Heavy Rains, Twister And Hail Reported

Power Cut Off At Tahoka And Post As REA Line Hit

Clear skies and brilliant sunshine today rang down the curtain on one of the most tempestuous displays of weather the South Plains has seen this year.

Popping lightning activity, heavy rains and light hail, a small twister and driving winds accompanied a cold front which arrived early Sunday night.

Rains ranging from hard, brief downpours to soakers measuring up to 1.50 inches were reported in an arc extending from Lamesa southwest, west, northwest and north of Lubbock. Hail was reported at several points, including Lubbock.

Twister At Brownfield

But the show was over this morning, said Victor H. Halliburton, weather observer at the U. S. Weather bureau station at Municipal airport. He foresaw gentle breezes throughout the day and said the mercury would rise from this morning's minimum of 44 degrees to a probable maximum of 72 degrees during the afternoon.

It was too early to tell whether activity in the Pacific Northwest would affect South Plains weather before the week end.

Most violent activity in the immediate area Sunday was a small twister which struck about one miles east of Brownfield about 5 p. m. The twister, fourth reported in Texas in as many days, snapped an REA power line pole and left Tahoka and Post and smaller communities in the area without electrical service for about 20 minutes. No other damage was reported from the storm which apparently lifted seconds after striking the ground.

Cotton Damaged

Hail damage was reported in the Lockney area Sunday night.

A heavy hailstorm in the Matador vicinity Saturday night damaged a two-mile swath of cotton acreage. Estimates of damage ran from 2,000 to 3,000 acres, with losses running up to 90 per cent.

The storm activity accompanied a cold front from the Rocky soared to 82 degrees at 3:30 p. m. Sunday, stood at 74 at 6:30 p. m. At 9 p. m., an hour after the front arrived, the mercury had dropped 15 degrees to 59 and by 12:30 a. m. had plunged to 53, a drop of 21 degrees from the 6:30 p. m.

Forecast For Cotton Rises

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP) — The Agriculture department today estimated this year's cotton crop at 15,446,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight.

This is 503,000 bales more than the 14,943,000 bales forecast a month ago. It compares with last year's crop of 14,868,000 bales and with the ten-year average (1938-47) average of 11,306,000 bales.

To Prepare Quotas

The crop apparently is large enough to require the government to propose rigid marketing quotas on 1950 production to prevent a top-heavy surplus. Quotas would have to be approved by at least two-thirds of the growers voting in a referendum.

A decision on quotas must be made by Secretary Brannan by Oct. 15. A referendum, if ordered, probably would be held by Dec. 10.

In an accompanying report, the Census Bureau said 5,309,240 bales of this year's crop had been ginned prior to Oct. 1. This compared with 5,305,456 bales ginned to the same date last year and 3,907,801 the year before that.

Yield Below 1948

The yield of lint cotton to the acre averaged 286.2 pounds compared with 313.1 last year and 254 for the ten-year average.

The condition of the crop on Oct. 1 was reported at 74 per cent of normal compared with 82 a year ago and 71 for the ten-year

Storms Batter Plains Region

Kansas, Oklahoma And Nebraska Feel Sunday Punches; One Dead, Four Hurt

(By The Associated Press)

Tornadoes roared and moaned over the Great Plains last night, killing one person and injuring four others.

From the Dakotas southward into Oklahoma and Texas, the clouds unloaded their moisture in thunderstorms. The bayous around Houston, though, were getting back to normal as flood waters receded.

But the weatherman used his trite but happy official phrase for the weather conditions over eastern, southern and central U. S. He said:

"Unseasonably warm temperatures continue."

In the western states, the thermometer readers were cool, as were the readings.

In a suburb of Lincoln, Nebr., a Sunday punch tornado dipped to earth and leveled a house. Mrs. Stella Morris, 78, was killed. Two others in the house were treated for injuries.

The whirling funnel of wind had scythed a path 12 miles long across the Nebraska countryside before it made its deadly strike. In its wake it left a tangle of communication and power lines.

The damaging winds hop-skip-and-jumped over Oklahoma. One woman was injured at Slapout, Okla., a small farm community 50 miles northwest of Woodward.

Two houses and a filling station were damaged. A twister fingered down near Rosston, and damaged a home on the outskirts of Laverne in Harper county.

In Russell, Kans., a small tornado lashed down main street. One woman was critically injured, but on the edge of town 500 farmers danced on at a V.F.W. hall as the winds by-passed them.

The whirling gales smashed at Hutchinson in central Kansas, and

Violent Deaths In Texas Hiked To 11

(By The Associated Press)

Texas' weekend violent death toll was at least eleven.

Ten persons were killed in traffic accidents, four in Bell county alone.

Two persons were killed Sunday and three injured when a truck and an automobile collided at an intersection at Freer, Tex.

Killed were J. H. Wellington, 62, Brunit, and Lewis G. Hall, 25, Corpus Christi. Hall's wife; Mrs. Lenora L. Jenkins, 34, and Francis Jenkins, 18, were injured.

Driver Not Hurt

The driver of the truck, Willis L. Mitchell, 25, was not hurt.

John H. Clary, 38, of Freeport, was killed early Sunday when his car and a truck collided near Rogers in Bell county. The truck driver was not injured.

Late Saturday, Clarence Haynes, 35, a negro from Odessa, was killed when struck by a car while walking along the highway near Salado, nine miles south of Belton. No charges were filed by investigating officers.

Woman Is Killed

The other two Bell county fatalities were Mrs. Clay House, 39, of Austin and Orlando Donald Stevelingson, 48, a civilian employe of Camp Hood. They were killed early Saturday in a head-on auto collision near Salado.

Mrs. House's husband was critically injured and Lt. John M. Battle of Camp Hood less seriously hurt.

Wichita Falls Plant Is Closed By Strike

WICHITA FALLS, Oct. 10 (AP)—Wichita Falls' largest industrial firm, Wilson Manufacturing Co., and a subsidiary plant, the Wichita Falls Foundry and Machine Co., were closed by a strike today.

More than 300 workers, members of the International Association of Machinists, were absent from work. It is an independent union.

Wilson Manufacturing company, makes the Wilson oil-drilling rig, one of the nation's most well-known rigs. The firm also recently began production of a prefabricated house.

Search Is Pressed For Missing Plane

SAN RAFAEL, Calif., Oct. 10 (AP)—Air-rescue craft took off from Hamilton field this morning to search for a B-17 overdue at Hill field near Ogden, Utah, on a flight from Albuquerque, N. M.

The missing plane left Albuquerque at 11:25 p. m. Mountain Standard time last night. It was last reported over Hill field at 2:04 a. m. Mountain Standard time today and then vanished.

The plane's fuel would have been exhausted at 6 a. m. MST today air rescue calculated. The number of crewmen aboard the craft was not known here.

Vets' Problem Will Be Aired

Routine business occupied the Lubbock county commissioners court during a morning session today, and the court recovened at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon for what pormised to be a more lively meeting.

Representatives of veterans organizations had indicated they would appear before the court to discuss problems relating to the county veterans' service officer's job.

Bills Are Approved

This morning the court approved bill and accounts. The bond of J. D. Farrier as public weigher for precinct No. 1 was approved.

A plat and dedication of Skyview addition, consisting of the northeast one-fourth of the southeast one-fourth of survey 10, block A, was approved at the request of Robert and Winnie M. Porter, owners.

The court also received a petition for opening of a 60-foot right-of-way for a road extending from the southwest corner of Lubbock Country club due south to

Fast Train Is Piled Up After Kansas Storm

School Building Is Thrown Open As A Haven For Injured

(By The United Press)

MEADE, Kan., Oct. 10. — A speeding Rock Island passenger train plunged through a washed out roadbed three miles east of here early today, killing at least four persons and injuring an estimated 75.

Mayor Ted Gardner of nearby Fowler, Kan., said four bodies were recovered from the tangle of seven cars of the eastbound Rock Island Imperial, which was en route from Los Angeles to Chicago.

Fowler, a tiny community of 750 population, immediately threw open its school buildings as an emergency receiving ward of the injured.

In Critical Condition

"I believe about 75 persons required medical treatment," Gardner told the United Press. "Several of the injured persons were in critical condition."

Capt. Tom Glasscock of the Kansas highway patrol told the United Press that the cars and the rear unit of two-unit diesel engine "just piled into that big hole."

Glasscock said ambulances rushed to the scene from Dodge City, Meade, and Liberal, Kan., and from Oklahoma, some 20 miles to the south.

The injured were removed by volunteers in a scene which Mayor Gardner described as a "madhouse" of people who were "running around in their night clothes screaming."

Carrying 130 Passengers

The accident occurred about 1:30 a. m., Glasscock said.

R. E. Johnson, assistant general manager of the Rock Island, said in Kansas City the train was carrying approximately 130 passengers.

Gardner said a fireman from the train crew walked most of the way to Fowler to seek aid. A volunteer crew of some 60 persons rushed immediately to the scene of the wreck.

The train plunged through the rails about 75 feet from U. S. highway 54 which the railroad parallels, Blasscock said.

The wreck occurred in level country, but last night's sudden storm and deluge turned the area into a string of shallow lakes. It was the rain which undermined

Fire Razes Hotel In Chicago South Side

CHICAGO, Oct. 10 (AP)—More than 100 persons stumbled sleepily from the Garfield hotel early today, flames crackling at their heels. The stubborn blaze, belching a column of flame 100 feet into the air, turned the three-story brick building into an inferno.

The hotel, in the south side negro district, is one half block long.

Smoke overcame six fire fighters and a few residents of the hotel. However, no other injuries were reported.

Navy Witness Claims A-Bomb Is Less Deadly Than Believed

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Navy men contended to Congress today that the air force B-36 bomber could not get through enemy defenses in numbers and that those which did would waste A-bombs.

Cmdr. Eugene Tatom brought gasps of surprise from the House armed services committee by testifying that you could stand at one end of Washington National airport and come through an atom bomb explosion at the other "without serious injury." The runway is a little over a mile and a quarter long.

Blast Area Limited

Tatom, head of the aviation ordnance branch of the navy aeronautics bureau, said the A-bomb is "completely devastating in the immediate vicinity of its burst." But contrary to popular ideas, he said, the area of destruction is rather limited. He went on:

"You can stand in the open at one end of the north-south runway at the Washington National airport, with no more protection than the clothes you now have on, and have at atom bomb explode at the other end of the runway without serious injury to you."

Because of the tremendous cost of atom bombs and the scarcity of the materials in them, Tatom said, precision bombing is just as necessary as with convention bombs.

Jap Destruction Cited

"Just let me assure you, gentlemen," he said, "that precision bombing of military targets deep in enemy territory from 40,000 feet at night or in daylight is a myth."

The big argument the air force makes for its six-engine B-36 is that the plane could fly undetected to any enemy target at 40,000 feet and blast it with an a-bomb.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) told Tatom to come back tomorrow to answer questions about the a-bomb.

"We'd like to have you tell the committee," he said, "why so many people were killed when the first one was dropped in Japan."

Losses Estimated

Tatom took the witness chair to cap testimony from navy fliers and radar experts that Russia undoubtedly has both the warning system and the fighters needed to intercept bombers like the B-36.

Another witness was Abraham Hyatt, head of the aviation design research branch of the navy's bureau of aeronautics.

Hyatt said that long raids by non-escorted B-36's could expect losses about three times as large as the losses of escorted B-17's over Germany during World War II.

"Unless some revolutionary development in engine or bomber design occurs, which cannot be ap-

Newlyweds Delay Honeymoon, After "Mixing" With Police

(By The United Press)

HOUSTON, Oct. 10.—A newly-married couple today demanded a grand jury investigation of alleged "rough house" tactics practiced by three policemen who halted their honeymoon car Saturday as they hurried off to Mexico.

Stanly Delmar Tinsley, the 28-year-old groom, claimed his war-time experiences on a torpedo bomber were nothing like the "roughing up" police handed him and his bride, the former Peggy Sanguily, 22.

Tinsley's car was stopped Saturday night near the Shamrock hotel, at barricades set up by the police department because of high water in that flooded sector of the city.

The couple had just left their wedding reception at the Junior league, where many of the city's socially prominent were in attendance.

Sgt. O. B. Hitt and police officers H. L. Yarbrough and L. N. Black charged the couple was "intoxicated" and offered resistance when they were stopped for their own protec-

UNEMPLOYED RANKS INCREASING

New Strikes Loom In Steel Industry

(By The Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 10 — More labor walkouts may boost the nation's strike idle to two million this week.

There's no sign of peace in either the steel or coal strikes which have cut off paychecks to approximately one million.

Adding to the bleak picture is the threat aluminum and steel fabricating plants may join the 454,000 CIO United Steelworkers already on strike for free pensions and insurance.

The only sign of optimism comes from the fact that John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine workers, plans to go back to the bargaining table with coal operators Wednesday. The government is prodding both sides to end the 22-day old walkout of 380,000 soft coal diggers.

Contracts To Expire

There's also a possibility the government may try again to end the nine-day old steel strike Cyrus Ching, director of the Federal Conciliation service, may summon steelworkers' president Philip Murray and industry leaders to Washington this week.

Murray spent the weekend writing speeches. He's going on a tour to give pep talks in steel centers.

Meanwhile, Murray's lieutenants mapped final strike strategy for half a million steelworkers employed in fabricating plants where steel is used to make hundreds of articles.

Contracts in the fabricating companies start expiring Saturday. And Murray wants the men in these plants to get what his basic steel workers ask — free pensions and insurance.

October 17 is another deadline

Contracts To Be Let On Highway Projects

AUSTIN, Oct. 10. (U.P.)—Lettings on proposed construction of 198 miles of highways costing some $3,405,600 will be held Oct. 18-19, the Texas Highway department has announced.

Farm-to-market roads will account for 153.6 miles of the total, state-financed roads, 12 miles, and primary federal-aid highways, miles.

Projects include:

Lubbock county — Grading, drainage structures, flexible base and double asphalt surface treatment on farm road 400, from U. S. 62, one mile east of Idalou to end of pavement north of Slaton, 12,292 miles.

Market Will Close Today

"Much better" than either last spring's or last fall's markets of the Western Wholesale Market association was the description given today for the 1949 fall market which will close at 6 p. m. today at Hilton and Lubbock hotels.

The market is "much better" from standpoint of attendance and also in sales volume than the two previous markets held since the war, said Jim Crook, secretary of the market association and assistant manager of Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the market.

Merchandise On Hand

The semi-annual markets were resumed last fall, after having been discontinued during the war.

The high attendance and high sales volume occurred despite the fact the market comes earlier than the cotton harvest and many merchants still have much merchandise on hand.

Attendance Sunday, opening day of the market, was estimated

Several Injured In Houston Explosion

HOUSTON, Oct. 10. (AP)—Several people were injured today in an explosion at the ammonia works in the San Jacinto ordnance depot on the Houston ship channel.

Tom Moore, the depot's information officer, declined to give details of the explosion except that several people were hospitalized from burns and shock and that an official board is investigating.

The depot faces Market street road and the ship channel about 14 miles east of Houston.

"Several people were hurt, none seriously," Moore said. "They were treated at the dispensary here and then some were taken to hospitals."

Bodies Of Victims, Riddled By Bullets, Found By Neighbor

(By The United Press)

FORT WORTH, Oct. 10.—Four members of a Fort Worth family were found shot to death in their beds today, and police said they believe they may have been dead since Saturday.

They were identified as Mrs. Elizabeth Finch, 33; her son and daughter, Allan, 6, and Penny, 8; and Mrs. Edith Walker, mother of Mrs. Finch.

Shot Through Head

Police said all four had been shot through the head with a .22-caliber pistol, which was found near Mrs. Walker's body.

The bodies were discovered by a neighbor who stopped at the home this morning to take the Finch children to school. However, police expressed belief the shooting may have occurred Saturday.

Mrs. Finch and her daughter were in the same bed in a front bedroom, authorities said, and the boy was in another bedroom. Mrs. Walker was lying on the bed in her bedroom.

Divorce Suit Filed

Neighbors said Mrs. Finch and her husband, Richard G. Finch, had been separated all summer. A divorce suit was filed last Sept. 16 by Mrs. Finch in district court here, and said the couple was married in 1935, and has separated June 12, 1949.

Authorities said Mrs. Walker came here about two months ago from her home in Palm Beach, Fla., because of a heart ailment.

Finch, a chinchilla breeder and former American Airlines pilot, was believed in Ann Arbor, Mich., at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Finch.

Friends said he left Fort Worth about ten days ago to look at chinchillas near Chicago, and planned to stop and see his parents at Ann Arbor. Since separating from his wife, Finch had been living at the home of friends in Dallas, his attorneys said.

House Was Locked

Mrs. T. C. Hukill, the neighbor who found the bodies, said all the windows were closed except one in the boys bedroom. The house was locked, she said.

Mrs. Hukill called police after peering through an opening of a venetian blind and seeing Mrs. Finch and her daughter in the bed.

A calling card belonging to a Dallas man was found in the front

DEATH WITHIN YEAR PREDICTED

Girl Doomed By Cancer Hopes For Meeting With Roy Rogers

BRONTE, Oct. 10. (U.P.) — Unaware that the doctors have given her less than a year to live, seven-year-old Belva Karen today played with her birthday dolls and talked about her hero, movie star Roy Rogers.

Last May, Belva was stricken with what doctors diagnosed as a light case of polio. But last week, a checkup at the Mayo clinic in Rochester, Minn., revealed that the child is suffering from neuroblastoma, an incurable form of cancer.

Girl Enjoys Gifts

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Rippetoe, Belva's foster parents, said she enjoyed the gifts, cards and flowers she received for her birthday yesterday.

Mrs. Rippetoe said Belva told her "it's almost nice being sick."

Rogers, star of western movies, was not invited to Belva's party but friends said they hope to arrange a meeting soon.

"Someday I want to meet him," she said. "Then everything will be all right."

Death Is Discussed

About 18 months ago, Belva brought up the subject of death in a conversation with Mrs. Rippeto.

"When I die I want my casket put right over there at those windows," she said. "And I want it blue inside and out and I want flowers all over that wall, clear to the ceiling."

She picked up her doll and looked at her foster mother.

"I want her buried with me and we want long, shiny dresses."

Funeral Set Tuesday For Dr. O. C. Boone

Dr. O. C. Boone, former Lubbock chiropractor, who lived at 1520 Broadway, died at 8:30 a. m. Sunday in Lubbock Memorial hospital after an extended illness. He was 64 years old.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday at the Broadway Church of Christ with Rev. Norvell Young officiating. Burial will be in Lockney cemetery under direction of Sanders Funeral home.

Dr. Boone had lived in Lubbock for 22 years and had been one of the leading chiropractors in the city until illness forced him to give up his practice three years ago. He had formerly lived in Fort Worth, Austin, San Antonio and Stephenville.

Also Served As Magician

An amateur magician, Dr. Boone at one time had his own show and traveled widely with it. He had also been a preacher for about 10 years, giving up that profession around 1935.

He was married in 1904 to Lillian Cowart in Silverton. His educational record includes graduation from the since disbanded Christian college in Lockney and studies at the National chiropractic college in Chicago and the Texas chiropractic school in San Antonio.

Born in Seymour, Dr. Boone had been a member of the Church of Christ for the past 35 years. He had his offices in Lubbock in the Myrick building for about 10 years and later at 1218 Avenue N before moving to his Broadway address.

Survivors include his wife; two sons, Jack Boone of Houston, and Dr. Alton Boone of Los Angeles, Calif.; one daughter, Mrs. Chrystelle Bennett of Littlefield; one sister, Mrs. Vera Madley, Arlington; one brother, P. W. Boone, Spring Dale, Ark.

Trouserless Newsmen Cover Rare Event

Sea Lion Breaks All Records In Crossing English Channel

DOVER, Eng., Oct. 10 (AP) — Pierre Cilion, a California sea lion with a sense of humor, has shown the human race that it still has a lot to learn about swimming.

In the most casual sort of way Pierre swam the Englisn channel yesterday in just over five hours. That is approximately half the best time ever set by a human.

Pierre — spurred on by snacks of herring — made his bid for fame and radio, television and movie contracts on just about the worst possible day for a channel swim. The crossing was so rough that half the 20 news correspondents and photographers who went along in two motorboats became very seasick.

Newsmen Doff Pants

The correspondents themselves established some sort of record for stunts of this sort. Many of them made the crossing without any pants. Because the surf was so heavy they had taken off their trousers and waded out to the boats. Then water splashed into the boats and made the garments too wet to wear.

Pierre's swim was part of a stunt for "Truth or Consequences," —radio program familiar to listeners in the United States. Burt Kennedy, who missed a question in a quiz, was required to assist in managing the venture.

Kennedy, a free lance writer, plans to return to Hollywood today by plane. The radio program will reward him with a dollar for every minute Pierre clipped from the channel record. This will come to about $360.

Only 18 months old, Pierre is the youngest as well as the fastest channel swimmer. Of the 11 human swimmers who tried to swim the channel this season, only five made it.

Wore Black Corsett

To keep the sea lion on course, Ross McBride, his trainer, fitted Pierre in a black corset to which a 30-foot line was attached. McBride went along in a rowboat towed by a motorboat and held the line. Herring were tossed overside to keep Pierre's mind on his business.

It wasn't an easy task. Sometimes the sea lion raced ahead of the boats. Other times he swam in the wrong direction or dived deep into the water. On those latter occasions McBride said Pierre was looking for fish and perhaps finding some.

The way Pierre can ham up an act, his career as an entertainer should be assured. When he flipped out on the beach here he frisked among some English spectators. Then just for the laughs, he took a playful nip at several of them.

