problems.

Rogers met for an hour today with Emperor Haile Selassie, then was the guest of honor at a luncheon given by the emperor. The American secretary also met Diallo Telli, the Guinean diplomat who is secretary-general of the Organization of African Unity, which has its headquarters in Addis Ababa.

Both Haile Selassie and Telli are concerned over the white-supremacy regimes in southern Africa. Rogers undoubtedly pleased them when he declared on his arrival from Tunis Wednesday that these regimes "are contrary to the dignity of man" and an obstacle to progress and stability in Africa.

Recon Plane Gunned Down

TOKYO (AP) — An unarmed U.S. reconnaissance plane was shot down in the area of Hainan Island off Red China's south coast, Peking's official Hsinhua news agency reported today.

Hsinhua said an air defense unit of the Chinese navy shot the plane out of the sky Tuesday. It said the plane had flown over Hainan Island "to carry out reconnaissance and provocative activities.

Car Tag Card Use Explained

Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, tax collector, said this morning many Big Springers have the wrong impression about the computer card mailed out to speed up the purchase of car tags.

The card can be used in place of the car title, she said, and can either be brought in personally or mailed in. If the card is mailed in, it must be complete. The car owner's portion will be returned to him with his license plates.

In order to have the license plates mailed out, the car owner must add a $1 fee for the mailing. If the card is brought in and the owner picks up his license plates no fee is required other than the cost of the tags.

License plates are available from Forsan City Hall, Webb AFB Credit Union, Newsom's, and the courthouse.

WORK GETS STARTED APRIL 1

Enumerators Needed For 1970 Census

Machinery is being set in motion to handle the 1970 national census, and information is being released as to manpower needed to handle the job in Howard and adjoining counties.

The census starts on April 1. In this area, questionnaires will be mailed, people will be asked to fill out the form immediately and hold it until it is picked up by the census taker.

Employment of temporary enumerators, who will be working from three to five weeks, will be handled through Dr. Akin Simpson, Howard County Republican chairman.

Dr. Simpson said today that Howard County is scheduled for two crew leaders (plus another crew leader who will also direct the count in Glasscock County) and 39 enumerators.

He said that while he had a number of names of prospects, he is soliciting others, and interested people may call him at 267-8291. Information on qualifications and pay scale appear in an adjoining column.

Howard County for this census is under a district office in Wichita Falls and the district manager, Richard R. Newton, is expected here next mid-week to give information on handling of examinations, making appointments, etc.

Dr. Simpson also is responsible for personnel in Glasscock County, which is allocated two enumerators.

Interested persons in Mitchell County, which will have one crew leader and 13 enumerators, should contact Bob Riley of Colorado City. He also will be overseeing Sterling County.

The census, says the government, is a simple exercise. For 80 per cent of the households there will be about 23 questions that require perhaps 15 minutes to answer. For the other 20 per cent of the households, there will be an average of 69 questions which should require about 45 minutes.

The Bureau of the Census stresses that the census is secret, and employes are forbidden by law to disclose any fact garnered in the enumeration.

Nationwide, about 185,000 temporary workers will be hired to take the census. The decennial count — the 19th since 1790 — is due to cost a total of $210 million.

QUALIFICATIONS AND PAY SCALE FOR ENUMERATORS

1. Candidates for all census jobs will be required to pass a written examination demonstrating ability to understand printed instructions and to do simple arithmetic.
2. Applicants must be U.S. citizens, 18 or older; must be in good physical condition; have a car and phone available.
3. Applicants may not engage in any form of political activities during the period employed. They also must not be receiving a pension as a former Federal Government employe or military officer.
4. Applicants will be required to fill in a SF (Standard Form) No. 171.
5. Enumerator work will start on April 1 and may last from three to five weeks. Work may extend into the evenings and Saturdays because some people are at home only during those times.
6. Enumerators work on a piece rate basis. Weekly earnings might range from $60 to $100 for a diligent and efficient worker. Nine cents a mile will be paid for official use of the enumerator's car. Before the start of the Census, each enumerator will attend a training session to learn to use the census forms and techniques such as interviewing and map reading.
7. Applicants making the highest grades on the test will be chosen for the positions of crew leaders and will be responsible for training the enumerators, assigning work and supervising the Census in that area.

'Patty-Cake' Union Probe?

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A close adviser to slain United Mine Workers insurgent Joseph A. Yablonski says the government is limiting itself to a "patty-cake investigation" into the union.

Attorney Joseph L. Rauh Jr. also said that District 5, headed by Michael Budzanoski, "is one of the most corrupt districts in the UMW." Yablonski was former head of the district.

Budzanoski, present at an Americans for Democratic Action dinner attended by 700 persons Wednesday night, charged to the podium, demanded equal time to answer the charge, then angrily stalked out of the room when he was refused.

Calls On Stars To Join Fight Against Poverty

HOLLY SPRINGS, Miss. (AP) — Jim Brown, who led a score of black professional football players through a Mississippi Negro slum area, called on stars of the sports and entertainment world today to join his fight against poverty.

"Athletes and show people represent a potent force in the country today," said the 230-pound onetime fullback of the Cleveland Browns, now a successful movie actor and head of the Black Economic Union.

"They make good salaries. They are in the public eye. They are educated and sophisticated. No other group can do more if they apply themselves to the problem."

The brawny, bearded giant, dressed in a mod blue knit suit that looked like winter pajamas, escorted a collection of the nation's finest football talent through some of the impoverished neighborhoods of Marshall County Wednesday.

"We've adopted Marshall County," Brown said. "Our aim is to see that the hungry people are fed and the men who don't have jobs get work."

Setting off from the Lorraine Hotel in Memphis, where Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was slain nearly two years ago, Brown and his group traveled by chartered bus to this north Mississippi community, seat of a largely agricultural and cattle county of 26,000 population—18,000 of them black.

One of the chief points of interest was an old abandoned restaurant on the outskirts of Holly Springs where Mattie Horns and her family make their home.

There were no windows. All openings were shuttered with cardboard and further closed to drafts by wax paper.

Mrs. Horns, three sons, a daughter-in-law and three young children all sleep in one room, piled with straw, buckets and debris.

Mrs. Horns said the entire family lived on a welfare check sent monthly to one of her sons. The other two sons worked at odd jobs.

"It is staggering that people live like this in the 20th century," said Brown.

"My mom told me about conditions like this but I would never believe it," said Brig Owens, a safety man for the Washington Redskins. "She told me about living in Texas where snakes came up through the floor and the wind whistled through holes in the wall."

"I wouldn't let my dog live in a place like this," commented Cid Edwards, St. Louis Cardinals halfback.

The athletes paid their own expenses to join Brown on his mission. They saw the charred skeleton of a black school that had been bombed last October, rows of rickety shacks, children barefoot and in tattered clothes.

Brown and the football players met with community leaders, then returned to Memphis to attend a party arranged by black friends there.

Bilking U.S. Nets 10 Years

SAN ANTONIO (APz — A former high-ranking Air Force civilian employe was sentenced to 10 years in prison Wednesday after pleading guilty to defrauding the federal government of nearly $100,000.

L.B. Haley, 34, received three sentences of 10 years and one of five years on four counts of embezzling. The sentences are to run concurrently.

As second man, Haskill Ray Bain, 43, who admitted to being a co-conspirator, was sentenced on one count to five years.

U.S. Dist. Judge Adrian Spears handed down the sentences Wednesday. The men abruptly ended their trial on the charges last week by pleading guilty.

Haley and Bain were charged with embezzling $98,244.27 by submitting fraudulent aviation fuel invoices which were then paid to non-existing companies through accounts in Austin and Laredo. Money from the accounts was later transferred to Haley and Bain.

Haley held a $12,000 a year post at Kelly Air Force Base as a systems analyst in fuel accounting at the huge supply base.

Defiance Of Hungary, Explained For Lions

Hungary never had a chance when it defied Soviet Russia. How could a guard of mostly high school-age boys stand up against 2,000 tanks and a trained army? The miracle was that traces of struggle continued for two weeks.

Dr. Andre F. Angyan, physician on the staff of Big Spring State Hospital, described to Downtown Lions Wednesday some of his reactions and the developments which followed the Soviet take-over of little Hungary.

The invaders moved in at 5 a.m. and throttled effective resistance. But Hungarians were defiant. They had periodic strikes, and for a long time would remain inside their homes for two hours.

"There was hardly any family who didn't have some member or relation jailed," he said. Once raw force had been applied, the Reds were more subtle. They planted informers everywhere and gathered information on individuals with a three-generation background.

Operators of private business and industry became declassed, dispossessed of holdings. The professionals — physicians, lawyers, professors, etc. — were more favored, but gradually they also were pressured.

He felt at first he could best serve his nation by remaining as a professor. Gradually, he felt the pressure growing and on his second participation in an international symposium outside Hungary, he decided to leave his homeland.

Hungary, he explained, is not bigger than West Texas and is somewhat like Ohio in size, population and climate. The capital city, disproportionately large as to the size of the country, draws its name from the old capitol of Buda on one side of the Danube and Pest, the industrial city on the other side. The western half is hilly and given to cattle raising; the remainder is mostly farming. On the subject of food, he had this to say — goulash literally translated, means cowboy stew. And the Hungarians, like Texas chili fanciers, like it hot.

Next Wednesday Dr. C. L. Kay, vice president of Lubbock Christian College, will be the speaker, speaking for a strong defense system.

10 Witnesses To Be Called

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Ten witnesses will be subpoenaed to testify before a federal grand jury as an investigation continues into alleged political pressure involving a North Texas legislative race.

The grand jury heard nearly seven hours of testimony Tuesday and Wednesday from eight witnesses ranging from political figures to bankers, and then announced it will continue the inquiry Feb. 24.

U.S. Atty. Seagal Wheatley said 10 more witnesses will be summoned. He indicated the subpoenaes might be issued as early as today.

Among those who have testified are Democrat Leon Williams of Quanah and Republican Zack Fisher of Memphis, candidates for the Dist. 80 seat held by Rep. W. S. Heatly of Paducah.

Heatly, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, was not called as a witness. He is seeking his ninth term.

Wheatley said his office had not sought an indictment "at this time."

Declining to say what other persons would be called to testify, Wheatley said the case is "still in the investigative stage."

Wheatley also declined to say what laws were involved. He has said only that the grand jury is conducting "routine inquiries" concerning alleged "irregularities" involving Democratic and Republican candidates' "efforts to file in state races."

Williams and Fisher both have indicated they underwent pressure almost immediately after they filed as candidates.

Williams said chamber of commerce directors in Quanah asked him to resign as chamber manager. Fisher indicated he was asked to sever a business agreement with loan officers of a Memphis bank.

The grand jury also heard testimony from State Treasurer Jesse James and from Charles Ford of Longview, a member of the Veterans Affairs Commission.

Ford, who calls himself, a "close friend" of Heatly, took the longest to testify—one and a half hours.

When Williams testified, a tape recorder was heard playing inside the grand jury room. He was there more than an hour.

Other witnesses were Vincent Kickerillo of Houston, who has extensive banking interests, including stock in two Memphis banks; Jack Davis, president of the First National Bank of Memphis; James Hayes of Clarendon, GOP candidate for Donley County judge; and Mrs. Percy Boren of Lubbock, a member of the new Texas Private employment Agency Regulatory Board.

Lubbock lawyer Casey Charness was on the witness list but was too ill to appear, officials said.

Wheatley said the 10 new witnesses would be subpoenaed "in the next day or two." All testifying this week were excused subject to recall. Wheatley said his office began its investigation within the past two weeks.

'OLD-TIME POL' — When Lawrence F. O'Brien resigned in January, 1969, as chairman of the Democratic National Committee, his parting words to his staff were: "I won't be far away and I may not be gone long." Now head of his own public relations firm in New York, he is being urged strongly to return to the post.

O'Brien 'Wanted' For Demo Position

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lawrence F. O'Brien, widely considered the Democrat's top professional, is reported under pressure by Hubert H. Humphrey and other influential members to return as the party's national chairman.

Democratic sources said O'Brien appears to be reconsidering his previous stance that the factors that led him to give up the post and return to private life last year are still valid.

The 52-year-old O'Brien is regarded by many political pros as a man who could unite the party without being suspected of using the job as a stepping stone to higher office.

That was one criticism directed at Sen. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma, who has resigned the chairmanship as of March 5. The same doubt also would apply to ambassador to France Sargent Shriver, who is being pushed for the party post by Rep. Charles Vanik, D-Ohio, and others.

Until O'Brien decides, party sources say any other speculation on a possible chairman is premature.

However, James Wimmer, Wisconsin Democratic state chairman, says he has been approached by a Humphrey aide about taking over when Harris steps down.

"If O'Brien turns it down I think they'll start studying state chairmen," Wimmer said, adding, "I feel I'm just a dark-horse."

Later, Wimmer, 34, said he would not accept the post "unless I have full autonomy over the operations of the national committee" and "full managerial autonomy" to tackle the party's $8 million debt.

O'Brien, who recently opened a New York public relations firm called O'Brien Associates, has declined to comment.

O'Brien, who managed the presidential campaigns of John F. Kennedy, Lyndon B. Johnson and Humphrey, is being told it is his responsibility to help put the Democrats' house in order.

An aide to Vanik reported receiving 1,000 telegrams supporting his suggestion that Shriver be considered as the new national chairman.

Shriver, former Peace Corps and antipoverty director, is scheduled to make another of his periodic visits to the United States in 10 days, just before the visit here of French President George Pompidou.

Councilmen Assail Club

DEL RIO, Tex. (AP) — City councilmen have adopted a resolution condemning the San Felipe Country Club for turning away a Mexican-American who tried to enter the club's pro-am golf tournament.

The country club operates the only golf course here.

The council passed the resolution 4-2 after Hector Valdez, business manager of the San Felipe school district here, said he tried to play in the club's Feb. 1 tournament.

The golf pro there told him that under a new ruling he could not play, Valdez said. Valdez said he was told that the new ruling was put into effect to limit participation in the tournament.

