Negro Wipes Out Five Lives In Louisiana Family Congress May Consider New Farm Relief Bill Soon

Short Session To Find Leaders At Work On Problem Boulder Dam Bill Will Get First Call; May Come To Vote This Time; To Require Long Debating Plans Not Known

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Faced with a batch of unfinished business for the approaching short session of the old congress, leaders are beginning to take stock of the outlook, with a difference of opinion over whether a special session for farm relief will be necessary.

The Boulder canyon dam bill has long been in the senate. This measure of Senator Johnson of California, into a stubborn filibuster from various senators last session and while indications that it will be brought to a vote at this time, there is no doubt that it will require several weeks of debate.

Center on Appropriations The administration will center attention on passage of the appropriation bills. Boulder dam and appropriation measures alone will occupy probably the first two months of the session.

While Chairman McNary of the agriculture committee is busy to seek passage of a new farm bill, acceptable to the administration and believes it can be put into law at this session, other leaders admit the load of unfinished business offers a possible obstacle.

Senator Hoover has declared willingness to call a special session of the new congress after next March.

Santa Fe Man Is Stabbing Victim E. Jones, Slaton, Gets Knife Wounds As Pair Relieve Him of Money; Resisted Hold-Up

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal) SLATON, Nov. 10.—Joseph E. Jones, of the civil engineering department of the Santa Fe railroad company, is convalescing from knife wounds today as a result of a hold-up staged here early Friday night. In addition to his wounds he was relieved of between $50 and $60 by his assailants.

Jones was walking along the street in the rear of the railroad restaurant near the Santa Fe depot between 9 and 10 o'clock Friday night when he was halted by a white man and woman. Told to "put 'em up," he resisted what he suspected was a hijacking and the woman, producing a knife, slashed him five times about the arms.

His resistance halted, the pair relieved Jones of the currency in his pockets and disappeared into the night. Officers have been on the look-out but as yet no clue to the bandits has been uncovered.

HAVE NEW SERUM NEW YORK, Nov. 10. (AP)—Health commissioner Wynne announced today that a serum "of great value" in the treatment of lobar pneumonia had been perfected in the research laboratory of the city's department health.

Let's Make It A Grand Affair WANTED: FOR FATHER AND SON WEEK The name and address of every father-son pair between the ages of 7 and 17, in the City of Lubbock. Sign below, cut this out of the paper, and either bring it to the Avalanche or mail it to the Avalanche and name.

Flames Destroy Straton's Hotel NEW YORK, Nov. 10. (AP)—Fire today destroyed the Bible Colony Hotel owned by the Rev. John Roach Straton at Greenwood Lake. The loss was estimated at $250,000. Dr. Straton, pastor of Calvary Baptist church, said tonight he was convinced that the fire was of incendiary origin.

He would not charge, he said, that his enemies had set fire to the hotel because of his fight against Governor Smith, but he "recalled" that incendiary fires had been set in his home here several years ago after he had campaigned against capitalists and night clubs.

Heterodyne To Be Cut Out of Radio Readjustment of Stations Today Will Tend to Give Clear Channels of Air; Wave Length Altered

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—When radio fans tune through the United States they will find tomorrow they will miss an annoying companion of the last few years—the heterodyne, if predictions of radio experts are borne out.

Effective at three o'clock in the morning stations throughout the country undergo an almost complete readjustment of wave lengths and power and listeners will find for the first time eight cleared channels in each of the five zones and a large number of regional and local bands minus their usual squeal.

The changes, brought about by orders of the Federal Radio Commission, were required by the Davis amendment to the radio law and were designed to give more perfect reception and more equitable distribution of stations.

Full Effect Not Apparent The full effect of the changes on the more than 800 stations will not be seen until Monday.

Coolidge To Lead America In World Wide Observance Of Armistice Today

The Anniversary Of The Armistice (An Editorial) November 11, 1918, one minute before 11 o'clock the long battle front of contending armies of the World War was shaking with the explosions of big guns, shells and other implements of war, which were sending messages of death and destruction with every roll of smoke that came from them.

The big struggle was in full swing. For 32 months the opposing armies had been doing their best to crush their foes, and the awful toll of life and the continued flow of blood was evidence that each side was doing effective work. This day 10 years ago will long be remembered by the people of all nations, because it was on that day that the Armistice was signed, the big guns were silenced, and men who had not dared to show their heads above the trenches were crawling out for a relaxation, and rest from the long struggle.

Today is the date to observe as one of great thankfulness, that it brought to a climax one of the greatest tragedies that the world ever knew. Armistice Day is not a day for boisterous celebration; it is a day upon which we commemorate the valor of those men, both living and dead, who brought about the triumph of democracy over autocracy. Let us pause on this Sabbath day, and at one minute to 11 o'clock let us offer a solemn prayer of thanks for the peace and prosperity of the nation, in memory of those through whose lives to give, their death, gave us this peace, and make America safe for their loved ones and for ours.

Democratic Party Re-Organization To Be Considered Chairman of National Constitutional Committee Says Convention Will Be Called In Near Future

(By Associated Press) ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 10.—M. D. Lightfoot, chairman of the national constitutional Democratic committee tonight declared a convention for the reorganization of the Democratic party would be called in the near future.

The committee supported Hoover and Curtis and all Democratic candidates except Governor Smith and his running mate, Senator Robinson.

Plan Broad Policy "After consulting all leaders in all sections of the United States," Lightfoot said, "I pledge that a reorganization call shall be issued at which time duly delegated representatives of democracy from each state in the union will be given an opportunity to meet and plan for a broad liberal progressive policy that again will carry our party to greatness and future victory."

"Defeat cannot crush principle," he said.

"Training Ground" A Short, Short Story On Armistice Day, Written For The Avalanche-Journal By Al Hill, a Staff Member

Bess Bonham's boy lay dreaming of the morrow, curled up only as a boy might be, on top of the bed in a newly-borrowed Bug Scout uniform. Tightly hugged to his breast was the flag that he was to carry during the parade.

Bess Bonham had been crying; crying the sweet tears of happy pleasure. "Tomorrow he will be ten years old," she soliloquized. "Ten years old. And he has been given the sacred privilege of carrying the Stars and Stripes, in honor of the man who went to France—the man whom they think was his father."

Sinking to her knees beside the bed, the frail, happy, grieving, joyful, anxious little mother kissed the lad's hand through the silken folds of the emblem of liberty. He tightened his hold of her hand. Mumbling in his dream, he lifted the flag to his lips, then let it gently recline upon his cheek. She thought she heard him faintly whisper a prayer. "God bless Mama, and Uncle Sam."

Fearful, lest he awaken, she lifted him slowly and held him in her arms until she had arranged the bed covers. Then she placed him between the snowy sheets. "He's resting so," she thought, "I haven't the heart to awaken him. He can sleep in the uniform." And she replaced the flag beside him, then lightly kissed each of the several red bruises on his face; scars that pladdened her to look upon signs of a momentous victory for him. They were placed there by that Varnell boy whom her son had whipped for saying, "Damn this dirty old flag, anyway. It's too heavy. Wish they had another."

Leaders Tell Directors Of Amount of Taxes To Be Assessed On Project; Views Are Expressed

With the explanation that the taxes necessary to take care of the county-wide road bond issue of $2,000,000, which is to be voted on at a special election on Saturday, December 1, could not possibly ever be more than 53 cents on each $100 assessed valuation of property, and that in all likelihood this figure would not be reached, officers and directors of the Lubbock County Good Roads association studied in detail all the ramifications of the proposed bond issue Saturday afternoon.

Feared Consequences Of Insult On Daughter; Officers Say; 1 Girl Hides In Hay Stack

Feared Vengeance Brutal Means Used To Dispose of Family; Train Wheels Crush Escaping Murderer Later

(By Associated Press) LAKE CHARLES, La., Nov. 10.—Negro's mad lust to kill, believed to have been caused by fear of the consequences of his alleged insult on a daughter of Dupre Mallette, tenant farmer, led the negro, George Coleman, 40 to set on the entire Mallette family, killing the parents and three children and injuring the two other children, officers believed tonight.

Loses Own Life After concluding his party in the death orgy, Coleman lost his own life when he fell beneath the wheels of a train he sought to board at Jennings, La., to escape vengeance.

The story of the attack on the tobacco grower's home was told incoherently to Sheriff Isaac Fontenot, Jefferson Davis parish, by a 13-year-old daughter of the Mallettes, Alesia, who escaped during the shooting and hid in a hay stack until it was over.

The girl said the negro had warned her not to tell her parents of an insult offered her by the negro a day or two ago.

County Ginnings Total Is 10,000

Ideal Cotton Weather Gives Farmers Chance At Gathering Crop; Week's Ginning Light

A week of ideal cotton weather caused cotton picking and ginning in Lubbock county to take on a decided spurt during the past week as cotton growers took advantage of the sunshine to gather the fleecy staple in large quantities with the aid of additional laborers. The official estimation for the week's ginnings adds 1438 bales to the total for the season. Approximately 10,000 bales have been ginned.

With exception of the district in and around Slaton every gin in the county reported increased activity. The small number of bales reported from Slaton was caused by several days of dandy, foggy weather. The six Slaton gins turned out 285 bales while 150 additional bales were ginned in the combined gins of Woodrow, McClung, Union and Posey.

Resources of South Plains Impress Advertising Man; Importance of Air Development in Section Is Stressed

E. M. Racey, Visiting Here To Compile Data For Ad Booklet, Sees Future For Territory

"Within 10 years, if the three great major projects of community interest, now before Lubbock county citizens, namely, the Good Roads program, the municipal airport and the $12,000 advertising campaign to be run in national farm publications are carried forward creditably, the old-timers of Lubbock county will actually realize their oft-expressed wish that they could live 50 years longer and see what this country would be like, declared E. M. Racey, of the Tracy Lockwood Dawson advertising agency of Dallas Saturday.

Mr. Racey, who has been in Lubbock for the past several days, compiling data for the booklet to be used in connection with the advertising campaign about the South Plains country, said Friday afternoon that he would be wakened with a jolt and realize that this is no other country like it, or that can compare with it. People who live on the South Plains are sold on the country, they would not be here. They know in general and specific terms some of the possibilities and resources here, but it takes such a thing as this magical, from-the-clouds, view of your country to have an adequate picture of present and future possibilities.

The table-like level, upland plateau that is the South Plains, as seen from high in the air, with checker-board designs of well-planting farms, modern farm homes and barns and, in some places, the several million acres of rich agricultural soil, shows up with marvelous force, Mr. Racey said.

Contrast is remarkable in this upper plateau. The contrast between that section below the cap rock is more remarkable from the air than it can possibly be visualized from any other source of view. Going over this break in the earth's formation gives you the impression of seeing where some gigantic hand had chopped the section, scattered, wonderful, farm acres off. You see beyond the cap rock only gullies and outcropping alkali formations. That section doesn't look any better to the prospective farmer than it does to an aviator who is looking for a landing field.

The impression gained from seeing the South Plains from an airplane is not merely a novel one, but I talked to the aviators on this Aerocade trip. They have nearly all piloted planes over practically every section of the entire United States and they say this South Plains country is the greatest country they ever saw without a doubt. It is truly God's perfectly formed country.

Challenge is being Several of the aviators of the Aerocade, Mr. Racey said, expressed the desire to return to the South Plains and invest money in lands. The Fort Worth air trip, he stated, was not simply a method of faster and more comfortable travel to the Fort Worth visitors, but it was a challenge and a prophetic warning to West Texas cities that the day of air transportation is here.

Following a luncheon at the Lubbock hotel, the road workers were further explained to the fact that this amount of taxes would be enough to take care of all payments on the principal, interest and sinking fund for the 40 bonds. Basis for this figure is given as the present assessed valuation of Lubbock county property and that as the past record of growth promises to give an increase of $2,000,000 a year, within 10 years of the life of these bonds, the taxes necessary to retire would be then just half of the 25 1-2 cents on each $100. Present valuations are $23,000,000, approximately.

Year Before Assessments

Because of the fact that no bonds would ever be sold, in accordance with the clauses in all papers asking for and calling the election, unless contracts are let for construction of roads and the actual money required, the association has told that in all likelihood it will be a year or more before any bonds would be assessed on property for the bonds. Then, the amount would not be sold, not only that portion necessary to keep going on first roads contracted for. In this way it was shown that the bonds would be sold for the $2,004,000 in bonds would be needed. By that time the increased valuation would be such that the rate of tax necessary to retire them would be far less than the 25 cents mentioned.

Twenty-one Are Present

Present at the meeting Saturday night were: J. A. Rix, president of the association; A. C. McRae, Union school district director; J. A. Burroughs, Carlisle; J. J. Clements, Lubbock; T. J. Davis, Slide; L. A. Harrison, Slaton; J. E. Adams, Caldwell; W. A. Fincher, Hurlwood; David Davis, Acuff; E. T. Daniell, Slaton; George P. Kuykendall, Lubbock; Pat Nix, Canyon; J. T. Overby, Slaton; B. Sherrod, Lubbock; A. B. Davis, Lubbock; Garretts, Lubbock; W. A. Wells, Lubbock; E. L. Klett, Lubbock; George P. Pierce, Lubbock; A. L. Jones, Liberty.

Expressions of their belief in the road issue project and reports of how their various communities stand upon it were given by the out-of-town members of the association.

"It's a mighty fine thing, and I hope it can be put over," said T. J. Davis, of Slide. "The only opposition we have in our section is to will be overcome, I am sure, when the people learn the facts."

Canyon For It.

Pat Nix, of Canyon, said, "I have talked to anybody who opposes it after they learn what there is in the project. When it is explained to the Canyon people there is no question of carrying that box." He stated a meeting was to be held here on next week. "The questions I hear are as to the cost of taxes and the kind of roads to build."

"Everybody at Hurlwood seems to favor it," said W. A. Fincher. "I don't know of anybody in the community who is opposing it."

No Opposition in Slaton

J. T. Overby, of Slaton, said there was no opposition to the road issue in Slaton, except to the route of the proposed road from there to Idalou. "Slaton wants to build the local road in its own road territory."

"Slaton people feel that they are getting only that which we are entitled to and nothing more," said A. Wilson.

"I have found only one who opposes the bond issue," said A. C. McRae, of Union.

"The opposition is to taxes, most," said J. A. Burroughs, Carlisle.

Caldwell Wants Information

J. E. Adams, Caldwell: "Lot of opposition on account of taxes and wanting to know the kind of road." "I can't see how anybody can be against it," said E. T. Daniell, Slaton.

"Most of the folks of Liberty and Idalou," said A. L. Conner.

"Every community that is not on these roads," was the further statement of A. C. McRae. "will be benefited directly, because it will mean more money from the county, now being used on all present roads, and will be available for maintenance and building of the other roads."

"Finish women, like the Russian peasant women, are not addicted to color."

Another Whispering Campaign On Lubbock World War Buddies Have Interesting Time In Election of Officers Monday

Examples of the very worst "whispering" campaign imaginable, during and following the election of officers. Yet there will be refreshments, too, such as sandwiches, coffee, and smokes. All ex-service men are cordially invited to attend, whether they are members of this or any other post. And all legion members are urgently requested to be present.

Present Officers of the Lubbock Post are: H. L. Allen, commander; W. J. Strang, first vice commander; H. D. Stanley, second vice commander; Dr. J. G. Porter, third vice commander; George W. Brewer, adjutant; Paul Hardwick, finance officer; Clark M. Mullikin, historian; Harry Hill, chaplain; T. L. Lincoln, sergeant at arms; George Houston, mess sergeant; Alfred M. Scott, service officer; the football team, which during the year has received tokens of respect and honor from thousands, including the Bremen fliers and the Graf Zeppelin crew from Germany.

Throughout the country churches of every denomination and faith planned to observe the day with prayer and thanksgiving. Special services were on schedule in most of the leading churches of the capital with the accent on the continued peace of the world and high praise for the efforts of government heads to foster the movement for the outlawing of war.

Social Military Show

There will be a social show of the military, due largely to the fact that the day falls on Sunday. In the afternoon at Washington Cathedral a memorial service for Woodrow Wilson war-time president, will take place. Mrs. Wilson and probably other members of the family will attend. Mr. Wilson was buried in Bethlehem Chapel of the Cathedral.

England Greet Occasion With Much Solemnity

LONDON, Nov. 10. (AP)—Tonight a hush already seems to have fallen on this land of England. As the hour of the tenth anniversary of Armistice Day draws near, London, the heart of the empire, prepares to mark the day as a great religious commemoration with more than usual solemnity and intensity of emotion.

All Wear Flanders Poppy

Nearly every man and woman wears a Flanders poppy, artificial blooms made of aging men, blind or maimed men, twelve, even fourteen years ago. All day long legions of girls—small children when the great war raged—sold the emblems for the late Earl Haig's great fund to aid still suffering human wreckage of the conflict.

Tonight shadowed Cenotaph in Whitehall, which will center the ceremonies of Armistice Sunday, already is the focus of a mass, reverent crowd, standing bareheaded before the great empty tomb.

The ceremonial and religious services within a hollow square around the Cenotaph, beginning at 11 o'clock, together with the two minutes' silence at the hour of eleven, will hold the center of interest in the program of the day.

Hear Services of King

Wireless broadcasting will enable the country to hear the solemn service in which the king participates. Queen Mary and the ladies of the court will watch from balconies in government buildings along Whitehall, while 3,500 picked members of the British fighting services—sailors, soldiers, airmen—will be formed about the Cenotaph. Meanwhile, in Westminster Abbey and, in fact, in every place of worship in the empire, special services will be held, and in the afternoon, for the first time, a great religious mass meeting will fill Trafalgar Square.

All through the empire, on land and sea, two minutes' silence will be observed.

French War-Wounded Vets To File By In Paris

PARIS, Nov. 10. (AP)—A procession of war-wounded veterans filing past a statue of peace on the Place de la Concorde will mark the day long celebration of the tenth anniversary of the Armistice. Then the organizers went forth in search of a statue of peace. Neither ancient or modern, large or small, in bronze, marble or stone, could do the duty.

Several statues of victory, brandishing a drawn sword and blowing into a trumpet, were located.

"Father of Victory" Gives Brief Statement On Day

PARIS, Nov. 10. (AP)—Georges Clemenceau "Father of Victory" of France, today gave out a brief and cryptic message on the occasion of the tenth anniversary of the Armistice. "To my way of thinking," the aged statesman said, "the best way of celebrating this great day is for each individual to draw from his own conclusions."

Here Coleman beat Mallette over the head with the butt of his gun. Mrs. Mallette grabbed a pistol but was killed before she could use it. Coleman then killed five of the children, three of them dying almost instantly. The two others are believed to have been fatally injured. The three children killed were William, 11; Laura, 5, and Ada, 3.

The girl who fled the house, dazed and hysterical, was unable to give a connected account of the killings. As far as could be learned she did not discuss with police which girl assertedly was ravished.

Coleman, officers were told, hunted the young girl near her home Thursday by taking her into his arms and then releasing her. He seized her again before she had a chance to get away and threatened to kill her if she told anybody about the affront. Alesia was permitted to leave the spot unharmed.

Dr. V. A. Miller, of Lake Arthur, parish coroner, tonight declared the five victims had met death at the hands of Coleman.

A sudden accidental death was returned in the death of the negro, Mallette's surviving children were placed in the care of neighbors.

to take up farm relief, if necessary, and with this assurance there are signs that some of the farm leaders are willing to bide their time and take the question up in the special session with more leisure. Congressional leaders feel that the McNary-Haugen bill with its famous equalization fee provision which was twice vetoed by President Coolidge now is dead.

Hope For New Measure

Some are hopeful that a new measure, along the lines of a farm bond as outlined by Hoover and Senator Curtis, his running mate. In the campaign, might be adopted without difficulty.

But leaders have mapped out no program. Senator Curtis, republican pilot, conferred today with president Coolidge, but this conversation, like most of the discussions at this time, revolved largely around the recent election and its reactions.

The republicans have begun to disentangle the snarl expected in the selection of a successor to Curtis vice president-elect. Several senators now are in the race, including Watson, of Indiana, Jones of Washington and Fess of Ohio, from the west, and Reed of Pennsylvania and Moses of New Hampshire from the east.

It is possible that sectionalism may play a part in the determination, with both Hoover and Curtis coming from the east.

Muscle Shoals which occupied much time last session to result in the refusal of President Coolidge to approve the bill sent to him by the two houses also may receive consideration at the short session.

Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, prime mover of the proposed legislation, now indicates that he will look to the courts rather than to congress to put it on the statute books. He takes the view that the recent elections will strengthen the opposition and that it would be impossible to get enough votes to pass such a measure over the president's veto. For that reason he is hopeful that the courts will hold that the bill which the president refused to sign on the last day of last session became a law without his signature and did not die from a pocket veto.

Some minor changes have been made since the first announcement of the reallocation, and station WQY, Schenectady, N. Y., has obtained a restraining order from the District of Columbia court, which peaks against the commission's decision that it limit its night time operation.

Experience may prove that interference will result on some channels because of inadequate geographical separation. Commissioner Sykes said today. He expressed the opinion that additional stations may be squeezed into the broadcasting spectrum.

Commissioner Caldwell asked the "patience of the public" for the reallocation, "with the knowledge that through the new plan there will eventually be restored to the American public broadcasting service without parallel in the history of the art."

other scout to haul it around." The fight had occurred on the school grounds across the street. Although her boy was too young to be a member of the Boy Scouts, he was always present, it is possible, when the neighborhood troop were meeting. This afternoon he had been watching when the Varnell bully had made his disrespectful remark. So, she had been told, her boy had picked it; first to rebuke, then to tackle valiantly and to decidedly vanquish twelve-year-old Buddy Varnell.

The Scout Master had taken the flag-carrying privilege from Buddy—had given it to her son, announcing to the patrol, assembled, "Robert Bonham shall carry our colors in the parade tomorrow. He did a good deed today in fighting for this flag. His father died for it. Although Robert is not yet a member of the Boy Scouts, it is the least we can do." And the patrol had cheered.

"Robert Bonham! Your name, my son. It is the name given you by the bravest and kindest man in the world.

"They think that he was your father. You think he was your father. You should be proud of what you did today, and for what you are to do tomorrow.

"They do not know who or what I, your mother, was. They accept me as the widow of Robert Bonham—Private Robert Bonham, praise God, of the 142nd Infantry, Thirty-Sixth division, A. E. F."

"They do not know that I, your mother, was a disgraced, forsaken, unthinking girl.

"They do not know that I was on my way to the river to end it all—to murder you, as well as to take my own life—a few days before you were born.

"They do not know that Private Robert Bonham sat down on the bench by me that day in the park, when I was about to jump in the river.

"They do not know—and they shall never know—though I yearn down deep in my heart to tell everybody in the whole world, that Private Robert Bonham, in his steel-tall heart, when I cried out my story to him, put his arm around me and chattered me into leaving myself, and you, on that never-to-be-forgotten day.

"How I want the world to know that he took me, whom he had never before seen, to the hospital. That he gave me five hundred dollars, as though it were merely some loose pocket change, strugging his giant shoulders and grinning his broad smile, as he told me it was his winnings of the night before in the old army game," as he called it.

"Would that God had enriched the understanding of folks so that I could tell them what Robert Bonham did for me—and for you—God bless his memory. The world would know that he married me for my unborn baby's sake, to give you a name; knowing that he was to sail for France the very next day. They would learn that somewhere in France he made it possible for his insurance to be mine and yours, to sustain us these ten happy, lonesome, years.

