3-Day Axis Plane Loss Rises To 286

Soviets Destroy 65 Nazi Planes Attacking Kursk

Reds Lose Ten As Giants Jockey For Offensive Blows

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Sunday, May 23. — Russian airmen and gunners destroyed 65 German planes out of a large formation that attacked Kursk, a main base supplying Red Army troops threatening Axis-held Orel, 80 miles to the north, Moscow announced early today.

A broadcast recorded by the Soviet monitor said Russian fighter pilots shot down 56 of the enemy planes yesterday morning on the outskirts of the city, and anti-aircraftmen downed nine others. This broadcast was a revision of an early announcement which placed Axis losses at 44 planes.

Ten Red Planes Lost

Ten Russian planes were lost in the action.

The midnight communique also announced that the Red airforce destroyed or damaged approximately 10 German tanks, more than 50 trucks carrying troops and supplies, and three railway trains in Friday's operations in various sectors. In addition three artillery batteries were reported silenced, an enemy patrol ship and two motorboats sunk, and an ammunition and fuel dump blown up.

German dispatches have predicted a major Russian offensive soon in the Orel sector, and the heavy attack on Kursk apparently was prompted by that Axis nervousness over its positions at the hinge of the central and southern fronts.

Sporadic artillery fire punctuated the long Russian fronts at a number of widely separated fronts, but there was no general change in the land front as reported in the midnight Moscow bulletin.

Russian dispatches said a "stern silence" generally characterized the huge front where both sides were piling up stores of ammunition, tanks, and men for an approaching summer battle expected to be most decisive of the war.

Time alone will tell which side takes the offensive, and London military observers say a German push is overdue, perhaps delayed by Allied invasion threats in the west and south.

The midnight communique did not even mention the embattled Caucasus, although yesterday's noon communique said heavy Russian artillery continued to assault Novorossisk's inner defenses.

Legion To Open Session Monday

Approximately 200 delegates from the 19th district of the American Legion are expected to attend the annual district convention in Lubbock Monday afternoon and night.

Rehabilitation Committee

A meeting of the Legion rehabilitation committee, comprised of a state service officer and post commanders, adjutants and service officers, will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock in the Hilton hotel.

Registration for the conference will open at 5 o'clock at the Legion hall and will be followed by a barbecue at 6 o'clock. Election of officers and reports of committees are scheduled in the business session, which will be conducted at 7:30 o'clock.

Three addresses and singing by Lt. C. E. Prescott of Lubbock Army Flying school will comprise the night program, opening at 9 o'clock. The speakers will be Rev. H. H. Blake of Colorado City, chaplain of the Texas department, whose subject will be "The Legion Must Measure Up," and W. T. Strange of Lubbock and G. Ward

Comintern To Be Dissolved

Communists' Dissolution Is Decreed By Committee

By EDDIE GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, May 22. — The Comintern, the organization which Lenin and his advanced revolutionary followers created in 1919 to mobilize working class parties throughout the world, announced its own dissolution today in order to advance the cause against fascism.

The action, the most far-reaching yet taken in the swing toward full war cooperation between Soviet Russia and her major western Allies, was adopted by the Comintern's executive committee which explained that, because of inability to convene a Congress under present war conditions, it was asking the various national sections to ratify the step.

Say Plan Out-Moded

A resolution adopted by the committee said the Communist International had been out-moded and had proven to be a drag, in some countries, on the "further strengthening of the national working class parties."

The great lesson of the war, it added, was that "the general national uprising and mobilization of people for the speediest victory over the enemy can be best of all and most fruitfully carried out by the vanguard of the working class movement of each separate country working within the framework of its own country."

The announcement seemed to indicate that dissolution of the Comintern was no temporary wartime expediency but a final act of abolition.

(A German radio broadcast said it was intended to aid the "kindling of a political revolution in Europe" in support of an American-British invasion.)

Adroit Political Move

(One foreign diplomatic source in London described it as "the most intelligent and adroit political move of the war.")

A resolution, signed by two Germans, two Finns, two Italians, two Russians, two Frenchmen, a Czech, a Bulgarian, a Hungarian and a Spanish woman communist, said that even before the war it became clear that because of increasing complications in internal and international affairs of various countries "any sort of international center would encounter insuperable obstacles in solving the problems" of the Communist movement.

The working class parties have three main tasks, it declared. Those in Hitler's bloc must give all help "by sabotage of the Hitlerite military machine from within."

The "sacred duty" of those in the anti-Hitler coalition consists of aiding "by every means the military efforts of the governments of these countries aimed at the speediest defeat of the Hitlerite bloc."

War Of Liberation

Finally, the basic task in the occupied lands is the promotion of the "armed struggle developing into a national war of liberation," the resolution declared.

As a result, the resolution of the Communist party of the United States in withdrawing from the Comintern in November, 1940, had been approved, the resolution stated.

Before closing the records of the Third International, however, the resolution lauded the "historic role" of the Communist center in helping mobilize the van-

Big Mississippi Breaks Barriers

100,000 Homeless In Six-State Area

(By The Associated Press)

The swollen Mississippi river crashed through weakened barriers in southern Illinois and eastern Missouri late Saturday inundating one of the nation's largest railroad yards and trapping some 1,000 civilians who appealed to the coast guard for rescue boats.

The flood waters, which already have spilled over 1,356,960 acres and made more than 100,000 homeless in six midwestern states, engulfed the Missouri Pacific railroad's DuPont, railroad yards, washed out the main line of the Gulf, Mobile and Ohio railroad and threatened the town of Dupo, whose 2,082 residents were being evacuated.

Boats Sent Out

Coast guardsmen sent out boats immediately when the Mississippi made an unexpected breakthrough in St. Charles county, Mo., isolating about 1,000 civilians.

The Red Cross said there was an "increasingly serious health situation" in the affected areas and that "conservatively" more than 100,000 persons were homeless in the four states and Kansas and Indiana.

The swollen Illinois forced the evacuation of all women, children and aged persons from Breadstown, Ill., and halted war production at the huge Caterpillar tractor works in Peoria, Ill., where thousands of employes went to work on the dikes.

Water consumption at Fort Smith, Ark., was limited by city authorities to drinking and cooking as the surging Arkansas broke temporary conduits strung across an Army bridge.

Jap Bases Pounded, Small Ship Is Sunk

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Sunday, May 23. (AP)—Allied bombers struck at four Japanese bases on New Guinea and New Britain yesterday, the high command announced.

A 500-ton Japanese ship was sunk by air bombing off Kaimana, Dutch New Guinea.

Three Japanese bombers again raided Exmouth gulf in west Australia but today's noon communique reported their bombs dropped "harmlessly."

The enemy raiders dropped nine bombs which fell into the sea.

The Japanese airdrome at Gasmata, on New Britain's southern shore just above New Guinea, was subjected to another of the almost daily attacks the Allies direct upon it.

In addition to sinking the ship at Kaimana, big Allied bombers started fires along the wharf area.

Coal Deliveries To Italy Said Stopped

LONDON, Sunday, May 23. (AP) A Moscow broadcast, quoting an Istabul dispatch, said early today that Germany had halted coal deliveries to Italy, interrupting war production there, because of the RAF's breaching of the two Ruhr dams.

OWI Says Army Private Gets Equivalent Of $1,700 Year

WASHINGTON, May 22 — An estimate that the lowest paid Army private receives the equivalent of $1,700 a year came tonight from the Office of War Information.

OWI said the estimate was made by Rep. Patman (D-Tex), assisted by the War and Navy departments and the Veterans administration.

It gave the following breakdown:

Soldiers cash income at $50 a month, $600; food, figured at $1.50 a day, $574.50; barrack shelter ($10 monthly), $120; equipment and replacement, $170; medical, dental and hospital care, $100; saved on life insurance, $63.40; saved on cigarettes, $10.95; saved on laundry, $32.50; saved on postage and barber bills, $28.65.

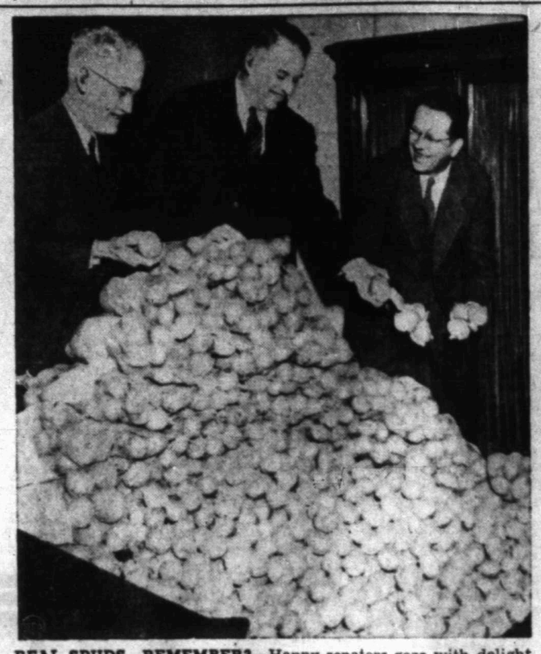

Reviewing various rights and privileges of service men, OWI said:

"Acts of Congress pertaining to the welfare of service men and their families, state laws and the program of the American Red Cross provide:

"A serviceman's civil liabilities, such as income tax, suits for debts, and insurance premium payments, are suspended and remain suspended until six months after the war.

Refusal Of Airline Permits In This Area Fails To Halt Fight For Service To City

By CHAS. W. RATLIFF
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

Although recent decisions of the Civil Aeronautics board in Washington rejected applications on three proposed airline routes through Lubbock, indications are that this city still stands a good chance of securing airline routes in the future and that they will come as soon as extensions are authorized after the close of the war.

Applications of Braniff Airways and Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., for lines from Houston and San Antonio through Lubbock to Amarillo were rejected and action was deferred on applications of Essair, Inc., for two routes from Houston to Garden City, Kas., and Albuquerque, both running through Lubbock. One route would be via Austin, Abilene, Lubbock and Amarillo to Garden City while the other would go via Austin, San Angelo, Big Spring and Lubbock to Albuquerque.

Braniff Continues Effort

Indications of continued effort on the part of Braniff Airways to secure a route through Lubbock were given in a letter to the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce Saturday by Chas. E. Beard, vice president of Braniff at Dallas.

"In contemplating the decision of the Civil Aeronautics board with respect to the West Texas routes, we find that no decision was given in our Docket No. 505 in which we applied for permission to include Lubbock as an intermediate point on Route 15 between Wichita Falls and Amarillo," Mr. Beard wrote. "We presume, therefore, that the board still has this application under consideration and it is our intention to prosecute this application to a final determination.

"If the decision, when it is made by the board, is in the negative, we assure you and the City of Lubbock that it will not terminate our efforts to add your community to the Braniff Airways system and to provide you with ample and adequate air transportation," Mr. Beard's letter continued. "It would be our plan to re-apply in the light of that decision made by the board, with a view to proposing an air transportation service for Lubbock which would both serve your needs and be acceptable to the board."

Plan Exhaustive Survey

Lubbock Chamber of Commerce officials plan an exhaustive survey in the near future to supplement briefs filed in 1940 on the applications and to aid in any way

MRS. WILLIAM H. TAFT

* * *

Mrs. Taft Dies At Washington

WASHINGTON, May 22. (AP) — Mrs. William Howard Taft, who during her 81 years saw her husband become president and then chief justice of the Unted States and one of her sons become a senator, died today.

Ill for a year and a half, Mrs. Taft died at her home where she had lived much of the time since she first came to the capital with her husband when he was inaugurated in March, 1909.

Mrs. Taft was credited by friends with being the political mentor for her husband, who urged him on through the various channels that led to his nomination and election as president.

Long Residence Broken Once

Her residency in the capital was broken only once in more than 30 years, the eight-year interlude between the time she moved from the White House and the day upon which she came back to Washington as the wife of the chief justice. He served on the Supreme Court from 1921 to 1930, the year of his death.

After the death of her husband, Mrs. Taft saw another member of her family take a prominent place in national politics. Her son Robert was elected to the United States Senate from Ohio in 1938. Another son, Charles P. Taft, is serving in the wartime job of assistant director of the office of defense health.

Mrs. Taft will be buried Tuesday at Arlington National cemetery, at the side of her husband.

Rationing No Bother At Pioneer Roundup

PLAINVIEW, May 22. (AP)—The rationing was no problem to the 15th annual Pioneer Roundup parade here today.

Cowboys and cowgirls on their saddle horses, some ancient gas buggies and horse drawn floats comprised the five-block procession.

A chuck wagon supper, square dancing and other frontier entertainment closed the celebration tonight.

NEARING TWO-FOR-ONE

NEW YORK, May 23 (AP)—By the end of this year, the national industrial conference board estimated today, there will be only two workers in private industry outside agriculture for every person in government service, civilian or military.

Child Uninjured By Five-Day Wandering

HARRISONBURG, Va., May 22 (AP)—Four-year-old Doris Dean, lost for five days in the Shenandoah National park, was found today, severely scratched but otherwise apparently not seriously endangered from her wanderings alone in a high, rugged section of the Blue Ridge mountains.

More than 1,2000 persons, including a Virginia protective force company, had been searching for the girl since she wandered away from her home in the Blue Ridge foothills last Monday.

Japs Split Into Three Isolated Groups On Attu

Village Of Attu Is Destroyed As Nips Doggedly Hold On

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 22. — Triumphant American troops have split the Japanese remnants on Attu island into three isolated groups in preparation for the final battle, the Navy disclosed today.

Fighter-bombers supporting the ground forces destroyed Attu village, apparently the enemy's supply center, yesterday. A fuel depot went up in flames and other installations took fire. A church and one other structure were the only buildings that rose above the ruins of the little settlement.

Nips Doggedly Fight On

The Japanese evidently had no more intention of surrendering, despite the hopelessness of their position, than they had had in other tight spots of the war in New Guinea and Guadalcanal. There was no doubt among authorities here that the fight would go on until the last enemy soldier has been blasted or bayoneted from the last fox-hole.

The Japanese positions were described in a communique as being in:

1. The area around Chichagof harbor, which dents the northeastern tip of the island.

2. Chichagof valley, which cleaves the snow-covered mountains southwest of the harbor.

3. The barren shores on the north side of Lake Nicholas, which lies probably two or three miles southeast of the Chichagof area.

Encirclement Possible

While the communique did not go into detail on American positions it appeared that spearheads had been driven through Japan's communication lines in order to effect the isolation of the enemy's positions. Encirclement of all three positions appeared possible.

The Japanese, however, were still holding some advantageously high ground, at least in the area around Chichagof harbor, and American casualties were expected as the mopping up continues.

Meanwhile Army Liberator heavy bombers made their first attack in eight days against the

Second Exchange With Japs Seen

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—The State department announced today that the Japanese government had given "reason to hope that a second exchange of approximately 1,500 American civilians for an equal number of Japanese civilians held in the United States may be arranged."

Negotiations for further exchanges of Americans held in Japanese-occupied territory and Japanese in the United States had been underway, the announcement said, since the first transfer took place last summer.

Locating Desired Japs

The state department is locating the Japanese in the United States whom the Tokyo government desires to repatriate, the announcement said. Until that task is completed, the department said, it cannot indicate the date when the exchange may be accomplished.

A number of citizens of other American republics and of Canada would be included in the transfer, as well as a number of Japanese from the Latin American republics and Canada.

The department said:

Yanks Bag 97 On Third Day

Allies Lose 12 In Bashing Island Invasion Approaches

By HAROLD V. BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, May 22. American warplanes, pouring new fire and destruction on Axis military power across the Mediterranean, swept over ports and airfields of Italy, Sicily and Sardinia again yesterday and destroyed 97 more enemy planes guarding the invasion approaches to southern Europe.

These new stabs at Axis air power brought to 286 the number of enemy planes destroyed in three days. Thirty of the 97 planes bagged yesterday were shot out of the sky by big U. S. bombers and fighters and 67 were destroyed on the ground. The Allies have lost 12 planes in the furious three-day offensive.

Airfields "Well Covered"

Sicilian airfields were attacked by Flying Fortresses with an escort of P-38 Lightning fighters and the Allied communique said the Sciacca and Castelvetrano airfields were "well covered by bomb bursts."

Axis formations tried to break up this attack—even loosing timebombs over the formations of Fortresses—but both bombers and fighters moved in to attack and shot down seven out of 25 bomb-dropping enemy fighters. All the Fortresses returned safely.

While the Fortresses were smashing at the Sicilian airports, medium bombers struck on Sardinia, following up night raids on airfields at Villacidro and Decimomannu with a new blasting, which, the communique said, caused "large fires and extensive damage to airdrome buildings and to aircraft on the ground."

Liberators Lash Ports

A Cairo communique disclosed that Liberators of the Ninth U. S. Air force tore in from another direction to spread 150 tons of incindiary and high explosive bombs among the port installations of San Giovanni and Reggie Calabria on the Italian mainland.

These attacks came in daylight after heavy RAF night bombers had spread new destruction at Reggio Calabria and at Messina, Sicilian ferry terminus.

The Italian high command acknowledged in a communique that "considerable damage" had been inflicted on Messina and Reggio Calabria.

Sudan Lashed By "Baby" Tornado

Several Buildings In City Demolished

SUDAN, May 22. (Special)—A baby tornado ripped through the north part of town here about dusk tonight, demolished the Nazarene church, a cotton warehouse at the Co-op gin, a blacksmith shop nearby, and tore the roof from a half a dozen dwellings and barns.

Francis Miller, local real estate broker, said he would estimate the damage to buildings at about $10,000. No reports are current of anyone being killed or injured. A 40-foot barn belonging to Miller, in the north edge of town was destroyed. About half of the roof of the building housing the office and family of the manager of the Southwestern Public Service Co. also was blown away, and numerous small buildings and barns were slightly damaged, the wind lifting roofs in many places and partly removing them. The Carruth home was unroofed. The family was at home with a sick child, but no one was injured.

Hit Without Warning

The storm hit suddenly, and without warning, dipping as it came from the west, then rising, its funneled snout again dipping more than once, each time smashing a building or something in its path. No reports of any damage are had from surrounding communities.

Littlefield reported an electrical storm about 9:30, with a light rain, but no hail, and no property damaged.

Hale Center toward which place the cloud traveled after leaving Lamb county, experienced a severe electrical display, heavy hail, aid some rain and wind about 11 o'clock, but there was no property damage reported there. Telephone communication was intact throughout Lamb county.

OPA Develops Big Headache In Ration Book Deliveries

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP) — Developed symptoms of a first-rate headache today over the colossal mailing project it has undertaken for distribution of ration book No. 3.

Within the next week every man, woman and child in the nation is to receive an application for a ration book to replace books No. 1 and No. 2 when they expire.

That means millions of applications to be delivered by the postman and returned to mailing centers the same way, after they're filled out. Later the books themselves must be delivered to householders.

But some Americans don't believe in waiting until the last minute to get what they want, even though the applications plainly state they are not to be returned before June 1, or after June 10.

First in trickles, then in larger quantities, the applications came bounding back to the agency's offices here. Also the questions began to come in—principally from service men who live at home but apparently were to be excluded from obtaining ration book No. 3.

Hundreds of specimen blanks carried by newspapers came in, carefully filled out by families

Strikes Darken Labor Picture

(By The Associated Press)

Strikes in Akron rubber factories and continuance of the extensive walkouts in Michigan's Chrysler plants darkened the nation's labor picture last night.

Several thousand employes failed to report for work at the General, Goodrich and Firestone rubber plants in Akron, manufacturers of many types of war goods. They were protesting CIO United Rubber Workers leaders said, against a War Labor board decision giving them increases of only 3 cents an hour in basic pay, against the 8 cents the union had asked.

24,000 Workers Involved

Nearly 24,000 workers were involved at six Chrysler plants, and the Chrysler tank arsenal's assembly line closed for lack of parts. Company spokesmen said about 2,000 of 14,000 on day shifts returned to work yesterday. Union leaders have charged a breakdown in collective bargaining at the Chrysler plants; the company denied this. THOUGHTS FOR WARTIME

"Now I beseech you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the same things, and that there be no divisions among you; but that ye be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment."—By the Apostle Paul, in First Corinthians Chapter 1, verse 10.

South Plains Spud Growers Seek Hike

A meeting of South Plains potato growers has been called for Lubbock next Monday. The call was issued by J. B. McCauley, sr., of 2623 Twenty-fourth street, retired farmer.

The purpose of the meeting, McCauley said, is to petition for a higher ceiling price, now set at $2.80 a hundred. Growers are asked to assemble in the district court room of the county courthouse, second floor of the building, at 8 p. m.

Exceeds Government's Request

Don L. Jones, superintendent of the state experiment station, has expressed a desire to attend. McCauley will preside. Other growers also are to share in the program. A representative of the growers now is in Washington urging the government to take action immediately in raising the price to the farmers in the South Plains area, but this came through organized effort in the Hereford and Plainview sections. Growers in this area are not yet organized, or directly represented.

Between 8,000 and 9,000 acres of potatoes have been planted on the South Plains this year, McCauley said. One grower in Lubbock county has planted 150 acres. Another grower, J. B. McCauley, jr., has 75 acres planted. The county's AAA goal is 400 acres, but McCauley said there is a larger potato crop than the government has asked for. Lubbock and Crosby counties alone have planted over 1,000 acres, he said.

Potato farmers are asking that the ceiling be raised to $3.50. Potatoes now are exceedingly scarce, and retail prices are higher than usual, due to costs of transportation by truck and in small amounts, which must be added to the ceilings when the retailer offers them to the consumer.

It was largely through the interest and initiative taken by McCauley a few years ago that farmers were induced to try the growing of potatoes on the South Plains. The crop, for the most part, is irrigated, and farmers generally who have given the crop proper attention have made money growing them, McCauley said.

Any Promise To Feed World 'Silly', Says Editor Of Journal

COLUMBUS, O., May 22 (AP) — Any American promise to feed the world after the war "is not only silly but dangerous to the lasting peace of the world," Dr. Jonathan Forman, editor of the Ohio State Medical Journal, declared last night.

He said "we cannot begin to feed the world. We can help a little but not much."

"In our best years we raised about two-thirds enough food to set a decent table for our people —just a decent table, not the kind that nutrition experts feel is necessary to bring about robust health and resistance to disease," he asserted. "If we all stop eating and gave all of our food to the other lands, which of course we could not do, we would be giving a sustaining diet to about 135,000,000 persons, and who is to feed the rest?

"Thus through our impossible promises, we shall be called upon to say who in these foreign lands shall live and who shall die. In this way we increase the hatred which already exists toward us.

"It is not only silly but dangerous to the lasting peace of the world to promise to feed the world after the war. Especially now since all recent reports stress the shortage of food in this country."

Il Duce's Aims Are Reported

STOCKHOLM, May 22 (AP) — Premier Mussolini told Adolf Hitler at their conference on April 12 that Italy would make no separate peace but proposed that Italy and Germany should make peace together when a "dead point" had been reached in the war and no one could conquer, it was reported here today.

Il duce also urged the fuehrer not to start any "adventurous offensives," according to information reaching neutral sources.

The newspaper Aftonbladet said Mussolini raised three other points in a four-point program:

1. Italy has no imperialistic ambitions and wants to cultivate the friendship of smaller European countries.

Wants Peace With Church

2. Italy desires to make peace with the Catholic church and lead the way in a reconstruction era of religious tolerance in Europe.

3. Italy wants Jewish persecution halted.

The Italian premier was further said to have told Hitler that no more Italians would be sent to fight on the Russian front.

An Aftonbladet commentator said Mussolini's decision left Rumania with the task of providing the chief help for Germany on the eastern front, and estimated that the Rumanians now have 10 divisions fighting in Russia and six held in reserve.

Need A Cabin Cruiser? State Has One For Highest Bidder

AUSTIN, May 22 (U.P) — If you are in the market for a 48-foot cabin cruiser, or 1,500,716 pounds of waste paper or 60 tons of steel the state board of control may be able to fill your needs.

All of these things have been advertised by the board for sale to the highest bidder.

The boat is the celebrated "Eureka" bought several years ago by the adjutant general's department and once the subject of much official and unofficial comment.

The boat which will accommodate 10 people and make 11 knots an hour was bought for the 36th division, national guard of patrol gunnery ranges on the gulf of Mexico near Camp Hulen. The boat now is docked at LaPorte, and since it is no longer of use to the state, will go on the auction block. Sealed bids on it will be received by the board at Austin on May 28.

Under authority of the last legislature the board will sell old state records and books as waste paper. The documents have been stored at the Confederate home here. The home has been remodeled to provide a hospital for senile patients and the records had to be moved. Departments were instructed to pick out what they needed and move them. The remainder have been ordered sold under bids to be taken May 31.

As for the steel, it will have to be salvaged from two bridges in Lampasas county. The bridges are on U. S. highway 190, one across Sulphur creek and the other across Lampasas river. Bids on the steel will be taken May 30.

Ship Production At Record Peak

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22 (AP) —Praising shipyard labor and management, Admiral Emory S. Land said today United States ways this year will have delivered 700 new ships by the end of May, a figure almost equal to the entire production for 1942.

