Patience A 'Must' In Viet Policies

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy says the United States must pursue a policy of patience in South Viet Nam and avoid a get-tough slash in aid. An aid cut, Kennedy said Monday night, might bring about a collapse of the Vietnamese government.

The President, in a nationally televised interview, on NBC's Huntley-Brinkley Report, conceded there was no easy solution to the Vietnamese problem, marked by internal opposition to the Diem regime and the government's widespread arrests of Buddhists and students. Kennedy expressed the administration viewpoint in these words: "It would be a fatal mistake to let civil rights divide this country into Negroes and whites. Kennedy doesn't believe this will happen and he expects the North will continue to support civil rights."

He expressed concern that Americans might get impatient and urge a U.S. withdrawal from South Viet Nam. "That only makes it easy for the Communists," Kennedy said. "If they were to withdraw, we should use our influence in as effective a way as we can, but we should not withdraw."

On other topics, Kennedy said, "I don't think we should sound a very uncertain trumpet around the globe should the Senate refuse to ratify the limited nuclear test ban treaty after the government has committed itself to it." —The federal budget will be balanced more quickly than otherwise if Congress passes an $11-billion tax cut this year to stimulate the economy. Without a tax cut, Kennedy said, "1964 is going to be an uncertain time from an economic standpoint."

—Kennedy's remarks on Viet Nam represented an elaboration of statements he made in a similar television interview on CBS Labor Day. At that time, he said the Diem regime had to change policies and, perhaps personnel to win popular support; otherwise it would lose its war with Communist guerrillas.

The President's latest statements indicated the United States would proceed cautiously in trying to bring about governmental changes in South Viet Nam. "If you reduce your aid," he said, "it is possible you could have some effect upon the government structure there. On the other hand, you might have a situation which could bring about a collapse. We don't want that."

Lawyers Say Texas Reapportionment Is Not A Certainty

HOUSTON (AP) — Lawyers for the state claim the legislature has no guidelines for reapportionment of Texas. They contend in a revised answer to the federal lawsuit to force reapportionment that the legislature could not safely represent the state until the U.S. Supreme Court acts on similar cases now before it.

The revised answer was submitted at a hearing Monday. Set for trial Sept. 23, the suit ranks as one of the most significant politically for the state in some time. If congressional representation is readjusted to present population figures, certain areas, such as Harris County, stand to gain a congressman. Some would have to be merged with other districts to keep one.

The state's answer, filed by Asst. Atty. Gen. Albert Jones, and others, also said those bringing the suit, including Harris County Republican Chairman George Bush, have not asked relief from Congress as they should. It contended the federal court has no jurisdiction in the matter.

William Cassin, a lawyer for those asking reapportionment, told a three-judge panel at the pre-trial hearing that the suit asks only that the present state law setting up congressional districts be declared unconstitutional and that state officials be enjoined from carrying out that portion of the law.

He said the court will not be asked to reapportion the state unless the legislature refuses to do so. The suit states there has been no comprehensive congressional reapportionment since 1933 and a vote in most urban areas is worth less than in many rural areas, where a congressman serves fewer people than a congressman in an urban area.

The suit is against Gov. John Connally, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, Secretary of State Crawford Martin and others. The state's answer, filed by Asst. Atty. Gen. Albert Jones, and others, also said those bringing the suit, including Harris County Republican Chairman George Bush, have not asked relief from Congress as they should.

Chowder Is Tasty And Good For Entire Family

In quest of the "Chowder" dish origin, we begin first with a little fishing village of Brittany. After a fishing expedition, when the men were back home from the sea with their catch, it became the custom to celebrate their homecoming with a huge pot of soup. Into this pot each family contributed some ingredients — fish, vegetables, seasonings and spices.

dinner it is sure to satisfy the heartiest of appetites. Here is the recipe.

SHRIMP VEGETABLE CHOWDER
1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen mixed vegetables
1 tsp. instant minced onion
1 bay leaf
4 cups cold milk
1/4 cup instantized flour

1 tsp. salt
dash of pepper
1 can (4 1/2 oz.) shrimp, drained
1/4 cup butter
Cook frozen vegetables as directed on the pkg. — except add minced onion and bay leaf to cooking water. Drain off any remaining liquid and remove bay leaf. Add cold milk to drained vegetables. Blend in instantized flour, salt and pepper. Stir in shrimp and butter. Bring to a boil over medium heat, stirring constantly. Boil 1 min. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Thus began the "Chowder" dish which serves here as a hearty fulfilling lunch for hungry school children.

Shrimp Vegetable Chowder may be made in less than 30 minutes and yet it looks and tastes like you've been cooking all day. The time-saving trick to making Shrimp Vegetable Chowder is in using new instantized flour.

An amazing dust-free flour, Gold Medal Wondra brand of instantized flour disperses immediately in cold liquids, simplifying batter preparations and leading to new short-cut methods in gravies, sauces and chowders.

Although the physical characteristics of instantized flour are radically different from regular flour, the baking and cooking qualities are unchanged. Gold Medal Wondra flows through a sifter by itself — much like salt or sugar — eliminating the necessity of sifting instantized flour.

Whether you serve Shrimp Vegetable Chowder for lunch or

Escapism From Costain

THE LAST LOVE. By Thomas B. Costain. Napoleon in his second exile at St. Helena. Blonde Betsy Balcombe, the little tomboy who blossomed into a teen-age beauty.

These are the two principal characters of Costain's fictional account of the corporal-emperor's last years.

There actually was a Betsy, daughter of an English family in whose home Napoleon stayed briefly when he first arrived at St. Helena in 1815. As a novelist, Costain has portrayed the 50-ish ex-conqueror as being amused, and a little fascinated, by the naive but spunky little girl.

There is a lot of hero-worship on the girl's side, and as she reaches the threshold of womanhood there is always the possibility that her worship will turn into an infatuation.

The plot is concerned chiefly with Napoleon's irate but ineffectual resistance to a neurotic governor who is his jailer, and the hitchhiking of an escape plot that misses tragically.

Napoleon is depicted as a still slightly sputtering dictator, disgusted by the growing seediness of his entourage, who, forced by ill health into a final realization that his notion of starting a new life in America as a prospective millionaire is doomed to failure. It is a leisurely, rambling story, in style and content it is rather old-fashioned, in a Victorian way. Its dialogue is a bit too stilted and frequently the reader may wonder whether the characters are very real. But in its 422 pages lies a most excellent of the costume drama.

A buffet size can of crushed pineapple makes a good topping for ice cream, but it's even better if you add dried bananas to the other fruit.

5 New Boys Bring Financial Strains

By PAUL FINCH
MARACAIBO, Venezuela (AP)—With gifts beginning to arrive, the proud parents of quintuplet boys pondered today how to support five new sons in their one-bedroom home on $10-a-day income.

Tommy went to see a lawyer and learned he can't sue the government for false arrest charges.

Dear Abby...

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been wanting to join a nudist colony for a long time, but I have been against it. I accompanied him on one trip to the nudist camp and I don't care to go again.

ED FOOL: The person who is a "darned fool" and KNOWS he is a "darned fool" is no "darned fool". Tell him to shape up or ship out.

