Returns Too Incomplete to Be Conclusive; Majorities Given Demos in New York and Illinois

BY EDWARD J. DUFFY
Associated Press Staff Writer
ALREADY fortified behind impressive majorities in the popular states of New York and Illinois, the Democratic off-year attack continued to menace Republican power in many other scattered

Associated Press returns from congressional districts at midnight (EST) on contests for the 435 seats in the new house of representatives showed:
Republicans elected, 79; present congress, 200.
Democrats elected, 109; present congress, 180.
Farmer - Laborers elected, 0; present congress, 1.
Socialists elected, 0; present congress, 0.
Still doubtful, 251. Present vacancies, 14.
Necessary for a majority, 218.

As returns accumulated from yesterday's general election, with the figures still too incomplete to be conclusive, the Republicans were taking the short end of the count for eight senate seats they now hold at Washington, and Republicans likewise as well were having a hard time of it in a number of doubtful districts.

Roosevelt swept in New York a victory of landslide proportions swept Governor Roosevelt to reelection, with whatever effect it may have on his presidential availability in 1932.

In Illinois a tremendous Democratic majority for James Hamilton Lewis over Ruth Hanna McCormack appeared to have answered definitely for a time the long-debated question whether a woman is fit to sit in the senate.

For the first time in 30 years, a Democrat seemed in striking distance, at least, of the governorship of Connecticut, and normally Republican Ohio was giving the lead to the Republican Governor Allen for reelection.

Pinchot Leading
In Pennsylvania the Democratic attack did not fare so well on early returns. Gifford Pinchot attained a lead of thousands over John M. Humphrey for governor, but a large section of the state was yet to be heard from.

Alabama, with much of the vote counted, was ratifying the judgment of the Democratic state organization that Senator Hefflin who bolted Smith in 1928 should not return to Washington, the independent Republican Norris of Nebraska, who bolted Hoover in 1928, was leading for reelection.

Another Democratic senate yet to be heard from.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
PORT WORTH, Nov. 4.—A public hearing will be conducted here tomorrow by the Texas Railroad commission on the proposals of the Port Worth and Denver City railway to consolidate its trains between Dallas and Amarillo and provide only one train each night each way. A previous order of the commission permitted this consolidation, but this order has been rescinded pending the public hearing tomorrow.

No protests had been lodged against the consolidation by any associations, or chambers of commerce on the line affected, it was said today at the offices of the Port Worth and Denver City, but a protest was lodged recently by individuals at Amarillo and a public hearing on the matter was requested in these protests.

EARLY returns in the fifth national election since prohibition discredited majorities for the wet cause in the Illinois, Massachusetts and Rhode Island referenda

Associated Press returns on prohibition referenda in three states at 11:15 p. m. E. S. T. showed:
Illinois: Repeal of 18th amendment, yes, 15,630, no, 10,795. Modification of Volstead act, yes, 12,078; no, 8,621. Repeal of state enforcement act, yes, 6,639; no, 5,593.

chusetts and Rhode Island referenda and both wets and drys leading in the senatorial contests where prohibition was an issue.

The early vote for repeal of the 18th amendment in Rhode Island was over two to one. In Illinois it was 5,480 for and 3,885 against. For repeal of the state enforcement act in Massachusetts the vote was 19,762 for and 18,756 against. In all three states, however, the count was far from complete.

Favor Modification
Illinois voters also rolled up majorities in the early returns of 4,528 to 3,179 for modification of the Volstead act, and 1,108 to 803 for repeal of the state enforcement law.
Robert J. Bulkley, Democratic senatorial nominee in Ohio, who favors repeal of the 18th amendment, had a slim lead over his Republican opponent, Senator McCulloch, who said in his campaign: "I am for prohibition."
William M. Butler, Republican senatorial nominee in Massachusetts, was running ahead of Marcus A. Coolidge, Democrat. Butler is a prohibitionist, while Coolidge is a prohibitionist, while Coolidge is a prohibitionist, while Coolidge is a prohibitionist.

Wealthy Oil Man Sues Wife for Divorce; Name of Weldon Mason, S.M.U. Football Star, Injected in Case

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
PORT WORTH, Nov. 4.—After granting a motion for a new trial, Judge Frank P. Culver in seventeenth district court announced today he will confer with attorneys for both sides and set a date this week for the second trial of the application of Mrs. Beryl Turman for divorce from L. C. Turman, wealthy oil man.

The new trial was sought by Turman who alleged he was not notified that his wife had reinstated the divorce case which had been dismissed in September. In granting the new trial Judge Culver set aside the judgment which awarded Mrs. Turman a divorce, custody of their two small sons and property of approximately $700,000.

On the stand most of the morning, Turman detailed the story of the trouble with his wife and stated that on October 2, his estate amount to $1,500,000.
Turman testified he would take his wife back for the sake of the children. While recounting how his home was broken up, Turman ordered his finger at Col. Bush, one of Mrs. Turman's attorneys, and declared "I wrote that man still two letters trying to get him not to break up my home."

At the adjournment of the court today Rufus Garrett, Turman's attorney, folded up and carried out the large tinted cardboard photograph of Weldon "Speedy" Mason, Southern Methodist University football star whose name was injected into the testimony yesterday after the picture had been placed on exhibit.

On direct examination, Mrs. Turman had denied she had ever entertained Mason alone in her room at the summer camp at Idaho Springs, Colo., during the past summer. Mason was one of the counselors at the camp, where Mrs. Turman was a visitor, while her children were in training.

Dice Game Slaying Aired in Boston Case; Defense Opens with Plea of Self Defense; Witnesses Tell of Row

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
BOSTON, Nov. 4.—The state rested its case late today in the murder trial of Drew Wiley, 22, charged in the fatal shooting of Rubie Huff, 40, April 2, after an argument over rules of an alleged dice game.

The defense opened with a plea of self-defense, introducing one witness before court recessed until tomorrow. Taking of testimony is expected to be concluded tomorrow, with the probability that arguments will begin Thursday.

State witnesses told of trouble arising between Drew Wiley and Huff at a dice game at a picnic near the Hooksett river. Witnesses related that Hugh Wiley, the youth's father, interceded in the argument and was knocked down by Huff.

Testimony further revealed that the elder Wiley drew a knife and Huff and Huff were separated. The Wileys left the game and Huff was shot to death with a shotgun half an hour later, when he went down a trail leading from the river to the highway.

Hugh Morgan, one of the principal state witnesses, asserted he heard Hugh Wiley cry out, "there he is, shoot him!" and that the shooting of Huff followed immediately.

Huff was shot twice in the chest, Morgan said, the two Wileys and others then started searching for him but he made his way through the woods to a farmhouse.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WACO, Nov. 4.—A plea for vigilance against the spread of communism and for a firm stand in behalf of national defense was made by Mrs. James L. Smith of Amarillo before the annual state convention of the Daughters of the American Revolution here today.

"That the communists are systematically planning a world revolution in which special efforts are directed against the United States they do not even attempt to disguise," Mrs. Smith said. "It is in such times of depression and unemployment as these that the radicals are able to reap the greatest harvest of recruits. We must realize the importance of national defense."

Mrs. Smith continued the theme of the convention, national defense to combat the spread of communism in this country, in the report on the work of her committee. She was followed by Jack de Forrest, commander of the James Edmond Post, American Legion, who stated the purpose of the American Legion is to combat communism, socialism and the spread of ideas inimicable to world peace.

"War is a barbaric and uncivilized method of settling disputes, he stated. "If America had better national defense the World war would have been concluded much sooner, precluding the great loss of lives," he said.

Lubbock Gives Substantial Majorities to Democratic Candidates and Five Proposed Texas Amendments

Lubbock county voters—only a handful of them when compared with the total number of eligibles—went to the polls yesterday and balloted diffidently with the rest of Texas. They gave substantial majorities to the Democratic candidates and to all five of the proposed amendments to the state constitution, as the balance of Texas did, and showed the same amount of lethargy as surrounds every "solid" state as it goes through the motions of holding a general election. There was no county ticket other than offered by the Democrats.

Estimate Is Made
Estimates on the part of election officials last night were to the effect that between 1200 and 1500 ballots were cast. Of this total Ross Sterling, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, is judged to have scored in the neighborhood of 900 to 1,200 votes to 300 to 400 votes for his opponent, Col. William Talbot, GOP nominee. The amendments showed surprising strength and are being approved by between three and four to one.

While the Socialist party presented a full slate of candidates for the United States senate, the governorship and the lieutenant-governorship, their efforts were for naught on the basis of scattered returns. Four Socialist ballots were noted in the early tabulation, but the balance of the voters in the seven precincts reported scratched the Communist to the man.

Precinct reports as announced last night were indicative of the lethargy of the vote. In the first Democratic primary of this year,

Amendments Lead
All of the five proposed changes in the state constitution appeared to have been approved. The one to double the length of the legislative sessions was ahead 54,596 to 22,185. The amendment to double the pay of the legislators had 50,056 favorable votes and 28,022 in opposition.

The vote on the proposal to eliminate the enforced three months' vacation for the supreme court was for, 57,573; against, 20,957. The amendment to permit greater latitude in the investment of the permanent fund of the University of Texas had 51,489 votes for, and 25,254 votes against. The proposal to allow 17 West Texas counties to tax University of Texas lands within their boundaries had the endorsement of 55,015 voters and the opposition of 22,555.

With more than two-thirds of the estimated vote accounted in the 14th district congressional contest, Wurzback had 13,187 votes to 5,903 for Henry B. Dielmann of San Antonio, the Democratic nominee.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Nov. 4.—(AP)—With more than 18,000 votes accounted for in 10 of the 13 counties in the 14th congressional district, Congressman Harry Wurzback, Republican incumbent, was leading Henry B. Dielmann, his Democratic opponent 5,811 to 8,900.

Dielmann was leading only in Nueces, Karnes and San Patricio counties. In Bexar county Wurzback piled up 4,799 to Dielmann's 3,201 in one of the lightest regular election votes. Possibly ten or twelve

The Democrats also captured all the state races by overwhelming majorities as usual. Returns tonight indicated that about 300,000 voters participated, whereas some 800,000 took part in the second Democratic primary less than three months ago.

Terrell Cites Changes Need Of His Work

Retiring Commissioner Gives Annual Report To Governor Moody; Important Phases Of Work Need Aid

By The Associated Press
AUSTIN, Nov. 4.—Consolidation of several existing state departments under the department of agriculture was recommended today by George B. Terrell, retiring commissioner of agriculture in his annual report to Governor Dan Moody. Terrell estimated centralization of the activities of the various divisions would save the state approximately $200,000 annually through elimination of unnecessary overhead expense and duplication.

Terrell recommended that the following work be transferred to the agricultural department: Feed and fertilizer, forestry and soil conservation, control of administration of the livestock and dairying laws; administration of irrigation and reclamation laws; administration of all laws for the protection of wild game and fish.

Was Legislative
In urging adoption of legislation to effect this change, Terrell said the department of agriculture was the logical place for the administration of all laws relating to agriculture, horticulture, livestock, dairying, conservation of natural resources, protection of forests, game and fisheries. He pointed out that other states in the union now are following this plan with success.