Admiral Land, chairman of the United States Maritime commission and war shipping administrator, addressed a joint meeting of civic organizations observing national maritime day.

Five-A-Day Rate

"Last month our American shipyards turned out 157 merchant vessels, the greatest 30-day record of all time, he said, and then added: "This month that record is being beaten."

Disclosing that the nation's 250 ways in 30 shipyards are producing "better than five ocean-going merchant vessels a day," he said, "we will build nearly 19 million deadweight tons of dry cargo ships and tankers in 1943."

Indictments In Death Of Teacher Quashed

SALT LAKE CITY, May 22 (AP) —First degree murder convictions against James Joseph Roedl, 26, Oklahoma City, and Le Roy Edward Ritchey, 24, Gowrie, Iowa, for the hammer killing of a California teacher, were quashed today by Federal Judge Tillman D. Johnson.

Johnson, on motion of Assistant U. S. District Attorney John S. Boyden and Calvin W. Rawlings, counsel for Roedl, ruled the court lacked jurisdiction.

Boyden said later investigation showed that the federal statute under which the two men were prosecuted for the slaying of Mrs. Abigale Agnes Williams, 48, of San Leandro, Calif., applied only to acts of violence against an Indian or against federal property on the reservation.

Soviet Move Said Aid To Solidarity

By HARRISON SALISBURY
United Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 22. — Allied quarters said today that dissolution of the Communist International organization constituted an outstanding Soviet move toward a firm understanding with the United States and Great Britain in their joint war effort and post-war planning.

It was not known immediately whether the Russian gesture was inspired by the Roosevelt letter delivered to Premier Josef Stalin Thursday night by Joseph E. Davies, the President's emissary. London sources speculated that Stalin may have determined to make a dramatic move in order to stage for a major rapprochment with the Allies.

Kills Goebbel's Arguments

Such a move, it was pointed out, would take the wind out of German Propaganda Minister Paul Goebbels' arguments designed to make Europeans believe that Russia is going to swallow them up as soon as the war is over.

It is known that responsible American quarters long have regarded existence of the Third Internationale, with the announced purpose of promoting proletarian revolution in all lands, as the largest single factor contributing to unsettement of reations with Russia.

It was recalled here that one of the conditions on which President Roosevelt insisted in his negotiations for recognition of Russia by the United States in 1933 was a pledge that comintern would cease interference in domestic American affairs. These negotiations were conducted with Maxim Litvinoff, present Russian ambassador to the United States.

Accepted At Face Value

Some skeptics pointed out that there was nothing to prevent the Russians from reforming the comintern at any time they please in the future. However, Allied quarters strongly tended to accept the Russian gesture at face value.

The move was interpreted as concrete evidence of the trend repeatedly emphasized by Stalin since the outbreak of the war, namely directing Russia more and more strongly along an internationalistic, patriotic course and constantly reducing the communistic and revolutionary content of Russian propaganda.

Actually, Moscow's move has the effect not of eliminating the communist parties in various countries outside Russia, but of cutting them adrift—at least theoreticalyl—from the guidance and direction of Moscow.

Strongly Felt In U. S.

Immediate effects of the move may be expected to be felt strongly in the United States where there has been a continuing reservoir of anti-Russian feeling largely based on comintern activities. There have been equally major effects among refugee governments, particularly eastern European governments, where the fears of Russian absorption through communist action always have been strong.

The next move in improvement of British-American-Russian relations is expected logically to be a conference among Roosevelt, Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill. It is within the bounds of speculation to suggest that the comintern move was designed specifically for clearing the ground for that conference.

A spokesman for the Polish government hailed the move as a major step on Russia's part toward Allied solidarity.

It is believed that the way now is open for a reciprocal gesture by the Poles which would lead to re-establishment of Soviet-Polish relations, which were ruptured because of Russian claims on Polish marginal territory and Russian objection to the present complexion of the Polish refugee government.

Farmers To Report Crop Measurements

Due to the need for conserving manpower and reducing travel, every farmer this year is being made responsible for reporting to the AAA his own crop performance. This is a requirement to insure each farmer receiving proper credit, said Walter Y. Wells, AAA administrative officer for Lubbock county.

All farm operators are asked to measure their crops and report the acreage planted to each to the Lubbock office. All measurements must be in feet, yards, or chains, and may be reported as soon as planted. These measurements all will be subject to a spot check by representatives of the state or county AAA offices. Community committees will approve them. Penalties may be applied against farm operators for failure to measure and report acreages allotted each crop.

Wells said it is important that all cotton acreage be measured before it is planted. No cotton may be destroyed as a means of bringing the acreage within the 110 per cent of allotment, either after the farm operator brings his acreage measurements to the office, or after the crop is planted.

Cade, Wasson Attend State AAA Meeting

V. L. Cade, state AAA committeeman, and Charles T. Wasson, senior field officer for the ACA in the Lubbock district, are expected to return today from a meeting Friday and Saturday in College Station, called by George Slaughter, chairman of the state AAA. Groundwork for next year's AAA farm program was laid at the meeting.

Suggestions were heard from Cade and the 11 other AAA committeemen on how the farm program should be operated in Texas during 1944.

Questions covering all phases of the Texas farm program were discussed in a series of district meetings three weeks ago, and recommendations made then were taken before the committee at College Station.

Japs Would Be Easy For This Dead-Eye

SAN ANTONIO, May 22. (AP)—Lieut. Vic Reinders, national trapshooting champ and Brooks field skeet instructor, opened his eyes when a cadet stepped up to the mark and shot a perfect score—25 out of 25 "birds."

"Shot a lot of skeet, son?" he asked.

"No, sir—never before," was the surprising reply.

Seems the cadet was from Minnesota, where duck and partridge hunting had so sharpened his eye that skeet was easy.

"Heaven help the Japs that get into his sights," was Reinders' only comment.

Rommel Reported In Nervous Collapse

STOCKHOLM, May 22 (AP) — A Bern dispatch to Aftontidningen said today that Marshal Erwin Rommel was suffering a nervous collapse as the result of illness contracted in north Africa and of the defeat in Tunisia.

The dispatch said also that the Axis African commander was in disgrace with Hitler. This contradicted German propaganda reports toward the close of the Tunisian campaign that Rommel had received high military honors and would be assigned to a new post.

Service Men To Get Rations When Needed

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP) — Members of the armed forces stationed in the United States will be issued ration book No. 3 only when the book is put into use, Paul M. O'Leary, OPA deputy administrator in charge of rationing, said today.

O'Leary said it is anticipated that many service men now in the United States "will be stationed elsewhere when the book is needed to buy rationed commodities" and "it seems simpler to postpone issuance of the book to this group until the date of its use has been determined."

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 22 (U.P.) —Arthur Hamer, a former hosiery salesman, had six pairs of nylon hose but no place to live. He ran an ad in the paper offering the hose for information leading to an apartment. Scores of housewives saw the ad and went apartment hunting. Hamer had his pick of several places.

VFW Cigaret Fund Is $350 Saturday Night

Last week's drive for funds to buy cigarets for boys in the armed services totaled $350.45, it was announced Saturday afternoon by J. R. Potts, chairman of the Veterans of Foreign Wars committee charged with prosecution of the campaign.

Fourteen of the 18 glass jars inviting contributions at strategic places were openedfour were in banks, which are closed early on Saturday afternoons—and yielded $43.38. The mail brought donations of $21, including a $10 check from Massey Motor company. A $5 bank note was in one of the jars —which were found to have from $8.07 to 51 cents.

One dollar buys 22 packs of cigarets for soldiers, it was pointed out, and VFW is attempting to raise $2,500 for that purpose. Rural residents are invited to contribute when in Lubbock.

Airmen Smash 11 Jap Planes

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, May 21. (Delayed) (AP)—Outnumbered P-38's, jumped by 20 Japanese planes in the vicinity of Salamaua this morning, knocked out of action 11 of the enemy craft—six destroyed and five probably downed.

The furious dogfight lasted 30 minutes.

Captain Edward Cragg, of Greenwich, Conn., shot one fighter down in flames and seriously damaged another.

Returning pilots said they were flying at about 23,000 feet looking for Japanese when suddenly the Zeros swung into action from all angles.

Raced Toward Each Other

Captain Cragg and a Japanese pilot raced straight toward each other, shooting until their machines were about to crash. Then Captain Cragg dived under. He said parts of the Japanese ship were flying off as it sped over him and then it rolled into a spin, most of one wing shot away.

Captain Frank Tomkins, Palestine, Tex., brought down one enemy plane but was in plenty of hot corners before he turned homeward. He was leading the top element of our planes when he looked in the rear-view mirror and saw six planes turning to attack.

"I took the formation into a diving attack on the fighters just below us," Tomkins said. "The first plane in the tight Jap echelon got all-out fire from me and I saw at least six cannon shells slam into the fuselage. He actually disintegrated, with pieces flying off like propaganda leaflets."

Aided By Lt. Homer

Probably one reason Tomkins got out of several hot spots was the close tailing given him by Lt. Cyril Homer, of Sacramento, Calif. Homer followed Tomkins just in time to split a formation of four Japanese that was preparing to attack him. He damaged one of the four. A moment later he dived upon two others that were attacking Tomkins and damaged one, sending it into a smoking power dive.

"I saw one of our planes in the fastest dive I've ever seen," said Homer. "I thought sure one of our boys had got it until he pulled up far to the left and a thousand feet higher."

May 31 Deadline For Peanut Certificates

Peanut growers have only until Monday, May 31, to obtain certificates for purchase of peanuts for planting seed, according to Walter Y. Wells, secretary of the Lubbock office of the ACA.

Wells said so far only a small number of certificates have been issued, and seed should be bought at once.

The peanut goal for Lubbock county has been increased to 3,202 acres. Each person who has indicated he would plant peanuts is expected to plant his share, so the goal may be reached, Wells said.

Other goals for Lubbock county include 200,000 acres of grain sorghum, 2,500 acres of soybeans, 400 acres of Irish potatoes, 200 acres of sweet potatoes, 50 acres of castor beans and 200 acres of dry, edible beans.

Wells said the farm plan sheets now in the AAA office here show that all these goals will be exceeded.

WASHINGTON, May 22. — The multi-billion dollar Army-Navy supply bills sweeping through Congress are a warning to every American actively or passively visioning the White House as a future residence, and to all political elements on the home front, that the next presidential race will be a handicap affair.

An eligible "absentee vote" representing a fifth or more of the probable 1944 total popular presidential vote is indicated. And there are no precedents to guide conjecture as to the effect that novel circumstance might have on the selection of presidential nominees or upon the election itself. It could make the woman voter the decisive factor in American politics in 1944.

Calls For 11 Million Men

The Army-Navy budget calls for eleven million men under arms as well as substantial assorted feminine auxiliary elements with the colors as 1944 opens. All of them except the under-21 group presumably are eligible to vote by mail or otherwise in both state primaries and the subsequent elections. Federal enactments in 1942, when the service vote at home or abroad aggregated only some 3,000,000, have paved the way for full service participation in 1944 political decisions.

The total popular vote in 1940 just shaded 50,000,000. Normally it should approximate 55,000,000 in 1944.

Could Hold Balance

If the war still is in full swing in November, 1944, American armed forces are apt to exceed 11,000,000. They could represent a ful 25 percent of the probable popular vote to be cast in November, and hold the national balanec of political power decisively.

There are no available compilations to indicate political trends in the armed forces in either previous war-time contest, or even that any very substantial proportion of the men with the colors took advantage of absentee voting rights.

Acknowledgments By Officers Outside U. S. Valid, Declares Mann

AUSTIN, May 22 (U.P.) — Acknowledgement made by commissioned officers outside the United States to documents executed by soldiers sailors or marines under their command are valid without a seal, Atty. Gen. Gerald C. Mann ruled today.

An act authorizing state officials to recognize such acknowledgements in place of the usual certificate of a notary public or other authorized official was passed by the recent session of the Texas legislature to facilitate transaction of soldiers' business affairs.

Gaines Attorney Advised

A general provision of Texas law requires that any person who takes an acknowledgement must impress his seal upon it.

Mann said that the legislators must have known that commissioned officers in the field would have no seal and that none is required. He advised County Attorney P. W. Minter of Hebbronville that he believes the courts will hold such documents valid without a seal.

Another opinion advised Asst. County Attorney L. P. Smallin of Seminole, Gaines county, that if a vacancy exists in the office of county attorney the commissioners court may fill it by appointment. The question rose when the county attorney who had been re-elected left the county before beginning a new term. Mann pointed out that it is a matter for fact determination if he has vacated the office.

Refugio need not pay state amusement tax on dances given in its municipal auditorium, the proceeds of ticket sales going to a fund to pay off the building debt, Mann advised another inquiring official.

Cooperation Is Good Between Air Forces

KINGSTON ON THE THAMES, England, May 22. (AP)—Capt. Allen V. Martini of San Francisco, pilot of the fortress "Dry Martini," said today "there is tremendous cooperation between the American air force and the RAF."

He spoke at ceremonies opening Kingston's "wings for victory" bond selling campaign.

"The American Air force has a tremendous admiration for RAF personnel for passing on the experience they picked up before we came into the war," Martini said, "when we came over here, we were naive beginners in every way, any success we have had is due to the help given us by the RAF."

Texans Among List Of War Casualties

They included:

Whisenhunt, 2nd Lt. Howell O. —Mrs. Dorothy D. Whisenhunt, wife, Waco.

Applications Taken At AAA For Cookers

Applications for purchase of home pressure cookers, needed by those who will can their surpluses of fruits and fresh vegetables, are being issued at the county AAA office, it was announced Saturday by Walter Y. Wells, administrative officer for the county AAA.

It was said there are no cookers yet in stock locally, but provision is being made by merchants and dealers, in cooperation with the farm machinery rationing panel, to supply a limited number. Purchase of a pressure cooker can be made only with the certificate of permission granted on application to the rationing panel, which serves at the AAA office on Ave. Q.

Wells said about 20 applications had been issued to authorized purchasers up to Saturday.

Texas Council To Hear AFL Speakers

HOUSTON, May 22. (AP) — For the first time in its history, the Texas state industrial union council (CIO) will hear speakers representing the American Federation of Labor at the council meeting May 29-30 in Port Arthur, Executive Secretary Clyde Ingram said today.

He explained: "From seaman to steel workers, workers to win the war has converged all walks of labor into a common meeting ground. AFL speakers, he said, will be named later.

Joe Steadman of Austin, general chairman of the independent brotherhood of railroad trainmen, also will address the convention.

Ingram is president of the united labor committee comprised of more than 40 CIO, AFL and independent unions of Texas which he said was probably the first such organization in the nation.

Stevenson To Speak To Press Delegates

GALVESTON, May 22. (AP) — Gov. Coke R. Stevenson will be among the speakers at the Texas Press association convention here June 10-12.

A special program June 11 will honor Ernest L. Kurth, president of the Southland Paper Mills, Lufkin.

G. B. Dealey of the Dallas News will be chairman of arrangements for this program.

Skirts Of Big Red House Are Clean

WASHINGTON, May 22. (AP) — A congressional investigation into the activities at the big red house at 2101 R. street and of John P. Monroe, host there to many of the capital's prominent people, came to a close today with Chairman May (D-KY) of the House military committee declaring that "we found no criminal conduct."

"We've got more important things to do," declared May. He said that while the investigation showed that Monroe, who has indentified himself as a manufacturer's representative, had "done a lot of entertaining, there was nothing shown of a criminal nature."

Strict Enforcement Of Driving Ban Due

WASHINGTON, May 22. (AP) — Strict enforcement of the eastern pleasure driving ban and some curtailment of fuel allotments for commercial vehicles were indicated today as an acute gasoline shortage continued, the War Food administration said, to imperil farm production in the east.

Officials of the Office of Price Administration and the Office of Defense Transportation resumed conferences on the commercial T-ration problem as an OPA spokesman emphasized that all other sources would be exhausted before A, B, and C ration allotments would be cut.

Principle Of Radar Discovered In 1922

WASHINGTON, May 22. (AP) — The Navy said today that two of its research scientists, Dr. A. Hoyt Taylor and Leo C. Young, discovered the principle of radar, the radio detecting-and-ranging system, in 1922 and were responsible for its application to warfare.

Today's announcement was the first time any of this nation's armed services have mentioned the names of individuals connected with the development of the enemy-locator system about which tight secrecy was maintained until a joint Navy-Army discussion of the system a few weeks ago.

His arrest was revealed yesterday, "10 or 15 days" after he was picked up by agents of the federal bureau of investigation.

Fought In First War

Since 1916, officers had been looking for him to return him to the Illinois penitentiary, and they might not have caught him yet if he had not gone to work in an industrial plant turning out weapons to fight the war. But about a year ago he got a job in the Consolidated Steel corporation shipyard, and the FBI found him while looking over the fingerprints of employes.

What Hard had been doing since he fled from prison was somewhat of a mystery. His jailers don't know, and Hard doesn't talk much. Deputy Sheriff K. A. Mitchell said he understood that Hard fought in the World war, which the United States entered the year after Hard's escape.

Sentenced To Life

Hard's wife lives in Beaumont and until his arrest Hard had been traveling back and forth daily between Beaumont and Orange.

Officers here were holding Hard on a warrant from Joliet, Ill., where Warden Joseph Ragen of the Illinois penitentiary said he had obtained extradition papers for Hard's return, providing Gov. Coke Stevenson of Texas grants extradition. Stevenson has set a hearing on the case for June 2.

Hard was sentenced to life imprisonment in 1915, with an accomplice, Walter Weed, for the fatal shooting of William Weil, a Chicago florist.

Service Planned On Memorial Day

Plans for a county-wide observance here next Sunday afternoon of National Memorial day were being formulated this week-end by Post Commander H. D. Stanley of the American Legion, and others who always participate in memorial services.

Tentatively, it was announced, the time for the service at the cemetery will be at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The graves of all war veterans wil be decorated. A speaker for the occasion had not been named yesterday, Stanley said. A firing squad will carry out the usual rites, taps will be sounded. The Legion post's own chaplain will invoke the solemn entreaty.

Program At Slaton

The brief service has been set at a late hour in the afternoon to permit all attendants, including a number of Lubbock citizens and the Veterans of Foreign Wars organization, who will attend the service at Slaton at three o'clock, to return to Lubbock and attend the service here also.

The usual speaking at the Legion hall will be dispensed with, but women of the Auxiliary will ask citizens who wish to contribute flowers to bring them to the post home during Sunday morning, when a committee of women will be on hand to care for them until the memorial service takes place at some veteran's grave, to be selected.

Typesetting Problems Are Studied At Conference Here

Newspaper and job printing shop operators, typesetters and machinists from a territory bounded by Paducah on the east, Artesia, N. M., on the west; Plainview on the north and Seminole on the south, spent yesterday in Lubbock studying wartime problems of mechanical typesetting. The group, numbering 42 men, was guests of the Merganthaler Linotype Co., which called the conference.

Morning and afternoon sessions broken by a luncheon, were held at Hotel Lubbock with John L. Davis, J. Lancaster and L. F. Bookman, all of the linotype company, in charge. Davis is manager of Merganthaler's southern branch in New Orleans; Lancaster, also of New Orleans, is a linotype engineer, and Bookman, who travels West Texas and Eastern Mexico as the company's production engineer, resides in Lubbock.

The meeting here was one of several score being held throughout the nation, Davis said. The Merganthaler company is now given over to production of war materiel, linotype parts are sometimes difficult to get and many printers are forced to employ inexperienced typesetters. Meetings are aimed at keeping linotypes "turning over" despite emergency-born difficulties, Davis explained.

Other Conferences Held

Conferences like the one here already have been held in Fort Worth, Dallas, San Antonio, Houston and Abilene, in Texas. Another is scheduled for Amarillo tomorrow. The conference was informal and attandants were given ample opportunity for individual questions. Charts were displayed to amplify information given out in lectures by Davis and Lancaster.

Registrants at the Lubbock conference included:

W. D. Starcher, sr., and W. D. Starcher, jr., Spur; A. J. Stricklin, sr., A. J. Stricklin, jr., and Charles Didway, Brownfield; Stockton Henry, Lorenzo; Eugene Johnson, Littlefield; H. M. P. Zimmermann and J. M. Forbes, Plainview; Howard Powell, Paducah; Jimmy Oats, Seminole; S. W. Blocker, and Emmett Merriman, Artesia, N. M., and Harvey McConnell, Seagraves.

Yanks Slashing At Japs' Food Supply

WASHINGTON, May 22. (AP) — American conquest of the western Aleutians, some authorities said today, probably will prove to be a serious stab at Japan's food supply by bringing important North Pacific fishing grounds under the guns of American patrol ships and planes.

Cutting the enemy's seafood supply by sinking some of his fishing boats and sending the rest scuttling back to Japan, it was said, would be a major step in the planned economic strangulation of the island empire.

Fish—along with rice—constitutes a chief part of the Japanese diet.

Close Fishing Grounds

These strategists said a campaign to close huge fishing grounds to the enemy probably will be the first moves of the American North Pacific command, as soon as forward positions in the western Aleutians have been secured and developed.

Most advanced of the air bases undoubtedly will be on Attu island, where Japanese resistance has been all but eliminated by Americans who invaded the island 12 days ago.

Secretary Knox told a press conference that the campaign was successful and it was only a question of time until the Japanese remnants trapped on the northeastern extremity of Attu were finally overwhelmed.

The ground attack was being pressed home, supported by air and naval units, and Knox declared emphatically that the Navy controls the approaches to Attu and no evacuation—such as Tokyo claimed—was possible.

Mrs. Colin Kelly's Housing Problem Is Solved Promptly

HOLLYWOOD, May 22 (AP) — House owners and apartment operators, aroused at the plight of a war hero's widow who couldn't find a place to live in this teeming area, today besieged Mrs. Colin P. Kelly jr. with offers of quarters for her and her small son Corky.

Mrs. Kelly has been looking everywhere for accommodations, but has constantly been forestalled by "no children" signs, common here and which apparently apply even to the three-year-old lad who holds a presidential nomination for a West Point appointment, and whose father died gloriously as the pilot of a Flying Fortress which sank the Japanese battleship Haruna.

A newspaper told of the situation this morning and:

Phone Rings Constantly

"My phone has been ringing constantly since early today," Mrs. Kelly said. "It's not a case of finding an apartment any more—my problem now is deciding which one I'll take."

Yesterday Mrs. Kelly had declared "Corky is no different from any other child and I know I am not alone in my problem, but I keep thinking that the men of America are fighting for a home for their families and children—yet there are no homes for many."

Mrs. Kelly said she came from Seattle, Wash, to take a secretarial position in a war plant. "But if I can't find a place to live, what am I to do?" she asked.

Chemists Announce New Sulfa Remedy

NEW YORK, May 22. (AP)—Sulfamerazine, a new sulfa drug which hits its target quicker than other sulfanilamide remedies, was announced today by Sharp & Dohme, Philadelphia, whose chemists synthesized this new material.

Sulfanilamide does its good work mainly by getting into the human blood stream and there spreading to the infected area, whether this area is a wound or infectious disease.

The report suggests that for soldiers wounded in battle, a single dose of the new form will give as much protection as several doses of any other sulfa drug now on the market.

Four Alabama Mine Crews Walk Off Job

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 22. (AP)—Miners today walked out of four Alabama shafts, normally employing approximately 3,800 men, in protest against fines levied for the work stoppages in late April.

The mines included the large Edgewater, Docena and Wylan shafts of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Co., U. S. Steel subsidiary, and the smaller Bessie mine of the Sloss-Sheffield Steel & Iron Co.

Buna-S Said Best Rubber Substitute

AKRON, Ohio, May 22. (AP)—"It isn't rubber," says chief chemist H. B. Pushee of General Tire & Rubber company, but it's the best substitute we've found."

He thus summed up today the rubber capital's opinion of Buna-S, that much discussed synthetic for motor vehicle tires.

A recent federal pronouncement said all Akron rubber plants were receiving Buna-S, and Pushee expressed belief it would remain the backbone of military and civilian supplies for an indefinite time.

The chemist explained that Buna-S required more milling than rubber, lacked inherent stickiness, and more men were needed to compound it.

The "right" things about Buna-S enumerated by Pushee included:

It can be vulcanized.

Buna-S tires can be reclaimed and the synthetic tread wears longer than real rubber, although casings aren't so good.

Missing Texan Honored For Daring Exploits In Pacific

WASHINGTON, May 22. (AP) — First Lt. Wallace L. Dinn., Jr., of Corpus Christi, Tex., who destroyed Japanese planes, a ship and a gasoline dump in the South Pacific area, twice survived being forced down and later was shot down in flames, the War department said today in announcing that he had been awarded the Distinguished Service Cross.

He performed his acts of gallantry between October 15, 1942, and January 5, 1943, when he was shot down in flames fighting against overwhelming odds.

On Ocotber 15, 1942, he engaged with seven other United States airplanes in a dive bombing mission against an enemy task force off Guadalcanal. He scored a direct hit on one of the Japanese ships. It caught fire and sank.

