Labor In Trouble On 'Day'

By The Associated Press

Labor Day 1975 began with a strike by the flight attendants of National Airlines as stewardesses of the "Fly Me" airline hoisted "Don't Fly Me" signs.

In the coalfields of Appalachia and the hills north of the Ohio River, some of the local leaders of the United Mine Workers tried to persuade their men to end a three-week-old wildcat strike which has idled two-thirds of the nation's 125,000 soft coal miners. There was some cautious optimism—that the men might return to work Tuesday.

President Ford came in for harsh criticism from leaders of five major unions over the weekend, while the President's Labor Secretary defended the administration's economic policies.

Ford, at his Camp David retreat in Maryland's foggy Catoctin Mountains, praised the working man in his Labor Day message for the "willingness to sacrifice and engerness to support responsible economic policies.

The National Airlines strike began at one minute after midnight; contract talks between the airline and the Association of Flight Attendants had broken down 2 hours earlier.

The nation's eighth-largest airline, which normally carries about 18,000 passengers a day, suspended all flights.

In a joint appearance Sunday on NBC "Meet the Press," union leaders attacked the Ford administration's economic policy.

United Auto Workers' chief Leonard Woodcock called it "Herbert Hoover revived."

I.W. Abel of the United Steel Workers said the administration's actions so far have added up to "absolutely zero."

Woodcock and Abel were joined in their criticism by Jerry Wurd of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, Robert A. Georgine of the Building and Construction Trades Department, AFL-CIO, and John Ryor of the National Education Association.

Meanwhile, Labor Secretary John T. Dunlop predicted on ABC's "Issues and Answers" that the unemployment level will gradually decline for the rest of 1975 and into 1976. However, he said prices will continue to rise, although not as fast as they had been rising in recent months.

In Detroit, a citizens' group called for a Labor Day moratorium on crime.

Deploring the city's high crime rate, 200 persons marched down Woodward Avenue, Detroit's main thoroughfare, Sunday.

Record Lending Plan Told For Poorer Nations

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The World Bank proposes to lend $7 billion to the world's poor and developing nations this year and $40 billion in five years, World Bank President Robert S McNamara announced today.

Although it would be a record lending program for any agency for undeveloped countries, McNamara said it would not begin to meet the dire needs of the one billion people living in the poorest countries.

"Some 900 million of these individuals subsist on incomes of less than $75 a year in an environment of squalor, hunger and hopelessness," he said. "They are the absolute poor, living in situations so deprived as to be below any rational definition of human decency," he added.

McNamara also told the opening session of a week-long meeting of the 127-member International Monetary Fund and the World Bank that the bank plans a new aid program to help the world's poor cities.

"If cities do not begin deal more constructively with poverty, poverty may well begin to deal more destructively with cities," he said in his prepared remarks.

He added that "frustrations that fester among the urban poor are more readily exploited by political extremists."

He also said the stepped-up World Bank lending this year, which compares with 1974 loans totaling $4.5 billion, looks less significant when it is realized that it will require $2 in lending by 1980 to accomplish what $1 did in 1970.

World Bank loans are made to help countries with their internal development plans, with the interest rates pegged according to the state of the country's economy.

On Sunday, the United States and other industrialized countries agreed to give up some of their power in the IMF. However, the United States will retain 20 per cent of the total vote, more than enough to exercise veto power over important decisions.

"Our right to veto ... was important to us," Treasury Secretary William E. Simon said after the voting realignment was decided on by the powerful 20-member Interim Committee.

Gaining from the realignment would be the oil-producing nations, whose voting shares would increase from about 5 per cent to 10 per cent, sources said. A total of 13 industrialized nations agreed to reduce their voting shares.

Formal approval of the new voting system won't come until a January meeting of the committee at the earliest and then it will need approval of the U.S. Congress and legislative bodies of the other IMF nations.

In addition to the voting arrangement, the Interim Committee also agreed, as expected, to establish a financial assistance fund for the world's poor nations to be financed from the sale of 25 tons of IMF gold, about one-sixth of the agency's total gold holdings.

Committee chairman John N. Turner, the Canadian Finance Minister, also told a news briefing that representatives from some industrialized nations agreed to take further steps to stimulate their economies, but he did not name them.

The committee said in a statement following its nearly eight hours of deliberations behind closed doors that industrialized nations should do more to help end the worldwide recession. But Simon said the statement was not aimed at the United States and that he doesn't think there is need for additional steps to stimulate the U.S. economy.

He said delegates were "clearly satisfied with fiscal and monetary policies" taken in the last year by the U.S.

Holiday Is Quiet Here

Many Snyder area residents were off their jobs on the summer season's last holiday today as the nation observed Labor Day.

Offices and many business firms in Snyder were closed for the day, and for the most part the holiday weekend had been a rather quiet one through this morning.

Local public schools, which began classes a week ago, observed the holiday and will get back to the classroom tomorrow. Meanwhile, Western Texas College will crank up for the fall semester later in the week. Registration is set up for Tuesday and Wednesday at the college, and classes will begin on Thursday.

IN ECUADOR

Coup Effort In Doubt

By JORGE JURADO
Associated Press Writer

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — Rebel officers threatened today to bomb the presidential palace to force out the family of Ecuador's military president, Gen. Guillermo Rodriguez Lara, according to a Radio Quito. Another report said Rodriguez himself was marching on Quito from Rio Bamba to try to put down the rebellion.

Radio Quito said Gen. Raul Gonzalez Alvear, leader of the coup attempt that began just after midnight, had given the president's family and the palace guard 30 minutes to leave the building or be bombed.

Grancolombia, another radio station, reported that Rodriguez went to Rio Bamba, 100 miles south of Quito, after Gonzales, chief of the military command, attacked the presidential palace in Quito at the head of a column of tanks.

First reports said Gonzalez occupied the presidential palace after a brief but intense battle, but several hours later the government's Radio Nacional declared that the uprising had been put down completely.

The broadcast said the rebellious troops that laid siege to the presidential palace had withdrawn. But witnesses said that the troops were still surrounding the palace.

One newsman on the scene reported that Gen. Gonzalez Alvear was commanding the troops surrounding the palace.

Radio Nacional also reported that President Rodriguez went during the night to Rio Bamba, 100 miles south of Quito. It said he "assumed command of the Galapagos armored brigade to put down the treacherous rebel group influenced by ambitious politicians." It said this announcement came from the national secretariat of information.

Radio Nacional went off the air a short while after.

Newsmen who were near the presidential palace during the night saw nobody leave it.

Meanwhile, another station, Radio Grancolombia, reported that Gen. Gonzalez said he would not order an assault on the presidential palace to avoid bloodshed, but that he would have to do so if the situation continued unresolved.

The military governor of Guayaquil, Gen. Galo Semblantes, issued a communique this morning asserting that the uprising had been put down and that the armed forces support Rodriguez. He said unless Guayaquil papers published his communique they would not be allowed to circulate.

A curfew was reported imposed in Guayaquil, which is Ecuador's second largest city and the site of strong army, navy and air force garrisons.

Beginning at 7 a.m. planes began taking off from the Quito International Airport, but their destination was not known. An army helicopter flew over the city constantly.

There was no street traffic, and outgoing telephone calls from Quito to foreign countries were suspended.

Informed sources said a major cause of the rebellion was dissatisfaction with the drop in oil revenue resulting from adherence to the price hikes of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

No Immediate Oil Prices Hikes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. oil industry now is free to [illegible] the well to the gasoline pump, but major oil companies are not expected to impose price hikes immediately.

The government's complex system of price controls and supply allocation expired at midnight Sunday after being in existence for four years and two weeks. Expiration of price controls immediately removed the $5.25-a-barrel lid on more than 60 per cent of U.S.-produced oil, thus allowing the price for that oil to rise to the uncontrolled world market price of around $12.

However, Congress and the Ford administration are involved in a last-ditch attempt to work out a method of gradually ending price controls over a period of time. Any such phase-out plan would be made retroactive to midnight Sunday, a factor that officials say is expected to deter oil companies from raising prices immediately.

Under a compromise proposed last week by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and House Speaker Carl Albert and tentatively accepted by Ford, price controls would be reimposed for a brief time provided the administration receives some sign that Congress will adopt an acceptable gradual decontrol plan within a few weeks.

Both congressional leaders are evaluating their colleagues' sentiment for such a course while Ford has until next week to decide whether to veto a bill extending the old controls for six months. He previously had said he will veto the extension but withheld final action after meeting with Albert and Mansfield.

Federal Energy Administrator Frank G. Zarb said Sunday on CBS' "Face the Nation" that any compromise would have to retain the administration's $2-a-barrel special tariff on imports and that Ford will not accept any phase-out plan lasting longer than 39 months.

The administration has predicted the end of price controls would mean an increase of about 6 cents in the cost of a gallon of gasoline if the $2 tariff is retained. Congressional critics estimate the impact would be at last double that estimate.

Rep. Bob Eckhardt, D-Tex., an administration critic who was interviewed with Zarb, said Congress is willing to work with the President on energy policy but added that Americans find it hard to understand why the oil industry needs ever-higher prices.

Zarb said the higher oil prices were brought on by the Middle East oil producers who control the world market. As a result, the average American family now pays $400 a year to foreign oil producers, he said.

Caroline Sends Rain To Texas

By The Associated Press

Tropical Storm Caroline continued to send rain over South Texas Monday from her stationary position in the mountains of northeast Mexico about 100 miles south of Brownsville.