Terrell also urged increased appropriations to build up the efficiency of the department, stating that although Texas is the largest agricultural state in the country, it ranks last in the amount of money made available for agricultural promotion work. Illinois has an annual appropriation of $2,538,000; New York $2,452,821; California $1,510,000, according to the report. Texas, Terrell reported, had an appropriation for the last fiscal year totaling only $147,110.

Consolidate Divisions
Consolidation of the divisions would give the agricultural department an annual appropriation of $1,400,000 and would facilitate work by the elimination of superfluous boards and commissions. Terrell said.

Terrell stated he was opposed to appointive boards and commissions, expressing the opinion they should be abolished and the work done by officers elected by the people.

Five recommendations for legislation also were made.

One would require tax assessors to take certain agricultural statistics each year as they assess taxes and furnish this information to the department of agriculture, thereby affording accurate statistics on acreage and production, this information being available only during years in which the federal census is taken.

Urges Changes
Changes in the public weights and measures laws were urged to make them more effective and more self-supporting were urged. Similar changes in the nursery inspection law was recommended.

Terrell also recommended changes in the warehouse and ginners' laws to make them more effective.

Lack of money to hire inspectors to enforce agricultural laws has seriously handicapped the department, Terrell said. An increase of $1.50 in the ginners' license fee to provide funds for enforcement of the gin laws was recommended as was a graduated fee for nurseries and floral establishments. Employment of twenty additional inspectors to enforce the weights and measures laws was recommended. A fee of $2 would be charged all pump operators to pay for the expense of inspections.

Establishment of an absolute embargo against shipment of Florida nursery stock and fruit into Texas was recommended as the only way in which Texas orchards can be kept free of infestation.

TEXARKANA, Ark., Nov. 4. (AP)—George Vathis, 43, Texarkana confectioner, planned a trip to Shreveport for today. While he was taking an automobile ride last night, a black cat ran in front of his car and turned to the left.

There are two highways to Shreveport from Texarkana. Vathis and three others started on Shreveport this afternoon, taking the road to the left, by way of Fouke. The car struck loose gravel 26 miles south of here and overturned, injuring Vathis, his nephew, Ernest Vathis, 15; James Parker, 16, confectionery employe; and C. Patria, New York salesman. None of the men was hurt seriously.

"When that black cat turned to the left last night it was a warning," Vathis said tonight in a hospital. "If I had taken the right-hand road by way of Atlanta, this wouldn't have happened."

A few minutes before the accident, Vathis had told others in the car that he had been driving 12 years and never had an accident.

"You had better knock on wood," his nephew admonished.

THIS IS A GOOD YEAR TO BUILD ECONOMICALLY

Well-planned improvements more than pay for themselves

From a strictly dollars-and-cents standpoint, remodeling an old business building or home is a good investment. Permanent, well-planned improvements lower the cost of upkeep, increase the rental value and also the selling price. Often a building that does not find a ready market will sell easily after a few well-designed improvements have been made. In such cases, the increased selling price frequently more than covers the cost of the alterations and improvements.

Such improvements as refinishing the exterior of a building with a light-tinted stucco, changing the front, building a watertight concrete basement or putting on a fireproof roof will often make an attractive property out of a shabby building.

If you own an old building, ask your building material dealer, architect or contractor to help you with suggestions for remodeling. This is a good year to make improvements economically.

Atlas Cement is made at Waco — by Texas workers — of Texas materials. Along with other economical quality products, your building material dealer can quickly furnish you other Atlas portland cement (gray) or non-staining Atlas White portland cement. Ask for Atlas cement.

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

An invitation to the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs to meet here in 1931 is to be extended again next week at a meeting of the state clubs in Houston and I am going to be somewhat surprised if Lubbock isn't selected for the convention.

For one thing, this invitation was first given last fall at the annual convention of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs in Mineral Wells and at that time the association was invited to have its 1930 meeting in Lubbock. However, Houston was chosen as a site and at that time a number of Texas clubs pledged support to Lubbock if this city should renew its invitation this fall.

Conventions are distributed over the state, and since the meeting this fall is at Houston, the Federation probably will be looking toward the Panhandle for a meeting place next year.

All of this does not mean that Lubbock will be selected, because that point is to be considered by the hundreds of club women in the Texas Federation and many factors will influence their decision.

A part of my faith may be based on my hope that the Federation will choose Lubbock as a convention site. A decision of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs to meet in a city is, I think, an honor to that city because the Federation is made up of the most progressive women of the state. Usually, the women who are leaders in the civic and culture clubs of a town are the leaders in many other projects of that community.

I have a very personal reason for wanting the Federation to meet in Lubbock, too. I want to attend the sessions. Since 1926, I have been writing about the Texas Federation, meeting members of prominent and in other ways have known of the association, but I have never attended a convention of that body and I want to have that acquaintance with the organization. This is another instance of the mountain and Mohammed and I want the mountain moved.

SHOES OF VELVET
BOUDOIR shoes like boudoir pajamas are often made of velvet this season, a style note says. Artificial velvet is used like crepe de chine of other years for trouser and short jackets, lounging pajamas. Dark green trousers with deep green fur-like pajama top is a pajama form much approved just now by the Parisians, the note continues.

TO GRATIFY THE WOMEN
WOMEN who believe the men meanly sized at what is by popular consent "women's work" will be gratified to know that women are preferred to men as cooks by some managers of dining rooms catering to women in New York.

They are cleaner than men, one manager points out. They are also more willing to cook in small quantities and more careful to cook good food for employees. Another manager says that the cooking of men is good but too standardized.

"Men excel in cooking steaks and chops," she says, "and they get certain decorative effects, but they repeat certain dishes over and over. Women cooks are willing to try new things."

THESE PROHIBITION PUNCHES
THE other day I said something about Mrs. James M. Doran, whose book "Prohibition Punches" is going into its second edition. She is going to be at a national convention of the W. C. T. U. in Houston next week and is going to tell delegates of the success of the non-alcoholic cocktail. Recipes for two of her most popular punches have come across my desk. They were submitted by Mabel Walker Wilbrandt, former U. S. assistant attorney general, and by Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, chairman of the women's national committee for law enforcement.

Mrs. Wilbrandt's recipe is called Purita's Punch and is made as follows:

To one small bottle of red Concord California pure concentrated grape juice or Concord Loganberry add two bottles light colored ginger ale, one lemon sliced thin, one half cup chopped mint leaves. Serve very cold.

Mrs. Peabody's recipe is called Punch De Leon and here it is:

Two cups Florida orange juice, one cup grapefruit juice, juice of two lemons, one large cup sugar, juice of one can Hawaiian pineapple, three cups weak tea, mix in enough bowl with blocks of ice. Just before serving, add two bottles ginger ale, sprig of mint, serve in small glasses.

A WOMAN EXPLORES
HERE is another note about women who do things—Lustie Douglas, explorer and artist, plans to try over the ancient mystery city of Angkor in Indo-China next year. She made sketches of some of the ruined temples for the French Colonial government and now she wants to explore further into the jungle. When making her sketches, Mrs. Douglas goes to work on the roof of an apartment and she sleeps in the government rent house, the only sanitary building in Angkor.

Jack Miner, who has been in the West Texas hospital for three weeks with a broken leg, was able to go to the hospital of his own accord, and was discharged last night.

Miss Mary Lou Bayless, Pierce Magee Are Married Tuesday

On Short Honeymoon.
Mr. and Mrs. Magee left last night for Dallas where they are to spend several days and upon their return they are to reside in their new home at 1112 18th street.

More mothers each year.. check Colds

2 WAYS at once!

More and more mothers every year turn to the double action of Vicks VapoRub in checking colds, coughs, sore throats and spasmodic croup.

Rubbed on throat and chest at bedtime, Vicks acts through the skin like a plaster. At the same time, its medicated vapors, released by the heat of the body, are inhaled direct to the air-passages.

This double action of Vicks breaks up congestion and eases breathing, thus preventing the night coughs which so often rob both mother and child of restful sleep.

Being an external treatment, Vicks is especially appreciated by mothers because it does not disturb children's delicate digestion.

Recipes Used by Mrs. Leona R. Ihrig Last Week in Cooking School Listed Here; Others Were Printed on Sunday

A list of the recipes used by Mrs. Leona Rusk Ihrig in her cooking school here last week is being continued in this morning's paper. Some of these recipes were printed in the Sunday Avalanche-Journal of this week. Others will appear soon.

Several requests for the recipes have been received at this office since the school closed.

CHICKEN PIE DE LUXE

One cup stock (one bouillon cube to a cup of hot water). The juice from a can of peas.

One cup of orange juice. Let this come to a boil and then drop in chicken cut in small pieces. Drop in one at a time so as not to stop boiling. Add a teaspoon of salt and a dash of pepper, and as soon as this is boiling reduce temperature and cook 30 or 40 minutes.

To this add one cup diced carrots, one-half cup diced celery and a small can of mushrooms. Cook until the carrots are tender. When done lift out the chicken, roll in flour and salt as for frying. Lay in skillet of hot grease and brown lightly. Add three tablespoons flour to grease in skillet and add juice in which chicken was cooked, cooking until smooth. Lay chicken in casserole and pour gravy over it. Lay baking powder biscuits cut small over this and cook at 400 degrees until biscuits are brown.

MEAT LOAF

One pound ground meat. Two beaten eggs. One can tomato soup. Salt and pepper.

One-half teaspoon mustard. One-half cup peas. One and one-half cups cracker crumbs.

Mix and cook in slow oven until brown. Salmon or other sea food may be used instead of the ground meat.

This may be cooked in individual cakes in muffin pans.

FROZEN SALAD

One can tomato soup. One tablespoon gelatine dissolved in two tablespoons water.

One teaspoon chopped onion. One cup finely chopped celery. One package Velveta cheese. Chopped green pepper.

Warm cheese and whip and when cool add one cup whipped cream and freeze.

FROZEN SALMON LOAF

One can salmon. One tablespoon gelatine dissolved in two tablespoons water.

Flavor with chopped onion green pepper. Add one-half cup chopped celery, two pimientos, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half cup mayonnaise dressing and one cup whipped cream. Mould in peppers or pimientos and freeze.

FILLED FRUIT DROPS

One cup cream. Whip and add one cup sugar. Cream and add two unbeaten eggs, one at a time, and beat well. Sift together five cups flour, one and one-half teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon salt and flavoring—spices and lemon or vanilla.

Divide this dough in fourths, roll thinly and fit in bottom of pan. Spread filling and place another piece of dough on top.

FILLING

One package dates. One cup raisins. One cup brown sugar. One-fourth cup honey flavored syrup.

One tablespoon lemon juice. One-half cup any fruit juice. Mix and cook until thin enough to spread easily. When cooked add one cup chopped pecans. This is also good for filled doughnuts.

CHICKEN AND HAM

Take the breasts of two large chickens. Fill the hollows with the second joints. Take two large slices of cured ham. Bear the chicken and roll in the slices of ham. Then place in a covered dish and pour one cup of boiling sweet milk over it and cook for 30 or 40 minutes.

