Tragedies Mar Christmas Observance

Christmas Here And There

Christmas Mail Sets Record

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25. (AP)—Postmaster General Farley estimated today the Christmas mail this year set a new record.

Reports for the first 22 days of the month, he said, indicated that the volume of Christmas mail and postal receipts "was by far the greatest in the history of the postal service."

Duke Buys Flowers

CANNES, France, Dec. 25. (AP)—The Duke of Windsor practically bought out a floral shop today to celebrate his first Christmas with his bride, the former Wallis Warfield.

Rising late after a Christmas eve dinner with a few friends, the Duke went to his favorite floral shop and purchased nearly $300 worth of orchids, violets and out-of-season lilacs.

With a big smile, he ordered the lot delivered at once to the Duchess at the villa of Mr. and Mrs. Herman L. Rogers where the Windsors are staying.

Strikers Accept 'Truce'

PARIS, Dec. 25. (AP)—Two thousand sit-in strikers marched out of the Goodrich Rubber company factory singing the "International" tonight after accepting Premier Camille Chautemps' plan for a Christmas truce.

Before they left the plant they had a special Christmas dinner, after spending most of the day singing and dancing. Police permitted musicians to enter the factory as a special Christmas concession by the government.

They Got The Wrong Hiram

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 25. (AP)—Hiram W. Johnson, an old resident here, called up the newspaper today.

"Say," he said, "is there another man named Hiram W. Johnson in town that you know? I've been getting Christmas telegrams from all over the country today from people I never heard of before so I sent them all back to the telegraphic office."

The California senator of the same name is vacationing at Miami Beach.

St. Nick Kind To 'Girls'

HUNTSVILLE, Dec. 25. (AP)—St. Nicholas was kind today to the "Goree girls"—inmates of the Texas penitentiary system's women's ward.

The women received numerous gifts, ate a big turkey dinner, played games and tonight enjoyed a stagless dance to the accompaniment of the penitentiary orchestra.

Warm In The Valley

HARLINGEN, Dec. 25. (AP)—The Rio Grande valley had no white Christmas. Residents mopped brows in a maximum temperature of 81 degrees and enjoyed a minimum of 61.

Strangers Attend Dinner

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25. (AP)—Forty women and eight men who "live alone and don't like it" attended a strangers' Dutch treat Christmas luncheon arranged by Dr. Grace Thompson at a hotel.

Famous Characters Meet

BURBANK, Calif., Dec. 25. (AP)—It was the eve before Christmas and Butcher Rip Van Winkle was busy with his sausages and steaks.

Mrs. Mary Christmas, of Santa Claus, Ind., who is visiting here, came in to buy a turkey, and so they met—Mrs. Christmas and Rip Van Winkle. It's a small world.

Things Looking Up Again

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Dec. 25. (AP)—Things were looking up on this Christmas day for the "upside down" girl.

Twenty-three-year-old Marion Patterson became known as the "upside down" girl in April 1936, when she was burned so seriously physicians ordered her to lie face down.

She remained in that position on a hospital cot for a year.

Eventually the burns healed, pain eased and last spring she began looking up again, a little at first, then for longer periods each day.

A few weeks ago she started taking a few steps at a time without crutches.

Yesterday the "upside down" girl went home to the family Christmas celebration she's missed for two years.

Newton D. Baker Dies Saturday Of Heart Attack

U. S. World War Leader Victim At Cleveland

Secretary Of War In Wilson's Administration Mobilized Greatest Army In History

(By The Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, Dec. 25.—Newton D. Baker, who as secretary of war mobilized the greatest army in the history of his country, died today after a heart attack.

The short, eloquent statesman who served in the World war cabinet of President Wilson had been confined to his bed since shortly after his 66th birthday Dec. 3. He was first stricken several months ago in Syracuse, N. Y.

He recovered from this attack and resumed some of his law practice here.

Had Ceased Public Life

In the later years of his life he had withdrawn gradually from the multiplicity of interests which he cultivated after leaving public service, living quietly at his home here and visiting his law office frequently.

Last year he resigned as chairman of the Cuyahoga county (Cleveland) Democratic central committee, a position he had held for 26 years. He said then "it's up to us older men to give the young fellows their chance."

Studied World Affairs Closely

Although reluctant in late years to express himself on political questions, he studied international affairs closely. A little more than a year ago, he said "the world is in the most unsafe situation I have ever seen it."

Baker is survived by his widow, one son, Newton D. Baker, 3rd, two daughters, Mrs. Margaret Wright of St. Louis and Mrs. Elizabeth McGean of Cleveland, and five grandchildren.

Members of the family had gathered at the Baker home for a quiet Christmas. The former war secretary's son, Mr. Baker, Mrs. McGean, a physician and a nurse were with him when he died.

Members of the family said he was "cheerful to the last" and felt well enough to join in some of the Christmas festivities.

Officers Seeking Knob-Knockers

Officers throughout the South Plains joined in search Saturday for knob-knockers who obviously are "old heads" in the game, after they had looted Santa Fe railroad station safes Friday night at Lamesa, O'Donnell, Tahoka and Wilson.

Warning of the activities was broadcast from Lubbock police radio station after officers had expressed the belief that the fugitives might attempt similar activities Saturday night.

Total Only $33

Total of the loot obtained, reports to police here said, was only $33, of which $23 was taken from the O'Donnell station, $6 from Tahoka and $4 from Wilson. Nothing was obtained from the Lamesa station, although damage to the safes will aggregate several hundred dollars.

Information to City Recorder Lewis Kittrell here was that the knob-knockers were most methodical in their methods. Apparently raiding the Lamesa station first, they used a heavy hammer to batter the knob from the safe.

The room was well lighted, but they took no precaution other than to pull down the shades on one side of the room, Kittrell was told. Cigaret stubs, footprints and tire marks indicated they proceeded leisurely and devoted a considerable length of time to the attempt to open the safe after the knob had

Bloody Hand-To-Hand Fighting Marks Christmas Day In Spain

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Dec. 25. (AP)—Dawn of Christmas morning found insurgent and government troops in bloody hand-to-hand combat in the hills northwest of Teruel.

Squadrons of airplanes fought indecisive duels above soldiers who clashed with bayonets and grenades in the heavy snow and stinging cold.

Most government troops, who had participated in the swift drive through a blizzard to recapture Teruel, had left that city to meet the insurgent counter-offensive.

AWAIT LEHMAN'S DECISION

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 25. (AP)—Administrators of New York's second largest city today awaited Governor Lehman's decision on a plan to widen a municipal affairs inquiry which already has placed nearly half the city council under arrest.

JAPANESE ANNOUNCE BLOCKADE

SHANGHAI, Dec. 26, (Sunday) (AP)—The Japanese navy announced today that a blockade had been thrown around the industrial city of Tsingtao, where three United States warcraft were standing by to evacuate 300 Americans.