Polio Is Fatal To Girl From Clovis

Joan Hon, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Hon of Clovis, N. M., died from poliomyelitis at 7:45 a. m., Sunday in Lubbock Memorial hospital.

The child was stricken with bulbar type polio at her home in Clovis Thursday afternoon. She was admitted to the hospital Saturday noon.

Rix Funeral home took the body overland to Clovis for services and burial.

Survivors are her parents; a brother, Billy D., of Clovis; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Floyd of Clovis; and paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hon of Clovis.

State Fair Hopes To Have Record Crowds

DALLAS, Oct. 10 (AP) — State fair officials hopefully expect two million visitors by closing time Oct. 23. They got a big boost toward that figure yesterday—132,781 people poured through the gates.

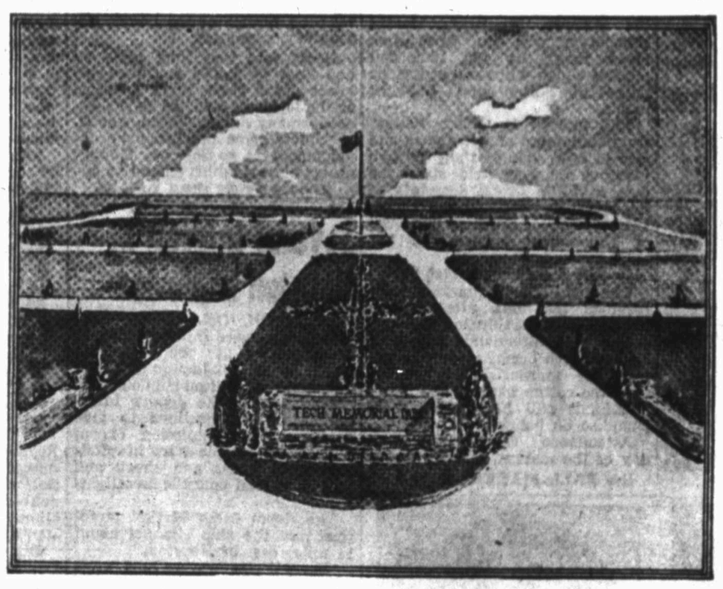

Today has been set aside as a special day for negro crippled children, Dallas negro school children, Texas corn growers, Texas oats and barley growers and Texas Polled Hereford association.

Norway Holds National Vote

OSLO, Norway, Oct. 10 (AP) — Labor's one-seat majority in the storting (parliament) is at stake today in Norway's nip-and-tuck national elections, the first since 1945.

Veteran political observers thought growing irritation at tight rationing and strict state planning might wipe out Labor Prime Minister Einar Gerhardsen's slender control in the 150-member parliament.

But the only sure bet seemed to be that the Communists would drop some of the 11 storting seats the have held for four years. Communism has dropped in popularity since Norway joined the Marshall plan and Atlantic past, bringing Russian rumbles of dissatisfaction across the northern Norwegian-Soviet frontier.

Parties Split

Gerhardsen's Laborites held 76 seats in the last parliament, against a total of 74 for the combined opposition ranging from Conservatives to Communists.

The Labor party committed to wide state planning and public ownership of certain industries, is still expected to lead the government even if it drops its absolute majority in parliament. This is because of sharp splits among opposition parties.

The opposition lineup in the old parliament was: Conservatives 25, Liberals 20, Communists 11, Farmers 10, Christian People's party, 8.

Conservatives — led by Carl Hambro, former president of the old League of Nations—hope to win some former Labor votes by capitalizing on discontent over Norwegian austerity. On the other hand, the Labor party hopes to pick up votes from leftists who once voted Communist but now are worried about Russian pressure.

All the opposition parties, with the exception of the Communists, have supported the government's foreign policy which pledges integration of the country into the North Atlantic pact and the Marshall plan.

Police Foil Accused Slayer's Escape Try

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 10 (AP) —Earl Bircham, accused cop killer and jail escape artist, must turn magician if he gets out of his present quarters.

Bircham, given top-rank standing among the nation's public enemies, made a spectacular escape attempt Saturday. Now he is in solitary confinement in Jefferson county jail and is being watched 24 hours a day by two patrolmen armed with shotguns.

Bircham, 45, sawed his way out of his cell at the Jefferson county jail and confronted John Clifford, 50-year-old guard, with two guns carved from soap.

Clifford spotted the trick and wrestled with Bircham until help arrived. Bircham, who fled Kansas state prison at Lansing three times, goes on trial tomorrow on a charge of murder in connection with the slaying of Louisville Patrolman John Tennyson. He also is accused of wounding Patrolman John Ross when the officers attempted to arrest him.

WHY A STEEL STRIKE?

United States Steel wants to do what is right by its employees. We have always sought the loyal cooperation and friendship of our employees.

United States Steel favors proper programs of insurance, welfare, and pensions for its employees. We have had insurance and pension plans in effect for many years. We are ready and willing to try to work out with the Union through collective bargaining any changes in our existing programs for insurance and pensions which are now necessary or desirable.

We made an offer to the Union to pay as our share of the cost of programs of insurance and pensions to be negotiated with the Union up to an average of 4 cents an hour for insurance and 6 cents an hour for pensions. That was a very substantial offer on our part. It would provide at our expense insurance and welfare benefits which our employees do not presently enjoy. The adoption of such programs would add more than $50,000,000 annually to our costs of operation.

The Union flatly rejected this liberal proposal and called a strike against us. Why? Simply because United States Steel is not willing to agree in advance that it will pay the entire cost of insurance and pensions for its employees.

Because of the Union's adamant stand that we must pay the entire cost of insurance and pensions for employees, the Union has deprived our employees of an opportunity immediately to obtain, without additional cost to them, insurance protection far superior to that which the employees now possess.

United States Steel proposed to pay as its share of the cost of an insurance program about $5.70 a month for each participating employee. A single employee would pay as his share about $2 a month and an employee with dependents about $3 a month. Our employees on the average are now paying under existing welfare arrangements more than these amounts each month for lesser benefits. The payments by our employees under the proposed insurance program would not reduce their present take-home pay.

A proper and financially sound pension plan calls for most careful consideration. United States Steel has offered to join with the Union in making a joint study on pensions, and, upon the completion of this study, to negotiate with the Union for a pension plan to be included in a new labor contract, effective on May 1, 1950. As an indication of its good faith, United States Steel has offered to pay up to 6 cents an hour as its share of the cost of a mutually satisfactory contributory pension plan. Here again, the Union flatly rejected our proposal.

The only issue in the present steel strike is this:

Shall United States Steel be forced now to agree that it must pay the entire cost of insurance, welfare benefits and pensions for its employees? An assumption by the employer of complete financial responsibility would amount to the adoption of a major and highly costly principle, probably for all time. Moreover, such action by a large steel company would probably set a pattern for all American business. There is grave doubt as to the financial ability of American industry alone to pay the cost of adequate insurance and pension programs for employees. Furthermore, is it not in the best interests of the employee that he participate in the creation of a savings account for his future welfare?

Social security in which both employer and employee share the cost has been the established order in this country for many years, as evidenced by the Federal Social Security Act.

Why should our employees and the whole nation suffer the disastrous consequences of a steel strike, from which the employees have so little to gain?

Lutheran Missionary League Stages Election At Rally

Officers elected at the sixth annual rally of the Women's Missionary League of the Panhandle zone, held in Lubbock at Redeemer Lutheran church, were: Mrs. J. D. Schroedel, Pampa, president; Mrs. Robert Buhrkuhl, Plainview, vice president; Mrs. Herbert Johnson, Lubbock, secretary-treasurer; Rev. D. V. Hafemann, Plainview, pastoral advisor.

Rev. Felix Segovia of Monterey, Mexico, presented the inspirational message and later in the day gave an informal talk.

Plainview and Littlefield received the awards for having the most members present, with a tie of 68 per cent each. Each league presented two minute reports on their activities for the last year. Mrs. W. T. Mauk of Littlefield gave a report on missionary work in the Philippines; Mrs. Martin Hartenberger of Amarillo spoke on Guatemala.

It was voted to meet in Plainview in 1950 and in Amarillo in 1951. An offering was taken to go toward buying equipment for Rev. Segovia's church in Monterrey.

Reception Scheduled At Church Tonight

An informal fall reception will be given tonight at 7:30 o'clock at Seaman hall by St. Paul's-on-the-Plains Episcopal church.

All members of the parish and friends of the church are invited to attend.

Rules Listed For Credits In Music

A plan for awarding credit in applied music in Lubbock Senior High school has been formulated and examination dates have been set. Theory exams are scheduled for Jan. 28, 1950, and performance exams are to be April 29, 1950.

Two credits in applied music may be awarded in accordance with the following rules:

One unit to be awarded in the tenth grade upon satisfactory completion of the tenth grade theory and performance examinations. One unit to be awarded in the twelfth grade upon satisfactory completion of the twelfth grade theory and performance examinations. Twelfth grade students who have passed Music Theory 21-22 in the high school or who are satisfactorily pursuing the course need not take the twelfth grade theory examination.

A student may earn either or both of these credits. A student may take the twelfth grade credit without having had tenth grade credit. The tenth grade credit will be accepted without the necessity of completing the twelfth grade credit.

Students are to be enrolled in the principal's office before Nov. 1 as to grade in school and the particular exams they are to take.

Teachers enrolling students for the first time must present their Applied Music Certificates from the Music Division of the State Department of Education.

The chairman of examinations shall be the coordinator of music of the Lubbock Public schools.

The 48 stars on the flag of the United States represent the states collectively, not individually.

Mary Haworth's Mail

Girl Disheartened By Parents' Patronage Of Her Love For Farm; Champion Sister

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I was thin and rundown when I was 13, and my parents sent me to an aunt's farm for the good food and outdoor life. I had a wonderful time and after that I spent every summer there until this year, when I took a job with a wonderful future, I think.

My boss has promised me a few days' vacation this fall, after my first six months are up, and my immediate thought was to spend that time with my aunt, since I didn't get to the farm this summer. But when I announced my plan to the family, their reaction was a climax to all the teasing I've taken ever since I started enjoying farm life.

On the farm I pitch in and work as no city person ever has, and on weekends there is usually a dance or festival or get-together which I enjoy very much. But when I try to explain the life to my parents, they usually look at each other and smile. And this last time, mother said, "I guess my girl will always be a hillbilly."

GIRL FEELS LIKE MISFIT IN FAMILY

MY PARENTS are fairly young and their interests include bridge parties, dances, opera, musical shows, golf, motor trips, weekend jaunts to other cities, etc., and I am well aware that they can't understand my love of farm life; but until now they had never openly made fun of my taste. It is so disheartening, when they champion every phase that my younger sister Ellen goes through.

When she got opera-happy (over a certain singer) they took her to concerts and operas and bragged of her interest. And now that she is forever reading socialogy and psychiatry and foisting her learning on us, they practically call her a "brain." She tells me her mind is on a higher level than mine, and she never fails to get in little digs about my summers. The other night she kept a friend of mine entertained all evening, telling him about my "quaint friends and activities in the country.

Although I feel secure in my home and happy in my job, and am not ashamed of my simple tastes, I sometimes feel like a misfit in the family. And I wonder if I were to read a few "thinking" books, swoon over Pinza or Crooks, and stand up to older persons in discussing the fate of the world (as Ellen does), would I be any more likeable? Please advise. Signed C. Y.

CASE OF PARENTS SPOILING "BABY"

DEAR C. Y.: In your long letter here cut in half, you say that Ellen goes into gales of laughter as your parents exchange smiles, when you try to tell what you do at the farm. Also, that Ellen sits by the hour to discuss and debate with your parents' friends on different subjects—a parade of "brain" that you think had taste.

Enough said, it seems to me, to indicate that Ellen is the household pet and obnoxiously spoiled as compared to the passive tolerance shown you, with the result that she automatically puts herself on a footing with her parents in relation to you and society. Also it seems she both infers and promulgates the idea that you are a sort of goon and fifth wheel in the family line-up; and smugly feels that on the score of affinity she and her parents are three of a kind, three-in-one against you, an odity who stands alone.

You, too, sense the outlander role into which you are cast (figuratively) by your parents' droll side glances when you earnestly bid for emotional support of your interests—and naturally there is pain, humiliation and dismay in being thus shut out and laughed off by one's nearest-and-dearest (supposedly).

However, as between your type and Ellen's I'll take yours as the best foundation for mature personality. You are sensitive, sincere and integrated in the matter of taste, whereas Ellen is tending to be a callous ambitious show-off, more conscious of herself and the impression she hopes to make, than of the subject matter of her alleged interests. She is developing a prima donna complex, straining to keep you from getting a crumb of favorable attention from an audience that knows you both—and your parents ought to wake up and dissolve that trend—M. H.

Motor Scooter Given To Pope By Italians

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy, Oct. 10 (AP)—Pope Pius XII has a brand new motor scooter, a bright blue one.

It was presented to the Pope yesterday by 700 horn-blowing Italian scooter fans who drove up in a procession to the prelate's summer residence. Pope Pius blessed the scooter drivers, who buzz about Italian streets by the thousands, and praised their "courage and agility."

The 73-year-old Pope plans to give his scooter to a country mission to carry priests in remote rural areas.

Mars Transports Are Returned To Service

ALAMEDA, Calif., Oct. 10 (AP)—The Navy has put its big Martin Mars flying boats back into military air transport service in the Pacific after a thorough engineering checkover.

The four-engined giants were pulled off their Pacific coast-Hawaii runs last Monday for close inspection of propellors and prop mechanisms. One of the five planes, the Philippines Mars, dropped an engine on the way to Hawaii Sept. 6. This mishap was attributed to prop trouble.

All five were flown into the Naval Air station here, examined, and released for flight Saturday, the Navy announced last night.

Air Force C-97s, transport version of the Boeing B-29, took over the Mars runs during the Navy check.

BRT Auxiliary Stages Dinner For Husbands

Ladies auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen staged a banquet Saturday at 7 p. m. in the IOOF hall with their husbands as guests. Attending were 36 members and guests.

Decorating the table were a crystal bowl of nasturtium and arrangements of dahlias and chrysanthemums in flat bowls. At each plate were corsages of chrysanthemums tied with the auxiliary colors, red, white and green.

Mrs. N. M. Lowery was toastmistress, and the invocation was brought by Mrs. Olen Crump. After dinner a musical program was presented by a string tiro consisting of Marvin Dudley, Lewis Hogan and Billy Mackey. Lillian Hogan played piano numbers.

Roger Dale Blair, 3, Is Birthday Honoree

Vows Read In Spur

SPUR, Oct. 10. (Special) — The marriage of Miss Bonnie Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Campbell, and Robert McAteer, took place Sunday, Oct. 2, in the home of the bride with members of the families as guests.

Rev. Cal Wright of the Spur First Methodist church read the ceremony before an altar of white chrysanthemums, gladioli and fern.

The couple left on a motor trip to Colorado, after which they will make their home on the McAteer ranch.

Sister Is Attendant

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a suit of teal blue with brown accessories and a corsage of brown orchids. Her sister, Mrs. Curtis Crossman of Garland, was matron of honor and David McAteer, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man.

Mrs. Webber Williams of Slaton played "O, Promise Me" and "Liebestraum" during the ceremony. Traditional processional was used.

Wedding cake and coffee were served after the ceremony.

NATIONS AGREE ON TRADE PACT

U.S. To Announce New Tariff Terms

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 — Full details were promised today on new American tariff cuts and other concessions on an estimated $250,000,000 of foreign imports.

The State department announced last night the reductions were agreed to in last summer's negotiations with 30 other countries at Annecy, France. Major classes of imports affected were listed but a product-by-product analysis was delayed overnight.

The Annecy negotiations, part of the reciprocal trade program, were termed by the State department a "landmark in commercial relations." Ten new nations joined representatives of the U. S. and 20 other countries which were among those signing the original 1947 general agreement on tariffs and trade at Geneva.

Effect For Future

An authorized U. S. official told reporters in announcing the results that "on balance what we gave is comparable to what we got," but that a firm dollars and cents comparison with the $250,000,000 American concession is impossible just now.

The idea behind the reciprocal trade program is to cut U. S. import charges on shipments from other countries, in return for cuts those countries make to permit entrance of U. S. goods.

Last night's announcement said that the 10 new nations joining the general agreement made concessions applying to $536,997,000 of imports from the U. S.—based on 1947 figures. However, officials said that with Marshall plan funds being used to finance abnormal postwar trade and with foreign quotas and other restrictions in force, the actual effects would have to be calculated in future years.

Goods Listed

The general classes of goods on which the U. S. granted concessions includes chemicals and drugs; vegetable oils; crockery and glass ware; stone and stone products; machinery and tools; wood pulp and other products.

Also included were sugars and molasses; tobacco and its products; meat and fish products; dairy products; fruits, nuts, and vegetables and preparations thereof; textile and fiber fabrics and other products; paper and paper products; jewelry; boots, shoes and other leather goods; musical instruments; dyeing and tanning materials.

Michigan Minister Dies After Prayer

LUM, Mich., Oct. 10. (AP)—In a prayer Sunday at a rural Methodist church, the Rev. Elmer Krake, 72, commented on the uncertainty of life.

"Some of you may not be able to return to see God next week," he said.

A moment later he dropped dead.

Two Mountaineers Killed In Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 10. (AP)—Famous Popcatapetl, the snow-capped dead volcano which towers on Mexico City's skyline, claimed the lives of two mountaineers yesterday as 5,000 people climbed to its summit to hear mass.

The mass was arranged by the national federation of outing clubs, which invited mountaineers to attend. The mountain, a menace to aviation and a challenge to mountain climbers, is the second highest in Mexico, 18,772 feet.

One of the climbers, 16-year-old Alfonso Hurtado Rodriguez, was climbing with a group near the El Ventorrillo peak, when he lost his footing. He and fellow members of his "Desperados club," a mountaineering group, were not roped.

The youth tumbled more than 1,500 feet down the steep slopes of the spur. He died of a fractured skull as members of the Red Cross Alpine group gave him first aid. His body landed on comparatively level ground near a path. The other man, unidentified at dawn today, was climbing alone.

Mental Health Group Will Meet Tuesday

The executive committee of Lubbock County Mental Health society is to meet at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night in the study of Dr. Travis White, acting president, at the First Christian church.

Meeting for the year and projects to be undertaken will be discussed. The committee also will discuss election of officers, which will take place in a general meeting.

Mrs. L. H. Holly is secretary of the society.

Truman Signs Bill To Boost Payments For Disabled Vets

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP) — President Truman today signed a bill increasing disability and dependency payment to World War I veterans by an estimated $112,000,000 yearly.

Its major provisions:

1. Provide full compensation, instead of 75 per cent, for veterans whose illness or disability is presumed to have resulted from war service.

2. Increase the length of time for which payments may be made for arrested cases of tubreculosis.

3. Create a new disability schedule based on $150 monthly for total disability and $15 for 10 per cent disability. The old rate was $135 and $13.80.

4. Increase monthly payments to widows with one child from $100 to $105, and the rate for additional children from $15 to $25 monthly.

5. Allow veterans with 50 per cent or more disability to receive additional payments for dependents. The old law required 60 per cent or more disability.

MacArthur Lauded By Boy Scout Executive

TOKYO, Oct. 10 (AP) — General MacArthur received a brotherly salute today from the Boy Scouts of America.

A letter to the Allied occupation commander from Chief Scout Executive Arthur A. Schuck of New York said:

"The World Brotherhood of Scouting can be a pertinent force in the world and we are glad you have, through your acceptance of the honorary presidency of Japan's boy scouts, given your endorsement of the value of this program for the development of character and citizenship of the boys of Japan."

Physician Knighted By King Of England

LONDON, Oct. 10 (AP)—The doctor couldn't call on the king, so the king called on the doctor today.

King George motored from Buckingham palace to the neighboring home of Sir Maurice Cassidy, his personal physician, to make him a knight of the grand cross of the Royal Victorian order.

Sir Maurice, who attended the king when he was ill last year, is laid up himself now with a thigh fracture suffered in an automobile accident last spring.

Suicide Attempt Of Woman Is Prevented

HOUSTON, Oct. 10. (U.P.)—Police used encircling tactics Sunday night to prevent a 59-year-old housewife from jumping from a bridge into swollen Buffalo bayou.

Radio Patrolman J. B. Elkins said he found the woman sitting on the bridge railing. He pleaded with her to come down, but she threatened to leap if he came near.

While Patrolman Elkins talked with her, members of the Harris county emergency corps slipped up from the other side and dragged her from the bridge.

The woman said calmly that she wanted to die. She was released to the care of her husband and two sisters.

Inquest Verdict Due In Shooting Death

Justice of the Peace C. E. Lynn today said he will return a verdict as soon as he has completed an inquest of the death of A. E. Wallace, 49, who was found shot to death Sunday afternoon in the bathtub of the home of a brother, W. M. Wallace, 2902 North Third.

Lester Wallace, a nephew, found the body shortly before 2 p. m. He had been shot in the head twice. A .44 caliber pistol was found lying on top of his fully clad body.

Assistant District Attorney A. W. Salyars said two shots had been fired from the gun, one merely entering the skin behind the dead man's right ear, the other entering the skull in the same general area, causing instant death.

Rix Funeral home announced the body was taken overland today to Burkburnet, where services probably will be held Tuesday.

Man Is Fined After Liquor Cache Found

MULESHOE, Oct. 10 (Special) —A bootlegger found the wheels of justice to be rapid indeed here Saturday, after he was fined three hours after his arrest.

Bennie Dunn was fined $198.75, including costs, by County Judge Cecil H. Tate at 3 p. m. Saturday, after pleading guilty to charges of illegal possession of liquor for the purpose of sale.