DRESSING

Cut the end off of a loaf of stale bread. Work the hollows with the second joints. Take two large slices of cured ham. Bear the chicken and roll in the slices of ham. Then place in a covered dish and pour one cup of boiling sweet milk over it and cook for 30 or 40 minutes.

Do not salt duck or turkey but rub salt on inside and pack in dressing. The juice from the meat will add enough moisture to the dressing.

CITY CHICKEN

Take small pieces of beef and pork and put about four or five on a skewer. Take two beaten eggs and the same amount of milk and some salt. Dip the roll in the eggs and milk and roll in bread crumbs. Drop in hot Crisco and fry.

Take three tablespoons Crisco, one bay leaf, about a cup of chopped carrot, onion and celery. One teaspoon mustard, one can tomatoes. Make a sauce and pour over meat in casserole and let bake for about 30 minutes.

FIVE MINUTE SPICE CAKE

2-3 cup Crisco and whip. Add 1-1-3 cups sugar and cream. To 1-3-4 cup flour add three teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, two teaspoons pastry spice, 1-2 teaspoon ginger, and sift. Add flour before adding milk to two beaten eggs creamed with Crisco and sugar. Alternate flour with one-half cup milk. Cook 45 minutes at 375 degrees.

Ask for Kotex if you want real comfort in sanitary protection

KOTEX IS SOFT...

1-Not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, lasting softness.

2-Kotex filler is far lighter and cooler than cotton, yet absorbs 5 times as much.

3-Deodorizes, safely, thoroughly, by a special process.

4-Disposable, instantly, completely. Regular Kotex—4½ for 12. Kotex Super—4½ for 12.

Don't think other sanitary pads can give you the same wonderful absorbency, the perfect fit and lasting softness Kotex provides.

If you want perfect comfort and a real feeling of security, you must specify "Kotex" when you buy sanitary pads.

Kotex, the original sanitary pad, is actually five times more absorbent than surgical cotton, by test. The wonderful material of which it is made (Cellucotton—not cotton—absorbent wadding) is laid in many air-cooled layers, each individual layer a quick, complete absorbent in itself. Kotex is guaranteed to give more protection, longer protection than any other sanitary pad.

These unique features Kotex deodorizes—a fact of supreme importance to women who consider daintiness essential to charm.

It is rounded and tapered in such a way as to fit perfectly under the tightest fitting or flimsiest of frocks.

Hospitals specify Kotex. Great hospitals have given their approval to Kotex by actually using 13,000,000 pads this year. Just think what a tribute that is to its hygienic safety!

Nothing else is like Kotex. Be safe. Specify "Kotex" when you order sanitary pads. Kotex Company, Chicago.

ONE MINUTE PULPIT Lord, I have hoped for thy salvation, and done thy commandments. My soul hath kept thy testimonies; and I love them exceedingly.

THEY HAVE PROGRESSED, TOO IT is a far cry, as man judges time, from that memorable occasion nearly a half century ago, when Dr. Lawrence W. Hollis, sr., of Abilene, performed West Texas' first appendicitis operation.

Many years have passed, compared to an individual lifetime, since that day when ranchmen and their families from over a broad section of West Texas gathered to help the pioneer physician as he performed what was then a medical miracle, with the assistance of instruments and using a dining table for a work bench.

We call it a long time since that morning when a frightened nurse, viewing her first operation, cried out, "Good Lord, Doctor! You've cut a gut," as the blood poured from the incision made by the gallant physician, who still lives and practices in the Taylor county capital. But it isn't a long time as we judge the span of the human race and the forty years, or so, which has elapsed have witnessed in West Texas a great era of progress—a progress which, in this incident, is marked as a progress of medical science.

The operation performed by Doctor Hollis, the "Doc Hollis" spoken of in "The Cowboy Christmas Ball," was a marvel in the days that it was performed. It is a marvel still, considering his handicaps. But it is no marvel at all from a standpoint of medical accomplishment as we see it today, for there is not a day passes but what many operations for the removal of appendicitis are accomplished in West Texas. Not a day passes without the operation made by the Lubbock and people, as well as doctors, have come to the point where an appendectomy is a casual occurrence—more of a minor operation than a major one.

Everything has been changed by time and improvement since the beloved "Doc Hollis" now near retirement, gambled with death and won a stirring victory. Fine hospitals and sanitariums dot the progressive West Texas. The finest in medical care and brains is obtainable in many communities.

When we talk progress in West Texas we too often think solely in terms of population, of money, of business extension and kindred things. We might well remember that our professions have kept step with the world of commerce—and then be thankful for it.

Four elections to the American Hall of Fame meet with popular approval. There is little likelihood of a single dissenting vote.

Every American instantly recognizes the names and claims to fame of James A. McNeill Whistler, James Monroe and of "Whitey" Matthews of Pontaineaux, meteorologist and hydrographer, is better known than most of the men honored in previous elections.

All four are to be enshrined in immortal stone and in the living memory of their countrymen because they gave something to mankind. Their fame is not due to some fortuitous circumstance.

One hundred and one "candidates" failed to obtain the requisite 64 votes in this election. William Penn fell six votes below the required number. In the group receiving 10 or more ballots were Thomas Paine, George Rogers Clark, Noah Webster and John Calhoun.

All of these may eventually occupy niches in the Hall of Fame, since the four just chosen ones were the unsuccessful nominees. But their immortality does not depend upon such a tribute. All four have made lasting niches for themselves in that greatest of halls of fame—history.

UNFILLED PROMISES Why is the nation going Democratic? Why is state after state substituting Democratic congressmen for Republican congressmen this year? Why are the people obviously fed up on government by the Republican party and for the Republican party?

The blunt truth is that up to this time the administration has been a complete failure. The trouble may be traced to two chief reasons.

One reason is that the administration went into power on ambiguous promises that were interpreted, and were probably intended to be interpreted, two ways. The other is the tragic collapse of leadership in high places. The government and the dominant party are drifting helplessly, because there is no leadership.

President Hoover himself has smashed the myth of the "miracle man." The absurdity of the idea that "what we need at the head of the government is an engineer is now manifest. This is not a partisan viewpoint, for the rank and file of the Republican party confess that Mr. Hoover has disappointed them.

The administration has come to grief largely because of the lack of courage and decision in leadership. It promised to do things and has succeeded only in failure after failure. In 1928 the nation was told that farm relief, prosperity and prohibition were problems that only Herbert Hoover could solve. As problems they are still with us.

WEST VIRGINIA PARTIES UTILIZE PENNSYLVANIA AS LAST-MINUTE ISSUE

By Charles P. Stewart Central Press Staff Writer

ASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Pennsylvania always has been an exceedingly important state, but this is the first campaign so far as records show, that its politics have exceeded what its own soil can absorb and overflowed into an adjoining commonwealth.

The foundation is affecting West Virginia.

Just what the effect will be, however, as yet is problematical. Both West Virginia parties are trying to utilize it, each to its own advantage—like riparian land owners on opposite banks of a maddened stream, cutting levees against one another.

West Virginia is an issue in Pennsylvania. It is an issue in West Virginia.

Maybe it will prove to be the deciding issue between James Elwood Jones and Matthew M. Neely, striving to fish a panhandle senatorship out of the flood, respectively from its Republican and Democratic shores.

Which one wins will depend on which one is cleverest in shooting the current disastrously over the other one's way, enabling the candidate who succeeds in floating so to wade into the slack water and rescue the floundering for himself.

Pennsylvania and West Virginia both coal states, as everyone doubtless knows.

West Virginia has long complained that Pennsylvania has much the better of railroad rates, in the marketing of its black diamonds. Naturally Pennsylvania mine operators profit thus at West Virginia operators' expense—assuming that such a state of affairs actually exists.

The West Virginians attribute their handicap, which they evidently believe in at any rate, to be supposed preponderance of the Pennsylvania's influence in Washington.

They point out that Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and Secretary of Labor Davis both are Pennsylvania natives, whereas West Virginia has no cabinet member at all.

Chairman Henry P. Fletcher of the U. S. tariff commission is a Pennsylvanian, whereas West Virginia hasn't a tariff commissioner.

Senator David A. Reed of Pennsylvania is chairman of the powerful senate committee on military affairs and is sent to Europe on naval conferences, whereas West Virginia holds no cabinet membership in Senate.

Guy D. Goff's measly little chairmanship of the committee on the executive departments' expenditures and neither he nor Senator Henry D. Hatfield ever has been sent anywhere.

Not one single West Virginian is chairman of a house of representatives committee, whereas Congressman Louis T. McFadden, Henry W. Temple, Ed. R. Kless and George S. Graham, all of Pennsylvania, are chairmen, respectively, of the committees on banking and currency, foreign affairs, insular affairs and judiciary, major committees, each one, plus Chairman Guy E. Campbell and Edward M. Beers of the enrolled bills and printing committees, not quite so important—but still chairmanships.

Instances of this discrimination of it is discrimination are cited by West Virginians, running all through the federal departments—Pennsylvanians holding little consequential jobs, while West Virginians hold fat peevish posts, if any, carrying no political weight with them whatever and mighty small pay.

It is true that the Interstate Commerce commission is the body that fixes coal-carrying rates, but the West Virginians express a suspicion that even the interstate commission is more or less amenable to its influence—and their state possesses none, they howl while Pennsylvania appears to possess it in unlimited quantities.

Now, all this may be pure imagination on the West Virginians' part, but they have that complex, anyway.

"Why not, then," urge the Neelyites, addressing the West Virginia voters, "pass up the Republican party, which gives you practically nothing in return for G. O. P. majorities, and cast in your lot with Aunty Democracy, where you will be appreciated by the 'James Elwood Jones' reply the Republican spellbinders, 'is a West Virginia coal mine owner himself. His heart will be in the task of throwing the hooks into these greedy Pennsylvanians.'"

If this were Europe, international experts would be talking about the prospects of war between West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

YOUR HEALTH MANY ARE IMMUNE TO INFANTILE PARALYSIS

By Dr. Morris Fishbein Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

If it were not for the fact that many people have a natural immunity to infantile paralysis, the amount of crippling and permanent injury from this disease would be far greater than it now is.

Unquestionably the virus or agent that causes infantile paralysis is widely distributed so that opportunity is open for infection. There seems to be considerable likelihood that people who have some immunity to the disease develop increasing immunity as they grow older.

Furthermore, as one reaches adult age he is less frequently exposed to the disease than when he was a child. Some investigators have argued that immunity decreases with age, and that it is only the lessened exposure that keeps most adults from having the disease.

It is known, of course, that immunity to other infectious diseases brought about by inoculation against them tends to wear off after a period of time. It is known that the incidence of both infantile paralysis and diphtheria is low in infants under one year of age; probably because such infants are not frequently exposed to these diseases, but probably also because the infant at birth has in its blood immune bodies against infectious diseases derived from the mother.

For instance, one investigator tested the blood of seven mothers and blood taken from the umbilical cord of seven infants, and found that the amount of antitoxin against diphtheria was the same in nature and in amount in the blood of both mother and child. Other observers tested mothers and infants at 143 births and found that in 96 per cent of the cases mothers and infants corresponded with each other in having or in not having antitoxin.