Japanese land forces pushing forward into North China previously had cut off communications between Tsinanfu, Shantung province capital, and Tsingtao, which is on the coast 250 miles north of Shanghai.

With the Japanese widening their war fronts both in north and south China, there was little in the Orient to mark the Christmas message of peace on earth.

Peace Groups Favor War Referndum

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25. (AP) — Advocates of the war referendum amendment contended today adoption of their proposal would not hamstring the national defense system.

Six peace organizations, in a statement, said "the amendment has nothing ot do with attacks on the United States."

They contended the proposed amendment to have war declared by a vote of the people provides that, in event of attack, congress retains the power to declare war.

The statement was signed by the National Council for Prevention of War, Wemon's International League for Peace and Freedom, World Peace Campaign organizations.

November Slump In Building Is Reported By Labor Department

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25. (AP)—The labor department reported today a slump in building last month.

The number of new residential buildings started, compared with November, 1936, fell off 23.7 per cent, while the amount to be spent dropped 26.5 per cent.

Traffic Mishaps In Texas Fatal To 8 Persons

More Than A Score Are Hurt; Three Killed, Nine Injured In Teague Car-Wagon Crash

(By The Associated Press)

EIGHT persons were killed in Texas traffic accidents over the Christmas holidays, reports showed late Saturday night, and more than a score were injured. No deaths attributable to fireworks were reported.

Three of the deaths occurred Christmas Eve, including those of two women in a wagon which was in collision with an automobile near Teague. Nine other persons were hurt in the crash.

MOTORISTS MUST SLOW UP

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 25. (AP) — Governor George H. Earle announced tonight that effective at midnight Dec. 31, every Pennsylvania motorist convicted of violating the state's 50-mile speed limit will have his operator's license suspended for a minimum of 90 days "in addition to any other penalty imposed by law."

"While this action may be deemed drastic by some persons," the demand nor said "it is not only fully justified but wholly unavoidable if we are to stop the dreadful carnage on Pennsylvania highways."

Houston Man Killed, Mother Is Critically Hurt In Crash

LAREDO, Dec. 25. (AP)—Michael A. Stallcup, 45, of Houston was killed and his mother, Mrs. W. B. Stallcup, sr., 75, was critically injured in an automobile collision near Bruni this afternoon.

Stallcup's wife, his daughter, Julia, 12, and Mrs. Julia Smith were injured slightly when the automobile collided with one driven by Miss Elsie May Richards of Freer. Miss Richards and Jack Scale, also of Freer, received minor injuries.

Mrs. W. B. Stallcup received a fractured skull, broken leg and broken shoulder.

Tarrant County's Toll For 1937 Is Raised To 75

FORT WORTH, Dec. 25. (AP)—Tarrant county's traffic fatality list was raised to 75 today with the death of Lee Mitchell, jr., 2, injured last night in an accident eight miles northeast of here on highway 121.

Two Youths Dead, One Is Critically Hurt At Laredo

KARNES CITY, Dec. 25. (AP)—Two youths were dead and one was critically injured when their automobile struck a concrete pillar of an underpass here today.

Chester Snoga, 14, was killed instantly. Johnnie Katriska, 24, died en route to the hospital. Mell Snoga, 17, received a fractured skull.

Others injured were John Lansie of Poth, Walter Amiol of San Antonio and Emil and Dan Snoga. The Snoga brothers were from Falls City.

The party was joy riding following a family reunion at Falls City.

Two Girls Killed, Nine Are Injured In Car-Wagon Crash

TEAGUE, Dec. 25. (AP)—Two girls were dead and nine persons were in a hospital here today recovering from injuries received last night when an automobile and a farm wagon figured in a crash.

Miss Pearl Bottom, 28, of near Teague, and Miss Mattie Lanier, 25, of Jasper, who was visiting in the Bottom home, were killed. They were among 15 persons on the wagon, en route home after a Christmas eve trip to town.

Others Injured Seriously

Seven other members of the Bottom family were injured seriously. They were T. E. Bottom, 45, and Mrs. Bottom; Bottom's mother, Mrs. Mary Bottom, 65, and four children, Margie Ruth, 15; Carl, 12; Alvis,

Christmas Day Is Passed Quietly In City; Two Babies Are About Only Excitement

Espionage Plot Report Denied

(By The Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 25.—Reports of a coastwide espionage plot were discounted today by federal civil officials.

Naval officials, however, made no comment as they continued to guard Mare Island Navy yard in San Francisco bay with an augmented force, and destroyers patroled southerns California harbor entrances in "training maneuvers."

Violated Postal Regulations

United States Attorney Frank J. Hennessy said customs officers here seized letters from the Japanese liner Tatsuta Maru for violation of postal regulations.

"I have been informed," he said, "that it has been the practice to accept mail on the vessel without stamps and affix foreign stamps after the ship clears United States waters."

A published report had linked the seizure with activity at Puget Sound Navy yard and and asserted spy plot.

Lockney Man Killed In Hunting Mishap

ALBANY, Ore., Dec. 25. (AP)—Hergert Ray Myers, 28, of Lockney, Texas, was killed last night when a .22 caliber rifle discharged accidentally as he pulled it through a wire fence while hunting.

He was visiting at the home of his father-in-law, Wiley Mudgett, in the north Albany district.

Champion Vermin-Killer For Maryland Is Awarded Prize

CUMBERLAND, Md., Dec. 25. (AP) Andrew J. Burrell, Cresaptown, is Maryland's champion vermin-killer.

A sportsmen's group set up a $25 prize for the hunter bagging the most creatures harmful to game.

Burrell won by killing 76 crows, 13 hawks, seven owls, three skunks, 11 turtles, 33 snakes and 17 starlings.

CHRISTMAS came and went Saturday—but it required two births to supply most of the excitement.

Kay Virginia Hubbard became little "Miss Christmas of 1937," both for Lubbock and her home town of Tahoka.

And little "Mr. Christmas of 1937" also put in appearance, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Pink Close of 1520 Arnett street.

Both were born at Lubbock sanitarium, Kay Virginia at 1:42 o'clock a. m.—the first Christmas birth to be reported in Lubbock. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cloda Hubbard. Her father is associated with the First National bank of Tahoka. She weighed 7 pounds 8 ounces.

The Close son was born at 8:12 a. m., and weighed 8 pounds 12 ounces.

Gifts Given To Poor

Otherwise, Christmas' most outstanding expression at Lubbock was distribution of gifts among Lubbock's poor.

Approximately 2,200 children would have had no presents had it not been for Goodfellows, who with assistance of 200 persons in 100 automobiles gathered at 1312 Avenue J at 7:30 o'clock in the morning and, within an hour, had completed their rounds.

Contents Of Sacks

In each sack were candy, two apples, two oranges, nuts, cookies, firecrackers, 20 cents in money, and a toy that had been repaired by Boy Scouts.

