Repatriation Commission Deadlocked On Interviews

PWs' Persuasion Delayed Five Days

PANMUNJOM, Saturday, Sept. 26—UP— The five-nation Neutral Repatriation Commission is deadlocked over the issue of interviewing prisoners who refuse to go home, it was disclosed Friday.

As the result, the start of the attempt by United Nations and Communist indoctrination officers to persuade "stay behind" men to change their minds has been postponed "for not more than five days."

An Indian spokesman for the commission said the delay may be indefinite.

The dispute, the first serious one in the commission, concerns the issue whether the anti - repatriate prisoners including 23 Americans should be interviewed singly or in groups.

The "explanations," or discussions on why the men should return to their homeland, originally had been scheduled to start Friday, but the Communists called for a 24-hour delay.

Ask for Interviews

Then the Reds began clamoring for the right to interview each anti-Communist prisoner turned over to neutral Indian guards by the Allies.

Under terms of the Korean armistice, no date was set for the beginning of the "explanations," but it was stated clearly that the Indians may hold the men no longer than 90 days.

Allied authorities opposed the Communist plan to permit Red lecturers to interview prisoners individually because of fears the men might be badgered into returning to Red China or North Korea against their will.

The Communists made no move to accept the proposal for starting the questioning not later than five days from now.

AS CITIZENS CRINGE

German Demolition Experts Defuse World War II Bomb

NUERNBERG, Germany, Sept. 25 —UP—Two Germans disregarded death Friday and defused a two-ton unexploded bomb in the center of this silent city as 100,000 citizens cringed in cellars.

Demolition experts Erich Froderman and Richard Hesse deliberately gambled their lives as they squirmed into a narrow opening to unscrew three fuses from the biggest unexploded bomb found in post-war Germany.

The wailing of the wartime sirens sent residents of the endangered area scurrying for shelter with vivid memories of the destruction caused by explosion of a much smaller bomb in 1951.

In the weird silence that followed, the experts took the three-hour gamble and won. They reported their progress over an Army field telephone.

At 10:45 a.m. (3:45 a.m. cst) they said they had removed the last fuse and everyone left the cellars.

All communications with this historic city were cut when telephone operators abandoned their switchboards to seek shelter in nearby basements.

The central telephone office lies in the mile-square death zone threatened by the rusting, eight-year-old 4,000-pound British land mine dropped in the heart of the city in 1944 by the RAF.

Sweating U.S. soldiers and 200 German police with dogs kept inhabitants and would-be looters out of the roped-off area.

Explosive experts Erich Froderman and Richard Hesse worked desperately to remove the three fuses from the block-buster which is wedged between a cement block and brick wall.

Some 300,000 other Nuernbergers stopped work and listened nervously.

U. S. Army ambulances and bulldozers lined up putside the bomb area — just in case.

Live Cattle Shipment To Korea Asked

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 —UP— Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson's livestock advisory committee Friday asked the government to give "serious consideration" to the possibility of sending live cattle to Korea.

The 20-member group said the cattle shipments would help bolster skidding ranchers' prices and could be a part of the rehabilitation program for Korea.

The committee, which met at the Agriculture Department Thursday to talk over the cattle situation with department officials, also urged the Foreign Operations Administration to step up its shipments of beef to Germany and Greece.

A department press release on results of the meeting said the group "expressed appreciation" of the FOA's recent authorization of $10 million for the purchase of beef but urged that this amount be increased to not less than $40 million.

The group also turned thumbs down on a price support program as such for livestock despite recent requests for supports by individual cattlemen. It said federal purchases of cattle would "serve mainly to complicate the industry's current economic problems."

The committee said high price props on corn and other grain crops "aggravate" the livestock industry's problem.

Members believed the department's current beef purchase program would prove sufficient during the coming weeks when grass-fed cattle are seasonally sent to market.

Sam Hyatt, committee member and president of the American National Cattlemen's Association, said cattlemen will "soon be over the hump" with the help of the purchase program.

Hurricane Slaps Gulf Of Mexico

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 25 —UP— A powerful hurricane with winds up to 120 miles slammed northward in the Gulf of Mexico toward the rich U. S. Gulf Coast Friday, leaving at least two ships battered in its wake and threatening a number of others.

In a 9 a.m. cst, advisory, the New Orleans weather bureau ordered hurricane warnings posted from Mobile, Ala., to St. Marks, Fla.

"This is a severe hurricane," the weather bureau said.

The advisory said tides will be "dangerously high" Friday night from Mobile to Cedar Key, Fla.

Sixth of Season

The storm, sixth hurricane of the season and tagged "Florence" in the new naming system, was centered at 9 a.m. about 340 miles south of Mobile. It was moving northward at about 18 miles an hour.

"Highest winds are estimated at 120 miles an hour near the center with gale force winds extending two miles northeast and 100 miles south and west of center," the weather bureau said.

"Indications (are) for northward movement at about the same rate with a tendency to curve northnortheast within the next six to 12 hours."

The weather bureau said winds of hurricane force can be expected along the coast from Mobile to St. Marks Friday night.

Winds of 25 miles per hour already were kicking up tides along the Gulf Coast from Louisiana to Florida.

Oil Rigs Shut Down

Oil rigs in the rich oil fields off the Louisiana coast were closing down and companies were rushing their men toward shore.

The Magnolia Petroleum Co., at Morgan City, La., said all drilling barges have been brought in and operations shut down. Planes at Brookley Air Force Base near Mobile, Ala., were flown to inland fields.

Some of the 50 men aboard the barge were taken aboard the tug and rescuers were working against time to get the others off. They said easterly winds up to 25 miles per hour were kicking up waves in the area, hampering operations.

The tug and barge were engaged in pipe laying in the Gulf and are owned by Brown and Root, Inc. The Coast Guard said the barge became stuck in river mud when it tried to negotiate a turn.

Meanwhile, the Coast Guard said the 65-foot fishing trawler Kim Two had tossed off the barge Miss Campeche after rescuing three men on it and had reversed its course in an attempt to get out of the storm.

Earlier the Kim Two had been moving toward the Florida coast.

The tempest already had caught another trawler in its outer gales off the Florida keys and a Coast Guard cutter rushed to its aid. In earlier brushes with Caribbean shipping, the storm had damaged one larger vessel, a cargo ship, and had forced another to dump its cargo in order to reach a Jamaican port.

Japanese Typhoon Takes Toll Of 17

TOKYO, Sept. 23 —UP—American soldiers, sailors and Marines were ordered off Tokyo's streets Friday night as Typhoon "Tess" roared toward this nation's capital, leaving a toll of at least 17 dead.

The armed forces radio service sounded a "condition one" alert 90 minutes before the center of the churning storm was due to strike this sprawling city.

All military personnel were ordered to return to their billets and take shelter.

Police reported 17 persons are known dead and 80 have been injured so far in the worst storm to strike Japan in 19 years. Thirty others are reported missing.

Roofs have been lifted from houses, roads, bridges and homes have been damaged and giant trees have been toppled in sections of Japan which already have felt the typhoon's force.

Even before Typhoon Tess began its main assault, the United States Air Force base at Itami reported advance winds unroofed the gymnasium and a smaller building, bowled over trees and tied up road traffic. Itami is just north of Osaka.

The winds up to 100 miles an hour pounded the heavily populated Osaka-Kobe industrial area. Police and volunteer contsruction gangs worked feverishly to strengthen river dikes and sea walls against expected floods.

Weathermen said the typhoon, late in the season, was the biggest to hit Japan since the 1934 storm that took 1,000 lives.

Pampans, Trash Burned In 2 Fires

Two persons were burned and some trash was burned in Pampa's two fires over the last 24 hours.

Kenneth Haines, owner of Haines Floor Sanding Company, and his daughter, Marilyn, suffered face and arm burns about 2:30 p.m. Thursday in the home of Miss Josephine Thomas, 471 N. Hill, according to Fire Chief Ernest Winborne.

Cause of the fire, Winborne said, came from wall-furnace fumes which ignited from a mixture of gasoline and crack-filler that was being used at the time. There was little property damage.

A fire in the city's trash truck, operating in the 1000-block of West Frederic, was reported at 8:30 a.m. today, the chief added. There was no damage.

Prisoner Welcome Committee Meets

Final plans for a formal welcoming celebration for Pampa's two prisoners of war were expected to be made this afternoon at 3 o'clock at a meeting of the committee in charge of arrangements in the Chamber of Commerce offices, it was announced by Aubrey Jones, chairman.

Plans for the celebration, which will honor M. Sgt. James W. Hart and M. Sgt. Eugene Williams, have been set tentatively for Oct. 9, Jones said.

Meanwhile, Williams was reunited with his wife, Hilda, and their two children Thursday after spending nearly three years in a Chinese Communist prison camp in Korea.

Williams returned to his homeland Wednesday with 289 other ex-war prisoners aboard the transport General R. L. Howze in the final shipload of repatriates.

He and his family will remain in California for two or three weeks before starting their return trip to Pampa, informed sources said today.

Mr. and Mrs. Hart and their son, James, have gone to Breckenridge, where Mr. Hart is on an assignment for the Texas Company.

Cancer-Stricken Mother Dies After Fulfillment Of Wish

TULSA, Sept. 25 —UP—A cancer-stricken young mother died early Friday, happy in the fulfillment of her dearest wish—the birth of her baby.

Death came peacefully at 1:10 a.m. to Mrs. Colleen Alford, who has been suffering from an incurable cancer of the lymph glands for more than three years. She died at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Delma Bacon, where she had lived since leaving St. John's hospital a few weeks ago.

With her was black-haired Cleah Tonya Alford, not yet two months old, who was delivered prematurely by caesarian section because of the mother's condition.

"She thanked the Lord she was able to enjoy her baby in her final hours," said Mrs. Bacon. "That was the thing she had wanted most."

Before the birth of the baby, Mrs. Alford expressed a wish that she might have her baby in time for her 20th birthday. She celebrated the birthday two days after the five-pound girl was delivered, two months prematurely.

"We will have some happy hours," the mother said when she saw her baby. "She's so pretty. . . she's so pretty."

Mrs. Alford was the wife of an assembly worker at the Douglas aircraft plant here. She was a junior student at Holy Family Catholic school when she first began to feel tired and listless, and a mole appeared in the middle of her back. Doctors removed the mole, but were unable to determine its cause.

BLAMES COMIC BOOKS

Juvenile Blasts Father With Gun

PONTIAC, Mich., Sept. 25—UP— An 11-year-old boy who shot his father in the head told police Friday he got the idea from reading comic books.

The father, Robert W. Foster, 50, was reported in good condition at Pontiac General Hospital. Doctors said the bullet creased his skull.

Foster's son, Ronald, told police he plotted "to blast my father" because he believed a spanking he received three weeks ago was unjustified.

"I got the idea from comic books," the boy said.

Ronald and his 10-year-old sister, Lana May, unfolded the plot before Oakland County Prosecutor Fred Ziem.

Lana May said her brothers first threatened to shoot her Thursday unless she telephoned their father at work and asked him to rush home because she felt ill. Ronald hid behind some furniture and waited.

Ronald said his sister "put on a pretty good act" when she phoned.

When Foster approached the house, Lana May ran into the yard and warned him to stop. But the father kept coming and Ronald fired one shot from his .22 caliber rifle.

"I saw my father fall on the grass," Ronald said. "Then I locked the front door and ran out the back door through the woods."

When he ran away, Ronald said he believed his father was dead. When asked later if he were glad to learn his father still was alive, the boy replied, "yeah."

U. S. Experts Ask Allies Get Tough

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25—UP— Many U.S. authorities were applying pressure behind the scenes Friday to get the Allies to take a tougher stand in the wrangle with the Communists over makeup of the Korean peace conference.

Some experts believe the Allies already have made so many conciliatory gestures that the Reds have been getting the best of the pre-conference jockeying.

The central issue in the dispute is the Communist demand and the Allied refusal to make the conference a round-table rather than two-sided affair by inviting "neutral" nations to participate.

In a shift of tactics this week, the United States announced that the Allies would be willing to discuss the issue "at once" in direct talks with the Chinese and North Korean Communists.

Purpose of the action was in question because the United States has been arguing that the presence of neutrals not only would be unwise but an outright violation of the truce agreement which called for a two-sided conference.

French Give Peace Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Sept. 25 —UP—France assured Soviet Russia Friday that the European defense community is aimed at preventing the revival of German militarism and offered to join in "supplementary guarantees" including one against the modification by force of existing boundaries.

Maurice Schumann, France's deputy foreign minister, gave the assurance directly to Soviet Chief Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky at a meeting of the UN General Assembly.

Schumann also joined the list of UN members in holding that the "unification of Korea may be sought only by pacific means" — an assurance to the Communist countries against support of any attack by President Syngman Rhee on North Korea.

Schumann spoke after Paris dispatches reported that the French government was ready to offer the Kremlin formal guarantees against any revival of German militarism and against any German attempt to restore by force its pre-World War II frontiers.

"I should like, Mr. Vishinsky, to avail myself of the opportunity. . . to tell you, in all candor, the feelings of a country which has not forgotten the immense sacrifices by which, only a few years ago, your pepole contributed to the common victry," Schumann said.

If Russia's intentions are good, he said, "what have you to fear from the policy of European organization initiated by France?"

Oklahoman Dies In Auto Crash

PANHANDLE, Tex., Sept. 25 —UP—Dr. William C. McClure, 43, of Oklahoma City, was killed Thursday night when his car went off the highway, overturned and hit a tree five miles east of Amarillo Air Force Base on U.S. Highway 66.

McClure was alone in the car at the time of the accident. His body was taken to Poston funeral home here.

Dials Scheduled In Thirty Days

Exactly a month from today and Pampa residents will be dialing their phone numbers.

And they'll have new directories with the new numbers, too.

For delivery of the new directories is scheduled to get underway Oct. 19 and be completed Oct. 23 — just in time for the cutover to dial at midnight Oct. 24, according to George Newberry, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company manager.

Work on the installation of the local dial system is slated to be finished Oct. 3 and turned over to local phone company officials.

Cabot Chemist Speaks Today

Impressions and ideas of German and American customs were scheduled to be discussed by Otto Specht, chemist with the Cabot Companies here, at the luncheon meeting of the Pampa Kiwanis club today in the basement of the First Methodist church.