Valdez said he has played on the course for years by paying a green fee.

The resolution condemns the country club for discrimination against a tax payer and for prohibiting him from using city property.

A suit filed by three prominent Mexican-Americans against the club is on appeal in San Antonio. It seeks to set aside a 1935 transaction in which the city of Del Rio accepted a deed on the golf course from the country club, then leased it back to the private organization.

Beware Of Hippopotami

GABORONE, Botswana (AP) — Hippopotami are among Botswana's electoral hazards. Paddling down the Okavango River to attend a political meeting in northern Shakawe, an African tribesman known as Dingalo was seized by a hippo which overturned his boat. As the beast tried to drag him under water, Dingalo kicked it in the mouth and it let go. He swam to safety and nearby tribesmen took him to hospital for treatment of his mauled leg.

Solons, Union Exchange Views

AUSTIN (AP) — Sen. Ralph Yarborough and Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes exchange views today with a major branch of the Texas AFL-CIO, the Building Trades Council.

The council wraps up its three-day legislative conference at noon.

At Wednesday's session, L. E. Kinser, director of the National Building Trades Department of the AFL-CIO, warned that the Nixon administration and some contractors are out to kill construction unions.

"The wheels are in progress to eliminate our unions," he warned.

Kinser said he felt when President Nixon was elected that he "at least would not fight us." But, he continued, "he has thrown several stumbling blocks in our way."

Now, he said, the associate general contractors and some other contractors "are working side by side with the administration to try and tear our organizations down."

Kinser said the federal government is subsidizing non-union pre-apprenticeship programs that pay more than union apprentices receive.

"This is being done through the government—you and I are paying for it with our taxes," Kinser said.

He said employers are trying to break ties between workers and their unions in the building trades by offering "fringe benefits that compete with our fringe benefits."

H. S. Brown, state AFL-CIO president, said labor has the ear of state government now because union men showed their political strength.

He urged the building trades leaders to put their money and manpower to work to re-elect U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough as well as state Sens. Oscar Mauzy of Dallas, Roy Harrington of Port Arthur, Joe Bernal of San Antonio and Don Kennard of Fort Worth, all of whom have difficult races this year.

If they lose, he warned, "you and the four million Texas workers will be the ones that pay the price."

Brown said it was still possible for labor to return to the conditions of the 1950s when "the door was closed to the AFL-CIO except for some hotel room at night to cut some cheap deal."

"It's going to take a dollar for every member you have got today . . . to get out the vote," Brown said. He said organized labor spent $100,000 in December and January "to make sure there were four million registered voters."

Okie Claims Biggest Slice Of Winnings

DENVER, Colo. — A professional rodeo cowboy from Hannah, Okla., claimed the largest single slice of a record prize money offering at the Fort Worth rodeo, which ended Sunday.

By downing his three steers in an aggregate 25.5 seconds, steer wrestler Nathan Haley won $4,049, the Rodeo Cowboys Association said.

The $85,975 jackpot was the largest ever offered at Fort Worth, topping last year's record by $6,000. There were 547 entries. Other major winners were:

Ken Call, Pipe Creek, Tex., $3,591 in calf roping; Dallas Chartier, Benkelman, Neb., $3,48 in full riding; Warren Wuthier, Banner, Wyo., $3,356 calf roping and steer wrestling; Ed Galemba, Stratford, Conn., $3,174 steer wrestling.

Call won only $169 in all of last year, and that was at Fort Worth. He now leads nationally in calf roping. Wuthier has moved into the national all around cowboy lead with earnings this year of $5,691.

Larry Mahan, Brooks, Ore., who pocketed a record $57,726 last year, picked up $1,330 at Fort Worth and is third in the all around race with $3,778. Barry Burk, Duncan, Okla., is second with $4,852. Clyde Vamvoras, Burkburnett, Tex., has the lead and $3,973 in bareback bronc riding.

Young Shivers Will Never Walk Again

AUSTIN (AP) — Confined to a wheel chair perhaps for the rest of his life, the son of former Texas Gov. Allan Shivers says he plans to re-enter the University of Texas this summer.

Robert Allan "Bud" Shivers Jr. fractured his neck early last June at Eufaula, Ala., where he was assigned to a small Coast Guard detachment. The accident paralyzed him from the neck down.

In an interview Wednesday, Shivers said he has mentally adjusted himself to the possibility that he will never walk again.

"I just realized I would have to live with it," he said.

"I have good use of my arms, but have much trouble with my hands," Shivers said. "I have a device on my wrists that pushes my fingers into pinch action so I can hold things."

He added: "Of course, I can't stand up and the doctors don't give much hope of me ever doing that."

Shivers underwent treatment in San Antonio and later Houston before he was allowed to return to his parents' home here at Christmas time.

He said he had planned to return to the University of Texas this semester "but I decided I still tire too easily. But I believe I'll have my endurance built up by this summer."

Shivers has a bachelor's degree in finance. He said he plans to work eventually toward a master's degree and possibly a law degree.

The spirited Shivers said he has received a medical discharge from the Coast Guard, which he joined Nov. 25, 1968. "You might say I'm retired from the Coast Guard," he said.

Boys Club To Help Drive

Approximately 50 members of the Big Spring Boys' Club will be helping with the Easter Seal campaign March 24. The boys will be campaigning door-to-door to ask for donations and will man the concession stand at the benefit basketball game March 10 at Howard County Junior College.

The project was reported Thursday at the regular meeting of the board of directors of the club.

Don Horton reported on possibilities for game booths at the Jaycee Rattlesnake Roundup the third week in March, and Ben Faulkner reported on plans for painting the front of the building now being used by the club.

The February birthday party will be given by the 1955 Hyperion Club Feb. 26. The birthday party has been scheduled the fourth Thursday of each month.

Bob Parker, a new board member, has started a craft shop on the first floor of the boys' club building and is presently instructing the boys on building bird houses.

Directors were also told Paul Petterson has volunteered to direct a choir for the members.

Good Deed!!

CAERVARVON, Wales (AP) — Prince Charles, invested as Prince of Wales here in July, has made a "substantial" donation toward a fund for an 11-year-old boy injured in an explosion four days after the ceremony.

The money, from the Prince's own private income, will go to the 4,300 pounds ($10,320) already collected for Ian Cox.

Ian was playing near the ceremonial route when he stepped on a bomb booby trap. His right leg had to be amputated below the knee.

An aide of the Prince said he had been "personally affected and deeply distressed" by the incident.

A Devotion For Today . . .

"Do not worry about tomorrow; it will have enough worries of its own. There is no need to add to the troubles each day brings." (Matthew 6:34, TEV)

PRAYER: O God, let not the future sap us of our strength and talent in meeting the needs of today. May we face today with the courage to keep on keeping on. In the name of Jesus who taught us that each day's difficulties are enough to deal with. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Shallow Suggestion

Ignoring of clear constitutional mandates and prohibitions regarding civil liberties by intelligent and well-meaning persons is a recurrent cause for consternation and concern.

Such must be the journalism profession's reaction to a proposal by Dr. W. Walter Menninger, a psychiatrist and member of the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence, in an address to the National Press Club.

Menninger suggested that government, preferably state governments, set up boards of peers to issue official licenses to practitioners of journalism in all news media. He believes this would increase public confidence in the competence of journalists — reporters, editors, commentators, photographers — and perhaps it would. But it is unconstitutional.

The First Amendment's proscription that "Congress shall make no law . . . abridging the freedom . . . of the Press," which applies through the 14th Amendment to state legislatures, precludes governmental licensing of journalists. For the power to license is also the power to deny the right to practice, and every citizen is constitutionally guaranteed the free-press right to practice journalism without any qualifications imposed by governmental authority.

Official licensing of journalists would be a measure of governmental control of the press incompatable with a free and open society.

Shunning The Small Investor

Since the collapse of the stock market on Oct. 29, 1929, much of the public relations effort of stock exchanges and brokers has been devoted to restoring their tarnished image. One of the chief, and most successful, campaigns has been to lure the public into the stock market.

Robert W. Haack, president of the New York Stock Exchange, defined the rationale for a New York Times reporter in these words: "The central market of the exchange depends for its existence on a combination of large and small orders. Specifically, it is the flow of small orders that creates liquidity and provides for a continuous auction."

But most brokerage houses, with perhaps one notable exception, are freezing out the small investor. One device being used is the minimum commission. Joining the trend recently, for instance, was Eastman Dillon, Union Securities & Co., which instituted a $20 minimum commission on a trade, which means that the small investor who bought two shares of American Telephone and Telegraph would have to pay a commission of more than 20 per cent.

The need for public participation in order to maintain public confidence in the stock market is at war with rising costs of doing business. The likely end-product might be the disappearance of the small investor from the stock market. Whether this is good or evil may depend on the eye of the beholder. But the long-range implications of that trend can only trouble those who have spent so many years refurbishing the image of Wall Street.

But the long-range implications of hanging up a sign "small investors not wanted" can only trouble those who have spent years in involving the multitudes and improving the image of Wall Street.

Crisis Threatened In Middle East

WASHINGTON — President Nixon heard some bleak talk the other day at a White House meeting with Secretary of State William P. Rogers, Dr. Henry A. Kissinger and intelligence advisers. The subject was the Israeli-Arab fuss and the danger it poses to world peace.

Kissinger, the President's assistant for national security affairs, gloomily predicted a "full-scale war" if Israeli raids on Egyptian territory continue to escalate.

THE DANGER, it was agreed, lay in the weakness of the Arabs' military posture, especially the deterioration of Egypt's defenses. Given the strong emotions involved and the subsequent pressures on Egypt's President Nasser by the more hot-headed is feared that Nasser will be persuaded to launch a suicidal offensive on Israel, hoping for intervention from the Soviet Union.

NO ONE KNOWS whether the Russians would send troops should such a blowup occur. But as the principal champion of the Arab cause, Moscow has laid its prestige on the line. The Russian leadership might not want to subject itself to another round of international humiliation such as it suffered in the brief "war" of 1967.

Kissinger told the President "all signs" indicate the Soviets are trying to dissuade Nasser from such a course. In this context, it was noted that the Soviet newspaper, Pravda, for several weeks has been viewing the current situation as a threat to world peace. But continued Israeli attacks appear to be driving Nasser to the wall.

ISRAEL HAS clear-cut air superiority over the whole Arab alliance. Israel also probably has superiority on the ground because of the admitted lack of military skill within the Arab confederation. Intelligence reports claim that Cairo already has lost more than 75 of the 300 new Russian planes supplied since 1967 and "probably all" of 309 Soviet ground-to-air missile installations.

But all this, according to Kissinger, neglects what he called the "quality" of the Arab people. They will, he said, "fight with their hands if necessary," until Soviet intervention.

SOVIET PREMIER Kosygin's note to President Nixon and the heads of other members of the Western Big Three was an uncommon move in a situation that had been handled on a lower level. It is feared here that the note was prompted by Nasser's unequivocal warning to the Soviet leadership of a suicidal Arab offensive, and his demand for Soviet support in the form of "military advisers."

President Nixon is in a bind. Kosygin's note made it clear the Soviets would have to increase the Arab states' military potential if the Israelis continued to escalate the crisis. As read here, Kosygin wants the U.S. not only to induce the Israelis to halt their attacks, but to deny them the 24 more Phantom and 80 more Skyhawk planes Tel Aviv has requested.

BUT NIXON is under pressure from American Jewish groups and other organizations to increase American military and economic aid to Israel. He has said we will continue to help our friends, meaning Israel.

Billy Graham

I am one of your ardent admirers and never miss an opportunity to hear you when you are on television. For years I have been troubled with a nervous disorder. I had psychiatric treatment but this did not help. I pray every day that I will be healed, but so far the cure has not been granted. Please tell me why?

M.J.J.

The Bible teaches that sometimes suffering, illness, and infirmity can glorify God more than the absence of these. While I believe in Divine healing, I do not believe that the Bible teaches that all Christians will be in good health always. In fact, the Apostle Paul, one of Christ's faithful disciples, had an infirmity. It must have been a serious handicap in his ministry, for he asked the Lord to take it away from him three times. But the Lord said: "My grace is sufficient for thee." Paul then said: "I take pleasure in my infirmities, in reproaches, in necessities, in persecutions, in distresses for Christ's sake; for when I am weak then I am strong." (II Cor. 12:8-10.)

I know many people who are used of the Lord in their infirmities, and who probably would not be so used if they were healed of them. One of our best friends has spent her life in a wheel chair. But her radiance, her Christian joy, has inspired many people to put their trust in Jesus Christ.

In Anaheim recently, Lt. Clebe McClary who lost an arm and an eye in Vietnam, stood before our audience of 54,000 people, clutching his red Bible in his mechanical hand and with a smile on his face told the audience what Christ meant to him. In his weakness he was made strong. God's grace is sufficient for you, too.

Don't Hardly Find Many Like That Any More

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

The best way for a husband to patch things up with his wife after a quarrel is to ask her to sew on a button for him. This reminds her that after all he is just a helpless little boy who isn't quite responsible for what he does, and therefore it's her duty to take care of him.

You always feel you're off to a head start any morning you rummage through the pockets of a suit to be sent to the cleaners and come across an overlooked $5 bill.

Two out of three office secretaries who say they hate their boss are secretly in love with him. They are simply angry because he treats them like any other piece of office furniture.

A conscientious employe is one who waits until Saturday to have a tooth pulled because he hates to miss a day's work. But you just don't hardly find many like that any more.

You're middle-aged if you can walk across a field of new snow without feeling an urge to make a snowball and fling it at something or somebody.

If everyone were to get one hour more sleep a night and spend one hour every day writing poetry, the number of murders, ulcers, and nervous breakdowns would be cut in half.

Guys who keep safety pins in their office desks rarely win the top jobs. A man that is prepared to meet a minor emergency is too cautious to deal with a major one.

You can usually expect to get a raw deal if you go to the complaint window of a department store and see a sign on it saying, "Keep smiling."