Raid At Rekata Bay

On October 28, 1942, Lt. Dinn took off with a formation of planes to attack the Japanese seaplane base at Rekata Bay, in Santa Isabel island 165 miles from the United States base at Henderson Field on Guadalcanal.

After aiding in the destruction of 6 Japanese float planes and possibly two others on the water, Lt. Dinn spotted an enemy gasoline dump of about 1,500 gallons on the beach.

The first burst of fire started a blaze in the dump which was hastened by another burst of gunfire from Lt. Dinn's plane. Anti-aircraft fire then hit his plane and seriously damaged it as well as injuring him. He managed to bail out and land in the jungle in enemy territory.

Natives assisted him on his return journey and told him of a Japanese airman who also had crash-landed in the area. They captured the Japanese pilot and made a 110-mile trip by canoe to safety. One time the Japanese ovverturned the canoe and escaped but was recaptured.

Back Eight Days Later

Eight days after his forced landing, Lt. Dinn was back. One day later he was back on flying status.

Later he was again forced down at sea. After swimming several miles, he reached a small island, was picked up and back on flying status the next day.

On January 5, 1943, he was flying with an escort for heavy bombers. While over the target, Lt. Dinn noticed that the fighters at lower altitude were engaged with enemy aircraft of greatly numerical superiority.

Despite the overwhelming odds, he proceeded to the assistance of his fellow pilots. In the ensuing engagement he was shot down and is listed by the War department as "missing in action in the South Pacific."

Saved Several Lives

"Lt. Dinn's unselfish act contributed in great part to the success of the mission and undoubtedly saved the lives of several other pilots," the citation stated.

'Lt. Dinn participated in fifty operational air flights, totalling 92 hours of flight during which enemy fire was probable and expected. His combat career was marked by complete fearlessness and contributed materially to the success of operations in the area."

His next of kin is his father, Wallace L. Dinn, of 214 Ohio street, Corpus Christi.

More than 30,000,000 immigrants have been admitted to the United States since 1868.

Missing Texan May Have Parachuted Out

A UNITED STATES BOMBER STATION IN ENGLAND, May 22. (AP)—Lt. Rhude Mark Mathis, of San Angelo, Tex., may have been among seven parachutists who left a crippled Fortress which failed to return from a raid on Kiel, Germany, May 14.

Crewmen aboard other bombers on the raid said they saw seven parachutes open from the stricken craft.

Mathis was an older brother of Jack Mathis, 20, who died at the bombardier's post in a raid March 18.

Rhude Mark Mathis, who saw his brother's body lifted from the Fortress, when it returned to its base, asked for, and was assigned to, the vacant gun and bombsight.

Bobo Newsom Scores Fifth Win As Dodgers Best Reds

Cards Gain With Twin Bill Sweep

Sizzling Phils Take Sixth Straight Win

BROOKLYN, May 22. (AP)—Taking advantage of Bucky Walters' wildness, the Brooklyn Dodgers put over four runs in the first two innings and then staved off Cincinnati's late inning threats as they whipped the Reds 5-2 today.

The usually reliable right hander loaded the bases on walks in the first inning, setting the stage for Billy Herman's two-run single. Bucky started the second frame by walking Mickey Owen and, after the Brooklyn catcher had been moved up with a sacrifice, Augie Galan crashed through with a double. Arky Vaughan's single brought Galan home and sent Walters to the showers.

Clyde Shoun, Vernon Stone and Ed Heusser checked the league leaders with four hits and one run the remainder of the distance but the Reds could do little against Bobo Newsom as he went the route to become the first National league hurler to hang up five victories this season.

Blades Uses Puzzling Technique In Verbal Jousts With Umpires

NEW ORLEANS, May 22. (AP)—The sophisticated savagery of Ray Blades is a source of bewilderment to Southern association umpires who have eyed him with growing reserve since his first trip down this way, in 1941.

The former St. Louis Cardinal boss, now managing the New Orleans Pelicans, has had several unusual run-ins with umpires since he came here two years ago.

Once, for instance, Umpire Red Jones saw Blades, a poised penguin of a man, stroll to the plate and say:

"Jones, I have come to the conclusion you are an exhibitionist."

"Get outa th' game," choked Jones, who, in telling the newspaper boys about the incident later, asserted he'd "stand for most kinds o' cussin', but no one can get away with that!"

Speech Recalled

On another occasion, Blades said to the veteran Steamboat Johnson—and with the same result—the following:

"My dear Mr. Johnson, would you confer a favor on me by looking more closely and considering more carefully those balls and strikes?"

There is also a story about a verbal collision at the plate when New Orleans was playing Memphis, about which Truck Hannah, then Memphis' manager, likes to tell. Here's Hannah's version of Blades' speech:

"You know, Mr. Umpire, I have heard stories of your indifference toward the importance of this business of umpiring; I have heard stories that I thought—and sincerely hoped — were entirely groundless. Up to now I have steadfastly refused to lend any credence whatsoever to such tales. But, frankly, the conviction is being rapidly forced on me that there is, indeed, some truth in the stories, and I think I would be hypocritical and dishonest if I did not tell you so!"

Montgomery Out For National Recognition

NEW YORK, May 22. (AP) — Bob Montgomery is figuring on showing who's the boss of the 135-pounders from coast to coast.

Having won New York and New Jersey title recognition by bouncing Beau Jack all over the premises for the better part of 15 rounds in Madison Square Garden before 18,343 fans last night, and being virtually assured of Pennsylvania's "blessing" Wednesday, Bobcat Bob is thinking of taking his crown for a quick swing around the circuit from Washington to Portland, Ore., to see if there's anyone who might knock it off.

His little job of work last night was as good as Bob's ever done. After letting the Beau have his fling for five rounds, he came along to take the play through the last nine rounds and grab the title in the wild-swinging Georgian's first defense since he was handed the honors by the New York commission after Sammy Angott abdicated last fall.

The 24-year-old Bob becomes the fourth negro to win what is generally regarded as the second-most-prized crown in the book, putting his name on the records along with the great Joe Gans, Hammerin' Hennery Armstrong and the Beau.

We Like J. Gregory

By Choc Hutcheson

One of the highlights on the national sports front this summer undoubtedly will be the long-awaited race between Gunder Haegg, the record-smashing Swedish streak, and Greg Rice, barrel-chested American distance runner.

From every indication, this should truly be the "race of the century," and we look for the American sports public to take more than a little interest in it, since it will provide probably the most heated track competition ever seen in this country.

Although they are almost direct "opposites" in physical appearance—Haegg is a slender, almost frail-looking blond, while Rice is a hsort, stocky brunet—these two competitors possess one common trait—they can RUN, and how.

Strictly on a "record book" form, Haegg should rule a distinct favorite to defeat J. Gregory. We don't think, however, that the swift Swede will be able to do so, principally because he will be fighting against too many off-the-track handicaps.

For instance, Haegg will not arrive in the United States until June 9, and his big race with Rice, a 3,000 meter affair, is scheduled for June 20. This gives him only 11 days to round into shape after his arrival, although, of course, he will endeavor to keep in as good condition as possible on the voyage across.

And, secondly, no one knows just how good Rice really is. The ex-Notre Dame star has run up a string of 60-odd straight triumphs, and, although he has had some close calls, has always managed to come home in front. Apparently he is always just as good as he needs to be.

Anyway, we'll take Rice. There's nothing like stringing along with a consistent winner.

Now that Lubbock's elementary school softball schedule has come to a close, with Dupre as champion, we hope that a play-off between the newly-crowned titleholders, who bested Hunt for the championship, and a team of all-stars chosen from other teams in the league, will materialize. Everyone connected with the grade school softball program seems to be in favor of such a contest, and it should provide extra recreation for the youngsters.

If TCU does play intercollegiate football next fall, keep your eye on a horned frog sophomore named Pete Stout. This 200-pound plus back figures to be the chief offensive threat of Dutch Meyer's 1943 team—that is, of course, if he's still around. Stout, who hails from Throckmorton, not only is a powerful runner, but is also a fine long-range passer. Those who have seen him in action all agree that he can't be beaten when it comes to tossing the oval a long distance.

Ho-hum. Count Fleet won again. It's getting to be just like the sun rising in the East.

It seems that Lubbock is going to be without, for the first time in many years, a major amateur golf tournament this summer. Thus far no notices of any local tourneys have reached this office, although we've heard several linksters express a desire for some sort of a tournament.

If such an event is staged, keep an eye on Wallace Martin, the Tech youngster. Martin, who staged several upsets in last year's city tournament at Meadowbrook, has improved his game considerably and should rank among the foremost threats this year.

When it comes to tourney play, the young Wacoan is as cool as any veteran around these parts. Perhaps he acquired some of his iron nerves in the national roque tournament at Lakeside, Ohio, in 1938 when he walked off with top honors.

It's difficult for us to understand why a pitcher like Vernon "Lefty" Gomez is drifting about, jobless, especially in view of the current manpower shortage in the majors. While Lefty admittedly "ain't what he used to be," he still is capable of turning in excellent "spot" hurling assignments. And any pitcher who holds six world series triumphs without a setback (that's his record) is handy to have around when the chips are down.

Major League Batting Averages Now Falling To 'Standard' Marks

NEW YORK, May 22 (U.P.) — Major league batting averages declined from their high early-season levels during the past week, but it still was too early to accept them unequivocally as true measures.

On the basis of 15 or more games, Ken O'Dea, second-string catcher for the St. Louis Cardinals, led the National league with an average of .375 while in the American league Vern Stephens, injured shortstop of the St. Louis Browns, was high with .368.

Nine American league pitchers had perfect records with Spud Chandler of New York and Alex Carrasquel of Washington leading with four victories each. Only Johnny Allen of Brooklyn and Bob Klinger of Pittsburgh had perfect records in the senior circuit, but there were 12 others with only one defeat each.

Leaders Listed

Leaders in the various departments, according to their performances in 15 or more games, were:

Runs—(N) Camilli, Brooklyn, 20; (A) White, Philadelphia, 17.

Doubles—(N) Herman, Brooklyn, 12; (A) Clary, Washington, and Keltner, Cleveland, each eight.

Coachless Abilene Nine Adavnces In Tourney

DALLAS, May 22. (AP) — They borrowed the uniforms, mooched the bats, saved up gasoline for a month and only nine made the trip—but the Abilene High school baseball team is in town for the big tournament and if the supply of hamburgers holds up they'll see it to a finish.

They might even be playing in it at the finish because they proceeded to win their first game of the Dallas invitation schoolboy meet to go into the semi-finals.

Abilene High did not sponsor a baseball team this year but the boys are students in good standing there and they have a right to play in the tournament here if they want to.

In fact, they are responsible for the tournament not being called off when rain washed out all games today.

"They told me they aimed to stay over and I just couldn't knock a bunch of kids with all that spirit out of getting to play for the championship," said Graham Pierce, director of the meet.

This tournament is what the boys have been thinking about since the season started. They didn't have a coach but one of the gang—John Howell—said he'd coach 'em and manage 'em. They did all right in the city league back home.

The boys were smack dab out of bats but they borrowed some from Abilene Christian college, got a couple of automobiles together and set out.

Howell was a little afraid of that first game. "We never played in a park this big before," he explained, "and the boys may get scared." Well, they didn't. They beat Arlington Heights of Fort Worth 8-0 and gave up only one hit.

Howell checked up and found the boys each had about $5—money they had saved up from working on Saturdays. "That's enough," he said. "As long as hamburgers don't cost more than 15 cents we'll get by."

Hank And Bob Are The Best Of Friends But—

PHILADELPHIA, May 22. (AP)—Aging Henry Armstrong, still stepping sprightly as a youngster down the comback trail, took the pipe that he never smokes out of his mouth today and spoke a few kind words about the new king of the lightweights (New York version).

"My friend Bob Montgomery," said Henry, "will be a great champion. But when we meet in the ring, I'll whale the daylights out of him."

The former triple champion, who fights his 22nd comeback fight in the arena Monday night against Maxie Shapiro of New York, said that he and Philadelphia Bob are great friends and that he and Mrs. Montgomery and the "little Bobcat" (2 years old), likewise are chums, but his considered opinion has always been that Montgomery, as a battler, didn't have a great deal on the ball.

Yanks Defeated; Chisox Triumph

Cleveland Raps New York By 9-2

CHICAGO, May 22. (AP) — The Chicago White Sox defeated the Washington Senators for the second straight time today, 5-2, to score their seventh victory in nine games and take undisputed possession of sixth place.

The Senators grabbed a 2-0 lead off lefty Edgar Emith in the first three innings but the chunky hurler held them in check the rest of the way and contributed to the Sox attack which overcame the Washington lead and put the Chicagoans ahead.

Smith drove in the first Chicago run in the fourth and sacrificed in the eighth to help set up the White Sox's fourth run. In all, the Sox blasted rookies Ewald Pyle and Milt Haefner for 10 hits, which included a triple by Wally Moses in the sixth with bases bare.

SPAAF-Kirtland Tilt Postponed

South Plains Army Air field's baseball nine will just have to be content with looking forward to a strong foe instead of playing one today.

The scheduled game with the Flying Kellys of Kirtland field, Albuquerque, has been called off until a later date.

The Kellys, boasting one of the best and most colorful teams in the Southwest, will appear here at a later date during the summer, Lt. Nathan B. Eubank, coach of the SPAAF nine, said.

Next on the Commandos' schedule is a contest Saturday afternoon with Randolph field in San Antonio, another strong team.

Possibly the next home games for the SPAAF team will be Saturday and Sunday, June 5 and 6, against LAAF.

Loss Of Tonsils Helped Bob Montgomery Climb To Title

By JACK CUDDY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 22. — Any word portrait of Bob Montgomery, our new lightweight champion, must stress the fact that he definitely has no tonsils.

This 24-year-old negro, who was born in Sumter, S. C., but who spent most of his life in Philadelphia, probably would not have awakened this morning with the ring's most valuable crown on his head were it not for the fact that he finally had his tonsils yanked last October.

"Bob-Cat" Montgomery was the most surprised citizen in the city of brotherly love when he learned that he needed a tonsillectomy last October, because he had been under the impression that his tonsils were removed. He had undergone a throat operation in 1940, but tonsil tissue was left on each side of his throat, which infected and poisoned his system.

Became "In-And-Outer"

Because of this infection, Montgomery became an "in-and-outer"—a lad who would turn in a great fight one night and then let down completely on his next trip through the ropes. Of seven bouts in 1940, he lost two and drew in one. He seemed to pep up in '41, winning 14 straight, including a non-title triumph over Lightweight Champion Lew Jenkins who had licked him the year before. But in '42, he went bad again, losing three of his first seven bouts. The clincher was a 10-round defeat by Maxie Shapiro of New York on Oct. 6, 1942. A few days before this bout, one of Montgomery's stablemates suffered a rib injury at a New Jersey training camp. The physician who treated the injured rib saw Montgomery sitting in the camp's living room. He inquired, "who is that sick boys?"

Physician Was Right

Friends explained that Montgomery wasn't a "sick boy"—that he was fighting the main event against Maxie Shapiro. The physician, confident of his own eyes, examined Montgomery and discovered that he was ill indeed—from infected remnants of tonsils. He advised the Bob-Cat to have an immediate operation instead of fighting Shapiro. Montgomery laughed off his advice and went through the bout—or rather went through the motions of fighting, and was badly beaten.

The day after his defeat, Montgomery went to a free dispensary in Philadelphia to have his throat examined. Physicians there agreed with the Jersey doctor. They told him to get his tonsils removed immediately. But they recognized him as Montgomery, the main-event fighter, and said it would cost $250. After a consultation with his handlers, Montgomery underwent his second tonsillectomy.

Operation Helped

The doctors were right. That operation made a new man of Montgomery. He met Maxie Shapiro again on Dec. 1, 1942, and gave him a thorough beating. He went on to knock out Chester Rico, beat Lulu Costantino, knock out Roman Alvarez, defeat Gene Johnson and Henry Vasquez, and then get the title shot at Beau Jack.

Only his superb condition saved Montgomery from a knockout in the first round last night—enable him to hammer on until he won the crown once worn by former negro warriors—Joe Gans, Henry Armstrong — and Beau Jack.

Slide Rule Finishes Second 6 Lengths Back; Only 3 Run

NEW YORK, May 22. (AP) — Count Fleet won the 68th running of the Withers Mile at Belmont today.

Mrs. John D. Hertz' Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner led all the way to win by six lengths before a crowd of 22,356. W. E. Boeing's Slide Rule was second, ten lengths in front of William Woodward's Tip Toe, the only other horse in this smallest field in Withers' history.

The Count, piloted as usual by Johnny Longden and carrying 126 pounds—as did all three colts in this race—romped the mile in 1:36 over a track rated only "good." For his victory he picked up a winner's purse of $12,700, boosting his earnings for two years to $214,960.

The Count returned the absolute minimum of $2.10 for each $2 win ticket. There was no place betting on this field which was reduced to three by the earlier withdrawal of three other entrants.

Attendance In Minor Loops Slightly Off

NEW YORK, May 22. (AP)—Attendance at some minor league baseball games definitely has been hurt by the weather this season but nevertheless the nine circuits are doing right well at the turnstiles.

The Pacific Coast league was the only one of the Double "A" organizations to report an upswing at the gate in a survey by the Associated Press but the American association was not far off 1942's figures while President Frank Shaughnessy of the International league said the weather had prevented a true test in his circuit.

The coast league's attendance for the first four weeks this year was 235,113 as compared to 203,846 for a similar period last season.

Te American association drew 101,521 for its first 39 games while last year 115,361 fans saw the same number of contests.

The Southern association, however, reported a slight decrease. The circuit drew 104,090 fans to the first 71 games in 1942 for an average of 1,466. This year 130,888 turned out for the first 99 games, an average of 1,322.

Border Loop Officials Waive Athletic Rules

EL PASO, May 22. (AP)—Officials of the sprawling Border conference today waived the bulk of its rules governing inter-collegiate athletic competition, and held out little hope for either basketball or football play during the coming season.

Officials from New Mexico, Arizona and Texas member schools in session here said the fate of basketball and football play rested with the relaxation of Army rules to permit military personnel enrolled in conference colleges to participate in the athletic programs of the schools.

The conference committee announced that no championships would be awarded for the duration of the war ,and waived rules governing the transfer of players, limits on participation and the 20 units between seasons transfer rule.

Coaches and faculty representatives were of the opinion that the solution of the athletic problem rested with the commanding officer of the military units in the respective schools.

Clubs Seek Good Starting Time

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 22.—It has been said that there's nothing like a good depression to help baseball, so maybe the prosperity of these times is reflected in the experiments this season with starting times for ball games. . . . The "depression" theory is that when men are out of work they have plenty of time to visit the ball park but when they're working hard they can't get away afternoons. . . . So far this season major league clubs have played afternoon, night, twilight and morning games—the last two presumably for the benefit of war workers. . . . Now, with double headers piling up, the Dodgers and Reds have scheduled a daylight-and-dusk doubleheader for June 30 and the Phillies and Braves are booked for morning and afternoon bill June 15. . . . How about a continuous performance next?

NON-ATTENDANCE RECORD

A lot of ball clubs have been polling the fans about starting times, but the most novel poll was conducted in Oakland, Calif., recently (result hasn't reached here yet). . . . The idea was to start a doubleheader at 1 p. m. and count how many people left after the first game. . . . If many departed, that was supposed to prove that swing shifters, who had to get to work about 4 p. m. liked the idea of having a game early enough for them to see.

The 15-year-old Chinese who cut capers in the backfield for the Colts last year has been elected president of the Pine Bluff Junior High school student council. Well, the Zebras always did boast an all-state Hing back."

SERVICE DEPT.

The bakers and cooks softball team was the first Fort Sheridan outfit to challenge the new organized WAAC squad. If they lose, the soldiers probably will dare the girls to try a cooking contest. . . . Pvt. James Farley, who plays for the 15th Signal Training regiment baseball team at Fort Monmouth, N. J., isn't related to the former postmaster general, but he plays first base, too.

CLEANING THE CUFF

When the Great Lakes sailors play the University of Illinois today, there'll be a reunion of two rival coaches. Lt. Mickey Cochrane caught for the Tigers and Wallie Roettger played in the outfield for the Cardinals in the 1931 world series. . . . For such an occasion, they should open champagne. . . . No wonder Jimmy Johnston is having a little trouble with names these days. On June 7 his heavyweight, Freddie Fiducia, fights Nate Bolden and the next night he'll send Ham Wiloby against Larry Bolvin.

Servicemen Pick Louis Over Conn

Sixty Per Cent Like Joe In Return Bout

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., May 22 (AP)—Sailors and Marines at the Naval Air station here believe Joe Louis would beat Billy Conn again in a return bout.

In a recent poll on the question: "Who would win if Joe Louis and Billy Conn fight again after the war?", sixty per cent named Louis to retain his world heavyweight title.

Georgie Abrams, perhaps the best known professional boxer stationed here, was a strong Louis supporter. A leading contender for the world middleweight crown and a specialist, first class, in the Navy, Abrams said: "Joe Louis is the greatest fighter boxing has ever seen. I think Louis can and will knock out Conn any time they are matched. Joe is too powerful and rugged for Conn, although he may be a bit slower."

McAfee Picks Conn

Another popular sports star, George McAfee, of Duke university and Chicago Bear football fame, favored Conn.

"Before this war is over, Joe Louis may be in his early thirties, which will put him past his peak. The passage of time is going to throw Louis off in his timing and speed," said Chief Specialist McAfee. "Billy Conn will be just about at his peak after the war. It will be easier for him to regain his speed and timing than it will for Louis to regain his punching power. Although I don't think Conn could ever knock out Louis, I do believe he could win on a decision."

The point most stressed by the Louis supporters was that the champ stands out as one of the greatest fighters of all time, that he is a stickler for conditioning, and that he will still be able to dominate the heavyweight field for at least the first year after the war's completion.

Conn's supporters brought out mainly the fact that he will have youth on his side and that he will just be reaching his fighting peak whereas Louis will be on the downgrade.

Collegian Likes Louis

From some of the station's better known sports figures came these opinions:

Marine Sgt. Lou Campbell (1941 intercollegiate heavyweight champion), "Joe Louis is a better boxer and can take anything Conn has to offer. Louis proved in his last fight that he was still good and I think he will be able to take up where he left off. One has to look back only as far as Jimmy Braddock to see that a man can win the heavyweight title even though he isn't a youngster."

Seaman Second Class Jack Cummins (formerly golf pro at Shawnee on the Delaware), "I'll string along with the champ. Louis, who depends on hitting power, will never be without that advantage, while Conn depends on timing and footwork which are much easier to lose. Louis in his last fight with Conn was not in the best shape, having fought too many bouts. He was on the stale side. In his next bout with Billy I am confident that he will be much keener and do not think the fight will last over five or six rounds. All that Joe has to do is catch the Pittsburgh dancing master against the ropes and it'll be 'Katie, bar the door'."

Lt. Riley Smith (former Alabama football standout), "Should Louis and Conn meet today, I would pick Louis to win. But unless the war is over sooner than our greatest hopes lead us to believe, I think time and inactivity will slow Louis until he can be taken by Conn in much the same manner that Dempsey was beaten by Tunney."

Seaman Second Class Bob Batchow (formerly tennis pro at Miami Beach, Fla.), "My choice is Billy Conn. I believe that Louis has been champion long enough to become a little bit careless. Conn, on the other hand, has not yet been champion and will not be satisfied until he has achieved that goal. I look for him to be just as aggressive when he fights Louis again and more determined to win the fight."

SPAAF To 'Attack' Childress Today

Big cargo and troop-carrying gliders taking off at South Plains Army Air Field will play a major role in attacking an airdrome near Childress today as one of the highlights of the Army Air forces precision bombing Olmpics.

Sweeping in under simulated war condition ,the big ships will attempt to land with men and equipment in a surprise raid during maneuvers at the Childress Bombardier school today.

No Details Announced

No details of the number of gliders to be used or the method of attack were announced at SPAAF because of military security, but arrangements have been made for impressive maneuvers. Col. Norman B. Olsen, commanding officer at SPAAF, completed plans for the use of gliders in the Olympics in a visit to Childress.

"Skip bombing" at a silhouette ship target on water, an aerial attack in force with tear gas, practice bombs and the gliders will highlight the feature part of the program. One of the main events of the bombing olympics will be precision bombing from 10,000 feet by cadet teams from eight bombardier schools in Texas, New Mexico and California. The teams of pilot, student bombardier and student photographer will drop five bombs each at bulls-eye targets. Best team will be awarded a trophy by chambers of commerce of towns where these schools are located.

The aerial assault, in which the gliders will take part, will be launched on the Childress school bombardier cadet combat camp where advance students live seven days under simulated combat conditions.

The precision bombing begins early this morning with the "skip bombing" and aerial attack following on the afternoon program.

In "skip bombing" bombs are released at a low altitude and skim the water, striking the target in the vicinity of the water line.

The maneuvers will give the glider students and officers participating in the raid a taste of "things to come" under realistic battle conditions.

