WORKERS HUNT INDIAN RELICS NEAR OLD 'BIG SPRING'

SIFTING FOR SMALL TREASURES

AARON RIGGS WITH FLINT SCRAPER

Workers Sift Roadside For Indian Artifacts

"Think flint" was the business-like attitude of approximately 25 persons gathering here Saturday to find out about Indian tribes who once camped near the historic "big spring."

"It's a lot like picking rocks out of beans," one woman said, rubbing bits of stones across a screen wire to clean off the mud. She picked up a rock from the pile and scraped the mud off to show a piece of flint chipped from an arrow head five or six centuries ago by Indian craftsmen.

"After a while you can tell which is a flint by just looking," a man said, deftly separating a pile of flint chips from numerous rocks on top of the screen.

Systematically scraping dirt from one-meter-square areas the workers tried to locate objects "in place." With trowels, whisk brushes and shovels they excavated the 10 squares and poured dirt through sieves to locate small flint chips.

Aaron Riggs, Midland, president of the Lower Plains Archeological Society, which is conducting the search for artifacts, was present for the dig, located a few yards off of US 87, south of the Coronado Plaza shopping center.

The diggers worked steadily all day, stopping occasionally to talk to passers-by drawn by the cars parked along the highway, and the men and women working inside the fenced-off squares.

Arnold Sommer, Midland, director of field operations for the society, supervised the work, aiding the members in pinpointing the exact locations of the scrapers and larger items found in the trench.

"The artifacts found here today probably date back to the 1500's," Sommer said. He said the time period is estimated through carbon datings of similar artifacts located in other digs.

Only one piece of pottery was found, but the diggers filled about 20 small bags with arrowheads, scrapers and flint chips.

The dig was the first authorized on state land by the State Antiquities Committee. Sommer spotted the site last fall when he noticed a freshly cut bank where the state highway department is widening US 87.

"The unusual difference in coloring indicated it could have been a campsite," he said. The site is also located on a draw which once probably had water in it and is only a couple of hundred yards from the "big spring" site, a favorite watering hole for buffaloes and Indians before the area was settled.

"This is also about where the Marcy trail was located," a Coahoma man said. Marcy was the first to note the presence of the spring in official records.

Sommer said the workers will dig about 20 inches below the surface in each of the 10 squares. The diggers were to be at the site again today, but said they will fill in the trench before leaving Sunday night.

PARTY CHIEF

Demos Hope To Conclude Manhunt Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — A cross-section of Democratic leaders, facing a Thursday deadline, seeks Sunday to conclude the manhunt for a new party chairman.

Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the man with the most to say about the selection, hopes to announce his personal choice after a meeting with the executive committee of the Democratic National Committee.

The full committee meets Thursday, and Sen. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma, the current chairman, intends to resign as soon as he submits a final report on his 13 months at Democratic headquarters.

One party source said Matthew E. Welsh, a former governor of Indiana, is at the top of Humphrey's current list of prospects. Welsh is a Vincennes, Ind., lawyer.

Reviewing the . . .

Big Spring Week

. . . with Joe Pickle

Those surprise but welcome late winter rains continued to pave the way for spring, although not appreciably changing the moisture situation. One observation was that showers were repeating the pattern of stimulating early weed and grass growth so that spring rains will produce minimum runoff. However, at this season of the year, this much can always be said even for light rain — when it's raining, it's not blowing dust.

The City of Big Spring got a glimpse of the preliminary plan by the Corps of Engineers for handling the drainage problem through the center of town. The proposal is to dig a gradually widening and deepening channel from One Mile Lake west of town eastward some two miles or more to the Beal's Creek and Eleventh Place crossing. The price tag: around $2,256,000, of which $940,000 is the city's share.

ALBERT FUENTES MOHR

Guatemalans Agree To Swap With Leftists

GUATEMALA (AP) — The Guatemalan government said late Saturday it would hand over the leftist guerrilla a gang of kidnapers demanded in exchange for the life of Foreign Minister Albert Fuentes Mohr.

Soon after the government announcement, a man identifying himself as the foreign minister telephoned a radio station and said he was being "treated well" by his captors.

Four young terrorists with machine guns pulled Fuentes Mohr from his chauffeur-driven car Friday night. They told authorities he would die unless Jose Vicente Giron Calvillo, who they said had been arrested, was turned over to the Mexican embassy within 24 hours.

The government said at first it did not have Giron Calvillo and broadcast urgent radio appeals for information regarding his whereabouts. The announcement Saturday afternoon said police had learned Giron Calvillo gave them a false name when he was taken into custody and "backed it up with false papers."

The kidnapers identified themselves and Giron Calvillo as members of the Rebel Armed Forces (FAR), a Marxist-leaning paramilitary group that has been blamed for terrorist activities aimed at disrupting Sunday's general elections.

Shortly before the latest government announcement a time bomb exploded in a telephone box in a residential section of the city, seriously injuring a woman and child.

The government communique said Mexican Ambassador Delfin Sanches Juarez had offered to act as intermediary in the exchange of Fuentes Mohr for Giron Calvillo.

"The ambassador is putting his home telephone number at the disposal of the kidnapers so they may contact and make arrangements for the swap," the statement said.

"Once the arrangements are made the next step will be to put the guerrilla Giron Calvillo in the hands of the Mexican Ambassador," a government spokesman said.

The kidnapers' original demand was that Giron Clavillo be placed under the protection of the Mexican embassy and be given safe conduct to Mexico.

South Loses Three School Bill Votes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Saturday ignored Southern accusations that it is speeding destruction of the nation's neighborhood schools and voted to nullify three House-passed provisions aimed at slowing school desegregation.

"I am unable to convey in words the anxiety and sadness which overwhelms me," declared Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., as the Southerners went down to defeat on three roll-call votes.

The votes, in effect, nullified three amendments which the House last week tacked onto a $19-billion health-education money bill.

Two of them would have barred use of federal funds to force busing of school children and would have sanctioned the so-called freedom-of-choice desegregation plans largely outlawed by the courts.

The third would have made freedom-of-choice the principal, if not the only, acceptable plan for desegregation.

Adopted by votes of 42 to 32 and 41 to 34 were two amendments by Sen. Charles McC. Mathias, R-Md., which inserted the words "except as required by the constitution" into the first two amendments.

Adopted by a vote of 43 to 32 was an amendment by Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania striking the third House-passed rider.

With the three civil rights provisions out of the way after seven hours of often stormy debate during an unusual Saturday session, the Senate then took up several less controversial amendments to the once-vetoed bill that would provide funds for the Department of Labor, and Health, Education and Welfare.

Although President Nixon has said in the past he opposes most busing as a tool of desegregation, Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., told the Senate "the President of the United States strongly favors" the Mathias amendment.

With the two Mathias proposals out of the way, Republicans sought to insert the same phrase in the third House-passed amendment that addressed itself to just freedom of-choice.

The third House-passed amendment seeks to make freedom-of-choice the principal, if not the only, acceptable plan for desegregation. The Supreme Court has ruled such plans unconstitutional if they do not actively promote desegregation rather than merely prolonging operation of dual systems.

Red Chief Attacks 'Vietnamization'

EDITOR'S NOTE — This dispatch was filed from North Vietnam by Daniel DeLuce, an assistant general manager of The Associated Press, who was granted a visa to visit Hanoi with his wife.

By DANIEL DELUCE
Associated Press Writer

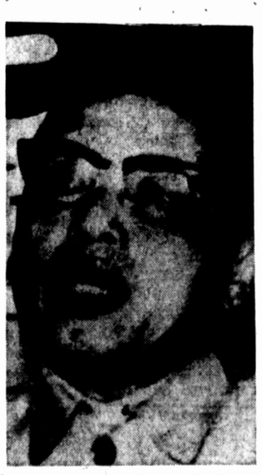

HANOI, North Vietnam (AP) — North Vietnam's deputy premier and foreign minister, Nguyen Duy Trinh, described in an interview Friday the terms under which the provisional revolutionary government of South Vietnam might be able to agree to a standstill cease-fire with United States forces in South Vietnam.

Amplifying on written answers given earlier in reply to questions from The Associated Press, he said:

"The main effect is that such an agreement must provide for the withdrawal of all American troops and for the right of the South Vietnamese to settle their problems among themselves. That means recognition of the independence and sovereignty of South Vietnam.

"Before making an agreement," Trinh continued, "the question is how to assure progress at the four-party conference in Paris and how these parties are to consider substantive questions.

"President Nixon, in a speech on Nov. 3, 1969, made it clear he is engaged in two processes, negotiation and Vietnamization, but he will proceed with the Vietnamization plan regardless of what happens at the conference.

NGUYEN DUY TRINH

"Our purpose is to conduct serious negotiations, recognizing that the United States has to stop the aggression it started and to leave South Vietnam, not make it a new colony."

"If Vietnamization is to be used as a basis of negotiations, negotiations cannot possibly make progress.

Spanish Names Included Among Patriots Of Texas

SAN ANTONIO — Many visitors are surprised to see the Spanish names in stone on the Alamo Cenotaph, or that the engraved names of the signers of the Texas Declaration of Independence in the entrance hall of the Institute of Texas Cultures includes Spanish names.

This aspect of the state's history is pointed out by the story of Jose Antonio Navarro, a Texas patriot whose 175th birthday was celebrated Thursday.

Out of the 59 signers of the Texas Declaration, only two were native-born, and Navarro was one of them. The other was Francisco Ruiz, Navarro's uncle. Three men of Mexican descent were among the 59.

JOSE A. NAVARRO

Yet, since the Austin colonizations began in 1821, the total population had grown until it numbered, in 1836, some 65,000 — of which only 3,500 were of Mexican extraction. The ratio in the population and in the Convention were approximately the same — one in 10.

In that short time, native-born sons of immigrants to Texas were not yet old enough to be counted.

Even as Navarro was affixing his signature at Washington-on-the-Brazos, his comrades were dying inside the Alamo. These heroes were not dying under a Texas flag. Their banner was Mexican, with the numerals "1824" written across the fabric.

It was the Mexican Constitution of 1824 that was being defended, up to the time that Texas finally declared for independence. Santa Anna had torn up that constitution, making himself dictator because the people were "not ready" for democracy. The scrapping of the constitution that led thousands of Mexicans all over the nation to rise up only to be killed by Santa Anna.

Navarro's story is recounted on a specisal histo-wall at the Institute of Texan Cultures at San Antonio. He was born in San Antonio de Bejar on Feb. 27, 1795. A successful ranchman, lawyer and merchandiser, Navarro also became a political leader of great influence. He represented Bejar in the Texas-Coahuila Legislature after the two states were forced into unity in 1824.

Independence Of Texas Declared 134 Years Ago

The little town of Washington-on-the-Brazos was busy 134 years ago today, with delegates arriving from every part of Texas to discuss Mexican oppression.

The weakness of the Mexican Liberals and the necessity of securing aid from the United States had finally forced Stephen F. Austin and his followers to abandon opposition to independence for Texas.

While the delegates were gathering, Mexican soldiers were laying seige to the Alamo in San Antonio, and minor skirmishes were being fought along the Rio Grande and in South Texas.

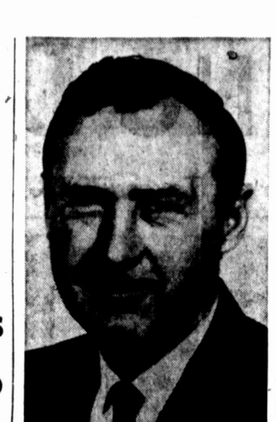

The delegates met March 2, 1836, and adopted a declaration of independence. Four days later the Alamo fell, and on April 21 the revenge-seeking Texans brought the war to an end by capturing Santa Anna at San Jacinto.

In 1836, Navarro was among the 21 members of the committee which drafted the Texas Constitution. Appointed by President Mirabeau B. Lamar to the commission for the Santa Fe Expedition of 1841, Navarro accompanied the foray, was captured, and spent four years a prisoner in Mexico. He escaped just in time to join the Convention of 1845 which voted for annexation to the United States.

Navarro had a part in many previous revolts, often helping the filibuster expeditions in an attempt to free Texas. He became a state senator, and one of the leading forces for Secession. His four sons served in the Confederate Army. Few Texans — either Anglo or Mexican — had made so many important decisions regarding the status of Texas.

Navarro died in San Antonio Jan. 13, 1871. As his father was a native of Corsica, the city of Corsicana, county seat of Navarro County, was named in honor of the family.

Among the Navarro relics displayed at the Institute of Texan Cultures are a branding iron used on his ranch, and a piece of hide showing the brand. At first, the Navarro brand was a combination of his initials — "J", "A" and "N" — joined into one stream. But after his escape from prison in 1845, Navarro added a circle to the top right of his brand, to signify the ring in the dungeon floor to which he had been chained.

ROY E. WATKINS

Watkins Seeks Re-Election As School Trustee

Roy E. Watkins announced Saturday his candidacy for re-election to the board of trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District.

He is 47 years of age, married, and resides at 606 Drake Road. His daughter, Monica, is a senior in Big Spring High School, and Tammy is in the fourth grade at Boydstun Elementary school. A married daughter, Mrs. Gene Jones, resides in Plainview. Mrs. Watkins is active in School, PTA and civic affairs. The family are active members of Trinity Baptist Church.

"The three years I have spent as a member of the board of trustees has served to strengthen my belief that our school system is indeed fine, and served by a competent professional staff," said Watkins.

"In an effort to better acquaint myself with the educational effort being made, and problems pertaining thereto, I have periodically visited our schools. I believe this has enabled me to look at school business matters objectively, keeping in mind the education of the student, within our means to accomplish this.

"School boards across the country, faced with ever-changing educational needs, priorities imposed by both the state and federal levels of education, are beset with financial problems. The challenge will be to surmount these problems, without additional burden to patrons of the district. I feel my past experience as a member of the board of trustees will be beneficial in this regard.

"I pledge, if the voters of this district see fit to honor me with another term, to continue to work toward the finest possible education for our children, as well as carry on in our efforts to combine repetitive services of the various taxing bodies, where a saving in tax monies, or more efficient service will result."

Watkins has been employed with Cosden Oil and Chemical Co. for the past 17 years, and is an operator at the polystyrene unit. He represents the board of trustees on the Howard County Juvenile Board, and has served as a member of the board of trustees of the Howard County-Big Spring Community Action Committee, since its inception. He also has served as a trustee of the United Fund in past years, and currently is a member of the executive board of Local 826 of the International Union of Operating Engineers.

Console Installed

Several members of the 2050th Communications Squadron (AFCS) radio maintenance section recently completed installation of a weather facsimile console at the Webb AFB weather station. The RF-4 weather facsimile receiver console not only improves the appearance of the weather readout, but also makes the instruments readily accessible for quicker and safer maintenance trouble-shooting. The console was developed by S. Sgt. Maurice Wyatt and Airman 1.C. Daniel McBride. It may be seen in the weather section of the base operations building.

Scout Leader Training Sessions Begin Tuesday

One of the most complete Scout leader training programs in several seasons will begin Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in Room 232 at the Veterans Administration Hospital.

Before this is over, participants will have had an opportunity to study the Scouting program, the patrol method training boy leadership, program planning and troop finance, advancement, boy behavior, and finally outdoor activities.

The last session, appropriately, will take participants on a weekend camp April 10-11, said Bill Brooks, Lone Star district training chairman.

He urged all scoutmasters, assistants and commtiteemen, as well as any other interested adult, to attend the meetings. They will be held weekly at the same time and place.

Don Myers and Sam Morris will be in charge of the first meeting. Others will be Bill Brieve, Garrett Patton, Arvin Henry, John Wright and Ray Thurman. The camping session will be in charge of Brooks and his sub-committeemen.

Personal contacts have been made and letters written to Scout leaders reminding them of these sessions, said Brooks, who is anxious to have a large enrollment.

Spelling Bee Champions Selected At Four Schools

School champions qualifying for the annual Howard County Spelling Bee are popping up like pop corn.

Four school champions and alternates had been announced at the end of the week. More are expected early this week. By the end of the week, most of them will have been named.

That will leave about three weeks for the youngsters to practice on their copies of "Words of Champions" which contains the contest words. The county spelling bee will be held March 24, and the winner will go to Lubbock for the regional bee. The Lubbock winner (and Howard County has produced one) will go to Washington D.C., with expenses paid, for the national contest.

The first school to report was Moss elementary with Ronnie Mullins, 12, a sixth grader, the champion. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Mullins, 3307 Cornell. That must be a spelling neighborhood, because Linda Lester, 12, a fifth grader, is the alternate. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. Lester, 3215 Cornell. Linda stubbed her toe on "surgeon" and Ronnie went on to spell this and "technical" for the title.

At Bauer Elementary, Jo Ann Chatham, 11, a fifth grader, captured top honors. She went on to spell "forgotten" after James Wayne Pinkard, 10, the alternate and a fourth grader, got the "l" and "e" mixed up on "freckles."

Jo Ann is the daughter of Mrs. Eloise Chatham, 409 NW 9th, and James of the son of Mrs. Bertie Hasting, 209 NE 9th.

Denise Way, 12, a sixth grader at Lakeview, won her school title, edging Kathy Forman, 11, a fifth grader. Denise is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Myles, 804 Pine, and Kathy is the daughter of Mrs. Elmore Forman, 710 Wyoming.

It's a family affair at Immaculate Heart of Mary Church where Karen Sneed, 12, a sixth grader, won over her brother, Kevin Sneed, 11, a fifth grader. Kevin, interested in all people, apparently never met a bore, so he spelled it "boar." Karen pounced on this and then spelled "borrowed" to win the crown. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sneed, 3914 Parkway, who also are the parents of the Immaculate Heart of Mary champion two years ago when Kathy, now a Goliad seventh grader, won.

Album On Sale

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An album of 12 songs written by Charles Manson, awaiting trial in the Sharon Tate slayings, will go on sale next week. Catherine Share, a member of Manson's hippie-type commune, said Friday the music was sung by the cult leader and a number of his followers to a Manson guitar accompaniment.

Ancient Art Of Puppetry On Concert Series Monday

The ancient art of puppetry comes here Monday with a twist as modern as tomorrow.

The Norwood Puppet Theatre, the creation of Elton Norwood of Denver, Colo., comes to the Municipal Auditoirum at 8 p.m. as the third of the current Big Spring Concert Association series.

This is no mere kid show, although the youngsters delight in it, but it ranges to the sophisticated and classical. The animated characters vary in size from the ones for the Punch and Judy episode to the 3½-foot Fatima (a hippopotamus), a 4-foot skeleton that comes apart, and Madam Tana Tanyanavitch, a 4½-foot ostrich.

Norwood and his puppeteers are so versatile that their characters achieve uncanny lifelikeness against a background of clever narration and dialogue, plus unusual music.

One of the highlights of the program is a new Punch and Judy show with original script by director Lee Gallup. Another is the Japanese classic Bunraku puppetry.

Careful selection of music highlights the parts of the show so that Moussorgaky's "Night on Bald Mountain" backgrounds the metamorphosis of a special rod 'gabu' puppet. The French Waif is a dream character with music by Greig. A live music section has Chiyo the Gheisha playing an actual Koto from Japan.

Norwood is not just presenting a touring show by his puppets. They mean much more to him than that.

"It's not enough to just make a puppet, you must give live to it," says Norwood. But every puppet in the collection is a Norwood design and creation, so that he has built every strut and seam of every one of the dozens of kinds of puppets in the show. He has completed them, given them their 'sides,' their dialogue and their musical background, and finally given them that life he speaks about.

This is not the first attention given this special company. International recognition has come from India and China where puppetry still flourishes as it did centuries ago.

When all of the animals, people, bugs and little green men arrive here for the show, it will introduce a new world to the lovers of theatre and to those unfortunates who have never seen a master at work. The blacklight effects, the music, and the life that Norwood has put into his puppets as promised make the Norwood "Puppets in Potpourri" a new entertainment experience.

