County Court Posts Up To Local Voters

Faced with one of the slimmest ballots in years, Howard County voters will elect two new county commissioners and express their preference in a state supreme court race Saturday.

All other state and local contests were settled in the first Democratic primary July 26 and the few remaining candidates are finding it difficult to stir up enough interest to assure a representative turnout of voters. Nevertheless, they and other political and civic leaders are urging all citizens to go to the polls Saturday.

Voting boxes will be operating in the usual places in all of the county's 15 precincts. Polls will open at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m.

Citizens of Commissioner Precincts 1 and 3 will vote only in the single state race, which pits a former resident of this area, Judge Robert W. Hamilton, against Edwin Smith for Place 1 on the Texas Supreme Court.

In Precinct 2, voters will choose between S. A. (Sam) McComb and Ralph White for county commissioner. McComb is a retired maintenance supervisor for the Texas Highway Department. White is a farmer at Coahoma and president of the Howard County Farm Bureau.

Runoff candidates in Precinct 4 are L. J. Davidson, farmer in the Center Point community, and J. W. (Jim Bill) Little, Big Spring building contractor.

The two incumbents, G. E. Gilliam in Precinct 2 and Earl Hull in Precinct 4, were candidates for re-election, but both were eliminated in the July primary.

Hamilton, now an appeals court judge at El Paso, led the ticket in the supreme court race in July. A former resident of Stanton, he served as district attorney when the old 70th Judicial District encompassed Martin, Howard and Glasscock counties. He later served as district judge at Midland, before being elected chief justice of the appeals court at El Paso.

Rains Spatter Across State

By The Associated Press

Rain measuring up to 4.21 inches splattered a wide belt of Texas Friday from Texarkana to the Big Bend country.

The Red River weather station near Texarkana measured an official 4.21 inches of downpour in 24 hours. Texarkana itself had 2.79.

Presidio on the Rio Grande had 2.03 inches. Other late rainfall reports showed Long Lake near Palestine with 1.27 inches, Richmond 1, Riverside .45 and Rosser on the Trinity in Central Texas .15 .

The rains came from an unseasonable cool front that extended from Texarkana to Bryan to Del Rio.

A slight warming trend was forecast in the wake of a weak cool front which lazed southward across Texas Thursday, dotting much of the northern part of the state with showers.

Rainfall for the 24 hours endng at 6:30 p.m. Thursday included Abilene .42, Beaumont .18, Dallas .35, Fort Worth .41, Waco .55, Lufkin .02, Junction .21, Mineral Wells 2.16, Sherman .24, El Paso .12 and traces at Longview, Tyler and Van Horn.

Marijuana Arrest

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A teenager who sauntered along a street with a cigarette behind his ear went to jail yesterday. The cigarette and five others in his pocket contained marijuana, Police Sgt. Bill Weilbacher reported.

Quick Justice For Wife-Beater

MONTREAL (AP) — Ferdinand Turgeon walloped his wife Thursday and within 30 minutes stood convicted of wife-beating.

The wheels of justice moved so fast because the 30-year-old man did the beating in the entrance hall of the Criminal Courthouse in full view of two policemen.

Turgeon and his tiny, 23-year-old wife had come to the courthouse to see her lawyer. The husband already was awaiting sentence on charges of beating their three children.

Dag To Follow Up Arabs' Peace Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Dag Hammarskjold prepared today to embark on an Arab-sponsored peace mission to the Middle East which won unanimous approval from the U.N. General Assembly.

The secretary general told a news conference today he will leave Monday for the Middle East. He said he would go first to Amman, Jordan for talks with King Hussein and later to Cairo and discussions with Egyptian President Nasser.

The 81-nation Assembly wound up its two-week emergency session last night by voting 80-0 for the Arab resolution. It assigns Hammarskjold the job of making arrangements to facilitate early withdrawal of U.S. troops from Lebanon and British forces from Jordan. The Dominican Republic was absent.

The plan promises to safeguard the political and territorial integrity of Jordan and Lebanon by reaffirming the Arab nations' pledges to refrain from interfering in each others' domestic affairs.

Hammarskjold also was asked to make plans for economic development of the Middle East in consultation with the Arab states.

DEEP-ROOTED PROBLEMS

Secretary of State Dulles commended the Arabs for agreeing on a peace plan. But he warned against expecting that mere passage of a resolution would solve all the Middle East's problems.

"These problems have deep roots," Dulles declared. "They have explosive aspects which can surprise us at any time."

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, who withdrew his own resolution in favor of the Arab plan, also had reservations. He voiced disappointment that the Arab proposal did not call for immediate withdrawal of British and U.S. troops, as did the Soviet resolution.

Gromyko warned that the Soviet Union would renew its demand for a military pullout if withdrawal did not come quickly.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd promised that Britain would cooperate on early evacuation of her troops from Jordan.

Like Russia, Norway withdrew its West-supported resolution. It also gave Hammarskjold the task of working out a Middle East peace settlement but skirted any direct demand for troop withdrawals.

Ballot Boxes Are Held For Inquiry

CONROE, Tex. (AP)—All Montgomery County ballot boxes from the first Democratic primary July 26 were impounded today by order of the state attorney general.

A court of inquiry opens here Monday on charges of alleged voting irregularities.

The ballot boxes were taken to the First National Bank where Vice President E. Davis Hailey was appointed custodian.

Impounded with the boxes were stubs of ballots held in the district clerk's office, mutilated ballots, all work sheets and keys to the ballot boxes held by the county and district clerks and the sheriff. Keys were turned over to Dist. Judge J. Robert Liles.

Nuclear Test Ban Put Up To Russia

U. S. Willing If Conditions Met By Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower announced today the United States is ready to suspend nuclear weapons tests for one year starting Oct. 31, provided Russia meets two conditions.

The conditions are if the Soviet Union agrees to maintain its current ban on nuclear tests, and further agrees to negotiations looking toward a permanent ban.

The White House said Great Britain also stands ready to join in a one-year suspension of weapons tests under the same conditions specified by the United States.

Eisenhower stressed in a statement that the United States is not proposing that nuclear tests for peaceful purposes be halted.

Referring to technical talks on policing a ban, concluded at Geneva this week, Eisenhower said:

READY TO PROCEED

"The United States, taking account of the Geneva conclusions, is prepared to proceed promptly to negotiate an agreement with other nations which have tested nuclear weapons for the suspension of nuclear weapons tests and the actual establishment of an international controls system on the basis of the experts' report.

"If this is accepted in principle by the other nations which have tested nuclear weapons, then in order to facilitate the detailed negotiations, the United States is prepared, unless testing is resumed by the Soviet Union, to withhold further testing on its part of atomic and hydrogen weapons for a period of one year from the beginning of the negotiations."

The President's anouncement reflected a major shift in U.S. nuclear policy.

He said that as part of the contemplated international agreement the United States would be prepared also to suspend nuclear weapons tests on a year-by-year basis subject to determination at the start of each year that:

INSPECTION SYSTEM

"(A) The agreed inspection system is installed and working effectively; and

"(B) Satisfactory progress is being made in reaching agreement on and implementing major substantial arms control measures such as the United States has long sought."

The implication seemed to be that the United States is willing to renew the proposed initial 12-month suspension on a year-to-year basis while negotiations looking toward a possible permanent ban are being conducted.

The President said U.S. negotiators will be ready by Oct. 31 to open negotiations with Russia and perhaps other Communist bloc countries, together with Western allies of the United States.

Britain Ready To Go Along

LONDON (AP)—Britain tonight offered conditionally to join America and the Soviet Union in a one-year ban on nuclear weapons tests.

The British proposed meeting with the Soviet Union and the United States — the world's only other two nuclear powers—in a conference in New York Oct. 31 to work out practical arrangements for a worldwide system of controlling the ban on tests.

Jam Of Bills Ahead As Congress Tries To Quit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The home-stretch rush for adjournment was on in Congress today.

The Senate worked to clear its calendar of several prime items, including the 3½-billion-dollar foreign aid money bill.

The House, having taken care of most major matters, considered a six-billion-dollar appropriations measure to finance a score of government agencies.

President Eisenhower vetoed an earlier bill for these agencies because it contained half a billion dollars for the civil service retirement fund. He said the payment was unnecessary.

The target date for adjournment remained tomorrow night. But first Congress must dispose of these major pieces of legislation, among others:

1. Foreign Aid — The House passed a bill calling for $3,078,000,000 in military and economic help to other nations this year. The Senate Appropriations Committee, taking up the measure after eruption of the Middle East crisis, boosted the amount to $3,518,092,500. But this still is 432 million dollars below the amount originally requested by the President.

HIGHER DEBT

2. Debt Ceiling—The administration, faced with mounting red ink spending, asked Congress to increase the federal debt limit — now temporarily 280 billion dollars — to 288 billions through June 30, 1960.

The House agreed to the request, but the Senate Finance Committee voted to allow the 288 billion ceiling only through next June 30. The House and the Senate committee also differed on how much the permanent ceiling — now 275 billions — should be boosted. The House voted for 285 billions, the Senate committee for 283 billions.

3. Education — House and Senate conferees agreed yesterday on a four-year program to provide 900 million dollars in federal aid to educate the nation's young people, with emphasis on science and mathematics.

The compromise measure does not contain a college scholarship provision, which the Senate had voted but which the House had turned down. It does provide 295 million dollars for student loans. The original Senate program would have cost $1,300,000,000 and the House version 910 million dollars.

Two bills which touched off major fights got the ax yesterday.

The Senate, after some parliamentary maneuvering, killed a measure aimed at preventing the Supreme Court from knocking down state laws not in direct conflict with federal laws on the same subject.

The measure, opposed by the administration, was returned to the Senate Judiciary Committee by a 41-40 vote. The effect was to kill it for this session.

The House, after three days of debate, ended a hassle over legislation to subsidize the domestic minerals industry by killing the bill 182-159.

Little Rock Figures

Governor Orval Faubus, left, and Little Rock School Superintendent Virgil Blossom exchange smiles and a handshake at a meeting to discuss newest developments in the integration problem at Little Rock High School. Pending a new Supreme Court ruling, plans are now to open the school as "all white." (AP Wirephoto).

IN LITTLE ROCK CASE

NAACP Going To The Supreme Court

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People will ask the U.S. Supreme Court today to knock down the legal barrier that would prevent Negro students from entering Central High School Sept. 2.

Gov. Orval Faubus kept his special legislative session plans in readiness in case the NAACP is successful in overturning the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals action that would block integration at the school until the Supreme Court has made the final decision.

Little Rock's school board is going ahead on the assumption the Central will be an all-white high school when classes resume a week from next Tuesday. Registration begins today and if Negroes apply they will be told to attend Horace Mann Negro High School here.

COURT IN RECESS

Thurgood Marshall, attorney for the NAACP, said he would ask the Supreme Court to set aside the stay granted by the appeals court yesterday. If this action should be successful the way would be clear for Negroes to re-enter the school on opening day.

The Supreme Court is in summer recess. Thus the NAACP's only hope for immediate action would be to contact one of the vacationing justices and seek an emergency order from him.

Faubus refused to back down immediately on his standby call for legislators to be ready for a session Monday when he heard that the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis had stayed its own decision that integration must proceed.

The governor said he wanted to be assured that the school board would take the opportunity afforded it to avoid integration and that the stay which would hold Negro students out of school until the Supreme Court acted would remain in effect.

DELAY GRANTED

The Circuit Court ruled Monday that Little Rock could not have the 2½-year delay in integration given it by U.S. Dist. Judge Harry Lemley of Hope, Ark. But yesterday it said in effect that the Lemley decision granting the delay could remain in force until the Supreme gcourt decided the matter. That is provided the Little Rock school board filed its appeal to the high court within 30 days.

The school board hailed the stay order as "wonderful news" and Supt. Virgil Blossom confidently announced that Central High would open Sept. 2 as an all-white high school.

Amarilloan Named To Elks Position

AMARILLO (AP)—Tom Stalnaker has been appointed deputy grand exalted ruler of Elks in Amarillo, Abilene, Borger, Big Spring, Lubbock, Midland, Odessa, Plainview, San Angelo, Sweetwater and other points.

Horace Risely of Salinas, Calif., grand exalted ruler, made the appointment.

Stalnaker plans to leave Aug. 30 for a regional conference of district deputies in Chicago.

'Sitdown' Wins Drug Store Service For Young Negroes

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A peaceful two-day "sitdown" by some 35 young Negroes has pierced another race barrier here.

The Katz drugstore yielded to the persistent Negro youths who solemnly lined its fountain, and started serving them.

Negroes previously have not been served in restaurants or fountains in the city. Mrs. Clara Luper, head of the Oklahoma City Youth Council of the NAACP, declared joyfully the Negroes will invade other businesses within the next few days, seeking the same privilege.

The drugstore manager, J. B. Masoner declined comment. He also would not say whether the incident had affected business.

Masoner said he talked with Kansas City headquarters of the Katz chain before changing his stand, but would not say whether the policy change was made at his suggestion or at the suggestion of headquarters officials.

The first group of Negro youngsters, ranging in age from 6 years through the teens, occupied seats at the Katz fountain for several hours Wednesday night, but were not served. A larger group returned Thursday morning, remained through the noon hour and returned at 3:30 p.m. At one time Negroes occupied every seat.

After being served late Thursday, the Negroes marched quietly out of the store.

During the period when the Negroes were refused service, white customers were advised that another fountain on the store balcony was open. A few availed themselves of the balcony service.

NAACP officials here said they had won a similar victory in Wichita, Kan., after their protest in a drugstore there. After four days the Wichita store agreed to serve all patrons.

AFL-CIO Will Give Support To Auto Workers In Strike

FOREST PARK, Pa. (AP)—The AFL-CIO has decided to throw its financial and manpower resources behind Walter Reuther's United Auto Workers in event of a motor industry strike.

The federation's ruling Executive Council yesterday created a seven-man committee of its members to "give practical support organizationally and financially to the UAW" if an auto strike develops.

A statement adopted unanimously by the council said General Motors, Ford and Chrysler have refused to bargain in good faith on wage and other demands raised by Reuther's UAW in five months of bargaining.