SKILLFUL BOMBARDIERS TO VIE AT CHILDRESS

CHILDRESS, May 22. (AP) — Twenty-four of the Army's most skillful student bombardiers gathered here this afternoon, ready to sight for a pickle barrel at the flying training command's first all-American bombing olympic tomorrow.

They represented schools at Midland, San Angelo, Big Spring and Childress, Tex., Victorville, Calif., and Deming, Albuquerque and Roswell, N. M.

Each of the eight schools will be championed by three cadets who will drop practice bombs at a 30-foot bullseye centered by the pickle barrel. Competition begins at 8 a. m.

Each bombardier will drop five practice bombs. The most accurate lad will be declared all-American.

The winning team will gain possession of a pickle barrel trophy to be kept by the parent school until it is lost in future competition.

Flying training command officials said they plan to make similar olympics a part of future competitive training.

Skip-bombing demonstrations also will be presented over Lake Childress tomorrow and gliders will attack an advanced flying school base on the nearby caprock.

LONDON, May 22 (AP)—Fighting is raging over a large part of Bosnia and Montenegro in the Balkans, with particularly bloody clashes in Montenegro where the Germans hastily reinforced Italian forces after Yugoslav patriots killed or captured one entire Fascist garrison number 713 men, the Yugoslav government-in-exile announced today.

The Italian garrison was reported destroyed by forces of Gen. Draja Mihailovic which moved down the Moraga river and encircled the town of Bioc last Sunday.

City Fights For Airline Service

possible to prove to the board o the need of airline service f public convenience and necess in this area. Facts and figure showing the extended development of Lubbock and surrounding territory will be gathered in the survey to be incorporated in the supplementary briefs. The fact that Lubbock's population has increased from 31,853 in 1940 to 44,430 and that the county had increased to an estimated 60,000 along with industrial and wholesale development will be outstanding features of the briefs to be cited. Corresponding development of postal receipts, express shipments, passenger travel, and other factors contingent upon the establishment of an airline will be cited in the briefs.

Another proposed airline route through Lubbock, this one contemplated by American Airlines to run from Memphis, Tenn., Oklahoma City and Lubbock to El Paso, also has possibilities of being developed. Data and briefs for the purpose of submitting this application were being prepared at the outbreak of the war and of necessity had to be deferred when extension of airlihes was halted by military activities.

Braniff Application

Regarding Braniff's applications for lines through Lubbock, the Civil Aeronautics board's decision stated in part: "Under these proposals air service would be made to the cities of Lubbock and San Angelo which are now without direct air transportation service. In addition, such proposals would provide a north-south connection for other cities to be served.

"In view of the fact that these routes would offer no substantial improvement over Braniff's present service between Amarillo and Houston and San Antonio, it is probable that any long-haul traffic carried would represent a diversion from Braniff's present route. Thus, this carried would be required to depend upon traffic which would be developed at the intermediate points for additional revenue to support the new service. . . . While a substantial public interest would be served by the establishment of air service to San Angelo and Lubbock and the provision of additional north-south service to Big Spring, we do not believe a sufficient volume of traffic would be available to warrant the operation of the type of service currently provided by Braniff on an economically sound basis. Accordingly, we conclude that the public convenience and necessity do not require the inauguration of air transportation service proposed by Braniff."

Findings On Essair

Regarding Essair's applications, the board stated: "Essair, on the other hand, proposes what it terms a "feeder service route" using small capacity equipment designed to provide service to the small intermediate communities which would be served. It proposes an operation which will connect with the main-line carriers at Austin, Houston, Big Spring and Amarillo and will provide the residents of Texas cities on the route with convenient connecting service to all parts of the country, as well as local service between the cities on the route. In support of its application Essair emphasized the fact that it proposed to conduct its operation with smaller, less expensive equipment than that contemplated by the other applicants, and asserts that such equipment is better suited for the low traffic areas through which the operations are to be conducted than the larger equipment currently in use in domestic airline service.

"Establishment of 'feeder' routes to provide air service to small communities which will not develop sufficient traffic to justify the maintenance of large airports and the operation of conventional types of equipment is a problem of increasing importance. Under date of March 29, 1943, we issued an order instituting a proceeding styled 'local-feeder-pickup air services investigation' looking into the propriety of extending air transportation to communities and localities throughout the continental United States to which such transportation may not appear warranted under usual economic considerations or under existing standards of operation. It is contemplated that in this investigation such questions as methods of operation, types of flight equipment, necessary airports and other facilities required, the allowable cost to the government of such services, proper means of insuring that such service shall maitain its local service character and, in general, conditions upon which authorizations which may be granted will be considered.

Unsufficient Traffic

"As heretofore stated, we do not believe the potential traffic is sufficient to warrant the establishment of additional service between Amarillo and Houston with present types of equipment and under present operating conditions," the report continued. "Manifestly, the intermediate cities of Lubbock, San Angelo, and Brownwood, which are now without scheduled airline service in an area where distances from principal trade centers are great, are entitled to the benefits of that mode of transportation. A route such as is proposed by Essair would be predominantly local in character, connecting these cities with more important Texas trade cities. It would also provide connections with the main trunk lines operating through the state. The cities and territory which would be served by Essair appear to provide a territory ideally suited to the development of a service devoted to local short-haul traffic. However, a decision in this case upon the present record might result in the award of a certificate upon a basis, which findings as a result of our local feeder-pickup investigation would show to be contrary to national interest in the development of a sound air transportation system.

"It is our general policy in the issuance of certificates of public convenience and necessity to delay the effective date of such certificates until the board shall find that the national interest no longer requires that the service authorized thereunder be delayed. The present critical situation with the respect to flying equipment for commercial operations is too well known to require amplification here and there appears to be no possibility that the situation will be relieved to any substantial extent in the immediate future. Clearly, equipment of the type proposed by Essair is not available for immediate operation and we do not believe that it would be able to obtain equipment suitable for the operation of 'feeder' service such as it proposes.

"Thus, it is apparent that a delay in the issuance of a decision on the Essair application will not delay the inauguration of service to the territory which it proposes to service," the decision concluded. "On the other hand, we believe that further study of the 'feeder' problem and the data which will be developed through our general investigation should be of considerable aid in determining the best type of service to meet the needs of the territory here involved. We will, therefore, defer action upon the Essair proposal until such time as we are in a position to consider it in the light of facts developed in connection with the local feeder-pickup investigation."

WLB Seeks End To Ohio Strike

CINCINNATI, O., May 22. (AP)—Frederick H. Bulen, regional War Labor board disputes director, arrived today to seek an end to a six-day strike of workers at Trailer company of America's Oakley plant who ignored back-to-work pleas of a union leader and a Marine returned from Guadalcanal.

Private William Dickson, the Marine who is recuperating from malaria, appeared at a street corner gathering of strikers who obtained paychecks and reminded them that "the boys 'over there' are depending on you—they don't want war production stopped."

Listeners told Dickson they would return to work as soon as 10 discharged employes—all officers of the AFL United Automobile Workers—were rehired.

Jack Hurst, president of the AFL central labor council, reminded the crowd the War Labor board had called for about 1,200 strikers to return to work, that union officials had termed the walkout unauthorized, and added:

"Your striking has a bad effect on the public's opinion of organized labor."

Elliott Named Dean Of Dental College

HOUSTON, May 22. (AP)—Formal acceptance of the Texas Dental college of Houston as the school of dentistry of the University of Texas was made today by the board of regents of the university at Galveston.

Dr. Frederick C. Elliott, dean of the Texas Dental college, was named by the regents as dean of the school.

The Texas Dental college will become the school of dentistry of the university on September 1.

Dr. Elliott was authorized by the regents to select the faculty and prepare the budget of the school.

Beginning the latter part of June, approximately 50 per cent of the students will be in the Army training program. The rest of the students are expected to be in the naval program.

Dr. Elliott will present recommendations for faculty members at the next meeting of the regents.

"Now that the University of Texas has entered the program of dental education, I look forward to that education being the finest in the southwest," Dr. Elliott said.

If You Lose Your Rationing Coupons—

Board Outlines Procedure In Getting Duplicate Book

Persons who lose their ration books henceforth will be required to advertise their loss three times in the press, before they can obtain new books.

This requirement was announced Wednesday following a conference of Lubbock county rationing board officials, and applies to gasoline and sugar-coffee rationing books and to other rationing books which may be issued in the future.

They explained the procedure as follows: When a book is lost, the first thing the owner should do is to insert a newspaper advertisement. After the ad has run three times, the newspaper supplies the owner with an affidavit attesting to proof of publication. He should take this with a clipping of the ad to the rationing board office, 1215 Texas Avenue, where he must make application and a sworn statement that the book has been lost.

Officials emphasized that it will be needless to go first to the rationing board, that the initial act should be the insertion of the newspaper advertisement.

The plan is designed, they said, to aid the holder in locating his book and to protect him from use of the book by some unauthorized person.

INSERT A "3 DAY AD" IN THE LOST & FOUND COLUMN

A Small INEXPENSIVE "10 Word Ad" in the Lost and Found Column of the Avalanche-Journal, published for three days, will comply with the ruling now in force. Here is all it will cost to place such an ad in the Avalanche-Journal—

Italy Jittery As Pact Is Observed

LONDON, May 22. (AP) — Italy observed today with a minimum of ceremony the fourth anniversary of her costliest bargain—the signing of a pact with Germany.

Benito Mussolini looked to his inadequately guarded skies and his menaced coastline in an anxious calculation of a yet unpaid balance amid the heightening havoc of the Allies' aerial onslaught, and summoned the chiefs of his civil departments to receive whatever consolation he can find in reports of the newest preparations against invasion.

Exchange Congratulations

On the eve of the anniversary the Duce and the tired-faced German fuehrer exchanged their usual self-congratulations, full of friendly phrases but barren of any specific assurance, German's armed might would come all-out to Italy's aid in her nearing hour of trial.

Meanwhile, the London press carried dispatches today that the series of Allied bombings had greatly increased civilian evacuations from Italian coastal danger zones and industrial cities.

(At Ankara, the Turkish government asked the legislature for a national defense appropriation equivalent to about $70,000,000, and there were indications the sum would be granted quickly.

Shelter Advice Issued

(A DNB, German news agency, dispatch reported to the Office of War information said Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering has issued directives ot the German people on how to improve many types of air raid shelters found ineffective against the RAF's blockbuster bombs.

(The OWI also carried a report from the Stockholm newspaper Aftontidningen which said thick steel windows had been added to the fortifications protecting "Gimle," the residence of Norway's puppet-premier Vidkun Quisling, already fitted with a bomb-proof room and guarded by a staff of 90.)

Ask Restoration Of WLB Power

WASHINGTON, May 22. (AP) — The American Federation of Labor tonight asked restoration of the War Labor board's former powers, and called on Congress to restrict the "vast discretion" of the National Labor Relations board.

Expressions of dissatisfaction with the present status of the government's two major labor agencies were adopted by the AFL executive council and were made public by President William Green at a press conference at which he also:

1. Announced appointment of a committee to negotiate a basis for the return of John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers to affiliation with the AFL.

2. Said the miners, if readmitted, would be bound by the AFL's wartime "no strike" pledge.

3. Reiterated that he thought the miners' wage controversy should be settled by the War Labor board which Lewis thus far has snubbed although the board is proceeding toward a decision of the case.

It was indicated that it might be next August before final action on Lewis' petition for return of the miners to the AFL, from which he led them in 1935 when the CIO was founded.

The council's expression concerning the War Labor board asserted belief that the limitations imposed on it by President Roosevelt's executive order of April 8 are "in direct conflict with the agreement reached by labor, industry and government when the board was originally established."

Redskins' New Mentor Holds Hopes For Pro Football Next Season

WASHINGTON, May 22. (AP) — The new coach of the World Champion Washington Redskins, "Dutch" Bergman, musing today over the prospects of professional football next season, decided the situation looks this way:

"By the first of June, we'll be rounding up our players, and otherwise beginning to get ready, and we only hope that the other eight clubs (Cleveland has withdrawn) in the league feel the same way about continuing as we do."

There is nothing sure about anything in athletics these days, but Bergman is confident the government will "give professional football every encouragement."

Thousands of service men attend Sunday games and that is also true of the vast army of war workers, so professional football would in no way contribute to absenteeism.

The player limit has been reduced from 33 to 25, and the Redskins, like other clubs, probably, are counting on six or eight players out of the 30 listed on their "draft" roster.

"Some of these newcomers are married, with children, as all of our 14 holdovers are, others have physical deficiencies in the form of old football injuries, and we should be able to pick up a few players from the ranks of assistant coaches, medical students and other sources," he said.

Sammy Baugh's case serves as an illustration of what the professional star will have to do in order to "keep the game alive."

The "sweet slinger" from Sweetwater has hundreds of acres of ranch and farm land where he produces some of the food the nation needs.

With most of the farm chores done by football time, Sammy would bring his family to Washington, take a job in defense industry, do his practicing at night and his playing on Sundays.

Comintern Dissolved guard of workers for the "struggle against fascism and the war which the latter was preparing, and for the support of the Soviet Union as the chief bulwark against fascism."

Churchill's Hope Cited

Only last Wednesday Prime Minister Churchill, in his address before Congress in Washington, asserted that he and President Roosevelt had hopes of meeting Stalin, and perhaps Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, in the near future.

Political quarters awaited with particular interest the impact of neutrals and half-hearted belligerents of Europe, many of whom had quarrels with communism and all of whom Hitler has been attempting to win under the anti-communist banner.

While Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden was expected to express Britain's approval in the House of Commons soon, British newspapers already were taking an optimistic view.

One of the principal disputes between Russia and the United States in the past was the charge that Moscow financed and directed subversive communist activities in the United States although the Russian government contended it had no official obligation toward the Comintern.

HAILED IN LONDON AS STRENTHENING RELATIONS

LONDON, May 22. (AP)—The decision of the Communist International in Moscow to dissolve itself and relinquish central direction of the policies of its offshoots throughout the world was acclaimed in sympathetic London quarters tonight as strengthening British, American and Russian war and post-war relationships.

Observers were inclined to set considerable store to the action at a time when President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill have been meeting in Washington and seeking closer personal contacts with Premier Joseph Stalin.

U. S. ORGANIZATION SAID NOT AFFECTED BY MOVE

NEW YORK, May 22. (AP) — American Communists took the view today that their organization in the United States was in no way affected by the Soviet decision to disband the Communist International although it was conceded that party policy would be touched.

General Secretary Earl Browder pointed out that actually the international characteristics of the American party had been cancelled three years ago when a national convention of the organization resolved to free itself of all groups of any kind outside the boundaries of the United States.

Browder expressed the opinion that the American Communist party would agree with the Moscow proposal "and its motivation," since experience in this country "already pointed in the same direction."

DECISION FINDS FAVOR WITH SOUTH AMERICANS

BUENOS AIRES, May 22. (AP)—Announcement of the decision to abandon the Comintern found a generaly favorable echo in many parts of South America today.

Workers' representatives in Buenos Aires and elsewhere tended to agree that it would contribute to consolidation of leftist elements which have been divided in the past over the communists' presumed suvservience to Moscow.

In some countries where the Communist party exists as a political entity, notably in Chile and Uruguay, Communist sources discounted any practical effect of the change, declaring that their parties did not have any close ties with Moscow anyway.

Loss Of "Duchess" Blow To Ex-Pilot

SPOKANE, Wash., May 22 (AP) —Informed of the loss of the Flying Fortress, "The Duchess," in a Kiel, Germany, raid, Capt. Harold L. Stouse, its former pilot in 16 raids over Europe, today described the report as "certainly tough news."

"I wish now that I had been granted permission to bring her back when I returned to the states recently," he said of the ship which was called "Duchess" after a pet name he had for his wife.

"Twenty-three missions is a lot of missions when you're over Germany. But she did her job."

Captain Stouse said that the only member lost of his crew was Lt. Jack Mathis, San Angelo, Texas, who, struck by shell-fire March 18, performed his last acts with the dropping of the bombs and closing of the bomb bay doors.

Dispatches today said his brother, Lt. Rhude Mark Mathis, who requested his brother's place in the ship, was missing in action.

Tax Conferees Study Compromise Proposal

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP) — Still deadlocked on fundamental issues, members of a Senate-House conference committee studied tonight a compromise proposal to abate the first $50 of tax and 75 per cent of all over that amount in putting the nation's taxpayers on a pay-as-you-go basis.

Variously explained by members, this compromise apparently would free from 1942 obligations approximately 7,000,000 persons who became federal income taxpayers for the first time under lowered exemptions put into effect last year.

All other taxpayers would deduct $50 from their 1942 tax debt and pay 25 per cent of the remainder in the next two years while meeting their current tax obligations for those years.

Nazis Seek Friction Over Soviet Action

(By The Associated Press)

Axis propaganda put out the idea today that President Roosevelt, in the letter which Joseph E. Davies delivered to Premier Stalin in Moscow Thursday night, proposed the "liquidation of the Communist International."

The Berlin radio made this stab in the dark by broadcasting what purported to be a dispatch from Lisbon giving an alleged outline of the contents of the President's letter. It attributed its information to "North Americans in Lisbon in close touch with senators in Washington."

The purpose of the broadcast apparently was to spread the impression of American pressure on Russia in the hope of creating friction between the two countries.

Approximately 24 hours after Stalin received the Roosevelt letter the Communist International announced its own dissolution, but there has been no indication from any reliable source of any connection between the two events.

RAF AIR POWER BEING OMINOUSLY WITHHELD

LONDON, May 22. (AP) — While the devastating power of the RAF's home-based heavy bombers still is being withheld ominously in advance of what may be a sustained knockout aerial attack against Europe, British Mosquitoes smacked Berlin last night for the third consecutive night and the sixth time since May 13.

At the same time Whirlwind fighter-bombers sank two vessels in a five-ship enemy convoy off the coast of France and other British planes attacked railway targets in occupied territory and laid mines in coastal waters.

Tenth Straight Day

As the Allied aerial bombardment of Axis Europe from all sides entered its tenth straight day, the strongest blows of the new offensive had been aimed at Italy and enemy targets on the island stepping-stones of the Mediterranean.

Five bombers and one fighter were missing from last night's RAF operations in the European theater, which followed the daylight blasting of German U-boat yards at Emden and Wilhelmshaven by American Flying Fortresses.

The German high command, in a communique broadcast from Berlin and recorded here by the Associated Press, said "major damage was done to property in Wilhelmshaven and Emden" by the big American bombers. USAAF announcement said 12 bombers were lost.

The Moscow radio reported today that a letter found on a German lieutenant at the Russian front said the RAF raid on the German industrial city of Stuttgart April 14 caused "unparalleled" devastation.

thinking they'd get their books that way. The newspaper blanks won't do at all—they were published only for the information and guidance of readers.

The service men were aroused by the statement on the form that persons in the armed services, along with those in "institutions of involuntary confinement" could not apply for ration book 3, whether or not they are fed in organized messes.

This dilemma finally prompted Paul M. O'Leary, rationing director, to issue a statement saying exclusion of servicemen and servicewomen was only temporary, and that a "simple method" of getting books in their hands would be worked out later.

Housewives Asked Not To Pay Illegal Prices

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP) — Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown appealed anew to housewives to help OPA enforce its uniform community-wide prices for general grocery commodities by refusing to pay more than the legal ceiling price.

"A consumer who pays above the ceiling price is encouraging the black market and impeding the war effort," Brown said. His statement came on the eve of announcement of additional community-wide prices in approximately 130 metropolitan areas.

Uniform prices were announced some time ago for general grocery commodities sold by the smallest independent stores in the 130-odd metropolitan areas. Prices to be announced tomorrow will be for the larger stores—class 2, 3 and 4. The prices will be announced through OPA field offices.

While the weather bureau issued a flood warning for residents of the upper Trinity valley in north Texas, Corpus Christians remained under voluntary water rationing. Lawns were going unwatered and stricter control was promised if the shortage reaches expected serious proportions by July.

Huge Naval Station

Demands of the huge naval air station and expanding wartime industries were credited with principal responsibility for the shortage.

At Dallas, A. M. Hamrick, U. S. weather observer, predicted the Trinity and tributaries would reach bankful stage early Sunday after general rains in northeast Texas. Dallas had received nearly three inches of rain since Friday morning.

Nearby Waxahachie reported an estimated three inches.

A slow rain at Bonham Friday night increased Saturday morning to send creeks up and provide crops with needed moisture.

The Llano territory's crops and ranges benefitted from a generous fall.

Many communities in the flood area were isolated by water, although most main roads in Illinois and Indiana were being opened up. More than 100,000 persons were homeless and thousands of acres of farm land were under water.

The Arkansas was still rising, approaching the record 41.7 feet crest established at Fort Smith during last week's rise.

Oil Movement Cut

At Washington, the Office of Defense Transportation said the movement of oil to the east coast may be cut nearly in half for a few days as the result of railroad washouts and the washout of the "big inch" pipeline.

Operation of the 24-inch emergency pipeline, however, may be resumed in part by next Thursday, Secretary Ickes reported. The trouble spot is being bridged with 20-inch pipe which had been assembled near Little Rock, Ark., for construction of the new petroleum products line to the east coast, known as the "little big inch" pipeline.

Ickes, the petroleum administrator, said two crews totalling several hundred men went to work late Thursday on laying about 71-2 miles of the 20-inch pipe to bridge the break in the "big inch" and another crew moved in on the job Friday.

Jap Snipers On Attu Are Tough

By RUSSELL ANNABEL
United Press Staff Writer

MASSACRE BAY, Attu Island, May 15. (Delayed)—The grim task of dislodging Jap snipers holding the passes leading to the main enemy garrison of this rocky, mist-bathed island was the most difficult one yet faced by our troops in the Pacific war, according to veterans of Guadalcanal and other Pacific fronts.

There is no cover under which our troops can approach near enough to the snipers to dislodge them with grenades or rifle fire. The Japs have dug in high among mossy crags of the snowslopes. They fire only during intervals when the fog is about to roll over their positions. With glasses they can spot approaching American patrols a mile distant.

Know Area Thoroughly

The Japs have been on Attu long enough to know the aera thoroughly and have devised special techniques for this type of warfare. In several cases the snipers were found to have had foxholes connected by underground tunnels. They would shoot from one hole and scurry to another, firing from there while our patrols concentrated on the first position.

They have climbed from adjoining valleys to tops of mountain peaks constantly hidden by fog and with light machineguns have slid swiftly down to the fog line above our troops. Yesterday 11 of these gunners slid like phantoms down the snow-choked bed and strafed this camp area, the tracers thudding into the soggy moss and screaming off grey rock outcroppings until a battery of 155's registered on the Japs, killing them all. Their bodies still lie above us on the snow at the rim of a black crater.

Digging Grimly At Them

But our men have been digging the snipers out grimly. When one is located a patrol will fan up the mountainside closing in gradually and relentlessly until the Jap — realizing he is trapped—stands up, firing wildly.

The Jap snipers on this side of Massacre Bay apparently have no radio or telephone communications but communicate with bamboo flutes.

Our advance patrols first were puzzled by the weird musical notes among the snowy cliffs, but the mystery was seolved when they killed a Jap officer in a camouflaged dugout on the cliff rim and found a ten-inch flute. This Jap had been firing on medical personnel evacuating wounded and for the entire day had pinned down stretcher bearers and wounded in a rocky wash.

Time Of Red Stamp J Expiration Extended

WASHINGTON, May 22. (AP)—Red stamp "J," worth 16 points of rationed meats and fats, will be good throughout June instead of expiring May 31.

In announcing this tonight, the Office of Price Administration said it took that action to avoid a rush on retailers on the Saturday preceding Memorial Day.

OPA also announced that four new series of red stamps (a total of 64 points) will become valid at weekly intervals beginning May 30 and will be good for meats-fats purchases through June 30.

The extension of the validity of stamp "J" leaves stamps "E," "F," "G," and "H" expiring May 31. Stamp "J" becomes valid tomorrow.

Strikes Spread

of the CIO United Automobile Workers ,said he was "going to find out" who was responsible for the strike.

All workers in the bitmuinous coal fields of Pennsylvania, aside from 360 at one mine, had voted to return to their jobs after a flurry of work stoppages.

THREE CENTS AN HOUR WAGE HIKE APPROVED

WASHINGTON, May 22. (AP) — The War Labor board today ordered a 3 cents an hour wage increase for "Big Four" rubber workers, and called on idle employes in plants at Akron to return to their jobs at once.

The board telegraphed officials of the CIO United Rubber Workers at Akron that continuance of the stoppage is a serious threat to the security of the nation and contrary to a no-strike pledge of the union.

Several thousand workers failed to report at Akron plants today in protest against the wage order. The CIO union had sought an 8 cents an hour increase for the workers.

WLB said the 3 cents increase would stabilize pay levels throughout the industry under the Little Steel formula.

Horse Flood Victim Rescues Rescuers

BEARDSTOWN, Ill., May 22. (AP)—Five men set out today in an outboard motor boat to rescue a horse marooned on the opposite side of the swollen Illinois river.

