New Taxes Are Facing Public With Proposal

Arduous Task Of Drafting New Tax Bill Is Completed By A House Committee; Treasury Gives Approval

Scope Is Widened

Manufacturers Sales Tax Is Included; None Of The New Taxes Are Retroactive; To Reach Thousands

BY CECIL B. DICKSON,
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Mar. 5. — The arduous task of drafting a new tax bill was completed today by a weary house ways and means committee and was followed immediately by treasury approval of the measure.

After two months of searching for sources of revenue, the committee late today added final clauses to legislation calculated to yield $1,096,000,000. The comment of Secretary Mills was "the budget of the fiscal year, 1933, can now be balanced in the sense that there will be no further increase in the public debt after June 30th, next."

Submitted On Monday

The new tax bill probably will be submitted to the house Monday.

Consideration is expected to begin Thursday.

The committee went into new fields for the foundation of its revenue raising legislation in determining upon a 2.25 per cent manufacturers sales tax. This provision is expected to affect 140,000 manufacturers and bring $595,000,000 in revenue.

Raise Income Tax

The committee raised the income tax and lowered the exemptions to raise an additional $112,000,000. Several hundred thousands who have not been contributing directly to the treasury will dig into their pockets when March 15, 1933, comes around. None of the taxes are retroactive.

The exemptions for single men were reduced from $1,500 to $1,000 and for married men from $3,500 to $2,500.

Individual income tax rates were increased from 1 1-2 to 2 per cent

George Samson Is Selected Secretary Of Post C Of C

POST, March 5. (Special) — George Samson, pioneer Post contractor, who has been a resident of this town almost since its beginning, was elected secretary of the chamber of commerce, it was announced today by the board of directors.

Mr. Samson served as secretary of the organization for a number of years. Last November he was succeeded by Knox Parr, who resigned to accept a post at Dallas.

CLAIMED BY DEATH

TOLEDO, Ohio, Mar. 5. (AP) — Mrs. Margaret Louise Cleveland Bacon, 93, widow of Norval B. Bacon, Toledo architect, and a sister of Grover Cleveland, twice president of the United States, died today in her home here.

Hey, Hey! Fish Prexy Kidnaped By Tech Sophs!

Russell Brown, Brownwood, Tech freshman president, was snatched from the bathtub at his Fifteenth street residence at 8 p. m. Saturday and spirited by 35 upperclassmen to a dismal basement on the edge of town.

Only clue to the kidnaping was a dirty ring around the tub. At about 7:45 o'clock the freshman entered the bathroom for his Saturday night ablutions. Fifteen minutes later a frosh guard peeked in. The tub was empty.

Mystery of the smudge in the tub had not been solved late Saturday by 100 classmates who scoured the town while the annual freshman ball was full blast at the Up Town Dance palace. Brown, a knowing upper-classman said, was not to be released until 8 a. m. Sunday. He was bound in the dank cellar of an old vacant house, and guarded by husky sophomores.

The abductors gave Brown three minutes to dress. He pulled on trousers, shirt and house shoes—and was shanghaied for the night.

James DeJute Found Saturday And Two Men Are Jailed

(By The Associated Press)

NILES, O., Mar. 5—Twelve-year-old James DeJute, jr., was safe at home tonight and his two alleged abductors were in jail.

Trembling and afraid but still keeping up his boyish courage, Jimmie was found unharmed today hidden in a secret tunnel in an abandoned gambling resort and liquor storehouse near Youngstown. He was rescued just 76 hours after two men spirited him away from a Niles street while on his way to school Wednesday.

Crime Is Admitted

Authorities said the two men arrested with him, John Demarco, 30, and Dowell Hargraves, 27, both of Youngstown, admitted they were the kidnapers.

A strange message—"go to Scotty's place and you will find the Dejute kid from Niles"—and a lucky circumstances involving Jimmie's school-book, combined to bring the boy's release. The message was received by Mohoning County Detective W. J. Harrison of Youngstown. He refused to divuige the source of the tip.

House Surrounded

Officers surrounded the house, kicked in the door and rushed in, but found it apparently empty, although there was a fire in the kitchen stove. It looked like another false clue until Harrison say Jimmie's fifth-grade arithmetic text book, his, name on the flyleaf, lying on the floor.

"Jimmie," he called, and a muf-

Four Persons Injured Here In Accidents

Alpha Wiggins Most Seriously Hurt In Collision With Car; Two Women Are Victims When Auto Is Overturned

Two motor vehicle accidents and burns sent four people to hospitals here Saturday. Most seriously injured was Alpha (Blondy) Wiggins, 21, of 2332 Twenty-third street, hurt in a motorcycle-automobile collision.

Two women were injured and three men escaped injury at about 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon when an automobile in which they were riding overturned after a tire blew out, on state highway No. 24 a mile west of Hurlwood, 10 miles west of Lubbock.

Child Is Burned

Famie Ruth Presley, 21-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Presley of 2122 Seventh street, was treated last night at West Texas hospital for burns the child suffered when she stumbled and sat down in a pan of scalding water about noon yesterday. The burns are not believed serious.

Wiggins, at West Texas hospital, was reported to have suffered a compound, comminute fracture of both bones on the left leg and body bruises. The attending physician said Wiggins' condition would not become serious unless blood poisoning developed. Ragged edges of the bones pierced the skin near the ankle.

Woman Is Hurt

Mrs. W. T. Hanes 31, suffered a fracture of the right arm and cuts and lacerations on the legs in the Hurlwood accident. She remained at Lubbock sanitarium. Mrs. Alton Hanes, about 25, underwent emergency treatment there for cuts and

Bumpass Is Freed Of Arson Charge

J. F. Bumpass, Lubbock man, was acquitted of a charge of arson in district court at Olton Friday before Judge Charles Clements. An insrtucted verdict of not guilty was given by the court.

Bumpass had been charged in connection with the burning of his laundry in Littlefield, February 6, 1931. Mr. Bumpass suffered a $20,000 loss which was only partly covered by insurance.

Bumpass has since moved back to Lubbock his former home.

Post Man Accepts Place On Federal Drouth Loan Body

POST, March. 5. (Special) — Knox Parr, former county agent, who recently has been acting as secretary of the ost Chamber of Commerce, has accepted a position with the new federal drouth loan organization in Dallas and has gone there.

Mr. Parr will be in charge of reporting on loan applications for 130 counties in West Texas, it was announced. During the 1931 loan campaign he was active in Garza county, handling the applications and assisting other counties in their work.

Former University Student Gets New Trial In Slaying

WACO, Mar. 5. (AP)—A new trial today was granted W. C. Beck, former University of Texas student, sentenced to death for murder of O. L. Jones.

L. A. Coleman, one of the jurors in the nineteen-year-old Wills Point youth's trial, and George Butts, son of Constable H. H. Butts, were placed under $100 bond to answer contempt of court charges Monday.

COUNSELLOR SHOT

MOSCOW, Mar. 5. (AP)—Dr. Fritz Von Twardowski, counsellor of the German embassy, was wounded in the neck and in the hand today by a young assassin who fired four pistol shots at him as he was riding home in his car from the embassy.

Alvis Graves Gets 12 Years

Local Man Believes That He Will Be Acquitted "If All Facts Are Brought Out;" Is Confident Of Release

Alvis Graves, 27, who won a criminal court reversal of a 99-year sentence for the death of Horace L. Smith Saturday was convicted by another 72nd district court jury, which set the Lubbock man's punishment at twelve years in the penitentiary. The jury reported at about 9 a. m., 42 hours after receiving the case.

Whether attorneys for Graves would appeal the conviction could not be learned here Saturday, both J. E. Vickers and W. W. Campbell, defense counsel, being out of town. Nor had District Attorney Durwood H. Bradley decided whether he would bring Graves to trial in the shooting of Robert Averett, killed at the same time Smith was fatally wounded here Jan. 10, 1931.

Expresses Optimism

"When the full facts are brought out, I will be acquitted," Graves declared in the Lubbock county jail Saturday afternoon. Asked what details had been left out at the trial, he replied, "I had rather not discuss that part."

"My attorneys are out of town and until I talk with them I cannot say whether I will appeal". Graves declared he thought District Judge Homer L. Pharr, who heard the case and District Attorney Durwood H. Bradley, who led the prosecution, "are two of the fairest court officials I ever knew."

Court attaches said the defendant showed no emotion when the verdict was read.

FREED ON BOND

LIBERTY, Tex., Mar. 5. (AP) — Amos B. Lawrence, 67, prominent Chambers county ranchman, was at liberty under $5,000 bond tonight pending appeal from a five year prison sentence assessed by a jury which found him guilty on a charge of murder of his cousin, Emory Fisher, 19.

Market Week Program Will Begin Monday

Fifth Semi-Annual West Texas Wholesale Clothing Market Will Attract Merchants Of Entire Section

Will End Tuesday

Fifty-Eight Wholesalers Are Registered Saturday; Many More Expected; Free Dance Is Carded Monday

LUBBOCK'S fifth semi-annual West Texas Wholesale Clothing Market will be opened Monday with wholesalers attending from Dallas, Kansas City, Fort Worth, Los Angeles, St. Louis, Chicago, Sherman, Milwaukee, San Antonio, Amarillo, Cincinnati, El Paso, Chattanooga and retail dealers from virtually all South Plains cities. The market ends Tuesday.

Fifty-eight wholesale clothing dealers had already registered at local hotels late yesterday afternoon and others are coming in today, the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce reported. Invitation to send representatives here was carried to 24 South Plains towns Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Virtually all the merchants visited already were preparing to attend, it was said.

Towns Are Visited

The tours were made by J. H. Brock and Garnet Reeves of the chamber of commerce. Their visits included businessmen of Shallowater, Anton, Littlefield, Amherst, Sudan, Muleshoe, Levelland, Slaton, Southland, Post, Lamesa, O'Donnell, Tahoka, Abernathy, Hale Center, Olton, Lockney, Plainview, Floydada, Crosbyton, Ralls, Lorenzo, and Idalou.

Out-of-town persons will register at local hotels both Monday and Tuesday. Sample rooms at Hotel Lubbock and Hilton will be open early Monday morning, while many nearby merchants are expected here today to see the lines.

Dance Carded Monday

Chief entertainment feature is a dance Monday night, starting at 9 o'clock at Hotel Lubbock. The Buffalo Rhythm Stompers will play. Wives of out-of-town retail merchants will be guests of the chamber of commerce at theater matinees Monday and Tuesday, it was said.

Editor, Mayor And Police Officials Facing Charges

INDIANAPOLIS, March 5. (AP)—George R. Dale, militant editor and mayor of Muncie, and several police officials of Muncie and Anderson were arrested today on indictments charging liquor law violations which were returned here yesterday by a federal grand jury.

Frank Massey, Muncie police chief, was arrested shortly after Mayor Dale had been taken into custody. Both were taken to jail and friends began efforts to arrange their release on bonds of $10,000 each. Police Commissioner Fred Ellis and five other members of the Muncie police force were among those arrested.

Six Federal Court Orders Rap Texas Military Reign

TYLER, Mar. (AP) — Six federal court injunctions issued here today by Judge Randolph Bryant of Sherman struck a heavy blow to military administration of proration in the big East Texas oil field.

The orders, mailed by the judge from Sherman to J. R. Blades, deputy court clerk at Tyler, restrained Governor R. S. Sterling, Adjutant General W. W. Sterling and Brig. Gen Jacob F. Wolters from enforcing any of their "so-called" military or executive proration orders against properties of the plaintiffs, pending final hearing of the suits.

Politicians In Texas Look To A Big Session

Democratic Executive Body To Gather On Wednesday In Ft. Worth To Select Convention City For State

BY R. W. BARRY
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Mar. 5.—Politicians and candidates for state offices are looking forward to a "big session" at Fort Worth next Wednesday when the Texas Democratic executive committee plans to select a site for the May 24th state presidential convention and fix the status of numerous aspirants to the three places of congressman-at-large.

There are not less than twenty congressman-at-large candidates already with almost that many more contemplating the "plunge." Questions agitating them and the state committee at this time is whether the three high men in the first primary shall be declared the party nominees or whether the candidates shall be required to run for places, the two receiving the highest number of votes in each to enter the August run-off.

Apply To Court

F. O. Fuller of Houston had already given notice that unless the state committee adopted a rule that candidates be required to file for places 1, 2 and 3, he would apply to the supreme court for a mandamus to force such action.

World Famous Bandmaster Dies Unexpectedly After Banquet In Which He Had Served As Guest Conductor

Fame World-Wide

Makes Short Talk And Appears In Good Health; Becomes Ill Shortly After Midnight And Dies At 12:30

(By The Associated Press)

READING, Pa., Mar. 6. (Sunday) —John Philip Sousa, whose fame thunders in brass from military bands everywhere, died unexpectedly today in his 78th year after attending a banquet given in his honor.

He had arrived in Reading with his band on an early evening train, and appeared in his usual health. Before the banquet he conducted a rehearsal of the band.

Was In Good Humor

He made a short talk at the banquet, and was in good humor, though it was noticed his voice seemed weak. He retired to his room in a hotel and died shortly afterward. His secretary, Miss Lillian Finegan, found him ill at 12:10 a. m. The house physician pronounced him dead 20 minutes later. It was a heart attack, the doctor said.

The theme of patrotism on which his entire active life was built and which was marked even by the three finals letters of the name Sousa—USA—seemed to prevail to the last; for the name of the hotel in which he died was Abraham Lincoln.

Connally Says Republicans Are Drifting; Plea Sounded

WASHINGTON, Mar. 5. (AP)—The Republican administration was described as drifting "aimlessly and blindly" by Senator Connally (D. Tex.), speaking to the national convention of the Young Democrats club today.

The Texan said: "In the coming campaign a united and militant Democracy will triumph." He pleaded for party harmony and said the young democrats could help toward this.

Howell Rites Carded Today

Services For Former Lubbock Resident Will Be Held At 3 O'Clock; Dr. J. M. Lewis Is To Be In Charge

Mrs. L. D. Howell, 29, formerly Miss Blanche Bacon of Lubbock, who died unexpectedly in Washington, D. C., Wednesday, will be buried Sunday in Lubbock cemetery after services at 3 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church. Dr. J. M. Lewis, pastor of the church, will officiate.

Body of Mrs. Howell, accompanied by her husband, a former Texas Technological college instructor, and her sister, Miss Virginia Bacon, arrived late Saturday. Local arrangements are being made by Rix funeral home.

Heart Attack Fatal

Mrs. Howell, a daughter of John F. Bacon, Lubbock capitalist and city finance commissioner, had lived here virtually all her life. Death of Mrs. Howell was attributed to a severe heart attack suffered while she was asleep at her Washington home. She is survived by her father, J. F. Bacon, and brother, Charles, at 1632 Broadway; an uncle, W. A. Bacon, and an aunt, Mrs. W. R. Adams.

Pallbearers will be: H. D. Woods, N. H. Wright, R. D. Moxley, L. C. Ellis, W. E. Ballew and France Baker.

Tahoka Grand Jury Condemns Sale Of Extracts For Drink

TAHOKA, March 5. (Special.) — Reporting that evidence leading to burglary charges against youths had shown the crimes were committed "for the sole purpose of obtaining extracts to drink," the 106th district court grand jury here last week condemned the sale of extracts for "beverage purposes."

The grand jury requested those handling extract "for beverage purposes" to refrain from it. W. H. May was forgman of the grand jury, which adjourned after returning 36 indictments.

Young Woman Is Only Native Of Lamb County Eligible For Vote This Year

(By Staff Correspondent)

LITTLEFIELD, March 5. — Among the 4,598 persons who paid their poll tax before February 1, 1932 and who hold a 1931 receipt, thus being eligible to vote in all Lamb county elections this year, there is but one a young woman, who is a native of the county.

She is Miss Fern Hoover, 22, daughter of Constable Fred Hoover, a former cowboy and ranch foreman and Mrs. Hoover, active in affairs here.

First attention to this fact was called by Everett Whicker, who made a check of the poll tax receipts issued by the collector. Miss Hoover and her parents admitted the story.

"My daughter was born on the old L. F. D. ranch," her father said. "I have lived in Lamb county for 26 years and worked for years on the old ranch when there were not many people here.

Fern could almost ride a cow pony before she could walk. I taught her to ride before she was two years old. She has always been interested in riding and would rather ride now than work in an office."

Miss Hoover is an assistant in the office of J. S. Hilliard, business manager of the Littlefield school district. She attended a business college at Abilene after graduating from the local school and then returned home to put into practice her business training. She has been employed by local concerns as bookkeeped, stenographer and clerk.

Flying Colonel Turns To Underworld For Aid In Recovering Stolen Baby

Lindbergh And Wife Designate Two "Go-Betweens" To Work With Captors Of Their Child; Men With Records In N. Y. Are Selected To Represent Family In Effort To Restore Heir

HOPEWELL, N. J., March 6.—(Sunday)—With city, state and federal authorities apparently completely baffled, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh has turned to the underworld for aid in recovering his kidnaped son, the 20-months old Charles Augustus Lindbergh, jr.

With Mrs. Lindbergh's approval, the flying colonel early today designated two men to act as "go-betweens" in a new plea for negotiations with the kidnapers for the return of the chubby-faced heir to a vast fortune. The men were "Salvy" Spitale and Irving Bitz, both of whom bear police records in New York.

A statement signed by the Lindberghs and telephoned from their home here to state police at Trenton said:

"Will Follow Any Method"

"If the kidnapers of our child are unwilling to deal directly with us we fully authorize "Salvy" Spitale and Irving Bitz to act as our go-between. We will also follow any other method suggested by the kidnapers that we can be sure will bring the return of our child."

Major Charles A. Schoeffel of the New Jersey State police gave out the statement from the Lindbergh home.

Records Are Dug Up

New York newspaper files showed a Salvatore (Salvy) Spitale had figured in police investigation of the shooting of the late Jack (Legs) Diamond in the Hotel Monticello in New York October 12, 1930. No one was convicted of the shooting.

Some newspaper files showed a Salvatore Spitale was arrested for homicide in New York in 1928 and subsequently discharged. An Irving Bitz was convicted in 1926 of violating the Harrison narcotic act and sentenced to a year and a day in Atlanta penitentiary.

Ohio Girl Escapes From Kidnaper-Assaulter After Being Held Captive 24 Hours; Found In Daze, Wandering Street

COLUMBUS, O., March 5. (AP)—Held captive by a kidnaper who had attempted to assault her, little 10-year-old Martha Ford was returned to her anxious parents today.

Suffering from the unsuccessful attack, exposure to the cold weather, and bruises about her small body, the child tonight rested in her home, to which she was removed after receiving treatment at a hospital.

Little Martha was found 24 hours after she disappeared from school. She told of a man luring her away from the school yard with a promise of candy, and of being held captive in a garage for many hours. Finally she eluded the kidnaper and wandered aimlessly through the streets until a woman recognized her from descriptions.

Governor's Conferees Agree That "Little Lindy" Will Be Soon Returned To His Parents; Every Clue Given Consideration

By FRANCIS A. JAMIESON
Associated Press Staff Writer
(Copyright, 1932, By The Associated Press)

HOPEWELL, N. J., March 5. (AP)—A belief the kidnapers of chubby-faced Charles Augustus Lindbergh, jr., will soon restore the stolen child to his parents was expressed today by master man-hunters of the east as they sat at a conference with Gov. A. Harry Moore.

The governor himself announced the consensus of what he called "the best brains of the police and law enforcement circles of the country" as the meeting ended in Trenton and the conferees started here.

Hope Is Expressed

"It is our belief and hope that they (the kidnapers) will immediately deposit the child in some safe place, and by prompt notice to police or Col. Lindbergh personally enable it to be returned safely to its parents," he said.

While he spoke, the famous flier and Mrs. Lindbergh were waiting, still in vain, for some answer to the 145-word appeal they made just 24 hours before to whoever crept through a window of the child's nursery Tuesday night and stole their 20-month-old heir from his sick bed.

No Break In Case Yet

"There has been no break in the case," Major Charles A. Schoeffel, deputy superintendent of state police announced. "No word has been received directly or indirectly from the kidnapers."

"Are police out on any new clues?" he was asked.

"They always are," he replied.

Commenting on the arrest and prolonged questioning in Hartford Conn., of Henry (Red) Johnson, friend of the nursemaid to the Lindbergh baby, Schoeffel said Hartford authorities had been informed the man was not wanted by New Jersey state police.

Says Nurse Is All Right

He also dispelled reports concerning the nursemaid, Miss Betty Gow, who was subjected to lengthy questioning earlier in the week, by saying:

"That girl's all right."

He said she admitted having "dates" with Johnson prior to the kidnaping, but that no significance was attached to them.

Meanwhile, in Hartford a county official said the wood used in the ladder left behind by the kidnapers was similar to the kind used in a Bronx shipyard frequented by Johnson. The yard is the one in which Thomas Lamont, New York banker, keeps his yacht. Johnson formerly was a sailor on this craft.

Trace Milk Bottle Cap

The county official also expressed the belief a milk bottle cap, found in the coupe Johnson drove here, was from a New Jersey dairy and was dated Wednesday.

He pointed out a bottle of milk bearing a Wednesday date could not be purchased until Thursday, whereas the sailor had said he arrived in Hartford early Wednesday morning.

County Detective Edward J. Hickey and State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn, noted for their successful prosecution of Gerald Chapman, police slayer, left the county building for an unannounced destination late in the day, leaving Johnson still in custody. They carried the milk bottle cap with them.

Egg Drying Unit To Be Operated By New York Firm In Plant At Lamesa

Machinery Of Milk Plant To Be Used In New Industry

THE South Plains newest industry, an egg cracking and drying plant, is expected to be started this week at Lamesa, in the plant of the West Texas Milk Products company when Henningson brothers, of New York City, one of the world's largest egg handling concerns, gets its newest plant under way, Barney Weiner, of New York, said in an interview here. Mr. Weiner was enroute to Lamesa to actually start the work and stopped in Lubbock for information concerning the area.

"Right off the reel, we will need about 30 girls to break eggs by hand," Mr. Weiner explained. "We are shipping machinery there for drying eggs, but we will begin buying eggs right away.

"I am going down to Lamesa to begin the buying of eggs and to take charge of the production. We hope to begin shipping eggs by the last of the week."

Whites and Yolks Separated

Whites and yolkes of eggs are separated in the cracking process. They are then placed in machines to dry, all of the moisture being extracted. The dried eggs are then packed in convenient sized packages for shipment.

"It is our hope to be able to make our first shipment by the end of the week," Mr. Weiner explained. "There is a steady demand for dried eggs. They are used in baking plants and by confectioners and we find an increasing demand for them.

"Henningson brothers are among the largest concerns of this kind in the world. They have plants all over the United States and one in China. In fact, our plant at Shanghai is now closed, owing to the war there and we must have production right away in order to keep our trade satisfied

Fresh Eggs Used

"Only fresh eggs are used for this work. We pay good prices for eggs because we need the fresh ones for cracking."

Mr. Weiner said he had traveled all over the United States buying eggs, having spent 35 years in the business.

"I have bought eggs by the billions, I guess," he said. "Often I buy five and six cars of eggs a day. That is not unusual."

The plant at Lamesa is expected to be a permanent affair.

Victor Henningson, a member of the firm, recently visited Lamesa and made arrangements with C. M. Anderson, manager, and officials of the West Texas Dairy products plant, for the space.

"Mr. Henningson made the arrangements when he was here and it is up to me to get the eggs and get production started," Mr. Weiner added.

Methodist Bishop's Child Is Attacked By Hawaiian

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 5. (AP)—A second attempted attack upon a girl within less than 24 hours occurred here today shortly after Victor Perez 20-year-old Hawaiian, had been held to answer on a complaint of Barbara Burns, daughter of Bishop Charles Wesley Burns of the Methodist Episcopal church.

The second victim is Betty Hexter, aged 10, who was carried off in an automobile by a man about 30 years old, but broke away from him and escaped harm. Police were making an extensive search for the kidnaper tonight.

Nebraska Doctor Makes Sick Calls In His Own Airplane

By NEA Service

BEAVER CITY, Neb., Mar. 5.—No automobiles for Dr. Frank A. Brewster when he makes his sick calls. It's an airplane for him.

Dr. Brewster has been using an airplane for 14 years to make his calls. Since the war he has had 12 different craft, all of which he piloted himself. He is a licensed pilot, but hires a pilot-mechanic to fly him about now.

His territory covers about 200 square miles, and his plane enables him to keep in close touch with farm families and isolated communities. He has often had to have his patient tie up a white sheet so he could see it and identify the house at which he was to call.

Personals

Miss Mary Lee Bardwell and Miss Lena Bert Medlin are spending the week-end in Stamford and Fort Worth.

Mrs. A. F. Cook is expected to return to her home this week from Roswell, N. M., where she has been visiting a sister for two weks.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Cawthon spent last week in Austin on business.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Stuard, 2407 24th street, have as their guests Mr Stuard's sister, Mrs. J. M. Brown, his niece, Mrs. John Pankey and Mr. Pankey, of Fort Worth.

Word has been received here of the birth of a daughter, Geraldine, to Mr. and Mrs. Noel McCollom, Utica, N. Y. Mr. McCollom is the son of Mrs. R. M. McCollom, 1609 Avenue K, and is a former resident of this city.

First Direct Federal Aid Measure To Receive Favor

WASHINGTON, Mar. 5. (AP)—The only measure passed at this session calling for direct federal aid to the needy—the bill to distribute 40,000,000 bushels of farm board wheat for relief—will be signed by President Hoover.

Although the legislation providing for taking the grain from the elevators where it has been stored since it was purchased by board agencies has not yet reached the White House, word came today the president would approve it. It has passed both houses.

Bedroom Is Part Of Equipment In Home Economics

By Staff Correspondent

POST, March 5—Very few home economics departments in high schools in the state have a completely fitted bedroom as a part of their equipment, but this has been a part of the equipment since the new school was completed in 1928.

The department is well equipped and the three classes have the maximum membership of 16, says Miss Mary Hazel Hurn, instructor for the past three years.

"We are giving work in food and in clothing," Miss Hurn explained, "I have three classes, seniors, juniors and sophomores. There are a few freshmen in the class. It takes three years to carry through the work, so we are requiring students to start in their sophomore year.

"Each girl carries on one home project each semester in connection with her particular study that semester. In this way they get practical experience as well as theory."

The kitchen has room for 16 girls to work at a time. There is a model dining room where meals are served from time to time by the girls as they complete their class work.

Besides being used for training, the bed room is also used as a fitting room for the sewing classes. The two rooms, bedroom and dining room, are fitted with good furniture and serve as laboratories for practical training in the care of the home and in serving.

State Designation Sought For Road From Vega To Ralls To Connect With Highway 24

PLAINVIEW, March 5.—(Special)—The state highway commission at its next meeting will consider the state designation of a highway from Vega, county seat of Oldham county, through Hereford and Plainview to Ralls, where it will connect with No. 24, George W. Whitefield, county commissioner and Grady Shipp, secretary of the Plainview Board of City Development, were told by W. R. Ely, chairman of the commission.

The two men conferred with the chairman on proposed designation of the highway. The plan is for the highway to start at Vega and go to Hereford, Dimmitt, Plainview, Petersburgh and Ralls. The route would touch highways as follows; No 13 at Vega; No. 23 at Hereford; No. 86 at Dimmitt; Nos. 9 and 28 at Plainview and No. 24 at Ralls.

