Gets 10 years

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — A La Feria teenager has been sentenced to 10 years in prison for the murder of a 13-year-old girl strangled in the back seat of his car.

Daniel Kuhlke, 19, could be out of prison within two years, said Rick Lara, an assistant Cameron County district attorney who had sought a stiffer sentence.

Defense attorney Randall Frieble said Friday's guilty verdict was not a victory, but that the sentence a jury returned Monday in the 197th District Court could have been far worse.

Kuhlke faced up to 99 years for the June 1990 murder of Anna Robles. He was charged with four other youths from La Feria in the girl's slaying.

Prosecutors alleged that companions used Kuhlke's bandanna to strangle Miss Robles in the back seat of Kuhlke's car.

Allied warplanes blast Iraqi convoy

DHAHRAN, Saudi Arabia (AP) — Allied warplanes blasted an Iraqi convoy in central Kuwait overnight, and demolished a government ministry in Baghdad today that is led by Saddam Hussein's cousin.

American pilots on "Scud patrol" claimed they destroyed up to four Iraqi missile launchers in western Iraq. U.S. officials said. Still, Israel was hit with one missile early today launched from that region.

In an unusual step, Iraq also disclosed nearly 100 air raids on military targets in southern Iraq and Kuwait. Normally, such attacks are not mentioned in the daily military communiqués read on Baghdad radio.

President Bush said Monday that the allies will continue the air assault, taking "whatever time is necessary" to lay the groundwork for a land war.

Four explosions rocked the center of Baghdad during the night, jolting people from their beds and shattering windows in residential areas, AP correspondent Salah Nasrawi reported from the Iraqi capital.

Rockets from allied aircraft ripped through the ministry building, which is in charge of governing Kuwait, killing six people, including one child, and wounding 17 people, Iraqi civil defense officials said. Reporters taken to the site six hours later saw flames rising from the wreckage.

The Local Government Ministry is headed by Ali Hassan al-Majid, a cousin and close aide to Saddam. Al-Majid did not appear to be in the complex.

The Baghdad government claimed that civilian targets including a maternity hospital and nursery were hit in the latest round of allied raids.

Peace activist Ramsey Clark, a former attorney general who visited Iraq last week, says allied bombs have killed an estimated 6,000 to 7,000 Iraqi civilians. He told a New York news conference Monday that his figures came from the head of Iraq's Red Crescent, the Muslim equivalent of the Red Cross.

Iraq has said thousands of civilians have been killed.

Resolution request for fund loan ok'd in council meeting

Snyder City Council took the first step in securing financing for the city's $4 million wastewater treatment facility Monday night during its February meeting at City Hall.

The council approved a resolution requesting a state revolving fund loan from the Texas Water Development Board.

The city presently has two similar loans for water and sewage lines to Price Daniel Unit.

In a work session last week, the city's financial advisor, Joe Smith of First Southwest Co. of Abilene, told the council the resolution was mandatory for the loan application to fund the facility through the Texas Water Development Board.

The application for the 20-year loan will go before the TWDB March 21. The loan will require the city to charge a user's fee for sewage services based on the amount of water used.

Construction on the new facility is expected to begin in 1992.

Terry Bilderback of the city's Lubbock-based engineering firm Parkhill, Smith and Cooper, updated the council on plans for the new facility and presented a video concerning the construction. He said the engineering plan has been approved by TWDB.

Mr. Bilderback also gave a brief update on the city's water line replacement project. He reported that some 13,000 feet of water line will be replaced.

In a related informational item, the council was told rehabilitation of water lines is scheduled to begin in March.

The city entered into a contract late last year with In Place Linings Inc., a Fort Worth company that leases equipment to (see COUNCIL, page 10)

Charges may be filed against inmate

Aggravated assault charges are expected to be filed against a Price Daniel Unit inmate involved in an altercation with two other inmates over the weekend.

Warden Les Woods said the prison would actively pursue charges against the inmate.

Two inmates were transported to the Cogdell Hospital emergency room by Snyder EMS following the incident involving a razor blade which occurred about 5 p.m. Sunday.

One inmate received about 24 stitches to his face, and a second inmate also received cuts to his head. Both inmates were returned to the unit following treatment.

Officials are still unsure of the razor blade's origin or what led to the confrontation.

WTC trustees approve bids, discuss enrollment numbers

Western Texas College trustees approved bids for a riding rotary mower and a triplex reel mower, riding out front rotary mower. The equipment will be used for general mowing.

Also approved was a bid of $9,999 from Jacobson Turf and Commercial for a gasoline powered triplex reel mower. The mower will be used for mowing the intramural field and other selected areas.

Both mowers had been budgeted for the current year.

Trustees then okayed a small class report and listened to a report concerning enrollment and contact hours from Bettie McQueen, dean of instruction.

The report indicated that while enrollment is 1,097 for the spring semester compared to a three-year average of 1,140, total contact hours are up slightly. Contact hours are at 241,104 for the spring, 1991 semester, compared to 238,229 for a three-year average.

The board approved a bid of $6,860 from Watson Distributing Co., Inc. for a diesel powered riding out front rotary mower. The equipment will be used for general mowing.

Among the areas increasing the most in contact hours was Golf/Landscape Technology, up to 18,304 this semester compared to a 13,819 over the past three years.

It was also reported in Monday's meeting that WTC's extension in Crosbyton has had a demand to offer nursing prerequisites and will do so beginning in the summer.

Dr. Harry Krennek, college president, outlined a mandate from the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board, concerning a procedure outline for trustee development. The development plan is to insure trustees are aware of legal and budgetary responsibilities, board ethics and procedures.

The board also approved previous minutes and January's financial report.

Trustees present for the meeting were Bob Hargrove, Bill Wilson Jr., R.C. Patton, John Fagin, Howard Sterling and Carl Williams. John Gayle was absent.

SISD ponders 7-period day, Humble-Smith during session

Snyder Public Schools board of trustees discussed seven-period school days, needs at Humble-Smith School and academic excellence indicators during a workshop Monday.

The session also previewed items for the February open board meeting, set for 7 p.m. Thursday. The board will first meet in executive session at 4:30 p.m. to discuss principals' evaluations, personnel reassignments and the appointment of an assistant director of maintenance.

Barbara Granato, director of special programs, and Lawton Taylor, director of maintenance, spoke before the board Monday concerning several needs pertaining to special education. They pointed out that the recently purchased special programs bus is already at full capacity and that an extra bus route is needed. Mrs. Granato also told the board that an additional aide was needed for Early Childhood, which consists of three- and four-year-olds.

Special programs are currently serving 346 students, up from 241 in December of 1988 and 282 in December of 1989.

Superintendent Dalton Moseley said that employment of a full-time aide, and a part-time aide for the extra bus route, will be placed on Thursday's agenda for the board's consideration.