Rain was reported as far up the Texas Coast as Corpus Christi, though it was diminished from Sunday's downpours which dumped more than 4 inches of rain on Brownsville and more than 6 inches on Raymondville 50 miles away. More rain was forecast for Monday.

Water six feet deep was reported in Raymondville Sunday by the Department of Public Safety. Police said some families sought refuge from high waters Sunday night.

Caroline was expected to spend most of her strength Monday, but still was sending gale force winds in occasional squalls over the Gulf of Mexico within 75 miles of its center. Small craft advisories still were in effect in the northwest Gulf.

The rest of Texas was clear, with only a few thundershowers expected on a sunny, warm Labor Day.

A few clouds were reported in Central Texas at dawn, and a few scattered showers and thunderstorm were forecast for that area and ts of the Upper Coast Monday.

Temperatures at sunrise were in the 60s and 70s, with some 50s in the Southwest Texas mountains. Dallas and Fort Worth were the warmest spots with 78. The day's high temperatures were expected to reach the upper 90s across Texas.

TRIUMPH FOR KISSINGER

Israel Okays Pact

JERUSALEM (AP) — The Israeli government approved Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's Sinai agreement with Egypt today, Cabinet ministers reported. It was a diplomatic triumph for Kissinger and a step toward peace in the Middle East.

Kissinger added that Egypt and Israel would sign the agreement together in Geneva in a few days, possibly next Sunday.

Not only is the new pact another step forward in Kissinger's step-by-step approach to peace in the Middle East, but the agreement of the two long-time adversaries to sign together is a symbolic step toward peace.

The agreement is the third interim settlement negotiated by Kissinger between Israel and its Arab neighbors since the 1973 Arab-Israeli war.

It provides for another Israeli troop withdrawal in the western Sinai Desert, giving up the Gidi and Mitla mountain passes and the Abu Rudeis oilfields; mutual pledges not to use force against each other for more than three years, the stationing of American civilian technicians to man electronic warning posts between the two armies, opening the Suez canal to Israeli cargoes and American promises of military and financial aid to Israel.

The agreement is conditional on congressional approval of the U.S. peacekeeping role. Also, the pact will not go into effect until military and technical protocols are negotiated between Israel and Egypt.

Although Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and others have criticized the U.S. role, Kissinger expects Congress to give its consent after some difficult debate.

The accord, which calls for American civilian observers in the Sinai cease-fire zone, still needed formal initialing by Israel and Egypt later today.

"The Israeli government accepts the agreement," Health Minister Victor Shemtov said as government leaders emerged from a meeting that lasted almost seven hours.

Kissinger reported at dawn that both Israel and Egypt had agreed to the text of the new Sinai agreement.

"We have substantially concluded our negotiations," he said after an all-night meeting with Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin and his two chief aides.

Egyptian agreement was obtained Sunday before Kissinger returned to Jerusalem from Alexandria, completing his sixth round trip between the two cities in the 12-day diplomatic shuttle.

UN Assembly In Special Session

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United Nations General Assembly opens [illegible] day special session today aimed at the economic uplift of the Third World.

A conciliatory approach to the problems of the have-not nations was expected from the United States following overtures by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger last month. But except for a promise of 6 million tons of food aid in the 1976 fiscal year, there has been no advance indication of what Washington will propose.

The American position was to be outlined this afternoon in a speech prepared for Kissinger. Because the secretary of state is still tied up in the Middle East, it will be delivered by the new chief American delegate, Daniel Patrick Moynihan.

Kissinger in a speech in Milwaukee on July 14 told the developing countries the United States was prepared to undertake joint efforts to alleviate their economic problems. He also said the industrial nations should "show understanding for the concerns" of the nations whose economies are dependent on raw materials that are subject to radical price fluctuations.

In June, however, the United States took exception to two proposals the Third World delegates will be pushing at the special session:

—"Indexation," meaning tying the prices of things countries buy to those they sell so the two rise and fall together.

—"Integrated approach," the creation of buffer stocks of basic foodstuffs and raw materials so that prices can be regulated by buying a commodity when the price is too cheap to suit the producers and selling when it gets too high for the consumers.

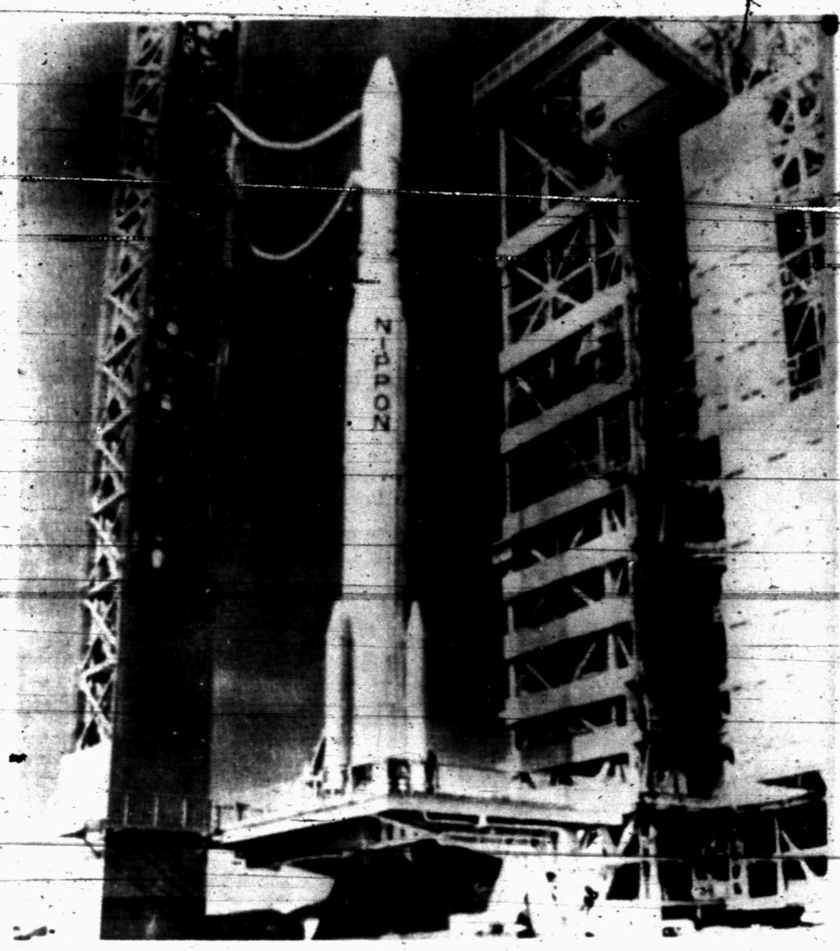

The Third World nations are also seeking more aid from the industrialized world and the rich members of the Organization of Oil Exporting Countries.

Five Teenagers Killed In Crash

BRENHAM, Tex. (AP) — Five Houston teen-agers were killed early today in a one-car crash 10 miles north of this South Central Texas town on Texas 36.

The dead were identified as Frank Meleski, 17; Michael Twardowski, 19, and his 12-year-old brother Joseph; Robert Moszkowicz, 16; and Harold Wishkoski, 16.

Investigating officers said the car went off the road and struck a concrete embankment about 4 a.m.

Hoffa Jury Probe Set Tuesday

DETROIT (AP) — The first of about 70 witnesses are to testify Tuesday as a federal grand jury begins looking into the month-old disappearance of former Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa.

As the jury probe opens, funeral services were scheduled for Hoffa's mother, Viola, who died Thursday at age 85. Family friends said she never was told about her son's disappearance but suspected something was amiss because his frequent visits to her ceased abruptly. One family friend said she died of "a broken heart."

Hoffa was reported missing July 30 when he failed to return home from a luncheon date. Hoffa's family said he was to meet a reputed Detroit Mafia leader, Anthony "Tony Jack" Giacalone.

Giacalone, identified in Senate testimony as a czar in the Detroit underworld, denies having an appointment to meet Hoffa.

Giacalone is among those called on to testify by the grand jury.

In a related development, the government and Giacalone's son Joseph have begun a legal battle over a car which authorities say is vital to the Hoffa case.

The FBI seized the car after it was learned that Joseph loaned it to Hoffa's foster son, Charles "Chuckie" O'Brien, on the day Hoffa vanished. Joseph Giacalone has demended the return of his auto, but sources report the FBI refuses to release it because highly trained dogs found Hoffa's scent in the back seat and trunk of the auto.

O'Brien, a central figure in the case, was seen driving the car near the restaurant where Hoffa vanished at about the time he disappeared.

O'Brien, who has refused to take a polygraph test requested by other members of Hoffa's family, maintains his presence was coincidence.

Portugal AF General Defects From Goncalves

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Air force commander Gen. Jose Morais da Silva has changed sides in the quarrel among Portugal's military leaders and has repudiated the authority of the Communist-backed chief of staff, Gen. Vasco Goncalves, reliable sources said today.

The air force, with some 130 combat aircraft and 18,000 men, was hitherto regarded as firmly behind the controversial Goncalves, whose appointment as chief of staff has been challenged by a majority of the nation's military leaders.

The sources said Morais da Silva called on President Francisco da Costa Gomes late Sunday and formally notified him that the air force will not take orders from Goncalves.

The air force defection from Goncalves left only the navy, the marines and northern regional commander Eurico Corvacho in Goncalves' camp.