At the same time the two men asked the chairman about further work on No. 28 on either side of Hale county. They were advised that no further work would be until there was county participation. West of Hale county, No. 28 passed through Lamb and Bailey counties, connecting with No. 7 at Muleshoe. East the highway passes through Floyd county and in Motley county intersects No. 18 at Matador. It is paved in Cottle county.

Love—At 90 And At 71!

Rev. W. A. Bosworth, 90, and Mrs. Josephine Wright, 71, are shown here at Wichita, Kan., on their honeymoon. Rev. Bosworth, a grandfather, is former national chaplain of the G. A. R., former commander of the G. A. R. in Kansas, and was a Congregationalist minister for more than 50 years. He met Mrs. Bosworth at a church function several years ago, and their romance sprang from this meeting.

NEWS BRIEFS

Joe Gonsales, Mexican, pleaded guilty to theft from a Slaton lumber yard, and was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail by Judge E. L. Pitts Saturday. Court costs also were assessed Gonzales.

Captain Edward M. Haight landed at Lubbock airport field at 11:50 o'clock Saturday morning in a Curtis-Wright sedan, coming from Big Spring. Captain Haight took off on the return trip at 2:15 yesterday afternoon. A. M. Brownfield of Brownfield made a round trip to Lubbock Saturday in a Rearwin, jr.j.

Raymond Boyd of 2201 Seventh street will leave today for Fort Worth, where he is to attend the Fat Stock show.

An all-time low birth-rate record was made in Illinois in 1931, with only 15.4 births per thousand of population. This was offset by the death rate of 11.1, also unusually low.

Chinese Death Toll Mounts High; 20,000 Is Estimate

SHANGHAI, Mar. 5. (AP)—Chinese casualties during the engagements in the Chapei, Kiangwan and Woosung areas reached a total greater than 20,000 the Press Union estimated today.

This total, according to the Press Union estimate, was about ten times greater than Japanese casualties and it included approximately 7,000 killed.

Senate Members Preparing For Probe Of Stock Market

WASHINGTON, Mar. 5. (AP)—Senate banking committee members today gathered data for a "thorough investigation" of stock market operations to determine if a group of professional operators have been manipulating security prices.

Chairman Norbeck, in preparation for Tuesday's organization meeting, gave formal notice "we are going into the whole situation and that means we are going after the bulls as well as the bears."

Honolulu Murder Trial Is Set To Begin On March 28

HONOLULU, March 5. (AP)—The trial of Mrs. Granville Fortescue, Lieutenant Thomas H. Massie and two naval enlisted men charged with second degree murder of Joseph Kahahawai, accused attacker of Mrs. Massie, was set today for March 28.

Circuit Judge A. M. Cristy refused request of defense counsel for a postponement until April 11, to permit Clarence Darrow, Chicago attorney, to come here and study the case before participating in the defense.

Slaton Man In Precinct Race

T. W. Covington Announces His Candidacy Saturday; Has Been Resident Of The County Eighteen Years

T. W. Covington of Slaton has entered the race for commissioner of precinct two, Lubbock county, he announced Saturday. Mr. Covington is making his first race for public office.

I was born and reared in the State of Georgia, and Ihave lived in Slaton for the past eighteen years. I have reared a family of two boys and one girl educating them in the Slaton schools. I have good substantial money in every institution in the town and Precinct, both schools and churches of whatsoever kind. My record as a citizen is open and above board from every angle, and in asking your support in my race for County Commissioner of Precinct No 2, I do so with a clear conscience from every angle If elected, I promise you only one thing which is a square deal to all concerned and that I will be commissioner of Precict 2. I am in favor of the lowest rate of taxation, with the lowest possible valuation, the very best schools possible for the money available, the best system of lateral roads, the strictest economical expenditures of all money spent in maintaining the county govenment, the reduction of all expenses, and I am strictly opposed to placing tax burdens upon the people without their consent. I assure you that if elected, my vote at all times will be cast for the issue as stated in this notice.

"In conclusion, I will say that no one will appreciate your vote and influence more than I will."

District Judge Is Upheld In Decision On Cotton Law

WACO, Mar. 5. (AP)—Only the final word of the Texas supreme court remained as a report for state official testing the Texas cotton acreage reduction law, after the tenth court of civil appeals today sustained a district court ruling that the law was "unconstitutional, null and void."

District Judge W. C. Davis of Franklin was upheld in his refusal in an injunction the state asked to prevent Fred L. Smith, farmer of Calvert, from planting to cotton this year more than 30 per cent of the land he had in cultivation in 1931.

Hunting accidents claimed six lives in Montana in 1931 as compared with three in 1930.

No Bar To Them
Polysyllables Are Their Hobby

NORMAN, Okla., March 5. Hyperpolysyllablisesquipedalianism probably would send anyone but a chemist on a hunt for a dictionary.

Not, however, Dr. A. C. Shead, assistant professor of chemistry at the University of Oklahoma, or Roy K. Valla of Okmulgee.

They are authors of an article, "The Eight Hydroxyquinolate-Saccharate Method of Seperation and Determination of Calcium Magnesium," to appear in the next analytical edition of the Journal of Industrial Engineering Chemistry.

Smith And Smith Entirely Different And Yet Alike

AMARILLO, March 5. (AP)—E. Smith the jeweler and E. L. Smith the tailor, got together today and moved into the same building.

The jeweler will occupy the front of the building, the tailor the rear. Both have been in business here 15 years.

Express Service Offered By Busses Strengthens Lubbock As Wholesale Center Of Area

Four Lines Take Merchandise And Other Articles To Merchants Over Territory Every Day; Fill Rush Calls

ONE of the little known and little publicized services that has helped build up Lubbock's wholesale business over this trade area is the twice a day package express service of the four bus lines operating out of Lubbock. Scores of packages daily are handled by the 17 busses that leave the Union Bus terminal in the Hotel Lubbock annex.

The service is under the supervision of the railroad commission of Texas in that that organization's regulations govern its charges. The service is twice a day, enabling local merchants to fill an order the same day it is received and to send it to the firm in another town.

Wide Area Served

A wide area is served, reaching as far west as Hobbs and Roswell New Mexico and east to Spur. Southeast the service goes to Sweetwater and south to Big Spring, while north is service to Amarillo and northwest to Clovis.

Take the Levelland line of the Pioneer motor lines, as an example of service. The driver, D. N. Holt, resides in Levelland and makes two round trips daily to Lubbock. Often before leaving Levelland at 8 o'clock in the morning he will be asked to call at local business house and to get an order for parts, repairs, ect., Mr. Holt has about an hour in Lubbock in the morning and that gives him time to personally attend to the errands.

Sometimes the afternoon trip is almost as heavy as the morning one for packages; again there are even more.

Rush Calls Filled

A number of Clovis, Lovington, Tatum, Hobbs and other New Mexico towns look to Lubbock for shipments of repairs and parts. These frequently have a local house to deliver a shipment to the bus terminal early in the morning so that by afternoon it will be at its destination.

The same is true of towns such as Tahoka, Lamesa, Post, Slaton, Ralls, Crosbyton, Dickens, Spur, Floydada, Snyder, Justiceburg, Abernathy, Hale Center and Plainview.

All kinds of shipments are handled. Lubbock ice cream makers with customers in the smaller towns around here, use busses winter and summer to deliver to their trade. In the hot weather at least one bus a day on each line has a load of ice cream packers.

They All Use Busses

Automobile parts dealers use the service during the year. In the season when farm machines are being prepared for service or used in planting or threshing, local implement dealers are good patrons. Bakers also use the busses.

Frequently drug stores in Lubbock are asked by stores in nearby towns to protect them with a supply of drugs or medicines until they can receive their shipment.

Newspapers are carried by nearly all of the busses. The Avalanche-Journal also use the local lines for this service.

Headquarters Maintained

Headquarters in each town are generally maintained at a drug store or a hotel. The proprietor acts as agent, sells tickets and handled packages. He will notify the person for whom the package is intended to come and get it. In some cases the shipment is sent collect, the receiver to pay delivery chargees while in other cases the shipper pays the cost. Each shipment is handled by a waybill and a record kept by the bus line.

During the cotton season hundreds of sacks of cotton samples are handled. Buyers in towns as far south as Lamesa and west into New Mexico, send their samples to Lubbock brokers by bus. On occasions as many as 20 to 25 sacks of cotton samples have been carried by one bus.

U. S. mail also is carried under contract. Each morning the Westex bus to Dickens and Spur, and the Pioneer busses to Muleshoe and Roswell have mail. The same lines have inbound mail later in the day. The South Plains coaches carry mail from O'Donnell to Lamesa.

Senate Candidate

Arthur P. Duggan, above, of Littlefield is the latest candidate for state senator of the 30th senatorial district. Mr. Duggan announced his candidacy last week. He is one of the leading citizens of Littlefield and takes part in many affairs of a sectional nature. He served as president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce several years ago.

PAVING IS COMPLETED

WHEELER, March 5. (AP) — Concrete paving now connects Shamrock and Wheeler, a distance of 20 miles apart. Concrete work was finished the last week in February and will be open to traffic in three weeks. The road already is in use, except for a few short detours.

Students are enrolled at Brigham Young university, Provo, Utah, from 17 states and five foreign nations.

Could Reach Far

Postex Mills Spin Much Thread

(By Staff Correspondent

POST, March. 5.—If all of the thread spun from 2,600 bales of Texas grown high grade cotton by the Postex Mills here, was made into one continuous thread, it would go around the earth at the equator 350,000 times.

Or, if stretched out it would reach nearly one sixth of the way between the earth and the sun.

This is the estimate of Herbert L. Jones, manager of the mills, who gives the following figures:

23,500 pounds of cotton yarn a week is spun from the 50 bales of cotton used; 20,160 yards of cotton thread to a pound; 473,760,000 yards of thread a week; 24,635,520,000 yards of thread spun in a year ; or 14,500,000 miles of thread.

Loan Meeting Will Be Held

Method And Procedure Of Obtaining Federal Loans On Crops To Be Outlined At Mass Meeting Here.

A mass meeting of farmers, before which the method and procedure of obtaining federal crop loans will be outlined, at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning will be at the Hilton hotel.

Owen W. Sherrill, administrator of federal production loans in Texas, will speak. Sherrill's work is under the recently enacted reconstruction finance act for agriculture.

If application blanks are available, the Lubbock county committee will begin receiving applications imediately after the meeting Wednesday, D. F. Eaton, Lubbock county farm agent, said.

The oldest attempt at keeping weather reports is said to have been made in 1644 by a minister in what is now Wilmington, Del.

OLD DOCTOR ESCAPES GALL BLADDER OPERATION

An old German physician, Dr. H. E. Hildebrand, many years ago, was severely suffering from what appeared to be a Gall Stone Trouble. He was frequently subject to colic attacks, gas pains, indigestion, pain in sides, back and around the liver. Rather than to submit to an operation he decided to treat his own case. So successful was he in his efforts he prescribed the same treatment to other sufferers. The amazing results they reported is convincing evidence of the merit of this preparation. Through the Dr. Hildebrand's Laboratories, Dept. 294-A, 155 N. Union Ave., Chicago, Ill., sufferers from Gal Stone, Gall Bladder and allied Liver and Stomach ailments everywhere may obtain a test of this splendid treatment free by writing to the above address at once.—Adv.

NATIONAL FIRST PRIZE $750

National Second Prize $250 — 48 STATE First Prizes $30 each

National Third Prize $100 — 48 STATE Second Prizes $20 each — 48 STATE Third Prizes $10 each

HOW THE PRIZES WILL BE AWARDED

The National First Prize of $750 will be awarded to the contestant who submits answers to the two simple questions which, in the opinion of the Judges, are best from the standpoint of accuracy, interest and advertising value. Ideas, not literary style or fine writing will count. Contestants who submit the second and third best answers will receive $250 and $100 respectively.

One hundred and forty-four other cash prizes will be awarded—three in each of the 48 states for the first, second and third best sets of answers received from each state. The amounts are specified above.

The Judges will be appointed by the United Drug Company, and each contestant agrees that the decision of these Judges will be accepted as final.

Prizes will be awarded as soon as possible after the contest closes. Winners will be notified by mail, and the prizes will be delivered through their local Rexall Drug Stores.

RULES OF CONTEST

1 Each contestant must use the Official Contest Entry Blank, which may be obtained at any Rexall Drug Store absolutely FREE. You do not have to buy anything to compete in this contest. Entries must be either typewritten or clearly written in ink.

2 No contestant may submit more than one entry. Owners of Rexall Drug Stores, or employees of Rexall Drug Stores, the United Drug Company and its associated plants, or members of such employees' families, are not eligible to compete in the contest.

3 Winners of the three National prizes will not be eligible for State prizes. In states where a National prize is awarded, the next three highest ranking contestants will receive the State prizes.

4 In the event of a tie for any prize, duplicate prizes will be awarded.

5 All entries must be mailed and postmarked before 12 o'clock midnight, Tuesday, April 5th, 1932. Mail your entry to REXALL in care of the National Broadcasting Studios, New York City, or in care of the radio station from which you heard this contest announced.

New Tire Store Added Business

The formal opening of a new tire store by C. F. Drexel, Lubbock man, the past week gave further evidence that Lubbock is on the advance in a business way. The store known as the Drexel Tire Service was opened up at 1112 13th street.

Mr. Drexel, formerly connected with the Citizens National bank, is in general charge of the store which will handle United States tires exclusively. He is assisted by Cecil Cagel as assistant manager. Mr. Cagel has had considerable experience in tire business, having formerly been connected with the Super Service station.

The new store will handle a complete line of tires and tubes and will do tire service work. A special service car will be maintained.

Latin Essays Sent To Waco

District Winners Are To Be Announced And Given Prizes At Latin Tournament Dinner At Amarillo April 9

Essays for the annual Latin tournament essay contest were sent last week to Mrs. Marian C. Butler of Waco, state chairman of the tournament. District winners will be announced and awarded prizes at the Latin tournament banquet in Amarillo, April 9.

Although all students taking Latin were eligible to write essays, only one could be chosen for the contest from each year of Latin taught.

J. D. Farrar's essay on "Public Utilities in Rome" was chosen from the first year essays. Idylle Glen Abbott represented second year, her subject being, "Rome Through the Eyes of a Barbarian Captive." "An Interview with Charon" written by Novelle Bussey, was chosen from the fourth year essays.

Gold pins will be awarded to the winners of first place, while those receiving second and third places will be given ribbons.

Tryouts for the teams for the Latin tournament examination contest will begin in two weeks, and by April 1, the contestants will be chosen. The district winner of first place in the fourth year Latin examination will receive a one-year scholarship in addition to the pin.

Pictorial Review Material Sent To Engraving Company

Material for the Pictorial Review, annual high school publication was sent to the Southwestern Engraving company, Fort Worth, Tuesday.

The material consisted of thirty-eight panels of mounted pictures and thirty-eight pen and ink drawings. These will be included in the thirty-two page book entitled "The Pictorial Review of the Westerner" which will be here for distribution about May 1.

"Texas Under Six Flags" Program Is Presented At Lubbock High School In Observance Of Independence Week

In honor of Texas Independence week, the Lubbock High school history department presented a program, "Texas Under Six Flags," Thursday afternoon in assembly.

Wilbur Roberts delivered a speech, "Empire of Texas, Unbounded Commonwealth." He closed his talk by sighting Texas as a 'poor man's paradise, and a rich man's dream."

Talbert Bennett, Lee Jackson, Maston Jones, and Hollis Carroll sang "Texas Our Texas," as an interlude.

The concluding number on the program was a pantomine of Texas under the six flags. As Layton Lawson read a resume of Texas history, the high school orchestra played, and on the stage the historical past of the Lone Star State was interpreted by students of the history department.

The French, Spanish, Mexican, Republic, United States, and Confederate flags were displayed.

As the curtain was drawn, in the last scene, which represented Texas as a member of the Union once more, the orchestra struck up the tune of, "The Star Spangled Banner," and the audience rose in tribute.

This program was directed by E. J. Lowrey, assisted by Mrs. W. P. Clement and Miss Nell Parmley.

Fewer Absentees Tuesday Than At Any Time Since Last Fall

Lubbock High school, last week, boasted of having fewer absentees than it had had since last fall.

Tuesday, the office force reported thirty-one students absent. That was the smallest number of absentees since school started.

The high school usually has more absentees than the grade schools, but the number of absentees March 1 fell below that of Central ward's. Central ward reported thirty-four absent.

Poughkeepsie was for a time the capital of New York.

Seen From The L.H.S. Flagpole

Miss Lula Mae Cravens, local expression teacher said that the final tryout between the two casts for the Interscholastic league play "The Gallows Gate," was Friday afternoon. This cast will represent Lubbock High school in the Interscholastic league contest.

The senior play cast practiced for the first time on the stage in the auditorium Tuesday, March 1, during the regular practice period.

The Lubbock High school band paraded Tuesday afternoon through the downtown district a few minutes before the arrival of A. P. Barrett, Texas chairman of President Hoover's reconstruction plan, and later listened to his talk given in the Tech gym.

Mrs. Ray Mowrey, expression teacher, was the critic for the final tryout Friday of the Interscholastic league play.

Olive Pearl, daughter of Principal R. W. Matthews, was cut about the chin Sunday when she fell from the balustrade at the First Presbyterian church. She has rushed to a hospital where several stitches were taken.

Members of the junior class are to have a party next Friday in the high school gym.

Anderson Brothers Jewelers has received the invoice for the senior rings. They are expected soon.

March 15, is the final day that seniors may order invitations from Woods Printing Co.

In preparation for "Good English Week," the journalism classes began their try-outs for a better-speech play, Thurdsay.

Under the supervision of Sam Leifeste, the tennis team is being selected by the process of elimination. Each player is to contest all others out for tennis. Those having the highest average will compose the final team. The five best boy and girl tennis players will enter the district meet.

Each member of Mrs. Del Morgan's gym classes was requested to wear her hair a different fashion last week.

Stencils for use in the chemistry laboratory were received Wednesday.

Contest To Be At Sweetwater

"My Home Town" Will Be May 12, 13 And 14; All Of High School Boys And Girls Are Eligible For Entrance

The "My Home Town" speech contest, sponsored by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, will be at Sweetwater, May 12, 13 and 14.

All high school boys and girls are eligible for entrance. Dan Powers, who is in charge of the local elimination contest, says that he expects about twelve entrants.

The boy or girl who wins in the local contest will receive a trip to Sweetwater and the winners at the finals will receive various prizes, including a loving cup to the first place winner and scholarships and other prizes to those placing in lower rank.

Local eliminations will be held about the first week of April.

The subject of the speeches will be "My Home Town" and the speech must not exceed five minutes in deliverance.

Lubbock School Board Will Lay Walk East Of Building

After being presented with a petition by the boy's division of the Good Citizenship club, the Lubbock school board has agreed to the laying of a walk along the west side of the L. H. S. building. The construction is to begin as soon as funds are available.

At a recent meeting of the Citizenship club, the petition was drawn up and later was presented to the school board by Superintendent M. H. Duncan. The walk was designated in the original plans of the building, but was not constructed.

Now that the walk is to be laid there will be no excuse for paths across the grass, and as a caution to forgetful students, signs have been posted in various locations on the campus. These signs were made and posted by members of the boy's club in high school.

Exhibit Case Decorated In Texas Motif

With E. M. Barnett in charge, the history department decorated the exhibit case in a Texas-Week motif. Different objects were contributed by the students.

The main attractions were guns which were used in Texas struggle with Mexico, contributed by Josephine Powell, Harry Leach, and James Lattimore; and currency, loaned by Klipstein Fry and Beth Holland, also used during the Civil war and the Mexican war.

A replica of the Alamo, made by Alan Welmaker and James Lattimore, were exhibited along with posters showing the different views and floor plan of this section. An oil painting of the Alamo by Elizabeth Whitnack was displayed.

Among the maps of Texas shown was a salt map of the state, an ink sketch of the battlefields, and a product map of the Lone Star State.

Pictures of Stephen F. Austin and Sam Houston were among the contributions. Pictures of the presidents and governors of Texas were arranged on a poster. Juanita Houghton painted flags to represent the six different ones under which Texas has been governed.

To Sell Tickets For Senior Play

Tickets for the senior play will be on sale starting Monday, March 14. The public will be able to get tickets through L. H. S. seniors or wait until the following week.

Each senior will be responsible for the disposal of two tickets. This first week will give him time to sell tickets to the students through the week.

According to R. W. Matthews, principal, each ticket will sell for 50 cents, and the first 400 tickets brought to his office and marked "reserved" will have choice seats on the first floor of the auditorium.

"There will be no extra charge for these seats if you are one of the first 400 to come to my office," Mr. Matthews stated.

Lubbock Voters To Elect Mayor, Commissioner And School Trustees

First Week In April To See Two Elections

School Election On April 2 And City Balloting Follows Three Days Later; Mayor For Re-Election

LUBBOCK voters on April 2 will select four members of the board of trustees of the Lubbock Independent School district and three days later, on Tuesday, April 5, will select a mayor and two city commissioners. The school election is on Saturday.

Both elections will be held in the city hall, on the first floor. Polls open at 8 a. m. and close at 6 p. m.

Regulations Given

Regulations governing "qualified voters" are the same in both elections according to City Secretary T. L. Holt, and A. C. Jackson, business manager of the school district. "Any person who holds a 1931 poll tax receipt and who resides within the city limits or the school district in entitled to vote in that eletcion." it was explained.

Participants in the city election are confined to qualified voters who reside within the city limits, while those residing within the limits of the school district, which includes a total of 96 sections of land, in and outside the city itself.

Must File By March 25

Besides Mayor J. J. Clements the terms of D. N. Leaverton and J. F. Bacon, commissioners, expire in the city election. They have until Friday, March 25, ten days before the voting, to file with the city secretary, a declaration of intentions to be a candidate, Mr. Holt said. Up to Saturday neither of the commissioners or the mayor had filed such a statement, although Mayor Clements has publicly advertised such intentions in the Avalanche-Journal. Also C. C. "Cash" Royalty has announced. It is expected Mr. Bacon will announce soon, he having informally stated such was his intentions. Mr. Leaverton has not announced, but it is understood from friends he has no intention at this time to make the race.

Holdover members of the commission are George Benson and John Roach. The post of commissioner pays $300 a year, under the charter, with at least two meetings of the commission each month. The mayor's salary is $900. Paydays are twice each month and no extra pay is made for meetings in excess of the legal number it was explained by City Manager Rodgers.

Must File Bond

Within five days after the election the successful candidates must qualify by filing a bond and taking the oath of office. Bond for the mayor is $5,000 and for the commissioners $2,500.

Out going school trustees are: C. E. Maedgen, J. T. Hutchinson, Neil H. Wright and W. B. Atkins. These men, if candidates, or others who aspire to be members of the board, must file their declarations of intentions ten days before the school election, which is April 2. This means that on or before March 22 their declarations must be on file in the office of the school district.

Successful candidates likewise must qualify within a specified time.

None Have Filed Yet

Up to Saturday none of the men whose terms expire this year, had announced their candidacy or had filed declarations of intentions to be a candidate. Holdovers are: R. F. Bayless, E. L. Robertson and S. C. Wilson.

Dr. Hutchinson is president and Mr. Maedgen secretary of the board.

Poll tax receipts issued by the county collector, indicate a total of 4,723 voters in the city. The number in the school district will be larger, because the limits of that municipality extend beyond those of the city proper.

AC COLLEGE COLUMN

By LOIS JACQUES, TECH CORRESPONDENT

REPEAT CONFERENCE TODAY

Due to the success of the program presented Friday night by the International Relations club, sponsors have decided to repeat the model disarmament conference at 3:30 this afternoon in the engineering auditorium. Townspeople and students are invited to attend.

The program has four divisions the first and fourth being moving pictures prepared by the secretariat of the League of Nations and sent out by the World Peace foundation, Boston. Canon Clements will introduce the discussions by telling of "Progress made toward disarmament since the World war." The third section of the program consists of speeches by students, summarizing addresses as given at the Geneva conference. Sponsors point out that only facts will be given and no propaganda used.

Clyde James and Doyle Settle will summarize the French proposals on disarmament; Riley Millard, the English; Charles O'Neall, the German; James Toothaker, the United States; Manuel DeBusk, the Japanese; Frank Ward, the Chinese, and G. R. Coker, the Russian.

RETURNS TO SCHOOL

After several days as a patient in West Texas hospital, Virginia Wester was able to resume her work in school Saturday.

READ WEEK BEGINS

From Monday through Saturday of this week has been designated "Dead Week" by the administration and no social activities are scheduled on the college calendar. No extra work is to be assigned by faculty members and no examinations to be given. This rule is made so that students may prepare for the final exams which will be given from Monday through Friday of next week.

MISS KNIPP RESIGNS

Georgina Conner, graduate student, has assumed her duties as secretary to Dean O. V. Adams of the engineering school. She takes the place vacated by the resignation of Miss Evelyn Knipp, who gave up the work March 1, and accompanied her mother to her home in Tulsa for a visit.

Miss Conner is a graduate of the University of New Mexico and has been doing graduate work in Tech this year, also serving as secretary to Dr. A. W. Evans, head of the education department.

DANCER HERE SOON

Harold Kreutzberg, acclaimed the world's greatest dancer, will appear here March 10 with his company of four girls. His program, which is the second number in the artists course series for this year, consists of selections from a repertoire of more than a hundred dances, including "startling creations never before seen in America."

The final number of the artists course will closely follow the Kreutzberg program. It is the presentation of Doris Kenyon, stage and screen actress, who will be here in the week of April 5. Tickets for the two entertainments are on sale in Mr. Waghorne's office, on the third floor of the ad building, costing 75c for the two. Both programs will be given in Lubbock High school auditorium.

DISTRICT MEET HERE

Two district contests are scheduled to be held at Tech next month. The first is a one-act play tournament, which will be here April 1. The other is the district 2 interscholastic league contest which will be held on the campus Friday and Saturday, April 15 and 16. Dr. A. W. Evans, head of the department of education, is in charge of the league program.

TO ATTEND CONFERENCE

Representatives from Tech will attend the Association of Texas colleges which is to meet in Dallas next month, among them Dean J. M. Gordon and J. F. McDonald, director of extension.

Mr. McDonald has been asked to assemble data and report on the question of obtaining recognition of extension class credits from the state department for students seeking certificates.

IS ON STATE COMMITTEE

Dean O. V. Adams, who received an appointment from the American Engineering council to membership on the Texas committee on Engineering and Employment, is cooperating with other members in making a survey of this section of the state.

As part of the work planned by the committee, Dean Adams has made a survey of unemployed engineers in this part of the state, and also graduates of the Tech school who are working. Of 83 graduates, 50 are employed in Texas. Of those who have completed their course here, 79.3 per cent are working, 74.4 per cent being in engineering fields. The Texas State highway department is the largest single employer.

Other projects of the committee include a survey of West Texas construction projects to have been built in 1931, which are not yet started, and sponsoring of national legislation affecting employment of engineers. E. W. Robinson, vice-president of McKenzie Construction company of San Antonio, is state chairman of the board.