"They would honor Private Robert Bonham as he should be honored, if they but knew, that they would understand why I brought you down here to Texas, to Fort Worth, to Arlington Heights, to this little cottage, erected on the very ground that might possibly mark the spot where his quarters were when he was in training here at old Camp Bowie."

"If they only knew!

"But I can't tell. I can only pray to God to guide me in helping you to learn to live up to his good name—the only name you shall ever know. He is your father, Robert—my Robert. Your father in spirit."

As ten thousand eager boys marched down Houston street and up Main, "They" did not know that the mother of the proud and snappy little color-bearer of Panther Pa-

Party Plan

Lightfoot said. "The foundation of the Democratic party is in better shape today than before election," he said, "but the temporary guiding force has suffered a crushing rebuke."

Banner About Rasbok Plan

"Six weeks before the election," he said, "it was quite generally talked in the east that Mr. Rasbok and those sympathizing with him were planning, in the event of Governor Smith's defeat, to use the machinery of the national democratic party to add prestige and dignity to the movement of the organization for the repeal of the 18th amendment."

"Mr. Rasbok's recent interview in which he says he will retain the chairmanship of the national Democratic committee, for four years and urges a continued campaign by the committee confirms the above mentioned plans. Such an attitude is intolerable, and every true Democrat will arise in renewed wrath and revolt against such an attempt."

Aided in Hoover Victory

"The national constitutional Democratic committee," he said, "had active organizations going in twenty-nine states. A compilation of the results show that we delivered to Mr. Hoover approximately 2,000,000 Democratic votes and indirectly were responsible for 800,000 more Democratic votes in the balance of the states.

"In addition there were 7,000,000 Democrats who voted for Al. Smith last Thursday, doing so largely through forces of party regularity and who today are rejoicing at his smashing defeat. This gives us a pretty good balance of power."

Rid Party of Tammany

"We constitutional democrats have a right to be happy. We have rid our party of Tammany, well, nullification ideas that have been so dangerous I honestly have saved the ideal of Democracy. believe the constitutional democrats. The importance of men is temporary. The principles of Democracy are eternal and there will be successful successors for the hose of great leaders, who in the past, have made the Democratic party great."

"The fundamental principles of our party are far bigger than any section or lam; just in the measure that we are guided by this fact, shall we as a party again become great in the nation and merit the trust of our people."

Farmers Tie Mustangs, 19-19 As Longhorns Gore Baylor Bruins By 6 To 0

Aggies Rally To Tie Game, Losing Win by Bad Kick

Much Advertised Methodist Scoring Combination Has Little Luck; Short Pass Is Farmer's Best Play

DALLAS, Nov. 10.—Twenty-one thousand persons, the greatest sports assemblage in Dallas history, saw the fighting Texas Aggies come from behind in the fleeting minutes of play today and put across the touchdown that gave them a 19 to 19 tie with the Southern Methodist University Mustangs, undefeated rulers of the Southwest conference.

Slightly less than two minutes of play remained when the break came that enabled the gridsters from College Station to substitute Mustang quarterback, took 100 yards in getting left a punt down his own territory and Outbrell, husky substitute Aggie tackle, blocked the boot. Ross Love recovered on the Mustang's seven yard strip and the oval went to the Farmers as the kick was on fourth down.

Running Plays Fall

Three running plays picked up only as many yards and the Maroon Jerseys still had four paces to make on last down. As the stands in a state bordering on hysteria, held their collective breath, Mills dropped back and flipped a pass over the line to Zaranofets.

That tied it with victory depending on the accuracy of his toe. Zaranofets try for point from placement barely went wide of the uprights. Thus the Mustangs, who had won as many as three touchdowns were down to luck to salvage a tie from the encounter.

S. M. U. Lacks Spark With Redman Hume's quarterback and ace scoring threat on the sideline with an injured ankle, S. M. U. lacked the spark that carried them to previous victories and they were fought to a frazzle by a set of Aggies that didn't know when they were beaten.

From the opening minute of play until the final gun sounded to let 2,000 Aggie rosters swarm upon the field to celebrate their "moral victory" the Mustangs advanced stronger, more versatile than their determined opponents but they simply couldn't click when clicking meant touchdowns. They compiled 22 first downs to seven for the Aggies and gained 237 yards from scrimmage against 72 for the Biblemen but in the final analysis they scored just as many touchdowns and kicked just as many goals.

Aggies Were Primed The Aggies were primed for the conference leaders, no doubt of that. With Davis on the passing end, they employed an aerial attack that apparently took the Mustangs by surprise and it was by this route supposed to be the chief feature of the Mustangs, that they pulled the game out of the fire.

Almost before the surprised Mustangs knew what it was all about their adversaries had rushed across a touchdown. Dorsey taking the kick-off rambled through the Mustangs ranks to the Methodist field line before he was dragged down and on the next play Davis shot a beautiful pass to Alabrook almost on the goal line.

Not a Mustang touched him. Zaranofets booted goal from placement.

The Mustangs came back before the quarterend to mark from their own 45-yard line straight down the field and across the Aggies goal on straight football. Only one short pass was completed in their march. Love finally went over from the two-yard line. His try for point went awry.

tremendous 40-yard pass from Reed to Trigg, Mustangs another touchdown in the middle of the second period and they made it 13 to 7 when Love kicked goal. Another heavy Reed to Love had gained 17 yards just previously.

Then the Aggies yet undaunted, turned to the air again to score just before the half. After a pretty sprint by Dorsey and a 14-yard pass by Davis to Pettit had placed the Mustang on the Mustang 20-yard line, Davis shot another one over the goal line and Conover plucked it out of the air amid a cluster of Mustangs. Try for point was blocked and the half ended 13-13.

Long a substitute Pomy end scored his team's third and final touchdown in the third period on one of the prettiest plays of the game. Standing on the 50-yard marker, Reed, tossed a short pass to Love over near the sideline starting with tacklers all around him. Long twisted and squirmed his way through a mass of Aggies and crossed the goal line standing up. Love again missed his try for point.

That was all until the Farmers, after being held scoreless for nearly two quarters, suddenly made the break in the gathering dusk that put them abreast of their rivals.

Several times in the final two periods the Pomy machine seemed to find itself and would go charging down the field for lengthy gains until it found itself deep in Aggie territory. Then the Farmers would bow their necks and the men of Morrison would stop as suddenly as they had started.

The teams that Jake played against were hard put to hold the separate pieces of the giant ball toter. When Williams reported at T. C. U. coaches Bell and Kubale, he fashioned into first class line-men.

Noble Atkins from Graham was also fullback in high school. Graham was the school for which the big center toed the mill. His freshman year at T. C. U. he worked in the line. He started at guard, but was shifted about and didn't seem able to find himself. Last year, during spring practice, Matty Bell tried him at center. He is one of the best men in the conference at that position now. He does the place kicking for the Frogs.

Walker Another Fullback Raloh Walker, hard kicking end, ran with the ball from the fullback position for Cleburne high a few years ago. Kubale has made a great deal out of the hard-working boy. Walker is a veteran tackle, played full for Kaufman high. Heavy, fast and aggressive, the Frog men termed him "tackle" and so it has been.

Robert "Red" Moore first string tackle ripped through Graham high opponents before reporting to Dutch Meyers, freshman coach. Dutch kept the big boy in the backfield during his first year and Kubale continued the practice in his second. But Red just didn't fit there, so he was shoved into the line. He will earn his letter this year at tackle. Joe Butler, reserve guard from Holland and Less Swafford, hard working tackle from Renner, both played fullback in high school.

So of the Frogs first string line five were fullbacks in their high school days, and three of the reserve linemen played the position.

Perkins Gallops 33 Yards, Giving Varsity Its Win

Cotton Palace Throng Sees Bears Falter Before The Dogged Defense of Texas University Eleven

(By Associated Press) WACO, Nov. 10.—A young Baylor team which set the southwest agog last week by triumphing over Texas Christian university met its better today and the Bruins were defeated by Texas, 6 to 0, in the only contest the Longhorns ever have won on the Cotton Palace gridiron.

A 33-yard run for a touchdown early in the first quarter by Perkins, a second string back, who entered the game because of injuries to Shelley, provided the margin of victory. Perkins took a short basket pass from Rees; outspurred two Baylor linemen, and sidestepped Washam, the only Bruin player between him and the goal line.

Kick Good Wild Perkins' attempt to add the extra point failed when the oval went wide of the uprights.

Like the clawing, ferocious animal whose name they have taken, the Bears plunged relentlessly at the Texas forward wall or turned to the air in an attempt to wrest a victory, but until late in the final quarter the Littlefield-coached team successfully thwarted every gesture they made.

With less than five minutes of play remaining Aryan took King's punt on Texas' 47-yard stripe and Gilliland and the diminutive Bear quarterback made first down and an instant later the Baylor section went into an uproar when Noble's pass to the first Douglas was good for a 12-yard gain and he halted Noble buried another that Gilliland snarled 11 yards from the Texas goal line. Noble apparently had an open field before him after he smashed through the Orange forward wall, but he juggled the ball momentarily and was halted after three yard play and a final desperate effort to score was frustrated when Rose and Tigner broke through the line of scrimmage.

Game Is Ended Texas took the ball on downs and they hammered away at the Bears' line almost in the shadow of their own goal when the time keeper's gun put an end to the fray.

Although he failed to duplicate the brilliant long distance runs that marked his play in earlier games, Gilliland was the best ground runner. On the first play of the contest he drilled right end for 17 yards, only to be called back on an offside penalty, but an instant later he ran 35 yards. Potter then attempted a place kick from the 30 yard line which failed by inches.

AGGIE FROSH WILL MEET BLINN ELEVEN
COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 10. (AP)—Coach Rowell Higginbotham's Texas Aggie freshman gridsters will meet the Blinn Memorial College team of Brenham on Kyle Field Saturday, Nov. 24, James Sullivan, business manager of athletics at A. and M. has announced. This date is the only open Saturday in the schedule of the Aggie varsity eleven before the close of the season on Thanksgiving, and the game between the freshmen and Blinn will give local fans a full sports card for the remainder of the season. Coach "Ski" Sikes, Blinn mentor and former all-conference end with the Aggies, has developed a formidable eleven in his first year at Blinn and thus far his team has lost only one game, that to the Allen Academy team by the narrow margin of one point. In the past the Aggie freshmen have met the Allen Academy eleven for their one game each year, but this season no arrangements for game with the Allen team matured and it is likely that annual game will be scheduled with Blinn in the future.

Wildcats Score Touchdown And Extra Point In Opening Minutes Of Contest

(By Associated Press) A beautiful 23-yard pass, Cheves to Hendrick, followed by a 24-yard gallop and Stevens' boot from placement in the first five minutes of play gave the Abilene Christian College Wildcat eleven a lead which was never relinquished and the Texas Tech Matadors dropped a drab game on their own gridiron here yesterday by a 7 to 0 score. Entering the tilt with the odds against them, the visitors seized the jump on their Crimson opponents and completely outfought them throughout the game.

Except for occasional short gains by Captain Walker and Hendrick, the Matadors could do little with the stonewall defense of the Morris-coached aggregation. Coach Freeland shifted the Matador lineup constantly in an effort to find an effective combination against the Christians, but the Purple team smothered everything that was started.

Tech's Passes Fall Finding the A. C. C. forward wall holding like the proverbial stone wall, Tech drove desperately to gain an opening through the aerial route, but all was in vain. Walker's heaves were often wild and those that were headed for the Tech receivers were batted down by the Wildcat secondary. Out of 23 attempts, the Matadors completed four passes.

Roy Stevens, the A. C. C. scoring ace, was responsible for the majority of the Christians' gains. The big halfback, who once wore the livery of Texas Tech, ripped off gain after gain around the Tech ends and through the line. He was aided by Captain Walker, the Matador's galloping gale, carried the brunt of the Tech attack and got away on a number of substantial gains, his interference failed to function up to par, permitting the Wildcat tacklers to drift and forward wall. Although Captain Walker, the Matador's galloping gale, carried the brunt of the Tech attack and got away on a number of substantial gains, his interference failed to function up to par, permitting the Wildcat tacklers to drift and forward wall. He is shown here practicing the art, with Half-back Sloan holding the ball.

YANKEE STADIUM, NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—They may not call them the four horsemen this year but the roaring riders of Notre Dame, playing with all the dash and skill of their famous predecessors, dealt death and destruction today to the championship hopes of the vaunted West Point eleven.

Post Mortem On Tech-Wildcat Clash

A fighting aggregation of Wildcats made the Tech offensive look its worse yesterday. Whether the Matadors were having their off day or the Christians were inspired to great heights is a matter of controversy. The crimson backs just didn't get going. Coach Freeland used his entire core of field generals in an attempt to get the plays to working, but no combination was able to penetrate the stubborn A. C. C. defense effectively.

Wide-Awake Maryland Team Defeats Highly Touted Yale Eleven; Santa Clara Bows to Stanford's Machine

Old Eli Bows to Youngsters From Maryland In "Upset" of Week; Ralph West Both Goat and Hero

(By Associated Press)
NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 10.—Yale's supposedly powerful eleven was routed by a light but fast and wide-awake Maryland team today 6 to 0, the Yale defeat being one of the most unexpected upsets of the day anywhere in the country. Maryland had not been given a chance against Yale because of its poor early season showing, but the Southerners today completely outplayed and out-guessed the Blue eleven which appeared stale, slow and overrated.

PURDUE IS BEATEN
EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 10.—With "Post" Welch, the nemesis of many a good football team playing the role of both the hero and the goat, Northwestern defeated Purdue today 7 to 6. A Dad's Day crowd of 30,000 shivering fans watched the two eleven's battle on even terms on a rain-soaked field.

Cyrus Leland, T. C. U. half-back who scored the deciding touchdown for the Frogs, is a former Lubbock high school star, and is also a former Lubbock college star. He is also a former performer of merit and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Leland, who now reside in Ft. Worth.

Bell's teams have been noted for ability to break up passes, but the Rice eleven with Danny Allnoch and Phil Ables on the tussling end completed 14 out of 24 passes tried for a total yardage of 159. The Rice offense registered ten first downs to eleven chalked up by the Frogs.

Touchdown A Surprise
The Frog touchdown came just after it seemed the Owls had retaken the most dangerous Froe bid. With six minutes to go the Frogs had the ball on the Rice five-yard line, but Rice, which acquitted itself nobly, surged forward and nailed Grubbs at the line of scrimmage.

The ball went to Rice on its own five-yard line. Kicking from behind his own goal line, Allnoch punted to the Owls 32-yard line.

Then Comes The Attack
From the 32-yard line the Frogs turned loose the attack that would win the game. Grubbs cut loose a bullet-like pass over the center of the line. Walker cut across and grabbed the pass. The pass was good for nine yards.

With only a yard needed for a first down, the Owls figured the Frogs would try a running play, but the Frogs crossed them. Grubbs tossed a pass to Leland and the play took the Rice secondary defense by surprise. Allnoch had a chance to bring Leland down on the five yard line, but Allnoch, extended from the great exhibition he had been putting up, missed the tackle, and Leland went across the line for a touchdown. The pass had netted 25 yards.

MANHATTAN, Kan., Nov. 10.—Missouri beat the Kansas Aggies in the first period of their Big Six conference football game here today. The 13 point margin gained by the Tigers before the Aggies got started proved the margin of victory, the final score being 19 to 6.

HIGHEST RENT GOES UP
PARIS.—The highest renters in Paris have to pay more rent. For 20 years the owners of the Eiffel Tower have paid but $200 a year on the land where the tower stands. The council plans to raise this amount, wherefore the radio operators who work on the little top platform almost 1,000 feet high will find their rental increased by the owning company.

Be Easy on 'Em
There are some transfers on the Army football squad who can be used in another long yell against the advantages of the liberal eligibility rules of West Point's athletic system. It is probable, especially if the Army survives as THE team of 1928, that suggestions will be made again that the team should be known as the West Point A. C.

A few of the best men on the 1928 team entered the academy from other institutions of the major classification, but the field was not cluttered up with All-Americans from other colleges as it was a few years ago.

Cagle, the sensational back, came from Southwestern Louisiana Institute, but that isn't listed as a major league spot. Murrell came from Minnesota, Sprague from Texas, Nave from Iowa State, Allen from Virginia Military Institute, and Hammack from Virginia Poly.

Some Did, Some Didn't
Among the substitutes Huber came from Georgia Aggies, Walsh from Stanford, Fulton from Minnesota, Piper from Rose Poly, and Marshall from Pennsylvania.

But on the regular starting team you will find Carlmark from Mo-line High school, Hall from McAlister high school, Dibb from Jordan high school, Perry from Bethel Prep, Messenger from New York Military Academy, and O'Keefe from Devitt Prep.

Twenty-nine of the 41 players on the squad went to the Point from high schools and preparatory schools.

This Is Consistency
Bill Yeckley, captain of the Princeton freshman football team, is a son of Ed Yeckley, of Lorain, Ohio, one of Penn State's greatest players of 20 years ago. When Bill was a little fellow the father dreamed of the day when he too would go to Penn State and crash into the varsity team. But he sent him to Princeton. And that's the story.

Wrote His Own Ticket
All during their baseball careers Connie Mack and Jack Dunn, late owner of the Baltimore Orioles, were fast friends. Dunn's admiration for the veteran Philadelphia manager approached almost the degree of worship.

Big Ten Title Is Between 2 Teams

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 10.—(AP)—Big Ten championship for 1928 tonight rested between Iowa and Wisconsin.

While Iowa zoomed to the top of the conference race by defeating Ohio state at Columbus, Wisconsin's big cardinal team went into a virtual tie for leadership by routing its traditional enemy, Chicago 25 to 6, at Camp Randall. The two undefeated eleven's clash at Iowa City next Saturday and barring upsets in their remaining games, the combat should decide the championship.

Exports of chemicals and allied products from Germany to foreign countries have advanced steadily, especially during the past two years until during 1927 they exceeded $300,000,000.

A tug of war between two freshmen squads furnished a round of amusement for the fans. With twenty huskies on each end of a rope, the rival groups tugged back and forth until exhausted and a time out was necessary. After a brief rest, the "Slimes" were instructed to go at it again and another hot contest ensued. Finally after much slipping and sliding on the slick worn turf, the South Enders, gained the upper hand and carried off their opponents.

The boys pep squad came in for their share of attention between halves with an acrobatic stunt. A member of the squad displayed his diving skill by sailing over a pyramid of forms and turning a complete flip in the air. On his last dive through the air, the lanky acrobat was the victim of a suddenly lowered pyramid which sent him sprawling. The incident furnished additional amusement for the customers.

Apparently every person present at the game came in a separate car. It appeared like there were as many cars on the outside of the field as there were fans in the stands. Further congestion at these Saturday games will call for more parking space and uniform traffic laws.

A handful of A. C. C. students made themselves heard in the stands with their everlasting cheers for the Purple and White eleven. Fifty or more of these loyal supporters made the long trip from Abilene in cars to witness the game in spite of the ruling which prevented their running a special train to the contest.

Hoosiers Gallop Over West Point Defense and Win

Cadets Watch Their Hopes For Undefeated Schedule Go Glimmering Under Feet Rockne Eleven

YANKEE STADIUM, NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—They may not call them the four horsemen this year but the roaring riders of Notre Dame, playing with all the dash and skill of their famous predecessors, dealt death and destruction today to the championship hopes of the vaunted West Point eleven.

In one of the most thrilling and dramatic finishes any gridiron grapple had witnessed this season the Hoosiers uncorked a smashing attack that beat the Cadets, 12 to 6, in a sensational upset.

Great Crowd On Hand
One of the greatest crowds in eastern football history, a jam of 86,000 spectators, roared from the vast stretches of the big ball park as Knute Rockne's warriors outplayed, outfought and outgeneraled the Soldiers in unexpectedly decisive fashion.

Notre Dame won the game with a spectacular 45-yard forward pass, thrown by Johnny Niemiec to Jack O'Brien in a desperate thrust at the Army goal in the final quarter.

Scoring for Army—Touchdown—Murrell. For Notre Dame—Touchdowns—Chevany and O'Brien (sub for E. Collins). Referee—Walter Eckersall, Chicago. Umpire—Tom Thorp, Columbia. Head linesman—F. W. Murphy, Brown Field Judge—N. E. Kearns, Depauw.

Post Mortem On Tech-Wildcat Clash

A fighting aggregation of Wildcats made the Tech offensive look its worse yesterday. Whether the Matadors were having their off day or the Christians were inspired to great heights is a matter of controversy. The crimson backs just didn't get going. Coach Freeland used his entire core of field generals in an attempt to get the plays to working, but no combination was able to penetrate the stubborn A. C. C. defense effectively.

Only once did the Matadors get within the Wildcat's 25 yard line. This was in the second period when Corley recovered an A. C. C. fumble on the visitors 23 yard line. The passing attack staged by the Matadors came near bringing scores to Tech on a number of occasions, but a trained defense for the serial game batted down Walker's passes just when it seemed that Marr, Archibald and others were headed for a touchdown.

Apparently every person present at the game came in a separate car. It appeared like there were as many cars on the outside of the field as there were fans in the stands. Further congestion at these Saturday games will call for more parking space and uniform traffic laws.

KILL KARE CLUB GUESTS OF MRS. KNIGHT

A most delightful afternoon was enjoyed by members of the Kill Kare Club Thursday afternoon when Mrs. J. Bruce Knight entertained with bridge. The rooms were quite cherry with flowers, and guests played with the usual vim for the two hours allotted.

The gracious hostess presented Mrs. McBurnett and Mrs. A. M. Brownfield lovely prizes for high count and low count respectively, at the close of the games. A delicious menu was served of buttery salad, sandwiches, broiled chicken, olives, hot tea and pineapple mousse.

Mrs. Knight's club guests were Mesdames Roy Wingard, Ike Bailey, W. H. Collins, W. H. Dallas, J. L. Cruse, W. C. Smith, A. M. McBurnett, Roy Brownfield, A. M. Brownfield, Flen McSpadden, Claude Hudgens and E. G. Alexander.

A most unique party was given recently by Mrs. Leo Holmes, complimenting her Sunday school class. Costumes as "hobos" the young people found their refreshments by going from door to door for handouts. This was reported a most thrilling event for the class.

MRS. KENDRICK HOSTESS

The Friday Forty-two club were entertained by Mrs. R. M. Kendrick on Friday afternoon, November 22nd. Colorful decorations were patriotic motifs. Flags and the red, white and blue ribbons were used with cut flowers to further add beauty to the rooms. Three tables accommodated the players and 42 was greatly enjoyed by members present.

Mrs. Pat Brothers was awarded a clever door stop for high cut low cut. These were given as the "on time prizes." Mrs. Kendrick served a lovely plate of sandwiches potato chips, olives, hot tea, salad and refrigerator cake to Mesdames Baldwin, W. C. Smith, H. W. McSpadden, Simon Higgins, Sawyer, Cruce, Gracy Brothers, Knight, Downing, Webber and Griffin.

MISS BALDWIN ENTERTAINS

The J. U. club was delightfully entertained on Thursday evening by Miss Bess Baldwin at her home. The guests arrived at seven-thirty and played bridge until a late hour. When prizes were awarded for high count and second to high, these were yellow and bath salts going to Misses Wood, McBurnett and Mildred Woodhead. Extremely delicious sandwiches, coconut kisses and tea were served to Miss Woodhead, Miss Banks, Miss Flache, Miss Fitzgerald, Miss Hulke, Miss Hamilton, Miss Martin, Miss Patterson, Miss Bell, Miss McBurnett and Mrs. Baldwin.