Despite the protests, Costa Gomes was expected to swear in Goncalves as chief of staff later in the day, while also swearing in Vice Adm. Jose Pinheiro Azevedo as Goncalves' successor in the premiership.

Pro-Communist newspapers tipped a Goncalves man, Adm. Antonio Rosa Coutinho, to be Pinheiro Azevedo's successor as chief of naval staff. Rosa Coutinho told the nonaligned nations conference in Lima, Peru, last week that Portugal may quit NATO.

Pinheiro de Azevedo, a 58-year-old career officer, conferred Sunday with military and political leaders in search of members of his cabinet.

Socialist leader Mario Soares, whose withdrawal in July from the Goncalves government precipitated the continuing crisis, reiterated his refusal to return to the cabinet until multi-party democratic rule is restored. But Soares told the admiral he would not obstruct his efforts to improve the political and economic situation.

Both Goncalves and the anti-Communist officers who forced President Francisco da Costa Gomes to remove him expressed respect for Pinheiro de Azevedo and pledged to support him.

Goncalves called him "truly progressive," while one of Goncalves' bitterest enemies, Gen. Carlos Charais, commander of the central region, said he expected the new man to win broad popular support.

Officers who rejected Goncalves as premier said they would not accept him as chief of staff either. Charais said 80 per cent of the armed forces would not take orders from Goncalves.

Soares told a radio interviewer Goncalves' appointment "gives the Communist party the possibility of controlling all the armed forces."

Gen. Otelo Saraiva de Carvalho, the national security chief and Lisbon military commander, gave notice that he would only take orders directly from President Costa Gomes, who was also chief of staff until he appointed Goncalves. Costa Gomes, Carvalho and Goncalves make up the junta that is supposed to be running Portugal.

Meanwhile, in downtown Lisbon, several hundred ultra-left Maoists tried in vain all day Sunday to take over the headquarters of the office workers' trade union from the Communists.

The Maoists, with Socialist support, won control of the union from the Communists in elections Saturday, but the Communist union officials refused to vacate the building. They said it contained the main computer of Intersindical, the Communist-run labor federation.

After a siege of more than eight hours, troops from Gen. Carvalho's security command escorted the 53 Communists from the building as the crowd booed and jeered. But the soldiers refused to allow the new union officials to take possession. One officer said they had orders to keep everyone out of the building.

The crowd pushed and shouted all night, but the troops were unperturbed and successfully resisted the repeated onslaughts.

Five Die In Plane Crash

DAVIS, Okla. (AP)—A single-engine airplane apparently lost power and crashed near this southern Oklahoma town Sunday night, killing five persons believed to be from Texas.

Authorities said a Richardson, Tex., man who was piloting the plane, a woman and three children were killed when the plane crashed on the Drake ranch west of here. One youngster survived and was transferred to an Oklahoma City hospital.

The names of the victims were withheld by authorities until their relatives were notified.

The Murray County sheriff's office sealed off the area for the night and investigators from the Federal Aviation Administration were expected here today.

Ardmore Municipal Airport reported to the Highway Patrol at 8:01 p.m. Sunday that the plane had radioed it was having a power failure north of the Arbuckle Mountains.

The patrol said the plane then lost contact with the tower.

Mrs. W. H. Drake, whose husband owns the ranch on which the plane crashed, said two ranch hands making a routine cattle check discovered the plane and notified the Highway Patrol.

The patrol said a medical examiner confirmed the five fatalities and one injury. The bodies were taken to a funeral home in Wynnewood for identification.

President At Camp David

CAMP DAVID, Md. (AP) — President Ford is spending a quiet Labor Day at this foggy mountain retreat, relaxing with his family and editing speeches he'll deliver later in the week.

The President arrived here early Sunday after 18 hours of appearances and travel in Maine and Rhode Island. He had planned to come here by helicopter from Andrews Air Force base near Washington but switched to a motorcade because of the weather.

A steady rain and a blanket of fog wiped out Ford's plans for swimming and tennis Sunday and he remained inside Aspen Lodge with his family. Similar weather was predicted for today.

Also here were First Lady Betty Ford and three of their children — Susan, 18, Mike, 26, and his wife, Gayle, and Steve, 23, and Steve's friend, DeeDee Gervis, of Alexandria, Va. A third son, Jack, is in the Bahamas on an expedition with oceanographer Jacques Cousteau.

A White House spokesman said Ford is taking advantage of the quiet period to work on drafts of several speeches, the first of which he will deliver Tuesday in Washington to a meeting of the International Monetary Fund.

The President on Thursday and Friday will make a two-day trip to the West Coast, making official and political appearances at Seattle, Portland and Sacramento.

Meanwhile, in a television interview broadcast Sunday night in Chicago, Ford said his wife "has established a high moral standard" for their four children "and they have lived up to those standards."

Asked for his reaction to his wife's outspoken comments on premarital sex, the President said Mrs. Ford's views "have to be put in the context of what she has done in the raising of four children."

He said she was trying to explain to the American people that "you have to have a very close relationship to the children and if you have that relationship, if you have that understanding with children as they grow from youngsters to young people, the net result is that they do live by a high moral standard, which I think is the right way to bring children up."

The President spoke in an interview on the Irv Kupcinet Show.

Glider Killed In Crash

HENDERSONVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Frederick W. Tiemons III, 32, Burnsville, Minn., was killed Sunday when his airborne hang glider kite broke apart and crashed into Old Hickory Lake, police said.

Police Chief Walter G. Toon, who said he witnessed the accident, said, "He must have died instantly. The wind was dead at the time and he had been making a circle when suddenly the kite broke and the whole thing began to spin, like a plane, down into the water."

Tiemons was participating in the hang glider competiton of the Kite Flying Nationals being held at the lake over the Labor Day weekend.

He was the second person to die while hang gliding at the lake during the past week. Lee Peck, 24, Nashville, was killed Monday when his glider harness apparently broke and the glider collapsed. Peck was not participating in the competition.

Ten finalists were selected Sunday for the final day of the Tow Kite Flying contest to held today.

They were Steve Moyes, Sydney, Australia; Greg Mitchell, Mission Viejo, Calif.; Kurt Johnson, Chicago; Larry Newman, Albuquerque; Obie Hendricks, Clayton, Ga.; John Dunham, Albuquerque; Ronald Davies, Zest Palm Beach, Fla.; Mike Hendricks, Tampa, Fla.; Chris Anderson, Orlando, Fla.; Steve File, Springfield, Ill.

A first prize of $2,000 was to be awarded the winner with another $2,000 distributed to the other nine finalists.

One Hurt In Area Mishap

Bobbie Don Stroud, 18, Route 3, Box 439, Snyder, sustained minor injuries in a two-vehicle collision on the Clairemont Highway at 10:34 a.m. Saturday.

Investigating Police said he did not require hospitalization. He was driving a 1975 Model Toyota pickup that was involved in a collision with a 1974 Model Dodge pickup operated by Loyd Wallace Farmer, Route 3, Box 269, Snyder.

Police also investigated two other mishaps over the weekend.

The first one occurred at the Tiger Drive-In Theater at 10:12 p.m. The 1969 Model Chevrolet of Leones Rocha Medrano, 1308 Twenty-eighth Street, was in collision with a post, officers said.

Miguel Quiros, 403 College Avenue, was driving a 1970 Model Ford that was in collision with a guard post in North Park at 11:55 p.m. Saturday.

Suspect Four Had Marijuana

City Police arrested four young men in Towle Park at 1:19 a.m. Sunday on suspicion of illegal possession of marijuana. They said charges may be filed against the four later.

Police also are investigating the theft of a battery from a 1969 Model Dodge owned by Janie Mena. It was taken while the car was parked at her residence on the Old Lubbock Highway between 12 a.m. and 7 a.m. Saturday.

Former Resident Invents Grinder

MIDLAND—L.F. Greer, a former Snyder resident, has invented and is now manufacturing and marketing a flush valve grinder that is expected to be a handy tool for plumbers.

Greer perfected his invention over the past year and it is being manufactured and distributed in Midland by Greer Enterprises. He plans to used handicapped people to help assemble the packages. The grinder is boxed with two complete grinding units and two extra grinding stones.

Lockwood, Kin Leave Argentina

By ALFONSO CHARDY
Associated Press Writer

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Charles A. Lockwood said the leftist guerrillas who held him captive for 58 days two years ago told him "they never squeeze the same lemon twice."

"Argentina is my home, and I have no intention of leaving," said the British-born financier after a $2.5 million ransom secured his release then.

But leftist guerrillas kidnaped Lockwood again a month ago. And after the police killed four of his captors Sunday and rescued him, a servant at his home said he left the country with his wife and two daughters.

The family's destination was not disclosed, and it was not known if they would return.

Lockwood, 67, came to Argentina before World War II and made a fortune in financial deals. He is an executive of Financiera Roberts, one of the country's most prestigious financial institutions, and is on the board of directors of Fabrica Argentina de Alpargatas, a textile and shoe manufacturer.

About 40 armed men ambushed Lockwood on July 31 as he was being driven to his office with his two daughters and his two bodyguards. The kidnapers wounded the chauffeur and the bodyguards.