Good Crowd At Open House

Open house at Big Spring Tractor Company, on the Lamesa Highway, Friday and Saturday was a success despite the rain, general manager Curtis Smith said Saturday.

The tractor and farm implement dealership opened its doors this weekend to thank local farmers for their business and to demonstrate the new Ford 9000 Tractor on display at the business house.

Smith said farmers and the general public were maintaining a steady flow through the store, looking over the equipment and enjoying the refreshments provided by Big Spring Tractor.

The dealership is owned by the Bednar brothers, Wilburn and Edwin, of St. Lawrence, and has been since its establishment some two and one-half years ago.

Cosden Announces Key Personnel Realignments

Paul D. Meek, president of Cosden Oil & Chemical Company, Saturday announced realignment among key personnel at the Big Spring complex and the advancement of three men to Fina positions in Dallas and Mt. Pleasant.

Carl E. Rogers, superintendent of the American Petrofina refinery at Mt. Pleasnat, will be coming to Big Spring April 1 to become refinery manager. He will succeed Jerry R. Allen, who, with chief refinery process engineer Warden W. Mayes, will in several weeks be moving to Dallas. They will assume newly created staff positions at American Petrofina related to long-range planning and refining operations under C. W. Shouse, vice president-refining.

Succeeding Rogers as refinery superintendent at Mt. Pleasant will be Wayne A. Vaughn, who has been chemical superintendent here.

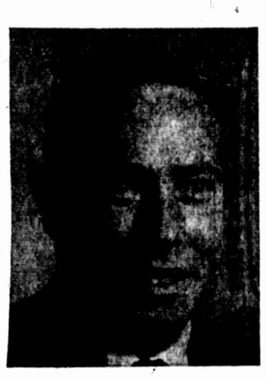

In the chemical division, headed by vice president Ken W. Perry, all chemical operations here and at the Calumet City, Ill., plant report to W. L. Whittington, manager, chemical manufacturing. Whittington also coordinates Cosden's interest in the Cos-Mar styrene monomer plant at Carville, La.

Robert Boadle, senior process engineer, has been promoted to assistant manager, chemical manufacturing.

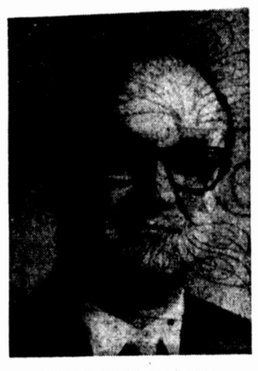

Meek has also announced the appointment of Leon Randolph, senior refinery process engineer, to technical assistant to the Big Spring refinery manager.

Rogers is a native of Independence, Kans., and has been with Kanotex, Standard Oil of New Jersey (in the Dutch West Indies) Derby Refining Co., and with Fina (and its predecessor American Liberty) at Mt. Pleasant since 1952. He holds a BS degree from the University of Tulsa in petroleum engineering with a refining major, is a registered professional engineer, has served on numerous civic boards including United Fund, East Texas Chamber of Commerce, Titus County Fresh Water District. He and his wife, Jaunques, are active in the First Baptist Church at Mt. Pleasant. They have three children, Kent, a graduate of Rice and a third-year student at Southwestern Medical School, Dallas; Phil, senior electrical engineering student at Yale University; and Carla, a freshman in business education at East Texas State University.

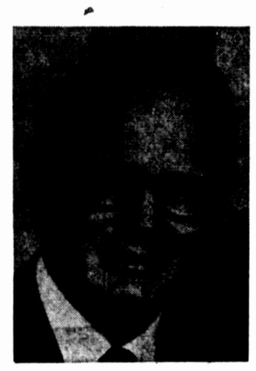

Whittington joined Cosden in April, 1961, as a chemical engineer, having been with Shell for nine years. A succession of promotions brought him from polystyrene superintendent to polymer superintendent, and now to manager of chemical manufacturing. He is a native of Springfield, Mo., and a graduate of Oklahoma State University with a BS in chemical engineering. He is a member of American Institute of Chemical Engineers. He and his wife, Carolyn, have three children, Tim, 17, Nan, 15, and Jan, 9. All are active in College Baptist where he is on the board of deacons.

Thompson is to be presented the 1970 4-H Alumni Recognition Award in recognition of his support of 4-H work plus his achievements in his profession. He is one of three Texans to ever receive the national award, sponsored by the Olin Mathieson Corporation, which will be represented at the banquet.

Colorado City Record editor Joe Bell will present the local tribute to Thompson and out-of-town guests, who will assist in the program, include: Edwin A. Joenke, head of the Farm Credit Bureau, Washington, D.C.; W. N. Stokes Jr., vice president of the Federal Land Bank of Houston; Dr. W. L. Thompson was named as man of the year in agriculture by the Texas County Agent's Association, last year; is chairman of the Farm Credit Board of Texas, has extensive farm and ranch holdings and is president of the City National Bank in Colorado City.

Cong. Graham Purcell, Wichita Falls, chairman of the House agriculture sub-committee on livestock and feed grains, will be keynote speaker at the association's general session scheduled Saturday, March 7. Purcell will be returning to historic old Fort Clark where he served for a time during World War II.

The city commission race is attracting a record number of candidates. With three places to fill, there are now 10 in the field. The latest to file are Mayor Arnold Marshall, Frank Pearson, Eddie Acri, Lowell Jones. Deadline is Wednesday.

* * *

The school deadline for filing is Saturday. In Big Spring, two so far have filed for two places — Roy Watkins for re-election, and Delnor Poss; Coahoma has three for three O. D. O'Daniel Jr., Donald Webb and Jack Taylor.

It's Colonel Harold Davis now. Davis, who is president of GAMCO, received his eagles last week as a full colonel in the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve. He has been active in the area Volunteer Training Unit for Marines and is its commanding officer. Some idea of how selective is this honor may be gained by noting that he was only one of 32 in the nation so promoted, and the only one in the Southwest.

* * *

Speaking of colonels, we are in the process of losing one. Col. Chandler B. Estes retired officially Friday evening at Webb AFB, where he has been base commander, climaxing a 39-year career in service. He and Mrs. Estes have taken a leading part in the affairs of Big Spring and will be missed keenly.

Last week it was the school board which was scratching its head over where to get money to meet its share of costs, including the new kindergarten program. This week it was the city commission, which learned its insurance bill under the new Texas tort acts will go up by some $13,000.

Some sort of comeback award has been earned by the HCJC Hawks. Apparently hopelessly out of the Western conference race, they now have a chance for a tie. Moreover, they have been put in fourth spot at the regional tournament which starts Thursday in Amarillo.

Our own Robert E. (Bob) Hickson has been accorded deserved recognition by being named as a member of the board of directors for Hemphill-Wells Company. This big department store group operates stores in Lubbock, Big Spring and San Angelo.

Monday marks the beginning of Texas Public School Week, and while you always are welcome to visit schools, you are urged to do so this week to see our schools the best way — in action.

Big Spring schools, incidentally, made two contributions to the cultural tone of the community last week. The high school choir did its usual superb job Friday evening in its spring concert, and Thursday faculty musicians delighted an all-too-small crowd.

Fifty years of just being here is pretty good, but 50 years of happy wedded life is even better. And so it is this afternoon for Mr. and Mrs. Lee Castle at the home of their foster son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Martin, north of Grady school.

C-City Signs Up Another Industry

COLORADO CITY — An all-new Colorado City industry, originated and organized here, plans to begin production in approximately five months. It is Foam-Tex Incorporated, which will manufacture rebond carpet cushion. When peak production of 100,000 yards per week is reached, the plant can employ up to 30 persons.

Announcement of the new industry, second major plant for Colorado City since its Go-For-Industry campaign began a year ago, came jointly from J. H. Hammond, president of newly organized Foam-Tex, and Charles C. Thompson, president of Colorado City Industrial Team Inc.

Foam-Tex has signed a lease-purchase agreement with the Industrial Team for a 24,000 square foot building, formerly owned by Cosden Oil and Chemical Co.

The 100-by-200 foot corrugated steel structure, with dock-high concrete floor, was purchased by the Industrial Team after Cosden closed down its Col-Tex Refining plant here early last year.

J. H. Hammond, Big Spring; his brother, Jerry Hammond; and father, R. Y. Hammond, both of Colorado City, head Foam-Tex Corp. The Hammond family owns retail carpet firms in Big Spring, Colorado City and Snyder.

J. H. Hammond is president and Jerry Hammond is secretary-treasurer. Also on the board of directors are the father, R. Y. Hammond; Charles Root, Colorado City; Bob Lewis, Canadian, a brother-in-law of J. H. Hammond; and Royce Scott, Big Spring. Other stockholders include Gilbert Dickens and Tommy Hobdy of Canadian.

The Hammond family began planning the new industry two years ago. They were joined in the project last March by Colorado City Industrial Team Inc., whose leaders obtained the interest and cooperation of Cosden President Paul Meek for the sale of the 24,000 square foot building it had used as a refinery warehouse.

The Industrial Team completed the sale agreement with the oil company last Sept. 9. Lease purchase agreement with the new manufacturer, Foam-Tex, is effective Sunday, March 1. Hammond said the new plant will manufacture carpet cushion in the rebond process using synthetic materials of polyesters and polyethers.

"There has been a need of a plant of this type to supply the western area of Texas and other Southwest points," Hammond said. Nearest producing plants are in the Fort Worth-Dallas area.

"This is a growing industry and the demand for this product is increasing, especially in the Lubbock Plains area and the Permian Basin area stretching from Big Spring beyond Midland and Odessa."

Foam-Tex officials said Colorado City was selected as site for the new plant because of the immediate availability of adequate building, available labor supply, and its key location as a distribution point for West Texas and New Mexico on Interstate 20 and T&P Railroad.

Simultaneously with the announcement of Foam-Tex's new plant, 'Colorado City Industrial Team also announced Saturday that Colorado City Manufacturing Company will open a new addition to its dress manufacturing plant in the city's downtown area Monday.

The company, an affiliate of Jeanne Manufacturing Company of Dallas, is adding 4,000 more square feet of building from the Industrial Team. It is located adjacent to the original 11,000 square foot plant site.

Jeanne opened its Colorado City dress plant last August and its work force to more than 90 persons within six months. The additional 4,000 feet will result in 30 additional machines and operators.

Monahans Man Named Basin Engineer Of Year

Robert M. (Bob) Orr, Monahans, was named Friday evening in Midland as the "Engineer of the Year" by the Permian Basin chapter of the Texas Society of Proessional Engineers. The awards banquet highlighted the observance of National Engineers Week.

Wade Howell, who made the presentation of the bronze plaque, cited Orr for years of devotion to civic work as well as accomplishments in engineering.

GEISHA PROCESSION — Decked in ceremonial robes, these geishas take their places for the Diamo-Gyroetsu Procession. This is one of the many colorful sequences in Kodak's "Traveling The Tokaido Road," a new multi-media film program about the Japan of yesterday and today. It is to be shown under sponsorship of The Herald and Kodak on Thursday and Friday, March 19-20, in the municipal auditorium beginning at 8 p.m. The enchanting travelogue program is free, but admission is by ticket only. These are being made available in convenient places in Big Spring and Coahoma.

Travelogue Show To Feature Japan

Sukiyaki, cheery blossoms, fine silks . . . that's Japan. The Ginza, formally arrayed gardens, beautiful Geisha girls . . . that's Japan. Osaka, the Tower of the Sun, "Progress and Harmony for Mankind" . . . that's Expo '70, and that, too is Japan.

Japan and its exposition are just around the corner; in fact, the splendor, excitement and enchantment of Japan can begin the moment a viewer focuses on Eastman Kodak's newest multi-media, wide-screen presentation, "Traveling the Tokaido Road."

This superb travelogue has been booked in Big Spring by The Herald, as a co-sponsor with Eastman Kodak. It is to be presented at the municipal auditorium on two nights, Thursday and Friday, March 19 and 20, at 7:30 p.m.

The show is entirely free, although tickets will be required for admission. These may be obtained, beginning the first of the week, at Lees Service Club and the Base Exchange at Webb Air Force Base; at the Chamber of Commerce and The Herald office; at Big Spring High School and Howard County Junior College; and at First National Bank, Security State Bank and State National Bank in Big Spring and at Coahoma State Bank in Coahoma.

The elaborate presentation will be unlike any presented in Big Spring before. It uses three 12-foot square screens, six Kodak Carousel projecters, one Kodak 16mm Pageant movie projector and a variety of stereo sound effects. Variable rate dissolve, and other photographic and sound techniques are employed by the narrator and projectionist — both Kodak program specialists. At times, they can fill the screen with as many as 12 images or completely fill the 12x36 foot area with a single image. The result is a panorama of sights and sounds, a mini-Expo.

"Traveling the Tokaido Road" will be shown throughout this country during 1970, and excerpts from it will be featured in Kodak's Golden Pavilion at the world's fair in Osaka.

The presentation has been booked in a number of Texas cities, so that The Herald could include a stop in Big Spring. It is widely heralded as a splendid show for all ages, and families are invited to enjoy it.

Choose Tax Help Carefully

Need help with your income tax return? If the answer is yes and you seek professional help, be sure to select only qualified and reputable advisors, the Internal Revenue Service advised today.

A taxpayer can have someone else prepare a return, but it is the taxpayer who is responsible for the accuracy of the data entered and for the full payment of any additional tax, penalties, and interest charged, IRS District Director Ellis Campbell Jr., said today.

While most tax practitioners are competent and honest, Mr. Campbell alerted taxpayers to these potential danger signals:

Never sign a blank return; do not sign a tax return prepared in pencil, it can be changed later; avoid the advisor who "guarantees" refunds, wants a percentage of the refund, or supposedly knows all the angles; and be on your guard if it is suggested that your refund check be mailed to the advisor.

Campbell said a professional advisor should sign the tax return he prepares on the line provided and you, the taxpayer, should record his name and address for future reference.

Howard Bar To Back Judicial Candidates

Two candidates for judicial positions in the May 2 Democratic primary balloting have received unanimous endorsement of the Howard County Bar Association.

The association, in a meeting this past week, gave its endorsement to Judge Austin McCloud of Colorado City, who is seeking a place on the 11th Court of Civil Appeals, which sits in Eastland. Judge Clyde Grissom, a veteran member of the appellate court, is retiring at the end of this term.

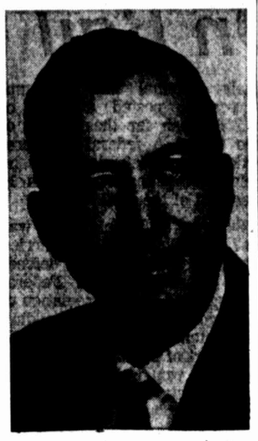

McCloud currently is presiding judge for the 32nd district, which includes Mitchell, Nolan and Fisher counties.

The local Bar also endorsed Earl W. Smith, of San Angelo, in his bid for a place on the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals. This is the state's highest tribunal which deals with criminal cases.

Smith formerly was district attorney for the 51st district in San Angelo, and in recent years has been a defense attorney. He also was a county attorney and served briefly as city attorney in San Angelo.

Dick Milstead, president of the Howard County Bar, announced the association's action.

Pearson Enters Race For City Commission

JACK PEARSON

Jack Pearson, terminal manager for Valley Copperstate System, entered his name last week for a place on the ballot in the April 7 city commission election.

Born in Runnels County March 2, 1920, he moved to Big Spring in 1946 with Sunset Motor Lines, which has since changed its name. He joined the company in 1938 at San Angelo, transferring to El Paso in 1939.

He entered the service at El Paso, going overseas with the 42nd Division, serving in Gen. Patton's 3rd Army. He was captured by the Germans in the Belgium Bulge, and was held prisoner nine months. Discharged in 1945, he returned to the company as assistant terminal manager in Odessa. He was transferred to Big Spring in 1946 at his present post.

Pearson is a member of the American Legion and VFW. He has served as post commander of the Legion, and has been on the executive committee and board of trustees several years. Seven Ordered Freed On Bail

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago 7 riot trial defendants were freed from jail Saturday after the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals overruled Judge Julius J. Hoffman and granted them bail.

The court also ordered bail for their attorneys, who have been sentenced to jail for contempt of court.

The appeals court rejected the government's claim that the seven defendants posed a danger to the community.

The court set bail of $25,000 each for the five men convicted of inciting to riot during the 1968 Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

Bond was set at $15,000 each for the two other defendants who were acquitted of all charges stemming from the convention disturbance but cited for contempt of court during the turbulent five-month trial.

Thomas P. Sullivan, a lawyer representing the defendants and their lawyers in appeals from their criminal and contempt sentences, posted a total of $15,500 cash for the release of the seven. A federal rule provides that a defendant may be released by posting in cash 10 per cent of the total bond.

Sullivan said the money was in 155 $100 bills and was carried by two associates of the defendants from the Home Federal Savings and Loan Association of Chicago to the federal building —a distance of one block—with an escort of a traffic patrolman. Sullivan would not say from whose bank account the money was withdrawn.

The five judges making the decision to release the seven were Chief Judge Luther M. Swygert and Judges Roger J. Kiley, Thomas E. Fairchild, Walter J. Cummings and Otto Kerner.

Schools Urging Parents To Visit All This Week

Visitation and open house are being stressed this week for the observance of Texas Public School Week.

School administrators joined with the local citizens committee named by the two Big Spring (598 and 1340) and the Coahoma Masonic lodges which sponsor the annual observance.

"No one can seriously debate the vtal necessity of good schools," said Jimmy Felts, who is co-chairman with Jack Alexander and Tolly Hale, "And one of the best ways to keep them good and even to improve them is for parents to take time to see first hand how schools are operated."

Forsan, Coahoma and Sands (Ackerly) schools are all encouraging visitation during the week.

This also is true in Big Spring where the various schools, under the chairmanship of Bill Dawes, are planning special events.

Runnels Junior High will observe open house Monday in connection with the National Junior Honor Society installation at 7 p.m. The Student Council will serve refreshments. Goliad had open house Thursday evening, and is encouraging visitation. Senior High is asking for visitation.

The schedule for elementary schools includes:

AIRPORT — Open house all week for the newly expanded library, also Wednesday and Thursday for examples of work in classrooms; also new playground equipment on display; refreshments by PTA.

BAUER — Visitation all week, especially 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. Wednesday when breakfast, speech, nursing, music programs on display.

CEDAR CREST — Regular PTA meeting Tuesday 7-8:30 p.m., with open house for classroom visits.

KENTWOOD — PTA meeting Tuesday with open house; plus visitation.

LAKEVIEW — Open house Tuesday from 7-8:39 p.m.

WASHINGTON —Open House Tuesday from 7-8:30 p.m.

MARCY — PTA meeting Tuesday 7:30 p.m., classroom visits.

S. M. Anderson, superintendent, stressed that all patrons are welcome and urged to visit anytime during the week or any week.

Mishap Knocks Out Phones

A one-car accident Friday night resulted in loss of phone service to the Ackerly exchange and minor cuts and abrasions for the driver of the car.

Texas Highway Patrolman Bill Robinson said Juan A. Cortez, Patricia, was treated at Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital, and released.

Cortez apparently lost control of his car which left the road about seven miles north of Big Spring on US 87 and knocked down a billboard and a phone pole. Robinson said linemen were still working about 3:30 a.m. Saturday to restore service.

Robinson, Patrolman Bill Bates, and Deputy Sheriff S. K. Roberts rerouted traffic onto a farm road from 7 p.m. until 3 a.m. Considerable damage was also done to a utility line, Robinson said.

Wire Taken

Otto Horton reported Friday to Howard County Sheriff's officers that copper wire had been taken from a construction company "doghouse," about 15 miles north of Big Spring on US 87. The theft is under investigation.

Training Award

At the staff meeting last week, Col. Harrison Lobdell Jr. presented the Webb AFB wing's on-the-job training trophy to Maj. C. W. VanDerLinden, commander of the 3560th Organizational Maintenance Squadron, for the squadron's outstanding OJT work during the fourth quarter of 1969. The two men credited with the achievement are the squadron OJT instructors, T. Sgt. Robert W. Chambers and Sgt. Ronald K. Rossbert.

