Enactment This Year Possible...

'81 Tax Cut Not Ruled Out

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter refused today to rule out a 1981 tax cut that could be enacted this year, the chairman of Congress' Joint Economic Committee said after meeting with the president.

But, said the chairman, Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, Carter will wait until the administration finishes its mid-year budget and economic review later this month before deciding whether to support tax cut legislation before the November election.

Bentsen and other congressional leaders conferred with the president at the White House this morning after Senate Democratic leaders held off Republican demands Monday for a $36 billion tax cut by offering renewed promises of their own plan.

Carter "certainly did not rule it out," Bentsen said of a 1981 tax cut. "It's obvious he wants to look at the July figures."

Bentsen told reporters that no figures for an administration supported tax cut were discussed although it has been reported that it would be worth between $20 billion and $30 billion.

The Washington Star reported today that the economic review that the administration is preparing assumes a tax cut of $25 billion.

Bentsen said the major achievement of the meeting was an agreement to coordinate efforts by the administration and the Democratic-controlled Congress on the issue and added he expects the possibilities [illegible] the part that Carter and the group that it there is to be a tax cut it should be carefully targeted.

"It was a good exchange," [illegible] Bentsen said.

"I certainly think [illegible] going to have a tax cut this year," he said.

For the second time in two days, the Senate in Monday rejected the GOP tax cut plan that the Republican presidential nominee Ronald Reagan has proposed as a challenge to earlier economic policies.

Along almost strict party lines, the Senate voted 52-38 to kill the GOP plan as Democratic leaders moved again to come up with their own proposal by Sept. 3. The Senate first defeated the GOP tax cut 58-38 last Thursday.

Despite the defeats, Senate Republicans say they will try to attach their proposal, which includes a 10 percent across-the-board income tax cut, to every tax bill that comes to the Senate floor.

The second Senate vote on the GOP proposal came as the president planned to meet with Democratic congressional leaders today to discuss his response to the growing demand on Capitol Hill for a tax cut.

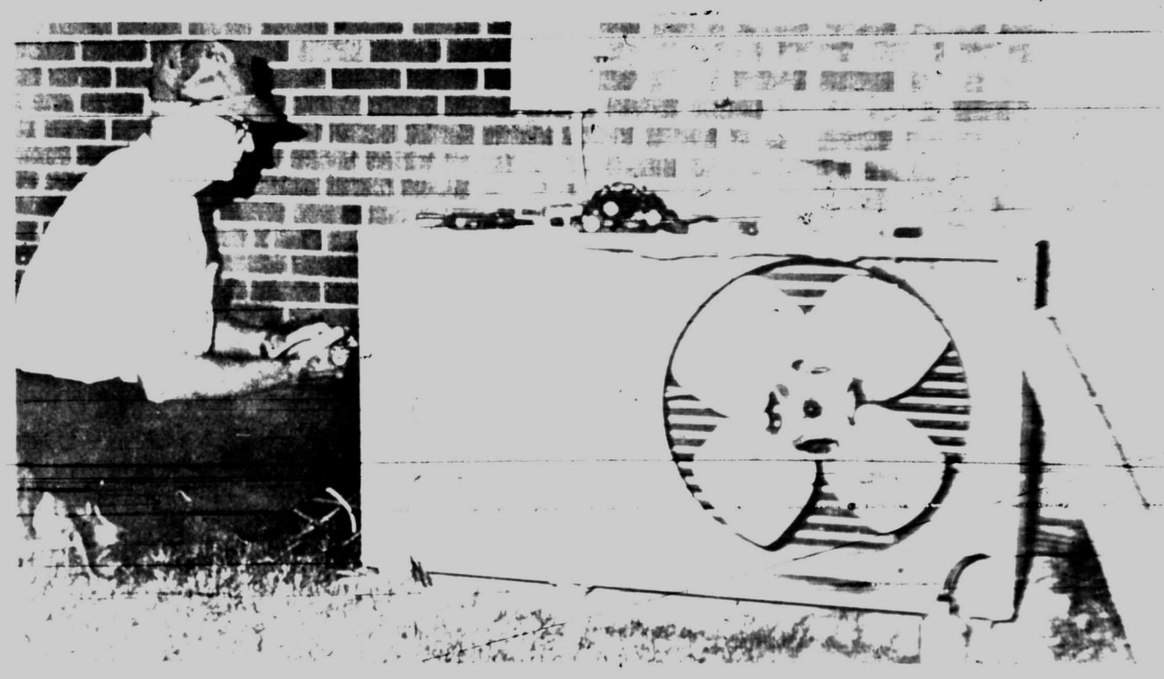

White House press secretary Jody Powell said Monday that Carter is "rather skeptical of the chances for responsible action on tax cut legislation before the November elections.

"We have no plans to submit a tax cut bill," Powell said. "Simply because this is an election year, to race out with a proposal that may or may not be consistent with long-range goals just doesn't make sense."

Powell noted, however, that Carter was on record as favoring a tax cut once inflation and the growth in federal spending are curbed.

No Relief For Searing Heat...

Cities Cool To 110°

By The Associated Press

It's still hot in Texas, but most residents hardly noticed the weather as temperatures dropped below the searing 110 degree plus reading that blistered the state last week.

More than 20 cities registered 100 degrees or higher Monday and forecasters say it will be just as hot today. But Wichita Falls' high of 110 Monday was a far cry from Saturday's 117. And 107 in Dallas-Fort Worth seemed like spring after two days of 113.

"You go from 113 to 107 so that's less," said a National Weather Service forecaster who asked not to be identified by name.

"Yes, it's going to stay hot. And it is seasonable to be hot. We'll have, well, should I say hotter than seasonable temperatures."

At least 45 persons have died since thermometers shot above the century mark last week, but most have been elderly or infirmed people in unair conditioned homes.

And while almost any crazy behavior to beat the heat was acceptable last week, life has pretty much returned to normal now that it's July - traditionally the hottest month of the year.

People who shunned the scorching heat last week were back out at the pools.

Mercury Hits 100° Here For Eight Day

After sending the mercury to the century mark for the eighth day in a row yesterday, June 1980 passed into history securing itself a footnote locally as the hottest June on record, although the record books only go back four years.

Astonishingly however, the average daily high of 93 was only a few degrees higher than normal. In 1977, the first year for which records were kept, it was 90 degrees. In 1978 it was 91 and last June the average high was a cool 87 degrees.

The average daily low temperatures of the past four years have been more consistent. Beginning in 1977 they are listed as 66, 67, 63, and 67 degrees.