Mr. and Mrs. Ewell Smith entertained Tuesday evening with an impromptu bridge and radio party for a few friends and neighbors in their pretty new home on Harrison Avenue. Bridge was enjoyed at two tables while the radio brought in election returns on the presidential race. High score went to Mr. and Mrs. E. Simmons Smith. At a late hour delicious chicken salad sandwiches, pineapple salad, fruit cake and hot chocolate was served to Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Suits, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Bowman, Mr. and Mrs. E. Simmons Smith and the host and hostess.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Cobb and little daughter, Bobbie, of Seagraves, were visitors in the R. S. Watkins' home Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. J. B. Womack, of Petersburg, was shopping in Lorenzo Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Sullivan were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Parker at Ralls.

Mrs. Irvin Bounds was called to Eastland Saturday by the sudden death of her grandfather, M. F. Greenwood.

Mrs. J. T. Howell and daughter, May Tom, of Lubbock, spent the week-end in Lorenzo with Mr. Howell. They were all-day guests Sunday, treating their customers to an old-fashioned chicken dinner with everything that goes with it. So much food was left from the dinner that supper was also served at six in the evening. Both meals were pronounced successes and a nice sum of money was realized by the ladies.

Television Chain Is Made Possible By Show Merger

Combination Of Vaudeville Circuit and Radio Corporation Makes System Of Broadcast Possible

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—The reported merger between the Radio Corporation of America and the Keith-Albee-Orpheum theater circuit adds assurance to the prediction made recently that the first practical application of television will be made in the theater. This merger at present is designed for the production of talking movies which are controlled by the RCA, but the ultimate goal will be television into theaters of the combined circuit.

The reason for this is the present difficulty in broadcasting television images of any finer detail than a 24-line reproduction on a small scale.

E. F. W. Alexanderson of the General Electric company and engineering consultant for the RCA has devised a 48-line apparatus which produces an image on a much larger screen and in much finer detail. This can not be broadcast, due to waveband limitations, but it can be sent by wire.

Hooking up this form of television with the theaters it is a logical forward step.

SIGNS MABEL GARRISON
Mabel Garrison, famed operatic and concert star, has been booked for a recital at WAL, Baltimore, on November 18, according to Frederick R. Huber, director of the station.

STUDIO FOR BIRTHDAY
A new studio is a nice birthday present. And that's what WGBS, New York, got when it celebrated its fourth anniversary on Oct. 26.

BEFORE THE MICROPHONE

One of the most promising series of broadcasts scheduled for this winter is that of the Cincinnati symphony orchestra, under the direction of Fritz Reiner and Vladimir Bakaleinikoff, two prominent conductors. This music goes on the air every Tuesday evening over the new and more powerful transmitter of WLW Cincinnati.

With singers and musicians already on its roll of announcers, the NBC Pacific drama field with acquisition of John Shaw Young to its staff. Young is an alumnus of Yale, where he participated in Prof. Baker's dramatic workshop. He has written several dramatic scripts for the microphone, has directed many radio plays and played leading parts in some.

Comparing with Walter Damrosch in the east is the educational series of music lessons on the NBC Pacific drama field with acquisition of John Shaw Young to its staff.

WSMB, New Orleans, features a comedy duo every Monday and Thursday evening that has proved its popularity. They're "Smoky Joe" and "Cinders."

Broadcasters find that the latter part of the week is the more popular for listeners. So we note two important changes in radio programs from the earlier to the latter part of the week. One is that of the Sotherling Singers on the NBC system from Tuesday to Thursday. The other, also from Tuesday to Thursday, is Hank Simmons' Show Boat on the Columbia system.

Pans of Barbara Blanchard, aviation-minded soprano of the NBC Pacific system, ask her to "stay out of the air so you can stay on it." She's been flying from city to city on the west coast, less fearful of herself than her fans are.

New series on the air: Marquette University talks WHAD, Milwaukee, daily, except Saturday and Sunday at 4:30 central time.

Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, WLW, Cincinnati, Tuesdays at 8 eastern time.

Barbison concert, WOR, New York, Tuesdays at 9 eastern time.

Musicians' Club of women series, WMAQ, Chicago, last Sunday of each month at 9:15 central time.

Ben's Little Symphony, KDKA, Oakland, Fridays at 10 Pacific time.

The Bing Family, WBZ-WBZA, Springfield, Mass., Wednesday's at 8 eastern time.

English poetry, KDKA, Pittsburgh, Thursday's at 3 eastern time.

In Wisconsin and surrounding territory, the Milwaukee Tune Thinkers are the favorites of radio fans. They broadcast from WTMJ regularly. At Wisconsin's last radio show the band won first honors as Wisconsin's most popular entertainers of their sort. Yet few fans know that at the head of this popular group is a woman. She's Jean Hammond, a clever director and a good musician herself.

With educational talks and music lectures on east and west coast and into the middle west, go individual efforts of various stations. There's KDKA, Pittsburgh, with "classes" broadcast by the faculty of the University of Pittsburgh. And there's WHAD, Milwaukee, with music and talks from Marquette University.

Youngest Radio Duet

This 6-year-old boy organist and 8-year-old girl cornet player form perhaps the youngest duet in radio. They participate in the daily children's hour from KSTP, St. Paul, Minn. Eugene Frey is the organist, pupil of his father, Oscar Frey, noted Twin Cities musician. And the girl is Louise Schmidt of Red Wing, Minn.

Whirling 'Eyes' Make Television

Photo Broadcast On Wider Scope And In Finer Detail Promised For Future

BY ISRAEL KLEIN
Science Editor, NEA Service
Television of a wider scope and in much finer detail than heretofore announced is promised us if someone would build a photo-electric cell or "electric eye," sensitive enough to fill the bill. This is the only hindrance it appears. In the way of what is called a new method in television just announced by Clarence E. Ogden, president of the Kodak Electric and Manufacturing company, of Cincinnati.

Ogden, himself a well-known scientist and inventor has completed almost a year's work on television, at least up to the point of requiring the more sensitive "electric eye" before putting his apparatus to practical use. That the electric eye is forthcoming is also promised in the assurance that many electrical engineers are now working toward its perfection.

The old scanning disc method in which a view is transmitted through a series of dots cut spirally in a large revolving disk, may be succeeded by Ogden's invention if it proves as practical as it is promising. For the old method is limited at present to a small area of about three or four inches square and to a rough image less than half as detailed even as the average newspaper reproduction.

Several Cells Used
Work is progressing to produce a larger and finer image by the scanning disk method, but broadcasting limitations confine this to the laboratory.

Ogden's apparatus may also be called a scanning disk, since it is used to "scan" a view for broadcasting. It is of entirely different type. It also consists of a disk, but in place of the minute holes in the plate near the edge there are five or any other odd number of super-sensitive photo-electric cells—the kind that convert light changes into accompanying electric current surges—on the very edge of the disk.

That is for transmission. For reception a similar disk has the same number of neon or glow tubes which vary in light intensity with the varying current surges sent through the transmitting photo-electric cells.

Revolves Two Ways
This disk is set into a fork, like a bicycle wheel. It revolves on the axis held by the fork, while the fork itself—disk and all—spins at an even higher speed. The result is a sort of revolving sphere, with each cell or neon tube making a spiral path across the field of vision.

These spiral paths do not coincide but come close by one another and so cover the entire field of vision within a fraction of a second—just as the dots in the old method of disk across the field of vision horizontally and vertically.

As a result of this spiral "scanning" and the terrific speed of the apparatus, Ogden says, a much larger view can be "covered" and a finer image produced than by the old system.

The speed of Ogden's apparatus is remarkable. The disk revolves at 1000 revolutions a minute, while it is again turned with the fork at a speed of 3600 revolutions a minute. The combination, taking the five sensitive cells into consideration, forms a total of 18,000 spirals a minute or 300 spirals a second. The resultant image is as detailed as a finely reproduced picture in a magazine.

Intervals Much Shorter
With this method of television the engineers say there is a lapse of one six-hundredth of a second between the ending of one spiral and the beginning of the next. The fineness of such reproduction may be understood from a comparison with the interval between images produced on a motion picture screen. That is one-thirtieth of a second.

This television device, it is said, can be controlled in its reception and transmission so that the slower the spirals are made the coarser the image received, and the faster the revolutions the finer the picture.

RALLS NEWS

BY MRS. BOY MOSES

HOME MAKERS CLASS ENJOY SOCIAL

The Home Makers Class of the Baptist Sunday school enjoyed an interesting social meeting Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. John Willis. The very entertaining program was composed of the following numbers:

Violin Solo—Maurine Winfrey, Reading—Bertie Joe Shell, Vocal Solo—Margaret Willis, Violin Solo—Carol Mae Robbins, Piano—Frances Taylor.
After the program several unique contests were enjoyed followed by refreshments of pumpkin pie topped with whipped cream, and cocoa.

The following were present: Mesdames C. C. Kline, A. L. Winfrey, Perry Bowen, G. F. Lovern, L. Humphries, Mark Day, Mitchell, F. L. Robbins, J. M. Hale, Lester Bounds, W. F. Taylor, Jno Willis, Fred Shell, Effie J. Cadenhead, Oliver Taylor and Wheeler Keller.

MRS. RALLS HOSTESS TO LAFF-A-LOT CLUB

Mrs. P. B. Ralls was a charming hostess to the members of the Laff-a-Lot club and several friends at her home Tuesday afternoon.

The Mrs. Russell Schudell scored high.
After several interesting games delicious pumpkin pie and coffee was served.

Members present were: Mesdames A. C. Hyatt, A. L. Winfrey, Trav Richards, C. E. Dean, Russell Schudell, Roy Cooper, L. R. Rutledge, J. Ed McLaughlin, E. L. Haney and Douglas Rutherford.

Guests were Mesdames M. E. Ware, Leon Noel, W. D. Watkins, M. E. McLaughlin and J. V. Stephens of Plainview.

BAPTIST CIRCLES MEET

The members of the West Circle of the Woman's Missionary society of the Baptist church met at the home of Mrs. W. W. Gleason Monday afternoon while members of the East Circle met in the home of Mrs. G. F. Lovern. Both meetings report interesting programs.

11TH BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED

The thirteenth birthday of Miss Mary Florence Taylor was the occasion of a party dinner party Wednesday evening, when her mother, Mrs. W. F. Taylor gave it as a surprise at their home.

The table appointments were in keeping with the season, patriotic suggestions being used, and covers were laid for the following: Ruth and Bobby Moore, Lynette Birdwell, Myrie Moore, Frances Taylor and the honoree.

Several dainty and useful gifts were presented to the honor guest.

O. E. S. MET MONDAY NIGHT

Members of the Ralls chapter of the O. E. S. enjoyed an interesting meeting at the Masonic Hall Monday evening.

After a pleasant hour of sewing and conversation spice cake with nut filling and coffee with whipped cream was served to the following members: Mesdames Lane Stovall, Leon Noel, B. E. Travis, S. C. King, Bunyon Exum, Warren Hames, Jno. Birdwell and N. C. Outlaw. Mrs. R. L. Kidd was a guest.

In a business meeting three new members were elected to the club.

RALLS TO PLAY CROSBYTON MONDAY

Although the Ralls Jackrabbits are badly crippled as several of their men have met with recent injuries, the Armistice game, which will be played in Crosbyton Monday where the Ralls Jackrabbits will meet the Crosbyton team, will be witnessed by a large delegation of Ralls fans.

TWO PRETTY HOMES NEAR COMPLETION

Two pretty homes in East Ralls are nearly completed and will be ready for occupancy within a few days.

The handsome $10,000 brick belonging to Mrs. Jno. R. Ralls is located on East Watts and a $4,000 Spanish style stucco on East Tilford, which belongs to M. G. Hargrave.

Both residences are among the most beautiful homes in Ralls.

PERSONALS

Mrs. W. K. Brown and little daughter, Helen Ann, visited in Crosbyton a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe H. Webb, of Plainview, were Sunday guests of relatives in Ralls.

Johnnie Edwards and Bonnie Ellis of the Bryan-Link store in Crosbyton were visitors at a store meeting of that company here Thursday night.

Mrs. Henry Rutherford visited her husband in Lovington, N. M., a few days last week.

M. T. Brigham went to Fort Worth Thursday.

was accompanied home by her daughter, Mrs. W. W. King, of Wellington, who is a guest in the home of her parents Rev. and Mrs. B. J. Osborne this week.

Mrs. Fred Littlefield and children, of Crosbyton, have been the guests of her mother, Mrs. Jno. D. Thomason this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fort visited in New Mexico a few days last week.

J. M. Ware of Brandon, arrived Wednesday for a visit with his son, M. E. Ware and family.

Mrs. Roy Cooper and daughter, Frances, were visitors in Plainview last Sunday. Mrs. J. V. Stephen, who is Mrs. Cooper's sister, returned home with them for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Sadler were in Lubbock Monday.

Roy Cooper went to Dallas last Sunday.

Mmes. Roy Cooper and her guest, Mrs. J. V. Stephen, of Plainview, were guests of Mrs. Dewey Sullivan in Lovens Thursday.

Mmes. Russell Schudell and M. L. Hinson were Lubbock visitors Wednesday.

Messrs. Noel, Schudell and Hinson all employes at the Ford station went to Dallas this week to drive out new Ford.

E. C. Brown was a Crosbyton visitor Wednesday.

STAMFORD, Nov. 10.—A letter sent from the West Texas Chamber of Commerce headquarters here to all secretaries of member chambers of commerce and unit directors by President A. M. Bourland, and Manager Homer D. Wade, urged them to co-operate with their communities in realizing the advantages of aviation.

One of the reasons for this act on the part of the heads of the regional organization is the development that is sure to take place in aviation in West Texas since the purchase of the Texas Air Transport company by a group of financiers, headed by A. P. Barrett of Fort Worth.

This company expects to have a net work of airline routes in all of Texas, and particularly in West Texas.

SET SHOW DATE

The third annual trade show of the Radio Manufacturers' Association, representing about 98 per cent of the radio industry, will be held in Chicago on June 3, 1929.

RADIO CRIMINAL TRAP

With a radio set installed at the Carquines bridge, near Oakland, Calif., authorities are preventing many criminals escaping from San Francisco bay cities to the Canadian border.

Station KGO, San Francisco, broadcasts descriptions of criminals headed north, and men on duty at the bridge watch for them.

Intelligence tests given by psychologists have shown that Sing Sing prisoners as a group have a slightly higher rating than the "draft army" of the United States during the war.

AID IN HUNT

Radio Is Help In Finding Lost Mail Plane

OIL CITY, Pa., Nov. 10 (AP)—Radio has given another demonstration of its value.

When no word had been received from an airmail plane, flying from New York to Cleveland through rain and darkness with a cargo valued at $300,000, officials of the National Air Transport Co., at Oil City, Pa., appealed to station WLW of this city. Several announcements were made during the day's broadcasting.

That evening a telephone call came to the Oil City Derrick from Polk, a small town. A resident had seen a bright light near his home early in the morning. He expressed the belief that it was the plane.

The next morning a searching party found the demolished and partly burned plane with the body of the pilot, W. C. Hopson, still in the cockpit. It had crashed into the side of a mountain seldom visited by residents.

MICE NEST IN SET

Lives Paid Forfeit By The Rodents

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 10 (AP)—Mice which find convenient nesting quarters in radio receivers are in danger of their lives.

This was demonstrated after a local set owner became much chagrined when his speaker quit work. Aid of a service man was sought and investigation revealed a nest in the receiver containing three dead mice.

The mother had built the nest between two B battery wires carrying 135 volts. A short circuit developed with fatal results to the mice.

PIRATES PAY

Berlin Radio Outlaws Buy Others' Sets

BERLIN, Nov. 10 (AP)—Possibly Germany's "radio pirates" didn't think they would be doing someone else a good turn when they bought sets and used them without a government license. However, the 9,656 unlicensed sets seized by government officials during the past two or three years are going to do someone a lot of good.

The state of Prussia is disposing of such sets by giving them to prisons, charitable organizations, war cripples and people blinded in the war.

RADIO COLLEGE BOYS

A new standard set by station KOA, Denver, for its radio announcers is that they must have a college or university degree as a minimum educational requirement. Six of that station's seven present announcers are college graduates.

RECORD PICKUP

The Continental Limited, Canadian National-Railways train moving eastward from Vancouver to Montreal, recently picked up the English short wave station, 55W, Chelmsford, while it was passing Favel, Ontario. The reception lasted 15 minutes.

New District Branch Plant of Armour And Company to Be Formally Opened Wednesday; Schmid Named Manager

Lubbock Is Withdrawn from Amarillo District; New Plant Is Latest in Design And Type

Further evidence of the advancement of Lubbock from the small town class to the metropolitan city class is shown by the establishment of a branch house here of the Armour and Company. This city was formerly under the jurisdiction of the Amarillo branch house.

The new Armour Branch House is the latest design, fully capable of serving Lubbock and surrounding territory for many years to come. It is one of the most modern up-to-date houses, for a city of its size, in the vast Armour distributing organization which has been developed through 51 years of service.

The very newest type of refrigerator is being used in the new branch house.

ation has been installed in this new branch house to safeguard the goodness and purity of all the food products which Armour and Company distributes in the Lubbock market. The cooler in which hang the fresh meats with which the merchants of Lubbock serve their trade, is well worth your inspection. It is roomy ample alike for present and future needs. felt numb for a moment. Myrtle was with her. "What's the matter, kid?" she asked, alarmed. But Jerry quickly recovered her composure. "Nothing," she said, moving on. "I'm just excited about the party."

"Oh, so you're going? I thought you gave it up." "I Jerry replied, "it means too much to me."

Myrtle remained silent, but she looked decidedly out of sympathy with Jerry's change of mind. Jerry did not tell her about the tunic. Myrtle would go out with George before it was time for her to dress, she hoped, and make it unnecessary to reveal what she had done.

They had dinner together at the nearest restaurant and hurried home where Myrtle took time only to change her dress and shoes before she went out again to meet George. Jerry was glad to know he wasn't coming to the house for her tonight. Myrtle's disapproving silence was getting on her nerves. She felt relieved when her friend left.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—It was very well to be the hind leg of a horse or a mule for that matter.

In a world where over-supply in almost all professions is the order of the day, it's really surprising how few good "hind legs" are in the market. Broadway generally has a standing demand for such talent and yet has on its books a very few names.

It takes more than passing talent to be the "hind legs of a horse." Some of the biggest laughs of many a show have been provided by a man whose face has never been seen by thousands and thousands of audiences. But his legs and feet are extremely familiar.

Panhandle Meet Of Lutherans Is Held At Lamesa

(Special to The Avalanche-Journal)

LAMESA, Nov. 10.—The Panhandle regional district of Missouri Lutheran Synod with twenty-two pastors in attendance are meeting this week with the St. Paul Lutheran church 16 miles south of here at Spartenburg. According to the Rev. C. N. Napier, of Dallas, chairman of the publicity committee for the meeting, "the conference will discuss a number of theses as set up by an inter-synodical committee, a basis for a possible amalgamation of the Missouri, Ohio, Iowa and Buffalo Lutheran Synods."

The various regional conference will consider the thesis then the various districts of the synods and the synods themselves in convention and then if unanimously prevail the union will be consummated. The Reverend John P. Scheck, of Canyon was chosen chairman by the body. This is the annual meeting held during the four days Friday to Monday including the second Sundays of November. The pastors in attendance are G. M. Beyer, Wichita Falls, P. Klank, Olney; L. Heinzen, Vernon, J. A. Birnbaum, Vernon, J. P. Scheck, Canyon, E. M.

Manhattan's annual musical novelty will this year be a conductorless symphony orchestra. Last year it was the mechanistic symphony with steam whistles, auto horns, 20 xylophones, fire crackers and anvils, to say nothing of minor noise creators.

Robert Dallas, C. H. Napier, Dallas, Paul Kaiser, Iowa Park, W. F. Bewie, field secretary, Waco; P. F. Pismann, Cisco, L. Karcher, Abilene, J. Buhachanber, Lorraine E. Steyer, Cisco, C. J. Manhattan's annual musical novelty will this year be a conductorless symphony orchestra. Last year it was the mechanistic symphony with steam whistles, auto horns, 20 xylophones, fire crackers and anvils, to say nothing of minor noise creators.

This season the American Symphony Ensemble has turned out the first symphony orchestra to play without a conductor. It has been tried successfully, I am told, in some European cities. The idea is, so I am informed, to let the individual musicians figure out their own interpretations of a composition. When the program is arranged the musicians name a committee to decide on the interpretation. Intense rehearsal is made necessary since there is no baton to guide them.

Music fans from all over the country are coming here to watch the experiment, I am told. GILBERT SWAN. (Copyright, 1928, NEA Service, Inc.)

THIS HAS HAPPENED

JERRY RAY thinks he loves a delusion and makes up his mind to marry for money. Her plans for vacation at Atlantic City are spoiled by the loss of the money she had saved. Nothing remains but to go camping with her room mate MYRTLE on the north shore of Long Island.

Their camp is wrecked when an airplane owned by young ALESTER CARSTAIRS crashes into it. The others escape injury, but Jerry is picked up unconscious by DAN HARVEY, the pilot. Alester drives Jerry to the doctor who finds that her injury is not serious.

On the way back Alester stops at an inn for dinner and seems amused when Jerry refuses to drink. He introduces her to LEONTINE LEBAUDY, who invites them to a birthday party. Alester shows Jerry a pay time during her two week vacation and tells her that he loves her madly but does not ask her to marry him. Myrtle warns her against revealing poverty and illness to her suitor.

At the various counters girls were busy putting merchandise out for display, accompanying their movements with a running chatter of overnight confidences.

Each time it threatened to become exposed on top of the heap she deftly thrust it deeper, if she could.

And by 4 o'clock on hour before closing time, Jerry's tunic was still there. But she had begun to weaken. Of course she would return it in the morning undamaged and unsoiled. But suppose someone saw her taking it. Prying eyes were about. She would be accused of stealing. What a terrible mess she'd be in. Jerry Ray—a common thief!

"Some more returns for you," a stock girl grinned at her as she dumped an armful of merchandise down on the counter. Jerry regarded the stuff with a scowl. That was the worst of being paid in commissions. Things came back especially from charge customers.

She picked up the things the stock girl had returned and put them away. There was a lull at her end of the counter. She remembered that she had spent nearly half an hour with the woman who had bought the lace bertha. It was an expensive piece and had brought Jerry's book for the day up to a good figure.

But a shopgirl... his family simply wouldn't have it! Neither was he so keen on a mesalliance himself... if only Jerry would be reasonable, or if only he could forget her...

When Jerry was seated in the car—the black roadster—he handed her a ribbon tied box. She opened it eagerly and for an instant it seemed to Jerry that she must be dreaming. Surely she was not merely a little shopgirl going to a party in a dress she did not own.

And Jerry didn't know anything about it half the time. Unless the customer paid cash. Then she had to talk to the sales man. And no matter how tactfully he tried to refuse she always had to take the goods back. Even when it was the safest guess in the world that they had been worn.

Outside the door she turned weak, her knees trembled and her hands

One glance at her slippers satisfied him that she was in evening clothes. He grasped her hands caressingly. Jerry's beauty always moved him.