Workers in the Harvard Medical School have recently tested the blood of nine mothers and their infants for substances antagonistic to the virus or causative agent of infantile paralysis. The evidence indicated clearly that where the mother is immune to this disease, there is a passive transmission of this immunity to the infant.

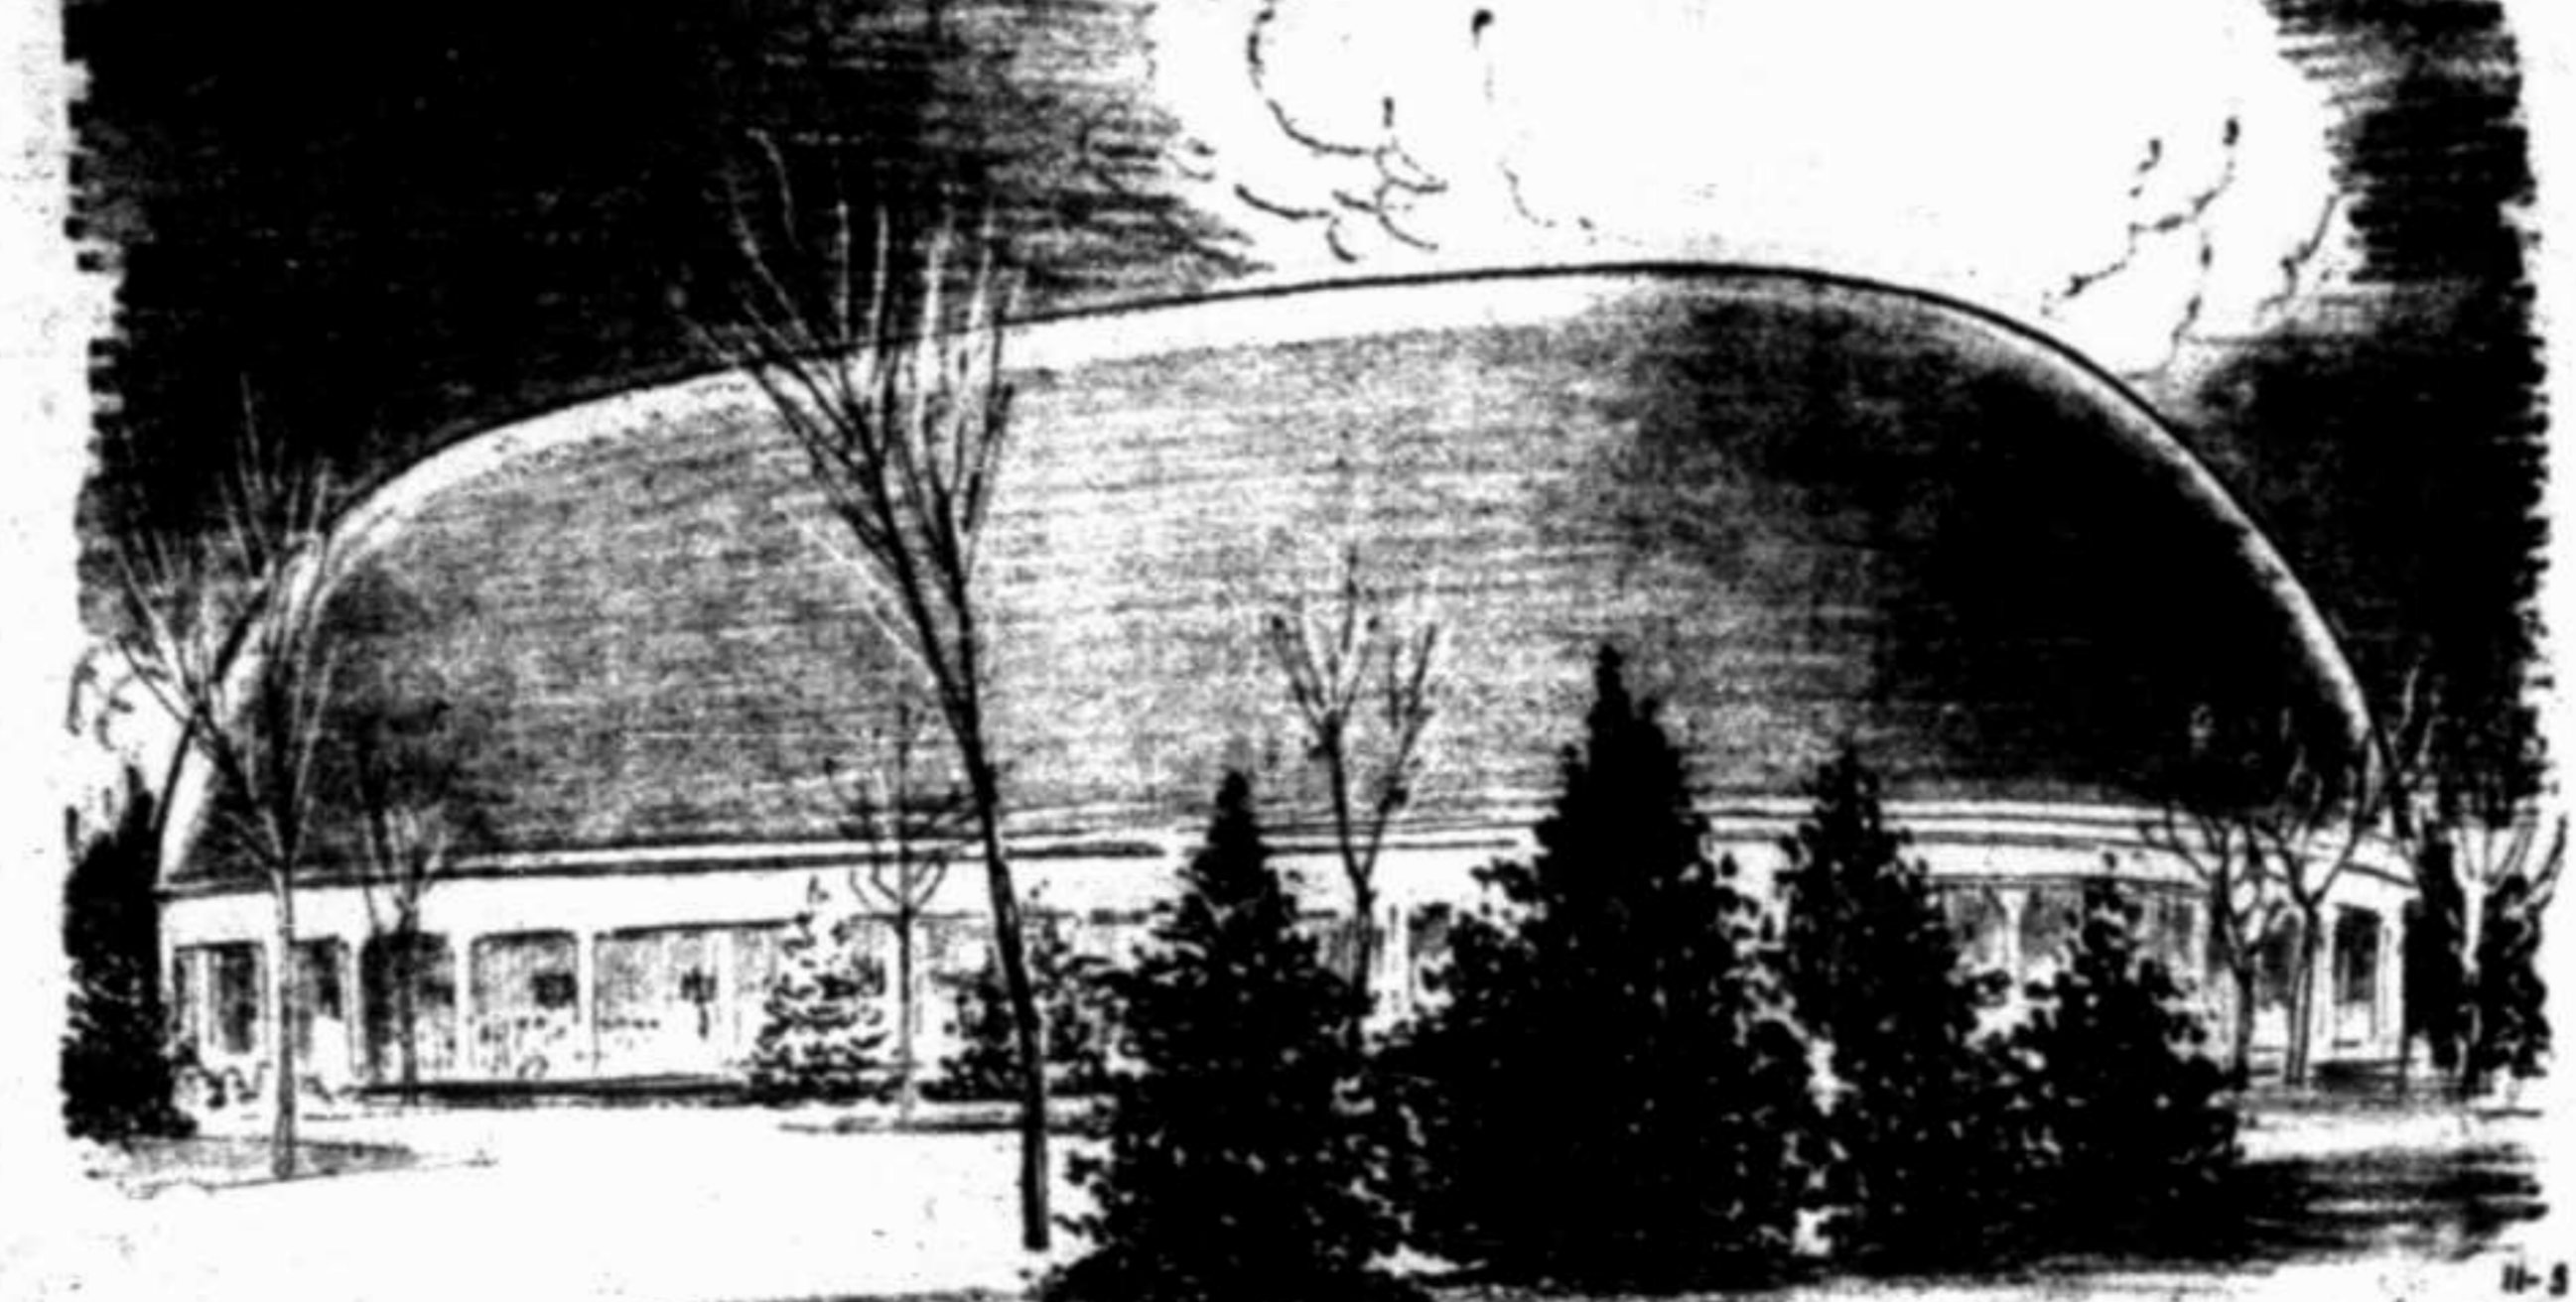

Apparently the relative infrequency of infantile paralysis in infants under one year of age is due in a considerable measure to the transmission of the substance which opposes infantile paralysis from one mother to the infant at birth.