"The UAW is continuing its efforts to arrive at an equitable settlement without a strike," the council statement said. "But time is running out, and so is the patience of the workers."

Named to the AFL-CIO's UAW Aid Committee were labor union heads George Harrison, James B. Carey, David Dubinsky, Dave McDonald, Albert Hayes, Joseph Beirne and Joseph Keenan. They represent rail, steel, clothing, electrical and other types of workers.

The UAW help was voted as the AFL-CIO chiefs wound up a week-long session here at a summer camp in the Pocono Mountains.

Major action in the sessions was to isolate the ousted Teamsters Union further from the rest of organized labor and to move against alleged corrupt conditions in other unions, among them the Carpenters, Restaurant Workers and Butchers unions.

Another council statement blasted President Eisenhower in the strongest terms yet used by the labor leaders against him.

Acusing him of "political chicanery of the most obvious character," they blamed the administration for the death in the House of a Senate-passed labor control bill they had backed.

The AFL-CIO leaders said the administration allied itself with what they called "reactionary businessmen and corrupt Teamsters" to kill the bill sponsored by Senators John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) and Irving M. Ives (R-NY).

Eisenhower, in calling Wednesday for a labor bill along the lines he had proposed in January, said the Kennedy-Ives measure wasn't strong enough to combat corruption in labor unions and protect the rights of workers.

"The alleged reasons given by the President for this politically inspired action do not stand the test of common sense," said the AFL-CIO statement, adopted after Secretary of Labor Mitchell tried in a personal visit to sell the federation leaders on Eisenhower's views.

The council decided to hold its next two quarterly meetings in Washington, in November and February, and to hold the next biennial federation convention in San Francisco Sept. 17, 1959.

Exporters Eyeing New Russian Trade

NEW YORK (AP)—Americans who have been watching their export business fall off sharply this year are eyeing hopefully today an opening chink in the Iron Curtain.

But it will be two months before they are told just what new items they may offer for sale to the Soviet Union and its satellites.

Their competitors in Western Europe, Canada and Japan meantime will have a long head start. These nations now are freeing 40 per cent of the products formerly embargoed for sale to Eastern Europe and Red China. The latter will still be off limits to American exporters.

The U.S. Commerce Department doubts if lowering the trade barriers a bit more — as provided in the recent Paris agreement with 14 other nations of the NATO Coordinating Committee on Control of East-West Trade — will open up much more of a market for U.S. goods in Eastern Europe.

American trade with Eastern Europe is off this year from last year's 10-year high, and it accounts for only half of 1 per cent of total U.S. foreign trade.

Washington holds that what the Communist countries want from us mainly is what we still won't want to sell them, come October. That is, products and commodities which we feel could be used for military purposes. The Commerce Department doubts if the Reds will buy many purely civilian goods from Americans.

Western European industrialists are much more hopeful. For example, they are now freeing copper wire for export to Eastern Europe and Red China. Copper wire was once a major British export to the Soviet Union. Red China has been getting its copper from South America. The British think they can recapture the Soviet market and add the Chinese to their customer list.

The United States now embargoes 922 items for sale to the Reds. It isn't saying yet how many of these will be freed for trade. It is going to add some items because military advances have brought certain chemicals and electronic products into the strategic category. But America plans to drop more items from the list than it adds.

Final Action Slated On Big Education-Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 900-million-dollar aid to education bill born out of America's concern over Soviet scientific advances, was ready today for final congressional actio .

The 900 million dollars would be spread out over the four years.

The Senate was due to act first on the compromise four-year program providing 295 million dollars for college student loans and $59,400,000 for fellowships.

In agreeing on the compromise Thursday, a Senate-House conference committee omitted any provision for scholarship grants which had been urged by the Eisenhower administration.

The Senate had voted a $1,300,000,000 program containing both scholarship and loan funds. The House had passed a 910-million-dollar bill providing for student loans, but no scholarships.

The bill, as worked out by the conferees, would make available 300 million dollars to the states on a matching basis for science teaching equipment and administration.

Funds also would be earmarked for such purposes as foreign language training institutes; guidance, counseling and testing; vocational education, and research and experiment in new methods of teaching.

Marine Is Held In Strangling Death

HONOLULU (AP)—Police held a tall, handsome 21-year-old Pearl Harbor Marine today in the strangling of a widow, whose nude body was found in a Waikiki alley.

Authorities did not release his name immediately.

Police and military investigators, acting on information supplied by a bartender, arrested the man at his barracks.

The victim, Helen M. Peoples, 55, formerly of Cameron, Tex., had been drinking in a bar with the Marine and he paid for the drinks with a check which led investigators to him.

Detectives said they found three pairs of women's panties in the Marine's locker. Mrs. Peoples was strangled with her own panties, apparently after a furious fight. Her face was battered and her large earrings were ripped off.

Police said the Marine admitted fighting with the victim Thursday and dragging her into an alley but was hazy on details.

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP)—Edwin Pryor, 52, former editor of the Harlingen Valley Morning Star, was found dead in a hotel room yesterday with a bullet through his head.

A .38 caliber gun was found beside the body. Justice of the Peace Jake Childress said. Pryor had been a public relations man in recent years.

Surviving are his widow, Sally, and a daughter, Petty, of Robston. Funeral services will be here tomorrow with Burial at San Antonio, his former home.

Special Education Classes To Open In Same Building

Special education classes will be resumed in the old South Ward building at 14th and Austin this fall, but the school for physically and mentally handicapped youngsters will be moved to the former Central Ward building on the Runnels Junior High campus later.

Plans had been made to open the special education school in the Central building, but remodeling work on the junior high will force some junior high classes into the Central structure. As quickly as the remodeling is completed, junior high students will return to their building and the special education classes will be moved, said S. M. Anderson, assistant superintendent.

In addition to the special classes for handicapped white children, two classes are set up for handicapped Negro pupils. Total enrollment is expected to be about 80 when school opens—some 60 in the white school and about 20 in the Negro classes.

Actually, Big Spring qualifies on the basis of number of handicapped children for 20 sections, or classes. That's the number the state would provide salaries for. However, school authorities have been able to secure but five qualified teachers.

Teachers for the classes in the white school will be Rex Browning, Janette McRee and Mary Newell. Teaching in the Negro school will be Venora Williams and Gladys Penny. All except Miss Browning taught special education classes last year. The latter received special training for the work this summer under a scholarship plan set up by the local school district in an effort to interest teachers in qualifying themselves for work in the field of special education.

Glasscock Can't Line Up Delegates For Demo Meeting

GARDEN CITY — Glasscock County will likely not be represented at the state Democratic convention in San Antonio Sept. 9.

The county is allowed two delegates, said Mrs. Willie Ratliff, who is county Democratic chairman, but no one wants to go. They are all too busy working on their ranches and farms to consider taking off the time. The Ratliffs will also be unable to go.

"I was asked to send a proxy," she said, "but he might not vote the way we wanted him to. This county went for Blakley, and the proxy might turn out to be a Yarborough man."

Loan Considered On Water Project

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Water Development Board will consider Aug. 29 a two million dollar loan request from the Upper Neches River Municipal Water Authority.

Joe Carter, executive secretary of the board, said the authority first must obtain permissios to file an application for the loan. The authority seeks to construct a 410,000 acre foot reservoir at Blackburn crossing on the Neches River. Estimated cost is 6½ million dollars.

Two Commissioners To Be Named In Glasscock Co.

GARDEN CITY (SC)—Most of the voting interest for tomorrow's election will be in different corners of the county. In the southeast part, incumbent Frank Ramsel and J. W. Cox are running for commissioner of Precinct 2. The first race was a tie with each one receiving nine votes from a possible 21 eligible voters.

In the northwest part of the county, Mrs. Lois Blalock and Henry Hillger are the survivors from a group of four candidates in the commissioner's race. This is Precinct 4 and has a potential vote of 78. It covers the Hillger community, south Lomax and the Line communities.

There wers 359 poll taxes paid in the county, according to county clerk, Mrs. Vena Lawson. She says the vote will liekly be much lighter in Precincts 1 and 3 than last time, since the only candidates will be Robert Hamilton and J. Edwin Smith in the court contest.

Record Surplus In Wheat Foreseen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department is predicting a record wheat surplus of 1,300,000,000 bushels in 1959.

Experts say the excess will result from a combination of this year's expected largest crop in the nation's history, little increase in domestic consumption and no change in foreign sales.

They predict the mounting wheat surplus will get even bigger in 1960. The surplus totaled 881 million bushels July 1.

Superintendent Resigns In Dispute

FORT WORTH (AP)—School Supt. Ben Horton of the White Settlement Community resigned last night during a policy dispute.

Trustees named James Sheppard, who has been assistant superintendent since July 1, to take over Horton's job.

Barton Horton, principal at C. F. Brewer junior high school and brother of Ben Horton, also resigned. The principal's wife, a physical education teacher, also quit. Principal Horton said he resigned for reason of advancement.

Horton got the post Aug. 22, 1957 after the board fired Supt. C. F. Brewer. Horton told a reporter that he was under "no pressure whatsoever to resign.

He said the trustees hired and fired teachers and administrative personnel without his recommendations.

40 Hot, Dry Days Put Damper On Early Bumper Crop Outlook

The 40 hot, rainless days which fell the latter part of June and continued unbrokenly until this week have spelled the difference between a possible record cotton production year and one of only ordinary yield, Jimmy Taylor, county farm agent, told the Big Spring Kiwanians at their noon luncheon Thursday.

"Early this year," he recalled, "things could not have looked better than they did. The fall rains had been just what was needed; spring started out in the same good way.

"Farmers had excellent luck in the matter of getting good stands and it was justified at that time to predict one of the biggest cotton crops on record.

"Then came the hot, dry weather which began in June and was only broken this week. In that interval the production lost ground rapidly."

He said that official agencies, reporting on the prospective crop in this county, have fixed the yield at from 30,000 to 36,000 bales. "I hope they are right," he said, "I think we will have somewhere between 25,000 and 30,000 bales."

The cotton crop, based on current estimates, will provide an income of $4.5 million for the farmers of the county, he said. The grain crop, which is good and will make from 1,000 to 1,200 pounds per acre, will supplement this income by better than $1.5 million, he stated.

"When the farmers of the county have money," Taylor pointed out, "they spend the money with business establishments. A good farm year means good business for all concerned. There is an inseparable tie between the city dweller and the rural resident—the economy of one is reflected in the economy of the other."

Miss Brenda Morgan sang two selections as the musical portion of the program.

Sherman Smith, presiding in the absence of Jack Alexander, president, told the club that the new teachers of the schools of the city and the junior college will be special guests at the next meeting. He urged a full attendance.

Sterling Co. Seeks Judge

STERLING CITY — When voters go to the polls Saturday, they hope to elect a county judge they can keep for the next four years. The record for the last two years has been three different judges.

When Judge G. C. Morrell resigned, his wife took over the office duties. Then she also resigned and A. W. Dearen was appointed to fill the vacancy. He did not choose to make the race for county judge, so two other candidates, W. R. (Bill) Brooks and T. E. (Gene) Carr are contesting for it.

These are the only names on the ballot with the exception of Robert W. Hamilton and J. Edwin Smith in the race for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court Place No. 1.

Autumn Weather In Wake Of Rains

The rains of Wednesday night and Thursday morning ushered in fall-like weather. The high temperature was 85 degrees for the day, the U. S. Experiment Station reported. This was in sharp contrast with the 101 degree reading which prevailed just ahead of the afternoon showers on Wednesday.

Low last night was 68. The station said there was a "trace" of rain on Thursday. All time record high for Aug. 21 was 106 in 1910. Record low for the same date was 10 degrees under the minimum of yesterday—58 scored in 1956.

Benson Has His Farm Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress has given Secretary of Agriculture Benson just about what he wanted in domestic farm legislation. And it looks like he'll have his way in the program dealing with disposal of farm surpluses overseas.

Both the Senate and House voted to extend the program whereby surplus commodities are sold for dollars or foreign currencies at reduced prices.

But Benson balked at a provision inserted by the House directing the secretary of agriculture to accept barter deals up to half a billion dollars a year. Benson and some senators protested that the provision would replace normal sales.

Their arguments prevailed. A Senate-House Conference Committee reported yesterday a compromise bill which contains no barter requirement.

Bogus Alarm Proves Crown Jewels Are Well Guarded

LONDON (AP)—The boss at the Tower of London confessed to Scotland Yard today he set off the burglar alarm to see how well England's crown jewels are being guarded.

"I'm delighted with the test," said Brig. Leslie Frederick Ethelbert Wieler. "It worked extremely well."

Brig. Wieler is resident governor of the ancient tower over the Thames River and the man responsible for safeguarding one of the world's most fabulous collection of jewels.

"Why didn't you warn us, sir, that it was only practice?" asked a Scotland Yard sleuth.

"What's the use of having a test," snapped the brigadier, "if it's not carried out properly?"

It was carried out properly, all right.

Shortly after breakfast the recorded voice on an automatic burglar alarm boomed out in Scotland Yard: "Intruders have entered the jewel house at the Tower of London."

At the tower, alarm gongs clanged like engines racing to a three-alarm fire.

Scots guards jumped to action posts, scores of yeoman warders lumbered to emergency stations, the flying squad roared out of Scotland Yard, radio cars dashed to the tower, police boats churned down the Thames, bobbies cordoned off tower hill, a 16-ton steel cage clanged down around the jewels.

It was the biggest scare since Capt. Peter Blood stole the royal ice from the tower nearly three hundred years ago.

All the jewels—which include the priceless Cullinan diamonds and the Koh-I-Noor diamond—were safe, of course. But, in revealing what happened, the governor let out a secret of the security arrangements surrounding the gem collection, viewed annually by more than 300,000 persons. When Brig. Wieler broke an electric eye beam, the burglar alarm went off at the tower and in Scotland Yard.

Back at the tower the governor was happy.

"It's been a perfect morning," he said. "Now excuse me, please, I must show a party of Middle East sheiks the jewels."

Cost-Of-Living Goes Up Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government reported today the cost of living in July set another record high. Its consumer price index rose two-tenths of 1 per cent to 123.9.

The 1947-49 average is 100 in the index.

At the same time, the take-home pay of factory workers rose to a record for any July. This rise was contrary to the usual seasonal trend.