Orchids in Jerry's eyes were the symbol of luxury. And Alester had given her three! They cost at least $20 heard—twenty five dollars apiece!

He was starting the car. She looked up at him with dewy eyes. "Thank you," they seemed to say. He looked around and caught Jerry's expression. Her lips uttered what she thought that Alester wanted to make her happy.

Today Marks The Tenth Anniversary Of Armistice

Historic Treaty Brought Bloodiest Conflict To Close

Writer Gives Vivid Word Picture Of Scene At The Signing Of Pact To End World War

BY KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—It is midnight 10 years ago—midnight of November 10, 1918, November 11, the day that is to be the day of days of the world war, is a-borning. Yet in those still, small hours of its birth this day that is to be set apart from all others is yet just another endless day of war.

Along the western front the guns still are rumbling, their nightly message of havoc and wrath. The dead of yesterday's battles lie unburied where they fell; the tide of human wreckage seeps back in ambulance or on stretchers or with anguished groans over by-ways and shell-torn fields. The wounded must still be thrust aside that the tide of the living, streaming up through the darkness for the battles of tomorrow, may flow unchecked.

From a room in the state department a silent telegraph wire stretches away to the coast and so under the sea to France. In an adjoining room, still cluttered with the rubbish and disorder of yesterday's business, a little group of weary officials and newspapermen await Armistice Day and night. It has been a ceaseless vigil at that wire which will bring official word that war must go on or that the will of the German people in revolt would enforce acceptance of the armistice terms.

The slow minutes drag by. At 2 a. m. November 11, 1918, has come and gone and still it is just another winter day of war. Over wires a few hours before had come word that "William Hohenzollern, the fallen war-lord, had reached a refuge in Holland in his flight from Germany. The night communique from Pershing had just filtered in telling of the fighting of November 10 by the American First and Second armies and of six villages wrested from enemy hands between the Meuse and Moselle. Still the waiting wire was silent.

Another half hour or more, then a sudden "tick tick" at his elbow waked the drowsing operator. The metallic voice of the instrument seemed shrill and clamorous as it began stuttering out its fateful message that the armistice had been signed, that the war would be over and fighting cease at 11 a. m. French time, November 11 had become Armistice Day.

A glance back over the crowded files buried out of Washington over the Associated Press wires on that day tells the story of what followed in epic fashion. It was 2.45 a. m. when the "flash" of the signing of the armistice terms leaped out to blaze a joyous pathway up and down across the nation.

The official announcement came verbally from the state department. President Wilson was aroused at the White House immediately, but made no comment until later. The capital city, deep in slumber, knew nothing all this for hours. Even then it wakened slowly to realization that peace had come at last.

Congress was in brief recess, but moved to meet in joint session at 1 p. m. to hear President Wilson announce the terms of the German capitulation. A morning poll showed less than 100 senators or house members in the city.

A war department order stopped 300,000 men, already en route to join the more than 1,500,000 in home camps preparing to back up Pershing's 2,000,000 troops in France. All outstanding draft calls were canceled before 9 a. m. by presidential order.

By 10 a. m. President Wilson issued a brief proclamation to "My Fellow Countrymen" telling of the armistice and that "everything for which America fought had been accomplished.

"It now will be our fortunate duty to assist by example, by sober, friendly counsel and by material aid in the establishment of just democracy throughout the world," the proclamation said.

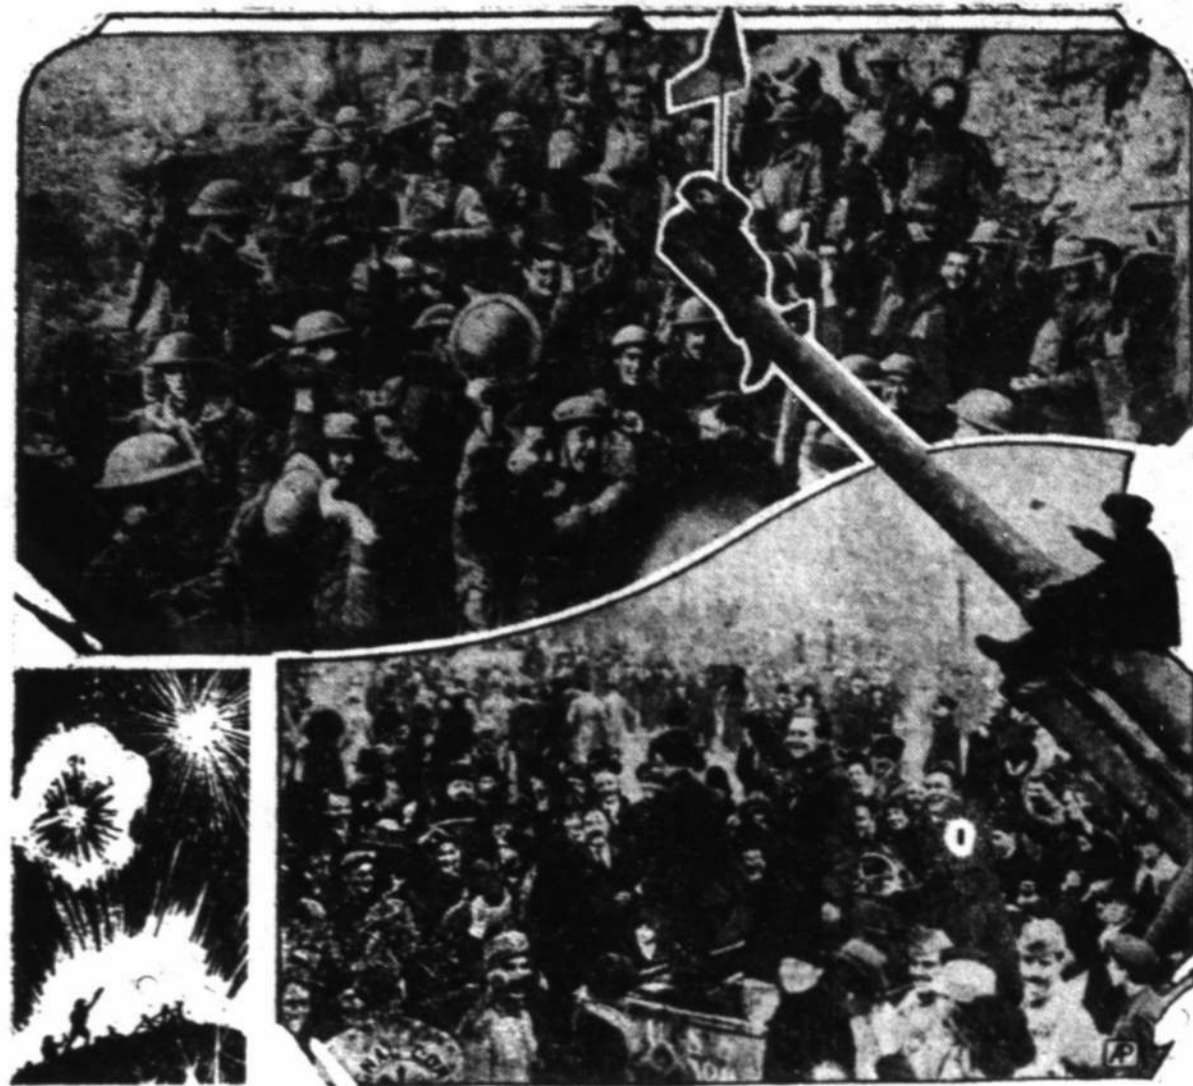

There were repeated bursts of cheers in the house chamber as the president read the terms of the armistice. Between times there was dead silence that no word he said might be lost.

Government departments were all closed. War Trade Board employees, dancing behind a band, led the way to the White House to be greeted by the president from the portico. An hour later he was driving down Pennsylvania avenue through lanes of cheering, happy people.

By noon Fuel Administrator Garfield had suspended the lightless night order. Plans to annual all-ceremony were formulated. Senator Sheppard of Texas announced he would still press for final action on the "war time prohibition bill" to cover the demobilization period. To a group of state administrators Administrator Herbert Hoover said: "The war has been brought to an end in no small measure by starvation itself and it cannot be our business to maintain starvation after peace."

President Wilson, accompanied by Mrs. Wilson, motored down Pennsylvania avenue after dark to watch the wild celebration. He was the center of a noisy demonstration. The president and cabinet members attended a reception at the Italian embassy, their first social diversion of the sort since the beginning of the war.

And it was thus the first Armistice Day came to Washington.

Ten years ago November 11, the world went wild. A pictorial record of that first Armistice Day has been preserved by the official U. S. Signal Corps photos. A joyous scene in Paris (below) reflects the thanksgiving spirit. Above is a group of doughboys greeting the news of the war's end.

Armistice News Unknown For Month

Fleeing Prisoner Was In Ignorance Of Pact For Thirty Days After Its Signature

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 10 (AP)—Armistice Day for millions of ex-servicemen is a day of rejoicing, but for former Lieut. Howard C. Knotts, D. S. C., it is just the memory of a pain in the leg.

Knotts, now a Springfield attorney, doesn't know just where he was on November 11, 1918—time passed uncertainly in German prison camps—but he remembers clearly the exclamation of an astounded general, more than month later, December 14.

"Didn't you know the war is over?" Knotts didn't know. When the armistice was signed, he was escaping from a prison camp. When fled, he was hiding in the pantry of a Belgian farmhouse, nursing a very sore leg, constantly apprehensive of discovery by his erstwhile captors.

Flying low over the enemy lines October 14, Knotts was shot and captured. He escaped early in November with a fellow casualty, John Little. Their escape hinged on the yielding of starved prisoners for imitation apple butter.

Knotts and Little were riding on a wagon drawn by fellow prisoners on a rearward trek of prisoners. The "human horses," brooding over hunger, decided they would have some of the sergeant's imitation apple butter or refuse to draw the wagons. The two casualties crawled down and sat by a hedged road to watch the dispute. Little nudged Knotts. "Let's back through the hedge," he whispered. "They'll never miss us."

Half a mile away—the men could not have walked further—was farmhouse, annexed to a chateau in which were quartered German troops and officers. Miraculously escaping discovery, they were hidden in a pantry by the farmhouse mother, where four other fugitives joined them.

Meanwhile, various rumors floated through to the men—the most persistent being that a 30 day armistice had been signed for burial of the dead. Then one day came the report that American troops were quartered at Spa, about 19 miles away.

Taking what he considered a "long chance," Knotts "smuggled" a letter to the commandant at Spa, and shortly thereafter a General Rhodes took him to American headquarters.

After a few days' rest Knotts asked to be sent to his outfit, declaring he didn't want to go back into this mess with a strange outfit when released from the hospital. Disbelieving his ears, General Rhodes asked Knotts to repeat his statement, which he did. There followed the general's exclamation, "I never could learn the names of those French towns." All his officers, who were white, were killed except three, one of whom was Capt. Hamilton Fish, "the football star, who didn't care nothing for salutes—all he wanted was for us to fight like hell when we was up front."

Private Bates lay on the field four hours before he was taken back for first aid. He went to a French hospital, where everything was all right except that "those French officers kept calling me 'African!'"

Bates finally got in touch with an orderly who could speak English. He said: "Buddy, I want you—all to get me a sign and put it on my bed, English spoken here."

Coolidge Plans To Speak To Crowd In Washington Today

Meeting Will Emphasize Spirit In Which Armistice Day Should Be Celebrated, Is Report

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—President Coolidge will be the principal speaker tomorrow night at a gathering in Washington to re-emphasize the spirit in which Armistice Day should be celebrated.

The meeting, a high spot in the capital's observance of Armistice Day, will be in the Washington auditorium and the chief executive's voice will be carried over the widest radio hook-up available. The assembly was arranged by the American Legion and will be conducted under Legion auspices.

Attracted by the Legion plans to celebrate the tenth anniversary of the end of the world war in a more solemn manner than ever before, President Coolidge agreed to take part in the ceremonies.

The annual controversy as to whether November 11 should be observed by the nation as a day of peace was recalled and in inviting the chief executive to make the address, Edward E. Spafford, past national commander of the Legion, had in mind the advisability of looking to Mr. Coolidge to end all argument on that point.

Listeners-in on 53 radio stations throughout the country will have the opportunity tomorrow to hear the especially impressive exercises which the Legion has planned to celebrate the first decade of peace after the devastation of the war. General Pershing, commander-in-chief of the American armies, has also agreed to speak over the same hook-up and will share with Paul V. McNutt of Bloomington, Ind., the Legion's new national commander, most of the available time on the air.

While local Legion posts have not made arrangements for representation here tomorrow night from other parts of the country, it is their intention that the events by their wide distribution by radio should be an integral part of Armistice Day observance throughout the nation.

President and Mrs. Coolidge have ordered a great wreath to be deposited personally on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington tomorrow morning.

Celebration In England Indicates Effect Of Treaty

Force Of Kellogg Pact Is Shown By Plans Made In England For Celebrating Anniversary

By BATES RANEY
Associated Press Staff Writer
LONDON, Nov. 10.—The first direct result of the Kellogg peace pact will be observed in England Armistice Day, November 11, when, for the first time since the world war, the memorial rather than the military aspect of the occasion will be emphasized.

British organizations of former soldiers have assimilated the spirit of the pact more than is generally realized and have suggested to those in authority that at the celebration the presence of naval, military and air force units, with the attendant display of martial glamor, be dispensed with as far as possible.

One group of former soldiers has gone so far as to criticize openly last year's display at the Cenotaph in Whitehall as seeming "to be designed by the authorities more on the lines of a recruiting display than as a commemoration of the great sacrifices made by those who believed, what we all were repeatedly told, that the great war was a conflict to end war."

This group also pointed out that the presence of the Prince of Wales as a civilian at the pilgrimage to Menin Gate, where most of the British army in Belgium stood during the war, was "in our view exactly in keeping with the spirit that has been embodied in the peace pact, and should, we suggest, be symbolized November 11 at the Cenotaph service."

In answer to the growing public opinion, epitomized in the expressions of the former soldiers, London newspapers have quoted "officials" at Whitehall as saying that this year a "less military setting will be observed" at the ceremony.

The British Legion, members of which last year appeared in full war regalia, is considering wearing civilian clothes this year.

There is a growing movement to abolish war memorials in the shape of army tanks or big guns, which were given places of honor on village greens throughout the country immediately after the world war.

The feeling that the signing of the peace pact marks a definite change in the mental attitude of people toward war, and that since this year a "less military setting will be observed" at the ceremony, it should no longer be glorified, is the argument that has been used in British pulpits and town council meetings as one reason for removing some of the war memorials.

In some cases the war memorials in the shape of shells, machine guns, bayonets, gas masks, steel helmets, as well as big guns and tanks, are being sold as scrap iron and the proceeds given to the poor.

Veterans Hurt In In Hour Of Peace At Same Hospital

Two Are Still In Veteran Sanitarium As Toll From Effects Of Great Armed Conflict

By GORDON M. SESSIONS
Associated Press Staff Writer
MAYWOOD, Ill., Nov. 10.—Acting Sergeant W. J. Coughlin didn't know the armistice was to start in 40 minutes' time, if somebody had told him, he wouldn't have believed it. They had circulated a rumor like that a month before and nothing had come of it. He was sore at those replacements, lying out there under a machine gun cross-fire, too scared to crawl into shell holes. He was going out there and kick 'em into a machine gun bullet ripped through Coughlin's leg and he dropped just in front of St. Hillaire—forty minutes before the armistice.

Twenty minutes before Coughlin went down, L. L. Bates, husky private from St. Louis, was advancing with a negro company on another sector. It was Company K, 15th infantry, 93rd division. He got one, too, in the leg.

Today—10 years later—both men are patients at the Edward Hines, Jr. Memorial hospital here, a suburb of Chicago. Coughlin's wounds are healed—he twice had been hit before November 11—but he has been ill ever since the war. Bates' leg still bothers him. He has tried to work, but never has been able to stay on a job. He hopes he'll be all right after he leaves the hospital this time.

"No, we didn't know the armistice was to go into effect," Coughlin declares. "In fact, after I was wounded, and a couple of fellows were helping me back, we ran into a bunch of 'Fritzes' throwing their helmets in the air, and jumping up and down like they were crazy. I grabbed a gun and was going to take a shot at them, but the boys made me stop—said the war was over. I didn't believe it then."

He took part in two major engagements and 11 minor fights. Coughlin enlisted in the 131st Illinois infantry of the 3rd division, "and thought I was in the regular army." When he asked to be transferred to the regulars "they put me on K. P.," he says with a grin. Coughlin is an accountant.

Bates doesn't know exactly where he was fighting when he fell, except it was "somewhere on the 'Marne.'" He "never could learn the names of those French towns." All his officers, who were white, were killed except three, one of whom was Capt. Hamilton Fish, "the football star, who didn't care nothing for salutes—all he wanted was for us to fight like hell when we was up front."

Private Bates lay on the field four hours before he was taken back for first aid. He went to a French hospital, where everything was all right except that "those French officers kept calling me 'African!'"

Worldwide Silence Period To Honor Dead

All nations of the world within the latitude of 30 and 45 degrees will unite on Armistice Day in a globe-circled "chain of silence" in honor of the world war dead. The two-minute period of silence observed at 11 a. m. in the respective countries and in ships on the vast stretches of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans will form a practically unbroken "chain," as shown in the map above. The League of Remembrance in New York favored the plan.

A part of this program will be the dedication of the scout's newly-carved totem pole, which will be placed at one corner of the lawn. The totem pole bears the story of an Armistice Day celebration in Indian sign language. Jess Eubanks is scoutmaster of this troop and W. E. (Happy) Smith is chairman of the troop committee and commander of the Tahoka Legion post.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP)—As means of honoring those who died in the world war and of emphasizing the duty of every country and every creed to preserve the peace of the world, Armistice Day this year will be observed by a "Two Minutes' Silence" at 11 a. m. on a worldwide scale.

To this end the League of Remembrance in New York has sent invitations to 30 foreign countries within the latitudes of 30 and 45 asking them to join with the English-speaking nations of the world in a demonstration of silence on the tenth anniversary of the memorable day.

With the exception of soviet Russia, replies from foreign rulers, various representative organizations and the heads of steamship companies in the Atlantic and Pacific indicate that the silence period, accompanied by the suspension of all industrial activity and traffic so far as possible, will be observed in some place on land or ship at sea in every longitude around the world.

Thus as the earth revolves around the sun a procession of silence starting at Greenwich, England, and ending at the Fiji Islands in the Pacific ocean, will go on throughout the 24 hours of Armistice Day.

In the United States last year 28 governors issued Armistice Day proclamations commending the observance in response to petitions of the league, the founders of the movement in this country. Similar requests have been made this year and the responses warrant the prediction that the celebration November 11 will be even more widespread and impressive.

The League of Remembrance was established in 1919 to obtain the universal observance of Armistice Day by the silence period. It is an American society, non-political, non-sectarian and non-partisan, with strictly voluntary officers. William C. Redfield is president, and the executive committee includes Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Dr. James Henry Darlington, bishop of Harrisburg, Pa., John W. Davis, Sir Joseph Duveen, James W. Gerard, Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, Herbert S. Houston, Clarence M. Mackay, Dr. William T. Manning, bishop of New York, Melville E. Stone, Louis W. Riley, Dr. Stephen S. Wise and Perry G. Bullen, honorary secretary.

This Ought to Wake Up Those Buck Privates

The lads who served during the World War have one thing to be thankful for anyway—they didn't have a horn like this with which to sound reveille in the early hours of the morning. The trumpet shown above is said to be the largest ever built. It is more than seven feet long and sings bass. Miss Eleanor White, above, of Lawrenceburg, Ind., knows how to play it, too.

Poppy Sale Nets Auxiliary $250

The Armistice Day poppy sale Saturday, made by the ladies of the American Legion auxiliary and assisted by some of the Camp Fire Girls, netted a total of $250 for the day. It was announced Saturday night by Mrs. Harley D. Woods, who was in charge of the sale.

The funds raised are to be given to the disabled soldiers, from whom the poppies were purchased and who manufactured them, excepting a small percentage which goes to the Camp Fire Girls for their share in conducting the sale.

Prizes were offered to the girls making the most sales for the day. Miss Louisa Adkinson winning first prize and Miss Cleo King, second. Besides Mrs. Woods, the ladies who helped conduct the sale were, Mesdames Hubert Allen, Homer Pharr, J. A. Swindell, Aler, M. R. Peters, A. C. Jackson, K. L. Riggs, Lewis Murphy, and Miss Vera Murphy.

France Trains Airmen To Prevent Banditry and Disorders Above

Two Airplanes Are Kept In Tune At Le Bourget Field In Case of Emergencies; Wireless Is Vital Part Of Equipment; Traffic Must Be Observed

By JOHN EVANS (Associated Press Staff Writer)

PARIS, Nov. 10.—Aerial police for riot duty and the pursuit of airplane bandits have recently been organized by French authorities with an eye to the future.

Two airplanes, equipped with wireless, are kept in tune at Le Bourget field. There are three pilots and four observers, all men accustomed in the war.

Far above the city, on every May Day, and whenever there is danger of a communist or disorderly gathering, the air police circle the city, swooping down for a close look every now and then. The observers, with strong glasses, scan the streets and report constantly, by wireless, to two police cars below equipped with sending and receiving sets. The Prefecture of Police, also, is in wireless touch with both the airplanes and the cars so that the thousands of police and mounted Gendarmes, hidden in courtyards and blind streets can be concentrated in a matter of minutes wherever there is trouble.

Work in Relays The two airplanes work in relays. The observers are specialists in riot work and they seem to sense the gathering of a crowd. This is more difficult than it seems, say police officials, because the communists, the main offenders, know they are watched and sometimes organize concentrations quite as cleverly as the police prevent them from becoming dangerous.

Traffic in the air has not yet become a problem but there are occasional violations of the rule against flying low over towns but in those cases the policeman on the beat, if his eyes are good, takes the number of the offending airplane and "addresses a contravention," as the French say for the filing of a police report on a misdemeanor. The most recent air traffic offender was Michel Detroyat, once a candidate for trans-atlantic honors, caught flying less than 200 feet above a Paris suburb. The traffic officer caught him as he landed.

GETS ANOTHER PHONE

Due to the increasing volume of business, the Lubbock Retail Merchants association has found it necessary to install another telephone in its offices at the city hall, it was learned Saturday. The new telephone number for the association is 1380.

KANSAS CITY LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 10. (AP)—(United States department of agriculture)—Although cattle receipts around the 11 market circuit this week were light there was a glut on short fed steers especially kinds averaging over 1,150 lbs. sharp price declines of 25c to $1.00 were enforced on the in-between grades of steers with spots at Chicago off 1.50 on heavy offerings. Firm prices were maintained on choice to prime yearlings but such offerings due to the limited number available were regarded as a specialty low priced steers and all grades of sheep ruled steady to unevenly higher with an upturn on the stock at most all points; stock and feeder trade had little stability despite the fact that supplies were the lightest in several months; the election no doubt was responsible for the poor attendance of country buyers; aggregate receipts were around 205,500 as compared with 261,492 last week and 315,958 a year ago.

NEW YORK STOCKS NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—The stock market lumped forward with unprecedented speed today, piling the greatest volume of sales in any short session in history. More than two dozen issues were lifted to record prices for the year or longer, a number of gains ranging from 55 to 523.