A salesman is a fellow who can tell his friends how he got a black eye and finally come to believe his own story.

The quickest way to create chaos in American life would be for most firms simply to change payday from Friday to Monday.

Here's another difference between the sexes: When a husband occasionally looks at the contents of his wife's purse on the sly, he's probably only in search of a $5 he can borrow; when a wife goes through her husband's pants, it's usually in search of evidence of the hanky panky she suspects he's been up to.

A pessimist counts his wrinkles and feels depressed; an optimist counts them and is cheered by the thought that at least there is still room for several more.

Inflationary Merry-Go-Round

NEW YORK (AP) — The American people viewed and participated in a year-long economic spectacle during 1969—a slowdown that was always impending but never seemed to arrive until months after it was expected.

Now the slowdown is here, as measured by sluggish retail sales and reduced corporate profits and some mass layoffs. But an equally curious scenario might be developing for 1970: a similarly delayed arrival of price stability.

Despite all the hopes and promises, the rate of inflation so far has defied attempts at restraint. Government officials argue that Americans must be patient, that price restraint is coming. But when?

Wholesale prices continue to rise sharply, foretelling higher consumer prices for many months to come. After slowing some during the fall, retail prices resumed a sharp advance in December.

While one government office speaks about its hopes to curtail inflationary pressures, other offices concede that inflation will be a major frustration of Americans throughout 1970.

The Agriculture Department, for instance, forecasts a 3.5 per cent to 4 per cent rise in food prices for this year on top of the 5.2 per cent rise in 1969. If the forecast comes true, it will mean that the dollar of January, 1969 will be worth only 92 cents on January, 1971.

The jobless rate is also viewed as a price indicator. If the rate of joblessness rises, for example, presumably there will be less upward pressure on wages and less tension in the inflationary spiral.

However, with the latest unemployment rate at 3.9 per cent —considerably higher than last year but still low when viewed over the period of a decade—the administration anticipates no large increase.

Arthur Burns, new chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, and Paul McCracken, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, agreed this week that the rise might be only to 4.3 per cent or a bit more.

If so, it would appear that considerable upward pressures on wages will continue to exist during 1970, causing upward pressure on prices and on and on in an inflationary merry-go-round.

Morality Vs. Rationality

DURBAN, South Africa (AP) — More than seven of every 10 Roman Catholics interviewed in a family planning survey here said they use contraceptives forbidden by their church.

The survey, conducted by a senior sociology lecturer at Durban's University College for Indians, indicated that Roman Catholics have the highest accidental pregnancy rate despite the fact that 78.3 per cent of those interviewed use contraceptives. According to the survey, Jewish and English-speaking Protestant couples are the most rational planners because they have no moral objection to contraceptives.

Why Fat On Some Diets?

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Why do people who eat the same foods in the same amounts have different results weight-wise? I refer to the familiar pattern of one person gaining slowly while another remains the same weight?

Is the rate of metabolism the key? Will thyroid pills prescribed by a physician change the rate of metabolism, or have no effect?—Mrs. G.G.

Metabolism is only one "key" to the question.

It is true that, on exactly the same food intake, one person may gain while another doesn't. A study at the University of Wisconsin pointed out that more than 30 variants have effects on obesity, so you can see why metabolism is "a key," not "the key."

If the thyroid gland does not function up to par, the body's metabolism slows down. The patient becomes somewhat lethargic, and food turns into fat instead of being used for energy.

Medication to bring thyroid function up to normal can help such a person. That does not mean, however, that a person time up and doing things.

This difference alone cannot help making a difference in one's weight — on exactly the with a normal thyroid gland can lose weight by taking thyroid medication. The doses would have to be of such size as to be toxic.

There can be other and more technical differences in the rate at which different people absorb food, chiefly sugars and fats.

But one of the biggest differences involves the rate at which people expend their energy. Dr. Jean Mayer, of Harvard, made an enlightening study of college girls. It showed that the lean ones moved around much more energetically in such pursuits as tennis, swimming, and games than the stout ones did.

This same factor applies to such everyday activities as housework, walking, going up and down stairs. The stout person often sleeps more, lies in bed longer, prefers to sit. The lean person spends more same amount of food.

* * *

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Do you know anything that will prevent getting severe attacks of bursitis? Maybe something lacking in the diet? Or something I should avoid?—N.N.

Diet has no effect on bursitis. Best means of preventing recurring attacks is to make sure that you do not put too much pressure or strain on the particular joint that is affected. That's what caused the bursitis in the first place; it can do it again unless you are suitably careful.

* * *

You can lose weight if you really want to! Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reducing," tells you how — naturally and with no gimmicks — to the level that best suits your individual needs. For a copy, write to Dr. Thosteson, care of The Herald, enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed stamped envelope.

Plan While Waiting On Money

It is an imposing list drawn by the Chamber of Commerce Task Force, ambitious and needed projects for any growing city. Two other projects might well be listed and they too should be listed high on a list of "things to get down."

ANY CITY looking to the future must keep its transportation facilities modern and adequate to serve most any demand. The airplane will continue to be the prime vehicle of the future and the airport is its only link to the city. Just as the train will never reach the city unless there is track, the airplanes must have its landing place.

OUR AIRPORT is marginal now, and who can say how much longer it will be adequate to serve as a landing place for commercial airliners. In addition to commercial airlines, there is the need to serve business and industrial customers. Even smaller industrial and business firms are operating their own aircraft, and some of these require the same facilities as airlines.

THE CITY has more than enough runways and facilities for the smaller, privately owned airplanes, and any addition to local facilities will be of minor importance to such operators. Indeed, these aircraft could still use the old Hamilton Field. To keep apace, the airport must stay high on the list.

"THIS IS the largest city in the state without a coliseum," I overheard from the fringe of a conversation the other day. I don't know whether or not it is true, but there is a need for a facility here for large gatherings. The various school facilities and the city auditorium simply are not adequate.

The push for luring more conventions is laudable, but we can barely provide for such meetings as are available. A facility for a large meeting, where several thousand might be fed, where a wide variety of entertainment might be offered, is a must, if this effort to attract conventions is to be successful.

THE AIRPORT expansion idea has been defeated at the polls in recent years, and doubtless there is no mood in the land to vote a big bond issue to finance it now, or a coliseum for that matter. If the money were in hand, the planning would be ahead of us as it now is, and in the coliseum case, few seem to know how much is needed in the first place.

Clearly, some planning is in order, if we are ever to have a coliseum or an expanded airport.

The Party That Lost Its Head

WASHINGTON — A lady from Grosse Pointe, Mich., wants to know why I always make fun of the Republicans, but never the Democrats. The answer is so obvious that I'm surprised anyone would raise the question.

The reason I don't make fun of the Democrats is that, for all practical purposes, they don't exist.

I discovered this sometime back when I ran into a Democratic congressman sleeping on a park bench.

"Take me to your leader," I said.

"YOU HAVE to be kidding," he replied.

"But surely someone is in charge of your party," I protested.

He shook his head sadly. "We haven't had a leader in a year. Ever since Chicago, it's every man for himself. Say, mister, could you let me have a quarter to cover my campaign expenses?"

"Don't tell me there is no money in the Democratic Party treasury?"

"The last time I went down to Democratic National Headquarters I was rolled twice."

"How do you explain it?"

"I DON'T KNOW," he said, wiping his grizzled chin with an old Humphrey poster. "Would you believe that at one time you could look out from this bench and see nothing but Democrats? We were the toast of Washington. Lobbyists vied for our favors; special-interest groups flew us anywhere we wanted to go; some of us ate at the White House three times a week. It was a golden age for the party. Look, I still have a ballpoint pen President Johnson gave me. You wouldn't like to buy it, would you?"

I shook my head. "I already bought two from some Democratic congressmen who were selling them on the Capitol steps. Now, about a leader for the party. Certainly you've discussed this among yourselves."

"OH, WE HAVE," he said. "We agreed that what the party needs in Congress for leadership is youth, imagination and new ideas."

"Wonderful."

"That's why we decided to stick with House Speaker McCormack."

"What about the Democratic National Committee?"

"As far as the chairman of the party is concerned, we want someone who can speak for the Democrats, raise money for them and get the various factions of the party to agree on the great issues of the day."

"You can't quarrel with that."

"NO, AND WE can't get anybody to take the job either."

"Sir, what will be the major issues of the 1970 congressional campaign?"

"Inflation, crime in the streets and our defense posture around the world."

"But those are the issues the Republicans used to defeat the Democrats."

"Why have a two-party system if you can't use the same issues to defeat each other? Hey, how about an autographed photo of Mayor Daley, the man who sent us down the road to oblivion?"

"I'm sorry. I'd like to help, but I never contribute to a political party."

The U.S. And Communist Aggression

WASHINGTON — Is America getting ready to abandon the world to the brutishness of dictatorships and the inhumanity of despotic governments?

THESE WERE some of the challenging questions underlying former President Johnson's candid talk to the American people over CBS television. He told of his struggles to find a way to bring the North Vietnamese to the peace table and of his halt of the bombing of North Vietnam in a desperate attempt to impress the enemy with his sincerity of purpose. He said Congress had given him in 1964, through the almost unanimously approved Gulf of Tonkin resolution, the power and authority to take "whatever action may be necessary to protect our forces and to prevent aggression," but he declared he didn't use that power until 1965. He then added:

"I TRIED to get them (the North Vietnamese) not to infiltrate. But they were determined to do one thing, and that's take over this little country. And if they take that one over, they were determined to take over others in my judgment, just as Hitler was.

"We have an alliance — we've got 40 of them. And the American people had better stop, look and listen on this. They have supported, they have approved through their representatives more than 40 alliances which represent the word of honor of the United States. Now we either ought to get out of those alliances, tear them up and say we won't keep our word — or we ought to carry it out."

WHAT LYNDON JOHNSON is putting his finger on is a mood of new isolationism which is growing up in the United States that can, as in the past, cause trouble and lead to serious consequences in the world. A committee of the Democratic party, for instance, is advocating complete withdrawal of American troops from Vietnam and suggesting that it be done in 18 months. The committee, which is headed by former Ambassador Averell Harriman, says in part:

"Our national interests require that the war in Vietnam be brought to a close at the earliest possible moment. The loss of life, the diversion of resources from critical domestic needs and the disunity of our country must be ended . . .

"U.S. WITHDRAWAL should not be dependent upon the progress of the Paris peace talks, the level of violence or the progress of so-called Vietnamization. It should depend wholly and exclusively upon the interests and policy of the United States."

Once the smaller nations begin to feel that the United States cannot be relied upon to uphold the rights of self-determination, a wave of fear will sweep the world. The major Communist countries will see opportunities to reach out not only in Asia but in Europe and Latin American to wield their power of subversion and aggression. Former President Johnson, during the course of his TV talk, also made this observation:

"WE HAVE SAID from the very beginning that all of us believed that Hitler's aggression almost destroyed the world. And we believe that Communist aggression will destroy it if somebody doesn't stand up to it."

Student Stresses

LONDON (AP) — Nearly one in five students at British universities need prolonged mental care and between one and two per cent suffer from severe psychiatric illness requiring hospital treatment.

Dr. Anthony Ryle, Director of Sussex University's student health service cites these figures in his book "Student Casualties."

Ryle said problems are caused by worry about work and exams, sexual difficulties and personality defects. Girls, he says, are almost twice as likely to need mental care as are boys.

Losing Concession

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP) — A number of students at Colorado State University staged a demonstration in 1968 demanding that 3.2 per cent beer be sold at the Student Center. University officials agreed. After 53 days of operations, an official of the center said beer sales show a loss of $402.

Woman Swindled Out Of $27,000

A Big Spring woman has been swindled out of $27,000 by a known "con artist," Howard County Sheriff A. N. Standard said this morning.

A 60-year-old man using the alias Richard Smith posed as a family friend and persuaded the woman to buy non-existent land in another part of the state, Standard said.

Charges were filed against the man in Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter's court about 5 p.m. Wednesday.

Standard said the man has been in the Texas Department of Correction in Huntsville and is known by four different aliases.

Officers are conducting a three-state search for the man.

Tools Taken From Co-Op Gin

Thieves reportedly took some hand tools, a tool box, and a cutting torch from the Planters Co-op Gin, 511 NE 2nd, sometime Wednesday night.

Sheriff A. N. Standard and Deputy Eddie Owens investigated the scene after being called around 9:30 a.m. and said the burglars apparently entered the gin by forcing a second story window which can be easily reached from ground level. The sheriff then notified local police of the theft turning it over to their jurisdiction for further investigation.

Most Taxes Deductible

Most major state and local taxes can be deducted on Federal income tax returns if you itemize your deductions, but some of the miscellaneous taxes cannot be, Ellis Campbell Jr., district director of Internal Revenue for Northern Texas, said today.

The deductible taxes are real estate and personal property taxes, state and local income taxes, state and local gasoline taxes, and general sales taxes.

The taxes that are not deductible include liquor and cigarette taxes, most auto license fees, water service charges, hunting and fishing licenses, and dog licenses. Campbell said Federal taxes are also not deductible on individual income tax returns.

Special Meet To Consider Park Rental

A special meeting of the city commission has been called for 11:45 a.m. Friday in City Hall for the purpose of considering the renewal of KBYG's lease on a section of Comanche Trail Park.

Jim Baum, of KBYG, requested the meeting at the commission's regular session Tuesday night and the commission set it for Friday morning to allow time for the three day public notice requirement.

Under the terms of the old lease, which ran from June 15, 1959, to June 14, 1969, the radio company was to give the city 90 days notice before expiration of the lease if it desired to take its option for another 10 years.

City Manager Larry Crow said this morning the required notice was not given last spring and that the arrangement under which the station has continued operations after the June 14 deadline is not clear.

The station leases the park land for $450 per year, paid in quarterly installments of $112.50, Crow said.

The new lease requested by KBYG for the next 10 years is essentially the same as the expired contract with the exception that the station agrees to release from the contract any land needed for the proposed expansion of the park entrance.