Also discussed was a lack of storage space at Humble-Smith. Taylor told the board that a maximum figure for a storage building would be $1,300, but that he felt a porch at the school could be enclosed and used for storage at a cost of several hundred dollars.

A computer terminal for Humble-Smith will also be considered at Thursday's meeting. The equipment and necessary cable to connect it to the administration building would cost between $2,000 and $3,000. Trustees were told that a terminal at Humble-Smith would cut the computer workload of Lavada Cates, secretary to the superintendent, by 50 percent.

In other workshop discussion, Moseley recommended against going to a seven-period school day at Snyder High School in September and asked the board to consider paying "zero hour" instructors and department heads $1,000 for teaching an additional class. "Zero hour" (prior (see SISD, page 10)

A comment a few days ago about birthdays prompted one Snyder man to tell us a story, on the condition that we not use his name.

It happened several years ago when the man's daughter was still in high school. The daughter came home one evening with a stray puppy.

The dad was firm. She couldn't keep the dog, and he used the fact that she already had a dog that she didn't pay attention to or care for properly.

The daughter swelled up, but the father stood pat on his decision. Two days later, ole dad had a birthday, and the daughter thoughtfully gave Pop the puppy for his birthday.

"I had no choice but to keep it."

The puppy stayed around for a few more years.

The daughter then had a financial crisis, and the daughter had an idea. Ole softee dad bought the puppy from the daughter.

That's how you can always tell a married man...he replaces money in his wallet with pictures of his kids and grandkids.

Study: women less likely to survive heart attack

DALLAS (AP) — A new study shows that women who suffer heart attacks are almost twice as likely to die before leaving the hospital than men admitted with the same condition.

Heart attack, the leading killer of American women, tends to strike females when they are older and have more health problems, said Dr. Philip

Greenland, whose study appears in the February issue of the Dallas-based American Heart Association's journal "Circulation."

Greenland spent last year at Tel Aviv University analyzing data compiled by Israeli researchers who studied more than 5,800 heart attack patients hospitalized between 1981 and 1983.

The study, released Monday, involved 4,315 men and 1,524 women who had suffered heart attacks, and found that 23 percent of the women and 16 percent of the men died during their initial hospital stay.

After researchers made adjustments for the ages of men and women studied, they found no significant differences in death rates when comparing heart rhythm and whether the patients had previous heart attacks.

But women with diabetes tended to have a greater chance of dying than men who also had diabetes, said Greenland, an associate professor of medicine at the University of Rochester School of Medicine.

"We understand that diabetes can lead to changes in the heart muscles, but what's very peculiar is why this can lead to such difference in women as opposed to men," he said.

The women in Greenland's study also had a higher incidence of heart failure than the men.

"We know that heart failure at the time of heart attack is usually a consequence of cumulative heart damage," Greenland said.

Some evidence suggests that women and diabetics are more prone to "silent ischemia," a recently discovered condition in which part of the heart muscle starves for blood and yet doesn't cause pain.

"One theory is that the women with heart failure had had previous heart attacks without feeling them," Greenland said.

Greenland said the study is more significant than previous efforts — which produced contradictory conclusions — because a larger statistical sampling was used.

Dr. Richard Becker, associate director of the Coronary Care Unit at the University of Massachusetts, said the new study is credible because of the large sampling and the researchers involved.

Becker also said the report is consistent with some recent studies conducted in the United States.

Speaker: statewide property tax is no longer option

AUSTIN (AP) — A statewide property tax for schools is so unpopular it is no longer being considered in the House to reform public education funding, Speaker Gib Lewis said.

But the school finance alternatives being considered are variations on the same concept, Lewis said Monday. Other proposals would set a minimum local property tax rate and redistribute some of the revenue from rich to poor school districts.

"Whatever we have will be some variation" on the statewide property tax, said Lewis, D-Fort Worth. "It's not a subterfuge. You just try to find out what's going to be able to sell."

A statewide property tax to replace local property levies for schools initially was backed by state leaders as the top option to meet a Texas Supreme Court order to provide equitable funding to poor school districts.

However, groups including the Texas Association of School Boards opposed the idea.

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My 75-year-old brother suffered a stroke in July 1988. He has right-sided weakness and manages with the help of his wife. What is his prognosis, and what can we expect? The doctor mentions seizures and indicates he will never get any better.

DEAR READER: Following a stroke, most patients reach the peak of their recovery within six to 12 months. A stroke causes death and dysfunction of nerve tissue, often leading to speech difficulties and partial (or total) paralysis.

Programs of rehabilitation, including speech training and physical therapy, may help stroke patients achieve more independence by "re-educating" muscles to compensate for the damage caused by the stroke. However, there is a limit to the degree of recovery. Your brother has apparently reached his limit.

Provided he doesn't have another stroke — a definite risk for most stroke patients — your brother will probably remain about as he is now. Of course, you have to take into account the fact that he, like the rest of us, will progressively weaken with age; age-related weakness can cause problems for stroke patients because they're already weaker to begin with.

Seizures can sometimes follow strokes, especially during the acute phase when brain damage is most severe. However, if your brother is seizure-free now, he is likely to remain so. Again, the major factor to consider is the risk of another stroke, which makes prognosis difficult. Your brother should follow his doctor's advice regarding periodic examinations — and continue to be as active as he can.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a 75-year-old male about to have prostate surgery. I attended a seminar by a urologist who indicated he preferred to operate by giving spinal anesthesia. I know of two different cases where a patient suffered memory loss after a spinal. How is a spinal given, and what might one expect from it? Why isn't general anesthesia given for prostate surgery?

DEAR READER: Spinal anesthetic is injected into the spinal canal. Once the anesthetic has been administered, the patient is positioned so that the appropriate part of the lower body is adequately numbed before surgery. Spinal anesthesia is as effective as general anesthesia, during which patients are put to sleep — and is safer.

The major complications of general anesthesia (respiratory problems and heart irregularities) can be fatal; however, they rarely, if ever, occur during spinal anesthesia. I am not aware that memory loss — indeed, any brain damage — results from spinal anesthesia; such an event would be a highly unlikely consequence, as spinal anesthesia does not affect the brain and patients remain awake and alert. Spinal anesthesia has been safely used for years in women giving birth or having gynecological surgery.

General anesthesia can be used for prostate surgery, usually because some patients feel less apprehensive being put to sleep during surgery. However, spinal anesthesia is preferable. Follow your urologist's (and anesthesiologist's) advice. If properly administered, spinal anesthesia is free of side effects, and you'll feel better during the immediate recovery period because you won't have to fight your way back to consciousness, experience nausea or run the risk of cardiorespiratory side effects. Furthermore, the risks of general anesthesia increase proportionately to the patient's age.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "An Informed Approach To Surgery." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their names and addresses to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

UW hears valentine program

The University Women met Tuesday at the Martha Ann Woman's Club for their regular dinner meeting with Peggy English, vice-president, conducting the business session.