The horse swam away. The men pursued. After two hours they overtook the animal. Then their troubles began. When they used motor power the boat was too fast for the swimming horse. When they rowed the horse was too fast for them.

Finally, one of the rescuers, Robert C. Sparks, chief inspector of the state conservation department, solved the problem.

He grabbed the horse's tail and let the animal tow men, boat and all to safety.

NEW FACES—Three of these four pretty faces are newcomers to movie audiences. They comprise a quartette of beauties whom Universal will present in a comedy titled "Get Going." Top to bottom—Vera Vague, of radio; Grace McDonald, featured in Abbott and Costello's "It Ain't Hay" and to be seen in Charles Boyer's "For All We Know;" Maureen Cannon, who stole the show in the Broadway hit, "Best Foot Forward," and Lois Collier, being featured in the new Technicolor starrer for Maria Montez, "Cobra Woman".

Seven Injured When Bus Skids, Hits Pole

SHREVEPORT, May 22. (AP) — Seven persons were injured, none seriously when a bus skidded into a telephone pole here today, a police report said. Considerable damage was done to the bus, which is owned by the Airline Motor Coach company of Nacogdoches.

The injured, taken to a local hospital, included A. F. Martindale, Jasper, Tex.; Ann Huggins, Houston; Josephine Brown, Houston, and Lucy Brown, Houston.

Warning Issued On 'Black' Meat

DALLAS, May 22. (AP) — The Dallas News said tonight that little, if any, legitimate beef should be on Dallas retail counters within the next week.

"If beef appears in any quantity on retail counters after the next five or six days, it will come from the black market," the paper quoted a Dallas packer.

The News said packers estimated the present available beef supply in butcher shops would be depleted within the next few days and said that most Dallas plants have stopped beef slaughter because of consistent losses.

One large Dallas packer, the paper said, presented figures today to show that at current livestock quotations on the Fort Worth market, he would lose from $12 to $14 per head on choice beef.

NO BLACK MARKET FOUND BY WEST TEXAS INQUIRY

FORT WORTH, May 22. (AP) — Convinced that no meat "black market" of consequence exists in north central and West Texas, OPA officials turned their attention today to the price of cattle feed, to determine what bearing that may have on the shortage of meat.

Frank Taylor, chief enforcement attorney in the OPA's Fort Worth office, said an investigation into livestock marketing completed by his office has revealed that few ranchmen are fattening cattle because they cannot do so profitably and pay present feed prices.

Thorough Check Made

"Our investigators have made a thorough check of livestock markets in a dozen north central and West Texas cattle shipping centers and we are thoroughly satisfied that there is no black market of consequence in this area," Taylor emphasized.

Summarizing the reports of the OPA investigators who combed through 49 counties of the Fort Worth OPA district, Taylor pointed out that fewer cattle are being sent to the metropolitan markets because recent rains have made grass plentiful, the shortage and high price of protein feeds makes it unprofitable for ranchmen to "finish" the cattle for market now, and producers are not shipping to the metropolitan markets because they can obtain as good a price at local auction rings, thus avoiding shipping and commission expense.

Severe Slash Ordered In Eastern Mileage

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP) — A 40 per cent slash in mileage was ordered tonight for the east's trucks, buses and taxis.

The Office of Defense Transportation, decreeing this cut in an effort to relieve a critical gasoline shortage, said drastic curtailments will be ordered Monday in deliveries of beverages, ice cream, flowers and other "less essential commoditiee."

Coming on top of a reinstated ban on pleasure driving by private motorists, the slash in commercial mileage threatened to affect many aspects of life in the northeastern tier of 12 states.

Additional jamming of already-crowded buses, fewer dellveries by stores and fewer taxicabs were among the prospects.

The reduction was effected by an extension from June 30 to July 25 of the valid period for all existing "T" gasoline rations in the area.

Small Grains Making Fairly Good Progress

CHICAGO, May 22 (AP)—Wheat, oats and rye are making fairly good progress in most sections of the producing belt, the weather bureau summary of crop conditions said today, but corn planting is considered behind schedule because of wet weather.

The bureau gave the following summary of conditions in major producing states:

Texas — Condition of winter wheat is fairly good, but more rain is needed urgently. Oats and barley are in only fair condition. Corn made good progress and condition is fairly good.

Details of the accident had not been announced. Mr. Gregor was employed by the Brown Saddle shop.

The body was removed to the Rix Funeral home, and funeral arrangements had not been completed early this morning.

Markets At Houston To Close On Monday

HOUSTON, May 22. (AP) — Pat Stone, secretary of the Retail Grocer's association here, today warned that meat markets with association membership would be closed Monday.

He said the store-closing was not a strike against OPA ceiling prices. "We're trying to eliminate the black market in meat so marketing will be on the orderly basis the government wants it to be on," he said.

Committee Speeds FSA Fund Hearing

WASHINGTON, May 22. (AP) — Expecting bitter fights ahead over the Farm Security administration and the crop insurance program, a Senate Agricultural Appropriations committee sought today to complete hearings on the annual farm money bill in record time.

CHICKENS-TURKEYS, Star Sulphurous Compound—given in drinking water or feed destroys the intestinal germs and worms that cause most all diseases as they enter the fowl in feed, preventing most all diseases. Also rids them of blood-sucking lice, mites, fleas, blue bugs and red bugs that kill many of your chicks. Cost very little to use. Money back if not satisfied. Mark Halsey, Drug Stores.

HALF & HALF PEDIGREED SEED FROM SEED FARM NEAR VERNON, CERESAN TREATED, GERMINATION 94%
This is the thin rind, light burr, high linting, early strain of Half & Half kept pure by a prominent seed grower who commenced working with Half & Half when its originators switched to Hybred.
An average of 1,600 pounds of snapped cotton made 500 pound bales. It is not unusual to get a strict middling 500-pound bale from 1,500 pounds of snaps.
This is short cotton 13/16 and ⅞ inch staple but it went in the Government Loan at better prices than staple cotton because it made higher grades.
Recleaned and graded fuzzy seed in new bushel cotton bags at $6.80 per bag. Kemgas treated-tested seed at $11 per 100 pounds.
Mail check and we ship freight prepaid to your railroad station and you save time and tires. We allow freight if you call for seed.

Western Prolifics
Most popular cotton in West Texas because its earliness and prolific fruiting has made more dollars per acre.
Has thin rind bolls that open early and its lightweight burs make high gin turn outs from snapped cotton.
Not a long staple cotton but its ⅞ to 15-16 staple has made $5 to $10 per bale more than cotton from Georgia seed.
Stays in the boll better than most cottons which is an advantage that saves lots of cotton if hands are scarce.
On R. D. Holmes land in 1942 Western Prolific planted 13 days after Hybreed opened at some time and made more cotton per acre.
These seed have been Kemgas delinted and graded and then dusted with Ceresan to protect the seedlings from disease germs in the soil.

First Property Returned Alien

NEW YORK, May 22. (AP) — The alien property custodian has returned cash and securities valued at about $2,000,000 to a Rumanian refugee, it was announced today by an attorney who said that it was the first return of property seized from an alien since this country entered the war.

The announcement, made through Carl Byoir and associates, New York public relations firm, said that Brien McMahon, Washington lawyer and former assistant attorney general, had conducted proceedings against the alien property custodian on behalf of Edgar Ausnit, former Rumanian munitions industrialist. As a result of the auction, the announcement said, more than $9,000 in cash, 2,000 shares of United States Steel corporation stock and controlling stock in the Cisatlantic corporation and the Cisoceanic corporation had been returned to Ausnit, whose property was seized July 2, 1942.

Ausnit and his brother, Max, were partners in the Rumanian firm of Titan-Nadrag-Calan company.

Legislation To Halt Strikes Is Demanded

WASHINGTON, May 22. (AP) — Legislation to halt strikes and industrial delays was urged in a letter from eleven workers in the Dow chemical plant at Freeport, Texas.

The letter, made public today by one of the recipients, Senator Connally (D-Tex), asked "if we — speaking as defense workers, voters and Americans—can do our jobs without walkouts, strikes and other such lowly deeds, why should we not expect the legislative branch of our government to stop it elsewhere?"

Cotton..

NEW YORK FUTURES
NEW YORK, May 22 (AP)—Cotton futures rose 45 to 60 cents a bale today on broadened buying which was attributed partly to fears of considerable crop damage from floods in the central belt.
Trade price fixing against government orders accounted for an active demand for contracts near the close and offerings were limited. There was a fair amount of switching from near to distant months.

U. S. Bombers Shoot Down 5 Jap Fighters

NEW DELHI, May 22 (AP) — U. S. medium bombers shot down five, possibly eight, Japanese fighter planes yesterday and damaged six more after a sharp bombing attack on enemy workshops Chauk in central Burma during which a number of buildings were destroyed, a U. S. Army Air force communique said today.

In returning from the successful assault, the bomber flight was intercepted by 25 Japanese fighters, it was announced. The running engagement which followed lasted almost a half hour.

One of the American planes failed to return from the mission.

Grain..

CHICAGO REPORT
CHICAGO, May 22 (AP) — A substantial demand for rye came into the grain market through commission houses and prices advanced about 2 cents in an active trade. Other grains, influenced by the rye strength, moved higher, wheat gaining about a cent.
Brokers with northwestern connections were active in the rye pit and some of their buying was attributed to milling interests. Poor crop prospects and expectations of heavier demand for the grain for livestock feeding, distilling use and exports supported the advance.
At the close wheat was ⅞-1⅛ higher, July $1.44⅛-⅜, September $1.44⅝, corn was unchanged, July $1.05, oats were up ⅞-1⅛ on a last minute buying splurge and rye jumped 1⅝-2⅛.

Baylor Medical Unit To Be Training Site

DALLAS, May 22. (AP)—Baylor university college of medicine has been selected by the War department as a site for placement of an Army specialized training unit for training of medical and dental students, a joint announcement by the school and the 8th service command revealed today.

Col. E. A. Keyes, chief of the specialized training unit section of the command, said that the unit probably would be activated about a week before the next semester begins, probably around June 21.

Under the program, all students now enrolled or matriculated in the Baylor institution would be eligible for enlistment in the unit. Those now in army reserve classes may resign, then enlist in the specialized training unit, Col. Keyes said.

As enlisted men, they will be assigned to the Baylor medical school unit and the Army will assume all responsibilities of their education, too, the enrollees will receive regular Army pay of $50 a month.

Restrictions At Parley Lighten

HOT SPRINGS, Va., May 22 (AP)—The United Nations food conference, through Chairman Marvin Jones, loosened its restrictions upon the press today and simultaneously took a hard boiled attitude against visiting congressmen and their criticisms of the parley.

Jones announced that, inasmuch as the conference committees have completed their task of organization and few further evening sessions are contemplated, reporters henceforth will be allowed to circulate in the lobbies of the Homestead hotel between 6 and 9 p. m., nightly, except when an executive session is in progress.

May Talk To Delegates

The newsmen can eat in the hotel dining room between those hours, if they like, and talk with any delegate who wants to talk.

Up to Jones' announcement, newsmen had been barred from the hotel. Nearly 200 soldiers are on hand to see that only invited people get into the luxurious hostelry.

At the same time Jones sharply rejected the demand of two Republican congressmen, Bradley of Michigan and Smith of Ohio, that members of Congress be permitted to attend any and all sessions of the conference. They will not be allowed to attend executive sessions of committees, Jones asserted.

Angrily, Rep. Bradley of Michigan declared he would demand a congressional investigation of the conference, and talked of going back to Washington to "blow the roof off the capitol" over this issue.

Given Admission Cards

He and Rep. Smith of Ohio told reporters that Chairman Jones had advised them they could not attend executive sessions unless specifically invited, but had given them cards reading "this is to certify the the bearer is a temporary visitor."

Since virtually all the sessions are executive, the representatives concluded they had, in effect, been barred from the conference although they said Jones had issued assurances earlier that members of Congress would be welcomed.

Sweeping School Changes Sought

NEW YORK, May 22. (AP)—The commission on liberal education of the Association of American Colleges made public today a committee report which recommended sweeping changes in methods of college instruction after the war, including the suggestion that the usual entrance requirements be discarded or revised for returning members of the armed forces.

The report proposed that "the educational status of each returning student be determined primarily by the employment of aptitude and achievement tests."

James B. Baxter, 3rd, president of Williams college and commission chairman, announced the program which is designed, the commission said, to meet the needs of the demobilization period and of "the modern, reconstructed world."

Outmoded Practices

The commission recommended abandonment of what it termed the following "outmoded" educational practices which it said "will not seem reasonable to returning military veterans."

1. "Abuse" of the lecture method of instruction under which students are "told" and whereby "they have little opportunity to contribute the results of their own experience and reflection."

2. Traditional examination procedure "which requires students merely to reproduce information the instrucotr has talked into their notebooks."

3. "Unwise use" of textbooks to the exclusion of reading primary source materials.

4. Determination of students' programs "by mechanical application of rules and regulations without regard, or with inadequate regard, to the needs of the individual."

Stephan's Motion For New Trial Is Denied

DETROIT, May 22 (AP)—Federal Judge Arthur J. Tuttle today denied a new-trial motion filed in behalf of Max Stephan, former Detroit innkeeper under sentence to hang for aiding an escaped German flier.

The motion, prepared by Defense Attorney Nicholas Salowich, sought a new trial for the convicted traitor on grounds of "newly-discovered evidence."

Specifically, Salowich based his plea on the contention Stephan aided the flight of Lieut. Hans Peter Krug from a Bowman, Ont., internment camp on the advice of William J. Nagel, former Detroit postmaster. Nagel has denied the accusation.

Churchill Renews No Quarter Pledge

WASHINGTON, May 22. (AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill said today there is a possibility the "proud German Army" may collapse as it did in the first World war, or in Tunisia — but asserted it would be folly to count on that possibility.

Speaking informally and extemporaneously to the British embassy staff in the embassy gardens, the Prime Minister declared there will be no relaxation in the war effort until victory is won. He warned that the conflict may still be "long and arduous."

In four months more than 18 million pairs of discarded silk and nylon stockings were contributed by U. S. women to the war effort.

Allies Definitely Making Progress

By GLENN BABB
Associated Press War Analyst

Definites progress in the pre-invasion softening up of Italy and Germany by Allied bombers and success in the opening phase of the American campaign to sweep the Japanese from the North Pacific marked the course of the war last week.

The biggest headlines, however, recorded political rather than purely military events, among them a memorable speech by Winston Churchill to the United States Congress, the Communist International's announcement in Moscow of its own dissolution and the work of the American-British war council in Washington.

GLENN BABB

Except on the little island of Attu in the Aleutians, where the Americans reached the mopping up stage, the lull between the Allies' victorious African campaign and the great battles of the summer persisted. It appeared, however, unlikely to last much longer. The news from Russia indicated that the opening of Adolf Hitler's third attempt to smash the Red Army was expected almost any dawn now. Around the shores of the Mediterranean indications increased that the mighty, victorious Allied forces poised on the North African coast were not likely to give the enemy much time to recover from his Tunisian disaster.

Message To Stalin

Joseph E. Davies reached Moscow and presented to Premier Stalin the letter from President Roosevelt which many believed contained an invitation for the Russian leader to meet with the President and Prime Minister Churchill.

The question of the second front remained, however, to plague the United Nations. Until events disclose where and in what strength the British and Americans will assault the fortress of Europe, doubt will persist on this score. A reference by Churchill to the value of the experiment of trying to knock Germany and Italy out by bombing alone caused some unofficial anxiety in Moscow as to whether this meant a postponement of the second front in Europe.

Next Allied Move

What the western Allies are preparing remained the secret of the American President, the British Prime Minister and their chiefs of staff conferring in Washington and a few commanders in the field. The Washington discussions reached the stage where the military experts submitted their preliminary plans to the President and Premier and final decisions were expected this week.

The battle of the Atlantic, on which that strategy so largely depends, continued to favor the Allies in increasing measure.

Churchill told Congress that the last three months and particularly the last three weeks had yielded record results in the killings of U-boats.

The pre-invasion pounding of the Axis from the air was especially severe in the south, where American and British bombers from North African bases set about tearing the air cover off Italy and the islands that may be the stepping stones for the coming attack.

Six Allied Armies Poised

At least six Allied armies remained poised around the southern and eastern rim of the Mediterranean and Hitler faced the necessity of being ready to meet any or all of them at any time and any place along the European under belly.

In the North Pacific the American offensive to clean the Japanese from the Aleutians and open the great circle route to Tokyo reached the stage where Secretary Knox pronounced our landings on Attu island a successful operation with nothing left but the mopping up.

Farmers Producing Black-Eyed Peas

Farmers from a number of communities in Lubbock county are producing black-eyed peas for Uncle Sam this year. The acreage goal in the county is set at 200, but more than that amount will be planted.

The government has promised a floor price for this year's crop, if farmers meet certain requirements. The AAA is planning to assist in marketing arrangements before harvest time, authorities have said.

In Texas as a whole, it is reported black eyed peas will be planted as a war crop in 115 counties, the acreage totaling 145,855. The floor price is announced at $5.75 a hundred pounds, if cleaned and bagged, No. 1 quality.

Lubbock and Lamesa are to be principal points of shipping in car lots, among 10 other towns and cities designated in Texas.

Criminal Cases To Be Tried At Crosbyton

CROSBYTON, May 22. (Special)—Judge Daniel A. Blair will call criminal cases next week in his Crosby county continuous term of 72nd district court.

The following indictments are expected to be tried, said Burton S. Burks, district attorney:

Roy Lee Woodard, a negro, charged with bigamy; L. B. Traylor, cattle theft; Leon Kennedy and R. W. Kirkland, burglary; O. D. Kirkland, obtaining property with intent to defraud by giving an insufficient check; O. D. Kirkland, receiving and concealing stolen property; Dee Kirkland, receiving and concealing stolen property.

At least one civil action may be heard, court officials indicated.

Restrictions Eased For Tire Retailers

Provision has been made to enable tire dealers to replentish their stocks without presenting parts "B" of tire certificates to their suppliers, the district OPA office announced Saturday.

Retailers may apply to the district office for written authorization to purchase tires. The new amendment sets no limit on the number of tires which may be purchased in that manner. The dealer should specify the number of tires he wishes to buy when applying, however.

Within 90 days after the authorization, the dealer must forward to the district office parts "B" of certificates in the amount of the authorization. Part "B" is one of the four parts of the tire certificate issued by county war price and rationing boards and presented to dealers by purchasers.

The amendment will enable quick movement of stocks from manufacturers to dealers. It is expected to materially relieve the tire situation in this area, said district officials.

Lubbock Graduates To Share In Fellowships

Of 23 fellowships and scholarships for University of Texas students, two went to graduate students registered from Lubbock.

Fellowships of $400 each went to Dorothy Margaret Forbis, whose parents live at Wellington and who was graduated from the arts and sciences division of Texas Technological college; and to Howard Henry Hurmence, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Hurmence of 3021 Twentieth street.

Miss Forbis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Forbis, won a scholarship and other scholastic honors in Wellington High school. She rooms with Miss Virginia Belle Gamble, pianist (ghter of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. mble of 2402 Twentieth street, also a university student.

Man Pleads Guilty On Whiskey Sale Count

C. A. Maynard pleaded guilty in county court Saturday to charges of sale of whiskey and was assessed a fine of $100 and court costs by Judge G. V. Pardue.

Complaint was filed against Holland Edwards for fighting, and Rudolph Holden faced charges of vagrancy.

Henry Gibson, 60-year-old negro charged with two counts of violation of the medical act and held in county jail since May 17, posted bond Saturday of $500 on one count and $1000 on the other.

Kenneth Smith of 1608 Twenty-second street reported to police the theft of a bicycle from a downtown theater.

EARTHQUAKE IN CHILE

SANTIAGO, Chile, May 22 (AP)—A light earthquake was felt in Santiago at 5 a. m. today. No damage was reported.

The inland highlands of Yemen, in Arabia, have produced coffee since Mahomet's time.

"FIGURED FOR STARDOM"—Anne Gwynne has the kind of lines which inspired a movie magazine to declare that she was "figured for stardom." As popular in person with the personnel in the army camps as she is on photographic print paper as a "pin-up girl," she is following her most recent movie role by a personal appearance tour of encampments. Her last movie assignment was given her by Walter Wanger who cast Anne in the leading feminine role of his "We've Never Been Licked."

Services Held For Mrs. Earl Temple

LAMESA, May 22 (Special)—Funeral services for Mrs. Earl Temple, about 45, who died at 2:30 o'clock this morning at her home near Lamesa, were conducted this afternoon in the Lamesa Methodist church. Mrs. Temple was a sister of Miss Stella Thurman, principal of K. Carter school in Lubbock.

Another service will be held in a Hamlin cemetery.

Mrs. Temple also is survived by her husband; two daughters, Miss Ella Catherine Temple, a teacher in a Dawson county school, Miss Jimmie Earle Temple, a student in Texas Technological college; and two sons, Jack and Billy Temple, who are at home.

Federal Court Will Hear Civil Cases

Federal court will resume Monday, but without a jury until Thursday. Convened by Judge T. Whitfield Davidson here May 17, the first week of the spring term was consumed in disposing of the criminal docket. Civil cases will keep the court in session for another week or more.

The only case set for trial tomorrow has been settled out of court, and not until Thursday is there to be another case demanding a jury. It is an action brought by James Orwin Tinsley, against the Great Northern Life Insurance Co.

The action of H. C. Holcomb, against Insurors Indemnity and Insurance Co., set for tomorrow, will not come to trial.

Farmers Hoping Rain Will Stop

Persistent overcast and intermittent showers of last week deepened creases about the eyes of farmers who in early May feared they wouldn't get moisture in time for their seasonal planting.

Their glances now seek cloud rifts that would allow sunlight to filter through on fields so dank that germination has been retarded and inadequate stands are likely, especially in ground planted early.

Month's Total 2.51 Inches

Friday night brought a .02 inch shower that raised the month's total to 2.51 inches, the year's to 3.35 inches.

From records of Don L. Jones, superintendent of the experiment sub-station east of Lubbock, the May fall was so divided:

May 9, .42 inch; May 10, 1.71 inch; May 19, .09 inch; May 21, .27 inch,; May 22, .02 inch. Only .84 inch had fallen before May.

Ample moisture has been received in all except "a few spotted areas," Jones said he had been informed. What the planter now wants is sunshine enough to allow normal germination. Some farmers who planted early will have to replant, because dirt was washed too deeply over seed.

Victory gardeners, however, were happy over rainfall they'd received. Whatever amount of seed they may have to replant would require only a brief amount of time and energy, not nearly enough to counterbalance the value of the water season in their plots.

SCURRY COUNTY GETS 3.15 INCHES IN MAY

SNYDER, May 22 (Special) — A total of 2.12 inches of rainfall was gauged in Snyder and Scurry county this week, bringing the May total to 3.15 inches.

The fall was vital to fields and rangeland.

The Woman's Angle

By Margaret Turner

THE strength that some persons expend to hang onto a penny would dig up a dollar.

SEVEN IN SERVICE

CADET Ira J. Holloman of Frederick, Okla., who will receive his wings and commission from Lubbock Army Air field Monday is one of seven sons in the service of their country. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Holloman, pioneer residents of Frederick, recently received a letter from Secretary of War Stimson in which he said, "Such patriotic devotion must reflect the loyalty and patriotism which your sons have learned at home." A citation was made in the Congressional Record last Dec. 16, calling attention of the Congress to the seven brothers in service.

Cadet Holloman attended Oklahoma A. and M. college where he played football and basketball and was a member of Sigma Nu fraternity. His nickname is "Happy."

• • •

Jeff Joe, 21, who will receive his commission May 29 in chemical warfare from Edgewood Arsenal, Md.

Lt. Leon Holloman, 28, surgeon for flotilla in amphibious warfare, North Africa.

Capt. Robert Holloman, 31, range officer, San Luis Obispo, Calif.

Lt. Haskell Holloman, 34, mast officer, Navy, submarine chaser school, Miami, Fla.

Capt. Horace Holloman, 26, Army medical corps, division of engineers, serving somewhere overseas.

• • •

Mrs. Holloman is one of Frederick's busiest women. In addition to serving as supervisor of surgical dressings for the Red Cross, she is recruiting officer of the WAACs in Tillman county.

As long as there are families in the nation like the Hollomans we cannot lose.

SCATTERINGS

ENSIGN T. I. Brown has only cordial remarks to make of the Army, or as he says, "The Army is one of our favorite allies." . . . Lament of a young woman who has been spending many evenings in her own company, "One gets so tired of one." . . . Larry Mann of Chicago, a pre-flighter at Tech, has engraved on his identification bracelet, "He who counts friends counts wealth" (instead of the usual Air Corps insignia). . . . The Mesdames Chapman, three of Lubbock's most active business women, are no kin. Two of them, Mesdames Mabel Chapman of U. S. PRETZELS: Did you know pretzels date back to the middle ages? Children of that time were sent to the monasteries to be taught their prayers and at the end of the lesson, it was a custom of the priest to give each child a small cake called a "pretiola," which meant "little reward." . . . One day an ingenious priest hit on the idea of having the cake shaped so that it would remind the child of a prayerful attitude. He had the pretiolas shaped to represent folded arms, which was the manner in which they prayed, as is seen in many early paintings.