DEAR NO NAME: There is nothing "evil" about your mind, so don't let him change it. And you can tell your nature - loving hubby that in time we all might be living "with nature" in the trees again - so he should keep his shirt on.

What's on your mind? For a person and reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

DEAR ABBY: You sure made a big thing out of a little kid swiping one grape. I'm in the grocery business and I wish I had a dime for every person who helped himself to something in my store. Yesterday a woman came in for some bananas. While I was weighing her bananas, she was eating my grapes. I caught her in the act, but did I get excited? Certainly not, because I just finished weighing my plumb.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have a Loveless Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

DEAR ABBY: I hate to go to funerals. Last week a neighbor passed away and my husband wanted me to go to the funeral with him. I refused because (1) I hardly knew the man, (2) I hate to be around grieving folks, (3) I never know what to say. My husband was very angry with me because he didn't think he ought to go without me. The deceased was a childhood friend of my husband's. My husband went alone, but I still haven't heard the end of it. Was I wrong?

N. J. Motorist Is Confused

BROWNS MILLS, N.J. (AP)—A motorist had better be sure of his direction when he travels on Burlington County Road 345 - the speed limit is 50 miles an hour northbound and 25 miles an hour southbound.

The split speed limit applies to a one-mile stretch of the highway bordering Ft. Dix. A spokesman for the military installation says the army has jurisdiction over half of roads bordering Ft. Dix and has posted a 25 m.p.h. speed limit on its half. The half bordering Pemberton Township is being maintained at 50 m.p.h.

DEAR HATES: You should have gone. No one LIKES to be "around grieving folks", but the presence of friends who care enough to come is usually a comfort to mourners. You save "nothing" more at a funeral than, "I'm sorry".

Bingham said existing U.N. mechanisms covered every aspect of the "needs" of underdeveloped nations.

1963 Cotton Crop Proves Allotments Are Ineffective

By OVID A. MARTI

WASHINGTON (AP)—This year's cotton crop is offering new evidence of a lack of effectiveness of acreage allotments in controlling production of surplus crops.

This year's federal cotton program called for a reduction of nearly 10 per cent in plantings. The setback was required under an allotment and marketing quota program because demand from the 1962 crop declined and surpluses increased rather sharply.

strangle the revolutionary movements of the oppressed people and the liberation movements of the oppressed nations; to preserve the order of imperialist and reactionary domination; and then to reinstate capitalism in the socialist countries.

What farmers obviously did was to plant their best acres, use more fertilizer and insecticides and improved cultivation practices.

Red Flag reviewed the negotiations that led to signing of the limited nuclear test-ban treaty by the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union.

Technological advances already have made an old acreage allotment program ineffective for wheat.

Proposals have been advanced that controls be expressed in terms of production units—bushels for grains and bales for cotton—rather than in acres.

Survey Shows Ratification Is Imminent

WASHINGTON (AP)—Seventy-three of the Senate's 101 members either are committed to or are inclined now to vote for ratification of the limited nuclear test ban treaty, an Associated Press survey showed today.

But 27 senators either are opposed to approval or have grave reservations about a treaty that would ban all but underground testing. Of this group 12 have either announced their opposition or have voted in committee against the treaty. Fifteen are listed as doubtful.

If this lineup held, the treaty, which the Senate resumes debate today, would not be ratified comfortably but not an internationally impressive margin. If all 100 senators voted, ratification would require 67 affirmative votes.

Senate leaders are confident that some of the uncommitted eventually will vote for ratification. Unless there are unexpected developments they do not believe they will lose many of those who have indicated their present intention to support the treaty.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said he hopes that a letter President Kennedy is addressing to him and to Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana will resolve "some of the fears and misgivings" about the treaty.

It remained to be seen whether the "unequivocal assurances" Dirksen said Kennedy will give on the readiness posture of American defense under the treaty would satisfy the doubters.

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, for example, listed 16 different questions she wants answered before she makes up her mind how to vote. Mrs. Smith signed the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee's report which said that "serious and perhaps formidable military and technical disadvantages" will result from the treaty.

Outright opposition to ratification has come from eight Southern Democrats and three Western and a Texas Republican.

Those who have announced opposition include Democratic Sens. Harry F. Byrd of West Virginia, James O. Eastland of Mississippi, Russell B. Long of Louisiana, A. Willis Robertson of Virginia, Richard B. Russell of Georgia, John Stennis of Mississippi, and Thurmond of South Carolina.

Republicans who oppose ratification include Sens. Wallace F. Bennett of Utah, Carl T. Curtis of Nebraska, Barry Goldwater of Arizona and John G. Tower of Texas.

Listed as doubtful are eight Democrats and seven Republicans. They are:

Democrats — Sens. Alan Bible and Howard W. Cannon of Nevada, Paul H. Douglas of Illinois, Sam J. Ervin Jr. of North Carolina, Ernest Gruening of Alaska, Henry M. Jackson of Washington, Olin D. Johnston of South Carolina and John McClellan of Arkansas.

Republicans — Sens. Peter H. Dominick of Colorado, Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska, Len B. Jordan of Idaho, Jack Miller of Iowa, James H. Pearson of Kansas, Milward L. Simpson of Wyoming and Margaret Chase Smith of Maine.

Kennedy Says New Tax Bill "Insurance"

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy described his $11 billion tax reduction proposal today as recession insurance, and said "the prudent man does not tempt fate by unnecessarily delaying his acquisition of insurance."

Speaking to the national conference of the Business Committee for Tax Reduction in 1963, a group formed to support the tax cut, Kennedy noted that excluding war years, "this nation has had a recession on the average of every 42 months since the second World War—or every 44 months since the first World War."

"By January, it will have been 44 months since the last recession began," he said in his prepared text.

Kennedy said he would not predict that a recession will come if there is no tax cut, or even say that it would be impossible to have a recession if a tax cut were enacted.

He added, "But I do know that the prompt enactment of this bill, making certain both immediate and prospective tax reductions, will improve business conditions, increase consumer and investment incentives, and make the most of the anticession thrust that this tax cut can provide."

Delay, he said, would "court uncertainty, inadequacy and perhaps total failure."

Replying to critics who insist that the budget be balanced before taxes are cut, Kennedy noted that estimates of revenues are necessarily only estimates and often wrong.

But he added that, assuming the tax bill is enacted, "I expect to be able to submit next January a budget for fiscal 1965 envisaging an estimated deficit below that most recently forecast for fiscal 1964."

"And any increase in the federal debt resulting from these transitional budget deficits will be kept proportionately lower than the increase in our gross national product—so that the real burden of the federal debt will be steadily reduced."

Winds Batter West Texas Plains Area

Violent winds and destructive hail battered the Pampa and Lamesa areas in the Panhandle-Plains sector of West Texas late Monday. Tornado funnels whirled overhead near Midland and Corpus Christi.

At least five persons were injured and the storms inflicted considerable property and crop damage.

In Fairbairn, Central Texas, meanwhile, a man died from apparent overexertion after battling a grass fire close to his home at Early, near Brownwood. He was Nolan Baugh, 61.

Violent thunderstorms pounded two rural areas near Pampa, 8 miles north and 15 miles south of the city. The Weather Bureau said they may have been tornadoes.