The Salvation Army had contributed packages to 250 children and baskets to 80 families Christmas Eve. Sanders Sunday school class, too, had given Christmas cheer.

Added to the satisfaction brought by the Christmas was the fact there had been few reports of violence and mishaps.

Peace authorities said the day was "one of the quietest" Christmases on record.

Traffic was light, most persons remaining around the Christmas tree or about their residences, watching their children play outside in mild weather with toys and presents.

Popping of firecrackers reverberated throughout the city most of the day.

Two Trainmen Are Killed When Locomotive Plunges 60 Feet

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 25. (AP)—A giant locomotive of a Pennsylvania railroad express left the tracks and plunged 60 feet down a retaining wall into a city street today, killing the engineer and fireman.

Occupants of two automobiles narrowly missed death. They said the 185-ton engine crashed with a roar "like an earthquake."

Two coaches of a train of six were dragged near the edge of the retaining wall and were saved from the plunge by the snapping of the couplings. There were no passengers aboard.

The dead were Engineer Oscar E. Rhoads, 47, of Columbus, Ohio, and Fireman William H. Strous, of Carnegie, Pa.

Move To Embargo Jap Products To Be Launched By Labor Body

NEW YORK, Dec. 25. (AP)—Captain Edward Page Gaston, national commander of the Patriot Guard, said today a move to embargo Japanese products would be launched at a conference of the National Maritime union in San Francisco on January 17.

Festivity Of Day Continues Today

(By The Associated Press)

White-robed choir boys, lifting their voices in the vibrant chords of "Hark! the herald angels sing . . ." will carry on the festivity of Christmas in second-day religious ceremonies today in churches throughout the nation.

The devout continue celebrating the birth of the Christ Child in a manger in Bethlehem 1937 years ago.

Troops In Bethlehem

There in Bethlehem itself, British troops stood guard to prevent new violence that last week cost 43 lives.

The irony of bloodshed in the Holy Land, and in other areas, was stressed in a sermon at Washington, D. C., with President Roosevelt a listener. The Rev. Peter Marshall, 35, preaching his first sermon to the president, chose for his theme the angel's song of "Peace on earth, goodwill toward men" to which Mr. Roosevelt referred in his Christmas eve broadcast to the nation.

Roosevelt Hears Minister

Terming the song "The Lost Refrain," the Rev. Marshall declared: "It is Christmas day in Spain—and machine guns rattle in the hills . . . It is Christmas day in China—and shrapnel is falling in the rice fields . . . It is Christmas day all over the world—and little children are being taught how to wear gas masks . . ."

After the service, President Roosevelt carved the turkey at the family dinner in the White House and had

Daughter Queried In Mother's Shooting

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Dec. 25. (AP)—Mrs. Cordelia Campbell, 55, daughter-in-law of the late James A. Campbell, former head of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co., was in a critical condition in a Youngstown hospital tonight with a bullet wound in the abdomen.

Trumbull County Secret Service Officer Joseph Luarde said Mrs. Campbell was accidentally shot during a Christmas party last night at the old Campbell home north of the Youngstown city limits.

Miss Louise Campbell, 28, a daughter, gave blood in a transfusion operation at the hospital and then was taken to the Trumbell county jail at Warren, Ohio, for a statement concerning the accident, Luarde said.

The secret service officer said guests at the party were decorating the Christmas tree when the shooting occurred.

County authorities said Miss Louise Campbell produced the gun and attempted to shoot out a light on the Christmas tree. The mother attempted to take the gun from her daughter, Luarde said, and was shot in the good-natured struggle which followed.

PASSENGERS, CREW SAVED

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Dec. 25. (AP) The passengers and crew of the grounded British trawler Regal were saved from rough seas off the south coast of Faxaboy tonight when Christmas revellers happened to see rockets ascend from the wrecked vessel.

Toll Of 231 Lives Is Claimed Over U. S. Saturday

Total Mounts Hourly Last Night With Reports Of Additional Accidents; Illinois Leads

(By The Associated Press)

VIOLENT death shackled tragedy onto the Christmas scene of scores of families across the nation Saturday.

With more than 231 reported killed, the toll mounted hourly—fatal crashes on streets and highways, shootings, train wrecks; and flaming death in the night came to five members of a family gathering at Auburn, Me., when an oil heater exploded and destroyed a cottage. Two of the victims, trapped as they slept, were little girls.

Six men drowned in a creek when their automobile ran off the road near Wellsburg, W. Va.

Frosted Windshields Blamed

Frosted windshields cost the lives of three persons in a head-on auto crash at Fort Dodge, Ia., and a railroad crossing collision near Danville, Ill., resulted in sudden death to Fred Carter, 51, Gates, Ind., coal mine operator, whose car was hit by a Wabash railroad freight train.

Illinois reported 21 Yuletide deaths, Ohio 16, California 15, and Maryland 14.

A collision between a 10-car mail and express train and an 11-car passenger train at Hopkinsville, Ky., caused injuries to 25 persons.

Youth Is Struck Down

In Winchester, Va., James Corbin, 14, met violent death when struck down as he rode on a shiny new bicycle he had just received for Christmas.

In Weston, Mo., a quarrel around the family Christmas tree ended in swift tragedy when a man killed his brother's wife and then committed suicide.

Chicago police said Thomas Burns, 32, shot and killed his father, James Burns, 65, when his father became angry "for nothing at all." The father was found dying on a chair beside an undecorated Christmas tree.

Father Killed In Wreck

At Pittsburgh, the two sons of William Strous, a railroad fireman, waited anxiously for their father to arrive home from his run for Christmas dinner. He never came. He was killed in a wreck a mile from the station.

In Kentucky, a crippled boy shot his father fatally; in Alabama, a convict took his own life by poison;

Pan-American Clipper Sailing On Last Leg Of New Flight

PAGO PAGO, American Samoa, Dec. 25. (AP)—The Samoan Clipper sailed today through tropical Pacific skies on the last phase of its flight from Honolulu to Auckland, N. Z., southern terminus of a new ocean air line.

Leaving Pago Pago at dawn, the plane bearing Captain Edwin C. Musick and seven other Pan-American Airways fliers had the prospect of good weather for the 1,806-mile hop.

A short distance from Samoa the Clipper jumped the international date-line, curtailing its Christmas Day, and headed into December 26.

Aged Man Is Held In Dallas For Shooting Wife And Stepson

DALLAS, Dec. 25. (AP)—The world's day of peace brought critical bullet wounds to Mrs. Mary McMasters, 64, and her son, F. M. McMasters, 42.

Police arrested G. L. McMasters, 76, husband and step-father, and charged him in two cases of assault to murder.

Detective Inspector Will Fritz said the elder McMasters told him the wife was shot accidentally.