Specht, who came to Pampa from Germany recently, also was to give a comparison between the American and Russian exchange student systems, according to Clinton Evans, club president.

Cops Assigned Smelly Job

STURGEON BAY, Wis., Sept. 25 —UP—The big-hearted Sturgeon Bay police department gave in Friday and agreed to dispose of 32 dead skunks.

In a way, it was only right since the policemen killed the animals in an attempt to halt an unexplained skunk invasion of Sturgeon Bay.

Police Chief Roman Londo ordered his officers to attack the animals from the rear with shotguns, explaining:

"A shotgun in the proper hands aimed at the rear of a skunk gives the animal no opportunity to return the fire."

Chief Londo insisted, for a time, that some other city department dispose of the dead skunks on the grounds that the policemen's only duty was to kill them.

The city street department, however, answered that its traditions did not include skunks.

The garbage collectors pointed to their contract which indicated that a skunk is "not garbage until properly packaged."

American Families Stunned By POWs

By UNITED PRESS

A Communist broadcaster in Peiping read 23 names—and broke the hearts of a handful of stunned American families.

Angry disbelief was the most common reaction of the families of the American prisoners of war the Reds identified as the men who came into Panmunjom Wednesday singing the "Internationale" and refusing repatriation.

But some sorrowing parents accepted the unconfirmed Communist identification as true, although they clung stubbornly to the hope that the men would change their minds.

Mrs. Portia Howe of Alden, Minn. mother of Pfc. Richard R. Tennesson, 20, said she has contacted American authorities about the possibility of sending the POW a tape recording, pleading that he reject communism.

Had Hard Knocks

"I'm sure that if Richard could hear our voices and know that we are all right and want him to come home, it would impress him," she said.

Some of the men on the list had suffered hard knocks in their young lives. Take the case of a GI from Detroit, reported to be a Bronze Star winner.

His mother was identified as a "Skid Row bum" who couldn't be reached for comment, his sister was in a Catholic home for wayward girls, his brother was in jail for armed robbery and his father was dead.

Disciplinary Measures May Face Prisoners

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 —UP— Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson has ruled that American war prisoners may face disciplinary action if "sympathetic" investigation shows they made false confessions or informed on their buddies too readily.

In a statement Thursday night, Wilson ordered a middle course between the Army's lenient and the Marines' tough policy toward POWs who succumbed to Communist pressures.

Although Americans have sympathy for "those who suffered" at the hands of the Communists, the secretary said "we do not as a general principle condone" those who confessed falsely or added to the misery of their fellow prisoners.

Didn't Explain Term

"Such cases will be carefully and sympathetically examined by the services concerned," he declared, "to ascertain whether in any of them there has been an unreasonable failure to measure up to the standard of individual conduct which is expected even of a prisoner of war or deviations from standards of behavior prescribed by law."

Wilson did not explain what would be considered "unreasonable failure." Presumably included would be cases in which POWs cooperated with the Communists to receive favored treatment rather than because they were forced.

Chinese Signs Aid Pedestrians

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 25—UP —Police erected two bright yellow traffic signs bearing Chinese characters to warn Chinatown residents against jaywalking at the corner of Grant Avenue and Broadway.

Several Chinese crossing the intersection translated the signs as reading:

"Do not cross street from here."

"Do not go this way."

"Not allowde to go through."

"Pedestrians do not cross."

As soon as the Chinese had translated the signs, they joined the rest of the pedestrians in jaywalking across the street.

Japanese Aircraft Industry Has Strategic Value For U. S.

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The U.S. Air Force and American aircraft companies are suddenly interested in the revival of the Japanese aircraft industry.

Air Force officials now see it as the only hope of ever being able to pull their forces out of Japan for use at other danger spots around the world. They believe the only way the Japanese government will get its own independent air force is from a reborn Japanese aircraft industry.

Further, Air Force brass thinks a strong aircraft industry in the Far East with close ties to the American industry, and partially integrated with it, has great strategic value.

New markets and cheap labor are among the interests of the U.S. aviation firms.

And the U.S. State Department is happy about the situation. Anything which will increase Japanese prosperity and help that country to rearm itself is implementing American foreign policy there.

The Korean war is what first opened everyone's eyes to the tremendous potential of the Japanese aircraft industry. The Air Force gave out numerous maintenance contracts and found that the Japanese were excellent workers and learned new techniques quickly.

Practically all of the aircraft firms which had planes flying in the Korean theater also participated in setting up large maintenance and repair operations using Japanese facilities and manpower.

Salvaged Damaged Planes

North American Aviation, Inc., makers of the F-86 Sabres, for instance, discovered that it was profitable to use Japanese labor to repair damaged planes which would ordinarily have been scrapped.

North American today is one of the big firms making plans for extending its use of Japanese facilities and personnel. So is Lockheed. Even with the air combat ended by the truce, Air Force planes will contiue to be operating over the vast Far East, requiring maintenance and repair work.

Every American pilot who flew against Jap planes during World War II has a healthy respect for them. And although the industry which produced them took terrific bombing from U.S. planes, a surprisingly large part of it remains intact today.

At the end of the occupation, 314 usable aircraft plants were returned to the Japanese government. The four big Japanese aircraft manufacturers, Mitsubishi, Nakajima, Kawasaki and Kawanishi, are also practically intact, with lines on most of their former skilled employees. Also, there are hundreds of machine tools available to aid a rebirth of the industry, a recent Air Force survey reveals. Many of the machines were salvaged from bombed plants.

Most of the recent activity of American firms interested in moving into Japan has been kept very hush-hush, apparently for competitive reasons. But there have been public announcements of several deals already closed.

The Beech Aviation Co. has sold production rights for one of its models to the Fuju Heavy Industry Co. The Fletcher Aviation Co. of California has made a similar deal with the Toyo Aircraft Co. The Pratt & Whitney engine company is in negotiation with Mitsubishi for the possible manufacture of jet engine parts. And Bell Aircraft has completed negotiations with the Kawasaki firm for licensing the manufacture of its helicopters.

Not Without U.S. Help

Revival of the Japanese aircraft industry completely independent of a lot of American help isn't very likely. Research, development and production techniques have advanced so rapidly in the past few years it would be difficult for Jap firms to catch up without a great deal of technical assistance from the U.S.

The most ambitious independent effort is the Japan Jet Engine Company, an outfit started by a combine of four Japanese aircraft firms and partly financed by the Japanese government. It hopes to produce engines for smaller planes.

An Air Force expert says that if present facilities and personnel were used most efficiently Japan could produce a total of 600 jet engines per month.

To help further the total effort to get the Japanese aircraft industry back on its feet the Air Force has brought many Japanese engineers and production men to the U.S. to learn America know-how. This has been done with State Department and industry approval. Under study also are other means of speeding the attempts of the Japanese plane makers to get back into business in a big way.

Samia's Costumes In Demand During King's Auction

HOUSTON, Sept. 25 —UP— Scanty costumes worn by belly-dancer Samia Gamal were the "hottest" items on the block as an auction of the estate of Sheppard W. (Abdullah) King's late mother moved into its second day Thursday.

But a buyer of one of the flimsy costumes, which she could carry away in her purse, complained it "left a rather large amount of overexposure" and said she would "add a bit of material" to it before turning over to her daughter, a dancing instructor.

The costumes, left at the King home by Samia when she returned to her native Egypt last summer, were included among pieces of art and furniture belonging to the late Mrs. Annie Bonner King, who died last February.

A "standing room only" crowd, mostly women, was on hand for the auction opening at the Samuel Hart Galleries here Thursday and a similar crowd showed up today for a chance to bid at some of the King treasures.

They included a piano on which Chopin allegedly composed some of his most beautiful pieces. It brought only $275, and then only when a woman from the crowd volunteered to play it so the crowd could see it actually worked.

A sterling, five-piece tea and coffee service brought $360, a Queen Anne highboy, $350, and an 11-piece dining suite, $110. But a huge "grandfather's clock" didn't get a bid.

TOO MUCH SERVICE—This diner in a Berlin restaurant received more service than he bargained for when he called for a waiter. The help is in training for the annual Waiters' Race, and tables and chairs make an ideal obstacle training course for waiters.

New Orleans Experiment Due To Clean Up Slum Sections

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 25—UP—This is a city of contrasts.

In the morning I had a look at some new buildings for those who could afford them. They ran from around $6,900 on up to what the heavy traffic would bear. They were fine houses, with sodded lawns, landscaping, ready - made trees and pictures on the wall.

That was fine for "them as has," as the saying goes.

But, in the afternoon, in a crumby, slum section it was something else again. There were two-unit shanties that have not been touched by a paint brush in half a century, if ever. There was no running water in most. Toilets were out in the open. There were no murals about and a lot of the miserable dumps were without electricty.

Shed Some Tears

The latter inspection was enough to make strong men weep. A couple of the more tender characters on our tour shed a few.

But New Orleans is starting to do something that should have been done a couple of hundred years ago. The city is among several that are out to show the rest of the nation that poor folk can live like people. It's a kind of a guinea pig operation, really, and the sponsors, the National Association of Manufacturers, hope the idea will catch on.

It's a colossal deal that won't be done in five minutes.

But the spade work has been completed—here at least — and the effort is community-wide.

Give Material, Cash

There is something underway in the horrible poor section of this old southern town that may touch it off. Everybody is getting into the act. The home-builders are providing labor to rehabilitate a number of tumble-down shacks. Lumber yards are providing for free the wood that is needed. Paint dealers are giving the paint.

Each builder is kicking in with $1,000 cash.

The program is in its infancy, and from here on out it will be up to the owners. They wil get encouragement to help give these poor people a decent dwelling and rid themselves of rats, vermin and poor sanitary facilities. The New Orleans city council is behind the move and Mayor DeLesseps Morrison is working overtime to do his bit. So is the chamber of commerce and a citizen's committee.

Rents in the unlivable and unbelievable dwellings have been running aroud $15 per unit a month. That will have to be more than doubled. The tenants say they do not mind. They will be glad, they say, to have a light on, a tub to bathe in, and a decent yard in which to tether the pup.

It won't be plush, but at least it will be better living.

Lawmen Stop Adlai

PONTIAC, Ill., Sept. 25—UP—Two alert state patrolmen halted a new automobile for a routine check Thursday when they noticed the car had no license plates.

Adlai E. Stevenson, the driver, said he had just bought the car and had applied for the license plates. The unsuccessful Democratic presidential candidate of 1952 was permitted to continue.

News In Balance

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press Foreign Analyst

The week's balance sheet between the good and bad news in the hot and cold wars:

THE GOOD

1. From two distant points on either side of the globe came further evidence this week of the seething unrest behind Iron Curtain. Dr. Marek S. Korowicz, who until he suddenly asked asylum in the United States was a member of the Polish delegation to the United Nations, said 95 per cent of the Polish people are opposed to the Communist regime. A young North Korean pilot zoomed into Kimpo airport outside Seoul and delivered a shiny MIG-15 jet fighter to the UN Command. He said he did not know that $100,000 had been offered for delivery of such a plane, but he did know his people were "confused and unhappy."

2. The Red high command in East Germany showed signs of confusion. Communist prestige, badly shaken by the June 17 uprisings, was damaged further by the West German elections which showed a strong feeling toward alignment with the United States and the West. Red labor policy in East Germany has gyrated from hard to soft to hard again.

3. The European army plan, a keystone of United States policy in Europe, received a boost from two unexpected quarters. The formerly aloof British said they would sit in on the cabinet that would control the army, and the French Socialists promised tenatively to vote for it in the French Assembly.

THE BAD

1. Evidence mounted that the Reds want no real settlement of the Korean problem. The North Korean pilot who delivered the jet to UN officers at Kimpo this week said the Reds were stocking Korean airfields with bombers and jet fighters and expected the war to resume. In the UN, Russian delegate Andrei Vishinsky stalled with new demands for UN debate on the make-up of the Korean political conference.

2. In Red-Controlled Poland, the Communists climaxed the espionage trial of Roman Catholic Bishop Czeslaw Kaczmarek, three priests and a nun with guilty verdicts for all.

3. In New Delhi, Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru continued a series of bitter attacks against the United States. He accused the United States of obstructing Asian representation and aspirations in the UN, and he also attacked again U. S. opposition to the seating of Red China in the UN. He said the Chinese Nationalist government represents only the island of Formosa, and "how much of that it represents, I don't know."

STUDYING FREEDOM'S LANGUAGE—A youth who fought for the Chinese Reds in Korea and who was captured by UN troops, studies his English lesson in a class conducted by Pvt. George Jelinek, of Ulysses Neb. The POW is one of many who hope to join Nationalist Chinese forces on Formosa after renouncing their former allegiance.

Army's Libraries Won't Have Kinsey

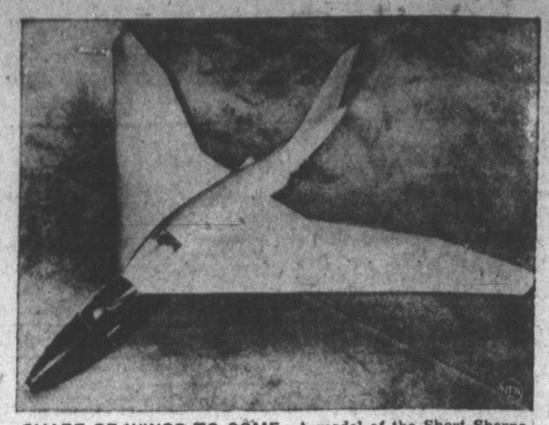

FRANKFURT, Germany, Sept. 25—UP— The U. S. Army said Thursday it is not placing Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey's book "Sexual Behavior in the Human Female" in its 203 special service libraries because the subject matter "is not of general interest" to GIs.

Clerks in Army book shops said the generals ignored the facts of life because the Kinsey report is an all-time best-seller at news and bookstands where the GI can order his personal copy.

"The Kinsey book will not be placed on library shelves because it was not thought to be of general interest to GIs," a spokesman said.

GIs asked to comment replied merely:

"Nuts."