There was complete correspondence between mother and infant in 10 out of 12 cases. It was found also that the immunity transferred from the mother to the child is not permanent. It tends to wear off so that by the time the child is five years of age much of the immunity transferred from the mother may be lost.

According to advices from the large cities, quite a few fellows are missing that everybody feels we can do without.

TOMORROW—"AN OLD GRAVE YIN"

Heart Hungry

by LAURA LOU BROOKMAN AUTHOR OF "DASH ROMANCE" © 1930 by NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY Adventure enters the life of CELIA MITCHELL, 17. When she learns the father she has supposed dead is alive and wealthy, she leaves her unpretentious home in Baltimore for a home in New York with her father, JOHN MITCHELL, and her aristocratic grandmother.

MARGARET ROGERS, her mother, divorced Mitchell and remarried and is now a widow. BARNEY SHIELDS, young newspaper photographer is in love with the girl and before leaving Baltimore, Celia promised to be loyal to his love. She is lonely in her new home.

Mitchell asks EVELYN PARSONS beautiful widow, to introduce the girl to young people. Mrs. Parsons consents, Celia a memo to win Mitchell's affections and agrees she invites the girl to her Long Island home for a week-end, and there Celia meets TOD JORDAN, fascinating but of dubious character.

Mrs. Parsons encourages the match. Celia treats Jordan coolly at first but is won by his romantic love making; after he has reassured her from drowning.

LILL DUNCAN, socially prominent, becomes Celia's loyal friend. At a charity house a gray fortune teller reads Celia's palm and warns her of impending danger. Mitchell arranges an elaborate party in honor of Celia's 18th birthday and Mrs. Parsons assists in the plans. The evening of the party Celia gives her father a message from her mother, but Mrs. Parsons destroys it before Mitchell has read it.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXVII Celia holding the velvet wrap about her tightly, re-entered the drawing room. Her eyes were bright. "Ready," she called.

Evelyn Parsons was standing with her back toward the girl. She toyed with a tiny enamelled automatic lighter. At the sound of Celia's voice she slipped the lighter into her evening bag, then turned.

"I'm ready, too," Evelyn said. She wore a satin coat which matched her evening gown. Both were turquoise. Evelyn's softly waving hair gleamed like spun gold. Her satin slippers, which were the same bright shade as her gown, had high rhinestone heels that winked with every movement. About her throat was a chain from which hung a blazing diamond pendant, and on her arms were two diamond bracelets. No wonder John Mitchell could scarcely keep his eyes from her!

She took the box in her hand. It was a tiny white square.

Mrs. Parsons leaned forward curiously. Celia sprung the lid back. A perfect ruby flamed up at them. It was set in a ring band, a small diamond on either side.

"Oh!"

It was as much as Celia could utter. She stared, at the dazzling stone, then at her father. Suddenly she turned and threw her arms around him. She declared this was the most beautiful ring in the world, the loveliest birthday gift, that she never could thank him enough.

Mitchell looked pleased. He told her to put the ring on her finger. Was it the right size? Yes, exactly. Neither of them noticed Mrs. Parsons. She had been trying very hard to look as though she shared the other's enthusiasm. Now she tapped one foot nervously.

"It's a most beautiful ring!" she said sweetly. "What a lucky girl you are, Celia, to have such a father—so generous and with such excellent taste! You're to be envied." She paused a moment and then added, "but we mustn't forget our guests."

Mitchell looked at his watch. "No, no! Time to be on our way. We'd better start at once."

They went out to the car where Thompson was waiting, and a moment later they were driving uptown.

Celia leaned back happily. She felt this was the most exciting evening of her life. She had never visited a roof dining room. Visions of extravagant splendor presented themselves. The party was being given especially for her, and she was going to see Tod!

She had talked to him that day over the telephone. Apparently he was miserable. It had been a week since they had met, and he accused her of treating him badly.

Celia, wrapped in her dreams, paid no attention to the conversation between her father and Mrs. Parsons. She was surprised when they reached the hotel.

An elevator whisked them upward and they stepped out on what was not a roof at all, but a handsomely furnished foyer. Celia and Mrs. Mitchell left their wraps in a black and gold dressing room, then returned to welcome the guests.

The party was to include 18 couples. It had not been easy assembling a suitable guest list in early August, with almost everyone away at resorts. Mrs. Parsons had culled her country club set of all the younger members. She was eager to show Mitchell how clever she was as a hostess.

Indeed she was succeeding. As soon as Lill Duncan an dome or two others had arrived to join Celia, her father stepped back and devoted himself to Mrs. Parsons. Celia caught sight of Tod Jordan.

HARD TO CROSS EL PASO, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Senator Otis F. Glenn, republican of Illinois, who passed through here Monday on a hunting trip to Chihuahua, Mexico, said getting into Mexico "was more difficult than getting into Europe, Asia or China. He was obliged to undergo considerable red tape before he could cross the border."

"With cool effrontery, overtures have been made recently to the end that the most widely heralded and powerful gang leader in Cook county will withdraw from his labor activities if permitted to conduct unmolested by the law his beer racket," Judge McGoorty told the grand jurors.

"His most formidable competitors have been ruthlessly exterminated (the judge mentioned the slaying of Joe Aiello previously) and his only apparent obstacle toward undisputed sway is the law. Such a trade is unthinkable. There must be no compromise with lawlessness."

Four Men Held For Hospital Bed Shooting

Two of Suspects Believed to Be Responsible for Slaying of "The Ape" in Newark Sanitarium Monday Night

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 4. (P)—Four men were arrested today as police pursued the slayers of Dominick Paselli, killed last night in a hospital bed where he had sought to hide from his enemies.

Two of them, police believed, might be the pair who walked quietly past the information desk of the Newark General hospital, went directly to the obscure room where Paselli was a patient, and killed him instantly with three shots.

The four prisoners were Ralph Russo, pugilist; Harold Corbett and Ernest Plumja, each 25 and of Newark; and Tony Bove, 39, of New York's Bowery. They were held on open charges.

Paselli, known in the underworld as "The Ape," was called by police a "finger man" in holdups—the advance agent who went ahead of gunmen and spotted their prey. He also had a reputation as a small time beer runner, hijacker and "muscle man."

Alcoholic Deaths Reveal Decrease

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4. (P)—Deaths from alcoholism in the United States declined last year from the total attained in 1928.

A census bureau tabulation of the total deaths attributed to that cause in the registration area—46 states, the District of Columbia and a group of nine cities in the other two states—showed 4,339 deaths against 4,627 recorded in 1928. The decrease showed up also in the rate per 100,000 population which was set at 3.7 against 4.1. The census bureau estimated this registration area holds 98 per cent of the United States population.

FLIER STATIONED HERE

A federally licensed commercial pilot, W. E. Martin, of Chicago, has established headquarters here and expects to remain until spring. Mr. Martin has two Waco two-passenger planes and intends to do some commercial flying. His headquarters are at municipal airport, north of the city.

TAKES OWN LIFE

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 4. (P)—Out of employment for weeks, Thomas West, 38, a baker, became dependent. He baked individual pies for each of his six children, laced them with cyanide and drink poison. His wife tried to snatch the bottle from his hands but failed. West died in a hospital.

"Civic Responsibility" will be the subject of Mayor J. J. Clements who speaks today at 11 o'clock at college convocation at the Tech gym. All 11 o'clock classes will be dismissed for the assembly, unless otherwise announced.

Jack E. Boyd, Y. M. C. A. secretary also will speak, outlining the plan for the "Y" drive which starts tonight.

ENTITLED TO DIRECTORIES
More than 80 students who paid for student directories have not called for them. These directories are at the college bookstore and if these students will call there and have their name checked they will receive their directories.

SENIOR ENGINEERS MEET
Initial plans for the annual engineering show to be featured next spring will be discussed at a meeting of senior engineers tonight at 7 o'clock. Last year more than 3,000 visitors attended the show which was instrumental in bringing several students from nearby towns to the college.

The show this year will be conducted in May during the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention here. Several thousand are expected to attend.

PLAN PJO ROAST
Members of the stock and crop judging teams will be guests at the annual pig roast which will be held Monday night in the stock pavilion. The members of the two teams who leave next week for Kansas City and other northern points will be special guests of the pig roast which is sponsoring the feed.

Invitations are being mailed to students, faculty members and town people who will be guests at the annual affair.

TO VISIT HERE
Miss Fern Babcock, traveling secretary of the National student council of the Y. W. C. A. will visit the Tech campus December 2 and 3. While here she will deliver general speeches to different groups, including members of the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. cabinet.

TO PRESENT SHARK TEETH
Presentation of a collection of cretaceous shark teeth is to be made to the Tech geology museum within a short time by Roy C. Lindley who is teaching a science class in the Payson Springs, Col., high school. The presentation will be ready within a few weeks, according to Lindley.

Lindley is a member of the 1930 graduating class from the college. The collection which he is to present is a rare one, and will be of much value to the museum of the geology department.

Seek Change in T.-P. Junction

Three Dawson County Towns in Movement for New Location for Start of Proposed Line into Lubbock

Three Dawson county towns, Pride, Shacktown and Lou, will ask the Texas & Pacific Northern railroad to move the junction point of its proposed line into Lubbock two miles south of the present tentative location. W. M. Yates, superintendent of schools at Fairview and postmaster at Post, indicated to chamber of commerce officials here Tuesday.

Eight business houses in Pride, Shacktown and Lou have purchased a quarter section on the state highway and the railroad for a town-site, according to Mr. Yates, who obtained information from the chamber of commerce in connection with the project.

In Sand Hills
"If the town is located where the railroad has planned the junction, it will be in the sand hills of Terry county and on one can make a living there," said Mr. Yates.

Pride and Lou both have post-offices. Shacktown has a gin. "Up to Monday night the gin had ginned 990 bales of cotton this year," Mr. Yates said. "I believe they will handle around 3,000 bales."

Several Stores At Each
The three towns are three miles apart. Six miles separates the farthest town and Pride now has 30 inhabitants. There are several stores at each place.

"I have lived here for 25 years and in that time in our part of Dawson county we have never had a crop failure," Mr. Yates declared. "We never even had one in 1917 and 1918."

Officials of the chamber of commerce gave Mr. Yates the information he sought. It is expected that the business men of the three towns will work up a strong case to be presented officials of the railroad on behalf of their project.

Pictures of Lubbock-Amarillo High School Football Game to Be Shown

If successfully developed, moving pictures of the Lubbock-Amarillo high school football game, played here Saturday, will be shown at the Palace theater here next Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, theater officials have announced.

A special representative of Paramount News took pictures of the game and the films have been sent away to be developed.

Whether the play in which Malcolm Martin, Lubbock end, caught a pass thrown by Moody Smith, Western back, and crossed the line for an apparent touchdown, was legal may be determined by the pictures.

