New rule suspends waste site permitting

AUSTIN - The Texas Water Commission met in emergency session Wednesday at 6 p.m. to adopt a rule immediately suspending until September 1, 1991, the processing of all new or pending permit applications for the treatment, storage, or disposal of hazardous and non-hazardous industrial waste by a commercial facility. The rule implementing the suspension was adopted in response to a request made earlier Wednesday by Governor Ann Richards.

In her letter dated February 6, addressed to Water Commission Chairman Buck J. Wynne, III, Governor Richards requested that the Commission "immediately suspend all permitting activities on new or pending applications for commercial industrial waste incinerators, including boilers and industrial furnaces (such as cement kilns) that burn industrial waste, and injection wells." The Water Commission will meet to decide whether to extend the moratorium. The extensions proposed include a two year and an indefinite moratorium.

In March of 1990, Mitchell County officials signed a "landfill host agreement" with National Waste and Energy Development Inc. (NWED) of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, which allows the firm to build a landfill and waste incinerator in the county.

County officials expect the plant would create between 100 and 150 jobs. The moratorium imposed by the Water Commission could delay the proposed project.

Entertainers,
"All-Stars"
match set

The Harlem Entertainers are coming to Colorado City on Friday, February 15, and they will be matched against the very best Colorado City has to offer...the Colorado City All Stars!

Among the world famous players on the All Stars, coached by David Woods, are Randy Anderson, Richard Arthur, Jim Baum, Frank Biggers, Mark Carter, Jerold Epperson, Blake Hammond, Jeff Hammond, Larry Hartwick, Bobby Matlock, Gary McNeil, Mark Merrill, Gary Parker, Todd Pollard, Greg Stuckey, and Freddy Thompson.

Of course, there is a possibility that the Entertainers, when they see their competition, will decide to forfeit rather than risk sure humiliation.

Just in case that should happen, spectators need have no fear that

CHS places 3rd at WTC meet

In the lobby of Colorado High School, some literary-minded teachers and students gather together, perhaps to argue about the interpretation of a controversial passage in a poem or play. The students are doing very well in literary competitions around the area. From left to right are Carl Moore, speech and theatre teacher; Amy Moore; Julie McElvaney; Wesley Brown; Leah Watson; and Kitten Arthur, senior English teacher.

In a recent speech, literary criticism and ready writing competition at Western Texas College in Snyder, Colorado High School placed third over all in a field of 13 schools.

Snyder High School placed first, and Big Spring High School placed second.

Individual Colorado High School winners in the competition were Wesley Brown, a senior, who placed third in informative speaking, and Julie McElvaney, a junior, who placed third in persuasive speaking.

Amy Moore, a senior, placed third in poetry interpretation and, along with Jay Kay, a sophomore, placed second in duet acting.

Leah Watson, a freshman, placed second in literary criticism.

Over 35 Colorado High School students travelled to another similar competition in Sonora Friday and Saturday, February 8 and 9, but results were not known at press time.

Drivers license class offered on local basis

County Commissioner Buddy Hertenberger has informed the Colorado City Record of an upcoming class of instruction for the written test in the new requirements for a commercial drivers license.

New federal regulations have changed several details of the test, and owners and operators of any vehicle with a gross weight above 26,001 pounds will be required to have the license by April 1, 1992.

Farmers and firemen are exempted from the requirement.

The eight-hour class, presented by T&T Transports, will be divided into two four-hour increments. On Friday, March 1, the first half of the class will begin at 6 p.m. and last until 10 p.m.; and on Saturday, March 2, the second half will begin at 8 a.m. and last until noon. Both classes will be held in the Civic Center.

Final examination, for written test only, will be given on Monday, March 4 at the Civic Center at 6 p.m.

Cost of the class is $25 per student, and books will be provided free of charge.

Application forms can be picked up at the Driver's License Office, and must be filled out in black ink

Sewer problems
"reek" havoc at office

It seems that the Colorado City Record is sitting on one of the biggest stories of the last few weeks...and you can take that literally.

Part of the old city sewer system, constructed of clay tile and believed by some to have been built in the late 1920's or early 1930's, is, to be kind, showing the effects of age.

Members of the city council and interested visitors were treated, at an emergency meeting on Thursday night, to a miracle of modern technology...a video tape of approximately 500 feet of sewer line, taken from the inside, with a special video camera.

The taping was done in 1988 by a company called Insituform of North America, Inc., a company which might hold the solution to the city's sewer problems.