Sheriff's officers arrested Dunn at noon Saturday in Circleback, during a search for a petty thief. Dunn tried to run away when he saw the officers, and they stopped him and examined him.

Officers found 12 pints of liquor on Dunn's person and also a cache nearby.

CLASSES AT UNIVERSITY HALTED

Happy Students At Oklahoma Still Celebrating Triumph

NORMAN, Okla., Oct. 10 (U.P.)—University of Oklahoma students, still delirious from their weekend football victory over Texas, celebrated today with an unofficial, undeclared and undiluted holiday from school.

Some 2,000 Sooners, including many who apparently had cheered and honked without a break since 5 p. m. Saturday, demonstrated with a noisy parade last night. They gathered again early today in front of the administration building, and the results were just about as satisfactory as the 20-14 lip-smacker over the Longhorns.

O. U. President George L. Cross stood by the regulations, but at the same time he managed to look the other way.

"I can't declare a holiday," he told the 1,500 to 2,000 demonstrators. "But if you don't go to classes, there won't be any school."

This was logic with a loophole big enough for any class-cutter. And Cross added that when the O. U. regents meet Wednesday they probably will list the Texas game along with the other legal excuses for a free holiday — a clearcut Big Seven conference championship.

This was similar to the position Cross outlined last night, when the marching mob, chanting, "we want a walkout" and "we didn't get the goal posts," overran his front lawn like crab-grass. The president declined to lead the parade, but he gave it a sendoff with his left-handed endorsement.

Special Celebration Planned

About 50 automobiles loaded with cheering, banner waving O. U. students blared about Oklahoma City later in the morning. The celebrators planned special doings on the steps of Oklahoma's domeless capitol.

Several of the students carried Lone Star flags. One of the emblems of the sovereign state of Texas was hoisted into the breeze at the end of a broomstick.

A few conscientious students attended classes at 8 a. m. today, but the classroom was a lonely and embarrassing place to be.

Outside was sunshine and the refreshing feeling of victory-over-Texas. It was a poor day for education.

The sap of a sugar maple is 95 per cent water. For every quart of syrup produced, the tree losses 10 gallons of sap.

Rites Slated Today For L. H. McCorkle

Funeral services for Leeford Harvey McCorkle, 83, who died in Lubbock Memorial hospital Sunday morning after being confined for about a week, were to be held at 4 p. m. today, at the Westminster Presbyterian church.

The Rev. David Zacharias was to officiate, assisted by the Rev. R. A. Partlow, of Paris. Burial was to be in East Lawn cemetery under the direction of the Rix Funeral home.

McCorkle had been a resident of Lubbock for 24 years.

Pallbearers were to be Wyatt Hester, Porter Garrett, and Tim Lyle of Ralls; Jack Johnson of Amarillo; Allen Johnson of Ropesville; and Everett Rabun of Lubbock.

Survivors are one brother, H. T. McCorkle of Fort Worth; three sisters, Mrs. W. T. Irwin of Stamford, Mrs. A. H. Edwards of Dallas, and Mrs. G. M. Bounds of Tehuacana; two sons, Dr. T. G. McCorkle and Dr. J. B. McCorkle, both of Lubbock; two daughters, Miss Eula McCorkle and Miss Thora McCorkle, both of Lubbock, and three grandchildren.

THROAT SPECIALISTS REPORT on 30-Day Test of Camel Smokers...

NOT ONE SINGLE CASE OF THROAT IRRITATION due to smoking CAMELS!

YES, these were the findings of noted throat specialists after a total of 2,470 weekly examinations of the throats of hundreds of men and women who smoked Camels—and only Camels—for 30 consecutive days.

All the smokers in this nationwide test averaged from 1 to 2 packages of Camels per day. Their throats were carefully examined each week. And from coast to coast, the reports of the doctors were the same: NOT ONE SINGLE CASE OF THROAT IRRITATION due to smoking CAMELS!

SMOKERS THEMSELVES REPORT!

"Did I enjoy the test?" asks secretary Sylvia MacNeill. "I never knew a cigarette could be so tasty and mild!"

Noted archer Howard Hill: "Camel mildness is a familiar story to me. I've smoked Camels for years. A great cigarette!"

Famed skier Georgette Miller: "My first pack of Camels won me over! I never smoked a cigarette so mild!"

Vic Scott, outboard racer: "I go right along with those doctors' reports. By my test, Camels sure are mild!"

Mary L. Walsh, saleswoman: "I like a mild cigarette. Camels are the mildest cigarette I ever smoked!"

"I'm a Camel smoker. For a milder, better-tasting cigarette, Camel is the answer!" Steel worker Cyril Byrne.

Bank teller Cecelia Garland made her own 30-Day Test. "It certainly proved Camel mildness to me", she reports.

"My 30-Day Test steered me right. Camels are mild — they've got the flavor!" Bill Holland, auto-racing champion.

"Camels taste so good—I was thrilled to find them mild and cool." Mrs. Llewellyn Lord, Jr., socialite.

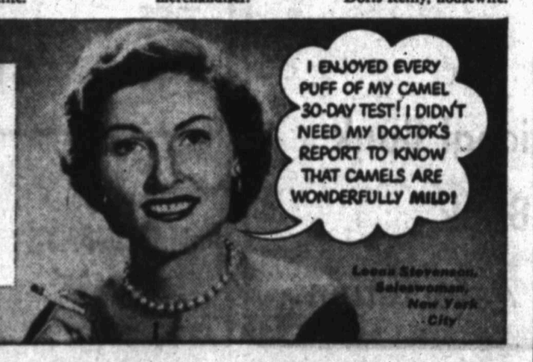

"I've tried many brands. There's no cigarette like a Camel. They're a real smoke!" R. M. Elliot, merchandiser.

"Every puff of my 30-Day Test was enjoyable! Camels have a flavor that is always welcome." Doris Reilly, housewife.

IT'S FUN! Smoke Camels—and only Camels—for 30 days. Compare them in your "T-Zone" (T for taste, T for throat). See if you don't agree that Camels are the mildest, best-tasting cigarette you ever smoked...that smoking is fun when you smoke Camels!

RUSSIAN ATTITUDE IS AWAITED

Small Countries Seeking Plan To Outlaw Use Of Atom Bomb

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 10 (AP)—The little countries of the United Nations today pledged a variety of remedies reflecting their fears over continued big power deadlock on the atom bomb.

High policy statements were expected from the Russians during the day on economic and religious persecution subjects.

But the minds and hearts of the United Nations are centered on the meeting of the 14-nation security council tomorrow afternoon when a Soviet spokesman promises to unveil the Kremlin's latest thoughts on the atom bomb.

Western diplomats were openly skeptical that Russian delegates would come up with a disposition to end the quarrel over atomic energy control. But all were hoping for proposals that might open the way to agreement.

India Pushes Plan

If they are new and if they have any semblance of compromise, they will give the big six atomic energy commission something to consider at their next meeting Thursday. The big five powers and Canada have been deadlocked for three years on any plan of international control because Russia refuses to allow international inspection of her atomic energy possessions. Russia argues that it invades her sovereignty. Other nations say they are willing to open their countries and their plants to inspection.

The little nations' pessimism is mirrored in their proposed solutions.

India is trying to get support for a move to have at least 50 nations—none of them possessing the A-bomb—outlaw the weapon among themselves, and use that as a moral club over its use by any of the big powers.

A-Bomb Use Provided

Argentina is trying to line up countries all over the world for a plan to force an armistice among all nations for a specified time—which would automatically bar atomic or any other kind of war.

Yugoslavia wants a 59-nation peace pact, which would accomplish the same thing.

Canada is credited with a plan which calls for only the United Nations to use the a-bomb against any country labelled by the United Nations as an aggressor.

Other minds are at work in other delegations trying to find some way to block atomic war.

Lester Pearson, Canadian foreign minister and chairman of the 59-nation political committee, said last night in a radio address that any effective control plan has to begin with the idea that national sovereignty is curtailed by any control plan with teeth in it.

In the economic committee, today, Russian spokesmen are expected to renew attacks on U. S. plans to aid under-developed countries.

Russia is flanked by satellite members in the United Nations in defending Bulgaria, Romania and Hungary in the special political committee against charges they violated their peace treaties by persecuting religious and political opponents.

Rites For Lubbock Man Slated Today

Funeral services were to be held at 3 p. m. today in the First Baptist church for John Washington Wills, 67, 2205 Sixth, who died at West Texas hospital at 2 a. m. Sunday. Rev. J. Ralph Grant, pastor, was to officiate.

Wills was a retired farmer and had lived in Lubbock for the last 10 years. He is survived by his wife; one son, Roy Wills, Slaton; three daughters, Mrs. Myrtle Hughes, 1717 Twenty-third, Mrs. Betty Lee Marchbanks, 1104 Thirtieth, and Mrs. Odessa Strawn of Tucumcari, N. M.; two brothers, W. H. Wills, Tuscola, and E. K. Wills, Levelland; two sisters, Mrs. G. H. McDonald, Abilene, and Mrs. L. J. McKencie, Hereford; and seven grandchildren.

Negro Man Charged In Fatal Stabbing

POST, Oct. 10 (Spl.) — Ora Lee Alford, 35-year-old negro woman, died in the Post clinic at 10:40 p. m. Sunday, 40 minutes after her throat had been slashed in a cafe here.

Arthur Green, also a negro, has been charged with murder in connection with the death, Garza County Sheriff E. M. Bass has announced. The suspect, who was arrested at the home of a friend had been arguing with the woman in the cafe just before she was stabbed he said.

Six Navy Men Die In Explosion Of Tanker

PEARL HARBOR, Oct. 10 (AP)—The Navy today listed six men killed in the explosion of the tanker Chehalis at Tutuila in American Samoa Friday.

The 2,020-ton tanker arrived at the Tutuila naval base Thursday with a cargo of aviation gasoline from Hawaii. Fire broke out forward, but was controlled.

Flaming gasoline spread on the water, however, and touched off the gasoline. The Chehalis sank in 30 feet of water.

Those killed out of the tanker's crew of 75 were:

Seaman Harmon J. De Loach, Ojus, Fla.; Fireman James E. Chambers, 2544 Brinkman St., Houston, Tex.; Radioman Allan Z. Bretzer, 1325 B St., Lincoln, Nebr.; AC/3 Robert W. Johnson, 307 Rickenbacker St., Midwest City, Okla.; Apprentice Seamen Dean E. Brower, Firth, Idaho, and Owen J. Wilson, jr., 108½ S. Eighth St., Wilmington, N. C.

EAT PLENTY AND TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

When you buy Barcentrate, you buy a preparation for taking off weight. You do not pay for any printed diet or for vitamins to fortify you against weakness while on a starvation diet. You need never know a hungry moment while taking this preparation. Barcentrate is the original grapefruit juice recipe for weight reduction.

Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to take off ugly fat, return the empty bottle for your money back.

Lost 56 pounds

Here is what Mrs. L. J. Bryant, P. O. Box 56, Whitewright, Texas, wrote us:

"I want to tell you what Barcentrate has done for me. I weighed 268 pounds when I started taking it. I now weigh 212.

"I have taken my dress size down from size 50 to 44 and never felt better in my life and everybody tells me how much nicer I look than I did.

"I am still taking Barcentrate as I want to get my weight down to 165 or 170 pounds."

Mythical War Demonstration To Show Job Of Air Support

EGLIN AIR BASE, Fla., Oct. 10. (AP)—Maj. Gen. Robert M. Lee said today the air force is ready to give close support to the army and navy whenever called.

Lee is commander of the Tactical Air command, which would do the job. He told newsmen assembled for a demonstration of methods and equipment in a mythical war, "we believe we have the best equipment available for the support job."

A quick show of what the air force, army and navy can do in a combined operation was set up for the benefit of some 3,000 young officers and observers as part of an air indoctrination course.

Situation Explained

The story is written around Alpha—the three American services—coming to the aid of Beta, a small nation in whose remote areas Gamma, a hypothetical aggressor, has established bases. Unless something happens to the script, Alpha will knock the tar out of Gamma ih a noisey but brief encounter tomorrow.

Lee opened his comment with an explanation that the air force wants to emphasize its vital interest in the tactical air picture, or close support operations, despite reports to the contrary.

The show, which is being repeated five times for various student groups, will be used not only to teach young officers the job, but also to test new techniques and equipment and to improve them, Lee said.

This is the first all-jet combat demonstration of its kind so far as the air force is concerned. There will be F84 Thunderjects in fighter-bomber roles, B-45 Tornadoes in close support light bomber operation, and RF-80 Shooting Stars for reconnaissance work. The navy will use F8F Bearcats, propeller fighters, and the army will use C-82 packet troop carriers and L-13 liaison planes. Some 4,000 officers and men and more than 200 planes will participate.

Improvements Sought

Gen. Lee said the F-84 in use now is the "best fighter-bomber that can be put in the hands of the pilots." However, he said, the tactical air command is looking to improvements in the light bomber field.

Lee said the B-50 superfortress, muscular brother of the B-29, may be adapted to close support work, but an effort will be made to put all jets into service he added, to "find out how to use them instead of sitting back until someone else finds out how they work."

Led into the realm of unification, he said: "We believe in interservice cooperation. We not only believe in it, we practice it. I am sure that if we have another emergency, we will all be working together as we have in the past."

The general pointed to the nearness of his headquarters at Langley air base, Va., to the headquarters of Gen. Mark Clark, chief of army field forces, and Admiral W. H. P. Blandy commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet.

Mexico may try more currency deflation to stimulate exports, Mexico City reports.

Letter To Nephew Concerning A New Dog Shows Robert E. Lee Had Sense Of Humor

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (U.P.)—Gen. Robert E. Lee had a sense of humor, sometimes overlooked in the usually austere accounts of the great general. In a letter to his nephew Fitzhugh Lee, written less than a month before he died, the general refers to a large dog which his nephew is about to send him:

"Lexington, Va., 19. Sept., 1870

"Your letter on the dog question has been unavoidably delayed. I thank you very sincerely for recollecting my wishes on the subject and your steps to comply with them.

Didn't Want Worker

"First I must inform you that it is not my purpose to put my dog to towing canal boats or hauling dirt carts, but want him to play the part of a friend and protector. His disposition is therefore of vital importance—he ought not to be too old to contract a friendship for me—neither is his size so important to me as a perfect form. In the second place, I am promised by our connection, Genl. Bier of Md., a St. Bernard and Newfoundland puppy which I have been expecting for some weeks. He can come from Goshen in the stage, but can your mammoth dog be accommodated? His plan would be to go to Lynchburg on the cars Monday, Wednesday or Friday, and take the packet boat that night and reach here the following morning. The expresman must request the captain in my name to take charge of him.

"Now having the whole ground before you, you have full authority to act as judge for me in the matter, I shall be very glad to get the dog and hope that he may reach me safely. Either drawn upon me through Mr. Burke and the Bank of Lexington for the price of the dog and transportation or let me know the amount and I will remit it to you."

The letter is in the Sanley F. Horn collection and will be published in full for the first time on Oct. 21 in "The Robert E. Lee Reader," edited by Horn (Bobbs-Merrill).

Witness Has Answer For Tough Question

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10 (AP)—A witness was testifying in an accident case last week.

The defense attorney pointed out the man admitted he was a block away from the scene of the accident.

"Do you know how far a city block is?" asked the lawyer. "How could see the accident from a block away?"

"Can you see the moon at night?" asked the witness in turn. "How far is that old moon away? I can see it."

Trusting Man Loses $10,000 To Friend

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 10 (U.P.)—Peter Dragonis, who operates a hat store here and hoped to build an apartment house, was sorry he ever trusted a new "business acquaintance."

Dragonis told police the man told him he was a Greek immigrant who had sold a large resturant in the Midwest, and was interested in going into business here. Dragonis told him of his plans to build an apartment house with money he had in bonds.

After about a week the man had convinced Dragonis he was going to build a grocery near the apartment house. He talked Dragonis into cashing $10,000 in bonds to use as an initial payment to a contractor. Dragonis put the money in his inside coat pocket. His "friend" came into his store and jostled him as if reaching for a cigaret. Then he made a hurried excuse and left.

Dragonis hasn't seen the man, or the $10,000, since.

Advice On Watering Lawns Is Reported

DURHAM, N. C., Oct. 10 (U.P.)—A Drake University botanist says that your front yard may need more watering than your back yard, or vice versa.

Paul J. Kramer, professor of botany at Duke, says soil variations in a single plot may be so great that a sandy front section will need twice as much water as the clay soil in back.

Wherever there are trees, the need for water is even greater because they compete with the grass for water, he added.

Kramer incorporated his findings in a new book, "Plant and Soil Water Relationships."

COMPOUNDS HIS TROUBLE

FORT WORTH, Tex. (U.P.)—A Fort Worth man, 23, was arrested here and admitted the burglary of two firms because "I needed the money for attorney fees." Officers said the man told them he was under bond pending trial for car theft.

Yank Relief Pitchers Get Credit For World Series Win

American League Club Defeats Dodgers, 10-6, In Fifth Game

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

BROOKLYN, Oct. 10—The New York Yankees, ol' Casey Stengel's "invalids of destiny," won the World Series from the startled Brooklyn Dodgers for several reasons—but the most important was the Reynolds-Page bullpin combination.

Because he had the right relief men when he needed them most, Stengel led his assorted cripples to the winners' share of the jackpot—$5,884 for each Yankee.

Pitching usually tells the story of a short series. It was no different in the five-game 1949 set. Only this time it was the relief work of Allie Reynolds and fireman Joe Page that stood out after the Yanks and Dodgers swapped 1-0 shutouts in the first two record-breaking games.

Certainly there were other stars. Bobby Brown for his .500 batting average, Johnny Mize for his 1,000 pinch hitting, Tommy Henrich for the homer that won the opener and little Phil Rizzuto for his superlative shortstop play.

But way out front there were the two "big" men of the Yanks' 12th series triumph in 16 tries—Reynolds and Page.

Page, of course, ran true to form. Hadn't he marched from the bullpen 60 times during the regular season, 20 of them to save Reynolds?

Reynolds' brilliant performance of no runs and only two hits in 12 1/3 innings was a direct right-about-face. "Old Wahoo" completed but four games in 31 starts. He even got the opening assignment on sort of a rain check.

Originally Stengel expected to send Ed Lopat after the Brooks last Wednesday. He shifted to Reynolds the day before the game. Not even the dream books can do that good.

Allie threw his two-hitter, 1-0, in nullifying Don Newcombe's 11 strikeouts with nine of his own. Preacher Roe blanked the Yanks' Vic Raschi the next afternoon. Then the bullpen corporation took oerv.

It was Page with a 5 2/3 inning "stopper" after Tommy Byrne went bad in the third game. Reynolds bailed out Lopat by retiring the last 10 men in succession in the fourth.

Things ended normally at Ebbets field yesterday afternoon, with Page ambling in to finish what Rashi started. Working with only two days rest, like Newcombe in Saturday's sad effort, Raschi crumbled in the Dodger seventh. A 10-2 lead melted to 10-6.

There was nobody on when Page walked in. Normally the joint is jumping. But Gil Hodges had just unloaded a three-run homer as a parting shot to Raschi. The fireman was all alone. Boss Burt Shotton sent up Luis Olmo. A righthanded batter, for Dodger Marv Rackley, a lefthander. Three hopping fast balls and the side was out.

Nobody knew it until Page told it after the game, but Smoky Joe was throwing only fast balls because he injured his hand Friday. It didn't make much difference. The high hard one was plenty hard. Pinch hitter Bruce Edwards singled with one gone in the eighth. The next batter, Pee Wee Reese hit a come-back ball to Page, who started a double play.

Page didn't let up in the ninth. He ended matters with a flourish. Following a menacing pinch double by Eddie Miksis, he whiffed Duke Snider, the most striking man in the series, and fanned Jackie Robinson. He lost Gene Hermanski on a walk. Gil Hodges worked the count to 2-2 and beat the breeze on the next. That was all.

It was all over but the post Mortems. They were brief, too.

"That last week was tough for both clubs," said Stengel in the clubhouse, "they had to beat the Phillies; we had the Red Sox. We had just enough to last five games more, that's all."

Shotton was philosophical about the whole thing. Most of the Dodgers seemed glad it was all over.

"They have got a little bit more you need in a World Series," said Shotton, "but, we'll be better when we meet them next fall."

The consensus was that the Dodgers would have to be better by next fall if they're going to win. They gave it plenty of hustle, but their pitching just wasn't deep enough.

Notre Dame To Battle Tulane

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (AP)—The Middle West's three-year dominancy in college football, shaken with the defeat of mighty Michigan by Army, may get another jolt this week.

Notre Dame's Fighting Irish, who since 1945 have been battling with Michigan for top honors, is host to Tulane's Green Wave in a game that may turn the standings upside down.

Irish Protect Record

Notre Dame will be protecting one of the longest unbeaten streaks in modern football. The Irish haven't been licked, though they've experienced ties, since Great Lakes subdued them in 1945. Last Saturday the Irish, sparked by Emil Sitko, romped over Purdue, 35-12.

Not since Army's great wartime teams were rampant has anyone outside the Middle West had a look-in for national championship honors.

Notre Dame Second

Notre Dame replaced Army as the no. 1 team in the Associated Press poll in 1946 and 1947. Michigan, which beat out Notre Dame in a post-season poll in 1947, was declared the best team in the land last year.

Michigan, which topped the poll last week also, goes against Northwestern's Rose Bowl champions Saturday.

In the first weekly poll of the year Notre Dame was ranked second and Tulane fourth.

Future Of Yankee Clipper In Doubt

Homer In Final Series Tilt Gives Hope To Joe DiMaggio

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 — There might have been a question today whether Joe DiMaggio had reached the end of the baseball trail—but there was no question that if he had he certainly went out in a blaze of glory.