Reminiscent of 90

By MME. LISBETH The way lace is being used on the newer frocks is reminiscent of the gay 90s. The lace bertha, so important these days, is certainly a flashback, and in the frock pictured the lace panel over the material is equally reminiscent. Kathryn Crawford, a featured player in the movies, wears this attractive gown of tan crepe trimmed with lace, and with it she wears a smart tan felt hat and a red fox fur neckpiece. The side box pleats of the skirt, stitched in diamond shape above the belt, are an unusual feature of this gown.

endeavoring to follow the pace of trading, and ran for an hour and a half after the market closed, as traders crowded brokerage offices in anxious efforts to learn what had happened to their orders in the deluge. Sales totalled 3,207,000 shares, in contrast to the previous Saturday record of 2,501,400 shares, made March 31.

The bull party again revelled in its newly chosen play ground, the rail, and the Associated Press average price of 20 railroad issues mounted to $4.78 to $154.52, just $2.50 under the high mark for the year. The average of 20 industrials was boosted to a new high record at $283.95, up $2.65.

Although the market plainly was a law unto itself and had little time to scan the news of the day, the few developments were highly favorable. The United States Steel Corporation, unexpectedly announced a substantial increase in unfilled orders for the end of October. A decrease was widely expected. In view of the fact that August production for that month broke all October records. A stock exchange seat sold for $480,000, equalling the previous record price. Bankers were inclined to revise upward their estimates of the volume of the current gold movement from England, as sterling hung below the gold point.

Atlantic coast line. Central of New Jersey, Great Northern Preferred, Kansas City Southern, New York Central and Pere Marquette stepped up 2 to 4 points. Texas and Pacific was a weak spot receding 4 points.

The new shares of General Motors, traded in for the first time, on a when issued basis, held around 89 in a heavy turnover. Mexican Seaboard took the leadership in the oils, surging ahead more than 8 points, and crossing 80 for the first time this year. Barnsdall issues, Skelly, Transcontinental and Standard of California also extended their gains.

U. S. Steel sagged more than a point and A. M. Byers was depressed more than 3 points in profit-taking. Atlantic Refining, Chubb-Peabody, Commercial Investment Trust, General Railway Signal and Stanley Co., encountered moderate selling pressure.

Foreign exchanges were quiet and steady.

CHICAGO GRAIN CHICAGO, Nov. 10. (AP)—Surprise over assertions that only 32,000,000 bushels of 1928 wheat have yet been exported from Canada had a bearish effect on grain late today. Earlier, all grain, corn in particular displayed strength, with March and May deliveries of corn and March delivery of Oats outdoing the season's high-price record.

Closing quotations on wheat weak at 3-8c to 7-8c a bushel, decline, corn at the same as yesterday's finish to 3-8c, oats 1-8 to 1-4c off, and provisions vary from 2c setback to an equal advance

DELIVERS ARMISTICE TALK George Smallwood of the Technological college faculty is in Rut today where he is delivering a lecture at an Armistice Day service.

THE President of the United States says:

We have tested the Red Cross in war and peace. It has never failed us. It never will so long as it holds your support. As President of the United States and as President of the American Red Cross, I earnestly ask all our citizens to renew their membership in this legion of mercy.

—CALVIN COOLIDGE.

The American Red Cross says:

Read this Roll Call of Service. . . then you'll proudly help in the rendering of that service by answering NOW the Roll Call of Red Cross Membership.

"The most destructive hurricane in the history of the West Indies"

The American Red Cross rendered immediate service at every point touched by the hurricane—assisting more than 500,000 victims with clothing, medicines, tents, and daily sustenance. Approximately $5,000,000 will be expended in actual relief work. The Red Cross also rendered aid last year in 66 other domestic disasters, assisting over 700,000 people. Relief work resulting from the Mississippi flood, America's greatest peace-time disaster was completed. The persons affected numbered 931,159, of whom 637,476 were assisted by the Red Cross. A relief fund of $17,498,902.16 was contributed through the co-operation of 3,500 chapters. Other relief rendered included that given during the New England floods, and the tornado in the city of St. Louis.

"From Mexico to Jerusalem, from Albania to Brazil"

The American Red Cross knows no frontiers; recognizes no "questions of policy;" bows to no social, political, religious or racial prejudice. During the past year the Red Cross rendered aid in 22 foreign disasters, assisting over 650,000 people—furnishing food, clothing, shelter and medical assistance. Epidemics, earthquakes, shipwrecks, volcano eruptions, fires, floods, typhoons, tornado famine and landslide—whatever the disaster, wherever, whenever it strikes, the Red Cross acts instantly.

"Lest We Forget"

Last year Red Cross workers in 78 government hospitals assisted nearly 30,000 disabled veterans monthly. A monthly average of 56,558 service men and ex-service men and their families were assisted by Red Cross Home Service Workers, $2,594,337 was spent in this work, supplementing the regular government program.

Red Cross workers in 316 camps and stations, assisted 245,000 men of the regular army and navy. 47,252 nurses were enrolled in the Red Cross Nurses' Reserve. 30,000 are on the active list, ready to respond to calls from the army and navy, with the Red Cross disaster force at home and abroad, or for other kinds of work.

"The less spectacular task of guardian public health"

American Red Cross public health nurses made 1,099,733 home visits and inspected 874,213 school children last year. 244,041 persons were instructed in health classes. 6,529,252 Junior members conducted a service program in the schools for the benefit of their communities, the country at large, and children in other lands. A monthly average of 10,049 civilian families were assisted last year by Red Cross Home Service Workers. 253,040 garments and 2,276,621 surgical dressings were made by Red Cross Volunteers.

If you are proud of America's name the world over as first among the nations to respond to any cry of humanity in need—

If you don't want the American Red Cross to be hampered in its work of mercy during the emergencies of the coming year—

If you are moved in the slightest by the work which the Red Cross has done in relieving communities afflicted by the calamities of the past year—

If you have at least one dollar to give in the name of America to the relief of human suffering—use that dollar to renew your membership for another year.

RED CROSS ANNUAL ROLL CALL

November 11th-29th

Today, 10 years after the Armistice, an army of 83,000 disabled men and their families still require the assistance of the Red Cross.

LEGAL NOTICE

ELECTION NOTICE THE STATE OF TEXAS. COUNTY OF LUBBOCK. To the Resident Property Taxpaying Voters of Lubbock County, Texas:

TAKE NOTICE that an election will be held on Saturday the 1st day of December, 1928, within Lubbock county, Texas, to determine if said county shall issue bonds and if a tax shall be levied in payment thereof in obedience to an election order entered by the Commissioners Court on the 30th day of October, 1928, which is as follows:

ELECTION ORDER On this the 30th day of October, A. D. 1928, the Commissioners Court of Lubbock County, Texas, convened in special session at the regular meeting place thereof in the Court House, at Lubbock, Texas, all members of the Court, to-wit: Charles Nordyke, County Judge, N. Payne, Commissioner, Precinct No. 1, J. T. Pinkston, Commissioner, Precinct No. 2, W. L. Brashear, Commissioner, Precinct No. 3, L. C. Denton, Commissioner, Precinct No. 4.

Whether or not the bonds of said county shall be issued in the sum of $2,000,000.00 for the following purpose, "The issuance of county bonds for the purchase of district roads and the further construction, maintenance and operation of paved roads and turnpikes, or in aid thereof, throughout such county," as follows:

(1) Bonds to be issued in the aggregate sum of $2,000,000.00 for the purpose of the purchase of district roads in said county, and which bonds shall be issued in similar denominations, bearing the same rate of interest, having the same date of maturity and with similar options of payment as the bonds heretofore issued and now outstanding against Road District No. 1 of said county; and

(2) Bonds to be issued in the aggregate sum of $1,982,000.00 for the further construction, maintenance and operation of macadamized, gravelled or paved roads and turnpikes, or in aid thereof, throughout such county, and which bonds may mature serially or otherwise at the discretion of the Commissioners Court and may run for a term not to exceed forty (40) years from their date and shall bear not more than five per cent. (5) interest per annum, said

Whether or not an ad valorem tax shall be annually levied upon the property of said county, subject to taxation, for the purpose of paying the interest on said bonds and to provide a sinking fund for the redemption thereof at maturity. The proceeds derived from the sale of said bonds to the extent of $1,982,000.00, if necessary, shall be expended in the construction, maintenance and operation of paved roads and highways, or in aid thereof, in Lubbock county, as now or hereafter designated, in accordance with the amount set opposite each of the following sections or units of road construction, or so much of said amount as may be necessary, to-wit:

Texas State Highway No. 7, via Slaton, Lubbock and Shallowater, $325,000.00. Texas State Highway No. 9, via Woodrow, Lubbock and Monroe to Abernathy, $275,000.00. Texas State Highway No. 53, via Idalou, Lubbock and Wolf-farth, $371,000.00. Road West from Slaton to Highway No. 9, via Union School, $135,000.00. Road North from Lynn County line through Slaton, Idalou and Section to Hale County line, $478,000.00. Road East on Broadway from Lubbock, via the south side of the Panhandle-South Plains Fair Grounds, through Canyon and Aeff to Crosby County line, $283,000.00. Road West from Lubbock to Hockley County line, $137,000.00. Total, $1,982,000.00. Bonds shall be issued and delivered as work is let on each section or unit of construction, and on State Highway construction only in such sum or sums as shall equal the each aggregating $25,000.00 payable at the Hanover National Bank, New York City, New York, and payable serially one bond, $500.00, September 11th of each of the years 1923 to 1931, both inclusive, two bonds, $1,000.00, September 11th of each of the years 1923 to 1931, both inclusive, and one bond, $500.00, September 11th, 1932, bearing interest at the rate of five and one half per centum (5 1/2 per cent) per annum, payable semi-annually on March 11th and September 11th of each year, and that bonds numbered from one (1) to six (6), both inclusive, have been finally paid off, thereby leaving outstanding against said Bond District a bonded debt aggregating $22,000.00.

IT IS THEREFORE CONSIDERED AND ORDERED by the court that an election be held in said county on Saturday the 1st day of December, 1928, which is not less than thirty (30) days from date of this order, at which election the following proposition shall be submitted:

Whether or not the bonds of said county shall be issued in the sum of $2,004,000.00 for the following purpose, "The issuance of county bonds for the purchase of district roads and the further construction, maintenance and operation of paved roads and turnpikes, or in aid thereof, throughout such county," as follows:

(1) Bonds to be issued in the aggregate sum of $2,000,000.00 for the purpose of the purchase of district roads in said county, and which bonds shall be issued in similar denominations, bearing the same rate of interest, having the same date of maturity and with similar options of payment as the bonds heretofore issued and now outstanding against Road District No. 1 of said county; and

(2) Bonds to be issued in the aggregate sum of $1,982,000.00 for the further construction, maintenance and operation of macadamized, gravelled or paved roads and turnpikes, or in aid thereof, throughout such county, and which bonds may mature serially or otherwise at the discretion of the Commissioners Court and may run for a term not to exceed forty (40) years from their date and shall bear not more than five per cent. (5) interest per annum, said

Whether or not an ad valorem tax shall be annually levied upon the property of said county, subject to taxation, for the purpose of paying the interest on said bonds and to provide a sinking fund for the redemption thereof at maturity. The proceeds derived from the sale of said bonds to the extent of $1,982,000.00, if necessary, shall be expended in the construction, maintenance and operation of paved roads and highways, or in aid thereof, in Lubbock county, as now or hereafter designated, in accordance with the amount set opposite each of the following sections or units of road construction, or so much of said amount as may be necessary, to-wit:

Texas State Highway No. 7, via Slaton, Lubbock and Shallowater, $325,000.00. Texas State Highway No. 9, via Woodrow, Lubbock and Monroe to Abernathy, $275,000.00. Texas State Highway No. 53, via Idalou, Lubbock and Wolf-farth, $371,000.00. Road West from Slaton to Highway No. 9, via Union School, $135,000.00. Road North from Lynn County line through Slaton, Idalou and Section to Hale County line, $478,000.00. Road East on Broadway from Lubbock, via the south side of the Panhandle-South Plains Fair Grounds, through Canyon and Aeff to Crosby County line, $283,000.00. Road West from Lubbock to Hockley County line, $137,000.00. Total, $1,982,000.00. Bonds shall be issued and delivered as work is let on each section or unit of construction, and on State Highway construction only in such sum or sums as shall equal the amount of aid made available on such unit or section by the State, Federal or other authorities or sources.

The said election shall be held under the provisions of Chapter 5, Title 22, Revised Statutes, 1925, and Chapter 18, Acts of First Called Session of the Thirty-Ninth Legislature of the State of Texas.

All persons who are legally qualified voters of this state and of this county, and who are resident property taxpayers of this county, shall be entitled to vote at said election, and all voters desiring to support the proposition to issue the bonds shall have written or printed on their ballots the words:

"FOR THE ISSUANCE OF BONDS AND THE LEVYING OF THE TAX IN PAYMENT THEREOF," and those opposed shall have written or printed on their ballots the words:

"AGAINST THE ISSUANCE OF BONDS AND THE LEVYING OF THE TAX IN PAYMENT THEREOF."

Shooting May Mean Four Deaths

The alleged betrayal of Marianne Farruggio, Neptune, N. J., high school student for which Harold Johnson, 19, an athletic hero, has already paid with his life, may claim more victims. Joseph Farruggio, father of Marianne, has been charged with first degree murder in the shooting of Harold. And now physicians fear for the life of Mrs. Farruggio and that of her unborn babe, following her collapse in a Neptune drug store. Mrs. Farruggio is shown above with her daughter, Josephine, just after she collapsed.

TION THEREOF; AND DECLARING AN EMERGENCY. BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COMMISSION OF THE CITY OF LUBBOCK, TEXAS:

(1) That it is hereby made unlawful for any person to keep or use an outdoor privy or toilet upon any lot or tract of land the outside line of which abuts upon a street or alley in which there is a sanitary sewer line within a distance or radius of 100 feet from such outside line of said lot or tract of land, unless connected with such sanitary sewer.

(2) Every day that such person violates this ordinance shall be considered a separate offense.

(3) Every violation of this ordinance shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $100.00.

(4) The fact that the use of such outdoor privies and toilets not connected with the sanitary sewer creates foul and offensive odors, attracts flies, breeds and spreads sickness, and endangers the public health generally, creates an emergency and public necessity requiring that this ordinance take effect from and after this date, and it is so ordered.

Passed and approved first reading, by a unanimous vote of the City Commission, this 11th day of October, 1928.

Passed and approved second reading, by a unanimous vote of the City Commission, this 24th day of October, 1928. H. D. WOODS, Mayor. W. H. RODGERS, City Secretary.

Looking Into Real Estate Purchase

A Series of Articles Dealing With The Problems Surrounding Home-Owning

HIGHEST REALTY VALUES OCCUR WHEN PROPERTY IS GROUPED ACCORDING TO SIMILAR USE

This is the sixth of a series of articles prepared by the National Association of Real Estate Boards to be published weekly in this newspaper for the information of its readers on real estate matters.

It is a good thing for moving picture theatres to be next door to moving picture theatres and for one bungalow with a gay garden to look out on another bungalow with a gay garden because the similar use of the land in an area increases urban realty values, says the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

Values Do Not Happen

Real estate values do not just "happen." Behind all values are certain causes and the high figures that are quoted for preferred industrial, commercial, and residential sites are brought about because people have found it more profitable to do business next door to live next door to a family in the same circumstances.

Industry and commerce and specialized business that compete fiercely over the counter and stalk each others' prospects, rush to secure locations on the same street or in the same building. This situation is due to the fact that such concentration permits of advantages that could not be secured in scattered locations.

The grouping of manufacturers to whom transportation is an important factor in securing supplies or in distributing products in a region devoted largely or wholly to industry often makes it possible for the district to have railroad switch track service that would not be made available by the railroad companies for one small isolated industry.

Similar Use Brings Profits. In all great cities now the financial organizations tend to center in one part of the business district. Banks, bond houses, and investment institutions that compete for the savings of the public, rub elbows door to door. Retail stores and specialty shops cluster together.

The same tendency to grouping that is true in the central business district is found just as truly in the outlying business sections. This concentration is not the result of accident. All of these interests have taken the same address because it pays them to do so.

More business for banks, automobile concerns, stores, and motion picture theatres flows from such areas than if they did not exist in each a similarity of use and users are willing to pay more for land in such sections or for its use, even though in some other location they might encounter less competition.

People setting forth to make a loan, or buy an automobile, or a pair of gold evening slippers are automatically drawn to the concentrated centers because of the variety of choice offered in them. A person seeking a loan may emerge disappointed from the first bank he visits. The terms did not please. But there is another bank next door. The same holds true for automobiles or evening slippers. If the offices or stores were isolated disappointed people might return home and make no purchase. In the concentrated business districts or in outlying sections, people go next door, or upstairs, or down the street, or just around the corner. Someone gets the sale and there is enough of this shuffling of buyers to make the concentrated sites desirable and consequently the highest values.

Preparations For Lubbock Father Son Week Planned

One Thousand or More Men And Boys of City Expected at Big Banquet in Tech Gym, November 20

With the Eats committee fully organized and functioning on the job of planning what will be offered to eat and how much it will take, preparations for the Fathers and Sons Grand Jamboree, which will be held at the Tech gymnasium on the evening of Tuesday, November 20, are going forward in fashion big enough for this biggest event ever to be pulled off in all West Texas.

Announcements Made Today Today announcements will be made at all the churches, men's and boys' Sunday School classes and assemblies of Sunday schools. Tickets have been printed for the occasion and a number of men will be circulating them throughout the city and county from now until the gala event occurs.

Out of town Fathers and Sons should remember that, if they reside in Lubbock county this is their party, same as it is of those who live in this city. The following announcement, addressed to Fathers and Sons, is self-explanatory:

"As a fitting climax to the observance of National Father and Son Week, which is from November 11 to 17, you are asked to remember the biggest gathering of Fathers and Sons ever to be held in all of West Texas.

"On the evening of Tuesday, November 20 beginning at 6:30 o'clock Fathers and Sons of Lubbock and Lubbock county will meet for a Feast of Fun, where a few hours of intermingling, good fellowship, games, frolic, boys-once-again-all-together-playfulness, is to be the rule.

"Some Good Eats, of course. But the main thing is to be just a genuine picnic.

"Wear Your Old Clothes, will be all that is necessary, excepting that boyhood smile, free from care and worry. If you can not wear that, come anyhow—you will return home with not only a smile on your face, but one in your heart. That's the kind that counts anyway.

"Get your tickets early. Fathers who have no sons and boys who have no fathers are asked to get acquainted and make dates with each other for this big joyous occasion.

"Remember the date—Tuesday, November 20, at 6:30 p. m.

"Remember the place—Tech College Gymnasium.

"You can make this the biggest and grandest event in the history of your town. Be there!—Father and Son committee.

New Era In Church Service Is Opened By Methodists

Educational Building's Completion Ushers In Broader Program of Work In Lubbock, Church Leaders Believe

Dream Of Years Is Reality As New $75,000 Annex Is Opened To Public By The First Methodist Church

By VESTAL LOTT (Avalanche-Journal Staff)

Opening of the new $75,000 educational building as an annex to the First Methodist church marks a new era in church building construction in the city of Lubbock.

With the completion of this immense structure a long-felt need of the church is met with utmost satisfaction, and another achievement has been added to the list of the churches of Lubbock.

Crowded because of inadequate room for several years due to an enormous expansion of the church and a rapid growth of membership, the First Methodist church has for many years past been cramped in quarters. The new building is a masterpiece of modern architecture, designed to meet the needs of the church for many years to come.

Dream Comes True.

For many years the proposed addition of a structure to be used as an "Educational Building" and as Sunday school quarters was a dream in the minds of the leaders of the church. This dream assumed definite proportions about two years ago with the appointment of a building committee.

H. W. Richardson, educational director of the church and financial secretary of the campaign for funds was one of the leaders of the movement to secure the new building.

When the project was gone into, it was not hurriedly and without foresight. Several months before the church members visited leading churches of Dallas, Amarillo, and many other places. Plans were drawn, and worked over many times. They were carried to Nashville to the General Board of Education of the Methodist church for approval. Then with several revisions the plans were finally turned back to the architects.

Ground Broken In May.

Ground for the new building was first broken last May, construction continuing until last week. The entire cost of the building, including the new steam heating plant which serves both the new and old buildings, approximates $75,000.

Peter Hays and George W. Strang were the architects for the building, and H. H. Shell was the contractor. Roofing was furnished by Lydick Roofing company, and plastering, both for the new building and the re-plastering of the old, was done by W. D. Chick. Ritz Furniture company furnished the linoleum and Sherrard Brothers the hardware. Electrical work was done by Owens Electric company.

Blends With Old Structure.

The building is constructed of the same cream-colored brick and the same architecture as the old church structure, forming a symmetrical appearance for the two. Two ground entrances are afforded to the new annex, and between the two structures a court is formed, bounded by buildings on three sides. It is planned to beautify the court with grass and flowers.

The young people's and senior departments will remain in the old building which contains thirteen Sunday school rooms. Basement of the main church structure is to be converted into a banquet hall and recreation room.

To Have Church Library.

In the annex will be housed the church library where the teachers training class under Dr. A. W. Evans will be conducted.

The chapel on the first floor of the educational building will fill a varied need of the church. The Junior congregation, Dr. Horn's Sunday school class, and the Epworth League, will hold meetings in the chapel which will seat about 250 persons. Weddings and funerals also will be held at this place instead of the large spacious auditorium. Two large Sunday school class rooms are also included on the first floor.

One of the outstanding features of the new building is the church parlor with kitchenette attached. It is planned to make this the scene of many social affairs.

Offices On Second Floor.

Offices of the church, the Cradle Roll, Beginners, and Primary Departments will occupy the second floor of the new building. On the third floor can be found the Junior and Intermediate departments.

Each department of the Sunday school is equipped with a general assembly room with individual class rooms around the sides of the large room.

The educational building is newly equipped throughout. Lavatories and drinking fountains are provided on each floor.

The Rev. D. B. Doak is presiding elder of this district and George R. Bean is chairman of the board of stewards. W. K. Dickinson, who for ten years was head of the board of stewards, is now chairman of the board of trustees.

Three stories in height, the new structure measures 58 by 96 feet.

Past Five Years Have Seen Great Church Expansion

More Than 1,300 Are Added To Rolls Of First Methodist Church; Each Week Sees New Ones

Growth of the First Methodist church of Lubbock during the past few years, both from the standpoint of membership and equipment, would have been thought impossible five years ago.

During the pastorate of the Rev. E. E. White, pastor of the church 1,300 new members have been added—1,300 new members within the space of four years, an average of six or seven new members for every Sunday during that period.

Although the membership of the church four years ago was 1,200 many of the membership have moved away and death has claimed others. The present church membership is about 1,800.

Membership of the church here is kept continually active, no inactive or dead names being included on the roll.

Enrollment Is 1,500.

Enrollment of the Sunday School is about 1,500, an enormous increase over the enrollment of four years ago.

In the way of building and equipment the church has made rapid strides in recent years. The $15,000 parsonage was completed about four years ago, but the whole record of improvement is climaxed with the opening of the new Educational Building.

Other improvements and additions have been added from time to time. The entire old church building has been refinished, replastered and worked over in connection with the finishing work on the new building.

The annex affords the church room for type A Sunday school, the highest kind of the conference. The church now ranks among the best of this section of the state.

LEATHER FASTENINGS

White Sees Annex Plans Through To Completion Here

Rev. E. E. White, pastor of the First Methodist church, has seen the growth of the idea of the new annex from its infancy until the completion of the finished building.