Such a disclosure will have no bearing on the official score of 0-0 as a referee's decision is final. The pass was ruled incomplete by Referee Devault, who said a Western player, ineligible to receive a pass, touched the ball before it was caught by Martin.

Texas Tech Cagers Report For Season Of 1930-1931

Possible Resumption Of Army-Navy Athletic Games Is Anticipated

Fifteen Show Up for First Drill of Year

One Letter Man Reports to Coach Golightly in First Workout; Three Others to Come Later in Season

Fifteen athletes with basketball inclinations reported to Coach Crip Golightly yesterday afternoon for the first meeting and practice of the 1930-31 Texas Tech cage team. Coach Golightly expressed himself as well pleased with the results of the first day and with the showing of the men who were in uniform for the first time since last winter.

There is a regrettable lack of veteran material, but the boys who came out today seemed full of fire and ambition, if not ability, and I am looking forward to a fairly successful season," Golightly said last night. "Prospects for the season do not appear too bright," he said, "but we'll let 'em know we're in the running all the time."

Only one letterman from a previous season was on the court yesterday when Coach Golightly issued initial instructions and directed the fifteen men through a short workout. Many of the players have been showing the ball around for a week or two, but yesterday was the first time the official call had been made for varsity basketball. The letterman out yesterday was Leon Fisher.

Three Veterans to Be Back
Four men who have previously lettered on Tech basketball are due to be associated with the team this season. Two of them, Tad Tadlock and J. C. Hodges, will not report until the close of the football season. They are now occupied with varsity football. Hodges being a regular backfield man, and Tadlock a reserve end. A fourth letterman, Jimmie Kerr, who starred on the Tech team in 1927, but who was not in school last season, will report to the squad shortly after Christmas.

Mr. Golightly said. Another cager of merit and experience on the Tech team in former seasons, Joe Killian, is also due to report after the holidays. Neither of the latter two players are in school this semester.

Quite a number of ambitious basketballers from the freshman ranks of last year reported yesterday, and they show promise of developing into valuable men. It is thought that the number of candidates will increase to more than double the present number by November 20, when regular daily workouts will begin.

Until November 20, varsity cage practice will be held twice weekly, from 3 to 5 o'clock, in the Tech gymnasium, according to Golightly. Occupied as he is with football activities, scouting and coaching, Golightly will not institute regular practice until near the close of the grid season.

TULSA MAN DIES
TULSA, Okla., Nov. 4. (AP)—Harlan Read, 48, lawyer, lease broker, president of the Kermola corporation, an oil producing company, and vice-president of R. H. Pierce and company, dealers in oil royalties and leases, died today at his home here. He leaves his widow and one son.

Above is the likeness of W. L. Crip, Tech coach, who issued the first call for 1930 basketball players yesterday and was answered by 15 lanky youths. Crip is a former cage coach at Rice Institute, and a former mate of the other Tech coaches when they attended Austin College.

Tunney Suit May Be Ended Today

NEW YORK, November 4. (AP)—Supreme Court Justice Hatfield will decide tomorrow whether trial will proceed in the suit of Timothy J. Mara to take away from Gene Tunney $500,000 of the $1,742,282.04 he earned as heavyweight champion of the world.

After Mara had rested his case Monday the justice dismissed the complaint against Billy Gibson, Tunney's former manager and a co-defendant, and took under advisement a motion to throw the whole case out on the ground that if the charges could not be proved against one defendant they could not be proved against the other. He will announce his decision when court convenes Wednesday afternoon.

Detailed List of Earnings
A detailed list of Tunney's earnings as champion, compiled by himself under court order, was read to the jury yesterday while fight fans in the court sat forward on the edges of the benches and listened eagerly.

The list showed that during the year 1927 the champion's income was $1,157,465.79. That in 1928 he earned $574,995, and that between Sept. 22, the date of the Philadelphia fight, and Dec. 31, 1928, he collected $47,881.29.

Coal prices in England are being increased.

University of Texas Steers Bid for '31 Title

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR. Associated Press Sports Writer. DALLAS, Nov. 4.—Eastern fans, led to believe by the antics of the well-known Southern Methodist Mustangs that the Southwest plays most of its football in the air, will discover that there also is some power in these parts when the Texas Longhorns play in Harvard Stadium next fall.

Coach Littlefield's 1931 eleven promises to be fully as stout as his present combination. Probably it will be even more powerful, which assures this section some A-1 representation. If Harvard prepares to combat an aerial attack, it can expect to receive several surprises. The Longhorns will be loaded.

Shelley To Leave
Captain Dexter Shelley is the only member of this year's first-string backfield who will be lost by graduation. Perkins and Craig also will be lost, but they had little part in crushing Southern Methodist last Saturday. Emerson, regular guard, and Vining, end, will be the only important departures from the line. Gattoura will be lost at center, but the showing of Walter Howie against the Mustangs makes it doubtful if the big Austin boy will be missed.

Bohne Hilliard a Threat
To take Shelley's place will be one Bohne Hilliard, former sensation at Schreiner Institute, and the most sought-after freshman in the state last summer. Some very competent observers say he is the greatest ball-carrier in the state right now. He will look nice alongside Key, Stafford and Elkins. As for filling those two vacancies in the line, the state school always can be counted on for a flock of huskies. Yes, Texas should have quite a football eleven next fall.

Texas vs. Baylor
Seats of any kind for Saturday's fray at Waco between Texas and Baylor likely will be at a premium long before game time. There appears to be almost as much interest in the clash as there was in the big tussle at Austin last week, when some 25,000 thronged Memorial Stadium. Carroll Field, the Bear's makeshift arena, scarcely will seat more than half that number, although bleachers in the end zones would hike the figure several thousand.

Bruins Drill Hard
Baylor, from authoritative accounts, is getting fully as exercised over the impending battle as it was for Southern Methodist three Saturdays ago. If the Bruins can by miracle reach that fighting peak again they will make it hard on the steers.

The stars who compose the backbones of the Baylor offense and defense—Wilson, McCalister, Kathart, Koch, Paradeau, Morris, Witcher—have tried to defeat Texas for two seasons and failed. They gained a scoreless tie last year. Saturday's game will afford them their last opportunity to do it. The Bruins can be a pretty vital factor in football.

Quanah Tribe Sees Victory Over Lubbock

Special Train to Bring 500 Rooters to Game Friday at Tech Park; Westerners Drill Faithfully

Coach Dan Stallworth will bring 18 of his Quanah High school Indians to Lubbock Friday for the annual Lubbock-Quanah grid clash. The game will be played at the Tech field and will be watched by something like 500 Quanah rooters, who will make the trip by special train Friday evening.

Although they have fared rather badly in the race for honors, the Indians will bear watching Friday when they face the Westerners. They have been fired with ambition since the Lubbock-Amarillo clash, and are confident of snatching a victory from the Lubbock laddies. Reports from Quanah are to the effect that the tribe is much stronger now than in the early part of the season, and that the team which plays the Westerners will be considerably stronger than that which played and lost to Amarillo.

Rule Benefit Quanah
The withdrawal of the 10-semester rule gave certain Quanah players the right to play the rest of the season who have been held out of service during the early part of the season. With these men in the tribe will be greatly strengthened. It is believed, and Quanah officials are hopeful of taking the measure of the Westerners. By downing Lubbock, Quanah will gain considerable prestige in the conference, the game coming, as it does, on the heels of the 0-0 game played last Saturday by Lubbock and Amarillo.

Coach Henry Franks is shooting his boys through a stiff week of practice these days and says he is not going to be slipped up on by the Indians. He realizes the potential strength of the Stallworthmen and is taking no chances.

Team To Be In Shape

Halfback Moody Smith and Tackle Chille' McCalister have been on the injured list since the Amarillo game, and are coming around and are due to be in shape for the contest with the Indians Friday. None of the Westerners is in bad shape, having come through the Amarillo misadventure or less in fit condition for the rest of the season. Coach Franks used only two substitutes in the game, leaving a number of reserves in top condition after a three week rest to be able to go strong against Quanah if they are needed.

CRAFT RITES TODAY

Funeral Services to Be Held For Lubbock Man

Funeral services for J. A. Craft, 62, 1922 Sixth street, who died Monday at his home, probably will be held today at Byrum-Morgan chapel. Early Tuesday night, hour of the rites had not been fixed, pending arrival of relatives.

Rev. Mr. Underwood, pastor of the Baptist church at Albany, will officiate. Burial will be in Lubbock cemetery.

The widow, three daughters and a sister survive Mr. Craft.

Lufkin will be ready to start against the Longhorns. After showing sensational form in practice, Parker suffered a head injury and was reported lost for the season. He is recovered, however, and great things are expected of him Saturday. He will be used at end, at least on defense.

Owls Have Chance
A majority of critics are according the Rice Owls an even chance of turning back the champion Texas Christians this week at Houston, despite the imposing record rung up by the Frogs to date. The Schmittmen have won seven games and tied one, but their hard-earned 3 to 0 victory over the Aggies has created some doubt as to their power when faced by a strong defensive unit.

There can be little doubt of the Owls' defensive strength since they stopped Texas, 6 to 0. It might have been a fluke win and all that, but any ball team that holds the Longhorns scoreless for four periods is bound to have something. The Frogs in all probability will go against the strongest line they have seen this season, and it will be interesting as well as instructive to see how Leland and the other backfield speedsters make out.

May See Squabble

There has not been a really important protest or squabble in the Southwest conference for several years, but there is a chance good one if the current grid race comes out just right. Should Rice win its four remaining conference bouts and yet not have a clear claim to the championship, Coach Jack Meagher might be moved to say something about his team's contest with Arkansas.

The Razorbacks won that game, 7 to 6, but the Owls didn't think it was right. After they had scored their touchdown, the referee refused to permit Coach Meagher to send in a specialist to kick the extra point, claiming the Owls already had been in a huddle, or something. A search has disclosed no such rule in the book and the official was reported later to have admitted his error.

Matadors Work Toward Battle With ACC Team

Scrimmage with Freshmen is Rule of Practice; Coaches Drill Linemen on Defense; Hope to Down Christians

Practice goes on as usual on the Texas Tech field this week, though no game is in prospect until next Tuesday. The Matadors are pointing toward the game with Abilene Christian College here on Armistice Day with hopes of breaking into the win column for the third time this season. The victory in six starts leads to their credit now, and by defeating the Abilene team, the Mats will have more than surpassed their 1929 record of one victory for the entire season.

Traditional Rivals

Abilene Christian College and Tech are traditional rivals on the gridiron, having met each season since Tech was organized. The Christians will be fighting mad next week after a 62 to 0 humiliation at the hands of the champions of the Southwest conference, the T. C. U. Frogs, last Saturday, and it will take a team very much on its toes to whip down the Abilene flock.

Coach Pete Cawthon divided his team into three departments yesterday, sending one team against a crew of Picadors, who threw passes all over the lot under the orders of Coach Dutcher Smith. Another varsity squad was engaged in defending themselves against a running attack of some more Picadors, and Coach Cawthon was personally supervising some very important blocking practice on the sand pit. The varsity mentor sent his guards and tackles against an opposing center in more than an hour of fierce drill.