"Why don't you go out with girls? the doctor asked . . . "Because," said the draftee, "my wife won't let me."

SOLDIERS feel sorry for movie stars who are training in their camps. For instance, class mates of Capt. Clark Gable at OCS liked and admired him but felt sorry that he could not leave the field without being the object of "Yoo hoos" from enthusiastic Floridians . . . A Littlefield boy in training at the same time said Gable received hundreds of letters from women begging for his mustache, which had to be shaved off because of military regulations. "Gable laughed ruefully," he said, "and said he ought to go out and get a horse's tail and send hairs to them." . . . Girl Scouts And Brownies Are Registering For Summer Camp; Activities Are Scheduled

MISS ROSEMARY HEAD

GIRL Scouts and Brownies of Lubbock have been registering this week for the Girl Scout camp which begins June 7 at Mackenzie park. Registrations will continue this next week, but they must be made by Friday, according to Mrs. L. F. Bookman, camp chairman.

Arrangements have been made to give every Lubbock Girl Scout and Brownie a camping experience this summer, since the organization feels that young people need the training and relaxation from "war nerves" which camping gives them.

Activities at camp will include handicraft work, swimming, nature study, campfire singing, out-of-doors cooking and many other interesting phases of camp life. By means of these an attempt will be made to fullfill the camping aims of the Girl Scout organization which are: to aid in the development of the girl as an individual and as a member of a group; to stimulate real enjoyment and appreciation of the out-of-doors; to develop resourcefulness, initiative and self-reliance; to contribute to the physical and mental well being of girls; and to provide a happy adventurous experience by teaching them new and interesting activities and skills. In so doing, the Girl Scout organization is giving a service to America's children and to our country which Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt has called "a Godsend." This is what Mr. McNutt has said about camping in wartime: "At camp young people learn to stand on their own, to be physically fit, to do hard things and do them well. They develop a capacity for co-operation and the sense of comradeship. They learn what a precious thing it is to belong. All of this would be valuable enough in peacetime. In wartime, camp life is a Godsend."

This is the first year overnight camping has been provided for Lubbock girls. This type of camping has been instituted this year in order to give the girls a more well-rounded camping experience. The campers will work and play in units of twelve girls under the supervision of two carefully

From Lou To Louella

DEAR Louella: Helen Joy Smith is to return to her home in dear ole Texas the latter part of this month. She has been employed by the government in Washington for the past few months. It will really be swell having her back again! . . . While on the subject of former Techsans, let us mention J. E. Roberson, former Picador manager, now in the U. S. Air forces; Haynes Baumgardner, now in San Antonio awaiting call to pre-flight; his brother, Robert Baumgardner, is now attending Union university in Jackson, Tenn., and really likes it; Wayne Madden, awaiting Navy call, was in Lubbock recently; R. V. Ball is attending George Peabody college, Nashville, Tenn., and on May 22 will go to the classification center before entering pre-flight school.

* * *

IN THE MAIL

Dear Lou: Do you know Janet Brashear who works in the Post Exchange at Lubbock Army Air Field? She is so friendly, and always has a smile for everyone. I see her every day, and she is always just the same and always smiling.

A Reader

* * *

WHO were those three cute people seen with A. G. "Economical" Meyers Monday night? . . . Jo Nell Cox is to marry Weldon Christian the middle of July. Both are Techsans, Jo Nell is of Lubbock, Weldon hails from Big Spring . . . What wouldn't we give for eyes like Raymond Piller's! . . . Pat Blount had the ring 'n everything, but the little gal wouldn't accept it. But from all indications, they're still steadies. We hope so, anyway, cause they're both way up on our list of favorites . . . Bettye Jo Cardwell, former Techsan, is to attend school here this summer. Wonder whether Charles Cathey has anything to do with it? . . . Jodie Woffard and Dean Redus seem to be quite the steady couple these days . . . A Tech coed was heard to remark recently that she simply couldn't make up her mind between love and money. We'd say that shouldn't be so hard, for there's only one choice for her—money. Because if she's in love with the other boy, she wouldn't even have made the comparison in the first place.

HERE AND THERE

Aviation Cadet Judd Allen, LAAF, keeps the line busy between the field and Florine Pattillo's house . . . D' Lyle Brooke and Pvt. Jimmy Blackmon can probably soon be added to our growing list of steadies. They seem to be together every time Jimmy can arrange a pass from LAAF. . . . After all these years Juno Brooke and Earl Williams, former gridster at Tech, now stationed with the Navy in Florida, have decided to call it quits. And Cpl. Lee Smith of SPAAF and Pennsylvania, seems to be occupying not only her time but her affections as well . . . Wonder whether Jack Wheat of LAAF has a "one and only," or if he's just playing the field? We'd much rather it were the latter . . . Elizabeth Goffinett recently received a ring from Lt. Chris P. Hodgson, now stationed at Avon Park, Fla. Chris hails from Oklahoma City. . . Ensign T. I. Brown, of Norfolk, Va., is in Lubbock on 15-day leave, and will return to Norfolk today. . . . Mrs. Mark Miles, the former Annabel Wood, is working for the Frederick Press in Frederick, Okla., now. Mark is an aviation cadet at the Army Air field in Frederick, and will get a commission in June . . . Fussy Yeager, formerly of Lubbock and Texas Tech, is now a dietician at SMU, and from all indications, you'll probably hear wedding bells some time this summer. The bride-groom-to-be is a student there.

Love,
Lou.

Mother Of Sergeant Alvin C. York Dies

PALL MALL, Tenn., May 22 (AP) — A long, useful, happy life ended Friday for Mrs. Mary York, 77, mother of World War I hero, Sgt. Alvin C. York.

Blind and bedfast for years, Mrs. York died at Sgt. York's home where she resided. She had kept the strength of character and strong will she showed when, in the last World war, she bade her son goodbye with the words, "you fight them and I'll work and pray that you get back."

Buenos Dias, Amigos:

The girls down at the Studio have gone "South of the Border" this week with all of those handmade things from Mexico. There are some aluminum plates and ice buckets, wooden mallet salt and pepper shakers, and pots in a wooden rack that are nice for beans or chili. Also there's a beverage stand that you'll probably need this summer to use out-of-doors.

For the modern American side of life, see the green and white things that they have set up on a chartruese cloth. Old man winter still heaves a blow now and then, but he just can't succeed in keeping those new spring and summer things from popping up. The things you'll find down at the Decorators Studio remind you of spring, all right. They're always just as bright and pretty as the first spring flowers.

That's about all for this week. Let's remember to keep buying War Bonds and Stamps. Then maybe it won't be long until our boys over there can see those spring flowers again over here.

Adios,
Nosey III.

Synthetic Cocoa Butter And Olive Oil Made Successfully

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW ORLEANS, May 22 —Cocoa butter from cottonseed, and olive oil from peanuts have been produced successfully at the southern regional research laboratory of the U. S. Department of Agriculture here.

The cocoa butter is made for food and confections, the olive oil for industry. Both are wartime substitutes, but probably will carry over into peace for uses where they are either superior or cheaper.

Differ From Natural Products

Both synthetics differ from the natural products in that special qualities can be given to them in manufacture, to fit special needs that natural cocoa butter and olive oil might not meet.

They were produced under direction of A. E. Bailey and K. S. Markley. Natural cocoa butter, made from cocoa beans, is hard until heated almost to body temperature, then it melts quickly. It is never sticky or greasy. These qualities are useful in candy and other food coatings.

The cotton seed cocoa butter has all these natural cocoa qualities, and a couple of advantages to boot. It is synthesized so that it will remain hard to a higher temperature than cocoa butter, yet it will melt just as readily at body temperature. The cotton seed butter is completely flavorless. Cocoa butter retains a slight cocoa flavor as a rule.

Processes Are Similar

The peanut olive oil is produced by processes similar to the cocoa butter. Peanut fats are used but, instead of converting them into a solid, they are made into an oil by giving them a lower melting point.

Natural olive oil is used in industry because it never gums and washes off easily. It is a common lubricant for textile fibers during manufacture. Mineral oils do not gum, but they are hard to dissolve in the washing process.

This peculiar virtue of olive oil is due to a chemical structure which resists the attack of oxygen. Peanut oil, given similar structure, equals the olive oil for textile uses.

The synthetic olive oil may have more industrial applications than olive oil. It substitutes well for neatsfoot oil for lubricating fine machinery, and for leather dressing. In cosmetics the peanut product promises to do a job as good as various oils, such as almond, avocado and turtle.

Note Clears Mystery Of Old Man's Death

DALLAS, May 22 (U.P.)—A letter to his niece, written shortly before his death, solved the mystery of the death of Monroe Gilbert, 74, police said today.

Police at first believed the man had been murdered when his body was found on a bank of the Trinity river, with a bullet wound in his head and an iron weight wired about his neck.

A verdict of suicide was rendered by a justice of the peace after the man's niece turned over to police a letter she had received telling of the man's ill health.

DENVER, May 22 (AP)—Murder charges will be filed against a man who confessed he killed his wife after he became enraged when "she didn't serve a promised chicken dinner on time," Detective Capt. James E. Childers announced early today.

The detective said Howard C. Potts, 39 year old warehouseman, admitted he beat his wife, Mary, 34, stomped on her, dragged her by the hair and kicked her down the cellar stairs in their Denver home last April 3.

Davis Says Jap May Have Been 'Bumped'

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP) — Elmer Davis, director of war information, says that perhaps Admiral Yamamoto, reported by Tokyo to have died in air combat, "was bumped off by some of the rest of the mob—as has happened to high officers in Germany and Italy."

Davis, in his weekly radio broadcast last night reviewed various guesses on what—in addition to the official Japanese explanation of death in combat—might have caused the death of the commander-in-chief of the Nipponese navy, including the possibility of suicide.

Life Is To Be More Cheerful For Spars

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP) — All work and no play makes Joan a dull girl, and the Coast Guard revealed today that it is going all out to keep its women's reserve alert.

Especially designed play suits and swim suits are to be added to the official wardrobe of the SPARS.

What's more, enlisted women will have it all over the officers in their chances to use the playtime garb. For beginning with the next class, June 14, enlisted SPARS are to be trained at their own new school in Palm Beach, Fla., which happens to be the former Biltmore hotel.

With a navy announcement that SPARS would no longer share training centers with the WAVES, navy women's reserves, came this sentence:

"The service also has contracted for the exclusive use of most of the hotel's sun and surf club, including salt water swimming pools and tennis courts."

McDonald Asks Fight Against Spud Ceiling

AUSTIN, May 22 (AP) — State Agricultural Commissioner J. E. McDonald today again called on all Texas potato growers to fight federal price ceilings at present levels.

On his return here from Washington, he urged farmers not to sell "one single potato" at less than $3.50 per 100 pounds. The OPA ceiling was raised from $2.50 to $2.80 following McDonald's first protest last week. This increase he characterized as "puny and inadequate."

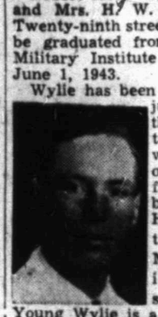

Growers should withhold their crops from the market until the ceiling is raised to $3.50, McDonald said.

Food Prices Continue To Climb In April

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP) — Retail food prices continued to advance sharply last month, the Federal Reserve board reported today, sending its index up 6 per cent above the January level.

Retail prices of other items in the cost of living showed smaller increases while wholesale prices of most commodities changed little from the middle of April to the middle of May, the board said in its monthly review of business and financial conditions.

Unusually Smart Buck Privates Turn Out To Be Former Professors In Universities

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP) — Three buck privates assigned by the Army to Georgetown university for training surprised their instructors by getting unusually high marks in quizzes. The reason came out, the Washington Evening Star said today, when it developed that they are former university professors.

Still another private, the Star said, is a graduate of Heidelberg university.

Disposition Awaited

The paper reported that Col. Denham B. Crafton, commandant of the Army unit at Georgetown, decided it was evident the four men did not need further college study, and asked the War department what disposition should be made of them.

The men were identified as:

George J. Siefert, 32, a Ph. D., who taught Latin and Greek for six years at Catholic university here; P. M. Sweezy, 33, also a Ph. D., who instructed in economics at Harvard; J. Thomas Dale, 27, teacher of German at the University of Minnesota for three years, and Leopold Basnizki, 30, a native German.

"The four distinguished scholars," the Star said, "are going the rounds of army life and disciplining at Georgetown until the War department decides what to do about them."

Texas War Workers Ask Government To Put Stop To Strikes

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP) — Senator Connally (D-Tex) made public a letter from workers in the Dow chemical plant at Freeport, Texas., calling for legislation to halt strikes and industrial delays.

Declaring that "vital war materials as important as coal" are being produced at the Freeport plant, the eleven signers asked:

"If we—speaking as defense workers, voters and Americans—can do our jobs without walkouts, strike and other such lowly deeds, why should we not expect the legislative branch of our government to stop it elsewhere?"

The letter declared that "the most severe punishment allowable under a democracy is much too mild for anyone who refuses to work at a time like this."

Copies were sent Texas' two senators, Speaker Rayburn and Representatives Mansfield, Kleberg and Patman.

LEAVES FOR WASHINGTON

Landlords Are Said Jamming War Effort

DALLAS, May 22 (U.P.) — More than half the number of war workers who are looking for a place to live in Dallas have children and less than one-third of the landlords will allow children.

That was the statement today from officials of the Dallas war housing center, who charged that refusal on the part of landlords to allow children to live in their apartments and houses is "jamming" the war effort.

A housing committee was drafting an appeal to landlords for more housing facilities available to persons with children.

BROADWAY CHURCH OF CHRIST BUILDING

Growing from just a few pioneer members, starting in the old court house in the early 90's stands the Broadway Church of Christ, with more than 1200 members, and is considered the pioneer in spreading the gospel throughout Lubbock and the South Plains.

Brother Liff Sanders was the first located gospel preacher of the church of Christ to locate in Lubbock. According to some of the elder members who were the first to combat error, quite a struggle was prevelent though successes were gained through vast work and sacrificing. Some of the most able gospel preachers have labored with this splendid congregation, and at present Brother G. C. Brewer is doing an outstanding work with the church, in spreading forth the true gospel of Christ.

New Texas Base Commissioned

HITCHCOCK BLIMP BASE, Tex., May 22 (U.P.) — Texas' first naval lighter-than-air craft station, covering 3,500 acres, was commissioned today in ceremonies attended by Navy officers from Lakehurst, N. J., Houma, La., and Houston.

The base is the last of a string of blimp stations in the nation's southern defense area, constructed by the Navy to fight the submarine menace.

Mills Takes Place

Com. B. F. Jenkins, of the blimp base at Houma, La., also attended the ceremonies.

The Navy now has a chain of blimp stations which covers the entire coastal areas from Maine through the Gulf of Mexico area and up and down the Pacific coast. The Hitchcock base will work in co-ordination with other bases at Houma, Miami, Fla., and Brunswick, Ga.

Met Severe Resistance

Admiral Rosendahl long has contended that lighter-than-air ships have an important role to play in warfare, but for many years he had met severe resistance to his ideas.

Construction and commissioning of the $10,000,000 base completed the realization of his dream.

Commanding the Hitchcock base will be Com. Charles W. Roland, USN, who has served in the Navy's lighter-than-air branch since 1929.

The blimps, loaded with bombs, will keep a constant vigil on the gulf coast area in their search for enemy U-boats. One of the features of the blimps, Navy men pointed out, is their ability to cruise slowly over the area where an enemy submarine is believed to be located.

Texas Youth, Who Took Bombsight Post Of Brother Killed In Raid, Missing In Action

A UNITED STATES BOMBER STATION IN ENGLAND, May 22 (AP) — Lt. Rhude Mark Mathis, of San Angelo, Texas, who took over the Flying Fortress bombsight of his brother, Jack after the latter was killed in a raid March 18, is missing in action, it was announced today.

Rhude Mathis was in the crew of a Fortress which failed to return from the raid on Kiel May 14.

Crewmen of other bombers in the raid reported seven parachutes were seen to open as the crippled Fortress went down.

Brother Died April 17

Rhude, a second lieutenant, took over the bombsight of the Flying Fortress "Duchess," in which his brother Jack died so heroically, on April 17 during a raid on Bremen. He requested that he be given his brother's seat after Jack's death during a bombing attack on Vegesack on March 18.

"It sure makes me feel good to follow up the job Jack started," Rhude said. "It makes me mad, though, for every time I look at that bombsight I see the hole made by the bullet that hit Jack."

Later, in a broadcast to America, Rhude said "I'm going to carry on our job—Jack's and mine—as long as it's necessary to blast those murderous Nazis."

Rhude was just out of a bombardier's school when he saw his brother's body lifted out of the Fortress, but he immediately asked to take over the gun and bombsight thus left vacant.

Italian Courts Are Authorized To Move

(By The Associated Press)

A new decree enabling court authorities in Italy to move their seat to another place "if enemy military actions necessitate such a change" has just been published in Rome, the Berlin radio said Friday night in a broadcast recorded by the Associated Press.

"Such a change may be carried out if, as a result of war actions, the functioning of court proceedings are greatly handicapped," said the broadcast. "Removal of part of the offices or individual chambers of the court is permitted by the new decree."

Early Flow Through 'Big Inch' Predicted

NEW YORK, May 22 (AP)—W. Alton Jones, president of Cities Service Co. and of War Emergency pipelines, said today oil may be flowing east through the flood-ruptured "Big Inch" pipeline by the end of the month.

A diver's investigation, Jones said, showed the 24-inch pipeline "intact, save for a leak of undetermined size, despite four days of terrific pounding since the leak was discovered."

"Flood conditions on the Arkansas are still extreme, and the underwater investigation, preparatory to repairs, was undertaken at great hazard to men and equipment," Jones said. "Nevertheless, we are endeavoring to get the 'Big Inch' back into operation in exactly the way the Texas-to-Illinois section was built—fast and soundly."

Elmer Davis Takes Issue With Chandler

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP) — Elmer Davis, director of war information, took issue last night with the contention of Senator Chandler (D-Ky) that Japan should be defeated before Germany.

Japan's conquests, Davis said in his weekly radio broadcast, are all overseas, requiring shipping "and Japan's shipping is being steadily whittled down by American submarines."

Attack May Miss Mediterranean

LONDON, May 22 (U.P.) — "The scene of the coming blow against the Axis has been chosen and "perhaps it won't fall on the Mediterranean at all," Production Minister Oliver Lyttelton said today.

Speaking at Aldershot in a ceremony inaugurating the town's "wings for victory" week, Lyttelton indicated the Germans would be kept guessing until the attack begins.

"I know where the blow will fall," said Lyttelton. "The Germans do not know where the blow will fall and I am sorry to say, neither the Germans nor my audience are going to be told where the blow will fall.

In a speech earlier at Norwich opening a similar celebration there, Capt. H. H. Balfour, undersecretary of state, promised that "many more" cities would be added to the growing list of the "city-by-city" bombing calendar.

Lyttelton announced that bomber production in the British isles had trebled in the past year, going up 40 per cent since January alone. He predicted an increasingly heavy bomb load would be dumped on the Axis.

Green Says UMW Must Not Strike

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP) — William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, let it be known by inference last night that if John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers come back into the AFL fold they will be bound by a no-strike pledge.

In an addresss to an AFL "labor for victory" rally, Green reasserted a no-strike promise by his organization, in these words:

"I say to you here and now, without reservations of any kind, that no strike will be authorized, approved or condoned by the American Federation of Labor and its affiliated unions until the enemies of America have been crushed into final defeat."

There is pending an application by the United Mine Wokrers for re-entry of that union into the AFL setup. Green, however, made no specific mention of the UMW in his speech.

Bullock Is Silent On School Post Candidacy

SNYDER, May 22 (Special)—Senator Pat Bullock of the 24th district, who returned to Snyder this week for a visit with relatives and friends, still leaves unanswered the question of whether he will be a candidate next year for state superintendent of public instruction.

Senator Bullock sponsored numerous measures relating to education in the Texas legislature, which only recently adjourned. He led the fight for a $10 monthly increase in pay of rural school teachers and helped sponsor the measure which raised the statutory limit on the school apportionment which will permit at least $1,500,000 more state school funds to be distributed each year.

"Bombardier" Is Week's Top Film At The Lindsey; Tower Feature Is "Casablanca"

BRINGING to the screen the tale of how thousands of young Americans are trained to drop "eggs" from Flying Fortresses and Liberators, "Bombardier," co-starring Pat O'Brien and Randolph Scott, will be presented by the Lindsey today through Wednesday.

The story begins in Washington, with O'Brien as an experienced flier whose enthusiasm for the then unheard of Norden bomb sight makes him its ardent advocate. A striking demonstration of the device wins O'Brien the support of his chiefs, and leads to the establishment of a school where young bombardiers can be trained to operate the instrument.

Filmed At Kirtland Field

O'Brien is put in charge of the school and Scott, an old-time friend and rival, is sent there also to fly training planes for the students. The complicated but highly interesting details of a bombardier's life and how he is taught his duties, are vividly shown in the course of the film. The training scenes were filmed at Kirtland field, Albuquerque, N. M.

Then comes Pearl Harbor, and O'Brien has a trained body of experts to man the bomb sights of the bombers.

A large-scale bombing raid over Jap war plants forms the climax of the picture, with O'Brien in command of the big planes and Scott, on a special mission connected with the raid, heroically giving his life so that the raid will be a success.

"Casablanca" At Tower

The Tower offers today through Tuesday "Casablanca," which deals with refugees from war-torn Europe and their attempts to obtain exit visas to the United States.

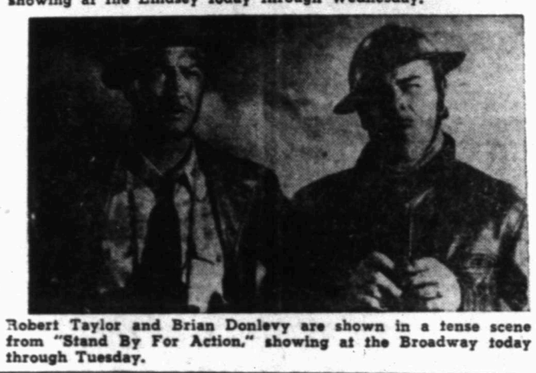

Opening in Vichy - controlled Casablanca, the picture goes back, in retrospect, to Paris just prior to the Nazi occupation where Humphrey Bogart and Ingrid Bergman meet and fall in love. Later, they meet again in Casablanca.

The third star is Paul Henreid.

Jungle Star Gets Mixed Up With Nazis In "Tarzan's Strength" At The Palace

IN "Tarzan Triumphs" the famous jungle character has added new worries when he encounters for the first time the complexities of the current war. It shows today through Tuesday at tahe Palace.

German parachutists invade the jungle to startle Tarzan, who is a peaceful man, and he is slow to realize their intentions until appeasement doesn't work with the Nazis. It is then that he makes war.

New Leading Lady

For the first time in many years, Johnny Weissmuller, who plays the Tarzan role, is provided with a new leading lady with assignment of Frances Gifford. Thirty candidates were tested for the new job.

Miss Gifford is draped in a revealing costume called the "zandrape."

Stanley Ridges, Rex Williams and Sig Ruman portray Nazis.

"Jungle Siren," with Ann Corio and Buster Crabbe, will be the Texan's picture today and Monday.

At the Cactus a double-bill is scheduled — "The Payoff," with Lee Tracy and Tina Thayer, and "The Kid Rides Again."

Victory Tax Receipts Exceed 300 Million

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP) — The Internal Revenue bureau reported today that victory tax receipts for the first quarter of this year totaled $300,220,428, or about 10 per cent of the total revenue the Treasury expects to receive from this source in 1943.

New Insignia Design Is Mailed To Guard

AUSTIN, May 22 (U.P.) — A new design for the shoulder insignia of the Texas State guard was being mailed today to 51 battalion commanders of the guard for consideration, by Maj. Donald W. Peacock of San Antonio, president of the state guard officers' association.

Also submitted to officers for comment is a new metal ornament for collars and lapels. Lettering on the ornament is "Tex" as a substitute for "TDG", the old form.

Adoption of the proposed insignia by the state guard staff will depend on reaction of battalion commanders. Gov. Coke R. Stevenson must approve any design that becomes official. Major Peacock is submitting the designs at request of Adj. Gen. Arthur Knickerbocker.

Perils Of Errol Shift From Court To The Screen

BY ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, May 22.—The Perils of Errol have shifted from a courtroom to the screen.

"To the Last Man," Errol Flynn's first picture since his acquittal on morals charges, makes his previous adventures, on and off his yacht, seem rather dull. Flynn plays a Northwest Mounted Policeman who joins a group of German saboteurs to bring them to justice. But before the final fadeout Flynn has survived an avalanche, a ski chase across half of Canada, a plane crash, two fights, one in a plane and another aboard a train, a parachute jump, an Indian uprising and the dynamiting of a mine.