Also, adding to our discomfort, the June just ended was a particularly dry one. Snyder had only 1.89 inches of rain. The wettest June recorded was in 1977 when 4.07 inches of water fell.

Monday workers [illegible] Downtown office workers sported the business as usual. Three piece suit and button down collar attire and filled downtown streets in 100 degree noontime temperatures.

Sugar Tops Culprit List...

June Grocery Bills Jump Three Percent

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Supermarket bills jumped by about 3 percent last month - the biggest increase in more than three years, according to an Associated Press market basket survey.

Another rise in the cost of sugar was to blame for part of the June increase, but higher prices for other items ranging from hamburger to detergent helped put the squeeze on shoppers.

The AP drew up a random list of commonly purchased food and non-food items and checked the price at one supermarket in each of 15 cities on March 1, 1973. Prices have been rechecked on or about the start of each month since then. The list originally included 15 items, but chocolate chip cookies were dropped when the manufacturer discontinued the package size sold in the survey.

The latest market basket survey shows that the bill increased during June at the checkout stores it visited, rising an average of 3 percent. The bill [illegible] March and was dropping at an average of just over half a percent at mid-point in the market basket bill a [illegible] the previous survey was 7 percent higher at the start of June than it was a month earlier.

The increase was the worst since May [illegible] when prices also rose 3 percent, according to the AP survey. More than 40 percent of the total number of items checked by the AP increased at the checkout stores during June.

The cost of food rose more slowly than prices in general during the early [illegible] months of 1980, but economists have been warning the [illegible] situation will change in the year ahead.

One reason for the low rate of food price inflation has been a relatively abundant supply of meat - particularly pork and poultry. That was good news for consumers who [illegible] bargains at the meat counter. But it was bad news for livestock producers, many of whom said they were losing money and took steps to cut their losses. Hog farmers, for example, are beginning to reduce their breeding herds and that means less pork and higher prices ahead.

Sugar prices, meanwhile, have been increasing because of a decrease in the worldwide sugar crop and the trend continued in June. The price of a five-pound sack of sugar went up at the

Fourth Evident In Towle Park

Evidence already is appearing in the park that indicates Snyder's giga[illegible] 4th celebration is fast approaching.

The carnival a tradition during the 4th began setting up rides Monday evening and is now in full swing.

Although the major attractions are not until Friday, there is much activity already underway including ticket sales that help finance the Independence Day celebration.

There are two different tickets this year. Clubs and organizations with their 4th Queen contestants are selling $1 donation tickets. The candidate with the most tickets sold in her behalf will be crowned the queen Friday night.

Proceeds from the queen ticket sales will help pay the $2,800 cost of the fireworks which some 20,000 persons are expected to enjoy Friday night.

Admittance Sales to the tractor pull are underway. Joyce Reeves of Jack & Jack Realty is in charge of these ticket sales. The tractor pull will be held at 5:30 p.m. Friday and at 7 p.m. Saturday at the rodeo arena at West 30th street.

Tickets are $3 for adults and $1 for children under 12. Those attending the tractor pull will be eligible for door prizes donated by local merchants. Some 35 tractors are expected to compete for the $1,000 total purse. Fees will operate a concession stand at both tractor pull sessions. Milton Stephens and Mike Stipe are chairmen of the tractor pull event.

Queen contestants are Diane Sentell, Trudy Hataway, Kathy Northcott, Virginia Whitson, Martha Jane Beavers, Cathey Cypert, Stephanie Weaver and Melanie Jarrell.

Other activities include an arts and craft show, an art show, tennis tournament, fishing rodeo, bingo, fiddlers contest, flag raising ceremony and a parade.

Friday's activities begin with a flag raising ceremony at 9 a.m. at the National Guard Armory. The flag used in the ceremony is one that has flown over the nation's capitol.

The parade will follow, and youths are encouraged to enter their decorated bicycles. During the day, numerous organizations will operate food and game booths in the

Q. Why doesn't the July 4th committee bring in portable restrooms to alleviate the problem in the park?

A. It is not practical because of sanitation reasons. The portable toilets are not designed for large crowds and waste disposal would be a problem. In addition, Scurry County commissioners said that restroom facilities should be much better this July 4th since the restrooms and sewer have been reworked. However, vandalism and abuse continues to be a problem.

June Building Permits Down

Building permits in Snyder during June totaled only $65,000 according to records at city hall.

The figure represented permits for one new home and six additions, and the total was well below the May figure of $506,220 which included a $384,000 permit for 30 additional apartments at Kingswood Estate.

The June total ran the total for the calendar year to $1,363,338, and the total for the city's fiscal year which began last Oct. 1 to $2,127,549.

July building permits are expected to show a sharp gain as the building for the K mart store on College Avenue is expected to get underway.

Senate Passes Budget Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) - Despite growing preoccupation with election-year tax cuts, the Senate has unanimously approved a $6.4 billion cost-cutting package that once was considered the centerpiece of the drive to balance the 1981 federal budget.

The bill, known as reconciliation, passed on an 89-0 vote. It now goes to the House, which is scheduled to consider a similar package in late July.

Despite Senate approval of the spending cuts, Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., Budget Committee chairman, publicly conceded that the budget no longer is likely to be balanced in fiscal 1981, which starts Oct. 1.

Begin In Fair Condition

JERUSALEM (AP) - Prime Minister Menachem Begin is reported in fair condition after suffering a slight heart attack during a parliamentary debate in which his coalition government defeated a bid to force early elections.

The U.N. Security Council, meanwhile, condemned plans to designate the Arab sector of Jerusalem part of Israel's capital.

Begin, 66, was taken by ambulance from the Knesset, Isarel's Parliament, to the Hadassah Hospital in Jerusalem Monday after suffering increasingly intense chest pains during the debate on the future of his shaky government.

Creating Jobs In 31 Cities

WASHINGTON (AP) - In its first national response to the worsening economic recession and the Miami racial riots, the Carter administration plans to spend $96 million to create almost 32,000 additional summer jobs in 31 hard-pressed cities.

White House officials said Monday the money will be used to create 20,267 new summer jobs for youths and 11,711 jobs for adults in public work improvement projects, programs to rehabilitate federal housing and new summer head-start positions.

In addition, the administration said it will speed the distribution of $260 million previously committed to the cities, allowing up to 5,000 jobs to be created sooner than originally planned.