Two Games At Home

The Matadors have two more games at home this season and one on foreign soil. They meet two clubs from Abilene on the local field, taking on the A. C. C. bunch next Tuesday and the Simmons University Cowboys on Thanksgiving day. Between times the Matadors will journey to Brownwood for a game with the Texas conference leading Yellow Jackets of Howard Payne college.

Rabbit Breeders Plan Show Here

Plans for the first annual show of the South Plains Rabbit Breeders association will be furthered at a meeting at 8 o'clock Thursday night in the court house. Tentative date for the rabbit show, which will be held in Lubbock is November 22. The exposition will be governed by official rules of the American Rabbit and Cavy Breeders association, Inc. Prizes will be awarded in accordance with the American standard of perfection. Russell Middleton, of Amarillo, will serve as judge at the show. F. L. Jones, of Lubbock, is secretary of the South Plains association.

Carlsbad Caverns Attendance Reveals Increase for October; Texas in Lead

Carlsbad, Nov. 4. (Special).—Nearly 18 per cent more people went through the Carlsbad Cavern here during October 1930 than in the same month in 1929. Thomas Boies, superintendent, said in his report showing a net gain in visitors of 828 over last year.

Plans Made to Card Teams in Benefit Setto

Post-Season College Games Sought for Unemployment Relief in East; Several Teams Being Considered

BY ALAN GOULD Associated Press Sports Editor. NEW YORK, Nov. 4. (AP)—Proposals for post-season college football games for the benefit of unemployment relief, fast accumulating today, have attracted widespread support and interest, especially insofar as they involve the possibility of army and navy patching up their differences to aid the common cause.

Chicago and New York, as well as Philadelphia, are prepared to bid high for a post-season benefit game between the rival football forces of West Point and Annapolis in spite of the "many difficulties" which Secretary of the Navy Adams said would have to be overcome.

Soldier Field Suggested
George F. Getz, of Chicago, chairman of the Illinois unemployment commission, has suggested Soldier Field as an ideal spot for the army and navy to meet on the gridiron again, for the first time since they broke off in 1927. He ventured the gate receipts would produce $750,000 for the aid of the unemployed.

Predicts Big Gate
The New York Daily News, which addressed an open letter to President Hoover on the subject of an Army-Navy game, predicted it would draw a "gate" in excess of $1,000,000 at either of the local ball parks.

Foremost among the obstacles to a revival of the service battle is the fact Navy already is scheduled up to Dec. 6 when the Midshipmen play Pennsylvania at Philadelphia. Army closes its season at Chicago, Nov. 29 against Notre Dame and West Point officials have shown no enthusiasm for a post-season project.

N. Y. U. Offers To Play

Meanwhile a growing list of possible opponents was presented for New York University, which has put its football team at the disposal of a civic committee for purposes of a benefit game, for any date after Nov. 22. Western Maryland, one of the few undefeated eastern teams, has expressed willingness to play N. Y. U. Inquiry also came today from the far west on behalf of Utah, Rocky Mountain Conference champions, also undefeated. N. Y. U. has referred all possible opponents to the civic authorities, taking the stand that the university is not issuing or receiving challenges.

He was making his way directly toward her. She managed to turn from the group so that his first greeting would be for her alone.

Why—she had almost forgotten how handsome he was!

"Tod!" She whispered his name softly.

"At last!"

There was only time for a quick, devastating exchange of glances, and Celia was surrounded by newcomers. Her cheeks and eyes were glowing. She smiled, shook hands, knew that she would never be able to remember all the names that were jumbled in her ears. All of the girls looked pretty in their bright-colored frocks. Kate Duncan passed by, a picture in deep rose tulle. Celia saw the youth called "Red", with whom she had danced at the club. Jimmie Webster was at her elbow demanding to know how it felt to be dancing.

A frowning head waiter, whose half-French, half-English sentences were unintelligible to Celia, led the way to their table.

Other diners turned to look at the young people. To Celia's surprise the "roof garden" was just like other dining rooms. The walls and ceiling were painted with modernistic splashes of color. There were wide open windows from ceiling to floor all about the room, revealing patches of dark sky, here and there studded with electric meteors.

Palms ferns and other growing green things were the only suggestion of an orchard.

An orchestra, famous throughout the nation wherever radio is known, was playing a melodious fox trot.

Celia shot a quick, pleased glance toward Mrs. Parsons. She saw that Jordan was to be her right-hand neighbor. The widow smiled back.

Jimmie Webster was on Celia's left. He was extremely curious about the remaining accident and demanded all the girl's attention for several minutes. At last she was able to turn to Jordan.

"Why haven't you let me come to see you?" he asked.

"Oh, Tod, can't you very well explain here. I do want you to come to see me. You see, it isn't the same as when I was at Mrs. Parsons'—"

"No? What isn't the same?"

"I mean I can't do the things I want to here in town. My grandmother has such old-fashioned ideas. You see I'm still sort of 'on approval'."

"Well, what are we to do?"

What they were to do that evening was plain. Let Duncan was with Webster, and she kept the wide end of the table laughing at her account of her first flying lesson. Celia and Jordan were obliged to postpone their conversation and join the group.

Later Celia had the first dance with Tod, but other partners claimed her immediately. She danced one waltz with her father, finding him a stiff but light-footed dancer. They circled the floor sedately and then he returned her to her seat and kissed Mrs. Parsons sweetly.

The new Jordan dancing with Kate Duncan, and the fearful thought arose that if Kate intentionally "ramped" her admirers she might try to attract Tod. Kate looked so beautiful almost any man would feel ready victim to her charms. The thought was unbearable. Celia knew she could never hope to compete with Kate.

Feminine instinct sent her to the dressing room to take powder on her nose and add a touch of lipstick to her lips. Celia had no need for rouge. Her cheeks had the glow of youth.

Then she caught sight of herself in a full-length mirror. The white dress was lovely! It made the most of her slowness, possessed a sophistication Celia lacked. She had never looked better. Reassured, she went back to the dancers.

She met Jordan at the door. "I've been looking for you," he told the girl. "Want to dance?"

She slipped into his arms. They moved away in perfect rhythm. Dancing with Jordan, even on this crowded floor, was a breathless sensation. This was the moment she had been waiting for!

A tenor soloist, megaphone in hand, was crooning the words of the first step of the ballad. The tempo of the song was stirring, insistent.

They had half-circled the room and were in front of one of the French windows looking out on the night sky. The window opened out on a small balcony.

"Let's go out here," Jordan whispered. He took Celia's arm and led her out on the enclosure.

The balcony was only a few feet wide. It ran back at either side of the window, and Jordan and the girl stepped into the shadowed space. They were up over the street. Celia uttered a little cry at the spectacle before her.

The sky world was aglow with myriads of twinkling, dancing lights. On a black velvet background—as a jeweler displays his wares—the crimson, gold and blue white electrical display beckoned. Some of them came from Broadway. Others were gleaming coronets of sky-crashing towers. At intervals a gigantic beacon flashed its fiery radius across the darkness.

"Why—it's fairyland!" Celia murmured.

Jordan was not looking at the sky line. His eyes had caught the gleaming ruby on the girl's hand. He lifted her hand, inspecting the ring.

"Father's birthday present," Celia explained. "Isn't it gorgeous?"

"Good stone," Jordan nodded approvingly. "Listen, Celia, let's get away from this noise. I want to talk to you—"

"But I couldn't leave the party!"

"Hang the party. Don't you care anything at all about me?"

"You know I do."

"Then come on."

"Father wouldn't—"

Jordan turned agrieved eyes on her. "All I hear is father this and grandmother that," he said irritably. "I didn't think you were that kind of a spell-sport. Good Lord, Celia, are you bluffing? What are you trying to do to me anyhow?"

For a minute he eyed her angrily. The color fled from Celia's face. She was frightened, but above all she felt Jordan's irresistible passion. She couldn't have him misunderstand.

"I'll go," she said quickly. "Wait just a minute. I'll explain to Mrs. Parsons."

They returned to the dining room. Celia hurried to the door where Evelyn Parsons was the center of a group. She drew the older woman aside.

"Tod Jordan wants to take me home," she said. "Do you think it will be all right?"

Evelyn Parsons smiled sweetly. "Why, of course," she said. "Run along."

Half an hour later the last of the birthday party guests were departing. Mitchell approached Mrs. Parsons, his face anxious. "Where's Celia?" he asked. "I can't find her."

Evelyn's blue eyes widened innocently. "Why, John— isn't she here?"

Amarillo Man Relates Experience

"Argotane Has Helped Me To Get Over The 'Flu' And I Feel Fine Now," Says Cantrell

"Remarkable indeed," was the statement made by E. A. Cantrell of 217 North Buak, Amarillo, Texas, while at home talking with the Argotane representative.

"I was tired and run-down all the time," he continued, "and never had any pep or energy at all. I suffered with a very chronic case of constipation and never found anything that would do me any good, and I was forced to take strong laxatives all the time. I was nervous and restless, and would have dizzy spells at times. I was in a very run-down condition and knew that I needed something to build me up."

"And in this condition I took the 'Flu' and everyone was talking about Argotane and I read so much about it, I decided to take a bottle and see who it would work in my case. It certainly did what they said it would. Before taking Argotane I hated to get up in the morning because I was just as tired and worn out as when I went to bed, but now I wake up feeling refreshed and ready for a good day's work. My constipation is a thing of the past now, and I am gaining and getting stronger every day. It has helped me to get on my feet and to get rid of the flu effects. Argotane has certainly toned my entire system. I think it is a fine medicine and I shall always speak a good word for it."

Argotane may be purchased in Lubbock at the Bowen's Drug store.

Seek to Close Chain Stores

Three Creditors of Clarence Saunders Stores, Inc., Ask Federal Court to Stop Operation Under Receivership

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 3. (AP)—Three creditors of the Clarence Saunders stores, Inc., petitioned the federal court here today to stop operation of the grocery chain under a receivership and to adjudge it bankrupt.

The petitioners said the chain lost $111,965.84 between July 11, when the receivership started, and September 27, when a statement of the firm's condition was filed with the court.

Louis M. Stratton of Memphis and J. R. Peters of New York, the receivers, indicated through their attorneys they would oppose any move to close the stores, whether or not the chain is adjudged bankrupt.

Judge Harry B. Anderson has ordered the receivers to submit a final report next Thursday.

The chain operates in southern states and in Texas. Its founder, Clarence Saunders, now operates the Clarence Saunders corporation, parent of all his companies, and the Clarence Saunders Pacific stores, Inc. He has said neither is involved.

'Honeymoon Gas' Added to List

JANESVILLE, Wis., Nov. 4. (AP)—"Honeymoon gas" has been added to the list of benevolences passed out by Wisconsin public charity.

A young couple started on their honeymoon from here and reached Milwaukee with empty purses and an empty gas tank. They applied to the Milwaukee county poor relief agency and were given a meal and five gallons of gasoline with which they returned home.

The Milwaukee county agency sent a bill for $5 to the poor relief agency at Janesville. The bill was paid.