FLYNN

Oh yes, and he also does a bit of dog-sled mushing with the girl, Julie Bishop. Sounds like pulp magazine adventure—and that's just where Warner Bros. got the original story.

• • •

DONLEVY AT WORK

BRIAN Donlevy has gone to work at last. Not that he hasn't been busy in Hollywood all these years, but until now he never really worked at his acting. It all came natural to him. But as a Czech immigrant who comes to America in 1898 and rises to the world's outstanding airplane builder in 1943 in MGM's "America," Donlevy is finding things a lot different.

A lot happens to him in those 45 years. First he had to learn 150 words of the Czechoslovakian language. Then the physical work started. Scenes showing him shoveling iron ore into trucks, operating a steam shovel, shoveling coal into steel furnaces and operating an overhead crane. And then there was a wardrobe. He has 57 changes of costume in the picture, ranging from dirty overalls to a full dress suit, which meant days of trying on clothes and having them fitted.

Brian always told me acting was a cinch, and laughed at other actors who found it a painstaking job. But Brian has changed his mind.

TRUE TYPE

THERE'S a typical Hollywood story behind the casting of Manart Kippen as Josef Stalin in "Mission to Moscow." Twenty-one actors tested for the role before Kippen was selected. Although born in Russia, he previously had played but one Russian character. That was in Booth Tarkington's play, "Poldekin," in which he portrayed Leon Trotzky, the mortal enemy of Josef Stalin! In the same film, Peter Goo Ching, a Chinese actor from the New York stage, plays the role of Japanese Ambassador Shigemitsu. Asked how he kept his Jap medals so shiny, the Chinaman replied, "Oh, every hour I take them off and spit on them."

• • •

MONTE BLUE AGAIN

IT'S nice to see Monte Blue getting another break after all these years. In "Edge of Darkness," he once more receives official billing as a member of the cast.

UNUSUAL UNION

IF EVER two people called for the noun, "antithesis," Johnny Burke and Jimmy Van Heusen are it. They see eye-to-eye on nothing except their music, and then only upon completion. When RKO hired them recently, they asked for an office with a piano for all-night use. Their explanation was that they argue all day and work all night.

Burke is married and the father of twin girls. Jimmy is a bachelor, a test pilot at Lockheed in his spare time, and a killer-diller with the ladies. Burke is volatile, talkative, a connoisseur of excellence. Jimmy is lackadaisical.

While their attitudes cause disagreements, they feel it makes for more balanced music. And apparently they are right. They have six new song numbers in Bing Crosby's forthcoming "Dixie," another in "Lady in the Dark," and two current hit songs, "Moonlight Becomes You," and "It's Always You."

NO ROOM FOR ACTION

DIRECTOR Alfred Hitchcock has solved the $5000 ceiling on film sets but brought himself a colossal headache with an idea for a film titled, "Life Boat." All the action, from start to finish, will take place in a 26-foot lifeboat adrift on the Atlantic. The cast will be five men and two women—a not too attractive Canadian nurse and a middle-aged American newspaper reporter. Hitchcock and a crew of writers, including John Steinbeck, have been working on the story for three months. And they're still working on it, refusing to divulge any details, such as how they are keeping it from being a talkie to end all talkies. After all, there isn't room for anything besides talk in a lifeboat. Or is there?

"Mrs. Miniver," Academy Award Picture, Is Feature Attraction At Tech Theater

"MRS. MINIVER," Jan Struther's best-selling novel, dealing with the high courage of the English middle classes under air raids and war terrors, will be offered by the Tech today through Tuesday. It stars Walter Pidgeon and Greer Garson. The picture won most of the academy awards in 1942.

The story is about Mrs. Miniver and her husband, Clem. Their son, at Oxford, joins the RAF and becomes engaged to the granddaughter of a noblewoman of the village in which they live.

They Do Their Best

How they do their best to carry on life as usual; their bravery under raid alarms; how the older men aided at the rescue at Dunkirk; figure in moving human interest episodes mingled with comedy. The destruction of the village by bombers is climaxed by the villagers, in their wrecked church, inspired by their vicar, resolving to "carry on" with the same cool courage and with an abiding faith.

The love angle is in the hands of pretty Teresa Wright and Richard Ney. Dame May Whitty plays the role of the noblewoman to whom the trials of war bring a new conception of democracy.

Merchant Marine Praised By FDR

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—President Roosevelt reported that the ship construction program is well ahead of schedule, and praised the seamen who take supplies to far-flung battle outposts for keeping open "the highway to victory and unconditional surrender" of the enemy.

In a statement on the occasion of National Maritime day, Mr. Roosevelt said special tribute should be paid to the men who sail the ships now coming out of building yards in increasing numbers.

"The men of our American Merchant marine," he added, "have pushed through despite the perils of the submarine, the dive bomber and the surface raider. They realized that the life-lines to our battlefronts would be broken if they did not carry out their vital part in the global war."

Men and women in the shipyards have done a splendid job, he said, and on the whole the maritime construction program is ahead of schedule. An average of five ships a day now are coming out of the yards.

Mr. Roosevelt said the building yards are graduating slowly, too, from the Liberty ship to the Victory ship.

"Appointment For Love" And "Sealed Lips" Are Twin Bill Offerings At The Arcadia

"APPOINTMENT For Love" and "Sealed Lips" will be offered today and Monday as a double-attraction at the Arcadia.

Starring Charles Boyer and Margaret Sullavan, "Appointment for Love" is a bright comedy which presents Boyer as a playwright who marries a doctor, played by Miss Sullavan, who takes a separate apartment so that calls upon her professional services will not interfere with his professional routine.

Misunderstandings Follow

These calls postpone consummation of their marriage for a time and then, on an open evening, they miss each other because he goes to her apartment and she goes to his. This incident is followed by misunderstandings which further delay their arrival at a mutually satisfactory conclusion.

The second film, which features William Gargan, June Clyde, John Litel and Anne Nagel, deals with a public enemy who entraps an innocent civilian who resembles him and compels the man to serve the gangster's term in prison. Gargan has the role of the FBI investigator with Litel as the underworld czar.

"They All Kissed The Bride" Starring Joan Crawford, Melvyn Douglas Is At Midway

JOAN Crawford has the typical Joan Crawford role in "They All Kissed the Bride"—the dancing, romancing comedy role. The picture will be shown by the Midway today through Tuesday.

Playing opposite her is Melvyn Douglas, who is cast as a young man who believes there is not anything wrong with a woman that romance can't cure. He sets out to prove his thesis with reckless abandon.

Love-Making More Fun

Roland Young, popular funny man, is a lawyer who is too busy with the ladies to have much time for law practice. Miss Billie Burke has her standard role of a dowager in a dither. Allen Jenkins is a rough diamond who cuts a smooth rug.

Among other cast members are Helen Parrish, Andrew Tombes, Roger Clark, Nydia Westman and Mary Treen.

Joan Crawford and Melvyn Douglas are starred together in "They All Kissed The Bride", showing at the Midway today through Tuesday.

4. What English actor is identified with sinister and snobbish roles in American movies but is known at home for his comedy?

5. Fred Astaire has a new dancing partner. Who?

U. S. Merchant Marine To Become Largest

BOSTON, Mass., May 22 (AP)—Rear Admiral Howard L. Vickery, vice-chairman of the United States maritime commission, asserting here last night that "by the end of this year the American Merchant marine will be the largest and certainly the best equipped in the world," urged post-war correlation of air and surface shipping.

Vickery declared in an address prepared for delivery at the national maritime day dinner that in April American Merchant shipyards had delivered more than 1,600,000 tons deadweight, a 1,700 per cent increase over the month of Pearl Harbor. The present rate, he added, exceeded the president's 19,000,000 ton objective for this year.

Uncle Sam's New Food Guide

HERE is Uncle Sam's new food guide. It's called the basic seven and consists of seven groups of foods which should be included in every day's menu.

It tells the same story which most women have learned in the widely distributed Guide to Good Eating. But it puts the same facts in a little different way.

So cut this out and tack it on the kitchen wall. If the family gets some of each of the seven groups of food each day plus anything else you care to add, they will have a well-balanced, body-building diet.

THE BASIC SEVEN

GROUP ONE — Green and yellow vegetables, some raw—some cooked, frozen or canned.

GROUP TWO — Oranges, tomatoes, grapefruit or raw cabbage or salad greens.

GROUP THREE — Potatoes and other vegetables and fruits, raw, dried, cooked, frozen or canned.

GROUP FOUR — Milk and milk products, fluid, evaporated, dried milk, or cheese.

GROUP FIVE — Meat, poultry, fish or eggs or dried beans, peas, nuts, or peanut butter.

GROUP SIX — Bread, flour and cereals, natural whole grain—or enriched or restored.

Here Are OPA's Community Prices On 474 More Food Items

EDITOR'S NOTE: As a service to its readers, The Avalanche-Journal reproduces the second list of community ceiling prices, which was placed in effect Wednesday by the Office of Price Administration. This new list includes 474 items and brings many more items in the housewife's market basket under community maximums, the OPA announced. More than 200 items had been included in the original price list, which became effective May 10. The OPA has emphasized that, "although these prices are the top that may be charged in the 12-county Lubbock area, large volume stores with lower ceiling prices must maintain the lower prices".

South Plains Notes

LIBRARY ADDS VOLUMES

SEMINOLE—Freeman Curtis, for three and a half years with the AAA office here, has moved to a farm. The local library has had 320 volumes added. Rotarians plan to buy a house and provide a meeting place for Boy Scouts here. County and city officers have published notice that parents must keep minor children off the streets after "a reasonable hour" at nights. Seven-tenths of an inch of rain fell in Seminole last week-end, the heaviest rain of 1943. J. J. Williams of Seagraves is in a Lubbock hospital. A county hospital is to be established in Seminole.

LEWIS CONDEMNED

SEAGRAVES—The Lions club here voted its condemnation of John L. Lewis. Most of the Seagraves area received about one-half of an inch of rain last week. Mrs. Nig Moore is in a Lubbock hospital. Seagraves schools will observe closing exercises May 23-24.

COCHRAN GETS RAIN

MORTON—Practically all of Cochran county received a good rain, amounting to about three-fourths of an inch, during last week-end. Staff Sgt. Joe C. Taylor, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Taylor of Levelland, is reported to be in a Nazi prison camp.

SCHOOLS TO CLOSE

CROSBYTON—Several schools in Crosby county will close this week. The Lions club has elected D. A. Edwards president. District court was opened by Judge Daniel A. Blair, and will continue through May.

TWO INCH RAIN FALLS

PLAINVIEW—The Plainview section was blessed with a two-inch rain the first of last week. A bounty is being offered on coyotes, following a request by livestock owners, made to county commissioners.

NEW ROUTES SLATED

LEVELLAND—Two new star mail routes will be established out of Levelland. The Levelland high school had 51 graduates in its Senior class this year. Hockley county farmers rejoiced over a two-inch rain which fell last week throughout the county.

Drum, Bugle Corps Of 30 Members Is Organized At SPAAF

Glider pilot students at South Plains Army Air field now step to a snappier cadence in their drills and parades since the organization of a drum and bugle corps in their group.

Directed by Staff Sgt. Willis G. Apt, former music student at Kansas State Teachers college at Emporia, the band is now composed of 30 members and plans are under way for a larger membership.

Practice Daily

They practice daily and furnish music for parades, drills and occasions where the entire student group is marching. They will play for retreats about twice a week, according to Lt. Odom. In return for the work and practice the members are given extra passes.

Most of the members have studied music in colleges and universities and several played in dance bands before entering the Army.

PERFUMED TEA

A Chinese custom is to perfume tea leaves at night in lotus flowers. Before the flowers close at night, a few spoonfuls of tea are placed in them. The tea leaves are scented with the fragrance of the lotus flower when removed bit by bit in the morning.

Precaution Keeps Enviable Safety Record At SPAAF

Precaution is more than an order at South Plains Army Air field. It's a way of living. And as a result, SPAAF has a safety record comparable to any in the entire nation.

The command at SPAAF is justly proud of its record of having no more than one serious accident at the field in almost a year of operation. Everyone from the military police to the men in the medical detachment at the hospital deserves credit for maintaining such a pace.

The Army camp can be compared to a city. It takes everybody. The post police agencies, military police, post fire department, post hospital units and accompanying personnel, post courts, post judges, post garbage and waste collectors, post street maintenance groups, and post communications men — all of them play vital roles in keeping things moving smoothly.

Function Around-The-Clock

All of these units, in reality the "public services" of any Army camp, function around-the-clock, but it is only in cases of emergencies that their full significance and value are brought into the spotlight. The instant an emergency is reported, using the communications system of course, all of the units mentioned swing into action. The military police will guard the scene of the accident. The hospital units and fire department speed to the spot. The fact that streets are kept in good condition, that waste and trasn are not in the way means the job will be done more efficiently and quicker.

Two-Way Radio Used

The radio equipment, a recent innovation at SPAAF affords instantaneous two-way communication. It is part of a nationwide program of the Signal Corps to install such units at Army camps. Primary purpose is to facilitate protection of government property from theft, sabotage and fire as well as the routine enforcement of military law.

Ambulances at SPAAF have the right-of-way along with other emergency vehicles and are driven under the strictest of post safety regulations.

Speed Limit Enforced

Speed limit for regular motor vehicles on the post, both military and civilian, is 20 miles an hour, for heavy equipment, 15 miles an hour. This regulation, along with safe parking rules is strictly enforced.

Civilians working at SPAAF are under the same rules which apply to military personnel while on the post. For instance every person who enters the post legally must have an official pass, regular workers and military personnel having passes with their pictures and description on same. Eentering or leaving that pass must be checked at the main gate by military police.

There are certain areas on the post which are restricted, areas in which only authorized civilian and military personnel are allowed at specified hours. These areas are closely guarded at all times.

Personnel Is Trained

On the line, every possible step is taken to insure the safety of the men and materials with which they work. All of the personnel is trained, whether working gliders, big towplanes or assisting in actual flying routines, to be on their guard at all times. And as a result of having a trained personnel, accidents have been held to a minimum and costs and injuries chargeable to carelessness wiped out.

In the control tower, men are constantly on the alert, keeping the air lanes clear, runways open, planes and gliders in line, and the crews, both aground and aloft, on their toes. Most of this is accomplished through the use of radio.

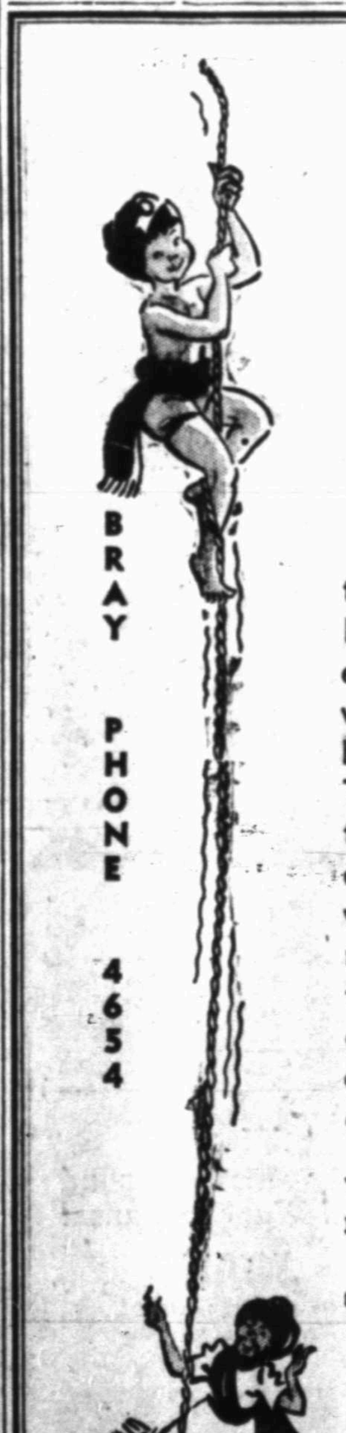

That's the story of the precautions taken by Uncle Sam for the protection of his men and equipment during wartime — a story which fits in as another step toward victory.

Aching, Sore Muscles?

Two or three applications of Moone's Emerald Oil after opening up the pores with a good hot towel and in fifteen minutes the pains and soreness is eased. A few more applications at regular intervals, and the almost unbearable soreness goes.

It's a wonderful formula—this combination of essential oils with camphor and other antiseptics so marvelous that thousands of bottles are sold annually.

Every good druggist guarantees Moone's Emerald Oil to give you complete satisfaction or money back. Adv.

Medical School Matters Studied

GALVESTON, May 22 (U.P.) — The University of Texas board of regents, meeting in regular session here, today took up matters pertaining to the school's medical branch.

With J. B. Bickett, jr., of Dallas, board chairman, presiding, the regents turned to problems with organizing the Texas Dental college at Houston, which recently was taken over by an act of the legislature.

The regents authorized the medical school faculty here to assign three members to a committee directed to solve a manpower shortage in the branch that threatens to become acute.

Grants Accepted

A grant of $4,000 was accepted from the W. K. Kellogg foundation to give scholarships and loans to students in the John Sealy college of nursing. Another gift, of $15,000, was accepted for support of the John Sealy hospital.

In business devoted to the main university, the board of regents granted an indefinite leave of absence without pay to W. R. Braisted, history instructor, who has been appointed by the federal government to study the Japanese language in the government's Boulder, Colo., school.

Joseph A. Wickes, who formerly taught in the university's law school, was appointed professor of law for the summer session's first term.

High School Clubs To Install Officers

A joint installation service of officers of the Girl Reserves and Hi-Y club, high school organizations, will be conducted at 8:30 o'clock Monday night in the patio at Senior High school.

Jerry Smyth and Fae Beth Hill, retiring club presidents, will lead a procession of new and old officers.

The new Girl Reserves cabinet is comprised of Bess Griggs, president, Betty Frances Rogers, Dollie Robinson, Zilla Jean Reid and Frances Groce. The retiring cabinet members are Fae Beth Hill, Conny McDonald, Mattie Doris Parker, Juanita Simpson and Bobbie Jean Rhodes.

Members of the new Hi-Y cabinet are Jack Grady, Jerry LeMond, Maurice Browder, Don Landers and Sam Henley. Retiring members are Jerry Smyth, Frank Taylor, Tom McEachern, Clinton DeWolfe and Harold Kendricks.

Dr. H. I. Robinson, pastor of the First Methodist church, will address the groups on "Making Better Living Attractive." Dr. Jack M. Lewis, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will give a prayer of dedication.

The meeting is open to anyone wishing to attend, said H. J. McCabe, Hi-Y sponsor.

U. S.-Built Air Base Opened In Britain

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, May 22 (AP)—Andrews field, first American-built air base in Britain, has been formally opened and is ready to help "darken the skies of enemy countries."

The opening took place before a group of high American and British army air officers who heard Lieut.-Gen. Jacob L. Devers, new commander of U. S. forces in Europe, predict that swarms of bombers and fighters would cloud the enemy countries.

The two-mile-square airport, in the midst of a typical English countryside, cost more than $4,000,000. It was constructed by more than 1,000 American workmen.

Gen. Devers told the men:

"From this and other airfields, bombers and fighters will darken the skies of enemy countries. That is no figure of speech. It is a fact based on production figures which should hearten us and terrify the Axis powers."

Study Of Traveling Expenses Suggested

AUSTIN, May 22 (AP) — The state auditor and efficiency expert today recommended that traveling expenses of all inspectors of the state board of cosmetology "should be carefully analyzed before being approved for payment.

"In many instances, it appeared that poorly arranged itinerary resulted in extra charges for mileage claimed," said the annual report by C. C. Cavness, state auditor.

"In some cases it was also noted that inter-city mileage appeared excessive in comparison to the number of inspections reported."

FORT BENNING, Ga., May 22 (AP) — Birds would not normally be expected to have parachutes, but the Army is providing some for its carrier pigeons.

The pigeons are used with paratroopers who might land behind enemy lines and be unable to use radio to get necessary information back to their bases.

The birds are dropped either in special containers strapped to the soldiers' chests, or in cages attached to parachutes.

Wartime "Bag-o-Tricks"

Try this sleight-of-hand with a damp rag. Rub it over G-E MAZDA lamp bulbs and lamp reflector bowls—and presto, more light to help you see better. Why? Because dust can hold back as much as 50% of light.

Shade tricks for more light: use white-lined shades; brush silk shades; reline parchment shades, using shelf paper and Scotch tape or flat-white paint. And be sure that shades are deep enough.

Help to conserve also by arranging lamps and furniture so each lamp can if necessary serve two or more people with good light. But be sure each person sits close enough to the lamp.

Have eyes examined by a competent eyesight specialist. Good light helps make seeing easier; it does not correct eye defects.

Tilt work or reading to the angle that gets rid of reflected glare. Try it: You can see the difference.

Turn off lamps you're not using. This simple flip of the wrist helps the nation's program to conserve materials.

That soldier son of yours, brother or cousin, is now consuming more milk and milk products than any army in the history of the world.

That's okay, for we all know that milk is the most vital of all foods for keeping our boys in fighting trim. Milk in some form is a "mealtime must" in the service, just as it should be at home.

But seeing that our armed forces get plenty of milk sometimes means sacrifices. There is sometimes a shortage which cannot be overcome.

Our government wants home folks to drink milk and use all the dairy products they can get. The U. S. wants us strong. Uncle Sam and the dairy industry is doing everything possible to also supply the home front demand.

But when you can't get that extra bottle of milk, that butter or cream, don't blame your grocer or your milk company.

Tech Sets An Example In Economy; U.S. Doctors Winning War Against Malaria

Saves Money For Taxpayer

Good Business Pays Colleges, Too

In ordinary times, it is the custom of Texas Technological college to send out to several hundred important state officials expensively turned out invitations to the institution's commencement events. The custom is one followed by all state educational institutions. Under usual circumstances it is a good custom and certainly it is to be presumed that the gentlemen of the legislature, and many other elected or appointed officials, have interest in the academic affairs of the colleges and universities operated by the State of Texas.

Probably many Texas educational institutions are going ahead this year, following the usual tradition in regard to expensive commencement invitations.

It is our guess that most of them are spending several hundred dollars each on these invitations, simply because they've always done it, and because those in high authority in the institutions haven't stopped to think that this is an unusual year.

However, we are happy to report that such is not the case at Texas Technological college. Tech is sending invitations to its regular list of state officials, to be sure. But it is not sending the customary kind. Instead, it is sending neat but inexpensive mimeographed bids, explaining in them that the college has foregone, for the duration, the formal invitations in order to save the state unnecessary expense.

While the dollars-and-cents savings involved in this innovation cannot be called staggering, the principle underlying it is important. As all citizens know, the staggering cost of the war has sent and will continue to send federal taxes soaring to unprecedented highs. As all citizens also know, any relief to the taxpayer must come from state, county, municipal and other taxing subdivisions. Texas Tech, in sending mimeographed invitations, on inexpensive stock and by second-class mail, is setting a fine example to all tax-supported agencies, albeit it must be recognized with sadness that few may be expected to follow suit.

• • •

If the Editor of The Avalanche-Journal were a high official of the State of Texas, or if he were a member of the state legislature, he would react, most favorably, in two ways to Tech's innovation regarding its commencement invitations.

In the first place, he would say to himself: "Those people at Texas Tech are both thoughtful and efficient. They know how to handle money—the people's money—to best advantage. I must remember, when the question of appropriations comes up again, to look, personally, into Tech's needs and to do what I can to see that Tech gets what it needs, because I know whatever money the state makes available to Tech will be well administered."

And in the second place, if the Editor were an official or a legislator, he would call the attention of other state college heads to the example set by Texas Tech, and suggest—either gently or otherwise—"Go ye and do likewise, at least as long as good business practice demands."

The state official or legislator who does not appreciate economy and practicability in the handling of state funds has no business being either an official or a legislator.

If he does appreciate good business in college administration, he should say so—and do whatever he can to reward and encourage it.

• • •

INCIDENTALLY, it occurs to us that Tech's commencement invitation innovation is typical of the entire administration of President Clifford B. Jones and those who share with him the responsibilities of operating the college here.

An astute business man, steeped in sound business practices, Doctor Jones has instituted at Texas Tech the same common-sense principles of operation which, in his previous private life, indelibly marked him as one of Texas' outstanding business successes. Results of his broad experience in ranching, farming, banking, railroading and kindred fields as mirrored in the college's operation support the opinion, growing nationally, that there is a natural compatibility between business and academic fields; that there is nothing to the crumbling theory that to run a college well a man must have spent his life away from the bustling marts of trade, securely protected from the world's harshness in the quiet cloisters of an ivy-covered lecture hall.

There is no room in this country today—and there never was—for glittering educational country clubs where money is spilled like water for nonessentials by well-meaning but highly theoretical gentlemen. Texans, from one end of the state to the other should acclaim practical, efficient Texas Tech which is neither too proud, nor too short-sighted, to recognize the value of a dollar and to make a saving to the taxpayer wherever possible.