Francene Noah, secretary-treasurer, reported that the second semester WTC scholarship for Diana Espinosa will be sent to the college soon.

Decorations, using the valentine motif, were furnished by the hostess, Melinda Owens. Shirley Leftwich, guest, received the hostess gift. Other guests were Joann Snider and Betty Thompson.

Following the meal, the group traveled to the Scurry County Museum where they were enlightened on the history of valentines by Shirley Leftwich. In her program entitled "Valentine Tradition and Their Origins in Europe," she displayed and explained items dating back to the 1890s. She said that all the exhibit items in display had been donated to the museum.

UW members were especially interested in the red, white and blue colored valentines made during the war years. They noticed the most common verse through-out the exhibit was the familiar "roses are red, violets are blue, etc.," but, there were some cards that were considered "vinegar" due to the uncomplimentary verses. Today's verses are not as cruel as the "vinegar" period, Mrs. Leftwich told the group, the earlier cards were for adults, the children's cards came into being at a much later date.

The organization's next meeting will be at 6 p.m. March 6 at the Martha Ann Woman's Club for a book review by Deanie Mills with chairperson to be Janice Mitchell and hostess to be Ruth McBeth.

Stormy marriage was far stormier

NEW YORK (AP) — Was the marriage of Desi Arnaz and Lucille Ball really as strained as the TV movie made it out to be? Friends and colleagues say it was far stormier.

The observations by people who knew the actors appeared in the Feb. 18 issue of People magazine.

They said the couple's relationship was torn by alcoholism, infidelities and bitter arguments, but Arnaz and Ball loved each other, even after their divorce in 1960.

Sunday night's CBS movie "Lucy and Desi: Before the Laughter" offered some contrast between the happy-go-lucky Ricardos of "I Love Lucy" and the real-life couple. People who knew them say the contrast was far greater.

Not wanting to lead into declarer's known spade suit, West made the neutral lead of the nine of hearts. South might have won the first trick with the heart 10, but realized that if he did so, he would have no entries to dummy, so he won with the ace. South next cashed the ace of diamonds and was surprised to see the king fall.

Declarer realized that East was long in the red suits, so he decided to try for club tricks by smothering some of East's significant club spot-cards. He played king of clubs, won by West with the ace as East played the eight. West played another heart, won in dummy, and the seven of clubs was played to East's 10 and declarer's jack. West allowed this to hold. Declarer played another club, and West won and exited with a low club back to declarer's six-spot.

Declarer felt he had a count on the East hand (nine cards in the red suits and a doubleton club), so he cashed the queen of diamonds and played ace of spades and a low spade. He hoped that East would have to win the trick and lead back into dummy. But West played the nine of spades, keeping his partner off lead. But now West had to lead from K-10-4 of spades into declarer's Q-J-5, and South scored two more tricks to make his contract. The play had been an interesting duel between South and West, finally won by South because he held the five of spades.

SCS Notes

By Michael Squires,
Range Conservationist

It's the time of year for many producers to prepare their land for the next crop. The cotton has been stripped, stalks cut, and plans for next year are underway. Some of this preparation includes rebuilding or constructing new terraces. The Snyder SCS office has a new instrument for use in laying out terrace lines. The Laserplane, as it is called, is an automated electronic level that can be used anywhere that the line of sight is not obstructed by trees or other obstacles.

The Laserplane emits a beam of light in a 360 degree radius. This beam is read by a remote sensor which is attached to a Philadelphia rod used in surveying. The accuracy of the instrument is much more consistent because it is not subject to the errors of the human eye. There are many advantages of using this type of machine over the standard level.

Mark McDaniel, soil conservation technician, says he feels the greatest advantage comes in the form of time savings. With this new level, one person is able to layout, check, or modify any existing line. We also have the capability to run two remote sensors at the same time. Each year, well over 300,000 feet of new terrace lines are constructed in Scurry County and the biggest factor against us is time. We need to have these lines marked for the producer so that he can build the terraces and have enough time to get the field bedded and planted. We hope that by utilizing the Laserplane we can facilitate the actual time spent in the field constructing new lines.

The Laserplane lends itself more readily for terrace layouts but it may also be used for ponds, diversions and virtually any practice where elevation readings are needed. The Upper Colorado SWCD was instrumental in obtaining the Laserplane for the field office. The SWCD applied for and received a grant from the state to help defray the cost of the Laserplane, stated Charlie Henderson, chairman. The Upper Colorado SWCD and the local SCS office are always striving to find better ways to offer the highest quality assistance to our local producers.

NOTE: Programs and services of the Soil Conservation Service are offered on a non-discriminatory basis without regard for race, color, national origin, age, sex, religion, marital status or handicap.

You may help to control your high blood pressure by eating less salt. It's not that difficult to select low-salt foods when you know what the right choices are.

Replace the salt shaker on your table with one of the commercial herb blends. These products are available in the spice and herb section of the grocery stores.

Skip the cold cuts and hot dogs at lunch. Instead, try plain sliced turkey, chicken, or lean roast beef, pork or lamb.

Rediscover fresh or unsalted frozen vegetables instead of canned ones. If you have to use canned foods in a pinch, drain the liquid and rinse the vegetables to remove some of the salt.

Producer meeting

There will be a meeting to discuss the 1991 farm program on Tuesday, Feb. 19, beginning at 7 p.m.

The meeting will be held in the Fine Arts Theatre on the campus of Western Texas College.

Not all details of the 1991 Farm Program are available, however, the information provided should help with preliminary plans. Worksheets and examples of the different options available will be provided.

Year reviews

Those notified to provide items such as leases, bills, cancelled checks, equipment lists, crop settlement sheets and other data need to get the information to the ASCS office as soon as possible.

This is a spot check to determine that producers are "actively engaged in farming" and have followed their farm operating plan.

Anyone who has been selected and has not furnished the requested information must do so now. Final payments will be held up until the ASCS completes the review.

March

- 4 Farm Program sign-up begins

ASCS Report

By Joe Hefner
County Executive Director

Secretary of Agriculture Clayton Yeutter announced the 1991 Acreage Reduction Program sign-up will be March 4 through April 26, and the 10th Conservation Reserve Program sign-up will be March 4 through March 15.

"Under new CRP program provisions, bids on eligible land will be accepted based on environmental benefits obtained per dollar of cost to USDA's Commodity Credit Corporation," Yeutter said.

Yeutter cautioned producers that they should not rely on bid amounts which have been accepted in previous years when making their bids. "In past signups, there was a high expectation that a producer could rely on no change occurring with respect to the bid amounts which would be accepted," he said. "Producers who wish to enroll in the CRP should be aware there is increased competition."

