Testimony Is Ended In Murder Trial Of Mrs. Turner

Defendant Denies Story Related By Daughter-In-Law

Two Versions Of Slaying At Wilson Ten Years Ago Told In Trial At Tahoka By Defense And State

Accident Claimed

Arguments Scheduled For This Morning; Lubbock Woman On Stand; Character Witnesses Used

By FRANK P. HILL

TAHOCA, March 12.—Testimony

came to a sudden close here tonight at a night session in the murder trial of Mrs. Mollie Turner, 89-year-old Lubbock woman, charged in the fatal shooting of her husband at Wilson ten years ago. Both state and defense rested after the aging defendant had been on the witness stand all afternoon to deny the testimony presented yesterday by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ester Turner.

Court recessed until 10 o'clock tomorrow for Judge Fritz R. Smith presiding in the place of Judge Gordon B. McGuire, disqualified to prepare his charge. Arguments will be given at that time.

Character Witnesses Heard

The defense rested with the testimony of Mrs. Turner. In the state's rebuttal, ten character witnesses were presented. They pictured M. B. Turner, the slain man, as a peaceful and respected citizen and Mrs. Ester Turner as a woman of veracity.

Two distinct versions of how Mrs. Turner killed her husband have been related in the trial—one by the defendant and the other by her daughter-in-law.

Accident Claimed

Mrs. Turner, while on the stand today, told of a hand to hand struggle over a gun, which was accidentally discharged. Mrs. Ester Turner, divorced from John Turner in 1920, declared the defendant deliberately shot her husband, making cold threats she had voiced several times. Both Mrs. Turner and her daughter-in-law were indicted for the slaying at the time it occurred, but the case was dismissed for insufficient evidence. Eight years later,

Aristide Briand Is Gloomy Over Failure Of France To Get Security Pact In Five-Power Conference

LONDON, March 12. (AP)—Aristide Briand, foreign minister of France, is gloomy over his failure to get a security pact for his country out of the five-power naval conference. Tonight he gave the parley only another fortnight of life.

The head of the French delegation received French newspapermen but rigidly excluded reporters of all other nationalities. The French writers came out of the conference convinced that Briand was disappointed. They quoted him as saying:

"I have finished my role and tomorrow the whole thing will be handed over to the delegations." Briand declared the delay in reaching conference decisions had not been due to the French attitude in demanding security pacts as a price for reducing their program of naval building, but to the fact that Italy had not produced any tonnage figures at all, but had indicated solely on their right to parity with any continental European power.

Blow from Fist of Unknown Mediator In Fight Is Fatal to Man at Quanah

QUANAH, March 12. (AP)—Frank Beavers, operator of a stage line between Quanah and Paducah, died in a hospital here today from hemorrhage of the brain, due to a blow from the fist of an unknown mediator in a fight between Beavers and L. O. Page, operator of local service cars at the railway station.

Ill feeling had been reported for some time over handling of passengers from trains and last week a warrant for arrest was issued against Beavers upon complaint of Page, charging Beavers with use of abusive language. The warrant was never served.

The fight started this morning at the Denver passenger stage line. Beavers was approaching

Three Women, Nine Men Will Determine Fate Of Wealthy Oil Operator In Teapot Dome Case

WASHINGTON, March 12. (AP)—

Three women and nine men were selected today to decide the guilt or innocence of Edward L. Doherty of bribery. The wealthy oil operator is on trial on an indictment charging that he gave $100,000 to Albert H. Fall, former secretary of the interior, for the award to the Elk Hills, California, naval oil reserve.

Justice William Hitz, presiding over the trial in the District of Columbia Supreme Court, ordered the jury kept under guard and together until its verdict is handed down. As soon as it was sworn, he recessed court until tomorrow, when the government will make its opening statement, and will be followed by the defense. The statements are expected to require the entire day.

The jury was completed near the end of the afternoon session after counsel for both sides questioned 35 men and women. Its average age is over forty years.

Tentative road programs with estimated construction costs were submitted by the counties for presentation to state highway department officials who will be asked to meet with Panhandle county representatives next month at a place to be designated later.

The young stranger was seen to board the westbound passenger train before the extent of Beavers' injuries was known and had not been located tonight.

Negro Voodoo Doctor Electrocuted Today

Adams Forsakes His Black Magic Faith On Eve Of Death

(By Associated Press)

HUNTSVILLE, March 12. (AP)—Bishop Adams, negro voodoo doctor, was electrocuted in state prison here early today for the murder of William Glover, Austin grocer.

He entered the chair at 12:11 a. m. Thursday, and was declared dead at 12:21 a. m. by Dr. M. H. Judd, who said: "Bishop Adams, I pronounce you dead."

Adams was calm when he came into the death cell. Capt. Homer Knight, assistant warden, said to him in a low voice: "Bishop Adams, you got anything to say before you die?"

"Nothing."

"Don't you care to make any statement?"

"No, sir."

"All right."

And the buzz of the motor began.

Uranium Quiet

It was all unceremoniously quiet. The voodoo doctor had no visitors. There was no music at any time tonight.

A Catholic priest, Rev. Hugh Fung, stood by him, fingering a crucifix, eyes to the floor. The others, witnesses, most of them looked the other way. The priest was the last one to leave.

Adams, who forsake his voodoo charms, first for the Baptist faith, later today—reaffirmed his allegiance to Catholicism, his childhood faith.

The negro, a spare, wrinkled man in his forties, obviously was in great fear, but he betrayed it only by his shaking limbs.

Deadlock Facing Solon Committee

Adjournment Is Considered By Senate After Groups Fail To Reach Agreement On Sulphur Tax

AUSTIN, March 12.—Penitentiary reform and sulphur tax conference committees showed no signs of composing differences between the two houses today, and in face of the threatened deadlock the senate considered, since the adjournment Saturday, but took no action. It will be pending business tomorrow. The house set Saturday for final adjournment some days ago, but the senate must concur.

Resolution by Rep. R. E. Morse of Houston to instruct the house conference on the sulphur tax to accept a 50-cent levy rather than endanger the bill was held out of order by Speaker W. S. Barron. A majority of the house members demanded $1, and the senate majority insisted on the proposed 50-cent tax.

The penitentiary reform committee expressed views as to how the matter should be compromised. It appeared certain the house would not give into anything more than rehabilitation of existing properties without providing for a new industrial plant on a site away from present owned lands.

Proponents of the prison centralization plan in the senate charged the senate die move was an effort to scuttle prison reform and other legislation while the opponents of the plan to rehabilitate on other than state-owned property declared the supporters of the governor were hiding behind a smoke screen.

The Wages of Defeat

COLOMA, Mich., Mar. 12.

(P)—J. K. Guy, new president of this village, staged his inaugural parade down main street this afternoon in an old time high top buggy, which was drawn by O. J. Long, his opponent in the village election Monday.

Guy wore a silk topper, a rock coat and white gloves and carried a big buggy whip which he frequently cracked over Long's head. Guy defeated Long by 26 votes and so had to pay the bet they had made before the election.

Will Of Former President Filed For Probate; Alma Mater To Get $10,000; Children Get Possessions

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 12.—With the body of William Howard Taft resting beneath fresh turned sod in Arlington cemetery, upon which the flowers of yesterday still were fresh, the affection he bore for Mrs. Taft, his three children and Yale university, his alma mater were attested today in his will.

To "my dear wife, Helen H. Taft," the final testament of the former president left virtually his entire estate. Filed for probate, it disclosed no valuation.

Yale university, where Taft spent many of the happiest years of his boy life, first as an undergraduate, and then as the Kent professor of law from 1913 until 1921, when he rose to the chief justiceship, received the largest single sum mentioned in his will—$10,000. It will be added to the principal of the alumni university fund and credited to his own class, that of 1878.

Asa Keys Begins Term in Prison

SAN QUENTIN, Calif., March 12. (AP)—The irony which plays such odd tricks in the lives of many men brought, in the case of convicted, to this gray-walled prison today, Asa Keys, who as district attorney at Los Angeles for a quarter of a century, sent half this penitentiary's 4,000 population here.

Keys took his place here at 9 a. m. after an all-night journey from Los Angeles, where he recently was convicted of accepting upwards of $100,000 in bribes for alleged failure to prosecute adequately numerous wealthy Californians accused of fleecing thousands of investors in Julian Petroleum Corporation stock.

There was much curiosity as to how 2,000 still here would receive Keys. It was found they virtually sneered him.

After that he will be assigned to such duties as he seems best suited for.

Care will be taken to prevent possible attacks by any convict sent here by him who may seek revenge.

Canada's Second Ranking Ace Of World War Meets Death In Crash; Had 52 German Planes To Credit

(By Associated Press)

OTTAWA, Ont., March 12.—Canada's second ranking ace of the world war, Col. William G. Barker, 38, crashed to his death at the Rockfield Park royal Canadian air force field, today when the motor of a new ship he was testing stalled in an upward loop while flying at a low altitude.