South of Pampa the wind wrecked eight buildings, including barns and garages, and toppled 17 power-line poles. Three persons were sent to a Pampa hospital with injuries. Two others were injured north of Pampa as the wind upset a house trailer at an oil drilling site.

Gusts up to 70 miles per hour whipped 2.55 inches of rain with stinging force near Lamesa. Hail stones, some as big as golf balls, ruined cotton fields south and west of Lamesa. The mercury plunged 36 degrees in an hour and a quarter at Lamesa, dropping from 96 to 60.

The Weather Bureau reported twisters were sighted over open country 8 to 20 miles west of Midland in West Texas and about 15 miles north of Corpus Christi on the coast. There was no indication these twisters touched ground.

There were a few light showers elsewhere, mostly near the coast and at a few points in far West Texas, but not enough rain anywhere to ease severe drought conditions.

Weather Bureau observers predicted more thunderstorms late Tuesday or Wednesday in parts of Northwest Texas, plus the usual scattering of showers in South and extreme North Texas.

Top temperatures Monday ranged from 104 degrees at Laredo down to 89 at Dalhart and 83 at Alpine. The mercury hit 101 at Presidio.

High Point Racial Woes Continuing

HIGH POINT, N.C. (AP)—For the past three weeks, racial demonstrations have gripped this furniture and hosiery manufacturing city of 65,000. Negro marchers are demanding complete desegregation of public facilities and improved employment opportunities.

About 1,000 have been arrested, 363 of them Monday night during three demonstrations.

Last Spring, High Point was named an All-America city by the National League of Municipalities and a national magazine. Among other things, the city was cited for improving race relations.

One of those arrested Monday night was the Rev. B. Elton Cox, a field representative of the Congress of Racial Equality. He held a mass meeting Sunday that demonstrations would continue until Negro demands are achieved.

If Negroes are not satisfied with progress by late October, when the furniture market here draws hundreds of wholesale buyers, 1,000 Negroes will lie on the street in front of furniture exhibition buildings, he said.

Earlier in the evening, 43 Negroes had been arrested in demonstrations at the theater and the cafe.

Adult demonstrators were put under bond of $50 each. Police said about 100 juveniles were to be cited to juvenile authorities.

Heat-proof platters are great for broiling scallops or shrimp, or for oven cooking small whole chickens, he said.

Red Authorities Give Boot To Chinese Propagandists

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet authorities have booted out the crew and Chinese passengers of the Peking-Moscow Express, charging they tried to sneak in anti-Soviet propaganda and staged a sit-down strike when the literature was seized.

The incident, which marked the Soviet Union's second charge of propaganda smuggling against the Red Chinese, occurred over the weekend near Naushki on the Soviet-Mongolian border about 2,700 miles east of Moscow.

The Soviet Foreign Ministry in a note handed to the Red Chinese Embassy accused the Chinese of trying to prevent Soviet officials from inspecting the train when it crossed the border Saturday.

The note said the Chinese looked the customs men in the train after the officials had seized literature "of a character hostile to the Soviet Union."

Refusing to continue the trip until the propaganda material was returned, the Chinese staged a sit-down strike, locked hands, blocked the entrance of office buildings and grabbed at passing Russians, the Soviets charged.

The note said the Chinese "before the eyes of judgment, passengers, outrageously violated elementary demands of sanitary hygiene on the station premises."

"They continued to commit outrageous acts of boogymism and tried in every way to provoke Soviet officials," it said.

"The behavior of the Chinese citizens was obviously aimed at aggravating on purpose this incident that was generated solely by themselves."

The note said the sit-down forced the Russians to make up another train to take more than 100 non-Chinese passengers to Moscow, delaying their trip by 4 1/2 hours.

"The Chinese citizens who refused to continue on to Moscow and who remained on the Naushki station during the 7th and 8th of September continued committing outrages and perpetrating flagrant infractions and in all possible ways provoked Soviet officials," it said.

The note said the Chinese were subject to prosecution but that the Soviet government "guided by its constant desire to avoid aggravation of relations between the two countries has decided to confine itself to expelling the above-mentioned Chinese citizens from Soviet territory."

Death Ends Argument

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Retrieval of an old argument between two citizens over noise made by their children ended in death for government engineer Luis Chavez Alvarez.

He was shot Sunday. Police sought Dr. Gustavo Castro Davis of the National Railways medical hospital.

Officials said Castro had frequently protested over noise by the Chavez Alvarez children.

The noise-makers live in an luxurious residential section.

Tobasco, a state remnant from the heavily populated parts of Mexico, is best known for its archeological treasures unearthed by National Geographic Society Smithsonian Institution expeditions led by Dr. Matthew W. Stirling from 1922 to 1946.

Goldwater Will Decide In 1963

CLEVELAND (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., says he will decide before the end of the year whether to run for the Republican presidential nomination.

Goldwater told newsmen Monday: "No man can ignore the pressures I have been subjected to, nor ignore the young people urging me forward toward this honor."

"Early in January, when the New Hampshire primary comes, I'm going to have to fish or cut bait. If I enter one state primary, I'll probably enter them all."

He named as good Republicans he could support: Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, former U.S. Sen. William Knowland of California and New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

"Rockefeller is more conservative than the conservatives like to admit," Goldwater said.

Goldwater also appeared in two television interviews broadcast from New York Monday. In one, he said that Republicans he could wholeheartedly support for the GOP candidacy if it were not himself are William Knowland of California and Reps. Gerald R.

4th Call-Up In Six Years

WASHINGTON (AP)—This is the fourth time in six years that the federal government has called up National Guardsmen to enforce court-ordered integration at public schools or state universities in the South.

In September 1957, President Dwight D. Eisenhower federalized 10,500 Arkansas Air and Army Guardsmen in a clash with Gov. Orval Faubus over integration at Central High School in Little Rock.

In October 1962, President Kennedy called up 1,400 Mississippi Air and Army Guardsmen during the riotous integration dispute at the University of Mississippi at Oxford.

Last June, 17,000 Alabama Army and Air Guardsmen were mustered into federal service before Gov. George C. Wallace stepped aside and allowed Negroes to enter the University of Alabama.

Now, three months later, Alabama Guardsmen are back in federal service in a new administration controversy with Wallace, this time over public school integration.

Tower Not A Likely Veep

ABILENE (AP)—Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., says he has no designs on his party's nomination for vice president next year.

Tower, a conservative, got in some fresh plugs Monday night for Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., as the GOP's 1964 standard bearer.

Tower appeared at a reception in his honor, arranged by the Abilene Chamber of Commerce. He spoke briefly at the opening of the West Texas Fair.

Tower said in an interview he definitely would not be among those seeking the nomination for vice president should Goldwater head the ticket.

"I would be the first to recommend that we consider somebody from the East," he said, of the second spot.

Tower went to Odessa and later today to Andrews, for "Oil Appreciation Days."

Inspiring Tree To Go

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP)—They're cutting down the Kilmer oak Sept. 18 and time will have triumphed.

The stately white oak, believed to have inspired Joyce Kilmer to write the poem, "Trees," has succumbed to old age.

The tree, located on the Rutgers University campus, is believed to be 300 years old.

Fullbacks Are In Spotlight

By The Associated Press
Most of the talk was about fullbacks in the past few weeks. Injuries also picked up. Even a coach got bogged up in practice.