SHAPE OF WINGS TO COME—A model of the Short Sherpa, a new British experimental plane, was shown in London. Powered by two jet engines, the plane is expected to influence the construction of wing shapes for high altitude aircraft. The plane's name was probably inspired by Sherpa Tensing, who climbed Mt. Everest on this summer's British expedition.

Killer To Hear Court Sentence

CANANDAIGUA, N. Y., Sept. 25—UP—Fred Eugene McManus, 19-year-old Marine who killed five persons, will hear from a judge Saturday whether he must die in the electric chair or go to prison for life.

Justice H. Douglass Van Duser said he would pass sentence at 8 a.m. cst Saturday on the Valley Stream, N. Y., youth who was convicted in Ontario county court Thursday of first degree murder.

A jury of ten men and two women returned its verdict at 12:10 p.m., about 27 hours after it retired to deliberate. The jury recommended that the handsome dark-haired youth be sentenced to life imprisonment.

Without such recommendation the death sentence would be automatic upon conviction. Van Duser is empowered to accept or reject the recommendation, although the latter course is seldom taken by a judge.

McManus, who pleaded innocent by reason of insanity, was tried specifically for the slaying last March 27 of William Braverman, a 19-year-old Hobart College student from Rochester, N.Y. He stole Braverman's red convertible and went on to kill four other persons in a five-day holdup spree through the Midwest.

The destructive gypsy moth was brought to America from France in 1869 for the purpose of crossing it with the silkworm.

A proclamation issued July 17, 1917, changed the name of the English royal house from Hanover to Windsor.

Rogers Favors Beef Support

Rep. Walter Rogers deals with livestock and law in this week's newsletter from Amarillo.

"The grass roots clamor for action by the government to stabilize the cattle market," the congressman says, "is beginning to bear fruit."

Pointing out that U.S. Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson had called a meeting of his Livestock Advisory Committee this week, Rogers declared that "it was the opinion of many, including myself, that the department should have moved into the livestock market several months ago."

Realizing that though Benson has the authority to place supports under cattle, "it is well-known that he does not subscribe to such a policy," the Pampa representative states:

"If cattle are to be supported, Congress will have to develop the basic support program." Whatever action Benson takes, he continues, must be bold and firm. "Wishy-washy procedures entered into with reluctance will not solve this problem—they will only cost the President will not make a politmoney."

In the matter of appointing a new Chief Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, Rogers hopes that the President will not make a political appointment.

"I hope that he will appoint some able jurist with wide experience in the judicial system," he says, pointing out that the Supreme Court is "supposed to be the balance wheele in our government.

Shivers To Back Teacher Pay Hike

AUSTIN, Sept. 25 —UP— Dr. J.W. Edgar, state commissioner of education, Friday had a pledge from Gov. Allan Shivers for full co-operation in seeking a solution to the teacher pay raise issue.

The 25-member education committee met Monday to seek ways of raising the teacher pay scale. It asked Shivers and President R. L. Proffer of the Texas State Teachers Association to name a sub-committee to continue the study.

"I will be happy to join with President Proffer in appointing the sub-committee, or, for that matter, do anything else that would be helpful," Shivers said in a letter to Edgar.

The governor and the TSTA clashed during the 53rd Legislature over the pay raise issue. The lawmakers approved a bill calling for $600-a-year pay boosts, but the measure died for lack of funds.

DELAYED

the fate of 3,421 missing Allied war prisoners, including 958 Americans.

Clark dispatched a new note to the Reds, demanding in the straightforward language of a tough soldier the return of the missing men or a satisfactory explanation of what happened to them.

The United Nations Far Eastern commander called the Red "knownothing" reply to his first demand as "wholly unacceptable."

Some Fliers Held

Communist spokesmen had admitted the Reds were holding American fliers charged with being shot down over "neutral" Manchuria but tried to dismiss the list of missing men produced by the UN as "crudely manufactured propaganda."

Clark's new note emphasized the list had been documented from letters written by prisoners, broadcasts made by the missing men, names broadcast by the Reds, and eyewitness reports by captives returning to freedom in "Operation Big Switch."

"As the commander in chief of the United Nations Command, I demand the immediate return of those United Nations Command personnel remaining in your hands, and an honest accounting of all others who have been so clearly identified as having been in your custody," Clark's note said.

Says All Accounted For

Wilfrid Burchett, Communist correspondent for the Paris newspaper, L'Humanite, gave Allied newsmen an unofficial reply to the new note before the Red command began studying the message.

The Australian - born unofficial Communist spokesman said there were no more American prisoners being held in North Korea.

"There might be some in Manchuria," he said.

The Red newsman said all of the war prisoners had been returned to the Allies with the exception of the 23 Americans, one Briton and 335 South Koreans who refused repatriation.

First Methodists Hold Rally Day

This Sunday is Promotion and Rally day at the First Methodist Church. All departments of the children's division will hold promotion exercises during the Church School hour, according to Roy Johnson, minister of music and education.

A special Rally day program, "Take A Look," will be presented at 10:55 a.m., with Joe Wells, Church school superintendent, presiding. Dr. T. M. Johnston, pastor, will conduct a recognition service for all workers at the same service.

In addition to the special services, the church will celebrate the 47th anniversary of the organization of the church in 1906. Dr. Johnston will speak on "Living up to Life" at the 7:30 p.m., service.

Promotion Day At First Christian

Promotion day will be observed at the First Christian Church here Sunday, according to the Rev. Richard W. Crews, minister.

All parents are urged to bring their children so they might participate in the special service in the church school. There will be no general assembly of the Sunday School, he said, as each department will have its own Promotion day programs.

Sunday, Oct. 4, will be rally day and an attendance goal of 430 has been set for the church school.

Caress Funeral Set In Shamrock

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Funeral services for Lloyd (Buck) Caress, who died of injuries received in a California automobile accident, will be conducted Saturday at 11 a.m. at the First Baptist Church here, with the Rev. James O. Todd, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in the McLean cemetery under direction of Richardson Funeral Home.

The victim's body was scheduled to arrive in Shamrock today at noon.

Mr. Caress, who died in a San Bernardino, Calif., hospital, was injured on Sept. 3 when the automobile he was driving overturned on a nearby mountain road.

Four PHS Students Perform For Lions

A Pampa Lions Club program of four Pampa High School students, gotten together at the last moment, was termed by Acting President Ed Myatt as "one of the finest the club has ever had."

Club Pianist Jackie Robertson; her sister, Joannie; and James Pippen and Jimmy Bond, Pampa Harvester regulars, comprised the program Thursday noon at the weekly meeting of the club.

In rapid order came a song solo by Joannie; a duet with Joannie and Bond; a solo by Bond; a takeoff on Sam Spade by Pippen; and—for a finale—a hymn by all four of them.

A new member was admitted to the club. He is John Evans, 311 N. West, new principal of B. M. Baker School.

Bozarth Rites Slated Saturday

Last rites for Almon T. Bozarth, 83, of 737 N. Nelson, have been slated for 2 p.m. Saturday in the Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home chapel with Dr. Douglas E. Nelson, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, officiating.

A resident of Pampa for the last five years, Mr. Bozarth died Tuesday night in the Morgan Convalescent Home, Claude, whhere he had been a patient for the last 21 months.

Following Pampa services, the body will be sent to Carmen, Okla., for further services and burial Sunday afternoon.

Student Council Named At Lefors

LEFORS — (Special) — The Lefors High School student council was elected recently to serve during the 1953-54 school year.

Alfred Bennett, president, was elected last spring by ballot of the entire High School, and R. J. Wooten, vice-president, Marilyn Mullins, secretary; and Johnny Rowe, treasurer, were elected recently by the council.

Those elected to represent each class were: Hugh Braly, senior; R. J. Wooten, junior; Johnnie Rowe, sophomore; and Darlene Ford, freshman.

Seniors Carolyn Maples and Jackie Chisum, and juniors Eddy Clemmons and Marilyn Mullins were elected by the entire High School.

The Council, sponsored by Principal G. N. Mounger, will operate the candy booth during the lunch hour, direct the intramurals, and carry on various other activities for the student body.

Recently they held an election to choose a new School song. The new song "All Hail Lefors High School," composed by last year's band director, Mr. Desmond Brewer, won over the traditional "Taps" by a large majority.

Soviet Offered New Guarantees

PARIS, Sept. 25 —UP— France has decided to offer the Kremlin "formal new guarantees" against any possibility of a revival of German militarism, authoritative sources said Friday.

The decision was made in an effort to get the Soviet Union to agree to real negotiations for ending the cold war, these sources said.

According to the informants, the French cabinet approved the project and said it would be announced shortly by the French delegation to the United Nations General Assembly in New York.

French Premier Joseph Laniel and Foreign Minister Georges Bidault worked out the plan which, the sources said, would offer the Russians a chance of joining the French informal pacts aimed at stopping any revision of the present German frontiers by force.

The sources said the French project had these aims:

1. It gives the lie to Soviet propaganda charges that the European defense community (EDC) has aggressive designs.

2. It responds to the "neutralist" and other anti-European army segments of French public opinion who claim the EDC will lead to West German domination of Europe.

3. It replies to voiced Russian fears that Germany may at some future date spearhead a western movement against the Soviet sphere.

Victim's Body Sent To Arizona

The body of Kee C. Sosie, 40, of Keams Canyon, Ariz., killed Saturday night by a car as he was walking along the Amarillo highway near Kingsmill, this morning was on the way by train to Gallup N. M.

According to Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home officials, the body was put aboard the 8:35 a.m. train and last rites and burial will be held in his home town.

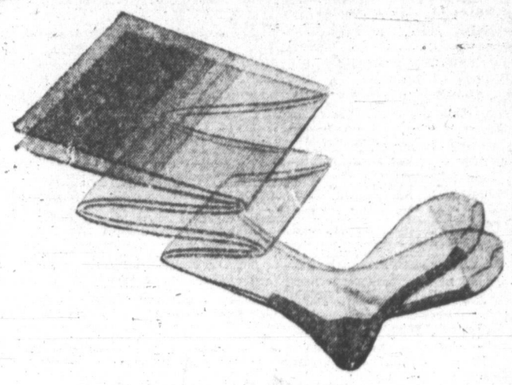

A Navajo Indian, Mr. Sosie was accompanied by two other Indians when the mishap occurred. But his companions were never found.

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Grace Friend,

I read your article in the paper every day, and see what good advice you give to others, so I hope you can help me.

I'm sixteen and my boyfriend is eighteen. Our trouble is that we're both stubborn, and every time we go on a date we have a fight, but we always make up. He says he loves me and I feel the same way about him, but every time we fight I feel awful.

We've both been hurt once before. He said I'm the first girl he's ever trusted since, and after I was hurt, I wanted to hurt every boy I could, but I don't want to hurt him like I do when we fight.

Do you think that we're both afraid that the other one is going to hurt us, and that's why we fight so much?

Please help me if you can.

Lily

Dear Lily

The best way not to fight with your boy friend is not to fight. He can't fight by himself.

If you are fond of him and want to get along with him ignore the subjects on which you disagree. You can always remain silent when he seems to want to start an argument. He won't find it very exciting if you don't respond and soon will give up trying to start quarrels. Some people like to argue just for the excitement. Don't be like that but learn to give a soft answer.

QUILT SCRAPS

Dear Grace Friend:

I have read your columns for years.

I am writing to see if anyone can help me. My husband is gone all day working, and I stay alone all day.

I love to piece quilts and was wondering if anyone should have scraps left from dress making they would send me. I would gladly pay for postage.

Piecing quilts would help me pass the lonely days.

Anne

I'll be happy to give Anne's address to anyone who might want to send her quilt scraps.

Cook's Nook

By GAY PAULEY

It's the unusual touch a homemaker gives the familiar foods that helps boost her reputation as a good cook.

One expert in the kitchen is Florence Brobeck, a native Ohioan now living in Manhattan, whose herb-flavored French bread always brings compliments from company.

Many home-makers use garlic-flavored butter on the crunchy loaf, but Miss Brobeck suggests this method of serving it.

"Slice one short loaf in nice thick slices," she said. "Then you're ready to make the spread."

Melt ¾ cup butter (1 quarter-pound stick, plus ½ another quarter pound).

HERBS ADDED

Mix together: 1 or 2 teaspoons finely-cut fresh chives; 1 teaspoon dried oregano; 1 teaspoon dried sweet basil; 1 teaspoon dried marjoram; ½ teaspoon dried parsley; ½ teaspoon rosemary; ½ teaspoon thyme.

When butter is melted, remove from heat, and stir in herbs. Spread at once on slices of bread, put slices together again to form original loaf, and tie to hold the shape or place in tight-fitting pan.

Place in moderate oven (375 to 400 degrees) 15 to 20 minutes, or till bread is hot through and crust is beginning to brown.

"You can omit an herb or two," Florence said. "Or substitute your favorites. Don't use mint — too sweet."

CHEESE BISCUIT

Florence has written several cookbooks, including "Chafing Dish Cookbook," a best-seller in the field.

One of her favorite breads is easy cheese biscuits, using the frozen biscuits available in most cities.

Arrange half the package of biscuits on an ungreased baking pan. Cover each heavily with chopped cheddar cheese. Place a second biscuit on top, and bake as directed on the package.

Variation: Use a little marmalade mixed with butter instead of the cheese. Or use chopped nuts, honey and butter.

"For some reason," she said, "these stacked biscuits bake better than the single ones and are tenderer.

OVEN VEGETABLES

Miss Brobeck rarely cooks fresh vegetables atop the stove anymore —preferring to bake them instead. Baked zucchini is one of her favorite company dishes.

Here's how to prepare it:

Wash zucchini thoroughly, drain, and cut off stem end. Cut in halves, cross-wise, and then lengthwise. Rub a baking dish with butter, put about 2 tablespoons of water in the bottom—just enough to cover it. Arrange zucchini in layers in the dish, seasoning each layer with salt, pepper and small dabs of butter. To the top layer add a sprinkle of paprika. Cover, and set in a moderate oven (325 to 350) for 1 hour.

"For the first half hour the zucchini looks as if it weren't cooking," she explained. "Then it begins to soften and cook slowly. The cook must determine whether it needs a full hour to get tender. I always test at the end of 45 minutes for doneness."

"Serve right in the dish, with or without a sprinkle of parsley on top. Oven-cooked zucchini doesn't shrink as it does when cooked on top of the stove."