Coming here four years ago, the Rev. White's record is one of continued progress and development. In fact, his whole ministerial career has been progressive.

Graduating from Southwestern University in 1914, at Georgetown, Rev. White received his first appointment from the conference at Spur. There he remained for four years. He then returned to school, entering Southern Methodist University at Dallas. He remained at S. M. U. for three years receiving his D. D. degree from there. He received his A. B. degree from Southwestern.

While attending school in Dallas, the Rev. White filled the pulpit in a number of Dallas and Fort Worth churches. Upon his graduation he was pastor of the Early Methodist of Dallas for a short time. He was next appointed as pastor of the First Methodist church of Waco, holding that pulpit for three years. In 1924 he was transferred here and has remained here for the past four years. Although the four year limitation for a minister in one place has been removed, the Rev. White feels that he will be sent elsewhere this year as it is an unwritten custom for a pastor to be changed after four years.

Financial Burden Of New Methodist Annex Distributed

With the budding of the idea about two years ago to construct an educational building as an annex to the First Methodist church here, an intensive financial campaign was launched among the membership of the church.

The campaign met with almost unexpected success. In addition to clearing up the old indebtedness of the church the campaign provided approximately $25,000 cash to be used on the building fund of the proposed new structure.

The remaining two-thirds of the cost of the $75,000 building, is arranged in a satisfactory manner as expected to be met easily. The first payment of $15,000 is due in 1930. Sufficient subscriptions have already been contributed to meet the note when it is due with some other subscriptions to care for a part of the remaining indebtedness on the building which is lengthened over a period of years.

Methodists Here Proud Of Growth In Sunday School

Sixty Teachers Help Every Sunday To Instruct 1,000 Students; James L. Dow Is Superintendent

Brown to be one of the outstanding institutions of the church, the Sunday school of the First Methodist church here has a record of almost unparalleled achievement.

It was this department of the church which made necessary the addition of the new educational building as an annex to the old church building. The lack of room for the other building for Sunday school quarters justified and demanded additional space.

At the present time the Sunday school of the church has a membership of about 1,500 with an average attendance of about 1,000 every Sunday. This number will find adequate quarters in the new annex.

Sixty Teachers Required.

Sixty teachers are required in the nine departments of the Sunday school.

James L. Dow has for the past two years been superintendent of the Sunday school, watching it grow from a small institution to its present enormous proportions.

Superintendents of the various departments of the Sunday school are as follows: Mrs. R. T. Campbell of the adult department; Mrs. W. V. Partain of the young people's department; Miss Ethel Lawson of the senior department; Mrs. J. T. Shaver of the intermediate department; Mrs. W. P. Knox of the junior department; Mrs. M. C. Overton of the primary department; Mrs. W. E. Baskins and Mrs. D. B. Doak of the two divisions of the beginners department; Mrs. I. C. Enoch of the cradle roll; Dr. A. W. Evans, of the teachers training department; Mrs. Sam T. Davis, of the home training department, and H. W. Richardson, educational director of the church.

Committee Draws Praise As Annex Stands Complete

To the building committee of the First Methodist church here can be attributed much credit for the new $75,000 educational building.

The building committee, as a representative of the entire church, has been in charge of all plans for the building. It was with this committee that the first definite steps toward the attainment of this building were taken, and with this committee the responsibility of working out plans, of raising funds, of making all arrangements for the proposed structure.

Murray is Chairman.

R. J. (Bob) Murray is chairman of the committee. Other members include: W. K. Dickinson, C. E. Maedgen, Paul W. Horn, H. W. Stanton, W. O. Stevens, F. A. Norman, W. S. Posey and James L. Dow. Of these committeemen, two were on the building committee of the church in 1917 when the present church building was constructed. These are W. K. Dickinson and W. S. Posey.

These men were each assigned various phases of the necessary work to be accomplished before the completion of the building. The committee has been commended both by the membership and the officials of the church.

First Methodist Church Here Began Almost Half Century Ago; Building And Equipment Now Is Best In Area

Almost half a century ago a mere handful of Christian worshippers gathered together and organized a church in Lubbock. There was no church building. Services were held in the courthouse, the school building, the jail—anywhere, in fact, where the little band could meet.

That was back in 1891, and ten charter members were added to this early church organization. The church grew and four years later erection of the first church building was seen.

One Church Burned.

Some years later when the structure proved inadequate for the rapidly growing congregation, a second building was constructed. The building burned and the church secured the Broadway location now occupied by the First Methodist church. Then in 1917 the present church building was constructed during the pastorate here of the Rev. J. T. Hicks. Today as the realization of an un-hoped-for dream of that small congregation of ten persons back in '91 stands the magnificent structure of the First Methodist church with its recently completed educational building, and its $15,000 parsonage. The entire holdings of the church now approximate the quarter of a million dollar mark.

Only Three Charters Left.

Only three of that charter membership of ten have lived to realize the enormous growth of the church which they help to organize thirty-seven years ago. These three persons—Mr. and Mrs. Isom Tubbs and C. W. Mallard—are still members of the church, attending as regularly as their health will permit. They

Students In Local Schools Are Told Of Essay Contest

Mrs. W. B. Price Is State Chairman Of Contests In General Federation Of Women's Clubs

College and high school students of Lubbock are being told of rules in the national essay contests on "Why Should I Vote" which is sponsored locally by the Twentieth Century club and in the state by the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs.

Prizes amounting to $1,000 are offered by John Hays Hammond, chairman of the department of active citizenship in the National Civic Federation and the contest is sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Three national prizes are offered in each contest, the first $250, second $150 and third $100. None of the John Hays Hammond fund is to be used in local state or district contests but awards probably will be made to winners.

The local contest is being sponsored by the child welfare committee of Twentieth Century club. Mrs. T. R. Priddy is chairman of the department.

Local essays are to be sent to Mrs. Price by December 15. These will be judged and sent to the district chairman by January 15. After these essays have been judged, winners of first, second and third places will be sent to Mrs. Price.

Further stipulations concerning the essays are as follows: Essays in both contests shall be typewritten, double-spaced and written upon one side of the paper only. They shall be marked plainly with the name of the contest and subject to be mailed either folded or flat.

The name of the writer shall not appear on the manuscript but each essay shall be marked plainly with an identification mark on each sheet. The name of the writer shall be placed in an envelope and sealed and attached to the essay. This same plan shall be followed throughout the contest.

All manuscripts become the property of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and cannot be returned.

Each board of judges shall consist of three outstanding men and women. Local judges shall be chosen by the local federated women's clubs, state judges by the state chairman of the department of American citizenship and the national judges by the general federation chairman of the department of American citizenship.

Modern Fashions Enhance Traditional Glory Of Fall Event As New York's Elite Attend Opera's Opening

MRS. FRANK HENDERSON

By BETSY SCHUYLER, NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—The 1928-29 Metropolitan Opera premiere held all the old glory and along with it a dash of stimulating modernism that made the occasion tremendously fascinating.

Maybe it was just that the last of the diamond tiaras seems to have disappeared from the Golden Horseshoe and that old family gems have been taken from the vaults and set modernly.

Expensive Perfumes

Anyway, it was a night of glory so far as sumptuous sights are concerned. The play was a shimmering gleam of velvet, satin and gold and silver laces, the beauty of soft chinchilla and frosty ermine made it an entrancing sight.

Evening wraps, so important at the opera, favored all-ermine or luxurious velvets in blues, reds and pastel shades, some with white fox trim.

Mrs. Oliver Hartman's stunning hair was set off to perfection by her dark green velvet coat, which she wore with a matching shawl.

Mrs. Charles E. F. McCann wore a white dress with a diamond and pearl necklace, and a matching shawl.

Mrs. Michael Paterno's white satin gown had a dainty tulle yoke, and she wore a diamond and emerald necklace and a white ruche feather fan.

Mrs. H. Edward Manville carried a white clutch fan tipped with green brocade, draped on one side.

Flasks ranged from Mrs. Vanderville's Barton's pale pink figured silk, with pearl ornaments, to Estelle Manville's deep peach pink velvet with diamond corsage ornament.

Mrs. Henry O. Davis, 3d, wore black velvet with crystal corsage, four tables of bridges and two of forty-two were in play.

Mrs. W. G. McMillan will be bridge hostess at 3 p. m. at her home, 2119 15th Street.

The reason everyone is gobbling up biography and intimate revelations of the great these days my librarian explains, is because of human loneliness every individual's sense of isolation.

McCleary, Jessie Stoll, Esle Blackard, Mrs. W. C. Hinds and Mrs. J. A. Ferguson. Mrs. D. N. Arnett presided at the register and others in the house party were Mesdames Boyd and Fred Dozier and Mrs. Willbanks.

Miss Alma Martin, another bride-to-be, was showered on Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. E. H. Winn by members of the Mothers' Wesley Bible class of Colorado. A musical program was given during the evening.

Among the social affairs in Spur last week were a number of club parties. Mrs. J. O. Smith entertained the Jol de Vol club on Thursday afternoon, inviting in a few extra guests. Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Golding were hosts on Thursday evening with a bridge party and Mrs. Estelle Collett entertained on the same evening with a dance honoring Mrs. Lowell Putham of Pecos who is the house guest of Miss Nig Lisenby.

There were a number of social functions in Plainview during last week. On Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Reinken entertained with a bridge party, having a number of guests and Miss Mattie Siler was hostess on Wednesday evening with a three-table forty-two party in her home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Wingfield of Littlefield have announced the marriage of their daughter, Clara, to Paris Boucher in Antlers, Okla., last Tuesday. The couple is living in Antlers.

Among the affairs in Floydada last week was a surprise birthday dinner on Sunday for Mrs. W. T. Lipper at her home. A number of friends and relatives were in attendance on that day.

Interior Decorator Has A Queer Job—She Goes Into Other People's Clothes Closets To Make Her Living

By JULIA BLANSHARD

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Clothes closets are character builders. "Give children closets with hooks just the right height and a place for everything and the chances are that habits of neatness and a desire for order will follow that will affect their whole lives."

"Give older folks attractive, convenient closets and they know the pleasure of peace in their lives, their tempers and all their relations with those about them will be affected."

This philosophy of closets, as you might call it, comes from a woman who spent two decades glorifying the dark American closets in which the naughty little Johnnies used to be put for punishment. The woman is Mrs. George Herzog.

Eighteen years ago, to be exact, Mrs. Herzog had a friend ask her to "do" her bedroom closet over to go with her newly decorated room. Being practical and yet gifted with imagination and an artistic sense, Mrs. Herzog made such a lovely and convenient thing of that closet that other friends pressed her into service. Her profession of building artistic closets was just wished onto her.

Mrs. Herzog has "done" closets for some of the most famous folks in the world. She went to Japan one year, just to see that one wealthy client's closets were put in right. She has designed and personally supervised closets from New York to the Pacific and even to Honolulu. She has gone to Germany, France, London on her work.

She has built closets for infants taking their first steps, for old ladies who spend their lives in wheel chairs. She has done them for brides, bachelors, servants of millionaires and millionaires themselves. She has done them for parlors, bedrooms and baths—not to mention kitchens and other kinds of closets that a well-regulated home can use.

"All closets should be convenient and beautiful," Mrs. Herzog tersely summed up her program. "They usually follow the color scheme of the rooms they complete. I have made them every color I can think of. And I have used just about everything from fine satins and lace to chintzes for curtains, clothes hangers and other closet accessories."

Mrs. Herzog's closets really speak more eloquently than she does. Their completeness makes you realize how inconvenient most closets are.

Take one of her bachelor's closets. The walls are a warm cream yellow, with touches of old blue on the woodwork and old blue chintz in a fine pattern for curtains, and shelf coverings.

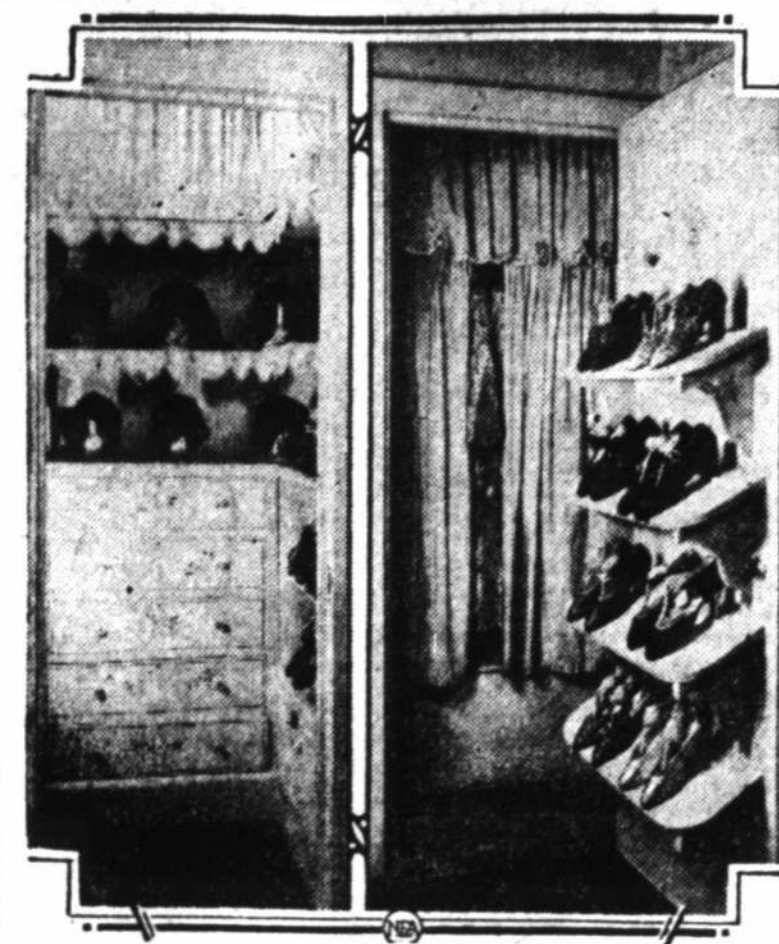

The closet lights as you enter. Before you are compartments with clothes racks, chintz covered to protect them from all dust. To the right are cane racks, with the racks above and a built-in chifonier for shirts, with set-back drawers with trays, each just the right length and width for shirts. Compartments are built for all kinds of collars, handkerchiefs, scarfs, belts and cuff links, and other accessories. And, of course, racks for shoes, with shoe trays attached.

Women's closets feature hat compartments with hat racks in each, lingerie trays, glove drawers, shoe racks and pigeon-hole drawers for hosiery, each compartment holding a single pair. All is done daintily, with little hand decorations on the woodwork, the shelves lined with beautiful scalloped silks, satins, singhams or chintzes, depending on the kind of closet and the color scheme. They are so pretty, in fact, that it would be hard to shut the door if you had one.

The local chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy will entertain with a benefit bridge party on Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, it was announced yesterday.

Two of Mrs. Herzog's closets. An accessory closet (left) is gorgeously colored peach and soft blue, with taffeta curtains and shelf coverings. Under the shoe shelves is a compartment for hosiery. The drawers have compartments for lingerie and handkerchiefs. Right is a lovely orchid and green closet for evening things. Gowns and wraps hang on padded hangers, behind orchid taffeta curtains.

Miss Winegar And Kelton Clark Are To Be Wed Today

Nuptial Ceremony Will Be Read This Afternoon In Palo Pinto; Groom On Newspaper Staff

Miss Mabel Winegar and Kelton B. Clark, both of this city, are to be married at 3 o'clock this afternoon in Palo Pinto with Rev. Wallace N. Dunson, pastor of the First Methodist church in that city, officiating. Rev. Dunson and Mr. Clark are lifelong friends.

Mr. Clark and his bride are to return to Lubbock about the middle of this week and will be at home at 902 Avenue R. Before returning they will visit the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Clark, in Waco. Miss Winegar is a graduate of Lubbock high school and a former student at Technological college. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Winegar, who have moved to Lubbock recently from White Deer, and is a stenographer at the Axtell company.

Mr. Clark, who is the classified advertising manager of the Avalanche-Journal publications, is a former student of Baylor University at Waco and of the Technological college.

MANY AT PARTY Baptist Students Are Given Harvest Party Friday

Sixty students attended a "Harvest" social at the First Baptist church Friday evening. Shocks of feed, bales of hay, watermelons and lanterns decorated the church parlors, the decorating having been done by Thomas Chapman, J. W. Hill and Newburn Owens.

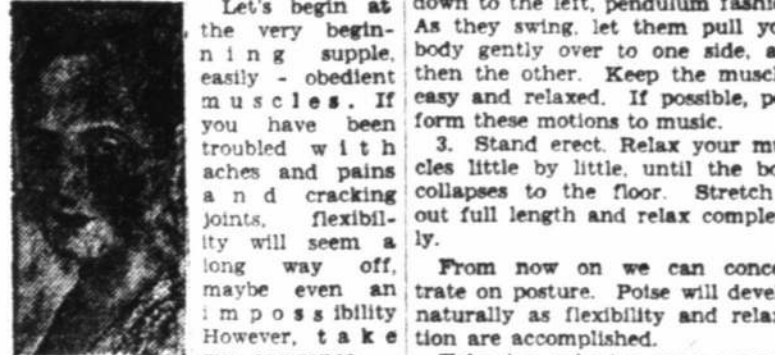

Games were played during the evening under the direction of Miss Myrtle Gibbs, George Long and Newburn Owens and pumpkin pie was served with whipped cream and hot tea by Miss Vena Ferrall, Mrs. Vaughn Wilson, Mrs. E. W. Provence, Mrs. J. H. Hankins and Mrs. Litton.

Boys attended this party dressed in overalls and girls were dressed in aprons.

How to Achieve Beauty

EXERCISES FOR DEVELOPING POISE AND POSTURE

I think the very best way to go about securing poise and good posture is first cultivating flexibility and next learning the art of relaxation.

Let's begin at the very beginning—supple, easily obedient muscles. If you have been troubled with aches and pains and a cracking joints, flexibility will seem a long way off, maybe even an impossibility. However, take my assurance—it is nothing of the sort. Begin by stretching. Do you realize, I wonder, that the most flexible, graceful creatures in the world belong to the cat family, and they, more than any other species, are constantly stretching and relaxing? So by all means, as your first step toward easy, graceful muscles, begin imitating the cat.

Now for hints on relaxation. First get the idea of relaxation straight in your mind. It doesn't mean slouching. A sloppy, slouchy carriage is as a matter of fact, infinitely more fatiguing than a good erect posture. Relaxation means a temporary release from the physical and nervous tension which fatigues your mind, wastes your energy, and adds years to your apparent age.

Try these exercises to aid you in learning how to relax. 1. Stand with the feet well apart, arms hanging loosely at your sides. Bend the right knee a little, throwing your weight upon the foot and stretching the left leg. Now let your body droop over to the right, muscles relaxed. Roll your body around in a circle from the right, back, left, front and back to the starting position. During this circular movement, let arms hang perfectly limp and let your head roll on relaxed neck muscles.

2. Stand with feet slightly apart, the left about five or six inches in advance of the right, arms at sides. Smooth out all the tensions from your body muscles, standing passive and relaxed. Swing both arms in a large circular movement to the right, up and down to the left, pendulum fashion. As they swing, let them pull your body gently over to one side, and then the other. Keep the muscles, easy and relaxed. If possible, perform these motions to music.

3. Stand erect. Relax your muscles little by little until the body collapses to the floor. Stretch it out full length and relax completely. From now on we can concentrate on posture. Poise will develop naturally as flexibility and relaxation are accomplished. Take ten minutes some morning and consider your figure in profile. Have you round shoulders, protruding abdomen, hollow back? Of course, then, your posture is bad. How could it be otherwise? To correct a hollow back and strengthen the muscles of back, chest and waist, I can think of no better exercise than the adaptation of the old bicycle movements. Lie on a mat, arms stretched up over the head, knees bent on chest and left held up vertically. Work the legs in a rotary downward motion exactly as though you were on the treads of a bicycle. Lie on the floor, arms spread out from the sides. Raise legs and hips from the floor and swing way up over your head. Round shoulders, another common postural fault, may be corrected as follows: Lie flat down on the floor. Tuck your feet under a convenient piece of furniture to hold them down while you raise head and shoulders from the floor. Lower and repeat five to ten times. Sit on the floor, legs extended straight in front, feet together. Grasp a wand with both hands—a yardstick or any similar short pole will do. Raise stick above your head and lower it behind your shoulders, bending the elbows. Raise arms and bring stick down in front. Repeat 15 times.

Mrs. Hutchinson Hostess to Club Women On Friday

Mrs. W. L. Baugh President Of Medical Auxiliary; Local Women Guests At Delightful Affair

Mrs. J. T. Hutchinson was hostess Friday afternoon to Lubbock members of the Medical Auxiliary with a bridge party in her home, 1517 Broadway, and a number of the women came for the tea hour who did not participate in the games.

Women who are auxiliary members and played were Mesdames T. G. Bates, W. L. Baugh, O. W. Engle, J. W. Rollo, J. H. Stiles, Fred Standefer, Allen T. Stewart and R. T. Canon. Mrs. Georgia Green, a visitor, also played.

Those who came for the tea hour were Mesdames J. R. Anderson, J. E. Crawford, W. N. Lemmon, M. C. Overton, M. H. Starnes, Sam Stewart and C. J. Wagner. Mrs. Hutchinson served creamed chicken on patty shells, fruit salad, toasted crackers, hot tea and stuffed dates. Chrysanthemums were used in the entertaining rooms and the Thanksgiving motif was featured in table appointments.

New officers have been elected in this auxiliary with Mrs. Baugh as president to succeed Mrs. Hutchinson. Mrs. Overton is vice president; Mrs. Standefer is recording secretary. The society is to meet quarterly in social and business session.

Seductive Greta Garbo is more charming than ever before, and Gilbert makes love as only Gilbert can.

If you liked "Fish and the Devil" and if you like Greta Garbo, you will like "Love."

Appropriate for an Armistice Day program, the Palace Theater this afternoon presents for Sunday matinee showing only the war-time production "Mademoiselle from Armentieres" which promises to bring back many pleasant memories to overseas buddies.

The comedy and tragedy of war are mixed with stirring reality. Estelle Brody, promising new movie star, and John Stuart, both score well as leads in the production.

This week might well be named John Gilbert week. In addition to appearing with Miss Garbo at the Lyric in "Love," Gilbert stars in "The Cossocks" which begins a three-day run at the Palace Theater tomorrow. Renee Adoree shares starring honors with Mr. Gilbert in the production.

A diversion in the form of farce comedy is presented today at the Palace Theater in the light, flighty "Just Married," in which James Hall and Ruth Taylor are co-stars. This story was taken from a stage play by the same name, written by Anne Nichols, famous author of "Abie's Irish Rose." Ruth Taylor will be remembered as the blond who stepped into stardom in "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes."

Lon Chaney, the man of a thousand faces, finds an entirely new role in the war screen play "While the City Sleeps" which begins Thursday at the Lindsey for a three-day run. Chaney appears as a plain clothes detective pitted against a vicious underworld gang in an intensive battle between the gangland and the police of New York. Midnight raids, machine gun warfare, revenge, alley murders are all combined to present a picture of slum life in the raw.

Monday and Tuesday at the Lindsey will see something different in the way of movie production. "Show Folks," starring Lina Basquette, screen actress and noted dancer. Eddie Quillan, former vaudeville headliner, is the male star of the movie.