Farmer Tittle Is Believer In Advertising; Barnyard Thief And Ad Brought Him Fame

(By The Associated Press)

ITALY, Texas, Dec. 25.—To a barnyard thief, Farmer George Washington Tittle owes his fame. Today it had resulted in:

A couple of dozen letters, clippings and marked copies of newspapers from all parts of the nation.

An order for a dozen cases of fresh eggs for the Jackson day dinner at New York City January 8.

An invitation from the Democratic National committee to attend the New York dinner as its guest.

An invitation to speak at the dinner over a nationwide radio hookup.

Farmer Tittle had this to reply to the national committee:

"I've started saving eggs and I'll bring them with me to the dinner if you'll give me a seat near Franklin D., Jack Garner and Jim Farley."

One morning some weeks ago Tittle found nothing but tail-feathers in his chicken coops and only a lot of emptiness where once had rested several sacks of succulent sweet potatoes.

He asked officers not to investigate, and inserted this ad in the local weekly:

"You steal from the rich,
You steal from the poor;
But you should leave a few
So we can raise some more."

Next morning, Tittle was awakened by the crowing of his old rooster. His entire flock was back and a note on the poultry house door said "My conscience awoke when I read your ad."

Farmer Tittle basks modestly in his new-found fame.

"That ought to prove," he said, "it pays to advertise."

Events Shaping Up For 'Big Navy' Advocates; Building Program Looming

More Ships Seen As Vital Need

BY KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25— Events are shaping to put "big navy" advocates, both in and out of congress, in a position they have not known since the end of the World war. Indications are that navy rebuilding will be a major item of debate in the regular session of congress.

Administration reluctance to disclose in advance specific plans it may be contemplating for new naval construction can be explained in part by apprehension that protracted public debate of the matter would arouse peace organizations to new activity. It might stimulate suport of the Ludlow war-referendum resolution, vigorously opposed by President Roosevelt.

May Be Relief Move

The naval construction question probably will come up as a move to meet the business recession. The idea behind it is to divert relief outlays to an undisclosed extent from other work-relief projects to naval construction either of combat or auxiliary craft because that course would give lagging industry and unemployment a quick recovery stimulus.

President Roosevelt's letter to Chairman Cartwright of the house roads committee over congressional opposition to reducing highway appropriations in an effort to approach a budget balance is significant. It deals with job making "relativity."

Wants More Work Provided

"If I have to get the budget down to a certain figure, obviously, I must eliminate the proposed expenditures which provide the least work and favor those expenditures which give the most work," the President said.

Naval and other ship building, one group argues, falls within this rule. Already congresional committees are discussing with maritime commission officials plans for an oil tanker construction program involving from ten to twenty vessels. The navy also has urged expediting the authorized two-battleship replacement program and the adding of two additional ships. Recent presidential conferences with high naval officers are described as involving construction plans.

Would Strengthen Influence

The aspect of any proposal to give impetus to navy building which will not be stressed is the diplomatic effect it might have abroad. Yet that angle is certainly uppermost in the minds of navy building advocates. Speeding up fleet reconstruction and projecting the possibility of future naval expansion, these advocates contend, would go far to strengthen American peace influence and prestige abroad, particularly in the far Eastern situation.

Short of new and grave incidents in China, dispatch of additional American warcraft to the Far East for demonstration or any other purpose is impossible. Whatever Great Britain finally does about re-inforcing her Far Eastern fleet, Washington policy gives no intimation of parallel American action.

Would Give Japan Notice

Announcement of a formidable long-range program of battle fleet reconstruction would probably have greater effect in Japan than any actual parade of warcraft. It would put Japan on notice, at least, that her activities in China were tending to push the Washington government into the new world naval armament race on a scale that might alter naval ratios in the Pacific.

Great Britain is feverishly engaged in fleet expansion to meet, primarily, the problems raised for her by German and Italian policies. The rising tide of naval construction talk in Washington points toward a similar course by this country.

Some far-seeing statesmen, however, hope that beyond these days of big armament will come a new era of peaceful adjustment of international disputes when the world effort will be to scale armaments down instead of up.

An American naval building program of stupenduous size operated in 1921-22. That was followed by the now scrapped naval limitation treaty that ended the sea armaments race for a period of years. Some observers believe the same result might be attained in the end by American re-entry into the naval race.

Worker's Meeting Of Dickens Baptist Association Is Friday

SPUR, Dec. 25. (Special)—Worker's meeting of the Dickens County Baptist association will be held Friday in the Soldier Mount church near here. It will be an all-day meeting, with lunch at noon in the church.

G. W. McDonald, president of Wayland college, Plainview, is the principal speaker from out of the county.

Program is as follows:

9:30 a. m., devotional, Ernest Lee; discussions on phases of Matt. 28 by Ray Stephens, B. B. Huckabay and W. F. Markham; sermon, "The Lord's Supper," Rev. R. C. Joyner.

Afternoon:

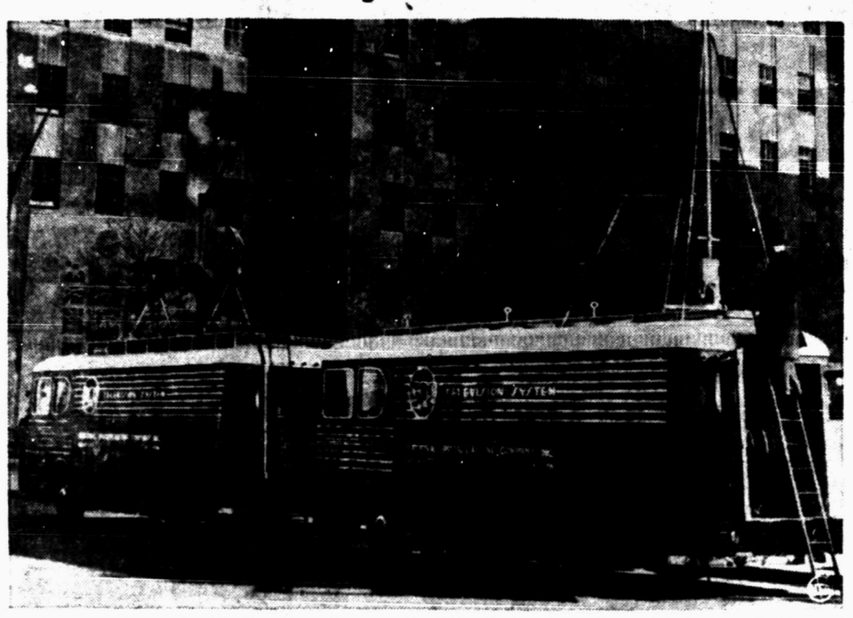

1:15, address by President McDonald; "The Cause of the Decline in Our Church Work," A. P. Stokes; "What is the Remedy, If Any, of the Decline," Wayne Grizzle or L. S. Bilberry; "The Women's Work," Mrs. T. J. Seale; business session.