Folks Back Home Expect Too Much From Miss America

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY

NEW YORK, Sept. 25—UP—The folks back home expect too much of local beauty contest winners, a former Miss America complains, so Manhattan is full of beauties in heartbreaking pursuit of big time careers.

Thy try to get a television part or a stage role or a model's job on the strength of their silver cups and second place ribbons.

"They're embarrassed to go back home without doing something big" explained Bess Myerson, Miss America of 1945. "They got such a big sendoff from the hometown. . . you know, roses from the mayor and all that sort of thing. They feel they just can't go back and teach school or work in a department store."

Reminded Daily of Winning

Bess, a six foot beauty with a nice television job, is happily married and has a six-year-old daughter, but she is daily reminded by telephone calls of the hazards of winning or almost winning beauty contests.

"Girls call me because they know I won a beauty contest once and ask me to help them get into television," she said. "I'm embarrassed. I can't help them. I know they can walk into a producer's office and say they won their state beauty contest and he'll say 'So what?' They should go back home, but you hate to tell them that."

She recalled she taught piano lessons to help pay her way through college, and her friends were impressed with her talent. Then she won the Miss America contest, and later, after she was married, she started teaching piano lessons again.

Marriage Is Solution

"All of a sudden teaching was like scrubbing the floor or something," Bess said. "The same friends wanted to know how come I was teaching piano lessons. They expect too much of beauty contest winners."

She credits the fact she got her feet back on solid ground after the whirlwind year of being the nation's top beauty to "coming back home and getting married." Her home was New York City.

"The best thing that can happen to a beauty contest winner is to be engaged," the statuesque brunette said with a smile. "Then when the fuss dies down she can get married. She has a good excuse for not having a glamorous career."

Bess gave up her hopes to be a concert pianist because it took too much time away from her family. Now she co-stars on a daytime TV quiz show, "The Big Payoff."

Disposable Aluminum Foil Plates Eliminate Time-Consuming Work

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

New, take-it-easy aids for the hurried homemaker happily combine low cost with smart good looks.

Made of shining, aluminum foil or plastic-treated paper, such aids eliminate much of the time-consuming drudgery we all face in the preparation and serving of three square meals a day.

I especially appreciate them on the busy days when there is more housekeeping to be done than there is time to do it. Or when you want to entertain informally and easily.

Paper plates and cups eliminate dish washing for this homemaker.

Disposable aluminum foil bowls, for example, are made to line the top burners of a gas range. Fitted over the regular burner bowl, these foil liners catch the boiled-over soup or scorched crumbs.

Cleaning up the stove after a messy accident is as simple as lifting out the soiled liner and inserting a fresh one.

Foilware dishes and pans, which can now be had in a dozen sizes and shapes, make it easy on the cook. In the pint-sized pans, you can mix, bake and serve the meat loaf—and throw away the dish if you like.

If you have a freezer, the meat loaf packed in the foil pan can go from oven to freezer, later defrosted and served.

These cook-and-freeze dishes have a special flange edge so that they can be sealed or opened with a slight pressure of fingers. Because the foil freezer dishes can be reused, the tops have space to record several entries.

With the fireside supper or the TV buffet drawing the entertainment crowd, disposable dishes make sense for hostess.

New designs in plastic-treated paper are styled in many cases as attractively as more permanent dinnerware. Rectangular plates with colored borders and compartments to keep foods and drink isolated fit well on the TV tray.

Plastic-treated paper dishes hold the pickles or relishes. These non-leaking bowls would work fine for the after-the-game chili party or oyster stew.

Big Spring Steers Gunning To Upset Harvesters Tonight

PHS Faces Rugged Foe In Steer 11

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

Big Spring's rollicking Steers, smarting from a 27-26 loss to the San Angelo Bobcats last week, will invade Harvester Park tonight for a joust with the Hustling Pampa Harvesters.

While the Steers will be seeking their first win of the young season, the Green and Golders of Tom Tipps will be after their second straight victory of the year. The Harvesters opened last week with a 39-6 victory over Austin of El Paso.

Reports out of Big Spring have it that the Steers will be going all out to upset the Harvesters. The Steers have a backfield that could cause any team trouble. Heading the ball carrying department for the Big Springers is J. C. Armistead, 165-pound fullback.

Armistead has won three letters at the Big Spring school and is considered one of the most dangerous runners in the schoolboy ranks. He unreeled 14 touchdown dashes last season, half of them covering more than 30 yards. One of his scouring jaunts was for 94 yards.

The teams stack up just about even in the weight department. The Harvester line outweighs the Steers, 174-172, but this is when the Big Spring giant, Jimmy Ellison, a 285 pound tackle, isn't in the lineup. Ellison, a three-year letterman, is on the injured list but may possibly be in the starting lineup tonight. If Ellison starts, then the Big Spring forward wall will hold a decided advantage.

The Harvester and Steer backfields both stack up an average of 167 pounds per man.

Brick Johnson and Frosty Robison are the leading Big Spring scorers to date. Both tallied two touchdowns in last week's loss to San Angelo.

John Darby, a halfback, is the leading Harvester scorer. Darby scored three times against Austin last week. He is closely pursued by Ed Dudley who tallied 14 points against Austin on two touchdowns and two conversions.

Rounding out the Harvester scoring for the year is six points by Harold Lewis and one point by Bobby Wilhelm.

Tonight's game could develop into a passing duel. Both passers, J. N. Wright of the Harvesters and Frank Long of the Steers, have already connected for payoff tosses. Wright came through with two TD passes last week, a 30-yarder to Darby and a 65-yarder to Dudley. In all Wright passed five times, completed three for 135 yards.

Long threw one TD pass in the San Angelo game last week. The 140-pound Steer quarterback hit Robison for a payoff toss against Big Spring.

Kickoff time tonight will be 8 p.m. A crowd of five or six thousand is expected to witness the non-conference tussle.

Elsewhere in District 1-AAAA tonight, Abilene will go to Sweetwater, Amarillo hosts Paschal of Fort Worth, Borger goes to Wichita Falls, Lubbock journeys to Highland Park at Dallas, Midland is at home against Austin of El Paso, and San Angelo treks to Brownwood. Odessa has an open date.

Guerillas Meet Clarendon There Tonight

A squad of 29 Pampa B team Guerillas will journey to Clarendon tonight to meet the Clarendon Broncs of District 1-A.

The Guerillas will be gunning to get into the win column after dropping their opener last week to the Canadian Wildcats, also of 1-A, 39-6.

Coaches Weldon Trice and Orville Lewis will be forced to leave three squadmen at home because of injuries. They are end Lee Teague, quarterback Jimmy Alvey and fullback Mike Hawkins. Alvey, who is suffering from an ankle injury, may make the trip but it is doubtful he will see much service.

Following is the Guerilla starting lineup for tonight's game:

Ends—Luther Sober and Don Babcock.

Tackles—Jerry Dunn and Tommy Richardson.

Guards—David Mullins and Clint Stewart.

Center—Cecil Reynolds.

Quarterback—Donald Wooley.

Halfbacks—Bennie Hollis and Tony Gonzales.

Fullback—Joe Cook.

The remainder of the squad is as follows:

Dallas Takes 2-0 Lead In Dixie Series

DALLAS, Sept. 25 —UP—Dallas' clutch - hitting Eagles held a favorable two-game lead in the Dixie Series Friday as they traveled to Nashville where they will resume play Saturday night with the Southern Association Champion Nashville Vols.

A 10th-inning single by Al Stringer, coming with two men out and the bases load for Dallas, brought home the Eagles' winning run as they nipped Nashville, 5 to 4, to end the short, two-game home stand here Thursday night.

No game is scheduled for Friday night as the teams are busy traveling to Nashville. Saturday's game will open a three-day home stand, if needed, in the Tennessee capital city, and if neither team has won four games by then, the two nines will return to Dallas for completion of the series.

Catcher Phil Masi's single pushed across two runs for Dallas and sent the game into overtime. In the 10th, after Nashville failed to score, Frank Tornay led off with a double and was sacrificed to third by Buzz Clarkson.

Statistical Release Shows Dudley, Wright Among Leaders In State

DICK MOORE, AN ENERGETIC young fellow of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram sports staff, is undertaking a tremendous task of keeping individual statistics on all AAAA teams of the state of Texas.

Since there are 52 teams of the AAAA status around the state, you cans see this is quite a task.

At any rate, Moore's first release reached us yesterday and although the Harvesters have played only one game whereas several of the teams have two games under their belts, the Green and Golders are included in the individual leaders.

Ed Dudley, for instance, is in the No. 1 spot in the punting department. Dudley booted three last week in the season opener against Austin for an average of 45.3 yards per kick. Byron Wellborn of Fort Worth Tech is second with 45.0 average on two boots. The only other 1-4A gridder listed among the punting leaders is Bobby Ghormerly of Odessa who ranks 10th with a 33.6 average on five kicks.

The Harvester quarterback, J. N. Wright, is third in passing. He is headed only by Carl Schlemeyer of Odessa and Nick Perades of Corpus Christi Miller. Schlemeyer leads with 14 completions in 27 attempts in two games for 215 yards and two touchdowns. Perades has completed seven of 15 for 153 yards and Wright has hit three of five for 135 yards. The passing leaders are based on the number of yards gained.

Dudley is sixth in pass receiving and 23rd in rushing. Both departments are based on total yards gained, the same as in the passing department. Dudley has gained 65 yards on pass receiving and 93 net yards rushing.

Bill Hallmark of Lubbock is third in rushing with 148 yards gained in only one game. Hallmark, incidentally, may give Jimmy Welch a run-for-his-money in the rushing department this year. Hallmark is Welch's sub and he saw lots of action last week when Welch was injured. It's possible Coach Patison of the Westerners will find another place for Hallmark in the starting lineup since Welch will be back in there when he recovers from his injury.

Well, the Harvesters are faring pretty will statistically with other AAAA teams of the state since they've only played one game to two for a lot of others.

WE DIDN'T HAVE MUCH LUCK

on our debut as a grid prognosticator last week. Our Crystal Ball must have been out of order since we got only seven of 12 right. Well, we've got our Crystal Ball repaired now and here goes again. Without further comment, these are our predictions:

Pampa 27, Big Spring 13.
Lubbock 14, Highland Park 0.
Abilene 13, Sweetwater 7.
Amarillo 20, Paschal 13.
Midland 14, Austin EP 6.

Dukes Even Series Behind Joe Hinchman

ALBUQUERQUE, Sept. 25—(Special)—Lefty Joe Hinchman spaced seven hits here Tfursday night to hurl the Albuquerque Dukes to a 7-5 win over Clovis, evening the series at three games apiece and sending the WT-NM playoffs into the crucial final game Friday night.

Clovis touched the southpaw for four runs in the sixth on five safeties but Hinchman settled down thereafter to keep the Pioneers tamed.

Meanwhile his mates climbed on starting and losing pitcher Jim Carson for a pair of tallies in the first and third frames to grab a lead they never relinquished.

Rookie lefthander Grover Blacksher is slated to start for Albuquerque Friday night, Clovis skipper Grover Seitz being undecided on his choice but probably going with Roy Parker.

Starting and losing pitcher Jim Carson worked himself into a jam in the first inning, walking Don Lauters, Pedro Santiago followed with a hit to left, setting the stage for Manager Tom Jordan's two-run double to the left field picket.

Santiago's lead-off single, Joe Pierre's screaming two - bagger down the left field foul line and Joe Jacobs' soft tap into center manufactured two Albuquerque tallies in the third and a 4-0 lead to force Carson's exit.

Clovis' two errors of the contest blended with Mitchell's initial walk and Dale Perry's rap to right for another pair in the fourth and a comfortable 6-0 advantage.

But the visitors finally solved Hinchman in the sixth after the southpaw had tossed hitless ball for five frames. Bill Mitchell, Roy Parker, Frank Benites, Pete Carmona and Red Dial socked a quintet of safeties off the southpaw for four quick runs and 6-4 tally.

Pierre's second double of the game drove Perry over with Albuquerque's insurance run in the bottom half of the stanza. Clovis threatened in the eighth, notching one on three hits and might have deadlocked matters but for a fast double play—the only one of the contest.

Wears Old Mask

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 25—UP—End Andy Loehr of the University of Nebraska football team will be wearing a mask in the Nebraska-Illinois game Saturday which was worn by an Illinois player 40 years ago. Loehr, who suffered a fractured jaw in play earlier this season, will wear the jaw protector owned by George (Potsy) Clark, now athletic director at Nebraska, and 40 years ago the first-string quarterback for Illinois.

FIVE BY FIVES—This is what waits for opposing ball carriers who try to crash over guard and tackle of the Bay City, Mich., Central high school line. These stalwarts give the Saginaw Valley Conference defending champions what is perhaps the heaviest forward wall in high school football. They are, left to right, Paul Jablonski, 256, guard; Ron Kowalkowski, 247, tackle; Jim Howse, 234, tackle; Melvin Roe, 250, tackle; and Jim Gwizdala, 234, guard. (NEA)

Reapers Bow To Phillips In Loop Tilt

By RAUL (Rabbit) RAMIREZ

PHILLIPS, Sept. 25 — Two long touchdown jaunts accounted for all the scoring here Thursday afternoon where Phillips Junior High chalked up a 14-0 victory over the Pampa Junior High Reapers. It was a Panhandle Junior High Conference game.

Tommy Newman of the "Little Blackhawks" opened the scoring in the second quarter when he scampered 63 yards for a TD and in the third period, Jimmy Perie raced 80 yards for the other Phillips score.

STORY IN FIGURES

Reapers		Phillips
12	First downs	9
137	Yards rushing	277
8	Lost rushing	27
129	Net rushing	250
7	Passes attempted	9
4	Passes completed	4
50	Gained passing	64
1	Passes intercepted by	3
2 for 23	Punt average	2 for 17
6	Fumbles	5
1	Own fumbles recovered	4
20	Yards penalty	65

Fumbles plagued the Reapers all afternoon. They made several scoring threats throughout the game but fumbles stopped the drives. The Reapers twice reached the Phillips 20 yard marker but gave up the ball on both occasions on fumbles.

The Reapers were on the Phillips five yard line when the game ended.