Jordan's PM Has Resigned; Jarring May Be Reactivated

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Diplomatic sources in Beirut said Saturday Jordan's prime minister had resigned and a new government was expected to be formed within two days.

They said Prime Minister Bahjat Talhouni presented his government's resignation Friday night at a Cabinet meeting presided over by King Hussein.

The sources said Deputy Premier and Foreign Minister Abdel Moneim Rifai is expected to form the new government. Another contender is Abdel Hamid Sharaf, a relative of the king and currently Jordan's ambassador to the United States.

The talk of an impending Cabinet change was the latest development in the continuing dispute between Hussein's government and Palestinian guerrillas in Jordan.

The informants said Jordanian Information Minister Salah Abu Zeid, who has been strongly criticized by the guerrillas, is not expected to be included in the new team.

Interior Minister Rassoul Kilani resigned last week shortly after Hussein and the guerrillas announced a compromise aimed at ending the crisis.

The controversy began early this month when Hussein announced restrictions on the carrying of arms. It later flared up into clashes between Jordanian authorities and the guerrillas.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.N. Secretary-General U Thant has told the Big Four ambassadors he is thinking of reactivating Swedish Ambassador Gunnar V. Jarring's Middle East peace mission, diplomatic sources said Saturday.

The sources said Thant made the disclosure to the chief U.N. delegates of Britain, France, the Soviet Union and the United States in separate talks Wednesday and Thursday after he cut short a visit to Burma and returned suddenly to New York Tuesday night.

The informants said that if Thant decides to have Jarring resume his peace talks with the Arabs and the Israelis, he probably will call him to New York first for consultations with Arab and Israeli diplomats and with the Big Four.

High School Choir Previews Tour Music

An audience of about 300 persons got an opportunity Friday night to hear what audiences in the midwest will hear next week when the Big Spring High School a cappella choir goes on tour.

Kansas audiences are sure to get a good impression of Big Spring when these youngsters, who obviously enjoy what they are doing, start singing.

With examples representative of the best in choral music, director Kenny Sheppard led the youngsters in singing music from different countries and different eras, progressing historically, for the most part, from the 15th century to the 20th.

The first piece, "Ave Regina Coelorum," was in itself a good historical study of the development of 15th century music. The choristers sang two versions, the first a text composed by French composer Dufay as a young man and a second a text composed by Dufay at the age of 74. The text is a prayer to God through Mary for salvation from sin and hell.

The first composition has three parts and is typically early 15th century music in three parts with a hollow, empty sound particularly hard for modern day choristers.

The choir did a good job on the first part, but was excellent on the second part, a composition of four parts edging toward the Renaissance period in music, with a joyful and exuberant sound which seemed much more fitted to the happy, young singers.

"Die Mit Tranen Saen," by the German Composer Schutz, was typically Baroque with a heavy texture which only let up for one joyful session near the end.

"Laudate Dominum," by Hassler, delves further into the Baroque period with the thick texture, but the long flowing lines of the Renaissance are evident.

The women's chorus was given an opportunity to sing with lighter joyfulness in the second verse of Bach's Fourth Cantata, about conquering powers of death and the power of Christ to free himself and his followers from death.

Holding to Bach, the choir also sang three choruses from his "For Us A Child Is Born," one of the many cantatas written by him for church. This is one selection which will be presented by the choir in the First Baptist Church of Ponca City, Okla., on the last day of their tour.

Proceeding into the classical era of Mozart and Hyden, the chior presented a rarely-performed composition by Michael Hyden, "God In Thee I Seek My Salvation," and Mozart's Italian "Placido E Il Mar," in which he begs Fate to smile on his future.

Delving into the romantic, they sang "I Think on Thee," by Schumann, and then several pieces by Schumann's prodigy Brahms, including two folk songs and "Wondrous Cool."

For a slight change of pace, the choir sang three Hungarian folk songs by Bartok, and then returned to religious music with a prayer to God for salvation from sin and hell, "O Salutaris Hostia," by Rossini.

"You'll remember Rossini as the one who wrote the theme for 'The Lone Ranger,' the William Tell Overture," Sheppard told the audience.

In contemporary compositions the choir sang Finzi's "My Spirits Sang All Day," and Thompson's "The Road Not Taken." For a traditional Russian song they chose "Bird of Youth," and then ended the concert with a major work by Orf, "Odi Et Amo."

The group of approximately 50 high school students is scheduled to leave Wednesday about 6:30 a.m., give a concert at Midwestern University that afternoon in Wichita Falls and go on to Oklahoma City.

Thursday they will travel to Wichita, Kans., where they will sing at West State University. A concert will be given Friday for Wichita Heights High School and Saturday they will attend the musical "I Do, I Do," returning to Big Spring Sunday after singing in the First Baptist Church of Ponca City, Okla.—JEAN FANNIN

Two Receive Base Honors

Two 3560th Air Base Group (ABGp) airmen at Webb AFB recently received monthly honors, one for the wing's January airman of the month and one for the squadron airman of the month.

Airman 1.C. Tencil W. Scott was named wing airman for January, while Airman 1.C. Claude E. Summers was selected ABGp's outstanding airman for February.

Airman Scott, an Andrews native, entered the Air Force, Nov. 29, 1968, shortly after his graduation from the University of Utah, where he received his bachelor's degree in accounting. He arrived at Webb in May, 1969, following his completion of technical training at Sheppard AFB. He is presently a disbursement accounting specialist in the pay and collecting section of Finance. He married the former Miss Brenda Sue Turner, also from Andrews. The couple has a daughter, Stacy Ann, 15 months.

Airman Summers, a chaplain services specialist, is a native of Phoenix, Ariz., and attended Phoenix College before his enlistment in the Air Force April 7, 1969. He attended technical school at Keesler AFB, Miss., before his assignment here in October, 1969. He is married to the former Miss Glenda L. Carr, of Phoenix.

Holiday Inn Adding Units

The Holiday Inn has made plans to add 28 units to its present facilities in the form of a new wing on the west side of the motel at a total cost estimated by O. T. Brewster, manager, at around $100,000.

The new rooms will bring the number of units in the motel to 104 and will consist of 14 double rooms and 14 single rooms.

Brewster said the new facilities would be equipped with individual heating and cooling units that will allow the occupant to control the temperature of his room. The usual system, Brewster said, is the central air conditioning unit which maintains a constant temperature in all rooms.

Carrick and Bell, of Memphis, are general contractors on the construction, Brewster said, and all work has been contracted by local firms, except the installation of the electrical system which has not been let at this time.

SINGING FAMILY — The Wills Family will be in concert tonight from 6:30 to 7:30 in the Grace Baptist Church, 2000 FM 700 West. The Rev. Roy E. Honea said the public is invited to attend.

Wills Family Will Sing At Grace Baptist Today

Every Sunday finds the Wills Family singing in a church and today the widely-known gospel singers will be performing from 6:30-7:30 p.m. in the Grace Baptist Church, on FM 700 West.

The family just finished taping their 106th half hour television program, "Wills Family Inspirational Time," and are again on tour.

The group, including Pop, the seven brothers and sisters, first started singing in 1938 in the Texas Panhandle. They moved to the Fort Worth-Dallas area in 1944, after living four years on the west coast. The group, considerable larger with the addition of in-laws and offspring, now lives in Arlington and for 10 years has owned and operated the Wills Family Gospel Music Center.

Traveling from Canada to the west coast and all over the South is easier now with their customized air conditioned diesel bus, but in the earlier years the family traveled by car — from Model A Ford to a Cadillac.

Witnesses Plan Assembly Here

Big Spring has been selected by Jehovah's Witnesses as the site of an upcoming 3-day assembly, according to C. L. Lundsford, presiding minister of the Big Spring congregation.

Lundsford, who resides at 3000 Cactus, said the program of Bible education is scheduled for March 27-29 in the Big Spring Municipal Auditoirum and will consist of discussions, symposims, lectures and dramatizations developing the assembly theme, 'Sacrifices That Please God.' The local delegation will join some 15 other congregations from throughout West Texas and Eastern New Mexico. More than 900 persons are expected to attend the advanced ministerial training.

Dear Abby

—ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Many times you express great wisdom and great compassion in your answers, but at times, I feel that you are still hung up on some cruel traditions of our culture which are hypocritical and sick. In this instance, I am referring to the example of the young girl who wished to have a complete wedding in spite of the fact that she became a mother at 16 and is raising her own 5-year-old daughter.

I think you were wise to suggest that she not use the daughter in the wedding, but why in the mercy of God, would you suggest this girl brand herself on her wedding day with an off-colored white or pastel wedding gown for a mistake she made five years ago

If you recommend that we single out the past virtues or mistakes of the bride, then why not also recommend that the groom should wear a white suit if he is pure and a black suit if he is not pure In all fairness, we should invite the entire congregation, including the minister, to wear proper attire as to whether or not they were virgins when they were married. Then, we would not heap all the humiliation upon the bride on the most important day of her life as she is forced to march down the aisle displaying her "colors."

Sincerely,
Paul Whipple, Minister
Faith United Methodist Church
Kent, Ohio

DEAR REVEREND WHIPPLE: Some never learn. But I have learned from you. Thank you for your fine, illuminating letter.

DEAR ABBY: In reply to NAIVE IN NEBRASKA who felt that another had used insincere means to acquire some of her deceased mother's lovely antiques. I hope it taught NAIVE that she should go now to cheer and take care of her remaining elderly relatives while they are still alive. And that goes for the ones she doesn't think have any antiques. (You never know.)

'Pygmalion' To Be Staged Here Friday

The Globe of the Great Southwest, Odessa, will present a one-night performance Friday at Howard County Junior College of "Pygmalion," its current production.

Tickets will be $2 for adults and $1 for students, Dan Shockey, head of the junior college drama department, said.

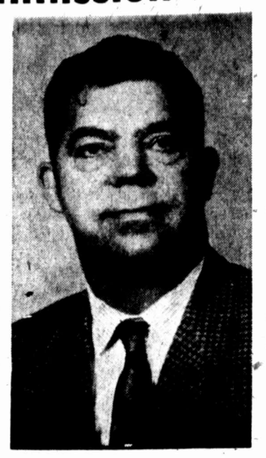

Ronald Ibbs, formerly of the Dublin (Ireland) Players, has been cast as Henry Higgins, a role which Big Springers might think familiar. Ibbs appeared in a touring production of "Pygmalion" several years ago and performed the same role in the Big Spring High School auditorium.

Linda Martinsen, a former member of the Professional Company of Dallas, has moved from Houston to Odessa to portray Eliza, the cockney flower girl turned into an aristocrat by Professor Higgins.

BIG SPRING PERFORMANCE — Kenneth Tipping and Linda Martinsen attempt to flag a taxi during a rainstorm in this scene from "Pygmalion," scheduled for presentation Friday at Howard County Junior College by the Globe of the Great Southwest, Odessa. The local performance is sponsored by the local Globe chapter and the HCJC drama department.

E. L. Meeks Announces For City Commission

E. L. MEEKS

E. L. Meeks, owner-operator of Elm Television and Radio Service in his home at 1005 Stadium and a Big Spring resident since 1951, announced Friday afternoon that he is a candidate for one of the three city commission seats to be decided in the April 7 city election.

"I am for efficiency in city government and better working conditions for employes," Meeks said.

He moved to Big Spring in 1951 as an electronics technician for the Texas & Pacific Railway Co. and started his electronics repair shop some 10 years ago. He is a veteran of World War II, married and the father of four children.

"My only involvement in civic organizations and politics in the past has been in the interest of the basic concept of patriotism to America," Meeks said Friday. "I have no contact with any special interest groups and I am 100 per cent behind the Chamber of Commerce to bring more industry to the Big Spring area," he continued.

"If anyone feels I qualify to be on the city commission, your vote and confidence will be greatly appreciated," he concluded. "I will do all in my power that is honorable to prove your trust was not wrong."

Jurors Excused

The 120 persons ordered to report Monday to 118th District Court as possible jurors have been excused, Judge R. W. Caton said Friday afternoon. Approximately 15 cases were scheduled on the docket next week, but they have been postponed.

Bids Asked For Library Renovation

Bids for the proposed remodeling of the old post office into a county library will be opened March 16 at 11 a.m. by members of the County Commissioners Court.

One proposal will be received for the entire project including general construction and mechanical work and all bids must include a bond of five per cent of the bid as a guarantee that the bidder will accept the project. A 100 per cent performance bond is required, and no bid may be withdrawn after the scheduled closing time.

Plans and specifications may be examined without charge in the office of architect Olen Puckett, 600 E. Fourth.

The library will have some 7,400 square feet of floor space on the ground floor with a children's room located in the basement for the weekly story hour.

Plans call for the postmaster's office to be converted to a conference room. A workroom, catalogue room, glass-walled librarian's office, viewing room and listening room will be built along the north wall of the building.

A children's area will be designated north of the check counter and a reading area and the rest of the books will be south of the counter.

A lounge area with several chairs and a divan will be near the Scurry Street entrance. Magazines will be placed in this area. A second entrance will be at the rear of the building where a ramp for wheelchair patients will be installed. The parking lot will be located west of the building. Both entrances will channel traffic past the check counter.

The Peter Hurd mural will remain in place, according to Puckett, with the ceiling behind the mural lowered to 15 feet. Acoustic tiles will be placed on the ceiling in the post office's terrazo area in front of the mural.

Commissioners have estimated the remodeling can be finished by summer and the library can be moved to the new building during July.

New Zealander Sets Southwestern Marks

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — An obscure New Zealander romped to two record triumphs and North Texas repeated surprisingly as champion Saturday of the 47th Southwestern Recreation Track and Field meet.

Rex Maddaford, 22, tutored by New Zealand Olympic champion Peter Snell, swept to twin triumphs under Eastern New Mexico's banner in the rain-marred outdoor festival.

North Texas, picking up four first places, upset favored Rice for the invitational crown. Texas A&M, without its touted Mills brothers, was third.

A total of 19 records tumbled under windy, warm conditions that turned nearly ideal after a night of rainfall threatened to wash out the unofficial opening of the Texas outdoor track season.

The muddy track knocked out preliminaries and threw the finals hours behind schedules. The meet concluded under the lights at soggy Farrington field.

Besides North Texas in the invitational division, the winners of the other three classes were Prairie View A&M, university-college; New Mexico Junior College, junior college-freshmen: and Dallas Lincoln, high school.

Maddaford, named the outstanding performer, won the mile in a record 4:06.6, stripping more than five seconds from the previous mark of 4:12 set by Willie Riors of Oklahoma Baptist in 1968.

He was the three mile in 13:46.0, wiping out the old record of 14:06.6 set by Pat McMahon of Oklahoma Baptist in 1968.

FORT WORTH — John Scheibel, a sophomore from Snyder, scored HCJC's only four points when he finished second to Jackie Halliburton of Prairie View A&M in the high jump of the university freshmen - junior college division in the Southwestern Recreational Track and Field meet here Saturday.

Halliburton cleared 6-2 while Scheibel leaped 5-10. Jerry Carpenter of Cisco also cleared 5-10 but had more misses than Scheibel.

New Mexico JC won the meet while Prairie View was second and Odessa third. North Texas State was the winner in the university class, followed by Rice and Texas A&M.

BS Invitational Moved Ahead To August 1-2

The annual Big Spring Invitational Golf tournament, traditionally an event timed to end on Labor Day each year, will be held this year instead on Aug. 1-2.

C. G. Griffin, pro at the Big Spring Country Club, said directors had a two-fold purpose in moving the meet forward.

They felt interest in the Invitational had been decreasing in recent years, due to the fact that it was scheduled near the start of the school term.

The Labor Day date will be assigned to the Club Championship tournament, a three-day event starting Sept. 5.

The annual Big Spring Partnership Open will be staged June 6-7. Entry fee for that event will be $10 across the board, the same exacted from players last year.

The Open is timed to come a week after the Sweetwater Invitational and a week before the Colorado City Invitational.

Jerry (Spot) Cockrell will serve as tournament chairman for the Country Club and will have a committee of about 15 with which to work.

Golf dates to remember all scheduled at BSCC except where noted:

March 13—District 3-AAAA (high school) meet.
March 20—Forsan Invitational (high school).
April 11—Western Junior College Conference meet.
April 18-19—Colorado City Partnership.
June 6-7—Big Spring Partnership Open.
June 12-13-14—Colorado City Invitational.
July 31—First National Bank Cup Matches.
Aug. 1-2—Big Spring Invitational tournament.
Sept. 5-6-7—BS Country Club Championship matches.
Scotch foursomes will be held the fourth Sunday in each starting in May and ending in September at the Country Club.

Waco Team Upsets Spearman, 57-49

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Waco Robinson, led by the pin-point shooting of Susie Snider, defeated Spearman 57-49 Saturday to snap a 34-game winning streak and capture the girls' state Class AA basketball championship.

In an earlier game Saturday, Abilene Wylie defeated Grandview 80-57 for the state Class A championship.

Robinson, making its first trip to the state tournament, pulled away in the third quarter after leading 30-26 at halftime.

It was the second straight year Spearman had lost to a Waco team in the championship match. Last season Spearman, which has appeared in five of the last six state tournaments, lost to Waco Midway in the title game.

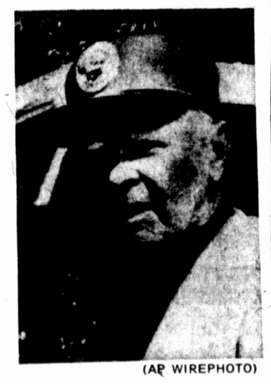

Miss Snider, a 5-foot-11 freshman, scored 21 points in the championship game. She hit 17 of 19 field goal attempts in Friday's semifinals and Saturday's title game.

Sandy Shufeldt led Spearman with 22 points.

Anita Cowan, a 5-9 junior, scored 30 points to lead Wylie in the Class A title game.

Drake Claims Share Of MVC Cage Crown

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Drake won a share of the Missouri Valley Conference basketball title Saturday by overcoming a stubborn Louisville defense 79-73.

The Bulldogs, in winning their first victory on Louisville's home court, were led once again by their towering center Jeff Halliburton, who poured through 27 points.

Mike Grosso, playing his last home game for the Cardinals, turned in a 28-point performance before leaving in the final four seconds.

The teams were tied 39-39 at the half, but Drake took a one-point edge when Bobby Jones sank a free throw on a technical foul called against Louisville Coach John Dromo as the first period ended.

From that point on Drake went ahead as Louisville was unable to stop Halliburton's deadly accuracy from far out on the floor.

Tom Bush contributed 16 points for the Bulldogs, whose conference record is 13-2 with one game remaining. Louisville, going into Saturday's game, had been in second place with a record of 10-2.

Jim Price scored 14 points and Henry Bacon added 10, the only other Louisville players to finish in double figures.

Both teams got the same number of shots from the floor —64. But Drake hit 32 while Louisville could collect only 28.

Yankees To Take Look At Hansen

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Utility infielder Ron Hansen, a 10-year veteran in the major leagues, was acquired by the New York Yankees from the Chicago White Sox Saturday on a look-see basis.

The Yankees paid a small amount of money to take a look at Hansen and have until April 6 to decide if they want to keep him. If they do, they will pay the White Sox more money or a player to be named later. Hansen has been bothered by back trouble the past few seasons.

Rice Blows Lead But Tips Frogs

HOUSTON (AP) — Rice clinched a tie for the Southwest Conference basketball title Saturday by defeating Texas Christian 82-73, surviving a second half scare.

The Owls blew a 12-point lead midway in the second half but regained their poise and won going away to boost their conference mark to 10-3 and their season to 14-9 with one game remaining.

It was the first time for a Rice team to share the title since 1954.

The Owls have not won an outright title since 1945.

Gary Reist scored 26 points for Rice, Steve Wendell 19 and Tom Myer had 16.