DEAR BOSS,

Brace Yourself, Friday Is One Of Those Days

Dear Boss,

With all the excitement about Lincoln's birthday being today and Valentine's Day Saturday, I thought I better draw your attention to another day—Friday the 13th.

That's right, boss, it's time to get out your four leaf clover or lucky rabbit's foot, or maybe both.

Our friendly, local librarian couldn't find any information on Friday the 13th, but there's a wealth of information on the bad aspects of Friday and the evil connotations of the number 13, so I guess it's just the combination of the two that makes folks view the day with a little trepidation.

The research books say that Friday used to be the day for executing criminals — and I guess that could be considered a trifle unlucky, at least for the criminals. Friday was also the day of Christ's crucifixion.

As for 13, a book on numerology said it wasn't the number 13 which is unlucky, but the number 4 (the total of 1 and 3), but I never heard of any folks staying home in bed on Friday the 4th.

I'm more inclined to go along with the encyclopedia, which says 13 is an unlucky number because of its association with the Last Supper which Christ ate with his 12 disciples. The superstitious say that anytime 13 persons eat together one of them will die before the year is over.

I'm sure you'll agree with me that this is just pure superstition; but I'm sure it would behoove you to find out how many guests your wife has invited for dinner before you invite someone home for potluck. But of course that's an unlucky move anytime.

Apparently some Big Springers don't seem to dread the number like they should. One attorney has not one but two 13's in his telephone number, and one of our former postmasters insists on the number 13 in his license plate each year.

And boss, before you start feeling relieved about getting Friday the 13th over with early this year, we've got another one coming up next month, and still another one in November.

You don't happen to have an extra rabbit's foot lying around somewhere, do you?

Yours in superstition,
JEAN FANNIN

Special Session To Assail Busing?

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Gov. John McKeithen tonight is expected to announce a call for the legislature to open a special session next Wednesday to oppose at least one emotion-ridden aspect of school desegregation—busing.

The McKeithen administration reportedly has drawn legislation inspired by a 1969 New York State statute which has the effect of preventing so-called forced busing to achieve desegregation.

The New York act provides that no appointed school board or state education commissioner may "assign pupils to any school on the basis of race, creed, color or national origin, or for the purpose of achieving equality in attendance."

While not specifying a busing prohibition, the law effectively halted a campaign by former New York Education Commissioner James E. Allen Jr., now U.S. commissioner of education, to use busing to erase racial imbalances.

The law is now undergoing court challenge in Buffalo, N.Y.

It was not known if the administration will introduce other legislation. The governor may make his call for the five-day session, which specifies what may be considered, as broad or narrow as he wishes.

The governor first sounded his opposition to busing to achieve racial desegregation in a Jan. 20 speech in New Orleans. Since then, he has widened his position to include opposition to supplying state funds to finance busing for desegregation, and apparently to financing desegregated systems which have been abandoned by one race.

In five special sessions during 1960 and 1961 the legislature enacted one racial law after another in an attempt to block desegregation only to see them struck down by federal courts.

McKeithen has said he is not opposed to desegregation, and adds that it is the "law of the land." His opposition, he says, is to forced desegregation which one "ethnic group" cannot accept.

High Interest Rates Discussed

NEDERLAND, Tex. (AP) — Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., says high interest rates are blocking construction of private homes and public buildings.

66 Cinch Bets For Re-Election

AUSTIN (AP) — Five state senators and 61 representatives, more than a third of the Texas Legislature, are sure bets for re-election.

The reason? They are unopposed in both the primaries and the Nov. 3 general election.

Despite warnings from organized labor that "wrong" votes on taxes last summer would doom many lawmakers to defeat, four of the five unopposed senators and half the representatives without opponents cast crucial votes for new consumer levies.

The four senators voted for a sales tax on groceries, and 30 of the unopposed representatives voted for a tax bill that weighed even more heavily on consumers than the one that finally passed.

The Texas Legislative Service issued a complete list of legislative candidates this week.

It shows 122 Democratic and five Republican incumbent House members are seeking re-election. Republicans are running for a total of 59 seats.

Only 16 Senate seats are up for grabs, with incumbents seeking re-election to 12 of them. The GOP is fielding candidates for five seats. Sens. Chet Brooks, Pasadena; J. P. Word, Meridian; David Ratliff, Stamford; H. J. Blanchard, Lubbock; and Jack Hightower, Vernon, have no opponents.

Four liberal stalwarts in the Senate have tough primary races. They are Sens. Roy Harrington of Port Arthur, opposed by Beaumont Mayor James D. McNicholas; Don Kennard of Fort Worth, opposed by Reps. Joe Shannon Jr. and Doyle Willis, both of Fort Worth; Oscar Mauzy, Dallas, opposed by Rep. John Wright, Grand Prairie; and Joe Bernal of San Antonio, opposed by David Evans, also of San Antonio. The winner of the Mauzy-Wright race will face Republican Ray Zauber, Dallas, in November.

Other senators opposed in the primary are Wayne Connally, Floresville, who drew an opponent in Erasmo Andrade of San Antonio, and Tom Creighton, Mineral Wells, opposed by Walter E. Steimel, Fort Worth.

Among the House leaders who will be back again in 1971 because they don't have opponents are Reps. John Allen, Longview, chairman of the Conservation and Reclamation Committee; Rayford Price, Palestine, State Affairs Committee Chairman; Charles Jungmichel, La Grange, Urban Affairs Committee chairman; Speaker Gus Mutscher; Menton Murray, Harlingen, Higher Education Committee chairman; Tommy Shannon, Fort Worth, Administration Committee chairman and Mutscher's right arm; and Richard Slack, Pecos, vice-chairman of the Appropriations Committee.

Fires, Storms Cause Heavy Texas Damage

DALLAS — Wind and hail storms, tornadoes and fires caused an estimated insured property damage exceeding $130 million in Texas in 1969, according to the Texas Insurance Advisory Association (TIAA), an Austin based property insurance organization whose member companies write 80 per cent of the property insurance in the state.

TIAA Executive Committee Chairman Russell Perry said that insured losses from just the 20 largest and most damaging storms surpassed the $50 million mark. "Adding in the hundreds of smaller storms and the losses they caused," he said, "would push this figure over $65 million."

Property damage exceeding $1 million resulted from each of seven separate storms during the year, topped by a hailstorm at Amarillo in June that caused an estimated insured loss of $23 million, the TIAA reports.

The TIAA also reports that property loss from fire rose appreciably last year. In Texas, insured fire losses totalled approximately $64 million.

"One thing that disturbs the insurance industry — and it should be equally disturbing to the insurance buying public — about the ever-rising losses resulting from storms and fires," Perry said, "is that these continuing increases in losses are coupled with constantly increasing costs of repairing or replacing damaged and destroyed property."

Credit Commissioner Miskell Still Has Job

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Finance Commission refused today to accept the resignation of Texas Consumer Credit Commissioner Frank Miskell, watchdog over small loan companies since 1963.

Those voting for keeping Miskell included Rex Baker of Houston, and Jim Lindsey of College Station, two of the three members of a subcommittee which reportedly favored firing Miskell.

Baker argued before the vote that a new commissioner should be hired because Miskell habitually submitted higher budgets for his department than could be financed with available revenue.

Paul Lindsey of Athens, whose term as commission chairman expired today, was Miskell's chief defender and made the motion to reject his resignation, which was the subject of today's special meeting of the commission.

Radio Stolen

Burglars reportedly took a four-band portable radio from Republic Supply Co., 200 Lancaster, Wednesday night after entering the building by ripping out a section of siding of its south wall. Sam Dennis, 2502 Central, reported the theft and told police he could find nothing else missing.

Architects Meet

John W. Gary, member of the board of directors, will participate in a two-day meeting in Austin Friday of the officers and directors of the Texas Society of Architects. Plans for the year will be developed.

Celts Avenge Defeat At Hands Of Knicks

By The Associated Press

"If a guy punches you in the nose, you want to punch him back."

With that little bit of simple reasoning, Coach Tom Heinsohn sent his struggling Boston Celtics against the short-handed, but still powerful New York Knicks Wednesday night, and the Celtics kayoed the Knicks 125-118 in overtime in a National Basketball Association game.

It was just two weeks ago that the Celtics came into Madison Square Garden and were run off the court by 33 points, prompting a closed-door Boston meeting and subsequently numerous fines.

Although the players shrugged off the thought of revenge, Heinsohn felt it had something to do with the Celtics' fourth victory in five games and New York's second loss in 13.

"Certainly they remembered that game," he said after they overcame Willis Reed's 40 points for the Knicks as John Havlicek scored 30 and Jo Jo White 26 for Boston.

In other games, Milwaukee downed Phoenix 127-120, Cincinnati stopped Detroit 124-113, Atlanta rolled over San Diego 155-131, Los Angeles tripped San Francisco 125-115 and Seattle shaded Baltimore 119-117.

In the American Basketball Association, Indiana outlasted Washington 142-132 and Miami halted Los Angeles 127-119.

With Walt Frazier ill and Bill Bradley out with a sprained ankle for New York, the Celtics took advantage by becoming the first team to beat the Knicks three times this season.

They pulled ahead for good on baskets by Bailey Howell and Havlicek at the start of the overtime, and White and Howell each scored four more and Havlicek two.

Milwaukee held a 12-point lead early in the final period before Connie Hawkins brought Phoenix within 119-116. But Jon McGlocklin and Greg Smith split four free throws for the Bucks to end the threat.

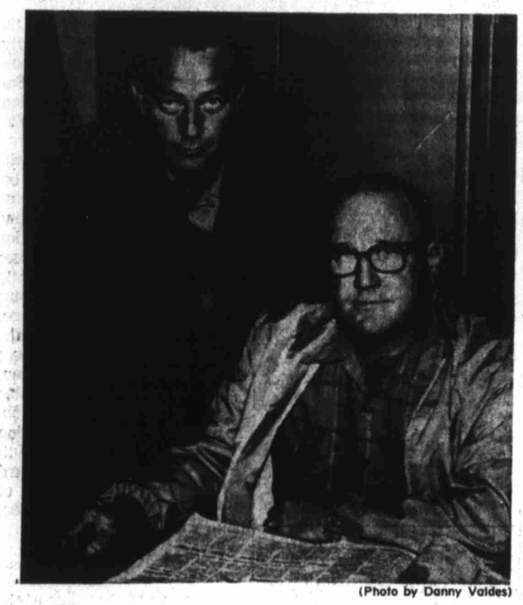

Lew Alcindor was high for the Bucks with 32, same as Hawkins.

Cincinnati led by only one point entering the final period, but Connie Dierking and Tom Van Arsdale turned the game into an easy victory. Dierking hit 21 of his 27 points in the second half and Van Arsdale finished with 32. Jimmy Walker had 27 for Detroit.

Atlanta broke loose for a 54-point third quarter, an NBA record, in crushing San Diego. The previous high for one quarter was the 52 scored by Boston against Minneapolis on Feb. 27, 1959.

Walt Hazzard, the game's high scorer with 38 points, got 24 in the explosive period. Elvin Hayes led San Diego with 32.

Elgin Baylor and Jerry West each poured in 43 points to pace Los Angeles over San Francisco as the Lakers came from behind in the final period. Jerry Lucas was high for the Warriors with 26.

GETTING SHOW ON ROAD — Harroll Jones (left) and Paul Shaffer, new co-captains of the Big Spring Quarterback Club, have called a special meeting of the booster organization for 7:30 o'clock this evening, signifying that parents of seventh, eighth and ninth graders have a special opportunity to meet the new head coach of the Steers, Clovis Hale, as do all other friends of football. Jones and Shaffer also plan to launch their "Gold Rush '70" campaign with the session, which takes place at the High School Cafeteria. Non-members will be eligible to attend, too, Shaffer stated.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Melvin Robertson, the one-time Stanton coach who has been associated with the University of Houston football staff going on six years now, says the Houston Oilers executed a coup de'tat by obtaining Big Spring native Charley Johnson in that recent trade.

"I intend to get with him as soon as possible," Melvin said on a visit here recently, "maybe I can learn something."

Robertson expects immediate improvement in the fortunes of the Oilers, now that Johnson has been brought in to quarterback the club.

He said no one in Houston was sorry to see Pete Beatherd depart the premises. (Beatherd went to the St. Louis Cardinals in the Johnson trade). Pete's love of the bright lights may have caused his football skills to diminish, some say.

Robertson also takes issue with those people who might downgrade the talents of San Angelo's Gary Mullins, who led the Cougars to nine straight wins last fall.

"Physical appearances can be deceiving," Melvin explains, "this boy gets the job done. Those who don't know him don't realize what a tremendous leader he is. Our other boys love to play for him."

Mullins is built not unlike Gary Hinds, the Big Spring quarterback who recenty signed with Houston. Some SWC mentors recently declined to sign Gary because of his stature but they may live to rue the day. The boy's a competitor.

When Dave Duncan takes over the controls of the Big Spring football team this fall, he'll be aiming at some outstanding receivers, some of whom have been mentioned here. Others haven't.

One who could figure large in the Steer plans is senior-to-be John Weeks, who reacts well on the deep passing patterns, John scurried in for seven touchdowns after accepting aerials from junior varsity unit passers last fall.

The fiscal responsibility the Teen-Age Baseball Association here has shown perhaps exceeds the improvement the playing talent has exhibited down on the field.

The association was $3,500 in the red three years ago, after taking a bold gamble at improving the facilities. Today, it has no outstanding debts. Its equipment includes two loud speaker systems, a popcorn machine and a snow cone unit, not to mention a first-class lighting system, adequate bleachers and other gear.

He wouldn't want to take credit for it but Ray Weir's guiding hand helped steer the association through some rocky seas. He'll be missed as the organization's president.

Probably no college in the country pays its football assistants higher wages than does the University of Arkansas.

The late Tony Morabito, owner of the San Francisco 49ers, must have been a great one to work for.