The valiant war ace, who had 52 German planes to his credit and once shot his way out of a "flying circus" never, had a chance once his ship started plunging downward to earth.

Two Dozen Women Support Dry Laws In House Hearing

Witnesses Claim To Represent Twelve Million Of Their Sex In U. S.; Mrs. Peabody Takes Lead

WASHINGTON, March 12. (AP)—

Two dozen women leaders, who said they represented twelve million of their sex throughout the country, today maintained that the womanhood of America stood four square behind prohibition.

By CECIL B. DICKSON

Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 12. (AP)—Two dozen women leaders, who said they represented twelve million of their sex throughout the country, today maintained that the womanhood of America stood four square behind prohibition.

Under the leadership of Mrs. Henry W. Peabody of Beverly, Massachusetts, chairman of the Woman's National Committee for Law Enforcement, they presented all their testimony before the House Judiciary Committee in opposing repeal before a single question could be asked by members of the committee.

In rapid succession the women were rushed on the witness stand by Mrs. Peabody, who limited their time, curbed the applause of enthusiastic dyes in the crowded committee room and combated every attempt to interrupt or delay. Mrs. Peabody also presented statements from other prominent women, who were unable to appear.

It was the third day for the dry forces before the group, which earlier had heard seven days of argument by wets for repeal. With the exception of a few cross-examination sessions to make way for a statement from Dr. Clarence True Wilson, general secretary of the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal church.

(By Associated Press)

WICHITA FALLS, March 12.—The second trial of D. J. Hoobler on murder charges in the death of Arthur Pendergraft, wealthy Oklahoma farmer, neared its end tonight with testimony completed by both state and defense.

Hoobler was convicted at his first trial and his punishment fixed at death. He won a new trial on appeal.

The defense testimony was very brief, consisting of one witness and the reading of testimony given at the first trial. The sole defense witness testified that a crank, allegedly used by Pendergraft, just before he was shot, was a "deadly weapon if used right."

"Unwritten Law" Plea Of Whitley

WACO, March 12. (P)—Lee Whitley, barber was "persuaded" to kill Sam Kus, his former friend and neighbor, whom he shaved almost daily, by the statement of E. W. Roberts and Mrs. Roberts that they had seen Kus and Mrs. Whitley driving in a car together in East Waco, Whitley testified this afternoon in 54th district court, where testimony on both sides was concluded in one day in his trial for the murder of Kus. Kus was killed January 22, in Pete's hamburger stand.

This was the burden of Whitley's "unwritten law" defense. Judge R. L. Munroe submitted to See MURDER TRIALS, Page 9

Deficiency Bill Given Approval

WASHINGTON, March 12. (AP)—

Immediate appropriation of more than $173,000,000 for multiple government projects was voted today by the senate in passing the first deficiency bill.

The senate added to the measure as it passed the house the $100,000,000 requested by President Hoover for the farm board; $150,000 to continue the American delegation at the London naval limitation conference; $12,000,000 for river and harbor work; and $7,000,000 for seed loans to farmers in stricken states.

These increases along with other funds authorized by the senate must be approved by the house.

The $100,000,000 fund for the farm board gives this newly established government organization a total of $250,000,000 of the $500,000,000 authorized for its revolving fund by congress. The additional fund was approved without opposition, but its consideration provoked some sharp words on the policies of the farm board.

Fairchild Aviation Corporation of Canada, of which Col. Barker was president, said that the ship was in perfect condition at the takeoff.

He ascribed the tragedy to "an error of judgment while flying low," giving the opinion that Col. Barker must have miscalculated the power of the motor to drive the machine from the ground.

Col. Barker's war flying record was excellent among Canadian aviators only by that of Col. W. C. Bishop, V. C. He received a long list of decorations, headed by the aviator's Victoria cross.

Nationalist Leader Begins March With Disciples To Enact First Of Measures Against British Crown

AHMADABAD, India, March 12.—(AP)—The nationalist campaign for complete Indian independence from Great Britain Mahatma Gandhi, 51-year-old nationalist leader, and 29 of his disciples today began a march to Jalapur, where the first of their measures against the British crown will be enacted.

Twenty thousand persons gathered at the entrance of Mahatma Gandhi's quarters to watch the pioneer party make their exit at 6:30 a. m. in what was the first step of the long-heralded civil disobedience campaign by the All-India national congress at Lahore in January.

Other crowds lined the route chosen by the marchers, who planned their first two halts at the villages of Asali and Baraja. Sixteen students of the Gujarat Vidyapeeth (Gandhi's national university) all of whom had suspicious scarves on their foreheads, preceded the party.

The party planned to take 20 days to reach the Gulf of Cambay, where they will attempt to produce salt in violation of the government monopoly, which has for its ultimate ends non-payment of taxes and nationwide non-participation with the British government in India.

PROVIDES UPSET

Gamber Eliminates Farrell And Gene Sarazen

MIAMI, Fla., March 12.—(AP)—Clarence Gamber dropped a three-inch putt into a 39th hole cup as darkness descended over Miami Country club course tonight to eliminate Gene Sarazen, Fresh Meadows, L. I., and Johnny Farrell, St. Augustine, Fla., favorites, from tomorrow's final play in the international four-ball matches.

Gamber, professional from the Boca Raton club, and his partner, Cyril Walker of Saddle River, N. J., provided the most decided upset of the annual $5,000 tournament as they stroked their way through a 1-up victory in 39 holes.

Gamber and Walker will play a scheduled 36-hole final match tomorrow with Harry Hampton, Chicago, and Neil McIntyre, Indianapolis. Hampton and McIntyre struggled to a 36-hole finish before the former holed a short putt for a four, to eliminate Danmore Shute, Columbus, O., and Tony Manero, Elmwood, N. Y., 1 up.

Fort Worth Polo Team Is Winner

PORT WORTH, March 12.—(AP)—The Fort Worth polo team, led by Elmer Jones, rode to a 12 to 4 victory over Wichita Falls here today.

Starting with the first chucker Jones, member of the San Angelo Rainbows, rode into the limelight and his play shined more brightly in each succeeding period of play. His efforts brought six of the Fort Worth goals and his hard riding and untimely ability to hit the ball from all angles had a major part in the scoring of the other points. Jones began his spectacular in the first chucker with two field goals, which aided by a one goal handicap, sent the Fort Worthians into a three point lead, which increased as the play progressed. Jones scored points in all but three chukkers. The Fort Worth team scored in every chucker except the second and sixth. Neither four scored in the latter.

Fort Worth entered the contest with a goal to its credit, crying five to Wichita Falls six, but it had no bearing on the outcome of the game.

Chairman Of Republican National Committee Says He Knows Nothing About Missing Records

WASHINGTON, March 12.—(AP)—Apparently wholly at ease, Claudius H. Huston, chairman of the republican national committee, sat comfortably in a chair before the senate lobby committee today and testified that he knew nothing of missing records of the Tennessee River Improvement association. Called to testify concerning his knowledge of the improvement association's activities in connection with Muscle Shoals legislation, Huston, former president of the organization, said that J. W. Worthington, executive chairman of the association, was probably the only person who could give the desired information. He promised, however, to attempt to obtain the records.

DODGING CHARGED

Chairman Caraway of the committee had previously charged that Worthington was "dodging" the committee. After Huston said the secretary was ill in a Detroit hospital, Caraway remarked that he would remain "sick" until there was no danger that the committee would question him. Huston suggested that if the committee members did not believe Worthington was "really ill" they should make efforts to have him appear.

Caraway broke in sharply at one time to assert that Huston had told the committee nothing it did not already know and asserted: "You are concealing information."

Concealed Nothing. "I have concealed nothing," Huston replied quietly.

The senate committee has been investigating Muscle Shoals and efforts in behalf of legislation that would dispose of the Alabama power project. Other witnesses had testified that the Tennessee River association has favored the bid of the American Cyanamid company for the project. A bill to accept the offer of the company is now pending in congress.

PORT WORTH, March 12. (AP)—Ted Robinson, president of the Fort Worth baseball club today said he had placed a blotter atop the freshly inked signature on the contract of Joe Bonowitz, regular left fielder and last of the holdovers of the Kittens. "Nothing much we need now but the pennant."

When Bonowitz got on the dotted line after a conference with Robinson, he gave Fort Worth an outfield of Texas league regulars that averaged .338 in 1929. The left fielder, with a bat that clicked 350 last summer, is now well satisfied to play with Fort Worth, he said after he and Robinson came to terms.

In case Larry Cox is not returned by Pittsburgh the outfield will have Bonowitz in left, Eddie Moore, center; Sullivan in right; in case Cox comes back, he and Sullivan will battle for the right field job with the loser taking the utility outfield role.

PORT WORTH, March 12. (AP)—Ted Robinson, president of the Fort Worth baseball club today said he had placed a blotter atop the freshly inked signature on the contract of Joe Bonowitz, regular left fielder and last of the holdovers of the Kittens. "Nothing much we need now but the pennant."