REPAIR WATER LINE

MORTON, Dec. 25. (Special)—Mayor John L. McGee and City Secretary W. E. Beaty forgot official dignity recently and repaired a city water line that was broken. Both the men are experienced mechanics and did the work promptly. Service was suspended about three hours.

Harris county, of which Houston is the county seat, is one of the state's largest cattle producing areas.

Ted Healey's Many Friends In Hollywood Are Raising Trust Fund For Widow And His Son

By HUBBARD KEAVY
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 25. (AP)—The name of boisterous, philanthropic Ted Healy who died broke, was on many lips in Hollywood today.

To his many friends, there was an appeal for help in creating a trust fund for his son, born eight days ago, and for money for his second wife, Betty Hickman Healy.

The response to these pleas was generous—as generous as Healy was in life.

Wants Probe Of Death

And from his first wife, Betty Braun Healy, there came the announcement she was going to ask the district attorney to fully investigate the sudden death of the comedian last Tuesday morning.

Despite the report of the county autopsy surgeon, which ascribed Healy's death to natural causes, the first Mrs. Healy declared: "I am convinced there was foul play in connection with Teddy's death."

A few hours after Healy's burial Thursday, this word flashed around Hollywood: "Ted died without leaving a dime."

Committee Hastily Formed

And then a committee, headed by William Grady, a talent scout at M. G. M. studio, where Healy worked, was hastily formed to raise money for the second wife and her infant son.

"We raised $4,200 here at M. G. M. yesterday," said Grady today. "I got busy on the phone and called his pals at the other studios. Our goal is $10,000. We'll have it pledged soon.

"We're only doing for Ted what he did for others all his life," Grady said.

Jack Marcus, who was Healy's business manager, confirmed Grady's statement. He said that Healy's salary was $1,750 a week, "but somehow he got rid of every cent of it."

The speaker has been the presiding officer in the British house of commons since 1377.

Weighs Divorce

Sternness, piety and intense thought, blending in the face of Britain's Achbishop of Canterbury, above, seem to portray better than words his uncompromising attitude toward divorce, whether it affects king or commoner. He is pictured as he listened gravely to a Church of England Assembly discussion of a proposal to prevent clergymen from performing marriage services for any divorced man or woman.

Canadian Tells His Life Story To Wrong Man; Immigration Inspector Good Listener

BEAUMONT, Dec. 25—(AP)—A 63-year-old Canadian got his life story off his chest this Christmas morning but he told it to the wrong man.

He stopped at a home here, asking for a meal. The man of the house seemed interested and the visitor told how he slipped into this country from Canada six months ago.

When his story was finished his listener, U. S. Immigration Inspector E. E. Poston, took him to jail, where he was held for possible deportation.

VETERAN ON VISIT

LORENZO, Dec. 25. (Special)—H. B. McKinely, 90, Austin, a Confederate veteran, is visiting his daughter Mrs. P. D. Fullingim here. In his younger days he ranched in Deaf Smith county. Industrial Activity In New Low Ground

NEW YORK, Dec. 25. (AP)—Industrial activity slipped into new low ground for the year again this week, the eleventh consecutive decline.

The Associated Press seasonally adjusted index dropped to 75.5 per cent of the 1929-30 average from 76.4 a week ago and compared with 100.6 last. It now stands at the lowest point since October, 1935.

The headlong rate of decline, however, eased somewhat. For the first time in more than three months the index fell less than one full point.

Steel mill operations, cotton manufacturing and residential building chalked up new lows for the year.

C. I. Darling Of Lamesa Takes Post In Church At Houston

LAMESA, Dec. 25. (Special)—Lamesa lost two valuable citizens this week when Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Darling moved to Houston, where he will be educational director of the Park Memorial Baptist church there.

Mr. Darling came here June 1, 1936 as director of the church here. He and Mrs. Darling have been active in church life here. The board of deacons voted him a vacation before leaving.

The Houston church was organized about five years ago, but has a membership of 1,200. It is estimated 750 of these have joined in less than two years. Rev. W. L. Shuttlesworth is the pastor there.

GIRL SHOOTS DEER

O'DONNELL, Dec. 25. (Special)—Miss Winnell Garrett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Garrett, on a recent deer hunt with her father, killed a 8-point buck. Miss Garrett used a .22 calibre rifle.

The father said he was more elated over his daughter killing a buck than he was, although he killed a 12-point animal.

BACK TO LITTLEFIELD

LITTLEFIELD, Dec. 25 (Special)—A. Clark, who formerly resided here but who has lived in Slaton for the past year, has announced he will return to Littlefield. He moved a home he owned in Post to Broadacres addition and will live in it.

COTTON DESTROYED

LITTLEFIELD, Dec. 25 (Special)—Between 20 and 30 bales of cotton at the Lowrimore and Irvin gin here was destroyed by fire of unknown origin. The fire department prevented the blaze from spreading.

England's Soldiers Learn Ways Of War

Death is the text for war lessons at Shorncliffe, Kent, where English officers learn military operations, along with imperial history and geography. While Lieut. Hingston points out strategy to advance the tiny toy soldiers in the trenches, students take down notes on better ways of war. The new army school of education at Shorncliffe was recently opened for a press inspection. Map reading and mathematics are also taught.

Faith Endures

As nduring as the stainless steel of which this statue is made, is the faith of the Chinese people in the memory of Dr. Sun Yat Sen, father of the Chinese Republic. While their countrymen fight to repel the Japanese onslaught on their native land, Chinese children gather in San Francisco to pay homage to the imposing figure of Dr. Sun, executed by Beniamino Buffano.

New Schedules Of Buses Made

Complete revisions in city bus schedules to be put into effect Jan. 1 were announced Saturday by Ray Farmer, operator of City Bus company, after changes had been authorized by the city commission.

High spots of the new system, as listed by Farmer, include: elimination of all present 30-minute schedules and substitution of 20-minute service therefor; creation of one new line; provision of service to the extreme southern edge of the city; provision of go-and-return service on Nineteenth street; and provision of two-line service to Senior High school which will mean a 10-minute service to that building.

Will Eliminate Distances

The revision, according to Farmer's announcement, will mean the elimination from present routes of short distances in the extreme southwestern and in the southern portion of the city.

The present and new schedules, as announced by the operator, are:

Routing of present Nineteenth and Ellwood line (30 minute service): from bus station south on Avenue J to Broadway, thence east of Texas avenue, south on Texas to Nineteenth, west on Nineteenth to College avenue, south on College to Twentieth, west on Twentieth to Adams avenue, east on Nineteenth to College, north on College to Fourteenth, east on Fourteenth to Q, north on Q to Broadway, east on Broadway to M, north on M to Main and thence back to bus station.