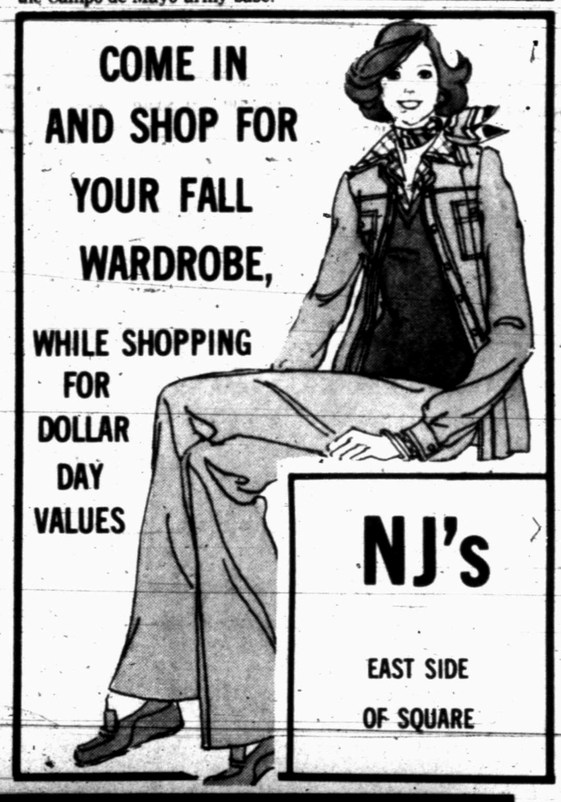

No ransom demand was ever made public, and there was no word whether any money was paid.

The police said they found Lockwood in a brick home in the suburban Pilar area near the Campo de Mayo army base.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Oswald: "In planning your play at notrump you must look ahead to see which opponent is likely to gain the lead. Then work it out so when he gains the lead, he won't be able to hurt you."

Jim: "Every declarer's first thought at trick one is to play low from dummy. This time he should think a second time and go up with dummy's ace."

Oswald: "If East has the king of clubs everything will work out beautifully. If West has the king of clubs he is going to gain the lead with that card."

Jim: "West does have the club king. If South plays low, East wins trick one with the king and leads the suit back. Then when West gets in he will cash enough spades to beat the contract."

Oswald: "If South rises with dummy's ace of spades and it turns out tht West has led fourth best from a five-card suit headed by king-queen, South will wish he had played second hand low. Such a lead is far more unlikely than one from just one of those two picture cards so the ace play is both correct and a winner."

Ask the Jacobys

An Iowa reader wants to know what you should open with:

♠ A J 3 2 ♥ K 9 6 ♦ A 8 4 ♣ Q 7 2.

The answer is that in standard American, Jacoby modern or any normal system you should open one club. This makes your rebidding problem a cinch. You bid one spade over one heart or diamond, two spades over one spade and pass to either two clubs or one notrump. If partner responds by jumping to three clubs you bid three notrump.

(Do you have a question for the Jacobys? Write "Ask the Jacobys" care of this newspaper. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and writers will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

Chromium Essential

COLLEGE STATION- Special forms of chromium are essential in human nutrition, according to Frances Reasonover, foods and nutrition specialist.

"This mineral is called a trace element because it is found in foods in such small amounts. Scientists think is probably helps the body use insulin," this specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, said.

Reserach shows chromium levels in tissue decline with age. The absorption and metabolism of chromium depend on the form in which the element is present.

"It is estimated that 10-25 per cent of the chromium available, but good food sources are animal proteins, except fish; whole grain products; and brewers yeast," the specialist said.

Dr. Lamb

School lunches may harbor poisons

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—School is starting again and I wondered if you would be good enough to discuss unrefrigerated school lunches.

This is my first year packing lunches. I have a child who does not eat a wide variety of foods and therefore cannot buy lunch too frequently.

With the exception of peanut butter and jelly, I know nothing that can safely be left out of the refrigerator for three or four hours as these lunches are.

Why are we taught about salmonella on one hand at home and then send meat sandwiches to school with out children?

DEAR READER—There is a lot of truth in your statement. A basic rule in protecting food is that it should be kept at a temperature of about 160 degrees F. or above or at 42.8 degrees F. or below. Bacteria can grow and form toxins between 42.8 and 160 degrees F. Any food that is left standing for more than an hour and a half should be either kept hot enough or cold enough to prevent this.

The saying grace is practicing a near-sterile procedure. If there are no bacteria in the food and it is kept free of contamination, there will be nothing to multilpy. A good example is the storage of canned food in sealed containers at room temperature.

All meat used for lunches should be thoroughly cooked, destroying the bacteria and any toxins. Then you should avoid contaminating it in the process of making sandwiches. You are back to a need for a kitchen routine that keeps cooked food away from any plates, utensils or hands that have handled raw foods. For example, don't slice ham on a meat board you just used to cut raw, round steak. Don't stick a fork used in handling raw foods into cooked food.

You might consider using hot soup in a good quality thermos bottle. You can safely use gelatin and fruits. Raw fruits are very good—apples, oranges, bananas, pears.

You should never send cream pies or baked goods containing a cream filling to school, but you can send a fruit pie.

Don't use salad dressings or send potato salad in the lunch pail. These can harbor staphylococcal organisms, and they can form enough toxin in four hours to cause severe food poisoning.

You can send along any canned items. Canned juices are fine if your child likes juices. The small, canned puddings that are now marketed are safe and can be used. You can also send along certain raw vegetables if the child likes them, a few radishes or carrots are fine.

All of this still leaves something to be desired in providing the best foods with maximum safety for lunches. But, if it is any comfort to you, much of rural America used the old lunch bucket for those one-room schoolhouses, apparently without too much difficulty. Again, the clue is providing as nearly sterile food as you can. That offsets a multitude of sins inherent in the improper storage of food.

Coordinator Sees Center Closed On Schedule

FT. CHAFFEE, Ark. (AP) — The senior civilian coordinator of this Indochinese refugee center said Sunday he is strongly confident that the center can close by the end of the year.

Donald McDonald said the major unkown is the continuing supply of sponsors. But he said the American people have a history of responding to humanitarian needs.

"Americans have never failed to respond to humanitarian imperatives," McDonald said. "Historically, they have never failed."

He said the American public has accepted more than 1.8 million refugees in the past 30 years, and added that the Vietnamese have been "the easiest to place."

He said an average of 273 refugees were sponsored out daily in July. McDonald said that figure declined to 252 in August, as of the 29th.

He said 27,100 refugees have been placed with sponsors after arriving at Chaffee. He said the population Sunday was just less than 20,000.

He said it was possible, but that he didn't know for sure, that the army had signed a contract to provide heat for the refugee barracks through April 30, 1976. He said the Chaffee staff would be "inept" not to plan for every possibility.

He said the officials who have challenged the accuracy of the scheduled December closing date are "inept at best."

He added that if the sponsorship totals remain near the current level, there should be no difficulty closing Chaffee by Christmas.

McDonald said he is worried that the attitude of the American public might be adversely affected if reports are circulated that only hard to place refugees remain at Chaffee.

He said the volunteer agencies coordinating the sponsorship programs have taken steps to prevent a so-called "hard core" of refugees without language proficiency or work skills from forming at any of the refugee centers.

He said the majority of refugees at Chaffee speak English, and almost all refugees have skills.

He said reports about the so-called "Saigon Cowboys" have been exaggerated. "When the American people hear such reports they may think we have nothing but hoodlums — which is definitely not so."

The "Saigon Cowboys" are a group of young refugees who reportedly have terrorized other and older refugees at Chaffee.

McDonald says the "Cowboys" haven't been much of a problem since hours that beer can be sold have been reduced.

Astro-Graph. Bernice Bede Osol. For Tuesday, Sept. 2, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't try to attend to several important matters today at the same time. You'll wind up with an even bigger muddle.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) It's not a good day to tackle trying mental tasks. Your thoughts won't be well-organized. Major mistakes will result.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) It's a bad time to assume additional financial obligations. Live within your means, or you'll be robbing Peter to pay Paul.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you expect anything done right today you're going to have to do it. Don't attempt to delegate responsibilities.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) In order to be a good guy you're apt to make some promises today you won't really mean. They'll be difficult to fulfill.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Someone you're fond of might put you on the spot today by making a request that will cost you out-of-pocket if you comply.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) This could be a tough day for you responsibility-wise, yet you must meet obligations head-on. Don't sweep anything under the rug.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're going to meet opposition today regarding an issue you feel very strongly about. Neither party will yield.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Be very careful today how you handle property of others. Don't ask to borrow your friend's car to run errands.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your one-to-one relations will cause you a few headaches today. Even an old ally may make some unreasonable demands.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your work habits are likely to be a bit slovenly today especially if you're asked to do something you think is beneath you.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You're prone to either be extravagant or take material risks today that have little chance of paying off. Stick with sure things.

Your Birthday. Sept. 2, 1975

You'll be offered a couple of interesting — business propositions this coming year through new acquaintances. Screen them carefully — one has promise, the other's a lemon.

Sooners Lead Grid Poll, Aggies 9th, Texas 11th

By BILL JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma got the nod as the nation's No. 1 college football team in The Associated Press' pre-season poll for 1975, but Sooner Coach Barry Switzer says he isn't sure his team deserves it.

The sportswriters and sportscasters who make up The AP board gave Oklahoma 54 first-place votes and a total of 1,184 points.

But Switzer, after viewing the Sooners' scrimmage on Saturday, commented on the poll results, "We're not deserving today. We're not ready to play by any means."