The Bureau of Labor statistics figured the average take-home pay of a factory worker with three dependents was $75.88 a week, a rise of about 30 cents from June.

The July rise in living costs will mean a further small pay rise for about 500,000 workers—chiefly in aircraft ond electrical equipment industries—whose union contracts are geared to the government index.

Advances in transportation, food and medical care costs were chiefly responsible for the July rise.

The index has gone up in 21 of the last 23 months. There has been no decline since August 1956.

Ewan Clague, commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics predicted little change in the general cost of living for the next several months.

He said food prices will continue down but the advent of fall clothing and new model automobiles, both expected to cost more, will have the effect of offsetting a drop in food prices.

Clague attributed two-thirds of the June-July increase to transportation prices. The net advance in this field was 1 per cent.

Gasoline prices jumped 2.2 per cent as price wars ended in several localities. Used cars went up 2.9 per cent while there was no change in the average for new cars.

Food prices increased one-tenth of 1 per cent. Higher prices for pork, eggs and milk more than offset reductions for fresh fruits and vegetables.

Having Trouble With City Hall

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — Signs have been posted at three entrances of the City Hall declaring it "unsafe." But City Building Commissioner Robert Keeley says they don't tell the whole story.

Keeley said the roof and third floor are in danger of collapsing and the "first floor could easily drop into the basement."

The 60-year-old building is infested with termites, the roof leaks and the walls of the basement are full of cracks.

"The building is full of vermin. The plumbing is in poor condition, the electrical system overloaded and the old boilers are absolutely dangerous," said Keeley.

A Bible Thought For Today

Nevertheless the foundation of God standeth sure, having this seal, The Lord knoweth them that are his. And, Let every one that nameth the name of Christ depart from iniquity. (2 Timothy 2:19)

A Man Well Qualified

Experience is one of the sound qualifications for office, and by this gauge alone Judge R. W. Hamilton is entitled to the support of Texans in his race for associate justice of the Texas Supreme Court.

Of course there are other good reasons for electing Judge Hamilton. From first hand experience during the days when he served as county attorney for Martin County and then as district attorney, we can vouch for his integrity and devotion to duty. As a district judge at Midland he earned a reputation for fairness as well as judicial sagacity. The same can be said for his tenure as associate justice and then as chief justice of the Court of Civil Appeals at El Paso.

His opponent is a well-regarded attorney but lacking in judicial background. Lawyers of the state, in a pre-primary poll, heavily endorsed Judge Hamilton. Out of a field of three, Judge Hamilton received 45 per cent of the vote, his opponent 25 per cent. We strongly commend Judge Hamilton to the voters of this area as the man best equipped to serve as associate justice.

Rigidity Instead Of Flexibility

When Fed. Dist. Judge Harry J. Lemley of Hope, Ark., ruled that the Little Rock Central High School be allowed two and a half more years to start integrating the races the fact of his Southern birth and background was made much of in some parts of the Northern press.

The stress on the judge's geographical origins seemed to say "Well, no wonder!"

If this was a fair imputation in the case of Judge Lemley—and of course it was not—the same slanted and partial yardstick might be applied to the case of the seven judges of the Eighth U. S. Court of Circuit Appeals which sat in St. Louis and ruled, six to one, that Judge Lemley was all wrong in granting further postponement in the much-disturbed Little Rock situation.

For the seven, including the one who dissented, hail respectively from South Dakota, Nebraska, Minnesota, Nebraska, Iowa, North Dakota and Missouri.

Chief Judge Gardner, the dissenter, held that the Little Rock school-board had acted in good faith, and that Judge Lemley had based his decision for postponement "on realities and conditions, rather than theories."

The geographical identity of the judges is of interest not because it implies prejudice on their part, any more than Judge Lemley's decision implied prejudice on his part, but for quite another reason.

The original U. S. Supreme Court "modus operandi" setting forth how its ruling should be enforced placed the prime responsibility for setting a time for the beginning of integration in the hands of federal district judges, on the theory that they would be more familiar with conditions in their respective areas.

The majority opinion in the Little Rock case, written by Judge Martin C. Matthes of St. Louis, observes:

"We say that the time has not yet come in these United States when an order of a federal court must be whittled away, watered down or shamefully withdrawn in the face of violent and unlawful acts of individual citizens."

This view suggests that the majority was more concerned in punishing disobedience to a court order than in interpreting the Supreme Court's "deliberate speed" formula so as to allow discretion in the matter of setting a time schedule suitable to local conditions. Its effect will be to apply a rigidity of procedure to all situations where the original Supreme Court decree provided for a degree of flexibility.

Akransas' Right Of Resistance

WASHINGTON — Abraham Lincoln and Thomas Jefferson said the exact opposite of what the six judges of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis declared in implying that "popular opposition" to Supreme Court rulings could be made the basis for court injunctions. In effect, this would end free speech and free assembly once a federal court order was put into effect on an issue in public controversy.

Abraham Lincoln said 100 years ago with reference to the Dred Scott decision handed down by the Supreme Court of the United States:

"If this important decision . . . had been before the court more than once, and had there been affirmed and reaffirmed through a course of years, it then might be, perhaps would be, factious, nay, even revolutionary, not to acquiesce in it as a precedent.

"But when, as is true, we find it wanting in all these claims to the public confidence, it is not resistance, it is not factious, it is not even disrespectful, to treat it as not having yet quite established a settled doctrine for the country."

In his first inaugural address, President Lincoln said: "The candid citizen must confess that if the policy of the government, upon vital questions affecting the whole people, is to be irrevocably fixed by decisions of the Supreme Court, the instant they are made, in ordinary litigation between parties in personal actions, the people will have ceased to be their own rulers, having to that extent practically resigned their government into the hands of that eminent tribunal."

Thomas Jefferson wrote in 1920 that "to consider the judges as the ultimate arbiters of all constitutional questions is a very dangerous doctrine indeed, and one which would place us under the despotism of an oligarchy."

These quotations become more than ever pertinent now because the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis held that "popular opposition" in the community was primarily responsible for the belligerent attitude of the students at Central High School in Little Rock who protested, sometimes with acts of violence inside the school, against "integration" in the classrooms.

The circuit court judges went further when they criticized the school board at Little Rock for not seeking injunctive relief "against those who opposed by unlawful acts the lawful integration plan." The circuit court cited with disapproval the passage of new laws by the state legislature—subsequent to the Supreme Court decision of 1954—which were designed to circumvent that ruling through, for instance, a pupil-assignment plan. The inference is clear that public opposition to the reversal in 1954 of a Supreme Court ruling—which had been "affirmed and reaffirmed" for 58 years—comes under the heading now of "unlawful acts." This very point was dealt with by Judge Lemley of the U. S. District Court, who earlier this summer ordered the postponement of "integration" in the Little Rock schools for two and a half years. He said in his formal opinion:

"Relative to interference from outside the school, the plaintiffs urge that the (school) board should have either instituted criminal prosecutions against the persons responsible, or that it should have applied for injunctive relief, as was done in the Hoxie, Ark., and Clinton, Tenn., cases. In answer to that argument Mr. Blossom (school superintendent) testified, and he was corroborated by Mr. Upton (head of school board), that the board had determined as a matter of judgment not to resort to criminal prosecutions or to seek injunctive relief; that it was not the function of the board to prosecute people or to seek injunctions but to run a school system, and that it had already had all of the litigation that it wanted and was not anxious for any more.

"We think that the board acted within its competency in coming to that conclusion, and we do not think that its failure to commence criminal actions or to seek injunctive relief should militate against its present petition.

"Is the first place, the board is not charged with the duty of commencing criminal prosecutions or of enforcing the criminal laws of the state. Secondly, by reason of the nature, source and extent of the opposition to integration in Little Rock, actions by the board looking toward criminal prosecutions or injunctions might have aggravated rather than eased the situation.

'Moreover, the board might have had a good deal of difficulty in identifying the persons causing the trouble or in establishing that their conduct constituted crimes or was of such quality as would justify the granting of injunctive relief."

But if most of the people in Arkansas who are against "integration" were Communists, they could be certain of escape from prosecution. For the Supreme Court of the United States, in the famous Watkins case, last year laid down the rule that it's all right in public meetings openly to preach extreme doctrines — even the forcible overthrow of the government of the United States—and that there should be no conviction unless it can be conclusively proved that the speech directly incited or instigated an unlawful act. The Supreme Court based its ruling on the constitutional guarantees of free speech and freedom of assembly. Consequently, the people of Arkansas have the same right to preach "resistance"—by lawful means such as public meetings —against the "desegregation" decisions of the Supreme Court, and it will have to be proved in each incident that speech in itself or acts of the state legislature in passing new laws to obstruct "integration" constitute in themselves a direct incitement to "unlawful acts."

Question On Middle East Plan: Will It Work?

WASHINGTON (AP)—They all got their necks out of the wringer — the West, the Soviet Union and the Arabs — when the United Nations Thursday night approved 80-0 the Arabs' plan for peace in the Middle East.

They voted themselves a graceful way out of an embarrassing situation. The only question left is: Will the plan work? Or does it just provide a calm before a new storm breaks in the Middle East?

The plan, which the United States also approved, did not contain specifically a single one of the six proposals President Eisenhower made to the U.N. earlier this month to bring peace to the Middle East.

But at least he can feel some of his suggestions are in the plan, if only in a general way. In the end, although the plan is an easy way out for everyone, it may result in loss of the West's last, lingering grip on the area.

The Arabs — humiliated and angered by the presence of American troops in Lebanon and British forces in Jordan — can now claim credit for getting them out by the ingenuity of their plan. The Soviet Union wanted the troops out. And now they seem sure to go.

And it gets the United States and Britain off a hot spot. Even though invited in by Lebanon's President Chamoun and Jordan's King Hussein — they've shown signs of wanting out ever since they saw the world's bad reaction to what they did.

But there's no evidence anything in the Middle East has been solved or settled except for paving the way for American-British withdrawal. The Arab plan, or resolution, left it up to Secretary General Hammarskjold to arrange the withdrawal.

Secretary of State Dulles, seldom sunny about the Middle East, warned it would be folly to think the simple resolution by itself solved Middle East problems. For example:

Hussein asked for the British troops to save him from overthrow. It's been reported that once the British left he'd be assassinated or expelled. How does the Arab plan protect him if the British go? It doesn't say. Yet he approved it.

Eisenhower proposed a U.N. police force in Lebanon and Jordan to keep peace. The Arab plan says nothing about such an outside force. That seems to leave the door open for all the shenanigans to start as soon as the Americans and British leave.

True, the resolution, says the Arabs renew an old pledge among themselves not to be aggressors against one another. But they forgot about the pledge before and that's what caused the trouble this time. No reason to think they won't forget again.

For example: What reason is there to think United Arab Republic President Nasser, trying to bring the whole Arab world under his wing in one way or another, will stop his intrigue. To think he will sounds like a fairy tale.

But if the Americans and British withdraw — and after the present mess they'll be reluctant about going into the Middle East again — Nasser ought to have the field pretty much to himself.

And since the Soviets want Western influence in the area eliminated, the Arab resolution must taste like duck soup to them.

The resolution also called on Hammarskjold to try to work out with the Arabs some plan for a redevelopment institution. Eisenhower had proposed such an organization, to be run by Arabs.

It will take a lot of time to work out anything like that.

Actor Peck Turns Producer

NEW YORK (AP)—Inside every Hollywood actor today there is a producer struggling to get out.

Producer Gregory Peck has just emerged from actor Gregory Peck. With his partner, William Wyler, he has just produced a blockbuster Western.

It is in color and it cost four million dollars.

The actor, who worked briefly as barker at the New York World's Fair in 1939, is now on a three-week nationwide promotion tour for his picture.

"It's getting to be the thing for actors to do now," said Peck, smiling. "What we do is like the old-time pitchman, except we go in for the soft-sell manner.

"Basically what has happened is that the major studios now often just put up the money for a package picture deal. The studios take a minor share of the profits, and the artists take the major share."

"There is always a day of reckoning," said Peck. "Just as the major share of the loot now goes to the artist, so does the major share of the blame — and this present dream setup won't last long if the results aren't good.

"So far they have been good. Some of the best pictures have been and are being made by the independent producers."

Why does an actor want to assume the added burdens and risks that go with directing and producing? It isn't just the hope of making more money he can keep.

"I've been acting for 15 years," said Peck. "There simply comes a time when it isn't enough to wait for someone else to pick out your stories and tell you when to work.

"I feel that any actor who survives in this business for 15 years is entitled, in varying degree, to go on and become a director or producer. After all, even as an actor, you are directing yourself."

"I can't stand negligence, laziness or casualness when it comes to work," he said. "It doesn't pay off. You have to put everything you have into anything to get good results."

His thoroughness has paid off well. Most of his 28 pictures — Peck started in 1943, a star from the start—have done well at the boxoffices.

Every man has a creed he lives by whether he ever puts it into words or not. Asked to name his, Peck hesitated, then said:

"Do good work; try to grow in spirit; fear nothing, and remember God. They're the oldest laws in the book, but they stand up."

Pinch-Hitter In Series Almost Native Texan

By BOB THOMAS
AP Motion Picture Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Pinch-hitting in the "Cheyenne" league is a handsome broad-shouldered fellow named Ty Hardin who feels cheated that he missed by six months being a native Texan.

"My dad was working in New York City when I was born there," laments Ty. "But he returned to his home in Texas six months later, and I grew up and went to school there. And I'm mighty proud of it, too."

Ty is subbing for the recalcitrant Clint Walker, who walked out of the "Cheyenne" TV series in a money dispute. Ty is introduced in the first show of the new series as Bronco Layne, who returns to town after the Civil War to find himself considered a traitor. He wins the folks over in the end, of course.

The idea is to keep Bronco as another main character in the series, much as Jim Garner and Jack Kelly alternate as the Maverick brothers. When and if Clint returns, he'll re-assume the role of Cheyenne, playing some chapters with Ty and some alone. If he doesn't come back, Ty will have to carry the load himself.

Warner Brothers couldn't have found a more willing actor.

"I'm happy," Ty beamed. "Clint and I are two different people. I'm always happy—been that way all my life. If I don't like what I'm doing, I get along to something else.