Gaunt and pale, the Yankee Clipper sweated through the first four games of the World Series with one scratch hit in 14 times at bat. He was swinging with bitter futility, his power gone with a virus infection which hadn't been able to keep him out of the chips down classic.

But he finally put his own personal trademark on the fifth game of his eighth series, as the Yankees wrapped it up, by belting a curve ball of Jack Banta far into the left field seats.

And as the Clipper circled the bases with that familiar lope the crowd of 33,000 rose to a man and gave Joe a blood-chilling ovation. This blow didn't decide the fifth and final game. But it was one of the things the customers had come to see.

"No home run I've ever hit has given me more satisfaction," DiMaggio said later, as the Yankees swirled around him in the hot little dressing room in wild celebration.

None had ever given the Yankees more, either.

You saw that as they came to him, one by one, and shook his hand.

"You're a real champion, Joe," said Tommy Henrich, an old pro who has seen a lot of the stars come and go. "You're a guy with real guts."

Little Joe, the Clipper's eight-year-old son, sat beside him quietly through it all. And big Joe hugged him close as the emotion of his teammates' tributes welled up inside.

Even Commissioner A. B. Chandler, baseball's boss man, came to Joe in that jammed corner and grasped his hand.

"You were great, Joe," Chandler drawled. "Take a good rest because we don't want anything to happen to you. I certainly hope you didn't overtax yourself."

DiMag gave him that piano key grin and shook his head. He couldn't say anything for a few minutes. But little Joe broke the tension.

"Daddy," he whispered, "I lost one of your baseballs."

DiMag pulled little Joe closer and laughed:

"That's all right, son, I lost one myself today!"

That jolt into the stands may save the Clipper a lot of worry this winter as he "rests—and nothing else" in San Francisco. Although he was 18 pounds under weight and his strength was far below par, it had all his old authority.

And Joe will need a bright dream to drive the doubts from his heart. For they'll be there as he looks back on 1949.

This was a rough season for the big Yankee. He missed the first half of the season because of an operation for a heel spur. Then he missed the last two weeks of the season, bedded with a virus infection, but grimly came back for those last two days in which the Yankees knocked the Red Sox out of the American league pennant.

He wasn't his old self—but he was the inspiration.

And he hung on through the series when he hardly had the strength to get the bat around.

"We knew that," Dodger Pee-Wee Reese said with admiration. "That's why he was striking out. But he's a truly great competitor and player."

Yet the question now is whether Joe can come back. The Clipper has been coming apart at the seams too often of late. And he isn't one to hang on the fringes when the game is over.

He'll be back with the Yankees in the spring, naturally. The big question will have to be answered then. But, meanwhile, that home run he hit against the Dodgers yesterday is going to be a lot of consolation this winter as he peers uncertainly into the future.

Club To Hear Grid Mentors

Downtown quarterbacks tonight will have another opportunity to hear Lubbock football coaches, but the word is out that they should go to the Quarterback club meeting in Chapman Fieldhouse if they wish to hear the mentors.

Due to conflicting schedules, neither the Hilton or Lubbock hotels could spare space to the club, so Bill Collins, club president, made arrangements fos use of the Fieldhouse. Lubbock High school officials generously lent him its use and the club will meet there tonight at 8.

Coaches expected to speak on the program will include C. R. Pattison, whose Westerners rolled over Vernon for their fourth victory of the year; Dell Morgan, whose Red Raiders smothered Tulsa 15-0; and Damon Hill, whose panthers dropped a heartbreaker to Wichita Falls, for their first defeat of the year.

Announcement of the players of the week honors will be made and there will be a Picture of a Texas Tech game, probably the Texas A&M game, will be shown.

CLUB FOR SALE

TEMPLE, Oct. 10 (AP) — A campaign to purchase 49 per cent of the Temple Eagles in the Big State league opens today. Homer Peel offered his interest in the team for sale Saturday after he was released as business manager by the Temple baseball committee, owners of 51 per cent of the club.

Conference Games To Feature Weekend Schoolboy Schedule

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

The Texas schoolboy football race moves into its preliminary championship rounds this week.

Of 50 games, 23 are conference affairs involving 11 of the 20 districts of the City conference and Class AA.

Holding much interest is the efforts of a dozen teams to remain in the undefeated, untied class but the family squabbles get the major attention.

Amarillo Is Defeated

Such powers as Amarillo and Baytown fell from the select circle last week. Amarillo was snowed by Odessa's high-powered offense that rolled up 34 points. The Golden Sandies could get only 21.

Not many teams ever have scored that many points against Amarillo down through the years.

Baytown was battled to a scoreless tie by Lamar of Houston. It didn't particularly detract from Baytown since Lamar was an undefeated, untied team, too.

San Angelo Wins

Some of the surprises were San Angelo's 35-20 win over Arlington Heights of Fort Worth, the defending state City conference champion, and the 13-6 upset of highly rated Texarkana by Longview.

Undefeated and untied today are Wichita Falls, Lamesa, Lubbock, Ysleta, Grand Prairie, Highland Park (Dallas), Henderson Marshall, Port Arthur, Galveston, Corsicana and Galena Park.

Undefeated but tied are Lamar and Reagan of Houston and Baytown.

Galveston is unscored on but this week may take care of that little detail. Galveston plays rugged Austin.

Galveston and Henderson both stand a strong chance of falling from the list of the unbeaten and untied. Henderson plays Longview.

The surprise team of the season is Ysleta, which wasn't expected to go anywhere, yet is the only unbeaten outfit in the far west. Right now this team should be rated a favorite to win the district 4 Class AA title.

East Texas Is Pacing League

(By The Associated Press)

East Texas is away to an early lead in the race for the Lone Star conference championship.

The Lions accomplished it last week by winning convincingly over Stephen F. Austin, the title favorite. East Texas took the decision 13-0.

Two Members Lose

The other two members of the conference—Sam Houston State and Southwest Texas State—found outside competition a little too rough.

East Texas State started its victory over Stephen F. Austin with a 100-yard opening kick-off return by David Hurst. The Lions wrapped it up with a 26-yard payoff pass from Bill Engle to End Joe Murphy.

Sam Houston State found the Texas A. and I. Javelinas too much for their aerial attack, losing 12-16.

A wet field at San Marcos held Southwest Texas State and Howard Payne to minimum movement. Payne struck for one touchdown and held on to win 6-3. George Mabe's field goal accounted for Southwest Texas State's score.

End Takes Lead

Charlie Williams, pass-snatching Sam Houston State end, edged into the scoring lead by taking one touchdown pass. This ran his season total to 30 points.

Conference play will be dropped this week while some formidable outside teams provide opposition Saturday.

East Texas State meets University of Corpus Christi at Commerce, Stephen F. Austin takes on North Texas State at Denton. Southwest Texas State plays Hardin at Wichita Falls and Sam Houston State tackles Brooke Army Medical center at Huntsville.

Denver City Loses Tilt To "Hubbers"

DENVER CITY, Oct. 10 (Special)—Denver City's Gassers, the 1949 Oil Belt league semi-pro champions, yesterday dropped a 9-7 decision to a hastily-assembled squad of current and past Lubbock Hubber players.

A crowd of 200 spectators braved a driving windstorm to see the visitors score four runs in the final inning for the victory.

Home runs by Nelson Davis, Don Moore and Jackie Sullivan sparked the victors' 10-hit attack on Marshall (Hook) Epperson, ace Gasser lefthander.

Share Gate Receipts

Denver City collected 10 safeties off Bob Clodfelter and Royce Mills, and held a 7-5 lead going into the last frame.

Other members of the winning squad included Charley Willis, Mike Dooley, Floyd Walker and Mackie Lawrence, recently-signed Lubbock infielder.

Players of the two teams shared the gate receipts for the exhibition game.

Between the Lines by Joe Kelly

If Bro. Dell Morgan wished, he could team with Bro. Dutch Meyer at TCU in uttering a long, loud and lasting blast about elbows. Never have we seen so many flung so carelessly, yet accurately, as were thrown in the Tulsa-Tech game Saturday night. The fourth quarter resembled an old time free-for-all, with no holds or blows barred. What had been a good, hard-fought game degenerated into a grawny, bruising Donnybrook. It looked as though each and every player had decided to see if he couldn't outdo the other. A pair finally were "discovered" by the officials and ousted from the game, but not before the players of each team had had a good time swinging freely.

It was a good game, otherwise, although far from the scoring bee that was expected. The answer is that both teams had been scouted thoroughly. Coach Buddy Brothers, along with two of his assistants, had gotten a good picture of the Tech attack. By the same token, Polk Robison and Tipp Mooney had done an excellent job on the Golden Hurricane. Coach Morgan drilled his squad behind locked gates all week on a defense calculated to stop the Hurricane. It is only just to give him full credit for doing a topnotch job of defensive coaching. The fact that Tulsa gained only 84 yards, 50 of that by air, shows how thoroughly the Raiders checked an offensive-minded eleven. The scouts and the coach, working together, did a great job.

Special attention should be centered on the work of three fullbacks Saturday night. Of the net yardage of 157 yards rushing that Tech compiled, Earl Jackson, Bud Conley and J. W. Thompson picked up 142 yards, according to Clark Schooley's statistcal bureau. That's a lot of yardage for three men. The breakdown is Conley, 74 yards; Jackson, 40 yards; and Thompson, 38 yards. All this is net, you understand. They carried the brunt of the Raider ground attack, an attack that gradually wore down the Hurricane, although it was not perceptible at first. But when Tulsa restorted to slugging, that's when they knew the game was beyond recovery and they were down.

Ed Morris, Tulsa athletic director, told us at the half that he'd like to see the game end right then. Not that he was afraid of a licking, but because both Tulsa and Tech needed a victory. After the hard fought first half battle, his opinion was that it would be a credit to each team. Ed said that the Tulsans had come here determined to play their best game of the year—and in the opinion of Tulsa observers, they did. For the first time this year the Golden Hurricane played 60 minutes of ball, rather than 30. And much of that was because Len Makowsky no longer was with the team. Makowsky was a fine passer and a good punter, but he also had a swelled head. In the long run, he was a deficit to the team. The players worked better for Tommy Dickerson and proved it Saturday.

There was a lot of beefing on the officiating Saturday night, mainly because of penalties against Tech, uncontrol of rough stuff and general inconsistency. Tulsa fans in the press box were especially bitter over the pass interference that gave Tech the ball on the Tulsa three yard line in the third period. We talked with Clay Van Ream, umpire, who was on top of the play, and Carl Kopelk, field judge, who called the penalty. Van Ream said that from his angle he couldn't see it, but Kopelk said that the Tulsa defender definitely jumped up and over Jim Hatch, pushing him with one arm. Kopelk, an old friend of ours from Emporia, Kansas, days, overruled Van Ream on the play, thereby sticking out his neck. But like the great football player he was, he has the gumption to call them as he sees them.

Kopelk told us that officiating was the most difficult job in the world, with which we agree. He said that an official can only call them as he sees them, that he doesn't have time to think each play over. As for the roughness in the game Saturday night, he declared that the players themselves did not seem to mind it too much. Several times they grinned at him, winked or otherwise indicated that it wasn't too rough. Moreover, he saw opposing players semislugging, only to get up and pat each other. Carl told us that so far as slugging in the line was concerned, it could be done in such a way that the official or officials wouldn't see it most of the time. The officials are more concerned with particular penalties and if a player in the line wants to be dirty, he can and generally get away with it.

George Kellam of the Star-Telegram sat next to us at the high school game Friday night and before the first quarter was over, George was whistling in open admiration. He had seen Odessa and Amarillo against good teams, but he didn't think that either posed too big a threat to the Westerners, providing they continued to play the type of ball they showed him. He was impressed with the terrific blocking, both in the line and downfield, and with the way the backs ran, not only their speed, but also for the hardness of their running. Saturday night, after 24 hours in which to think it over, he said that he'd stick with his original prediction that the Westerners would be the next state champions. Incidentally, we thanked him for the column Lorin McMullen had last week in which Lorin, after blasting Arkansas, ended with a flat "get Arkansas out of the Southwest Conference and get Tech in" statement.

THE ROUNDUP: If any Clovis readers get these lines, please pass along our greetings to Bernie Hinkle, former Emporia fullback—and rugged, man . . . Tulsa 27, McMurry 26 . . . Tech 15, Tulsa 0 . . . Wonder what the Amarillo sour grapes writers have to say now. Probably still think the Indians would beat Tech easily, as they said all last week after watching WTSC get licked 35-19. . . If there's a goat in the World Series, it probably will be Joe Hatten for failing to back up third in Saturday's game . . . Don Moore was in town Saturday. He may catch for the Elk City, Okla., semi-pro team next year . . . Chris Haskins doesn't use a conventional golf grip when playing. He says he grips the club just the way he did a bat when he was hitting home runs.

Texas' Bobby Lee Is Shifted To Fullback

AUSTIN, Oct. 10 (AP)—Failure of Ray Borneman to recover from a knee injury sufficiently to permit him to reach his 1948 pile-driving form caused Coach Blair Cherry today to shift Bobby Coy Lee from quarterback to fullback as Texas prepped for the Arkansas game this week.

Cherry said the change would be made because the team needs more breakaway running strength at fullback and because Lee should be used more on offense. He has been dividing time with Paul Campbell at quarter, but the latter seems to have won that position permanently with his fine exhibition against Oklahoma last week.

Evans Praises Tommy Henrich

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—Before yesterday's final World Series game, Billy Evans, the Detroit Tigers' general manager, was haunting the Yankee dugout getting signatures on a baseball.

. . . "It's for a friend in Detroit, he explained. "I have to get Tommy Heinrich especially . . . Tommy's my boy, you know. I dug him up and had him in Cleveland for a couple of years" . . . Someone suggested that Evans wouldn't mind having Heinrich in Detroit . . . "I sure wouldn't," Billy agreed. "With him on first we'd have a real good ball club."

Dodgers On Program

Earl Hilligan and Charley Segar, the publicity men (or service bureau managers in politer language) of the two leagues, met at Ebbets field yesterday . . . Hilligan was bemoaning the fact that when he left his regular seat to work on the financial statement Saturday the Yanks were leading, 6-0. Dodger baseknits kept ringing in his ears while he worked until he finally gave up and returned to his seat . . . "That reminds me of a strange thing about this series," Segar told him. "Our league is setting all the records; you're winning all the ball games."

A group of Brooklyn players taking part in a "good neighbor" broadcast to Puerto Rico from the field. Maybe they can't play as good baseball as the Yanks out they can speak better Spanish . . . Commissioner Happy Chandler and PeeWee Reese engaging in a long conversation on the steps of the Dodger dugout—just a couple of Kentucky boys getting together . . . The commissioner removing his hat and standing at attention (with a slight grin) as the organist played "Kentucky Home" . . . And a reporter who recalled some of Happy's sentimental remarks about the Kentucky Derby whispering: "The horses are coming onto the track" . . . Warren Giles, the Reds' boss, sitting in the stands with Bucky Walters, whom he recently fired as manager.

Riggs In Stands

Ed Barrow, former Yankee head man, talking with Joe Cronin of the Red Sox . . . Bobby Riggs, the fledging tennis promoter, and Mrs. Riggs in an upper-deck box. Bobby couldn't catch a foul ball that came his way . . . Dan Topping, George Weiss and Red Patterson of the Yankee brain trust holding a long conversation on the field, although they'd be sitting together throughout the game . . . Reese greeting Al Lang, the St. Petersburg, Fla., ambassador: "Hi, Mr. Sunshine."

Milt Stock, Dodger coach: "Our strength is on the bases because of our speed, but we didn't get a chance to run." . . . Warren Giles, on rumors Bill Terry would (a) manage or (b) buy the Reds: "I think Terry wants to stay in the automobile business. I talked to him to see if he's interested in returning to baseball, but made no offer. Bill has about as much chance of buying our club as I have of buying the Yankees."

SWC Elevens Will Tangle This Week

By WILBUR MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The "mistakes count" phase of Southwest conference football starts in earnest this week.

Three conference games are scheduled, matching Southern Methodist and Rice, Texas Christian and Texas A. and M., Texas and Arkansas.

Baylor gets a breather in Texas Tech of the Border conference.

Rice, Southern Methodist, Texas and Texas A. and M. will be playing their first loop games and most of the interest will center around the one at Dallas.

Ponies Are Undefeated

Southern Methodist packs an unbeaten record against Rice and has an extra week of rest to get ready for the Owls.

Rice, which last week buried little New Mexico under a 55-0 score, didn't have to extend itself and didn't have to show any of the strategy it plans against Doak Walker and mates.

Texas' 14-20 loss to Oklahoma didn't hurt its stature, but Arkansas' miserable showing against unbeaten Baylor, 13-35, certainly did tear down the Razorbacks' reputation.

The team from the Ozarks was definitely "flat" against Baylor, but the Bears showed enough to convince most of the estimated 14,000 fans that it wouldn't have made any difference if Arkansas had been "high."

The easy nature of Baylor's victory tabbed it a tough foe for any of the grandstand-tabbed "big three"—Southern Methodist, Rice and Baylor.

Texas Christian beat Indiana, 13-6, and Texas A. and M. lost to Louisiana State, 0-34, in other er games last week for conference clubs.

Texas lived up to advance notices, even in defeat, and should have no trouble getting past Arkansas.

The Razorbacks' offensive punch will undoubtedly be stronger, in that Leon (Muscles) Campbell will probably see action. He didn't against Baylor.

But the Porkers needed a defense to cope with Baylor's hard charging line and against Adrian Burk's short, bullseye passes and they'll need one to stop the Longhorns.

Don Wilde and Lindy Berry combined to give Texas Christian its slim win over Indiana. The same pair should be able to cope with Texas A. and M.

Randall Clay of Texas continued to hold the lead in individual scoring. He now has 51 points to 30 for second place Don Logue of Arkansas.

Southern Methodist and Baylor are the only two undefeated, until teams in the conference now. Last week's loss was the first for Arkansas and Texas.

Lamar And Tyler Top Junior College Loop

(By The Associated Press)

The battle for the Southwestern Junior college conference championship appears to have dropped to a two-team affair.

Lamar's Cardinals and Tyler's Apaches, both high-scoring and powerful units, look like the top teams of the circuit.

Kilgore also is undefeated and untied but has not been impressive in its four games to date.

Lamar crushed Arlington State 50-0 and Tyler whammed Paris 47-0 in conference games last week. The results sent chills into even Kilgore's Rangers.

The Rangers were beating out Tarleton State 20-14. Tarleton State is the team Tyler smacked 41-0.

In non-conference games, San Angelo downed the Hardin-Simmons freshmen 20-14 and Schreiner fell to Del Mar of Corpus Christi 13-7.

There is a full slate of conference games this week-end.

Friday night Kilgore plays Arlington State at Arlington. Saturday night, Tyler plays at San Angelo, Schreiner meets Tarleton State at Brady and Lamar engages Paris at Beaumont.

Polly Riley Heads Golf Tourney Field

FORT WORTH, Oct. 10. (AP)—Defending champion Polly Riley headed a classy field for the qualifying round of the Women's Texas Open golf tournament.

Match play in the big meet gets underway tomorrow.

Among the entries are professionals Patty Berg, Betty Jameson of San Antonio and Bettye Mims White of Dallas.

Helen Detweiler, Marjorie Lindsey and Beverly Hansen head the list of amateurs competing.

Sul Ross Continues Lona Victory Streak

ALPINE, Oct. 10 (AP)—Little Sul Ross State, which hasn't lost a game in almost two full seasons, probably is the earliest applicant for a bowl engagement.

Plenty of folks had never heard of Sul Ross last year when the Lobos waded through a 10-game schedule undefeated and were chosen to play Murray State of Kentucky in the Tangerine bowl at Orlando, Fla.

Sul Ross had quite a team. It roamed over 5,000 miles of territory and never got travel-weary.

But 1949 wasn't supposed to be like that. Sul Ross lost a flock of good boys. Yet, this season to date, the Lobos have rolled over four opponents, scoring 166 points to 53 for the opposition.

The boys won't get to see so much country this year, however. Their schedule carries them only 3,000 miles. That is, unless they play in another bowl game that's a fair piece from home.

Hardin Leads Coast League

(By The Associated Press)

Lo! The poor Indian now is a bloated bond-holder. Hardin's Indian, that is, and what he holds is the top spot in the Gulf Coast conference.

Even Wichita Falls folks didn't suspect it was going to be like this but they're pretty happy about it.

Hardin Sets Pace

Hardin sets a terrific-pace as the football campaign reaches the mid-way mark. The Indians, coached by Billy Stamps, have rolled up five victories and made 166 points to 17 for the opposition.

There's nothing synthetic about it either. Last week the Redmen showed they had plenty on the ball by beating tough North Texas State 20-17 in the opening conference game.

Meet Southwest Texas

Chances are good the Indians will retain their present footing through this week, too. They play so-so Southwest Texas State of the Lone Star conference at Wichita Falls Saturday night.

There are no conference games this week. North Texas State meets Stephen F. Austin of the Lone Star conference at Denton, University of Houston takes on West Texas State of the Border conference at Houston and Trinity plays undefeated, untied Sul Ross of the New Mexico conference at San Antonio.

Last week Trinity beat Oklahoma City university 18-0 and University of Houston licked Southwestern Louisiana Institute 26-7.

Stengel Gives All Credit To Players

BROOKLYN, Oct. 10 (AP)—Casey Stengel, "the old clown," is enjoying the laughs today instead of providing the laughter.

Stengel, who has more money than he can spend, has realized a life long ambition—manager of baseball's world champions.