Land eligibility requirements will be expanded from past signups to include not only highly erodible land, but also other cropland acres that reduce the impairment of water quality or improve wellhead protection. "Wellheads are sources of water for municipalities," Yeutter said. "We expect to accept bids for protection of these wellheads as well as areas designated by states as '319 areas,' which have been determined to be a source of water quality problems."

Yeutter said bids for enrolling wetlands will not be accepted during this signup.

CRP bids will be accepted only for contracts beginning in 1991 and bid acceptance determinations will be made after a nationwide review and evaluation. Selection will be based on the environmental benefits received from placing the land in the CRP when compared to dollars of cost. Yeutter said producers will be permitted to enter the same acreage simultaneously into the annual commodity programs and the CRP, and to withdraw from the commodity programs, without penalty, if their CRP bid is accepted.

USDA needs 30 days to evaluate and accept a bid but acceptance is not binding on either the producer or USDA until the contract is signed.

Fifty percent cost-share assistance will continue to be available to establish needed permanent vegetative cover, including trees, on the accepted acres.

Annual rental payments for 10 years also will be paid to CRP participants, based upon their bid, except in some limited cases, such as hardwood tree planting, where a longer period may apply.

Further details will be made available to producers in the near future through the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service offices.

Tigers finish cage season at Dunbar

The Snyder Tigers will wind up the 1991 basketball season tonight in Lubbock against the Dunbar Panthers.

The Tigers are coming off a Friday home loss to playoff bound Levelland, 48-42, while Dunbar tries to rebound from a 62-48 loss at the hands of Estacado its last time out.

Snyder is currently 16-14 on the year and 2-7 in District 2-4A competition while Dunbar sports marks of 10-17 and 2-7.

The last time the two teams met Snyder posted a 59-48 victory behind junior Hayward Clay's 22 points and 15 from senior Ed Rios.

Rios and fellow seniors Billy Tratree and Carlton Sanders will play their final basketball game for SHS against the Panthers tonight.

In their home finale Friday, Snyder fell victim to what has been called Levelland's "blue-collar" defense which shut down the Tigers strong inside game featuring Clay, Rios and junior Jeff Wortham.

Forced to go to the perimeter, the Tigers' shots didn't fall, and although the defense gave up under 50 points, Snyder dropped its seventh loop game of the season.

In other district games tonight, undefeated Lamesa is at Levelland in a contest pitting the loop's two post-season representatives, and Estacado is at Frenship.

The SHS-Dunbar varsity game tips off tonight at 8 p.m., immediately following the JV's 6:30 p.m. battle.

Baseball practice game...

Snyder entertains Mustangs

The Snyder baseball Tigers begin their 1991 season today with a 4:30 p.m. scrimmage with old District 4-4A rival Sweetwater at Moffett Field.

The Tigers, now a member of District 2-4A along with Frenship, Lamesa, Levelland, Lubbock Estacado and Lubbock Dunbar, return a core of proven performers to the 1991 campaign.

Coach Albert Lewis, in his 30th season at Snyder High School,

Levelland, Lamesa advance in playoffs

CANYON — The girls District 2-4A champion Levelland Loboettes used a strong second-half effort to drop Pampa, 52-32, in the bi-district round of the Class 4A basketball playoffs Monday night.

Lamesa, which entered post-season play as the runner-up to Levelland, upset District 1 champion and No. 5 ranked Canyon Randall in Plainview Monday, 63-53.

The Loboettes were led by All-state post Tylana Harrison who shot 11-of-18 from the field on her way to 23 points and snatched 14 rebounds.

Levelland, ranked No. 6 statewide going into the game, outscored the Lady Harvesters in every quarter taking a 16-8 lead after one period, a 24-15 advantage at the half, and a 38-21 lead after three stanzas.

The game improves the Levelland record on the season to 28-3 and puts the Loboettes in the area round of competition against District 3's second-place team, San Angelo Lake View.

The Lake View Maidens had a bye in the bi-district round.

Lamesa's Saresa Butler led the Lady Tors with 25 points and 15 boards versus No. 5 Randall Monday.

Lamesa jumps to 22-6 on the campaign and begins gearing up for an area matchup against District 3 champ Sweetwater later in the week.

The Lady Tors outscored Randall, 21-8, in the final five minutes of the third period to come from behind and claim a 52-41 advantage.

4-5A girls tilt planned here

Odessa Permian and Abilene High will battle at 7:30 p.m. tonight at Scurry County Coliseum for top seeding in the upcoming Class 5A girls basketball playoffs.

The Lady Panthers and the Lady Eagles each boast an 11-1 District 4-5A record.

Abilene comes into tonight's battle with a 25-4 season record. Permian's mark for the capaign is 23-6.

The two teams met just last Tuesday with Permian gouging out a 66-50 victory behind Anita Wright's 20 points.

Abilene's La Keita Richardson led the Lady Eagles with 17 against PHS.

The AHS girls enjoyed an open date Friday while Permian was blasting Midland High, 64-42, to wind up the regular season.

The winner of tonight's contest will face the second-place team in District 3-5A, Amarillo Tascosa, while the loser takes on Plainview, the 3-5A champ.

Admission to tonight's game is $3 for adults and $2 for students

WTC corrals Broncos, 119-95

By PHIL RIDDLE
SDN Sports Editor

The Western Texas College Westerners went on a bombing raid Monday night, hitting a team-total 13 3-point field goals to dismantle the Broncos of New Mexico Military Institute, 119-95, in a Western Junior College Athletic Conference cage battle.

In all, five Westerners were successful from long range.

Sophomore Paul Johnson connected on five threes followed by Michael Richardson's four, two by Jeff Shelley and one apiece from freshmen Chad Landrum and Tracy Brazier.

The 13 treys in a game is four short of the WTC team record of 17 set against Cedar Valley College early in the 1990-91 basketball season.

Bernard Williams holds the individual mark with 10 in a game at Pratt College in the 1988-89 campaign.

"Some nights when we need them we can't get them, but tonight we were hitting the three," said WTC head coach Tony Mauldin.

"I thought we also had a good defensive game, in spurts. Offensively we shot the ball better than we have been."

The Broncos' Tony Ellington, leading the WJCAC in scoring with over 24 points per game, didn't hurt his average against the Westerners knocking down 38 points on 15 buckets and an 8-of-12 performance from the free-throw line.

"Well, to be honest, we just wanted to play a good solid defensive game," said Mauldin of Ellington's output.

"He's a good player who will get his points. We planned to just let him have his and then to turn it into a transition game because we didn't think they could keep up with us."

"We weren't so worried about what he got as we were the point differential between us and them."

The Broncos couldn't, in fact keep up with the running style of the Westerners last night.