"That's the way it'll be with my acting career. If I don't like it, I'll just go right back to the engineering department at Douglas."

That's where he came from. A football player and engineering student at Texas A. & M., he came west to take a job with the research and development department of Douglas Aircraft Co.

Hunting for a prop gun to carry to a Halloween party, Ty figured he could find one at the Paramount Studio, so he dropped in. Instead of a gun, they gave him a contract and a job in "Space Children."

When Clint Walker pulled his walkout, Warner Brothers was looking around for a replacement, spied Ty and bought out his contract from Paramount.

First Things First

DELPHI, Ind. (AP) — Fire Chief Fred Swinford had just finished explaining to a group of school children all about the department's shiny trucks and complicated equipment. He asked if there were any questions.

"Yes," said one little girl and pointed to the firehouse Dalmatian mascot. "What's the dog's name?"

Around The Rim

Murdering The King's English

Newspapermen, contemporary authors, and just plain folks have been accused by those who should know of murdering the King's English.

This charge is made by the purists amongst English professors, which is most of them. They shudder at the introduction of new words and phrasings, and cry bloody murder at the sharply brief and concisely simple wording of newspaper articles. They cringe when they hear colorful usage of our language, as just plain folks are wont to use it, when that usage is not in keeping with the hidebound rules laid down only a few generations ago, and the professors are less easily moved than the proverbial mountain when a change in the language is suggested.

The Texas University School of Journalism is recognized as one of the top three such schools in the nation, in a third position with Columbia and Missouri U. Graduates of these three schools generally have little trouble finding jobs. Yet, there is a professor at Texas who leads a particularly strong movement to drag the School of Journalism under the wing of the English Department.

It seems the good professors would force their own concepts of good writing on budding newshounds, and newspapers of the future would read like classroom English compositions. They stoutly refuse to recognize the fact that a newspaper is a chronicle with problems of space limitations, and not an English classroom; that newspapering is a profession in its own right, and if English professors can't keep the language from evolving, they have no right to cast their burden on other shoulders.

And there is the key to the whole problem: The word "evolution." Dead things do not change, they do not evolve. Living things constantly change, for in change from one second to the next lies the secret of life. Language in use is a living, changing thing, which must grow and evolve with the civilization which uses it. Latin and ancient Greek are no longer in use, they never change and they are referred to as "dead" languages.

The professors seek to impose restrictions on the English language that would choke off evolution. They would, if they could, make it as unchanging as Latin.

It is they, not we, who are murdering the King's English.

New England: A White Church In Trees

RICHMOND, Vt. —Oh, to be in New England, now that August's here—and the high meadows filled with sun, the air with the scent of hay drying in the fields and the roads with tourists.

At the moment, New England is at the peak of her summer beauty. Every prospect pleases, except a handful in Maine where the billboard is permitted to blight the lovely landscape.

Some traveler once described Denmark —accurately and lovingly, too,—as a red cow in a green pasture. By the same token, New England is a white church steeple glimpsed through tall trees. That spire in its green frame is the constant lodestar of the traveler in Connecticut, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont.

New England has the same tidy, intense green, parklike look as Switzerland. It has the same swift, clear streams and the same limpid mountain lakes. It just isn't so determinedly vertical, that's all.

In fact, New England is like a sawed-off Switzerland set below the snow line. That is—and before the sensitive ski resorts of Vermont and New Hampshire start suing for libel—New England is set below the snow line in summer.

Or, maybe it's Switzerland with motels. (And I have discovered, probably belatedly, that the Gideons are not preoccupied solely with the salvation of hotel patrons. There has been a Gideon Bible in every motel room we Robbs have occupied thus far.)

The problem here is to sign up a room and a Bible before they are snatched up by the swarms of tourists from (1) Ohio and (2) the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec. It seems highly likely that all three of these land masses are, at the moment, denuded of native populace.

Our Canadian neighbors are here en masse, kit, kaboodle and kids, enjoying the scenery no less than the intense satisfaction that a four-cent advantage in the monetary situation gives the Canadian dollar. The canny Yankee has not been slow to see where the money mumbles. "On Parle Francais" in neons sparkles in front of countless motels.

The Ohioan is forced to rely on his native tongue, but he appears to be making out all right; he and all the other thousands of Americans from as far off as California and Texas who are breathing in early American history at every crossroad.

At this point, I would like to say a good word in behalf of the American child, always portrayed as half-brat, half-bully. On this trip, I have been inundated by thousands of American children and their parents, all crawling over historic monuments and practicing "togetherness" (this word, too, will pass if given enough rope!) in motels and restaurants.

Despite the American child's evil reputation, he has been behaving like a dream. I have yet to see or hear any whining, kicking, screaming, back sass, begging for candies or souvenirs, gouging or other youthful crimes and misdemeanors. At no time have I felt impelled to wring any necks and once or twice I even have been inclined to pat a head or two, and not with a bat, either.

Another myth is evaporating, too. We have not yet turned up a single, solitary gaunt, taciturn, introverted New Englander. My ears are bent and my right hand limp from hospitality. My theory is that New Englanders took one look at themselves as Eugene O'Neill saw them and tore up the script.

The Gallup Poll

GOP Loses Stature As 'Peace' Party

PRINCETON, N. J. — The Republican party made great use in 1956 of the campaign argument that they were "the party of peace," and the electorate accepted the claim. More than twice as many voters, in fact, said the GOP, rather than the Democrats, would keep this country out of war.

Today, when international tensions are still far from relaxed the Republicans have all but lost that important advantage: The two parties are virtually even in the public's thinking on the question of which can do the best job of keeping the U. S. out of World War III.

The Gallup Poll's corps of tested doorbell ringers questioned voters across the country about this key issue last week. In a high-rent district of New York City's Riverside Drive, in a working-class neighborhood in Hanover, Pa., on farms near Humbolt, S. Dak., along Dill Aven. and Everhart St. in Atlanta, Ga., a few miles west of Death Valley in Lone Pine, Calif. and in many other locations across the country, experienced opinion reporters put this question to voters with whom they talked.

"Which political party do you think would be more likely to keep the United States out of World War III—the Republican or the Democratic party?"

PARTY BEST ABLE TO KEEP U. S. OUT OF WAR?

	Per cent
Republican	26
Democratic	24
No difference	30
No opinion	20

Experts may argue that neither political party can be held responsible for war or peace since American involvement in past wars has generally been brought about by some force other than the United States.

But the fact that the GOP has lost most of the advantage of this count could have important political implications in view of the present international situation.

Just how important this advantage was to the Republicans in the 1956 campaign was vividly demonstrated with the outbreak of the Hungarian revolts and the Suez crisis on the eve of the election.

Previous to the outbreak of the trouble—when the Republicans had more than a 2-to-1 advantage over the Democrats on the peace issue—the Eisenhower-Nixon percentage of the popular vote had varied very little during the campaign.

But with the eruption of trouble abroad, survey evidence indicates that approximately 3 million voters in all shifted to the Republican ticket.

A special post-election survey revealed the impact of the crisis on the electorate. By their own testimony, the largest number who voted for Eisenhower cited as the main reason the fact they believed he could best handle the international situation.

Here is the trend of voter thinking on the issue of which party will keep the U. S. out of war since the fall of 1956:

Newlyweds Will Make Home In Big Spring

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Glenn Hatter will be at home here at 2606 South Monticello after a wedding trip to Oklahoma. The couple was married Sunday evening in Snyder in a garden ceremony at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Wade.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wade, Rt. 3, Snyder, and Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hatter, also of Snyder.

The double ring rite was performed by an uncle of the bride, the Rev. Anthem Wade, First Baptist Church of Aztec, N. M. Vows were repeated before a white arch flanked by baskets of white gladioli.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a waltz-length gown of imported Swiss eyelet embroidered organdy over taffeta. Its scoop neckline was outlined in scallops of the embroidery, and scallops also enhanced the hem of the skirt. Her veil of organdy, edged with imported lace, fell to shoulder level from a crown of organdy encircled with pearls. On a white Bible, she carried a cascade of pink roses.

Barbara Wade attended her sister as maid of honor. Another sister, Anita Wade, and Sally Ann Wade, a cousin, were junior bridesmaids. Their costumes of pink silk organza over taffeta were designed with fitted bodices featuring scooped back necklines and pouf sleeves; the skirts were gathered. They carried baskets filled with pink asters and ivy.

Pat Fowler of Post served the bridegroom as best man. Guests were seated by Travis Hatter of Snyder, brother of the bridegroom, and Milton Ham of Coleman.

Traditional nuptial selections were provided by organist Jane Shaw, cousin of the bride, and Jackie Outlaw of Morton, who was the bride's roommate at Hardin-Simmons University.

At the reception, white tiered organdy covered the refreshment table. Pink asters in a white basket were the centerpiece. Guests came from Midland, Hereford, Coleman, Earth, Rotan, Post, Morton, Anson, Lockhart, Mangum and Vineta, Okla. and Aztec, N. M.

The bride, a graduate of Snyder High School, attended Hardin-Simmons University last year. Her husband is a graduate of Mangum High School and is presently employed by Piggly Wiggly in Big Spring.

Condition Of Soil Important For Success In Gardening

By MARY COCHRAN

Your garden soil is the canvas for your outdoor picture. Webster defines horticulture as the art of growing fruits, vegetables, and ornamental plants. To be a West Texas garden artist, you better get a firm understanding of your canvas or, in plain terms, the dirt with which you work.

You do not have to be an expert in order to grow healthy plants but you do need to know and observe the simple rules of nature for any degree of success.

Have you a friable fertile soil? This is a soil that is in good mechanical condition. It must be uniform in texture and easily dug. It will not stay in lumps but will remain friable, meaning easily pulverized, when worked or walked on. Vigorous plant growth will need for support such a layer 8 to 12 inches deep. Roses, peonies and other deep rooted plants will need twice this depth. Trees and shrubs will require much deeper soil with top soil placed in the bottom of the hole. It is a good practice in this area to discard subsoil and substitute with good rich loam.

The sandy areas of this country are as infertile in their way as is the cement-like clay of other areas. The three types of soil are clay, sand, and loam. The clay holds the plant food so tightly the roots can't absorb them and the sand lets the water flow through, washing away the food value. Mixing the two gives an improved mechanical condition but will not give a good loam till humus is added for fertility. We need 25 to 50 per cent humus in this section.

Humus is partially decomposed organic matter, once living animal or plant material. Manure is the cheapest and most available humus in this country. Many gardeners rely on a compost heap for humus and find this rich food worth the extra effort involved. Peat moss can be purchased in large or small quantities at the nurseries. If you are interested in making a compost heap consult any garden book or be on the lookout for information in gardening magazines.

Plants must live on a liquid diet. This means that your friable porous garden soil must have plenty of plant food in a soluble form. Any plant food that dissolves in water is soluble. When you start feeding the soil with such fine commercial fertilizers as are available in dry form, enough water must be used to dissolve it. This will give the plant roots a chance to absorb it. This fertilizer is made up of three foods, nitrogen, phosphorous, and potassium with trace elements added.

Nitrogen, the growth element, controls leaf and stem growth. A lack of it will cause stunted growth and a loss of green color. This food is most readily consumed and often has to be replenished during the growing season. Anhydrous ammonia or ammonium sulphate will give you nitrogen. Dissolve ammonium sulphate in water in the ratio of 1 tablespoon to the gallon.

Phosphorous is the element necessary in the early growth of plants as it increases root growth. Unfortunately, it is usually most lacking in our soil. An indication of this is in the purpling of leaves. This element acts as a balance with the nitrogren. If the plant has plenty of phosphorous, it can use lots of nitrogen. However, if there is too much nitrogen, the plants will be weak and slow growing with poor blooms. To correct a phosphorous deficiency, use 10 pounds of super-phosphate to 100 square feet, using in the winter or early spring.

Potassium gives vigor and resistance to disease. Soil will keep a good supply if it is not allowed to become too alkaline or acid and has a good humus content.

Iron is the secret element. Though its real function has not been found, its lack is easily discerned, as it gives a chlorophyll production failure. New leaves yellow, plants become stunted and leaves die. Though the iron may be present in the soil, it cannot be released to the plant roots if there is excessive alkalinity. This is a condition often found here.

Powdered sulphur, applied at the rate of 5 pounds per 100 square feet, is the solution to this problem. Do this in the late fall or early winter. During the growing season use iron sulphate (copperas) 1 tablespoon to 1 gallon water. Keep giving small feedings 10 days apart till color returns.

The pH value of the soil is a topic that may puzzle you. This concerns the acidity or alkalinity of the soil. On the scale, the neutral pH value is 7. Above this failure is alkalinity and below is acidity. Though plants vary, most will prefer between 5.5 and 7.2. Your problem here is to try to stay on the lower part of the scale. Alkalinity is excessive, humus will help toward acidity.

Mulches should also be considered. This is a top soil cover used in early summer to keep soil and roots of plant cool, and to cut down evaporation. This mulch will begin to decompose and so add humus. Cotton seed hulls or hay seem to be favorites here.

You have asked for this repeat on information on our soil conditions here. The county agent's office in the basement of the court house will be glad to supply more information. If you are interested in having your soil analyzed to find its exact needs and deficiencies, soil tests can be sent to Texas A&M. Consult them for method and cost.

Congress Refuses To Rebuff Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—By a one-vote margin, Congress members who wanted to hand the Supreme Court a major legislative rebuff have been defeated.

The bitter battle reached a climax in the Senate Thursday night. A 41-40 vote killed a bill designed to prevent the court from striking down state laws not in direct conflict with federal laws on the same subject.

The vote came on a motion of Sen. John J. Carroll (D-Colo) to send the measure back to the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Twenty-seven Democrats and 14 Republicans teamed up to put the motion across. Voting in opposition were 17 Democrats and 23 Republicans. The count was tied at 40-40 when Sen. Wallace F. Bennett (R-Utah) cast the decisive vote.

The House passed the bill last month by a 240-155 vote, ignoring warnings that President Eisenhower might veto it.

The bill provided that federal laws should not supersede state laws in the same field unless Congress said so or unless there was a direct and irreconcilable conflict between them.