When Bonowitz got on the dotted line after a conference with Robinson, he gave Fort Worth an outfield of Texas league regulars that averaged .338 in 1929. The left fielder, with a bat that clicked 350 last summer, is now well satisfied to play with Fort Worth, he said after he and Robinson came to terms.

In case Larry Cox is not returned by Pittsburgh the outfield will have Bonowitz in left, Eddie Moore, center; Sullivan in right; in case Cox comes back, he and Sullivan will battle for the right field job with the loser taking the utility outfield role.

Phelan Imports Midwest Ideas At University Of Washington

Former Coach at Purdue Plans New Modes

BY FRANK G. GORRIE
SEATTLE, March 12. (AP)—When University of Washington students and Seattle football fans file into the Washington stadium for the first Husky football game next fall they will scarcely recognize the place.

Virtually everything will be different over last year. New coaches, five of them, will go on display. The stadium field will be dressed with sod for the first time in Washington's grid history, and the players, some new and some old, may wear brilliant satin togs.

Jimmy Phelan, whom Washington lured from Purdue to tutor the Husky gridlers, is responsible for the changes. When Phelan was hired to succeed Enoch W. Bagshaw he demanded a new set of assistants.

He was permitted to employ four, and he brought a quartet of mid-westerners to Seattle. They are Chester "Cotton" Wilcox and Ralph "Pest" Welch from Purdue; Dan Lamont from Loyola University, Chicago; and Edmund A. Collins from Notre Dame.

Washington's sandy stadium floor will be sodded at Phelan's request. The former Purdue coach pointed out that his style of play could best be performed on a grass field, and the Washington officials decided to try the idea.

Because of considerable rain during the fall season in Seattle, it always has been the contention at Washington that a well-drained field of sand would make the surface for the players. However, only a few games have been played in the rain in late years, and Phelan has decided to try grass.

Now all the fans need are a few victories. The Huskies lost all of their conference games and an international tilt with Chicago last summer.

Razzberries—Plain and Fancy

By JOE O'GOFFY

Editor, Historical Highlights

Contrary to the belief of many, the razzberry, which we have come to regard as a product of the twentieth century sporting world, but a quaint old custom harked down through period after period of civilization.

Before delving into the origin and development of the razzberry, it is well not to confuse the term with the name given a most delectable fruit one can buy at exorbitant prices from the grocer. That delicacy is known as the raspberry.

The twentieth century razzberry, sometimes called "the bird," exists in almost the same form in which it was known in Biblical days. Then, as now, it was best created by extending the tongue outward from the mouth through lips held lightly but firmly in position, at the same time forcing the breath between the lower lip and the lower side of the tongue. A discordant note resulted, the noise becoming more raucous with a more forceful emission of breath through the opening.

So far as we know, the first razzberry was given the Egyptian Pharaoh, who chased some fugitives across the banks of the Red Sea. Although the Bible does not state as much, we since have discovered that when the sea closed in upon Pharaoh and his followers, the fugitives stood safely on the shore and administered "the bird" to the fleeing Egyptians. We also have records to show that the Romans employed the razzberry to denote disapproval. Many is the time Julius Caesar stood up in a box seat on fight nights at the old Roman coliseum and handed out razzberries after razzberry to a fallen gladiator, who claimed foul in his tussle with a lion or another gladiator.

First evidence of "the bird" in North America was in the time of William Bradford, famous Pilgrim heavyweights, who trained near Plymouth Rock, Mass., Indian cauliflower artist, and Bradford were fast friends but when Canonica, son of Massasoit, became champion of the redskins, he immediately sought out a match with Bradford. Our histories reveal that Bradford took the snake skin with which Canonica's challenge was tied, filled it with powder and balls, and sent it by return mail to the redskins' training camp, at the same time employing the razzberry to denote his disapproval of the son of his old pal, Massasoit.

Among other historic cases where "the bird" was put to splendid usage were those of Eliza and the blood-

THINK OF YOUR AUTOMOBILE IN TERMS OF TOMORROW

Ultimate cost is as important as first cost in the purchase of an automobile

WHEN you purchase an automobile you are making an investment of a considerable amount of money. It is essential, therefore, that you give careful thought to the best selection and know what you are getting for your automobile dollars.

The first cost is important because it may mean an immediate, satisfactory saving. Of equal importance is the ultimate cost after thousands of miles of service. This ultimate cost is the true measure of automobile value.

THE first cost of the new Ford is unusually low not only because of economies in manufacturing, but because the same principles that inspire these savings are extended to every other step that means greater service to the public. It is easy to see that economies in production would be of little value if they were sacrificed later through high charges for distribution, selling, financing and accessories.

The Ford dealer, therefore, does business on the same low-profit margin as the Ford Motor Company. His discount or commission is twenty-five to fifty per cent lower than that of any other automobile dealer. You gain because he makes a small profit on many sales instead of a large profit on fewer sales.

ONE MINUTE PULPIT

And the scripture was fulfilled which saith, Abraham believed God, and he was imputed unto him for righteousness: and he was called the Friend of God.

A YEAR OF HOOVER

While republican regulars make extravagant claims for the first year of the Hoover administration in an attempt, they know to be hopeless, to bring the struggling voters back into line to save a floundering party and administration, members of the democratic party may well pause to take account of republican stock, which seems to have fallen along with stocks in general, and to compare the "success" of Mr. Hoover with the achievements of the first year of the first administration of President Wilson. Let the first-year Wilson achievements speak for themselves.

Passage of the federal reserve act, admittedly the greatest piece of financial legislation in the history of the United States and creator of the system that saved the Hoover administration from the ignominy of a disastrous panic.

Granting of modified self-government for the Philippines.

Expansion of farm credits, providing a rural credit system, which culminated later in the federal farm loan bureau.

Adoption of a policy which placed Washington on record as refusing to recognize "government by assassination" in Mexico.

Repeal of the Panama Canal tolls exemption, which controverted our treaty with Great Britain.

Extension of the parcel post system.

Comparison with this record of accomplishment, the first year of the Hoover administration, which closed the other day, shows complete lack of constructive achievement. Indecision, evasion, political maneuvering, and a general lack of initiative, courage and government for the people rather than for the politicians.

PETITIONING AND LOBBYING

Nations Business, organ of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, seems to have been busy by the suggestion that the chamber is a congressional lobby. It publishes an article by William Hard in defense of "the right of free speech and the right of petition." Mr. Hard pictures "a country containing no information on any legislative topic, and a congress 'able to become fully efficient and able to pass 40 times as many laws as at present, without having eliminated from their atmosphere and from their intellects all delaying and impending informational fog.'"

What a bright intellect it is that can not distinguish between the right to petition and the right to plague, threaten and coerce! Would congress pay less attention to a petition setting forth facts and opinions as signed by reputable citizens vouching for those statements than it does to a paid organization maintaining headquarters in the capital city, with its hired help pacing the corridors of congress and the departments, entering public offices, and dining the views of its employers into the ears of all and sundry who have votes or influence?

The right of the people peacefully to assemble and to petition the government for redress of grievances, is a precious right, guaranteed by the first amendment to the constitution. It is going pretty far to maintain that this amendment gives any section of the people the right to maintain an office close to the capital like an entrenchment before a fortified position, occupied by highly organized military unit constantly summoning the fortress to surrender.

Congress, if it so desires has sufficient means for acquiring information without having the information, together with plenty that it doesn't need, shot into it day after day by self-seeking interests.

PAY THE BONUS NOW

The senate could do nothing better to further the general welfare at this time than to pass at once, and without further debate, the Brookhart bill to pay veterans of the World war the present cash value of their bonus certificates.

These certificates, issued to some 3,433,300 veterans, will be worth about $2,500,000,000 at their maturity in 1945. But 1945 is a long way off, and there are thousands of veterans who are in dire need at this moment. Regarded as insurance, this fund is far more useful when it is urgently needed than at some future date when it may be merely a welcome but unnecessary windfall. Fire insurance is paid after a fire, sickness insurance when one is ill, life insurance when the family of the insured has lost his support and needs the money. But this government insurance is to be paid 15 years hence, when it may not be needed. Today it would be a godsend to many.

There are thousands who need money at once, and who would put it to immediate use to pay their debts and buy necessities for their families. If we want to consider the practical side we can consider that a billion or two, which the government could easily raise, put into the hands of those veterans who need it, would be a tremendous stimulant to business. Senator Coughens is right when he brings this measure to the attention of congress and urges its immediate passage. The application of such a fund would put many suffering and despairing people on their feet.

MOTOR RULES

The widespread use of the motor car is compelling lawmakers to give considerable attention to the special problems it presents. Judging from the efforts now being made to promote safety and sanity in driving it is altogether probable that within the next few years the world will see many radical extensions in public control over motoring.

Engineers and architects specializing in business construction already must keep in mind the special problems involved in the constantly increasing use of motor cars. Every street which loses its fine shade trees to provide wide driving space and more generous parking area is a reminder that the motor car is making more and more insistent demands on our security. In fact, it is altogether possible that the cities of the future will be driven by the automobile, to radical changes in street widths, highway arrangements and general plan which we of today can only dimly foresee.