Fullback Tommy Crutcher, power man of Texas Christian, suffered a broken nose while blocking in Monday's workout. Coach Abe Martin didn't like it, of course, but he did get some consolation from learning he had more responsive fullback than anticipated. He got David Smith, Fort Worth sophomore, in at the position and was impressed with him.

At the same time, the big junior who previously had been noted for his great punting, may do some better business in Saturday night's scrimmage. As a result he moved up to No. 7 fullback Monday.

It was at Arkansas that a coach got hurt. He's Doug Dickie, who, according to Head Coach Frank Broyles, "got his shoulder separated trying to show Sam Sparks how not to separate his."

Arkansas, plagued by injuries, went to the game with Broyles called another head practice. He said, "We had more busted assignments today than we did the first day."

Rice Coach Jess Neely sent his squad through its first stiff defensive work and said the Owls "didn't look bad." Rice had only David Schwarz, sophomore end, on the injured list. He was expected to play in a cast and will sideline Marshall for 10 days.

Baylor suffered its first serious injury as sophomore quarterback Mike Marshall of Irving went out with a knee hurt. It has been placed in a cast and will sideline Marshall for 10 days.

Coach Hank Feldberg at Texas A&M was smiling over the way his passing game is taking shape. Quarterbacks Jim Lintmeader and Dan McElhany were throwing the ball with accuracy. Passing was what the Aggies needed most last season.

Southern Methodist moved a couple of sophomores up as a result of their showing in last Saturday's heavy scrimmage. They are Earl Beckley of Memphis, Tenn., who advanced to No. 1 fullback, and Charles Standifer of Dallas, who moved up to No. 1.

Texas Tech didn't get in much work. The Red Raiders spent most of their time posing for photographers and talking to sports writers at the school Monday on the Southwest Conference press tour.

Rites Today For Johnson

DALLAS (AP)—The body of Stone Johnson, Dallas Negro schoolboy who attained Olympic fame and became a professional football player, comes home today for burial.

Johnson died at Wichita, Kan., Sunday from a broken neck, suffered in a game between the Kansas City Chiefs and Houston Oilers Aug. 31. He was playing with the Chiefs, the former Dallas Texans.

The funeral service will be held Thursday at the Munger Avenue Baptist Church.

Johnson was an athlete at Madison High School in Dallas and went to Grambling College, where he became an Olympic track star and also played football.

He joined Dallas in 1961 but couldn't play with the Texans until this year because his class had not been graduated at Grambling. In an injury in high school, he sustained permanent paralysis but he survived, becoming a 9.3 sprinter in track and setting a world record in the 200 meters.

The old injury was near the base of his spine. The one that crumpled him on the kickoff play against the Oilers was to a vertebra. Doctors said they did not believe the two injuries were related.

Coach Hank Stram of the Chiefs said: "It was just one of those freak things. I've never seen a similar injury. This is the worst thing that has happened to any team I've been associated with."

Stram, general manager Jack Steadman and five player representatives of the Chiefs will be here for the funeral. The players' team captains are Len Dawson, Abner Haynes, Chris Burford, Jerry Mays and E. J. Holub.

Quarterback Session Set

The Snyder Quarterback Club's weekly session will be held at 7:30 tonight in the high school cafeteria.

This will be the first general meeting of the club since the organizational session two weeks ago. The annual water-cooler feed for school footballers took the place of last week's regular meeting.

Coaches will give their final progress report, of training for season openings, at 1:30. Tigers read themselves for a game with the Andrews Mustangs in Andrews on Friday night.

Other local teams scheduled to kickoff the 1963 season this week include Lamar Junior High 8th and 9th graders, who will travel to Big Spring Golf and Travis 9th graders, who will meet Lamesa 9th graders here at 7:30 p.m., all on Thursday, and the high school "B" team, which will play Sweetwater "B" here Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

Trading Stamps Popular At Track

By KLSO STURGEON
Associated Press Sports Writer
FLORENCE, Ky. (AP)—Gentlemen, don't bet your last two dollars that the $1.98 betting window for the bargain-hunting female isn't coming to the nation's race tracks.

Latonia Race Course at Florence, Ky., shook the very foundations of the racing world two weeks ago by announcing it would give trading stamps to women who held losing tickets.

The practice has proven so successful at Latonia so far that those who know what might happen next to keep momma happily losing her money on the ponies.

Fifteen women interviewed at the track stamp booth all thought this was just about the greatest thing that has happened in the history of the thoroughbreds.

One elderly woman was having a good time even though she had lost about $200 through the first six races.

Asked how she felt about her luck, she opened a purse about the size of a Texas watermelon and said, "Look at these (the stamps). Just think of all the nice Christmas presents I can get for my grandchildren."

It is difficult to argue with logic such as that.

"I'd rather win, that's for sure but this way I'm not a complete loser," said Betty Schaefer of Newport, Ky. "I guess you could say it takes the sting out of losing."

Zeis of Erlanger, Ky., said, "It makes losing a lot better. I can have a good time this way and get an awful lot of things for the stamps."

Another woman remarked, "At least I don't go home mad now. One man, who watched in obvious dismay as the women received their losing tickets, said, 'The thing I just can't stand about this is that my wife now buys all of my tickets. When I have a winner the man at the cashier's window thinks I'm nuts when I give him 10 or 20 $2 tickets.'

Trading stamps are given only for losing $2 win, place and show tickets which were bought at special windows.

The stamps are given only on Friday, which is designated as "Ladies Day." The track gives the same amount of trading stamps that a person would receive for a like amount of money spent at a grocery or drug store.

Track publicity man Chuck Rocco said that the real dividend stamp fan who wants to waive the free admission for women on "Ladies Day" can pay to get in and be given double the amount of trading stamps for her admission ticket.

Gentlemen, this may just be the beginning.

Guldahl Named To PGA Hall Of Fame

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—Ralph Guldahl, who dominated golf from 1936 to 1939, is the fourth Texan to be elected to the PGA Hall of Fame.

Guldahl was captain of his golf team at Woodrow Wilson High School in Dallas and won the Dallas amateur title in 1929.

He turned professional in 1931. A fantastic list of tournament triumphs followed, including the National Open twice. He was on the Ryder Cup team three times.

Guldahl now 51, is a professional in the Country Club near Tarzana, Calif.

Texas previously inducted into the PGA Hall of Fame are Ben Hogan, Byron Nelson and Jimmy Demaret.

Cubans Go To Mexico

MERIDA, Mexico (AP)—Ninety-one hungry and thirsty Cuban exiles, believed to be the largest single group yet to quit Castro's Communist island without permission, landed on Cozumel Island Sunday.

Vague reports from the isolated area off the Yucatan Peninsula said the group, including 46 women and 21 children, forced the crew of the Cuban government vessel to shift course and head for Mexico.

Reports from the Caribbean island belonging to Mexico said they immediately asked for asylum. With them were four others who apparently were crewmen of the confiscated vessel.

Harris Is In Running

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Larson Harris Jr., 21-year-old graduate student at Oklahoma State University, opened defense of his U.S. Amateur Golf championship Monday by defeating Bill Cowardin, Newport News, Va., 8 and 6.