The proposed re-routing also with 20-minute service, will be, from bus station south on J to Broadway, east to Texas Avenue, south to Nineteenth, east to College, south to Twenty-second, west to Adams, north to Nineteenth, east to Texas, north to Main and back to station.

Present Eighth, Ellwood and Twenty-seventh street line, 30-minute service, which will be split into two new lines, from bus station south on J to Broadway, west to Avenue M, north to Seventh, west to Q, south to Eighth, west to Textile Building on Texas Technological college campus, south to book store on campus, east to College avenue, south to Twentieth, west to Monroe, south to Twenty-first, east to Jefferson, south to Twenty-second, east to X, south to Twenty-fifth east to V, south to Twenty-seventh, east to T, north to Nineteenth, east to Texas, north to Main and west to bus station.

New Eighth and Fourteenth street line to College, 20-minute schedule: south from bus station on J to Broadway, west to M, north to Seventh, west to Q, south to Eighth, west to Textile building at Tech, south to bookstore, east on Fourteenth to Q, north to Broadway, east to M, north to Main and east to bus station.

New Avenue T and Avenue H line, 20-minute service, south from bus station on J to Broadway, west to M, south to Sixteenth, west to T, south to Twenty-ninth, east to S, south to Thirty-fourth, east to H, north to Broadway, west to Texas, north to Main and west to bus station.

No changes will be made in two lines. They are, each with 20 minute service:

Broadway, Tech and Main, east on Main to G, south to Broadway, west to Tech Administration building, south to bookstore, east to College avenue, north to Main and east to station.

Tenth, Tech and Sixteenth, south on J to Broadway, west to Q, north to Tenth, east to College avenue, south to Broadway, west to Tech Administration building, south to bookstore, east to College, south to Sixteenth, east to Texas, north to Main and west to station.

The route to "the Flats" will remain unchanged.

WPA Expenditures $1,397,380,264 In Past 11 Months

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25 (AP)—The Works Progress administration has reported it spent $1,397,380,264 between January 1 and November 30, 1937.

The amount by states included: New Mexico, $5,713,507; Oklahoma, $22,743,783; Texas, $30,553,156.

A meteorolcgist, or weather man cannot give out forecasts until at least 100 persons over the earth have transmitted to him the findings of their observations. From these, he draws his maps and formulates his own conclusions as to the weather probabilities.

Two PWA Jobs Figured Closely; One Cent Is Turned Back To Treasury In Two Instances

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25 (AP)—Morganton, N. C., has turned back to the treasury the sum of one cent, representing the unexpended balance of a $99,900 PWA grant for the construction of hospital buildings.

Cascade Locks, Oregon, also turned back a cent, unexpended surplus of a PWA grant of $27,399 for a water works project.

The recovery of each penny, however, cost the government several dollars, including bookkeeping expenses.

Longview Lobos Defeat Coyotes To Capture State Crown

Overcome Lead To Triumph, 19-12

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Dec. 25. — Dandy Dick Miller took his last fling at high school football here today and carried Longview's Lobos to the state championship over Wichita Falls as his swan song. The score was 19-12.

The 143-pound dash of lightning in Coach P. E. Shotwell's all-victorious Lobos made two great runs to bring his team from behind in the last half. Ray Cantrell, a 160-pound halfback, added one point after touchdown, enough to win the game, but Longview was not satisfied and got another touchdown in the waning minutes.

COACH PRAISES TEAMS

DALLAS, Dec. 25. (AP)—"Those are the two finest high school teams I've ever seen on one field!"

That praise of Texas' schoolboy football came today from Bernard (Bunny) Oakes, coach of the University of Colorado's unbeaten and untied eleven as the C. U. mentor and his players watched Longview defeat Wichita Falls for the state title.

Byron (Whizzer) White, Colorado's all-American quarterback, echoed his mentor's statement.

"The feature of this game is the high quality of play by both teams," said Whizzer.

Coyotes Score Early

It was Cantrell who went over for the final counter.

A crowd estimated at 18,000 witnessed the game under ashen skies.

Wichita Falls scored early in the first period. A fine punt by Harold Fleming, Wichita Falls' minister-fullback, went outside on the Longview 19-yard line. Dick Miller recovered a fumble for an 11 yard loss then Odell Damerall, brilliant Wichita Falls center, crashed through to block Hardy Miller's punt. Ed Brand recovered across the goal line for the touchdown. Bill Lobban missed the try for point.

Pass For Second Score

Wichita Falls had another touchdown five minutes later when the irrespressible Damerall came out of the line and took the ball from Monaghan and then pitched a 20-yard pass to Ben Collins for the counter. Dick Wallis missed the try for point.

Longview scored early in the second quarter when Dick Miller, taking Fleming's punt on the Longview 45-yard line, flashed down the field to a touchdown without a hand being laid upon him. Cantrell kicked the goal.

D. Miller Leads Drive

The pay-off touchdown came about the middle of the fourth quarter when Frank Lebus, Lobo quarterback, flipped a pass over the line to Dick Miller. He took the throw on the 50-yard line and raced to the counter in a brilliant bit of broken-field running. Cantrell's try for point was wide.

First Title For Lobos

It was Longview's first state championship and the first time the Lobos had been able to get by the first bi-district game, although Longview had won four district titles. Shotwell has been coach at Longview three years and has won two district championships. During his high school coaching he has won two state championships and tied for another.

Wichita Falls put up a rugged battle all the way but the fleet Longview backs, featuring Dick Miller, one of the finest ever to trod a Texas high school gridiron, were not to be denied. Slowly the fighting Coyotes were shoved into their territory on the great runs of Miller and cohorts and in the final period they beat down the Coyotes' resistance.

Miller Brothers Star

Fleming was the star of the Wichita Falls backfield, with punts designed to keep the ball away from the fleet Miller, jarring tackles and steady and terrific line-plunging. He was aided by Wallis, a fast little back, who ripped the line for material gains.

The Miller brothers and Lebus bore the brunt of the Longview offensive with Cantrell standing out in the late stages of the game.

Damerall turned in a great defensive game, intercepted passes and figured in two of the touchdowns. Ed Brand, a husky tackle; Art Goforth, a terror at guard, and Verlin Prichard, end, were other brilliant performers.

Play of Chal Daniel, a grand guard, featured the Longview line. Others who stood out were Bill Pouncey, a rip-roaring defensive demon at end; Ted Brannon, giant tackle, and Otto Paul Burandt, a fine blocking end.

Hardy Miller and Lebus averaged 35 yards with their punting to 33 for Fleming, but the latter's average was cut down because of his efforts to punt outside each time to keep the ball away from Dick Miller.

The Lobos rolled up 14 first downs to 5 for Wichita Falls, gained a net 163 yards rushing from scrimmage and 101 yards on passes. Wichita Falls gained 77 yards from scrimmage and 32 passing.