The New York Yankees made old Casey's dream come true. The sturdy Yanks trounced Brooklyn, 10-6, yesterday to take the 1949 World Series, four games to one.

Players Are Praised

Stengel, 58-year-old veteran of the wars, gave all the glory for the winning of baseball's highest honors to the team at the Yanks' victory banquet last night.

The well-beloved manager said in summarizing the hard campaign: "The Yanks were united like our flag."

"They were the most unselfish group ever put together and never sulked at any time," Stengel said. In parting, to the strains of "Yankee Doodle Dandy," Stengel declared, "truly, they were Yankees."

In the midst of his speech Stengel remarked. "I may stay another year but if I had lost I would have been gone."

Stengel was on the spot when he accepted the helm of the Yanks, who had finished third under popular Bucky Harris in 1948.

The announcement of Stengel's appointment was received with snickers.

"Well, the old clown is back and if nothing else, we'll get some good copy," was the general opinion.

Stengel provided copy and he also proved he could manage.

His successful juggling of players was one of the prime factors in the Yanks' 16th pennant and 12th World Series triumph.

Casey's on top of the world now and the "clown's" union is minus a member.

Amarillo's Newby Is Top Schoolboy Star

DALLAS, Oct. 10 (AP) — Jack Newby of Amarillo and Sammy Morrow of Paris headed the list of schoolboy football stars in Texas last week.

The Dallas News conducts a weekly poll of sportswriters to participate in selecting the outstanding players each week.

Newby scored all of Amarillo's 21 points in his team's 21-34 defeat by Odessa, one touchdown coming on an 82-yard run.

Morrow completed 12 of 22 passes for 130 yards, gained 62 yards rushing and scored one touchdown in Paris' 13-7 victory over Palestine.

Other "stars":

Roy Pace, Temple back: Scored three touchdowns as the Wildcats won a 26-0 victory over Hillsboro.

Ed Moore, Highland Park center: Recovered three fumbles and intercepted one pass while turning in a great defensive performance as the Scots beat Waco, 13 to 7.

Bill Waggoner, Wichita Falls back: Scored two touchdowns, as Wichita Falls beat Pampa, 14 to 6.

INDIA'S CHIEF DUE TUESDAY

Nehru's Visit To U. S. Will Show Change In Diplomacy

By G. MILTON KELLY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10. — Americans will see something different in modern diplomatic techniques while India's Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru is in this country.

Nehru, a proud and handsome figure, told his people before leaving that he would come here with nothing to buy or sell, but hoped to learn a lot. He is simply on a goodwill mission. Those who know him well say Nehru is far too lofty to ask for handouts for his newly-freed and troubled country, and that American diplomats probably know better than to try to high-pressure him.

The western powers and the Russian bloc have wooed his strategically important nation, which sprawls with its 300,000,000 people just a few miles below the Soviet border.

Neutrality Discussed

Nehru has declared frankly that he wants no part in the world's power politics—he doesn't want his country to become a battlefield for somebody else's war. He saw what the conquering Japanese and the reconquering allies did in Burma.

How long, and to what degree, India will stay neutral is much discussed by diplomats. The west clearly hopes Nehru will get a good impression on this, his first visit to the United States. It hopes a better mutual understanding will result from the tour, which also will carry him twice into Canada, and that if he ever swings, it will be toward the west.

The average Indian is inclined to like Americans as individuals. But he harbors a resentful feeling that as a nation we didn't help India to shake off British rule, and aren't much interested in helping Indians to hold their hard-won independence and prosper in it.

Most Indians dislike communism, but they don't view it in the same perspective as westerners. They are prone to rate it as a secondary world problem. They view racial discrimination and colonialism, as the No. 1 twin problems of the day.

Rsent Discrimination

They are proud of their color, and quick to resent anything that smacks of discrimination against non-whites.

They scent favoritism in Marshall plan aid to the nations of western Europe. Frankly, they will tell you that President Truman's "bold new program" to help Asia might be bigger and bolder if Asians had white skins. They don't see that it holds out much promise to India.

Nehru's government, outwardly friendly to Russia, has jailed thousands of Indian communists as political outlaws. Moscow has found no able Indian leader to spread the Kremlin gospel in India.

Russia's propaganda in India warns that an American depression is about to topple the economies of all the countries outside the Soviet sphere. The implication is heavy that Russia will help nations in a Soviet alliance before helping others.

Has Full Schedule

India is short of food, short of industrial goods, short of foreign currency, short of many things. After all, she became a free country only a little more than two years ago.

But Nehru has been sternly clear in outlining his foreign policy: he wants no help from aboard that has strings tied to it.

Washington is going all out to see that he enjoys himself; that he meets people who could help him on a strictly business or friendship basis; and that he has a good chance to learn American views and ways.

Between tomorrow, when he arrives, and Nov. 4, when he leaves for home, Nehru will visit Washington, New York, the West Point military academny, Niagara Falls, Ottawa, Ont.; Chicago, Knoxville, Tenn., White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.; San Francisco, Vancouver, B. C., and Madison, Wis., in that order, then on to New York and home.

He will dine with Mr. Truman and spend his first night in Washington at the President's quarters in Blair House. He will be honored at a state dinner, given by Secretary of State Acheson. He will be shown that Washington wants him to like us.

the intersection with the Plainview highway.

Jury Is Appointed

The petition was presented by R. E. Karper, O. C. Horn and others. A jury of view was appointed to investigate the road. Ed D. Allen, sr., Frank Scruggs, James Denton, Glenn Hess and Louis Murfee were appointed to the jury.

The commissioners approved a motion to take $6,000 out of road and bridge fund No. 1 and transfer $1,500 to the fund of each of the four precincts.

Among bills approved for payment was one for $958.90 for a portion of the alterations work on the Old Folks home to Haynes-Soash Construction company, contractors, and a payment of $15,584.00 to Robert E. McKee, contractor, on estimate No. 2 of the new courthouse project.

Barkley Pays Flying Visit To Mrs. Hadley

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 10 (AP) — Vice President Barkley made another flying trip to St. Louis yesterday to visit his attractive friend, Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley.

Barkley spent the afternoon with Mrs. Hadley, a 38-year-old widow and then took a midnight plane for Washington.

Daily MARKETS

Stock Market

MARKET ENDS LOWER

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (AP) — Despite a late recovery effort, the stock market ended slightly lower today.

Losses were from fractions to as much as a point while gains ranged upward to more than a point among a few leaders.

Volume was at the rate of 1,100,000 shares for the entire day.

Traders noted that offerings contracted as prices slid down while buying enthusiasm mounted with rising quotations.

The rails as a group turned in the best performance with a majority of the leaders unchanged to higher.

Steels and motors, on the other hand, stayed on the downside the better part of the day.

A number of low-priced specialities were in demand as were several leaders in the major groups. Gold shares as a whole added small fractions.

Over-all the market was a quiet affair without any fireworks showing up despite the pressure of strikes and spreading lay-offs in affected industries.

Lower were Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Republic Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Studebaker, Consolidated Natural gas, Sears Roebuck, J. I. Case, United Aircraft, Philco Radio, Westinghouse, American Cyanamid, Anaconda, Standard Oil (NJ), Certain-Teed, and Santa Fe.

Higher were American Woolen, International Paper, Eversharp, Pepsi-Cola, Callahan Zinc-Lead, American Bosch, National Biscuit, Homestake, Northern Pacific, Union Pacific, and Eastern Air Lines.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (AP) — Cotton futures were irregular today in moderately active dealings. The market sold off as much as 65 cents a bale on the government October forecast of the 1949 cotton crop, which was about 500,000 sales larger than its September estimate at 15,446,000 bales. The trade had looked for an unchanged to slightly lower figure. Selling was well absorbed, however, through aggressive scale down mill buying and replacement commission house demand. Traders felt that the larger crop prospects would not make much difference on the cotton price trend since the market has the support of the government loan. New crop months steadied on Washington reports, indicating that the administration favors high 90 per cent of parity loans on basic farm crops.

Futures closed unchanged to 65 cents a bale higher than the previous close.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Oct. 10 (AP) — Most grains eased on the board of trade today, although corn rallied late in the session following reports of severe wind storms in Iowa.

Wheat encountered light selling pressure throughout the day. A little support came from mills, presumably lifting hedges against sales of flour to the army quartermaster corps.

The rally in corn, which wiped out early losses, was partly based on news that winds of 50 to 80 miles had sent thousands of bushels of Iowa corn tumbling to the ground.

Wheat closed ⅜-¾ lower. December $2.11½-⅝, corn was ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, December $1.18¼-⅛, oats were unchanged to ⅛ lower, December 61⅛-¾, rye was ⅛ lower to ¾ higher, December $1.48.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Oct. 10 (AP) — Wheat No. 1 hard, 2.31½-37½.
Oats No. 2 white 85¾-86¾.
Corn No. 2 white Texas only 150½-53½.
Sorghums No. 2 yellow milo, per 100 lbs. 2.13-18.

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

NEW YORK, Oct. 10. (AP)—
STOCKS: Lower; only selected issues in demand.
BONDS: Steady; some rails in demand.
COTTON: Irregular; mill buying; liquidation.
CHICAGO:
WHEAT: Easy; commission house selling.
CORN: Steady; rallied toward close on reports of wind damage.
OATS: Eased slightly in light trade.
HOGS: Fairly active, fully steady; top $18.50.
CATTLE: Moderately active, steady to 25 cents higher; top $35.50.

Court Forfeits Car, Beer After Hearing

Forfeiture of a 1939 Ford automobile and of 48 containers of beer to the state was decreed in judgments of 99th District Judge G. V. Pardue this morning.

Harold and Odessa Long, Lubbock negroes, had filed disclaimers in connection with the car case. Long incident to the beer action.

Judge Pardue found that the car had been used in connection with illegal beer trafficking.

Hollywood Program Has Lubbock Touch

The Breakfast in Hollywood program over station KFYO had a Lubbock touch today.

Jack McElroy, master of ceremonies of the program, read a letter written by Mrs. H. S. Jondahl of 2103 Fifth asking listeners to write letters to her invalid daughter, Frances, who will be 21-years-old Thursday.

The radio star informed the cerebral palsy victim he was sending her an orchid via a relative by marriage, Mrs. Carden Green of 2409 Broadway.

Mrs. Green, who visited McElroy in Hollywood only three weeks ago, said she was surprised by the announcement. "I don't know the Jondahl family," she said, "but I am very happy it is working out this way."

After the program, Frances opened a package which arrived at her home Friday, a note on the package had told her not to open it until Monday afternoon.

When she opened it, she found a beautiful "wishing ring," symbol of the program.

West Coast To Send For Pair

Officers from Los Angeles—either the police or the sheriff's department—will come here to accept custody of two men charged there with armed robbery, Capt. of City Detectives Pat Davidson was informed by telephone this morning.

The men were arrested here early Sunday by the police.

The father of the twin brothers, Edward Lee and Earl Leo Rader, 25, was held in California, Los Angeles officials said.

Pistol Is Found

Among loot the two suspects here should have in their possession, California authorities said, was a nickel-plated pistol.

They had such a pistol in a strong box that local officials opened, it was announced today.

One of the men, Earl Leo Rader, was with a young woman at College Ave. and North Third when arrested by Patrolmen Hugh Hayes and Jeff Earthman. He declined to say where his brother was, but Bruce A. Dorman and Luke Avery found him.

The two suspects waived extradition to California.

City Policeman Hurt

On the purely local scene, a tangle with a man later charged with disturbance sent one city patrolman to Lubbock Memorial hospital for treatment of an injured knee about 11 a. m. Sunday.

The officer, George Hall, was injured when he and his patrolcar partner, Pete Hubbard, attempted to arrest three men for fighting in front of their residence in the 1400 block Ave. E.

As they were getting into the police car, the officers said, one of the men grappled with Hall and both of them fell to the ground, the patrolman twisting his leg beneath him. He was taken by Rix ambulance to the hospital where he was released after treatment for bruises and lacerations.

Billy Flemming, a student of 2623 Edna, informed city police his $185 clarinet had been stolen from him this morning when en route to school aboard a City bus.

County court officials said Faller Hix, 43, had been fined $25 and casts for aggravated assault, Willie Rogers, 26, a negro, $100 and costs for illegal possession of a pistol.

door. The man—C. J. Rivenbark—said in Dallas that he and his wife had gone by the Finch home Sunday to talk with Mrs. Finch about some chinchillas the Rivenbark's were contemplating buying.

He said they saw newspapers on the front porch and the house was closed up. He said he assumed at that time the Finch's were out of town.

An acquaintance of Finch's, Bill Wing, an American Airlines copilot, said Finch was a colonel with the air force's air transport command during the war and was known as a top-notch flier.

Discussed Settlement

Mrs. Finch's attorney, Richard Walker, said she and her mother appeared at his office Friday to discuss property settlement and child support but that at about 4 p. m. that day Mrs. Finch telephoned that she wanted to dismiss action.

The attorney said Mrs. Finch told him over the telephone that she wanted to talk to him in his office but that she did not contact him again.

Walker said he had filed a divorce suit for the couple in February of 1948 but that it was dismissed when they became reconciled.

In the divorce petition filed here last month Mrs. Finch alleged mental cruelty and "unkind, arbitrary and abusive treatment."

The attorney said the mother-in-law, Mrs. Walker, seemed "distraught" when she accompanied her daughter to his office.

Texas Tech Student Is Still Unconscious

Condition of Billy Cagle Perkins, 17-year-old Tech student who has failed to regain consciousness since he was injured in a traffic accident Saturday afternoon, remains "unchanged," and still serious, attendants at Lubbock Memorial hospital reported today.

The youth, son of Dan Perkins, of 1608 Ave. Q, suffered a fractured skull, concussion and a broken left arm about 2:50 p.m. Saturday when his small-sized motorcycle was in collision with a car driven by Efford Parrish, 58, of Floydada route 1 at Ninth and Ave. A

Education Efforts In Europe Only "Token," Minister Says

Although the Marshall plan has aided the Europeans materially, as educators we are making only a token effort, Dr. M. Norvel Young, minister of the Broadway Church of Christ, told members of the Lubbock Social Welfare association at a luncheon meeting today at the Hilton hotel.

"We need to get through the government to the people," he suggested.

Contrast Is Shown

In speaking on "Our European Neighbors," the minister contrasted the countries he visited during the summer with a trip made twelve years ago.

He complimented the people of Britain for their stamina and courage at attempting to retain their place as third place in world power, although "everyone is rather hard put."

No Trace Of Hotels

He compared the badly-bombed Germany with the beautiful country he visited formerly and said they saw no trace of hotels in which they had registered in 1937. Although the cities showed signs of the devastation of war, the mountain sides, with their planted rows of trees and evenly kept grass plots were the same. The people husband their resources as in past ages, Dr. Young said and the highways edges are kept clean of trash and weeds.

When one travels in Europe today he realizes how thankful one should be for the economic and social conditions that prevail here, the minister said. We take for granted the government, the churches, the volunteer organizations that have made these conditions possible.

In the 12-hour period from 3:30 p. m. Sunday the mercury dropped a total of 38 degrees.

Sunday rains were spotted. Lubbock had two showers totaling .43 inches Sunday night. Matador reported no rain Sunday.

Heavy At Abernathy

Rainfall was heaviest north of Lubbock. Abernathy had almost an inch, Hale Center .80 inch, Lockney 1.30 inches.

Brownfield had a shower and light hail. Other areas reporting rainfall were Lamesa .15, Tahoka .23, O'Donnell .50, Post .25; Spur .50, Dickens .15, Wilson .12, Crosbyton .10, Ralls .25, Idalou .05, Seminole. 25, Seagraves .50, Sundown, Muleshoe, trace, Meadow .25, Littlefield .65, Olton .75, Levelland .15 and Anton .25.

The wind was so strong in Abernathy that it blew a washing machine off a resident's porch.

Violent weather was reported in other sections of Texas by the Associated Press and United Press.

Borger Hit By Gale

A 60-mile an hour gale blew through Borger, in the Panhandle. Police said two houses and several outbuildings were destroyed and power was disrupted in the north part of the city. Hail, a thunderstorm and hard winds were reported at Amarillo. Minor property damage was widespread.

The Weather bureau said the cold front would reach the Dallas area by this afternoon and that temperatures were not severe.

There was a report of three small twisters in the air near Pampa. There was no known damage.

Until the cold front started pushing across the state, Sunday's weather was uneventful in Texas. The rain that overflowed Houston bayous had stopped, the water was back within banks and many persons in the flood area had started returning to their homes.

However, two sections of the South Texas metropolis were still under water—Southern Oaks addition and Mount Houston. County officials warned all who had returned to their homes to boil drinking water as a precaution.

Labor Walkouts

for steelworkers. Some 20,000 men employed by Aluminum Company of America have voted to strike—unless they get company paid pensions and insurance, along with a wage boost.

Thousands of persons in allied industries will be thrown out of work if the fabricating plants strike.

In the auto capital at Detroit most firms are operating on a normal basis but uncertainty prevails regarding future operations.

Packard Motor Car company resumed operations with a two-third working forte today after a two-day shutdown to look over its steel inventory. So did Briggs Manufacturing company which makes Packard's bodies.

Most of the unemployment resulting from the twin strikes to date has been on the railroads where approximately 50,000 men have been furloughed. But here and there other thousands have been idled or are working at reduced schedules.

Ordinary business in the steel and coal centers has been hit heavily. At Gary, Ind., 30,000 of the city's 36,100 payrollers are idle and general business is estimated to be 15 to 25 per cent off.

Business Drop Reported

In Pittsburgh retail merchants are appealing to strikers to hold off on credit purchases. Virtually all types of retail shops report a sharp drop in business.

"Steel" magazine said full effects of the steel strike won't be felt for two or three weeks. It predicted at the start of the strike that consumer inventories were large enough for 30 days.

The nation's ingot rate was placed at 7:5 per cent of capacity and the magazine said this resulted from a "surprisingly large number of steelworkers" which have contracts with independent unions or have met union demands.

So far eight steel companies, employing 11,450, have accepted Murray's terms. The terms are simply what the presidential fact finding board recommended — six cents per man hour for pensions and four cents for insurance.

Fire Prevention Is Stressed At LAFB

Fire prevention week, October 9-15 is being observed at Lubbock Air Force base with a series of demonstrations staged in various sections of the base so that all personnel will have an opportunity of witnessing one or more sessions.

Ned McClesky, fire chief for the base, in each case will explain the various classes of fires, in relation to the type of material involved, and his crew will demonstrate the type of extinguisher which should be used in each case, its contents and the reason for its use in that particular case.

Two demonstrations will be staged daily, Monday through Thursday. The purpose of the observance at Lubbock Air Force base is to make each person living or working there "fire conscious" and to brief them on the proper procedure whether the fire occurs in their home or at their work station.

The fire chief and his crew also will make a series of inspections during the week, pointing out fire hazards and practices which might cause a fire to start.

Judge Pardue, Jury Hear Damages Case

Judge G. V. Pardue and a 99th district court jury this afternoon were hearing evidence in the damages action of The Citizens State Bank of Slaton against Raymond L. Fletcher.

The bank alleged in its suit it had overpaid Fletcher several hundred dollars when he cashed bonds at the banking institution. Fletcher denied he had been overpaid. A jury that heard evidence in a former trial of the case could not agree sufficiently to reach a verdict.

Attorney Nat Heaton represents the bank. Durwood H. Bradley, of the law firm of Bradley, Key and Kimmel, is counsel for Fletcher.

The jury is composed of James M. Gunn, Harry Shaw, Jack Phipps, J. M. Rucker, William Wilkinson, Jack Hopkins, L. B. Bray, T. B. Cowan, J. Evans Adams, Albert Bledsoe, W. S. Green, and C. C. Corbell.

Today's attendance was expected to be made up largely of Lubbock merchants and those from nearby towns, although some of the merchants coming from farther away remained overnight to complete their buying.

Distributers and manufacturers are showing merchandise in 87 rooms at the two hotels.

Funeral Set Today For Post Farmer

POST, Oct. 10 (Special)—Graveside services were to be conducted at 4 p. m. today at the Terrace cemetery here for H. G. Pippin, 64, who died Sunday afternoon at his farm home 12 miles northeast of Post after a long illness.

Mr. Pippin, a native of Goshen, had been a resident here since 1926.

Survivors are his wife; a son, Frank Pippin of Merkel; three daughters, Mrs. Paul Webb of Quitman, Ark., and Mrs. J. R. Lindsey and Mrs. Basil Puckett, both of Post, and 16 grandchildren.

Mason and Company Funeral home was to direct services.

Actress Is Married To Joe Kirkwood, Jr.

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Oct. 10 (AP) —Joe Kirkwood, jr., the "Joe Palooka" of the movies and pro golf star, is honeymooning today with actress Cathy Downs.

Quietly, and without a word to friends, the couple were wed here Saturday night.

He is 28 and Miss Downs 23.

State Briefs

E. M. and J. E. Clary of Lubbock have gone to Rogers in Bell county to attend services for their brother, John F. Clary of Freeport, who was killed early Sunday when his car and a truck collided near Rogers, his home town.

Tom Abel, former Lubbock county sheriff now living in San Angelo, arrived here Sunday for a brief visit. Mrs. Abel he said, recently suffered torn chest muscles in an accident, so could not accompany him.

The annual Lubbock Country club stockholders meeting, originally scheduled for Tuesday, Oct. 11, has been postponed until Wednesday, Oct. 19, W. D. Overton, club manager, announced Sunday.

A course in sales administration, sponsored by the Lubbock Sales Executive club, will begin at 7 p.m. today at Texas Technological college. It will be held on Monday nights from 7 to 10 o'clock for 15 weeks. College credit will be given for the course.