Switzer, who hasn't lost a game in two years as head coach — the only blemish on his record is a tie with Southern Cal — was obviously upset with the practice.

"The offensive line is so big," he said. "It was really hurting. They wallowed around feeling sorry for themselves ... We've always been concerned about leadership. None was demonstrated out there today.

"We've got a lot of conditioning to do. I thought we might let up next week. But we can't. We'll run every day."

The top rating didn't produce as much of a sensation among the Sooners this year as it did a year ago. Then, the team was going into the first year of a two-year television ban and the last year of a two-year probation period for recruiting violations and felt it had to prove itself.

After going undefeated and running up the longest unbeaten string among major college teams, the squad was a little more blase about the selection this year. And all agreed that while being picked No. 1 in the pre-season poll is an honor, it's the final poll that really counts.

"The cats around here don't think about it so much any more," said All-American halfback Joe Washington. "It's the final outcome after all that blood and sweat and tears that counts."

Washington also noted that although the Sooners were No. 1 before the season started last year, they lost that position after a tough game against Southwest Conference champion Baylor.

Alabama wound up second in the poll, receiving one first-place vote. Michigan, with one first-place vote, was third and Ohio State, with three votes for No. 1, was fourth.

Southern California was picked fifth; Penn State, with one first-place vote, sixth; Nebraska seventh; Auburn eighth; Texas A&M, ninth and Notre Dame, 10th.

The No. 11 through 20 positions went this way, in order: Texas, Michigan State, North Carolina State, UCLA, Florida, Arizona, Maryland, Tennessee, Arkansas and Stanford.

NAVRATILOVA, COURT ARE IN SEMIFINALS

By KAROL STONGER
AP Sports Writer

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Margaret Court is 33 years old, a 5-foot-10½, 150-pound right-hander from Australia and a seven-time winner at Forest Hills.

Martina Navratilova, is 18, a 5-7½, 147-pound left-hander from Czechoslovakia, playing in only her second U.S. Open Tennis Championships.

Despite the disparities in age and experience, their physical stature and style of play make them nearly a perfect match for the quarter-finals.

This year at Wimbledon, Mrs. Court beat Miss Navratilova 6-3, 6-4, but not without a struggle. In the Australian Open, Martina beat Margaret 6-4, 6-3, also in the quarter-finals.

On the United States women's professional tour, Mrs. Court was extended 6-3, 3-6, 6-2 in the final in Chicago to overcome the Czech.

"We both have the same style of play," said Miss Navratilova after she beat Kathy May of Los Angeles, 6-3, 6-0 in [illegible] before a crowd of 15,837 Sunday.

"We both like to hit out, come to the net," Martina said. "It should be a good match."

Mrs. Court said she agreed, after an erratic 7-5, 6-3 victory over Janet Newberry of Somerville, Mass., Sunday night before a crowd of 4,209 bundled against the wind and temperatures in the 60s.

Tuesday will tell.

Tonight is an All-American night, with Chris Evert, the heavy favorite, seeking a quarter-finals slot when she meets Wendy Overton; and Jimmy Connors, the defending champion, taking on Harold Solomon, the No. 13 seed, in a fourth-round match.

Seeders led the top three seeded men into the round of 16, where stamina counts as much as prowess since it is the first round of best-of-five set matches for the men.

The defending champion ousted Georges Goven of France 6-3, 6-1 and then started a running commentary on his match tonight with Solomon, the No. 13 seed who beat Wotjek Fibak of Poland 4-6, 8-0, 7-6 Saturday.

Connors' act on center court Sunday was followed by his alter ego, Ilie Nastase, the No. 8 seed from Romania, who swept past Mark Cox of Great Britain 6-0, 6-4.

In the grandstand, Manuel Orantes, the No. 3 seed from Spain, struggled to a 6-2, 3-6, 6-1 triumph over Hans Pohman of West Germany; No. 11 Raul Rathirez of Mexico came from a first-set deficit for a 1-6, 6-3, 6-3 triumph over Onny Parun of New Zealand; No. 15 Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia whipped Syd Ball of Australia 6-2, 6-0, and Guillermo Vilas, the No. 2 seed from Argentina, overpowered Dick Stockton 6-1, 6-4, before a standing-room-only crowd.

However, 10th-seeded Roscoe Tanner didn't fare so well. He became the sixth-seeded man to fall when Karl Meiler, a 26-year-old West German, surprised him 6-7, 6-4, 6-4.

On Saturday, No. 4 Arthur Ashe, No. 5 Borg of Sweden and No. 9, Rod Laver of Australia were among second-round winners, as was unseeded Eddie Dibbs of, North Miami Beach, Fla., who eliminated Jose Higueras of Spain 6-3, 6-0.

There is a three-way tie for first flight leader. L.J. and Maureen Brandon have a 64, as do Joe C. League and Lola Milstead and Duayne and Dana Weaver.

Second flight leader is Gene and Joyce Dow with a 57. Russell and Barbara Yorgeston carded a 56, and Don and Wilma Dillard have a 55.

The final 18 holes were to be played today. Complete results will be released tomorrow.

U.S. Nine Beats Japan

MONTREAL (AP) — The United States blanked Japan 8-0 in the final of the Intercontinental Cup Baseball Tournament Sunday before a crowd of 4,893. The Americans fashioned a 7-0 record in the round-robin.

Bob Ferris of the Univerity of Maryland scattered five hits in pitching the shutout. Paul Molitor collected three of the U.S. squad's 11 hits.

Tovar Traded To Athletics

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Cesar Tovar, a 10-year major league veteran used mainly as a designated hitter this year by the Texas Rangers, has been traded to the Oakland Athletics.

The Rangers said Sunday that Oakland would give Texas a player to be named later.

Tovar, 35, played all outfield positions and every infield position but first base for the Rangers in 1974. This year, in his role as primarily a designated hitter, he was batting .258 with three homers and 28 rbi's.

Tovar began his major league career with the Minnesota Twins, who traded him to the Philadelphia Phillies in 1973. The Phillies sold Tovar to the Rangers in December 1973.

Improving Cowboys Win 17-14

By B.F. KELLUM
Associated Press Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — Dallas Cowboy Coach Tom Landry feels the Cowboys still are not a good team offensively but he's confident they're getting better all the time.

The Cowboys won their first 1975 preseason game Saturday night by edging the Houston Oilers, 17-14. Dallas had three straight losses going into the contest.

"We're still a long way from being a good team offensively," Landry said. "Primarily because we're so young and inexperienced. But, I'm confident that we're coming along."

Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach completed touchdown passes of 18 yards to Jean Fugett and 16 yards to Drew Pearson and Toni Fritsch added a 37-yard field goal for the Cowboys.

Houston quarterback Dan Pastorini hit Ken Burrough with with two touchdown passes, a 48-yarder and an eight-yard strike.

Houston Coach O.A. "Bum" Phillips didn't seem too disappointed with the loss which evened the Oilers's pre-season mark at 2-2.

"We really wanted to win the football game," he said. "In fact, that may have been our problem. We may have been keyed up too high at times. We made a lot of mistakes and got far too many penalties. You just can't do those things and win ball games."

Staubach completed 14 of 25 passes for 198 yards and occasionally threw from the shotgun formation in which the quarterback takes the snap several yards back. Both Landry and Staubach said the Cowboys had not used the formation in several years.

Fugett said the Pokes have been improving but still needed a victory.

"We really needed it," he said. "We've been improving more and more each week but that wasn't enough. We needed this one. I think we're finally on our way."

A crowd of 46,951 watched the game in the Astrodome. Oiler officials said 1,079 persons bought tickets but did not show up.

Harmon Killebrew of the Kansas City Royals has never been tossed out of a ball game. He's been in the American League 19 years. Killebrew has never bunted in a league game, either.

Houston Cougars Are Hungrier This Season

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
AP Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — University of Houston quarterback Bubba McGallion thinks the Cougars' frame of mind will be good this season. If he's right the Cougars could wind up with their 11th straight winning season with a record suitable for framing.

"We're looking for a good season to give us a running start into the conference next season," McGallion said, meaning the Cougars will join the race for the Southwest Conference football title next season.

"Our frame of mind is going to be very important," said McGallion, who won the starting position after he rallied the Cougars to a 24-14 victory over South Carolina last year. "You can't go out there thinking you're better.

"If you get a 5-0 record, people are going to try to roll your head. If you get a 25-zip lead you can't sit on it. You've got to try for 25 more."

Despite an 8-3 record and the host berth in the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl, the Cougar season was not picture-perfect in 1974 and McGallion said "frame of mind" could have had something to do with it.

"Maybe there was some kind of feeling like that last year," he said. "We always had all the preparations we needed but sometimes it's just not getting up for the team the way you should.

"You could certainly tell a difference last year between the way we played Georgia and Tulsa."

The difference was on the scoreboard. The Cougars whipped Georgia 31-24 in one of their best performances of the season and lost to Tulsa 30-14 in the season finale.

"We have a lot of enthusiasm this year," McGallion said. "Everybody is really looking forward to the season. We have all of our backs returning and our timing is much better."

Cougar fullback John Housman won his battlefield promotion to a starting position the week before McGallion against Virginia Tech last season. He finished the season with 988 yards, a school record for a sophomore.

Housman hopes the Cougars will have a better frame of mind this season too.

"We all seemed to be pretty much thinking about something else last season," Housman said. "I don't know what it was but it wasn't football.