Western Texas, now 14-11 on the season and 4-8 in league games, jumped to a 24-12 lead at the 11:42 mark in the opening half on an 8-0 run that featured back-to-back 3-pointers by Richardson and a dunk by WTC center Chris Hill.

Following the Westerners' initial surge, the result was never in doubt.

New Mexico Military narrowed the gap to 10 points on a basket by Ellington, but the Broncos were fighting from 15-18 points behind most of the night.

Golf tourney slated at SCC

The season-opening Groundhog Golf Tournament at Snyder Country Club is scheduled for Feb. 16-17.

Cost to enter the event is $60 per team and the field is limited to club members and their guests.

The 2-man scramble will begin with a 1 p.m. shotgun start both days.

For more information about the tournament contact pro Rick Mammolite at 573-7101.

NMMI, trailing 53-30 with 3:50 to go in the first after five straight points by Johnson for WTC, went on a short streak of seven unanswered points that drew the visitors to within 14 points at halftime, 54-40.

The Westerners fast-paced offense and harrassing defense kept the Broncos on their heels for the entire second half.

WTC moved to a 28-point advantage, its biggest of the night, 110-82, with just over three minutes remaining in the game when Richardson banged home a trey.

The free-throw stripe was a comfortable place for Western Texas on Monday. The Westerners converted 27 tries into 22 points from 15 feet away while NMMI struggled from the line making just 18-of-34.

Five WTC cagers wound up the night in double figures in scoring. Shelley led the squad with 28 points off 11 field goals, two of them threes, and a perfect 4-of-4 night from the line.

Ft. Worth sophomore Dominick Byrd poured in 23 on 10 baskets and three freebies.

Johnson added 19, Richardson contributed 18 and Hill put in 17.

Ellington's 38 led NMMI followed by Holland native Roy Kroese's 17 and 14 by Drew Douglas.

The Broncos fall to 8-16 and 2-10 after Monday's loss.

In other WJCAC mens' games last night, Howard slipped past Odessa, 91-88, Midland dropped Clarendon, 83-71, and South Plains whipped New Mexico JC, 86-73.

In womens' action Monday, No. 2 South Plains beat NMJC, 95-83, and Howard was upset by Odessa, 64-62.

The Lady Dusters of WTC were idle Monday.

They will return to the court, as will the Westerners, on Thursday against New Mexico JC at Scurry County Coliseum.

SO takes reports

Scurry County sheriff's office investigated rural vandalism and an apparent theft attempt Monday.

A deputy was called to the Lake J.B. Thomas at 10 a.m. where three signs had been struck and knocked down and a mailbox was found along the roadside.

Alex Alvarez reported at 9:40 p.m. a fence had been knocked down at an abandoned house in the Grey Hill addition and an attempt to take a butane tank was made.

The unemployment rate for Latin America in 1987 was 11.2 percent, according to the Inter-American Development Bank. The figures ranged from 3.7 percent in Brazil and 4.1 percent in Mexico, to 14 percent in Panama and 21.5 percent in Bolivia.

Bush realizes that recession is causing economic distress

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush acknowledged today that the country is in a recession that is causing "genuine economic distress," but he continued to forecast a short and mild downturn.

Bush used his second "Economic Report of the President" to preach the gospel of free-market economics instead of reliance on big government programs to get the economy growing again.

But he struck a more somber tone than he did in last year's edition, in which he had proclaimed the economy to be "in excellent health" with no recession on the horizon.

"The events of 1990 were a reminder that even a healthy economy can suffer shocks and short-term setbacks," Bush wrote in the introduction to this year's report, which was prepared by his three-member Council of Economic Advisors.

CEA Chairman Michael Boskin said the basic theme in this year's economic review was that the nation needed to "stick to policies that enhance long-term growth" and not try to battle the recession with temporary fixes that would make the deficit worse.

The administration has repeatedly voiced opposition to Democratic proposals for job-creating public works programs or cuts in the Social Security payroll tax.

Boskin, at a briefing on the 411-page report, told reporters that one major drag on the economy — higher oil prices — had already been eased with the drop in prices that accompanied the onset of the Persian Gulf War.

"Our outlook is that the economy, after a relatively brief and mild recession, will rebound by the middle of the year and resume its growth," Boskin said.

Asked if the administration were satisfied with the Federal Reserve's performance on interest rates, Boskin noted that rates had come down shortly after Bush called for lower rates in his State of the Union address on Jan. 29.

"We've been pleased that the Federal Reserve has begun to take some stronger steps to mitigate the downturn," Boskin said.

rehabilitate existing water lines with a cement lining.

Water line replacement and rehabilitation scheduled for 1991 will cost an estimated $320,000.

A bid of $19,920 from MWC of Stratton, Neb., was accepted for 80 three-yard dumpsters. The mmw dumpsters feature round galvanized bottoms.

Bids for a water truck were tabled and the council decided to discuss the possibility of leasing a truck from the county. The council will meet with county commissioners and county judge Feb. 28 to work out possible consolidation of city and county equipment.

equipment.

Passed on first reading was an amending ordinance relating to drilling within the city limits. The new amendment allows a drilling company to make a deposit with the city or secure an irrevocable letter of credit as options to be bonded.

In other business, the council authorized Mayor Troy Williamson to call a general election May 5.

Up for election will be two at-large seats held by Mike Thornton and Paul Zeck and the unexpired term of District 2, held by Jack Denman. The mayor is also up for re-election.

Feb. 18 will be the first day to file for application on a ballot.

Following the regular session, the council met in executive session to discuss insurance claims with the city's insurer IMR.

Present for the meeting were mayor Williamson, City Manager John Gayle, City Attorney Ernie Armstrong and council members Mike Thornton, Ernest Tippens, Jack Denman, Joe Coronado, Jackie Greene Jr. and Paul Zeck.

to first period) teachers and department heads are currently given one period off each day. Moseley said that by requiring them to teach during that period, more classes would be available in certain subjects. He also noted that the plan would be based on need and some "zero hour" teachers and/or department heads might not be paid, but would continue to get an hour off.

Moseley said that preliminary studies showed that teachers were basically against going to a seven-period day, which would mean shortening classes from 60 minutes to 50 minutes. Teachers listed heavier work loads for instructors and students and less class time per hour as key objections.

The superintendent also cited reports from several area schools, including Monahans and Sweetwater, which have had problems with seven-period days.

The board, noting that a seven-period day would seemingly result in more classes and smaller class sizes, asked Moseley to further study the subject.

The board was also presented with a list of academic excellence indicators, which will be a part of TEA accreditation. Dr. Tom Scannicchio, assistant superintendent, said Snyder ISD is "well on the road" to implementing all phases of the accreditation criteria. Snyder ISD is to undergo TEA accreditation evaluation during the 1992-93 school year.

C.D. Gray conducts cost and time study

A cost and time study was conducted Monday by Precinct 3 County Commissioner C. D. Gray Jr., in cooperation with Grimmett Brothers of Snyder.