Joe Arenas, who once performed for the 49ers and who is now a coaching aide at the University of Houston, says Tony used to send him a blank contract. Joe would sign it, without filling in what he thought he was worth.

"Tony would always put in the amount," Arenas recalls. "He always gave me more than I would have dared ask.

"There were also fringe benefits. Everytime I had a good day, Tony would say, 'Joe, go buy yourself a couple of suits and charge them to me.' What a wonderful man he was. He always did little things for the players no one ever heard about."

Stram Reasons Football Can Get Emotional

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — It was the gospel according to Hank Stram and it had to strike a few funny bones smack dab in the middle of Cowboy coutnry.

Stram, coach of the world professional football champion Kansas City Chiefs, was back this week in the town that turned him and the old Dallas Texans down.

And he was explaining his coaching philosphy which differs a good deal from that of Dallas Cowboy headmaster Tom Landry, although both clubs do use the multiple offense.

"I think football is an emotional game," Stram said. "I think occasionally the coach should try to fire up his players—but only if it's natural."

Stram told about his halftime oration in New Orleans even though the Chiefs were leading Minnesota 16-0 at the time.

"I told them we had started working toward a goal in July," Stram said. "That was six months ago and now it was down to just 30 minutes. I told them that nobody can steal the next 30 minutes if you don't want them to."

Stram hit upon a raw nerve with Cowboy fans who have seen their heroes foldup in the big games. One of the criticisms of Landry is that he's not emotional enough about the game—that he feels a professional should do his job without a pep talk.

"You shouldn't say it if you have to force it," Stram said. "Each coach has his own different style."

Then Stram talked about his drafting philosophy which also differs from that of the Cowboys who won the dollar battle and ran the Chiefs out of the city in the early 1960s.

"We don't draft the best athlete available if we don't need him," Stram said. "We draft to the position where we need help."

The Cowboys go for the best athlete available. They drafted running back Duane Thomas of West Texas No. 1 this year although the 'Pokes are well stocked with backs and need cornerback help.

Stram explained his defensive theory which also differs from that of the 'Pokes.

Pete Maravich Hopeful Of Tournament Tender

NEW YORK (AP) — If Pete Maravich fulfills his dream of playing in the National Invitation Tournament, it could enable him to become college basketball's all-time high scorer.

The 6-foot-5 senior from Louisiana State erased Oscar Robertson's major college career record of 2,973 points almost two weeks ago and has since passed four of the six small college players who were ahead of him.

Maravich is a cinch to pass the 3,294 points compiled by Joe Miller of Alderson-Broaddus, but with only eight regular season games left, the all-time leader, Grambling's Bob Hopkins at 3,759, seems out of reach . . . unless LSU makes it to the NIT.

If the Tigers play four tourney games, Maravich would need a 43.0 average to top Hopkins. If it's just two, he would need 51.6.

Maravich isn't the only potential record-breaker on the college courts this season. The only marks in the 11 individual and team categories that seem safe, according to National Collegiate Sports Services, are individual free throw percentage, team scoring defense and team rebounds.

Oregon State's 7-foot Vic Bartolome, the field goal accuracy leader at .687, needs a .630 mark (assuming he continues to shoot the same number per game) to break Lew Alcindor's record of .667 in 1966-67.

Another 7-footer, Jacksonville's 7-2 Artis Gilmore, is averaging 25.2 rebounds a game, just a shade below the record of 25.6 set by Charlie Slack of Marshall in 1954-55.

Gilmore's team leads in three categories and is setting a record pace in scoring offense —104.4—and average scoring margin (31.2). The scoring record is 99.0 by Syracuse in 1965-66.

The Dolphins also lead in field goal percentage at .540.

Ohio State is shooting free throws at an .821 clip, compared to the record of .796 by Miami of Florida in 1964-65.

Tennessee's Jim England is the individual free throw leader with a .904 percentage.

Army continues to lead in team defense, yielding 52.1 points a game.

Seagraves Takes Over Top Spot

PLAINS — Seagraves moved into the driver's seat in District 5-A basketball play by defeating Plains, 56-63, here Tuesday night.

Coahoma, which had been tied with Seagraves for first place in the standings, was upset by Wink in Wink, 44-39.

Seagraves now stands at 8-1 in the race while Coahoma dropped to 7-2.

Wink, which has now beaten both Seagraves and Coahoma, is 4-5 against conference opponents.

Texas Team Still Rated Atop Poll

By The Associated Press

Unbeaten Stephen F. Austin strengthened its grip on the top spot in college division basketball last week with a pair of runaway victories.

The Lumberjacks, who brought their season record to 20-0, through games of last Saturday, with a 93-57 triumph over East Texas State and a 125-86 romp over Sul Ross, remained No. 1 in the nation among the small colleges by a wide margin in today's weekly Associated Press Poll.

They received eight of the 11 first place votes cast by the national panel of sports writers and sportscasters and led runner-up Ashland 195-147 in total points.

Ashland, 18-1 after a pair of victories last week, moved up from the No. 3 spot, changing positions with Youngstown, also 18-1 following a 67-52 loss to Central State of Ohio.

Following the top three were Howard Payne, 21-2; Maryland State, 15-0; Cheyney State, 17-1; St. Mary's Tex., 14-3; Central Washington, 18-1; Southwestern Louisiana, 12-6, and Puget Sound, 16-3.

Howard Payne was fifth in last week's poll, Maryland State eighth, Cheyney sixth, St. Mary's fourth, Central ninth, Southwest Louisiana 13th and Puget Sound 11th. Maryland State and Puget Sound received one first place vote apiece, as did No. 14 Augusta, Ga., 19-1, and unranked a week ago.

HOUSTON — A brother act seems to have a special appeal for people who are partial to sporting events, and no better one can be found than the one that will be in the second annual Astrodome-Federation National Indoor Championships Friday and Saturday.

Texas A&M's Mills brothers, Curtis and Marvin, already have made an indelible mark in Southwestern track.

The story of the Aggies' Mills brothers reads like so much fiction, but the 44.7 that Curtis clocked to set a world record in the quarter, is very authenic.

Fight Odds 'Ridiculous'

JIMMY ELLIS

By JAMES J. BRADDOCK
Former World Heavyweight Champion
Written for The Associated Press

NEW YORK (AP) — Jimmy Ellis will be 30 years old on February 24th. I was 30 years old when I beat Max Baer for the heavyweight title. The age of 30 is a good age for heavyweights. I was at least a 10 to 1 underdog against Baer. Nobody believed anybody could beat the handsome strongman from California, least of all a makeshift fighter off the Hoboken docks like me.

Ellis is a 5 to 1 shot against Joe Frazier, a strong man from Philadelphia. That's a lot of bunk. There's no such thing as a 5 to 1 or a 10 to 1 shot in boxing when two top professional fighters get into a ring. As I see it—and I'm not picking anybody just yet—Frazier should be maybe a 7 or 8 to 5 over Ellis and that mainly on the fact that he's been more active.

We've taken a look at Frazier already. We know that he's a guy who likes to pour it on and wear his opposition down. He's done a fairly good job of it in most of his fights because he's not been beaten yet. What about Jimmy Ellis?

Some people say that Ellis fights a lot like Cassius Clay. You can't spar hundreds of rounds with a guy without some of the moves rubbing off. Ellis makes what may look like Clay moves but Ellis is a lot more than that. He has a style completely his own and every time I've seen him he impresses me as a real smart fighter who can change styles to fit the other guy. He doesn't take too many punches. He looks like Clay, with his shifty footwork and the speed of his hands. And he looks like Gene Tunney in the way he boxes. He has a little of Ezzard Charles and maybe some of Jersey Joe Walcott, too. Put them all together and you have Jimmy Ellis. He has a little bit of everything.

I have been around a long time and have watched a lot of fighters but I have never seen a sneaky right hand as Ellis'. It is a punch he throws when he's ready and he has been able to time it almost perfectly because it does the job. That's how he got into the heavyweight title picture. They fed Ellis to Johnny Persol in a Garden semifinal one night and Ellis landed the right in the first and it was all over. Ellis knocked down Oscar Bonavena twice with that right hand, something Frazier couldn't do even once in 25 rounds with Bonavena.

Ellis is an always-moving target. It's tough to land solidly on him and he has a good enough left jab and hook to keep the other guy off balance. Ellis has beaten tough guys like Leotis Martin on the way up from the middleweights. He has never been beaten as a heavyweight. Those are pretty good credentials. Five-to-one, my foot. I wish I was a betting man.

The question with Ellis, of course, is not having had a fight in more than a year. How important is it that depends a lot on the fighter. I would have to say in Jimmy's case that it won't hurt him because he hasn't fought too often anyway and he's always in condition. This is a tough fight for both fighters. There are no easy fights. And because it puts a club-fighting puncher up against a boxer-puncher, it has to be a great fight.

In his third and last article, Braddock will pit man against man and pick the winner.

Nothing Funny To Champion

NEW YORK (AP) — Fighting for the undisputed heavyweight championship is serious business, and that's how Joe Frazier is treating his preparation for his fight against Jimmy Ellis—dead serious.

Humor, even his own, does not bring a smile to the face of Frazier as he trains for the scheduled 15-round fight Monday night at Madison Square Garden.

One of Frazier's handlers has a mechanical device which transmits the sound of laughter and is placed in a cloth bag which is lettered "A Bag of Laughs."

It brings smiles and laughs from those congregated in Frazier's dressing room. Not from Joe Frazier.

Frazier, champion of six states including New York, knows the dangers of fighting and realizes Ellis, the World Boxing Association King, probably will be the most dangerous opponent he has ever faced. He intends to be as ready as possible.

Frazier is in shape and he is confident.

"I don't think Ellis can move away from me as fast as I can move in on him."

Ellis is a boxer while Frazier is a boring-in puncher, and Zank Burham, Frazier's manager, thinks Ellis won't be able to stay away from his man.

Practice Go In R. Lee

COAHOMA — Coahoma's fems, already crowned District 5-A basketball champions, go to Robert Lee this evening for a practice game with Eldorado. Tipoff time is 7 o'clock.

The Bulldogs carry a 16-7 won-lost record onto the floor. In their last start, Coahoma defeated Forsan.

The Bulldogs face Wylie of 6-A in bi-district competition in Wylie at 8 p.m. Monday.

Aroused Davidson Upsets 2nd Ranked Gamecocks

By The Associated Press

Just when rigor mortis was about to set in the Davidson Wildcats proved to be a most healthy corpse.

"We had taken so much criticism that I guess we were a little mad," said sophomore star Bryan Adrian after the Wildcats ended second-ranked South Carolina's 17-game winning streak 68-62 Wednesday night. "All the sports writers in our area kept saying we were dead. We decided to prove to them we were still alive."

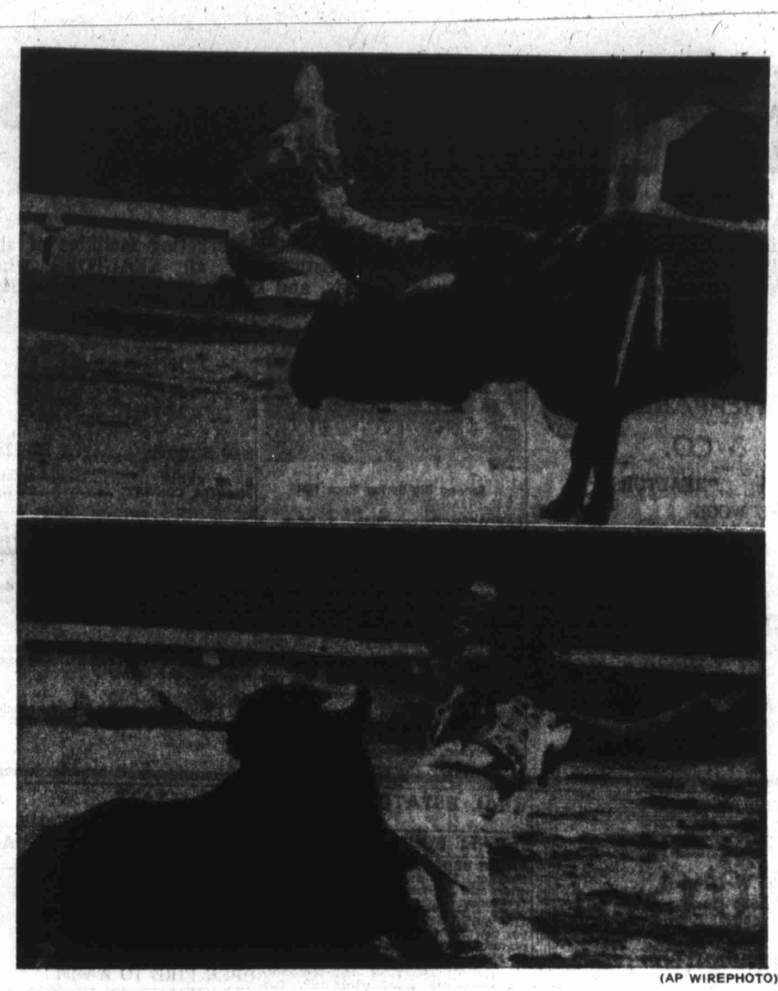

After the first half Davidson looked far from alive. The Wildcats were colder than an air-conditioned icebox as they sank only six of 23 shots and trailed 29-19. But they connected on 16-of-23 in the second half, with Adrian scoring 22 of his 26 points and Mike Maloy, Doug Cook and Jerry Kroll bottling up South Carolina's towering front line.

John Roche was Carolina's only offensive threat with 34 points, including 16 of 16 at the foul line. Maloy held 6-foot-10 Tom Owens, the leading rebounder in the Atlantic Coast Conference, to two points and five rebounds.

"It was great defense by our club and a tremendous second half by Adrian that was the key to victory," said Terry Holland, rookie coach of 13th-ranked Davidson. "We have a great deal of respect for South Carolina, but we were ready for them."