"We have some good players this year. A lot of teams have good players but we're a younger team and I guess we're hungrier. That was evident in spring training."

Grambling Back Sparks Vulcans

By The Associated Press

Quarterback Matthew Reed, the big second-year pro from Grambling, appears to be all the Birmingham Vulcans needed to get back on the winning track.

Reed, out for two weeks with a hip pointer while the Vulcans were losing two straight, ran for one touchdown, set up another with a 28-yard pass and threw an action point in the Vulcans' 21-8 World Football League victory Saturday over the Shreveport Steamer, 2-3.

He completed 12 of 28 passes for 213 yards without an interception before an announced crowd of 18,700 at Birmingham.

"It was great to come back and win after losing two in a row," said Coach Marvin Bass of the Vulcans, 3-2, WFL champions last year as the Americans. "I think Matthew Reed did a super job. He's in great shape now and really played like he's capable of playing."

In other WFL games Saturday, the Charlotte Hornets clobbered the Jacksonville Express 33-14, the Memphis Grizzlies walloped the Chicago Winds 31-7, and the San Antonio Wings shut out the Portland Thunder 22-0.

Quarterback Tom Sherman threw for one touchdown and completed 9 of 11 passes for 119 yards in Charlotte's lopsided victory over Jacksonville. Charlotte's first score came on a one-yard first-quarter plunge by Don Highsmith, who gained 99 yards in the game, played before 16,428 fans at Jacksonville.

"We controlled the ball for that first touchdown, and any time you do that it puts you in good position," said Coach Bob Gibson. "If we hadn't scored before the rain, it might have been a different game."

Wide receiver Ed Marshall caught three touchdown passes and an action point to help Memphis over Chicago, and quarterback Johnny Walton tossed two TD passes in San Antonio's victory over Portland.

Marshall caught four passes in the game, but they were for a total of 115 yards. The contest drew 21,515 fans at Memphis.

Running backs Bill Sadler and Jim Strong each gained more than 100 yards on the ground for San Antonio, racking up its fourth straight victory before 12,197 home fans.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Early fall is a time when many Texans are trying to locate an apartment, duplex, or house to rent.

And many persons may be depending on getting some professional assistance with the job of finding a suitable spot that fits their pocketbook from a rental listing agency.

Our Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division suggests that the selection of a rental listing agency be made with care, since reports from other states indicate that some consumers have had problems involving misleading or deceptive trade practices in dealing with a few such firms.

Rental listing agencies operate by charging a fee to persons who want to gain access to their special listings of rental property, since most such agencies obtain exclusive contracts with owners to advertise and rent their property.

Some rental listing services specialize in property in certain areas of town. Others specialize in certain types of rental units, such as efficienty apartments, luxury townhouses, or duplex units.

Thus, persons interested only in certain types of rent property or property only in a certain location, may save a great deal of time and effort they might otherwise have spent in looking at property that doesn't meet their needs or wants by dealing with a listing agency.

Real estate advertisements placed in the newspapers by such rental listing agencies may sound like ads placed by owners or real estate brokers, except that the agency name, and sometimes the stipulation "fee", may appear in the ad.

Problems for some consumers have involved rental listing agencies that operate in such a way that consumers sometimes pay a fee to get information they could have obtained free.

Our Consumer Protection attorneys have learned that some rental listing agencies charge customers from $20 to $30 to check their "exclusive listings," when those listings amount to nothing more than a duplicate of newspaper ad clippings.

Other persons have been attracted by a listing agency's advertisement for a particularly appealing property, visited the agency, and agreed to pay the required fee in order to get more information about the listing.

It's only then that they have discovered the property they're interested in is "no longer available," or that the ad misrepresented the quality or size of the apartment, duplex, or house.

Consumers who have such problems with a rental listing agency should contact the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division, the county or district attorney, or the local Better Business Bureau.

And our Consumer Protection attorneys remind consumers that many resources are available for shopping for rent property. Friends, relatives, and classified ads can supply information about possible apartments or houses. And some landlords pay the fee themselves to list their rent property with a real estate broker who then advertises it in the paper.

Boycott May Be Short

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Louisiana longshoremen admit their boycott of a Soviet-bound grain ship moored at a floating Mississippi River grain elevator may be short-lived.

Alfred Chittenden, president Association Local 1418, said yesterday, he expects a federal judge will be asked to force the union to load the ship.

"We may have to go ahead and do it," he said. "We will just have to wait and see what happens."

Loading of the Anna M began early yesterday in Reserve, La. some 40 miles upriver from New Orleans when eight longshoremen defied union leadership. Work halted at dusk when the union applied pressure and the men walked off the job voluntarily.

Chittenden said less than a quarter of the 5,000 long ton cargo had been loaded on the Anna M, a Cyprus-registered freighter chartered by the Soufracht Charter Co., a Russian organization.

One of the working longshoremen, Willie Doty, said he was working to feed his family.

"I have to work to live," he said. "We also have to obey our government and our President, too."

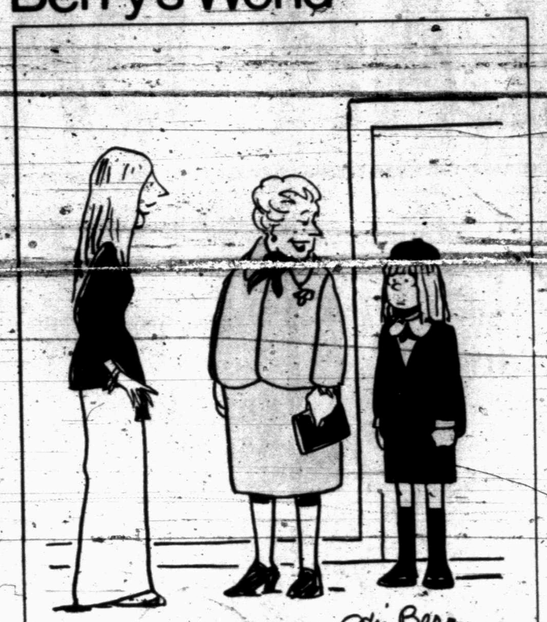

Chittenden said the Rogers Terminal and Shipping Co. tried more than 500 longshoremen before finding eight willing to load the wheat. He said some of the men said they were unaware union officials had ordered the membership not to load grain on ships headed for the USSR.

The ILA has refused to load grain at other Gulf Coast ports. A federal judge in Texas has ordered the longshoremen to load the grain in that area.

The Steamship Association asked U.S. Dist. Judge Alvin Rubin Saturday to issue a restraining order forcing the longshoremen to load the ship.

Rubin refused, saying there was no need for the order until a strike was called.

Sewing Machine Patented In Sept.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Women can either celebrate or bemoan the month of September, for Elias Howe Jr., of Cambridge, Mass., on Sept. 10, 1846, patented the first workable sewing machine. It opened up a vast number of jobs for women in factories, but also led to their exploitation in sweatshops. For some, home sewing machines were a godsend; for others they just added to the endless household chores.

Howe was not successful at first in the production of sewing machines, but Isaac M. Singer used Howe's patents to build a business empire. Their inventions created the enormous ready-made clothing industry, says Intellectual Property Owners, a nonprofit group devoted to strengthening the patent system.

From his patents and the manufacture of sewing machines Howe, at first a failure, eventually made a fortune of $2 million.

Survivors include his wife, Frances; a son, Gary Paul Doby; and a daughter, Donna Gail Doby, all of Austin; two brothers and two sisters.

Doby was a graduate of Oklahoma State University, where he received a masters degree in agricultural education in 1953.

The Mogul emperor Jahangir (1605-1627) maintained his father's empire in Northern India but, given to drink, allowed his power to pass to his wife, Nur Jahan.

LEEDEY, Okla. (AP)—Larry Golden, 28, Borger, Tex., drowned Saturday while fishing in a pond here, authorities said.

The Oklahoma Highway Patrol said Golden was fishing in a tube in about 12 feet of water when he suffered a seizure and fell out of the tube backwards into the water.

New Panel Expected To Boost Metric System

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. conversion to the metric system, authorized by Congress in 1866, is expected to get a boost soon from a government committee created to coordinate the switch from pounds to grams.

The House is to take up this month a voluntary metric conversion bill that was snarled last year in controversy over whether federal payments should be made to workers to replace tools. Passage through both chambers is considered certain this year.

The bill would create a 21-member board to coordinate voluntary conversion of U.S. industry and, therefore the public, to the metric system. The board also will be authorized to make recommendations later on such matters as whether federal payments should be made for tool replacements.

A House Science Committee report on the bill says "the choice before the Congress is not whether we should move to the metric system. That conversion is underway.

"The choice is between continuing the conversion process in an entirely uncoordinated fashion, as is the case now, or going forward with the conversion process on a coordinated basis."

It says the U.S. drug industry and medical profession already are using the metric system and major American automobile companies plan to be on the metric system within the next few years.