On the Firing Line at the Nation's Capital

FORMER PRESIDENT PROBABLY IS HAPPY HE "DIDN'T CHOOSE TO RUN" IN 1928

BY CHARLES F. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

he would have won at the polls, just as Mr. Hoover did.

The prohibition situation is "another situation that is decidedly more acute just now than it was during Mr. Coolidge's presidential regime."

Then there is the agricultural situation. It may be said that Mr. Coolidge simply stalled this situation off, to "break" after he was out of office. Possibly; nevertheless, it was not until after he was out and Mr. Hoover was in that it "break," so that there could be no more stalling.

Moreover, the tariff situation! By retiring just when he retired, Mr. Coolidge also left that to split the G. O. P. early in Mr. Hoover's administration.

There are two ways—as between Mr. Coolidge and Mr. Hoover—of looking at the "breaks" which have occurred since March 4, 1929.

One is that they would not have occurred if Mr. Coolidge had stayed in the White House. The other is that Mr. Coolidge could see that they were bound to occur pretty speedily, and that this prophetic vision of his tended to influence him to quit when the quitting was so favorable to him.

Either way, it is hard to imagine Mr. Coolidge, traveling around the country and enjoying himself, as feeling otherwise than that this is a mighty satisfactory time not to be still on the job as president.

After Mr. Coolidge, out in the Black Hills in the summer of 1927, had announced that he did not choose to run for president again, it will be recalled that there remained a lingering suspicion in most people's minds that maybe he would yield and run anyway, if the pressure proved strong enough—and that this suspicion continued up to the very last minute.

The fact finally developing that Mr. Coolidge really was determined not to run again (in 1928), or that the pressure had not proved strong enough, or the suspicion took this new form—

Had Mr. Coolidge, in the back of his head, some sort of thought contemplative of 1932?

One can understand how assuming that Mr. Coolidge had his doubts up to 1928-1929 period as to whether he should run for the White House, occupying the Northampton might rather willingly have relinquished his chances for that interval.

Of course, in the present day and generation, a president who has had one term is about as sure as certainty of a renomination, if he insists on it. However, there is the possibility that he will insist on it.

True, it seems like an exceedingly remote possibility. Yet perhaps it can be regarded as less remote in Mr. Hoover's case than it would be in the case of any other individual it is easy to imagine in his position—that is to say, at the end of four frightfully trying years as chief magistrate.

Mr. Hoover is impatient; and sensitive and no politician. It is not impossible to think of him as becoming so disgusted with a job, even as president (if it had been a sufficient nightmare to him), to be ready to step out of it at the first opportunity.

This is not to predict that Mr. Hoover will have any such awful time during the remainder of his term in the White House.

POORLY MADE ICE PICK IS CAUSE OF MANY PAINFUL ACCIDENTS

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiea, the Health Magazine

A large proportion of the serious accidents that occur to human beings take place in the home. Mark Twain emphasized the fact that more people die in bed than at any place else.

Around the home people catch their fingers in doors, bang their heads into all sorts of fixtures, fall off step-ladders and down steps, become asphyxiated by leaking gas fixtures, and cut themselves on all sorts of kitchen appliances. Around a home a man can't be too careful.

Mr. Robert Northrup of the bureau of industrial hygiene of the New York state department of labor has recently commented on the deadly ice pick. This, he insists, is one of the poorest constructed and assembled hand tools on the market. In 1928 33 accidents with ice picks occurred in New York state for which it was necessary to pay compensation.

In most cases the accident occurs as follows: The person who is using the ice pick to break ice finds that the shaft slips out of the handle and the blunt end of the steel goes right through the palm of the hand. In cheap ice picks the shaft is merely forced into an undersized drilled hole in the handle. The point of the ice pick sticks in the ice and as the handle is not firmly fixed it promptly pulls out.

When a hand is punctured by an ice pick the wound is usually infected. Such an injury should be promptly cleaned and treated with an antiseptic such as tincture of iodine or mercuric iodine. An infection of the palm of the hand is difficult to control and may produce permanent crippling.