A disappointed Frank McGuire, knowing his team likely will drop a notch or two in next week's poll, gave Davidson full credit.

"We played a very experienced and very aggressive basketball team that simply outplayed us," he said. "Give them credit for a beautiful job. Davidson had position inside on us all night. Maloy played a tremendous game and kept our big man, Owens, away from the boards all night."

ECCENTRIC BUT BRAVE — Blas Romero "Platanito" (Little Banana) puts on a show of extravagance and bravery in the first fight of Madrid's bullfight season Thursday. "Platanito" boasts he is braver than Spain's top fighter "El Cordobes" and was cheered for his amazing passes — unorthodox as they were. At top Platanito executes a spectacular and unusual "frog leap" in front of the bull. At bottom the barefooted fighter kneels beside the bull.

Sunday Rounds Are Costly To Trevino

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Lee Trevino set out today in defense of his Tucson Open golf crown, hungry to win again and dreading only Sunday.

"Man, if I could get by those Sundays, I'd be in good shape," the free-wheeling Trevino said.

He hasn't won since taking this title a year ago, but has played well this year — except on Sundays.

His scores in final rounds this year have been 74, 75, 77, 73, and 75.

"It's cost a ton of money," he said.

Trevino, a Mexican-American from the Texas border country, caught the nation's fancy when he scored his first victory in the National Open in 1968.

He stayed in the limelight with a quick wit and bubbling personality and continued good play. He followed his open triumph with victories in the Hawaii Open, then in Tucson a year ago.

But he hasn't won since and recently has been plagued with a variety of problems, including a suit against his former business agent Bucky Woy, and a multimillion dollar countersuit.

And he ran into another problem.

"This guy from the insurance company came up to me on the practice tee," he said, "and man, but I got some kind of hot."

"I hit Richard Crawford's caddy with a ball on the driving range at Westchester. Hit him in the collar bone. They took X-rays and said it was cracked.

"Soon as I hit him, I told him, 'Look, I'm insured. You get in touch with the insurance company.' I gave him the name of the company and the number of the policy and everything.

"And now this guy comes up and they still haven't settled with him. Boy, I got hot. I don't know what's going to happen now."

"Trevino was one of the pretourney favorites along with Billy Casper and Gene Littler, and said he liked his chances.

T-Birds Humble 'Dogs, 124-91

HOBBS, N.M. — New Mexico Junior College routed Clarendon College, 124-91, in a Western Conference basketball game here Tuesday night.

The win was the 15th in 23 season starts for the Thunderbirds. In conference, NMJC stands at 5-5.

Clarendon is 5-18 on the year and 1-10 against league opponents.

League Must Help Club At Seattle

CHICAGO (AP) —"The American League has given up $650,000 for Lent," a baseball club owner quipped on Ash Wednesday.

It just about sums up a stormy two days of financial football by the league in attempts to turn the Seattle Pilots in the direction of the goal.

But when the meetings broke up, the owners were back where they started—really back farther than that, by $650,000 worth.

What happened was this:

1. They reaffirmed that the franchise will remain in Seattle. The threat of antitrust suits by Seattle city officials helped make this a rather easy direction.

2. The ownership will remain in the same hands. Bill Daley of Cleveland owns 60 per cent with the Seattle Soriano brothers, Max and Dewey, the rest.

3. The league will dip into its treasury for a $650,000 loan to get the Pilots off the hook for spring training expenses. American League President Joe Cronin said laughingly that no interest rate will be charged.

Meanwhile, the Seattle owners are sure, under the light of the new situation, to refloat a $3.5-million loan that previously had been called in by the Bank of California.

Falling into the background of the near soap opera situation were hotel executive Edward Carlson and his civic-minded group. They fought for the purchase of the franchise at a $9.5-million price tag established by the league.

After presenting a formal application, the Carlson group spent six minutes with league owners Wednesday night and were turned down.

"We had made all the commitments that the league required from us for buying the club," Carlson said. "But our application was turned down. However, we have accomplished our objective—keeping the club in Seattle. That is what counted."

Part of the Carlson program called for a nonprofit factor.

"That factor could not fit into operation of a major league baseball club," said Cronin.

Stanton, Forsan Fems Square Off

STANTON — Girl basketball teams representing Forsan and Stanton clash here this evening in a practice tilt. Tipoff time is 7:30 p.m.

Forsan, coached by Don Stevens, brings a 20-9 record to town.

This will be the final warmup game for Forsan before the bi-district game with Paint Rock in the Robert Lee gymnasium Monday evening.

Tom Ryan Signs Raider 'Letter'

Tommy Ryan, who played junior high school football in Big Spring and then moved to Andrews where he starred in several sports, has signed a letter of intent with Texas Tech.

At the Lubbock school, he will join his brother, Jerry (Moose) Ryan, an all-district tackle for Big Spring several years ago.

Tommy Ryan stands 6-0 and weighs 185 pounds. He was considered one of the finest running backs in the state.

Multiple Listing Service

Some of the important advantages of a MULTIPLE LISTING activity are:

1. Sellers of property, while retaining the professional services of a single agent, have access to the marketing facilities of all REALTORS who participate. 2. Buyers, by contacting only one REALTOR, may have access to the listings of all REALTORS who participate. 3. The needs of the buyer and seller are more readily matched, this serving their interests, and saving time in more readily acquiring or disposing of property.

Nixonites Mistreat Farmers?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Bob Price, R-Tex., says the Nixon administration is mistreating farmers.

Price said he is against the cutting of school milk subsidies suggested by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

He also said he thinks the cancellation of advance payments for cotton crops was unwise and said many marginal farmers were unable to get bank loans to substitute for the anticipated advance Agriculture Department payments.

"The administration is doing some unpopular things, it seems to me," Price said.

Price advocated giving farmers a 6 per cent crop subsidy increase to match the increases in civil service salaries and the 15 per cent hike in social security benefits.

Likes Miniskirts On Young Girls

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — When Mary Robinson was a girl in Georgia, it was her duty to walk behind her mistress to keep the skirt of her long dress out of the dirt.

Tuesday, her 108th birthday, Mrs. Robinson said she likes to see young girls in miniskirts.

The Negro woman celebrated her birthday quietly in her one-bedroom apartment in a high-rise building where she lives only a few doors away from her daughter, Annie Lee McKinnon, 65.

The largest number, 354, wanted help in finding an apartment, 12 threatened suicide and one man complained that someone had slipped LSD into his drink.

The service is centered at the Marble Collegiate church, where Dr. Norman Vincent Peale is pastor.

The program concluded with members telling games and toys they remembered from childhood.

A LOVELIER YOU

Lycra Controls Bulges With Beautiful Lace

By MARY SUE MILLER

Girls and women of all ages are eager to know about foundations that "wear well" under the skinny cling of spring fashions. Well now, a garment must be so deftly constructed as to appear nonexistent under clothing. Yet it must offer a fair degree of form-persuasion. Otherwise, who needs it?

Lycra spandex in fine 40 denier turns the trick. A wide range of garments — briefs, short-legs, long-legs — are made in that weight. The advantages, other than the fit of a second skin, add up to comfort with aesthetics.

Fit results from highly technical processes. Suffice it to relate that, in the main, horizontal support is given the most power. Body horizontals, such as hips, require an extra lick of control to smooth the line and to allow for expansion created by motion — bending over, for instance.

Because of superb fit and "weightless" fabric, comfort is implicit. Pressures which could constrict and pinch are thus eliminated.

The finest corsetieres design these little nothings for a long list of respected houses. Colors are a treat; the prettiest laces and ribbons have a delicacy that much outerwear could use. Form-persuasion has indeed become a gentle art.

LEANER, LOVELIER

All lodge members served as hostesses, and decorations carried out the Valentine theme.

Radioactive Soil Found

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — An investigative group says radioactive plutonium has been found in soil samples from land outside the Rocky Flats nuclear weapons complex 20 miles northwest of this metropolitan area of more than a million population.

The investigation was carried out by the Colorado Committee for Environmental Information, made up mainly of scientists in the local area, whose chairman gave a guarded account of the findings.

One committee source said the soil samples were taken in an area ranging up to 10 miles from the nuclear plant and commented that if contamination continued it could prove "a serious threat to the health and safety of the people of Denver."

The population within 10 miles of the plant ranges from dense to sparse. Some of the land is farmed.

Dr. Edward A. Martell of Boulder, the committee chairman, would say only that the samples came from "within to beyond a few miles" from the plant.

"There is a considerable amount of plutonium out of the plant area," Martell said, but added:

"The amounts found are of debatable significance. I think we have to do a lot more looking before we can say whether it is harmful or not."

Win Rockefeller Adds Texas Land

AMARILLO (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller of Arkansas has leased a 19,080 acre tract of irrigated land 120 miles northwest of here, it was announced Wednesday.

The land bordering on the New Mexico boundary will be known as the "Corlena" division of Winrock farms, owned by Rockefeller and headquartered at Morrilton, Ark.

The lease also includes an option to purchase.

One of the executives in the negotiations said earlier that if the land is purchased at the end of a three-year lease option, the transaction would total more than $6 million.

"This farm in the plains section of West Texas near the New Mexico border will increase the Winrock Farms acreage to about 59,000 acres," Rockefeller said in a release.

The land was leased from A. W. Lair of Canyon, a former Randall County district attorney and professor at West Texas State University.

Rockefeller said 7,000 acres of the farm are being devoted to corn production, with the remainder in rye-vetch combination capable of grazing some 14,000 steers.

Bob Childs of Morrilton, Ark., general manager of Winrock Farms said, "This will give us a more integrated operation so that we can graze the steers we now have and others we may acquire."

Childs said that Winrock has been feeding some 6,000 head of cattle in Oklahoma on a contract basis.

Rockefeller said he is leasing the Texas farm as an extension of the present Winrock operations, which now include holdings near Sulphur, Okla., and Carlisle, Ark.

The Texas land was purchased by Lair three years ago when it was known as the Old Higgins Ranch.

Rex McFadden of Lubbock, president of Shur-gro Irrigation Co. of Texas, was hired to develop the grassland into a solid block of irrigated farmland. At one time in 1968 McFadden had more than 125 workers transforming the grass into farmland.

Stanton Lions Plan Pageant

STANTON (SC) — Stanton Lions Club president Chuck Elmore Tuesday announced Feb. 23 as the date of the Sweetheart Banquet and 25th anniversary of the Stanton Lions Club.

He appointed the following to serve on a planning and arrangement committee for the event. Tom Angel, chairman, John Roueche and George Costlow. It will be a ladies night affair and is to be held at the Cap Rock Auditorium.

Paige Eiland, chairman of the Queen's Contest, announced that the beauty pageant will be held in mid-April. Jerry Bethel, junior high coach, gave a short resume of the athletic program.

There were 23 members present and five visitors from the Midland's Westside Lions Club — Harold Stevens, Jack Johnson, Bill Edwards, Tom Nipp and R. E. Womack.

Opening lead: Queen of ◇ Four hearts was not the best contract for North and South inasmuch as the partnership has nine spades between them and only seven hearts. A spade game might have been uncovered if South had not been in so great a hurry. A jump to three hearts would have announced great strength and urged partner to carry on. North no doubt would have rebid his spades affording South an opportunity to raise the suit.

Against four hearts, West opened the queen of diamonds. The king was played from dummy and East covered with the ace. He continued the suit and South ruffed with the six of hearts. The top three trumps were cashed, North discarding his three small clubs. When West showed out on the third round, declarer decided to leave the ten of hearts outstanding while he developed the spade suit.

The ace of spades was cashed dropoing East's queen and a small spade was led next. West put up the king and shifted to a club. South could not afford to play dummy's ace, for that would leave East in position to ruff the third round of spades and enable the defense to cash a club trick.

A small club was played from dummy and, when the finesse lost to East's king, the latter cashed the ten of hearts for the setting trick.

Declarer was in too great a hurry to work on the spades. He should have driven out East's heart control first, for the latter cannot launch an attack against dummy's clubs and South thereby has the time to develop the spades at his leisure.

After East is given the ten of hearts, he will presumably return a diamond and South, who has two trumps left, ruffs. The ace of spades is cashed and then West is put in with the king. Even if the latter holds off until the third round and shifts to a club, declarer is in full command. The ace of clubs is played from dummy and a good spade is cashed as South discards the queen of clubs. In all, he loses one spade, one heart, and one diamond.

Dallas Police Jail Students At Bishop

DALLAS (AP) — Officers arrested 359 Bishop College students early today and put a non-violent end to a six-day occupation of the college chapel.

Officers, armed with warrants for 24 leaders in the campus sit-in, hauled them off to jail along with supporters who refused to leave the chapel.

None of the students, including about 80 coeds, had made bond at a late hour.

Police Chief Frank Dyson said about 250 of his men were there. He described the chapel evacuation as "peaceful."

There was loud singing and occasional heckling when the officers first arrived at the chapel.

Students began the sit-in, usually in comparatively small numbers, last Friday in support of 19 demands on the college administration for such things as milk at every meal and removal of chains on dormitory entrances.

NO PUNISHMENT

Both sides said the only non-negotiable item was insistence by students on no punishment for any taking part in the demonstration.

Officers moved onto the campus at 11:55 p.m. to serve a court order signed by Dist. Judge Dee Brown Walker. It was granted after Dist. Atty. Henry Wade and City Atty. Alex Bickley told him students threatened to burn college records and to break into women's dormitory buildings.

About 30 Dallas police officers formed a line at the front of the sanctuary with billy clubs.

The injunction and names of the 24 persons listed in the warrants were read. The warrants were for students suspended Friday when the chapel was seized. They were charged with disrupting activites on campus in violation of a recently passed state law.

AIMED AT PREXY

Students complaints were aimed mostly at the college's president, Dr. Milton Curry. He had met with the demonstrators off and on since the occupation began.

Missile Flips, Texans Scram

BRENHAM, Tex. (AP) — Some residents of this Central Texas area left their homes today while military and civil authorities tried to get an overturned Polaris missile booster back on the road.