Rick Wittenbraker led TCU with 18 points, followed by Jeff Harp with 13. Doug Boyd and Coco Villarreal each had 12.

The Frogs never led although Villarreal's 12-foot jumper from the left side tied the score with 9:15 remaining.

The Owls had a 37-27 halftime lead and had quickly increased it to 12 points at 41-29 before the Frogs began whittling away the Rice lead.

The Owls then scored six straight points, two goals by Reist and one by Wendell, and TCU never caught up again.

Boyd hauled down nine rebounds to give him 213 for the season and a new conference record, breaking the old mark of 206 set by Gene Elmore of Southern Methodist in 1964.

TCU now is 7-6 in conference play and 9-14 for the season.

AT COSDEN CLUB

Texas Ace Speaks To Exes Tuesday

Howard County Texas Exes will gather at the Cosden Country Club Tuesday evening for their annual banquet.

A social hour is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. The meal will be served an hour later.

Chief speaker of the evening will be Tom Campbell, a star defensive back for the Longhorns the past three seasons.

Tom is a twin brother to Mike Campbell of the Longhorns and the son of Mike Campbell, a varsity coaching aide at the Austin university.

Tickets for the Tuesday program cost $3.50 each and are still available. Those interested can call Mrs. E. H. Boullioun Jr. at 263-7449. Her home address is 807 W. 14th St.

While a junior, Campbell played roving linebacker and was named the outstanding defensive player in the 1969 Cotton Bowl Game.

Campbell was a key player in Texas' sweep to the 1969 Southwest Conference championship and a Cotton Bowl win over Notre Dame.

In Texas' dramamtic come-from-behind win over Arkansas in the final game of the season, Tom picked off a pass thrown by the Hogs' Bill Montgomery that stopped Arkansas' final drive with less than a minute to play.

The twins' father has been associated with head coach Darrell Royal for 13 years.

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Tommy Boyd, Steve Vest and Joe Kirschbaum were named as tri-captains of the 1970 Colorado City Wolf football team at the All-Sports banquet held in the Colorado City High School cafeteria Saturday night.

Members of the volleyball, football, basketball, tennis, golf and track squads were recognized at the banquet.

Don Benson, Quarterback Club president, was selected as the No. One sports fan and Randy Riley was named the outstanding senior athlete.

Speaker was Wally Bullington, head coach and athletic director at Abilene Christian College.

Bullington told the group that "participating and being on the team is fine but whatever you do you ought to play to win.

"Set your goal to play to win," he said, "for as far as I'm concerned that's the name of the game.

"Set a goal, prepare to use the necessary self discipline if you want to remain the winner you are."

Don Benson acted as master of ceremonies and named newly elected QBC officers as J. D. Hill, president; Lacy Boles, vice president; Don Delaney, secretary-treasurer; and Buck May and Bob Chalker as social chairmen.

Hawkeyes Win Big 10 Title

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Iowa won the Big Ten basketball title Saturday by coming from behind in the final minutes to defeat Purdue 108-107 despite a record 61 points by the Boilermakers Rick Mount.

The ninth-ranked Hawkeyes went ahead to stay on John Johnson's jump shot from the right corner with 27 seconds to play. That made it 106-105, and Glenn Vidnovic added two free throws with 10 seconds left.

Iowa then let Mount drive down the middle for a layup just before the buzzer. The Purdue All-American had already broken the Big Ten single-game scoring mark of 57 points set by Dave Schellhase of Purdue against Michigan in 1966.

The Hawkeyes pushed their conference record to 12-0 as they snapped Purdue's 30-game homecourt winning streak. The second place Boilermakers are 9-3 in the Big Ten with two games remaining for both teams.

Robert Evans 2nd Team All-Star Pick

Champion Abilene High placed two players and Odessa High, Odessa Ector and Midland Lee one each on the District 3-AAAA all-star basketball team, selected by sports writers and coaches within the league.

ROBERT EVANS

The two Abilene boys named were Richard Little, 6-3 senior; and 6-0 Kenneth Neal a senior.

Mark Green of Odessa, who earlier had landed a spot on the All-3-AAAA football team, was included on the first team, along with Randy Prince, a holdover from last year; and Perry Cooksey, Ector.

Robert Evans, Big Spring's high-scoring senior, was included on the second unit.

Seven boys were included on the sceond team, because there were several ties in the voting.

Little who led Abilene to a 6-0 conference season, was named the outstanding player while his coach, Harold Wilker, was named the Coach of the Year.

Neither San Angelo nor Midland High landed a player on the first or second teams. Boys from both schools received some support, however, in the balloting.

No juniors were included among the top 12 boys picked. Prince was the only junior on last year's elite club. Cooksey, a 6-5 boy, advanced from the second to the first team this year.

This year's first team averaged 6-4 in height, compared to 6-5 last year. Second team selections averaged 6½, compared to 6-2 last year.

Little was included on every ballot but one and that coach picked him as the most valuable in the league. That would make him a unanimous choice. Cooksey and Green each reaped one MVP vote — the rest went to Little.

Al Oglesby of Odessa Ector, a Forsan native, and Paul Stuckler of Lee kept Wilder from being an unanimous pick as Coach of the Year. Oglesby got two votes, Stuckler one.

New Little League Plan For Texas Is Revealed

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. — Plans for a Texas State operational and training center, increased league enrollment to accommodate upward of 100,000 youngsters and an attractive new tournament program spanning the Lone Star State are now taking shape, according to P. J. McGovern, President and Chairman of the Board of Directors of Little League Baseball.

In noting the growth of the Little League movement in Texas to almost 500 chartered leagues, McGovern said the board envisioned the establishment of a centrally located Training Center and Headquarters to provide facilities and services for an expanding corps of adult volunteers who operate Little League in hundreds of Texas communities. He declared the tremendous potential for increased enrollment of leagues and additional thousands of youngsters now coming of Little League age, has underscored the recessity to create a central facility in the state. A series of important meeting across the state will be kicked off with a major meeting in El Paso, March 3, 1970.

"I am greatly pleased at the prospect and the challenge of expanding the Little League program in the great Lone Star State that has produced so many of the finest young athletes in our nation's history. We look forward to working together in mutual ambition to help children learn principles of decency, loyal teamwork and physical fitness so much needed in these harrowing times."

Mr. McGovern said field directors throughout the state as well as the Staff of International Headquarters at Williamsport, Pa., will now furnish assistance to local leagues as well as to new groups in advance of the 1970 season. They will help formulate plans for a series of new and important tournaments to determine a State Champion which might advance to the annual Little League World Series, which brings together national entries from all over the world.

To those communitities which presently do have Little League Baseball — the only sports activity in the United States to hold Congressional Charter — Mr. McGovern directed an invitation to communicate with Headquarters at Williamsport. He said the field organization of experienced volunteers would be pleased to provide any assistance. Many communities, McGovern noted, now have active baseball programs for children of Little League age and the opportunity to enroll for the 1970 season could be reviewed with Little League representatives.

UT Quarterbacks Have Tough Act To Follow

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Eddie Phillips is trained and ready. Gary Keithley is oozing with talent. And one of them has to follow the toughest act in college football.

For James "Slick" Street, Texas' most acclaimed quarterback since Bobby Layne in the late 1940s, has used up his eligibility, and Phillips or Keithley will replace him.

Street, the unbeaten escape artist, guided the Longhorns to 20 straight victories over two seasons and two Southwest Conference titles en route to Texas' 21-17 triumph over Notre Dame in the 1970 Cotton Bowl. They clinched the school's second national championship in history.

Spring training, which starts March 9 at Texas, should tip fans on who will be the No. 1 quarterback next September when the veteran Longhorns undoubtedly will get a lot of preseason support in the national football polls.

NOW NO. 1

"There's no question that Eddie will be No. 1" when spring practice opens, says backfield coach Emory Bellard, who designed Texas' famed Wishbone-T offense. "His biggest advantage over Gary right now is that he's got two years training. He's got a lot of work under his belt."

But it's hard to imagine Keithley, a 6-foot-3, 200-pounder sought by 50 colleges, sitting on the bench. After he accepted a scholarship to Texas, an assistant coach answered the telephone by saying "Keithley headquarters."

"He's definitely demonstrated the talent to become a quality football player," says Bellard, using a phrase often reserved at Texas for All-Americans.

Keithley, who can whiz a football on a line for 50 yards, "has more natural throwing ability than Eddie," Bellard said. "But Eddie's quick, a little bit quicker than Gary, although Gary's not slow by any token of the word."

Keithley, who spurned offers from Notre Dame and LSU among others to come to Texas, also will be tried in the spring as a punter. He averages about 40 yards a kick.

Keithley, from Alvin near Houston, will be a sophomore. Phillips, from Mesquite near Dallas, sat out a year as a "Redshirt" and will be a junior in September.

Phillips, 6-1 and 191, had about 20 colleges to choose from, including Oklahoma. Southwest Conference coaches picked him as the top schoolboy recruit among quarterbacks in 1966.

He rates his "strong point" as running the sprint-out option and has great faith in the Wishbone-T. "I like it. The offense attacks the defense at every position and disguises it real well. If you execute it right, it should work.

"The only problem is reading the (defensive) keys. And you get that with a little experience. I read a lot better now."

HARD TO LEARN

Keithley said the Wishbone "was a little hard getting used to because I had never seen it in high school." Asked what he does best, Keithley said, "Passing would have to come first. I'm not that swift" at running.

What about Street and the national championship?

"Just watching him you can tell you have to be quick and alert," said Keithley.

The No. 1 rating, he said, "gives me extra incentive. But making the varsity is hard enough. A national championship team—that's a lot more."

"James' character and leadership ranked as high as his playing ability," said Phillips, who subbed for Street and played a lot in 1969. "Just watching him execute and how he concentrates on it makes you realize how important it is . . ."

The national title, he said, "gives us a little something extra to strive for. We've reached the top, and if we win 11 next year we deserve it" again.

Experience might be an advantage in winning the quarterback's job, Phillips says, "But it depends on how I take care of it. I hope I haven't reached my peak. I hope I'm still improving."

IN BI-DISTRICT GAME AT STANTON TUESDAY—The Sand Mustangs (above) square off with Buena Vista at 8 o'clock in Stanton Tuesday night in Class B bi-district competition. The winner qualifies for Regional competition, which takes place in Levelland next weekend. From the left, they are Marcy Robles, Johnny Peugh, Eddie Newcomer, Bobby Beall, Steve Herm, Kelly Gaskins, Felix Robles, Ronnie Oaks, Stan Smith, Bruce Nichols, Robert Herren, Randy Clemens and Paul Hopper. Kneeling in front is student manager Larry Shaw.

Mustangs Await Test With Buena Vista 5

ACKERLY — Coach James Blake sends his Sands Mustangs into bi-district action Tuesday night in Stanton against Buena Vista. Tipoff time is 8 o'clock.

Sands, 21-7 on the year, is favored to defeat the far West Texas team but Sands was given a tussle in bi-district competition last year by Barstow and Blake is warning his club against complacency.

Buena Vista, coached by Tommy Davis, is 17-13 on the year. Sands captured 13-B honors while Buena Vista is the reigning 14-B team.

Buena Vista boasts a fine all-around player in Freddy Esparza, the club's quarterback and chief basket threat.

Sands has averaged 76.9 points a game this season, compared to 56.0 for the opposition.

JAMES BLAKE

The Ponies sailed through their 13-B schedule losing only to Klondike in Klondike, 66-63. They finished with a 9-1 record against league opponents.

The Ackerly team has hit the 90-point mark in five different games this season and, no doubt, could have gone over the 100-mark on occasions had not Blake elected to use his substitutes liberally.

Two of the Ponies' reversals have been at the hands of Class A schools.

Felix Robles, a 6-2 junior, leads the Mustangs in rebounding with 315 and in scoring with 466 points. He has played one more game than has runner-up Johnny Peugh, who has 421 points.

Sands' scoring:

Player	RB	TP
Felix Robles	315	466
Johnny Peugh	94	421
Steve Herm	104	374
Bobby Beall	49	260

Pete Rose Signs Record Contract With Redlegs

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Pete Rose, the National League's batting champ the last two years, signed his 1970 contract Saturday and became the first Cincinnati Red to ever receive a $100,000 salary.

Rose, a holdout last year who did not agree to terms until March 6, had reportedly been seeking about $110,000, up about $25,000 from 1969.

The club would not specify exactly how much he agreed to this year but confirmed it was in six figures.

Rose put together the back-to-back batting titles with a .335 average in 1968 and a .348 mark in 1969. He has batted over .300 the last five years of his seven-year career, only player in the majors to do so.

"Pete has proved his worth to our team," said general manager Bob Howsam. "He has set a fine example by his style of play ... It proves that an individual doesn't necessarily require size or have to be a home run hitter to earn an outstanding salary, although it takes a tremendous amount of work."

He will join the team in workouts today.

Six other players remained unsigned and they include starters Tony Perez, Jim Maloney and Bobby Tolan.

Mustangs Going For Negro Boys

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Coach Hayden Fry of Southern Methodist University says he will continue to seek out Negro football players "to offset the dominance of Arkansas and Texas."

Fry, here to lecture at a football clinic, said in an interview Friday that SMU will have nine Negroes "for sure" on the freshman team next year "and we will probably get more."

Waller Quits Porker Post

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) —P. T. Waller, head basketball coach at the University of Arkansas, resigned Saturday, effective with Tuesday night's final game against Texas Christian.

He gave no reason.

Waller is finishing his fourth year as basketball coach. The Porkers' record this year is 4-18, and 2-10 in the Southwest Conference.

Waller's career mark is 30-63.

His 1968 and 1969 teams compiled the best record of his tenure, 10-14 each year.

George Cole, Arkansas assistant athletic diretor, said he would begin accepting applications for the vacancy Monday.

Waller, 42, is a former Razorback player and coached the Arkansas freshmen nine years before taking the head coaching position in 1966.

A&M To Open Drills April 7

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Athletic director and head football coach Gene Stallings said Saturday spring football training for Texas A&M will begin April 7 and end with the annual Maroon - White game May 9.

The Aggies' annual news media golf tournament will be played May 8 on the eve of the game.

Twenty-nine lettermen return but three will miss spring drills. Safety Dave Elmendorf and quarterback Rocky Self will be playing baseball and fullback Marc Black will be in track. All were starters last fall.

Another quarterback, Jimmy Sheffield, will be tried at split end this spring. That leaves the quarterback battle in the spring to squadmen Joe Mac King and Kyle Gary and sophomores-to-be Lex James and Brad Dusek.

The Aggies had a conference record of 2-5 and a season record of 3-7 last year.

Key losses from last year include 11 starters, five on offense and six on defense. Offensive starters were tight end Ross Brupbacher, split end Barney Harris, center Jack Kovar, wingback Jimmy Adams and tailback Larry Stegent. Defensive starts missing are ends Jim Pepper and the late Mike DeNiro, middle guard Lynn Odom, tackle Billy Bob Barnett and linebackers Buster Adami and Mike Caswell.

Aggies To Play Wichita 4 Times

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Athletic director and head football coach Gene Stallings of Texas A&M said today that a four-year football contract has been signed with Wichita State University.

The 1970 game, the 11th game for both teams, will be played Sept. 12 here.

Three of the four games will be played in College Station. The 1972 game will be at Wichita, Kan.

Ex-Con Shows Collegians He Can Play

SALEM, Va. (AP) — It happened late Thursday at the Civic Center here.

Loyola of Baltimore had the game locked up with Hampden-Sydney in the Mason-Dixon Conference Tourney's first round.

With only seconds left, Loyola's No. 32 snatched a rebound, dribbled the length of the court, whipped a behind-the-back pass to a teammate who scored.

The crowd roared its approval. It isn't every day you see a 6-foot-4, 195-pounder do what No. 32 did. If the crowd had known more about No. 32, it probably would've given him a standing ovation.

His name is Ed Butler and he's not your average run-of-the-mill college basketball player. For one thing, he's 29 years old. For another, he spent the last 14 years of his life in jail.

When he was 15 years old, Ed Butler walked into a Baltimore grocery store with two other guys. One of them had a gun and what they wanted to do was take some money out of that store. The law calls it robbery, but when the gun went off and the clerk dropped dead on the floor, they called it murder in the first degree.

ACCIDENT SHOW

"The gun went off accidentally," says Butler. "But when you walk in a store with a loaded gun and the gun goes off, the law considers it premeditated murder. And if you're with the guy who does the shooting, you're an accessory." Butler knows all about the law. He's been studying it for the past 14 years.

So the court ruled Butler an accessory and he was sentenced to life in the Maryland State Penitentiary; the other two guys also got life, and they're still in there.

Butler would probably still be there, too, except that after four years of "rippin' and tearin' " he decided to salvage what he could of his life.

"There's nothing to do in jail," he says, "so you either mess around and get in trouble or you find something to occupy yourself."

No. 32 chose basketball. "I could play the game," he explains.

So Ed kept playing and kept out of trouble and pretty soon he decided that maybe he would like to play in the pros if he ever got out of jail.

It may sound funny that a lifer in prison was thinking about playing pro basketball, but Ed wasn't kidding. They had a league in prison and the prisoners would go out on Sundays and play against outsiders.

The competition was not bad. The outsiders included Baltimore Bullets star Gus Johnson and former NBA star Si Green. And then one day Ed Butler scored 38 points against Gus Johnson and Johnson went to the Bullets' management and said, "Hey, there's this guy in jail who scored 38 points against me and maybe it would be nice if we got him to play for us."

Benefit Go Is Slated

WESTBROOK — A basketball game scheduled here at 8 p.m., Friday, March 13, pitting the Westbrook Volunteer Fire Department against a team of Westbrook High School all-stars will benefit the community's fire department.

Admission prices have been pegged at 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for students.

Jodell Hudgins, former Big Spring High School player, is manger of the Firemen. Other players include T. A. Whiteside, Jerry Putnam, coach Bird and Frank Hodnett.

Hawks Play Final Home Tilt Monday

CLARENDON — Flat from a late-season surge that earned a berth in the regional tournament and perhaps exhibiting some let down from a two-game series, the Howard County Junior College Hawks edged Clarendon 89-70 here Friday night.

Coach Buddy Travis emptied his bench, but as he explained, it wasn't trying to show mercy or give subs experience: "We were trying to win, that's all."

Twice Clarendon pulled within a point of the Hawks. It wasn't until the last three minutes that Travis could make his substitutions without qualms.

HCJC nursed a 40-35 point lead at the half.

Howard County is currently 11-4 in conference standings and 19-7 for the season.

Monday the Hawks will entertain New Mexico Military Institute in Big Spring in a game that will determine if they can keep alive hopes for a piece of the Western Conference crown. That hope will depend on whether Lubbock Christian College can pull an upset at home and beat Odessa. That would let HCJC and OJC tie for the season.

The fourth-seeded Hawks go to Amarillo Thursday for a 4 p.m. first-round test in the regional tournament, meeting McLennan Community College of Waco, seeded fifth.

PRESS EFFECTIVE

Baylor Hangs On To Tip Aggies

WACO, Tex. (AP) — The Baylor Bears used a vicious zone press and accurate free throw shooting to defeat Texas A&M 70 - 68 Saturday and knock the Aggies out of a chance for a share of the Southwest Conference basketball title.

CHATMON

The loss dropped the Aggies to an 8-5 SWC record with only one game remaining Tuesday against the Rice Owls, who currently hold the lead with a 10-3 record. The Bears, early leaders in the SWC race, are 7-6 and close out Tuesday at Texas Tech.

The Aggies took a slim early lead but Baylor coach Bill Menefee put the Bears into a zone press that netted them the lead mid-way through the first half and the Bears never again trailed. The Bears led 35-30 at halftime.

Baylor stretched its lead to 50-38 with 13:19 left to play but the Aggies kept plugging and narrowed the gap within striking distance in the closing minutes.

But the Aggies started pressing and that's when the Bears' capitalized at the free throw circle to keep the lead.

Tommy Friedman led the Bears with 17 points followed by Willie Chatmon with 16 and Larry Gatewood with 11. Pat Kavanagh and Rick Duplantis led the Aggies with 15 points each.