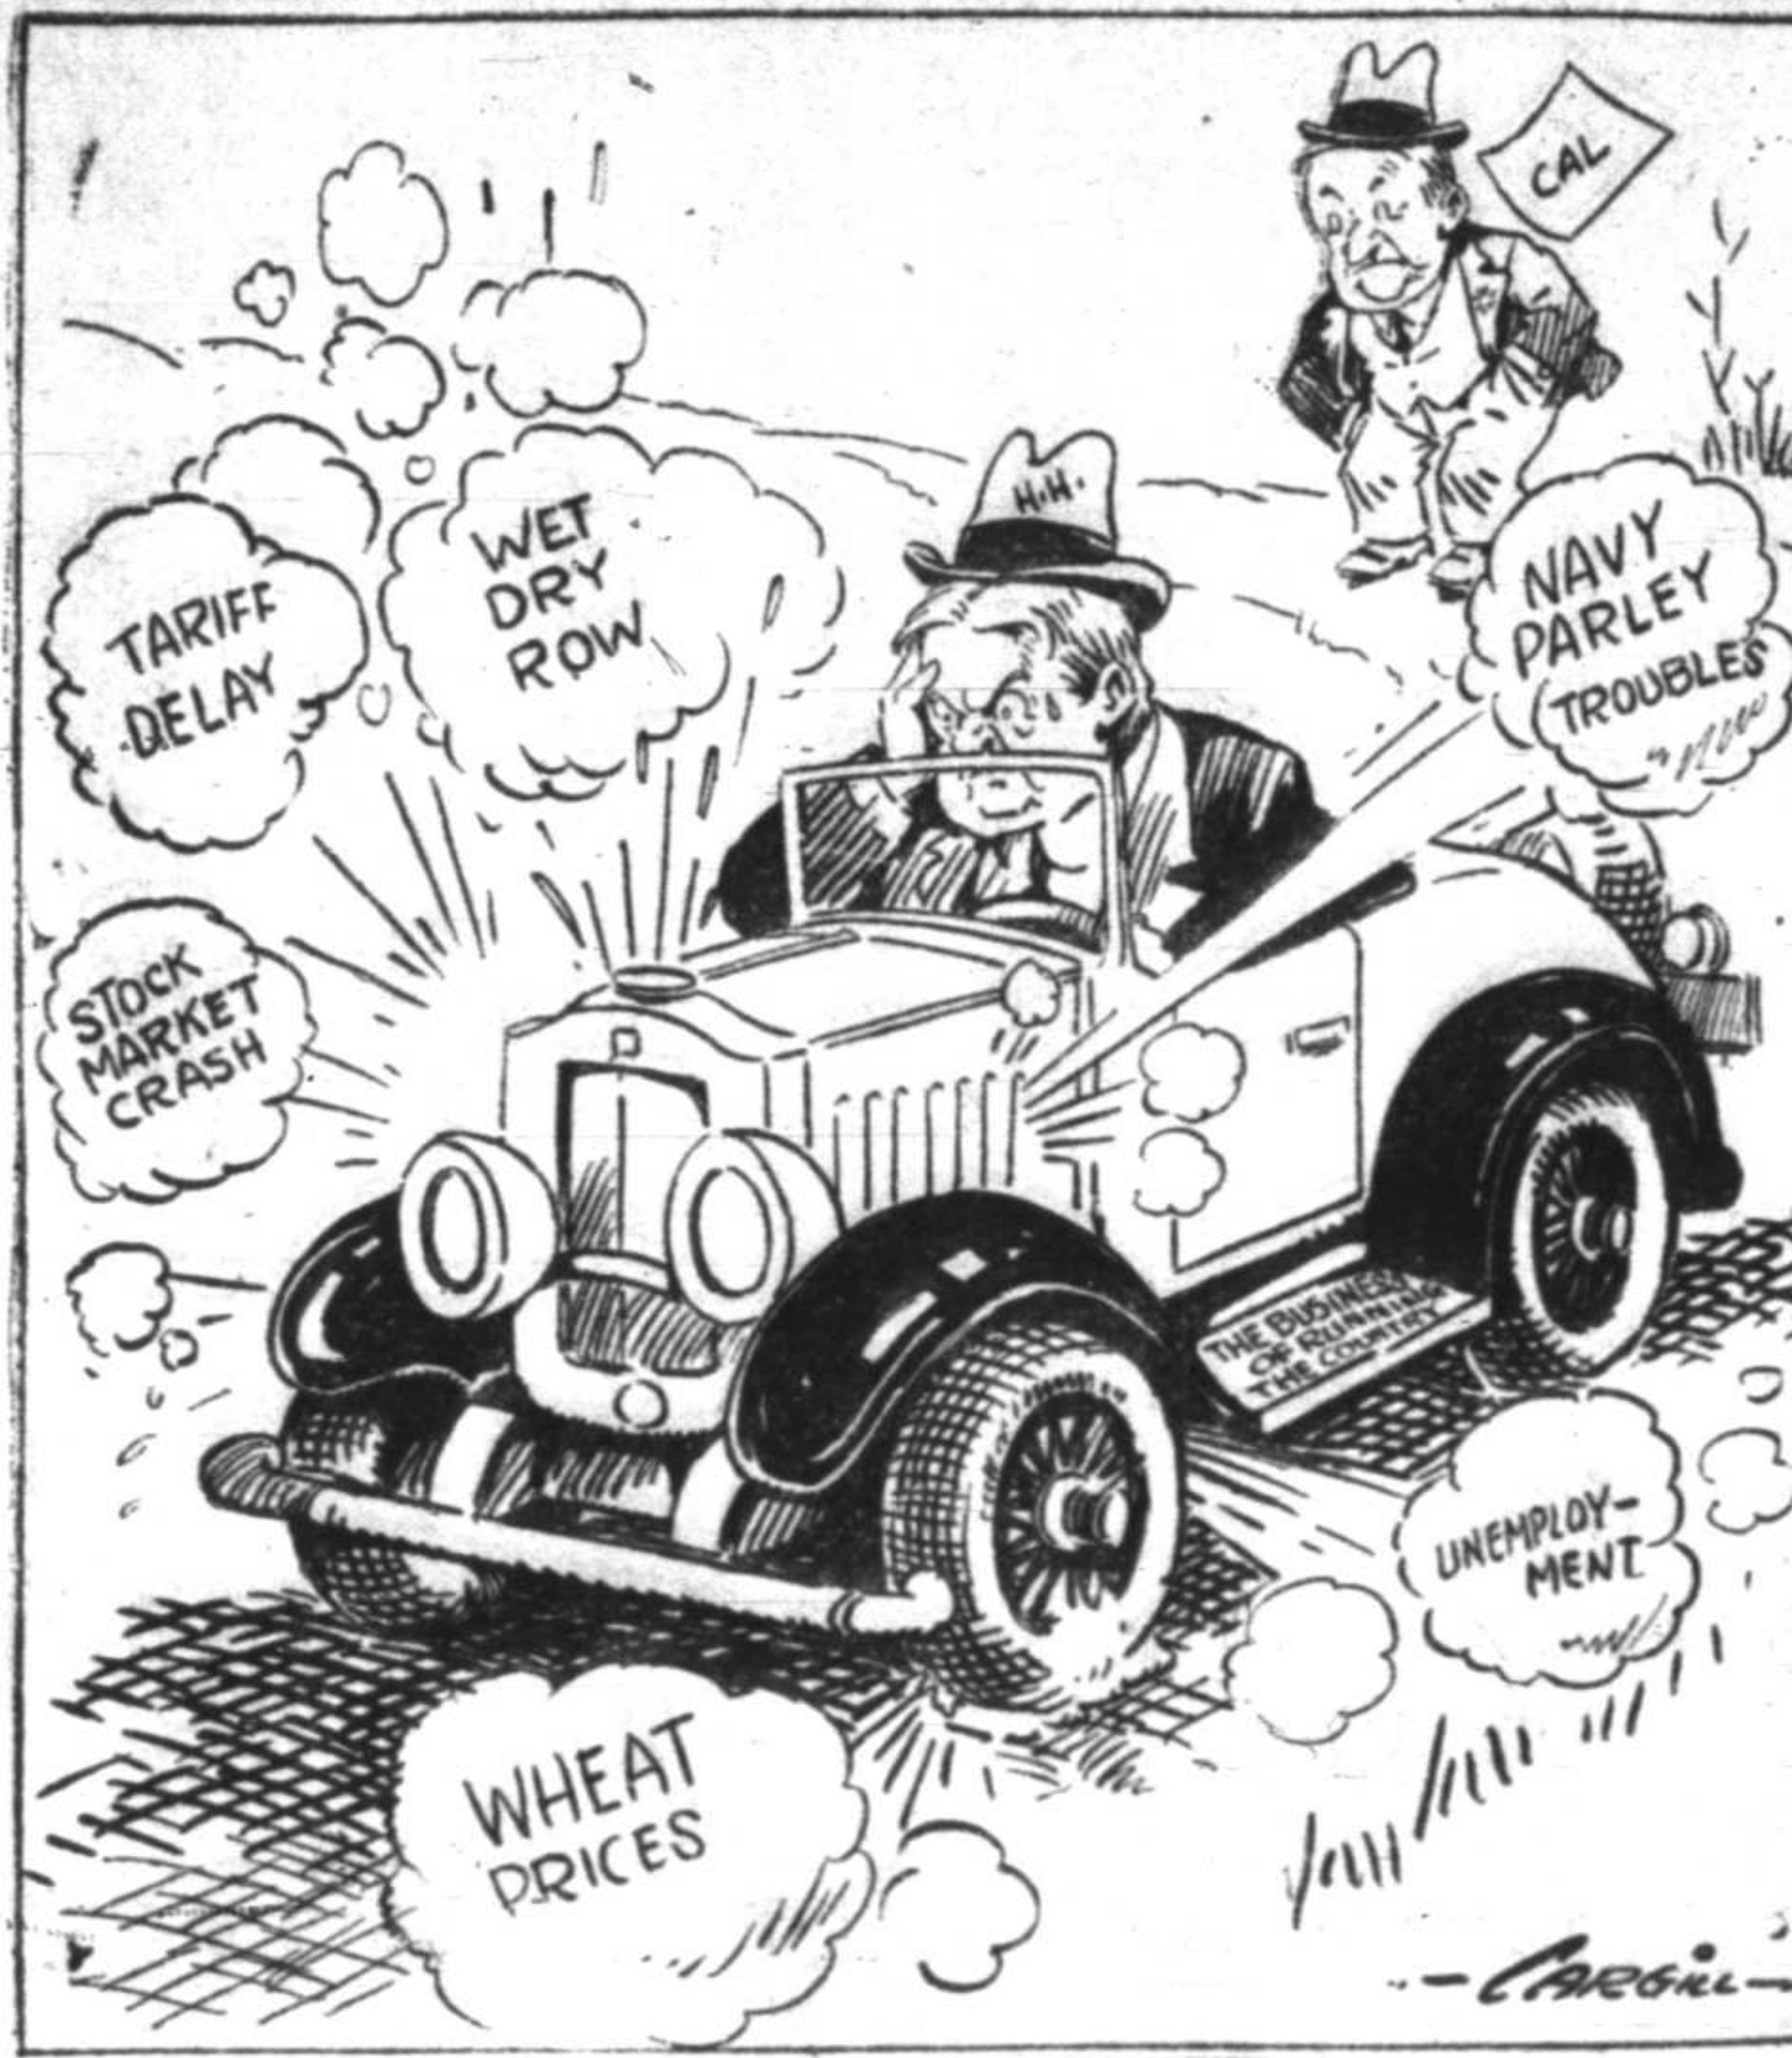

Because of its manner of construction the ice pick is an unbalanced instrument. Not infrequently children get punctured wounds of the face or eye when the point of the ice pick rebounds. In a properly made ice pick the handle is cast on the shaft and the end of the shaft is deeply scored within the cast iron head. The handle cannot come off and the drive on the head forces the point into the ice.

All sharp instruments used in the home should have a permanent place safe from children, and should always be kept in that place when not actually in use.

If the farm people succeeded in persuading people generally to use butter and milk and cheese more freely doubtless they would contribute to the health and prosperity of the nation, and of course, they should be willing to practice what they preach.

Spring must be almost here. The baseball writers in the southland have already discovered 19 new Christy Mathewsons and 21 new Walter Johnsons.

Wickett for questioning. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER X

With unhesitating dignity the butler obeyed Captain Strawn's summons, but halted just before setting foot on the first of the two steps leading from the cement walk into the little summerhouse, his eyes involuntarily flinching away from further sight of the slim, rigid body laid out on the bench.

Strawn and Dundee descended the steps together. Strawn spoke, his voice soft but not unkind: "Wickett, does young Berkeley drive his own car?"

The butler appeared startled. "Why, yes, sir. There are four cars, sir. The family limousine, Miss Clorinda's coupe, Mr. Dick's sports car—a two-passenger, that is; and as service truck."

"Thanks. . . . Come here, Payne!" Strawn called to one of the group of uniformed policemen and plainclothes detectives awaiting orders a short distance away on the lawn. "Dash down to the garage and check up on the cars you find there. Should be four. I particularly want to know if a two-passenger sports car is missing. That's the garage, isn't it, Wickett?" and he pointed to a wide, narrow stone building which lay several hundred feet behind and slightly to the west of the Berkeley house.

"Yes, sir. Arnold, Eugene Arnold, is the chauffeur, but he's probably at breakfast now in the servant's dining room. He sleeps over the garage, sir, and has doubtless opened it for the day."