Two-year-old Candy Showalter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Showalter of 215 East Wabash, was taken to Lubbock Memorial hospital for examination about 8 p. m. Sunday, shortly after she had accidentally swallowed a quantity of clothes-bleach preparation at her home. A stomach pump was used in treatment and the girl suffered no ill effects, attendants at the hospital said.

A Lubbock negro, A. H. Hopson and his wife Cora Belle, of 1605 East Twenty-ninth, were treated at Lubbock Memorial hospital about 9:45 p. m. Sunday for injuries suffered when the car in which they were riding ran off the road about one mile east of Lubbock near an intersection of the Slaton highway and a side road. Hopson was released after treatment for lacerations. His wife, attendants said was admitted to the hospital with a possible fracture of the right knee. A third person riding in the car was not hurt.

Kara Sam Dunn of Lubbock, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Sam G. Dunn of Levelland road, is one of 19 girls pledged to the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority at Colorado college, school officials have announced.

Mrs. L. V. Cates of 2418 Ave. K has returned to Lubbock from Canton, where she attended funeral services Friday for her brother, W. P. (Pitt) Nixon, 64, who died there Thursday.

Fire slightly damaged a negro's residence in 2400-block East Ave. F late this morning, central station firemen said.

Navy Fliers

plied equally well to fighter aircraft, he said, "the losses that will be sustained in unescorted intercontinental bombing raids could well prove catastrophic."

They continued before the House armed services committee the navy's barrage against a defense policy that puts so much of military funds into the giant, six-engine bomber.

Red Planes Appear Good

Cmdr. W. I. Martin, executive officer of the Pacific fleet all-weather training unit at Barbers Point, Hawaii, likened the B-36 to a "moving van." It is "unacceptably vulnerable" to night fighter attack, he contended.

Testimony that navy jet fighters can intercept planes like the B-36 came from Martin, from Cmdr. W. N. Leonard, skipper of a jet fighter squadron based on Cecil field, Jacksonville, Fla., and from Cmdr. Alfred B. Metsger of the Pacific fleet air force.

And, Metsger said, it is no secret that Russian fighters "appear to equal or better, in fighting ability, the best in service in this country."

Rockets Can Be Traced

As for detection, Lt. Cmdr. E. W. Harrison said radar can track rockets and reach the moon, so it certainly can spot a high flying bomber.

Harrison, who is attached to the electronics division of the Bureau of Aeronautics, told the committee:

"We have, and can expect any potential enemy to have, radar equipment and interceptor aircraft capable of detecting, intercepting and bringing about the destruction of large, very heavy bombers regardless of how high they fly."

Members of the committee have indicated deep concern over reports that Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson plans further cuts in spending for the navy and its air arm.

Calling Johnson Urged

Rep. Bates (R-Mass) urged that Johnson be called before the committee and asked to give his detailed reasons for the cuts which Secretary of the Navy Matthews has said would damage national security.

Chairman Vinson said that "of course we are going to get Johnson up here."

Harrison told the committee that this country even has secret equipment that determines whether aircraft is friendly or enemy. Radar, he said, is only one method for locating and identifying planes.

At the end of the last war, Harrison said, engineers had the "know how" to build radar effective against big, high-altitude bombers. And this information is in print, he said.

In view of Russia's demonstrated capabilities in other fields, plus this published information and facts on performance of high flying bombers, the commander said, she will be ready with "an adequate air defense system."

CHIROPRACTORS MEET

BORGER, Oct. 10. (Special)—Wayne Lanham, advertising manager for the Borger News-Herald, Sunday was guest speaker at a meeting of the Panhandle Chiropractic society. B. F. Stephens, Lubbock chiropractor, attended the meeting.

SYMPTOMS OF DISEASE EXPLAINED

Free Tests To Be Conducted Here During Diabetes Week

Observance of Diabetes week here was touched off this morning by announcement that perhaps 2,500 students of the county's rural schools would be asked to submit specimens for free urine sugar tests, and that an invitation would be made to the Lubbock and Slaton city schools, as well.

It earlier had been announced that free urine sugar tests would be made of all specimens left at the City laboratory, on the first floor of the city hall, or at the John Halsey Drug store, 1118 Broadway.

It could be seen that an important response would be made to the nationwide drive to find America's 1,000,000 unknown diabetics.

Nurses To Cooperate

Gerald Jarvis, director of the City-County Department of Public Health, said nurses of the county schools system had been asked to cooperate with the health department in having every rural school student bring to his school within the next day or so a small clean container, preferably a prescription bottle. At direction of nurses and school officials, urine specimens will be collected two hours after a noon meal. The specimens will be sent to the laboratory here for the free check.

Findings, if they appear positive, would be referred to private physicians of individuals affected for interpretation.

Symptoms Listed

It was emphasized that any individual is invited to go to the John Halsey Drug store or the city laboratory, where containers will be supplied, and leave a urine specimen. It is important, however, that the specimen be collected from one hour to two hours after a meal, it was announced.

The American Diabetes Association, Inc., is sponsoring the drive, assisted by Lubbock-Crosby Medical society and the health department.

It was reiterated that there are three unknown diabetes to every four known diabetics; that one of every 70 persons is diabetics, but that only one of every 120 known he is diabetic.

You may be diabetic if:

1. You are losing weight and strength.
2. You are unusually thirsty at frequent intervals.
3. Your kidneys act frequently.
4. You have unusual fatigue, particularly of the legs.
5. Your vision is blurred.

If any of those symptoms—or a combination of some or all of them—are present, you should guard your health by having one of the free tests, it was announced.

Congratulations to:

Tinsley countered that they had "some wedding punch," but that "nobody ever gets enough punch at a wedding to get drunk."

He complained that he and Mrs. Tinsley were dragged out of the car, bedecked with "just married" signs and with cans and old shoes trailing. They were hauled to the police station, and Tinsley claimed he was hit a "a couple of times" en route. He showed reporters a bloody shirt.

Tinsley was charged with driving while intoxicated and with resisting arrest. Mrs. Tinsley also faced an intoxicating charge, plus a charge of aggravated assault on officer Yarbrough.

R. P. Sanguily, father of the bride urged the jury probe in a talk with District Attorney A. C. Winborn.

Later, he commented, "they treated my son-in-law and daughter as if he were a bank robber and his bride was a gun moll . . ."

The newlyweds, meantime, postponed their honey moon so Mrs. Tinsley could have her swollen wrists x-rayed. The bruises and swelling, she stated, was from handcuffs.

"Just imagine something like that happening on our wedding night," said the bride.

who is in charge of parade arrangements.

During the serving of the barbecue a square dance contest will be held. Entries from several communities have been received. The dance will be under the direction of Carl Herod. The winners of the contest will be presented with the Diamond M trophy, a gift from C. T. McLaughlin, president of the Chamber of Commerce. McLaughlin will be unable to attend the festivities because of a recent major operation.

Sunday night the volunteer fire department swept and washed the streets in the business section. Parking will be prohibited in the court house area to allow more standing room for those wishing to get a view of the parade.

"We want to show our new citizens that we are happy to have them with us," Schieble said. "At the same time we want to honor those pioneers who came to Scurry county when it was wild grassland and laid the foundation for the city we have here today."

John Blum, chairman of transportation arrangements, said that preparations had been made to handle a lot of air traffic at the airport. Several oil company officials have indicated they will fly in. One plane is coming from New York City.

Marcel Josephson is in charge of the barbecue; Dr. H. G. Towle and Lee T. Stinson, tickets; and, Willard Jones, publicity. Selected Boy Scouts will act as ushers and ticket takers in the stadium.

the roadbed and weakened it.

At places in the vicinity of the wreck, Glasscock said, "water washed over the highway in waves eight to ten inches high."

The forward section of the big diesel locomotive rested near the highway, Glasscock said. The other cars were "in the hole," at least three of them badly twisted.

Gardner took time from rescue work to say that besides those rescued first, "others were begging for us to help them. Our volunteer workers used their car lights, flashlights and lanterns to light the ghastly spectacle."

Gardner said the rescue workers labored as "feverishly" as possible.

More On The Way

The small Epworth hospital at Liberal, Kan., 40 miles southwest of Meade, reported it had received 14 persons from the wreck 'and we believe more are on the way."

Mrs. Larry Ling, Seward county nurse, said she feared "several of our patients are in critical condition."

Mrs. Ling said Epworth hospital did not have room for the emergency patients, "but we're making room in a hurry."

She said the Red Cross was flying nurses and plasma to Liberal from Wichita, Kan.

Mrs. Ling confirmed that other injured were being cared for at Fowler, Garden City, and Bucklin, Kan.

35 SEATS AT STAKE IN 1950

GOP Chances For Control Of Senate Hiked By Extra Races

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10. (AP)—Three extra Senate races, in New York, Connecticut and Idaho, have increased the mathematical chances for a 1950 swing in Senate control from the Democrats to the Republicans.

The death Saturday of Senator Miller (D-Idaho) is expected to bring early appointment of a Republican successor by GOP governor C. A. Robins of Idaho. Former Senator Henry Dworshak and former Rep. Abe Goff are among those mentioned as possible appointees.

With this appointment, Republicans temporarily will close the margin of Democratic superiority in the Senate to eight votes. Before Miller's death the Democrats had 53, the Republicans 43.

This margin will change back to 10 votes before Congress meets in January, when Senator Baldwin (R-Conn) quits in December to take a post on his state's high court.

Democratic Gov. Chester Bowles will fill the Connecticut vacency with a member of his party.

The count then would be 53 Democrats, 43 Republicans — if Senator Dulles (R-NY) wins next month's special election in New York to keep for another year the seat to which he was appointed by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

If Dulles' opponent, former Democratic Governor Herbert H. Lehman, wins, the Democrats would start the new year with 12 more Senate members than the GOP.

The Dulles, Miller and Baldwin seats will be at stake in the 1950 elections, bringing to 35 the number of senators to be elected then.

Republicans, who face an uphill battle in their attempt to regain senate control, welcome the addition of these races where they figure they have some chance of winning from the Democrats. In the last elections in which these three races were involved, the Democrats won two, the Republicans one.

Demos Could Lose Five

As it stands, the Democrats will have 20 seats at stake next year. But they can count in advance on retaining 11 of them in the south and border states, unless there is a political upheaval not now in sight.

The Republicans, on the other hand, can be reasonably certain of keeping out of the hands of the Democrats only four of the 15 seats they will have at stake in 1950. These 15 include the Dulles and Baldwin places, plus the one they will gain in Idaho.

Thus, to regain the Senate control they lost last year, the Republicans would have to hold all of their 15 and take at least six Democratic posts—seven if Dulles should be defeated next month, to give them the 49 they would need.

The Democrats could lose five without dropping control, since Vice President Barkley's vote would break a tie in their favor even if they had only 48 of the 96 members.

The double race in Idaho is likely to attract wide attention, since Senator Taylor, Democrat who bolted to run for vice president on the Progressive third party ticket, may face a fight in the Democratic primary.

In Connecticut, former Rep. Clare Boothe Luce seems almost certain to be one of the Republican candidates.

In New York, the governorship will be at stake, with the possibility that Dewey may be running again. That would be certain to bring out a heavy vote in contrast to the light vote the Republicans fear will decide next month's special Senate election.

Recent Beer Strikes Bring New Type Of Liquor Law Breakers

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (U.P.) — Agents of the New York State Liquor Authority, whose job it is to see that the liquor laws aren't broken, have a new and different type of violator on their hands. And it's not easy to trap him.

The violation doesn't deal with hard liquor—just beer on tap. It involves the use of out-of-state beer through taps which bear the name of better known and standard types of beer.

It would take a beer expert, a trade professional, to tell the difference. So when a patron thinks he's getting the beer that's advertised he's sometimes getting beer from out of the state, a product that may be inferior.

The situation, according to State Liquor Authority agents, first developed during a recent strike of brewery workers in New York.

Scores of taprooms, anxious to maintain their beer trade, bought from out-of-state breweries. There is no law tha tsays this can't be done, but the state agency insists that the "bar" source of the beer be properly identified.

Breweries And Union

The practice has hit at both New York breweries and the unions involved.

In the case of the breweries, it has lowered output and dropped sales. The union complains this means less employment all around.

Both groups are pressing the State Liquor Authority for tighter enforcement measures. As for the tavern owners, apparently they're willing to risk severe penalties. They want to keep up some business with the out-of-state breweries in the event of another long and costly strike among the beer workers. Several tavern owners already have been caught piping off-brand beer through spigots which carry the names of well advertised brands.

Trade circles say brewers are facing increasing competition from mid-western companies who are spending heavily to promote their products. The illegal practices by tavern owners are making matters worse for the local breweries and unions, these circles say.

Detroit Man Keeps City Police Busy

DETROIT, Oct. 10. (AP)—Police were kept busy arresting Herman Peevy Saturday—but he'll be out of their way for a while.

At 2:10 a. m. officers arrested Peevy at his home on charges of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. They released him at 6:30 a. m. Three hours later he was booked again on the same charge, and this time recorder's Judge Paul N. Krause paroled him.

But the law wasn't through with Peevy. At 3:45 p. m. he was back in custody—still the same charge—and recorder's Judge Arthur E. Gordon heard the case.

Peevy then offered to leave town and quit bothering police. But Judge Gordon suggested that he wait 30 days, and spend the time in the Detroit house of correction.

Dentists To Take Postgraduate Courses By Telephone From Illinois University

CHICAGO, Oct. 10 (AP) — If you're going to have a toothache, don't get it this evening. Your dentist may be all tied up with a long distance phone call.

But it's all for your own good if he's one of 7,000 tooth fillers in 39 states. He'll be listening to a lecture telling him how to be an even better dentist.

The dentists will be hearing the first lecture of a new six months course being conducted by telephone from the University of Illinois.

Here's the idea: In your home town—the dentists gather around a loud speaker tied in to a phone connection. They do this for two hours once each month. The dentists get postgraduate instruction—and your dentist doesn't have to go off and leave you to get it.

Experts To Lecture

In Chicago—a panel of six dental experts lecture, speaking into the phone network.

Across the country, 142 dental society groups will be listening. The charge is $10 a man for the series.

The idea started when Dr. Saul Levy, of Scranton, Pa., found out he was too busy to get off for postgrad study. He and 19 other dentists arranged to hear some lectures by telephone from his alma mater, Illinois. That's why tonight is a bad night to have that old wisdom tooth start giving you a twinge; because a lot of dentists are following Dr. Levy's lead.

CARPENTERS AND LABORERS MAKE AGREEMENT

Construction Industry To Benefit From AFL Unions' Settlement OF Jurisdictional Fight

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 10. (AP)—Better labor peace in the construction industry was assured today with settlement of a long-standing jurisdictional dispute between two key American Federation of Labor unions.

An agreement climaxing several years of negotiations has been reached during sessions of the annual AFL convention here, it was learned.

The agreement contains a no strike pledge between the AFL carpenters and the AFL laborers union on handling of concrete forms.

This argument may be unknown to a great many people but has tied up millions of dollars of important construction work for months at a time, with strikes occurring frequently over the years.

Ship Repair Work Set

The agreement became known as the AFL convention began to wind up business. Election of officers late today was to climax the session of considering resolutions and a major address from Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson.

William Green, AFL president, and other officers of the big labor organization were expected to be re-elected without opposition.

Maj. Gen. Philip Fleming, chairman of the U. S. Maritime commission, told AFL delegates the government was preparing to spend several million dollars repairing ships on the west coast.

This was hailed by AFL metal-working trades, whose leaders have complained for some time that government ship work was being channeled mostly to east coast ship yards where rival CIO unions had heavy membership.

Fleming put in a plug for the Truman administration's fair deal proposals, saying "surely no one would suggest that they run counter to the general welfare, or that they do not point to a fuller and happier life for all of our people."

Agreement Explained

The agreement between the carpenters and laborers unions is an important one in maintaining building industry peace and preventing serious labor trouble in many cities.

The two unions have agreed to split up the work connected with removing wooden forms used for pouring concrete.

Under the agreement, members of the carpenters union will remove the forms after the concrete hardens. The laborers union will have jurisdiction to move the lumber once it is taken down by the carpenters.

The laborers also are given jurisdiction to clean, oil and carry the lumber to the next place it is to be re-used as forms.

On forms which are too worn to be re-used, the carpenters agreed that laborers can tear them down. But forms destined to be used over are to be taken down only by the carpenters.

The two unions have been disputing over this situation for years. Strikes have resulted, delaying millions of dollars worth of construction on large projects, such as industrial and commercial buildings, schools and hospitals.

Resolution Okay Expected

One of the biggest recent strikes occurred in St. Louis several months ago.

Leaders of the two unions have been trying to work out a solution for some time. Meetings were held in Washington, Cleveland and Miami.

John T. Dunlop, impartial chairman of the building trades national joint board for settlement of jurisdictional disputes, helped arrange the settlement at the convention here.

The agreement stipulates that there shall be no strikes resulting from any dispute concerning the type of work covered by the pact. The parties agreed to work out among themselves without work stoppages any disagreement arising under the settlement.

Meanwhile, delegates were expected to throw support behind a proposal to halt Russian "imperialism" in the Far East.

China Aid Urged

The plan, submitted yesterday by the AFL international labor relations committee, calls for the United States to give "immediate effective aid to strengthen economically and militarily the democratic and labor forces of China."

The committee also urged the U. S. to refuse diplomatic recognition to or to enter into commercial relations with the communists in China. U. S. backing of "completely independent free democratic republics throughout Asia" was asked.

The group suggested that President Truman's "point four" plan be applied to parts of Asia. Mr. Truman's plan would give assistance to underdeveloped areas of the world.

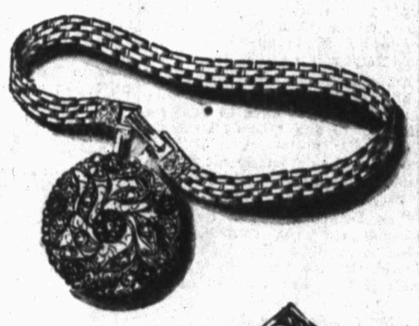

The committee expressed encouragement at progress of the Marshall plan but added that rebuilding of European economy would be hindered if further German reparations and dismantling of productive enterprises in Germany were not halted.

Indicted Swindler Rearrested As He Left Jail On Bond

CHICAGO, Oct. 10 (AP)—That silver tongued lover-boy of 73 summers, Eigmund Engel, was back in the clink today after a brief foray into the world of free men.

Engel, the wooer of wealthy widows, was released from the Cook county jail Saturday. He had been enjoying the county's hospitality for over three months.

As his foot touched the pavement outside the jailhouse—his attorney sprung him with a $10,000 bond—up stepped Detective John Peterson.

Peterson waved four warrants in Engel's face, and urged him to come to town hall police station.

Under Tow Indictments

"Nuts!" said Engel, as he journeyed to his new cell.

The new warrants against the rusting Romeo included state and federal charges issued on complaint of Mrs. Jeanette Kubiak, of South Bend, Ind.

She says Engel got $5,000 of her money.

Other warrants were filed by Mrs. Corrine Perry Gordon, Los Angeles, and Mrs. Irene Grimes, San Francisco. They also complain of loss of money to Engel, who has boasted that he has swindled women of a cool million all over the world.

The modern Casanova with a built in sense for rich matrons is under indictment on two charges of swindling Chicago women.

Commies Fail To Get Power

VIENNA, Oct. 10. (AP)—Austrian voters kept their nation lined up with the anti-Communist countries of Europe in a weekend parliamentary election marked by a decided upsurge in rightist sentiment.

Final unofficial returns today revealed that Chancellor Leopold Figl's anti-Red coalition government had remained firmly in the saddle despite some loss of strength. That coalition, composed of the conservative people's party and the socialists, will continue to run the new government.

Coalition In Power

Figl's people's party held its rank as Austria's biggest party, winning 77 seats in the 165-member lower house of parliament. The socialists won 67 seats, to give the government coalition an overwhelming 144-vote bloc in the chamber.

Communists, who won only four seats in the 1945 election, added one more in Sunday's voting. But their failure to make any appreciable gain led Chancellor Figl to proclaim that the voting gave "clear and unmistakable proof that Austria is an outpost of the western democratic world."

One feature of the balloting was the emergence of the rightist league of independents, a new party, as an important political factor with 16 parliamentary seats.

Made Open Appeals

The league, led by Dr. Herbert Kraus, made open appeals during the campaign for the support of former Nazis. Its opponents accused the league of being sympathetic to Nazi ideas although Kraus himself lost his commission in the German army during the war because he criticized Nazi policy.

The league of independents made its gains at the expense of the people's party, which dropped eight seats to lose the absolute majority it held in the last parliament, and the socialists, who lost nine seats. The league did not enter the 1945 elections, held when former Nazis were barred from voting.

Final Vote Given

Socialists—1,620,508.

League of independents — 487,783.

Communists—174,257.

The people's party polled 240,000 more votes this time than it did in 1945. The party's loss of its absolute majority in parliament is accounted for by the fact that there were more than 900,000 new voters.

Figl said the present cabinet will resign tomorrow. President Karl Renner then will ask Figl, as leader of the country's strongest single party, to form a new government. He has said he will con-

LION-TAMER'S ACT TO BE FEATURE PERFORMANCE

Clyde Beatty And Rogers Bros. Circuses To Arrive Tuesday For Big Shows In Lubbock

Thrills for youngsters and oldsters alike are likely to be doubled Tuesday when not one, but two big circuses arrive in Lubbock for afternoon and evening performances on East Broadway.

The Clyde Beatty circus featuring Clyde Beatty, the daring animal trainer, in person and the Rogers Bros. circus under sponsorship of the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce are both due in Lubbock Tuesday morning.