Perie, in addition to his 80-yard touchdown run, also unreeled runs of 24, 18 and 14 yards.

The Reapers garnered the most first downs, 12-9, but the Little Blackhawks held the advantage in the other departments. The Reapers fumbled six times and lost the ball each time.

It was the second straight win for the Little Blackhawks. They had beaten Perryton B in the season opener, 21-0. The loss was the first for the Reapers who won over Lefors B in their opener, 26-6.

The Reapers meet Horace Mann of Amarillo at Harvester Park next Friday in their next outing.

Veeck Schedules Meeting

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 25—UP—Bill Veeck, president of the St. Louis Browns, meets with the club's minority stockholders Friday to get their approval on moving the Browns to another city. Veeck and his associates control 79 per cent of the club's stock so the session was considered only a formality.

Giants Revamp Lineup

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24—UP—Coach Steve Owen of the New York Giants said Friday he will start only five regulars from the 1952 season on his offensive platoon in the team's National Football League opener against the Los Angeles Rams Sunday.

Canadian, Irish Host Feature Tilts

Canadian and Shamrock will be the secne of the top games of the week on the area A and AA football slate tonight.

Canadian's unbeaten Wildcats will meet another unbeaten team—Perryton. The latter, however, has been tied once. The Canadian-Perryton clash will shed a lot of light on comparing at least three teams in the rugged District 1-A. Perryton's two games to date have been with 1-A teams. They were tied by Panhandle, 20-20, and then won over White Deer 20-7. Tonight's game at Canadian will mark the third 1-A foe for the Perryton 11.

Canadian is unbeaten in two starts, holding wins over Spearman (47-0) and Pampa B (39-6).

Shamrock's Irish of 2-AA will be looking for its first win of the year tonight when they host the Lefors Pirates of 1-A. The Irish, although loser of their first two games with Quanah and Wellington, are still considered a dangerous aggregation. Lefors has a 1-1 record to date, losing to AA Dalhart in the season opener, 0-6, and then bouncing back last week to down Stinnett, 18-0.

District 1-A's other two undefeated teams, McLean and Clarendon, will also see action tonight. McLean shouldn't have any trouble against the Claude Mustangs when the two get together at McLean. Clarendon also should keep its slate clean when they meet the Pampa B team tonight at Clarendon.

Other games tonight involving 1-A teams will be Canyon at Memphis, Turkey at Panhandle and Price College at White Deer, the 1-A teams being the home teams in each of these games.

White Deer, who opened its season last week by losing to Perryton, will be gunning to break into the win column tonight. The Bucks however, will still be without the services of its star halfback, Ronald Mills, who is out with a broken leg.

Here are The Pampa News picks on the 1-A games tonight:

Shamrock 13, Lefors 7.
Canadian 20, Perryton 7.
McLean 34, Claude 0.
Clarendon 19, Pampa B 7.
Canyon 14, Memphis 7.
Panhandle 20, Turkey 6.
White Deer 14, Price College 6.

Parker Meets Slade

NEW YORK, Sept. 25—UP—James J. Parker, a 6-foot, 3-inch heavyweight from Paterson, N. J., meets Jimmy Slade, a light heavyweight from New York, in a nationally televised and broadcast 10-round fight Friday night at St. Nicholas Arena.

Feature Schoolboy Games At Waco, Amarillo Tonight

By UNITED PRESS

Waco's clash with Temple and Fort Worth Paschal's meeting with Amarillo tops Friday night's full round of activity on the Texas schoolboy football scene.

The Central Texas meeting between Waco's unbeaten Tigers and the Class AAA finalists of a year ago may give the real tip-off as to how well each may fare in its own division this year.

Waco has beaten North Dallas and Odessa, the latter by a lone point, while Temple brushed by the Austin Maroons in its only outing.

Amarillo surprised even its own backers by the ease with which it beat touted Oklahoma City Capitol Hill a week ago, and Paschal may be the club to provide more of a clue to the Sandies' potential in power-packed District 1-AAAA.

Other top games in the two top divisions will send Abilene to Sweetwater, San Angelo to Brownwood, Pasadena at Corpus Christi Ray, San Antonio Brackenridge to Port Arthur, Kilgore to Cleburne, Tyler at Paris, Sherman to Marshall and Palestine to Galena Park.

In Class AA, defending champion Terrell plays Kaufman, Childress meets AA Vernon, Winters engages Stephenville, McGregor plays Killeen and Gonzales meets Yoakum in the feature games.

Defending champion Wink's third straight clash against AA competition highlights Class A as the Wildcats meet Pecos.

Other Class A top-billing belongs to McCamey-Crane, Canadian-Perryton, Paducah-Floydada, Gilmer-Pittsburg, Gaston-London, Burnet-Granger, Lyford-Raymondville and A&M Consolidated-Navasota.

Rocky Looking For Another Foe After Beating LaStarza

By JACK CUDDY

NEW YORK, Sept. 25—UP—Rocky Marciano, the awkward but awesome heavyweight champion whose explosive fists pulverized Roland LaStarza Thursday night, began looking for another challenger Friday.

The unbeaten "block buster" from Brockton, Mass., battered ex-collegian LaStarza into such bloody helplessness before 44,562 at the Polo Grounds that referee Ruby Goldstein stopped the bout at 1:31 of the 11th round.

That technical knockout victory was the bull-shouldered champion's 45th consecutive professional triumph, and his quest for another "victim" appeared restricted to four possible opponents.

According to Manager Al Weill, Rocky's third defense of the crown —to be made probably next February—will be against ex-champion Ezzard Charles, Nino Valdes of Cuba, Dan Bucceroni of Philadelphia or Don Cockell of England.

'Improved 5,000 Per Cent'

The outlook for none of the mentioned quartet was bright in view of the murderous beating Rocky gave Thursday night to the New Yorker who had given the champion the closest fight of his career back on March 24, 1950. By the scanty margin of three points, Rocky won a disputed split 10-round decision over Roland that night.

"He improved 5,000 per cent since then," declared Roland, after the beating which opened cuts on his right eye lid, the bridge of his nose, beneath his left eye, his right ear, and floored him for a count of eight in the 11th round.

"He hits harder," explained 26-year-old Roland. "He hits more often. He has faster combinations. And he's harder to hit himself."

Despite his improvement, however, Rocky missed many punches Thursday night. He floundered at times. And in the 10th round, he fell to the canvas in a corner when his right swing merely grazed LaStarza's body.

Rocky Dissatisfied

Rocky, 29, was dissatisfied with his own awkward but awesome performance. "I just couldn't get going," said the modest champ.

LaStarza's trainer, Dan Florio, had no compliments for the 185-pound champ. He charged that Marciano had used foul tactics throughout the fight against LaStarza.

His accusations were partially borne out by the referee's actions in penalizing Rocky the sixth round on a foul for low blows, and in warning him for butting in the second round, hitting on the break and hitting after the bell in the third, and striking low in the seventh.

Game Roland tried hard to make a fight of it and did well in the early rounds; but he was staggered by a right to the chin in the fifth session and never completely recovered thereafter, although he did rally in the sixth.

Rocky stunned the challenger with a left hook to the jaw in the seventh, and battered him from rope to rope and from corner to corner with a hooking attack to body and head. From then on, it was just a question of how long LaStarza could last.

LaStarza Battered

LaStarza suffered a terrific battering in the eighth, ninth and 10th sessions and he was knocked half through the ropes and to the canvas in the 11th by a right-left-right combination to the jaw. Roland lurched to his feet at the count of three, but the referee continued the count to "eight"—despite the fact the mandatory eight - count had been eliminated for the title fight.

Rocky tore after his nearly helpless challenger and bombarded him against the ropes. Goldstein stepped in to halt the butchery.

Marciano, favored at 4-1, will be well paid for his second title defense. He will receive 42½ per cent from the net proceeds of the $435,817 gross gate and the $100,000 guarantee for theatre television, also from movies of the fight. The bout was not televised nor broadcast to homes.

Rocky's purse should exceed $185,000. LaStarza getting 17½ per cent, should receive at least $65,000.

Doctors Unable To Say Why American PWs Turned Red

TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 25—UP—Two leading psychiatrists agreed Friday one cannot explain way 23 American men refused repatriation from Red POW camps unless each individual case is fully understood, and they hoped there would not now follow a shower of "expert" opinions on the subject.

The two authorities were Dr. Will Menninger and Dr. Karl Menninger, heads of the internationally-famous Menninger Foundation and Clinic, the nation's largest psychiatric residence training institution. They are the sons of Dr. C. F. Menninger, one of the fathers of modern psychiatric treatment and founder of the clinic.

"I just don't presume to know as a psychiatrist what happened. I do not think anyone does," said Dr. Will Menninger, the World War II chief consultant in neuro-psychiatry to the U. S. surgeon-general.

He said he hoped there would not now appear a shower of opinions on the subject.

"What makes good people turn criminal? I am not in a position to give an expert opinion."

Dr. Karl Menninger warned that "we shouldn't draw any conclusions without actually examining the men."

But he refused to call the men mentally ill.

"It isn't scientific to make a prior judgment that these men are mentally ill because they do things we don't understand. . . I can't understand it; I'm sure the poor parents of these men don't understand it."

The brothers were reluctant to discuss the prisoners who don't want to come home from Communist prison camps and whose names were released Thursday.

Dr. Will Menninger said that asking him for an expert opinion on the subject was "just like asking me what do I think about flying saucers. I am not in a position to give an expert opinion."

You may accuse South of overbidding in today's hand, and I may agree with you. I hate to quarrel with success, however, and I am inclined to say that a player is entitled to overbid slightly if he can find a way of making his contract.

When West opened the king of hearts, it seemed to South that he was likely to lose two hearts and a spade. The situation might even be worse, South feared, since it was possible that West had a six-card heart suit (he had bid the suit, after all), in which case East would ruff the first trick.

Since there was nothing else he could do about it, South gritted his teeth and played the ace of hearts from the dummy. He felt slightly relieved when East followed suit, but this was only the first suit, but this was only the first hurdle. He was still threatened with the loss of two hearts and a spade.

The right line of play was very clear, and South promptly adopted it. At the second trick he led a low diamond from the dummy and ruffed in his own hand. He next got to dmmy with a trump in order to ruff another diamond, and got to dummy with a trump in order to ruff out dummy's last diamond.

South next laid down the ace of spades, hoping that the queen would drop. When this slim hope failed to materialize, South led his last spade and closed his eyes.

When South opened his eyes, East had gathered in the spade trick with the queen and was now searching in vain for a safe return. Whether East returned a spade or a diamond, dummy could ruff while South discarded one of the losing hearts. This situation was exactly what South had been hoping for when he ruffed out dummy's diamond and drew trumps before tackling the spades.

Officers Halt Smoking Cadillac

SAN DIEGO, Tex., Sept. 25—UP—Two deputy sheriffs said Thursday the driver of a Cadillac they stopped with smoke pouring from under the hood didn't want any help.

The driver, Vincente Arencivia Figueredo, was charged with unlawful possession of narcotics. The deputies, Manuel Amaya and Ernesto Malina, said the smoke came from 15 pounds of marijuana which was taped under the hood. It got too hot and caught fire.

Figueredo was held in Corpus Christi Thursday in lieu of $1,000 bond set by U.S. Commissioner James Martin.

Fire Hazards Up In Missouri Area

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 25—UP— Gov. Phil M. Donnelly Thursday declared Missouri in a state of emergency as a record-breaking drouth increased the fire hazard in tinder dry woods and pastures.

The governor called on all law officers and residents to co-operate in the fight against fires.

The governor emphasized that his proclamation did not ban hunting and fishing as was done in the 1952 drouth.

Donnelly, however, appealed to "all persons to refrain from the use of any fires for picknicking, camping, hunting, fishing or grass burning."

The governor acted on the heels of an incendiary forest fire which blackened 2,000 acres of timber in the southeast Missouri Ozark woods. The fire, on the fringes of the vast Clark National Forest, was brought under control early Thursday after a 24-hour battle.

Donnelly earlier this week declared every county in Missouri as a disaster area and appealed to the federal government to extend emergency relief to the farmers.

Comparisons Of New York, Moscow

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 25—UP—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles Thursday gave the American Federation of Labor this comparison of a worker's earnings in New York and Moscow:

"For a worker to buy a pound of butter in New York, it takes 27 minutes of work; for a similar worker in Moscow, it takes over six hours of work."

"For a pound of sugar, 3 1-3 minutes in New York; 84 minutes in Moscow.

"For a quart of milk, seven minutes in New York; 42 minutes in Moscow.

"For a dozen eggs, 25 minutes in New York; nearly three hours in Moscow.

"For a cotton shirt, nearly one hour in New York; 22 hours in Moscow.

"For a man's suit, three days in New York; 47 days in Moscow.

"For overshoes, one day in New York; 13 days in Moscow.

"For a woman's wool suit, 22 hours in New York; 22 days in Moscow.

"For a cake of soap, three minutes in New York; 30 minutes in Moscow."

Two Out Of Six Escapees Caught

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 25—UP—Two of the six prisoners who sawed their way out of the Muskogee, Okla., county jail were returned to Oklahoma Friday, after state police captured them in downtown Little Rock.

James Francis Everett, 17, and John Miller Everett, 20, brothers from Elkton, Md., waived extradition after their capture on a downtown street.

Meanwhile, Muskogee officers said roadblocks were removed Friday morning. None of the prisoners, who included a dangerous California convict, was found by the roadblocks.

Police believed another of the escapees, Vernon Raymond Coon, 30, of Muskogee may have escaped in a red Swift and Co. truck. It was stolen shortly after the break, and officers said Coon, charged with the rape of his nine-year-old daughter, was a former Swift employe and could easily buy gasoline on credit.

Sheriff R. T. Sypert said the six prisoners sawed bars from two cell blocks and a rear window in the Wednesday escape.

Sypert described the Californian, Robert William Bumgardner, 42, of Los Angeles, as "very dangerous." He is wanted by both federal and California officers for writing hot checks and as a parole violator from Folsom prison.

The other escapees were Barney and J. W. Hunnicutt, 19 and 20, from Warner, Okla., brothers charged with auto theft.

Warm Welcome

BERKELEY, Calif., Sept. 25—UP—Jack A. Nelson, 32, will think twice about visiting his girl friend's home in the early hours of the morning.