"Get along, Payne, and make it snappy!" Strawn ordered. "Now, Wickett, before I go into the house and notify the family that murder's been committed out here, I want you to answer a few questions. . . . First, do you know anything at all about this bad business?"

"No, sir," the butler answered, after the faintest hesitation. "Any suspicions, Wickett?" Strawn pounced.

"I—no, sir!"

"Wickett," Dundee interrupted. "I've already told Captain Strawn that you, as well as I, overheard Mr. Dick Berkeley urging Doris to meet him outside last night, after the family were in bed. You know, Wickett, that I am Mr. Dick's guest here, his friend, but at a time like this, everything we know must be told. I am sure you want to see poor little Doris avenged, and as speedily as possible."

"That I do, sir!" the butler agreed huskily. "I did overhear, quite by accident, the conversation you referred to, and I thought it my duty to speak to Doris when Mr. Dick had left her. It was in the back hall, sir," he explained to Strawn. "The poor child assured me she had no intention of keeping her promise to Mr. Dick. She said she had already arranged to meet Arnold for a stroll around the lake."

"Arnold, the chauffeur?" Strawn interrupted sharply.

"Yes, sir. They are—Doris and Arnold were engaged to be married, sir; had become engaged a few days ago," the butler explained. "I might add that we were all very much pleased, sir—"

"Well! A new suspect and a new motive!" Strawn ejaculated. "Jealousy, eh?" and he raised his eyebrows triumphantly at Dundee.

The butler coughed deprecatingly. "If you'll pardon me, sir. . . . Thank you, sir. . . . The chauffeur and the limousine were required at about 11, sir, to drive Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Smith, Mrs. Berkeley's brother and sister-in-law, to their home in Westview."

"Westview, eh?" Strawn frowned. "That's about 15 miles from Hillcrest, Dundee. . . . Did you hear Arnold return, Wickett?"

"No, sir," the butler answered readily. "But I feel sure he did not make an effort to see Doris."

"Why?" Strawn snapped.

"Because, sir, when he brought the car around to the front door I admitted him, and he asked me to give Doris a note, in which, as he told me, he had explained why he could not meet her last night. I intended to hand her the note, but my duties kept me constantly downstairs, and I placed it on a little table in the back hall. I knew she would find it there on her way to meet Arnold, if I did not have an opportunity to give it to her before."

"And you left the note there?"

"Yes, sir. In fact, sir, I am ashamed to confess that I forgot about it. It had been a heavy day, preparing for the big party which was planned for tonight."

"And which won't come off now!" Dundee interrupted, with a certain grim satisfaction. At least the ordeal of another of "Abbie" Berkeley's terrible parties would be spared him!

"Yes, sir," Wickett agreed gravely, and Dundee suspected that Wickett shared his feelings.

"Well, Wickett, get along with your story!" Strawn commanded, impatiently. "Did you see the girl again? After she told you she was not going to meet young Berkeley, I mean."

"No, sir. She said she was going up to her room, to write to her sister."

"Well, huh, I shipped three hundred carloads last year, and as one apple man to another—"

REVISE CONSTITUTION

Insurgent Miners Provide For Five-Day Week

SPRINGFIELD, March 12. (AP)—The constitution of the insurgent faction of the United Mine Workers of America, was revised today to provide for a five-day work week.

The action, which involves article one of the constitution also provides for a six-hour work day.

The constitution as written originally limited the work day to six hours but did not specify the number of days per week employment was to be provided.

The action in the form of a resolution unanimously adopted by the Rump convention of the mine workers organization, was heralded as the most important step taken since the insurgent body broke with the parent body.

WHARF IS DESTROYED

Million Dollar Damage Is Estimated In Blaze

NEW ORLEANS, March 12. (AP)—The eleven hundred foot Mandeville wharf heavily stored with cargo of the Munson Steamship line, was consumed by flames late today and the steamship Munalas of the same line was seriously damaged.

The fire marshal estimated the loss at approximately one million dollars. It started under the floor of the wharf and spread rapidly through the stock of stores, lumber, coffee, sugar and linseed oil. Shortly after the flames shot through the roof two loud explosions were heard believed to be oil casks bursting.

BURNED TO DEATH

Three Month-Old Child Is Killed In Flames

DENTON, March 12. (AP)—Lloyd Murphy, three months' old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Barnard, was burned to death late Saturday when fire raged the Barnard home near Justin, 18 miles southwest of here, according to word reaching Denton today. Another son, three years old, was rescued from the burning building by Mrs. Barnard, who returned from a neighbor's residence and found her home in flames.

The child was found in a room on the second floor, and was taken to a hospital, but died shortly after.

The cause of the fire is not known. The fire department is investigating the cause of the fire.

FIVE-YEAR FIGHT ENDS

AUSTIN, March 12. (AP)—The five-year fight for free Cumberland Falls free from hydro-electric exploitation is ended with enactment of a bill by the Kentucky legislature accepting an offer of Forman United States Senator T. Coleman Du Pont, of Delaware, to donate $250,000 to buy the falls and 2,300 acres for a state park. Mr. Du Pont is a native Kentuckian. Cumberland Falls is the largest cataract east of the Mississippi except Niagara.

The top of the Leaning Tower of Pisa is 16 feet out of the perpendicular.

Why Simple Stomach Troubles so Often End on Operating Table

"BECAUSE it could have been so easily avoided, no case is more pitiful, than that of the man or woman who is forced to undergo the surgeon's knife as the result of neglecting simple stomach ailments," said a New York physician recently. "You, for instance, may look on an acid stomach as nothing to fear. Yet in reality, it is a most alarming condition on account of its great tendency to develop stomach ulcers. Face facts. If you suffer gas and bloating after meals, loss of appetite, constipation, headaches, if your breath is bad, your tongue coated, the best thing you can do is to get to the nearest drug store and get a bottle of Tanlac. Besides getting relief, you will, as a matter of fact, be saving money back. At all druggists."

"Did Mrs. Berkeley ask?"

"No, sir. I hoped Mrs. Berkeley would ask."

"Why?" Strawn asked.

The butler flinched at his eyes.

"She was pale, sir—very pale."

"Did she say anything?"

"No, sir. She was silent."

"Then Mrs. Berkeley was on her way out?"

ter in England, about her engagement to Arnold, sir. She also said that Mrs. Berkeley had told her it was not necessary for her to wait up for either herself or Miss Glorinda."

"Did Mrs. Berkeley know of the date Doris had with Arnold?" Strawn asked.

"No, sir," Doris remarked that she hoped Mrs. Berkeley would not find it out, the butler answered.

"Why?" Strawn asked at him.

The butler flushed slightly and his eyes lowered, but he did not answer.

"How did Mrs. Berkeley and Doris hit it off? Not so good, eh?" Strawn asked.

"Doris was an excellent lady's maid, sir—sweet-tempered and efficient," Wickett answered, that husky note of grief in his voice again.

"But Mrs. Berkeley—not so sweet-tempered, eh, Wickett?" Strawn dug at him relentlessly.

"If you'll pardon me, sir—Wickett pleaded.

"I guess I'm answered," Strawn concluded, with satisfaction. "All right, now, what about the note? You forgot about it last night, you said. Did you see it this morning?"

"No, sir. It was not on the little table where I had left it."

"Then Doris must have found it on her way out to meet Arnold, eh?" Strawn deduced, glancing toward Dundee.

"But if she found the note, calling the date off, I'm wondering why she left the house at all," Dundee objected.

"That's easy," Strawn laughed. "With Arnold safely out of the way, she could keep her promise to meet Dick Berkeley."

"No, sir," the butler answered, but for an instant there was in his eyes that same black rage with which he had looked at Dick Berkeley the night before.

At that moment Detective Payne came looting up, breathless, apologetic. "All four cars in the garage, sir. Sorry to be so long, but I had to go to the house and get the keys from the chauffeur. And say, chief, that guy, Arnold, is in an awful stew. Tried to get me to tell him what's up, but I kept my mouth shut. It seemed to give him an awful jolt when he saw that the sports car was sitting pretty."

"All right, Payne," Strawn interrupted. "Take three of the boys and scout the estate for Dick Berkeley before."

ey—a young man in dinner clothes. Any place he could hide that you know of, Wickett?"

"There are several buildings on the estate, including a gardener's cottage which is not in use now, and Miss Gigg's little playhouse—also not often in use now, sir," Wickett answered.

"All right, Payne! Hop to it! Search everything, even if you have to bust down doors," Strawn ordered. "And you, Wickett, you can go to the house and get along with the family's breakfast, but don't serve it until I give you the word. And don't talk—understand?" he cautioned sternly. Then, "Wait a minute! What time did you go up to bed last night?"

"At 11:15, sir."

"After everyone else had gone to bed?"

"Mr. and Mrs. Berkeley were still talking in the library, sir, but Mr. Berkeley told me to go to bed. I had already locked up."

"Did anyone, to your knowledge, leave the house last night, after the Smiths had gone?"

"No, sir. I did not see or hear anyone leave the house."