VISITS SISTER HERE

Mary McMurry has as her guest this week her sister, Mrs. W. P. Morgan of Sweetwater. She was one of the guests at the freshman dance last night, when Miss McMurry was crowned queen of her class.

NEW COURSE TO OPEN

With the beginning of the spring term, several new courses will be offered through the extension department, Director McDonald said Saturday.

Third term freshman chemistry will be given in a night class taught by C. C. Galbraith and open to anyone who has had the first two terms. Prof. W. P. Clements will teach an extension class in education at Lorenzo, enrollment for which is to be completed Thursday night. A group at Dickens have requested a class in "Standardized Texas," to be taught by Dr. R. E. Garlin. Enrollment in this will be finished Tuesday night.

Dr. Raymond Sidwell will continue his class in geography at Meadow each Monday night. The class in charcoal and figure drawing will go on under the instruction of Prof. F. A. Kleinschmidt. It meets Tuesday and Thursday nights and Saturday afternoon in the architectural rooms.

Plains Stock Sells At Tops

J. M. McLain, Hart, And S. C. Arnett, Lubbock, Receive Top Prices Past Week For Sheep And Cattle

South Plains farmers who have had sheep on the Kansas City market the past week placed high, but two of the shipments being under $6 and one receiving the top price, $6.10.

At the same time a Lubbock cattle shipper, S. C. Arnett, received the top price $6.75 for his steers. C. M. Pipkin, market correspondent, reports.

The Struve Mercantile company, of Abernathy, Monday had 249 lambs that brought $6 for an average of 79 pounds. Tuesday W. C. Murray of Lubbock received the same price for 293 animals of the same weight. His shipment was also from Abernathy. Wednesday Mr. Struve received $5.85 for 248 lambs averaging 77 pounds. J. C. McLain of Hart received $6.10, the top price, for 598 lambs averaging 86 pounds. S. C. Hutcherson, also of Hart received $5.60 for 407 lambs that averaged 75 pounds.

C. D. Bird of Hale Center received $5.50 per hundred for 19 steers that weighed 752 each.

Mr. Arnett received the top price for 25 steers that averaged 1,247 pounds. For 28 steers that averaged 926 pounds he received $6.50. Cattle prices rose 25 to 50 cents the first three days.

Ralls Man Has Shipment On Fort Worth Market

W. H. Stephenson, Ralls, had a shipment of cattle on the Fort Worth market Thursday. He received the following prices: $2 for a bull weighing 1,010 pounds; $2 for a bull weighing 890 pounds; $2.75 for four heifers weighing 581 pounds each; $2.75 for 11 yearlings weighing 469 pounds and $2.50 for 12 calves weighing 330 pounds each.

LUCKY CROWD

EL PASO. Twenty-one prisoners in the city jail were lucky. Police Chief L. T. Robey recommended pardons for them because the jail was too, crowded and room was needed to house transients arrested. There were 118 prisoners at the time of the release of the lucky 21.

Temple Beats Houston Cagers For State Title

SPYING ON SPORTS

BY COLLIER PARRIS

The rumor that Ty Cobb bought the Cincinnati Reds has been denied—and Cobb retains his reputation of being a smart guy.

The Ropesville basketball contingent returns home today, somewhat battered and buried in body and spirit but otherwise none the worse off for the trip to Austin. It was a great experience for the youngsters and their coach, that trip to the state meet. It is something every high school basketeers looks forward to and which but few realize. It is no discredit to Coach Mills' outfit that they were beaten in a quarter-final game by the tournament favorite, San Jacinto of Houston. They accomplished something when they defeated Corsicana in the first round. Corsicana was due to go to the semi-finals according to early rating.

So that probably ends the basketball season for 1932. Final games in the Southwest Conference were played last night. There are, of course the national A. A. U. games at Kansas City and other big tournaments. We will watch the A. A. U. joust with usual interest, accelerated by the fact that the West Texas Teachers are among those running. The tournament begins Monday. If they are fast on the draw, the Texans may wade through the first round of play.

Somebody wonders how in the world Sir Malcolm Campbell manages to escape accidents with nobody in the back seat to help him drive.

Quite a flock of fans were out to the gymnasium yesterday cheering for the "Ends" and "Centers" in the final game of the football-basketball series. The Ends won the game and the gold-plated "loving" cup, the latter to be on display at the trophy room hereafter. There might have been hard feelings between the football boys who will try for positions Pete Cawthon's varsity eleven next fall, had it not been for that trophy. The losers got as great a kick out of seeing the winners accept the "cup" as the Ends did in winning the contest, after which the champion ping pong player of the Avalanche-Journal staff defeated Coach Dutchey Smith and Manager Bo Williams in straight sets.

Tech athletic departments stepped into a new field yesterday and licked the Amarillo Junior college Badgers three matches out of five. It was the first intercollegiate golf match ever attempted by the Tech golfers, and a right good start it was. Golf should be encouraged at Tech. The best golfers in town go to college and it should be brought to the attention of schools, who boast of strong golf teams. We could pick you a team of four and one alternate which could hold its own against any college or university golf team in this section, or we ask pardon in advance of we're wrong. Southern Methodist university usually takes things pretty handily in the Southwest Conference and the Pony school has produced some good golfers, now of considerable professional and amateur rating. So has T. C. U. Gus Moreland, now of Dallas, was once interested in T. C. U. We mean to intimate here that Tech has a set of golfers who could play with the Southwest Conference boys and make things interesting.

Coach Weldon Chapman says he may take a few of his Lubbock High school track men to Fort Worth next Saturday to the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock show track and field meet. Our observation of his thinly clads has been somewhat slight, but we were out there the other day to be particularly impressed by the work of three youngsters. At least two of them may get to make the Fort Worth trip. Dalton Blagg, whom you remember from football days, is somewhat of a hurdler. Vester Ritchie can jump pretty high and is a fair sprinter. With a little more training and practice Graham Stanfill can do the mile in something under five minutes.

A surprise attack of winter late last week was not altogether conducive to taking a bath, much less coming out for the swimming team. But, believe it or not, Tech has a swimming team. That is, Tech will have a swimming team within the next several days. Not only that but the team is going to Roswell two weeks from tomorrow, where it is still colder, to expose their ability to splash and flail the waves of a pool in a dual meet with the New Mexico Military Institute team. Tech accepted the N. M. M. I. challenge more than a week ago, and

Central Texas Quintet Takes 30-23 Victory

Brackenridge Of San Antonio Defeats Dallas Tech To Get Third Place Honors; Ropes Conqueror Is Second

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Mar. 5. (AP) — Temple High school tonight was crowned the 1932 champion of the Texas Interscholastic league, succeeding Athens.

In a typical tournament final thriller the Temple Wildcats clawed the fur from the Golden Bears of San Jacinto high of Houston to win, 30-23.

There was no doubt about the superiority of the Wildcat quintet, Temple leading throughout the game despite desperate efforts of San Jacinto to overtake them.

Lee Tynes, captain and forward on San Jacinto, played herculean ball although lately recovered from an illness. Tynes scored 16 points on seven from the field and two free throws, but his teammates could not hit the hoop with any consistency.

Dallas Tech Loses

Brackenridge of San Antonio won third place, defeating Dallas Tech, 24-23, in a hot contest preliminary to the championship game.

Tynes was the whole show for the Golden Bears. The team work of the Wildcats was the outstanding feature of Temple's play. It would be hard to pick an individual star from the Temple five. Lange, forward, led the scoring with five field goals and one foul. K. Clark, guard, scored three fielders and one foul and D. Clark three field goals. Bonner, Temple forward, played a smashing floor game and Harrison, guard, played stellar ball until he was ejected on personal fouls.

Tynes ran his tournament scoring total to 60 made on 26 field goals and eight fouls.

D. Clark opened the scoring with a beautiful side shot. He was followed by Lange with another. Eaton, Houston guard, dropped in a foul and Lange made another field goal. Tigner, Houston guard, slipped in a crip shot and D. Clark looped in another two pointer.

Temple displayed unexpected strength in defeating Dallas Tech, 30 to 22, the latter having been generally favored to win handily and meet San Jacinto in the final.

San Jacinto experienced considerable difficulty in defeating Brackenridge, 19 to 12, the San Antonio Eagles exhibiting a dogged defense that the Golden Bears found extremely hard to penetrate.

A meeting of coaches and officials of the interscholastic league was held today to discuss advisability of adopting a plan that would eliminate byes in the opening round. To do this the number of bi-district champions would have to be reduced to 12 or increased to 16.

Cardinals Beat Athletics In "World Series" Opener

Circuit Drive By Collins In 10th Frame Unties Knot To Give Cards Victory As Champions Open First Series

(By The Associated Press)

MIAMI, Fla., Mar. 5.—The world champion Cardinals put on an exciting finish today to pull the opening game of the spring "World Series" out of the fire and beat the Philadelphia Athletics, 6 to 5, in 10 innings.

A home run drive over the right field fence in the first extra frame by Jim Collins, first base understudy, settled the issue in favor of St. Louis after a three run rally tied the score in the ninth. The big blow in the ninth was delivered by Lee Cunningham, rookie third sacker, whose double brought in two runs, with two out, and sent the game into overtime.

A crowd of 2,000 fans, including President William Harridge of the American League, turned out for the opening exhibition game of the Florida training season.

Bill Teal's Ends Win, 40-24 Over Centers For Cage Title

Captain Tribble's Men Threat In First Half But Scoring Of Price And Hitchcock Is Too Great A Hazard

Captain William Teal's basketball team of potential wingmen on the Texas Tech Matador football teams yesterday defeated a team of future candidates for center positions, 40 to 24, in the final game of an exciting cage series at the Tech gymnasium.

The gosling of Yancy Price, regular end on the Matador team last fall, and Matthew Hitchcock, the other end, was largely responsible for the high score which won the championship for the Ends. The game concluded a series of six contests, during which each of the teams had met and defeated two other clubs. Seven teams, corresponding to the number of positions on a football lineup, entered the tournament last Monday.

Off to a 10 to 2 lead early in the game, the Ends were surprised by a slashing attack by the Centers who tired long shots to tie the score up before the wingmen could sing another counter. Long, smooth shots by Captain Les "Terrible" Tribble, Leonard Curfman and "Sno" Flake in quick succession evened the count at 10-all. Even at that, the Centers were trailing by ten points at the half, and the lead increased as the game proceeded.

Ends Beat Quarters

The Ends defeated the Quarterbacks, captained by Speed Moffett, 29 to 24, Friday afternoon, in a semi-final game. A day earlier the Pullbacks had been eliminated by the Centers, 32 to 26.

The Ends defeated the Halfbacks, 27 to 17, in a first round game, while the Centers made a more impressive start with a 39 to 6 victory over the Tackles in the first game of the series. The Quarterbacks finished in third place, having won a 26 to 23 decision over the Guards in a first round game.

Coach Pete Cawthon ordered the basketball series as a measure of spring training for football candidates, though official spring football training will not start until next month.

Herschel "Tad" Tadlock and Harvey Dunn, regular ends on the 1932 Matador basketball team, officiated at the games.

The Ends' lineup for yesterday consisted of Malcolm Martin, Wilson Gilmore, Matt Hitchcock, Yancy Price and Wayne Larsen, with Brown going in to sink two field goals.

Lott, Whacker Barton, Allen Portner, Flake, Tribble and Curfman made up the Centers' lineup.

Metric System To Be Used In Future Track, Field Events

NEW YORK, Mar. 5. (AP)—The Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletes of America, one of the two important governing bodies of college track and field sports, voted at its meeting today to approve the use of the metric system in the future if the Amateur Athletic union decides to change from the conventional yards and miles.

The metric system of measurements is universal in Europe, but in the past has been used only occasionally in American athletics.

Interscholastic League Meet In Garza County Is Planned

POST, March 5.—Plans are well under way for the annual Garza county Interscholastic league meet to be held in Post April 1 and 2, according to Ira Witt, superintendent of schools.

All schools of the county have been invited to participate. It is believed that all will be represented.

Literary and kindred work is to be handled in the high school building, with track and field events on the two and a half acre athletic field to the year. The usual track and field events are scheduled, with tennis in singles and doubles.

The Gallagher flour mill at Sandusky, O., which shipped the first flour ever made in that region to New York 100 years ago, still is in operation.

His Team Wins

BILL TEAL-END

Although he never set foot on the floor, in costume, William Teal's basketball team of football ends, members of which will compete against him for a position on the Matador grid team next fall, won the inter-squad cage championship yesterday by defeating the Centers.

Cubs Beat Giants In Practice Tilt

AVALON, Cal., Mar. 5. (AP)—The Chicago Cubs and the New York Giants, two of the most formidable clubs in the National League, met in the first baseball game of the season of each team here today and the Cubs handed the forces of John McGraw a six to 1 defeat.

Stanley Hack, Cub third baseman, hit two triples, the best bat of the game.

"NORTHER" HOLDS SOX INDOORS AT SANTONE

SAN ANTONIO, Mar. 5. (AP)—A "norther," blew through San Antonio last night, the temperature fell 35 degrees, and the Chicago White Sox remained in their rooms most of today.

Later arrangements were made for the athletes to exercise in the local Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. Sunday sessions were ordered by Manager Lew Fonseca, to make up for lost time.

Thirty-Two Players Eligible For Houston Tennis Tourney

Tech Golfers Defeat Amarillo College In Three Matches At Meadowbrook: To Return Visit

Billy Holmes, Walter Pendleton And Lyle Holmes, First Three On Tech List, Defeat Trio Of Badger Golfers

Texas Tech defeated a fivesome from Amarillo Junior college yesterday afternoon, playing over the Meadowbrook course, by winning three of the five matches. The matches were played in almost freezing weather and were slow and listless throughout.

Coach C. P. Rumph of the Badgers brought a good representation of the golfing talent in Amarillo. Kaufman, McDavid, McKnight, Small and Duniven; all par shooters. McDavid is the present Country club champion in Amarillo. C. C. Small is the Wellington city champion, and Kaufman and McKnight are former Sandie stars.

The pairing for the matches were: Billie Holmes vs. Kaufman; Walter Pendleton vs. McDavid; Lyle Holmes vs. McKnight; Doyce Clark vs. Duniven; and Charles Moore vs. Small. The men played in the order and position named.

B. Holmes Heads Scoring

Billy Holmes climaxed an easy match with Kaufman by taking a birdie 3 on the twelfth hole and winning, 8 and 7. Holmes' score for the front nine was even par. It was undoubtedly the best score of the day. Pendleton won a hard fought match from McDavid by coming behind to gain a lead and finally winning, 2 and 1. Pendleton shot a steady game throughout the match which proved to be too stiff for the young Amarillo Country club champion. His shots were down the center of the fairway and his approaching accurate, making it comparatively easy for him to sink his putts.

Lyle Holmes won handily over McKnight by taking the long end of a 6 and 5 count. His score was 36 for the front nine and one over par. Doyce Clark lost a hard fought match to C. L. Duniven, former Tech student, 1 up. Inability to sink putts was responsible for Clark's loss. C. C. Small shot two over par on the front nine and was only two over on the back nine when he brought his match to a close at the seventeenth green by winning 3 and 2. Moore's iron shots were insufficient to equal the long accurate drives of Small's.

Tech will give the Badgers a return match sometime in the later part of this month. A date has not been definitely decided upon.

Work To Be Done On Highway Between Post And Kent Line

By Staff Correspondent

POST, March 5.—Nearly 20 miles of state Highway 84 between the Kent county line and Post, is to be grubbed out and the shoulders straightened and built up, Herschel Brown, foreman of the state highway department's maintenance work in Garza and Lynn counties, says.

Between six and seven miles has been completed. The work was started at the Kent county line and is coming towards Post.

Texas Aggies Down Steers 14-9 To End S. W. Cage Year

COLLEGE STATION, Mar. 5. (AP) Coach John Reid's Texas Aggie cagers defeated the Texas University Longhorns, 14 to 9, here tonight in a great defensive contest to end the Southwest Conference season. The Longhorns were held to one field goal in each half.

The victory gave the Aggies a tie with the Rice Owls for fifth place in the Conference standing. The Longhorns already had cinched fourth place.

Highway Patrolmen Clamping Lid On Car License Stealing

State highway patrolmen and inspectors in this section are clamping the lid on thefts of automobile license plates and operation of automobiles with wrong licenses, R. C. Keller, inspector, said Saturday.

A Lubbock man was arrested yesterday by Patrolman Jack Reaves on complaints from Sweetwater. The man, Keller said, had stolen a license plate from a Lubbock car and had been arrested in Sweetwater for using a wrong license. He escaped Sweetwater officers, it was said, and when arrested here the stolen plate was found in his car.

A complaint charging operation of a car with a wrong license was filed in Justice H. K. Porter's court yesterday.

Mrs. Redman To Face Trial For Slaying

Garza County Woman Up In Hearing At Tahoka Opening Monday; Charged With Death Of Howard Chase

By Staff Correspondent)

TAHOKA, March 5—The trial of Mrs. Ola Redman, of the Graham Chapel community just over the line in Garza county from Grassland, Lynn county, on a charge of murder for the alleged slaying of Howard "Fred" Chase, of the Gordon community, is to open in district court here Monday, March 7, Thomas L. Price, district attorney, announces.

A special venire has been summoned to handle the case. The slaying occurred in June, 1931, and Mrs. Redman has been free on bond. The case has attracted wide attention in both counties because of the prominence of the parties involved.

N. C. Outlaw, Post attorney and former county attorney of Crosby county, has been retained by Mrs. Redman as her attorney. Mr. Price will handle the prosecution and Judge Gordon B. McGuire of Lamesa is the district judge.

Both sides have summoned a large number of witnesses for the hearing.

Ag Contest Is Set March 28

Preliminary Details Are Out For Plains Vocational Contests; Affair Is Divided In Five Groups

Preliminary announcement of details for the seventh annual South Plains Vocational Agriculture contest to be held at Texas Technological college Monday, March 28, was mailed by Ray C. Mowery, general superintendent, to 100 schools in West Texas.

There will be five groups of contests, with classes as follows: dairy cattle, seven classes to judge and four sets of reasons; livestock other than dairy cattle, eight classes with four sets of oral reasons; plant production, six classes in all with three sets of oral reasons as one division with cotton classing in another and budding and grafting in another; poultry, six classes and two classes of eggs, with an examination of 50 questions covering the standard of perfection and farm shop with divisions.

Must Make Entry

"All teams that expect to enter the farm shop contest must make their entry by March 14, as we need some time in securing material for this contest," Mr. Mowery said in his announcement.

Junior and senior students of the school of agriculture at Texas Tech, host to the contest, will assist the director general in the handling of classes of contestants. A large list of students who will handle the details of the contest, is expected to be issued soon.

To Give Cups

Five cups are to be given team winners in the contest, one in each division. In addition the regular cups, two special ones are to be offered. One is for cotton judging and was given by the Texas Cotton Cooperative association to the winning team in that contest. The other is from the Kansas City Board of Trade and will go to the winning grain sorghum team.

Both of the new cups are to be the permanent property of the team winning the cups three times.

Copies of the rules and regulations governing the contest were mailed to all schools in this area. There are 235 schools in Texas giving vocational agriculture work in the high school and 100 of these are in the Tech area.

Contests Varied

Students cannot compete in the same contest this year that they did last year or any other year. None of the entrants can have worked on specimens owned by the local school and they must never have taken part in an interstate or state-wide contest before. Scholastic standing in the school must be as good as that required in athletic contests.

All contestants must be ready by 8 o'clock the morning of March 28. Lists of entries in each contest must be sent the general superintendent by the coach before March 21.

Fifth Annual Panhandle-Plains Dairy Show Is Expected To Draw Record Number Of Exhibits

Rules Revised And Committees Are Already Busy

(By Staff Correspondent)

PLAINVIEW, March 5. — With committees for the fifth annual Panhandle-Plains dairy show, April 11-14, appointed and already functioning, the revised rules are expected to bring together a great aggregation of dairy cattle from West Texas and eastern New Mexico.

The $3,500 premium list was approved at the last meeting of directors and officers. There are nine divisions or departments, with prize moneys announced as follows: Jersey department, $1,172.50; Holstein department, $540; Guernsey department, $540; production department, $150; county herd department, $250; 4-H club department, $447; vocational agriculture judging department $90; 4-H judging department, $90, and dairy products department $40.

There will be nine prizes in the Jersey classes, from $15 down to one dollar, with six prizes in the county herd class. Guernsey and Holstein classes will not have as many prizes, because of fewer animals in each group.

No Changes In Contests

No change was made in the vocational or 4-H club contest amounts.

In the dairy products department there will be five classes with prizes of $3, $2 and three $1 prizes in each class. Classes are: farm butter, creamery butter, market milk, American cheese and cottage cheese.

Last year it was voted to permit eastern New Mexico counties to enter the show. This will enlarge the area of the show and make competition more keen. Under a ruling adopted any student eligible to compete in a Texas A. and M. contest is eligible at the Panhandle-Plains show.

Tests for tuberculosis will be made this year the same as in the 1931 show. This plan was found to be very satisfactory.

Large Crowds Expected

Attendance this year is expected to exceed the 45,000 record of 1931. From all reports received here over the entire area, the farmers and dairymen will be present in larger numbers than ever before. With more money prizes in the Jersey class, nine monies instead of seven as heretofore, a larger list is predicted.

C. H. Staples of Texas A. and M. was asked to be judge of the show.

On the closing day, Thursday, April 14, a sale in which at least 25 high class animals will be sold at auction, is announced.

Executive: P. C. Bennett, Amarillo, president; J. E. Rigler, Plainview, vice-president; Grady Shipp Plainview, general manager; B Sherrod, Lubbock; Henry Ansley, Amarillo; O. L. Stansell, Floydada; S. J. Payne, Tulia, honorary president and W. B. Lee, Spur.

Questionnaire Is Sent Out To Fech By Interior Bureau

A questionnaire sent out by the bureau of education of the U. S. Department of the Interior, to all schools and colleges have to do with education of teachers, has been answered by Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of Texas Technological college, on behalf of the local institution.

Information concerning the training of instructions engaged in imparting to others technical knowledge of teaching, is sought by the federal bureau. The questionnaire did not have many questions. Word from Washington was that the replies would be grouped for study and that no individual or school identity would be made known.

Brawl Staged In Lynn Jail

Two Men Sentenced To Pen On Liquor Charges Fight; One Severely Beaten; Other Is Facing Charges

TAHOKA, March 5. (Special) — Transactions connected with liquor sales, for which each had been sentenced to the state penitentiary, led to the violent argument which resulted in a grand jury indictment charging W. D. Chenault with assault to murder R. H. Adams, according to a reliable source.

Chenault had been sentenced to two years on a guilty plea and Adams to a year when found guilty of selling liquor. The altercation in which Adams, 64 years old, was beaten and choked occurred in the Lynn county jail, in which both were inmates. The two lived near each other in the Grassland community.

A 106th district court grand jury indicted Chenault for assault to murder last Tuesday, the day following the fight. Henry Reed, another prisoner, pulled Chenault off Adams. The victim received medical attention.

Chenault also faces an arson charge and an additional liquor law violation count.

Reed, of Tahoka, had received a two-year penitentiary term for theft of a plow.

Lubbock Man Invents New Game

O. R. Gable Applies For Patent On "Barricades" And Hopes To Be Able To Popularize It Over Nation

A LUBBOCK man is the inventor of a novel game which he believes will some day be one of the most popular in the United States.

He is O. R. Gable of 2322 Eighth street and his game is called "Barricades."

Mr. Gable just recently completed his first model of the game and has had it in operation at a downtown amusement place the past week. He spent about a month in perfecting his first model, he said. He has worked on the idea of the game for the past three months.

The game consists in the shooting of wooden discs resembling checkers to certain designated spots on a glass enclosed board. Certain discs shot to certain colored spots count higher than others in the scoring of the game. A unique method of scoring is employed. Designated points on the board are: King's palace, Czar's palace, Captain's dugout, General's stronghold, Mayor's fort, No Man's Land and Hospital zone. Out of bounds on the board makes a disc a "dead soldier."

Idea From "Shuffleboard"

Mr. Gable conceived the idea of the game, he said, while he was a student in college. "Shuffleboard" was a popular game in those days, he said, and every since he has been thinking of some way of modifying and perfecting a game similiar to it.

He plans to market the game on a large scale in three forms: one of a commercial type operated by a five-cent slot release, another for the home and still another of a table type to be used like a pool table. Mr. Gable says that still another type to be played on a floor like a bowling alley can also be manufactured.

He has applied for a patent on the invention and hopes soon to be able to start manufacturing the games. The patent covers the entire idea of the game as well as the five-cent slot release and the special device for returning discs from the board.

Mr. Gable started to work on the game in earnest recently when he perceived the popularity of the marble board which have been in operation here in the past month or so. His game requires much more skill and correct shooting than the marble boards, he said.

Tax Hearing Is Scheduled

School Trustees Of County To Gather In Idalou Tuesday For Discussion Of Uniform Tax Rate

Lubbock county school trustees have been invited by the board of the Acuff Independent school district to meet at Idalou Tuesday, March 8 for the purpose of discussing a more uniform tax rate for the several schools of the county and also to discuss a more uniform salary schedule for teachers.

The action of the Acuff board was unanimous, every member voting to issue the call.

According to reports the call, as announced last week, has caused considerable comment over the county. Many trustees and others interested in school matters, have announced their intentions of attending the meeting.

Members of the Acuff board are: W. L. Blackman, chairman; V. C. Snodgrass, Bob Pace, Earl R. Davis, Elmer Rush, Joe Hester and George Gregory.

Tests of paper-making quality of goldenrod stalks by the bureau of standards showed the material to be an inferior source of fiber.

Hartford Police Continue To Hold Nurse's Sweetheart

No Charge Yet Filed Against Henry Johnson

Expected Development Is Not Forthcoming As Long Grill Halts For Night; Car And Questioning Draws Crowd

BY THEODORE F. KOOP
Associated Press Writer

HARTFORD, Conn., Mar. 5. (AP)—Although State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn said an expected development in the trail of the Lindbergh baby kidnapers failed to develop tonight, he announced he would continue to hold Henry (Red) Johnson, a friend of the child's nurse.

Johnson, a sailor from Englewood, N. J., who was taken into custody here yesterday at his brother's home, remained in a cell in the county building after Alcorn and County Detective Edward J. Hickey finished an intermittent grilling extending over a 30-hour period.

No Charge Filed

A specific charge has not been filed against Johnson, and attorney's began to speculate as to the length of time a man can be held in the state without a warrant. Some legal observers maintained the Connecticut statutes permit an indefinite period.

Johnson, who has been acquainted with Miss Betty Gow, the nurse, the past three years, spent the entire evening in Alcorn's office. Previously he had been questioned all afternoon and throughout Friday night.

Crowd Is On Hand

After Alcorn and Hickey went home at 11:30 p. m., a crowd of persons remained around the county building. In the courtyard, just outside the window of Johnson's cell, stood the green coupe in wh'ch he said he had come to Hartford from Englewood early Wednesday.

Two possible connections with the case were regarded by officials as important in the detention of Johnson.

Milk Bottle Cap Clue

One of these clues was a milk bottle cap, dated Wednesday and apparently used by a New Jersey dairy, found in Johnson's green coupe in which he said he arrived at a brother's home in West Hartford at 1:30 a. m., that day.