Nelson pounded on the door of Helen Rose's home early Thursday and was greeted by a fusillade of .32 caliber bullets.

Miss Rose told police she didn't know it was Nelson. Nelson said he wouldn't be back—at any hour.

'Inventor' Loses His Patience

FORT WORTH, Sept. 25 —UP— An oil field worker "just passing through town" stopped off long enough Wednesday to tell the Fort Worth Press about his invention of the "compression bomb. . . the most terrible bomb in the world."

The 31-year-old worker, who said his home was in Houston, explained that it was an "air and gas bomb."

"This compression bomb and my automatic mine control would really impress the Russians," he declared.

How does his automatic mine control work, a reporter asked.

"Well, the mine is planted a lot deeper than ordinary bombs will penetrate," he explained. "When the general gives the order to advance, an automatic control, radio. . ."

He stopped abruptly.

"Aw, you wouldn't understand," he said as he walked off.

Woman Charged In Husband's Death

HOUSTON, Sept. 25 —UP— A 47-year-old woman was to be charged with murder here in the shooting death of her husband, Vernon C. Thompson, 47, at their home late Tuesday night.

Mrs. Thompson told sheriff's investigators she grabbed a 12-gauge shotgun and pointed it at her husband when he tried to climb through a kitchen window after she had locked him out of the house.

She said she did not pull the trigger and "I don't know what made it go off."

It's Your Deal

By OSWALD JACOBY and ALFRED SHEINWOLD
Written for NEA Service

Those who like the ordinary game of hearts may enjoy trying a variation that makes it suitable for a larger number of players. The standard game of hearts is good for three to five players, and probably four players is the best number. The game of cancellation hearts is planned for seven to 10 players.

Take two regular decks of cards and shuffle them together. Deal them out one at a time to all of the players as far as they will go evenly. Any remaining odd cards are placed face down in the middle of the table as a widow. (For example, if there are 10 players, each player gets 10 cards, and four cards are left over for the widow.)

The player at the dealer's left leads the first card, and the hand is played in much the same way as ordinary hearts. That is, a trick is won by the highest card of the suit led. Each player must follow suit if he can, and may discard any card from his hand if he cannot follow suit. The winner of a trick leads to the next trick. The object of the game is to avoid taking tricks that contain hearts or the queen of spades.

The game is called cancellation hearts because in any trick that contains identical cards those cards cancel each other out and neither can win the trick. For example, if a spade is led and two players play the ace of spades, those two aces cancel each other out, and the trick is won by some lower spade.

If every card in a trick is paired, nobody wins that trick for the moment. These cards are saved until the next trick is won. Then the winner of that trick gets the cards that were being saved.

The odd cards in the widow are given to the winner of the first trick. As every hearts player knows, this is a doubtful benefit.

The scoring is the same as in regular hearts. Various localities favor the different scoring rules, but the most common scoring is to count 1 point against you for each heart that you have taken in a trick and 13 points against you for the queen of spades.

Requests Review Of Allowances

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 —UP— The National Oil Marketers Association suggested Thursday that the administration review the special depletion tax allowances granted oil and gas producers.

Paul E. Hadlick, association counsel, said in a letter to Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey the government could realize more than $1 billion a year by allowing "true depletion" instead of "percentage depletion" on oil and gas wells.

Texans Requested To Eat More Beef

ABILENE — (Special) — Texans, who take great pride in boasting of their state as the world's biggest cattle range, are being asked to eat more beef this fall.

With an already low-price picture to stare at, cattlemen have been told by their own industry representatives and by government authorities to expect a heavier-than-normal marketing of grass-fed cattle during the veriod September 15-October 31.

The Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association called on the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to "do something," and a statewide campaign is now underway to encourage greater per-Texan consumption of beef during this period.

The program was planned in July by the WTCC's agriculture and livestock committee with the assistance of restaurant, hotel grocery and bankers associations as well as railroads and meat packers, state press and advertising associations, and from the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the National Livestock Board and the American Meat Institute.

"It's a cooperative venture of Texas business to help a Texas industry to help itself," says R. M. Fielder of Abilene, chairman of the regional chamber's agriculture and livestock committee.

Emphasis is being placed on appealing to the Texas housewife to use more of the lower-cost cuts of beef in preparing her meals.

Refugee Says Russia Plans World Conquest

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25—UP—Dr. Marek S. Korowicz, who escaped from the Communist Polish delegation to the United Nations last week, said Thursday the Russians aim for world conquest by 1970 or 1980.

Korowicz told an extraordinary session of the House Un-American Activities committee that everything the Soviets do is aimed at furthering that goal but "they know in Moscow that under present circumstances war is not the best and safest way to achieve their aims."

In the immediate future, he said, the Russians plan a "peace offensive" in the United Nations. Without giving further details, he said the Polish delegation would have a "substantial" part in the "peace offensive."

Every action taken by the Polish UN delegates and those from other Soviet satellite members of the world organization, Korowicz testified is on direct orders from their Russian overlords.

He asked asylum in the United States after a dramatic walkout from the Polish UN delegation at New York a week ago.

As he testified Thursday, he was under guard against possible assassination.

Crippled Kids Due Free Rides At Fair

DALLAS, Sept. 25 —UP—Crippled children of the state this week were offered free rides and fun as guests of the State Fair of Texas on Oct. 15.

Fair officials said they had invited crippled children's schools and homes as groups, but they also wanted all such children not contacted through organized groups to attend on the special day.

One adult will be admitted free to the grounds with each child who is not in an organized group. Rides and shows will be free.

The Pampa Daily News

One of Texas' Five Most Consistent Newspapers

We believe that one truth is always consistent with another truth. We endeavor to be consistent with truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule, the Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence.

Should we, at any time, be inconsistent with these truths, we would appreciate anyone pointing out to us how we are inconsistent with these moral guides.

Published daily except Saturday by The Pampa News, Atchison at Somerville, Pampa, Texas. Phone 666, all departments. Entered as second class matter under the act of March 3, 1879.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

By CARRIER in Pampa 30c per week. Paid in advance (at office) $3.90 per 3 months, $7.80 per six months, $15.60 per year. By mail $10.00 per year in retail trading zone. $12.00 per year outside retail trading zone. Price for single copy 5 cents. No mail order accepted in localities served by carrier

Invisible Taxes

The cost of highway accidents in death, pain and suffering is a fairly familiar story to most Americans. Not so well known, however, is the costly and tearful aftermath of each fatal or serious accident in the home of every victim of carelessness on the streets and highways, or weeks or months — for periods extending over many years and even a lifetime — the family of each motor vehicle accident casualty learns how much a single mishap costs in grief, worry, never-ending bills to repair broken bodies and disfigured faces, and other expenses.

But virtually unknown is the important fact that direct or hidden costs of streets and highway accidents reach into every home to the tune of $90 from the average family every year. That's how much is being drained from each family purse in the nation as a whole. But the cost per family runs higher than the national average in 31 states. In 17 — or more than half of this above-average group — the bill is well over $100. It ranges all the way up to $399.44 in Nevada!

According to Paul H. Blaisdell, public safety director of the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies, families in all but five states are laying out more than $1 a week as their share. Specific bills for these accident losses may never turn up in their mailboxes, but the costs are levied against each family just the same, even though an accident does not kill or injure one of its members — even if they don't own an automobile. That's because the charges are passed on through increased taxes, wage losses, cost of insurance, medical and hospital bills, automobile and property damage repair charges and other items.

Any family can consider itself fortunate if it escapes the human misery of these accidents, which touch the homes of some 40,000 dead and 2,000,000 injured victims in a year's time. But it must nevertheless help to share the burden of their economic costs, visible, running close to $4,000,000,000 annually.

Safer driving by all offers hope of lessening this big pinch on the average family's purse. It will also diminish the threat of accidents to a family's safety if it insists that its driver or drivers take no unnecessary chances while at the wheel. Constantly remind them: "Slow down . . . lives are in your hands."

Opinions Change

For a score of years manufacturers have been polling the nation to obtain statistics on which to base sales of their products. Most of us at one time or another have been asked our opinions on razor blades, automobile colors, and styles in baby carriages.

This information has been filed away and now Pageant magazine has made a study of the changes in opinions that have taken place since the days of the Great Depression. It's report shows how times have changed.

Back in 1937 one in every four Americans lifted hands in horror at movie scenes of women smoking. Today more than half of all American women smoke. In 1939 four out of five persons said women with husbands should shun thoughts of a career. Today one married woman in four is working.

In 1936 the idea of an ideal sized family was Papa, Mama and two youngsters. Today the polls show the ideal sized family — in opinion anyway — calls for four youngsters.

In 1932 hopes were rare that a young man would get to earn $5,000, buy a car, own a home. Today 70 per cent of the people are sure the young man will have no trouble achieving all three goals and more.

At the same time businessmen were exceedingly unpopular, majority sentiment favored government ownership of railroads, banks and public utilities and sympathy toward labor unions was strong. Today businessmen rank next to clergymen in respect; public ownership is generally frowned upon and the popularity of labor unions is low.

And most strongly indicative of change is how much money a family thinks it needs to get along on. In 1937 people said they needed $30. Today they believe $70 would do — barely.

Mathias Objects

Bob Mathias, Olympic decathlon champion and football star at Stanford, jarred the collegiate world recently when he declared, in a magazine article, he would play no more college football "because it is no longer a sport."

Of deliberate roughness, he wrote: "I can take it and when I have to, I can dish it out. But when the whole purpose of a game becomes so confused that players try to inflict injuries on each other, then I say football has lost its appeal as a sport."

Mathias doesn't make blanket accusal of all teams and coaches, but what he says might be food for thought for all since the game itself will decline if the public becomes convinced it cannot, as he terms it, "escape its pressures and bad traits."

Warning revelations of this nature have been voiced in the past by football men, but no one could be privileged to speak more freely than the independent Pride of Tulare, Calif. He didn't even accept an athletic scholarship when he entered Stanford, but paid his own tuition. If collegiate football is to save itself from eventual extinction, its real friends would do well to heed a sportsman of Mathias' caliber and candor.

"Communist Propaganda In Churches And Schools"

III

I want to quote for one more article from the pamphlet on "Communist Propaganda in Churches and Schools," published by the American Council of Christian Churches of California, 42 N. Raymond Avenue, Pasadena, California. Anyone can get one of these folders for 15 cents by writing to the above address. Rev. Bunzel, Executive Secretary of the American Council of Christian Churches of California is the author of this pamphlet.

Rev. Bunzel quotes Lenin as saying:

"In what sense do we repudiate ethics and morality? In the sense that it is preached by the bourgeoisie, who derived ethics from God's commandments. We, of course, say that we do not believe in God, and know perfectly well that the clergy, the landlords and the bourgeoise spoke in the name of God in pursuit of their own interests as exploiters. . .

"We repudiate all morality derived from non-human and non-class concepts. We say that it is a deception, a fraud, a befogging of the minds of the workers and peasants in the interests of the landlords and capitalists.

"We say that our morality is entirely subordinated to the interest of the class struggle of the proletariat."

Just how can coercive schools (tax supported), that violate the Golden Rule and Commandments, teach any moral principles? They simply cannot. And if they cannot teach moral principles, they can only teach the practices that they are using — that might makes right and the end justifies the means — the same ideologies as those taught in the Communist Manifesto. No wonder we are in one war after another. No wonder we have ever increasing government costs. No wonder our money is becoming of less and less value. No wonder we have long periods of unemployment, when the youth are so indoctrinated in coercive (tax supported) schools!

IDEA OF MORALITY

Rev. Bunzel points out very clearly how the communists have an entirely different moral code than do those who believe in Christian ethics. He writes:

"To him (the communist) morality amounts to this, in practical application: anything that helps the revolution is good; anything that hinders the revolution is bad."

According to "The Young Generation" the communists say:

"Morality is what serves to destroy the old exploiting society and to unite all laboring people around the proletariat, which is creating a new, communist society.

"When people talk to us about morality, we say: for the Communist, morality lies entirely in this compact, united disciplined and conscious mass struggle against the exploiters. We do not believe in an eternal morality, and we expose all the lying fables about morality."

Rev. Bunzel quotes from Dr. Harry F. Ward's article on "The U.S.S.R. A Reliable Partner for Peace." Dr. Ward is a Methodist minister. Then Rev. Bunzel writes:

"Perhaps these lines will show the great 'friendship.' Dr. Ward has for the Soviet Union.

" 'Common sense will lead many to realize that Soviet leaders could not have done what they have if they were as bad as our leaders have painted them. That is one reason why our government is trying to shut off the sources of information about Soviet peace policies and accomplishments by blocking and penalizing those who want to go, or do go, to international peace conferences. * * *

" 'The great epic drama of our times is in the reconstruction and construction, the education and cultural growth, achieved in the Soviet Union, the New Democracies and the new China. It is a release of the energies of both nature and mankind far greater and wider than that achieved by the opening up and settlement of this continent, Australia and New Zealand. The more the people of the United States learn about these achievements the more they will see the impossibility that they could be accomplished under the leadership of total evil incarnate, or the oppression of bloody tyrants, and the less easily they will be led into war.' "

What Dr. Ward does not seem to see is that what advances, if there be any, in the well being of the Russian people is due to the great advancement that has been made in the rest of the world that more nearly respects human initiative and the ethics of the Commandments than do the communists anywhere in the world. Russia got the ideas from these nations.