The Beatty show arrives by Fort Worth and Denver railroad, and its Big Top will go up on the lots directly opposite the fairgrounds on East Broadway. Its performances are scheduled for 2:30 and 8 p. m.

The Rogers Bros. circus arrives by motor truck. It will be set up on the fairgrounds and performances will be at 4 p. m., or as soon as the school children can arrive, and at 8 p. m.

For the convenience of patrons of the Beatty circus, advance ticket sales will be made at Wylie's Drug store, 1106 Texas avenue, all day Tuesday. Prices were not announced.

The Jaycees have set up a booth at the Hilton hotel to sell tickets to the Rogers Bros. circus. Ticket prices are 65 cents for children and $1.30 for adults, plus another 65 cents for served seats.

The Jaycees will receive 50 per cent of proceeds from all tickets sold in advance of the show and 10 percent of all tickets sold at the circus.

Beatty To Perform

Dr. L. B. Millsap, chairman of the Jaycee circus committee, said more than 1,000 tickets had been given to the Salvation Army, Milam's Orphan's home and other agencies for underprivileged children, through the generosity of Lubbock merchants.

One of the highlights of the Beatty circus will be the appearance of Clyde Beatty himself, who enters the cage with vicious looking lions and tigers who will snarl and slap at him as he moves chair and pistol in his left hand

PARADE, BARBECUE TO BE HELD

Big Homecoming Is Planned At Canyon

CANYON, Oct. 10 (Special) — Celebration of the annual West Texas State Homecoming will begin Friday, October 21 and last through Saturday. This was revealed in an announcement from the steering committee headed by Dr. Lee Johnson, professor at the college.

Planned to be the greatest Homecoming celebration in the history of tne college, committees are well on the way to completion of work assigned them in rounding up details of the two-day festival.

Parade Is Feature

Especially far in the completion stage is the mammoth parade which will move through downtown Canyon at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. Clubs, college organizations and business houses of Canyon are working on floats and entries trying to cop prize money set up by the Canyon Chamber of Commerce. The parade is headed by Ted Reid of the Veterans Administration, Jack Worshm, student association president, and Leroy Reeves, graduate assistant in history. Around 10 bands will participate in the parade.

Activities will start Friday night at 7 o'clock with the annual Homecoming bonfire. At 8 o'clock Friday evening the West Texas State speech department will present a 3-act comedy, "The Tightwad."

Barbecue Scheduled

Immediately after the parade Saturday morning, feeding of the barbecue to ex-students and friends of the college will begin at the tennis courts north of the English building.

Just prior to the Homecoming football game between the Buffs and Trinity university of San Antonio, the football queen will be crowned at Buffalo field.

Throughout the day clubs and organizations will hold coffees and smokers for exes.

At 8 o'clock Saturday night two big dances will start on the campus and last until final weary couples are ready to call it a day. A western dance will be held in Burton gym while at the same time, modern dancing will start in the beautiful college cafeteria.

Faculty members and boys from the ahletic dormitories will trek to the ranch of Terrell Christian near Claude this week to bring wood in to cook the barbecue.

President James P. Cornette has extended a personal invitation to each and every ex-student of West Texas State college to make plans now to return to the Canyon campus for this celebration. He has assured good weather so according to him "come on in and join us for one of the biggest celebrations this college has ever put on."

Boy, 11, Saved By Hole In His Shoe

DETROIT, Oct. 10. (AP)—A hole worn in the sole of his shoe probably saved 11-year-old Leon Banks from electrocution when he touched a high tension wire last night, Detroit police reported.

The youngster's finger came in contact with the wire while he was climbing a tree hear his home. And because his bare foot touched a branch where the shoe was worn through, the electricity made his body a conductor and held his fast.

Firemen removed the partly conscious boy from the tree 13 minutes later. Witnesses in the horrified crowd that watched the rescue reported sparks had flown from Leon's head and fingers.

The boy's finger, hopelessly burned, was amputated at receiving hospital. Physicians said Leon also had a large blister on his foot.

Little Theatre Play Tonight

The Lubbock Little Theater will open its second season tonight with the presentation of "Ah, Wilderness!", at 8 p.m., in the O. L. Slaton Junior High school auditorium.

Gene Looper will play the leading role, that of Nat Miller, blunt, family-loving publisher of a small town newspaper in Connecticut. Weldon George, who appeared in principal roles last year, is directing the show.

The play will be presented Tuesday as well as tonight, and will be dedicated to the personnel of Lubbock Air Force base and their families.

Tickets Still Available

Proceeds from the play and four others to be presented this season will be used to pay royalties and to provide more costumes and equipment for future plays.

Season tickets still can be purchased at the Charles William Aydelotte agency at 1313 College ave., for $6.50. Tickets also will be sold at the door. Reserved seats will be $1.80, general admission $1.20, and students, 60 cents, tax

Ancient Japanese Made Spying Fine Art With "Invisibility"

TOKYO, Oct. 10. (U.P.)—Japanese spies once learned the art of making themselves invisible, but they haven't used this secret weapon for a hundred years or more. And when they did use it, they used it on themselves.

During the feudal days of Japan, when rivalry and suspicion among military leaders was high, the Japanese developed the art of spying to its finest degree. Local warlords always had spies in the territories of their enemies.

Intrigue was thick in those days. And because captured spies often got their ears sent home on cushions, the better boys in the racket developed the art of ninjutsu.

Ninjutsu is the art of invisibility. Japanese legends and popular tales are full of the supposed extraordinary accomplishments of these spies, but people today admit the claims for these magicians may be a little exaggerated.

Still, it's a fact that ninjutsu experts really existed. They mastered their art only after long years of hard and difficult training.

Barber Tells One

Sanzo Kimura, one of downtown Tokyo's best barbers, knows all about "lost art" because he's a great-great-great grandson of "one of the best ninjutsu operators that ever lived in all of Japan."

Anyway, that's what Sanzo says, and here's what he says his ancient relative did:

"When my honorable ancestor was still a boy, he first learned to walk and run fast—faster than ordinary persons. He trained himself to go without eating and sleeping for many days.

"Then my wise and honorable ancestor learned to walk softly and noiselessly anywhere, to climb up perpendicular walls, jump over high fences, open and shut doors without making any noise, see things in semi-darkness and to have a specially keen sense of hearing.

Skulked In Black

"When my kind, wise and honorable ancestor went on a mission for his master, he dressed himself in a tight black outfit which covered his whole head and face, except for small holes for the eyes. He selected a moonless night and scaled the outer wall of the place he intended to enter. Opening a convenient door noiselessly, he entered the house. If he met anyone in the corridor, he flattened himself against the wall or jumped up and held his body in mid-air above the person by grabbing the sideposts.

"He went wherever he pleased and listened to the talks of the household of his master's adversary. And when he had the information he wanted, he silently returned to report his findings."

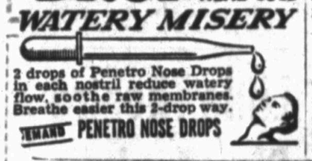

So far as Occupation personnel know, the art of the invisible spies is not being practiced today.

Even Sanzo believes not. The modern electric light, he admitted, probably would have thrown even his great-great-great grandfather for a loss.

Area Residents Get Library Group Posts

Two South Plains persons were elected to offices of the District One Texas Library association for the forthcoming year at an annual meeting in Amarillo Saturday.

R. C. Janeway, Texas Tech librarian, was named president of the 44-county group and Mrs. A. F. Rasor, Frenship, secretary. Miss Albessa Stevenson, documents librarian at West Texas State college, was named vice-president.

Present needs and future programs for libraries was the theme of the annual meeting, held in Amarillo's Herring hotel. The meeting next year will be in Lubbock.

Leading librarians in the state were among those taking part in the Panhandle-South Plains conference. Miss Irene Mason, executive secretary and librarian of the Arkansas Library commission, also attended the meeting. Mrs. Robert H. Wilson, Texas State library was moderator for a morning panel discussion, in which Miss Mattie Ruth Moore of the Texas department of education took part.

Twelve Lubbockites were among the delegates attending the convention. These included besides Janeway and Mrs. Rasor, Mrs. R. T. Groves, Lubbock high school librarian; Miss Marian Turner, Hutchinson junior high school; and Miss Pansye Harris, O. L. Slaton junior high.

COLOR, DURABILITY STRESSED

'New Look' Bathroom Shown By Architectural Tile, Terrazzo Co.

There's a "New Look" in bathrooms too!

According to the trained staff at Architectural Tile and Terrazzo Co., 708 Ave. Q, the keynote of decoration of the bathroom, as in decoration of all other rooms of the home, is color.

Gone are the days of the all-white bathrooms that had all the cheer and warmth of an Eskimo igloo!

But home owners, whether they're building or remodeling, naturally do not want to sacrifice the utility and durability of old-style bathrooms, even for color.

And, fortunately, they need not, for what other material has proved, time and again, its superiority as to wear and to expense-free upkeep in bathrooms as well as tile?

In the model "New Look" bathroom on display at the Architectural Tile and Terrazzo Co., soft green tiled walls blend perfectly with the green bathroom fixtures, and soft red and green wallpaper is used for pleasant contrast.

Possibly even more important, however, is the all-round durability and service incorporated in the materials used in the model bathroom. The tiled walls retain their true color year after year and never need repainting. The tile floor retains its luster without waxing. No amount of steam or moisture from the bathtub or shower will warp the walls or dull the finish.

Spilled shoe polish, nail enamel, or medicines can be wiped right up without permanent discoloration or damage to floors or walls.

Architectural Tile and Terrazzo Co. features clay tile and terrazzo as its principal products.

The company offers skilled installation of terrazzo floors or whatever terrazzo might be desired, in addition to furnishing and installing clay tile cabinets, walls, floors, mantle hearths, or wherever tile may be specified or desired.

The firm, which was established in February, 1946, is owned by J. Hershel Maxey. Further information about the company's products and services may be obtained by visiting the firm or by calling No. 4081.

MODEL TILE BATHROOM — Shown is an interior view of the "New Look" tile bathroom on display in the window of Architectural Tile and Terrazzo Co., 708 Ave. Q., which has created much favorable comment. The room is a blending of soft green walls and floor with green fixtures. Muted red and green wallpaper provides a note of contrast. A tiled shower is at extreme right foreground.

All Kinds Of Building Supplies Stocked By Cicero Smith Co.

Complete and practical home building plans and blueprints are available to customers as one of the many services offered by the Cicero Smith Lumber Co., 1020 Seventh, according to Carl Owens, manager of the Lubbock branch.

In addition, home owners contemplating either building a new home or remodeling their present residence may obtain the names of reliable contractors and builders from the company.

The firm stocks everything in the building line, including lumber, paints, builders hardware, lineoleums and other types of hard floor coverings, and plumbing supplies.

Cicero Smith Lumber Co., is continuously adding new products and services to care for the needs and demands of their customers.

The firm, one of the oldest and best known lumber companies in the Southwest, has maintained a yard in Lubbock for well over a quarter of a century.

SKILLED RADIO SERVICE OFFERED

Expert Refrigerator Repairs Featured By Pioneer Service

Chances are there's nothing wrong that the skilled workmen at Pioneer Radio and Refrigeration Service can't fix.

Is your radio wheezing as though it were in the last stages of asthmatic old age?

Pioneer can fix it up in jig time.

City-wide repair service on radios and refrigerators is one of the principal services offered by Pioneer Radio and Refrigeration Service, 1610 Nineteenth, according to Thomas O. Moore, owner and manager.

The company maintains a spacious refrigeration workshop that is equipped with every kind of equipment needed to accomplish the most efficient repair job.

And evidence that the skilled refrigerator workmen are not limited to the repair of only two or three particular brands of refrigerators may be seen by a visit to the workshop. There's likely to be a half-dozen or more makes of refrigerators, all receiving expert attention.

In the radio repair department, drive-in service for the repair of automobile radios is a special feature. The customer simply has to drive up the alley between Pioneer's building and the Veterans administration building and turn into a garage back of the store. Facilities for skillful repair of all other kinds of radios are maintained by Pioneer Radio and Refrigeration Service.

Vernon's Caters For All Kinds Of Parties

Having a few friends in for a backyard supper? Or entertaining your company employes with a barbecue?

Before you work up a cold sweat over all the work and details involved, give a thought to Vernon's catering service. You can have your party and your fun too, without a thought of even a napkin or paper plate. Vernon's takes care of everything.

"Just tell us where the party is and how many people will be there, and we take care of the rest," says Vernon Matheny, owner of the catering service and of Vernon's Drive-In at 709 Fourth.

Vernon's can feed as many as 2,000 people at one time. Additional information about the service may be obtained by calling No. 2-6955.

Czech Local Officials Given Orders To Control Churches

PRAGUE, Oct. 10. (AP) — The Czechoslovak government today ordered county and village Communist-led administrations to prepare to take over close supervision of churches and to tighten their control over local affairs.

Vaclav Nosek, Communist interior minister, gave the orders in an address to a meeting of "people's administrators," at Ostrava.

In a move to keep the nation facing east, the government ordered hundreds of thousands of Czechoslovaks, children as well as their elders, to begin a new campaign to learn Russian quickly. The cultural newspaper Lidove Noviny declared: "Russian is the language of the future. You can't understand the future without it." Courses in Russian were launched in schools, factories and clubs.

The radio of the nation's security police disclosed the existence of at least five labor camps containing thousands of political and criminal prisoners.

Many Czechs seized in recent police roundups were reported to have been sent to such camps. Reliable sources said Saturday that many persons seized in the roundup also were being sent to Czechoslovakia's uranium and coal mines.

In his speech the interior minister complained that too many villages still are displaying "local patriotism" and refusing to submit to higher organs of the government. He warned local administrators that they must deal more harshly with farmers who fail to fulfill delivery quotas and "saboteurs who dilever diluted milk."

Nosek said the Communist-controlled national committee will be charged with supervising activities and property of all churches when a new cabinet ministry for church affairs is established.

"All church affairs then will be under charge of local governments which must supervise religious education in schools and seminaries, activities of church charities and all other religious matters," he said.

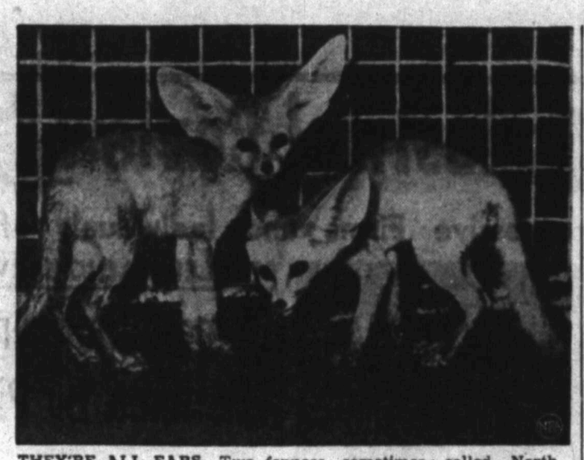

Catholic leaders are fighting the government's plan to control churches.

Harvard Law School Will Accept Women

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 10 (AP) —The doors of Harvard Law school will be open to women for the first time next year.

Dean Erwin N. Griswold announced last night that a "small number" of women graduated from accredited colleges will be eligible for admittance to the 132-year-old school in 1950.

"Opportunities for women in law still are limited, however, and the faculty is well aware that many able men are turned away from our doors every year," Dean Griswold said.

THEY'RE ALL EARS—Two fennecs—sometimes called North African foxes—are new arrivals at the St. Louis Zoo. Kiddies find Them amusing because of their long, donkey-like ears.

Howard Unruh Facing Life In Asylum For River Road Massacre

CAMDEN, N. J., Oct. 10 (AP)—Howard B. Unruh, former artilleryman accused of slaying 13 persons in Camden's River Road massacre, will be formally committed to an institution for the criminally insane after a court order is signed—probably today.

Unruh—who will remain in the New Jersey State hospital at Trenton—doesn't yet know that four psychiatrists have adjudged him insane and that he may spend the rest of his life in the mental institution.

He was taken to the Trenton hospital Sept. 7, the day after 13 men, women and children were mowed down by bullets from Unruh's German Luger automatic.

Unruh himself is still undergoing treatment for a bullet wound of the thigh—sustained in an exchange of gunfire with police before he was forced out of his barricaded room by tear gas.

Prosecutor Gets Reports

Dr. Walter S. Magee, head of the medical division of the Trenton institution, said Unruh was examined by two doctors yesterday and that their reports were forwarded to Mitchell Cohen, Camden county prosecutor.

Dr. Magee said that since the formal committment papers have not yet reached the hospital, Unruh has not been told the psychiatrists found him insane.

"He will eventually know, of course," he said, "that he will remain at the hospital."

Asked whether Unruh would be released from solitary confinement, Dr. Magee replied "He won't be allowed to vegitate."

Mother Of Lubbock Woman Death Victim

LITTLEFIELD, Oct. 10 (Spl.)—Funeral services will be held in the First Methodist church here at 3 p. m. Tuesday for Mrs. Lillian Treece, 60, who died in a local hospital at 4 a. m. Sunday.

Burial will be in Littlefield cemetery under direction of Hammons Funeral home. Mrs. Treece had been a resident here for about 12 years.

A partial list of survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Sam Parkinson of 2215 Twenty-seventh, Lubbock; her mother, Mrs. S. T. Wright of Littlefield; and two sisters, Mrs. Winnie Cochran, Littlefield, and another in California.

SYMPATHY SMIRK

MEMPHIS, Tenn., (U.P.)—A group of office girls watched out the window as a policeman placed a parking ticket under the windshield wiper of the boss's car. They hurriedly purchased a sympathy card for the other wiper.

Toys Named After Former President

CHICAGO, Oct. 10 (U.P.)—The teddy bear, the favorite stuffed animal toy of American children for 47 years, owes its name to President Theodore Roosevelt.

Roosevelt found a tiny bear cub during a Mississippi hunting trip in 1902. He was delighted by the animal's cute appearance and refused to let it be shot.

"T. R." adopted the little bear and it became famous. Pictures and stories of Roosevelt, and his pet appeared in newspapers across the country.

Morris Michtom, an immigrant toy maker in Brooklyn, was inspired by the picture of the cuddly little animal. He cut a tiny bear skin from a soft material, stuffed it and put it on display.

Then he made another, sent it to the president, and asked permission to call it the "Teddy Bear."

"I don't think my name's likely to be worth much in the bear business," Roosevelt wrote back, "but you're welcome to use it."

The Teddy Bear won immediate popularity and Michtom's tiny top shop mushroomed into a toy and novelty company that produces 10 per cent of the nation's toys.

Prowler Captured In British Royal House

LONDON, Oct. 10 (AP)—A prowler was discovered in a Buckingham palace bedroom a few hours before King George VI returned there today from a vacation in Scotland.

Newspapers gave this account of the incident: A maid, aroused early Sunday by noise, got out of bed and tripped over a man. Police and palace guards searched the palace and its grounds for an hour and a half. They finally found the man hiding under bed clothes in a spare room.

Scotland Yard officials said the 26-year-old prowler has been placed under medical observation. They confirmed that he had climbed over the wall into the palace grounds but gave no further details.

"We have a request to drop the whole matter," the officials said.

Fifteen In Cast

The play, written by Eugene O'Neill, opens with a typical family situation on the Fourth of July around the turn of the century. From there, it works its way through difficulties encountered by son Richard, who revolts against the conventions of the day.

Cast of characters for the play totals 15. Charles Taylor will act as stage manager. Bert McGinnis, jr., will direct the lighting, with Mrs. McGinnis handling properties. Costume design is under the direction of Mrs. Marshall Harvey and Mallory Byrd. J. Glenn Garner is make-up supervisor.

Next production by the Lubbock Little Theater group will be "The Male Animal," early in December.

Slow Rise Of Real Estate Is Revealed

CHICAGO, Oct. 10 (U.P.) — The assessed value of big city property in the nation still is rising, but at a slower rate than in the past two years, according to a recent survey.

The National Association of Assessing Officers said the latest totals of assessed land valuation average 4.3 per cent higher than last year's figure. Total valuation last year was 6.35 per cent over the preceding period.

The highest percentage increase was reported from Duval county (Jacksonville), Fla. Real estate valuation there rose nearly $61,900,000, a 19.68 per cent increase over last year.

New York City reported the largest dollarwise increase. A three per cent boost in property valuation resulted in a $528,000,000 increase. The city's total valuation now stands at $18,112,231,000.

High Voltage Kills Model Plane Owner

WEST CHESTER, Pa., Oct. 10 (AP)—George A. Hartshorne was killed yesterday when the cable on which he was flying his model airplane hit a 200,000 volt high tension wire.

Hartshorne was burned badly and died a few minutes later en route to Chester hospital.

The 21-year-old veteran of the U. S. Air Force started the model—powered by a tiny gasoline engine—and let it fly in circles over his head from the 30-foot-long cable.

Apparently he believed the cable was too short to reach the power lines or thought he was a safe distance away from the high voltage wires.

Hope For Independence

Austrians hope their new government will be destined to steer their country to full independence after seven years of Nazi goose-stepping and four of Allied occupation. That matter is not up to the Austrians themselves but to the big four powers who must still reach agreement on an independence treaty for the country.

Austria, flanked by Communist-governed nations of eastern Europe, still is occupied by Soviet as well as by American, British and French troops.

Ferdinand Graf, secretary of state and a ranking official of the people's party, said neither the league of independents nor the Communists would be invited to join the new cabinet.

The Big Show—and it is big, being one of America's two largest shows—will bring scores of new attractions. A whole herd of performing elephants, companies of educated horses and ponies, and groups of trained dogs, monkeys and zebras, and a small army of clowns and clown animals will be seen. A gorgeously produced processional pageant entitled "The Circus on Parade" opens the performances.