The other was the disclosure that the ladder used by the kidnapers was of the same type and kind of wood as those used in a Bronx shipyard in which is kept the yacht of Thomas W. Lamont, New York banker and Johnson's former employer.

Cap Is Questioned

The milk bottle cap, said an official who would not permit the use of his name, would indicate that Johnson could not have arrived here at the time he gave. The caps, the official explained, are dated a day before their sale.

Johnson, taken into custody yesterday by request of Englewood police, was held incommunicado in a cell in the county buildine after extended questioning by State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn and County Detective Edward J. Hickey during the night and afternoon.

No definite charge has been placed against him but the Connecticut law fixed no limit on the length of time a person may be held only on suspicion.

Officers Keep Quiet

Alcorn and Hickey would not discuss the result of their questioning of the sailor other than to indicate there was no immediate intention of releasing him.

Alcorn said, however, that reports he had confessed to participating the abduction of the 20-months-old boy were without foundation.

A milk bottle and its cap were found in Johnson's car outside the home of his brother, John, in West Hartford. Hickey took the bottle from the building during the afternoon but did not say where he was going.

While the two county officials continued their examination of Johnson, four Newark, N. J., detectives waited in the building for permission to question him.

Frank L. Shipmaker, a filling station proprietor at Rocky Hill, went into Alcorn's office for a few minutes to report that he had seen a man, woman and baby in a car similar to Johnson's pass his place Wednesday afternoon. John Johnson also was questioned briefly.

Meanwhile Johnson's landlady at Englewood said he was in her home Tuesday night, but she could not remember whether he was there all evening. It was Tuesday night that the Lindbergh baby was kidnaped.

The travelling bag Johnson brought here was said to contain a number of newspaper clippings about the kidnaping.

Tech Judging Team Awarded Second In Stock Show Event

The Texas Technological college livestock judging team won second place at the Southwestern exposition and Fat Stock show in Fort Worth Saturday night, Coach Ray C. Mowery informed school officials.

In the livestock judging division the local team won three second places, in cattle, hog and sheep judging. Curtis Williams, ranking member of the Tech team, won individual honors in hog judging. James Potts of Tech was second in individual honors in judging of horses. The Oklahoma A. and M. team was first in livestock judging, with 3,970 points; Tech had 3,883; and Texas A. and M. trailed for third with one point less. Louisiana State university ranked fourth, with 3,738 points.

Lindy Calls His Baby 'It'; Real Name Is Charles

HOPEWELL, N. J. Mar. 5. (AP)—If it is the Lindbergh baby, he will answer to the name of Charles. That is what his mother calls him, just as she calls his father.

Colonel Lindbergh has a pet name of his own for his son. He calls him "It." Charles already is able to return the compliment. He calls his father "It", too.

Politics Will Get Spotlight On Wednesday

Democratic Leaders Of State Are To Gather In Ft. Worth To Select Convention City For Texas Session

tion as of 1930, increasing its representation in the national house from 18 to 21 members and the Texas legislature's failure to redistrict the state to make room for the newcomers, has filed with the committee a protest against the proposed rule of requiring candidates to file for positions.

Candidates Listed

Those who had announced their candidacies with still others on the verge of coming in, included Oscar Holcombe of Houston, Mrs. Phebe K. Warner of Claude, R. B. Hood of Weatherford, Sterling P. Strong of Dallas, Joe Burkett of San Antonio, E. G. Brown of Corpus Christi, George B. Terrell of Alto, Ernest O. Thompson of Amarillo, W. E. Myres of Fort Worth, W. Erskine Williams of Fort Worth, D. B. Chapin of Gladewater, Charles P. Smith of Henderson, Lamar Gill of Raymondville, E. G. Senter of Arlington, Cyclone Davis of Sulphur Springs, Mrs. Ida M. Darden of Houston, Pink L. Parrish of Lubbock, W. E. (Bill) Lea of Orange and L. J. Sulak of LaGrange.

All these together with a sprinkling of candidates and would-be-candidates for state offices, were planning to invade Fort Worth for the big pow-wow.

Speculation Is Seen

There probably will be much politicing with renewed speculation over Governor R. S. Sterling's delayed announcement for a second term. While he holds off formally announcing his candidacy those close to him seem to be unable to allay gossip that it is possible he will decide at the last minute to retire to his private affairs.

Doubtless there will move into Fort Worth that group of wiseacres who would point out that James V. Allred, attorney general, and Edgar Witt of Waco, lieutenant governor, are delaying their respective announcements for re-election because they are seriously considering making the race for governor.

San Antonio, Austin, Houston, Fort Worth and possibly other cities planned to have large delegations on hand to bid for the state presidential convention.

Tax Program

for the first $4,000 from 3 to 4 per cent for the second $4,000 and from 5 to 6 per cent for the next $6,000.

Surtax Graduated

The Surtax rate is on income in excess of $10,000 with one per cent up to $12,000. It then is graduated up to 40 per cent for $100,000.

The corporate income tax was boosted from 12 to 13 per cent and $21,000,000 is expected from the one per cent increase.

The maximum estate tax was increased from 20 to 40 per cent but the maximum gift tax was placed at thirty per cent, a $100,000 exemption being allowed on the latter the appraisal is to take place 18 months after death.

Places of amusement with admissions of 25 cents and above were assessed a flat ten per cent designed to produce $90,000,000.

Oils Are Included

The tax on stock transfers was increased from two to four per cent and is expected to produce $28,000,000. This also will apply to loans of stock used for short selling. No tax was fixed on bond transfers.

An excise tax of four cents a gallon on all lubricating oil was imposed and is expected to produce $25,000,000. A levy of one cent a gallon on imported gasoline, gasoline oil, fuel and crude oil was levied.

A 35 cent a gallon tax was placed on malt syrup, a 40 per cent ad valorem tax on grape concentrates and a 5 cents a gallon tax on wort estimated to return $50,000,000.

From telephone, telegraph and radio messages taxes, $35,000,000 is expected. A five cent tax is imposed on messages costing from 31 to 49 cents, and a ten cent tax on those costing more than 50 cents.

Newspapers and press associations having leased wires are exempt.

OFFICIAL CHARGED

WAXAHACHIE, Mar. 5. (AP)—C. I. Jones, until recently deputy county tax collector, today was charged with misapplication of $4,850.67 in public funds.

Fortune Spent Covering News Of Lindy Case

Newspaper, Press Groups And Radio Pouring Their Money Into Story; Sound Picture Firms Also Work On Case

(By The Associated Press)

HOEWELL, N. J., Mar. 5. —It's costing thousands daily to supply the world's appetite for tidings of the hunt for the Lindbergh baby.

Metropolitan newspapers and press associations rushed their forces to the scene, until now there is an army of close to 200 men checking every rumor, tracking down every lead.

Cost Tremendous

The maintenance of these men is costing about $4,000 a day. In addition, every 24 hours there is an added cost of approximately $1,300 in telegraph tolls. Forty-three wires, operated by the two major telegraph companies, are carrying from Trenton, Hopewell, and Princeton a load of 350,000 words a day on the search.

Photograph syndicates and newspapers have five planes at an airport near Hopewell to rush out latest pictures. The planes are available for flight to New York constantly.

Radio Is Active

Broadcasting companies estimated they are spending $7,500 a day to put developments of the story on the air. Four newsreel companies have "sound crews" here to cover the story for motion picture audiences. Based on the figures of a leader of one of the crews, the combined expense of the four companies is $2,000 daily.

Four Injured

bruises on the leg, and was dismissed.

The driver of the automobile, which was wrecked, was Lawson Shaw, about 22. He, W. T. Hanes, about 35, and Morgan Layfield, about 22, were uninjured. Hanes is a school teacher and also operates a store at Whitharral. All five were received at the sanitarium about 30 minutes after the accident. They were taken there by automobile.

Ambulance Called

C. G. Farr, driver of an automobile in collision with a motorcycle ridden by Wiggins, called a Bynum-Morgan ambulance and accompanied the injured man to the hospital. Farr, living at 1617 Sixteenth street, reported to police that Wiggins turned in front of the automobile in the middle of the block on Seventh street between Avenues L and M at 7:05 a. m.

Wiggins, an Avalanche-Journal carrier the last five and a half years, is a junior in electrical engineering at Texas Technological college.

Floyd Hester, 20, son of J. H. Hester, route No. 2 of Slaton, was received at Lubbock sanitarium at 6:30 o'clock Friday night. His right hand had been caught in a gin cleaner at the Farm Bureau gin at Acuff. An amputation below the elbow was performed.

Ohio Lad

Liquor Caught, Too

Harrison kicked in a flimsy, false wall and found Jimmie, white-faced and trembling, between two men, one of whom held a revolver. The boy was standing on packages of liquor labelled "bonded whisky."

Officers were told that the place was a former gambling house now used as a liquor cache. The secret tunnel where Jimmie was found was used in gambling days, it was said, as a hiding place where a gunman could watch and prevent holdups.

Anne Lindbergh, Tortured By Loss Of Baby, Sits Waiting, Waiting In Bleak House On Sourland Mountain

By KATHERINE BEEBE
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOPEWELL, N. J., Mar. 5. (AP)—In the big bleak white house on Sourland mountain, a mother somehow passes the hours and the days, waiting for word of her missing son.

How does she fill them? Does she try to follow the myriad, futile developments of the search? Does she try to occupy herself with household duties?

"No," said a friend of the family today. "She doesn't plan any meals. She doesn't do anything. She just waits, that's all"

Her Face Calm, Pale

Even the host of strangers who have filed in and out of those big doors which Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his wife intended to lead to a home secluded from public glare, have been struck by glimpses of her face pale, calm, tense.

"But anyone who is with her an hour," said the friend, "gets a desperate feeling that something simply must be done. But there is nothing, and nothing for her."

Col. Lindbergh himself goes often to the phone. If there is a seemingly good clue, an important message, he will jump to answer it himself.

Mrs. Dwight Morrow, Anne's mother, has been with her almost constantly, the two women drawn together with common grief and anxiety. Elisabeth, her sister, has remained in Englewood, directing her work at a pre-kindergarten school.

Early Return Of Kidnaped Baby Is Forecast By Officers; Thugs Know They Are Beaten, Governor Claims

he had seen a man, a woman and a baby in a green car resembling Johnson's which passed his place Wednesday afternoon.

In Brooklyn police searched the room of Fred Johnson, the sailor's brother with whom the arrested man had stayed last week. The brother said the seaman came from Norway nine years ago, had never been in trouble, had met Miss Gow last summer and was very much in love with her.

"They would be married," he said, "but work for a sailor in winter time is slack."

Many At Conference

The law enforcement officials who attended the governor's conference, designed to co-ordinate the search for the missing child, came from as far west as Chicago and included several representatives of President Hoover from the Department of Justice.

The statement Governor Moore gave out after the meeting said:

"It is the general opinion of those who have given the fullest consideration to the known facts in the kidnaping crime that it has been committed by amateurs and not by professional criminals. It bears none of the earmarks of those practised in crime, even though the result has been successfully achieved.

Early Break Seen

"Police of every state in the union and the long arm of the federal government are united in the search for the criminals and the restoration of the child to its parents. It is our belief that with this knowledge the kidnapers will soon recognize that their only hope for successful flight and safety lies in their giving up the child by some method that will assure its safe and uninjured return. So long as they retain the child they are in constant danger.

"Its destruction would enormously increase their guilt, their danger, and their certain ultimate retribution to the law and avenging justice.

"It is our belief and hope that they will immediately deposit the child in some safe place, and by prompt notice to the police or Col. Lindbergh personally enable it to be returned in safety to his parents.

Action Expected

"This they will do, it is thought, to relieve themselves from what they must see is a constant encumbrance to their freedom of movement and a hopeless drag on their efforts at flight."

Early in the day the investigators who are maintaining 24-hour-a-day headquarters in the Lindbergh garage announced "everyone within 10 or 15 miles of the Lindbergh estate had been questioned."

Schoeffel spiked a wild rumor the kidnapers had used an airplane by remarking that anyone using that mode of transportation "wouldn't have brought a cheap ladder with them."

No Friction Seen

He said to h's knowledge there had been no friction between Colonel Lindbergh and police. He added he did not know whether the anxious father had made any complaint that false rumors were being circulated.

Nervous and restless although far from exhausted, Colonel Lindbergh spent much of the time springing from a chair to answer the telephone and walking from room to room of his country residence.

The Colonel, still dressed in a gray, pencil-striped suit and a flannel shirt he had worn during the greater part of the time since the baby was kidnaped, spoke in short sentences and continued none of his conversations for more than a few minutes at a time.

President Of Princeton Is Given Guards

Curious Crowds Gather About Doctor Hibben's Home When Rumors Say He Will Act As Mediator For Lindberghs

(By The Associated Press)

PRINCETON, N. J., Mar. 5.—A police guard was thrown around the home of Dr. John Grier Hibben, president of Princeton university and close friends of the Lindberghs, tonight to prevent crowds from gathering there.

The crowds began forming last night when state police came here ostensibly to investigate a new angle in the kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby. They reassembled today when an unconfirmed report went the rounds that Dr. Hibben had agreed to act as intermediary in negotiating with the kidnapers.

Police headquarters said they could "give out no information on that subject" when asked about the report.

Two Killed In Winter Storm

Texas Is Swept By Cold Wave Saturday; High Winds, Hail, Sleet And Snow Visit Parts Of Southern Area

(By The Associated Press)

Most sections of the state shivered under heavy wraps Saturday as low temperatures were experienced from the Panhandle to the Gulf of Mexico.

Two deaths were attributed indirectly to the storm, which blew in from the Rocky Mountain area, but losses to fruit and livestock, at first feared as probably considerable, were believed small.

Livestock Killed

High winds, hail, sleet and snow visited parts of South Texas. At San Antonio, two buildings were damaged. In the vicinity of Uvalde, a number of goats were killed.

A. M. Justice, a barber, was found dying at San Antonio, apparently from exposure, after becoming entangled in a barbed wire fence. He had been unable to free himself.

Paul M. Barron, former policeman of Dallas, was found in a cotton field in a dying condition near Stockyard. He had gone to Henderson county in search of work.

Minimum 16 Here

The coldest weather of the season gripped Dallas and vicinity, where the mercury dropped to 26 degrees.

At Lubbock, a minimum of 16 degrees was recorded Saturday. Fruit trees in that area were believed badly damaged. At Abilene the low was 23 degrees, and the forecast was for a rising temperature. Pampa had a temperature of nine degrees, the coldest of the winter.

High school girls and teachers in Tama and Bloomfield, Ia., have inaugurated movements for a return to cotton stockings.

Picking Up The Loose Ends In The Search For 'The Little Colonel'

NEW YORK, Mar. 5. (AP)—A sympathetic nation, concentrating in thousands of churches, tomorrow will offer up a prayerful plea for safe return of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, jr.

Protestant, Catholic, Jew — their thoughts centered on the kidnaped child—will ask Divine aid in the search for the most famous baby in the world.

Word Is Sent Out

Cardinal Hayes sent word to all priests in the New York diocese to offer a prayer for the baby at all Sunday masses.

Bishop William T. Manning issued a special prayer for use in Episcopal churches of the New York diocese and for people in their homes. Heads of other Protestant denominations have acted similarly.

Special prayers have been said in Temple Emanu-El and all persons of the Jewish faith urged to pray for little Charles' return.

NURSE'S MOTHER TALKS

GLASGOW, Scotland, Mar. 5. (AP) Betty Gow, the nursemaid, who discovered the Lindbergh baby had been kidnaped, advised her mother by cable today not to worry.

"I'm heartbroken, but cheer up, mother," the cable message said.

"Betty is my youngest," the mother, whose name is Mrs. Taylor, said. "I had five. She went to America three years ago, but it's only a year since she went with the Lindberghs.

"She said she was coming home some time ago, but one morning I got a letter from her saying Lindy, as she called him, had asked her to come to the Eagle's Nest."

LINBERGHS FINGERPRINTED

HOPEWELL, N. J., Mar. 5. (AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Mrs. Lindbergh were fingerprinted today at the Colonel's own insistence.

Upon learning all employes on his estate had been fingerprinted as a routine formality yesterday Lindbergh said:

"We are no better than anybody else. I insist that you make our fingerprints."

KIDNAPER IS HELD

CHICAGO, Mar. 5. (AP)—Charles "Buster Brown, suspected "brains" of a nationwide kidnaping ring which has reaped a harvest in ransom during recent years, was returned from New York today and lodged in the county jail without bond.

The diminutive gangster — he stands only five feet, five inches—was morose as, surrounded by detectives, he stepped from the train. Asked bluntly by a reporter whether he knew anything about the kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby, Brown replied hesitantly:

"Me do it? Why, I think it's a shame."

Brown is under indictment here for the kidnaping several months ago of Edward Bobkin, wealthy commission merchant.

CHURCHES OFFER AID

NEW YORK, Mar. 5. (AP) — The church and all its affiliated institutions were offered tonight as a haven for the kidnaped Charles Augustus Lindbergh, jr.

Protestant, Jew and Catholic clergymen appealed to the abductors to leave the child in any of the nation's thousands of religious institutions should they find themselves unable, or unwilling, to communicate with Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh direct. They assured the kidnapers the child would be received without any questions being asked.

NEW YORK POLICE BUSY

NEW YORK, Mar. 5. (AP) —Detectives were working on three or four new leads in the Lindbergh kidnaping case in New York tonight, Police Commissioner Mulrooney announced, as he himself continued a personal investigation of an unrevealed phase of the mystery.

Detectives spent hours today investigating possibility the ladder left behind by the kidnapers had been taken from the consolidated shipbuilding corporation's yards in the Bronx.

It is there Thomas W. Lamont's yacht is kept, a craft on which Henry (Red) Johnson, detained in Hartford, Conn., in connection with the Lindbergh case, worked until January 19.

Employes at the yards said Johnson appeared there a week ago to get some personal belongings he had left behind.

ROOMMATE QUESTIONED

NEW YORK, Mar. 5. (AP) — The Times quotes Hymo Hattu, roommate of Henry (Red) Johnson, detained in Hartford, Conn., as saying Johnson was absent from his Englewood, N. J., lodging house between 6 p. m. and midnight Tuesday, the night of the Lindbergh kidnaping.

Friends of Johnson in Englewood saw no significance in the fact a bottle of milk was found in a car he had been using, saying he was on a liquid diet.

William Boland of Englewood, said Johnson, sailor friend of Betty Gow, Lindbergh nurse, frequently drank milk when he accompanied him to a delicattessen.

SEARCH IN SAN ANTONIO

SAN ANTONIO, March 5. (AP) — The kidnapers of Charles A. Lindbergh, jr., were sought here at noon after a green sedan with New Jersey license plates had entered the city by way of the Austin road.

The car stopped on Broadway shortly before noon and one of the two men in the vehicle asked directions to the postoffice. A storekeeper reported appearance of the much-sought "green sedan" to police headquarters and every available motorcycle officer was sent out to comb the city for it.

FIRST MARINE MOTOR

PHILADELPHIA.—The engine that flew the first plane ever to see service in the United States Marine Corps has been restored to its original condition by enlisted men in the Motor Transport School of the U. S. Marines Corps here. It was the third motor to be built by the Wright brothers, and was used to propel the biplane Major A. A. Cunningham first flew in Marine Corps service.

"I Prayed All The Time Those Two Men Had Me," Jimmie DeJute, Who Was Rescued From Kidnapers, Says

(By The Associated Press)

NILES, O., March 5.—Jimmie De Jute, age 12, had a confession to make today on his return home to his parents after being in the hands of kidnapers since Wednesday.

The confession did not come out the first thing. It was during a moment of silence after the first rush of crying and kisses and exclamations with his folks, the neighbors, policemen and reporters standing about the mother's bed that Jimmie looked slyly up into his grandmother's face and said:

"Grandma, I prayed all the time they had me in that house."

ON THE FIRST PAGE

Look on Page 1, Column 2, for picture and story of Jimmie De Jute, 12-year old Niles, Ohio, lad, rescued from kidnapers Saturday. Two men were arrested when Jimmie was found in Youngstown and police say they have confessed the kidnaping.

He Tells Whole Story

That was all. The rest of Jimmie's story was full of how two strange men grabbed him as he was going to school last Wednesday morning, hustling him into a little brown car and hid him away in a lonesome "scarey" old place, a deserted gambling den, where policemen found him and captured the kidnapers today.

One of the things that Jimmie will tell his chums when he returns to school will be how good a cop looks when a fellow is in the toils of kidnapers.

"As far as I know they brought me directly from where I was kidnaped to the place where the cops found me," said Jimmie. "Boy, was I glad to see those cops!"

One Kept Guard

"There was one man who kept guard over me most of the time," Jimmie continued. "They kept me in the closet, which was awful dark, every time they heard a car stop at the gas station out front.

"One of the men drove away lots in the tan Ford, kept parked back of the house. He said he was going to see my dad. That is all they talked about, getting money off my father. They told me if my dad paid them they would take me back home, safe. When I asked them what they would do if he didn't pay, they would just laugh. But I knew my dad would pay."

"Are you glad to get back home?"

"Boy, I say!"

Jimmie said he had plenty to eat, although the food consisted entirely of soft boiled eggs and black bread, and that his captors treated him well. They let him study his lessons to pass the time away, he said.

A Prayer For Peace

It was a fervent prayer for an end to all wars that the Archbishop of Canterbury was making when this remarkable picture was taken at Geneva, Switzerland. His stirring plea struck the keynote of the world disarmament conference.

Bray's.....

In our previous advertising, as summarized above, we have attempted to show the people of Lubbock and the South Plains the reason for "10c Cleaning and Pressing Establishments" . . . and judging from the wonderful response given us, WE HAVE SUCCEEDED. The people now know that a certain bunch of tailors in Lubbock are sponsoring these "10c Cleaning and Pressing Establishments" in order to try to put BRAY'S out of business. On the contrary, however, every day these cheap places are in business, BRAY'S make new customers.

Inferior cleaning and pressing will ruin your clothes. You MAY save 15c, and damage your garments $5.00 or more . . . send them to Bray's.

REMEMBER THIS . . . BRAY'S HAVE ALL TAILORING WORK CUT IN PROPORTION . . . WE DO NOT QUOTE YOU A CHEAP PRICE ON SUITS AND DRESSES . . . AND THEN CHARGE YOU DISTRESSINGLY HIGH PRICES FOR OTHER WORK . . . THAT IS NOT BRAY'S WAY OF DOING BUSINESS . . . WE WANT TO BE FAIR TO EVERYONE ON EVERYTHING.

A RADICAL DEPARTURE

I am here to dispose of our foreclosed residences on a plan that has never been known before and is subject to recall without notice by our Board of Directors. Any person who wants to buy a home for personal occupancy or as an investment with revenue production should see me immediately for the choicest homes will of course, go first. We have nothing but well located brick veneers and the citizens of Lubbock will never again have the opportunity that our plan offers for the ownership of a home. Only the current depression could make such a thing possible. I will be at room 708 Hilton hotel for the next week or ten days and will provide any prospective purchasers with full information if they will call to see me. We have more than $100,000.00 invested in foreclosures here that will be disposed of immediately. This offer cannot be used through agents, please.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION
THE STATE OF TEXAS.

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Lubbock County, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon J. O. Biffle by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, to appear at the next regular term of the 99th District Court of Lubbock County, to be holden at the Court House thereof, in Lubbock, Texas, on the 1st Monday in April, A. D., 1932, the same being the 4th day of April, A. D., 1932, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 18th day of December, 1931, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court as No. 4947, wherein the Higginbotham-Bartlett Company, a corporation, is Plaintiff, and J. O. Biffle, the Goodland Consolidated School District No. 7, and The Aetna Casualty and Surety Company, a corporation, are Defendants, and said petition alleging that about December 27, 1930, defendants, J. O. Biffle, and Goodland Consolidated School District No. 7, made and entered into a contract in writing, whereby J. O. Biffle agreed, for a consideration, to build and construct a one story, four room, brick and tile school building in the town of Goodland, Texas, at the same time, J. O. Biffle also executed and delivered to the School board of said School District his bond for the faithful performance of his contract, executed by defendant, The Aetna Casualty and Surety Company.

That during the construction of said building, plaintiff sold and delivered to defendant, Biffle, goods, wares and merchandise and materials which were used by defendant, Biffle in the construction of said building. And that there is a balance due on said account in the sum of $6643.21 with interest thereon from completion of said building to this date at 6 per cent per annum. Which defendant, J. O. Biffle, though often requested, has failed and refused to pay to Plaintiff's damage in the sum of $7000.00.

That by reason of the execution of said contract and bond, defendants, the Goodland Consolidated School District No. 7 and The Aetna Casualty and Surety Company, became liable and bound to pay Plaintiff the sums of money specified in the itemized account filed with the Clerk, amounting to the sum of $6643.21, together with interest due thereon.

Wherefore, Plaintiff prays for judgment against the defendants for his debt, interest, costs of suit, etc.

Herein fail not, and have you before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said Court, at office in Lubbock, Texas, this the 20th day of February, A. D., 1932.

Cotton Price Movements In Cotton Small — Livestock Sluggish Trade Seen On Cattle — Grain Good Demand On All Cash Grain

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Mar. 5. (AP) — The short Saturday session in the cotton market today was only moderately active and prices developed no special trend. While the opening was fairly steady despite lower Liverpool cables than due, prices lost 2 points in the early trading, but later rallied 5 to 7 points on straddle trading and on trade buying. Prices eased off 4 to 6 points in the late trading despite firmness in stocks due to rather liberal hedge selling and the market closed steady showing net declines for the day of 1 to 4 points.

The market opened fairly steady although Liverpool came in 7 to 11 penny points worse than due, but Sterling exchange was higher.

May closed at 7.11, down 1 point net for the day, July at 7.26, down 1 point net and Oct. at 7.44, down 4 points net.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Mar. 5. (AP)—Price movements in cotton were narrow today. Small opening declines were followed by rallies on reports of a firm spot situation, but prices eased again later under southern selling and week-end realizing. May contracts, after selling up from 7.08@7.15, closed at 7.09 with the market closing barely steady net unchanged to 6 points lower.

The opening was steady at a decline of 1 to 5 points under southern selling and liquidation promoted by weakness in Liverpool and reports of a decline in the Alexandria market for Egyptian cotton. July sold off to 7.24 and October to 7.46 under the initial pressure, but this was only a partial response to the decline in Liverpool, and prices soon steadied on trade buying and covering.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Mar. 5. (AP) — Cattle trade during the week under review was played down by a shortish and lower dressed beef trade. Fed steers and yearlings the fore part of the week advanced 25 to 50 but last Wednesday packers wined out the early gains. Better grades of steers and yearlings at close points are as much as 25 lower than a week ago. Most markets except light yearlings and the stock values firm to 25 higher for the week. Country demand for stocker and feeder classes was of sufficient breadth to move the light to moderate supplies on a steady to 25 higher basis. Aggregate receipts for the week of around 132,800 were 18,000 short of last week.

Fat lambs are unevenly steady to 25 lower as compared with a week ago while other killing classes and feeding lambs finished the week steady to slightly higher. St. Louis had a late ton to city butchers of 6.75 on closely sorted lambs. The week's runs at eleven markets approximated 278,210 against 333,269 last week.