Neither team was consistent from the field. Baylor hit 43.6 per cent to the Aggies' 44.1 per cent.

Lots Of Night Ball Ahead

CINCINNATI (AP) — There will be a lot of night work for National League baseball players during the 1970 season.

The official schedule, released Saturday, shows there will be 602 night games with all except the New York Mets, the San Francisco Giants and, of course, the Chicago Cubs playing 50 or more games under the lights at home.

The Cubs, the last major league holdout against night games at home, have no lights.

The Houston Astros will lead in night games with 65. Atlanta, Los Angeles and San Diego each have scheduled 63 games under the lights and the Cincinnati Reds will have 60 such games. Montreal will have 59 night games, Philadelphia 58, St. Louis 57 and Pittsburgh 53.

There will be one variation from the 1969 schedule. Last year there were three periods of intra-division play—when teams of the Western and Eastern division played each other. There were two periods of inter-division action when teams were matched against opponents of the other division.

In 1970 there will be five periods of intra-division action and four periods of inter-division play.

The change was designed to curtail a situation of 1969 when occasionally teams played back-to-back series—one in each city.

Once again opening home dates will be spread over a week.

Ramos To Risk Boxing Crown

LOS ANGELES (AP)—California's Mando Ramos, the youngest fighter ever to win the world lightweight title, risks it Tuesday against seasoned Ismael Laguna of Panama, who held the 135-pound division crown for eight months in 1965.

Now 21, the kid from nearby Long Beach may be only an even money favorite to beat the 26-year-old challenger when they climb into the ring in the Sports Arena for the 15-round test. There will be no radio nor television broadcast in this country.

Ramos is guaranteed $100,000, Laguna $10,000.

Promoter Aileen Eaton of the Olympic Boxing Club predicted a turnout of from 10,000 to 13,000 fans and gate receipts of $150,000.

Ramos won the championship on an 11th round knockout Feb. 18, 1969, here over the late Carlos "Teo" Cruz of the Dominican Republic. Cruz was killed in an airplane crash in South America last month.

This will be Mando's second defense of the title. He belted out an unlikely challenger, Yoshiaki Numata of Tokyo, in six rounds last Oct. 4.

Laguna has had 67 fights dating back to 1961, twice as many as Ramos. A talented boxer, he won the title April 10, 1965, on a 15-round decision in Panama City over Carlos Ortiz.

Ortiz won it back in 15 rounds the following Nov. 13 in Carlos' home country, Puerto Rico.

In a third encounter, this one in New York in August, 1967, Ortiz prevailed again in 15 rounds.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

BSer To Play In Rose Bowl

By TOMMY HART

Pro football's threat to remove the American Conference franchise from Boston is downright laughable, when one considers the fact that Wrigley Field, Chicago, will seat no more than 46,000 and no one is talking about robbing George Halas of a livelihood . . . The Bears have had another 1,000 seats in Wrigley Field taken away from them by the Chicago Cubs' refurbishing program . . . Some wider seats Phil Wrigley is adding to the stadium can't be replaced when football season comes on . . . No high school baseball coach in the state can match Speedy Moffett's 323 wins achieved at Snyder . . . The doughty little man is starting his 16th year at the helm of the Tigers . . . Marc Black, the former NMMI javelin thrower, is now at Texas A&M . . . Curtis Mills, the Aggies' champion quartermiler, hopes to enter law enforcement work when he departs school . . . Christian College of the Southwest, scourge of Region V basketball teams, likely will drop the game next season due to the expense involved . . . Coach Bill Blakeley of the Trojans has been getting most of his players from the east and they don't come cheap . . . Lynn Sanders, Clarendon College's fine cager, was turned down by coach Buddy Travis of HCJC . . . Sanders, no doubt, would have had difficulty fitting into Travis' style of play . . . Reports say Stanton's David Jones hasn't been happy at Howard Payne College . . . Jim Carlen, Texas Tech's new football coach, is such a stickler for a strict training regimen some of the campus liberals have been taking potshots at him . . . He's called Morality Fats by the underground newspaper up there . . . The anvil chorus won't surface until he has lost a few games, however . . . Angelo State's Billy Rhea, one of the stars in last year's Region V Basketball tournament here, averaged 45 points a game for the Rams during the 1969-70 season . . . Olympic buffs can see the 1972 show in Munich in its entirety and still hurry home to catch most of the football season—the games are booked from Aug. 26 through Sept. 10 . . . Around the banquet circuit this winter, baseball personalities have been referring to one delivery not as a "spitter" but as the "pollution pitch".

SPEEDY MOFFETT

* * * *

Several area coaches attended the Henry Frnka coaching clinic in San Antonio this weekend, among them Clovis Hale of Big Spring and Forsan's Don Stevens and George White . . . Some mentors say the Frnka school offers more than the annual Texas Coaches Association clinic . . . Oklahoma State signed 13 Texans to football scholarships, compared to 18 from its own state . . . Tulane landed another 14 Texans, Arkansas 11 . . . Big Spring's Charley Johnson was denied the chance to play in the Cotton Bowl when he attended New Mexico State, even though the Aggies fielded one of the finest teams in the land, because the Dallas people sought a bigger gate lure . . . Johnson, however, is now going to get to perform in the grand-daddy of all football saucers, the Rose Bowl . . . Charley's new employers, the Houston Oilers, are booked in there against the Los Angeles Rams the night of Sept. 5 . . . Houston also plays pre-season games with the Chicago Bears, New Orleans Saints, Minnesota Vikings and Dallas Cowboys . . . The coaching job at Hermleigh, Tex., may be the worst in the state . . . One man is assigned to coach 11-man football, boys and girls basketball teams on the high school level, boys and girls' basketball on the junior high level, track, drive a school bus and teach five classes a day . . . The salary is not in keeping with that offered by other schools, either . . . Sunday gate receipts at the Texas Open last week totaled $2,930 and promoters took quite a financial bath, probably more than $13,000 . . . It's one of several pro tournaments which could sink without a trace in future PGA planning . . . Darwin Holt, a native of Gainesville, Tex., was named to the defensive unit on the University of Alabama's Super Sixties football team . . . He completed his eligibility at Tuscaloosa in 1961 . . . Best junior high basketball prospect in this area is supposed to be Tom Washington of Snyder . . . When Washington comes to full bloom, Snyder may crowd Lamesa out of the District 3-AAA spotlight . . . Nate Stephens, a seven-foot cager who helped El Paso Jefferson beat Big Spring a couple of seasons back, was suspended recently for the second time by Creighton University for disciplinary reasons . . . It's going to cost golf bugs $3 just to watch practice rounds for the April 30-May 3 Byron Nelson Classic in Dallas this year . . . The bite goes to $8 for Sunday's finals . . . It was coach Joe Kuharich who once said, "If you listen to the fans, you'll be up there sitting with them" . . . No one saw Joe in the stands, however, after he was bounced by the Philadelphia Eagles last year.

Horoscope Forecast

FOR TODAY AND TOMORROW

—CARROLL RIGHTER

SUNDAY

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is your day and evening to think out a course of action by which you can make much headway. No need to force issues now. If you do, you will find you will lose out where it means the most to you. Temper impulse with good judgment.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Before dashing off to new ventures, be sure you get personal worries behind you. Some new contact can certainly be helpful with certain responsibilities you have. Drive with care.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) A good friend gives advice now that can rid you of some frsutrations you have, so listen carefully to it. Use faith in the performance of your daily duties. Be ethical in all that you do.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have been having difficulty understanding associates, but if you sit down with them leisurely today, you cement for better relations. Show you will support your most difficult ally. Then success comes more easily.

MON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Instead of running out on some unncessary tangent, be sure you show appreciation to someone who has been most loyal to you. Plan some time for health treatments. Keep your skin smooth.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) If you first keep any promises you have made, you then have plenty of time for fun and frolic. Don't disappoint close ties. Try to be more affectionate with mate instead of taking him or her for granted.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You can have more happiness with kin today than by going out with some new stranger you just met. Study fundamentals of any new ventures that appeal to you. Why not go to a good movie tonight?

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get into the philosophical studies that renew your faith. Be more enthusiastic about the future. Later be with pals you appreciate and who like you. There is greater happiness ahead.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Go over personal accounts and see how to get them improved and paid on time. Study new ways to add to present security. Do whatever you can to make a close tie happy. Be very thoughtful of this person.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Those ideas you have in mind can be put in motion later on if they are to operate successfully. Make this a day for happiness with kin. Be more interested in the social side of life.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Don't try to run away from promises you have made or you get into real trouble. Show that you will gladly help good friends with problems they may have. You have excellent ideas that they do not.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Be the happy and outgoing Aquarius for which you are famous and go out socially making headway via that channel. Don't permit that new acquaintance to mix in where money matters are concerned. Be wise.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Doing whatever will stamp you as an A-1 citizen is wise today, but do not annoy some higher-up. You have some personal goal that requires more study before attaining it. Try to get to bed early tonight so you can get an early start in the morning.

MONDAY

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You have a godd chance now to get your affairs on a basis to benefit you. Lose no time using practical angles for their success. Be on the lookout for a new approach. You can gain the good will of all who are earthy personalities.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You are able to have a very fascinating conversation with a higher-up who can give right advice for your advancement. Find the right civic venture to improve your image with the public. Be clever.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Meet contacts who can help you to advance more quickly in your present line of endeavor. Follow that inspirational idea that will make you a wiser person. Be active.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Show that you pay your bills on time. Improve your credit rating, show that you are dependable. Make sure that conditions around you are favorable. Be more precise where routines are concerned.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Try to find out what a partner expects from you; then you come to the right understanding with one who has your well being at heart. Find information you need at present in your newspaper. Be clever in going after it.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Your ability to get ahead through the good auspices of a higher-up is commensurate with the way you do your work now. Find a better system for doing your routine work. Show you are a clever person.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Put aside the dull routine and go out with that charming person who can assist you in getting ahead faster in the future. Put that creative talent to work. Make the future more affluent.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Meet with kin and discuss how life at home can be happier and more harmonious. Do your fair share of work there. Get rid of whatever has been the source of irritation.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Do everything you can to make your appearance more charming, your health more radiant, then go out socially with pals. Plan daily routines efficiently.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Be sure that financial affairs are well handled so that you get responsibilities running smoothly. Ask an expert in money matters for advice you need. Be careful to budget carefully.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Good day to get in touch with persons who can assist you in getting ahead, but you must have a positive attitude to be successful. Use good judgment in handling an awkward situation. Don't be gullible.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) If you have a good talk with a bigwig you find that others will appreciate you more as a result. Get busy getting information that will assist you in the days ahead. Be clever in all that you do.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) You can rely on some loyal pal to help you gain some cherished goal today. Get in touch with this fine person. There is a good chance for you to gain popularity socially at this time.

Four Honored

Two Air Force men stationed at Webb and two former Webb men have been selected for inclusion in the 1970 edition of the "Outstanding Young Men of America." They are 1st Lts. Brian N. Minturn, maintenance analysis officer, and Norman M. Slocum, data automation officer, now at Webb. The departed men are Capt. Ronald W. Sager, instructor pilot, and S. Sgt. Alvin A. Malone of Detachment 18, 42nd Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Center.

Cost Reduction Over The Goal

In less than a month since its Cost Reduction Program goal was almost doubled, Webb AFB has again pushed savings past the 100 per cent mark, it was announced last week by Capt. Donald C. Paladino, wing monitor.

Current savings show the wing with $494,700 in savings against a revised goal of $417,400. "This puts us at 119 per cent now," Capt. Paladino said, "and with projections we have the potential for 145 per cent." Despite the present standing, cost reduction men are still pushing for savings in many areas.

"We are working toward a March 15 finish, but we want to have all we can, reported and validated," he said.

Chaplain Going To Hospital Meet

Chaplain Lee Butler, chaplain at Big Spring State Hospital, will attend the American Protestant Hospital Association meeting in Washington, D.C. Monday through Wednesday.

He will be a representative of the College of Chaplains to the national association. This evening at the 7 o'clock worship at First Baptist Church, where Rev. Butler also has been serving as interim pastor, Dr. Ray Tatum, who is in vocational rehabilitation work at the hospital, will speak. Dr. Tatum is an ordained minister.

It's New For Spring

MRS. HARRISON LOBDELL shows the favored look for spring — a classic white dress by James Jure, banded in American Beauty and navy blue, with its own topper of navy Alaskine wool and silk, self-buttoned and trimmed with a double collar in American Beauty with matching accents on sleeves and pocket tabs. The princess line coat is completely lined in the rose fabric, and accessories are navy.

MRS. O. D. O'DANIEL JR. is smart and comfortable in changeable spring weather when she wears this Herman Marcus creation of 100 per cent polyester. The sleeveless, fitted bodice is joined to a swinging skirt and belted in shiny black patent. The black and white circle print dress comes with companion scarf, fringed in black wool, which may be draped to form a cowl collar or knotted at the shoulder.

MRS. MICHAEL J. REGA shows the dash that a matching scarf adds to a muted plaid suit by Jo Frank. The slightly fitted jacket closes with self buttons and tops a slim sliver of skirt. The suit and reversible scarf (one side in plaid—the other solid) are all created in textured polyester for complete washability. The color is a beautiful blend of soft blues, gray and lavender.

MRS. RONALD LINDSEY knows basic black is even better when blended with blinding white. This Sal Lee creation takes a stark black bodice, attaches it to a side-draped block plaid skirt and completes the costume look with a matching swag coat. The topper is styled with large patch pockets, stand-up collar and "new" wide notched lapels that whisper of the thirties. The flair is there for women on the go.

MRS. WILLIAM JACKSON looks winsome and winning in a blonde's best color, baby blue. The fashion begins with a pure white crepe blouse, cowl-collared and long-sleeved, which doesn't stop until it becomes a dress by ending in the tiniest of pleated skirts. Not to be undone, the matching vest extends to full jacket length, sporting patch pockets and white buttons rimmed in gold. Styled by Jerrell, it's of basket weave rayon and acetate.

MRS. KENT D. STEPHENS joins the swinging set in a light-weight dress and vest ensemble. The fashionable brief skirt is topped with a fluid crepe bodice, the color of bamboo, and styled with long full sleeves and scarf collar clasped with an antique pin of pearls and topaz. The skirt and long-line vest is of cocoa linen, the latter accented with a sassy self belt and low flap pockets.

MRS. J. M. MORGAN
(Curley's Studio)

98th Birthday Will Be Marked Monday

Mrs. J. M. (Molly) Morgan, 1500 Scurry, will be celebrating her 98th birthday Monday.

Mrs. Morgan, who came to Big Spring in March, 1908, is the mother of seven children, three of whom are deceased. Three of her four living children reside in Big Spring. They are Mrs. L. D. Jenkins, Mrs. Kay Williams and James M. Morgan. Another son, Eddie L. Morgan, lives in California. She has 12 grandchildren, 21 great-grandchildren and seven great-great-grandchildren.

A member of Immaculate Heart of Mary Church, Mrs. Morgan still attends services every Sunday morning and all special Holy Days services. For many years, she was very active in church, school, civic and social organizations in Big Spring. She was a charter member of Drove No. 61 of the BPO Does and still attends most of their meetings.

Mrs. Morgan was instrumental in organizing the first garden club here and is now an honorary member of Big Spring Garden Club. She played an important role, many years ago, in the formation of a city federation of women's clubs.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I just discovered the greatest thing, and writing to you is the best way I know of sharing it with all the other mini-skirt wearers.

I bought a pair of step-ins (the lace-trimmed, wide-legged underpants that women used to wear before briefs became popular). I wear these over my briefs in place of a slip.

They preserve my modesty, for when I must bend over, all that shows is a couple of inches of lace . . . Silvia

* * *

Dear Heloise:

Have you an old leather-topped table that is all marred and scarred? If you do, and you're getting sick and tired of looking at it, let me give you a quick run-down on what you can do.

Scrub it thoroughly with saddle soap and be sure it's dry — use a soft cloth to dry it off with.

Then take some kind of good quality brown shoe paste — the same kind that you put on your shoes — and rub it thoroughly into the grain of the leather. Let this remain a little while, then buff just like you would on a shoe.

I don't recommend doing this on new tables, but if your table has spots on it, try it. Sure worked for us . . . Cynthia McLearn

* * *

Dear Heloise:

Contractors should furnish a "blueprint" of the toilet outline with every new house they construct! It should go along with the keys to the house.

It would be a simple matter for them to set the toilet on a piece of heavy paper and trace around it before placing it in the floor.

Then when one wants to re-tile, re-carpet, etc., simply get out the pattern and the job is simple, simple . . . June Simmons

* * *

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:

I read where someone crushed vanilla wafers by running over them with an automobile . . .

My suggestion is to package them and mail to yourself by parcel post and you will receive crushed crumbs! Great for ice-box pies . . . Hugh Benson

* * *

Dear Heloise:

If you have a "little crawler" who wears sleepers, take a pair of your husband's old socks and cut the feet off.

After you bathe and "sleeper" the youngster, pull the tubing of the sock up over his knees. Then he can crawl to his heart's delight without wearing out the knees of the sleeping garment.

It also saves mother from trying to get those knees clean on laundry day! . . . Diane

Jim Baum Describes Communication Forms

The history of communication from the drawings of cavemen to television was discussed by Jim Baum, Radio Station KBYG, at the Altrusa luncheon Thursday at Coker's Restaurant.

Baum traced writing implements from the metal stylus invented by the Romans through the ball point pen, invented in 1888.

"The lead pencil was used 2,000 years ago," Baum said. "The typewriter was invented by three men and patented by Christopher Sholes who sold his rights to the machine to Remington Co, for $12,000."

Messages have been transmitted by carrier pigeon, smoke signal, train, telegraphs, telephone, stage coach, Pony Express, airplane, radio and television.

"The Pony Express lost no more than one mail sack during its existence," he said. He predicted that "communication will never end, it can only improve." He speculated that in the future people can communicate by mental telepathy.

Guests at the meeting were Mrs. Sol Bledsoe and Mrs. Melva Buntyn. The luncheon theme encompassed Valentine's Day and George Washington's birthday with red candles and a candelabra of red tapers at the head table. Favors were tiny red hearts and American flags.

Miss Nixon Marries Peter C. Loguidice

(Photo Associates)

MRS. PETER C. LOGUIDICE

Miss Luan Nixon and Airman 1.C. Peter Carl Loguidice, Webb AFB, were married in the First Baptist Church of Coahoma at 7 p.m. Friday. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. F. G. Lahourcade, Route 1, and the late John D. Nixon. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Carmen Loguidice, Newark, N.J.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Guy White before an altar decorated with baskets of chrysanthemums and candelabra holding cathedral tapers.

Mrs. R. N. Phillips, Oscoda, Mich., sang "More" and "Because" accompanied on the organ by Miss Arlene Milliken.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Harold Gillam, Midland. She wore an Empire gown of peau de soie with Chantilly lace over the bodice and long lace sleeves forming petal points over the hands. The lace train was attached at the shoulder by Dior bows on a peau de soie coat. Her tiered veil of illusion was held by a lace and peau rose and leaves. She carried a bouquet of Frenched carnations surrounding a white orchid.

Miss Joyce Hill served as the maid of honor and Miss Susan Nixon, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. They wore lavender crepe A-line Empire-styled dresses and each carried a long stemmed lavender carnation.

Airman 1.C. Michael Cramer, Illinois, was best man and Airman 1.C. Arturo Jimenez, El Paso, was groomsman. Ushers were Airman 1.C. Gene Sirni, New York, and Carroll Hagle.

Miss Gretchen Brady and Miss Cindy Fryar were altar taper lighters.

The wedding couple departed on a trip to an undisclosed destination. The bride's traveling attire was a navy blue sleeveless A-line shift with matching plaid coat and accessories. Upon returning they will live at 504 Bell.

The bride, a graduate of Coahoma High School, is a sophomore at Howard County Junior College. The bridegroom attended West Side High School in Newark.