46 Wounded At Symphony

WINDSOR, Ontario (AP) - An explosive charge that was to climax a performance by the Windsor Symphony Orchestra misfired, sending shrapnel into a crowd of concert-goers, and 46 people were reported injured, officials said.

Windsor Police Staff Sgt. Jim Adkin said the accident occurred Monday night during a performance of Tchaikovsky's 1812 Overture.

The symphony was performing at the Freedom Festival, an annual celebration by this Canadian city and by neighboring Detroit of Canada's Dominion Day and the U.S. Fourth of July.

Picket Lines In Detroit

By The Associated Press

Picket lines were set up in Detroit early Tuesday as 9,000 city employees carried out their threat of "No contract, no work."

In addition, employees of the nation's major copper mines began walking off their jobs at midnight Monday and New York City's uniformed workers agreed to a walkout later this week.

Also, garbage collectors in New Haven, Conn., walked out to protest a work cutback, and doctors remained on strike against a Boston hospital, although a nurses' strike there was averted.

Anderson Stays In Race

WASHINGTON (AP) - John B. Anderson, declaring, "I now believe that an independent can win," said today he has attracted enough money, potential voters and interest to permit him to stay in the race for the presidency through the November election.

Declaring that the support received in nine weeks of running as an independent outside the two major parties has, "far exceeded my expectations," Anderson said, "I am formally announcing my candidacy."

Visits Rose Garden...

Teddy Attends Signing Of Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, who for months sought to lure President Carter out of the Rose Garden, was to join him there today in a rare moment of accord - the signing of a mutually espoused bill to deregulate the trucking industry.

Carter aides said the Massachusetts senator was invited because he was one of the early congressional supporters of the legislation designed to reduce shipping costs - and eventually consumer prices - by encouraging competition among truckers.

Kennedy lieutenant Dick Drayne said the senator just "likes to go down there from time to time to size up the place."

It will be only the second meeting between the two adversaries since the presidential campaign began in earnest. Kennedy came to the White House for a private meeting with Carter on June 5 after the final round of primaries that appeared to give the president more than enough delegates to assure him of the Democratic nomination this summer.

The bill Carter decided to sign in the White House Rose Garden represents a victory for the administration and another step toward fulfillment of Carter's promise to remove anti-competitive government regulations wherever possible.

The Congressional Budget Office has estimated that truck freight prices will fall as much as $8 billion a year when the legislation is fully implemented in 3½ to 4 years. But some of the most sweeping changes in the tightly regulated industry are expected to come about much sooner.

oust bureaucrats

Innovative companies often develop products that are so good the name of the company becomes synonymous with the product. When, for example, most people ask for a Coke, what they really want is cola. Or when many people ask for a Xerox, they are often looking for a copy machine.

This name identification is part of what motivates companies to be the first and best in developing new products. The Federal Trade Commission calls it unfair competition.

Two years ago, the FTC instituted a case against Formica, a company made famous for its plastic laminated countertops. The FTC claimed that sole use of the name Formica gave the firm an unfair edge over other manufacturers. The move was seen as a test for actions against other famous trademarks.

The case was social engineering at its worst. Not one of Formica's competitors had complained, yet FTC staffers took it upon themselves to intercede in the market. Not being part of the marketplace, they did not understand (or want to) that entrepreneurs respect the kind of public recognition the FTC was attacking. In fact, it is something most manufacturers strive for. The FTC says it creates "consumer confusion."

American Cyanamid, Inc., the conglomerate that now owns Formica, put up a good fight against the FTC intervention. The corporation lost the first round when the Supreme Court last year turned down the company's move to block the case. The company then turned to Congress. Amid an avalanche of complaints about FTC abuse, Congress responded.

Congress recently passed legislation known as the "Formica provision" that prohibits the FTC from preventing companies from using trademarks that have become generic. Then, late last month, even before President Carter signed the bill into law, the FTC backed down.

The congressional action limiting the FTC's power was totally justified. But the question remains why Congress had to pass legislation to put a stop to the nonsense. This is yet another example of the federal bureaucracy assuming powers never specifically granted by elected officials.

This has been so rampant in the last two decades that Congress and the public should know that abuse of power is a predictable outcome of the existence of so many bureaucratic boards, agencies and commissions.

The way to end this abuse is not to slap the bureaucrats on the hand. The way to end it is to eliminate their jobs by dismantling government bureaus.

my turn

by john dunnam

I don't know about you but I hardly ever gamble. It isn't due to any deep set conviction that gambling is morally wrong although my parents tried hard to instill that in me. The reason is simple. I always lose.

Take the recent Sugar Ray Robinson-Roberto Duran fight for example. I lost $100 bucks. How, you might ask can a guy who probably makes less than the guy who cleaned up the ring afterwards afford to bet that kind of money on a prize fight? That's just it. I couldn't. It is how much I was going to bet on Duran and he won, so I lost, see? What the heck. I'll write it off on my income tax.

In trying to work out a system to beat the odds I've kept a record of my betting performances. By doing some simple arithmetic, I have determined that whenever I have a fifty-fifty chance to win, nine times out of ten I'm going to lose.

Its just as well. I suppose. It seems like money gained in such a manner always leads to no good.

Take the elderly man whose only vice was a weakness for the lottery. His number was drawn and he was the sweepstakes winner of $100,000. His family was afraid the news would be too much for the old man's heart and would send him over the brink so they persuaded their preacher to break the news and instructed him to be as subtle as possible.

After touching on every subject under the sun, the reverend casually asked: "What would you do if you won $100,000 in the lottery my dear man?"

The man thought a second and replied: "Why I'd donate half of it to you and the church."

The preacher keeled over dead.

destructive utilization

President Carter surveyed the desolate wake of our nation's most gigantic volcanic eruption and called it "the worst sight" he had ever seen.

It's been computed that the one Sunday eruption which flattened the top of Mt. St. Helens was 500 times more potent than the atomic bomb we dropped on Hiroshima.

And with most of a hundred dead it's difficult to imagine that this awesome corrosive cloud of ash has a silver lining.

The same intense heat which melted the earth's insides and exploded all over the western United States -- contained and controlled is constructive.

The superstitious might say, "The fire gods are trying to tell us something."

The message is that the unharnessed heat which devastates can be harnessed to generate electricity.

The thermal energy within the earth's crust is a natural fuel and, properly utilized, it does not pollute and does not deplete.

Worldwide, we already get more than one percent of our electrical energy from that source; geothermal steam, and will get much more.

Presently, 40 miles north of San Francisco, harnessed geothermal energy is generating enough electricity for a city of 700,000 people.