A 20-yard county bottom-dump truck and three from Grimmett Brothers assisted county crews in laying 1.2 miles of caliche along County Road 370, just south of U.S. 180.

The trucks hauled caliche two miles from a pit owned by Leroy Key. In addition, Grimmett furnished a front-end loader.

Gray said purpose of the study was to see the impact of equipment consolidation on manpower costs. He said the project required about six hours instead of the normal 2 1/2 days.

The savings, Gray said, would be in keeping loaders and spreading crews busy by having sufficient material at the construction site.

The county paid for the cost of fuel in the experiment. Gray said the information will be used to determine the types of equipment needed.

The county expects to purchase additional equipment, and Gray said that larger 20-yard trucks result in more material hauled in fewer trips as well as eliminating waiting by loading and spreading crews.

The four trucks used Monday hauled 1,840 yards of caliche in six hours. The project required the use of six men. Gray said that the experiment showed some advantages to the consolidation of some equipment.

Stolen Mercedes recovered from local car lot

Snyder police recovered a stolen vehicle and investigated reports of theft, criminal mischief and burglary of a residence Monday.

A stolen 1980 Mercedes Benz was recovered at 5:30 p.m. from a local car lot. The car was reported stolen from Niles, Ill.

The vehicle was impounded at Bill's Auto Salvage and Illinois authorities were notified.

In other police activity, police took a report of a 15-year-old female runaway at 7:47 a.m. The girl was later located and returned to her mother.

A report for Class A criminal mischief was filed after Paul Payne of 3607 Kerrville advised an officer at 9:42 a.m. that damage had been done to the paint of his 1988 GMC pickup.

Marion Becerra reported to police at 1:31 p.m. that two tool boxes containing John Deere, Matco and Snap-On tools had been taken from his pickup while parked at 2300 25th St. A report for Class A theft was filed.

At 6:41 p.m., Samuel Garcia said a guitar amplifier had been taken from his residence at 1406 30th St. A burglary of a residence report was filed.

Bakker's sentence thrown out

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — A federal appeals court today upheld former televangelist Jim Bakker's fraud and conspiracy convictions, but threw out his 45-year sentence because of remarks made by the trial judge.

A three-judge panel of the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals said Bakker was fairly tried and convicted of 24 counts of wire fraud, mail fraud and conspiracy in 1989 but must be resentenced by a different judge.

The founder of the PTL Network was sentenced to 45 years in prison and fined $500,000 for defrauding followers who bought partnerships in PTL's Heritage USA vacation park and retreat in Fort Mill, S.C.

But the appeals court said U.S. District Judge Robert D. Potter of Charlotte, N.C., abused his discretion and violated Bakker's due process rights with his remarks at sentencing.

During the hearing, the judge said Bakker "had no thought whatever about his victims and those of us who do have a religion are ridiculed as being saps (for) money-grubbing preachers or priests."

The appeals court said judges cannot punish defendants for offending their personal religious beliefs.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Please address the following issues in your column soon. My husband, a physician, will be deployed to the Persian Gulf any day as a part of a fleet hospital unit for the U.S. Navy. It is a very stressful time for us, made even more stressful by some of the remarks we hear from friends and acquaintances.

Abby, please tell people not to ask those who are headed for the Persian Gulf whether they think we should be there. My husband is a reservist and he must follow orders. We have to believe that our experts in Washington know what they are doing and their decisions are based on information that the general public is not privy to for security reasons.

Second, it is all right to ask me how I plan to manage without my husband home. We haven't been apart for more than two weeks since we were married 32 years ago, and it will not be easy for either one of us, but with God's help, we will both survive. So, ask me, because I need to verbalize my feelings, fears and plans. Then be prepared to listen to what I have to say.

Offer to help me shovel my driveway, do some home repairs, or fill a lonely afternoon or evening. Also ask me for his address so you can write to him. Our men and women in the service love to get mail from home.

Abby, please pass this along to your readers. Military families need all the help they can get.

MILITARY WIFE IN LUBBOCK

DEAR MILITARY WIFE: Thank you for an important letter. I hope it will be heeded — particularly your suggestion to ask for the addresses of friends and neighbors in the military. Mail from home is a tremendous morale booster for service members who are far from home.

DEAR ABBY: In a recent column, you said that the U.S. Constitution specifies that no person born on foreign soil shall be eligible to hold the office of the presidency. That is incorrect.

The Constitution states that a candidate for the office of president must be a natural-born citizen of the United States, which could be interpreted to mean that an individual born of U.S. citizens in a foreign country is eligible to run.

This question was raised in the early 1960s when Michigan's governor, George Romney, was a candidate for the presidency. Gov. Romney was born in Mexico of missionary parents who were both citizens of the United States.

RICHARD F. CZUBAJ,
ROCHESTER HILLS, MICH.

DEAR MR. CZUBAJ: You are indeed correct. An alert editor caught my error and I sent out a correction, but alas, my goof had already gone to press in some areas. Mea culpa Numero Uno for 1991.

FBI tipped to insurance fraud angle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI publicly raised the possibility of terrorism in the attempted bombing of two chemical storage tanks in Norfolk, Va., even though officials had learned hours earlier the motive may have been insurance fraud.

FBI officials said Monday they prepared and issued the statement to the news media last week without consulting agents working on the case in the Norfolk office.

Three men were charged Saturday with conspiring to set off six pipe bombs attached to the storage tanks, in an effort to collect insurance money.

The FBI's statement, issued late on Feb. 4 — the day the bombs were found — said the bureau was taking the lead role in the investigation of the matter "because of the potential for a terrorist nexus."

FBI spokesmen in Washington were careful that day not to say that investigators had any evidence of a potential terrorist link.

But the agency's statement was issued just hours after an informant identified a Maryland businessman who was among the three people later charged in the case.

It also was released after an FBI spokesman in Norfolk told reporters that investigators had found no immediate links to terrorism.

Tom Jones, the FBI's chief spokesman in Washington, defended the statement, though he conceded that senior headquarters officials "did not become aware of what Norfolk was doing until later that night."

At the time the statement was issued, Jones said investigators hadn't eliminated terrorism as a possible motive because the informant's story had not been verified.

"Even though we had that caller coming in, without really verifying the veracity of what that person was saying, we would be kind of remiss in relying solely on that, so we had not ruled out that potential for terrorism," Jones said.

A court affidavit filed when the three were arrested Saturday documents that the caller gave the FBI information that ultimately led to the arrests. Businessman Charles E. Gresham of Ellicott City, Md.; Joseph Wayne Openshaw of St. John's, Ariz., and Cecil Howard Ross of Glendale, Ariz., were charged with conspiring to use explosive devices to commit mail and wire fraud.