The reception was held in the church annex. Included in the receiving line were the bride's step-father, F. G. Lahourcade; great-grandmother, Mrs. Mary E. Toerck; and grandfather, A. L. Hobbs, Oscoda, Mich.

The refreshment table was centered with a three-tiered cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. A white lace cloth covered the table, and crystal and silver appointments were used.

Miss Becky Headrick was in charge of the register. Members of the house party included Mrs. H. B. Gillam, Midland, and Mrs. Albert Hill. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Lyman Bucklin, Mrs. Robert Phillips, and A. L. Hobbs.

By MRS. JOHN MACKE

Stag parties are just what the name says — stag. And with training jets being a far cry from commercial airliners, wives must be left on the ground to await their husbands' return from cross-country flights. Some of the ladies have found better ways of filling the hours than sitting at home with the television. Wives of Class 70-07, for instance, recetly went en masse to see "Funny Girl." And while Class 70-03's "B" Section held its stag party Friday night, their wives were being startled at a hen party held at the home of Mrs. Charles Tatum. Startled? Wouldn't you be if, in the midst of fine stereo music, rollicking World War II and Korean War Air Corps songs burst into the room? Capt. and Mrs. Tatum had long been seeking this one particular recording. They first heard of it about five years ago, and have since haunted record shops everywhere they went. The Tatums finally found the long-desired collector's item right here in Big Spring.

A party with a different twist was held last night in, appropriately enough, Hangar No. 1. Class 70-06 entertained T-38 IPs and their wives with taped dance music, catered barbecue, games, and home movies taken at the flightline and on cross-country flights. Each student invited, as his special guest, the instructor who had soloed him.

Mrs. Byron Hukee turned playwrite to provide entertainment for Thursday morning's OWC coffee. "Reel Hijacks," a silent-movie-type spoof of airline hijacking, was the skit presented by wives of Class 71-04.

"Oh Lord, don't let the rain come down!" Class 70-07 wanted sunny days so that family pictures for the yearbook could be taken outdoors. So they waited for the sunshine — and waited — and waited. Mother Nature finally won out, and all the photographs were taken, alas, indoors.

Lt. John Macke has a problem. When he went to the check room of the Officers Open Mess two weeks ago, there was a strange coat in place of his own. Someone obviously had taken the wrong one. If you were there Sunday, February 15, wearing a black all-weather coat with zip-in lining, please check the right-hand pocket. If you find a set of keys, please contact Lt. Macke at 267-6096 immediately. Incidentally, the two sticks of chewing gum left in your own coat pocket are beginning to get stale.

Alpha Chi's Schedule March Rush Events

Rush events were announced Thursday by Mrs. Ruben Reavis, rush chairman of Alpha Chi Chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha. The group met at the home of Mrs. Bill Adams, 1704 Purdue.

Theme for March rush activities will be "Come Join Our Peanuts Gang." Thursday a get-acquainted party will be held at the home of Mrs. Jackie Touchstone, 2700 Central. A model meeting will be held March 11 at the home of Mrs. Charles Utley, 905 E. 14th, and a party, with husbands as guests, will be held in First Federal Community Room March 21. A closed meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Charles Campbell, 1506 E. Cherokee, March 23.

A program, "Life of Buddha and Buddhism," was given by Mrs. B. E. Reagan and Mrs. Frank Perry. "Buddha showed signs of a philosophic mind at an early age which greatly displeased his father who didn't want him to become a religious hermit," Mrs. Perry said.

Buddha married a noblewoman and became very popular at the luxury-loving court. Buddha rapidly tired of the self-indulgent life and left the court in 531 BC to become a wandering mendicant in search of spiritual truth.

After a long period of time at Bddh Gaya as a penitent sinner, practising self-mortification and developing mental powers, he realized that this was not the way to enlightenment. Finally after much contemplation he received enlightenment while meditating.

Thereafter, for 45 years he traveled, teaching his beliefs and establishing communities of monks.

The nominating committee presented a slate of officers to be elected March 23. Mrs. Glenn Mitchell was reinstated as an active member of the chapter. Mrs. George Anderson and Mrs. Campbell will serve refreshment to patients at the Veterans Administration Hospital.

Duplicate Bridge Games Slated In Fort Worth

The spring tournament of the Fort Worth Duplicate Bridge Club is to be staged at the Sheraton-Fort Worth Hotel from March 6-8. The event has been sanctioned by the American Contract Bridge League of Greenwich, Conn. and assigned sectional rating for award of rating points. Silver trophies are to be presented.

About 750 bridge enthusiasts from the Southwest are expected during the three days. Included in the matches scheduled are team of four, master's, mens', womens' mixed, open pairs and side games. Entrants in the masters' pairs match are limited to those having 20 or more points. All events are single session with the exception of the open pairs which is two session, qualifying and finals.

John Emery of Wichita Falls, on the national staff of the American Contract Bridge League, has been named senior tournament director. He is to be assisted by his wife, Sue. The Emory's are the only husband-wife team directing tournaments in the country.

To permit players an early start home, the open pairs match on Sunday is to begin at noon. The hospitality program is to consist of a buffet, social hours, dancing and snacks. Mrs. Henry G. Gardiner heads the entertainment committee.

A non-profit organization, the club has 600 members with H. H. Pinkertin as president.

The event will be held at 8 o'clock in the First Federal Community Room.

Mrs. Bush will discuss life in Washington, D.C., and will show slides of points of interest in the nation's capitol.

She is a graduate of Smith College. She and Bush were married in 1945, and they have five children. The eldest, Georgie, is a jet pilot in the Air Force. The other children are Debbie, Neil, Marvin, and Dorothy.

Her hobbies are creative needlepoint, golf, tennis, and gardening.

Following the speech those attending will have the opportunity to chat with Mrs. Bush, and refreshments will be served.

MR. AND MRS. V. R. CLARK

Recollects Adventures With Border Patrol

By MARILYN NEVELS

Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Clark have returned "home" to the Big Spring area to retire after his 32 years with the United States Border Patrol. They purchased their new home at 2800 Apache a year ago and arrived in Big Spring "about midnight Jan. 5." Mr. and Mrs. Clark came from Del Rio where he had served as an immigration inspector for almost two years.

The Clarks have had many homes along the southern border of the United States, but preferred to return to live near their former home in Gail. Clark was born in Gail and his wife, Edith, moved there from Waxahachie as a small child.

"I guess you could say we've known each other since we were tots," Mrs. Clark said, smiling.

Both of the Clarks sons, Norman and Weldon, were born in Big Spring while Clark farmed and ranched near Gail before joining the border patrol. Norman Clark now lives in Houston and has a family of three children and Weldon Clark lives in Kansas City, Mo., with his wife and two children.

"Our oldest grandchild is 17 and the youngest will be seven in March," said Mrs. Clark.

During their service with the border patrol the Clarks have lived in Wilcox, Ariz.; El Centro, Calif.; Kingsville, and Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Clark's main duty was to intercept illegal immigrants. As an inspector he checked immigrants entering the United States.

"You can learn to spot an illegal immigrant just by looking at them," Clark said. "You can usually tell by their clothes and actions."

Clark did most of his tracking on foot and some in four-wheel-drive vehicles in rough territory. "The longest I ever tracked anyone was about three days," Clark recalled.

"Before 1950 there weren't so many people trying to get into the United States," he said.

Most illegal immigrants came to the U.S. for economic reasons, he explained. They follow the farming seasons, coming mostly in the spring and fall to work on farms.

SYMPATHY

"I can't really blame some of them for wanting to come to the states," he said. "Some of them are so poor, one has to feel sorry for them."

"I'm sure I've picked up the same person twice. While in the lower Rio Grande I picked up three young boys and returned them to Mexico. Later, when I was in Mexico, I saw them again. They recognized me, too, and we all laughed." The three may have tried to cross the border again, but it wasn't while Clark was stationed there.

Clark is an excellent marksman. In 1957, he was selected to a four-member team representing the entire U.S. Border Patrol in a marksman contest. In 1957, he traveled to the Attorney General's Training Series competition in Lewisville, Pa. A friendly, mild-mannered man, he has scores of medals and trophies attesting to his shooting skill.

"We will have to find a place to display all of his medals," said Mrs. Clark.

Upon entering the Clark's home it is apparent that Mrs. Clark is quite a needlework artist. Her tastes are contemporary and color scheme is blue and green. "When I was younger my favorite colors were pink and red, but now I've gone to the other end of the color spectrum," she said.

One of her most beautiful handicrafts is a framed picture of a spring bouquet made of colorful ric-rack and seam binding.

For the past 10 years Mrs. Clark has been accumulating a most unusual collection — owls. "I have owl banks, statues, pictures, calendars and bookends," said Mrs. Clark. She also has made an owl pillow and has an owl candle, light-switch cover, enameled ashtray and Eskimo-made owl of stuffed seal skin. Her tinest owl is barely a half inch high and her largest is a black night owl rug about three feet long.

And what does Mr. Clark say when his wife starts to make another owl plaque? "Don't you think we have enough owls?"

"But when a new owl comes in the mail, he is just as eager to see what it looks like as I am," said Mrs. Clark, whose collection numbers 185.

The Clarks are Methodists and have been attending Wesley United Methodist Church.

LIKE TRAVEL

Mr. and Mrs. Clark have always enjoyed traveling and have toured every state that they have lived in.

"We like the scenery and have seen most of California, Florida, Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado and some of the Northeast," Clark said.

In 1964, they flew to Europe to visit an immigration service friend in Sicily and traveled in France, Italy and Switzerland. Clark enjoys recording their travels with slides. Next, he would like to drive to the northwest and see mountain areas in Wyoming and Montana.

Spring Fashion Show To Aid Chapel Fund

A benefit fashion show will be held at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the ballroom at Cosden Country Club under the sponsorship of the All Faith Chapel Fund Inc., Big Spring State Hospital.

The show, with fashions to be provided by local merchants, will be free to the public, with pledge envelopes presented at the door for those wishing to contribute to the chapel fund. The present goal is $46,000 which would make the total on hand $150,000, enough to begin building on the chapel.

Both patients and volunteer workers at the hospital will serve as models, and the showing will follow a spring theme.

Mrs. Mary Cochran, volunteer coordinator at the hospital is serving as general chairman, with Mrs. Gerre Reaves, assistant coordinator, as cochairman.

Mrs. Jo Bright is handling publicity, and the planning committee chairman is Mrs. Delaine Cawford. Mrs. Paschal Odom and Mrs. Ralph W. Everett, the latter of Midland, are in charge of models. Decorations will be under the direction of Mrs. Milton Knowles, and Mrs. Clyde E. Thomas Jr. is in charge of refreshments which will be served prior to the show.

Other commitee chairmen are Mrs. Mary Ragsdale, Mrs. C. F. Bass, Midland; Miss Dolly Wilkins, Mrs. Bill Coleman, Mrs. John B. Knox and Mrs. John Day. Others are to be announced.

Fashions will be shown by Swartz, Hemphill - Wells, Margarets, Zacks, Barnes-Pelletier, J&K Shoe Store and Montgomery-Ward.

In announcing plans for the city-wide effort, Mrs. Cochran said, "One of the things we want to stress is that people are patients — and patients are people."

The current effort to raise funds for the chapel is under the direction of Frank Hayford of Midland, chairman of the chapel fund board, and within the last year, over $100,000 has been raised. It is hoped that construction can be started this year. The modern structure will house a Department of Religion, in keeping with the hospital's philosophy of "treating the whole man." It will also have an area for training of regional ministers, a meditation and family visiting area and space for audio visual programs. The chapel will accommodate all faiths and seat approximately 300 persons.

REVEALS PLANS—Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Reaid Jr., 2303 E. 14th, Odessa, announce the engagement of their daughter, Margaret Diane, to William C. Bennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Bennett, 2705 Clanton. When most women meet the talk sooner or later turns to the good and bad diets, those that are easy to follow and those impossible to follow. Many try the high protein, others count their carbohydrates, some follow the diet drink plan and still others just cut down on the amount of intake with each meal. Then there's that realistic bunch of us who have learned that one may have anything she wants . . . she simply puts the food in her mouth and chews . . . but never, never swallow's.

The flowering peach trees are particularly beautiful now. One of the prettiest ones is at the home of MRS. SAM BLACKBURN on Pennsylvania. Also all over the city the jonquils are blooming . . . I know, of course, that they may be daffodils but to me they are beautiful bright yellow flowers and it doesn't really make any difference to me which of the two they are. I just think they're about the prettiest flower that blooms in the spring.

SPEECH ARTICULATION is being taught by Mrs. Diane Redmon, new speech therapist at Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, to Bobby Doolin (left) and David Brown. Bobby, 4, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Doolin, Sand Springs, and David, 6, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell T. Brown, Midway.

Joins Rehab Center As Speech Therapist

Mrs. David T. (Diane) Redmon joined the staff of Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center Monday as a speech therapist. She arrived here two weeks ago with her husband, who is a student pilot in Class 71-05 at Webb AFB. Both are natives of Fort Worth.

Mrs. Redmon is a graduate of Texas Tech with a BA degree in speech therapy and is presently compiling her masters thesis. She worked as a speech therapist in the Fort Worth Public School System until January.

"I worked with small groups of children in Riverside and Bonnie Brae Schools," she said. Mrs. Redmon worked with groups of seven to 10 "language disability" children and individually with some who stuttered.

"I got interested in therapy during the second semester of my sophomore year at Tech," she recalled. "My minor was psychology, but I'm glad now that I went into therapy. My roommate at Tech was taking courses in speech therapy and introduced me to the subject. I visited one of the classes and decided I liked the work."

Mrs. Redmon is working at the center afternoons only and hopes to work full-time by summer.

"I work with both children and adults." she explained. One area of her work involves stroke victims with speech coordination and tongue exercises.

Mr. and Mrs. Redmon enjoy outdoor sports, especially water skiing in the summer. "I would like to try snow skiing while we're in West Texas and closer to the mountains," she said. Lt. Redmon is a golf enthusiast and hopes to resume his hobby when the heavy routine of academics lets up farther along in the pilot program.

In her free time Mrs. Redmon enjoys reading novels and poetry. "I like the type of poetry that Rod McKuen writes. She also enjoys sewing clothes and has done some embroidery. She plans to take up furniture refinishing soon.

While in Big Spring Mrs. Redmon plans to see the Globe Theatre and as many plays as possible.

The Redmons are still getting settled in their apartment at 1425 E. 6th.

"Everyone here is so friendly," said Mrs. Redmon. "We had heard of their friendliness, but this is more than we expected."

A wedding reception followed the ceremony. The tiered wedding cake was decorated in pink and white. The reception table was covered with a white cloth and crystal and silver appointments were used.

The bride attended Big Spring High School and the bridegroom is majoring in agriculture at Tarleton State College in Stephenville.

TO MARRY—Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ingram, Route One, Ackerly, announce the engagement of their daughter, Brenda Gale, to Randy White Hambrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy R. Hambrick, Ackerly. The couple will be married May 23 at the Ackerly Baptist Church in a ceremony performed by the Rev. Bob Cheek of Artesia, N.M.

Alcohol, Drug Use Discussed During HD Club Meetings

The use of alcohol and drugs, as well as the importance of good relationships between parents and children, was discussed at home demonstration club meetings this week. One club heard a program on the art of applying cosmetics.

CENTER POINT

A film on cosmetics was shown by Mrs. Garland Sanders at the Center Point Home Demonstration Club meeting Tuesday at the home of Mrs. J. R. Petty, 1013 Sycamore.

"Secrets of a lovely complexion include clean skin, correct moisturizers and proper foundation according to skin tone," Mrs. Sanders said. "A lighter base coat should be used in the summer and heavier base in the winter. A good night cream should be applied with cotton pads starting at the chin and working upward."

Mrs. Petty, president, reported on the program she attended at Big Spring State Hospital stressing the dangers of alcohol and drugs. Members brought 84 dozen cookies to take to the hospital. The club plans to attend a fashion show at 7:30 p.m. March 13 at Cosden Country Club given by local merchants, patients and volunteers at the hospital. Patients will model at the benefit for the All-Faith Chapel fund.

Mrs. Miller Russell was a guest, and Mrs. J. W. Trantham won the cosmetic prize and door prize.

The next meeting will be March 10 at the home of Mrs. W. L. Eggleston, 1311 Main. Mrs. Alden Ryan will give a program on picture transferring.

KNOTT CLUB

The art of making crocheted bead necklaces was demonstrated to the Knott Home Demonstration Club during the Tuesday meeting at the home of Mrs. Dalton Wright. Mrs. Robert Brown showed how the necklaces, reminiscent of the 1920's, were made.

Mrs. Delaine Crawford, county home demonstration agent, gave a slide program on flower arranging. Plans were completed for the Home Demonstration Club Council meeting Monday when Knott club members will serve as hostesses. Mrs. J. F. Skalisky was a guest. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Glenn Neill Ackerly.

LUTHER CLUB

A panel discussion, "Family Life and Goals," was held at the Luther Home Demonstration Club meeting Thursday at the home of Mrs. Regis Fleckenstein, with Mrs. Webb Nix as hostess.

Panel members were Mrs. Frances Zant, Mrs. Louis Underwood, Mrs. J. L. Lloyd and Mrs. Edward Simpson.

Mrs. John Couch, president, announced that the club will bake cookies for Big Spring State Hospital in March. Mrs. Couch won the hostess gift. The next meeting March 12 will be at the home of Mrs. Simpson.

CITY CLUB

"What Do We Value the Most?" was asked by Family Life program leaders at the Friday meeting of City Home Demonstration Club at the home of Mrs. E. R. Moren, 1607 Stadium. Mrs. M. E. Anderson and Mrs. A. W. Page led the discussion on how goals and values are related and essential to life.

"Everyone sets different values," Mrs. Page said. "Values change from day to day." She noted a person may discover he is putting too much stress on the material and reevaluate himself putting more emphasis on the spiritual.

"Children learn values by observing their parents beliefs and how they handle their responsibilities," Mrs. Anderson said. "Good relationships between children and parents are important."

Mrs. Alton Underwood, recreation chairman, led games.

A salad luncheon will be held at the next meeting beginning at 10 a.m. March 13 at the home of Mrs. H. P. Wooten, San Angelo Highway.

Daughter Born To Odessans

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Nelson Odessa, former local residents, announce the birth of a daughter, Traci Michelle, born Thursday in Medical Center Hospital in Odessa, weighing 8 pounds, 14 ounces. Mr. and Mrs R. G. Nelson, 1419 E. 6th, and Mrs. and Mrs. Clyde Morris Stanton, are the infant's grandparents.

TEST CASE BLOSSOMED IN TOYAH

Texas 'Secret Meetings' On Trial

Editor's Note: The Open Meeting Act was passed in Austin in 1967 to "prohibit governmental bodies from holding meetings which are closed to the public." The legislature's action followed years of effort on the part of newspapers and other news media to make certain that official actions affecting the lives of Texas citizens could not be conducted secretly. The law has been implemented before now, but it has never been tested in an appellate court.

TOYAH, Tex. (AP) — A legal skirmish in this desolate little town west of Pecos is destined to provide Texas with a milestone ruling that will affect the lives of all its citizens.

The issue at stake is whether the public can be arbitrarily excluded from government meetings.

Some states provide the citizenry with so-called "right-to-know" laws. In Texas, the law is known as the "Open Meetings Act." The Toyah case will be its first test in appellate court since the legislature passed it in 1967.

IN LEGAL SKIRMISH — A legal skirmish in Toyah, a desolate little town west of Pecos, is destined to provide Texas with a milestone ruling that will affect the lives of all its citizens. The test case involves the tiny school district of Toyah, population 294, which is resisting annexation by the Pecos-Barstow consolidated district. The issue at stake is whether the public can be arbitrarily excluded from government meetings.

MAYOR FINED

In December, 1969, the mayor of Robinson, near Waco, was found guilty of closing a city council meeting. He was fined $150. The case was not appealed, and therefore did not constitute a test of the law.