Levine Employes Are Given Banquet At Hilton Friday

A substantial increase in business for the first two months of 1932 over those of 1931 was reported by Morris Levine, manager of Levine's department store here in a banquet of his employes which he and Mrs. Levine gave Friday night at the Hilton hotel. Twenty-eight were present at the banquet.

During the meal, each employe gave a short talk in which he told of his experiences and problems in the store. Hugh R. Norman, advertising manager of the Avalanche-Journal, made a short talk to the group.

A social hour followed the meal.

Those present besides Mr. and Mrs. Levine were: Mike and Paul Barrier, R. E. and Juanita Mills, Mary Florence Knox, Al Mirsky Leon Hale, N. H. Wood, Frances Robinson, Jimmie and J. W. Kennedy, Mrs. P. G. Waldrip, Mrs. J. O. Easter, Mrs. J. E. Riddle, Archie Golfine, Grace Persky, Marie Hale Hazel McCommas, Mrs. Lela Hester, Nina Mae Scarbough, Mrs. Hattie Stoker, Mrs. Imogene Smelser J. T. Howell and Leota Hughes.

Two Local Men Are Given Pilot Licenses Saturday

Two fledgling pilots tried their wings at Lubbock airport field before a sharp-eyed department of commerce inspector and won his approval Saturday.

After M. A. Carroll, city postman, and E. E. Hendricks, a member of the operations department of a local gas company, put Ben Branson's Aeronca through the prescribed figure-eight, turns, take-offs and landings, R. W. Delaney, the instructor, granted them private pilot's licenses. Carroll, a member of the Lubbock postoffice staff three years, is a student of Branson's. Carroll has had about 17 hours of solo flying. Hendricks received his air training over a period of four years.

Ten western forests averaged 10,000 daily visitors each during the last recreational season.

Lamb Farmer To Face Trial Monday

By Staff Correspondent

OLTON, March 5.—The trial of Ivan "Bat" Inkleberger, 29-year-old farmer of near Littlefield, for the murder of Johnny Lee, the night of October 17, 1931, is scheduled for district court here Monday, March 7. Date was decided upon at the recent setting of the docket by Judge Charles C. Clements of Plainview, before whom the case will be tried.

Inkleberger resides six miles northeast of Littlefield. Lee had on several occasions worked for Inkleberger, during the 1929 and 1930 cotton harvest.

The trouble occurred about 8:30 o'clock in the evening. The accused went to Sudan and surrendered to Sheriff Bob Crim, who lives there. He has been free on $5,000 bond. A special venire of 75 men has been called to hear the case.

Meade F. Griffin of Plainview, district attorney, will handle the prosecution.

Grain

FORT WORTH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Mar. 5. (AP) — Cash grain demand, good.

Quotations were as follows, basis carloads, freight paid, delivered Texas Gulf ports, export rate, or common points: Wheat, No. 1 ordinary hard milling 61 1-2@62 1-2c; No. 1 hard 12 per cent protein 63@65c; 14 per cent protein 64@65c; 15 per cent 68@69c; 16 per cent 70@71c. Sorghums, No. 2 milo or kaffir, per 100 pounds, 74@75c.

Delivered Texas common points, corn, No. 2 mixed 40@41c; No. 2 white 41@42c; No. 2 yellow 40 1-2@40 1-2c; No. 2 red 23 1-2@24 1-2c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Mar. 5. (AP) — Bulges in grain prices today marked the onward sweep of a cold wave threatening damage to the United States winter wheat crop.

Eastern buying, a further stimulus to wheat upturns, was associated with strength of securities. There were also indications of a better export trade developing in rye, and of decided improvement in general demand for rye flour.

Wheat closed unsettled, 3-8 to 5-8 above yesterday's finish, corn and oats also 3-8 to 5-8 up, with rye 7-8 to 1 1-4 advanced, and provisions varying from 5 cents decline to a gain of 2 cents.

Home Market Is To Be Organized

Home demonstration club women of Lubbock county Saturday voted to organize a home market here to handle surplus products of club members in the 34 counties of District 9. Mrs. J. Lee Tubbs of Carlisle community is chairman of the committee to direct opening of the market.

The markets which are to be opened March 26 in Amarillo and Austin were explained at a council meeting Saturday afternoon in the district courtroom by Misses Mamie Lee Hayden and Zetha McInnis, home industry specialists of the A. and M. extension service. Miss Myrtle Murray, district agent, and Miss Isla Mae Chitwood, county agent, also attended.

Two or three years have been spent in standardizing club products, Miss McInnis pointed out. "The next project is to provide market for surpluses," she said. The markets will be opened one or two days each week. One elected representative from each of the 14 county clubs is a member of Mrs. Tubbs' committee, which will meet soon to outline plans for the market. District 9 is comprised of the South Plains and some adjacent territory.

Bullet Removed From Spine And Boy Recovering

An unusually difficult operation, removal of a bullet from a boy's spine, was performed Saturday at Lubbock sanitarium by Dr. J. T. Krueger, staff surgeon. Late Saturday the condition of the boy, 17-year-old Virgil Huckabee of Olton, was described as satisfactory.

The bullet was embedded in the spinal canal last November 8, when Virgil accidentally was shot with a .22 caliber rifle by his brother, Cecil Huckabee. Almost constant suffering and gradual loss of strength resulted.

The injured youth was received at the sanitarium last Tuesday. He was examined, X-rayed, and the delicate operation, "which some doctors say can't be done," was decided on. The boy was placed on the operating table at about 10 o'clock Saturday morning and the tedious work was begun. The pellet was removed. Doctor Krueger later expressed satisfaction at the patient's condition.

William Huckabee is Virgil's father.

Lubbock Debaters Win At Floydada

FLOYDADA, March. 5. (Special.)—Lubbock high school's girl team and Quanah's boy debators won the Floydada invitation debate tournament held here Friday and Saturday. Lubbock entered four teams, three of which were deefated in first round matches.

By a two to one decision over Olton, Misses Frances Simmons and Wildring B. Sherrod of Lubbock won their division this afternoon. They previously had deefated Floydada and Plainview speakers. Quanah boys beat Floydada for the other championship.

Attending from Lubbock, besides the winning team, were Frances Nunley, Gladys Howell, Buster Moxley, Alton Hankins, Horace Gore and Billy Crenshaw, debaters, and J. W. Reid, coach, and Mrs. B. Sherrod. Teams were entered from Littlefield, Quanah, Plainview, Matador and Olton, also.

Dares Arctic For Fur Treasure

Lured by a lost $1,000,000 fur cargo, William R. Graham, California and Alaska pilot, is on his way to attempt to salvage the treasure from the frozen ice packs of the Arctic ocean. His objective is the fur trading ship Baychimo, ice-locked somewhere near Point Barrow. Graham is shown here inspecting the skis with which he will equip his plane for landing on snow or ice. The ship carries special heating apparatus and radio direction finder.

Ground School To Be Free At Local Airport

Aviation Course To Be Given Twice Weekly For 26 Weeks By Lubbock Airways, Inc.; Men And Women Invited

Starting tomorrow night, Lubbock Airways, Inc., will offer a free ground school in aviation at the Municipal airport, four miles north of the city.

The lecture class will meet each Monday and Thursday night at 8 o'clock for 26 weeks.

David C. Ruse, president and manager of Lubbock Airways, Inc., which conducts the New-Way School of Flying, will be in charge of the school and will deliver the lectures.

Motors will be demonstrated in connection with the course and the lectures will be accompanied by illustrations with special charts.

The airport has a seating capacity of 100. Both men and women are invited to the free course. Ruse said that books would be available for students who wished to continue their aviation study at home.

Ruse also announces that an amplification system would be in use at the airport today for announcements and music.

Two amplifiers are being placed by Reach Radio service for Lubbock Airways, Inc., so that the several hundred persons who visit the field every Sunday can be advised of what is going on.

Announcements as to stunts and special flights as well as radio and phonograph music will be given.

Membership Of Legion Higher

Increase Of About Fifty Is Made In The Allen Brothers Post Since Drive Resumed On Washington's Birthday

The 1932 membership of Allen Brothers post, No. 148, of the American legion has been increased about 50 since a membership campaign was resumed Washington's birthday, Tom Carter, a member of a committee directing the drive, said Saturday. Total membership of the post now is about 125.

Allen Brothers post's quota this year is 360, the number of members in 1931. Membership totals at the end of the years approximated 225 in 1927, 120 in 1928, 125 in 1929, and 135 in 1930, Carter said. The increase last year caused raising of the quota.

Other members of the membership committee are J. A. Raley, jr., Lloyd Johnson, and W. W. Waln.

Idalou Family To Be Heard In Air Broadcast Today

Members of the M. J. Rogers family of Idalou will be heard in a thirty-minute program of sacred songs over Radio Station KGRS at Amarillo today, according to announcement made here Saturday. The singers will broadcast from 9:30 until 10 o'clock.

Six members of the family including Mr. Rogers will appear on the broadcast. They are: Luther and Lester, Mr. Rogers' sons and Pauline, Floy and Oleta, his daughters.

The family is noted for its singing, especially of sacred songs.

Department Store Sales Here Good

Department store sales in Lubbock for the month of January 1932 were better in comparison with January 1931 than sales in any other city of Texas, figures released by the Department of Business Research at Austin indicate, the Lubbock Retail Merchants Association has announced.

Of eighty-four Texas department stores reporting in a couple dozen cities, all showed a decrease. Lubbock stores showed a decrease in sales of eleven per cent as compared with forty-four per cent in the city showing the largest decrease.

Other cities ranked between these extremes, Tyler being the city coming nearest to the record of local stores with a decrease of 12.6 per cent.

Glee Club Formed By Lamesa Group

LAMESA, March 5. (Special.)—A group of Lamesa business men recently organized a men's club for this city. At the first meeting, the following officers were elected: W. K. Crawley, president; V. Z. Rogers, director; Owen C. Taylor, vice-president; J. D. Dyer, secretary-treasurer; Sam Smith, custodian of music; Conway E. King, pianist, and Rev. E. H. Surface, assistant pianist.

Others who signed up as charter members were Wm. A. Wilson, C. H. Morris, J. L. Morris, Lex Brock, Art G. Donald, Guye Weeks, J. D. Wilson, Clyde Barron, Tom Barron, J. E. Haynes, Gay Travis, L. P. Smalling, Robert H. Kirk, Ray Hollingshead, and J. W. McDonald.

No name for the club has been submitted. The members will meet each Friday evening in the Band hall for rehearsal.

Local Pair To Marry April 9

Miss Lula Jones And James T. Trigg Are To Be Married; Announcement Is Made At Luncheon Saturday

Mrs. R. I. Tubbs, 2410 20th street, entertained Saturday with a luncheon at her home, announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Lula Jones and James T. Trigg. Mrs. Tubbs and Miss Jones are sisters. Miss Jones is principal of the Sanders ward school.

The couple will be quietly married April 9 at the home of the bride-elect's sister, Mrs. Joe Baldridge.

Peach and plum blossoms arranged throughout Mrs. Tubb's home lent a spirit of early spring to the rooms. Violets were placed on the tables and pastel shades were featured in appointments. The honoree was presented with a gift.

The announcement of the engagement was made by the hostess, who was delivered a telegram after the first course.

Program Given

During other courses a program was given. Mrs. Jerome Merrell played accordion numbers and accompanied Miss Loys Tubbs at the piano when she sang "Love Came Calling." Miss Blanche Fann played a violin solo, "When the Blue of the Night Meets the Gold of the Dawn," and Miss Maxine Burrus read.

The guest list included Misses Stella Thurman, Margaret Huff, Beulah Starnes, Alberta Rowley, Blanche Fann, Edith Whitlock, Loys Tubbs, Maxine Burrus, Nina Trigg, Margaret Trigg, Tessie Rhea, Pearl Denman, Mesdames Joe Baldridge, C. Silver Tea Is Given; Dances Well Attended

Mexican Dinner Is Served To Las Vivarachas; D.F.D. Is At Luncheon Saturday; 200 Attend Club Dance

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Woman's Editor

TOWNSPEOPLE joined the collegians in a number of social affairs during the week-end in Lubbock. At the several dances given by groups from the college, there was a large attendance of non-collegians who reside here. Women of the city attended a silver tea given Saturday afternoon by the Tech Y. W. C. A. in the Roscoe Wilson home. Several townswomen assisted in giving the tea.

In addition to these events, there was a dance Friday evening at Hilton hotel for members of the Trailers club, an organization of 250 people from Lubbock and other towns on the South Plains. About 100 couples attended the affair, including a number from out of town. Local guests are ineligible to attend, according to the club rules.

Hosts on this occasion were Messrs. and Mesdames T. B. Duggan, A. M. Burns, R. C. Goodwin, J. H. Goodman, B. F. Congray, J. P. Giles, Homer Grant, Ray Grisham of Plainview, Guion Gregg, Tom Garrard, Dr. and Mrs. R. T. Canon, Messrs. Mel Fisher and Ben Kucera.

At Mexican Dinner

Las Vivarachas club members entertained Saturday evening with a Mexican supper at Dee's cafe, having several special guests.

Members who had reservations were Misses Ada Ruth May, Patti Hopping, Sue Brown, Lesey Bullock, Eileen Graves, Milbria Pirtle, Lois Morrison, Marjorie Eaton, Sallye Bean, Melba Mae Tatom, Louise Jones, Ruth Pirtle, Mrs. Edward Blackwell and Mrs. Harvey Head.

Former Members Here

Members and special guests of the D. F. D club were served a one o'clock luncheon Saturday at Hotel Hilton. The St. Patrick motif was featured in appointments.

This club is composed of several women students at Texas Technological college. Two former members, Miss Fay Foote, Sudan, and Miss Edith Sanders, Anton, were present.

Others there were Misses Lula Ben Allee, Flora Laney, Martha Reba Hubbard, Louise Davies, Mary McMurry, Elizabeth Bickley, Elinor Aycock, Mary Florence Knox, Burlyne McCollom, Louise Sneed, Lorene Coym, Leona Rodden, Lavoyce Dyson, Rhoda Lou Clark, Martha Alice Penney, Chrystelle Bock, Annah Jo Pendleton, Mildred Price and Ruth Sparks.

Presidents of campus clubs, officers in the Y. W. C. A., cabinet and advisory board members received guests who called at the tea in the Roscoe Wilson home Saturday afternoon. This was a St. Patrick's tea and green predominated in appointments.

Mrs. J. C. Granbery and Miss Jean Shelley Jennings were at the door. The receiving line was composed of Mesdames Roscoe Wilson, I. C. Corry, Misses Lilah Gaye Rodgers, Cecile Horne, Marie Price, Geraldine Clewell, Hazel Gruzer, Ada Ruth May, Murvel Rankin, Mary Lee Bardwell, Virginia Murray, Mildred Price, Joe Cowsart.

Tea was poured by Mesdames W. B. Price, C. M. Ballenger, Mary Doak, William Dingus, Jack Boyd, Paul W. Horn, Maple Wilson, F. C. Enochs, Miss Margaret Weeks, Miss Mabel Erwin.

A program of music was given during the afternoon consisting of vocal selections by Misses Eldora Hill and Thelma Moss, piano selections by Miss Anne Dunman and violin selections by Miss Evelyn Jackson.

Paris' Spring Frocks Have Full Measure Of Style

In this informal, diagonal-woven dress of white silk, Jean Patou shows the use of fulness necessary both for ease of walking and decoration of the model. Here it is confined to the skirt portion, because of the function the dress has to fulfill and because the fabric does not permit any fussiness.

Freedom Is Given To Sports Frocks In New Fullness

BY JEAN PATOU
Written for NEA Service

PARIS, March 5.—Whatever category a dress belongs to, fulness is undoubtedly one of its most important characteristics. This may be distributed in various ways according to the style of the model, but nevertheless is always tributary of two guiding principles—ease of movement and the function of the dress itself.

It is obvious that in a sports dress, fullness is an all-important element and here it plays a necessary and utilitarian role. It also is linked with every possible element of decoration, but always subjected to an intended simplicity of design.

A greater degree of fantasy, on the other hand, can and is supplied to afternoon or tailored models by this same fulness, according to the fashion trend of the moment.

Where evening gowns are concerned, fulness and the manner in which it is used can inspire a great number of new ideas, provided it never interferes with the basic "architecture" of the dress.

Every season sees a different use of fulness. Sometimes it is very moderate, at others it is important and distributed irregularly (front, sides or back of the gown). The repartition of volumes is of tremendous importance too. A point to bear in mind is that without fulness fashions would be characterless and a dress can never possess that subtle quality of suppleness if fulness is not utilized.

When considering fulness in a general way, I invariably have noted that one almost always thinks of the impression it will convey in its more evident and visible expressions, that is to say, in skirts, where day dresses are concerned and in the general line, in evening gowns.

Yet the question of fulness in details seems almost inevitably to be overlooked. Few people realize that in every successful dress this element present in some detail will contribute in no little measure to

A full bodice on this Paton evening dress illustrates the discreet use of this element for formal wear. The skirt also is full, but here the feature is more obvious. The softly swatched belt adds to the general impression of suppleness. The model is fashioned of sapphire blue fleur de sole.

Coronation Is Dance Feature Here Saturday

Miss Mary McMurry, Spearman, Is Crowned By Sponsor For Freshman Class; Prom last Night Is Annual

BY MARGARET TURNER
Of the Woman's Staff

MISS Mary McMurry of Spearman was crowned queen of the seventh freshman class of Texas Technological college Saturday evening when first year students entertained with an annual dance at the Uptown Dance palace.

The coronation took place at 9:30 o'clock before several hundred guests. Miss McMurry wore an ivory satin evening dress with rhinestones and carried a staff of multi-colored synthetic jewels. Her escort was Russell Brown of Brownwood, class president.

After the queen and her escort had walked to the improvised throne, the court of representatives from the four classes formed a background for the coronation ceremony. This was in charge of Lonnie Langston, sponsor, who placed the tiara of sparkling brilliants on Miss McMurry's head. The grand march followed immediately.

Ballot Was Secret

The queen was elected several weeks ago by secret ballot and freshman girls in the court were those who had been nominees. They and their escorts were Misses Johnnie Jo Whitley, Julia Davis, Marjorie Scott, Anabel Carter, Geraldine Durham, Maurine Cook, Ernestine Herndon, Ada Mae Gilbert, Florence Moses, Helen Settle, Pauline Warren, Frances Walkup, Evelyn Price, Nancy Faver, Messrs. Bates Thornton, Woodrow Holt, Bert Williams, Don Barton, John Stiles, Tom Hutchinson, Max Powell, Claude Goldsmith, Jeff Murphy, Croft Bigham, E. G. Pharr, Brock Gilmore, Jimmy Stone and Charles Maedgen.

Miss Harriette Roach and Bill Stubbs represented the sophomore class; Miss Jean Shelley Jennings and Milton Moffett were from the junior class and Miss Mary Lois Gamel and Jack Durham were senior representatives.

Other Guests

Special guests included Messrs. and Mesdames Ray Mowery, C. C. Corry, W. C. Cole, James G. Allen, Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Holden, Mrs. R. M. Chitwood, Mrs Mary W. Doak, Miss Sylva Wilson, Miss Zella Riegel and Richard Heineman.

Miss Johnnye Gilkerson is the other class sponsor, with Mr. Langston.

The hall was decorated in green and white streamers for the occasion. A large paper fish with "32" lettered on it was placed over the orchestra stand. Music was furnished by Sam Shumate's orchestra.

DR. MYERS

Doctor Myers' Daily Column On Child Welfare

BY GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

PARENT RELATIONSHIP

Many descriptions of tragic parent relationships have come by mail from clergymen or their wives concerning their own homes, and I have listened to some distressing cases face to face. But why not? Are not preachers and their wives human, just like the rest of us? Think, too, of the terrific strain under which they must try to live, particularly preachers' wives, and then the emotional conflicts between what they preach and what they are able, by their most earnest, conscientious efforts, to live up to. They surely have my deepest sympathy.

I received a touching letter from a preacher's wife in South Dakota. My reply indicates some of the things she wrote. Here it is:

"I have read your long letter thoughtfully and sympathetically. I wish I could sit down with you and your husband to talk things over. I have earnestly tried to get the point of view of both of you and to try to find an explanation of your problem. My conclusions may be wrong, but they are about as follows:

"You have a husband who is full of energy and ambition, and eager to succeed in his field. During those days when you were ill, when he cared for that boy, there grew up between them a close comradeship. His particular way of doing with the boy obviously was very different from the way you would have done things, but it was his way, and he deserved a great deal of credit for assuming the responsibility for the child.

"When a closer responsibility for his guidance fell on you the methods which were successful with your younger children naturally did not work well with

Rabbi To Talk Tomorrow Eve

Officers Of A.A.U.W., Tech Faculty Club Are To Form Reception Committee; Man To Tell Of Religion

Officers in the Tech Faculty club and the American Association of University Women's club will form a reception committee for those who attend the lecture by Dr. David Lefkowitz, Dallas rabbi, Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the ball room of Hilton hotel.

Dr. Lefkowitz, who is being brought here by the faculty club and the A. A. U. W., is to talk on "Modern Trends in the Jewish Religion." Tickets will continue on sale Monday or may be secured at the door that evening.

Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of Texas Technological college, will introduce the rabbi.

Is Radio Speaker

Dr. Lefkowitz is one of the outstanding Jewish rabbis in the United States. He is at Temple Emanu-El in Dallas and is a frequent and popular radio speaker. He is prominent in Dallas civic and religious affairs and has been president of the Texas Kallah, a study group of Texas rabbis, which meets annually. He attended the University of New York city, the University of Cincinnati and was ordained as rabbi at the Hebrew Union college in Cincinnati. For 20 years he occupied the pulpit of the Jewish congregation in Dayton, Ohio, going from there to Dallas.

The Jewish congregation in Lubbock is having a dinner in honor of Dr. Lefkowitz Monday evening at the Hilton hotel. Special guests are to include Mayor J. J. Clements, A. B. Davis, Charles A. Guy, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Hinchey and others. George Finberg is to welcome the rabbi.

Beginning With Breakfast Today, Business Club Is To Join In Celebrating National Business Women's Week

Members of the Lubbock Business and Porfessional Women's club will join today with other business women throughout the United States in the fifth annual observance of National Business Women's week.

Fun and serious programs will fill the week for the local club members and the climax will come on Thursday evening with a "bosses" banquet at Hotel Lubbock. Miss Ruth McCormick is president of the local branch.

Club members are to attend a breakfast at 9 o'clock this morning at the Hilton rotel and will attend First Methodist church in a group. A humorous program has been arranged for the breakfast by the committee in charge, Miss Marguerite Whipp, Charlie Jackson and Blanche Bean.

Have "Fun" Party

A "fun" party is to be given Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Abernathy on the Idalou highway, Miss Irma Claye is chairman for this event.

Following the banquet, which is at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening at Hotel Lubbock, there is to be a bridge party at 8 o'clock Friday evening in the same hotel. Mrs. Mamie Field is chairman of this event.

With Miss Ruby Douthit as chairman, a program has been arranged for the banquet. Mrs. T. L. Gordon of Amarillo, second vice-president of the Texas Business and Professional Women's club, will be the principal speaker on this occasion. Mrs. Mary W. Doak, dean of women at Texas Technological college, is to make the address of welcome and H. L. Allen is to make the response.

Governor R. S. Sterling recently proclaimed this week as Business Women's week for the state, joining with other governors in the nation. A local proclamation has the signature of J. J. Clements, mayor.

March, Birthday Month In Camp Fire, Will Mark Occasions

The Woman's Angle

Avalanche Woman's Editor

TODAY marks the national observance of Business and Professional Women's week and Lubbock club women are entering into this observance. Most of the affairs planned for this week will be confined to those business women who are in this branch of the Business and Professional Women's club. However, "bosses" are to be invited to a banquet in order that they may look over the crop of progressive business women in the city.

Actually, the club membership represents only a portion of the city's business and professional women—a small percentage. The reason others remain outside probably, is that they know so little of what the national organization represents. Doctors, lawyers of international reputation, teachers, stenographers, writers are prominent in the business women's club of the United States and this group has been responsible for the organization of an International Federation of Business and Professional Women, of which Miss Lena Madesin Phillips of New York, a lawyer, is president. Headquarters are in Geneva, Switzerland.

Politicians, financiers, advertising women, judges are included among the leaders of the national organization. The president, Mrs. Geline MacDonald Bowman of Richmond, Va., is proprietor of a large business, a mother and homemaker. The first vice-president, Helen M. Schluraff of Erie, Penn., operates one of the largest florist's establishments in her state. Mrs. Bonnie K. Robertson, second vice-president, is women receiver in the First Trust and Savings Bank in Hammond, Ind. The recording secretary, Earlene White of Jackson, Miss., is a widely known newspaper woman of the South. Miss Margaret Katherine Stewart, Phoenix, Ariz., corresponding secretary, has been in turns editor and manager of a newspaper, executive of a chamber of commerce and supervisor of an airport.

The first woman in the United States to operate a credit rating bureau was Miss Margaret Stewart of Ogden, Utah, treasurer of the Federation. During the past 10 years she has handled claims for Ogden business men aggregating well over $1,000,000.

Among the committee heads are Miss Mary Stewart of Washington, D. C., who is assistant director of Indian education in the office of Indian affairs, department of the interior; Miss Elsie Riddick of Raleigh, N. C., an authority on tax and freight rates, telephone and telegraph toles; Miss Alice Englehardt of Cincinnati, secretary-treasurer of a firm for which she was once a 5-dollar-a-week clerk; Dr. Nancy Meek Hain of Miami, Fla., psychologist, psychiatrist and osteopathic physician; Miss Josephine Schain of New York, an executive in the National Girl Scouts; Mrs. Lulah T. Andrews of Omaha, one of the three women who are serving as state directors in the United States Employment service and a former president of a housing corporation; Miss Helen M. Bennett of Chicago, a publicity and promotion expert; Miss Marion H. McClench of Ann Arbor, Mich., insurance executive; Mrs. Anne Fraser Ledendecker of Los Angeles, head of the research department of the third largest public library in the United States; Judge Florence E. Allen of Cleveland, Ohio, the first and only woman Supreme Court Justice in the world; Miss Marjorie Shuler of New York, one of the leading members of the Christian Science Monitor staff and an authority on women's organizations and their work; Dr. Lillian M. Gilbreth, Montclair, New Jersey, an efficiency engineer of wide note and the only woman in a delegation of 400 to attend the World Engineering Congress a year or two ago in Japan.

By the way, this Dr. Gilbreth is the mother of 11 children and has devised an interesting plan of household management in which each child takes his or her share of responsibility. Her views on marriage and a career should be interesting.

And since this is the beginning of Business Women's week, here are some things in which you may be interested. It concerns women's political progress since federal suffrage became effective in 1920.

One hundred and ninety-three women are serving as county treasurers and 120 of these are in Texas. A total of 146 women are serving as state legislators in 29 states; five women are secretaries of state; one is a member of a governor's council; one woman heads a state department of labor; four women are state superintendents of public instruction; 161 are county school superintendents; eight women are mayors of American cities; two women are clerks of state supreme courts. Thirteen women have served as members of Congress of the United States; one woman served a 24-hour term as U. S. senator and Mrs. Thaddeus Caraway of Arkansas is now the first elected woman member. Two women have served as governors—one in Texas.