Harris was two under par for the 12 holes played in the first round of the title chase over the 6,896-yard par 36-36—72 Wakonda Club course.

Upsets knocked out three Walker Cuppers — Dr. Ed Upegraff, of Tucson; Bill Hardsyde of Huntington Valley, Pa.; and Charlie Smith of Gastonia, N.C.

Of those in action in the 72 first round matches, the prime favorite advancing were 1960 champions Deane Beman of Arlington, erratic Billy Joe Dickson of Springdale, Ark.; two-time former champ Charlie Cox of Oklahoma City; former Walker Cup player and captain Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va.; Georgia's Jimmy Gahresen; and Steve Spray, a hometown boy who got to the quarter-finals in 1960 and plays Wakonda like he belongs to it, which he does.

Stephens To Dallas Team

DALLAS (AP)—The Dallas Cowboys have obtained Larry Stephens, former University of Texas tackle, to plug a gap left by injury of defensive end George Andrie at a result, things looked brighter today for Dallas, opening National Football League game against St. Louis Saturday night.

Three Cowboys were injured in a 27-17 exhibition victory over New Orleans last Saturday night — Andrie, quarterback Don Meredith and running back Don Perkins.

It was found that Meredith was only bruised and would be able to play this weekend. Perkins, who got a shoulder injury, will be out only a week.

Andrie, however, has a dislocated elbow and will miss several weeks.

Stephens was obtained from the Los Angeles Rams in a trade for a future draft choice. He is a three-year veteran, playing with Cleveland before going to Los Angeles last season. Things looked bright for Stephens and offensive end Gary Barnes from Green Bay, the Cowboy roster rose to 41 players. Four must be cut today to get inside the NFL limit of 37.

Cardinals Thrive On Curt's Second Career

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Curt Simmons, admittedly working on his "second career," has reached another lofty plateau while moving the challenging St. Louis Cardinals to within three games of the National League leading Los Angeles Dodgers.

The 34-year-old left-hander posted a 2-0 record in his first Monday night, stopping the Chicago Cubs 6-0 on five hits as the streaking Cardinals kept the pressure on the Dodgers by rolling to their 12th victory in 13 games.

The Cardinals haven't been this close to the front-runners since July 4. The Dodgers, who were not scheduled Monday night, have 19 games remaining to the Cardinals' 17, including a three-game series between the two teams at St. Louis starting next Monday.

Simmons says this is his "second career" — this time as a pitcher, not a thrower. "The first ended after a fling in the minors, where the former Philadelphia White Kid tried to regain the form that made him a 17-game winner for the pennant-winning Phillies of 1950.

Released during the 1960 season, Simmons got a second chance with the Cardinals—and started career No. 2. He posted a 9-10 record in 1961, with a 2.60 ERA. This season has become a key man on an in-and-out staff with a 1-4 record and a 2.60 earned-run average.

While Simmons took care of the pitching, Bill White took care of the punch for the Cardinals, becoming the third National League pitcher to reach the 100-RBI level by driving in three runs with a double and two singles.

Tonight, the Cardinals will again play the Cubs, sending Bob Gibson, 16-8, to the mound, against Chicago's Glen Hobbie, 7-9. The Dodgers will start Sandy Koufax, 22-5, at Pittsburgh against Don Cardwell, 13-13.

In the only other NL games scheduled Monday, third place Milwaukee swept a doubleheader from Cincinnati 9-2 and 7-4, and the New York Mets defeated Philadelphia 6-3.

Simmons, registering his second straight shutout and his fifth of the season, got into his only jam in the sixth inning when he was touched for a double and an infield hit with two out. Simmons then bore down and got Ron Santo to pop up.

White, joining Milwaukee's Hank Aaron and Cardinal teammate Ken Boyer as a member of the 100-RBI club, drove in a run in the Cardinals' two-run first inning against Cal Koonce and wound up the scoring with a two-run double in the seventh. Julian Javier chipped in with a homer for St. Louis.

Rookie Bob Sadowski won his fourth straight game for the Braves in the opener, limiting the Reds to six hits and bringing his record to 5-5. Eddie Mathews drove in three runs with a pair of singles, while Glendon Davis "couldn't" for the Cincinnati club with two homers.

In the nightcap, Hank Aaron tagged his 39th homer, with a man aboard in the seventh inning, to clinch it and extend Milwaukee's winning streak to seven games. Bob Hendley got the victory.

Consecutive first inning homers by Ron Hunt and Jim Hickman started the Mets off and Roger Craig managed to hold off the Braves—the rest of the way on seven hits. Craig is now 5-20. Don Hoak hit a homer for Philadelphia.

MAKING THEIR OWN BED OF COALS

Phooey On Designers Who Make 'Freakniks' Of Women

BY INEZ ROBB
This is the day to nail my women these to the door. I am so avant garde that I believe women should look like women from the cradle to the grave and not like beatniks, freakniks or creepniks.

The present trend — and the cloud over the American dress industry is considerably larger than a woman's hand — is toward the creepnik school dominated by the fancy-pants designer-boys who are trying to take over seventh Avenue, the "ragbit" and my wardrobe.

At this particular moment in fashion history, the American woman who wants to go on looking like a woman has her work cut out for her. She must realize that there is a small little cabal of so-called fashion "experts" in New York who are doing their best to foist the freaknik and the beatnik designers on the dress industry. They are in league with the fancy-pantsers to turn us all into creepniks.

Some of the most famous designers on both sides of the Atlantic are men — the greater beautiful clothes for my sex. But these men are under no circumstances to be confused with the fawning fancy-pantsers, on both sides of the ocean, who can't stand women and whose principal goal in life is to make women look ridiculous.

What this particular category of designer, if he is to be dignified by that title, specializes in is not clothes but weird costumes for women to drop dead in. Their "art," like that of so many no-talent artists, is the production of non-art. What the fancy-pantsers produce is non-clothes. The dresses they design are comparable to the canvases produced by artists who think they have achieved a masterpiece when they have smeared miscellaneous bits of garbage on a canvas.

As a matter of fact, the world has been in a period of non-art, rather than anti-art, for some time. Respectable museums have been so harassed by non-art that they have solemnly hung garbage-decked canvases and exhibited sculptor consisting of old automobiles squashed between hydraulic presses.

But there is some indication that patience is running out with the non-artist and his non-art. However, at the very moment when the art world is getting a grip on its sanity, the fashion world gives every indication that its hold is loosening.

The campaign to force acceptance of the non-clothes designed by the fancy-pantsers is sufficiently far advanced by the non-fashion "experts" as to alarm those of us who are no avant garde as to believe in being well groomed and dressed by designers who are not psychologically and fundamentally allergic to women.

The ideal of the new fancy-pants school is to recreate women to fit the old Kipling description of "a rag and a bone and a bank of hair (we called her the woman who did not care)." Kipling, without knowing it, described the first female beatnik in those two lines.

The new non-fashion cabal has dedicated itself to the proposition that the supreme fashion crime is to be well-groomed, well-coiffed and dressed respectably as a woman. The "new look" is that God forbid, of a tatterdemalion "little boy."

This is the same small group that tried, unsuccessfully, to foist the sack on American women. We resisted it to the death. And it is highly probable that most of my sex will fight, tooth and nail, the tatterdemalion ragamuffin look.