It also contained a provision specifically restoring to the states the right to enforce their own antisubversive laws—a section designed to overcome the effect of the Supreme Court's decision in the Steve Nelson case.

Nelson, a Pennsylvania Communist leader, was convicted under a state sedition law. The Supreme Court reversed the conviction on the ground that Congress had assumed jurisdiction in the field by enacting the Smith Act and other anti-Communist laws. The sedition laws of 42 states were invalidated by the ruling.

Before Thursday night's vote, the Senate was locked in dispute for three days over legislation aimed at recent decisions of the Supreme Court.

During the battle, it killed off by a 49-41 vote a bill to curb the review powers of the Supreme Court and to undo the effects of decisions in several Communist cases.

Moving Up The Hill

Work is progressing steadily on installation of this big sewage outfall line to serve the Webb AFB housing development and other areas between that point and the disposal plant east of town. Hodgson Construction Co., contractor, started work at two points—the disposal plant and near Goliad on the south edge of the city. Working up the grade, the eastern crew has passed Birdwell Lane and the second group has reached the Jet Drive-In Theatre, above. The line probably will be laid across U.S. 87 in front of the Jet Monday, city engineers said.

Lie Detector Test Planned In Rail Death

Joe L. Calder, 52, of Caddo, Okla., was to be taken to Austin today for a lie detector test concerning the death of an unidentified man found on the railroad right-of-way west of Sweetwater Wednesday.

Calder was arrested here early Thursday by T&P special agent A. G. Mitchell. Sweetwater authorities assumed custody in the case and was to transfer the man to Austin for the interrogation.

According to Sheriff Ted Lambert of Sweetwater, Calder said he and a man identified only as "Bill somebody" boarded a freight train east of Baird Wednesday. Calder went to sleep on the train and when he awoke the other man was missing, according to the statement to the sheriff. The man's body was discovered at the side of the railroad by a trainman.

The man died of a lung puncture caused by a rib, but how he received the injury has not been determined, Lambert said.

Calder was identified as a former convict by Leo Hull, Big Spring detective. He was taken into custody in the railway stock pen area just east of the city about 2:30 a.m. Thursday.

Pedestrian Not Injured Seriously When Hit By Car

A pedestrian, Ralph Trentin, 512 N. Johnson, escaped without serious injury Thursday afternoon when he was struck by an auto in the 300 block of W. 3rd.

Driver of the car was J. W. Thompson, 819 W. 6th, who took Trentin to a hospital for examination, police said.

Three other mishaps were reported in the city Thursday.

Pickups driven by Delbert Lynn, 110 Anna, and F. W. Bettle, city building inspector, were in collision at 17th and Lancaster, officers reported. Colliding at 200 NW 2nd were vehicles operated by Victor Martinez, Big Spring, and Albert R. Kostal, Webb AFB. A mishap at 100 NE 2nd involved an auto operated by Leonard B. Comp and a truck driven by Mike Bueno Gonzababa, according to police.

Mrs. Bob Bronson, wife of a city policeman, received only minor injuries Thursday when her car struck a culvert on U.S. 87 about three miles north of Big Spring. Avoiding mishap was another, unidentified driver who pulled his car onto the highway in front of Mrs. Bronson, causing her to swerve and strike the culvert.

MARKETS

WALL STREET

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels advanced as coppers gave ground and the stock market managed a thin edge to the upside on balance early this afternoon.

Trading was fairly active as gains and losses of key stocks went from fractions to about a point.

The market was mixed at the start but improvement by steels and other selected issues jacked up the average. Rails showed moderate gains on improved carloadings.

Brokers said that short covering bolstered the steels. Oils were fairly steady following United Nations approval of the Arab plan for the mid-east. Scattered gains appeared among drugs, chemicals and aircrafts.

Need Veterans For Emergency, Says Hershey

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey says if the United States needs two million men quickly for a conflict the size of the Korean War, a million of them would have to be veterans.

Hershey, who directs the Selective Service System, told the annual national convention of Amvets last night the United States would do well to get a million men out of its ready reserves.

Gen. Hershey decried the fact that six million men under 26 have had no military training. He said many of them have been deferred.

The general said Selective Service has deferred 20 million men in the past 10 years to permit them to continue their education.

The cost in keeping tab on these students, he said, is more than the total cost of drafting all the men for service in Korea.

"How he got there we still have not figured out," said Louis Hallock, chief ranger.

Two companions of the boy, John Lynch, 16, and Charles Gibbons, 15, also of Los Angeles, had been stranded on a lower ledge, Hallock said. They managed to reach safety while rescuers were working toward them.

Girl Frightens Prowler Away

Over $900 Paid For Martin's First Bale

STANTON (Spl) — West Texas' first bale of cotton of the 1958 harvest brought $1.80 a pound in a "Chinese" auction here Thursday afternoon.

Practically every business firm in Stanton and several individuals contributed to the fund that grossed more than $910 for F. C. Wheeler, the grower. Wheeler brought the 501-pound bale to gin on Aug. 12. So far as Chamber of Commerce officials have been able to learn, this was the first bale ginned in the region.

Wheeler did an unusual thing—he immediately gave $100 of the total back to the Chamber to be applied on the first bale prize in 1959.

Bernard Houston was auctioneer as bidders contributed the amount of their increase per pound to the fund. The agriculture committee of the Chamber of Commerce, headed by Gerald Hanson, made the campaign for the first bale fund.

Oklahoma Refineries Are Reducing Crude Oil Runs

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Under pressure of increasing gasoline stocks, two Oklahoma refiners said today they would reduce runs of crude oil to stills.

The Anderson - Prichard Oil Corp. said runs at its Cyril, Okla., refinery would be reduced 15 per cent Sept. 1. A 10 per cent reduction was made earlier at the company's Arkansas City, Kan., refinery.

Earlier, the D-X Sunray Oil Co. cut back 10,000 barrles a day or about 11 per cent, at its West Tulsa and Duncan, Okla., refineries.

Roland Rodman, president of Anderson - Prichard, cited increased oil production allowables in Texas and expressed hope that allowables would not be raised in other Mid-Continent areas next month.

"Excessive inventories are the normal result of excessive crude oil production," Rodman said, "and unless the situation is corrected, renewed pressure may be expected on crude oil prices."

Rodman said gasoline stocks in the area now are 10 per cent higher than a year ago although gasoline demand is 3 per cent under the same time last year.

Barney Baker Gets Called Harsh Names

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators will delve next week into links between Teamster muscleman Robert (Barney) Baker and one of the powers of the giant trucking union—Vice President Harold Gibbons.

Baker, 300-pound Teamster organizer, Thursday completed almost two days of testimony before the Senate Rackets Committee, ranging from the comic to the dramatic.

A perspiring Baker left the witness stand after Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) called him a perjurer and counsel Robert F. Kennedy labeled him an associate of "underworld filth and the scum of the United States."

But with the hearings in recess Kennedy indicated today the ponderous ex-convict's troubles with the committee are not over. He told newsmen Baker would continue as a subject of testimony when hearings switch next Tuesday to Gibbons' activities in the St. Louis area.

BARNEY BAKER

The new phase of the inquiry into the giant Teamsters Union and its president, James R. Hoffa, will include a violence-punctuated St. Louis taxicab strike in 1953 and the part Baker allegedly played in it.

McClellan contended that Gibbons supplied Baker and other Teamster organizers with an arsenal of pistols and holsters to match during the strike. Baker swore, "That's not the truth as far as I'm concerned."

Baker has testified his rise in the union began after he met Gibbons in 1952 at a meeting in Washington of the Americans for Democratic Action, a self-styled liberal group.

ELECTION PROBE

Kennedy said next week's hearings also will probe Gibbons' controversial election last January as president of the St. Louis Joint Teamster Council, with Gibbons himself a possible witness at the end of the week.

Hoffa, a grim-faced, silent spectator in the hearing room this week, is not scheduled to return to the witness stand for at least another 10 days.

Baker Thursday loudly denied charges ranging from threats to murder to trafficking in stolen jewels. But he sheepishly admitted he might have bragged and told "little white lies" about being a close friend of New York Gov. Averell Harriman.

Although Baker swore "I don't sell no jewelry," the committee produced a surprise witness who told of seeing a fortune in gems in a Miami home where Baker lived with a blonde girl friend in 1955.

The witness, real estate man B. B. Bowers Jr. of Miami, said Mrs. Ruth Brougher, 44, once showed him nearly a quart of diamonds which he estimated were worth $75,000 to $100,000.

Mrs. Brougher, Baker's ex-sweetheart brought here from a Florida prison where she is serving a 15-year term for manslaughter, told the committee, "The only kind of jewelry I had in my possession was legitimate jewelry."

Lake Thomas Gains Half Million Gallons

Showers in southern Borden County Thursday added a small increase to Lake J. B. Thomas.

Elevation had eased up to 2,254.95 feet at 8 a.m. Friday, making a total gain for two days of .2 of a foot. This accounted for 1,500 acre feet of water, or something like 500 million gallons.

BOB TURLEY RECORDS 18TH MOUND VICTORY

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bob Turley had to beat himself, you might say, before he could beat American League teams with consistency. Now he has a shot at becoming the New Yankees' biggest winner since Lefty Gomez nailed 26 victories 24 years ago.

The big right-hander, who was a lad of four when Gomez did his big job for the Yankees in 1934, licked his wildness with a no-windup style, then gained more control and learned to pace himself by pausing for a couple of deep breaths between pitches.

Now he's won 18, hitting his one-season high with a six-hitter that beat Chicago 6-3 last night and ended the White Sox' winning streak at seven. With 33 games left, Turley could be the first Yankee to win 22 since Gomez, and the first right-hander to do it for the champs since George Pipgras in 1928.

Better yet for Turley, he now is 3-0 against the White Sox this season, a point he's always missed at contract time. "I'm particularly happy with this victory," he said, "because when I sit down to talk salary, they always tell me I never beat the top teams, like the White Sox." His lifetime record against 'em is 8-11.

While the Yankees regained an 11½-game lead with their fourth victory in 12 games, the Boston Red Sox moved within three games of second place Chicago by beating Cleveland 8-6. Baltimore tied Detroit for fourth by defeating the Tigers 7-6. Kansas City rapped Washington 7-4.

Turley, who had lost two in a row, had a four-hitter with two out in the ninth, when Jim Rivera hit a home run and Al Smith singled. But he didn't have it in the bag until the Yankees scored three runs in the seventh and ended a duel with Ray Moore, who had beaten them three times. Two singles and a walk loaded the bases in the seventh. Then consecutive sacrifice flies by Bill Skowron and Elston Howard, and Tony Kubek's bunt single gave the Yankees a 6-2 lead.

The Red Sox had 15 hits and 11 walks, but left 16 men on base and didn't put it away until a three-run eighth. Dick Gernert's 17th home run scored a pair in the winning spurt. Every Boston batter had a hit except Ted Williams, who left six runners stranded. Tom Brewer won his eighth, but needed relief in a three-run ninth. Hal Woodeshick (3-4) was the loser for the Injuns, who got homers from Vic Power, Vic Wertz and Randy Jackson.

The Tigers, scoring four runs in the fourth with the help of an error, blew a 6-3 lead when Gus Triandos' 24th homer, with two on, capped a four-run Oriole seventh. George Susce was the loser in relief. Chuck Beamon won it in relief—first first victory since he won his first two major league decisions in September 1956.

Hector Lopez banged a pair of homers and Hal Smith hit a two-run single for the A's, who finished their scoring in four innings. Jack Urban, 5-0 against Washington in his brief career, squared his record at 8-8, but needed relief in the eighth, when Roy Sievers drove in two runs with a single. Vito Valentinetti lost it.

Lew Burdette Finally Hits Stride For Milwaukeeans

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Yep, it's almost fall and World Series time. There's the smell of burning leaves. There's football practice. And there's Lew Burdette, pitching the big shutout again.

It's been a long summer for the big right-hander who pitched the Milwaukee Braves to the world championship last October. At the All-Star Game in July he had only a 6-7 record. Those winter banquets that toasted his three victories and two shutouts over the New York Yankees in the Series were as much to blame as anything.

But since the All-Star break he's won 8 of 10. He beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-0 last night with a four-hitter.

Burdette also hit his third home run of the season—all at the Coliseum—as the Braves regained a 6½-game lead in the National League race after losing three in a row to the Dodgers.

Cincinnati broke loose for an 8-1 victory over second-place San Francisco, and the Chicago Cubs, with Ernie Banks hitting his 39th and 40th home runs, beat third-place Pittsburgh 5-3. St. Louis plunked Philadelphia back into the cellar 2-1.

Hank Aaron's 27th home run opened a four-run fourth for the Braves against losing southpaw Sandy Koufax (9-7). Duke Snider's error, Andy Pafko's double and Burdette's homer wrapped it up.

Don Newcombe, who has lost 11, picked up his third victory for Cincinnati with a six-hitter. Leon Wagner had half the Giants' hits, one his eighth home run in the second inning. The Reds scored four in the first inning, capped by Alex Grammas' three-run, two-out double, as Mike McCormick lost his sixth.

Larry Jackson won his 10th for the Cardinals, blanking the Phils on five hits for seven innings and then giving up five hits in the last two frames. He lost his shutout on three singles, the last by pinch-hitter Dave Philley, in the eighth, then got Wally Post on a grounder for the final out of the game with the tying run on third.

Lackland Wins 2 In Tourney

Lackland Field of San Antonio made up for lost time in the ATC's Southern District softball tournament here Thursday, winning two games.

Lackland tangles with Harlingen in the winner's bracket at 3 p.m. today. Tonight, in the loser's bracket, Randolph Field takes on James Connally at 8 p.m. while Webb AFB, which is hosting the tournament, challenges Goodfellow of San Angelo at 10 p.m.

Two games are on tap Saturday night while the finals in the double-elimination meet takes place Sunday night.

Lackland was forced to play two games Thursday due to the fact that its Wednesday night game with Laredo was rained out.

Lackland proceeded to chill Laredo, 6-0; and then knocked off Connally, 13-0. Ben Karass hurled both the wins for Lackland.

In other games yesterday, Webb 'stayed alive' by ousting Laredo from the tournament, 5-2, behind the three-hit hurling of Jack Long; and Harlingen bombed Goodfellow, 9-3.