Nagurski Gets A Future Fullback For Christmas

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 25 (AP)—Bronko Nagurski, the football star and claimant to the world's heavyweight wrestling championship, got his Christmas present on time today. His wife presented him with an eight and one half pound son.

Bronko said he expected to recover in time to appear in a scheduled mat bout here Tuesday night. It is the Nagurski's first child.

Sam Snead Cops Top Money In Miami Open

By LARRY ROLLINS
Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 25. (AP)—Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., blazed down the home-stretch today with a last nine 30, five below par, to win the $2,500 Miami open with a tournament record score of 267.

That 30 gave Snead his second 66 of the day, a 72-hole score 13 under par, top money of $500 and a five stroke margin over his nearest rivals, Horton Smith of Chicago and Ralph Guldahl, National Open champion.

Smith and Guldahl equalled the former tournament record of 272, set by Willie Klein of Miami Beach in 1936 and each collected $350.

Horne Loses Out

It was the second consecutive victory for Snead, who won the Nassau open last Monday after finishing fourth in the $10,000 Miami Biltmore open the week before. He won $750 in each of those events.

The Miami open narrowed to a three-man battle this morning when Stanley Horne of Ottawa dropped from the lead with a two-over-par 72 while Snead and Smith were cracking out 66's and Guldahl was carding a 67.

Smith and Guldahl came in with last round 70's while Horne reassembled his game well enough for a 68 and fourth place money of $200 at 274.

Draws Penalty Stroke

The West Virginia slugger, with an opening 68 and a 67 yesterday, was never worse than two under par on a nine-hole stretch.

A penalty stroke on the 17th hole, where Snead sent his tee shot into a canal, made the score even more amazing. He took a bogey five there by missing an eight foot putt after a fine third shot, but four birdies and an eagle gave him his five under par for the nine hole stretch.

Snead started the final nine with straight threes two birdies, two pars and an eagle. He birdied the tenth with a seven foot putt, parred the eleventh after his drive hit a spectator and bounded to the green, and pitched stiff to the pin for another birdie on No. 12. On the 460-yard 13th Snead sent his five-iron second shot within 18 inches of the cup and dropped the putt for an eagle.

He got his par three on the 14th by chipping within two inches of the cup and collected another birdie on the 540-yard 15th with an eight foot putt. He needed a 12-foot putt for his par on the short 16th and then for the first time he faltered. He had a chance to pull out a par even after pushing his drive into the canal but his putt was inches short.

Snead's cards today:

Par out	444	354	434—35
In	434	535	344—38	70
Snead (morning):
Out	454	243	334—32
In	534	435	244—34	66 135 201
Snead (afternoon):
Out	444	344	445—36
In	333	334	353	36—66 201 267

Whizzer Is Given Another Honor

DALLAS, Dec. 25. (AP)—Still another honor came today to Bryon (Whizzer) White, Colorado university's all-America back and Rhodes scholar.

The annual poll of football players of the nation, conducted by Norman Sper, football writer for a magazine (Liberty), revealed today that White was voted the most valuable player of the season.

Sper will present a trophy to the university and a medallion to White Monday night at Fort Worth, where the Coloradoans are training for the Cotton Bowl clash with Rice institute at Dallas New Year's Day.

West Virginia Mainstay

Emmett Moan, senior quarterback and fullback of Coach Marshall (Little Sleepy) Glenn's classy West Virginia Mountaineers, is the spark-plug and most dependable back on the club. He has averaged 4.07 yards a try during the regular season. Moan hails from Long Beach, Calif.

Amateur Pugilists Busied With Preparations For Golden Gloves Matches

All Lubbock and Lubbock county amateurs, 16 years of age and older, and who have a bent for boxing, have but two weeks in which to file applications for the city Golden Gloves tournament to be held at the Auditorium Jan. 16 and 17.

Golden Gloves officials have been checking entries by the tens and twenties for the past week, after a long list had been turned in last week, but there probably are others who are planning to enter. There will be one week between preliminaries and finals.

A. A. U. Rules Followed

Experience in the city tournament is likely to be the right preliminary training for the district tourney at the Auditorium, February 7 and 8. Those eliminated in the city will still have a chance to compete in the district.

Strict physical examination of all entrants will be made before they are allowed to compete. Qualification for either tournament will be under rules laid down by the Amateur Athletic union. A charge of 25c will be exacted against each entrant to establish his simon pure standing. Only amateurs will be permitted to enter.

Champs Get Free Trip

Eight weight divisions are to be recognized in both tournaments. Winners in the district meet will be given free trips to the state Golden Gloves matches in Fort Worth early this spring, free meals and room. Champions at Fort Worth will go to the national bouts at Chicago, with same provisions for transportation, meals, etc.

Boxers of the territory who do not have necessary equipment for training can make reservations with Milton (Killer) Coffey, Texas Tech boxing coach, to use Tech gym as a training base. Coffey will manage arrangements at the ringside during the tournaments.

Offers Free Instruction

In addition to equipment at the gym, the Raider coach will give free instructions to those who wish it. He will furnish sparring partners.

Ringside tickets for each of the four nights of activity during the city and district tournaments will sell for $1.10. Some choice seats are still available at the "cut rate" of $4 for the entire show. Those are reserved seats in first and second rows.

Entries should be sent to the Golden Gloves Editor, Avalanche-Journal, Lubbock, Texas, or may be carried in person to the switch board in the editorial department of the Avalanche-Journal.

Santy Won't Say Who Will Win Rice-Buff Go

DALLAS, Dec. 25. (AP)—Neither Colorado university nor Rice institute had a definite commitment from Santa Claus today on which team would get that ornate, five-foot gold trophy as a belated Christmas gift for the winner of the Cotton Bowl classic here next Saturday.

Both hung up their stockings last night but Santa is smart—he doesn't pick football winners. He just pinned a note to each sock that it looked like a tossup to him.

Santy and the critics were in agreement on that point, odds on Rice. Southwest conference champions, tumbling after Colorado's warriors, headed by Byron (Whizzer) White, the all-America halfback, held workouts in Fort Worth that convinced one and all the Rocky Mountain brand of football had been underrated.

Big, rangy and cat-like in their movements, the Colorado Buffs deeply impressed those who were fortunate enough to slip past locked gates and watch them through a knot hole.

White, who recently won a Rhodes scholarship in a final examination on the Pacific coast, complained he wasn't in the best of condition after a layoff, but was quickly rounding into shape.

Feathered Tribe Is Serious About Tilt

HOUSTON, Dec. 25. (AP)—The Rice institute Owls are dead serious about this Cotton Bowl game on New Year's Day.

Primed for their first bowl assignment, the champions of the Southwest conference are determined to win. They turned to with a bang this week, between rain storms, and if blocking on the practice field is any criterion, then the University of Colorado team can look forward to spending the afternoon flat of their backs.