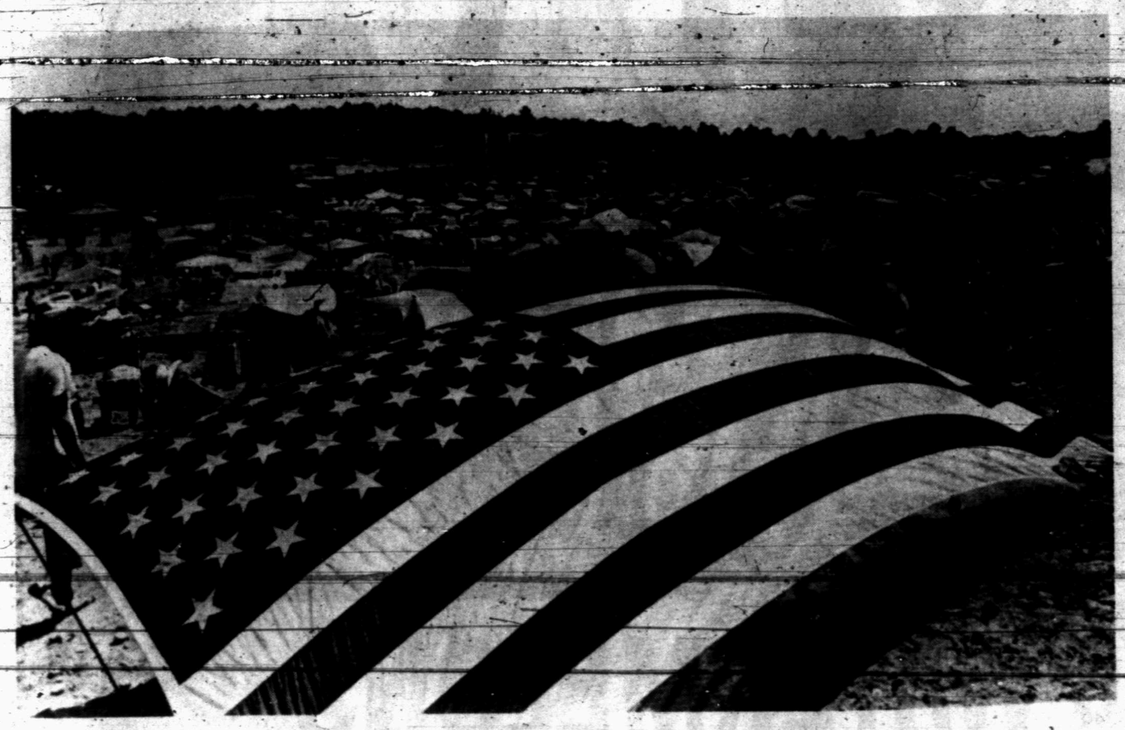

Further, all 50 states are committed to teaching the metric system, and the school systems of a number of states have announced that textbooks will be changed entirely to the metric system by 1976, the committee said.

Basically, the 21-member United States Metric Board will coordinate metric conversion plans to be developed by every industry in the country and by other groups such as state and local governments.

The board also would be directed to conduct a program of public education — teaching youngsters in school how to use the system and teaching adults through television, newspapers and magazines. Finally, the board would recommend to the President and Congress any legislation needed to move the country to the new way of measuring.

An authorization passed by Congress July 28, 1866, made the metric system legal but not mandatory in the United States. Congress has considered going to the metric system many times since then but international trade with other countries using the metric system now has given the effort new impetus.

Wilde, Crosby Leave In Huff

BUTTE, Mont. (AP) — Movie actor Cornel Wilde and entertainer Gary Crosby reportedly left in a huff Saturday from the Evil Knievel Labor Day Classic golf tournament.

The two were to have taken tennis star Bobby Riggs' place in Sunday's round while Riggs traveled to Great Falls for a match at the Jonathon Winters Wild West Celebrity Tennis Tournament, officials said.

Wilde and Crosby told an informant they were going back to Great Falls where they were appreciated. Cause of the huff was not revealed.

Free Elephants Face Extinction

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (AP) — Progress threatens the survival of the only remaining herd of "free" elephants in South Africa that live outside game parks.

They roam the forests around Knysna, midway between Capetown and Port Elizabeth on the Indian Ocean seaboard.

But a new freeway cutting through the forests will cut their ranging territory in half and lead to the herd dying out, environmentalists fear.

The elephants are rarely seen and it is believed their number is already down to about 11.

Army Probing WAC Firing

WASHINGTON (AP) — A leading advocate of women's rights in the military says she was relieved of her WAC reserve command because of her outspokenness. But the colonel who fired her says she was "defiant and would not follow orders."

The Army has launched an investigation of the dismissal of Lt. Col. Grace King, removed Aug. 6 as commander of a women's Army reserve battalion based in Alexandria, Va., by her brigade commander, Col. William Rumsey.

Col. King, 50, said in a telephone interview from her Carlisle, Pa., home that her outspoken advocacy of women's rights helped lead to her dismissal.

A top adviser on the military for the National Organization for Women (NOW), Col. King has testified before congressional committees in behalf of women's rights and in favor of the admission of women to the service academies.

"I made lots of enemies over that," she said. "But I have no intention of not being outspoken."

Rumsey accused Col. King in her final fitness report of "maintaining the respect of her people through sensationalism concerning women in the Army doing many jobs."

He pointed out in an interview that his wife was a member of NOW.

Col. King said the immediate reason for her dismissal was her refusal to falsify reports which she said were designed to help promote Rumsey's career.

Rumsey denied this, saying, "I have never asked her to do anything with a report."

He added: "She has been defiant; she would not follow orders. She wanted her own way. She complained all the time. She could not accept command decisions. She name-dropped ... She just was not going to let this black commander tell her what to do."

Col. King said her disagreements with Rumsey "became a political power struggle" and that the reserve program is riddled with "a bunch of politicians fighting for position."

She added: "My whole thing has been to try and open up every single job in the military to women that they're capable of doing — and they're capable of doing all of them."

Scientists Tout Crop Stimulators

MIDDLEBURY, Ind. (AP) — An electronic crop stimulation method that could spark another agricultural revolution is being touted by two scientists.

Dr. Charles Corson and Dr. Patrick Flanagan of Glendale, Calif., contend their system could also result in substantial equipment and supply savings for farmers because fertilizers and chemical stimulants may be eliminated completely.

The scientists call their method the Electronic Crop Stimulation System (ECSS). And they say tests on crops in Indiana, Michigan and Ohio have shown faster germination, improved root structure and greater resistance to adverse weather.

Corson and Flanagan say their three-step system employs an electro catalytic seed stimulant to coat corn and soybean seeds. The seeds are then exposed to a negative ion field, and a high energy electro catalytic formula is used as an irrigation drip-spray.

The doctors tested corn and soybean crops on 1,300 acres in the three Midwest states.

They contend results show up to 100 per cent faster seed germination on seeds where all three steps were used. But the scientists also say better seed germination results are shown even where the treatment is only partially applied.

Some of the test results show electronically treated corn stalks bearing two to four well-developed ears instead of the average one ear per stalk, the doctors said. Soybean crops have shown 100 per cent more yield than control plantings, the scientists reported, and wheat treated with their system has also shown an increase in the number of shoots sprouted.

Play Rattles Town Skeletons

WALLINGFORD, Conn. (AP) — There's a dark corner of Wallingford history that some townspeople don't like to talk about, much less celebrate in an official bicentennial musical comedy.

But it appears the show will go on, despite criticisms that a 19th Century free-love commune is not a fitting subject for a Bicentennial play.

"From what I've heard, it sounds kind of neat," said the Rev. Michael Jackson, associate pastor of the First Congregational Church, which 200 years ago excommunicated a respected member for embracing the commune.

The play, written by 19-year-old college student James Beloff of Meriden, portrays the church's opposition to the Wallingford Community, a branch of the Oneida, N.Y. commune. What so shocked the church and the town was the commune's rejection of the conventional husband-wife relationship. Instead, members were part of a "complex" marriage in which members could make love to others in the group. They also believed in breeding the "best" males with the "best" females.

Sexual conduct of this sort is still light years ahead of Wallingford's population in 1976, but most residents appear ready at least to see a play that goes beyond George Washington and the Stars and Stripes. The play, "Two Sides of Heaven," will be presented Sept. 12-14.

At its peak, the commune had 80 members in 1876 and sustained itself through a printing business and light manufacturing. It was considered industrious but none-the-less heretical.

The 21st amendment to the Constitution, repealing prohibition, was ratified Dec. 5, 1933.

No Injuries In Train Derailment

WEATHERFORD, Okla. (AP)—No one was injured Sunday when the caboose and three cars of a Rock Island Lines freight train derailed here, tearing up about five blocks of track, officials said.

Railroad officials said other train traffic would bypass the derailment site.

PROGRAMMED AGAINST BIG SHOWS

Some Of New TV Series Are Sacrificial Lambs

EDITOR'S NOTE — It's that time of year again, when the new TV shows are trotted out ... well, like lambs to slaughter. At least, experience shows, death will be the fate of many of them. And for some, oddly enough, it matters less how good they are, than when they're shown.

By LEE MARGULIES
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Another television season is nearly here and, as always, a few new series seem to have been given the kiss of death by the networks.

Beyond the usual problems that any new series faces in finding the right chemistry of concept, actors and scripts in a relatively short period of time, some new offerings are in a hole even before their wares can be displayed because they are scheduled against some of last season's top hits.

In a sense, these series are sacrificial lambs. Something had to be programmed against the big shows, and they were chosen. It happens every year.

Take NBC's "The Montefuscos" and CBS's "Big Eddie" for example.

Both half-hour comedies are scheduled to begin at 8 p.m., "The Montefuscos" on Thursdays and "Big Eddie" on Fridays, meaning they are the first network programs of the evening and don't have big draws preceding them.