Cradles In Universities

Then Rev. Bunzel quotes from the Senate Subcommittee's report of July, 17, 1953, which states:

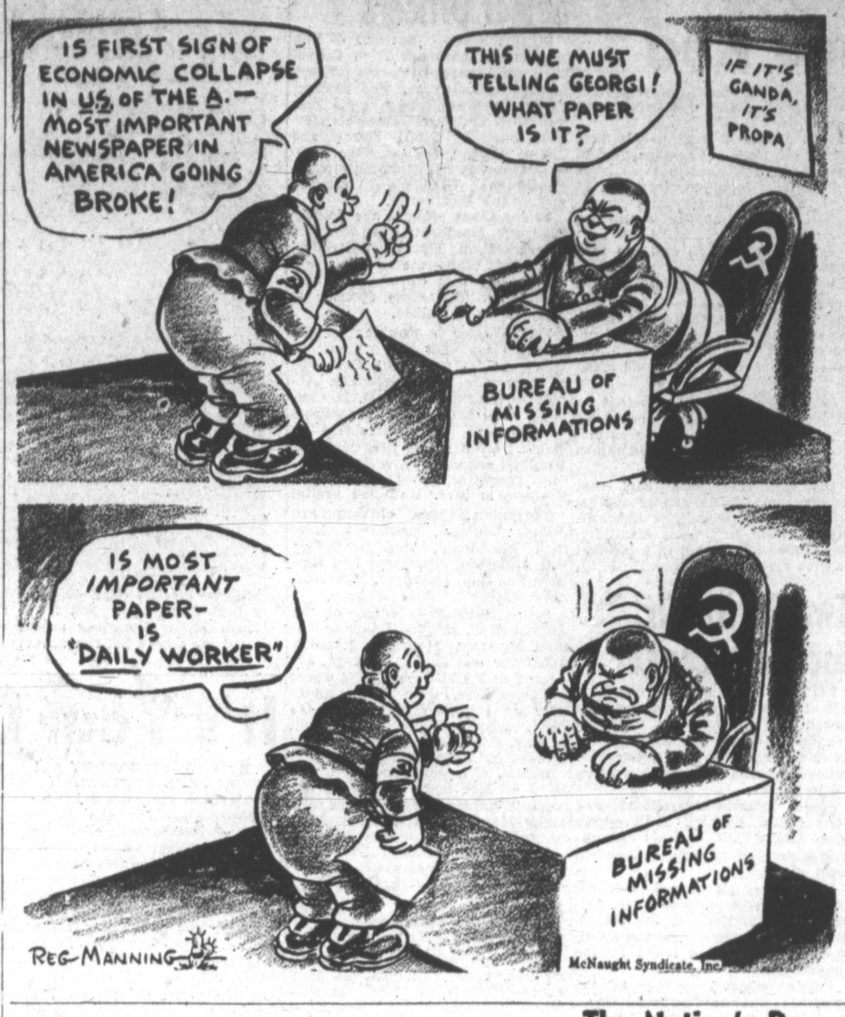

"The subcommittee received impressive evidence from former Communist organizers that the Soviet organization was continuously engaged in a plan to penetrate our educational institutions at every possible point, thus posing a serious threat to our national security. The Communist agents who spun the very real web of conspiracy and intrigue within the framework of the United States Government Departments, in almost all cases, were cradled in our distinguished universities and colleges."

Then Rev. Bunzel remarks:

"The book 'USSR' was written by college and university professors, and published by Cornell University. Dr. Matthews reveals that the man who wrote one-third of 'USSR,' Vladimir Kazakevich, skipped the country the night before his scheduled arrest for deportation as an alien Communist. Yet the Division of Social Education and Action, Board of Christian Education, of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., has recommended this book to the members of the Northern Presbyterian Church for study! This recommendation is found on page 115 of their book "Let Us Live For God and the Nations."

Would that more people realized how much collectivist propaganda, most unwittingly, is being spread in our churches and schools.

Jenner Committee Has New Evidence Against US Commies

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The mystery of the Truman administration's utter disregard of the internal Communist threat against the United States has deepened as a result of new and sensational evidence which the Jenner Security Committee has obtained from disillusioned American Reds, FBI undercover agents and a woman detective of the New York City Police Department.

Although their membership and activity within the Communist Party covered the period from 1925 to 1950, and they reported their secret discoveries to J. Edgar Hoover, FBI Director, Washington officials made no effort to prosecute or deport the offenders. Like the evidence against the Hiss, Perlo and Silvermaster rings turned over to the FBI by Elizabeth Bentley as early as November, 1945, it was neglected completely.

RED PENETRATION IGNORED—Paul Crouch, of Washington and Miami, Fla., who had been a top member of the hostile conspiracy from 1925 to 1942, placed all his inside information before Hoover in 1947. Matt Cvetic, an FBI agent, worked as a supposed and trusted Red from 1941 to 1950. Stephanie Horvath, the New York spy, served in two metropolitan cells from 1943 to 1948, and testified that her detailed reports had been forwarded to Hoover by her superiors.

In view of this early and successful penetration of the Communist party, it becomes increasingly impressive that former President Truman blasted congressional investigations as a "red herring" many years later. It is also significant, chronologically, that Alger Hiss was not convicted until January, 1950, Capitol Hill alone has been awake to the Red menace!

It now becomes obvious to Jenner Committee members that the only man who can assess individual responsibility for this 10-year indifference to this treasonable conspiracy is Hoover himself.

The next essential move is to summon him as a witness, and to learn whether he submitted these authentic reports to the Roosevelt-Truman succession of attroney generals—Biddle, Clark, McGrath — and whether they forwarded these findings to Presidents Roosevelt and Truman.

Although Hoover is reported to be bitter over White House inaction, he has never been questioned on this key point.

MURDER DISCUSSED BY COMMUNISTS — Crouch's testimony is especially revolting and incredible. It discloses that the American Communists would not stop at murder of American citizens and officials in order to escape exposure. It also shows that, even during the wartime period of Russo-American friendship, the Reds planned to resume hostile activities and plots here after Hitler's defeat. This they have done.

Crouch tells how, in 1938, when a party backslider furnished material for an expose of the Reds to an Atlanta newspaper and radio station, members of the Soviet Secret Police assembled at his home in Birmingham, Ala., to discuss retaliation against the offender.

DECIDED ON EXPULSION—"The first question they raised was," said Crouch, "whether he should be liquidated. In other words, should the Soviet secret police do a murder job on him. I strongly protested that this would bring the government down on the party, would result in adverse publicity, and under no conditions should be consedered.

"They said then: 'Suppose that he be invited to the Soviet Union to go to school and that they take care of him over there.' Well, I had no logical argument to that and made little comment."

Finally, it was agreed to expel the offender from the party, and to attack him as a "reactionary" on the ground that he was a member of the revived Ku Klux Klan known as the Columbians. Then Crouch added:

"If he had been in the Communist Party for the FBI, for example, such methods (denunciation) could not have been possible, and in all probability he would have been 'invited' to visit the Soviet Union."

FOSTER'S TREACHERY—In 1941, Crouch was working for the Reds in Oakland, Calif., building a secret cache of propaganda equipment for use if the United States and Russia went to war against each other. When F.D.R. promised arms to Moscow after the Hitler invasion, Crouch asked William Z. Foster, head Communist here, if there would be any change of policy.

Foster explained that, despite any wartime alliance, "armed struggle between the capitalists and the Communist world was inevitable" and there must be no letdown in Communist preparation for that conflict.

The Nation's Press

(The Individualist

Generally we feel sorry for writers. Most of them are starving to death — or would be if they didn't have other jobs. And when they have a stroke of luck, it's usually bad. Nobody but a sap would be a writer — if he had brains enough to drive a truck.

But this fellow J. B. Matthews — boy, did he hit the jackpot! He wrote a piece for the July issue of the American Mercury. Now the American Mercury is distinctly one of our better magazines and, even more distinctly, one of the smaller. It knows more about the American free enterprise system, and is more ready to speak up and say a kind word for it now and then, than is the case with most of its contemporaries. But in circulation it's no great shakes. Alongside such giants as The Saturday Evening Post, Reader's Digest, Life, Colliers and others, it's a pygmy.

So, normally, a piece in the Mercury would attract but a small reading audience. But not this one, not this one! For the Matthews' article began: "The largest single group supporting the Communist aparatus in the United States today is composed of Protestant clergymen."

That's where Mr. Matthews got the breaks. That paragraph was lifted and commented on by newspapers from coast to coast. Almost without exception the comment was abusive. The President of the United States himself hopped into the gray with a scathing denunciation of "reckless and irresponsible" charges against the church. No fray was ever hopped into with less reason or at a more inopportune time. It was the President who was guilty of a reckless and irresponsible statement, not Matthews.

Housewives Are Given A Plan To Beat Social Security Taxes

By WESTBROOK PEGLER
(Copyright, 1953, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

BOSTON — The lesson taught by the French people in simply refusing to pay taxes so that Americans have to make up the deficiency is not entirely lost on our people. In fact, a massive tax-dodge has been in progress for years on the part of businessmen who have held back their employees' shares of social security and, after some time, have dissolved their companies without sending either that money or their own matching shares to the Internal Revenue.

In such cases, the individuals concerned may be charged with embezzlement, but the proportion of indictments and trials, if there have been any, certainly is microscopic in comparison to number of incidents.

There is no money left to be grabbed by the Internal Revenue and the Treasury's policy plainly is to get all that can be taken and throw a couple of rocks after tax-cheaters to scare them and intimidate the honest citizen lest he be tempted to do likewise. The same people can form new corporations a few days later and do the same thing over with little risk.

The Treasury has another "policy" of permitting crooks of this kind to "work out" agreements whereby the government abandons the criminal penalties in return for fractional settlements. But it doesn't offer any such bargains to housewives or to self-employed persons on the social security tax.

All this is a piece, morally with the total cynicism of the French and it has the same discouraging effect on the tiny, individual American taxpayer.

On this point, I have consulted an official of the Internal Revenue Bureau who is one of the best authorities in the service on all phases of the income and social security taxes.

It is his considered opinion that the so-called Marshall Girls, of Marshall, Tex., have set out on a hopeless campaign in their high-minded effort to get a decision from the Supreme Court on the constitutional questions which they have raised against the social security tax on household workers.

It is hopeless because the Supreme Court has the power to refuse to hear and decide any case which it lacks the honor and courage to decide. This court's character and political bias were openly discussed recently in the speculation as to President Eisenhower's problem of bringing the bench up to strength after the death of Chief Justice Vinson.

The Marshall Girls themselves are almost convinced that the court will refuse them a hearing, in which case the principles which their lawyers have held to be flagrantly unconstitutional would be established by default.

However, my authority, a common man himself, with little to show of a material kind for many years of exemplary work and honor, holds out a suggestion whereby millions of American housewives may frustrate this nuisance and get away with it.

The proposition is this:

When the time comes to report to the collector of your district, send him neither cneck, money nor official returns. Instead, just write him a letter about as follows:

"I hereby report that I employed certain persons in and around my household during the three months preceding (insert date.) If I owe any social security tax and if I am liable for any money which I should have withheld from their pay, please tell me how much and I will pay you. It will not be necessary for you to attach my bank account and if you attempt to attach it my banker will have in his possession a carbon of this letter proving to him that you have no reason to do so.

"I refuse to fill out any form or do any arithmetic in this matter. That would be work for which the government offers me no pay. However, I simply am not in the market for this job because I hate clerical work and mathematics and I have no time to spare.

"At our mutual convenience, I will meet you and give you the names of the persons concerned and the amounts involved. But you must do the paper work. Then I will pay you the money."

After tracking down crooks in the black market, crooks in the war contracts and crooks in the RFC, my authority has great sympathy for respectable, genteel American women who have been victims of this harassment. He assures me that there is no shadow of a criminal violation of the law involved.

The purpose of the law is to collect a tax, not to force these millions of good citizens to perform work without pay. When they express in writing a desire to pay the tax, they put the collector in the hole. If millions of them do the same thing, the tax will die the death of prohibition or, more to the point, the death of the French taxes.

Miss Vivien Kellems, an ally of the Marshall Girls and their cheerleader throughout a dismal fight, has been flying up and down the country for years, shrilling that some woman has got to get sent to prison for a wilful, flagrant violation of the withholding tax, the baby-sitters' tax or the tax on self-employed persons.

My informant in the revenue service tells me unconditionally that this never will happen because such a prosecution would advertise the Treasury's weakness and embolden women all over the country to ignore the tax absolutely. A government which is afraid to fetch even one woman before the bar and give her 30 days in jail would have little zest for a campaign to lock up a million of them.

MOPSY

LOOKING SIDEWAYS

By WHITNEY BOLTON

I was just coming from a long unprofessional visit with a celebrated psychiatric head-shaker the other night when the earth blew up around me and all I could think to do was to walk back to the witch doctor's apartment and say, "Come on out and play. I just ran into proof that you'd better go back to school."

The way it was, I had sat around this brain digger's suite for three hours arguing with him while he theorized that men—male men—were getting to be a fairly sad squadron of gents dominated by women, harassed by their bosses, yelled at by police, insulted by cab drivers, and sneered at by haberdashery salesmen.

"There was a time," he had said, "when the male human was considerable of a fellow, stout of heart and bright of eye, his muscles bulging, his teeth white and sharp, his adrenals working, and a man you would not wilfully push around. He could choke wildcats with his bare hands, he didn't take hard talk from women, he roistered and rousted and was sometimes a mess, but he was a he-man, like him or not. Chivalry, economics, politesse, and a dozen other poisons have crept into his veins in the last 500 years and sapped him. Now he fawns and cringes, he weasels, and he is more scared of women than he is of cobras. It's a humiliating fact, but that is it. Ornery but natural he-ishness has evaporated from the average man."

Everything else he said traced back to this statement and was only an elaboration of it. I had to admit that the rising tide of female domination of economics had dealt man a bruising blow, that we tended to ignore the cold glance of a shoe salesman or the raucous insults of cab drivers, but I held strongly to the belief that when the moment arose Joe Guy could still go in swinging.

The doctor who asks and gets $50 for half an hour of providing a crutch for wavering egos and psyches thought I was being naive and sounding off in a desperate effort to keep the franchise. So after three hours of strict nonplus I bade him good evening and went down the street where an explosion took place. Sixteen truck drivers and sixteen steamfitters, occupying the same public resort in celebration of the forthcoming marriages of one each of their members, ran athwart of each other and in less than 10 seconds everything my learned dealer in brain magic had told me vanished. The boys flung chairs, clubbed their fists against skulls, broke mirrors, terrorized waiters, and picked women up by their elbows and tossed them gallantly out of the field of fray.

These were robust boys, full of fun and frolic, and they managed in a comparstively few but active minutes to prove that all the psychiatric and human behavior books have a large quotient of utter nonsense running through them. This was a battle with joy in it. They relished pushing a large glass bowl of ice cubes down over a foe's ears, they took exultant pleasure in measuring off a jaw with a folded hand. They smiled when they launched a haymaker, and they laughed with deep gratification when another man's smile froze on his face and he went to the floor inert. They cried out Irish yells of warfare, sometimes in Gaelic, and sailed in with satisfied cheers. This was 32 muscled gents having a lovely brannigan and extracting every ounce of fun out of it.