Little Man Wields A Mammoth Willow

MIDDLEBORO, Mass. (AP) — Here is a slugging feat Ted Williams or Mickey Mantle would be proud of.

Ed Black, 12-year-old shortstop for the Veterans of Foreign Wars team in the local Little League, drove in 14 runs Thursday night with four home runs and a single.

His team won 26-6.

QBC Sets Barbecue For September 5

The Big Spring Quarterback Club, a sleeping giant most of the year but a sports booster organization that makes up for its inertia when football season comes into view, will shoot for a membership of 3,000 this fall.

Membership fee has been dropped from $5 (for a man and wife) to $1. Officials of the club reason anyone showing the slightest interest in athletics or school kids can pay that amount.

Members of the QBC's Board of Strategy met at Squeaky Thompson's Furniture Store last night to discuss the aims and objectives of the organization and to authorize the printing of tickets for the annual football barbecue, which honors the Big Spring High School football team and their dates.

Friday, Sept. 5, was set aside as the date of the barbecue and ducats to the event will sell for $1 each. Members of the club not only promise the purchasers a good meal but a chance to re-acquaint themselves with the athletes who will be representing them and the city on the football greensward this year.

C. A. Tonn and Squeaky Thompson, co-captains of the booster group, made plans to print 1,500 barbecue tickets and hope to sell them all.

The barbecue, incidentally, will be held in the City Park.

Joe Connally volunteered to serve as secretary of the organization at last night's meeting.

The club set aside each Tuesday as club night. The conclave, unless there is a conflicting program planned, will be held in the High School Cafeteria starting at 8 p.m. Films of the preceding Steer game are usually shown.

Members of the Board of Strategy pledged to lend their support to all sports sponsored by the high school. At the same time, they were cautioned against taking on too many programs at one time by Omar Jones, a past co-captain.

Tonn revealed plaques have been received for distribution to firms and individuals who donate $25 or more to the organization. They will be suitable for hanging in any business office, Tonn stated. Present plans call for members of the pep squad to help sell them.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

There, no doubt, are going to be mutterings among some local people that basketball is being de-emphasized at the local high school, now that Johnny Johnson has resigned as head cage mentor of the Steers.

The school will look a long time before it finds a man who measures up to Johnson's capabilities, both as a coach and a gentleman.

Johnny was a popular man on the campus and he added to his stature in the community by serving as coach of the first Big Spring basketball team in 25 years to win a district (and a bi-district) championship.

Coaches at some of the other schools are, no doubt, breathing sighs of relief over his departure—he was tough to beat.

Johnson admitted he wasn't happy in his work. He said he felt he was hired to coach basketball and not football and reasoned he deserved more renumeration if he were to be saddled with the extra duty. School officials took exception, saying the budget wouldn't allow it.

Perhaps the indifference to his problems which the patrons of the schools betrayed made it crystal clear to him that other professions were more attractive from every standpoint.

Jan Loudermilk of Big Spring was probably the most publicized player in the recent Texas Coaches Association all-star basketball game at Houston.

Mickey Herskowitz of the Houston Post gave him a good sendoff prior to the game and other papers had feature articles about him.

Herskowitz says Jan's name suggests the male lead in an opera.

Loudermilk told the Houston scribe it gave him no particular thrill to score 75 points in one game, as he did against Odessa Ector here last season. Fact is, he was quoted, he had an idea his point aggregate was closer to 50 until told of the feat following the game.

Baseball isn't dying in Boston, where 115,269 saw the recent series between the Red Sox and the Yankees.

The Sox came off a recent road trip which saw them win only four of 14 starts and attracted 23,000 for a game with downtrodden Washington.

Fenway Park, home of the Sox, seats 34,819. On two occasions, Ted Williams and Company played to throngs of 30,000 plus against the Yankees.

A record crowd will, no doubt, be in the stands when Arkansas plays Baylor in football at Little Rock next month.

The Little Rock stands have been enlarged to seat nearly 40,000 and observers there say a sellout looms.

Roy Sievers and Albie Pearson of the Washington baseball club received $250 each for appearing on that TV network show, "Baseball Corner," recently.

Pat Murphy, assistant superintendent of the local schools plans to be in New York City the first few days in October for the annual convention of School Business Managers.

The conclave co-incides with the World Series and, happily, the Yankees (who apparently have sewed up the American League flag again) will be at home for the third, fourth and fifth games of the series.

Murphy has designs on seeing part of the classic.

The two local boys who have signed letters-of-intent to play football for the University of Houston, Danny Birdwell and Knox Pitzer, are to report there Thursday, Aug. 28.

Birdwell said the honor of being chosen the outstanding lineman in the recent Greenbelt Bowl game at Childress provided him with the biggest thrill of his athletic life. They say Danny put them on a whale of a show.

Gil Guerra, one-time Big Spring pitching ace (26 victories in one season), has drawn his release from the Mexico City Tigers of the Class AA Mexican league. He earlier had been pink-slipped by the Mexico City Reds of the same league.

Juan Visteur, another ex-Big Springer, recently clubbed two home runs in a game for Monterrey against Poza Rica in the Mexican circuit.

In all, six round trippers were smashed in the 19-3 rout, all of them by the Monterrey team.

Oilers Poised For Tourney

Members of the Cosden Oilers' softball team departed today for Brownwood, where at 6 p.m. they open competition in the ASA State tournament.

The Oilers are one of 19 teams which are shooting for the crown and a trip to the Regional meet. The Big Spring club plays St. Patrick's of Galveston in a first round game.

The Oilers are quartered at two different places in Brownwood. Some are at the Brownwood Hotel. Those who were accompanied by their wives will be at Lake Brownwood.

Two no-hitters featured first night's play Thursday.

Monroe Craig of Adams Mobile, the defending champion from Austin, shut out the San Angelo Merchants, 7-0, without giving up a hit.

Randall Reiger also pitched a no-hitter as Corner Drug of San Angelo sent the Abilene A's reeling into the loser's bracket by winning, 4-0.

In other first round games, the Bay City Redcaps decisioned Brownwood Floral, 3-1; and Monsanto Chemical of Texas City blanked Henley Insurance of Brownwood, 4-0.

The double elimination tournament continues through Sunday.

Turner And Redl Tangle Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Welterweight Gil Turner, a fighter with a hefty bankroll, and Stefan Redl, a newcomer who would like to build up a roll, clash tonight in the 10-round television feature at Madison Square Garden.

Turner, 27, older, more experienced and a harder hitter, is the 8-5 favorite. It should be a lively scrap all the way.

Gil likes to tear after an opponent and fire away with both hands. The same goes for Redl. Someone will have to give and it figures to be 25-year-old Redl. Turner has proved he can take a wallop. Redl's jaw hasn't been tested yet by a ranking fighter.

After eight years of pro fighting, Turner, of Philadelphia, is ranked fifth by Ring magazine and sixth by the National Boxing Assn. His record is 55-17-2, including 35 knockouts.

Redl, a pro only 28 months, is unranked. He has an impressive numerical record of 20-1, including 13 knockouts. The lone defeat was by split decision to Gale Kerwin at the Garden last Feb. 14.

Since that loss, the Passaic, N.J., scrapper has won three straight.

$30,000 EVENT

Ruidoso Futurity Is Set Saturday

RUIDOSO, N. M. (SC) — The 13th Annual Running of the Ruidoso Quarter Horse Futurity Trials, going 400 yards, will be the featuré attraction on Saturday's card, Aug. 23.

Thirty-three of the proven top colts in the nation chose to come here and compete for a chance at the fabulous $30,000 estimated purse—the richest 'short' horse stake in the world. This necessitated the running off of four trial divisions placed seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth on the racing card.

In the first division the fleet sorrel filly, Chantella, representing John Mawson of Los Angeles, Calif., and Eagle Flight, belonging to Lester Goodson of Houston, seem the possible public choice.

The remaining contestants in this one are: Amber's Comet, Sissy Babe, Wayward Win, Li Chilla, William's Girl and Top Cat.

In the second division, Antler's Trade, carrying the silks of Dale Robertson, and Bar Flash, owned by the Double L. Farm of El Paso, appear the likely choices.

Chickadell, Blue Bars, Field Boy, Magnolia Chief, Speedy Zip and Speck Deck make up the remaining field.

First Call, owned by Hoss Inman of Lamar, Colo., and Billy Bar Be, owned by Arden Carter of Kirkland, Ariz., apparently top this field. First Call is the recent Raton Quarter Horse Futurity winner.

The rest of the competitors are: Askew Arky, Real Hug, Be Glad, Laughing Boy, Sure Dandy and Alliance.

The fourth division is headed by Mr. Bruce, belonging to A. B. Green of Purcell, Okla., and Cactus Comet, representing Art Pollard of Tucson, Ariz.

The challengers are: Catch Texas, Jet Sue, Miss Louton—a three time winner at La Mesa Park, Brandyblaze and Lawman.

This stellar card is also supported by a good Thorobred Allowance.

Officers Elected For Fem Circuit

Officers were elected last night at a meeting of the Thursday Matinee Bowling League.

Named executive officer for all the league's functions was the chosen president Virginia Pickett.

Other officers elected were Jean Buchanan, vice president, Virginia Kent, secretary-treasurer, Clifford Price, reporter, and Helena Daniels, sergeant at arms.

The next meeting for the matinee bowlers will be Sept. 4 at 1:30 p.m., at which time fall bowling arrangements will be made.

Small Turnover In State Legislature

By FINIS MOTHERSHEAD
AP Staff Writer

Barring Republican upsets in the November general election, Texas Democrats voting in Saturday's second primary will complete the slimmest turnover of state legislators in years.

Three members of the Senate and 31 in the House remain to be nominated.

Except for a lone statewide runoff—for Place 1 on the Texas Supreme Court—and a scattering of local races, the legislative contests provide one of the few spurs for voter interest.

One other stimulant is a continuation of the conflict between conservative and liberal factions backing candidates, chiefly in the larger cities.

A turnout of little more than 250,000 votes is in prospect. That's the estimate from Robert Johnson, chief of the Texas Election Bureau. The July 26 first primary drew more than 1,300,000 to the polls.

Lacking local contests, half a dozen or more economy-minded counties don't plan to hold elections.

The Supreme Court battle rematches Edwin Smith, 47, Houston lawyer who says the job needs a man fresh from trial courts, and Robert Hamilton, 58, chief justice of the El Paso Court of Appeals who cites his experience on that bench since 1953 and previously as 70th District judge.

In the first primary, Hamilton got 476,799 votes, Smith 311,481 and Houston lawyer Wilmer Hunt 303,606.

Houston has runoffs for five of its eight seats in the House. There is a conservative-liberal battle in each case.

Apart from this factional fight, a race drawing more than casual attention is one between Roger Daily, Houston lawyer and a liberal, and George Echols, multi-millionaire oil man and conservative whose platform advocates legalized horse race betting and local option sale of liquor by the drink.

Daily and Echols ran a close one-two in a first primary, eliminating two other candidates.

Runoffs will provide the only Senate newcomers hoping Democratic nomination will remain tantamount to election. Twelve incumbents were renominated in the first primary. The other 16 senators have half their four-year terms still to serve.

In the House, 12 incumbents were forced into runoffs. Nineteen new members have been nominated, and 19 more are being named Saturday. The rest of the 150-man House is headed back for another session—unless Republicans unexpectedly crack the Democrats' grip.

Bomarc Missile Proves Merit

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A Bomarc interceptor missile has proved again that it is ready to become a part of the nation's air defense system.

The swift missile roared across the Atlantic yesterday and zeroed in on a pilotless B17 drone bomber at a range of about 250 miles.

The Bomarc was triggered when someone pushed a button at a computer control center in Kingston, N. Y., 1,500 miles away.

It was the third time this month that the Bomarc had been fired successfully within the SAGE air defense system.

SAGE, which stands for Semi-automatic Ground Environment, is composed of a string of radar stations and electronic computers across the country. The system, which went into effect June 27, can spot an enemy air attack and begin retaliation in seconds.

The Bomarc, which could carry a nuclear warhead under tactical conditions, guided in to destroy the target without a hitch, the Air Force said. For test purposes, however, the 15,000-pound missile usually scores a near miss rather than a direct hit.

The giant computer in Kingston, part of the Eastern Air Defense Command, produced the Bomarc firing data shortly after a radar antenna sighted the drone from the cape.

The Bomarc, manufactured by the Boeing Airplane Co., soon will be operational at 14 launching sites across the nation. It covers a range of about 250 miles traveling at three times the speed of sound.

Teen-Age Girl Falls 150 Feet Off Mountain Ledge

MOUNT WASHINGTON, Mass. (AP)—Eileen Reiter, 16, of the Bronx, N.Y., on an outing in Bash Bish State Forest, fell 150 feet to her death on a ledge yesterday.

Nola Zirin, 15, Jericho, N.Y., narrowly escaped plunging into the 500-foot Bash Bish Falls gorge after her companion. Clutching at Miss Reiter as she fell, Miss Zirin slipped off a narrow path 100 feet from the top of the gorge but managed to seize hold of brush and pull herself back.

The Reiter girl landed on a narrow water-filled ledge some 250 feet above the base.

State police who climbed almost vertically to reach her said there was nothing they could do. They fastened a rope around her and lowered the body to the bottom by stages.

The girls were in a party of six teen-agers and two adults who came here from Camp Try-Woodie at Hyde Park, N.Y. Police said the pair apparently were climbing the gorge alone when the accident occurred.

Miss Zirin was in a state of shock when she returned to the base.

Denmark Bans Nuclear Sub, But Norway To Welcome Her

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Denmark Thursday barred the U.S. atomic submarine Skate from visiting Copenhagen. The country's leading nuclear authorities expressed fear of radiation perils in case of a collision in the harbor.

But neighboring Norway promised an official welcome when the Skate docks Saturday at Bergen, her first port of call after a crossing under the north polar ice. The Skate will visit Oslo from Monday to Wednesday. Then it had planned to go on to Copenhagen.

A member of the Danish Atomic Energy Commission told The Associated Press the commission chairman, famed Dr. Niels Bohr, concurred in the decision to bar the Skate. The great nuclear physicist was a member of the brain trust behind the first U.S. atomic bomb.