The Rogers Bros. circus features a full two-hour show with more than 23 acts, clowns, elephants and girls on horseback. Peanuts, popcorn and soda pop will be sold for "only 10 cents," as the circus saying goes. One of the show's biggest acts features Capt. Eddie Kuhn, who at 29 is claimed to be the youngest wild animal trainer.

EVERYONE 30 years old and over can remember when there used to be a very great deal of public drinking at football games, here and everywhere else in Texas.

At high school games, at college games, people waved bottles, reeled all over the place, put on what some call "a high old time" and what others call a "perfectly disgusting performance."

At many stadiums, extra officers had to be put on duty to curb the drinkers and arrest the drunks. That happened here, at both Tech and High school games. Down at Dallas, they even had a big cage into which drinking fans were pushed and held until after the games were over and could go along under their own power.

Football was hurt by such shenanigans. Many people stayed away from games in order to avoid being annoyed by the intemperate.

It was all very bad.

But haven't times — and conditions—changed?

You don't see the brawling and guzzling now-a-days that you used to see almost wherever football was played in this state.

We don't go to all the football games played in Lubbock, but we see a half-dozen or so each season. And it has been years since we've seen anybody taking a drink, or with too much to drink, at any of the Tech or Lubbock High games.

Probably some few people get oiled up before the games and probably some few still drink some at the games. Put 10,000 or more people together anywhere, or for any reason, and you'll find some of them out of line in one way or another.

But no one can deny that there has been great improvement in the matter of drunks and drinking at football games.

WHAT are the principal reasons for the improvement — the improvement here in Lubbock and elsewhere over Texas? Nearly everyone must have some ideas of his own and certainly we have ours.

In the first place, we credit the public attitude toward liquor and its use, which has been greatly changed over the past 15 years. More and more people have come to realize that, if they choose to drink, there is a place for them to drink and a place for them not to drink.

In the second place, it seems to us that more of today's drinkers are on the side of moderation than used to be the case. It seems to us that a lot of people have learned that moderation in drinking, as in nearly everything else, is desirable.

And in the third place, we credit the fact that liquor is no longer a novelty with much of the improvement.

Back in prohibition days, liquor was a novelty. It was bought, mostly, in half-gallon and gallons and usually was soaked up as rapidly as possible. That meant more drunkenness and less restraint in the use of the liquor. Also, it was considered by many to be "smart" to show the bluenoses that "they can't keep me from taking a drink if I want to." Many people "showed off" with their liquor, to prove themselves to be a "smart guy."

Now that liquor is as common as root beer, in the theoretically dry areas as well as in the wet ones, everybody understands that it doesn't take an especially wise guy to (1) find it; (2) buy it, and (3) drink it. So making a spectacle of having and drinking liquor, or of "showing" somebody "I'll do as I please," has lost whatever strange appeal it used to have for so many people.

But whatever the reasons for, the improvement in public behavior at football games, the improvement's there, for all to note.

And it's mighty fine.

A lot of people would be better off if it were as hard to borrow money as it is to pay it back.

C. C. COX dropped in the other day to see if The Avalanche-Journal planned to run an explanatory series on the proposed constitutional amendments on which Texans will vote next month.

"The trouble with amendments," said Mr. Cox, "is that they rarely are understandable to the voters as they appear on the ballot. I know. For many years, I helped hold elections in Lubbock county and very few voters knew from reading their ballot what they were voting for, or against."

Mr. Cox, who taught school for 32 years before retiring to look after his farms, is one of the best informed persons in West Texas on matters of government. Most of his 32 years in the classroom—including the last 20 at Lubbock Senior High — found him teaching in the field of government.

He remains deeply interested in the subject; follows all governmental matters very carefully, even to the point of keeping files.

The Avalanche-Journal, as always, will run a series on the November amendments in advance of election day, Nov. 8.

In this series, we shall try to explain each amendment so all who read may understand.

But let us offer this word of counsel:

Every voter who doesn't understand an amendment as presented to him on the ballot should vote against that particular amendment as a matter of course.

If all voters will do that, the wiseacres who work up the amendments down at Austin will learn to present them in understandable form, or expect them to be snowed under.

There's no sense in people's being asked to vote on something that isn't made clear to them.

THEY tell this story about four strangers who had struck up an acquaintance in a railroad lounge car. After some conversation, one said: "Joe Blow's my name. I'm a painter. Work chiefly in water colors."

"Jim Doaks is my name," said the next one. "I'm a sculptor. I work in stone."

"I'm an artist, too," said the third. "My name's John Smith. I work in bronze."

The three turned to the fourth fellow, who thought a moment, then spoke:

"I'm not exactly an artist," he said, "but I'm not too out of place in this group. I teach out at Texas Tech, in Lubbock — so I guess you'd say I work in ivory!"

BY DREW PEARSON: SUNKEN TIN OFF FLORIDA COAST IS PAWN IN LOBBYING CONTEST

General Vaughan Goes Deep-Sea Treasure Hunting

WASHINGTON—In the confidential files of Sen. Clyde Hoey's investigating committee is a report on Gen. Harry Vaughan and his partner, John Maragon, in which they seek sunken treasure at the bottom of the sea. And as usual, they pull a lot of political wires to get the treasure.

PEARSON

This is one part of the Vaughan - Maragon investigation which Senator "Just-The-Usual - Procedure" Hoey wants to suppress. It is also a chapter which President Truman is exerting pressure to hush up, despite the fact that he made his great reputation as a Senate investigator.

Most interesting phase of the secret Vaughan-Maragon treasure hunt is that they cut another company out of the deal—despite the fact that the other company had a prior contract to salvage the ore in the sunken SS Edward Luckenbach.

Vaughan's friends got the contract without competitive bidding. This was the only case in history where a salvage contract was let without competitive bidding, except one—where the commission did not own the cargo.

The SS Luckenbach, sunk in 60 feet of water off Key West, Fla., by a Nazi sub in 1942 was carrying a cargo of tin worth more than $2,000,000. The cargo, owned by the U. S. government and partly salvaged, now comes under the Maritime commission and the U. S. Metals Reserve corporation, plus a private firm, the Cargo Salvage Corp., of New York. The private firm represents the insurance companies which paid off the government, and therefore have a stake in salvaging the sunken tin.

Maragon Throws Weight

Because of this, the private insurance companies through their agent, the Cargo Salvage Corp., signed a contract Nov. 6, 1947 with Clark brothers of Palm Beach, Fla., to salvage the cargo of the SS Luckenbach. This contract had no time limitation and is still legally in effect.

However, one year later, the amazing Mr. Maragon and the President's military aide stepped in and pulled the rug right out from under them. Instead they secured a provisional contract to recover the sunken ore for their friends, Robert Stefanich and Zeke Afram of Milwaukee.

General Vaughan used to be a manufacturers' representative in Milwaukee and is a close friend of Harry Hoffman, Milwaukee advertising man. Hoffman is the man who arranged to have the seven deep freezes sent to Mrs. Truman, Vaughan and other bigwigs at the time Maragon was caught smuggling perfume, though the deep freezes were paid for by the perfume company—which, at about that time, purchased four airplanes and three yachts at amazingly low prices from the government.

SHORTLY after President Truman came back from his Key West vacation in December 1948, Robert Stefanich of Milwaukee, representing the Atlantic Marine Salvaging Co., of Milwaukee, dropped in at the Maritime commission to see if he could salvage the ship which had sunk just 25 miles northwest of Key West. The commission told him to send a diver down to look at the cargo, after which they would talk to him.

In January, 1949, Stefanich came back, said he had not been able to send a diver down, but wanted a contract for salvaging the vessel just the same. His conversation was with Jerry C. Massey, admiralty counsel of the commission, who later reported:

"Since he had not done what he promised, I considered he was wasting my valuable time desperately needed on other Maritime commission business and making a nuisance of himself. I told him so in so many words.

"Early next morning," continued Massey in his official report, "to my surprise he walked in with John Maragon.

"Maragon stated that he would go into the matter of obtaining a contract for the Atlantic Marine Salvaging Co., and then he would 'report to General Vaughan.'

"In the course of the conversation," Massey continued, "he (Maragon) repeated several times 'I will go back and report to General Vaughan.' I resented this. Maragon gave me the definite impression that he was an employe of General Vaughan. He talked to me in a tone of giving me an order that the contract be given the Atlantice Marine Salvaging Co. I also resented this. The above caused me to express my feelings rather heatedly."

Massey was so upset by Maragon's highandedness that he discuseed the matter with two associates, Joseph Tarlan and Charles E. Kauffman, and asked them to sit in as witnesses if Maragon called again. They did so, and after the next meeting, Kauffman wrote a report which stated:

"I asked who he (Maragon) represented and he replied, 'I'm with the general.' This meant nothing to me so I asked what general and he answered, 'General Vaughan.'"

"Before Maragon left he said he was 'with the White House.' It was my assumption that he was a federal employee, probably attached to General Vaughan's staff. As a matter of fact, during our first meeting, Maragon went to my desk, picked up the phone, asked for the White House and spoke to someone there."

Gen. Vaughan Telephones

That Vaughan was fully aware of Maragon's activity was indicated later by the fact that he called Massey to make sure that his Milwaukee friends were getting the contract.

Vaughan also called another Maritime commission official named Roger Vaughan, asking him to see Afram and Stefanich. Roger Vaughan, when queried, said he was no relation to the general.

However, he sided with Maragon in awarding the Luckenbach contract to Vaughan's Milwaukee pals, despite the earlier opposition of Massey.

Maragon's badgering continued, and Massey describes another meeting in March 1949 as follows: "Maragon's manner was extremely officious and again he talked in a tone of giving me an order to award the contract to the Atlantic Marine Salvage Co."

By this time, the Maragon-Vaughan combination had gone over Massey's head to Admiral Smith, chairman of the Maritime commission and to Commissioner Carson. And, despite previous refusals by lower officials to give the Milwaukee firm a contract, higher-ups in the commission finally yielded. Maragon and Vaughan won out.

Massey has since tried to whitewash this decision. But the interesting fact is that through the political-minded Maritime commission ok'd the insurance underwriters in New York and the RFC have not yet given their ok. Apparently the Vaughan-Maragon axis did not have enough drag with them; and it's now a question as to whether the Milwaukee firm with a contract from the Maritime commission, or Clark brothers of Palm Beach, with a contract from the insurance companies, have the right to salvage the sunken Luckenbach.

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

A MIDDLE-AGED widow, with no job experience, but years of experience in running a house, writes me, to complaining that that she can't get a job because of her age and lack of business training. "What are women my age supposed to do?" she wants to know. "I have to supplement my income—but nobody is willing to give me a chance."

There must be a lot of women in the same position—for I get frequent letters from women who say they can't find jobs because of their age.

MILLETT

I believe many of these women could solve their problem by running an advertisement in their local newspaper that would read something like this:

"Week-end Mother. Willing to come into your home and run it and look after your children. Experience: twenty years of managing my own home and taking care of my own children."

So often I hear the parents of young children say: "If Bob and I could only get away for a week-end occasionally. But we haven't anyone to leave with the children that we can trust."

A "week-end mother" wouldn't have to feel like a servant or just a baby-sitter. She would be temporarily replacing the mother in a home, which means she would be taking on a job of real responsibility, and trust.

NO HARDER THAN BUSINESS

AND it wouldn't be a harder job for the middle-aged woman than working in an office or store. For the home-maker can stop for a rest when she needs it. She can arrange the work that needs to be done to suit herself. She is her own boss. And because "Week-end Mother" would go from one family to another, there would be variety in her work.

For the woman who was a happy and successful home-maker and mother, the job is really ideal.

And there's one other thing. She needn't consider her age as a handicap, as most young couples feel safer in leaving their children with a settled, middle-aged woman than with a younger person.

Also, in that job she wouldn't be timid from lack of experience. She would have years of experience behind her to give her self-confidence and self-respect.

'Try And Stop Me"

SAKI, the celebrated English short story writer, lived at his club a graet deal because his home was plagued by recurrent "servant trouble." One day he jubilantly told his friends that these troubles were over: "his wife had latched on to a perfect gem of a domestic." A week later, alas, he was back at the club, explaining sadly. "Yes, she was a good cook as cooks go, and as good cooks go, she went."

BOB SYLVESTER covered the opening of a nobby night club recently—one of the "clip joint" variety. In his report he noted that one patron had discovered a pearl in his oyster—"enabling him to almost break even."

Sylvester also stated that the chanteuse of the evening was so near-sighted they should have changed her theme song to "I've Lost My Glasses: I Wonder Who's Kissing Me Now."

BY ROBERT C. RUARK

Traditional Value Of Early Rising Is Scored By Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—I would like to quarrel a mite with the noted historian, Dr. Douglas Southall Freeman, and simultaneously with his espousal of an assumption I have battled bitterly since childhood. This is the old wives' tale that early to bed and early to rise, et cetera.

RUARK

Dr. Freeman is a man who smacks the sack at 9 p. m. and is generally out of same, as chipper as an ozone addled mocking bird at 2:30 a. m. This is when the doctor starts his working day. He was recently quoted as saying that people go to bed too late and arise likewise, and that the nation could be vastly improved if everyone straggled from the features at sunup.

There has ever been a spurious nobility attached to early rising, possibly stemming from the days when work unfinished in sunlight went undone until next day. Whatever the germination of the habit, scorn has been heaped on the late riser. He has been taunted with the title of slug-abed, sleepyhead, and generally described as a no-'count trifler who can only wind up hawking apples or, if successful, peddling marijuana or running numbers.

Habit Is Assailed

The people who are forced, by circumstance, to unsheet themselves in the dank dawn acquire the kind of abrasive arrogance of the man who takes mid-winter baths through the ice floss, or the woman who is constantly engrossed in a diet. They wear a halo with this hair shirt of habit, and go about knocking more fortunate folks who can snuggle in the downy until noon.

I consider Dr. Freeman's habit of arising at 2:30 unnatural, anti-social, and less crammed with health-and-character building vitamins than my own cherished routine of preparing to think about getting ready to consider the idea of bed at about the same time. The days are packed with dullards; anybody can stalk around in the sunlight.

For some years I was forced by poverty's pinch to haul myself shudering from the shucks at the loathsome hour of 5 a. m.—a dread milestone on the clock when man's resistance is at lowest ebb, when the streets are naked, the birds still, and your conscience rides you like a witch. After some years of this debased existence I swore a solid swear that if God ever let me out of the Navy, I would sleep until noon if it meant starvation. Fortunately I found a stealing license which would permit me to eat as well as snore, but the snoring got first consideration.

FOR a long time I have tried to find something worth doing before noon, and apart from committing suicide, I can think of nothing that cannot be done better after a stout lunch—at, say, about 3 p. m. True clarity of thought rarely arrives before midnight, nor does the party ever achieve the singing-in-the-kitchen stage before that time.

The Spaniards are a steady, frugal race, and they like to eat around midnight. They also like to sleep in the afternoon. The hardest working man I know is Billy Rose, and he would rather be dead in his bed than out of it before 11 a. m. What is all this noble thinking about early to bed, now that the electric bulb is fairly common in the land? Eight hours sleep is eight hours sleep, and if one man chooses to take his from 4 a. m. to noon, what makes him a dissolute bum?

Fights At Table

I have observed that most big fights occur at the breakfast table—or at the dinner table, if dinner is served scrupulously on the tick of 6:30 p. m. I do not knock early eating if the individual demands it, because a farmer, or a laborer might be starving at that time. But this is only a matter of a man satisfying his appetite, and was never designed to be the eleventh commandmant. The early eater, even as the early riser, is neither nobler in the mind nor stouter in the soul than the fellow of flexible habit. But such he has been made to appear.

Understand, I do not assault the right of the individual to get up with the larks, if he happens to like larks, nor do I challenge Dr. Freeman's odd habit of arising at 2:30 a. m. But I quarrel with his effort to impose this disgusting practice on the people. I pay just as many taxes as the health fiend who leaps chortling from mattress to cold shower, and wish no more lectures on the magnificence of the dawn—unless, perchance, the dawn is described as a wonderful time to hit the hay.

A FINE CIVIC CONTRIBUTION

One of the finest organizations for any community is, by general acknowledgment, the Girl Scouts.

Best evidence of Lubbock's recognition of this fact has been the steady growth of the membership of this character and health building movement in our City.

The latest proof of past growth—and the assured expectation of continuing expansion in the future—was the award of a contract late last week for the erection of an addition on the Girl Scout Little House in the 2600 block on Avenue P. Ground-breaking for the improvement is scheduled today.

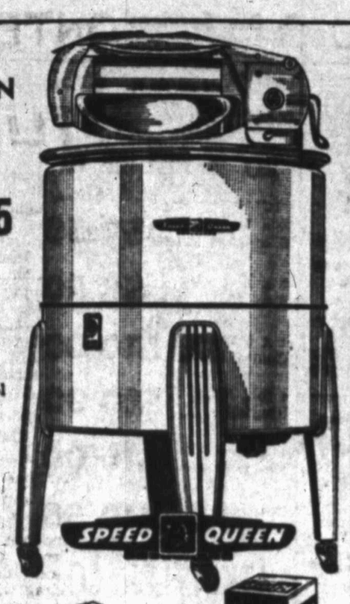

A generous share of the credit for past progress is due the Lubbock Kiwanis club, which raised the money for the new addition, at a completed cost to exceed $15,000. It represents a splendid addition to the many civic services rendered by the Lubbock Kiwanians. It will stand as a testimonial to past achievements while providing essentian physical equipment necessary to even greater accomplishment in the future.

END OF WALKOUT IS FORESEEN

$26 Million Estimated Cost Of Missouri-Pacific Strike

BY PAUL T. DIX
United Press Staff Writer

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 10 — The Missouri-Pacific railroad strike today began its second month with the over-all cost of the walkout so far estimated to exceed $25,000,000.

A railroad official said the total includes $15,500,000 lost in revenue since the strike began Sept. 9, plus $8,000,000 in wages which the line's 25,000 employes would have received.

In dustries and businessmen effected by the strike lost another $3,000,000, it was estimated.

Strike End Seen

Meanwhile, many towns along the railroad's 11-state route have resorted to motor trucks to haul mail, produce and the most essential freight and express shipments. So far, no cases of real hardship have been attributed to the strike although every community served by the Mo-Pac has felt the impact of the dispute.

Missouri's Gov. Forrest C. Smith predicted that the line "will be running within a week unless there is some unforeseen obstacle." Railroad officials agreed that prospects of settlement were brighter than at any time since the strike began.

Nowhere was any emergency proclaimed in the towns serviced by the road. All points reported truckers filled the gap, at least to the point that no town or city on the route was in a tight pinch.

Arkansas appeared to be the hardest hit. Unemployment was increasing as many plants closed from lack of materials. Batesville, Ark., had 750 unemployed as a direct result of the strike.

Cotton Costs Boosted

Newport, Ark., reported employment off in construction work. Construction of two farm implement plants, a radio station and library were at a standstill because materials were not available.

Some cotton growers experienced added costs up to $1.10 a bale for trucking their cotton to compresses served by the railroad.

Arkansas rice growers in Johnson and Cross counties had some 250,000 bushels of rice on hand with no way to ship it. Storage space was at a premium.

The strike had a sobering effect in many wet Arkansas towns. Officials reported arrests for drunkenness were decreasing, indicating that lowered incomes were affecting the liquor market.

There was no increase of food prices reported in the strike area. The mayor of one Missouri town said "truckers are taking care of us adequately." However, Mayor Hillermann, Washington, Mo., said if a cold snap develops the town of 8,200 would be in a difficult situation.

Coal Supply Low

"Our coal supply is low and truckers can't bring enough to take care of our needs," he said.

Washington depends mostly on Missouri Pacific for supplies but as many other towns it is not far from other railroads which could be used in an emergency.

Washington, for example, is eight miles from Dutzow, Mo., where the Missouri-Kansas-Texas line passes.

Townspeople were not worried about the strike. Effects so far have been relatively light.

At Sedalia, Mo., a Missouri Pacific terminal, some 1200 shopmen were out of jobs. A mass meeting called to discuss the strike last week brought only an audience of 200. Officials said this indicated that workers were not yet touched by any hardship. Many of them receive $100 or more in strike benefits per month.

In Jefferson City, the capital of Missouri, the strike caused Governor Smith to appropriate $5,000 for trucking coal from across the Missouri river. There, as in most other towns, a railroad other than the Missouri Pacific operates within convenient trucking distance.

Family Is Reunited By Ad In Newspaper

LUSK, Wyo., Oct. 10 (U.P.) — Eighty-two-year-old Mose Bourgoin of Lusk, who spent 20 years searching for his family, has been reunited with them after 36 years of separation.

Bourgoin left his home in Canada, 36 years ago to search for work in the United States, and when he finally found it, tried to contact his family. They had moved and he could find no trace of them.

About 20 years ago he began a systematic search which included writing letters to all people in Canada who might know of them, a personal search through Canada, and a five-year hunt by the Canadian Mounted Police.

It was to no avail. Even the Mounties gave up the job.

Continuing his search alone, Bourgoin began inserting small personal ads in Canadian newspapers. Finally a friend of one of his daughters saw a notice and called her, Mrs. Lloyd McFarlane of Wilcox, Saskatchewan.

In turn, she called another daughter, Mrs. W. C. Metzger of Minneapolis, Minn., and they called Bourgoin. They came to Lusk to visit their father.

Bourgoin found he still has a brother and 91-year-old sister living in Canada. Besides the two daughters who visited him, he has three sons in Canada whom he expects to visit.