One set of bombs was found attached to a storage tank at the Allied Terminals Inc. the morning of Feb. 4, and another set was found on a nearby tank that afternoon.

One tank contained highly flammable methanol and the other held Gresham's sodium sulfate, which officials say was unlikely to burn.

Within hours of the first discovery, the FBI received a tip that insurance fraud was a possible motive for the attempted bombing, according to the affidavit of Jeffrey A. Lampinski, a special agent in the Norfolk FBI office.

Lampinski states that the caller, identified only as a man from Virginia Beach, Va., reported that Gresham had once approached him about blowing up a chemical storage tank to collect insurance money. The caller said Gresham had given him a map of the storage facility, the affidavit states.

The informant told agents that Gresham said he wanted to blow up the tank to relieve the financial burden of storing a chemical he couldn't sell, the affidavit said.

Company records examined that day showed that Gresham owed Allied Terminals $66,650 in unpaid rent on the storage tank and that Gresham had insured the contents.

Actress loves brother

NEW YORK (AP) — Shirley MacLaine says she loves her elusive brother, Warren Beatty, more than she likes him.

"I don't know him. But I'd like to," the 56-year-old actress added when asked about her famous sibling, three years her junior.

In an interview in the March issue of Vanity Fair, MacLaine said that even she hasn't been able to crack Beatty's armor-tough persona because, "His phone always rings. I've been on hold for 30 years."

Lawsuit continues

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A Texas Ranger who says he was promised $70,000 for teaching actor Nick Nolte how to act like one of the fabled Texas law enforcement officers will continue his civil suit against Nolte.

But Ranger Joaquin Jackson Monday had his lawyers drop the suit against the film companies that produced the 1987 movie

"Extreme Prejudice." Dropped as defendants were Tri-Star Pictures, Inc., Extreme Prejudice Productions, Inc., and Carolco Pictures, Inc.

Jackson alleged in a lawsuit filed last summer that Nolte came to him in 1986 for advice on how to portray a Texas Ranger in the movie.

Desert Storm Update

DAY 27

Around the gulf

War developments in brief:

□ U.S. aircraft blasted an Iraqi convoy of 25 to 50 vehicles in central Kuwait overnight, inflicting heavy damage, and shot down an Iraqi helicopter near Mosul in northern Iraq, U.S. military officials said.

□ U.S. pilots claimed possible hits on four Iraqi Scud missile launchers in western Iraq and also reported seeing what appeared to be a Scud blowing up on launch.

□ Iraq lobbed two more Scud rockets at Israel, one hitting a prosperous urban neighborhood early Tuesday and injuring six people. Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir hinted that Israel might retaliate but was mindful of U.S. concerns that Israeli involvement could alienate allied Arab nations.

□ A Soviet envoy was to meet with Iraqi President Saddam Hussein in Baghdad Tuesday about a Kremlin initiative to end the war. An Iranian peace plan was being discussed Tuesday by foreign ministers from 15 non-aligned countries and a PLO delegation in Belgrade, Yugoslavia. The Soviets and Iranians want Iraq to end its 6-month-old occupation of Kuwait, a condition Saddam has rejected.

□ President Bush was conferring Tuesday with the defense chiefs of Britain and France, though White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said the gathering of the principal allied partners did not signal that a ground offensive was imminent. Bush indicated Monday he was in no hurry to start a ground campaign.

□ On the ground frontlines, it was a quiet night, with no significant contacts between U.S. and Iraqi forces along the Saudi border, the officials said. Eight Iraqi soldiers walked through their own minefields and surrendered to an Egyptian armored division after crossing the border from Kuwait.

□ The U.S. ambassador to Iraq, April Glaspie, did not mean to signal approval for Saddam to invade Kuwait in a meeting with him in late July, Secretary of State James A. Baker III said. An Iraqi transcript not disputed by the State Department says she told Saddam that the United States had no opinion on his border dispute with Kuwait.

□ The White House said Iraqi claims that thousands of civilians had been killed were inflated propaganda, saying it did not think civilian casualties have "been very extensive."

Some bosses protest flag, ribbon displays

By The Associated Press

Like many employers, the Union City, Calif., Fire Department frowned on its workers showing support for troops in the Persian Gulf with flags on their uniforms or equipment. But Mike Brown was determined: He had a full-color U.S. flag shaved and dyed into the back of his head.

"I wanted to display the flag, and now they can't tell me not to," said Brown, a 38-year-old captain, who spent 3½ hours in a salon. "It's a show of support for the troops and a way of saying I'm proud to be an American citizen."

Union City's decision to supply workers with a "uniform" yellow ribbon has been a common way out of such disputes, which have arisen along with the proliferation of buttons, flags and ribbons since war broke out Jan. 16.

At issue is whether such displays are partisan political statements, and whether such statements can or should be regulated.

In New Orleans, police made big bows out of plastic yellow crime scene tape and hung them on light poles, trees and flagpoles outside headquarters.

"We've got to do something for these guys," said spokeswoman Carmine Menchel. "We're the soldiers here, and they're the soldiers over there. We wear blue, and they wear sand brown."

New York City, however, refused to let police sew flag patches on their uniforms. Finally, in a compromise, officers are wearing small U.S. flag pins.

United Parcel Service changed a long-standing policy of not allowing workers to wear pins or buttons on uniforms because some drivers and customers were unhappy about it.

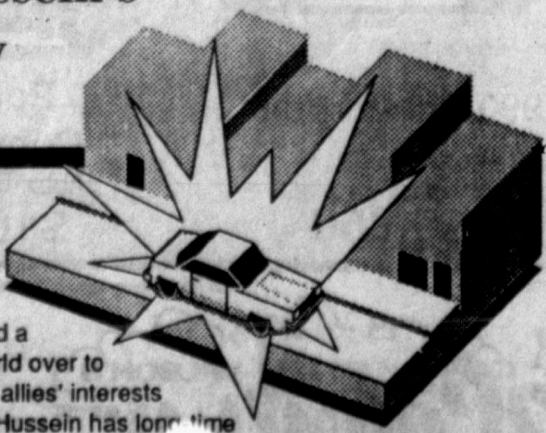

It ordered 230,000 pins featuring the flag surrounded by a yellow ribbon. They are meant to say "we're American and let our troops come home safely," said Alan Caminiti, a UPS spokesman.

The American Civil Liberties Union "thinks that yellow ribbons or flag pins are really indistinguishable from any other kind of political button," and Americans have a right to those forms of expression, Ira Glasser, the ACLU's executive director, said last week.

Saddam Hussein's past strategy

Use terrorism to cow the West

Iraq has already issued a call to Muslims the world over to attack the U.S. and its allies' interests everywhere. Saddam Hussein has long time links with terrorists, and may hope that spectacular terror attacks will horrify and frighten public opinion in Western countries, undercutting support for the allied war effort. Terror attacks on symbolic targets can also be portrayed in Iraqi propaganda as daring triumphs to hearten his troops and build up prestige among anti-Western Arabs.