A Norwegian naval source called the Danish decision utter nonsense. But the Norwegian health director, Karl Evang, sent two health inspectors to try to contact the health officer of the Skate before the submarine docks at Bergen.

Evang said this step was planned long before the Danish decision was taken. He added that Norway simply wants "to know as much as possible so as to be able to take our precautions."

The Norwegian Defense Ministry asked its research institute for an opinion on the possibility of danger. The institute's chief research officer said he had no information that would prompt the institute to advise against the Skate's visit.

Danish Premier Hans C. Hansen acted on the recommendation of his atomic advisers, who warned against "disastrous consequences" in the case of an accident involving the vessel.

One commission member, who refused to be named, said the advice was given Thursday by some of the top nuclear experts running Denmark's atom station at Risoe, 30 miles from Copenhagen.

Kofoed Hansen, a leading technician at the Risoe atom station, said that, from a security point of view, it was "of no useful purpose to place such a vessel virtually in the center of Copenhagen" with its population of 1,200,000.

He added that the Skate could be expected to contain huge amounts of radioactivity after her long trip across the arctic.

Hansen said the danger of an accident was greater in the sound —the narrow strait between Denmark and Sweden through which the Skate would pass—because of heavy maritime traffic.

Can Have Independence, De Gaulle Tells Colonies

TANANARIVE, Madagascar (AP) —Premier De Gaulle today bluntly told Madagascar and all other French colonies that they can leave the French Union as independent nations before the end of 1958 if their peoples so desire.

De Gaulle, starting a swing through France's African territories, told Madagascans that the test of their desire will be their vote in the Sept. 28 referendum on his proposed new French constitution.

The referendum, he told a special joint session of the island's representative Assembly, will offer all peoples in the French Union a chance to decide their own future.

A majority vote against the constitution, he continued, "will mean that Madagascar no longer wishes to be associated with France . . . and the French government will draw the appropriate conclusions."

The implication was that secession would mean an end to French financial support, essential to the economy of the big island off the southeast coast of Africa.

De Gaulle did not specifically include or exclude rebellious Algeria in his promise of independence if wanted. Algeria is technically a colony but a part of metropolitan France.

Work Due To Start Soon On Coahoma Sewer System

COAHOMA (SC) — Contractors are due to move in next week for construction of this city's first sanitary sewer system, Mayor W. C. Hutchins said Friday.

Panhandle Construction Company of Lubbock got the contract on a low bid of $82,166.64. Six other bids ranged upwards to a peak of $123,095.67.

Representatives from the contractor were here Wednesday to make advance plans for beginning of work.

Included in the contract are the installation of 4,530 feet of 10-inch outfall line, 4,975 feet of 8-inch line, and 27,200 feet of 6-inch line, along with the installation of necessary manholes and appurtenances, an Imhoff tank, sludge drying beds and oxidation ponds.

During the past week engineers have checked the water line between Big Spring and Coahoma to make sure there was no obstructions in the main. None were found and as a result Coahoma officials are hopeful that Big Spring will install a booster pump to increase pressure enough that Coahoma's water needs may be met.

Ike's Veto Is Accepted On Civil Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee bowed reluctantly today to President Eisenhower's veto of a $589,000,000 appropriation for the Civil Service Retirement Fund.

But the group said it probably "will insist next year on the same or similar action taken by it this year in accordance with the law."

And it commented in a formal report that "The present insolvency of the fund is $20,449,000,000 of which $10,500,000,000 has been incurred under the Eisenhower administration."

The committee's comments accompanied its re-porting of a $5,993,404,900 bill financing miscellaneous government agencies. Except for the addition of $100,000 to finance the recently enacted bill providing pensions for former presidents and the exclusion of the civil service fund, the individual allotments are identical to those in the vetoed bill.

Eisenhower vetoed the bill August 4, saying there was "no sound justification whatever for adding unnecessarily over half a billion dollars to a deficit which may reach 12 billion dollars this year."

The committee said the civil service commission had requested inclusion of the $589,000,000 in the original bill to pay some of the arrearage of government contributions to the fund. The Budget Bureau rejected the commission's request, but the committee in the first bill overrode the bureau.

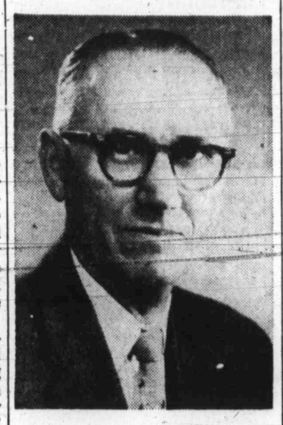
Dr. Gordon Bennett New M'Murry College Prexy

ABILENE—Dr. Gordon R. Bennett, executive vice president the last eight years, has been named president of McMurry College.

He is the sixth elected president in the 35-year history of the Methodist College, and the first layman ever named to the position.

Dr. Bennett was named president here Thursday following a called meeting of the Board of Trustees. He succeeds the late Dr. Harold G. Cooke, who died last March 17. Dr. Bennett had been acting president in the interim of a search for a successor.



DR. GORDON BENNETT

The announcement of Dr. Bennett's election was made by Dr. J. M. Willson, board chairman from Floydada.

Dr. Bennett, a native of Stamford, joined the McMurry College administration in 1948 as an assistant to Dr. Cooke. In 1950, he was promoted to executive vice president.

A former public school official, Dr. Bennett graduated from Baylor University in 1927 with a bachelor of arts degree. He obtained his master of arts degree from Hardin-Simmons University in 1944. He also has done graduate study at the University of Texas and Texas Technological College. He received an honorary doctor of law degree in 1953 from Midwestern University.

Dr. Bennett was superintendent of the Avoca School District from 1931-34. He later became principal of Hamlin High School, 1935-39, before he was appointed superintendent of the school district. He served as superintendent of the Hamlin Independent School District from 1939-45.

He was in private business from 1945-48, prior to his coming to McMurry, College. Dr. Bennett is married to the former Lola J. McElhaney. The couple has two children, Mike, 14, and a daughter, Mrs. Weldon Crowley, 20.

Missionaries In Spotlight For Church Services In City Sunday

Missionaries and other guest speakers will highlight the week-end church program for Big Spring.

Antonio Sanchis, missionary from Spain, is to speak Sunday evening at the Trinity Baptist Church.

Dr. J. B. Holt, Philippines missionary, will be the preacher for services at the First Methodist Church Sunday night.

Samuel Dayal, layman from India and a graduate student at Texas Christian University, is to speak at First Christian Church, also Sunday evening.

The Rev. Richard Copeland, Presbyterian minister from San Antonio, is to be preacher at First Presbyterian Church Sunday morning.

To Speak Here

The Rev. Richard Copeland, Above, pastor of the Beacon Hill Presbyterian Church in San Antonio, is to preach at the local First Presbyterian Church Sunday. A 1951 graduate of the Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary, he was pastor of the First Presbyterian at Brownsville before transferring to San Antonio in 1955. He will discuss "Conformity" in his sermon here.

Members of two other local churches are to address their home congregations. The Rev. Horace Whiteside is to speak at both services in the College Baptist Church. Richard Tucker will speak Sunday morning at the North Side Baptist Church.

Church leaders have announced the following programs:

ASSEMBLY OF GOD

The youth revival, which is in its second week at the Assembly of God, will continue Sunday with the Rev. and Mrs. Ken George preaching at both services. They are evangelists and musicians from Fresno, Calif.

BAPTIST

At the morning worship service of the Baptist Temple, Sunday, the Rev. A. R. Posey will preach on the subject, The Created Beyond. He will be in the pulpit Sunday evening, but the topic of his sermon has not been announced.

Assurance is the theme of the sermon to be delivered by the Rev. H. L. Bingham at the Hillcrest Baptist Church Sunday morning. His text is 1st John 5:13. At the evening meeting, he will preach on Perseverance, with the text, Heb. 6:4-6.

The 8:45 service Sunday morning at the First Baptist Church will give the key to a series of sermons planned by the pastor, Dr. P. D. O'Brien. His subject will be The Key to the Book of Ecclesiastes, Ecc. 1:9. The second service, at 11 a.m., will carry on the series with the topic, Is There A Second Chance After Death?, based on the text, Ecc. 11:3.

At the evening service, the pastor will speak on "Playing the Fool," with the text, 1st Sam. 26:21.

From John 19:13-24 comes the text selected by the Rev. D. R. Philley of Phillips Memorial Baptist Church for his sermon on The Three Crosses. His evening subject will be The Victory of a Right Decision, 2nd Kinds 7:3-10.

Justice Among Nations

THE SAME GOD IS LORD OF ALL PEOPLES WHO CALL UPON HIM

Scripture—Isaiah 30:1-5, 15-18; 31:1-3; Micah 4:1-7; Malachi 2:10; Acts 10:1-35; Ephesians 2:13—3:21.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

IN THE first reference in the Bible assigned to today's lesson, the prophet Isaiah is warning his people not to go back to Egypt and align themselves with that strong nation. The Lord had not sanctioned it, he said, and it would bring about evil. The children of Israel apparently had thought that joining Egypt would help them against their enemies.

Isaiah may be dated about 702 B.C., and the book of Micah, which is the next on our references, was written about the same time. Micah's words were full of hope for his nation and for all nations. His prophecy about universal peace has not yet come true, sad to say, 2,600 years later.

"But in the last days it shall come to pass, that the mountain of the house of the Lord shall be established in the top of the mountains, and it shall be exalted above the hills; and people shall flow unto it. And many nations shall come, and say, Come, and let us go into the mountain of the Lord, and to the house of the God of Jacob; and He will teach us His ways, and we will walk in His paths."

Micah prophesied that in that time the Lord would "rebuke strong nations afar off; and they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruninghooks: nation shall not lift up a sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more."

Every man would sit "under his vine and under his fig tree; and none shall make them afraid." We of our frightened generation can only pray to the Lord and do our part, even in very small ways, to bring this blessed day to come.

The scene changes. It is many years later, when Israel was under the Roman empire. There are good people and bad in every nation, and a Roman centurion named Cornelius, commanding 100 men in what was called "the Italian band," was a good man, charitable to the poor, worshiping God in Caesarea.

Cornelius had a vision of an angel of God who told him that the Lord had heard and approved of his good deeds. He was told to send some men to Joppa, about 30 miles from Caesarea, and seek a man named Peter, whom they would find lodged in the house of Simon, a tanner. Cornelius called two of his servants and a devout soldier, and sent them to Joppa.

Now Peter was having an odd experience of his own. He went to the housetop to pray, but fell asleep or in a trance. He was hungry, and he saw a sheet being let down from above, held at its four corners, and holding all manner of beasts. A voice said, "kill, and eat," but Peter said he could not because he had never eaten anything that was "unclean" according to the Mosiac law. He was rebuked by the voice saying, "What God hath cleansed, that call not thou common."—Acts 10:15.

The messengers from Cornelius appeared at the door of the house where Peter lodged, asking for him, and he went down to them. They told him their errand, and he lodged them that night, and the next morning he went with them to Cornelius in Caesarea. Cornelius related how the Lord had told him to send for Peter, and Peter then knew the meaningn of his housetop vision, saying, "Of a truth I perceive that God is no respecter of persons," and he preached Christ to the household, and baptized them.

Since Peter's day the world has grown larger—so many more nations, so many many more people. Today we know so much more about people of other lands, through illustrated lectures, radio and television, that the earth has seemed to shrink, as far-away lands and their peoples become familiar to us.

Christian missionaries leave their comfortable homes and settle among people strange to them, bringing them the Gospel, ministering to their physical and spiritual needs and making them their friends.

Justice among nations will only come when we recognize all people as brothers and sisters, no matter what their color or creed. We must study to understand them and to help them solve their problems as we do our own, treating them as our true friends, not as strangers.

BIG BUSINESS

Apples are big business! About 150 million bushels are grown in the U. S. each year.

Perhaps that's why this lad wonders if he could find still another use for the apple. Or perhaps he only wonders if there's a worm in it. If there is, will he toss it away, complaining it's no good?

Some people say they don't go to Church because there are hypocrites in the Church. Then you might as well chuck out that basket of apples in the cellar. There's probably at least one worm in it. But really, does that affect the goodness and usefulness of all the rest?

The Church is big business too, guiding millions of souls each year. If you will attend regularly, earnestly worshipping and sincerely watching for a place where you can be of service, you will give and gain a life-full that's worthwhile. Then you will forget there might be a hypocrite, or a wormy apple around.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

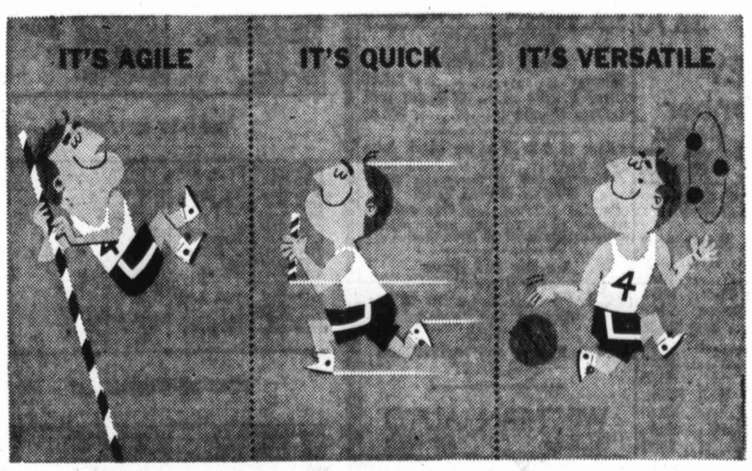
Why is the daily newspaper like an all-around athlete?



ONE TOPPER SERIES

ANSWER: IT'S SO VERSATILE! Advertisers invest more money in the daily newspaper than in any other medium because it can do so many things so well. Among its many accomplishments for advertisers, the daily newspaper can announce new products, promote deals, advertise prices, challenge competition, bolster sick markets and tell a complete product story. With the newspaper advertisers can, apply selling pressure whenever, and wherever they wish. It's the perfect answer to their needs.