Operatic Career Amazes Hope

Back in Los Angeles, once more, after a triumphant operatic tour of Europe. Hope Hampton, former screen star, admits her grand opera career hardly seems real to her. Deciding to try her ability as a musical comedy actress, Miss Hampton was amazed, the morning after her opening performance, to read that critics believed her voice to be of operatic timber. That gave her the incentive to leave the films and devote herself to singing.

Returns to the Associated Press from 299 out of 3,263 precincts gave Gore 21,841 votes. Fine, Republican incumbent, 12,911.

In the totals rolled up it appeared Gore was not far behind Senator Fine in the larger cities and even in Oklahoma county, home of the incumbent, while his majority was staggering throughout the southern rural districts.

In Oklahoma's two doubtful congressional districts, where Democrats were confident of regaining House seats lost in the Hoover landslide, the outcomes were far from settled although in the fifth district Congressman U. S. Stone was trailing his Democratic opponent, F. B. Swank, by close to 1,500 votes with 15 out of 449 precincts reported. The vote then was Swank 4,480; Stone 3,025.

MORROW LEADING NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 4. (AP)—Dwight W. Morrow, Republican nominee for both the spot and the long terms in the United States senate from New Jersey, stepped in to an immediate lead tonight in a vote count made slow by a cumbersome ballot.

The first handful of districts to report gave Morrow a better than two-to-one lead over Alexander Simpson, Democrat, for the six-year senate term; and a similar margin over Thelma Parkinson, Democrat, for the unexpired term of former Senator Walter E. Edge.

HEFLIN TRAILING MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 4. (AP)—Senator J. Thomas Heflin, seeking re-election on a Jeffersonian ticket, tonight fell far behind John H. Bankhead, Democratic nominee as a third of the ballot boxes were counted.

eran, Walsh of Montana, was ahead on fractional returns.

For the time being, at least, the Democratic senate candidates had the edge also in Colorado, Oklahoma, West Virginia, Minnesota, South Dakota, and Delaware, for seats now held by the Republicans and appeared in danger of losing only one seat now Democratic—that of Senator Steck of Iowa.

Upset Threatened Connecticut and Ohio were the only states where a gubernatorial upset from Republican to Democratic appeared threatened, although former Governor Charles W. Bryan, brother of the commoner, was giving his Republican opponent, Governor Weaver, a scare in the first precinct reporting.

Opponents of constitutional prohibition held the advantage from the beginning in returns on the west and dry referenda in Illinois and Rhode Island, repeal of the state enforcement act also was given the most votes in mounting returns in Massachusetts.

Roosevelt Overwhelms Tuttle in New York NEW YORK, Nov. 4. (AP)—The largest popular vote ever given to a candidate for office in New York returned Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democrat, to the governorship today by a plurality of more than six million votes.

With five-sixths of the returns counted Roosevelt led Charles H. Tuttle, his Republican opponent, by almost 700,000 votes, and was assured of a margin of victory far surpassing the most smashing success of his close friend and predecessor in the governorship, Alfred E. Smith.

He had sought reelection on the record of his two years in office. Early in the evening Tuttle conceded his defeat, and it remained only to see how great the Roosevelt majority would be.

With him to victory Roosevelt carried, hands down, the entire Democratic state ticket.

James Ham Lewis Given Majority CHICAGO, Nov. 4. (AP)—James Hamilton Lewis, last Democrat to represent Illinois in the United States senate, was chosen by an overwhelming majority to return to that body as the first popularly elected Democratic senator from his state.

Murray and Gore Are Leading in Oklahoma OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 4. (AP)—The Democratic tide, swinging back in Oklahoma after a recession in the 1928 election, was carrying W. H. Murray and Murray toward the H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray toward the governor's chair tonight by a lead of more than two to one over his Republican opponent, Ira A. Hill, in 312 of the state's 1,369 precincts representing 97 of the state's 77 counties. Murray had 23,720 votes. Hill 12,011.

Sweeping the rock-ribbed Democratic cotton belt counties of Southern Oklahoma and getting substantial blocks of votes in the central and northern areas conceded to his opponent, blind Thomas P. Gore, for 13 years a Democratic senator, approached a two-to-one lead over United States Senator W. B. Pine

Anonymous Books

Following the publication in France of a book called "U. S. A. With Music," with no author's name and no pseudonym, has arisen a discussion as to whether the movement to have books published anonymously will succeed. "U. S. A. With Music" is the first work in connection with the effort in France to induce the public to buy books for what they are and not for the name on their authors. The movement is to check the abuse of what is called "personality mongering" in literature. "U. S. A. With Music" is a satire on American life, and other books of like vein are to follow.

The radical Lewis, Democrat, who wants the 18th amendment repealed, had a big margin over his Republican opponent, Ruth Hanna McCormick, who had announced she was personally dry but would abide by the result of the state vote.

Clifford Pinchot, a staunch prohibitionist, had a 10,000 lead over John M. Hemphill, Democrat-Liberal, who had the backing of the Pennsylvania division of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, but the large vote of Philadelphia was still to be counted.

The vote tallied up a few gains in the early congressional returns.

HOOVER HEARS RETURNS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4. (AP)—Surrounded by a few close friends, President Hoover tonight received only scattered election returns from the east and middle west before retiring shortly after his customary hour.

Late in the afternoon he went from his office to his study in the White House and there received the results of the voting.

The radio and telephone reports from press associations and from the Republican national committee headquarters here kept Mr. Hoover informed of the returns. Before retiring he had been informed of the election of Governor Roosevelt in New York and of the wide lead of James Hamilton Lewis in Illinois.

tonight, after a bitter campaign between Democrats and "good government League" adherents. The total vote was unofficially reported as being very close.

A company of Texas rangers policed voting boxes here, at Weslaco and elsewhere, but not even minor disturbances were reported. The rangers said the election was more peaceful than they usually observed in Austin.

The "Good Government League" stationed workers outside of each polling place to check their votes after balloting, charging possible misconduct.

MacDONALD VICTORIOUS

Labor Government Wins First Parliament Skirmish

LONDON, Nov. 4. (AP)—A majority of only 31 votes carried the Ramsey MacDonald government safely through the first important division of the current parliamentary session late tonight.

This was regarded as a crucial test, for the balloting was on a motion by the conservative party to amend the speech in reply to the address from the throne. The amendment was defeated by 281 votes to 250.

The speech from the throne, delivered by King George at the opening of parliament, but voicing the aims of the labor party, has been under bitter attack for two days, the conservatives regretting the failure of the labor to propose any adequate measures to deal with the crisis in the industrial, agricultural and commercial fields or to check the growth of unemployment.

VILLAGE WIPED OUT. ST. JOHNS, N. F., Nov. 4. (AP)—A little radio station at Battle Harbor on the eastern coast of Labrador sent out a message last night that several buildings, including the Wilfred Grenfell hospital, were burning. The station itself was in the path of the flames, the message said.

Efforts to talk to the station today were futile. Battle Harbor is little more than a trading station. In addition to its hospital it includes a shop, an office building and dwellings for employees of the Baine Johnson Fishing industries. The firm, which has its headquarters here, was informed that all its buildings were in flames.

The steamer Sargona has been sent to the village to give aid.

Death Claims Second Child; Third Is Ill

Weeks of Exposure and Insufficient Food Cause Deaths; Family with Seven Children Live in Tent Here

Weeks of exposure and insufficient food, coupled with the deaths of two virtually starved children of the family, have left unmistakable marks on the faces of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Usery and the seven living children, who were forced to live in a tent at the dump grounds north of Lubbock when crops failed.

One of the remaining children, a five-month-old twin boy, is in a critical condition at Lubbock sanitarium as a result of malnutrition, which Monday caused the death of his tiny sister. A 13-year-old girl of the family died about a week ago.

Moved Into Tent.

About two weeks ago the Usery family obtained a tent and food, not enough food, but some, and moved to the Lubbock dump grounds from Wolffarth. Drought had come and crops had failed. The family had no money and even while they were attempting futilely to eke out a living they had not sufficient food. Mr. Usery was a tenant farmer.

J. T. Trigg, charity leader here, was notified of the family's condition less than 10 days ago by telephone. The anonymous caller told him that "a baby is dying in a tent at the dump grounds north of town."

Mrs. W. T. Milam and Mrs. Tom Foster, at Mr. Trigg's suggestion, investigated and found the conditions at the tent pitiful. The oldest girl of the family, 12 years old, received treatment which proved too late. The twins were taken to the hospital suffering from lack of nourishment. The girl died and the boy's chance of living is considered remote.

Food Obtained

Food had been obtained for the family through efforts of Mrs. Milam and Mrs. Foster. The children are regaining strength slowly. "We need some furniture and clothing for them," Mrs. Milam said Tuesday. "We want to get them a house to live in and to fix it so that they can get along."

"The father needs work. If any one has any work he can do, he will appreciate it very much."

To Investigate Case

Although N. A. Payne, county commissioner of Wolffarth, was not at home Tuesday, his wife said she expected him to investigate the case "and see what the county can do." County authorities did not know of the case until newspaper stories of it appeared. Mrs. Payne indicated.

Funeral rites for the girl twin, Mary Wanda, were held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and burial was in Lubbock cemetery under direction of Rix-Sanders funeral home.

Inspect Teeth Of Pupils Here

Annual Inspection of Local Public School Children Is Started Monday and Will Continue Through Week

An annual inspection of the teeth of school children in Lubbock public schools was started Monday and will continue through the week.

VITAMIN FOE OF LEPROSY

That leprosy may be conquered by vitamins is the hope offered by Dr. K. Shiga, dean of the medical faculty at Seoul, Korea. His experiments have demonstrated that vitamin prevented animals from becoming infected with the leprosy germ, which was found more than 50 years ago. Since that time efforts have been made to transmit the disease by inoculation to lower animals, but without success. This led to the conclusion that the animals were protected by some special element in their diet. Doctor Shiga inoculated healthy rats with bacilli and they showed no signs of the disease. Later, when their food had been deprived of vitamins, they were easily infected with the disease. The conclusion is it will be possible to protect all people from the disease with vitamins in sufficient quantities.

BROKE PSYCHIC ARTIST

Among the display at the recent exhibition of the work of members of the Stock Exchange Art Society of London, crayon drawings by a psychic stockbroker attracted the most attention. They were the work of Gilbert P. Cooke, of Wembley. Cooke declares he can draw only under psychic influence. He sits down at his table in the midnight hours and waits until the pencil begins to wander over the paper. When finished his productions appear to have been built up in a symmetrical pattern and show a marked Eastern influence. Some of the titles of his pictures are "An English Garden," "A Devonshire Stream," "Ailflowers," "Roses," and "Polyanthus." One title, ascribed by a waggy critic to the stock market crash, is "Light of Other Days."

If he continues his present speed he will reach Cape Town by Christmas, 1931. Two years ago Hubert left the haunts of hippopotamuses north of Durban, and started toward Cape Town. Since then he has covered more than 350 miles as the crowd files, and probably three times that distance as the hippo waddles. His first public appearance was in a sugar-cane field near Durban. A newspaper photographer snapped him. Hubert snapped back.