A Bad Case of Earburn

"Lubbock's Greatest Offerings Are Freedom And Happiness"

Today's World . . . By Nelson Springer

THE art of living in Lubbock apparently being under general discussion, I may as well arise to make a few observations.

I have lived in a number of places, most of them radically different from one another. The only two places that I remember with unqualified aversion are my native town of Indianapolis and the completely superfluous city of Boston. I spent 14 years in New York, and railed at it all of the time I was there, the dirt, the noise, the subway, the professional gum-chewers. But I did and do value its museums, galleries, music, theatre, libraries, botanical gardens, zoos. Also the board walk at Coney Island in the winter-time, when there is no one there.

I have lived in a number of places, and I have felt more alien in the South and Southwest than anywhere else. Except for New Mexico, I do not believe that this is the fault of the region. The typical New Mexican frequently has given me to understand that the state is his private property, and that I have no business trespassing. I am happy to say that I never have had that experience in Texas, where I now have spent almost nine years; and I have encountered in Lubbock nothing but the most cordial and generous hospitality. Still I have that slightly alien feeling, and I mean merely a sense of not belonging, which might be interesting to analyze if it could be analyzed.

SPRINGER

In my case, it probably is due largely to the fact that New York is the only place I have lived long enough to think of as home, and that, during the past 11 years, I have lived in enough different places to make anyone dizzy. Also my thought and feeling have been qualified decidedly by illness, which is likely to make for distortion. I am wondering if it isn't something of the same sort of thing that makes some of the visiting soldiers dislike Lubbock, and whether visiting soldiers in other parts of the country, North, East, South, and West, don't dislike the places they are in for much the same invalid reasons.

These boys have been torn up by the roots, and required to go into training to face death, when a year ago or less the most exciting thing they were planning was to go to college, or ask the boss for a raise, or to ask the lady to marry them. They didn't plan to go to war, they didn't want to go to war, they don't want to go to war. In fact, none of us Americans does want to go to war. We aren't that kind of people. We would prefer to reach a peaceable agreement with any nation which felt it had a grievance, making such adjustments as might be necessary and feasible. But, of course, all of us are going to war rather than to surrender our liberty and our sense of decency.

Still these boys must go to war, and it isn't any fun; and one of the most natural things for a man to do, when he can't cope with his real grievance, is to create an imaginary grievance and attack that. I think it is quite probable that some of the boys here have had unpleasant experiences, as they have had everywhere, as they had in their home towns before they were inducted. But I also feel confident, from the concern which local people have expressed for soldier criticism, that the desire of the people of Lubbock is to make the soldiers with us as comfortable and as happy as possible. And I don't believe that the people of Lubbock need to feel badly about what they are or are not doing for the soldiers, because they are doing a great deal; and I don't know of any local situation that is gravely wrong, if one will bear in mind that this is a war, and that conditions are not and cannot be normal.

A FEW soldiers I have met I have wished to spank. They all were my fellow New Yorkers, and they all were announcing in loud voices the startling fact that New York is larger than Lubbock and wealthier than Lubbock, and so on, which must have been news. They deserved a kick in the pants. But for the benefit of the soldiers generally I wish to say this:

I haven't heard anyone in Lubbock make a serious complaint against the conduct of our soldiers here. I have heard them express surprise at how well-behaved the soldiers are. And I can tell the soldiers that the Lubbock police department regards them as exceptionally well-behaved, and doesn't feel that their presence has created any serious problem for the city.

The more I think about Lubbock the more I am perplexed, and the more I am inclined to applaud. The general material well-being is perpetually amazing, and gratifying. And I have been pondering why it is that Lubbock offers so little in the way of public amusement. I have arrived at some rather startling, though not alarming, conclusions. I am forced to decide that for the average Lubbock citizen, his home is adequate, which is something that millions of people have struggled in vain to achieve; that the average Lubbock resident has a business in life which he profitably and happily pursues, quite possibly beyond the eight-hour day and the five-day week; and that the average Lubbock resident has a healthy mind, undisturbed by the Nine Neuroses, and is not in need so much as many others are of pleasant, if meaningless, distraction.

No Desire To Reform

I haven't found any other explanation of the remarkable poise and sustained equilibrium of this community, which not only minds its own business, but apparently is quite content to do so; and, if everybody pursued the same course, there wouldn't be any war. The only recommendation that I would make to Lubbock is that it continue being Lubbock.

To be sure, I never have had any desire to "reform" anyone, or to make anyone over. That is a leading reason why I left the ministry. It always has seemed to me at least questionable, and possibly dangerous, to tamper with the peace and integrity of a man's soul; and, if I disapprove of another man's conduct, it may mean nothing more than that I would not elect the same course. I have felt more and more that a man should be judged by his standards, not by others, and that beyond restraining a man from injuring society or other individuals, there is slight basis for asking him to change his ways or his character.

Sometimes I have hoped that Lubbock never will receive too much publicity. It always is a mistake to advertise freedom and happiness, and Lubbock has both. Freedom and happiness belong only to those who are able to take possession of them, and those who are unable destroy them as they attempt to seize them.

• • •

OF one thing I am sure. If our soldiers are as well-treated elsewhere as they are in Lubbock, they are very fortunate. Some of them will complain anyway, if for no other reason that even the most genial reason occasionally suffers from indigestion. And it may be that the complaints they utter are a kind of spiritual sodium bicarbonate.

A good many of them are going, I am sure, with the recollection that there is a city, pleasant, contented, shining beneath the sun, blossoming on these plains, a city in which there are children and love and laughter and peace, a city representing all of the things they are fighting for, and which they will remember affectionately in the after years when peace has been restored to the world and they have found their way at last to their own fire and fireside.

What little quarrels I have these days, I refuse to take seriously; and I don't think anyone should. We all are a trifle irritated; and we should remember that it is the enemy we are fighting, not one another.

'New Miracle' Is Performed

Army-Navy Medicos Get Job Done

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE miracle which Surgeon General William Crawford Gorgas performed years ago in ridding Cuba and the Panama Canal Zone of yellow fever will be surpassed by American medical forces before the present conflict ends. Merely as a military measure for the protection of United Nations troops, our Army and Navy doctors are eradicating one of mankind's oldest and worst scourges, malaria.

Our men are fighting in theaters where this illness afflicts millions of people annually—the Solomons, Russia, China, India, the Middle East, Africa, South America, etc. Major General A. A. Vandegrift's contingent suffered more casualties on Guadalcanal from this disease than from Japanese bullets. Now that the rainy season has passed in Tunisia and stagnant pools have provided breeding spots for carrier mosquitoes, chills and fevers are a greater menace than were Rommel's Panzers.

Recent discoveries have shown our hospital experts how to combat this sickness. They resort to netting around sleeping and eating places, repellent ointment for exposed parts of the body, lice powder for clothes and disinfectant bombs which purify interior and exterior spaces within a few minutes.

Disabilities from this malady have been held to a minimum through steps taken within the past few years. Science has devoted months to the investigation of causes and cures. But all these efforts will not save our warriors if the natives in occupied zones are not given the same treatment. It will be a waste of time and money to render our soldiers immune while inhabitants in the area continue to be sources of infection.

Mosquitoes can easily inoculate our lads. So, wherever Allied armies invade, sanitary corps will go to clean up the neighborhood. Thus one of the salutary results of the struggle may be that this and other plagues will be checked or wiped out from Mandalay to Moscow.

OPPOSITION: Selective Service Regulation 101, which authorizes conscientious objectors to accept duty with Herbert H. Lehman's overseas rehabilitation organization, has precipitated a sharp, backstage quarrel within the administration and has aroused so many protests that it is doubtful whether it will ever be put into effect on a large scale.

The proposal permits the "conchies" to attend universities for training in languages, foreign customs, administrative work and distribution problems. Then they will be sent abroad to handle allotments of food and supplies which the former New York governor will acquire from lend-lease authorities.

There are more than 11,000 "l.o.'s," and hundreds of them are toiling in hospitals and public institutions which are unable to hire other aides. Some have been placed on farms lacking help. One suggested modification of the order is that persons unwilling to enter combat units because of their convictions should be retained for essential employment within the United States instead of being exported to re-establish other peoples.

The executive committee of the American Legion denounced the scheme at its recent Indianapolis meeting, but the critical resolution was softened under pressure from New Dealers. Chief objection was that, while millions of American young men do the fighting at $50 a month, these refusers are given special education fitting them for fine postwar jobs here and in liberated countries.

Mrs. Roosevelt was a sponsor of the idea and put it over in the face of opposition from War Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt and Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey. FDR upheld her and Lehman against his advisers on this general problem.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

AS A sensational sequel to the RAF blows against the Moehne and Eder dams, strategists would not be surprised if Flying Fortresses using precision bombing methods dropped mines on the Dutch dikes. The floods could sweep away Nazi defenses and engulf the Axis armies in the worst cataclysm since Pharaoh's host was trapped in the Red Sea.

Such an inundation would lessen the difficulty of invading Europe, or at least facilitate a Dieppe type of raid on a gigantic scale, which would divert the enemy from the real second front. Heretofore an attack upon the continent has been premised on overcoming stout resistance on the shores at the cost of many lives. But if the interior of the Netherlands turned into a lake Anglo-American barges could sweep around the coastal fortifications and debark in the heart of Holland. The soldiers could then fan out before the startled Hitlerites knew who were at their throats.

DANGER: Engineers explain that two methods could be used simultaneously. The ancient barriers against the sea could be broken in the vicinity of Wieringen and Amsterdam, and the dikes could be punctured along the lower Rhine.

The second stroke would perhaps be more severe because the river would overflow in the direction of Utrecht and circle back toward Rotterdam, covering industrial districts and military bases. Even meadows not deeply flooded would be sufficiently submerged to bog down Axis tanks, motor vehicles, heavy artillery and planes.

If the German defense system were thrown into confusion, Allied landing parties, protected by an umbrella of Spitfies and Thunderbolts, should be able to swiftly seize the outer islands from Ameland to Walcheren and consolidate toehold positions. Boats filled with other fighters and accompanied by parachutists could then move inland and come to grips with the Nazis on their secondary line.

Only a ribbon of land need be blanketed; hence inhabitants, though obliged to flee, would not be cut off from escape. Brine from the ocean might harm gardens and grasslands but after the Cape Code tidal wave in America farmers discovered that their soil was only temporarily injured.

• • •

BLAZING: There isn't a county in America that isn't bursting with pride because of the recent successes of its soldier sons. Our young men have trounced the best that Hirohito or Hitler could send against them. They and their technicians at home and abroad have mastered the mechanics which made these victories possible.

Our flyers from Cairo to Casablanca at first met with extraordinary problems caused by dust. Obviously sand storms play havoc in carburetors. But most civilians do not realize that every time a plane takes off in the desert its propellers raise their own private hurricane of fine acidiferous gravel which reams out moving parts. These pieces of equipment were built to last for 500 hours of normal flight, but they were frequently ruined after two days in the Mediterranean zone. However, engineers solved the difficulty with new metals, strainers and gadgets.

We fashioned a giant mobile crane which can hoist 60,000-pound crippled airplanes from runways allowing uninjured craft to take off instantly. Damaged machines are either tossed aside or towed to salvage depots. We also constructed a crash truck which can be driven into the blazing cockpit and can haul the crew to safety while a 600-pound pressure hose pumps water on the fire. Weapons, time and lives are thus saved by scientific ingenuity.

Our Curious World---By William Ferguson

ANSWER: Nose first, with the tail in a spinning motion.

Small Town Coming Into Its Own Again

"Happy Land" By MacKinlay Kantor Is Beautiful Story

IT LOOKS as if the small town is coming into its own again. It wasn't so many years ago when books that expressed the frustration of living in a small town—books like "Winesburg, Ohio," "Babbitt" and "Spoon River Anthology"—were all the rage. Now the picture has changed. We're learning there are a lot of fine things about life in a small town; that, in fact, the small town way of life is what our country is fighting to preserve.

Kantor

We have only to take a look at some of the recent books to see how true this is. Berry Fleming's novel, "Colonel Effingham's Raid," and William Saroyan's "The Human Comedy," both featuring typical small communities, have been extremely popular Book-of-the Month Club selections. And no doubt "Colonel Effingham's Raid" will be as successful a movie as "The Human Comedy" has proved.

Another book of this trend, soon to be a motion picture, is "Happy Land" by MacKinlay Kantor. This is a simple and beautifully told story about a typical small town, and about Lew Marsh who ran the town's most popular hangout—Marsh's Drug Store. Lew's son, Rusty, joined up with the U. S. Navy early, and he was one of the first casualties. When Lew Marsh learned his son was dead, he brooded about it. Why? he kept asking himself, why had it happened to Rusty? It wasn't fair.

Then one day he had a caller. The caller was his own grandfather, and he was most unexpected, since he had been dead for twenty years. Grampa, a Civil War veteran, had come back for the purpose of talking a little understanding into his grandson. And it was through him Lew realized that "As long as kids can play Indian in the corn . . . as long as American boys can be Boy Scouts, as long as they can eat ice cream, as long as they can do a good turn daily, as long as they can play football, or have a picnic in Briggs' Woods . . . it'll be worth while."

Good Soldier Gift

A GOOD gift for a soldier friend is "As You Were," a pocket-size volume of some of the best in American prose and poetry, edited by the late Alexander Woollcott. It's a wise idea for a soldier to carry a book around with him when he's on leave, Woollcott counsels. He discovered that in the last war. It seems that the M. P.'s in Paris were always accusing the soldiers of being A.W.O.L. On one memorable occasion, however, Woollcott spent a whole evening in Paris without being stopped. He was carrying a book under his arm. After that he always carried one, and was never stopped again. It was apparently unthinkable to an M. P. that a bookish soldier could be on the loose.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

"YOU'VE DONE YOUR BIT NOW DO YOUR BEST!"

DURING the first year of our toughest war, we—

Trained millions of fighting men—made millions of dollars worth of fighting tools—built millions of tons of shipping to carry these men and tools to the fightng fronts.

And to help pay for it all, we bought War Bonds. Altogether, 50 millions of us bought War Bonds. And nearly 30 millions of us started putting, on the average, 10 percent of our pay into War Bonds every payday through the Payroll Savings Plan.

That was a good start—a whale of a good start. But every American knows that it was only a start. Nobody would contend for a single instant that what we did in '42 is enough for '43!

Did we make 48,000 planes last year? Believe it or not—we did. But we've got to make 100,000 this year! Sure! We broke every record in the world last year, building 8 million tons of shipping. But everybody knows that the 18 million tons we're building this year isn't enough!

We've got to do more fighting this year. We've got to do more building, more training, more shipping—and more saving.

We've go to buy more War Bonds.

Is that too much to ask? Many of us are making more money then we have made for years. The things we'd like to buy with that money have either disappeared or are as "scarce as hen's teeth." So, why not put that money into War Bonds at good interest—$4 for every $3 when the Bonds mature? Money to help pay for the war—keep prices down—provide peacetime jobs and peacetime goods and a generally decent world for all of us when the war is won.

Chances are, you're already in the Payroll Savings Plan—buying War Bonds—doing your bit. But don't stop there. See if you can't boost your ante! Do your best!

Of the 34 million Americans on plant payrolls, nearly 30 millions of them have joined the Payroll Savings Plan. (If you aren't in yet—sign up tomorrow!)

Those Americans who have joined the Plan are investing, on the average, 10 percent of their earnings in War Bonds. (If you haven't reached 10 percent yet—keep trying!)

BUT . . .

America's income this year will be the highest in history: about 125 BILLION dollars! In spite of all taxes and price rises, the average worker will have more money than last year—more than ever before!

That is why Uncle Sam has a right to ask us, individually, to invest more money in War Bonds, through the Payroll Savings Plan. He asks us to invest not 10 percent or 15 percent or 20 percent, but all we can!

YOU'VE DONE YOUR BIT --- NOW DO YOUR BEST!

BOOST YOUR BOND BUYING THROUGH THE PAYROLL SAVINGS PLAN

LAAF 'Chute Rigger Is Thanked By Pilot For Doing Job Right

Thrill of a lifetime came to Mrs. Joe Patterson, parachute rigger at Lubbock Army Air field, this week when she got her first letter of thanks from a LAAF graduate whose life had been saved by a 'chute she packed.

"Thanks for doing your job right," wrote Lt. William G. Eckman from Jamestown, N. Y., who watched Mrs. Patterson pack the silk canopy he took with him in February when he graduated as a multi-engine pilot and was ordered to Salt Lake City, later to Ephrata, Wash.

"Flying a 'Fortress', we were in the midst of a terrible storm and had to bail out over Wakeeney, Kansas. Guess I hit the ground a little hard because I broke my leg," continued Lt. Eckman who is now in a Salina, Kansas, hospital. "No foolin' though, I had all kinds of confidence in the 'chute, knowing you packed it."

Experienced Club Workers

Mrs. Patterson, sister of the Rev. A. W. Burks, Christian minister of Idalou, and her husband are both employed by the LAAF sub-depot. Cloth fabric work is nothing new to them as both held supervisory positions with tent and awning factories first at their home town of Abilene and later at El Paso between 1940 and 1942.

Soon after Pearl Harbor they took parachute training at Duncan Field near San Antonio and transferred to LAAF last September. Mr. Patterson has a son by a previous marriage who is in an infantry camp on the West Coast, and she has a nephew in the service.

Their Lubbock address is 1904 Main street.

Treasure Island To Be Kept As Key Unit

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP) — Secretary Knox announced today that the Navy would retain Treasure island in San Francisco bay as a key unit of the Pacific coast fleet base there.

Serious consideration has been given to proposals that Treasure island be converted to a municipal airport when the war is over, the secretary reported.

However, he told a press conference, it was decided after careful study that aerial operations from the island would be hazardous and this would make it unsuitable for the proposed development.

First treaty between American forces and the Navajo Indians was signed near Gallup, N.M., on Nov. 22, 1846.

Memorial Rites Set At Slaton

SLATON, May 22. (Special)—All Lubbock county is invited to join local citizens here Sunday afternoon, May 30, in observance of national Memorial day, according to Briggs Robertson, secretary-manager of the chamber of commerce.

Rev. H. I. Robinson, pastor of the First Methodist church, Lubbock, will deliver the memorial address, honoring the veterans of all wars buried in the Slaton cemetery. The address will be in the nature of a sermonette. An Army chaplain from one of the air bases near Lubbock will give the invocation.

Services will begin at 3 o'clock p. m. and will be at the cemetery, if the weather is fair. A crowd of 1,200 is expected, local citizens have estimated.

Music Is Arranged

Music will be by a mixed quartette, or by a large choir, those in charge said. Taps, and echo of taps, will be heard at the conclusion. Representatives also of the U. S. Coast Guard and of the Marines will attend.

All churches in Slaton will observe the day, each in its own manner, with Memorial day sermons at the morning hour. Amif Foregien Wars post in Lubbock county and in Tahoka and Post will take part, and the Veterans of Foreign Wars post in Lubock will attend and share in the program.

Defense Guards To Aid

Texas Defense guard units of Slaton and Lubbock, will take part as will Women's auxiliaries from the Legion and other organizations. The railroad union in Slaton will send a number of representatives and as an organization will assist.

Robertson said Slaton was the first town anywhere in the South to call for a city-wide observance of national Memorial day when the entire business section closed in 1941 and helped stage the service in appropriate manner. The same ceremony was just as generally observed last year, when May 30 fell on Saturday, and a crowd of 850 persons attended the rites, he said.

The service here will be concluded early enough in the afternoon for those who wish to return to Lubbock or visit there for

China Desperately Needs More Help

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Determination of the Allied war council in Washington to speed the movement of war materials and other supplies into China is a God-send for that hard-hit and long-suffering country.

This presumably will involve an extension of the American job of transporting stuff by air over the dangerous route across the mountains between India and China.

The celestials have been hamstrung for lack of arms and equipment of all categories. They have been waiting to get equipped by the Allies.

Many Other Troubles

But there's a lot more to China's troubles than that. She's been asking for arms and hasn't been saying much about food or raiment.

The economic position is dependent on the military situation. With the Japs in possession of most centers of production and trade, it's not hard to see that the economic structure of unoccupied China must be shot as full of holes as a sieve. Things are bad, and inflation is running through the country.

The Chinese need equipment right now to protect themselves against the Japanese offensive aimed at the great rice-growing area in Hunan province, which is now partly in Jap hands and partly in Chinese.

Important City

Involved in this Nipponese drive is a city which the Chinese have been very anxious to get back—Ichang. This is the most important city on the middle Yangtze and its possession by the invaders has been of great value in military operations.

I was told in Chungking that the Chinese felt if they had air-power they could reclaim Ichang and thus open up Hunan province with its badly needed rice. For this operation and others, they wanted between 300 and 500 warplanes.

Burma can't be invaded before the end of next September, because of the monsoon weather Thus the urgently needed aid will have to be handled by air transport for a long time to come. This presumably means that the chief help for China to stand off the present Jap offensive will be in bombers and fighter planes.

TNT TRAP—Tiny enough to be hidden under a helmet, this booby trap of a half-pound of TNT is one of several used in demonstrations for armored force trainees at Ft. Knox, Ky.

U. S. Sets Up Base At Porpoise Harbor

OTTAWA, May 22 (AP) — The Canada Gazette disclosed tonight that the United States Army has established a base at Porpoise harbor, close to Prince Rupert harbor on the British Columbia coast.

No details of the development were given.

Train Finally Finds Way Out Of Floods

SAN ANTONIO, May 22 (AP)—The Katy's Texas special, flying dutchman of the rails, puffed into San Antonio with a load of weary passengers after wandering five days through Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas in quest of a dry-land route home.

The special's companion train without a track—the Frisco's Meteor—finally made port in Oklahoma City Thursday night.

Both trains left St. Louis Monday night and were due at their respective destinations the next day. Both encountered flood-bound roadbeds and showed up in Parsons, Kas., Thursday morning hunting for a way home after a net loss of 30 miles apiece for the preceding 24 hours.

Axis Properties Slated For Sale

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP) — Within the next few months, the American public will get an opportunity to buy an estimated $500,000,000 worth of Axis properties seized by the government since Pearl Harbor, officials of the alien property custodian's office disclosed today.

Alien property experts and officials of the securities and exchange commission now are working out details of plans to "Americanize" about 150 formerly German, Japanese and Italian holdings by offering them for sale to citizens of this country.

American Operation Required

Private investment banking channels and underwriting syndicates will be used, according to present plans, to distribute to American investors the Axis stock now held by Alien Property Custodian Lee T. Crowley.

Officials said that the smaller Axis properties would be offered for sale on a competitive bid basis, with the successful bidder required to furnish adequate guarantees that the properties would be kept in operation and in American hands.

These smaller properties will be put on the market first. Later, the plans call for offering stock in the larger enterprises for sale through regular investment channels and underwriting syndicates.

Washington Asked To Discontinue Publicity Releases As A Measure To Conserve Paper

AUSTIN, May 22 (AP) — Rep. Herbert Brawner of Joshua today urged WPB Chief Donald Nelson to issue a directive discontinuing publicity stories from Washington as a paper-saving measure.

"The press today carried a story to the effect that WPB has issued an ultimatum to the publishers of all daily newspapers ordering them to immediately curtail consumption of newsprint by 10 per cent or more, and that if the order is not complied with, newsprint also will be rationed.

Propaganda Army

"In Washington there is an army of 4,000 publicity and public relations men on the government payroll consuming one million tons of paper each month sending out propaganda stories to newspapers, which are immediately thrown into the waste baskets.

"Why not issue a directive discontinuing this enormous waste of paper, in behalf of the war effort and common sense? . . .

"With this accomplished, the WPB will find it entirely unnecessary to command our daily newspapers to cut down on their newsprint consumption. This will be beneficial to the papers and to the public, since the public requires newspapers for their news and advertising as much as it does food."

CASE HISTORY No. 1398. Man age 40 who had back ache, occasional headaches, nervousness, stammerings, and a sore kidney. He was unable to do any work or walk very far without giving out. He began chiropractic service on September 29, and in a few weeks time he felt much better. After a complete course of regular chiropractic service he could do more work than ever before in his life; and travel great distances in a car without hurting him.

CASE HISTORY No. 1377. Lady age 45 who had pressure on the bladder or bowels, hurting in shoulder, are getting numb, very nervous, leg ache, and a tired wornout feeling all the time. She had tried many remedies without results. She came to a chiropractor as a last resort. The spine was X-rayed, especially the upper neck, and she began taking chiropractic service. She got so much better and was so relieved of pain by chiropractic service that in a short while after she started her service her husband started taking chiropractic service.

WHAT DOES A CHIROPRACTOR DO? A chiropractor studies the nervous system, finding what nerves have pressure on them and what organs of the body these nerves communicate with. If the nerves have pressure on them, the communication to that particular part of the body may be wholly or partially cut off. In order for the nerve to communicate freely, all pressure must be released. Therefore, the first step is to locate the nerve pressure, then relieve the pressure by adjustment and let the nerves communicate clearly, thus giving nature a chance to rebuild the body.