Bessie Love and Johnnie Walker appear at the Lindsey Theater Wednesday in "The Matinee Idol," a story of tent show troupers. These two co-stars lived the life they portrayed for several weeks, and the scenes sparkle with vividness.

Emil Jannings will appear in "Last Laugh" which shows at the Lyric Theater here Monday and Tuesday. This production is directed by Carl Laemmle, and is said to be one of Jannings' most dramatic screen showings.

John Philip Sousa, undisputed march king of America, will appear at the Tech College Gymnasium at 8 o'clock next Thursday night. Music lovers of the city will be given an opportunity of hearing one of the outstanding masters of the music world in Boston who is making a tour of the nation with his unmatchable band.

Screen Favorites Go 'Barnstorming'

Bessie Love and Johnnie Walker experienced the adventures and hardships during the making of Columbia's "The Matinee Idol" which is coming to the Lindsey theater Wednesday only. The production was made in a completely equipped circus tent. Under the big top Miss Love and Walker performed the regulation two-a-day before the same critical audience.

Bessie portrayed several roles in a rather terrible civil war melodrama "While the City Sleeps" which is being shown with the precision of a barnstorming in the Columbia tent both Miss Love and Walker are glad that they are not required to earn their livelihood as "ham" players.

Soprano To Appear With Sousa Here

MISS MARJORIE MOODY

Helping to make the program even more interesting, Miss Marjorie Moody, soprano, will appear in Lubbock Thursday evening with Lieut. Commander John Philip Sousa and his world-famous band. The program will be offered under the auspices of Texas Technological college and will be held in the college gymnasium.

Great War Story Features Palace Program Sunday

"Mademoiselle From Armentieres" Will Recall To Vets Many Events Which Took Place In France

"Mademoiselle from Armentieres," the magnificent British Gaumont war film distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer showing at the Palace theater today matinee only, combines the comedies and tragedies of war in most stirring fashion. The early scenes in the film are chiefly concerned with the horrors of life in billets and the beginnings of a spy drama in which Mademoiselle is represented as a patriot helping British G. H. Q. to disseminate false information to the enemy. This leads to a misunderstanding between the French girl and her British soldier sweetheart and the action of the play is transferred to the front line and an attack in which Tommy takes part. The drama develops with the increasing intensity of the bombardment of hundreds of guns, big and little, from giant howitzers to machine guns and trench mortars. And at the zero hour of the attack, is played an inspired passage between an old soldier and a raw recruit receiving his first baptism of fire. The old soldier stirs his companion with the singing of "Old Soldiers Never Die," and presently, when the young soldier, lying on a stretcher at an advanced dressing station, murmurs the last line, "They simply fade away," one sees a picture of the old soldier lying alone in no man's land.

The film finishes appropriately enough with victory and a laugh—and a surprise climax to the romance of Mademoiselle and her soldier sweetheart.

Gilbert And Garbo Features At Lyric

John Gilbert and Greta Garbo, who as a team scored one of the sensational successes of the year in "Fish and the Devil" and whose real life romance immediately following furnished gossip for film fans the world over, appear again before the camera, for the first time since, in "Love," Metro-Goldwyn-Meyer's spectacular film of "Anna Karenina." Tolstoy's classic of Russia, which comes today to the Lyric theater.

The new picture, one of the most gorgeous and spectacular film romances of the season, presents both in roles and that perhaps fit them better than any others that could be imagined. Gilbert, splendidly uniformed, is seen as the debonair and romantic Count Vronsky, a role that recalls his great hit in "The Merry Widow," with Miss Garbo in the role of the tragic Anna, who sacrifices all for love, only to be dogged by a strange and sinister doom.

Famous Dancer In 'Show Folks' Has Cure For Sadness

Lina Basquette Gives Her 'Blues Recipe'; 'Dance Them All Away' Is Her Advice To People

Are you unhappy? Dance the blues away. This is the advice of Lina Basquette, screen actress and noted dancer, who will be seen at the Lindsey Theater next Monday and Tuesday in "Show Folks," a Pathe picture in which she has "the role of a dancer."

"I have danced almost as far back as I can remember," says Miss Basquette, "and early in life I learned that blues and woes could not withstand the exhilaration and rhythm of the dance."

"Just as the pores of the skin throw off waste matter in the mild perspiration induced by dancing, so does the mind throw off its waste matter of anger, fear and other unhappy emotions. Try it sometime when there seems no antidote for your ills. Turn on the radio or the victrola and just skip about in time to the music. Don't worry about the steps. Invent your own, and no matter what they are, watch your mood change as you dance."

"Ballroom dancing is one of the best forms of indoor exercise. I've repeatedly heard girls comment on what seemed to them the startling fact that they could go to a party tired or suffering from a headache and, after dancing a few times, feel

GILBERT and Garbo are ravishing in one of the most beautiful offerings ever made by the screen. An immortal masterpiece has been made into a film drama without loss of any of its greatness.

Band Master And His Players Are Coming Thursday

Tex Tech Sponsors Visit Of Sousa And Plans Band Contests For Hi-School Organizations

The coming of John Philip Sousa to Texas Technological college for two concerts, November 15 is considered the musical event of the year at the school. The bringing of Sousa and his famous band to Lubbock, however, is entirely too large a financial undertaking for the school to finance, so the city and entire surrounding country are counted upon to come in numbers. The two concerts, afternoon and night, are to be given in the Tech gymnasium.

Prof. Harry T. LeMaire will bring his big Tech band downtown for a concert in the business district Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock for the purpose of advertising the coming of Sousa. Student yell leaders will assist in getting the crowds together.

Letters Out To Schools

Mr. LeMaire has written letters to high school bands in West Texas inviting them to participate in the contest to be held at five o'clock on the day of the concert here under the personal supervision of Mr. Sousa. All high school bands are urged to enter this contest for which a handsome loving cup will be given by Sousa to the winning band. Competing bands should be in Lubbock, according to Mr. LeMaire, by noon. Each contesting band must play a number of its own selection not to exceed five minutes in length and one piece to be assigned. Mr. LeMaire will go in person to a number of nearby towns the coming week to issue personal invitations to bands to enter.

In addition to the band Wirtford Bambrick, one of America's foremost musicians, appears on the program as a harpist. She is a soloist who has appeared in the pit with orchestras of leading New York musical comedy and operetta productions. Miss Bambrick hails from Quebec, where she lives happily with her mother.

The "Sousa Cup," a large silver trophy, has been placed on display at Bowen's Drug store. The cup will be presented to the high school band which Mr. Sousa decides is the best.

refreshed and quite well. It is simply a chemical reaction, and one which every girl should use to her advantage."

Playing Miss Basquette's dancing partner in "Show Folks" is Eddie Quillan, former vaudeville headliner and film comedy star. Robert Armstrong, Bessie Barriscale, Crawford Kent and Carol Lombard also play important roles.

"Show Folks" was directed by Paul L. Stein and produced by Ralph Philip Dunning wrote the original story which was adapted for the screen by Jack Jungmeyer and George Dromgold.

DRUG STORE SOLD

Floyd Beall Sells Business To H. W. Sims, Here

One of the oldest drug establishments in the city announces a change of ownership. It is the Floyd Beall Drug store, 1012 Broadway, which has been purchased by H. W. Sims, of this city.

Mr. Sims told the Avalanche-Journal yesterday that he was not certain whether the name of the establishment would be changed or not. He took charge of the business on Friday night.

The surface of Paris streets requiring the attention of the public works department of the city now amounts to more than 10,000,000 square meters.

Texas Lad Has Interesting Time As Page to Governor Smith; Says He's Quitting Politics, Too; Has Record

Milburn McCarty, 15-Year-Old Texas Youth, Goes With Democratic Candidate On Campaign

AUSTIN, Nov. 10.—Milburn McCarty, 15-year old Texas boy who served as personal page to Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York during his presidential campaign, including stumping tours, sensed a debacle that routed the Democratic forces in Tuesday's election.

Sunday's air mail brought a letter from him to his father, Milburn McCarty, Sr. of Eastland. "It does not look so good, Daddy," he wrote, predicting that Smith would carry only Massachusetts and Rhode Island in the east. He added, however, that Governor Smith was confident of victory.

Experience Interesting Young McCarty had an experience during the history-making campaign which doubtless will interest his grandchildren 50 years from now.

He was personal page to Vice-President Charles Daves in the United States Senate, having gone to Washington as a page after serving in that capacity in the Texas House of Representatives. When Daves picked his personal page, he looked around for the best and decided on the Texas youth. When the Democratic National convention came to Houston, McCarty was asked to come along to do some expert paging.

When it came time for Gov. Smith to "go West" on his speaking tour, he personally requested Milburn to accompany him.

Tuesday night, following the election, Milburn slept in one of the rooms of Gov. Smith's suite in the Biltmore Hotel.

On the Firing Line at the Nation's Capital

BY RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Now that bunkard high are off the air, now that leaders of the politicians' union are rising from the depths of hypocrisy and dishonesty...

That was all right as far as it went. But there's a lot more to it than that. In the first place, something more than 150,000 federal jobs were at stake in the election, wholly aside from the tens of thousands of state, county and municipal jobs involved in the general campaign.

THAT of course is what it all boils down to. That is what most politicians really mean when they roar in righteous wrath or bleat piously of law enforcement, the poor farmer, the peril to prosperity or the sins of the opposition.

It is not fair to say, of course, that every politician active in an election is merely worrying about his job. Some hold their jobs securely and merely want more power, though and promise are almost inextricably bound together.

NOR is it necessary, in questioning the professed motives of the politicians' union, to assume that the system is completely rotten. The fact is that the people sometimes get a break. That is, there is always a chance that an election result will make life a little happier and easier for many of them.

New Oakland Met With Enthusiasm By Motor Public

New Models — Landulet, Sedan and Convertible Coupe, Especially Are Accorded Welcome

PONTIAC, Mich., Nov. 9.—Motoring America greeted with extraordinary enthusiasm the latest line of Oakland All-American Sixes, now on display at dealer showrooms throughout the country, according to reports received at the factory here.

From indications of the reception accorded the car, W. R. Tracy, vice president in charge of sales of the Oakland Motor Car company, stated that beyond question the latest All-American would sweep to sales records higher than ever before attained by any Oakland model put out in the 22 years of the company's manufacturing automobiles.

The general impression made by the line, advised from field headquarters state, is that of a totally new automobile—totally different from any car now on the road. The powerful-appearing front end of exclusive design, achieves a distinctive air that new body lines and smart Duo color combinations bear out to the sweep of the beautifully proportioned back panel.

Thousands of people who already have seen the car commented particularly upon the two new models added to the line this year—the landulet sedan and the convertible cabriolet. Both fittingly illustrate how the economics of mass production are making available to the public an increasing number of "fine car" features of moderate cost.

The Landulet, as the name implies, follows in design a custom-built car, and boasts smartness at moderate cost that formerly was believed exclusive to Park Avenue. While following in general appearance an ultra-smart sport landulet sedan, the landulet is equipped with a soft folding fabric top over the rear quarter section. This may be easily and quickly lowered for open-air summer driving, and as neatly closed for protection against the weather. The rear compartment is roomy and deep, with a small window in the rear, imparting an intimate and cozy air to the interior.

A luxurious rug, period hardware and other luxurious fittings give the interior a richness in keeping with the aristocratic exterior. The landulet sedan is the high-wheel priced car in the latest All-American line, the seven body types being from $1145 to $1375 — all priced f. o. b. factory, with Lovejoy shock absorbers and fitted spring covers included in the list price.

While particular attention focused upon the landulet sedan for its appearance of having been built by costly hand methods, a high measure of enthusiasm also is being shown for the convertible cabriolet. This model has a rumble seat folding down flush into the rear deck in which two extra passengers may comfortably be carried. The seat is upholstered in weatherproof composition fabric and is equipped with arm rests. A rear compartment door opens into the forward end of the deck and affords ample space for golf clubs and medium-sized parcels.

The cabriolet has two side ventilators operated by foot control—as do all closed models—and in addition a top cow ventilator. Upholstery is of rich genuine leather.

In endorsing the new Oakland line with unique lines unlike any other car now on the road, from grill front cross-flow radiator to "tailor made" rear guards, Oakland artist-engineers cooperating with craftsmen of the Fisher Body organization, sought to achieve eight major body features: (1) Correct seating position; (2) Rigid bracing; (3) Durability; (4) Strength and safety; (5) Germ fitting cushions; (6) Side cow ventilators; and (7) Adjustable car seat to suit individual preferences.

PATENT LEATHER
A very long blouse of yellow henna, over a scalloped, pleated skirt of black satin, has narrow bands of black patent leather to bind its crew neck down the side front, around the hipline for a belt and fashioning a shiny flower at the waistline, instead of a buckle.

PARISIAN CONTRAST
Three new Paris hats embody the unthought-of idea. A black felt cloche is lined with beige fur; a red shawd felt has its wide side brims and narrow foot lined with black long haired plush and bright blue hatters' plush lines a rabbit felt in deep navy.

ONE CENT SALE

Copyright 1926 United Drug Co.

POSITIVELY NO GOODS CHARGED AT THESE PRICES THIS SALE IS FOR CASH ONLY

Thursday, Friday and Saturday

WHAT IS A ONE CENT SALE?—It is a Sale where you buy an item at the regular price, then another item of the same kind for 1c. As an illustration: The Standard price of Rexall Tooth Paste is 25c. You buy a tube at this price, and by paying 1c more, or 26c, you get two tubes. Every article in this Sale is a high class standard piece of merchandise, just the same as we sell you every day at regular prices and have sold for years. A NEW WAY OF ADVERTISING—This sale was developed by the United Drug Co., as an advertising plan. Rather than spend large sums of money in other ways to convince you of the merit of these goods, they are spending it on this Sale in permitting us to sell you a full-size package of high standard merchandise for 1c. It costs money to get new customers, the loss taken on this Sale will be well spent if the goods please you. Include Postage With All Mail Orders.

Armistice Day

A MILLION hopes, a million fears, a million souls struggling in the darkness against despair. Then suddenly — the light! Such was Armistice Day; a never-to-be-forgotten memory to the throngs who fought and to the throngs who awaited news of the fight.

For us who commemorate the day there is joy in the realization that the struggle was not in vain. The great side of Right triumphed and the peace established was a lasting peace. When we stand with bared heads facing the direction of the rising sun, let us give thanks for victory.

Let us silently bless the unknown legions who have passed in last review; the gold star mothers who live on in glorified loveliness; the wounded veterans who present the most valiant picture of self-sacrifice the world has ever known.

There are living heroes, too! Let us not forget them in the affairs of every day. As they walk with us in the busy enterprises of our own community let us pause to remember them as the protectors of our homes and fortunes. And so let us make Armistice Day a meaningful day indeed!

Faster Trucks Is Need Of Business

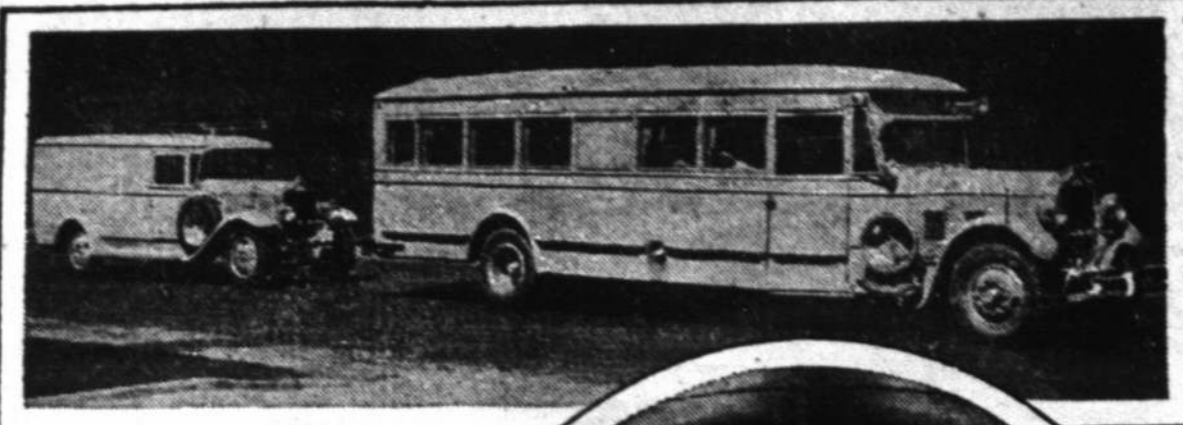

Growing Complexity of Traffic Conditions Is Reason For Change In Needs Of Merchants

The growing complexity of traffic conditions has brought new problems to retail merchants in the delivery of purchases.

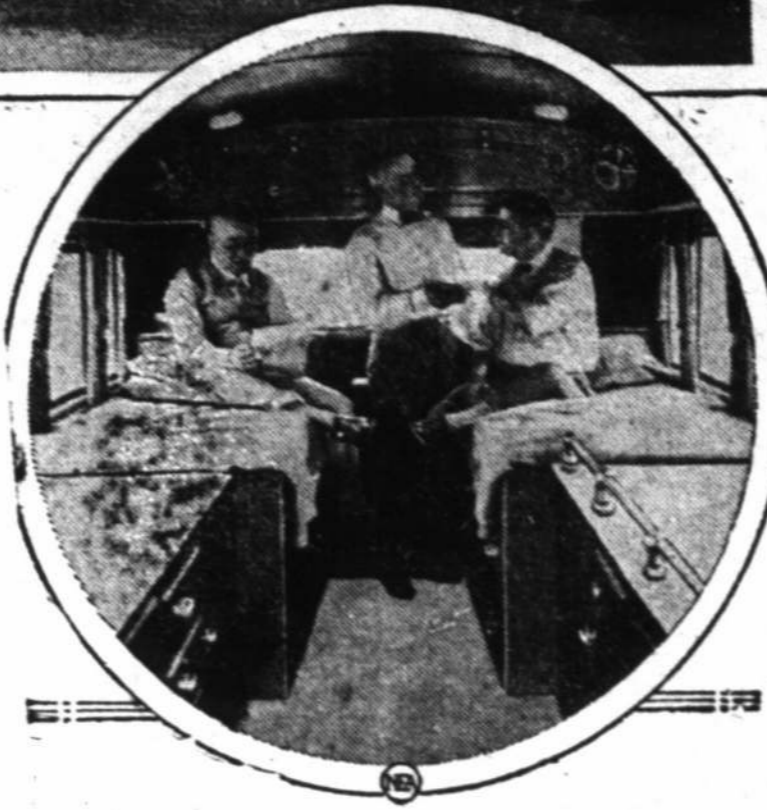

The motor truck, which has a distinct field of its own in the transportation of heavy goods, has found satisfactory in many ways as a delivery medium for department stores and other retail concerns which must distribute daily many small and light parcels. Its bulk and slowness has several objectionable effects, it is said, including increased expense for crew wages, customer dissatisfaction over delayed receipt of purchases, and hostility of traffic officers, who not infrequently slow down still further the running time of trucks and heavy delivery wagons by giving the right of way to faster cars.

To overcome these difficulties many large retail establishments have been experimenting with passenger automobiles. The touring car and sedan body types have been found to have many qualifications for this purpose. They keep pace with the flow of traffic, are flexible in operation, and thus escape the alleged hostility of officers. They cut delivery time materially, not only by their speed and flexibility when congestion threatens, but by their freedom to make use of "calleways and other through streets" from which heavier and slower vehicles often are banned. They also offer the advantage of ease in finding substitute drivers among a store's employees in emergencies, and avoid the objections often made by an important class of store patrons to having delivery wagons come to homes in exclusive neighborhoods.

"Baggage Car" Follows Private Bus

When J. W. Kaufman, wealthy sportsman and business man of Columbus, O., takes his friends on a long distance tour or outing, he takes all conveniences with him. A baggage car, as shown above, trails his sumptuous touring bus, carrying supplies for the trip. The bus itself is a special White six-cylinder chassis with a Bender body and carries the facilities of living room, dining room, wash room and bedroom, besides all appointments from ice water to radio. A view of the interior, with Kaufman (at left) and two of his guests, is shown below. The baggage car is a White "De Luxe" of the delivery type.

Conference To Be Held In City Soon

When the Northwest Texas annual conference of the Methodist church convenes here November 21, approximately 500 ministers and laymen of the church will be here. Bishop John M. Moore of Dallas, will preside at the conference which will extend through November 25. On the night of November 20, the night before the opening of the first business of the session, Dr. R. E. L. Morrison, of Amarillo, will deliver the opening sermon. Dr. Paul W. Kern, pastor of the Travis Park church of San Antonio, will preach Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday nights. Reports from each church in the conference will be made and on Sunday night, the final night of the

Continued Growth Of Church Future Is Seen By White

"Continued growth" is the prediction of Rev. E. E. White, pastor for the future of the First Methodist church of this city.

In outlining the record growth of the church for the past four years during which time more than 1,000 members have been added to the church rolls, the Rev. Mr. White stated that no campaign for membership had been staged during that period of time, because additional membership could not be accommodated in the old building.

More Room Needed
"We have lacked sufficient room both for Sunday school and church purposes for a number of years," the Rev. White said, "but with the completion of the new educational building we are now in a position conference, appointments for the ensuing year will be ready by Bishop Moore.

to accommodate from 1,500 to 1,800 persons in the Sunday school departments.

"Should the membership increase beyond those bounds the advisable thing will be to add additional churches in the city. One church—the 19th Street Methodist Church—has been added during the past four years, and it is a very good thing. An enormous growth as we have experienced in the past would justify other churches of this kind," the pastor concluded.

Uncle Sam Appropriates Fifty Cents Per Person For Building Of United States Roads System

Forms Conclusive Argument For Continuation of the Program Launched By Federal Government

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 10.—Uncle Sam's share in building the Federal-Aid highway system has been approximately fifty cents per year for every man, woman and child in the country.

This statement was issued by National Headquarters of the American Automobile Association today, based on the government's expenditure of $613,993,977 for completed highways since the program was started in 1916 and a population of 120,000,000.

The national motoring body says that this forms one of the most convincing arguments yet advanced for a continuation of this program which has done more than anything else to bring national prosperity.

"This means that since the program started in 1916," the A. A. A. statement points out, "the government has aided highway building with an amount less than the car owners spend for tires in one year."

Car owners spent $225,000,000 in 1927 for tires and replacements. There have been a total of 73,119 miles of Federal-Aid roads completed, as of September 30, 1928 and 10,915 miles are under construction, with 2,138 miles approved for construction. The cost of the mileage under construction is estimated at $274,488,688, of which the federal government will pay $104,748,746.

The national motoring body says the Federal-Aid policy is now firmly entrenched in the government's program, with members of congress quick to ignore any attacks on this beneficial legislation.

"However," says the statement, "with nearly 25,000,000 motor vehicles registered in the United States and automotive production at its highest peak, road building is not keeping pace with the increase in registration."

The statement continues: "Since 1916, motorists as a class have paid the Federal Government in the form of excise taxes on automobiles and parts, the sum total of approximately $1,100,000,000."

"This means that the Government has spent a little more than fifty per cent of the amount of motor vehicle revenue paid by the motorists as a class to the Treasury Department. At this rate, the Government still 'owes' the motorists approximately $500,000,000."

"In addition to the great need for continuing Federal-Aid on an undiminished scale, there is also a pressing demand for federal assistance in building roads through the public land states of the West, in order to protect national resources and at the same time connect up important transcontinental routes."