The tape shows many problems, cracks, holes, misalignments, and, just as the camera approached the area of sewer line right next to the Record office, the problem it showed was that the sewer line was gone altogether.

So the sewer water is, shall we say, gently diverted at that point. Part of it flows on and joins the pipe again because of the momentum, but much of it, as you may have noticed if you visited us recently, flows directly into the basement of the Record building.

Insituform's solution involves another one of those miracles of modern technology, like the sewer camera.

The solution is called Insitutube. It is, according to available literature, a special needled felt reconstruction tube with a plastic coating on the outside which is impregnated with a liquid thermosetting resin.

This tube is lowered into a manhole through an inversion tube.

The inversion tube is then filled with water. The weight of the water inverts the Insitutube into the damaged pipe, turning it inside out and pressing the resin-impregnated side firmly against the inside walls of the old pipe. The smooth, coated side of the Insitutube becomes the

Westbrook students do well
in Big Lake UIL competition

If numbers don't make sense to you, then you would be quite impressed by some of the students at Westbrook High School who recently competed in a University Interscholastic League meet in Big Lake.

At this competition, the Calculator Championship Team of Jeff Conaway, Michael Martin, and Felix Vigil made some sense with their calculators.

Conaway, 16, a sophomore, and Vigil, 18, a senior, each placed second in the competition in their grade levels, while Martin, 15, a sophomore, placed first in his grade level.

Jay Browne and Greg Conaway, both 15 and freshmen, placed first and second respectively on calculators against other competitors of their grade levels as well.

In another part of the competition, called, interestingly enough, number sense, Jeff Conaway placed sixth, Michael Martin placed third, and Jay Browne placed fifth.

The number sense portion of the test involved approximately 80 questions. Competitors had ten minutes to solve as many as possible - in their heads!

There could be no calculators on this portion of the test, not even any scratch paper, and Dan Truelove, Westbrook math instructor, said that there could not even be any evidence of erasure or change of an answer on the form.

Number sense questions ranged in difficulty. Seventeen times twenty-three was one of the easiest ones, according to the students. They said that three, divided by two to the third power, times five, converted to a decimal, was pretty easy for them, too.

One of the "easy" calculator problems they solved was to find the volume of a sphere whose surface area is 2464 centimeters squared.

The calculator portion of the test involved 80 questions, which competitors were given 30 minutes to answer, and the Westbrook students averaged between 65 and 70.

Truelove said that the calculator problems made use of preliminary engineering problems to utilize all functions of the calculator.

The hot water causes the thermosetting resin to cure within a few hours, changing the pliable Insituform into a hard, structurally sound, pipe-within-a-pipe. It has no joint or seams, and is as strong as or stronger than the pipe it replaced, according to the literature. The entire operation can take a matter of mere hours, and usually avoids excavation and disruption. Insituform gave the city council an estimate, at the same time as the

Child Passenger Week set

The week of February 10-16, 1991 has been designated as Child Passenger Safety Awareness Week, sponsored by the Texas Department of Health and the Mitchell County Ambulance Service. The theme of the week will be "Buckle Up for Love."

Gene Weatherall, Chief of the Texas Department of Health Bureau of Emergency Management, said that in 1989 more than 700 Texas children died of injuries that could have been prevented. "The good news," Weatherall said, "is that child safety seats prevented 28,000 injuries and about 200 deaths in children four and younger in this country last year."

"Trauma is still the number one killer of children," said Mike Redwine, EMT/SS, Mitchell County Ambulance Service, "and children are most vulnerable to trauma when they ride in motor vehicles." According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, child safety seats are 71% effective in preventing fatalities.

Texas law requires children under the age of two to ride in a safety seat; from the age of two to four, children may ride in a safety seat or buckled by a safety belt. Everyone in the front seat, no matter what age, must ride buckled up.

Parents who want to borrow a child safety seat can contact the health department's SafeRiders Program at 1-800-252-8255.

"We hope the Buckle Up for Love program will make the residents of Mitchell county more aware of the positive aspects of buckling their safety belts," said Redwine.

For more information, call Mike Redwine at 728-3431, or Alana S. Mallard, 512-458-7550.

Allan and Jo Miles stand by the sign they erected in their yard in honor of their son, SSG Mark Miles, who is in Saudi Arabia.

Parents of soldier show support for son

Allan and Jo Miles of Colorado City are the parents of Mark Miles, a staff sergeant in the United States Army who is presently stationed in Saudi Arabia.