The test case involves the tiny school district of Toyah (pop: 294) which is resisting annexation by the Pecos-Bastow consolidated district. Toyah contends the annexation decision was made at a private meeting, that the Reeves County Board of school trustees deliberately barred the public, and that therefore the annexation order is illegal.

The Texas Daily Newspaper Association (TDNA), acting as a "friend of the court," has submitted a brief to the 4th Court of Civil Appeals at San Antonio. The Appeals Court is expected to hear arguments on the issue this month.

The TDNA petition states that the open meetings act "is virtually essential to the press in carrying out its basic function in informing the public."

"The decision on the annexation question may be important to the litigants, but the construction which this court will place upon the open meetings act will have far greater significance," the TDNA petition states.

APPLY TO ALL

"The meaning given to the legislative enactment will apply not only to school districts but to all governmental bodies in the state—boards, commissions, departments, agencies, commissioners' courts, city councils and all special districts.

"That holding will control the right of the general public to observe governmental bodies and to know the manner in which such bodies arrive at determinations which affect the lives of the citizens not just in Reeves County, but in all 254 counties in this state."

The petition notes that "if interested citizens can be excluded from meetings of boards of school trustees — as the trial court has approved here—the citizens and press may be excluded from any meeting of any governmental body . . . "

The open meetings act, the TDNA contends, would be stripped of its effectiveness.

In a trial on the Toyah case last June in Reeves County District Court, attorneys established that the annexation meeting was closed. Questioning W. S. (Creamy) McCree, chairman of the county school trustees board, a Toyah attorney asked:

NOT ALLOWED

"Now, Mr. McCree, is this a fair statement: at the time of the board's deliberation on the question of annexation and at the time of your voting on the purported order of annexation, the public was not allowed to be in attendance, is that correct?"

McCree: "That's correct."

"All right, in other words, you told us to leave . . . didn't want us there when you were deliberating, isn't that true?"

McCree: "I didn't think it was any of your business about our deliberating."

Another board member, Jesse Stephens, was asked if the board had discussed the matter of the meeting being open or closed.

"Yes, we did discuss it," he replied.

"And what was the conclusion of the board?" he was asked.

"That it would serve no real purpose to open it to the public."

At another point, H. L. Ramsey, former superintendent of the Toyah Independent School District, was asked:

"Whatever went on was something behind closed doors to which the public was absolutely one thousand per cent excluded, is that right?"

"Yes," Ramsey replied, "that's true."

The judge hearing the case, J. H. Starley, ruled in favor of the County Trustees Board and declared the annexation order valid. It is his decision that is being appealed.

Toyah, with its little brick schoolhouse, 75 pupils and 10 teachers, seems unanimous in its opposition to annexation.

"They want to keep their school here," explained John H. Smith, who succeeded Ramsey as superintendent at Toyah. "There are some advantages to a larger school, but we feel here the disadvantages far overbalance the advantages."

COMMUNITY DEATH

If Pecos does succeed in annexing the district, Smith said, "it would almost be the death of the community—the school is the largest single industry here."

Smith contends also that perhaps as many as eight pupils "in all probability" would not finish school if the order is upheld.

"We think also that the students here would get more individual attention than those in a larger school," he said. "And it would be somewhat hard on the smaller kids to make that bus trip to Pecos every day."

He said it would be roughly a 42-mile round trip daily.

"I hope it doesn't get taken over by Pecos," said David Goodnight, 12, a sixth-grader at Toyah and the son of a heavy equipment operator. "My parents will leave. They'll just go to New Mexico. They feel pretty strongly about the situation. Everybody does around here."

SPORTS

Jack Vernon, 9, a fifth-grader, put it this day:

This is the only school in the whole United States that they let fifth-graders play football and enter all sports. And you get more education in a little school.

"They put me up a grade because I went to a big school last year — Edinburg. But I've lived here since last summer and I like it here better . . . I've got more friends than I ever had."

Toyah is not reluctant to express its feelings. As motorists approach the community along Interstate 20, they see a sign reading:

"Welcome to Toyah, the little Czechoslovakia of Reeves County," the sign was erected after Russian troops had trampled on the rights of Czechoslovakia by arbitrarily invading the country.

On the other hand, some in Pecos are reluctant to discuss the case.

"What annexation case?" County Atty. H. D. Glover responded when confronted by a newsman.

"I don't know what you're talking about," he said, then added: "No comment."

Glover was listed in the official trial transcript as an attorney for the defendants.

Another defense attorney, John F. Tomlin of Pecos, spoke quite freely, saying that "It's going to be undisputed that the meeting was closed when the annexation order was padded."

OPEN SESSION

But he said Toyah citizens were notified of the meeting and were heard in an open session before the board voted on the annexation order.

"That's something that hasn't been emphasized, but it's a fact," he said.

"I don't know what the court will do in this case. I don't have the slightest idea about it. There are some real perplexing problems involved."

Tomlin said he was not told what motivated the move by Pecos to annex, but he said he assumes "the trustees felt it would be appropriate and beneficial to the entire district to bring in Toyah and that tax income."

Those opposing the annexation contend "that income" is the foremost motive.

According to testimony, Toyah spends more than $1,000 per student annually, while Pecos is spending a little more than $400. And the Toyah school district's valuation for tax purposes was expected to jump from less than $3 million in 1968-69 to $4.5 million in 1970-71.

The projected valuation increase was attributed largely to oil leasing and drilling, new pipelines and potential sulphur production.

EQUIVALENT

Besides its economic stability, Toyah contends its graduates are receiving an education at least equivalent in quality to that of Pecos pupils and above the state average.

School officials produced charts at the trial to support their claims. The Toyah pupils were shown to be excellent in math and science, fair in social studies and below average in English.

The poor English rating was attributed to the fact that 67 per cent of the Toyah enrollment is Mexican-American.

The San Antonio Appeals Court probably will rule on the case this spring.

Its interpretation will determine not only the fate of the Toyah-Pecos annexation dispute, but the effectiveness of the open meetings act in Texas. The case could be appealed on to the Texas Supreme Court, or possibly the U.S. Supreme Court.

The Open Meetings Act, the TDNA brief contends, "was enacted so that the public could be informed.

REPEALED

"The legislation, however, would in effect be judicially repealed if the decision of the trial court here at Pecos were to be affirmed."

The TDNA said it was prompted to submit the brief because of the "importance of the law to the public at large, as well as to the press itself."

Policeman's Trial Date

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Exonerated by a civil service commission but indicted by a grand jury, policeman Max Parkinson is scheduled for trial May 25. He's still a full-fledged member of the force.

Parkinson, 25, is charged with knowingly receiving and concealing an allegedly stolen television set. He contends he did not know it was stolen when he bought it.

The Firemen and Policemen's Civil Service Commission cleared him of the charges at a hearing Tuesday and ordered him reinstated with full back pay.

It was disclosed the following day, however, that the Bexar County grand jury had indicted him on the same charges a week ago. Sheriff's officers said he hadn't been arrested yet because they couldn't find him.

His trial was set at a court hearing Thursday. He returned to work that afternoon for the first time since his suspension Jan. 22.

Police Chief George Bichsel said that to his knowledge, he had no authority to suspend Parkinson pending the trial. The grand jury indictment, he said, "is not grounds for me to act."

Indicted in the theft of the TV set are Edward Ray, a fired police community relations officer, and Leroy Harvey, both 26. Their trials were set or June 1.

A Devotion For Today . . .

"But I say to you, Do not resist one who is evil. But if any one strikes you on the right cheek, turn to him the other also." (Matthew 5:39, RSV)

PRAYER—Dear Father, to be called Thy children we need to have Thy nature, the nature of Thy Son. Teach us to surrender ourselves completely that Christ may live in us. Amen.

Looking Down The Way

This week the city commission will receive proposals for mechanizing its accounting system. The unit acquired a year ago has proven unequal for the task imposed upon it, and therefore must be superseded by some more elaborate equipment or service.

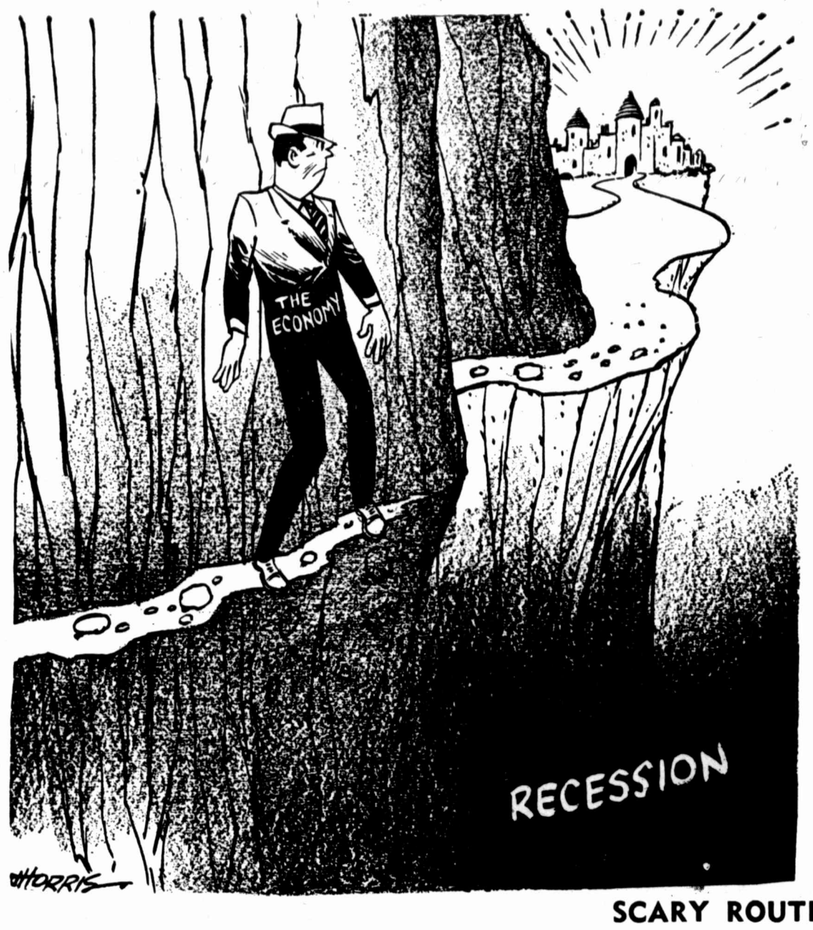

The bids will be opened next Tuesday by the commission and considered at that time. We expressed the hope previously, and repeat it now, that whatever is done will neither cut off the city from an adequate scope of service, nor wed it to a system which will become a barrier to a potential cooperative or organic union of similar services with other public agencies.

Let us be even more to the point: We hope that an arrangement can be reached to do the job for the city, but at the same time not block the way to working with the county or school in one way or another.

There are several ways that this can be done. One is through the lease, or lease-purchase plan on equipment. Another is by contracting with firms which specialize in this sort of service, and who therefore have the personnel, know-how, and equipment to do the job. In either case, a contract could be set up either for a short term or with contingencies which would provide for expansion to embrace joint operation.

When we are talking about this type of service, we are talking about mighty sophisticated equipment — equipment in a field that is changing with unbelievable rapidity. It is expensive either to buy or to hire, and yet it has the capacity not only for rapid and accurate bookkeeping, but also for an almost unlimited variety of analyses.

It seems to us that it is obvious that whatever is done must routinely handle water and tax billings and tax rolls, but more than that it must be able to furnish the many instant bits of side information which will help management constantly analyze what is happening. The fast operation has the potential savings for now; the analyses have the potential for economy and efficiency in the future.

SCARY ROUTE

Around The Rim

When It's Clean-Up Time

There was some moving done around the office this past week.

In trying to set up another space for photographic work, we found that several cabinets, desks and other office articles had to be moved.

One of the large cabinets had to be eliminated. This meant going through it, determining what was to be kept, and what was to be thrown away.

AND HERE we come to the essence of the situation. People who have faced up to the business of cleaning out a garage, a closet or even a chest of drawers will immediately be aware of the crisis.

An ordinary household closet, over a period of years, can collect its share of outmoded articles. The collection can be done by, say, a couple of adults, plus a few kids.

TO SEPARATE the wheat from the chaff, everybody's desires and decisions have to be considered, and nothing creates a strain on the marital ties like Mom and Pop and the kids having to agree on what's to go in the trash can. Matter of fact, they never do agree, and the end result is usually that the closet might be a bit neater, but no articles have disappeared.

Now, take 30 or 40 people in an office who have become accustomed to stashing various effects in a big storage cabinet, and get them to agree what should be preserved and what should not.

IT IS AMAZING at what can turn up in an office storage cabinet. There were childhood engravings of photos of citizens now in their 60's. There was a copy of a 1935 Dallas Morning News. There were a group of City Directories dating back to the early 30's. There were copies of city budgets, school budgets, county budgets, all of perhaps two decades ago.

THERE WERE long-lost fountain pens. There were photograps of people absolutely beyond identifcation. There were political treatises, and campaign literature of candidates long since forgotten. There were broken wire mail baskets and not a few old paper weights.

Somebody reported uncovering a pair of rubber overshoes and a smashed up raincoat, although I did not actually see these in the debris. There were a few packages of bubble gum, and I think some of those baseball-player cards that kids used to collect.

WELL, WHAT to keep? Nobody agreed. The City Directories might come in as handy reference volumes; the old budgets would make interesting reading in contrast with budgets of today. A newspaper has to have some junk, just to keep its tone.

I tried to avoid the pack-rat instinct, and kept yelling "throw it away." Nobody paid any attention. What we finally did was move everything from one file cabinet to another, and hide one in the recesses of a storage room in the rear. That's what you call cleaning up.

—BOB WHIPKEY

We Plead For Good Response

A appeal is being made to those in this area interested in possible employment in needlework (clothing) production to fill out forms and return them to the Chamber of Commerce. The Herald is carrying this form for the convenience of all concerned.

Response lies in the hands of those who may be interested. About all that anyone else can do is urge them to at least take a few moments to fill out and submit the form. We both plead and urge for participation.

A good response would doubtless be of considerable help to the Industrial Team in seeking to interest this type of factory to settle in Big Spring. A bad response would be revealing, too, but not in the way that would help us utilize this category of the labor market and to help our community grow.

Salute To Problem Of The Year

WASHINGTON — "And now, ladies and gentlemen, in a few minutes we shall have the moment you have all been waiting for. While our judges are marking their ballots, we'd like to tell you a little about this wonderful contest.

"Each year the American people, with the help of the news media, decide which Problem they will be the most concerned with for the next 12 months. Last year, if you remember, it was 'Crime in the Streets.' The year before that it was the 'Wars.' Past winners have included 'Hunger,' 'Poverty,' 'Desegregation' and 'Cuba.'

"THE PROBLEM selected for 1970 will not only get to travel all over the United States, but she will appear on television, in the newspapers, on radio and wind up her whirlwind tour by meeting with the President of the United States in the White House in Washington, D.C.

"You can feel the electricity and excitement here as the 200,000 people in the audience await the verdict. I don't believe we have ever had a more oustanding group of problems to choose from than the 1970 crop. Let me list the finalists for you again. 'Miss Inflation,' which has certainly impressed everyone here with her size and scope; 'Miss School Busing,' considered by many a sleeper, but which came on strong, thanks to the speeches against her by Spiro Agnew and Sen. Stennis.

"THEN THERE'S 'Miss Stock Market,' 'Miss Unemployment,' 'Miss Drug Scene,' 'Miss Pollution' and 'Miss Generation Gap.'

"All of them have excellent chances of being crowned 'America's Problem of 1970.'

"The judges still can't seem to make up their minds, so let's talk to some of the former winners to see how they fared after reigning as 'America's Problem of the Year. Here's 'Miss Poverty.' You were Queen in 1964, weren't you?"

"I THINK SO. I know it was an election year. It was really a wonderful experience. No one talked about anything else but poverty. They made documentaries about me, wrote a long series of articles in the newspapers; they even set up a government department just for me. It's something I'll always remember."

"Tell me, Miss Poverty, what happened when a new queen was crowned?"

"I retired. That's part of the contract. Once you're no longer the Problem of the Year, you're obligated not to make any more public appearances. You have to give another Problem a chance. Besides, the American people get sick of you, if you stay around too long."

"THANK YOU, Miss Poverty. Over here is 'Miss Vietnamese War.' We haven't heard from you in some time."

"I'm still here, though I'm afraid I'm not the glamour problem I used to be. Occasionally I'm mentioned in the papers or on television, but I must say it isn't the same as it used to be."

"We have time to address ourselves to one more problem, 'Miss Desegregation.' How do you feel when you see all these young eager Problems vying for the crown you once wore?"

"I ENVY THEM and their innocence. I guess I'm washed up now, but I'll always remember that brief moment when everyone sang 'Miss Desegregation — have you ever seen a dream walking?' It seems like only yesterday when I could do no wrong."

"Thank you, Miss Desegregation. We're sorry we don't have any more time to discuss your problem, but you know how the American people are. Well, I'm going over now to pick up the white envelope which will tell us what Problem will reign supreme in 1970 . . . I tear off the top and . . . Are you ready? . . . The Problem of the Year is Pollution! Miss Pollution is the new Queen. Let's hear it for Pollution. Now all together, 'Here she comes, Miss Pollution . . .'"

Billy Graham

What is the reason for the restlessness of our young people today? I am seventy years old and I have never seen a generation of young people so weird, so strange, and so unlike their elders. Can you explain this? L.Y.

Some say it's affluency, others say it's boredom, and some say it's just youthful restlessness as in any other generation.

But I say it's purposelessness. Many of these young people haven't a cause, and they are trying to manufacture one. When a person has a cause and a purpose, they spend their time and energy pursuing their cause. When they have none, they go meddling and probing for some kind of pseudo-purpose, and they become a nuisance to society. What they are doing is really running away from themselves, and when we do this we either fall flat on our face, or on our neighbor's throat.

I spend my time talking to thousands of young people across the world. I tell these young people who have not found goals or purposes for their lives that Christ's cause is worthy of their very best, that it can change their lives and the world they live in.

Many of our young people have lost faith in themselves. But, to me, there is no more worthy Cause than following Him who "turned the world upside down" in the first century, and Who has changed for the better every person down through the centuries who has dared to sincerely follow Him.

Bank Blows Temporary Money Freshlet

NEW YORK (AP) — What could prove to be the first faint breath of the winds of monetary change wafted out of Pennsylvania the past week and blew up a temporary storm on the stock market.

The little Philadelphia bank that three years ago helped lead a decrease in the rates banks charge their best borrowers, said it will lower the prime interest rate to eight per cent from the record high 8½ per cent.

Lincoln National Bank said it decided to lower the rate "because we don't want the economy of the Delaware Valley to suffer."

Spokesmen for many larger banks said the high cost of money — still hovering near record nine and 9½ per cent rates — will prevent an immediate similar move by other banks.

HUNGRY FOR CRUMBS

Stock market investors leaped at the news of the decrease, however, and flooded the New York and American exchanges with buy orders, driving the Dow Jones Industrial average up about 13 points.

Two other small banks — one in Arizona, the other in California — also reduced their prime rates by half a per cent to eight per cent before the week had ended.

George C. Parker, chairman of both the Community National Bank in Bakersfield and the American National Bank of Chandler, informed President Nixon of the move and said it was consistent with the government's anti-inflationary policies.

A day after the Lincoln action, William F. Butler, economist for Chase Manhattan Bank, said the Federal Reserve Board is moving toward a less restrictive monetary policy that would lead to lower interest rates in a matter of months.

New statistics indicate the economy is "really cooling off," Butler said.

The statistics, good news to inflation fighters, was evidenced in the government's declining index of leading economic indicators.

The sharp 1.8 per cent drop in January to a seasonally adjusted 149.3 per cent of the 1963 average was the largest monthly decline "in recent memory," the Commerce Department said.

FOUR OF SEVEN OFF

Four of the seven indicators declined — the average work week of production workers, new durable goods orders, building permits and the average weekly initial claims for state unemployment insurance. The claims rose, but are treated inversely in the index.