Lubbock isn't so far behind in recognizing women politically. We now have a woman for county treasurer and a woman for superintendent of county schools.

All chemical elements are composed of electron and protein electric atoms.

Members Will Attend Church Together Here

Room-Furnishing Contest Is Part Of National Program; Special Parties, Councils Will Be Held

March, the birthday month for Camp Fire, is to be a month of special programs for girls in the local organization beginning with tonight.

Rev. J. O. Haymes, pastor of First Methodist church, is to preach a sermon on "What Makes a Home" this evening and Camp Fire girls will be special guests, attending in a group.

A room-furnishing contest that is a part of a national Camp Fire project will be carried out during the week by a few of the groups and there is to be a play program on Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the court house.

The awards' committee is meeting at 2 p. m. on Saturday afternoon. Girls who are ready to take higher ranks are to make their applications by Monday, Mrs. Charles Hatchett, city executive announced. A council fire probably will be on March 18 at a place to be selected late this week and an Easter egg hunt is scheduled for Easter Sunday, Mrs. Hatchett said.

The Presidents' club meets on March 28 and Miss Hazell Arnett will be hostess at a monthly guardians' association party on March 26. This is to be an apron and overalls affair, she has stated.

its charm, to a greater extent, even, than a more obvious feature.

When a dress possesses just such a feature the impression conveyed will be more subtle than striking, naturally. Here we have no brusque addition or subtraction, no new design or sudden modification. Because of its discretion the quality emanating from such a detail will be infinitely more appreciated.

We all know what a transformation a dress can undergo merely by changing the volumes of its sleeves. This has never been brought to our attention so vividly as during the past few seasons, so fertile in new ideas in sleeves. The whole character of a dress will be changed by drawing in the fulness at the wrist where before, perhaps, it was allowed to swing freely.

For my part, I have always endeavored to make dresses supple without using an excessive amount of fulness. Supple, draped decolletes or some such feature as additional pockets are the expressions I favor most as they always have a charm of novelty and yet fill a very technical need in dress creation.

Mesdames Garrison, N. Baker Will Entertain On Wednesday

Here's Advice For Aspiring Artists

Road To Success Will Not Be East One For Artist

BY BERTA N. BRIGGS
Written for NEA Service

Many girls and women have asked me for advice about preparation for work in art. My response to their questions has been to ask whether they had in mind art as a means of livelihood, the career on which their bread and butter depended, or whether they simply wanted to enrich their lives with the stimulation and satisfaction creative work brings to one, no matter how modest a form it takes.

If they replied that they wanted to earn their living by art, I promptly discouraged them. As president of this national organization I have listened to many tragic stories of young women fighting in an already overcrowded field.

Commissions for portraits or decorative work are not to be found every day, the sale of paintings is extremely uncertain at best, the demand for illustration has greatly decreased and the market for commercial work and teaching of art is crowded. The income graph of even the best known artists looks like the outline of the Canadian Rockies, all ups and downs.

If my questioners did not look too dismayed and seemed possessed of enough faith and impulse to succeed to face these facts, I recommended that they get a good grounding of technical work, constructive drawing, composition, the use of several mediums. The more tools an artist has the wider the scope for expression.

Methods of Instruction Vary

Such grounding could be had at any of the progressive art schools throughout the country or by private instruction from artists with sound, constructive ideas.

I urged them to spend time in museums and current exhibitions, trying to analyze not only how an artist works but what mental content the artist adds to the subject he represents. For unless the artist can put something of his own emotion or spiritual reaction into his work, a good photograph will serve as well as a reproduction of any subject.

Daily they troop in . . . eager, wide-eyed . . . to America's great cities in quest of a career in art. In the accompanying article, Berta N. Briggs (above), president of the National Association of Women Painters and Sculptors, whose paintings are shown in a current exhibit in New York, gives knowing advice to these young folk.

For the second group of questioners, the women who want to do creative work for the development and pleasure it brings, I could suggest a less demanding program. This can be fitted into whatever free hours they could snatch from their daily routine. I assure them if they had a genuine interest in artistic expression, they could accomplish a great deal with an hour here and there, week-ends or vacation times.

So—Begin Working!

I told them to buy an inexpensive equipment of the medium they wanted to work in, get a book on the subject at any public library and see what they could do. To try to represent objects about them, or people, or what they see out of their windows, even if they only see a row of ashcans.

Just at this point someone was bound to ask: "But how do I know I have talent?" My answer to that is: "How do you know you have a voice until you try to speak?" If work along these lines does no more than increase your power of observation and your enjoyment of color, it has been of value. The slightest acquaintance with actual work in art expression increases one's appreciation of all works of art.

As a matter of encouragement, I cited my own experience. Four years ago, without any previous instruction in painting, I yielded to a strong impulse to put a memory of a picturesque spot in Southern France into color. I arranged a few colors on a dinner plate, found a somewhat battered sheet of cardboard and proceeded to paint. That first picture was shown in several exhibitions and is now part of a private collection in Paris.

Long a "Mental Painter"

It has been suggested that my hand was guided by some accomplished spirit. That is a lovely thought. I privately believe that all these years when household cares and executive duties kept me overwhelmingly busy, my interest in all forms of art, and my desire to give expression to my impressions, have kept me mentally painting. So, when the opportunity came, giving the necessary leisure, I knew exactly what I wanted to do.

Even the simplest work in art is fun, and just because we cannot all be heaven-gifted geniuses need not keep us from experimenting with some form of artistic expression. Much latent talent comes to the surface and the most modest achievement brings a larger result of increased appreciation of art, and a general enlargement of one's horizon.

him and he gradually came to the conclusion that Dad was his dearest friend and you the dearest friend of the other children. When you attempted to bring him up to your standards he resented it and went to Dad for sympathy; Dad naturally gave it, and no doubt often in his weakness has led the lad to believe that you were not his friend. Almost unconsciously there must have grown up between you and the father a rather extreme attitude toward the boy. As he becomes more indulgent you grow more exacting, causing him in turn to become more indulgent still.

"What complicates the problem is that the younger children respond so well to you and by comparison make the boy stand out as extremely disobedient."

"And I can sympathize with you. You have borne many infirmities and have felt that the father often did not cooperate with you, and as I see it, he often has not. But I believe it is reasonable to suppose that his seeming antagonism has for the most part been inspired by unconscious motives rather than a desire to be antagonistic. He apparently shares the frailty of most fathers in not taking account of the importance of the little chivalries and nice amenities which the mother, because of her finer feelings and emotions, expects from him.

"I can see also that with the many family cares you have, and not always feeling well physically, you must grow exceedingly fatigued and nervous. And that, furthermore, your strain is increased by the social demands upon you and the many things naturally expected of a preacher's wife.

"But I wish you would find more joys in your successes. And when you get awfully depressed count your blessings, dwell upon your victories, and know that you have revealed a great lot of strength and self-sacrificing goodness."

A large crib is a sensible buy, as the child can sleep in it confortably for years.

Last Plans To Be Made Here For PTA Meal

Mother-Daughter Banquet Is To Be At Hilton March 14; Mrs. C. E. Maedgen, Chairman, Tells Of Plans

With March 14 set as a definite date for the Mother-Daughter Parent-Teacher association banquet, committees headed by Mrs. C. E. Maedgen are making last plans for the entertainment which will be at 6:45 o'clock at the Hilton ball room.

Mrs. H. J. Godeke, chairman of the program committee, will be toastmistress for the banquet. She is president of the City P.-T. A. council. Others on the program committee are Mrs. W. P. Clement and Mrs. E. L. Klett.

Mrs. Floyd Beall is chairman of the menu committee, assisted by Mrs. Stephen Claye and Mrs. John Halsey; Mrs. Horace Hawkins is decoration chairman, with Mrs. Allen T. Stewart and Mrs. J. C. Reynolds as assistants.

To Receive

Presidents of the parent-teacher associations and principals of schools in the city are to form a reception committee at the banquet, according to Mrs. Maedgen.

Every mother in town who has a daughter in the public schools is invited to bring her daughter and those who wish to "adopt" a daughter for the evening may do so, it has been announced.

There is to be a chairman in each school to take reservations for the banquet and these must be in by Saturday, it was announced. These women are as follows: Duore, Mrs. R. V. Kimmel; Central Ward, Mrs. C. C. Wright; Hunt, Mrs. W. W. Royalty; Junior High, Mrs. H. A. Davidson; K. Carter, Mrs. Floyd Beall; Sanders, Mrs. C. E. Corbin; Senior High, Mrs. C. E. Love.

"OUR SPECIALTY — CORRECT FITTING"

March Primary Gales To Test Mettle Of Democratic Presidential Hopes

Four Men To Be Pitted In Votes Fights

Roosevelt, Smith, Garner And Murray In Races In Party Primaries In Three States This Month; Garner Gains

BY KIRKE SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—Democrats may have cause this year to follow the Shakespearean injunction to beware the ides of March—and other dates in it as well.

Within that month will be fought out a series of primary battles, east, west and south, which may hold the key to who's who among democratic aspirants for the 1932 presidential nomination.

Roosevelt In All Races

Governor Roosevelt of New York, now supposed leader for the honor among all those mentioned, will be in all the races.

He will engage his old political ally, Alfred E. Smith, in New Hampshire on March 8. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray of Oklahoma in North Dakota on March 15, and Speaker John N. Garner, somewhat indirectly in Georgia, March 23.

In all three states the Roosevelt workers are first in the field, appear well organized, are supported by important state leaders and seem very confident of victory.

Georgia Major Test

The number of electoral votes involved is inconsequential. The possible psychological effect of a sweeping Roosevelt victory is incalculable. It would start a Roosevelt tidal wave insuring a first-ballot nomination.

Should the New Yorker lose Georgia—the state that hails him by the voice of the democratic organization as an adopted favorite son, the result could raise grave questions in the minds of democrats in other non-favorite son territory as to his availability.

The fundamental consideration of this democratic 1932 presidential campaign to date is the widespread feeling among arty workers that a victory at the polls in November is no only possible, but probable.

House Reflects Harmony Move

That feeling underlies the harmony program of the house, controlled by a margin of democratic majority too close to be workable otherwise.

Speaker Garner, swept to new political heights, has become an enigma of the presidential nomination race itself by virtue of that situation.

Roosevelt, with Washington state's delegation already pledged to him, was the first candidate to gain definite support of a more than strictly favorite son sort.

The slogan of the Roosevelters has been "We can win with Roosevelt" and it is because of the natural strength credited in the populous eastern states to a man who could carry New York for the governorship by the unprecedented margin he piled up in 1930, that the slogan has great appeal in non-favorite son territory.

The odd thing about the democratic nomination situation is that three major factors, Newton Baker of Cleveland, Al Smith of New York and Garner of Texas are personally just onlookers.

Besides Murray, Governor Ritchie of Maryland is Roosevelt's only open opponent, assuming that booms for men like Byrd of Virginia and Traylor of Illinois are in fact only of the favorite son type.

And what any of this trio of silent candidates will ultimately do when the work of their friends in their behalf may be foreshadowed in what happens in those three far-scattered democratic primaries in March.

Ballots Will Hail Their Names

Judge Mullican To Speak In Abernathy C. Of C. Meeting

ABERNATHY, Mar. 5. (Special)—Judge Clark M. Mullican of the 99th district court at Lubbock will deliver the main address before the annual meeting of the Abernathy Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday night, March 8, G. W. Rigland, president, announced.

Ray Pinson, past president, will welcome the out of town guests for the occasion. J. P. Nystel, secretary, also will speak.

Group singing is planned and a trombone solo by C. M. Kiker. Visitors from Petersburg, Hale Center, Plainview and Lubbock are expected to make short talks.

The meal is to be served by the girls of the home economics department of the Abernathy high school. Miss Carolyn A. Newsom is the teacher. The class served the banquet last year.

PROGRAM PLANNED

(By Staff Correspondent)

POST, March 5—A George Washington program on the part of the Post schools is to be given Friday night, March 11, Ira Witt, superintendent, says. The program was postponed from Washington's birthday due to inclement weather. The program will be in the high school auditorium.

WAYS OF SERVING

There are many ways of serving gingerbread. One delicious way is to top with whipped cream, over which is shaved maple sugar. Or maple syrup or sugar folded into whipped cream and served on gingerbread is equally tasty.

Baby's crib should also be made of material which may be washed, as there will be many tiny fingermarks to remove and the crib should be kept immaculate.

Overweight, Alice Terry Is Helping Husband Direct Picture In Africa

BY HUBBARD KEAVY

HOLLYWOOD — In addition to Sari Maritza, Vivian Gaye also brought to Hollywood the first direct word of Rex Ingram and Alice Terry heard in many months.

ALICE TERRY

Ingram, a successful director, and Alice, his wife and a former star, exiled themselves from Hollywood several years ago to live and work in Europe.

For the last five months, Sari's manager says, Ingram and Miss Terry have been directing a super-spectacle in Africa. The picture is being financed by a young English millionaire.

For four years Ingram refused to direct a picture because his wife was ill and unable to take the starring role.

It is his belief that his films will be unsuccessful unless Alice has a part in them. Now, because she is overweight, she is helping him to direct.

Miss Gaye says Ingram has embraced the Mohammedan religion.

Ears For Jimmie

JAMES CAGNEY

They will be easier and quicker to put on and remove than putty ears, which usually are used.

And now comes the yawn. We read: "Lee Tracy has acted in so many first grade newspaper plays that he believes he actually could cover a story with the best newshound on Park Row."

Movie Shopper

ANN HARDING, when she takes an afternoon off to go movieing, really shops for her film fare. Unlike most of us who sit through a dull picture simply because we've bought a ticket, Miss Harding refuses to be bored. She walks out and "goes shopping" for other movies.

ANN HARDING

Joan Blondell collects carved soap animals to decorate her bathroom.

Which reminds us: Taking a shower in the movies is one of the messiest ordeals on the make-up man's list. The other day we saw Andy Devine—doing a scene for Kay Francis' "Working Wives"—endure a careful application of glycerine drops in order to look like a man who has just stepped from a warm shower to answer the telephone.

Andy, draped in a towel, dripped with the sticky liquid which doesn't dry under the set lights as water does—and had to take a real shower afterwards, before going into another scene.

They've retained at least part of the title "Scarface" in the final title for the gang movie. From "Shame of the Nation" it's been changed to "Scar on the Nation." The idea being, apparently, that suggestion can't be censored.

"Dance Team" Feature Attraction Of Theater Program Here

Sally Eilers, James Dunn In Lindsey Film

"Tomorrow And Tomorrow" With Ruth Chatterton Is To Be Shown Here This Week; Warner Oland At Palace

JAMES Dunn and Sally Eilers who rose to stardom in "Bad Girl" will be seen in their latest starring vehicle, "Dance Team", at the Lindsey three days starting today.

The co-stars have the same type of flesh-and-blood roles that they portrayed in their previous successes. Fired with the success of youth, they are carried through a series of disappointments and discouragements to ultimate success as a dancing team. But with success comes other problems—problems of the heart, of riches and of vanity, all of which add to the humanness and drama of the film.

RUTH CHATTERTON

Minna Gombell, the "girl friend" in "Bad Girl", heads the supporting cast.

"Tomorrow and Tomorrow", Philip Barry's play of a courageous, unconventional wife to whom marriage is not sufficiently soul-satisfying, is the latest starring vehicle for Ruth Chatterton. The emotional drama will be shown at the Lindsey Wednesday and Thursday. Paul Lukas appears as the male lead.

Miss Chatterton's part as a woman whose heart is divided between her earthbound, "eternal collegian" husband and a man who uncovers hidden romantic spots of her life is said to be one of her most dramatic roles.

"Freaks", a picture said to be as strange and fantastic as the armless and legless wonders who appear in the cast, will be offered at the Lindsey Friday and Saturday.

The cast is headed by Wallace Ford, Leila Hyams, Olga Baclanova and Roscoe Ates, and it includes such freaks as the "living torso" the Snow twins, white pin heads, the "living skeleton" and the "bird girl".

LEILA HYAMS

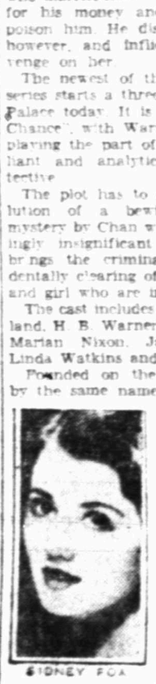

The plot concerns the strange romance of a midget and a trapese artist who marries him for his money and then tries to poison him. He discovers the plot, however, and inflicts fiendish revenge on her.

The newest of the Charlie Chan series starts a three-day run at the Palace today. It is "Charlie Chan's Chance", with Warner Oland again playing the part of Chan, the brilliant and analytical Chinese detective.

The plot has to do with the solution of a bewildering murder mystery by Chan who follows seemingly insignificant clues until he brings the criminal to bay, incidentally clearing of suspicion a boy and girl who are in love.

The cast includes Alexander Kirkland, H. B. Warner, Ralph Morgan, Marian Nixon, James Kirkwood, Linda Watkins and James Todd.

Founded on the Broadway play by the same name, "Nice Women" will be presented at the Palace Wednesday and Thursday. Sidney Fox appears in the featured role. She is supported by Frances Dee, Alan Mowbray, Russell Gleason and Carmel Myers.

SIDNEY FOX

The picture deals with a tangled love affair involving two bachelors one rich and one poor, and three girls, all poor.

"Nice Women" does not end as most moviegoers will expect it to. It is said to give an illuminating lesson in love.

Tim McCoy is the star of "The Fighting Fool" Friday and Saturday attraction at the Palace.

It is a drama of adventure and romance of the early days of the old west. McCoy appears as a forceful young sheriff who has to battle with a dangerous gang of cattle rustlers. Marceline Days is the leading lady.

"In Line of Duty," with Sue Carrol and Noah Beery, will be shown at the Lyric today. It is a gripping drama of the Canadian northwest.

Miss Carrol appears in the touching role as the native daughter of French-Canadian trapper, played by Beery. James Murray and Francis McDonald round out the cast. The picture gives a glimpse of the gay night-life of the northern metropolis of Vancouver.

Constance Bennett with a supporting cast that includes Adolphe Menjou, Robert Montgomery and Anita Page, will be shown at the Lyric Monday and Tuesday.

The Lyric will present Warner Oland in another of his Charlie Chan mystery series, "Charlie Chan Carries On," Wednesday and Thursday.

Hoot Gibson in a fast-action western thriller, "Hard Hombre," will be offered at the Lyric Friday and Saturday.

We do hemstitching for 5c, also hosiery repair service at reasonable prices.

THE NEW BOOKS

Famous Old Medicine Man Furnishes Material For "Black Elk Speaks" Which May Prove Most Interesting Book Of 1932; Cabell And Tarkington's New Efforts Are Recognized

YOU will not find a more unusual book than "Black Elk Speaks" all year.

In this book John G. Nethardt has set down, verbatim, a long series of utterances by Black Elk, famous old medicine man of the Ogalala Sioux, who fought in the battle of the Little Big Horn, was a relative and close friend of the famous chief, Crazy Horse, and who now survives, aged and blind, in a little cabin on a western reservation.

Black Elk has told the story of his life—and what a story it is! He grew up as a child of the stone age, a son of the plains Indians; he came to manhood to find his people being crushed by the advent of a mysterious superior civilization, and the tragedy, the cruelty and the injustice of the conflict have colored his whole life and are reflected on every page of this book.

Furthermore, Black Elk was a mystic: At the age of nine he fell ill and had a vision; he was transported into cloud land, conversed with the maker of the world, foresaw the future and was "called" to the life of a medicine man. Throughout his life he was visited by other visions; and he accepted the reality of these experiences as implicitly as you accept the reality of last night's trip to the movies.

It is impossible to remain unimpressed by the old man's story. The book has color, mystery and beauty, and a fine dignity. No other book gives one as good a picture of the aboriginal American.

"Black Elk Speaks" is published by William Morrow and Co.

Mr. Cabell Considers The Life Of Today

BY this time, very likely, you are aware of the fact that James Branch Cabell has knocked off his first name with the publication of his newest book, "These Restless Heads"; and it remains only to report that this book, which is somewhat in the mood of his "Beyond Life," consists of a series of loosely-connected essays on literature, life, love, patriotism and the world in general.

He's Branch Cabell now . . . but his new book is written in the same charming style which James Branch Cabell used.

You find here, again, the carefully-wrought prose which is habitual with Mr. Cabell. Now and again it seems stilted and affected; for the most part, though, it is a delight to read it.

It is the same with the subject matter; occasionally trivial, his book frequently becomes devastating in its ironic observations on present-day foibles. His remarks on the American flag, for example, would arouse the professional patriots to demand his execution, if it were not for the fact that the professional patriots have probably never heard of him.

"These Restless Heads" is published by McBride and is the February choice of the Literary Guild.

Tarkington's Humor Becomes Slightly Acid

SOME more of those fearful American women Booth Tarkington can create so skillfully appear in "Mary's Neck," Mr. Tarkington's latest novel. The book recounts the experiences of a middle western business man who is beguiled, by his wife and daughters, into taking a cottage for the summer along the Maine coast, and it seems to have been written chiefly to show what unbelievably unpleasant creatures the wives and daughters of the wealthy can be.

The book is, in fact, rather savage. Yet it fails to become a significant bit of social satire because of a defect inherent in the author's own attitude. He can flay the idle and purposeless stuffed shirts of the upper middle class as bitterly as anyone; but for contrast he can offer us only a complete Babbitt. He defends the obverse side of the thing he attacks, and his book is vaguely disappointing.

There's a lot of fun in it, though, and—like all of his books—it is gracefully written. It's published by Doubleday, Doran and Co., and it is the February choice of the Book of the Month Club.

Picturing Hitler's Rise To Dictatorship

"NORDICUS," an apparently very well-informed college professor writing under a pseudonym, gives a disdainful opinion of Adolph Hitler, would-be German dictator, in the book "Hitlerism—the Iron Fist in Germany," and predicts Hitler's almost certain rise to dictatorship within the next few months.

He regards Hitler as a mediocrity with unusual organizing abilities, and remarkable intuitive feeling for mass psychology. Hitler's program, "Nordicus" finds, is largely a compound of enough absurdities—to please almost every view; the attempted consummation of it would mean Hitler's speedy downfall.

"Nordicus" further views the possibility that France might engage on a "preventive war" to keep Germany from becoming too powerful, and to stop Hitler, who is bitterly anti-French.

How Garbo Hides Her Feet

This picture of Greta Garbo and John Barrymore, two of the screen's greatest stars, is an informal snapshot made as they waited for their cues in the new production in which they both appear. It shows Miss Garbo wearing the soft slippers which se wears when not actually before the camera. Note that one is entirely and the other partially covered by her trailing dress. The size of her feet has long been a matter of conjecture around the studio.

Babson Sees Wider Adoption Of 5-Day Week

Increase In Employment Would Follow

Financial Adviser Declares Plan Would Be Wise And Would Curtail Over-Production And Spread Jobs

BY ROGER W. BABSON
Copyright For Avalanche-Journal

BABSON PARK, Florida, March 5.—One result of this depression may be the wider adoption of the five-day week. Surely it would be wise to curtail over-production and spread employment in this systematic way. However, labor cannot receive the same wages per week.

Roger Babson

All interests must make some sacrifice. Employers might have to stand some temporary raising of costs for the later benefits which the five-day week would have on employment and purchasing power. Labor may have to make some sacrifice in the total immediate week's wages in order to insure continuance of employment and make jobs for unemployed fellow workers. Increase in employment would follow the five-day week because the work would then be divided among a greater number of people.

Not a "New Fad"

The five-day week is not a "new fad." It is already in successful operation in some of our largest industries. Five and one-half per cent of all industrial workers have a five-day week; forty-four per cent of all automobile employees have a five-day week; nearly sixty per cent of all building trade workers; thirty-four per cent of the radio workers; twenty-seven per cent of the aircraft workers; and fifteen per cent of the woolen mill employees. This includes only the plants that have adopted the five-day week as a permanent policy, not those plants temporarily operating five days or less because of the depression. Many plants now operating temporarily on five days or less will probably adopt it permanently when the depression is over.

To Offset Machine Displacement Of Labor

Unemployment is not entirely due to the depression. For several years before the depression, unemployment was increasing, because men were being displaced by machinery. In the ten years from 1920 to 1930 production per worker increased forty-nine per cent, but the number of workers declined over 1,000,000. Machines are taking the place of men on every hand. More patents for new inventions were taken out in the past ten years than in the whole century after Washington's inauguration. What has happened? In the past decade manufacturing industries have installed machinery which necessitated the laying off of 355,000 men. The railroads, although transporting more goods, dropped 257,000 men. Coal mines reduced their forces by 120,000; 800,000 agricultural workers lost their jobs because of new machinery.

When we consider that half the nation's wage workers are employed in these fields of endeavor, and more than a million of them permanently lost their jobs, it is no wonder that unemployment is so severe. Department of Labor figures show employment is now twenty-six per cent below normal. If the five-day week were generally adopted, at least ten per cent more workers would be required. This would bring employment much closer to normal than it now is, and would pave the way for business revival that would in time wipe out the remaining deficit of work. No one would wish to abolish machines, because they contribute to mass production, lower costs, lower consumer prices, and increased standard of living. All industry shows that man's progress has come as a result of using devices to save his own labor. The problem is to adjust the working schedule so that more men will have jobs. The five-day week, or ultimately the four-day week, may be the solution.

Leisure Time a Blessing or a Curse

The five-day week is sound enough as far as business is concerned. If people wanted to they could get along on a four-day week provided they were willing to work hard enough while they were on the job and let machinery do all the things it can. Our factories are running on less man-working hours today than they did before the war, yet they are producing fifty per cent more goods than they did then, and paying about twice as much wages. Increasing use of machinery with the five-day or four-day week would mean more leisure for workers instead of unemployment for them as it now means. The real question is, what will the majority of people do with additional leisure? If people worked permanently four or five days instead of five and one-half or six, would they spend the additional leisure time in a way that would help them, or hurt them; that would make them better men, or weaker men?

As mass production increases people are sure to have more leisure and the future of business is very dependent upon the industries which cater to leisure time. Right here let me say I think too much emphasis is placed on going to shows, football games, and other ready-made amusement instead of everybody taking an actual part in healthful, physical recreation. We have become a nation of spectators rather than participators. We sit in crowded theaters, arenas and parks, watching a few contenders get the real exercise and recreation. Occasional attendance at such spectacles is perhaps a needed relaxation; but for a steady thing it is much better to employ leisure time laying games ourselves, working in our gardens, fixing up our homes etc. Why pay out all our amusement money to watch others play?

Employ Leisure Profitably

Leisure time will be a curse instead of a blessing to the nation unless we use a part of it for self-education and improvement. We should read good books and worthwhile papers and magazines. We and spiritually, is a help to individuals, to business, and to the nation; but the wasting of leisure in inconsequential, or harmful pursuits, is a great detriment. Hence, while I believe in the shorter work week, I also believe that we must train ourselves in the proper use of leisure. Leisure time will either make or break America.

Business by the Babsonchart now stands at 32 per cent below normal compared with 31 per cent below normal last month and 20 per cent below normal a year ago.