"After you went up to your room, did you see or hear anything that might have any bearing on the murder?"

"Nothing, sir. I was very tired and went to sleep almost immediately."

As the butler, dismissed again, moved away with mournful dignity, Strawn commented: "There's one guy who'd like to jerk the rope himself if Dick Berkeley killed the girl."

"Well, Doc, what's the verdict?" he asked, as he and Dundee re-entered the summerhouse, where Dr. Pierce, the coroner, was awaiting them, waiting away the time by watching Carray, fingerprint expert, at his work. "Death by a blow on the head or by drowning? And when did she die?"

This Woman Was Confined To Bed Days At A Time

Wichita Falls Housewife Suffered Eleven Years—Gains Daily On Orgastone (Argotane)

"I was in such a bad condition I had to stay in bed for days at a time and I guess it had not been for Orgastone (Argotane) I never would have seen another well day," said Mrs. George M. Bruce, of 507 Adams Street, Wichita Falls, Texas, recently.

"I have suffered so much," continued Mrs. Bruce, "during the past eleven years from nervousness and stomach trouble that I almost felt like a physical wreck at times. My stomach would fill up with gas, my heart would palpitate and my suffering was so great that I could hardly stand it. In 1918 during the influenza epidemic I took down with the flu and ever since that time, my entire system has been out of order and I was so nervous I could hardly sleep at all. I had a continual pain in the region of my head which would often times extend clear across my chest and was so severe at times, it seemed like I would go distracted."

"I had the best treatment and tried all kinds of medicines but in spite of all, I kept going down. I felt off my feet and was so nervous and run-down I had to stay in bed for days at a time, and for years was under the care of physicians. Nobody will ever know how Orgastone (Argotane) One night came I can't possibly describe it. I was advised to try this and that but nothing helped me and then I got worse and hardly knew what to try next."

"My husband had heard so much of the good results people right in Wichita Falls had obtained by taking Orgastone (Argotane), one night he brought home a bottle and I started on the treatment—and all that is left of my troubles is the memory of it. My appetite is so good I can hardly get enough to eat just anything I want without having my gas, palpitation of the heart or other bad feelings afterwards. The pains have entirely disappeared from my head, chest, and side, my nerves are perfectly calm and no child could sleep better than I do. Orgastone (Argotane) seemed to get right at the cause of my trouble and I kept getting better and better until now I'm in better health than I have been in eleven years. No medicine could do more for a person than Orgastone (Argotane) has done for me. I only wish everybody could realize the value as I do."

Chicago Delivery Of Wheat Declines
CHICAGO, March 12. (P)—World wide turmoil in grain markets today left each Chicago delivery of every cereal but May wheat tonight at the lowest closing prices reached this season. The sole exception as to May wheat was due to big buying attributed to agencies that are announced by the United States government farm board.
Demoralization of the wheat trade at Liverpool was reported.
With prices there down 6 1-2 cents a bushel, while maximum breaks in wheat prices at Chicago today, 4 5-8 cents a bushel, carried values here down into 11 5-8 cents under last week.
Reduction of world's estimated import needs of wheat to nearly 300,000,000 bushels less than was actually shipped last year, whereas the United States and Canada both have a huge surplus, formed an outstanding feature today, and despite late rallies the wheat market here closed feverish, 1 to 2-4 cents a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1 5-8 to 2 1-4 cents down; oats 2-4 to 1 5-8 cents down, and provisions showing 7 to 22 cents drop.

Wheat Goes Lower On Grain Market
FORT WORTH, March 12. (P)— Wheat was lower and still very slow sale on the cash grain market
here today. Mills were bidding 1.11
@ 1.12 for ordinary No. 1 hard delivered Texas Common Points. Little grain was meeting requirements
of the grain stabilization agency.
Fair demand was reported for corn, oats and cane seed. Barley and sorghums were dull and hard to sell. This is the season for cane seed and they are wanted with a premium for the better and cleaner strains. The latter accounting for the higher prices bid on the Kansas market.

Wheat Association Membership Sought
PLAINVIEW, March 12. (Special) Under direction of J. Frank Triplet, lett, of Plainview, a drive is to be started immediately on the South Plains for members to be taken from the wheat growers association.
Triplet has recently been named assistant manager of the association. He has been associated a number of years with the Cotton association of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation and is well trained for his new position.
Eight wheat counties of the South Plains are included in the territory over which Mr. Triplet has supervision. He has appointed the following field men to conduct the drive: C. B. Thomas, Castro and Lamb counties; H. H. Draper, Swisher county; R. W. McDaniel,
Hale and Lubbock counties; J. C.
Ward, Briscoe and the north half of Floyd county; H. I. Brock, south half of Floyd and all of Crosby county.

Murray Funeral
Mrs. Murray, wife of the president of the Chamber and of the Board of City Development. Announcement
also has been received from Slator that burials in that city will be closed during the funeral services. The family formerly lived there before coming to Lubbock.
Present and former presidents
of the local Rotary club will be pel-lagers at the funeral. They are
W. A. Myrick, Jr., Neil H. Wright,
Homer Wilson, Walter Power, Rev.
Walter P. Jennings, H. L. Allen, J.
J. Clements and J. A. Rix.
Mrs. Murray was born in Bella Grayson county, Texas, in 1894. She was married to Mr. Murray 15 years ago and had been a resident of Lubbock since 1925. She was a member of the Methodist church
and prominent worker of the institution up until the time of her death.
Following news of Mrs. Murray's death, expressions of sorrow have been heard on every hand in Lubbock and Slator, while even from other South Plains cities have come words of sympathy and regret.
Mrs. Murray, due to ill health, has been deprived of activities in projects she would have been actively engaged in, but the efforts of her husband in behalf of this section have gained for the family a large affinity of friends. He always has been a leader in progressive enter-takings of this area and has won friends on every hand, all of them now steadfast in the dark hours of sorrow.
Mrs. Murray is survived by her husband, two sons, R. J. Jr. and Mike; her mother and father, Mr.
and Mrs. W. H. Proctor, of Slator;
and two sisters, Mrs. W. E. Olive and Mrs. J. T. Pinkston, both of Slator.
Two rings—one of gold and the other of silver—are used in the marriage ceremony of the Kirk Church.

Supreme Court Proceedings
AUSTIN, March 12. (P)—The following proceedings were had in the Supreme Court today:

Prohibition

quor is guilty of a crime under the Supreme Court today for determination.

Citing a diversity of judicial opinions, the department of justice appealed to the highest tribunal against the decision of Federal Judge Morton at Boston, holding congress expressly excluded the purchaser from the penal provisions of the act.
Judge Morton sustained the conant, that section 6, title 2, of the national prohibition act, under which the government sought to convict him, referred only to those heavily entitled to buy and sell liquor under permits, such as drug stores and hospitals. The section says that no person shall sell, barter, transport or purchase liquor without first obtaining a permit.

Wheat Goes Lower On Grain Market

FORT WORTH, March 12. (P)—
Wheat was lower and still very slow sale on the cash grain market
here today. Mills were bidding 1.11
@ 1.12 for ordinary No. 1 hard delivered Texas Common Points. Little
grain was meeting requirements
of the grain stabilization agency.
Fair demand was reported for
corn, oats and cane seed. Barley
and sorghums were dull and hard to sell. This is the season for cane seed and they are wanted with a premium for the better and cleaner strains. The latter accounting for the higher prices bid on the Kansas market.

Murray Funeral

Mrs. Murray, wife of the president of the Chamber and of the Board
of City Development. Announcement
also has been received from Slator that burials in that city will
be closed during the funeral services. The family formerly lived
there before coming to Lubbock.
Present and former presidents
of the local Rotary club will be pel-lagers at the funeral. They are
W. A. Myrick, Jr., Neil H. Wright,
Homer Wilson, Walter Power, Rev.
Walter P. Jennings, H. L. Allen, J.
J. Clements and J. A. Rix.
Mrs. Murray was born in Bella Grayson county, Texas, in 1894. She was married to Mr. Murray 15 years ago and had been a resident of Lubbock since 1925. She was a member of the Methodist church
and prominent worker of the institution up until the time of her death.
Following news of Mrs. Murray's death, expressions of sorrow have been heard on every hand in Lubbock and Slator, while even from other South Plains cities have come words of sympathy and regret.
Mrs. Murray, due to ill health, has been deprived of activities in projects she would have been actively engaged in, but the efforts of her husband in behalf of this section
have gained for the family a large affinity of friends. He always has been a leader in progressive enter-takings of this area and has won
friends on every hand, all of them
now steadfast in the dark hours of sorrow.
Mrs. Murray is survived by her husband, two sons, R. J. Jr. and Mike; her mother and father, Mr.
and Mrs. W. H. Proctor, of Slator;
and two sisters, Mrs. W. E. Olive
and Mrs. J. T. Pinkston, both of Slator.
Two rings—one of gold and the other of silver—are used in the marriage ceremony of the Kirk
Church.