U.S. Arms For Indonesia

A Japanese security guard, employed by the U.S. Army, walks past a large stack of boxes containing U.S. small arms being readied in a warehouse at Yokohama, Japan, for shipment to Indonesia. In addition to the weapons, 300 vehicles ranging from jeeps to large trucks are being prepared for shipment to President Sukarno's government. An Army spokesman said the "bulk of the equipment" being sent to Indonesia "is reconditioned equipment in A-1 condition." (AP Wirephoto).

Governor Hits Back At His Labor Critic

AUSTIN (AP)— statement by Labor Leader Jerry Holleman "comparing people to cattle is sheer political demagoguery," Gov. Daniel said yesterday.

"Mr. Holleman's charge that I have ignored the plight of hungry and jobless people while trying to get relief for drought-hungry cattle completely ignores the truth," Daniel said.

Holleman, president of the Texas State AFL-CIO, criticized Daniel for refusing to call a special legislative session to get federal aid for jobless workers. The law would loan federal money to states to extend benefits to unemployed workers who have exhausted state benefits.

Daniel said the emergency of the recession had been relieved recently and that the regular session convening in January could take the matter up if desired.

"Those who speak of the additional federal benefits as being lost to our state and our people have failed to point out that this money has to be repaid, either by the state or by employment taxes. It is not a matter of picking up free money," Daniel said.

Holleman said Daniel got federal aid for cattle and called two special sessions to complete his legislative program "but he appears to be unmoved by the desperate situation of tens of thousands of jobless Texans."

The governor said the only relief sought for cattle has been to protect farmers and ranchers. He said the State Welfare Department and his office had worked tirelessly to provide food to jobless workers and their families under the federal-state program.

"How any man can ignore these facts and so misrepresent the action of the state government is difficult for me to comprehend," Daniel said.

The governor also said he did not believe that any responsible leaders of labor or industry "will now sincerely urge a special session unless it is for the purpose of playing politics with this matter."

Company Proposes Mortgage Bonds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Permission to offer 35 million dollars of first mortgage pipeline bonds due in 1978 was asked yesterday by Texas Eastern Transmission Corp.

The firm told the Securities & Exchange Commission the proceeds will be added to corporate funds. The interest and public offering price will be announced later.

Britain And Iceland Fuss Over Fishing

LONDON (AP) — Diplomats were hopeful today that talks going on in Paris might work out a last-minute compromise to avoid a fishing war between Britain and Iceland.

Neither of the North Atlantic Treaty allies has given any public indication of coming to terms in the dispute over the fishing waters off Iceland. But confidential discussions in Paris were reported progressing well.

Iceland has announced that beginning Sept. 1 the area in which foreign trawlers cannot fish will be extended from four miles offshore to 12 miles from her coastline. The move is intended both to protect one of the world's richest fish-breeding areas and to better fishing for Iceland's own trawlers.

Britain decided to protect her trawlers with gunboats in the 4-to-12-mile belt around Iceland. A British fishing fleet now is headed for the area which sailors from the north of England have fished for centuries.

Reports from the Icelandic capital, Reykjavik, said crewmen on coast guard patrol boats are being trained as gunners. Premier Hemann Jonasson of Iceland denied that his government would make concessions.

The Paris talks between Britain and Iceland were called by Paul-Henri Spaak, NATO secretary general. Norwegian sources in London said three Norwegian experts joined the talks last weekend. These sources expressed optimism.

Some observers have expressed fear that the dispute will drive Iceland, which has a strong Communist minority in her government, toward the Soviet Union.

Local Trio On C-C Program

Three Big Springers are on the program for the seventh annual WTCC short course for Chamber of Commerce managers, presidents and office personnel.

R. L. Beale, manager of Texas Electric Service Co. here, will speak to office secretaries on the topic of "What the Public Expects." Edith Gay, secretary in the local C of C office, is to preside over the session at which Beale will speak.

Bill Quimby, Big Spring Chamber manager, is to conduct a class for new managers and staff workers.

The short course is scheduled for Friday and Saturday, Aug. 29-30, at the Wooten Hotel in Abilene. All of the classes will be held on Saturday, following get-acquainted activities on Friday afternoon and evening. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce organized the short course and its first session was held in Big Spring six years ago. The annual meetings have been alternated between Big Spring and Abilene.

Queen Is Chosen

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)— Miss Mary Bruce, 18, of Houston was chosen queen of the National Junior Achievers Conference yesterday.

Lions Capable, Says Wilson

DETROIT (AP) — For George Wilson, there is no direction to go except down in 1958.

The head coaching job with the Detroit Lions was thrust upon him two days before the team's first preseason game last summer. He led the Lions to a tie for the Western Conference championship and his team whipped the San Francisco 49ers in the playoff game.

Then his club thrashed the Cleveland Browns for the world title and the Wilson-coached West stars defeated the East team in the annual Pro Bowl contest.

"I figure the only way I could top that performance is to quit my job", Wilson quipped. "But I ain't gonna do that."

"We were a good team, and we still are," he added. "That's not to say that we're going to repeat this season, though. This is a crazy league and you have to be lucky to win. I just hope we still have some luck left."

Five members of the title-winning club are gone. Leon Hart, Frank Gotski and Sonny Gandee retired. Dorne Dibble was traded to New York and then announced his retirement too. Lineman Ray Krouse was traded to Baltimore.

"We need a couple more offensive linemen, a running back and another offensive end," Wilson said. "We're pretty well set on defense. All we can do is hope some of our rookies come through for us. Otherwise, it could be a long season."

Oil Bowl Game Is On Tap Tonight

WICHITA FALLS (AP)—Texas and Oklahoma schoolboy squads clash tonight in the Oil Bowl football game with Texas a solid favorite.

The Texans took 11 of the first 12 and tied in the other one but last year Oklahoma broke through for a 21-7 victory.

Texas Coaches J. V. Sikes of East Texas and J. W. Bolton of Kilgore Junior College have what is considered the finest line ever presented in the charity game. The backfield seethes with top runners like Tommy Minter of Gladewater, Bert Coan of Pasadena and Ronnie Bull of Bishop. Directing this array and doing the passing will be Sonny Gibbs of Graham.

Austin Hosts Pros In Game Saturday

AUSTIN (AP)—The Baltimore Colts and the Chicago Cardinals planned a workout tonight under the lights at Memorial Stadium where they will meet in a preseason game tomorrow.

Both clubs will be looking for their first victory of the year before an estimated crowd of more than 20,000.

Crippled Jew Has Triumph In World Bible Contest

JERUSALEM (AP)—A crippled, 30-year-old Jew whose family name means "The Wise Man" won the first international Bible quiz competition this week.

Amos Haham, a synagogue reader in a poor, Orthodox section of Jerusalem, defeated Bible experts from 14 other nations in answering questions about the Old Testament.

The official prize was a glass jar nearly 2,000 years old from a tomb at Beth Shearim, in the northern part of the Holy Land. The contest was sponsored by the Israeli Broadcasting Service and the committee for celebrations of the nation's 10th birthday.

The last question asked the three finalists from France, Brazil and Israel gave Haham some trouble. The question: where in the Old Testament besides the five books of Moses is there mention of the Menorah, the seven-branched candelabra that is the Israeli state emblem?

"Kings, Chronicles, Zachariah, Ezekiel," Haham said, then paused. He shook his head and went on, "I think in connection with King Zedekiah — but I am not sure." The five judges headed by an Israeli Supreme Court justice marked him correct.

It was a moment of celebration all over Israel. An estimated 750,000 persons were listening by radio at the contest's ending after midnight. The crowd of more than 2,000 in the Hebrew University outdoor amphitheater where the finals were held included Israeli President Izhak Ben-Zvi and Premier David Ben-Gurion.

Ben-Gurion, a noted Biblical scholar himself, told newsmen he perhaps could have answered 40 per cent of the questions, "but this is something that demands daily study in the style of Amos Haham."

Mostly self-taught, Haham has been an obscure employe of the Institute for the Blind. Since a childhood accident he has been partially paralyzed in the left side and he has a speech impediment.

When unofficial prizes began to flood in after he won the Israeli eliminations for the world contest, Ben-Gurion sent him to his own doctor. A trade union has promised him a two-room apartment in place of his tiny bare room.

The other two finalists were Mrs. Simone Dumont, a Protestant publisher of children's books in Paris, and Miss Irene Santos, a Seventh Day Adventist who teaches in a high school in Rio de Janeiro. Mrs. Myrtle Davis of Buford, Ga., a Baptist who represented the United States, tied for seventh place.

Local Guard Officer Goes To Army's Staff College

Big Spring Guardsman Maj. George W. Thorburn has been selected as one of two officers of the 36th Infantry Division to study at the Army's Command and General Staff College of Leavenworth, Kan.

Maj. Thorburn and Maj. Jesse K. Barton of Santa Anna were especially selected by Maj. Gen. Carl Phinney of Dallas, commander of the 36th Division, to attend the 17-week course at Leavenworth.

Maj. Thorburn, who lives at 1005 Johnson in Big Spring, is assistant to the 36th Division's chief of staff. Maj. Barton is operations and training officer of the 36th Division's 142nd Infantry Regiment.

Enlisting in the National Guard's 36th Division in 1931, Thorburn has a distinguished record as a citizen-soldier. He served overseas in World War II, winning numerous battle awards, including the Silver Star and the Bronze Star.

He has been affiliated with the 36th Division since its reorganization in 1948. He has been on the Division staff since 1950 and was promoted to major 1955.

Liz Taylor Asks Five Million In Damages

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Elizabeth Taylor has filed a five-million-dollar damage suit against three corporations, charging them with negligence in the plane crash which killed her husband, Mike Todd, and three others.

The action was filed in federal court yesterday on behalf of the actress and Todd's son, Mike Todd Jr.

At the same time, Mrs. Marta Cohn, widow of writer Art Cohn, who also died in the crash last March, asked damages of 1½ million dollars.

The defendants are Ayer Lease Plan, Inc., described as the owner and operator of the plane; Trade-Ayer, Inc., and Michael Todd Co., Inc., maintainers and controllers of the plane.

Officials at Ayer Lease Plan and Trade-Ayer, both located at Linden Airport, Linden, N.J., did not immediately comment.

The twin-engine plane, named The Liz for Miss Taylor, crashed in the Zuni Mountains near Grants, N.M., March 22. In addition to Todd and Cohn, the victims were pilot Bill Verner and copilot Tom Barclay.

Miss Taylor's and young Todd's suit said Todd left a widow and two children and had been "gainfully working with a reasonable expectation of even greater earnings in the future."

New Car Production Hit By Walkouts

DETROIT (AP)—The auto industry is being harried by a wave of strikes which have idled some 5,500 workers and curtailed production of the first 1959 models rolling off some assembly lines.

Walkouts have hit plants of all the Big Three auto makers this week.

Workers struck at five locations in Michigan, Ohio and Illinois in the worst outbreak of trouble since contracts between the manufacturers and the United Auto Workers expired last Memorial Day weekend.

A Chrysler spokesman said a strike of 330 employes at its key stamping plant in Twinsburg, Ohio, may slow down production of all Chrysler's 1959 models. The Twinsburg dispute was touched off when the company fired a UAW shop committeeman for ordering 200 workers to refuse overtime work.

General Motors was the target for a strike of 70 workers at its Buick engine plant in Flint, Mich., idling some 1,400 employes. The walkout was staged over the same issue — the scheduling of overtime while other workers are without jobs.

Another GM plant was closed in Mansfield, Ohio, where die setters walked off their jobs and idled another 1,400 at the Fisher Body works. The company said the dispute arose when the workers refused to perform work along the lines of established procedure.

Ford's stamping plant at Chicago Heights, Ill., was hit by a walkout of 147 die setters Wednesday night and the operation was shut down when the work force of 1,050 failed to show up. The company said pending disciplinary action touched off the strike.

DEAR ABBY

TIT FOR TAT

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Recently a neighbor of mine told me that my wife had a man friend coming to see her while I was at work. I asked my wife about this and she said he came to see her but nothing went on excepting maybe a few kisses. I asked her several times if she was SURE it didn't go any farther and she said to me, "Let the one who has not sinned cast the first stone" meaning my record was not exactly perfect. I admit I got myself involved a few times but that was years ago. Do you think because I have sinned in the past I have no right to know what my wife does while I'm at work?

NOT PERFECT

DEAR NOT: No one is entirely without sin and therefore (according to that proverb) no one should cast any stones. If you are through living in a glass house, go ahead and cast a few. What your wife does when you are at work is definitely your business.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: We have just celebrated our third wedding anniversary. My husband's mother is beneficiary of his Life Insurance policy. After a few mentions, he still has not changed it. He says that I can be replaced but his mother can't. What do you think I ought to do about it?

UNPROTECTED

DEAR UNPROTECTED: I think your husband should have a long talk with his clergyman or insurance agent. His IDEAS should be replaced.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my grandmother. She is putting my mother in her grave. My grandmother shouldn't be living alone but nobody can live with her. We tried to talk her into going to a Home for the Aged but she says she doesn't want to be with those old people. She is going to be 100 years old September 9th. My mother cooks things and takes them to her every day and comes back crying because her own mother calls her names, throws the food at her and says she doesn't need "charity." My mother is 75 and this problem is getting too much for us. Please, Abby, give us some advice.

END OF ROPE

DEAR END: Few 100-year-olds are competent to live alone, and your grandmother is no exception. She could be a danger to herself and others. Call in a medical doctor and ask his advice. Granny needs a companion, a nurse or a new residence.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am a young mother of two small children. My husband and I are separated and the only thing holding up the divorce is the money. Three weeks ago I started going with a friend of my husband. He wants to take me on a holiday trip for a weekend and says he doesn't mind taking my children. My mother says she will keep my children for me because it would be no vacation if I had the children. But I think it might not look good if he and I went away together alone. What do you think? I am serious about him.

SHOULD I

DEAR SHOULD: A married woman (and you are STILL married) should not take weekend trips with a man, regardless of wheather or not she takes her children along. When your divorce is final, talk turkey, but don't gobble up the dessert before the appetizer.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO LEW AT THE FILLING STATION: One-armed drivers usually run into a church. Dont take any foolish chances. . .you're young yet!