They have erected a sign in the front yard of their home to show their support and pride for their son, a field artillery ammunition specialist, as well as for all of the troops in the Persian Gulf. They hope to be able to change the sign soon, to reflect an upcoming promotion to sergeant first class.

The Miles have just moved into a new home from the one where Mark lived before he joined the Army thirteen and a half years ago, but they said that when he came home for Christmas, he adapted to the new home, and even staked out a bedroom and bathroom to call his own.

His parents said that they asked him where he was going to be stationed in Saudi Arabia, but that their son said he really didn't know.

They suspect that he is just being a "good soldier," because, they said, Mark has been excellent in map reading ever since he was a Boy Scout, long before he was presented his Eagle Scout badge by (then) Mayor Mike Burt.

Mark's father was a chief petty officer in the United States Navy, and said that Mark told him he was joining the Army instead because "the Army needs good people, too."

SSG Miles is also the father of Candice Miles of Garland, whom her grandparents call "the world's best granddaughter."

The Colorado City Record gave an address in the last issue for those wishing to write to SSG Miles, but we will repeat it again:

Pecan, fruit tree workshop slated Feb. 18

The Mitchell County Extension Service Horticulture Committee will sponsor a pecan and fruit tree workshop on Monday, February 18, 1991. The workshop is scheduled to start at 10 a.m. at the Lone Wolf Electric Co-op Medallion Room. After a short inside program, the workshop will move outside (weather permitting) to Nutty Acres Orchard on north highway 208 for some practical, hands-on sessions.

The day's program will be done by two Extension Specialist from the Texas A&M University System. Dr. Larry Stein, a horticulturalist from Stephenville, will provide information on tree care for all seasons. He will also address disease problems, preventions, and cures as well as giving a tree pruning clinic once the group moves to Nutty Acres.

Dr. Tom Fuchs, entomologist from San Angelo, will furnish information on insect problems in pecans and fruits. He will make suggestions on proper times to spray for insects and the proper chemicals to use.

The two specialists are highly qualified to address anything concerning pecan and fruit production and will focus their programs toward home owner, backyard trees.

This program should be very beneficial to anyone who has pecan or fruit trees, regardless of how many.

Yellowjackets sting Wolves, 50-47

The Colorado City Wolves travelled long and far to continue district play against the Kermit Yellowjackets on Friday, February 1. Although staying close throughout the basketball game, the mighty Pack could not hold off the sting of the Yellowjackets, 50-47. The mighty Wolves, although suffering a narrow defeat, led the contest through the first half by a point, 21-20.

The key turning point in the game was when the 'Jackets managed to tie the contest in the middle of the third period, and keeping the score even with one period remaining, 34-34.

The two teams traded baskets for the most part in the last quarter, before Kermit took a one point advantage and managed to hold on for the 50-47 victory over the visiting Wolves.

Contributing on the evening were Kevin Green, 14; Brandon Raschke, 11; Mark Monroe, 9; Robbie Smith, 5; Wendell Iglehart, 4; Jeremy Strain, 2; and Kent Shane, 2.

In the Junior Varsity competition, the young Wolves fought well and hard for their 77-64 victory over Kermit. Those scoring were Jason Blassingame, 20; David Castillo, 20; James Franco, 17; Jeff Potter, 8; Jason Lynch, 8; Justin Sullivan, 3; and Jeremy Lelek, 1.

Lady Wolves beat Kermit

The Colorado City Lady Wolves kept up their winning ways as they defeated the Kermit Lady Yellowjackets for the second time this district season in basketball by a score of 49-44 on February 1.

After the first period of play, the Lady Wolves took a lead of 14-8, but before the Lady Wolves could put the Lady 'Jackets out of commission, Kermit regained their composure and took the lead going into the half, 23-18.

Having the momentum going into the second half, the Yellowjackets went ice cold from the field as they were outscored by Colorado City, 31-21 as the Lady Wolves came out on top, 49-44.

Those scoring for the Lady Wolves were Tracy Hoover, 17; Elaine McKnight, 10; Pat Molina, 10; Bridgett Bridgford, 6; Angela Biggers, 4; Veronica Moreno, 2; and Tammy Lelek, 1.

The Junior Varsity game was a dandy as the Kermit ladies defeated the Lady Wolves by only one point in a game of good defense, 38-37.

Contributing for the Lady Wolves were Lori McElvane, 12; Lisa Martinez, 11; Bonnie Boone, 8; Crescent Ross, 4; and Leah Watson, 4.