That facility is being expanded and other locations are being developed -- in California's Imperial Valley, in New Mexico, Utah and Hawaii.

U.S. and Canadian scientists believe that the Cascade Range of the western United States and Canada -- the same area which produced the May 18 explosion -- is pregnant with the promise of becoming a gigantic "steam boiler" for thermal energy.

Most Americans are acquainted with this subterranean reservoir of hot water only when they see it steaming from the earth as volcanoes, hot springs, geysers, boiling mud pots, fumaroles.

But most have ignored the practical applications of that super-hot water.

As in producing oil, it's the drilling which costs most.

So the Department of Energy is splitting with Union Oil of California and Publicing Service Co. of New Mexico the cost -- a million dollars each -- of drilling the 18 holes required to explore the Jemez Mountain reservoir north of Albuquerque. That project will supply electricity for 50,000 homes within two years.

With gas and oil prices escalating, alternatives become increasingly attractive. This one -- geothermal steam -- according to Department of Energy projections will ultimately provide five to seven percent of our nation's total energy.

So, however ugly the after effects of the Mt. St. Helens explosion, the destructive ash that orbited the earth carries with it an invitation to constructive utilization of underground steam.

"For whom would YOU vote?"

robert walters

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The awful truth has been revealed about Rep. John B. Anderson's presidential campaign: It's in danger of disintegration because it's being held together with the political equivalent of paper clips and chewing gum.

The supposedly sophisticated organization is headed by a candidate whose many strengths include neither knokwledge of, nor interest in, efficient campaign management and a temperamental political consultant whose reputation for success at the polls has been considerably overrated.

Anderson's serious organizational problems have surfaced as a result of a personality clash between two New York City residents, both actively involved in the campaign -- philanthropist Stewart R. Mott and campaign manager David L. Garth.

Their intense personal feud, dating back to early April, was resolved in mid-June when Anderson publicly renounced as unauthorized meddling Mott's elaborate effort to provide voluntary assistance and guidance to the campaign.

"However well-intentioned, Mott's activities have proved disruptive," the congressman said in calling upon Mott "to cease and desist his unauthorized involvement in my campaign."

Mott indeed can be vexatious, but in the case of the Anderson campaign he provided the candidate with a pair of carefully crafted memoranda that detailed scores of critical organizational problems demanding resolution.

Inept budgetary planning, inadequate outreach to middle-class voters, ineffective use of public-opinion surveys and inefficient management of the campaign organization were among the critical issues cited by Mott. "Hundreds of thousands of people are now eager to help you. Offers of volunteer help abound," Mott said in one memo to Anderson. "But the campaign's central management still is ill-equipped to capitalize on this outpouring of interest."

Several Anderson political aides, each of whom requested anonymity, confirmed independently that the disorganization within the campaign committee has, on occasion, verged on chaos.

The most sensitive portion of Mott's memo, however, was his suggestion that other professional consultants be retained by the campaign to supplement the work of Garth, described by Mott as a "Prima donna" who "quits twice a week."

Garth "turns off people, doesn't listen well (and is) arrogant about his perceptions," said Mott, arguing that Garth "knows state campaigns but (is) new to national organizing."

That's not quite correct. In 1972, Garth managed former New York City Mayor John V. Lindsay's brief, ill-fated campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Before he withdrew from the race, Lindsay -- under Garth's tutelage -- finished fifth in the Florida primary and sixth in the Wisconsin primary. In both states, he received no more than 7 percent of the votes cast.

Although his record as a political consultant isn't substantially better than many others in the field, the mercurial Garth invariably is referred to in news accounts as a "media genius" or "television wizard."

Much of that reputation is the product of his success as a campaign manager for the New York City mayoral campaigns of Lindsay and Edward I. Koch.

In addition, Garth can claim credit for managing the recent victorious campaigns of New York Gov. Hugh L. Carey, New Jersey Gov. Brendan T. Byrne and Connecticut Gov. Ella T. Grasso.

But his candidates have lost major gubernatorial, senatorial, mayoral and other races in New York, California, Massachusetts, North Carolina, Louisiana, Pennsylvania and Illinois.

"I haven't a clue what he has (done) or will do for your candidacy," Mott said in one of his candid private memos to Anderson. "It will be enormously illuminating to learn some day what he has or will accomplish for you."

how deep the recession?

NEW YORK (AP) — Having established that a recession is indeed here, after having prematurely forecast it last year, the forecasting fraternity is now busy with the next questions: How long, how deep?

"You should prepare to hear information that the economic decline is slowing down," says Citibank, giving the sound if not substance of a forthright prediction of things to come, a device used by others too.

Morgan Guaranty has entitled an article in its economic survey "The Recession: Sharp but Short?" And over at Chase Manhattan they see "some hope that the current decline may be relatively brief."

The truth, as you very well know, is that none of them know what's ahead. Business is business, however, and the forecasting business, big as it is, isn't by any means the least honorable way to make a living.

Business needs economic forecasts because success depends on planning for the future. Politicians need them, because voting attitudes are linked to economic status. Everyone, in fact, seeks to know the future.

The economic forecasting business therefore has legitimate credentials if it doesn't have provable results, and its attitudes are as much an element in how the future evolves as almost any other factor.

And so, the question of "Will we have a recession?" having been answered, the current big challenge becomes the duration and depth of the recession. They're all in on it, with often surprising verdicts.

Julian Snyder, who has built a large following for his newsletter, "International Moneyline," and who sees the U.S. economy doomed to long-term inflation, still argues that the recession will be brief.

"Recovery ... will be one of the most rapid in history," he states. "The U.S. rate of inflation will decline for the balance of the year," says Snyder, who's bearishness had been legendary.

He hasn't foresaken it altogether, and perhaps not at all for the long term. That inflation decline, for example, "sets the stage for the next inflationary wave." But talk of monetary collapse, with which he is so often associated, was absent from a recent letter.

For straight talk, Albert H. Cox, Jr., president of Merrill Lynch Economics, ranks high among forecasters. He is "impressed with the arguments of the 'very deep and very long' school," he says.

This is his general forecast:

"For the economy as a whole, we ... predict a downturn that would rank as the second most severe of the seven in the postwar period.

"We remain confident that a new expansion will hatch in 1981, fueled in part by sharply lower rates."

The Conference Board tends to agree. The twice-yearly economic forum of the board, a nonprofit research organization, expects the recession will last into 1981, giving way to growth in the April-June quarter.