But there is a cabal that is solely interested in the "kook" designer and in "kook" clothes. Novelty, no matter how bad, is its sole criterion.

Let the creepniks in the cabal be happy with one another, but let us have no more of this campaign to turn American women into freakniks in the name of spurious fashion.

Donovan Plans June Meeting With Russians
NEW YORK (AP) — Lawyer James B. Donovan, who negotiated the release of Cuban prisoners, said Monday that he will help with a proposed plan to exchange "peace hostages" with the Soviet Union.

Donovan said he would go to Geneva next June 22 for a meeting with Russians who have expressed interest in an exchange of "peace supporters."

The object of the meeting would be to work out an agreement for a pilot exchange of 30 to 50 persons, including some close relatives of high ranking officials.

Foreign Interests In Indonesia To Cease
JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Managers of foreign estates in Indonesia have been warned that the end of their operations "is in the offing."

The official Antara news agency today quoted the head of the West Java estates inspectorate as telling managers in his region at Bandung that "it is only a matter of time now when there will be no longer foreign estates operating in the country."

Foreign-owned plantations run largely to rubber, tea, tobacco and palm oil. American, British and other European interests are represented.

Fifty square miles in West Texas, including Guadalupe Peak and El Capitan Peak, has been proposed as a national park by Texas Congressman Joe Pool.

Things All Could Do Without

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things we could all do without:
Girls who always wear tennis shoes but never play tennis. Any comedian who can't think up anything funnier to do than to knock his wife and mother-in-law. Television commercials showing people taking baths with an expression on their faces as if they were enjoying an orgy.

Professional football players who spend all their time in the locker room telling younger players what kind of job to put on their shoes. Restaurants that have an extra charge for bread and butter.

Waiters who take your order without indicating whether or not they heard you. Executives who brag about how much work they take home with them at night — after doing nothing in the office.

Children who steal their shoes at the movies and then start hunting for them out loud just as the film reaches a climax. Small grumpy children who shake hands with you with a moist lollipop glued to their tiny paw.

Fat ladies on picnics who, after an ant crawl under their girdle, glare at you as if you had scooped the insect on them.

All men over 40 who stand on their hands at the beach. And all women over 40 who admire these juvenile masculine acrobats.

Ten-cent magazines that now sell for four bits. The 20-cent hot dog that tastes no better than the 10-cent hot dog used to.

People who invite you to their house for dinner — and then serve you a warmed-over, store-bought pizza pie. Anybody who swears off smoking, except for the cigarettes he can borrow from you.

People who take up "collections" in the office for needless purposes — such as sending flowers to the boss's wife if her cat has kittens. Strangers who get mad if you answer the phone when they have dialed the wrong number.

Strangers who call up when you're taking a nap and ask, "Don't you think it's time to review your insurance portfolio?" Who, in heaven's name, has so much insurance he has to lug it around in a portfolio.

"Zippers on the back of wives' dresses. Why don't they put them in front so a woman can zip up herself?" Automatic elevators with piped-in music, thus forcing you to listen to the "Overture by William Tell" while stuck between the 20th and 27th floors.

Junior Editors Quiz on ROCKETS

ANSWER: This is because of the direction of the earth's spinning motion. The boy at upper right is throwing a ball which gains speed by the force of this throw. Think of the earth as also throwing off something — a rocket — in the direction of its own spin, or counter-clockwise. Of course, the rocket gets great speed from being boosted up from the firing pad, but the earth's spin adds considerably to it. If fired from the equator, this added speed would amount to 1,050 miles an hour.

Suppose a rocket was fired in the opposite direction, to the west from Florida, or clockwise around the earth (1). There would be two forces — the rocket's speed and the earth's spin — meeting head on, as we suggest by opposing arrows. This would slow the rocket's speed. If it is going to orbit the earth, high speed is essential to get enough centrifugal force to balance earth's gravity. Such speed is also necessary if, as in the lower picture, a rocket is to break away from earth's pull and contact a moon or planet.

FOR YOU TO DO: Spin a top. As you watch it, think of a tiny rocket being fired from it in the direction of its spin. Wouldn't the spin of the top help a great deal in throwing the tiny rocket away from it?

Gov. Dedicates Brownwood's New Coliseum On Thursday

BROWNWOOD (AP) — Gov. John Connally will dedicate Thursday a $650,000 coliseum that was literally inspired by a bolt of lightning.

Finishing touches on the building will barely be completed in time for the 8 p.m. dedication ceremony. The governor will be honored at a dinner an hour before the dedication.

A massive, circular structure of concrete and steel, the coliseum is only a few feet from the site of Soldiers and Sailors Memorial Hall, the city auditorium destroyed by fire after lightning struck the 1924 building in May, 1960.

The new Brownwood Coliseum's concrete dome, which weighs three million pounds, was poured on a mound of dirt on the ground and then lifted by 36 hydraulic jacks to the top of 36 steel columns. The structure is one of the few buildings in the world using this method. After the dome was lifted, the coliseum was built beneath it by general contractor Bennett and Forbes Inc., of Brownwood.

Girl Scouts sold sandwiches and soft drinks on the day the dome took its first two-inch journey upward Oct. 11, 1962. An estimated 150 persons watched the first slow movement. The jacks, one atop each of the 36 columns, had to move in unison, and the going was slow. By Oct. 15, the dome was up six feet; on Oct. 18 the dome reached the top, 131 feet from the ground.

The feat was publicized in several state magazines and newspapers, in a national construction publication and in at least one magazine overseas in London.

Plans for an auditorium-coliseum committee were discussed the day after the 1960 fire. By the next week, a committee began work on the project. A $650,000 bond issue was approved by a 2-1 margin Nov. 22. In April 1962, ground was broken a block from the business district.

Brownwood Coliseum was put together like a jigsaw puzzle, with 480 precast concrete seat tiers, 36 rigid beams, 28 precast wall panels and hundreds of other pieces fitted into place. The first phase of work for the air-conditioned building was on the movable stage.

Seating capacity is slightly less than 4,000. The city had funds on hand to buy only 2,254 upholstered seats and 1,000 portable steel chairs. The chairs will be replaced later by upholstered seats.

Jack Knott, a life insurance salesman and 16-foot major league baseball pitcher, was hired as coliseum manager on full-time basis.

A full slate has been lined up for the coliseum, including an orchestra, circus, county-wide Baptist revival, basketball games and several conventions.

High Cholesterol May Help Bring Coronary Disease

By JOHN BARBOUR
Associated Press Science Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—If a carefully watched group of Americans, those with high cholesterol levels not only develop more coronary disease, but they develop it more frequently—and it leads more often to a fatal heart attack.

That is one verdict from a study of 5,127 men and women in Framingham, Mass., reported today by Dr. William B. Kannel of the National Heart Institute.

It may not mean that cholesterol itself is the culprit, he said. But as cholesterol—one kind of blood fat—goes, so go other blood fat measurements.

From this, said Dr. Kannel, you can conclude that "in a population that has been saturated with fat some threshold of safety has been passed."

In the Framingham study, about 1 in 10 of the men between the ages of 30 and 40 have developed some coronary disease in the last 10 years.