Tech Cattle Shown At Exposition

Above is pictured 4 head of prize Tech Aberdeen-Angus cattle which are being exhibited at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock show at Fort Worth this week. The cattle were sent to Fort Worth last week. W. L. Stangel, head of the department of animal husbandry, is acting as superintendent of the swine department in the exposition.

Lubbock Rabbit Breeders Win In Amarillo Exhibit

Eight Lubbock rabbit breeders who entered a total of about 40 rabbits in the show at Amarillo held in connection with the annual Panhandle Fat Stock show, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, won prizes, J. B. Rhodes and Alva Akers, local breeders who attended, said on their return.

"The Amarillo Rabbit Breeders association held a wonderful show," Mr. Rhodes said. "Some 246 rabbits were in the show and about 40 were from here."

Mr. Rhodes reports a scarcity of good rabbits in Lubbock at the present time, owing to heavy sales by local breeders as a result of an advertising campaign.

ARE

About 15 per cent of the gas you buy is lost through small leaks in your house piping, according to government experts.

This waste which is often the cause of high gas bills, may be prevented easily.

A leak that may appear triffling to you will, in the course of a year, increase your bills considerably. A loss of only one cubic foot every 15 minutes will waste almost 3,000 cubic feet of gas in a month.

The waste of gas is considered so very important by the West Texas Gas Company that it spends a large sum annually in an effort to keep the leakage in distributing systems as low as possible.

HOW TO FIND LEAKS

On every domestic meter is a dial marked "One Foot" or "Two Feet." This is used for detecting leaks. Turn of all the fires in your house and note the position of the hand on the small dial of your meter. Then look at it a little while later. If the hand has moved, there is a leak, for the meter will not work unless gas is going through it.

To find just where the leak is located, cover each joint with strong soap suds. If the gas is escaping it will bubble through the suds. If you then do not know how to fix the leak, call a plumber.

NEVER LOOK FOR A GAS LEAK WITH A MATCH!

Study Of Soil Is Highly Important Phase Of Farming, Tech Man Says

Getting The Most Out Of It Is Big Problem

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article was written by Prof. H. J. Bower, head of the department of agronomy of Texas Technological college. He has studied soil for the past fifteen years, having been engaged in the work in Illinois, Ohio, Connecticut, Kansas and Texas.

AMONG our masses, one of the greatest failings is to regard lightly the common phenomen of life and things that surround us. It was Confuscius who said that "Culture is a knowledge of things that surround us", And this is especially true of the material some call dirt, others soil, while others may casually or rhetorically use the term "mother earth".

It takes a man of considerable training and experience to manage a factory, to run an engine, to mine gold, lay bricks, manage a store, a bank or run a business of any kind. The soil is no less simple than these and it requires years of training and experience to get the most out of each soil type. The soil may be likened unto a highly organized engine, which must be cared for in all of its parts to maintain its efficiency.

A few people in all ages have been dissatisfied with their present knowledge or practices and have attempted to reason from the known to the unknown to extend their knowledge, with the hope of developing new facts and principles which will benefit mankind. This makes our masses have a very comfortable feeling that life is progressive and that they know about all that is essential or obtainable about the affairs of life and of living. The few dissatisfied ones have been known as philosophers or more recently as scientists. In connection with the study of the soil, these men are known as soil scientists.

The soil scientist of today believes the soil to be a living organized mass of mantle rock and decayed organic matter, with properties and functions, which react on each other as is common with organized beings. An agricultural soil is a material possessing certain properties defying description, of which is commonly spoken of as life. The life factor or soil is injected by the forces of nature and cannot be produced artificially. When the natural fertility or productivity of our soil is destroyed, it can only be profitably restored by natural processes.

Must Give Him Economic Return

The farmer requires that his fields be more than a medium for supporting the growth of plants. He demands that his soils be able to support the growth of crops as will give him an economic return.

It appears that no matter what the conditions of the soil is, its natural and visible function to support plant life from both the mechanical and nutritional standpoint must be studied by men who are not only trained in the sciences but have the experience, training and institution of the farmer.

In the field the trained scientist studies the essential differences between soils that constitute a soil type. He observes the relation of the soil type to native vegetation, to crops and to methods of cultivation. The soil scientist knows the structure, texture, profile, origin, topography and all observable physical characteristics, as one would study the form, shape size and color and other physical characteristics of breeds of horses or of cattle.

Soils Are Reclaimed

Through organized and intelligent effort our improverished lands are subdued and reclaimed. Agriculture, as a matter of necessity, is being classified and organized. A home may be established and food produced by a master farmer. However, regardless how firm and safe this surface factory operator, who deals with the mysteries of the soil, without an understandinig he may sink deeper and deeper into debt until in a business sense he is submerged. Such tragedies are consistently viewing on the various types of soil, when occupied by those who do not know or are not able to comprehend enough of the mysteries, the capacities and the weaknesses of the soil, to win success.

Each soil type is a distinct organized factory in which the parts must be kept fairly adjusted to do efficient work. It is not advisable that an attempt be made to make the different soil types equally productive for all crops. In this country we have come to recognize the peculiar adaptation and dependence of certain soils for certain crops as in the case of wheat, alfalfa, commercial tomatoes, tobacco, fruit and truck soils, etc. This is the dawn breaking on the classification and organization of man and soils, which marks the beginning of an intensive agriculture in its true sense and marks the beginning of the development of agriculture comparable with the development of industrial life.

This modern concept of the soil is known as land utilization and soil conservation, which has been in operation in Europe for scores of years. Under our present system of agriculture almost all crops are grown on almost all types of soil but this has been due to the fact that the art of agriculture, the oldest and most fundamental of all the industries, is the least developed in the United States.

Few soil types are able to remain in proper condition under the continuous cultivation of a single crop of any kind. Either a resting period or a rotation of crops is necessary to maintain the soil in condition. Experience in the handling of the essential forces in a single soil type with such knowledge and experience as may be gained from others is just as essential to success in agriculture as it is in any line of industrial work.

Prizes To Be Offered Communities In Lubbock County Putting On Best Farm Bureau Programs During Year

LUBBOCK county communities in which the Lubbock County Farm Bureau federation will hold its monthly meetings this year, are eligible to compete for three prizes to be offered by the federation for the best programs, H. J. Bower, secretary, announces.

Prizes will be: first, $25; second, $15 and third, $10.

Ten meetings are to be held. The schedule for the series has not been definitely decided on. The first is to be Friday night, March 11, at Hurlwood.

W. A. Fincher, superintendent of the Hurlwood schools, is local program chairman.

Speakers will include Mrs. William A. Dungus, of the faculty of Texas Technological college who will speak on "Home Beautification" and Mrs. W. W. Ferguson, well known farmer woman leader who is to talk on "Community Work."

Judges will be: Durwood H. Bradley, district attorney; Miss Mae Murfee, county superintendent of schools and J. H. Brock of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

Judging will be based on the following points or score card: attendance; a, number; b, behavior; 40 points; program of 50 minutes; a, appropriateness; b, subject matter; c, presentation, 30 points; participation, a, extent of number of people; b, different ages, 20 points; program related to community work, 10 points.

The programs begin at 8 o'clock in the evening. A series of programs to discuss agricultural subjects of interest to the entire county, will be given during the year.

Pointers On Poultry

1932 PULLETS

SAVINGS in future egg production costs can be made by growing better pullets in 1932.

To say that better pullets cannot be grown is to say that progress in poultry improvement has stopped.

The pullet flock of 1932 should not only be better grown, but should be produced more economically.

A better pullet flock for 1932 must consist of birds that have inherited traits capable of resisting disease and capable of carrying them as layers through a long season of heavy egg yield.

A profit making pullet flock must have as its foundation, vigor and vitality. Weak poorly developed, underfed pullets will not make a profit no matter what or how you feed them.

Size Should Be Considered

Egg size should be given equally as much consideration as number of eggs laid. The parent stock of the 1932 pullet flock should be of known quality. Most hatcheries on the Plains have taken the safe method of having all flocks A. P. A. certified. This means assurance of high grade chicks. Before buying, be assured of certified chicks. Hatching eggs or baby chicks from high grade certified flocks may be bought at reasonable prices. It is false economy to look about for the cheapest chicks, the cheapest eggs or the cheapest feed. You will most surely lose in the race following such procedure. This has been the experience of many an unfortunate poultry keeper.

Don't blame the flock for sudden slumps in production until you have carefully analysed your feeding and housing. Pullets are often victims of conditions over which they have no control whatever. Many flocks we inspect have never had either shell or grit. Both are as necessary as feed. Watch the water supply—keep it plentiful and clean.

Milk fed in filthy, old iron or other metal containers poison hundreds of would-be healthy, productive birds. Milk draws flies and flies draw tape worms and the tape worms poison and paralyse the legs, wings or necks of the birds. If you feed milk, make a mash of it.

Over-Production

Every day we hear more about over-production of inferior production of high grade poultry products. It is true the inferior products are going begging for a market a big part of the year. With the development of improved methods of storage and marketing we may look forward for a ready demand for all poultry products.

We urge all producers to give more thought to cost of production and to improving their produce also to the marketing of same. Our population is increasing so rapidly and our people are constantly finding new uses of eggs in the daily menu. So that over-production is as far away today as it was ten years ago. This is also evidenced by the fact that the average price for both poultry and eggs has been on the upward trend for ten years with a yearly increased production.

The writer can recall when, 40 years ago, but few eggs were produced throughout this Southland. The housewife began to "save up" eggs for Christmas several weeks ahead, and at this the price for eggs seldom ranged higher than 10c a dozen. From March to July 5c was considered a good price and you had to take it in "chips and whetstones" as they used to say.

We believe that the poultry business looks more promising today than ever before in the history of the United States.

Over-production has always been a bug-a-boo to the beginner because he does not know of the ups and downs and hazards in chick rearing. Chickens as a rule live only 2 years. In other words the entire poultry population has to be replaced every two years. In addition to this remember the fact that only half of the chicks hatched on the average farm reach 12 months of age.

Judging Contests At A. & M. Slated

COLLEGE STATION, March 5, (Special)—The fifteenth annual Texas state judging contests in vocational agriculture will be conducted at Texas A. & College April 18 by the schools of agriculture and vocational teaching of the college in cooperation with the state board for vocational education, E. R. Alexander, professor of agricultural education at the college, who is chairman of the rules and regulations committee of the Smith-Hughes contests, has announced. At this time state representatives for three national vocational agriculture contests will be chosen.

Entry in the contests is open to students regularly enrolled in vocational agriculture in high schools and secondary schools of Texas provided that they have never taken part in these contests in previous years; that they never have taken part in an interstate contest; that they never have practiced judging on animals belong to A. & M. College; that their scholastic standing in high school is as high as is required for competition in athletics.

Feeding And Breeding Are Being Studied

Show Animals To Be Selected From 243 Calves Fed By 84 Boys And 540 Pigs Fed By 156 Boys Over Area

FUTURE feeders and exhibitors from 13 vocational agriculture high schools plan to show animals at the Panhandle South Plains Fat Calf and Pig show here on March 24-25 according to information received from J. C. Dykes, professor of agricultural education, Texas A. and M. college, who is in charge of the state work. Show animals will be selected from 243 calves fed by 84 boys and 540 pigs fed by 156 boys.

Boys from the vocational agriculture departments at Levelland, Crosbyton, Littlefield, Hale Center, Farwell, Colorado, Dimmitt, Olton, Sudan, Spur, Silverton, Tahoka and Knox City expect to have animals at the show.

The vocational agriculture feeding program is a part of the Texas feeder-breeder development. One thousand nine-hundred sixty-nine boys enrolled in their second year of vocational agriculture in 245 high schools in Texas are finishing, 8,854 animals for the market this year. One thousand one hundred sixty-six boys are feeding 3,590 pigs, 641 boys are feeding 1,415 calves, and 162 boys are feeding 3,849 lambs.

Other March shows at which vocational agriculture boys will exhibit are the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show at Ft. Worth, the Amarillo Baby Beef Show, and the San Angelo Fat Stock Show.

He's Promoter Of Fights But They Are Among Bugs

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 5.—C. E. Pemberton is chief promoter of fights in the insect kingdom. For the past 12 years he has been promoting "The Battle of the Bugs" in south seas sugar raising sections, and he has managed several insect parasites that have powerful knockout punches.

Pemberton

Pemberton, on his way to Porto Rico, stopped off here recently to tell of his experiments in encouraging "bugs to eat bugs."

His work has been invaluable to the sugar raising industry. He has found several parasites which prey on those which devour sugar plants.

The parasite insects are released in a sugar cane field. They find their way to the plants and, on finding destructive insects at work on the leaves or stalk of the sugar cane, start a battle which generally results in their winning and devouring the enemy.

Results Of Tests On Sorghums Give Planting Advice

EDITORS' NOTE: The following observations on the results of experiments made at the state experiment station at Spur, were made by R. E. Dickson the superintendent, who has spent many years at the station and whose records cover tests dating back a score of years.

IN A GRAIN sorghum variety test in which 34 varieties were planted, dwarf yellow milo has been the highest yielder of grain. Kafir and feterita have been close seconds. Hegari was a very poor yielder, producing less than one-third as much grain as milo.

* * *

Grohoma, a new variety, which is being largely tested throughout the country, has not produced in tests here so well as the standard varieties of milo, kafir and feterita.

There was little difference in yield in a spacing test for milo, in 1931, between plants spaced 24 inches to 33 inches apart in the row. When plants are spaced closer than 21 inches, yields went down.

Milo planted on June 10, made higher yields of grain than plantings made in either April or May, or from plantings made after June 10. A much cheaper crop, however, is produced from the later plantings.

Two cultivations for milo, in a test in 1931, made larger yields than did the three, four, five, six or seven cultivations. Only enough cultivation to control weed growth, is necessary in the production of milo.

Over a period of years, milo planted in 36 inch rows, has produced a slightly larger yield than milo in 72 inch rows. The cost of harvesting in the wider row, frequently offsets the slightly higher yield.

EXPLANATION OF LAST SUNDAY'S CARTOON

The Imperial Godmother of 5824—Empress Eugenie, wife of Napoleon III and granddaughter of the American Consul, W. Mulloy, Smith, was the godmother of 5824 children whom she actually held at baptism. On the day her son the Prince Imperial was baptized (June 14, 1856) an Imperial decree was issued that the Emperor and the Empress regard themselves "parraine" and "marrine" (the godparents) of every French child born on the Prince's birthday. While this sponsorship was rather of a general and spiritual nature, the Empress actually made it a practice to personally stand godmother to all children born on her son's birthday anniversary within the banlieu of Paris. Between 1857 and 1870 the number of godchildren thus actively acquired amounted to 5824. The Empress survived the eclipse of her family by fifty years, and is said to have maintained her interest in her numerous godchildren to the last.

Drank Himself to Death In 115 Years—

Dr. Joachim Politman, of Lorraine, France, is the holder of the most bewildering record in long distance drunkenness in all history. He was born in Metz in 1766 and died in 1906 at the age of 140. He was a medical practitioner of surgery for 106 years. The niche he carved for himself in history is for having been drunk every day in his life since the age of 28. One hundred and fifteen years of daily intoxication finally resulted in his death, but it apparently never impaired his professional usefulness, as he is credited with having performed a major surgical operation on his wife on the eve of his death.

Annual 'Battle' With Income Tax Blanks Under Way Throughout Nation

Rate Is Same But Slump Is Seen In Total

Scramble To File Returns Is On And Papers Must Be In By March 15; Receipts Of Nation Big Question

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Money earners, big and small, are in the thick of the annual battle with income tax blanks—while the government faces a slump in receipts probably more precipitate than that of a year ago.

The scramble to file returns on incomes received during 1931 ends at midnight March 15. The tax rate will be the same as last year—but on much diminished incomes. Any new tax legislation will apply to 1932 incomes to be paid next year.

Receipts Big Question

So far as income taxes are concerned 1931 is a big question mark. Taxable income declined so much in 1930 from 1929, that—with continued unsettled business—treasury officials hesitate to estimate what they are going to receive this March 15.

Money received from taxes on 1929 incomes was about $2,500,000,000. It fell to about $1,250,000,000 in 1930.

Particularly revealing is the comparison of incomes by classes in the two years. While receipts from incomes $5,000 or under more than doubled, in the higher brackets—where most of the receipts come from—it fell drastically. For instance, those with incomes of $500,000 or over paid almost $300,000,000 in 1929 against only $99,000,000 in 1930.

Number Declines

Also revealing is the decline in number of taxpayers. Out of the nation's total 35 or 40 million gainfully employed persons, only 2,400,000 persons and 231,000 corporations paid income taxes in the big year of 1929; while in 1931, persons numbered 1,900,000, and corporations 181,000.

What has happened to income in the larger classes is shown in corporation incomes, their net income falling from $7,500,000,000 in 1929 to $1,400,000,000 in 1930. Net personal income in the same period fell from $24,200,000,000 to $17,200,000,000.

Those Who Must File

Single persons who had a net income of $1,500 or more or a gross income of $5,000 or more during 1931 must file returns. So must married couples who had a net income of $3,500 or more or a gross income of $5,000.

There is a one and one-half per cent normal tax on the first $4,000 in excess of the personal exemption and credits. There is three per cent normal tax on the next $4,000 and a five per cent tax on the balance of net income. Surtaxes apply to individual net incomes in excess of $10,000.

Revenue bureau officials say that while the vast majority of taxpayers are careful to claim allowable exemptions, many fail to compute in their returns the credit of 25 per cent of the tax on the full amount of their earned net income.

COLLECTOR SETS SCHEDULE

John Toensmeier, deputy internal revenue collector for this district, is on his annual tour over the district and will be in Lubbock for conferences with income tax payers on March 14 and 15, he has announced. He visited in Lamesa, Tahoka, Post, Littlefield and Brownfield the past week and will be in Happy, March 7; Tulia, March 8; Floydada, March 9; Ralls, March 10; Plainview, March 11 and 12.

Mr. Toensmeier will assist persons in making out their 1931 statements.

TAXPAYERS TO MEET

HOUSTON, March 5 (AP)—The State Taxpayers' association will meet in annual convention here April 9.

Sam T. Robb, president of the Harris county association, said 150 Texas counties were expected to send delegates.

The general theme will be lower taxes.

The Diesel oil engine has no spark plugs. The fuel it ignited by heat generated by the high compression.

Facts On The Income Tax

* * * * * * * * * * * *

The Deadline

Midnight March 15.

Who Must File A Return

Anyone who has a gross income of more than $5,000.
Any single person who has a net income of $1,500 or more.
Any married person who has a net income of $3,500 or more.

Those Exempt From Paying Tax

Any single person whose net income is $1,500 or less.
Any married person whose net income is $3,500 or less.

Who Must Pay Tax

Those whose income is greater than listed above, unless they have other exemptions. A single person's primary exemption is $1,500 and a married person's is $3,500.

Penalty

If your income tax is not stamped in the postoffice by midnight March 15, you may have to pay a 25 percent penalty.

Merit Badge Counselors For Area Are Named; Sixty-Two Divisions Of Scout Work Included In Activities

MERIT badge counselors for 62 divisions of Boy Scout endeavor have been named, it was announced Saturday at the office of D. T. Jennings, South Plains area scout executive. Appointments were made by George W. Dupree, chairman of the court of honor committee.

A scout wishing to earn a merit badge will first consult his scoutmaster and obtain an application filled in with the subject, the scout's name, and the troop number and signed by the scoutmaster. He will then telephone or call on the counselor and arrange for an appointment before he does any work on the subject. Some of the counselors will conduct classes and others will instruct the boys by individual appointments, it was pointed out.

Agriculture, G. W. Woodbury, A. H. Leidigh and Don L. Jones; angling, W. G. McMillan; animal industry, W. L. Stangel and F. G. Harbaugh; archery, Edgar Neal; architecture, G. E. Dawson; athletics, John (Swede) McMurry and Jewell (Mule) Davis; bee keeping, Don L. Jones; beef production, S. C. Arnett; bookbinding, C. E. Millerman; botany, Dr. E. L. Scout Work To Be Offered

"Principles Of Scoutmastership" Will Be Taught In Classes At Texas Tech In Coming Spring Term

Subjects to be studied in the course, "Principles of Scoutmastership," which will be offered at Texas Technological college during the spring term and instructors have been announced. The spring term opens Monday, March 28.

Sessions will be held each Monday evening, from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock in room 214 of the administration building. Any male student of Tech is eligible to take the course and a two-hour credit will be given for completion of the work. All scout leaders or adults interested in boys also are eligible to enroll if they are qualified to enter college. A fee of $10 will be charged and the same credit will be given as to students, Scout Executive D. T. Jennings said. Dr. J. O. Ellsworth will be scoutmaster.

Schedule Arranged

The course, as now arranged, will be given as follows:

March 28, "The Nature of the Boy," W. P. Clement; "The Scout Program Which Meets the Boy's Needs," D. T. Jennings; April 4, "Educational Objectives," J. M. Gordon; "Scouting Objectives," A. B. Sanders; April 11, "Methods of Education," J. T. Shaver; "Scouting Methods of Education," A. H. Leidigh; April 18, "The Project Method and Scouting Projects," Dr. A. W. Evans; "Troop Program Building," Don L. Jones.

April 25, "Yearly Outdoor Program of a Scout Troop," D. T. Jennings; "Troop Administration," K. N. Clapp; May 2, "Ceremonies in the Scout Program," George W. Dupree; "The Boy's Reading Program," Dr. Jack M. Lewis; May 9, "Education for Character," Dr. A. W. Evans; "Character Values of Scouting and How Obtained," Dr. F. B. Malone: May 16, "The Relation of the Troop to the Parent Institution," O. H. Cline; "The Working Relation Between Troop Committee and the Troop," W. M. Craig; May 23, "The Measure of a Good Troop," J. R. Mitchell; "The Measure of a Good Scoutmaster," K. N. Clapp; May 30, "Scout Advancement and Specialization," W. P. Clement; "Scouting Applied to Life," J. O. Ellsworth.

Hale County's Voting Power Shows Loss Of 557 Votes

PLAINVIEW, March 5—(Special)—Hale county's voting strength for the 1932 presidential election is 3,585, a net loss of 557 from the 1930 figures when 4,142 poll tax receipts were issued. The number of exemptions and those under age but eligible because they will be of age by November, was not announced.

The city hall precinct in Plainview is the largest, with 823 voters. The court house precinct is second with 638 and the auditorium box third with 520. Other boxes are as follows: Hale Center, 413; Abernathy, 324; Petersburg, 187; West Side, 133; Runningwater, 128; Cotton Center, 106; Half Way, 84; Happy Union, 78; Lake View, 69; Ellen, 45; Sunshine, 21, and Hooper, 18.

LANGUAGE DYING

The old tongue of Manx, native language of the Isle of Man, is gradually dying out. Fewer than 1000 of the island's 50,000 population now have any speaking knowledge of it.

DIVERSIFIED

Are the Uses of Electricity

When you start your car, electrical current does the job. Steamships are lighted by electrical current generated on board, just as trains and huge buses. Airplanes traveling through space at a terrific speed must have this vital spark to keep them going. S. O. S. calls from sea, and radio, both receiving and broadcasting, are bolstered up by the necessary, yet unknown, element called electricity.

In the home, the uses of electrical current are great, and equally as diversified. There is an electrical appliance for practically every task, and too, the cost of operating these saving devices is phenominally low. See your appliance dealer today!

The Traffic Light Problem

CONSIDERING the amount of so-called expert treatment given it, traffic control has shown less improvement than any other official function affecting the comfort, convenience and safety of large numbers of people. The police and other agencies have tried all the cures without effecting a cure. In fact, efforts at traffic control and direction have resulted in slowing and hindering, rather than facilitating, the flow of traffic.

Among these cures that proved worse than the ailment was the traffic light. Cities adopted it for legitimate reasons and used it to good advantage under certain conditions, but, either because of high-pressure salesmen or that potent power of suggestion, a delusion of grandeur, every cross-roads, hamlet, village and town installed it where it was neither ornate nor useful.

Self-styled traffic engineers, experts could not have devised a better way to block, hinder, slow-up and confuse traffic than this suspension of alternating red, amber and green lights which more often than not halts through traffic at a time at points where cross-traffic exists in overworked imaginations only.

But the days of traffic-control bungling may now be numbered. The Texas highway department has banished all traffic lights erected by boroughs and townships on through highways where conditions do not warrant their operation. They will be replaced by the boulevard stop system which gives through traffic the right of way over all cross-traffic.

After all, the convenience of the traffic light is secondarily to the interests of the public, and tremendous interests are involved in keeping traffic moving as rapidly as is consistent with safety.

The Avalanche-Journal has always been of the opinion that some traffic lights are needed in Lubbock, although it does not believe we need as many as we have at present at the points where they are now located.

It's an easy matter to erect a traffic light, but erecting it in the right place and in the most efficient rotation is another matter altogether. No expert on traffic light operation, we believe further careful study here might benefit the local traffic system.

INSULATED

Electricity is what puts the real kick in a kiss, the contact of the lips causing a mild and pleasing shock, according to an eminent Danish scientist who recommends wearing rubber heels as insulators, so as to get full benefit of the voltage, as it were. It is to be supposed, then, that boots, a fireman's coat and rubber gloves would add considerably to the potency of a kiss, although the learned doctor does not say so.

Still, the old-fashioned kind, delivered without these adjuncts, seem not to have lost their effectiveness. The shock, sometimes slightly delayed, continues to jolt the youngsters who take literally the old lie that two can live as cheaply as one. Insulation against that idea is what the world needs, more than the kind recommended by this no doubt kindly but slightly misguided Dane!

Practical Health Problems

ONE TYPE OF HEADACHE IS USEFUL

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

The first thing to note about the pain of the neurotic headache is that it is not a pain at all. The possessor of a neurotic headache will correct you if you refer to its as a pain. It is a pressure or a throbbing; "it feels as if my head were in a vise;" a feeling of lightness or heaviness fullness, as if a foreign body were inside the head liquid, solid, loose or fixed; but never a pain.

Sometimes it is a veil or screen or cloud which prevents all intellectual activity.

Then the neurotic headache is likely to be in a very definite place—"at the base of the brain" is a favorite spot.

These neurotic headache are very useful things. They save the owner nearly all the disagreeble things in life. "Dear Aunt Sabetha: We would love to have you visit us this spring but my headaches have been so bad lately that I fear you would not enjoy yourself." There is your friendly neurotic headache.

Or, "I simply can't go to church this morning, my head is nearly killing me."

If a young person finds out the value of having a headache look out for him. "Johnny strained his eyes studying and he won't be able to take the arithmetic examination: his head aches every time he opens a book."

Strained eyes and the resulting headache often mean merely a neurosis: such a habit as that in Johnny is a very bad one to encourage.

Sometimes people with neurotic headaches interpret them to mean that they are going insane. Reassurance on this point may be all that is necessary to cure the headaches.

The treatment of all such headaches is psychological. They are not easy to overcome. Their roots are deep in character maladjustments—the misunderstood wife, the poet who can't get his poems published, that Johnny who found he could get out of his arithmetic examination by having a headache, grown to manhood—to manhood—heaven pity the poor wife who gets him, by the way—such things are hard to eradicate. But conservative modern psychotherapy can do a good deal.