I think that good recipes made from "leftovers" are such a big help for stretching your food budget. Especially when no one would dream they are leftovers! Here is a recipe for an extra hearty soup that is meatless. It is very good. I often baked extra potatoes for one meal, so I'm sure to have enough leftover to make Baked Potato Soup.

BAKED POTATO SOUP

5 large baked potatoes
2 onions, diced (medium sized)
¼ cup butter or margarine
8 cups water
1 cup diced green onions (tops and all)
2 Tbsp. Instant Chicken Bouillon
½ tsp. salt
1 tsp. garlic powder
½ cup chopped dried chives
1 cup sour cream
3 oz. package cream cheese, softened
1 cup milk
¼ lb. mild Cheddar cheese, shredded

Dice 3 of the peeled potatoes to make 6 cups diced potatoes. Combine with onions, butter and water and bring to a boil. Lower heat and simmer, stirring occasionally till potatoes soften and a thick broth is formed. Remove from heat and add remaining 2 potatoes which you've cut into chunks (4 cups). Add green onions, garlic powder, Chicken Bouillon, salt and dried chives. (Don't place over heat or potatoes will break down.)

In blender container, combine sour cream, cream cheese, milk and Cheddar cheese. Blend till smooth. Add to soup. Return to heat and simmer over low heat till hot but not boiling. Stir constantly. Adjust seasonings to taste. Garnish with parsley if desired. This makes about 4½ qts. of soup. I serve it with French or Italian bread and butter along with a relish tray of radishes, carrot and celery sticks and green olives. It's a very satisfying meal.

Dear Friends,

I guess everyone gets a day now and then when they're "down in the dumps" for no particular reason. When this happens, many gals go shopping for a new dress or blouse to chase away the "blues" - others tackle cleaning cupboards or closets with a vengeance you wouldn't believe! On the rare occasions when I have one of those days, the best "cure" in the world for me is to go on a baking spree!

I had one of those days right after Christmas - the trouble was, I was already loaded with cookies and cakes - in an out of the freezer. Then I remembered that someone had sent me a recipe a long time ago for making, of all things, CRACKERS! So I dug out the recipe and began. It was more fun! I used small fancy cookie cutters, and they turned out so pretty AND tasty, too. Maybe you'd like to make some. I packed them in airtight tin boxes and they've kept fresh and crisp without any of the questionable preservatives used in the store-bought kind.

HOMEMADE CRACKERS

4 cups flour
1 tsp. salt
t Tbsp. sugar
1¼ cups milk or water (about
¼ cup margarine or butter
Additional salt and melted butter or margarine.

Mix flour, salt and sugar. Cut in butter or margaring. Stir in enough milk or water to make a stiff dough. Roll dough ⅛" thick on lightly floured surface. (I let the dough rest about 15 minutes before rolling out). Cut into desired shapes with cookie cutter.

Put crackers on lightly greesed cookie sheets and pierce with a fork. Bake at 375 degrees about 15 minutes till they're a golden color. Remove from pan and brush with melted butter and sprinkle lightly with more salt. This makes about 10 doz. 2" x 1" crackers.

The Revised and enlarged second printing of my book "From Homemaker To Moneymaker The Easy Way" is fresh off the press! I've added a lot more recipes and a complete new chapter of valuable cooking tips and money-saving hints! Plus E-Z to follow instructions for making your own mixes. Show Gives Glimpse Of Teenage Styles

NEW YORK (AP)-Teenagers will be going back to school this fall in classics updated with unusual colors, textures and other innovations, according to predictions at Seventeen magazine's 28th annual Fall Trends Fashion Show, "Prep Rally."

Gray flannel, plaids, patterned sweaters, outdoorsy clothes, sweatshifts and sweat pants, and accessories such as school ties, knee socks, headbands, berets and tams, ID bracelets and circle pins, men's-wear scarves and chain belts were among the trends shown in a 40-minute musical production.

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

North's leap to six hearts was a shot in the dark. For all he knew seven might be a lay down or there might be no play for six, but his partner was an expert declarer and North wanted to put his skill to the test.

Actually, South had a good hand with nice trumps, but part of his strength was in clubs and with the actual lie of the East-West cards any lead but a club would have cooked South's goose.

However, West did lead his ace of clubs and South was in business.

There are many hands South could have for this auction where slam would have no play.

The opening lead was ruffed in dummy. Declarer then cashed the king and queen of hearts and discovered the 4-1 trump break. One line of play available was to draw the remaining trumps cash the king of clubs and take a diamond finesse. If it won and the suit divided 3-2, he would win all 13 tricks. On the diagrammed hand however, he would go down four tricks.

South devised a much better line of play. At trick four he led a low diamond from dummy, conceding the trick to the defense. Now all declarer needed was the 3-2 division in diamonds that the other line of play required. However, declarer had eliminated the necessity for a diamond finesse and had doubled his chance of making the slam.

Dear Abby

Funeral Footage Belongs in Can

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1980 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: We recently had a tragic automobile accident in our town in which a high school girl was killed instantly. Three friends in the same car were seriously injured. One died this morning.

A week ago, when the funeral of this girl who was instantly killed took place, I took it upon myself to take movies of the funeral.

It was my intent to write to the girl's parents (I do not know them) and offer them the film footage as a gesture of interest in their loss so that those of their family who were unable to attend could review the happenings that took place at the funeral. Also, in later years the parents might appreciate having the movies as a remembrance.

Do you think my offer of this film would rekindle heartache, or do you think it would be regarded as a token of sharing a loss — as it was meant to be?

Someone at the funeral commented as I was taking these movies that it was "tacky." This, of course, was only one man's opinion. If it was tacky, what about all the funeral footage we view on the television news?

MASSACHUSETTS

DEAR MASS.: Everyone deals with his grief in his own way, so I don't know how the family of the dead girl would feel about seeing movies of their daughter's funeral.

Personally, I think filming grief-stricken mourners at a funeral is an invasion of their privacy, and I would not offer the film to the family of the deceased.

DEAR ABBY: I have worked for a store for five years and I like my job. There is another lady who has worked there about the same length of time, and we have become pretty good friends.

Yesterday I saw her slip a $15 item into her pocket. She doesn't know I saw her do this. I am very troubled and don't know what to do.

Should I talk to her about it? Should I tell the boss? What would you do?

If you use this, don't use my name or the name of my town.

TROUBLED

DEAR TROUBLED: I would tell the woman that I saw her pocket the item, then encourage her to either return it or pay for it — if she has not already paid for it, that is.