The three rising indicators were orders for plant and equipment, industrial materials prices and the ratio of price to unit manufacturing costs.

In addition, wholesale prices in February rose at a much slower estimated pace than in January, said the U.S. Department of Labor. The rate was 3.6 per cent on an annual basis compared with 9.6 per cent in January.

On the automotive front, Ford Motor Co. said it will close six of its 17 U.S. assembly plants in March for from five to 11 days and will lay off some 17,000 employes.

Some 3,000 other workers will be laid off indefinitely at various Ford parts and assembly plants.

OWNERSHIP PLAN NIXED

In other developments, the Securities and Exchange Commission turned down a New York Stock Exchange plan for limited public ownership of member firms.

The two key elements rejected were: That no more than 49 per cent of a member firm's outstanding voting stock may be held by the public; that no member firm be permitted to have as a customer a nonmember who owns more than five per cent of the firm.

The SEC said it had no objections to a Midwest Stock Exchange public ownership proposal.

The Midwest Exchange plan provides that at least 50 per cent of a member firm's gross income from securities must come from business other than that conducted for an affiliate or member firm parent.

Sensible Attitude On Collapsed Lung

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: How serious really is a collapsed lung?

Is it likely to happen again? Should you refrain from lifting heavy objects? Should you stop smoking? Would this cause the lung to collapse again? I am 34.—Mrs. B.T.

The term "collapsed lung" is more terrifying than it should be, but I can see why. It sounds pretty terrible.

But it isn't fatal — scary and inconvenient as it is. There is pain in the chest (sometimes more, sometimes less) and a sudden shortness of breath. Natural, because one lung has stopped working efficiently.

Patients often feel better about it when reminded that in cases of tuberculosis a lung sometimes is deliberately collapsed, to let it rest. (Not done as much now as in the past, though.)

What happens is this. A bleb (sort of a small bubble in the lung lining) ruptures. Air escapes into the pleural cavity. The lung collapses like a punctured balloon.

These blebs are small. The actual wound, or rupture, may not amount to much, actually, and it heals by itself, after which the lung again begins to work normally. However, the air that has leaked into the pleural cavity must be removed, to give the lung room. The patient must get along on one lung until that air is gone. In lesser cases, the air is gradually absorbed by the body tissues, but in most cases it is withdrawn by means of a hollow needle, which speeds the patient's return to activity.

In some cases it may take several weeks for recovery; prompt treatment shortens the time of disability.

These belbs are a peculiar anomaly of the lung. One causes no symptoms, and does no harm, until the moment it ruptures. What causes them isn't very clear. It's quite possible for a person to have a lung collapse once and never have it happen again.

If, however, it tends to be a recurring trouble, surgery may be necessary. The lung surface is dusted with a fine powder which causes adhesions and obliterates, or at least limits, the amount of pleural space.

With no way of predicting whether another bleb is present, the patient should avoid lifting for some time after the event. No special length of time — several months, perhaps.

Smoking? It's best to stop. In fact, any causes of cough should be eliminated, since a cough, as well as a sudden strain of some other sort, can rupture a bleb.

Lung collapse (the technical name is spontaneous pneumothorax) most commonly occurs, if at all, between the ages of 2 0and 40.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 11 years old. In school classmates have let me borrow their glasses. I have good eyesight but can see better with my friends' glasses. Do I need glasses? My friends say I do but I'm not sure.—J.M.

If you actually see better when wearing their glasses, then your eyesight may not be as good as it could be. Right?

Whether your vision is bad enough to warrant glasses, I can't say offhand, but I certainly think you would be wise to have your eyes tested.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it essential to have an egg each week? I say it is and my son and husband say no.—J.M.

I have to vote with them, because it is perfectly possible to get the same nutrients from other foods. However, for thousands of years eggs have been a pretty hand "food package,' and I don't know of any single food that contains as compact a "package" of the same nutrients.

Although cholesterol has been implicated in heart attacks and other circulatory troubles, it is nevertheless vital to human life. For this reason, Dr. Thosteson has entitled his booklet, "Control Your Cholesterol Sensibly." For a copy write to him in care of The Herald, enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

French President Views America

WASHINGTON — It has been a long time since the president of France has visited the United States, and has done so now under rather peculiar circumstances. For in recent years there has been a coolness in the relations between Paris and Washington. President de Gaulle had been arbitrary in his decisions and had cooled off the rather warm feeling that prevailed between the two countries before and during the two world wars. President Pompidou not only is more practical, but certainly is more diplomatic in his comments about the international situation than his predecessor.

IN AN INTERVIEW just published in "U.S. News & World Report," President Pompidou, when asked about the continued American military presence in Europe, said:

"Weighing everything carefully in the balance, I think that at the present time it is still normal that there be an American presence in Europe. That won't always be necessary — and I think it's desirable that one day it will no longer be necessary, since that will prove that everything is going very well in Europe. But right now it's still normal that there be an American military presence in Germany, for example. Besides, there are also French troops in Germany."

THE FRENCH president pointed out that France's concept of defense doesn't prevent her from being allied with other countries, notably the United States and the members of the Atlantic Alliance. He added:

"I cannot speak for others, but it seems to me that the present trend in America — which is probably not to try to assume all the responsibilities in the world at all times — is a trend which is fairly natural. But that is not isolationism. I cannot believe in American isolationism."

THE FRENCH president appears to think that the situation in the Middle East is tending to get worse and that the major powers will have to use their influence to bring about consultations for peace. President Nixon has been anxious to have heart-to-heart talks with President Pompidou for many reasons. Mr. Nixon realizes that a closer alliance with France is necessary if NATO is to be strengthened. Likewise, in the long run the French may help to bring pressure on the North Vietnamese as well as on the Arab countries. Closer relations with the Paris government are, therefore, a necessity of which the American President is fully aware.

ISRAELI SYMPATHIZERS here instituted a boycott by some members of Congress when the French president addressed that body. Certain members in whose districts are persons who are supporters of the Israeli cause against Egypt doubtless felt it was politically expedient for them to refrain from attending any of the Pompidou ceremonies. Such episodes may not be liked by the American government, but they come under the head of freedom of assembly, and they have been used by other groups as well in demonstrations here.

THE AMERICAN government, of course, makes no effort to stop the demonstrations except to prevent them from disturbing the peace or promoting any disorder at the Capitol or wherever President Pompidou may be visiting in America. It is a regrettable exhibition, but "demonstrations" have become a favorite way of expressing a form of protest.

Extremist Groups Arming To The Teeth

WASHINGTON — The revolutionaries on the right and the left are heavily armed and prepared if not for civil war then for sporadic attacks to bring down the old order. While the Black Panther shootouts make the headlines, occasional raids on the ultra-rightist Minutemen reveal big caches of arms ranging from bazookas and grenades to a wide variety of guns and explosives.

THE FACTS about armed America were documented thoroughly and scientifically as never before by the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence. By conservative estimate there are a hundred million guns in the hands of private citizens. Some knowledgeable observers would put it as high as 200,000,000.

The Panthers' aims are avowedly revolutionary. It is intolerable that they should accumulate stores of weapons and ammunitions. Yet the terrifying logic of the militancy is that if the whites are arming to destroy us, then we must arm.

PAINFULLY EVIDENT is the lack of an adequate gun-control law that would crack down on both whites and blacks. Sen. Joseph Tydings, D-Md., has reintroduced his bill requiring Federal or state licensing for gun ownership with positive identification of the purchaser. Licenses would be denied for reason of a felony record or a civil commitment for mental illness or to anyone under the age of 21.

The chances for the bill getting out of committee and onto the floor of the Senate are virtually nil, despite the stern warning contained in the report of the commission on violence. And the reason is not solely the power of the gun lobby, conspicuously the National Rifle Association.

TESTIMONY BY a spokesman for the Nixon Administration a year ago snuffed out any possibility of support for tightening the gun law passed in 1968. The pious attitude taken by the Administration was that there should be no further Federal action until it was seen what the states would do. That meant no action, period, since only with a push by the Department of Justice would a law with real teeth have had a chance.

The gun-control law passed in 1968 in the aftermath of the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy was certainly the half of a loaf better than none. The individual purchasing a gun cannot do so outside his own state. That was a distinct gain, since nine out of 10 hand guns had been purchased simply by crossing a state line.

UNDER ANOTHER provision, thanks to a more or less accidental amendment, a felon cannot own a weapon. Obviously, however, this applies only after you catch the culprit. A crackdown in the District of Columbia revealed that convicted felons are "renting" guns from purveyors agreeing to take a part of the loot as rental.

At the moment in 1968 when supposedly after the Kennedy tragedy the time was right for strict legislation Tydings put forward his measure. It was defeated on the Senate floor by a vote of two to one.

THE PRIVATE armories will continue to grow in both the black and white communities. It took the FBI nearly a year and a half to track down Robert B. DePugh, the fugitive chief of the Minutemen. He was taken at the town of Truth Or Consequences, N.M., with a confederate and a large store of weapons and explosives.

No one can know how extensive these caches are and how many of the hundred million or more guns are in the hands of criminals and madmen.

For years, members of Kappa Sigma, whose house is in the "line of fire," have donned Mexican costumes and fired back from the top of their house. The Mexican-American Student Association objected to the fraternity's actions.

A couple of years ago, a Peace Corps volunteer could do a lot of good in a lot of places with a little Yankee ingenuity and great enthusiasm.

But the world's getting harder to fix. The emerging nations are much more sophisticated. And so are their problems.

That's why we're giving the bulk of our volunteers, the young college graduates, more and better training before they go overseas. With emphasis on specific skills for specific assignments.

We figure they should know how to solve problems before they're overwhelmed by them.

We're also asking for volunteers with more experience and more skills. Plumbers. Engineers. Electricians. Farmers. Almost anybody who's had experience working with his head and his hands.

To get this kind of person, we have to make some changes.

For the first time, the Peace Corps will take volunteers with wives and children.

We will provide adequate living allowances and medical protection for families. Schooling for children.

We will provide adequate housing. (Or find it.)

We're willing to talk to employers about holding jobs and seniority.

Whether we train you, or if you have the skills we need, we'll do what we must to put you where you're needed.

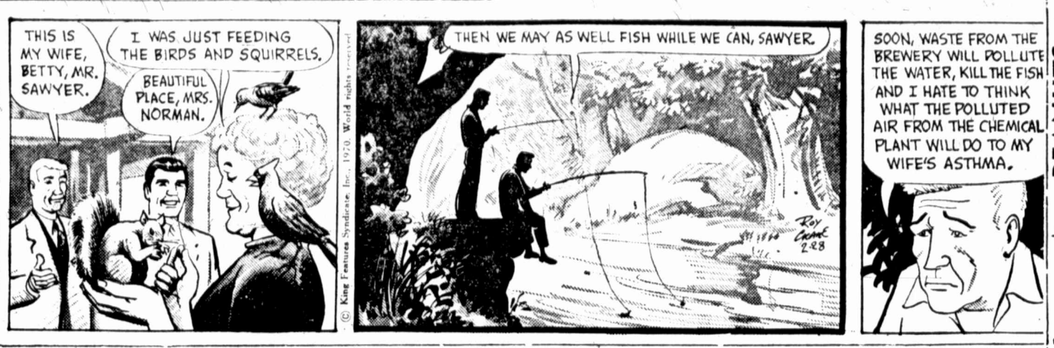

Write us for more information. The world needs all the help it can get.

KING OF THE GRIZZLIES
. . . Walt Disney production

Bear, Bull Battle In Disney Movie

The fearless curiosity of a frisky bear cub results in a wild encounter between his grizzly mother and a bull bully in Walt Disney Productions' adventure feature, "King of the Grizzlies," starting Thursday at the Ritz.

During his first long overland journey with mama bear, junior wanders off and discovers a calf standing motionless in the center of a clearing. Slowly the cub, Wahb, comes up to him and they touch noses. This unnerves the calf and he starts to bawl. Suddenly this peaceful forest tableau is shattered by the bellow of a range bull as he bursts into the clearing, halts for a moment and looks around to get his bearing.

Then with another bellow he charges directly at Wahb. The calf bawls and disappears in one direction and Wahb, with a terrified squeal, dives in the other direction and hides in some brush. The bull pulls up at the thicket edge, snorting and pawing at the ground, while Wahb trembles a breath or so away. To the bull the scent of a grizzly, no matter how small, means danger to his herd.

Wahb squirms through the dense undergrowth and emerges into a slightly more open area and takes off full speed. The furious bull locates him and he crashes into the thicket in bellowing pursuit. During the charge the bull catches Wabh and tosses him. Wahb is not hurt, but the impact lends wings to his heels and volume to his voice. His mother picks up the distress signal and soon she looms above the top of the thicket to see what is threatening her offspring. The bull retreats a little in surprise, but then stands his ground. He has little to fear in the animal world because of his size and strength, but there is no rage on earth to match that of a mother grizzly, especially when the safety of her cub is in question.

She moves out to meet the bull while Wahb stays behind in the cover. The two giants now face each other. The mother advances slowly on her hind legs in the fighting attitude, head thrust forward, back hunched growling with her massive arms widespread at the ready. She pauses, then advances again. The bull whirls, looking for an opening. The mother keeps facing him and steps forward again. The bull paws and bellows, switching his hindquarters to the opposite side and as he does so, the grizzly suddenly darts foward.

'Take The Money And Run' Stars Multi-Talented Woody Allen

"Take the Money and Run" presents the triple-threat talents of Woody Allen as star, director, and co-author. Allen creates and portrays a hero as unlikely as Virgil Starkwell, as master criminal who always bungles the crime, blowing his chances to make the Ten Most Wanted List.

The original comedy, fimled in San Francisco, also stars Janet Margolin and opens Wednesday at the R-70 Theatre.

"Take the Money and Run" was filmed in color, and the story takes place in locales east and south of the Bay City. Woody claims it was a nicer place to spend the summer than Cleveland.

'TAKE THE MONEY . . .'
. . .with Woody Allen

Written by Woody and Mickey Rose, the film marks Woody's first directorial turn. His writing and performing have been seen on screen previously in "What's New Pussycat?" and "Casino Royale," and he was responsible for developing the Japanese-dubbed-into - English spoof, "What's Up, Tiger Lily?"

The locations ranged from North Beach to Nob Hill, including major sequences inside San Quentin. Much of the action takes place in a prison, giving Woody the opportunity to spotlight scenes that have become familiar to all devotees of the Late Show. Woody, the prisoner, is involved in the laundry, the yard, the dining hall, in solitary, in a medical voluntary experiment, and in a prison break.

One hundred inmates worked with the film unit and were paid a special fee. The regular cast and crew were stamped each day with an invisible ink that glowed under ultra violet light as they left each day. If you didn't glow, you didn't go!

Micil Murphy returned to prison for a role in the film. He had become an actor since obtaining his parole from San Quentin in 1966 after a five and a half year term for armed robbery.

For Janet Margolin, the film represents another step in her rising career and her first comedy film. The star of "David and Lisa" catches the eye of Virgil Starkwell and eventually becomes his wife.

One of radio's most familiar voices, Jackson Beck, provides the narration which introduces the film and runs through it. In the course of the picture, the audience is brought face to face not only with Virgil and his partners in crime, but, his grade school teacher, his parents, a psychiatrist, and other associates along his bungling trail of crime.

For Allen, already a success as a playwright, screen writer, television writer, magazine writer, movie star, TV star and night club star, it would seem only natural to take on movie directing with no verbal, physical or emotional trepidation.

The day before he began directing himself and Janet Margolin in "Take the Money and Run," Woody commented cooly: "The way I look at it, the less I know, the better. Directing and acting will be no harder than just acting. I wrote the script with Mickey Rose and I know exactly what I want. So I don't anticipate any problems."

UNNECESSARY PHONE CALLS

Scotland Yard Number In Film

Scotland Yard will probably be deluged with unnecessary telephone calls when "The Brain" opens shortly in England. The reason is a scene in the film where a Scotland Yard superintendent explains to television viewers how to recognize the Brain (played by David Niven), a master criminal, and advises them to call Whitehall 12-12 if they see anyone fitting that description.

DAVID NIVEN AS 'THE BRAIN'
. . . costars Silvia Monti

The phenomenon of film audiences attempting to reach telephone numbers mentioned in motion pictures is by no means restricted to the rush of calls on Scotland Yard anticipated in the screenplay of "The Brain." In the past, it has been amply demonstrated that whenever a telephone number or an address is mentioned in a film, the movie-going public just has o try it out.

When "Ten North Frederick" was released, a little over 10 years ago, post offices all over New Jersey were swamped with mail to that address. Two decades ago, a film titled "Call Northside 777" drove switchboard operators crazy in every small community that had that exchange.

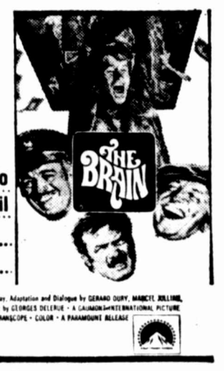

Even a song can provoke the curious to writing or telephoning. When Glenn Miller's "Pennsylvania 6-5000" became a smash hit during World War II, New York's Pennsylvania Hotel — whose number it was at the time — had to have that line disconnected.

Working with the writer on the script of "Arabasque" a few years ago, producer-director Stanley Donen casually tossed his own London telephone number, Ambassador 42-69, into a scene in which Gregory Peck had to read off his phone number to a friend. It was Donen's unlisted telephone number, but he had to have it changed as soon as the film was released in England. He kept getting calls at all hours of the day and night asking for Peck.

In a recent Frank Sinatra film, "The Naked Runner," Sinatra asks a Copenhagen operator to get him the Military Intelligence office in London — and he gives her the actual number of the British Denfense Ministry: Whitehall 70-22. When the film opened in London, the switchboards went wild at the Ministry, with the operators answering thousands of calls from people who had nothing to say.

Actor Says He Remembers Living Two Previous Lives

The search for Bridey Murphy in longago Ireland had little on the story of Glenn Ford, who stars in Walt Disney Productions' modern day western, "Smith!," as a kind-hearted rancher who does his best to assist his down-trodden Indian neighbors. The film opens Thursday at the Jet.

Glenn, who has a bit of Blackfoot blood flowing in his own veins, and who has for some time been interested in the field of psychic phenomena on a personal basis, has been regressed under hypnosis to two former lives, one as a Scotsman and the other as a Frenchman.

In both cases he was associated with horses. Ford is a superb horseman and does nearly all his own stunts on horseback. He has known about and loved the equine brethren throughout this life, long before he should have been able to do so. When he was a year old or so his parents were astonished to hear him say, "I smell horse. There are horses," although there were none nearby and he had had not the time nor the growth to have ever seen one.

In his most recent former life, according to taped interviews under hypnosis, Ford was a music teacher who devoted his whole life to horses, which he raised as a sideline and loved with a passion. He lived in Elgin, Scotland and died in 1812 at the age of 32.

During the interviews he spoke with a clipped British accent, which wasn't too convincing on the face of it since as an actor Ford can do that anyhow, under any circumstances. But what sold him on the phenomena when he listened to the tapes were his own piano renditions of Chopin, Beethoven and Mozart. The Glenn Ford of today can't play a note.

A further trip back into time found him say, "I smell horse." He began to speak fluently in the Parisian French of the 1600's and early 1700's. As the Frenchman he was, he described the Versailles of the time, its physical layout and even the then prevailing smell of sewage. He has since checked all the facts in research and found them to be correct.

A SLIGHT misunderstanding about the word "barefoot" caused some chuckles among the cast and crew of the Little Theatre of Big Spring production "Barefoot in the Park" this week.

Al Scott, who handles publicity for the group as well as playing the role of Mr. Velasco in the play, said an unidentified man called to ask if "barefoot" means nude. Scott explained the play is not a "nudie," and none are planned for production this year.

The play was presented Thursday, Friday and Saturday and will continue its run Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in Cosden Club. Tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for students and airmen.