In war's shadow...

Commando units hit special targets

WASHINGTON (AP) — Much is made of the evasive exploits of stealth airplanes in the bombing of Iraq and Kuwait. But precious little is known about the Persian Gulf War deeds of an even stealthier American weapon: special operations forces.

Secrecy and silence are watchwords of these elite units trained to operate behind enemy lines and in hostile waters.

They are the unseen warriors, the hidden heroes.

To their military mates they are "snake eaters" and "night stalkers." Officially they are Rangers and Green Berets of the Army, the SEAL (Sea, Air, Land) teams of the Navy, and the less well-known Air Force Special Operations Force.

The Pentagon doesn't count the Marines as part of its special operations forces, but they, too, have combat and reconnaissance teams designed for special missions such as hostage rescues and raids and spy operations deep in enemy territory.

Defense Department officials won't talk about it publicly, but anecdotal evidence and information offered by military sources make it clear that a full range of special operations forces is operating in and around Kuwait and Iraq.

Military and media wrestle over access

DHAHRAN, Saudi Arabia (AP) — The media and the military, never the best of friends, are engaged in an escalating battle over the journalists' rights to cover the war and the military's concerns over security.

In the past two weeks at least a dozen reporters and photographers have been detained by military personnel after trying to gather stories outside the official press pools, groups of reporters traveling under military escort.

These incidents range from the whimsical to the terrifying.

In one case, an Associated Press writer and photographer were held six hours by a unit of the 1st Cavalry Division. They were given dinner, shown B-52 air strikes and provided with other glimpses of camp life that generated a story.

In a grimmer incident, Wesley Bocxe, a photographer on assignment for Time magazine, was held for 30 hours by members of the Alabama National Guard. At times during his captivity, Bocxe was blindfolded and interrogated.

"They were very, very scared soldiers and they didn't recognize my press credential," said the 30-year-old New Yorker.

On Sunday, New York Times reporter Chris Hedges was detained for six hours and his credentials were temporarily lifted after he tried to ask officials at a military hospital for permission to conduct an interview.

"I was told I could lose my credentials, have my visa revoked and be asked to leave the kingdom," he said. His credentials were returned the next day.

Hedges' case is more typical of incidents reported over the past week in the areas of Khafji and Hafir al Batin, where reporters, chafing under the tight controls of the pool system, have begun to venture out unescorted in search of stories.

CBS newsman Bob Simon and three crew members disappeared two weeks ago while traveling unescorted near the Kuwaiti border. They have not been seen since.

"You have a tremendous capability in the area," said one government official with direct access to such information who spoke on condition of anonymity.

Special operations forces often act as the tip of the spear in a major offensive.

For example, at the outset of the U.S.-led air attack on Iraq on Jan. 17, a special forces unit teamed up with Army Apache helicopter gunships to knock out two Iraqi air defense command centers. They blasted the command posts with Hellfire missiles, opening a path for the initial wave of allied attack planes.

These other incidents point to special forces involvement in the war:

—On Jan. 31, military sources disclosed that an AC-130 Spectre aircraft was downed behind enemy lines, and that its crew of 14 airmen were missing in action. The Pentagon has not commented on the aircraft's mission, but it is known to be a gunship used by Air Force Special Operations Forces for nighttime armed reconnaissance, close-air support of ground forces and rescue operations.

—Naval forces in at least one case conducted a "take down" of a merchant ship that refused to halt after warning shots were fired across its bow. The ship was suspected of violating the United Nations trade embargo against Iraq. The risky job of boarding the ship fell to a Navy SEAL team.

—A downed U.S. Navy pilot was plucked from the Iraqi desert on Jan. 21 in what officials called the first successful such mission over hostile territory in the war with Iraq. The rescue party, which spent at least four hours in Iraqi air space or on Iraqi territory, included members of an Air Force Special Operations Force team.

—Leaflets urging Iraqi troops to surrender peacefully were air-dropped over Kuwait by U.S. special operations forces trained in psychological warfare techniques.

One of the most favored means of conducting psychological warfare operations is the EC-130E Volant Solo II aircraft, a cargo plane modified to emit clandestine radio and television broadcasts deep into enemy territory. Volant Solo II planes are deployed in Saudi Arabia with the 193rd Special Operations Group of the Pennsylvania Air National Guard, based in Middletown, Pa.

Gramm seeks recognition of Israel

HOUSTON (AP) — Kuwait and Saudi Arabia should be pressured to recognize Israel as a nation in exchange for help from the United States in the war against Iraq, said U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas.

"Countries like Kuwait and Saudi Arabia are going to owe their existence to us," Gramm said Monday in an appearance at a Grumman Houston Corp. aircraft plant. "We've got to put this victory and the influence and power it will bring to some great and noble purpose. And I believe that purpose is trying to get a lasting peace in the Middle East."

"I think we have the right to ask Kuwait and Saudi Arabia to recognize Israel."

Gramm, who continues his tour of Texas defense plants today in Garland, said the United States should use its position as the leader of the allied forces in the Persian Gulf war to help settle the Arab-Israeli conflict.

Churches offer war resisters shelter, help

SEATTLE (AP) — When Air Force reservist Julie Hughes decided she couldn't join the war against Iraq, her parents called her unpatriotic, strangers called her cowardly — and University Baptist Church called her welcome.

The church is among at least 14 nationwide offering sanctuary to war resisters. They lend moral, financial, and legal support to soldiers seeking to become conscientious objectors. In some cases, they even offer temporary shelter.

"They support me as a person, not as a warrior," Hughes said in a recent interview at the Seattle church. "They are the rock, the place I can go in stormy seas."

For Hughes and others seeking conscientious objector status, the storm has just begun. They're bucking pro-war public sentiment that dismisses their new-found pangs of conscience with questions like: Why did you enlist if you weren't ready to fight?

2 men, juvenile arrested in flag thefts

PAMPA, Texas (AP) — Two men and a juvenile have been arrested in connection with the thefts of 19 flags from the homes of people who had been displaying them in support for U.S. troops in the Persian Gulf.

Police said they arrested the men, 18 and 19, and a 16-year-old juvenile Monday following a telephoned tip to the Crimestoppers Hot Line in this Texas Panhandle town.

Officers said they recovered 15 U.S. flags, three Texas flags and a Masonic flag at the time they arrested the men.

The flags were stolen Friday night or early Saturday, according to Pampa Police Detective Donnie Brown.

The investigation is continuing, Brown said.

U.S. Air Power in the Gulf Region

An air attack is expected to be the key to any U.S.-led offensive because it would clear the way for allied ground forces. Here is a brief look at some of the different functions of aircraft that may be used in the Persian Gulf.