DEAR ABBY: You asked if there were any adult thumb-suckers among your readers.

Well, I have been in the mortuary business for over 40 years, and I had to embalm a 77-year-old woman who had died with her thumb in her mouth! As I recall, we had one devil of a time getting that lady's thumb out of her mouth. And judging from the condition of her thumb, she had been a thumb-sucker all her life.

This is a small town and we're still in business, so if you use this in your column, please forget my name. Or sign me . . .

"DIGGER O'DELL"

DEAR ABBY: Has anyone ever written to you in defense of mothers of young children?

A bride complained that a baby's crying "ruined" her wedding. I agree, the mother should have taken the baby out, but at 4 months old, some babies cannot be left with anyone else. My breast-fed son nursed every other hour, and he would have driven a sitter crazy. He's 2 now, and I refuse to leave him unless the place (and person) is familiar to him.

Anyhow, I'm tired of childless people telling me how to raise my child. They're entitled to a child-free life if they so choose, but if that means I can't attend their weddings, etc., they'll have to accept my regrets. (One friend said, "Oh, can't you leave him for a few hours with my Aunt Agnes?" whom I had never met.)

Abby, if you don't print my letter, please print someone's to give our side of the story.

I LOVE MY KID, RICHLAND, WASH.

(Problems? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. Please enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Claims Prosecutor...

Child Prostitutes Sold By Catalog

DALLAS (AP)—Children as young as 8 years old are being sold into prostitution through "catlog sales" in Dallas, a prosecutor told a Texas House committee Monday.

Assistant Dallas County District Attorney Kelly Loving said the children range in age from 8 to 16.

"They have a catalog of these little children who are totally nude," Loving told the select committee on child abuse-neglect and child pornography.

"Sixteen-year-olds are the least expensive. The younger they are, the more expensive they are," said Loving.

Dallas clients order the child prostitutes thorugh the catalog and often pay their airplane fare since many are from California, he said.

"An eight-year-old girl or boy from California will cost about $1,000 a night, including the airfare," the prosecutor said.

After testifying before the committee Loving declined to discuss the matter further, saying it could "...* an ongoing investigation.

The child abuse committee also heard testimony from prosecutors urging that the murder of a child be made a capital offense and suggestions that doctors who fail to report child abuse cases should be prosecuted.

A Texas law passed in 1974 makes it a misdemeanor offense to fail to report child abuse.

Assistant Dallas County District Attorney Dee Miller said reports of alleged child abuse "skyrocketed" with the passage of the law in 1974.

He said hospitals, day schools and social agencies have cooperated with authorities trying to prevent further injury or deaths of children.

"The only sector that is still resisting reporting suspected cases of child abuse is the private physician," Ms. Miller said.

"The Legislature should pass a more stringent law aimed at them."

State Rep. Tom Lyons of Mesquite suggested that the Dallas County district attorney's office should prosecute a doctor under the misdemeanor law rather than increase the punishment.

Ms. Miller said her office is looking for an "appropriate case" to prosecute a doctor.

"But it does need to be a very strong case. There will be a great deal of media attention," she said.

Lyons told the prosecutor that such a case might help in getting cooperation from other doctors.

"Sometimes you achieve as much with the notoriety of the case, even without a conviction. I hope you keep this in mind," Lyons said.

LULAC To Publish Guide For Voters

WASHINGTON (AP)-Ruben Bonilla, unanimously re-elected as president of the League of United Latin American Citizens, says the Hispanic organization plans to publish a voters guide for the upcoming presidential election.

The Corpus Christi, Texas, attorney said the non-partisan publication would be the first guide on Hispanic issues put out in a national campaign.

Each presidential candidate would he asked to respond to a list of questions considered important in the Hispanic community.

Bonilla said his re-election to a second one-year term as LULAC president could be considered a mandate on the increased political profile the organization has adopted.

LULAC calls itself the nation's oldest and largest Hispanic organization, with about 100,000 members.

Supreme Court Says...

Must Pay For Land Taken From Indians

WASHINGTON (AP) - Congress acted illegally when it took the Black Hills from the Sioux Indian Nation more than 100 years ago, partly in retaliation for the Custer massacre, and the bill - $117 million with interest - "must now at last be paid," the Supreme Court says.

Monday's 9-1 decision upheld the largest award ever granted by the U.S. Court of Claims, including $17 million for the land itself and about $100 million in interest, dating from the 1877 takeover. The claim was first filed in 1924.

But attorneys in the case said the decision is not expected to have a large impact on other Indian claims cases, a number of which are pending in federal courts.

Arthur Lazarus, the lawyer for the Sioux during the last 24 years of the lengthy case, explained that the claim was filed under the 1946 Indian Claims Commission Act, which said all such claims had to be filed by 1951.

"There might be a few cases, smaller cases, where this might have an impact," Lazarus said. "But this case was unique. There'll never be another one like it."

Lewis Claiborne, who represented the federal government in the case, agreed. "Few, if any, cases, will be affected. More than 90 percent of the cases under the 1946 law have been decided. It's certainly going to encourage some additional claims, which may or may not fly, but I believe it's a limited decision. It's a unique case."

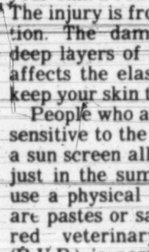

The Black Hills of South Dakota, which the Sioux consider holy ground, were given to the Sioux in an 1868 treaty. But in 1874, an expedition led by Lt. Gen. George A. Custer discovered gold in the area, touching off the Black Hills gold rush.

Vulcanized rubber was invented by Charles Goodyear in 1839.

Wrinkled before her time

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Every time I look in the mirror I am shocked by what I see. I mean those ugly wrinkles that make you look old before your time. I've got crow's feet around my eyes and creases across my forehead. I know without these I would look 15 years younger. I'm only 42 and have a good figure. My doctor said it was because I got too much sun and he suggested that I limit my time in the sun.

Well, he's right. I've always enjoyed a beautiful tan every summer. And I'll probably go right on getting out in the sun because that is part of enjoying summer. If I want to get outdoors, is there anything I can do to limit the damage to my skin? I know there are lots of sun lotions but I'm not sure what to use and if they will really do any good.

DEAR READER — A suntan may look healthy but it is your skin's reaction to injury. The injury is from solar radiation. The damage is in the deep layers of the skin and it affects the elastic fibers that keep your skin taut.