Care Of Cars For Winter Is Urged By Hupp Factory

Service Director Gives Valuable Hints On Car Care For Winter Months Just Ahead

With the approach of winter, the Hupp service department is taking thought of ways and means for protecting the car against the effects of freezing temperatures.

Thorough precautions, as every wise owner knows, prevent many annoyances, such as hard starting, frozen radiators and other cold weather troubles, to say nothing of heavy repairs that may follow neglect of a car in winter.

C. E. Salisbury, Hupp mobile service director, is already sending out advice to his company's sales and service representatives to urge on their customers the attention to their cars' winter needs.

"We earnestly advise all Hupp mobile owners to take their cars to their nearest authorized Hupp mobile service station at this season of the year and get the benefit of the skill and knowledge of experts to be found there," said Mr. Salisbury.

"When an owner plans to make winter provision himself for his car, we believe it prudent for him to consult our service representatives. There are a large number of accessories on the market which owners may consider purchasing and installing to increase engine efficiency during the winter and a wide variety of choices is offered even in such simple aids as anti-freeze solutions and other winter provisions. Some of these are good, some are not so good. The Hupp mobile service man knows what accessories are suitable and adaptable for the Hupp mobile car and can give the owner invaluable advice."

contained in Mr. Salisbury's letter to Hupp mobile dealers.

The engine crankcase should be drained and refilled with a new oil. The transmission and rear axle should be flushed out and filled with a lubricant that will not congeal.

For maximum engine efficiency some form of protection is necessary in cold weather. The hood louvers should also be covered. The Hupp mobile service man knows what best suits Hupp mobile cars in this respect.

The use of anti-freeze solution is necessary in the cooling system where temperatures are below 33 degrees. Before installing them, the cooling system should be drained and thoroughly flushed out. The water pump should be checked and repacked if necessary. All hose connections and clamps, as well as gaskets at the water pump and cylinder side cover should be replaced if needed.

Distilled glycerin has many advantages as an anti-freeze solution. It does not evaporate and the addition of water only is required. It will not injure lacquer finish.

When using alcohol as a solution, be careful to avoid damage to lacquer finish. The solution should be checked for strength from time to time.

Engine compression should be uniform. Ignition and spark plug points should be cleaned and gapped to recommended specifications. Make sure choke opens and closes freely and the action is free. The carburetor should be properly adjusted, vacuum tank screen, valves and fuel strainer should be cleaned, generator should be adjusted to a higher output, battery should be checked and filled with distilled water, recharged if necessary and its terminals cleaned.

Brakes should be carefully inspected and adjusted. Ice prevention demand perfect operating brakes for safety.

Engineers Would Help Us Out With Scientifically Planned Traffic

BY ISRAEL KLEIN, Science Editor, NEA Service

Traffic control, as it is being practiced today, seems to be increasing rather than diminishing the dangers of city motoring. It is losing the respect of the public and is causing people, otherwise law-abiding, to violate the rules.

This is no haphazard statement, but is based upon the report of a survey of traffic systems in more than 100 cities totaling a population of more than 25,000,000. The study has been made by the committee on street traffic signs, signals and markings of the American Engineering Council in New York.

The committee's report is quite discouraging. No uniformity, no systematic control, no observance of individual conditions, except to put up a signal and let it go at that, seems to prevail. The result is confusion rather than simplicity and a general loss of respect for the observance of the signals and signs set up for traffic control.

Standard is demanded by the committee, headed by W. B. Powell of Buffalo, N. Y., makes 23 recommendations, constituting a standard, for the improvement of traffic control in order to increase safety and facilitate traffic.

General use throughout the country would simplify the whole affair. The committee points out two fundamental errors cities are making. One is placing traffic devices without adequate study of the conditions they are intended to correct or of the evil effects possible from their installation.

The other error is that of installing traffic control devices at places and times not justified by the conditions.

"If these tendencies continue," says the report, "the inevitable result will be a public recognition of the errors and a consequent neglect of unfriendliness toward street traffic signs, signals and markings."

There is hardly a city that hasn't an enforced stop sign where none is needed, where traffic lights keep going late after midnight at intersections that are dangerous for drivers to stop and where the signals are more a hindrance than a help to traffic.

"Impatient and reckless drivers W. B. Powell disregard an unnecessary stop signal and their habit threatens the usefulness of all traffic control signals, the value of which depends upon the public confidence based upon their supposed general observance," continues the report.

Signals are abused. Traffic is diverted through side streets, as a result of many accidents there, especially to children.

Need of a uniform, standardized system based on strict engineering studies of local conditions is evident from the figures collected by the Engineering Council's traffic committee.

The committee believes that what is called the "flexible progressive system" of traffic control is best. This co-ordinates the signals along a single street so that traffic is kept moving at a pre-determined speed for the entire length of the street.

In addition the committee advises discontinuance of the yellow caution light after the red, and its use only after the green. Thus drivers waiting to get the signal to start would not take advantage of the yellow light and move into the tail end of crossing traffic.

It is estimated that Germany will consume more than 800,000 metric tons of gasoline and almost 1,200,000 tons of gasoline and benzol during 1928.

New Studebaker Spring Shackles Meet With Favor

Engineers Claim Victory Over One Of Common Ailments In Modern Motor Products

"There are two ways of looking engineering troubles in a motor car," says D. G. Ros, chief engineer of the Studebaker corporation. "One is to eliminate the cause. The other is to eliminate the effects."

"A good illustration of this is found in the new ball bearing spring shackles which are now an exclusive on all Studebaker models.

"For a number of years engineers have been concerned with the troubles nearly every motorist has experienced with the conventional type of spring shackles. These are all important units which join the springs to the frame of the car. They had a decided tendency to wear and start annoying rattles. They needed frequent lubrication and adjustment. Even at best they did not permit the springs the freedom of movement necessary to enable them to do their full share in absorbing road shocks.

Treat The Symptoms "Engineers treated the symptoms. They provided better methods of lubrication; they devised shackles that required no lubrication at all. But each remedy nearly always involved other troubles, and treating the symptoms left spring shackles still an unsolved problem. Then Studebaker began tests with an altogether new type of spring shackle. Ball bearings eliminated the friction that cramped spring action in the conventional type of shackles. Lubricant was sealed in new shackle—enough to last the average motorist through two years of driving. They required no adjustment and banished wear forever.

"After the most exhaustive tests embracing 177,000 miles of driving over all sorts and conditions of roads the new ball bearing spring shackle was adopted as standard equipment for all Studebaker models.

Plymouth Sales Continue Rapid

Facilities Of The Chrysler Factory Are Cramped To Care For Demand For New Product

Continued great growth in the demand for the new Chrysler-Plymouth is keeping its sales at the highest rate they have yet known, says J. W. Frazer, Plymouth sales manager.

"The Plymouth is the newest sensation among cars in the lowest priced field," Mr. Frazer points out. "Its full size for five adult passengers, luxury of appointments, unusual performance capacities, modest price and the care with which it is built have brought to it a public demand that has considerably enlarged its sales as compared with those of even three months ago. Our plans call for even more cars starting in the early months of 1929. Rearrangement of plant facilities is already going on to have them available by February."

It is the discovery of new efficiencies in plant operation and manufacture that has enabled the Plymouth to be offered at its extraordinarily modest price, Mr. Frazer reveals. These efficiencies, he continues, have been almost revolutionary, even to the manufacture of motor cars, which has contributed scores of economies to many other American industries that have brought that phase of American business to the outstanding position it occupies in contemporary life in this country.

ONLY PONTIAC AMONG ALL SIXES OF ITS PRICE OFFERS

Body by Fisher! To motor car owners everywhere the very phrase suggests the newest style, the greatest luxury, the finest construction known to automotive body building. Yet only Pontiac among all sixes of its price offers bodies by Fisher. And in their long, low, smart lines, their deep-seated comfort and durable hardwood and steel construction, you will find the cause of a great share of the tremendous popularity which Pontiac continues to enjoy.

But bodies by Fisher represent only one of the many advantages offered by today's Pontiac Six. A 186-cubic inch engine equipped with a new, more highly perfected carburetor—the AC fuel pump—the cross-flow radiator with thermostatic control—the famous G-M-R cylinder head... all these vital engineering advancements are provided by Pontiac and by no other six selling for as little as $745.

2-Door Sedan, $745; Coupe, $745; Sport Roadster, $745; Phaeton, $775; Cabriolet, $795; 4-Door Sedan, $825; Sport Landau Sedan, $875. All prices "à la carte." Merit alone . . . can win such popularity

The instant success of the new De Soto Six is renewed proof that the American public appreciates and rewards true distinction and quality in a car of moderate price.

The unmistakable enthusiasm which greeted the introduction of this new Chrysler-built Six a few months ago has swelled into a great chorus of approval—backed by a record-breaking avalanche of orders.

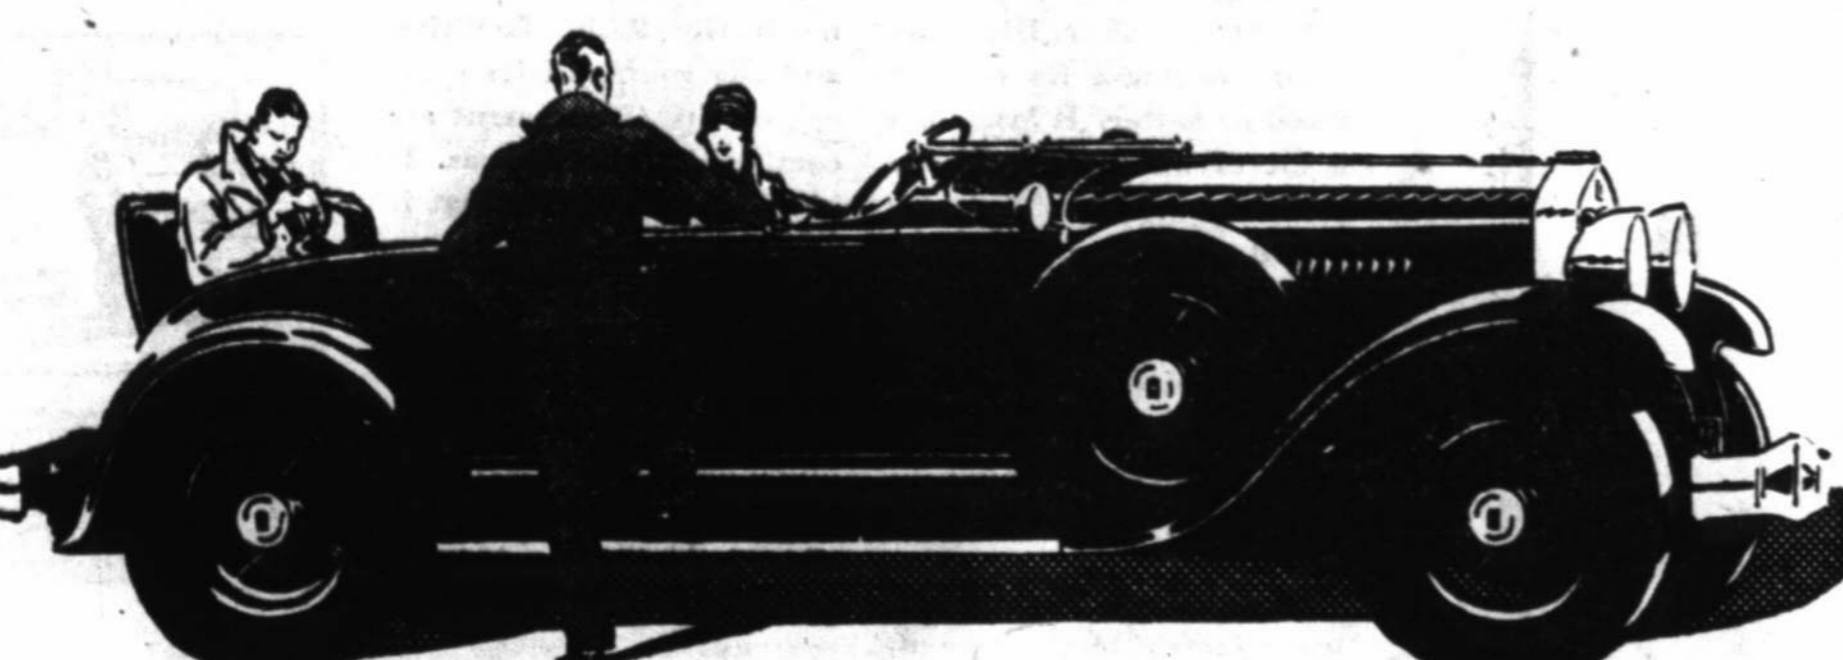

You are invited to confirm this popular judgment for yourself. See and drive the new De Soto Six—and you will applaud the verdict of a host of owners, who rate it supreme in value.

Free Lance Buyers select NEW CENTURY HUPMOBILES as the Century's Finest Values!

THE "free lance" buyer is one with no used car to trade in on his purchase of a new car. Unhampered in his choice, he goes straight to the source of greatest value. It is a striking fact that 21.99% of Hupp mobile Century Six sales and 16.14% of Century Eight sales in 1928 have been made on this basis. And Hupp mobile sales are mounting, month by month, not alone through this class of buyers but by attracting thousands of motorists from price fields both above and below that of Hupp mobile. When you examine the new "tailored-metal" beauty of the new Century Hupp mobiles, and personally experience their finished mechanical excellence and smoothness of riding, you too will see the folly of paying more for the Century's finest motor car performance and value.

Forty-two body and equipment combinations, standard and custom, on each line. Six of the Century list prices: $1345 to $1645; plus delivery charges. Century Eight list prices: $1825 to $2125, plus delivery charges.

French Car Show Reveals Copy Of American Method

Production In This Nation Makes Hit With Europe's Manufacturers And They Swing Right Into Line

PARIS, Nov. 10.—France's first international auto show of the present season, recently opened in the Grand Palais on the Champs Elysees here, reveals two interesting developments from within.

The first, and most important, indicates that the European manufacturers are fast adopting American methods of production. Improved machinery, new methods and new designs have lowered the production costs so that local manufacturers can compete with the United States in selling their own people motor cars.

The second development brings forth the fact that the new European models have no new sensational novelties. The reason for this is given that the motor car has developed to such a degree of perfection that manufacturers are now reluctant to make changes and thoroughly and searching tests.

In the meantime, however, research is going forward steadily and tried and proved improvement are constantly being put on the market.

It is interesting to note the keen competition that European manufacturers are offering America. Partial six cylinder cars are now being built for less than $1,000. The French edition of the Austin motor car is to sell with a three-passenger saloon body for around $500. Six cylinder cars are increasing in popularity along with the downward trend in price. The majority of the cars on display are six and eight cylinder with a slight increase in piston displacement.

As in America, the luxury of the six and eight cylinder cars, together with the low price, is affecting the sale of the four cylinder cars.

Graham Busses For Football Team

Comparable to the champion gladiators of Rome, who in their day of triumph could command every luxury, the modern American athlete now has his own deep cushioned omnibus to ride to the scene of combat.

The "Athletic Bus" has been designed by the Graham Brothers Motor Coach division of Dodge Brothers to meet the demand of schools and colleges for a vehicle to transport their teams safely, conveniently and economically. Accommodating 21 passengers, each in an individual seat that insures arm chair comfort and relaxation, the bus provides a dependable and speedy trip from the home campus to the scene of combat miles away and gives the players the advantages that thousands of spectators enjoy in motoring directly to athletic contests. A rack on top with tarpaulin affords ample carrying space for baggage and team equipment.

Chrysler Engineer Explains How Iso-Therm Invar Principle Contributes To Long Life, Economy

Quietly and rather unobtrusively one of the motor car improvements that has been going on for five years and is beginning to receive wide recognition is the development of pistons from the older cast iron design to aluminum alloy of the Iso-Therm Invar type. This piston is one of the features in the recently announced new Chrysler "TS" and "GS", which have attained even greater success than any previous Chrysler cars.

Fred M. Zeder, vice-president in charge of Chrysler engineering and head of the group which pioneered these and many other modern-day motor car developments, points out that the piston is one of the busiest and most important parts in a motor car. Each piston starts and stops some 2,000 times for every mile an automobile is driven. Any discovery that increases their efficiency or lengthens their life is therefore of first importance.

"Automotive engineers have long recognized that aluminum alloy, as piston material, possesses two fundamental advantages," says Mr. Zeder. "These are its light weight and high rate of heat conductivity. Light weight is essential to overcome inertia, to produce a smooth and vibrationless flow of power, and to reduce pressures on connecting rod and main bearings to a minimum—particularly so because the stresses which result from the reciprocating parts of the engine increase as the square of its speed. High rate of heat conductivity is essential to maintain piston head temperatures below the point at which detonation or pre-ignition occurs, and below the heat at which lubricating oil will "crack" and carbonize. Piston rings will not seal effectively against compression and explosion pressures unless kept at temperatures below the oil's carbonizing point.

"Oil carbonizes on the under side of a hot piston head. Flakes of carbon drop into the crank-case oil. The lubricant deteriorates rapidly, clogging the small oil passages, oil filter and other vital points, resulting in faster bearing wear and even bearing failure.

DeSoto Easy To Drive, Say Women

Flexibility And Driving Ease Proving Especially Popular With Fairer Sex, Sales Record Shows

With women forming an ever-increasing section of the automobile driving public, motor manufacturers and designers are being forced more and more to take feminine likes and dislikes into consideration when planning their product, say officials of the DeSoto Motor corporation, division of the Chrysler corporation.

Apart from the feminine influence in choosing the family car, an influence which is at least partially responsible for the bright and harmonious colorings of the modern motor vehicle, women are demanding cars which can be driven with a minimum of effort and which can be parked without difficulty even on crowded down-town streets.

Sales figures show that the new Chrysler-built DeSoto Six is being given a particularly hearty reception by women all over the country. They find its flexibility, its driving ease ideally suited to their requirements. The infrequent necessity for shifting gears, the speed pick-up and the smoothly instantaneous braking powers afforded by the Lockheed hydraulic, integral-expanding, four-wheel brakes are features which women value highly because such features lessen the strain and effort of driving.

The popularity and rapid growth of the "second car" habit has added many thousands of recruits to the army of women drivers. More women than ever before now have their own personal cars in which to shop or visit. In addition to the many women whose driving is limited to towns and cities, an increasing number of the fairer sex are turning tourists and making trips to every part of the continent entirely "on their own."

The result of this increased use of automobiles by women, say DeSoto officials, is that where they formerly concerned themselves almost entirely with the style and appearance features of a car, women today are motorwise and demand a high standard of performance and mechanical excellence.

STUDEBAKER'S Dictator

$2000-worth of automobile in appearance performance and riding ease!

$1265

F.O.B. FACTORY

ANYONE looking at the Studebaker Dictator would estimate its cost at $2000 or better. It looks like a lot of automobile inside and out... it is!

And when you drive The Dictator it feels like a costly car—you sense the inbuilt ability which sent a stock model Dictator 5,000 miles in 4,751 minutes—breaking all records for stock cars under $1400.

Studebaker's 76 years of manufacturing experience, the advantage of its mammoth One-Plant facilities, and the genius of its great engineering department are combined in this fine car. It is so carefully built that it may be driven 40 miles an hour even when NEW.

Permit us to lend you a Dictator on a get-acquainted basis, because there is so much more to its story than words and pictures can possibly tell. Phone—today—for a Dictator for a thorough test run!

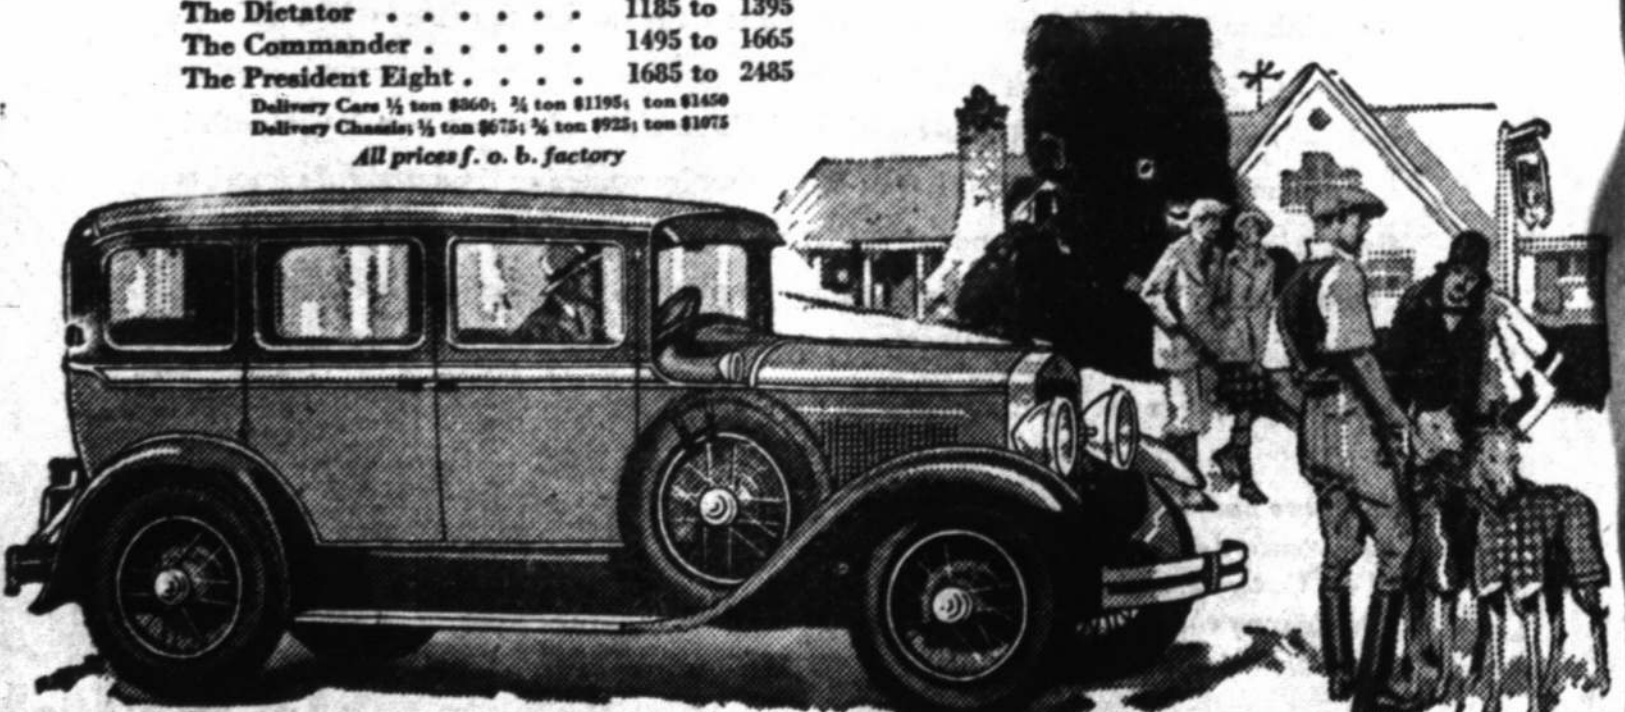

Literally beating the chassis friction-free on 173 balls of polished steel, Studebaker's exclusive ball bearing spring shackle permit unhampered action of Studebaker's pilot springs and hydraulic shock absorbers. Lubricated sufficient for more than 20,000 miles is needed in each axle. They will never bind, nor squeak, nor rattle. And because of all metal construction, there is no deterioration.