Farmers On Lower South Plains To Increase Cotton Acreage In Spite Of Government Reduction Warnings

Survey Of Ten Counties In That Section Reveals No
Inducement For Decrease
In 1930 Cotton Crops

(Special To The Avalanche)
LAMESA, March 12.—Farmers on the lower South Plains will increase their cotton acreage this year, contrary to all warnings issued by the government, according to a survey recently of ten of the counties in this section.

"We see no inducement for reducing cotton acreage after looking over government figures that prove cotton can be grown in this section cheaper than any other part of the cotton producing world," Wm. A. Wilson, manager of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce, said. "The counties included in our survey which was made by the agricultural department of our chamber, are Garza, Dawson, Borden, Scurry, Kent, Garza, Lynn, Terry, Yoakum, and Andrews. Farmers and county agents all stated that they not only will plant the same acreage that they harvested last year, but that they will break in new and heretofore uncultivated soil to be planted in cotton. They did not state that they would reduce their feed crops any."

Production Cost Low
"According to government figures the lower South Plains can produce cotton at the small cost of ten cents per pound as compared with seven to ten cents in some sections of this state and an average of twenty-nine cents in other states," Wilson further stated.

"There are several arguments that we can give offhand which we believe will warrant our increase of acreage. Our ground is not filled with stumps and rocks and can be plowed in a very short time with tractors and double-row plows. The level surface of our farms make plowing with tractors economical."

Methods Easier
"Coupled with these facts we are not hindered by the necessity in some sections of chopping and our methods of harvesting cotton are by far cheaper than almost any of the cotton states."

Wilson noted as an example for this section to produce cotton the comparison with the manufacturing industries.

"We do not believe that a factory equipped to make tractors will endeavor to manufacture airplanes, neither should our farmers drop their surpluses of support by decreasing their cotton production and divert their attention to other crops."

Plant Longer Staple
In line with a program being sponsored by various lending farmers and gins in this section farmers will probably plant a longer staple cotton during the 1930 season as an answer to the low market price paid for this product now.

"We believe that by growing a better staple cotton for market we can solve the present low price," Wilson stated.

"Summing up these reasons for acreage increase instead of reduction we see that the lower South Plains is a leading cotton producing section. It produces cotton cheaper; it is better adapted to raise this crop; it can easily increase its cotton acreage without decreasing acreage in feed for the reason that there is more hay and here and it is the home of farmers who know how to raise cotton better than they do any other crop."

Dr. Clyde Heard At Rotary Confab

Dr. T. S. Clyde, president of Austin college, Sherman, was principal speaker at the regular weekly luncheon gathering of the Lubbock Rotary club here yesterday, upholding the Rotary ideal of "Service above self."

Dr. Clyde, who closed a series of revival sermons at the First Presbyterian church last night, used as examples of men who followed the ideal, William Howard Taft, William Jennings Bryan and E. L. Rouse. "The ideal," he said, "could not have been given by anyone other than 'The Man of Galilee.'"

Expect Bids for Dredging Canal

GALVESTON, March 12 (AP)—Bids for dredging about 28 miles of intra-coastal canal at the Port Arthur-Galveston section through Jefferson and Chambers counties are expected by officials of the United States Engineering department here to be asked within the next 30 to 60 days.

With the exception of two slight changes in abstracts, covering property deeded for the right-of-way, all documents have been approved by United States attorneys. Minor details in the abstracts were expected to be corrected soon.

Present plans call for the dredging of 7,763,000 cubic yards of material for the canal proper, plus 562,000 cubic yards for overdepth. The canal will be 100 feet wide on the bottom, with a projected depth of nine feet. One foot over-depth will be dredged, making the waterway 10 feet deep.

PAYETVILLE, Ark., March 12 (AP)—The repair shop of the University of Arkansas burned tonight, the loss being estimated at $5,000 by President John C. Futrell. Origin of the fire was not determined.

Two Zones Added To Parking Limit

Two extended zones of the two-hour parking law, now in effect in the city of Lubbock in practically all business sections, will go into effect this morning, according to Chief of Police John Lemond.

The zones are Avenue H, between Broadway and Thirteenth street, and Texas avenue between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets. Chief Lemond again warned last night against driving through red lights and against the continued practice of not reporting to police court on the part of those who hold tags charging over parking. "If it becomes necessary we shall employ an additional man to apprehend all who are charged with such violations," he said.

Official Of Real Estate Board Is Fired For Trade

John Newman Discharged
By Wisconsin Board After Purchasing Texas Citrus Orchard On Tour

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 12.—John L. Newman, until recently secretary of the Wisconsin Real Estate Brokers' Board, today was privileged to take up citrus growing on his 10-acre ranch in the Rio Grande Valley of Texas. He had been discharged by the board.

Newman had been sent by the board on a good will tour to Texas to clarify the Southerners' understanding of the Wisconsin board's action in banning Texas land salesmen in Wisconsin because of their methods and financial condition.

Upon his return yesterday Newman revealed he had purchased 10 acres of citrus fruit land near La Feria, Texas, to show Texas people the Wisconsin board doesn't object to Wisconsin residents buying Texas land under proper conditions.

The board asked for his resignation on grounds he had disqualified himself to act in an impartial manner upon applications to sell land in the lower Rio Grande valley, now pending before the board and in litigation.

Government Will Not Resign Hold

Ramsay MacDonald Evinces
No Discomfiture After Being Defeated On Coal Mines Bill Amendment

LONDON, March 12 (AP)—Although defeated by eight votes in the house of commons on an amendment to its coal mines bill, the labor government of J. Ramsay MacDonald will not resign, but will continue in office until its administration is assessed successfully on a matter of importance.

The amendment to the coal mines bill which conservatives and liberals passed over Mr. MacDonald's head last night does not materially change the measure. Immediately after the division count of 282 votes for the amendment and 274 against, the prime minister was asked by Stanley Baldwin, conservative head, if he intended to go on with the bill.

The question, in effect, was a formal voting of shouts from Tory benches a few minutes previously of "resign! resign!" and was a query as to whether the government would resign, precipitating a new general election or not.

Mr. MacDonald answered quickly: "I am amazed at the question. Mr. Baldwin will have an opportunity two days from now to move his party's vote of censure. I shall be glad to accommodate him if he will make his vote of censure general, and we will accept the decision."

Mr. MacDonald evinced no discomfiture at his defeat, which indeed was somewhat negated by subsequent government majorities on other minor points, one of which was 98 votes.

Max Coleman, Local Attorney, Writes History of Texas Cowboy in Magazine

In the latest issue of "The Cattlemen," monthly publication of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association, a brief history of Texas cowboys appears under the writing of Max Coleman, local attorney.

Mr. Coleman, in his article, wrote the idea that the old-style cowboy of the Texas range was the romantic type now affected by modern actors. Through necessity, he stated, they wore buckskin clothes, their feet being shod in moccasins. Their saddles were the old-style, with broad wooden stirrups, low fork and large horn.

Originating in Texas, where the climate is exceptionally suited for outdoor living, the cowboy was in the heyday of his existence in the eighties. This was the time of range kings and queens and in the era when Billy the Kid was captured and the famous Chinholms trail was established.

"In Indian fighting," writes Mr. Coleman, "the cowboys seemed to shine but since the cowboy was accepted as a matter of course it is only by delving into obscure points in history that we are able to learn of his bravery."

On Strike
An event occurred in the spring of 1883 which tended to scatter the Texas cowboys all over the United States and that was a strike. Eastern owners of many of the ranches looked on the cow business only as a dividend producer, the cowboy only as a means to an end. The cowboys struck for higher wages and when they were forced to seek for their positions again they found them refused. As a consequence there was an exodus to Wyoming, the Dakotas, Oregon and Canada.

The last stand of the old-time cowboy under open range was in Wyoming in the latter nineties. From 1900 to 1908 marked the passing of the last noted cattle rustlers these being known as a wild bunch and led by Butch Cassidy. It is a burlesque on the desperate lives led at that time when it is noted that Cassidy, although in numerous cattle raids, train hold-ups and bank robberies, never shot a man but met his death from his own gun upon the slope in the Andes mountains.

Closing Is Appealing
The last paragraph of the article is particularly appealing, parts of which follow:

"And now the West is settled. The old-time cowboy and rangeland is gone. True the cowboy is not extinct entirely, but he is more modern, his raiment is better. He does not lead the isolated life as formerly and his attitude of mind is changed. The scene fades, the sun goes down on the cowboy, but as he rides over the skyline of history with broad-brimmed hat, batwing chaps and jingling spurs he is expressed by a stanza from the famous cowboy song from 'Old Moonshine':

"In the land of diamond hitches, Ropes and guns and cartridge bells,
When the men wore chaps for brillies, Flannel shirts and Stetson felts."

It is believed that the largest gold nugget ever found was the "Welcome Stranger" found February 5, 1869, near Molong, Victoria, Australia. It is said to have weighed 2,850 ounces.