People who are particularly sensitive to the sun should use a sun screen all year long, not just in the summer. You can use a physical blocker. These are pastes or salves. Of these, red veterinary petrolatum (R.V.P.) is particularly good. Zinc oxide, talc, titanium dioxide, kaolin, ferric oxide and bentonite are also good.

Many people don't like the pastes and like the clear liquid preparations better. The important ingredient here is PABA (para-aminobenzoic acid). It acts chemically with the cells in your skin to decrease their sensitivity to sunlight.

The gel products are less likely to dry out your skin; the liquid preparations often contain alcohol. Two gel products are Pre-Sun and PABA-Gel.

A helpful hint is to use the PABA one to two hours before sun exposure. That will give it time to interact chemically with your cells. If you apply it just before you go out it will not be as effective.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 7-10, Your Skin: Sun, Aging, Spots and Cancer. Skin cancer is definitely increased in people who have lots of sun exposure. That may get worse in the future too if the ozone layer of the atmosphere continues to be diminished. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Once you have wrinkles the only thing you can do for yourself is to use moisturizers. One of the best is petrolatum (Vaseline). The heavy oily mixture will trap moisture in your skin and cause wrinkles to disappear. It is better than most expensive moisturizers with fancy names.

The other choice is surgery and this can produce good results in the hands of a skilled cosmetic surgeon.

Besides the sun, the other common factor that causes wrinkles is cigarette smoking. Women who smoke tend to have prominent crow's feet wrinkles earlier in life and often look 10 years older than women who do not smoke. If you are a smoker, it is not too late to quit.

checklist store in 10 cities during the month.

No attempt was made to weight the AP survey results according to population density or in terms of what percent of a family's actual grocery outlay each item represents. The AP did not try to compare actual prices from city to city. The only comparisons were made in terms of percentages of increase and decrease.

The items on the AP checklist were: chopped chuck, center cut pork chops, frozen orange juice concentrate, coffee, paper towels, butter, Grade-A medium white eggs, creamy peanut butter, laundry detergent, fabric softener, tomato sauce, milk, frankfurters and granulated sugar. The cities checked were: Albuquerque, N.M., Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Detroit, Los Angeles, Miami, New York, Philadelphia, Providence, R.I., Salt Lake City and Seattle.

Ax Suspected As Weapon In Murder

SEAGRAVES (AP)-The battered body of a 19-year-old Alamagordo, N.M., woman who may have been hacked with an ax, was found in this northwest Texas town on the same day she was to attend a family reunion.

Terry County sheriff's deputies identified the victim as Toni Lavonne Barron. Two men checking an oil well just north of Seagraves discovered the body Sunday afternoon, deputies said.

The former Seagraves High School student was pronounced dead at the scene by Brownfield Peace Justified Pete Cromer, who ruled the death a homicide.

Cromer said deep gashes to the back and side of the head indicated she may have been struck with an ax or meat cleaver. A braided woman's belt was wrapped loosely around the victim's neck leading investigators to speculate her attacker may also have tried to strangle her.

There were bruises on the face "like she had been hit with a fist," Cromer said.

An autopsy performed in Lubbock Monday found the cause of death was a blow to the head by something "sharp and heavy." There was no sign of sexual assault.

Netters Reach Quarterfinals

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Youth and experience locked horns at Wimbledon Monday. Honors ended up about even.

Andrea Jaeger, just 26 days beyond her 15th birthday, carried the flag for youth, trouncing Virginia Wade, the experienced 1977 champion, 6-2, 7-6.

Tracy Austin, something of a veteran at 17-years-old, joined Jaeger in the last eight of the women's singles by defeating 24-year-old Terry Holladay 6-2, 6-3.

But you can't keep a good oldie down -- as Billie Jean King and Evonne Gollagong proved just before Jaeger started to frustrate Wade and the partisan, center court crowd.

King, 36, winner of a record 20 Wimbledon titles, clawed her way back from the brink of defeat to oust 17-year-old Pam Shriver 5-7, 7-6, 10-8 in a 2 hours 40 minutes thriller on the bumpy court number two.

Goolagong, the 1971 champion, lost the first set to the impressive 18-year-old Hana Mandlikova but recovered to win 6-7, 6-3, 6-1.

The women's quarterfinal lineup seeding positions in brackets: Martina Navratilova (1) vs. Billie Jean King (5); Tracy Austin (2) vs. Greer Stevens (11); Chris Evert Lloyd (3) vs. Andrea Jaeger (14); and Evonne Goolagong (4) vs. Wendy Turnbull (6).

Roscoe Tanner, beaten finalist last year, ousted fellow American Nick Saviano 7-6, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, while sixth-seeded Gene Mayer beat unseeded Australian Colin Dibley 3-6, 7-5, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2.

Atlanta Edges Houston In 11

ATLANTA (AP)-Glenn Hubbard, a 5-foot-9, 160-pound second baseman, swung the bat like 6-foot-1, 220-pound third baseman Bob Horner Monday night.

Both belted homers in Atlanta's 11-inning, 5-4 victory over first-place Houston, but Hubbard's was more dramatic, coming in the bottom of the 11th with one man on base.

Jose Cruz did his best to win one for the Astros that way, hitting his fourth and fifth home runs of the season. His first of the night tied the game for the Astros in the ninth and his second gave them a 4-3 lead in the 11th.

"You hit it well here and it's out," said Cruz. "But they don't mean much when you lose the game."

Charlie Spikes led off the Braves' 11th with a pinch single and one out later Hubbard stroked his homer.

Al Hrabosky, 4-1, was the winner and Sambito, 2-1, took the loss.

Terry Puhl of the Astros hit his seventh home run in the first inning, but the Braves tied it in the fifth on a run-scoring single by Gary Matthews and Horner's homer made it 2-1.

The Astros tied the game 2-2 in the eighth when Joe Morgan scored on Puhl's groundout. Pinch-hitter Mike Lum's sacrifice fly in the bottom of the eighth gave the Braves a 3-2 lead.

Staub Blows Texas Past Seattle...11-5

SEATTLE (AP)-Rusty Staub's bases-loaded triple was the big blow in a six-run third inning which powered the Texas Rangers to an 11-5 victory over the Seattle Mariners Monday night.

Ferguson Jenkins, 7-5, was the winner. Jenkins was replaced by Sparky Lyle in the seventh inning after experiencing soreness in his right elbow.

Ten Ranger batters went to the plate in the third inning and all the runs scored after two were out. Pat Putnam opened the inning with a double but was caught in a rundown on Dave Roberts' grounder. Mickey Rivers' single scored Roberts, who had taken second in the rundown.