"The Montefuscos," about a warm and loving family, is up against a well known warm and loving family on CBS, "The Waltons." And "Big Eddie" must take on NBC's powerhouse, "Sanford and Son."

"It can be depressing working 18 hours a day knowing that if you were going in following a big hit you'd have a better shot," says Sam Denoff, who created and is producing both new comedies with partner Bill Persky.

"Now it's complete darkness. There's no way of knowing what the audience will do."

Another prime example: "Switch!" — an hour-long drama featuring elaborate cons rather than violence to get their job accomplished.

Universal Studios, which is making "Switch," spent more than $250,000 of its own money on the 90-minute pilot film and is bolstering the CBS budget by roughly $50,000 per episode.

The stars and production team have been putting in 15-hour days during the hot summer months to make it go.

Yet the network has set "Switch!" for 9 p.m. on Tuesdays, pitting the newcomer against two very strong incumbents which also are in the same law-and-order genre — "The Rookies" on ABC and "Police Story" on NBC.

And its "lead-in" — the program immediately preceding it — is not a successful veteran with an established audience but rather another new series, "Joe and Sons," a situation comedy about a blue collar worker raising his two teen-age sons.

This scheduling has prompted at least one New York advertising agency to hedge on its endorsement of "Switch!" for commercial-buying clients.

"If the people find it," the agency report states, "it will work."

They'll find it, maintains Glen A. Larson, creator and executive producer of "Switch!"

He readily admits he would rather see the show in other surroundings but, with typical preseason enthusiasm, claims it can still pull an upset.

"I'm not that dissatisfied with where we are," says Larson, who also is executive producer of "McCloud." "It's a rough spot, but I think we're riding a good horse."

Larson, Denoff and everyone else in the TV business knows very well that the odds are against any new show surviving. On the average, only one of three new TV series sees more than one year of life.

Thus it is a forgone conclusion that of the 26 series debuting on the three networks in a few weeks, probably no more than 10 of them will be back a year from now, and maybe a lot fewer.

Many will be gone by January. Replacement series already are in development.

What distresses the people involved is the thought that their shows — the result of the efforts of scores of hard working individuals and the investment of hundreds of thousands of dollars — might be canceled without the chance to demonstrate how they'd perform in other, less competitive situations.

Lois Lane Is Not Forgotten

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Look! It's a housewife. It's a former actress. It's Noel Neill, who played Lois Lane through most of television's Superman series.

"I'm really flattered that people still remember me after all this time," said Miss Neill as youngsters and adults crowded around her this weekend to get autographs at a science fiction convention. The convention's guest of honor said she began getting requests for appearances about two years ago.

"I read some place that 'the present tense makes the past perfect,' and I guess that's as good an explanation as any for it," said Miss Neill, now middle-aged and without the pillbox hat or tailored tweed suit that were Lois Lane's trademarks.

Miss Neill, now "just a housewife" in Santa Monica, Calif., withstood the affections of Clark Kent, chased Superman through Metropolis and got in and out of numerous messes with cub reporter Jimmy Olson during 76 shows.

"I wasn't TV's first Lois Lane," she said. "Another actress had the part through the first 26 episodes. I'm told she made the part much tougher."

When the Superman series was filmed in the mid-1950s, no one imagined that 20 years later there would by any interest in the show, Miss Neill said.

"It was a low-budget production," she said. "We shot two episodes a week ... We didn't really rehearse.

"Of course, so many of the plots were the same ... Jack Larson (Jimmy Olson) and I used to joke with each other 'Wonder where we're going to get tied up this time.'"

Up With Equal Rights! Give Groom a Shower

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: This might sound crazy, but how come people don't give showers for men who are getting married? Brides get linen showers, kitchen showers, lingerie showers, and all kinds of showers. But grooms never get anything.

Women are now screaming for equal rights, so how about giving men equal rights? A man who's about to be married could use some new pajamas, shirts, underwear, and even spark plugs and fan belts.

Well, Abby, what do you say?

FOR EQUAL RIGHTS

DEAR FOR: I'm all for it. But where have you been? Not long ago I published a letter from a man whose wife left him and took everything; so his pals at work gave him a shower to help set him up in housekeeping. Bravo!

DEAR ABBY: I am a 39-year-old woman who is engaged to a wonderful man, age 40. He has three fine children and has been a widower for two years. He is very clean cut, considerate, and I think I'm the luckiest woman in the world.

Now, my problem: He frequently says, "my wife," when referring to his deceased wife. I think he should call her his late wife. Also, he is very close to his late wife's parents and he refers to them as his "in-laws." Are they not his "former in-laws"?

Am I being small-minded, jealous and unreasonable to feel as I do, or am I justified? I want to be fair. I certainly don't want to damage our relationship, but this one habit of his is driving me up a wall.

Is this worth mentioning?

NEEDS SOME WISDOM

DEAR NEEDS: Anything that drives you up a wall is well worth mentioning. But first you must realize that his former in-laws will always be a part of his family because they are his children's grandparents; so don't demand that he refer to them as "my former in-laws." But do tell him that he'd better start referring to his late wife as just that because you will be his wife soon.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think a grandmother has to baby-sit with grandchildren who are disobedient and disrespectful?

I have two married sons who each have two little boys—all under 10. The sons of one family are a pleasure to be with. They are well-mannered and obedient, and I love sitting with them either at my own home or at theirs.

The sons of the other family are just the opposite. The boys are mouthy, rude, and they actually abuse me. I don't even want them in my home because they are so wild and destructive.

I have flatly refused to baby-sit for the boys who give me a hard time, and now I am being criticized by the whole family.

Do you think I should treat ALL my grandchildren alike when they behave differently? And am I wrong to favor those who are mannerly and cooperative?

CRITICIZED

DEAR CRITICIZED: Turn a deaf ear to the criticism. I'm with you.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

Vandalism At Dam Probed

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Wildlife officials are trying to figure out who cut 11 floodgate shafts at the Lake Bistineau Dam causing at least $100,000 in damages.

The vandalism was discovered a short time after the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries Commission announced Thursday that it was going to open the dam to lower the water level seven feet to kill off a heavy weed growth.

Commissioner Don Wille said yesterday that the announcement triggered angry telephone calls from commercial camp owners near the 17,200 acre lake which is midway between Shreveport and Monroe.

"I don't mean to imply that they are behind this," he said. "But regardless of who did it I can assure you it was some kind of conspiracy."

He said he thinks up to 20 persons may have banded together and hired someone expert with a blowtorch. He said the shafts were cut into neat, five foot sections.

The damage will not prevent the commission from raising the gates manually, Wille said. There's only one problem; once they're up they can't be lowered without the shafts.

Wille said the commission will meet Tuesday to consider what to do. The lake is now under 24-hour guard.

Lake Bistineau was to have been lowered Sept. 2 and held there until Jan. 10, 1976 when the water level would be raised to its normal level.

The weeds threaten to kill the lake and its fish population by sucking oxygen from the water. Wille said unless the weeds were exposed to sun and air and dried out the lake could be dead in five years.

The commission also plans to build a $60,000 research station on the lake, improve channel markings, and construct a $25,000 public boat ramp.

Liz, Burton Back In Switzerland

GSTAAD, Switzerland (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton are back in Switzerland from a trip together to Israel amid reports that they might remarry.

The Zurich newspaper Blick said Burton and Miss Taylor, who are enjoying a "permanent reconciliation" after 14 months of divorce, will wed again in nearby Saaren. Miss Taylor's secretary denied marriage was in the couple's plans.

Burton and Miss Taylor were in Israel looking at locations for Burton's next film. Miss Taylor, who converted to Judaism, said she hoped to return to Israel "many more times."

BEFORE JFK ASSASSINATION

FBI Reports Oswald Threatened Agent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI says Lee Harvey Oswald threatened an agent in a note he delivered several days before the assassination of John F. Kennedy, but that the visit was not reported and the note was destroyed.

And a former agent in the Dallas office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation theorizes that fear of then-director J. Edgar Hoover was the cause of the destruction of the letter.

Current Director Clarence J. Kelley said in statement Saturday that "inquiries to date establish that the note contained no reference to President Kennedy or in any way would have forewarned of the subsequent assassination."

Kelley said that a preliminary investigation suggests the note was destroyed shortly after the assassination on Nov. 23, 1963, and that previously no FBI records of the note or visit were kept.

The FBI said Oswald delivered the note to an agent in the FBI office in Dallas after the agent had visited Oswald's wife on Nov. 1, 1963, as part of an investigation. An unsuccessful second interview was attempted four days later.

Oswald was not present during the interview, which was reportedly broken off after Mrs. Oswald became frightened and because of her inability to speak English well.

The FBI visit to the Oswald home was described in the Warren Commission Report as part of a routine check on persons who had lived in Communist nations. Oswald, whom the commission cited as the lone assassin of Kennedy, lived in the Soviet Union in the early 1960s; his wife Marina was born there.

The FBI said it learned of the incident as a result of information provided by The Dallas Times Herald. Kelley said the investigation into possible criminal violations involved in the destruction of the note is continuing.

Oswald was not placed under surveillance following the delivery of the note, according to a copyright story by publisher Tom Johnson in Sunday editions of the Times Herald. The paper said the then director of the Dallas office of the FBI was unaware of the note and that the agent involved, James P. Hosty Jr., refused to comment.