Of those who have the first signs or symptoms of coronary disease, 35 per cent die within the first three weeks, 55 per cent of them suddenly.

"You can't treat sudden death," Kannel told a news conference at the national meeting of the American Chemical Society.

Obviously prevention is the answer, and the answer must come early in life.

"If you are 70 years old and have a high cholesterol level, enjoy it," Kannel said. "But if you are 30, and you have a high cholesterol level, then go out and get an insurance policy."

This is not to say that the man of 30 can't mend his ways and change his diet, Kannel said.

If there is a set of suggestions a doctor might offer a patient, Kannel said, they might be something like this:

Get up and exercise, eat a less rich diet, less of foods with saturated fats, smoke fewer cigarettes; and if you have high blood pressure, get it lowered, and if you are overweight, lose weight.

Kannel said the Framingham studies also showed that so far as heart disease is concerned, it doesn't necessarily figure on how long you have smoked cigarettes, but what your consumption is.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

By JOHN ABNEY

MEXICO CITY — So I was sitting there wrong thing to do, editing myself with Science Digest, and came upon this article entitled "How Does Your Seat Rate?"

A question like that should make any man blush, or at least wonder a little, and it would have been terribly embarrassing about six months ago except that I have managed to lose 55 pounds.

Naturally I graded myself "A" on the rating but it turned out to be a treatise by a Nebraska doctor and he was discussing the type of chairs and benches and things we sit on.

According to the doctor there is no end of things that can happen to a person for just sitting in the wrong type of chair. You can get lumbago, nervous tension, sore shoulders and torn pants if there is a loose nail in the chair.

Now any old firehorse goes charging out when he hears the bell and having turned out deathless prose for wire services for the many years I couldn't resist the conditioned reflex.

So I grabbed my pencil and stuck a press card in the band of my hat and drove out in the gorgeous green countryside to interview somebody on the subject of seats.

The first person you see is generally a good bet and he also saves you the time of looking around for somebody else so I stopped at the structure that swept up to the pine covered slopes of the big mountains and interviewed a jackass.

Cooperative fellow, too, although he didn't think much of the question. Might have been the way I asked it.

Anyhow, he said please not get so personal and went on eating grass. The Mexican burro is a very polite person. And I told him it was about chairs and the doctor from Nebraska felt that efforts to make executive-type chairs more impressive and luxurious looking result in a 19-inch long sitting section and a nearly right-angled back with no lumbar support.

The burro shook his head gently and said, "Is that a fact?"

And I told him the doctor felt that occasional chairs have the common fault of no lumbar support and excessive height for short-legged persons.

The burro was surprised by this and said, "Well, well," and added that I could quote him if I wanted.

Then we went into various other types of sitting devices and he was interested to hear that lounge chairs violate most rules of correct seating, and said he didn't even know Congress had passed any rules on how you have to sit, although he was expecting it any day.

And I told him the doctor said excessive cushioning is comfortable at first but the twisting, bending force necessary to get up may rupture an already degenerated lower lumbar disc.

And he said it sounded pretty risky and that it was probably a good thing the world was pioneered by nations of ignorant people instead of the better educated generations who are aware of dangers.

So I told him the doctor said he shouldn't sit in stadium seats because the angle of the back is somewhat small and the bleacher seat is vastly inferior. And auditorium seats are difficult and school seats make children restless and even church seats have been designed in the worst possible manner for comfort.

Then I asked him if he would care to comment on all this data and he said well, if a human race spent about one-tenth of the time just living that they put into researching all that is wrong they wouldn't have so many problems to study.

Following which he wandered off to where the grass was a little greener. And I went home and climbed in my hammock, where everything is fully supported from all angles.

This left me nice and comfortable. And as far as I could determine the jackass was happy. But it must be murder for the rest of the world.

Armless Boy Drives Train

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—Runaway in the yards.

That electrifying warning crackled over the network of the vast Santa Fe switchyards Monday evening.

A spare switch engine, No. 32, was running out of the yards onto the Santa Fe's main westbound line and was headed toward Union Station in Kansas City, Mo., at 35 miles an hour.

The yardmen didn't know it, but Larry Jones, 12, was in the cab of that engine.

He had his feet on the controls—because he has no hands. He was born without arms.

The boy climbed aboard the idling engine in the gathering dusk, put one foot on the brake, one on the throttle and took off on a six-mile ride.

The first alarm came, said L.C. Lowe, assistant trainmaster, when "the yardmaster at the east end called and wanted to know what that engine was doing, running through all those signals."

"I just wanted to keep going and going," said Larry.

With his toes, he tried to turn on the headlights, but couldn't.

The control tower spotted him off the main line, a complex of switch tracks. Suddenly Larry saw a boxcar ahead.

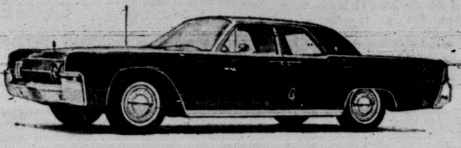

Expertly, he eased off 532 to a halt, backed off a ways, then decided to hook onto the boxcar. Just then, however, a pursuing engine caught up. Switchman Gene Schieble jumped onto 532 and slammed the emergency brake.

The first Meramec River 25-mile canoe race, Aug. 24, 1963, starts in Onondaga Cave, Leasburg, Mo., and ends at Meramec Caverns, Stanton, Mo. It never gets out of the ground.

Biggest Circus Coming To Area

CAPTAIN HUGO SCHMITT and his star pupil Diamond, the only performing African male elephant to be seen anywhere, appear twice daily at the Ringling Bros. Circus.

Philippine Strike Ends

MANILA (AP)—A week-old Philippine Air Lines strike that had paralyzed the islands' domestic services and many international flights ended today. About 2,200 employees began returning to work after reaching a temporary settlement with management on fringe benefits and allowances.

If animals could talk, they would talk to Hugo Schmitt, chief elephant trainer for Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus. While Mr. Schmitt now specializes in elephants, he has trained virtually every variety of wild animals since he began his career with the famed Hagenbeck Zoo in Hamburg, Germany.

Using his almost unbelievable knack of persuading animals to do unusual tricks, Mr. Schmitt has even taught a zebra, known as one of the most stupid of animals, to stand on the back of a reclining elephant. And, at his bidding, a South American llama leaps high over the back of an elephant.

his huge lumbering beasts have an affinity possessed by few other animal-trainer combinations. Elephants are particularly responsive to affection, but the trainer is a disciplinarian, too. "They are like children," he says. "When they are good, they get love, but when they are bad, they understand that they must be punished. The perfection with which Mr. Schmitt's elephants perform is a testimonial to the fact that they need little punishment.

These mastodontic creatures will be seen when Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus comes to Lubbock Coliseum, Sept. 17, 18 and 19 for six performances.

British Railman Dies

LONDON (AP)—The death of John Howey, 76, builder of one of the world's smallest public railroads, was announced today. Howey built the Romney, Hythe and Dymchurch Light Railway in the southeast corner of England in the 1920s. It is less than 20 miles long. Ever since, it has been carrying freight or passengers. Passengers sit on top of the cars. The army took over the railway in World War II to ferry pipes for the oil pipeline under the English Channel.