Seattle pitcher Mike Parrott, 1-9, gave up an infield hit to Bump Wills and an RBI single to Al Oliver before walking Buddy Bell.

In Dallas 105 Was A Breeze

DALLAS (AP)-Texans have always considered hot summers something you just learn to live with. But after last week's 110-degree plus temperatures, folks here found 105 almost balmy.

"Yeah, it's hot, but it don't bother me," said a hard-hatted female construction worker as she dashed across the street on her way back to work.

She and her male counterparts claimed Monday's noontime temperature of 102 degres was nothing, nothing at all - at least not compared to last week's 113.

"You don't get used to that kind of weather," said Gordon Allan, a machine operator on the downtown site.

"It was 116 degrees near my machine," said James Bramblett. "July about all you can do to keep cool is dream, just think about getting home to a cold shower."

"But today, it's pretty good," Allan said. "We've got us a little breeze, and it doesn't burn you when it blows. We're not so bad off."

White collar workers walked the streets in three-piece suits with nary a loose tie nor a bead of sweat. Women dressed to the nines and above sat in the sun in Thanks-Giving Square park eating lunch.

Says Goodbye To Sixpence

LONDON (AP)-Britons said goodbye today to the 429-year-old sixpence, the last survivor of their quirky pre-decimal coinage and subject of a host of rhymes and folk traditions.

The estimated 150 million sixpence in circulation ceased to be legal tender at midnight.

Buy TV Now From Strickland's And Save Yourself Up To $100

There is a good time for everything -- even purchasing a T.V. If your old set has gone out -- or is acting up -- or is just running on borrowed time, we've got good news for you!!

Right now at Strickland T.V. Service you can save up to $100 on selected models.

Pauline Strickland also noted that through September all portables and consoles are carrying an extra nine-month extended labor warranty in addition to the regular warranty.

The 1980 Quasar features a Compu-matic remote control that allows you to go directly from one channel to another without flipping all the way around the dial. Compumatic touch tuning is also available on many of the 1980 Quasars.

The Quasar features Audio Spectrum Sound that surrounds the set with sound coming from three separate speakers.

Quasars are available in sizes from 13" through 25" with the 25" models featuring the Dynabrite III Picture tube. There are also many new cabinet designs available for 1980 in both traditional and contemporary styling.

Strickland does service work on most brands of TV's and will make service calls in the city.

A rental service is also available with sets available on a weekly or monthly basis.

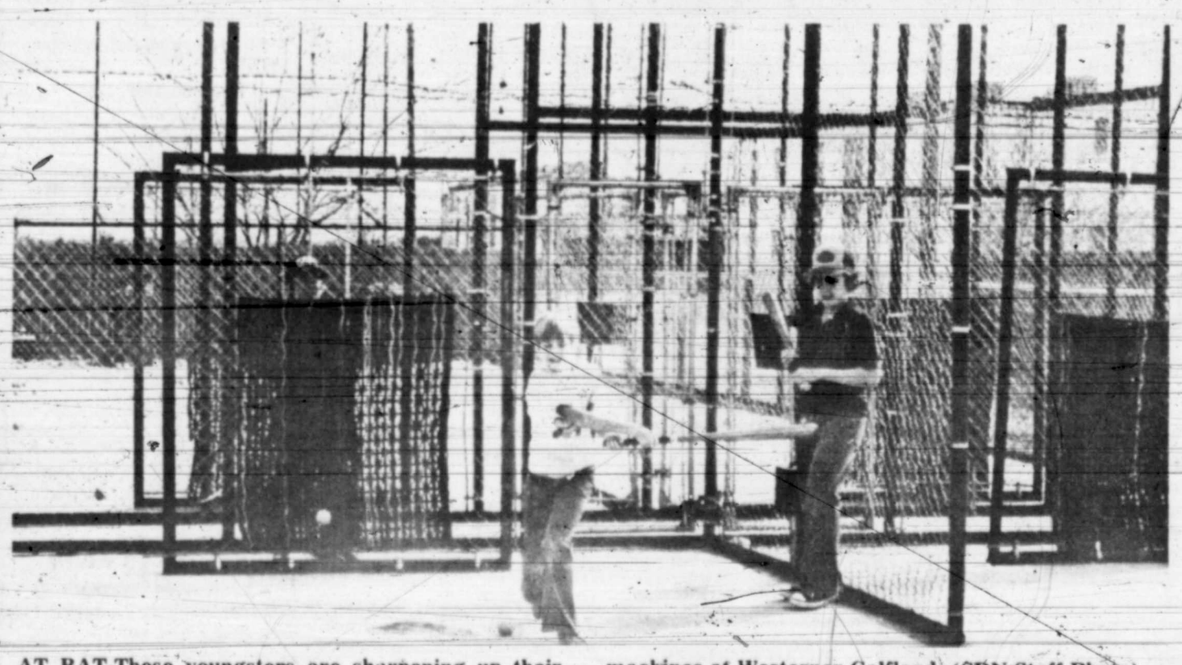

A new product in the Motorola line is a six hour video cassette recorder. You can see one at Strickland's.

Hoyle Dean and Pauline Strickland invite you to come in and pick out a set to suit your tastes -- and right now they can save you money on any set in the store. That's at Strickland TV Service, 2413 College Ave.

PORTABLE TV---Hoyle Dean Strickland is shown here with the new 10" Portable TV. It's available just in time to take along in your travel trailer for vacation! (SDN Staff Photo)

Treat Yourself To An Evening Of Fun At Westerner Golfland

On these hot, hot days folks begin to venture out in the early evening when the temperature starts to drop. And there's no better place to spend a long summer evening than at Westerner Golfland, located at 1804 43rd St. just behind the Dairy Queen.

Westerner Golfland offers family fun where folks can go and enjoy themselves without spending a great deal of money. Eighteen holes of miniature golf is just the thing for a family fun outing.

In addition to the 18-hole golf course, Westerner Golfland also offers a baseball batting range and pinball machines. The baseball range includes two regulation distance machines and two little league distance machines. And coaches, special hourly rate are available to teams.

The golf course was completely repainted and reconditioned during the winter so that it would be in tip-top shape for this season.

Hours are Monday through Friday from 6:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m., Saturday from 1:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m., and Sunday from 2:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m.

With gasoline being at an all time high, it's just too expensive to be going out of town for entertainment. So why not treat yourself and the family to an evening of fun at Westerner Golfland.