Bergstrom Air Force Base officials said there was some danger of the 30,000 pounds of solid fuel in the booster exploding when attempts are made to right the special trailer carrying the booster.

Bergstrom crash trucks surrounded the scene.

Residents within a mile radius of the scene were asked to leave their homes while the work went on and no radio transmissions were allowed within a mile, the department of public safety said.

Bergstrom officials said the overturned trailer contained no warhead of the Polaris missile which contains nuclear material.

The truck overturned about seven miles west of here late Wednesday when one of its tires blew out. A passenger in the truck suffered minor injuries.

Latins To File Candidates For School, County Offices

CRYSTAL CITY, Tex. (AP) Jose Angel Gutierrez, who organized the Raza Unida Party here and in two nearby towns to increase Mexican-American political power, has announced he will run for the local school board.

Gutierrez, a Crystal City native, said he and two other Mexican-Americans will run for the three school board seats up for election in April.

Two of the three men who now hold those seats do not plan to seek re-election. These include Urbano Esquvel, one of the two Mexican-American members of the school board.

The remaining five board members in the predominantly Mexican-American school district here are Anglos.

Gutierrez, 25, is a former state chairman and still a leader of the Mexican-American Youth Organization, an activist group that has stirred controversy in San Antonio and the Rio Grande Valley.

He holds a master's degree in government from St. Mary's University in San Antonio.

A lengthy school boycott was staged by more than 1,000 pupils here two months ago. School Supt. John Billings resigned, effective in June, shortly after the boycott ended.

Crystal City was the scene of political turmoil in 1963 when a full Mexican-American slate won election to city council.

Gutierrez said the Raza Unida—united race—Party will field candidates also for county judge and other posts here in Zavala County and at Cotulla in La Salle County.

A spokesman for the Raza Unida Party in Cotulla said the Anglo population there is "in shock — nothing like this has happened before in La Salle County."

The third party has formally registered here, in Cotulla and in Carrizo Springs to be listed on the general election ballot in November.

Running with Gutierrez for the three school board posts are Arturo Gonzalez, 24, a representative of the poor on the board of the local Community Action Program, and Mike Perez, 30, who operates a dance hall and works in a residential home construction business.

Running on the Raza Unida ticket here for county judge is Julian Salas, 42, justice of the peace here the past five years. Gutierrez listed a total of six other candidates for county races here.

In Cotulla, a spokesman for the third party said candidates have filed for five La Salle County positions. They include Juan Heliberto Ortiz, 28, a restaurant operator who filed for county judge.

About 2,200 persons have registered to vote in La Salle County, the spokesman said, and about 1,500 of them are Mexican-American.

AMC Unveils Its Little Gun

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — American Motors Corp. unveiled its little gun today in the American battle against the Volkswagen beetle and the other little imports.

The Gremlin, first subcompact—or minicar — built by a major U.S. automaker, goes on sale April 1.

AMC aimed its subcompact Gremlin at the import market, which has in recent months controlled about 11 per cent of all new car sales.

Thus the smallest American automaker gets a jump of from several months to more than a year over its U.S. competitors. General Motors and Ford are expected to launch their subcompacts this fall. Chrysler has said it will begin selling its minicar in mid-1971.

The Gremlin has a long hood with the rear end chopped in the manner of large American stations wagons. The car looks like a tiny station wagon.

More Mail Deliveries

Congressman Omar Burleson announced today that he has been advised by Postmaster General Winton M. Blount of a major new postal service program that will expand home deliveries to an additional four million Americans — principally in small communities — for the first time.

Under the program, persons living more than a quarter mile, but less than half a mile from 18,700 post offices that do not have city delivery are now eligible to receive the delivery at home. Previously, they have been compelled to go to the post office for their mail.

Rep. Burleson said he had been advised that the postmaster general is issuing instructions in the Postal Bulletin Thursday making the service available to the 1.2 million families living in the eligible areas — four million individuals.

The only requirement to obtain the service is that it must be requested of the postmaster, and a majority of those living in the area must desire the service.

He said Coahoma and Forsan will be made eligible for this service expansion under the order.

Gas Price Review Asked

A review of the Permian Basin area's natural gas price was requested this week when the West Texas Chamber of Commerce's executive vice president Jack G. Springer wrote to the chairman of the Federal Power Commission.

Springer pointed out in his letter that the Permian Basin case was the first area price decision made by the FPC and that the price set by the commission was based upon exploration, drilling and production costs that were in effect in 1960 and 1961. With the increase in labor, materials, equipment and other operating expenses during the past several years the price established by the FPC is no longer realistic.

"Continued pricing at the 1960-'61 level will seriously reduce the amount of exploration necessary to find new gas reserves," Springer stated. "Natural gas consumption is at an all time high and last year's consumption exceeded the amount of new reserves found in the entire U.S. This shortage will grow more critical unless the producers of natural gas are given a price which will allow a fair return on their investments.

The WTCC also urged retention of the present oil quota system. J. Fike Godgrey, WTCC president, said that the quota is not perfect but is far better than reliance upon foreign supplies. Abolishing the quota system would lower the price of oil produced in the United States by 20 to 30 cents a barrel, he claimed.

Ketchum Leaves, McCormick Here

Charles Ketchum, director of food service for Howard County Junior College, has been transferred to South Plains Junior College in Levelland. Saga Foods, Inc., a nationwide food service distributor, provides the food service at the Student Union Building at HCJC, and the transfer of Ketchum is a promotion within that company.

Saga Foods, Inc., has replaced Ketchum with Jack McCormick, who comes here from Dallas Baptist College, where he was food service director.

McCormick, who will assume duties at HCJC next week, is married and has a four-year-old son.

Striking Teachers Arrests Increase

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Arrests of striking teachers increased Wednesday in Newark while in Jersey City 11 strike leaders prepared to surrender today in court on charges they violated an antistrike injunction.

In Newark, 16 teachers were arrested Wednesday as they picketed six schools, bringing to 23 the number of teachers under arrest for violation of a similar court order. Seven leaders of the Newark Teachers Union had been arrested last week.

Superior Court Judge John F. Lynch was about to sign an order Wednesday for the arrest of 11 strike leaders in Jersey City when their attorney agreed to produce them voluntarily today.

Besides the 11 Jersey City teachers, two representatives of the New Jersey Education Association were to present themselves in court.

Schools are closed today in both cities because of Lincoln's Birthday observances. In Newark, the strike has halted public education for eight consecutive school days. The Jersey City strike began Monday.

Newark, with 84 schools and some 78,000 students, has the largest public school system in New Jersey. Jersey City's 34 schools and 38,000 students make up the second largest system.

The 16 teachers arrested in Newark were each released on $1,000 personal recognizance bond. Judge Lynch cautioned lawyers for the Jersey City teachers to have a bail bondsman in court.

Meanwhile Mayor Thomas J. Whelan of Jersey City said he will close the city's schools in September unless the state pays for them. His announcement came after the Board of Estimate voted not to provide any money in next year's school budget for teachers' salaries.

Traffic Tickets Trickle

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — For 10 days the supply of traffic tickets was so low that police and parking meter maids wrote citations only when someone complained, like when someone howled about a car parked in a driveway.

The normal volume of 500 tickets a day dwindled to a trickle.

An order of 200,000 citations was late because the clerk of Municipal Court had asked for some minor changes.

An emergency batch of 50 books arrived this week and it's motorists beware.

U.S. OBSERVATION HELICOPTER SHOT DOWN

Warplanes Bomb Guns In Cambodia

SAIGON (AP) — Exercising their "inherent right of self-defense," American warplanes bombed North Vietnamese guns in Cambodia that shot down a U.S. observation helicopter. The attack Wednesday occurred in the border region where 246 North Vietnamese have been reported killed in six days of hard fighting.

The result of the bomber strike was not announced. The helicopter exploded in the air, and the two crewmen were believed killed.

CRUISING ALONG

The U.S. Command said the helicopter was cruising along South Vietnam's side of the border about 80 miles west of Saigon. It was searching for remnants of two enemy battalions that South Vietnamese ground troops and allied planes have been battling in the Plain of Reeds since the North Vietnamese were intercepted last Friday on their way toward the lower Mekong Delta.

It was the first reported aircraft raid across the Cambodian border in two months. On Dec. 3, U.S. fighters bombed and strafed gun positions in the same area after the guns shelled allied frontier posts. Two weeks ago U.S. artillery fired into Cambodia in retaliation for an attack on a firbase in Hau Nghia Province west of Saigon.

U.S. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird said on Wednesday in Saigon that American forces would continue to reply in kind to attacks from across the borders of Cambodia, Laos and North Vietnam. The U.S. Command says its forces have returned fire across the Cambodian frontier six times in the past year.

AIR ACTION

South Vietnamese headquarters reported another 39 North Vietnamese troops killed by allied fighter-bombers in the continuing ground and air action in the Plain of Reeds along the frontier.

Two other U.S. helicopters crashed in the central highlands killing four Americans and four South Vietnamese and injuring three Americans and 36 government troops.

Near An Khe, enemy gunners shot down the helicopter that carried the four Americans who were killed. The other crash occurred 150 miles south of An Khe when a big Chinook troop carrier lost power after taking off from Dalat.

Sizable American losses were reported for the second day in succession from the northern provinces. U.S. Marine spokesmen at Da Nang said nine Marines were killed and three wounded 26 miles south of Da Nang today when an enemy force in well concealed positions opened fire on a patrol of more than 45 Leathernecks.

NOT KNOWN

Most of the American casualties apparently occurred in the first attacks, before artillery, helicopter gunships, fighter-bombers und Marine and Army reinforcements were rushed in to aid the patrol.

The enemy withdrew after about 3½ hours, and his casualties were not known.

On Wednesday before dawn, North Vietnamese sappers attacked an artillery base north of Da Nang, killed eight U.S. paratroopers and wounded 12. A report today said 12 enemy were killed.

95 YANKS DIE

The weekly casualty report listed 35 per cent more American battle dead last week than the week before despite the cease-fires last week for the Tet festival of the lunar new year. The U.S. Command said 95 Americans were killed in combat, compared to 70 the week before. The number of Americans wounded went down, however, from 704 during the week of Jan. 25-31 to 637 last week.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported 298 government soldiers killed and 809 wounded last week, down from 343 and 985 the week before. But this raised the total of South Vietnamese troops reported killed since Jan. 1, 1960, past 100,000 to 100,073.

The total number of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong which the allies claim to have killed in the war also has passed a milestone, the 600,000 mark, although this will not become official until next Thursday.

PROPAGANDA

Laird and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, met today with President Nguyen Van Thieu, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky and other South Vietnamese officials. Laird and Wheeler arrived Tuesday night to assess the progress of the Vietnamization program transferring the combat load from American forces to the South Vietnamese.

In a change of command ceremony south of Da Nang, the outgoing commander of the South Korean Marine brigade heatedly denied Viet Cong charges that his men killed 240 innocent civilians during a sweep in the area last November.

"It's a damned propaganda maneuver for the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong," said Brig. Gen. Lee Dong Ho, who was succeeded by Brig. Gen. Lee Dong Yong.

Moon Dust May Repress Dormant Life

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Dormant life held in check by poisonous chemistry may exist on the moon, a space agency scientist said here Wednesday.

Spore-like organisms which may have traveled through space to the lunar surface and kept from growing and reproducing by the toxic effect of moon dust, Dr. Vance I. Oyama, of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Ames Research Center, said at an aerospace medical seminar here.

"I think life is possible in the lunar regolith (surface material) but it would be in stationary form," he said. "It would be in suspended animation, so to speak."

He said the moon may be a testing ground for the theory of transpermia, a concept formulated in 1865 which said dormant life forms move through space and settle on planets and other bodies.

The possibility "is extremely remote," he said, "that the moon could have originated life. The moon can only be a repository for collecting the debris of the universe and it could be a measure of the concept of transpermia."

Dr. Oyama and other scientists at Ames tried for weeks to revive any micro organisms in 50 grams of the Apollo 11 moon samples. They place the soil in several types of growth medium and in several types of atmospheres. No life was found in the soil, not even Earth microorganisms which would normally be expected to have been discovered in such an experiment.

Dr. Oyama said a cat-ion exchange was discovered during the testing and suggested this may have prevented any growth in the lunar material.

A cat-ion exchange, he said, would provide toxic elements which would kill micro organisms.

A cat-ion (pronounced CAT-I-ON) is a metallic element — such as chromium, titanium or nickel — which has its atoms charged positively and is stripped of some of its electrons.

"Cat-ions have destructive properties on micro organisms," said Dr. Oyama. "The moon material could be self sterilizing for terrestial organisms."

"If there were life in the universe and it did impact on the moon and survive the impact," he said, "just the process of trying to grow that organism out from the moon soil would result in these toxic elements overcoming that life.

Because of this, he said, any organism on the moon could be grown by scientists only after it is separated from the lunar soil. Finding the organism, however, is the major difficulty.

"The overwhelming problem right now is the size of the sample we're getting in relation to the size of the moon," Dr. Oyama said.

Cause Of Pause

CAMPBELL, Mo. (AP) — Members of the First Baptist Church had cause for pause when reading a recent church bulletin.

Under upcoming events, the bulletin listed a churchwide potluck supper. Members were urged to "bring enough pot for your family."

Dear Abby

—ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is very much in love with an older man. He is very well-to-do and is known to everyone for his generosity and kindness. He has children by his deceased wife and is extremely considerate of them. He is constantly giving them expensive gifts.

This man professes to love my daughter. He calls her and sees her often. He has told her that she is the only person in the world he truly loves, yet he has never given her any kind of gift. Not even at Christmas time. (She gave HIM a gift.)

My daughter thinks that this man can do no wrong, and she idolizes him anyway. I am apprehensive. What do you think?