A new and simple remedy for headache is salt. Its is based on the fact that an excess of salt in the blood, such as occurs when salt solution is given in the vein, reduces the pressure of the fluid around the brain and spinal cord. A Baltimore physician conceived the idea of giving salt by mouth for headaches. It seems to work splendidly.

The greatest difficulty is encountered in keeping the salt from irritating the stomach: nausea and vomiting may ensue if it does. This was overcome by coating 15 grains of salt with salol. Salol is not dissolved by the stomach but is dissolved by the intestinal juices, so that the salt is delivered directly to the intestines. The method is so simple and harmless that it deserves a trial in stubborn forms of headache.

Washington Confident

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Believers in the theory that peace can be dependably guaranteed by treaties are badly upset over Secretary of State Stimson's letter, a few days ago, to Chairman Borah of the senate committee on foreign relations, pointing out how seriously Japan's recent activities in Manchuria and around Shanghai have compromised the Washington naval pact of 1922, with subsequent additions, the nine-power bargain relating to Chinese integrity, and the Kellogg agreement, by which most countries "renounced war as a national policy."

Henry L. Stimson

Believers in the theory that a people must have peace in its heart, or it will find weapons to fight with, regardless of treaties, whenever it seems likely to profit by fighting, are pained but not astonished.

Secretary Stimson makes out a good case, indisputably.

The three treaties mentioned do, indeed, look foolish now, considering what is going on in the Orient. The palavering of the League of Nations sounds equally so. And the disarmament conferences at Geneva have had to reject an offer to have the crash of guns at the mouth of the Yangtse delivered wirelessly right into their chamber, to prevent the racket from interfering with their deliberations.

ONE HEARS all this discussed on Capitol Hill with considerable grim humor, following the general reading by the lawmakers of the Stimson letter to Senator Borah, who put it in the Congressional Record for their edification.

The big navy folk naturally are making a strong argument out of it.

There is not, however, as much bellicose talk as might be expected.

The truth is that the large-scale interests which ordinarily take to the war idea, because of the promise of big money in it for them, do not fancy it with the country already so deeply in debt. They manifestly are afraid of overdoing matters to the extent of endangering the entire system on which their fortunes are built. An occasional martial note is audible, to be sure, but only from small-bore, irresponsible sources.

The cry which helped to get the United States into the world conflict—that "blood is thicker than water"—probably would not work so well this time, either; the blood being Chinese blood in the present instance.

Still, there is the risk of an American ship being blown up in the Whangpoo river, or some such misfortune against which no foresight can guard.

THOSE of Washington's public men who are best acquainted with the Far East are convinced that the last thing desired by the real statesmanship of Japan is a clash with Uncle Sam.

What Tokio's views may be a generation or half a generation hence, if Nippon succeeds in establishing itself securely on the Asiatic mainland and attains the proportions of a basically mighty power is a different question. But advisers of the mikado like Premier Inukai, militaristic as he is, are given full credit for realizing that a first-class war would be ruinous to the islanders, with their slender resources of today.

Unluckily, the samurai class, in control of the army and navy, is recognized as possessing no such intelligence, making it a particularly dangerous group, once on the warpath, not alone to outsiders but even to Japan's own civil leaders, if crossed in its blind pugnacity.

THE PERILS of an American attempt to interfere in the situation in conjunction with either England, France or both are sufficiently obvious.

As is freely suggested in congressional circles, hostilities between the United States and the Japanese, should they ever develop, necessarily will be at a range of several thousand miles, consequently unavoidably long-drawn-out. And during their progress Europe clearly would be in a position resembling that of America's during the early years of the last great struggle—financially a very advantageous one.

Without exactly intimating that old world diplomacy would be so tricky as to lead Uncle Sam into such a difficulty and then leave him to "hold the sack," cynical commentators on international politics do say it plainly would be to Europe's interest to do it.

RUSSIA. DESPITE Moscow's warning to its military forces to be prepared for trouble, is not regarded here as in the least likely to take the initiative if it can possibly avoid doing so.

The soviet government is believed to be intensely apprehensive of an attack on both frontiers at once.

A COUNSEL OF PERFECTION

A bulletin just issued by the National Safety Council is headed by the question "What are the qualifications of a safe automobile drive?" In answering the question it sets forth an even score of qualities which to the casual reader would appear to be a counsel of perfection. In fact we feel no risk in making the assertion that there is not a single driver in the world who measures up to the qualifications.

One of the all-embracing requirements is that a driver should be "possessed of all his senses." Two essential senses in a driver are hearing and seeing, and yet recent investigations have proved that these are frequently deficient in applicants for licenses to operate a car. Another quality emphasized by the National Safety Council is: "All traffic rules of states, cities and towns through which the car is operated should be observed." A sound injunction, but difficult to follow if a man has any other business requiring attention.

However, it is a good axiom which the council coins: "Accidents do not happen—they are caused," and there are certainly too many of them which are avoidable.

The dime-a-dance girl

BY JOAN CLAYTON

COPYRIGHT 1932 NEA SERVICE INC.

DOWN HERE TODAY

Beautiful ELLEN ROSSITER, a salesgirl in Barclay's Department Store, lives with her extravagant mother, MOLLY ROSSITER, her elder sister, MYRA, and her young brother, MIKE. The two girls support the family. Molly foolishly spends money saved to pay the rent. Ellen decides to work at night at Dreamland as a dance hall hostess until the sum is made up. The hostesses must wear evening dresses and Ellen owns none.

STEVEN BARCLAY, a man of 57 and Ellen's employer, sees the girl crying and discovers the situation. He offers to give Ellen a dress but she proudly refuses. He then loans her a dress from stock.

Ellen dines with Barclay and he drives her to Dreamland where he leaves her. Ellen is half-pleased, half-frightened by her wealthy employer's obvious interest in her. But she forgets him entirely when at Dreamland she meets handsome young LARRY HARROWGATE, an artist, whose prospects, in his own phrase, are exactly nothing. She eagerly accepts Larry's invitation to tea the following day.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER VII

Ellen had never before realized how many steps there were in the five long flights that led to her own home. She was really very tired but she climbed doggedly forward, determined not to stop. The hall was hot and stuffy, piled up at the landings with rubbish awaiting the janitor's disposition. The house was asleep. Through thin walls she could hear the heavy sound of breathing and even the restless stirrings of the sleepers. At the second floor she identified a terrifying buzzing sound as Papa Clancy's snore.

She chuckled and pushed on.

Halfway between the fourth floor and the fifth she was unpleasantly surprised to see light shining from beneath the living room door of her own apartment. Oh, dear, someone was still awake! All the way home on the subway she had planned to hop straight into bed and drift off to sleep on the tide of her own glamorous imaginings. She did not want to share those imaginings or to discuss her experiences of the day. Now there was no help for it.

With a resigned sigh she unlocked the door and stepped into the Rossiter living room. Molly Rossiter, bright-eyed and wide-awake, sat at a battered mahogany table playing solitaire. Molly's solitaire was the joke of the family. Whenever she was beaten it was her habit to rearrange the cards and to proceed with the play. By faithfully adhering to that system, she never failed to run out all her cards.

"I've just beaten old Sol," she announced innocently as Ellen entered.

Then she sprang up and ran to greet her daughter.

"Sit down, darling," she urged. "You look tired to death. Do you want coffee? Shall I risk it or will you make it yourself? Did you have a good time? Tell me everything."

"Help, help," pleaded Ellen faintly, as she sank into a chair and pushed her hat back off her damp forehead. "You'll have to give me a chance. I'm winded. Don't bother about coffee. I'm going straight to bed."

"Not before you tell me all about it, are you?" Molly wailed in childish disappointment.

"You should have gone to bed, honey", Ellen told her, as her temporary annoyance faded. "But since you didn't, what do you want to know especially?"

"I couldn't have slept a wink," Molly protested earnestly clasping her hands about her bare knees. "I was too anxious to hear about everything—about the dress particularly. Did you look beautiful? Where is it?"

"It's at Dreamland. I guess I looked all right," Ellen tackled the questions in reverse order.

"Oh, Ellen, don't be so provoking! You aren't telling me anything! You only said over the phone that Mr. Barclay had lent it to you. What was he like? Was he nice?"

* * *

Ellen understood that Molly wanted to know whether or not Barclay had been personal. Her mother was trembling with eagerness to share Barclay's every intonation, his every facial expression. What had he done? What had he said? How had he looked? She wanted to know not only what Ellen thought Barclay had thought. In short she was prepared for a sentimental orgy.

Ellen could not help being mildly irritated when her mother was in such a mood.

"He was rather nice," she answered listlessly. "He's quite old, you know—not likely to be enthusiastic. But extremely kind."

"Then you saw him only in his office?"

"He drove me to Dreamland," Ellen conceded reluctantly.

"Ellen, that's simply marvelous!" Molly exclaimed ecstatically. "I was sure this morning that something was going to happen, I told you. Don't you remember?"

"Oh, stop it!" Ellen wanted to say.

But she managed to hold her tongue. Molly, lost in romantic speculations, saw nothing of her daughter's discomfort. Nor did Ellen's patient and not quite truthful assurances that Barclay had said not one word to indicate anything except a friendly interest, dislodge Molly from her firmly intrenched notion that he had fallen in love with Ellen upon first sight of her.

Ellen forgot how important the meeting with Barclay had seemed before that other meeting at Dreamland. She forgot that there had been nothing pallid about Steven Barclay's image in her mind until she had looked into Larry Harrowgate's shining, admiring eyes.

Not until Barclay and the drive through the park had been pretty thoroughly gone into was she allowed to escape to bed. One thing Molly's tireless cross-examination had failed to elicit—the story of the meeting with Larry Harrowgate.

Ellen woke in the morning to hear subdued giggles. Something furry brushed across her nose and she opened her eyes quickly, Mike's kitten, Buzz, scampered to the edge of the bed and hopped to the floor. Mike himself, seated cross-legged at the foot of the bed and wearing a suit of shrunken pajamas, was responsible for the giggles.

As the girl stretched her arms over her head she felt that the world was very fair. She laughed joyously with her young brother and as she laughed all thought of sleep vanished. The early morning air was sweet and cool, promising a radiant day. This was the beginning of the day that was to mark her first engagement with Larry Harrowgate. Her mind was busy with delightful planning.

What would she wear? She could carry the pink afternoon dress, a legacy from Aunt Myra, and change at noon when her duties at the store ended. Or would it be better to appear in the same costume she wore at work? Absorbed in those delightful possibilities, she leaned forward, pulled Mike into her arms and tousled his hair until he squealed with delight.

"Oh, gee," gasped Mike, after a few minutes of uproarious roughhousing. "I forgot to tell you. Somepin came for you. That's why I was to wake you up."

"What came?"

"A great big long box with lots of green ribbons."

Flowers! From Larry? Ellen was out of bed in a flash and into the living room. Myra and Molly were both at the table examining a giant florist box.

"It's from McClelland's!" Myra called out excitedly. "Mother and I thought you'd never get up. Did Mike wake you up?"

Ellen's fingers trembled with the novel delight of tearing away green ribbons and massed layers of satiny paper. Roses, wet and darkly red—

STORY by HAL COCHRAN — PICTURES by JOE KING

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Tinies joined th emerry song as their umbrella sailed along. The butcher had a real deep voice, and oh, how he could sing. The baker said, "I always mix my words and get into a fix, but don't you Tinies mind that. Let your voices loudly ring."

Then Scouty said, "I have a plan. I'll sing some new words, if I can." "Go right ahead," the others cried. "This ought to be real good. We promise we won't laugh at you. Just do the best that you can do." So Scouty followed their advice. He did the best he could.

"Just seven merry souls are we and we're as happy as can be. We're sailing on the water, though we don't know where we're bound. Perhaps, if we have lots of luck, at no time will our ships get stuck. However, I am hoping that we soon will run aground."

"Say! That was fine," the baker cried. "And now we'll show you how to ride around in funny circles. We can make our tub do that." The men began to paddle fast and their small tub whirled 'round, at last. 'Twas easy 'cause the bottom of the tub was round and flat.

"Let's try the same thing. Paddle, now!" said Coppy. "They have shown us how." But their big curved umbrella wouldn't whirl around one bit. "I give up," Duncy shortly cried. "We can't control our crazy ride. The big umbrella is so light we cannot manage it."

Just then a swordfish swam up near and Coppy yelled, "Get out of here!" But Mister Swordfish had another thing he wished to do. He pushed his sword up very slick, through the umbrella. Gee, 'twas slick. Wee Windy shouted, "My, oh my! The water's coming through!"

(The Tinies climb into the tub in the next story.)

IN NEW YORK WITH GILBERT SWAN

Sigh for Funny Cents

NEW YORK, March 5—In these days when columns seem to tumble over each other in the New York press, many oldsters find themselves sighing for the funny gents who day-in-day-out turned out humorous departments for the dailies.

Several have been swallowed up by Hollywood; some write books and some do pieces for the weekly and monthly magazines; some have gone radio and some have just naturally disappeared.

Miss Archie the Cockroach

None has ever come along to take the place, for instance, of Don Marquis with his poetic slapstick, as in "Sonnets to a Red-Haired Lady," or his Archie the Cockroach. Such mellowed daily verse and prose appears to have belonged to another day.

Nunnally Johnson, wag of the Post, turned his hand to fiction and most successfully. With the old Morning World went Frank Sullivan, maddest of the daily clowns, now finding his roof in the New Yorker and other publications.

Russell Crouse, of the paragrapher school, turns out tomes on Americana. Only F. P. A. remains to represent the better traditions of the old paragraph and coutrib clumns.

Bouquet for Falstaff

Which is something of a commentary on the "biggest town" when one considers Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago, Cleveland and many other towns where newspaper columns are still, thank heaven, newspaper columns.

Perhaps the best, or capable of challenging the best, is Jake Falstaff, now on the Cleveland Press. For years Falstaff chose Akron as his camping ground, but the quality of his stuff was such that it soon attracted national attention.

One summer he was invited to New York, to fill in for F. P. A. while Adams was on a vacation. Thereafter, he could have had several big New York posts. Falstaff made no pretense at even liking the metropolis. He could scarce wait to get away, which amazed the big-wigs of Manhattan.

There was little allure and much discomfort in the nation's market place. And Jake, being a large and civilized fellow, likes his creature comforts and has few illusions about himself that poses as star dust.

The Gossip Boys

Some day I shall ask Mons. Falstaff to do a piece for me on what he thinks of those myriad gadabout gossip seekers now abroad in the town who spend at least a hundred words a week groaning and sweating over the long hours spent discovering that Lolla de Plotz, of the movies, no longer speaks to Reginald St. Zilch.

And while they tell of their fatiguing efforts, I have no doubt M. Falstaff is seated over a lordly cut of beef complimenting the chef on his sauce. And can that get write?

Miss Kin Hubbard

Going westward, they've had William Allen White for a different type of commentary and "The Old Tack" down in the southwest for outspoken opinion and whimsical hunches.

Many millions of us will always miss Kin Hubbard, and I've never understood why those radio gents who pretend to be looking about for American humor haven't tried to use his sayings.

There are many, many other names—but New York no longer contains them. Yes, there are fellows who still turn in a bright and witty yarn, but the day of "Mr. Dooley," for instance, seems to be done—alas!

Which reminds me that every now and then I run into Finley Peter Dunne, jr., who for a time ran a theater column on a New York paper and next appeared as a press agent.

To date there has been no indication that he will follow in the footsteps of his humorist father.

"Millions, it looks like. I can't count them. Oh, the beauties!"

She wrenched the card free and tore open the envelope. The ink had blurred with dampness but the writing was perfectly distinguishable. The writing was not Larry's.

Ellen was ready to cry in her disappointment. She had been so sure! Myra and Molly were far too pleased and fluttered to notice anything amiss. Flowers and beaux in the Rossiter household were rare enough to cause any amount of excitement.

"I told you, I told you,' Molly was insisting. "They're from Mr. Barclay, aren't they?"

"Yes,' said Ellen.

The girl read the message a second time in an effort to recapture some of her original delight at receiving such a splendid gift and failed. The card fluttered from her fingers. Molly pounced upon it. Together she and Myra read the short note and exclaimed and speculated and jubilated quite enough to make up for any lack in Ellen.

An umbrella stand was rushed into service. It was the only vessel in the house deep enough for the long stemmed beauties. Deploring the wastefulness Molly cut down the smooth green stems of half a dozen buds and arranged them at the shabby breakfast table. But her eyes were all for the tall splendor of the blooms in the stand pulled close to Ellen's chair.

"They're four feet long if they're an inch," she murmured happily, slipping into her place at the head of the table.

"Mother, if you say that again," Ellen said crossly, "I'll scream."

"I'll join you in the screaming," Myra offered amiably. But she added with a curious look at her sister, "Aren't you pleased, honey."

"Of course I'm pleased," snapped Ellen. "What am I supposed to do —dance a jig?"

"Ellen's got a fellow! Ellen's got a fellow!" chanted Mike, catching belatedly the excitement of his elders.

"Be still, Mike," said his mother absently. "Don't tease your sister."

She and Myra exchanged a long significant look. Ellen caught the look. It occurred to her a little forlornly that the only person in the Rossiter household not delighted with Steven Barclay's generosity was the recipient of it.

John Thomas In Race Again

Tahoka Man Announces His Candidacy For Representative Of 119th District; Was In Last Race

John N. Thomas of Tahoka, Saturday formally announced his candidacy for State Representative from the 119th district which is comprised of Cochran, Crosby, Dawson, Gaines, Hockley, Lubbock, Lynn, Terry and Yoakum counties.

Mr. Thomas has been a resident of the South Plains for the past twenty-six years and is well known over the entire district. He made the race for Representative two years ago and lacked only a few votes of being elected.

He was born in Georgia and received his education in the common schools of that state and from Perry-Raney college of Auburn, Georgia, and Northeastern Agricultural college of Albertsville, Alabama.

Former Tax Assessor

Mr. Thomas has served his home county in various capacities, at one time being associated in the drug business and later serving as Tax assessor of Lynn county for three terms, six years.

In announcing Mr. Thomas said "The large vote given me two years ago, which was only a very few short of election, although I was opposed by a man who was one of the most widely known lawyers in the district, has ever been a source of great gratitude and has given me the courage to again offer myself as a candidate for this office with a hope that I may better serve the people of this section of our state.

"As I am now, and have been over a period of time, chairman of the county school board, it has necessarily thrown me in close touch with our common schools and has necessitated a study of them. It is a known fact a small percent of the children of our rural and high schools are able to avail themselves of a college education, therefore its is imperative our schools be of the best and should not in any way be hampered in their continued progress. I am a firm believer of higher education and if elected, I will ever be alert to the finances of our own Texas Technological college which at all times must continue the wonderful progress and growth it has maintained since its founding.

Area Should Get Funds

"West Texans should see that they receive a just proportionate of our state road funds and must at all times receive its just part in both the construction, labor and maintenance of our state highways."

"Taxation is, and has long been, a vital question. West Texas should at no time be discriminated against in the burden of taxes and I shall ever be alert to the just equalization of our section with down state districts. The ability of our citizenry to pay our taxes is dependent as a whole upon the prices received by us from our farm products. A market at a price remunerative toour farmers for cotton and farm products is at all times dependent upon the consumption of said farm products. Therefore, more uses for cotton and farm produce should at all times be within our minds and every effort should be made in this direction."

"I am in favor of and will support proper legislation tending to strengthen our banking laws in such a way as to place a certified liability upon stockholders of failing institutions and in this way safeguard the deposits of our citizenship in a more substantial manner than at present."

"The number of our laws are ever increasing and I am in favor of a fewer number which would ever be of constructive and a necessary nature."

Plans For Annual Summer Scout Camp At Post Will Be Talked By Officials Sunday

Plans for the annual summer camp near Post of the South Plains area council will be discussed at Post today by council officials.

W. G. McMillian, council president; K. N. Clapp, scout commissioner; Executive D. T. Jennings, and W. O. Daniels, chairman of the Lubbock district committee, will leave about 11 o'clock Sunday for Post. They will confer with J. T. Herd, chairman of the camp committee, Marshall Mason and O. D. Cardwell. The group will inspect the campsite.

The first chain store was founded by a tea company.

On Auto Row In Lubbock

Brief Bits Of News About Autos And Auto Dealers

NOTHING DEFINITE YET

AND STILL no definite news about the arrival of the new Ford, one of the main topics of conversation along the Row. Harry Morris, manager of the Lubbock Auto company, Ford's local distributing and service point, entertained hopes of being called into the Dallas office last week, but nothing definitely was forthcoming.

They're still buying the Model A, however. Lubbock Auto company sold one new passenger car and one new truck last week, leaving a total of one new machine in the display room. Five used machines were sold.

NEW CARS STILL GOING

Trading was fairly quiet along the Row last week, with used car sales holding up to about normal. Kuykendall Chevrolet, Hub Motor and Ratliff-Rogers Buick companies reported new car sales. Used jobs were moved at every dealer's house. Chevrolet and Buick tied for new car sales honors with three each. Kuykendall's company sold ten used jobs.

NEW CHRYSLER ARRIVE

Included in a shipment of new Chryslers last week was the first of the new six-cylindered Chrysler coupes, a sporty-looking job, fully equipped with all the modern accessories and mechanical details. One of the new coupes was sold to Ted Barnett. The Hub Motor company sold eight used machines last week.

NEW EIGHTS EXPECTED

A shipment of new Pontiacs expected by the Scoggin-Dickey Motor company will include the first models of the new eight-cylindered Pontiac, a V-type eight which succeeds the 1931 Oakland. It is a considerably larger machine than the six-cylindered jobs, corresponding more closely in size to the Oakland.

Scoggin-Dickey Company became adjusted to their new quarters at 1315 Broadway last week and report a great degree of satisfaction with the new arrangements. Already the service department's business is picking up in considerable volume, and the added gas and oil sales department makes the Pontiac house the only distributing plant in town which operates a filling station in conjunction. Scoggin-Dickey sold four used cars last week.

MOVE SHOW ROOM

The Royalty Motor company, local Dodge and Plymouth distributing house, has moved its show rooms and business offices to another part of the building on Avenue J and 13th street. A grocery concern has established a retail business at the corner formerly occupied by new Dodges. The shop has not been moved.

THREE NEW BUICKS

Ratliff-Rogers Buick company went on a selling spree last week to dispose of three new machines and four used cars. A six-wire-wheel Buick coupe was delivered to Miss Allison Self. A special sedan went to Arch Ferguson and a standard sedan to W. M. Mounts.

AWAITING NEW ARRIVALS

Day's Oldsmobile Company, still awaiting the delayed arrival of the 1932 model Oldsmobile, moved three used machines last week.

C. C. Lindsey Is Pioneer Theater Man In Lubbock

Manager Of Two Local Theaters Has Been In Business Here For More Than Fifteen Years; First Run Films Shown Exclusively

Lubbock has two theatres with "first run" pictures and lovers of the films are assured of the latest productions, says C. C. Lindsey, manager of the Lindsey and Palace Theatres, who has been serving Lubbock with the best pictures to be had for nearly fifteen years.

Seven of the leading companies of the nation supply the theatres with the latest and best productions; the Metro, Paramount, Fox, Warner-First National, R. K. O., Universal and Columbia. Besides these, the News reels of Fox and Paramount are used and the Educational Comedies, one of the most popular of its kind in the nation.

Lindsey Built in 1916

The Lindsey theatre was built in 1916, and was among the first modern picture houses west of Fort Worth. Eight years later the Palace was built. The former seats 789 and the latter 984.

On April 24, 1928, the Lindsey was opened as a sound theatre, with Western Electric equipment installed. Its popularity was such that in November of the next year the Palace added sound equipment, the R. C. A. Photophone equipment.

Mr. Lindsey has spent nearly all of his business life in the picture house business. He was for 18 months in Bonham, with a theatre and later traveled for a Dallas film house, returning to the active management of a house.

"The first moving picture I ever saw was in an old airdrome here", he said. "It was a dog chasing a man and that is all I remember about the film.

Taste In Films Changes

"I have seen a big change in pictures and also in the taste. I recall only a few years ago when we would get a Tom Mix film that we would show it on Saturday and take in $700 at 25c a show. People used to come out and see anything that was called a 'Western.'

"Now the most popular films are the comedy-drama type, and also the new westerns. Not the old gun shooting kind, but real good films."

The two theatres here are equipped with the latest devices for keeping the audience comfortable. The building is kept cool during the hot summer months and warm in the winter. More attention is paid to the desires of the audience than in past years and the theatre of today is a far cry from the old airdromes of a decade ago.

In speaking of the most popular stars, Mr. Lindsey classes Norma Shearer, Joan Crawford and Greta Garbo as the leaders among the feminine stars. Will Rogers, Clark Gable and Wallace Beery are the best liked male stars.

Jackie Cooper, the sensational juvenile, is a leader and the announcement of an "Our Gang" comedy is sure to bring out the crowds of both young and old.

The old time favorites such as Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks do not draw as well as in former years.

Farm Machinery Business Picking Up, Dealer Says

E. K. Hufstedler Declares His Faith In Agriculture And Reports Good Business Past Month; Oliver Line Of Implements His Specialty

South Plains farmers are buying farm machinery with which to prepare the ground and plant the 932 crops and the months of January and February were far in excess of all expectations in the volume of business, says E. K. Hufstedler, of E. K. Hufstedler and Sons, 2202 Avenue H, district representative for the Oliver line of farm implements.

"We have great faith in the future of the South Plains and of the farmers," Mr. Hufstedler said. "Agriculture is coming back and it is coming fast. Say what you will, the farmers are going in for farm power and the tractor will replace largely the horses and mules within the next five years.

Business Increases

"There is no doubt that farm machinery is going to sell this year. The farmers have not bought any for the past two years and they have to have it. We have found out here that farmers are buying and the volume of business in February on one line alone was several times what it was for the entire year in 1932."

Mr. Hufstedler has been in the implement business for more than a quarter of a century. He started back in 1906 near Fort Worth and after spending 20 years in the business, disposed of his interests and came to the South Plains. He had first come here in 1924, believing this to be the coming section of the state.

A little over a year ago Mr. Hufstedler and his sons E. K. Jr., and J. D. formed a partnership and established the company with two locations, in Lubbock and in Plainview. The Oliver line, which includes the Oliver, Oliver-Hart Parr tractors, Nichols and Shepard combine, Ford's feed mill and Superior Grain mill, was secured. The concern is a district agent, representing the company in about 8 to 20 counties extending from the New Mexico line on the west, across the Panhandle.

New Building Erected

Last fall a new building was erected on the lots on Avenue H owned by Mr. Hufstedler. The store room is 40 by 70 feet, of brick and tile and fireproof. A warehouse, 36 by 40, is built of iron and the display ground on which a good deal of second hand machinery is kept, is 55 by 40 feet. The entire area is 95 by 150 feet, and all fenced in. A loading dock was built for the loading of heavy farm machinery.

Mr. Hufstedler trades in second hand machinery for new machines.

"In our store room is a full line of parts for all our lines. There is no Oliver implement that is too old but what you can get a part for it here. We have the most complete parts division. It is all kept in bins and drawers, with a card index so we can find the part in a moment and also the price. Our index shows the number on hand and the number bought for the season. There are 200 bins here."

A Big Splash in Wrestling Circles