The doctor was not greatly impressed. He came in at the tail end of the ruckus when most of the tables were without legs and most of the chairs were kindling in the corners. He watched the police wade through tides of broken glass and he looked upon a weaving steamfitter, braced back against the wall with a light fixture in his hand, yelling: "Up the Rebels!"

"This establishes nothing," the doctor said. "It is a purely localized manifestation having little or no impingement upon the mores of our times. I must say that I will take away only the faintest of impressions. At home, these boys are probably meek and apprehensive. Why else would they be in there battering skulls? They are trying to prove something — to themselves."

How like a great ocean is the future, which lies out yonder! One of millions of men here is perched on the mountain peak, ready to make a leap into the future. Turning from worldly things he is ready to trust God. For the man who is ready, the ocean has no threat or peril. The Church points the way and gives the plan whereby we may jump from death to life or, from this world to Heaven. Let us begin our jump this very day for the future calls to every man. God's love and wisdom and patience will be at the end of your big jump. For He said, "Come unto me and I will give you rest."

Shivers Plans For Ike Visit

AUSTIN, Sept. 25 —UP—Gov. Allan Shivers is in Washington Friday to make final plans for next month's visit to Texas by President Eisenhower.

Presidents Eisenhower and Ruiz Cortines of Mexico will dedicate international Falcon Dam in the Rio Grande Valley.

Shivers left Austin Thursday for Washington. He will return here Saturday.

At Washington, he will confer with Thomas E. Stephens, special counsel to the President, on planning for the visit, and will meet with Sherman Adams, assistant to the President, concerning the commission on Inter-Governmental Relations, to which Shivers recently was appointed.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION
THE STATE OF TEXAS

TO: H. D. Tarr and the unkown heirs and legal representatives of H. D. Tarr, deceased, Defendant, Greeting:

YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED to appear before the Honorable District Court 31st Judicial District of Gray County at the Courthouse thereof, in Pampa, Texas, by filing a written answer at or before 10 o'clock A. M. of the first Monday next after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of issuance of this citation, same being the 19th day of October, A. D. 1953, to Plaintiff's Petition filed in said court, on the 16th day of July, A. D. 1953, in this cause, numbered 10767 on the docket of said court and styled Milly Alice Tarr, Plaintiff, vs. H. D. Tarr, Defendant.

A brief statement of this suit is as follows, to-wit: Plaintiff sues on a note payable to her order, in the principal sum of $1,236.00, dated March 12th, 1949, bearing interest at the rate of six (6%) per cent per annum and payable six (6) months after date and providing for 10% attorneys' fees, alleging that such note has matured and that defendant has refused to pay the same, as is more fully shown by Plaintiffs Petition on file in this suit.

If this is not served within ninety days after the date of this issueance, it shall be returned unserved.

The officer executing this writ shall promptly serve the same according to requirements of law, and mandates hereof, and make due return as the law directs.

Issued and given under my hand and the seal of said court at Pampa, Texas, this the 2nd day of September, A. D. 1953.

Phillips Assets Hit $1 Billion

BARTLESVILLE, Okla., Sept. 25 —UP—Phillips Petroleum Co. announced Friday its assets have risen above the $1 billion mark.

The company said it is the 30th corporation in American industry to rise above the $1 billion figure in assets. Phillips Board Chairman K. S. Adams said the firm has doubled in size in the past five years and is four times larger than it was 10 years ago.

He said the figure on assets does not measure the company's huge reserves of crude oil, natural gas and light hydrocarbon raw materials or the technical knowledge of employes.

Phillips started in 1917 with 27 employes and assets of $3 millions and now has 23,000 employes and 85,000 stockholders, Adams said.

He said Phillips ranks third among oil companies in the number of U.S. patents held.

Double Trouble

NEW YORK, Sept. 25—UP—Joe's Liquor Store in Brooklyn did a thriving business in reverse Thursday night.

At 7:30 p. m. two gunmen held up the store and escaped with $250. While the clerk, Michael Amagrande, went to police headquarters to look over photographs of suspects, three thugs entered the store and took $15 and two bottles of whisky from another clerk.

What Is a Bargain in a Used Car?

We believe you want the same things in a used car you would expect in a new car — long life, trouble-free operation, comfort, style, roominess. So Tex Evans Buick Co. reconditions and guarantees better cars for YOUR USE rather than just low price. Price is important, but any car is too high, regardless of price, if it fails to do the thing you want. A better car is best for you.

"I have to go back to camp in a couple of days—what's funny about proposing here?"

HEARTBREAK ON THE HIGHWAY—His friend was hit and killed by a speeding automobile, and this little dog can't understand what has happened. Knowing only that something is terribly wrong, he keeps a tireless vigil over the body, determined that nothing more shall happen to his comrade. For more than nine hours the grieving pup kept his hopeless watch by the side of U. S. Highway 309 outside Allentown, Pa., until Humane Society agents relieved him of his vigil.

Nail Driving Booklet Was Waste Of Time

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

HOUSTON, Sept. 24—UP—It was a waste of time to fetch along a little nickel booklet on how to drive a nail when I started out to the new housing in this part of the country.

It is a fine leaflet, to be sure—put out by the Department of Agriculture in Washington. It tells how to whack the head of a brad or 10-penny nail square on the head and drive it through a slab of timber.

The learned gentlemen from the DOA were smart enough to warn the uninitiated hammer - swingers to hit around the fingers and be careful of small fry who might be in line for a near miss if the hammer slips.

More than Nails and Hammer

I found out it takes more than a hatful of nails, a hammer and a bucket of cement to build a house. At least one that will stand the wear and tear of the years and have inside plumbing, wood-burning fire place and electric light switches that won't wake Mama up in the moon of the night when the old man gets home from toil, or wherever he's been.

The "more" that is needed is the pretty green paper that Uncle Sam puts out in small and large figures at the Bureau of Printing and Engraving.

Money, that is.

Man Needs $3.5 Million

It was kind of funny to watch one of the big builders at a luncheon trying to put the arm on a bunch of bankers for a fast $3.5 million until his next take-home. The builder had just confided to several intimates, including this startled one, that he was what he called "rich rich."

He could, he said, sit down and scratch off a check for several figures and if necessary sell his vast holdings and count his stack at around $50,000,000. Which is a pretty good stack.

What this gentleman needed was cash. They do big things in a big way in Texas, but let's face it, folks. Money is getting tight. Housing is becoming a buyers' market, whether the builder likes it or not.

Costs Heap to Build

Our man has what he has mostly tied up in real estate.

The National Association of Home Builders provided the figures.

It costs a heap to build the modern home. And each year $9 billion is needed to take care of that little thing called a mortgage. That is in addition to another $3 billion in cash—this amount being supplied by the fellow who decides he is tired of cliff-dwelling and wants to put on his pajamas in a place he can call his own.

Nails cost money. So do the other things that go into a nice home. But before hammer hits nail, there has to be some cash on the barrel top.

Edward IV, of the House of York, England, was six feet three inches tall.

Televised 'Duffy's Tavern' To Be Slightly Watered Down

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 24 — UP—Comedian Ed Gardner came out of his retirement to put his "Duffy's Tavern" on television—only this version won't show much of the tavern.

"It's the WCTU and a lot of other groups," the gravel-voiced comic sighed today. "They said we can't have a lot of bottles of liquor showing.

"So we'll have a lot of action away from the tavern. It's supposed to be a Third Avenue bar in New York, but we can't make it too low-down."

He added sadly, "If I had all the money in the world I'd say I'd do it my way and be arty, but these groups might pressure the sponsor."

The "Duffy's Tavern" that was a favorite on radio for 12 years will be filmed for television, minus most of the tavern and sold to individual stations instead of being beamed by the network.

This makes Gardner the first comedian to try his show that way and he thinks it'll start a trend toward putting the networks out of business.

"Networks were doomed from the beginning," boomed Gardner in his best Brooklyn-ese.

"Eventually television will be like motion pictures, with individual good producers putting on show. Networks don't produce great shows. I never got a good idea from one in the 12 years I was on radio."

Gardner has moved back to Hollywood after years of living in Puerto Rico, where he once taped his radio show. He quit the air waves a year and a half ago "because nobody had money to put into radio any more." Then he decided to retire and travel around Europe.

He returned to show business, he announced, so he can get a good table in a restaurant.

"I got cathedral and painting-happy," he said. "I saw every darn tombstone on the Nile. Then we went to the opening of a hotel (the Hilton) in Spain and I couldn't even get a good table.

"And that," he rasped, "is why I'm in television—so I can get good tables again."

Breed Rites Scheduled

HOUSTON, Sept. 24—UP—Funeral services were set for 10 a.m. Thursday for Mrs. Adele Lubbock Breed, who died Tuesday night. She was the granddaughter of the late Gov. Frank Lubbock.

EARLY CHRISTIAN ART REDISCOVERED—A young tenant of an old Milan, Italy, building looks at an old fresco which was recently discovered in the building's unused attic. Plaster crumbling off the walls led to the discovery of the well-preserved piece of art, showing Christ on the cross. Experts feel that the figure of Christ may be only part of a large fresco underneath the entire wall of the attic.

National Dog Week . . .

Canine Psychologist Answers Queries Asked Hank Re Dogs

By HENRY McLEMORE

This is National Dog Week and as usual we have visiting us Dr. Sigmund Leash, one of the world's most distinguished canine psychologists, analysts, and psychiatrists.

Dr. Leash, whose book "Wine, Women, and Dogs" has long been a best-seller, has been spending National Dog Week with us ever since 1937, when he cured our Spot of the provoking habit of biting every man he saw wearing a double-breasted suit.

On the chance that for once he would be in an agreeable mood, I asked the Doctor if he would be gracious enough to answer some of the problems dog owners have written to me about in the past. He surprised me with a yes, and I trust that some of those who wrote me will find comfort in his answers.

Q.: Our boxer's name is Elliott, but he won't answer to any name but Chatham. It seems silly to call a dog Catham when his name is Elliott. Our next-door neighbors have a similar problem. Their dog is named Chatham but won't answer to any name but Elliott.—J. G. B., San Diego.

A.: This IS a puzzler. No wonder you are nearly out of your mind. Are you sure you say "Elliott" when you call him, or just something that sounds like "Elliott"? Stand before a mirror and practice saying "Elliott" over and over again. Better still, find a human named Elliott and see what his reaction is when you address him. If he doesn't respond, you can be reasonably sure you are one of these rare, unfortunate persons who, due to heredity, humidity, and environment, can't say the word.

Q.: Our Great Dane is forever pulling at my spectacles when I pet him, and his favorite toy, next to the milkman, is my spectacle case. Could it be that he needs glasses?—R. I. P., Philadelphia.

A.: The very fact that he has chosen as his favorite toy so large an object as a milkman strongly indicates that his vision is not what it should be. Try asking the milk company to substitute a smaller milkman than your regular one some morning. If your Great Dane ignores him it will be proof that he doesn't see him, and that he should be fitted for glasses at once. No bifocals, however. Great Danes who wear bifocals have a tendency to grow morose and sulky.

Q.: Is it normal for a miniature schnauzer to sleep on the mantlepiece? Since our Trixie learned to leap from the sofa to the television to the mantel, she won't sleep anywhere else.—J. U. G., Miami.

A.: Hoopdelay, in his "Beer, Girls, and Puppies," says: "The desire of dogs to sleep on mantlepieces is caused by a feeling of insecurity and can only be cured by convincing the animal that his future is amply provided for." This is best done by suspending a savings account book from his collar and stamping his social security number in a prominent place in his kennel.

Q.: Is it true that bassethounds are used for plowing in some Central American countries?—L. P. O., Butte.

A.: No. But I have heard of bassethounds who have been taught to paste pictures in family photograph albums.

Q.: Our poodle always stands up when the "Star-Spangled Banner" is played on the radio or television and attempts to nip us if we don't stand up too. My aunt, who lives with us, is deaf, and has taken to wearing cavalry boots in the living room. This is embarrassing when we have company. Any suggestions?—O. V. O., Bradenton, Fla.

A.: Your poodle is to be commended. Why not have members of your family take turns in poking your aunt when the national anthem is played?

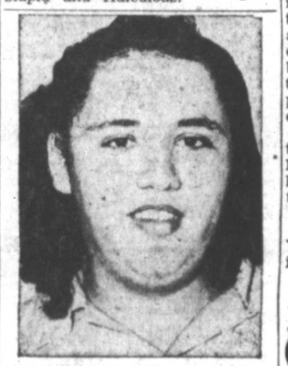

Divorcee Sues Advertiser

PEORIA, Ill., Sept 24 —UP—The divorced wife of baseball star Enos (Country) Slaughter Thursday demanded $227,000 damages on allegations a razor blade advertisement made her romance look ridiculous.

The advertisement implied she fell in love with the husky St. Louis Cardinal outfielder because she liked his smoothly-scraped cheeks, she said.

A suit filed by Mrs. Mary Slaughter of Galesburg, Ill., named her former husband and the Peoria Journal-Star as defendants.

She charged the (Gem) razor blade company advertisement appearing in the Sunday Journal-Star of May 17 made her look "foolish, stupid and ridiculous."

MIRACLE MAKER?—Taking a tip from Samson, whose hair was the source of his strength, Robert Hollingworth, 14, of Dallas, Tex., is letting his hair grow. Robert's mother says chiropractors told her that hair gave her son healing power in his hands. The boy has been offered a job paying $500 a month if the prophecy proves correct.

"HEADSTRONG" — These German acrobatic musicians currently playing in a Paris, France, club like to look at things from a different point of view. While Walton plays the guitar as though nothing unusual is happening, violinist May finds things are somewhat upside down.

Scholarships Added at Tech

LUBBOCK, Tex., Sept. 24 —UP—The Kuykendall Foundation of Lubbock established $10,000 in scholarships for 10 freshmen each fall during the next five years at Texas Technological College. The scholarships, each worth $200, are backed by the Kuykendall Chevrolet Co.