APPREHENSIVE MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I think that you would not be nearly so "apprehensive" had this man given your daughter a costly "bauble" for Christmas. Perhaps he declined to do so at this point because with his reputation for "generosity" he didn't want her to feel that he was "buying" her love. Since your daughter "idolizes" him anyway, don't be so quick to point out his clay feet. They may be gold.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Just a word to that mother who was lamenting the fact that her daughter was pregnant and unmarried. She agonized that she would never be able to hold her first grandchild in her arms.

Well, Abby, if that mother would just pull herself together and face facts, she COULD hold her first grandchild in her arms. She should welcome her daughter back, accept the child, and help bring it up, and help her daughter to make something of herself.

May I say that I will never hold a grandchild in MY arms, but not for the same reason as this lady. You see, my ONLY child is a homosexual.

Tell that lady I would rather be in HER shoes any day. She doesn't know what trouble is.

NAME WITHHELD

DEAR NAME: If you would face your situation realistically, you may come to the conclusion that while your lot is hard to accept it is not the most tragic in the world.

Many homosexuals live useful, happy lives. It is possible that a mother who has lost her child in death could conceivably be happy to change shoes with you.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I have long been an admirer of yours, but I never thought I'd be writing to you. Perhaps I can help "Desperate," the middle-aged woman who felt that she was close to insanity because her husband was having an affair. May I try? I know how she feels because I have been there. You have some good years left. Use them. If you have an education, use it. If you haven't, get one, and get it in something marketable and suitable for an older person. Hospitals and social services are begging for qualified help, and you don't have to be a cutie in a miniskirt to get a job either. Help people in mental institutions. Don't end up in one.

Stiffen your backbone. Condition yourself not to care too much about what your husband is doing, you can't do anything about it anyway. But learn to care for something YOU can change. Yourself. Hate him if you must. Sometimes hate provides the push that love cannot.

And while I have your ear, Abby, I want to tell you that you once gave the best advice I ever had: "If you act like a doormat, expect people to walk on you."

Well, I was, and they did. But not anymore.

Troop Strength In Thai Drops

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — U.S. troop strength in Thailand has dropped by 4,200 men since September as part of President Nixon's policy of reducing overseas forces, the U.S. Embassy said today.

The embassy said there are now 43,800 American troops in Thailand. Another 1,800 men are scheduled to be withdrawn by June.

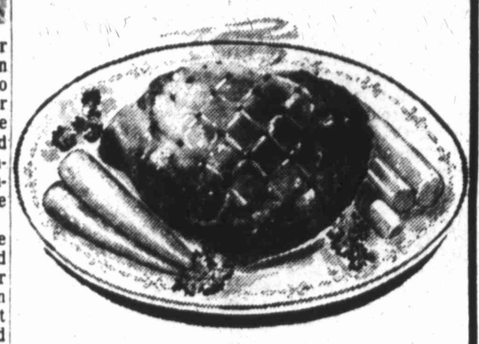

The spokesman said 3,300 of the men withdrawn since September were Air Force personnel.

'Hot' Numbers?

PARIS (AP) — Fire broke out in the workrooms and storage area of Pierre Cardin's boutique for men's fashions today, destroying a large part of the spring-summer collection.

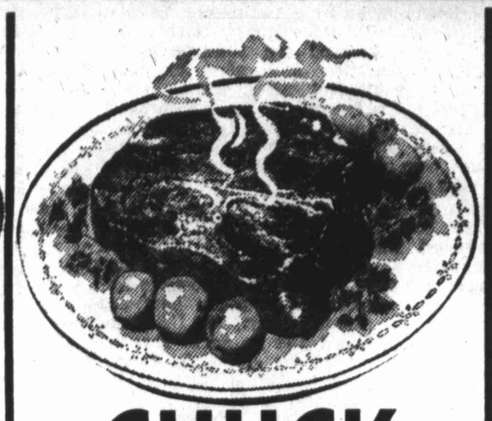

Cardin looked pale and haggard as he surveyed the scene. "I have nothing to say, but it's serious," he said.

Sullivan Tapes Show At Brooke

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Ed Sulivan, live and in color, brought his show to Brooke Army Medical Center Tuesday.

Accompanied by comedians Marty Allen, and George Kirby and singing stars Nancy Ames and Buck Owens, Sullivan taped the show for viewing on Easter Sunday.

Half of the Easter show was filmed earlier at the Army's Fitzsimmons General Hospital in Denver, Colo.

Most of the patients who saw the show, complete with performers, crewmen, equipment and cue cards, are veterans of Vietnam.

Broken Teeth Technique New

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Two dentists, Drs. Andrew and John Michanowicz, say they have developed a technique for repairing broken teeth similar to the method for rejoining the broken pieces of an arm or leg bone.

If dentists encounter broken roots and severed nerves in a tooth normally they extract it.

But the brothers say their 12-year-study has shown that if the crown of the tooth is splinted in place over the fractured root for one to three weeks the pieces will fuse in most cases, leaving a norma' tooth.

The brothers say their experiments on numerous patients have proved 75 per cent successful.

Italian Cookery Comes Easy For The Lady From Boston

MRS. WILLIAM L. BELL JR.

By JO BRIGHT

The warmth and vitality for which Italian women are traditionally famous was inherited by Mrs. William L. Bell Jr., 2804 Ann, whose home has an "open door" — and a hostess who is happiest when she cooks for guests.

The guests count themselves lucky when their invitations are for dinner, for Mrs. Bell's circle of friends has come to appreciate and anticipate her stuffed lasagna, veal parmigiana, chicken Tetrazzini and baked egg plant parmigiana. Before dinner, as guests relax with small talk in the comfortable den, appetites are whetted by gusty aromas wafting from her kitchen.

Most women are hesitant to try Italian cookery (thinking it too complicated and time-consuming) but Mrs. Bell carries it off with flair, remaining unhurried, unharried and unruffled. The secret? She prepares many things ahead of time — and her Italian heritage makes entertaining more fun than "fuss."

"My father was from the old school," said Mrs. Bell. "He expected certain meals at certain times. I bet I could walk into my mother's house today and know exactly what I'd be served for dinner!"

Mrs. Bell's mother is Mrs. Catherine Nigro, who was born in Boston of Italian parents, and her father, the late Aniello Nigro, was born just outside Naples in a little province called Avaleno.

"Father came to the United States with his family when he was six years old, and his given name was soon Americanized to 'Neal,'" continued Mrs. Bell. "They settled in the north end of Boston, where most all the Italian immigrants went at that time."

After his marriage, Mr. Nigro formed a company which did road construction, and the couple moved to Revere, Mass., just outside of Boston, where their four daughters were born.

"Mother, of course, never worked outside her home," mused Mrs. Bell. "You know, in those days, a man was looked down upon if he was not able to support his wife and family. But how she worked at home! Like most Italian women, she kept her table set constantly, and there was always something on it to serve people who came in at all hours of the day.

"Remember, I told you she cooked on schedule? Well, every Tuesday and Thursday nights, she served spaghetti, just as my father wanted, and on Sunday nights, she cooked some special kind of pasta like ravioli or stuffed lasagna. It never varied, so I grew up always knowing what we were going to eat by the day of the week."

After high school graduation, Mrs. Bell (Dorothy) entered nurses training at what was then the Massachusetts Memorial Hospital. It is now affiliated with the University of Boston. She is now head nurse on the surgical ward at the Veterans Administration Hospital where her husband is laboratory supervisor.

"We go to Boston every other year," said Mrs. Bell. "My mother really introduced William to Italian cooking, so he loves it, too. The only reason I don't cook it more often is it's so darned fattening."

Because some Italian products are not available here, Mrs. Bell has worked out suitable substitutions for several recipes. For instance, drained cottage cheese can take the place of ricotta, and hard salami can be used instead of prosciutto, which is an Italian ham. If Italian sausage is not obtainable, Mexican sausage serves almost as well.

"I really can't cook many things — such as ham or roast — and have them turn out well," claims Mrs. Bell who says her husband does the outdoor cooking on their gas grill. He keeps them supplied with dove and quail during season, and one of his hunting companions provided this recipe which Mrs. Bell uses often for quail.

TASTY QUAIL

Place about two dozen cleaned quail in baking dish, and cover with a can of mushroom soup. "Drop in" a stick of butter and dash of Worcestershire sauce. Sprinkle with one tablespoon dried minced onion, salt and pepper. Cover with one can sliced peaches. Cover with foil and bake at 350 degrees for an hour, or little more. Serve with rice.

"We don't eat much dove," noted Mrs. Bell, "but when we do, it is sprinkled with salt and pepper, wrapped in bacon, then covered with foil and baked at 350 degrees for a little over an hour."

Like her husband, Mrs. Bell is a golfer, and when weather is good, she and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Bob Bell, try to play 18 holes on weekends. During winter months, the Bells like to relax at home with small dinner parties. If the main dish is Italian, Mrs. Bell usually complements it with crusty garlic or cheese bread and a tossed green salad. Their favorite salad combines Romaine, leaf and iceberg lettuce and other greens such as celery and green onions. The only color is provided by ripe olives, and it is flavored with salt, pepper, garlic-flavored wine vinegar and a little oregano.

RECOMMENDED RECIPES

Favorites Of Mrs. W. C. Bell

ITALIAN TOMATO SAUCE

3 tbsp. olive oil
3 large cloves garlic
3 large cans tomatoes
3 small cans Italian tomato paste
3 basil leaves, crumpled
1 tsp. Italian seasoning
1 tsp. salt
Sprinkling of dried, crushed red pepper

Brown garlic in olive oil, then remove garlic from oil and discard. Add remaining ingredients, and stir well. Cover and simmer three hours. (The longer the sauce simmers, the better it will taste.) Makes about 2½ quarts. (Mrs. Bell says the secret of good sauce is meat that is cooked in it. Such as, one stick of pepperoni simmered with the sauce gives it an excellent taste, or you could lightly brown one pound of Italian-style sausages then add them to the sauce while it simmers. The meat is discarded after the sauce is cooked.)

VEAL PARMIGIANA

1 cup bread crumbs
¾ cup grated Parmesan cheese
3 lbs. veal, sliced thin
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 cup chopped onion
2 tbsps. olive oil

Intellectual Refreshment

BOSTON (AP) — Every five to seven years, major businesses should give their executives a summer off with full pay to return to college for "a period of intellectual refreshment," the president-elect of Dartmouth College says.

Dr. John G. Kemeny told Boston alumni of the school Wednesday night that such leave "with a silnificant educational subsidy . . . would enable the executive to participate in an eight-week intensive learning and rethinking experience."

"Civilization is moving too rapidly for even 20 years of education to assure a man that he is prepared for life," Kemeny said. "The pace and pressures of modern life are so great that each man needs a period for intellectual refreshment and for rethinking his view of the world."

HEADING FOR CASTRO'S SUGAR CANE FIELDS — Youths leave Old West Church in Boston yesterday for bus trip to Calais, Maine, where they hope to cross into Canada and continue journey to St. John, N.B., to make connections with a freighter that will carry them to Cuba. One young girl said she was going to help farmers cut sugar cane.

Hundreds Of Americans To Cut Cane For Castro

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (AP) — Hundreds of young Americans converged on New Brunswick's chief port today to board a Cuban freighter which will take them to cut sugar cane for Fidel Castro.

A spokesman, Bruce Jacobs of New York, said their purpose was "an act of solidarity with the Cuban revolution" and to protest "Yankee imperialism."

The ship, the Luis Marcos Bergnes, was returning 212 other young Americans who had been helping with the cane harvest since November. Port officials said the freighter had been riding out a storm in the Bay of Fundy and was expected to arrive during the afternoon.

CHARTERED BUSES

The first busload of 43 youths crossed the Maine-New Brunswick border at 12:30 a.m. at St. Stephen, 85 miles west of Saint John. An estimated 600 young people from cities as far away as Seattle and San Francisco had assembled in Boston, and chartered buses carried them through Maine during the night.

Sugar is Cuba's major export crop, and Castro has proclaimed a goal of 10 million tons this year. But the harvest last year is believed to have totaled less than five million tons, and Castro admitted in a speech Monday night the current harvest has run into trouble because of bad weather and delays in getting equipment to the fields.

WE SHALL OVERCOME

Calling themselves the Venceremos—or We Shall Overcome—Brigade, the young people were openly admitting their destination after several days of claiming they were going to Saint John to ski. A spokesman in Boston said they had been afraid U.S. border officials would try to stop them.

A State Department spokesman in Washington said the U.S. government can do nothing about Americans traveling to Cuba since the Supreme Court ruled the right to travel cannot be restricted.

UP TIGHT

"The kids were all up tight," said Jacobs. "They were scared and made up some story about where they were going and why."

He said the youths had been instructed to tell Canadian immigration officials "the truth—their destination and the purpose of their trip."

Canadian immigration officials said that as long as the travelers were honest about their intentions, there would be no difficulty in crossing the border.

Jacobs said the brigade members were paying their own way to Saint John, but none of the youths would answer questions about the source of their funds. Presumably the Cuban government is supplying the ship.

The youths returning today on the Luis Marcos Bergnes went to Cuba by plane by way of Mexico City.

Defense Attorneys Due To Complete Arguments

CHICAGO (AP) — Defense attorneys in the Chicago conspiracy trial are expected to complete their closing arguments today, paving the way for a U.S. District Court jury to begin deliberations by the weekend.

A two-hour rebuttal by the chief prosecutor, probably on Friday, is one of the last main steps remaining before Judge Julius J. Hoffman gives his instructions to the jury which has been hearing the case since Sept. 24.

The seven defendants are charged with conspiring to incite rioting at the time of the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

Leonard I. Weinglass, one of two defense lawyers, told the jury Wednesday the prosecution could not find "one good, decent human being" to support its case.

With three exceptions, he said, the government based its case solely on the testimony of policemen, city officials, and FBI and intelligence agents.

"Doesn't the government have the obligation to present the whole truth?" Weinglass asked.

"We brought before you housewives, convention delegates, legislators, civil rights leaders, police officers, authors, newsmen, attorneys, academicians, clergymen, performers, poets, a nurse and a physician," Weinglass told the jury.