Farm Labor Panel Meets

A meeting of the Scurry County Farm Labor Consultant Committee was held this week in the County Courtroom.

The meeting was in the public interest and to comply with consultation provisions of Public Law 78. This law provides that where a shortage of domestic agricultural workers exists, Mexican Nationals may be imported to relieve the shortage. County committee members met with area representatives of the Texas Employment Commission to review current farm labor forecasts of seasonal worker needs, the estimated supply and shortages and other aspects of the Farm Placement Program for the next twelve months.

Consultation with members of this committee is of valuable assistance to TEC in serving Scurry County farmers and workers. Members of the Scurry County Committee for 1963 are E. J. Richardson, Billy McCormick, Bill Jordan, J. L. Browning and Father William Lensing.

Britisher Plans "New Frontier"

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON LONDON (AP)—If Harold Wilson becomes prime minister his Labor government will have a "New Frontier" look.

"We're all tired of seeing this country pushed around," Wilson has proclaimed. "We need to get Britain going again on all six cylinders, instead of idling on two or three."

This is similar to President Kennedy's tack in his 1960 campaign. Wilson admits Kennedy, who is 47, has shaped a "shadow Cabinet" which would form the core of a Labor administration if Harold Macmillan's Tories are beaten. About 45 party supporters in all are being groomed for other posts in a government that needs 70 ministers and deputies.

Wilson, dogged by a leftist reputation, has perched himself wilyly on the point of balance between the party's left and right. On the explosive issue of nationalization, which still divides Britons, Wilson displayed his balancing ability in a February broadcast.

"We shall have to expand publicly owned industry. We're going to rationalize steel. We are not afraid to propose the creation of a broad scientific discoveries."

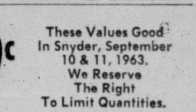

This suggests he is interested more in establishing growth points in public industry than in nationalizing 100 or so private firms at Tories charge. He indicates the state might finance and launch new pilot industries based on scientific discoveries which perhaps would be too costly for private companies to finance.

ordinary origin and tastes. He prefers beer to champagne. Wilson has seen to it that Labor's right, left and center have places in the party's high command. Five key men flank him. They are right wingers George Brown, 49, and Patrick Gordon Walker, 56, middle-rollers James Callaghan, 51, and Denis Healey, 46, and Richard Crossman, 55, who is a mastermind of the left.

OLD AND NEW TEXAS ECONOMY—King Cotton, once a major source of income in the state of Texas is gradually slipping from the economic scene as new industry moves in and takes over. Wallace Is 'Only Noise, And Gesture'

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—Gov. George C. Wallace keeps Alabama a temperature up but it's an artificial fever.
In making a political career of defiance, he has become the master of the big noise and the empty gesture. When the going gets tough, he melts.
His latest performance defying desegregation of schools in the Alabama cities as ordered by federal courts, is just one more gesture.

He knows he can't get away with it. He may think it helps him politically. When the federal government puts the squeeze on him, he can say he tried.
In his election campaign he called federal courts "bony" vowed to disobey any school integration order, and at inauguration promised "segregation forever."

The only thing wrong with the promise was that to make good on it, he'd have to be able to defy the federal government and courts successfully.
But if he could do that, any governor could on any issue, and in the end so could any citizen.

The result would be not only no government, federal or state, but not even segregation, just chaos.
He put on the "standing in the schoolhouse door" act in going through the motions of defying a federal court order desegregating the University of Alabama.

But when President Kennedy called the Alabama National Guard into federal service, Wallace trotted away.
Even as he scooped he made this announcement: "We are winning this fight because we are awakening the people of the nation to the trend toward military dictatorship."
Strange words, coming from Wallace.

Last week the officials of four Alabama communities, carefully arranged to obey federal court orders to desegregate their public schools.

They said they could meet the situation locally without Wallace's intervention. But he intervened with state troopers and stopped the desegregation in three of the cities.

From different sides in Alabama Wallace was criticized for doing exactly what he had accused the federal government of doing.

Last month he got in another empty gesture, this time on Bible reading in public schools as part of a study course.

While the Supreme Court on June 17 banned Bible reading in public schools as a religious exercise, it did not—and said it did not—ban Bible reading as part of a study course.

On Aug. 5 the Alabama Board of Education ordered the Bible read daily in all public schools as part of a study course.

The Wallace who introduced the resolution to do this said that in making Bible reading part of the study course he was not trying to get around the Supreme Court decision.

But that's exactly what he was doing. He wasn't defying the court. It only sounded that way. He was complying with the court. Nevertheless, he said: "I would like for the people of Alabama to be in defiance of such a ruling. I want the Supreme Court to know we are not going to conform to any such decision."

Wallace got very aggressive again on Aug. 21 but in a way that accomplished absolutely nothing unless he felt it built up his image as a defier.

This was at the Southern Governors' Conference at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.
He presented four resolutions attacking civil rights policies of the national administration. Mississippi's Gov. Ross Barnett cosponsored them.

But the conference took no action on any of the resolutions and Wallace didn't ask for any.

The latest defiance of federal court orders to desegregate public schools in various Alabama cities will, if he persists in it, require action by President Kennedy.

If the President uses force of any kind, and Wallace follows his usual patter, the governor once more will retreat, blaming desegregation on Kennedy, claiming he fought to the last ditch.

This may impress some people in Alabama, but all it accomplishes is to keep the state in turmoil. It doesn't stop desegregation of the schools, which is what he had vowed to do.

Fall Could See Important Farm Decisions Made

By OVID A. MARTIN
WASHINGTON (AP)—Fall and early winter may be an important period of farm policy decision-making at the grass roots.

It could weigh heavily on recommendations of the Kennedy administration and action by Congress on farming.

There apparently is a strong swing away from federal farm-aid programs among farmers and a reluctance by Congress to do anything about new farm proposals until members get a clearer idea of what the thinking is among rural people.

General farm organizations hold their conventions from county to state and national levels—in the fall and adopt resolutions on their desires.

It is also the season when farmers elect community and county committees who help administer the federal government's crop control, price support and other farm-aid programs.

The various conventions are expected to focus discussions on the growers' said defeat, at a referendum, of the Kennedy administration's new and tighter wheat control plan and their indications at public hearings that they did not want federal regulation of the marketing of potatoes.

Last year, turkey growers defeated a marketing control plan for their product.

Also likely to be discussed is a tight cattlemen are making against an administration land diversion program which would offer subsidies to farmers to establish hedges on cropland for raising more beef cattle. Cattlemen have already established pastures at their own expense object to government subsidization of new competitors.

After the election of officers the Chapter discussed the election of the F. F. A. sweetheart. Chapter members also made plans for the Father-Son get-together which will be held tonight.

Other members present at the first meeting were Tommy Hall, Joe Stansell, Bob Daugherty, Robert Miller, Henry Contreras, Bobby Hall, and Daniel Beaver.

Original U.S. Opera Has Not Been Found

NEW YORK (AP)—Five years ago the New York City Opera Company began a $3,000 national contest to find an original American opera.

Julius Rudel, general director of the opera company, announced Monday the contest was being terminated without a winner.

Rudel said more than 150 librettos had been submitted, but of 25 final composed operas that survived initial tests, none met company production standards.