"We want to win that game and we are going to be in there fighting every inch of the way," Captain Charlie Moore said before he began the three day holiday. Coach Jimmy Kitts gave the team for Christmas.

Moore, a rambling guard, expressed the sentiment of the whole team.

Kitts has not indicated his starting lineup for the New Year's Day game but in all probability the same team that started most of the season's games will lineup against the Rocky mountaineers.

Football Is The Same As It Was 20 Years Ago—Spears

TOLEDO, Ohio, Dec. 25. (AP)—Twenty years a football coach—and Dr. Clarence W. Spears still believes today in essentially the same gridiron chicanery. What's more, he wins with it.

"People get oversold on certain phases of the game," declared the genial, 43-year-old Toledo university athletic director. "Look at lateral passes: they weren't very successful last season."

Easy On Santa Claus

Spears didn't ask Santa Claus for a head coaching job like those he filled at Dartmouth, West Virginia, Minnesota, Oregon and Wisconsin before he came to Toledo two seasons ago.

"I'm having a lot of fun here!" he exclaimed. "I'm busy 12 hours a day and working hard. There is a constructive job to be done here." He didn't explain that his "constructive job" already had built up the Rockets to an Ohio football power.

Teammate Of Potsy Clark

"I use practically the same football as I did at Dartmouth during World War days—the shift to the single wing, with the balanced and unbalanced line, varied a little with what is the style at the moment," the doctor, who practiced medicine when he coached West Virginia in the early 1920s. He weighs nearly 250 pounds, only a dozen more than in his high school football days with George (Potsy) Clark at Kewanee, Ill.

Spears sees the defense as overwhelming the offense in today's football.

Advocates Rule Changes

"I think we should change the rules to open up the offense. Allow the forward pass right up to the scrimmage line. Bring back the on-side kick, too, from behind the line of scrimmage. The defense would not gang up on the ball carrier like they do now—not if the carrier could make his quick kick and be eligible to go down the field with his fellow backs and recover the ball.

"Those moves would aid the offense, make for more scoring and a more intelligent game, and fewer maneuvers. Since I first advocated it, the pros have adopted passing from anywhere behind the scrimmage line. I still think that's one of the things college football needs."

Officials Announced For Sun Bowl Game

EL PASO, Dec. 25. (AP)—The thump of booted toe against pigskin and the battle of dummy tackle sounded a gridiron carol this Christmas Day for the University of West Virginia football eleven as it west through a double holiday practice session.

The Mountaineers, here to meet Texas Tech in New Year's Sun Bowl affray, knew today was Christmas only by rumor. Coach Marshall Glenn had his squad hard at it in the warm sunshine all day.

The players will get a day of recreation tomorrow when they are guests at a rodeo in the Juarez bull ring in old Mexico just over the international border.

Harry Viner, president of the Southwest football officials association, announced the following officials will work the bowl game:

Referee—Cooper Kinney, former Mississippi State player; umpire—Roscoe Minton, Ex-Indiana star; head linesman—J. (Ziggy) Sears, Kentucky Normal; field judge—Eddie Dyer, Rice. All are regular Southwest conference officials.

Michigan State Drills For Hour And A Half Yesterday

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Dec. 25. (AP)—Coach Charles Bachman sent his Michigan State gridiron players to the showers today in a full trot after better than an hour and half of drill under a tropical Florida sun. It was the last practice on the Gator field before the Spartans depart Sunday for Miami and the Orange Bowl game with the Auburn Tigers New Year's Day.

Tech Cagers Go To All-College Tourney Today

Coach Berl Huffman is back from Grapevine and the Christmas holidays, but will lead his Texas Tech cagers out of town this afternoon with Oklahoma City as the destination.

The Raider five will compete in the annual Oklahoma City all-college invitational tourney starting Monday night. The teams won third place in the tournament last year.

Facing Huffman's crew in the first round Monday will be the Northwestern Teachers of Alva, Okla. If the Raiders survive that test they must tackle the University of Arkansas in the second round.

Only Two Lettermen

Composing the Tech squad making the trip are nine men, only two of whom have lettered on the red team, and but one from last year's five. Capt. Paul Morris of Athens is sole survivor of the 1937 team. John Henderson of Linden lettered in 1935.

Others slated to make the trip are Dayton McWhorter of Lubbock, A. E. Cloyd of Lorenzo, T. F. Bain of Glen Rose, Sam Garrison of Pecan Gap, Powell McCreary of Weatherford, Truman Neal of San Antonio, and Freeman Overby of Needles, Calif.

The squad was dismissed last week by Huffman, but each took a basketball and a pair of shoes along in his baggage for practice purposes. A few remained to do their workouts at Tech gym. None is expected to be much worse off for the layoff.

Make Football Trip

Four men who are expected to strengthen the hardwood team will not be available for the Sooner jaunt. Elmer Tarbox, Rex Williams, G. I. Webb, and Dudley Aiken will go to the Sun Bowl encounter with the football team instead.

Inexperience promises to hamper the Techs during early stages of the season, although Huffman expects them to be strong down the stretch. Texas Christian's Horned Frogs recently copped a pair of contest from the Raiders of the local court.

Athens Hornets Play Section's Cagers

Coach Bobo Nelson brings his Athens Hornets into this section this week to play at least four of the stronger high school basketball teams.

Monday night the East Texans visit Levelland to skirmish the Lobos there. It will be the first in a series the Hornets are making through West Texas during the holidays.

Ralls is next stop. Coach Leon Fisher's potent Jackrabbits will furnish opposition on two nights, Tuesday and Wednesday. Coach Bill McWilliams has charge of the team in absence of Fisher, whose team is undefeated in its class. The House of David beat the Hares Saturday night.

Thursday night the Nelsonmen move into Abernathy, and go to Anton Friday night. Abernathy has been strong the past two seasons. The week's games may give a comparison of strength of the section's teams.

Afternoon games may be arranged when the Athens crew arrives.

Girl Olympic Star To Play At Ralls Saturday Night

RALLS, Dec. 25. (Special)—Helen Stephens, heroine of the 1936 American Olympic team, will be chief attraction when the All-American Redheads visit Ralls to play the high school sextet Jan. 1.

Miss Stephens, it is claimed, developed her tremendous speed chasing jackrabbits near her farm home at Fulton, Mo. It will be interesting to see what she can do against sisters of the local Jackrabbits.

Tech, W. Virginia Marks Are Close

Soph Stalwart

A sophomore, Harry Clark of Uniontown, Pa., has led the University of West Virginia in scoring this year. Fleet of foot and powerful in his drives, the 170-pound halfback has been a star his first year out for the varsity.

Given a bare hundredth of a point difference in national rating, Texas Tech's Red Raiders and the Mountaineers of West Virginia should battle on even terms on New Year's Day in El Paso's Sun Bowl classic.

Although comparative strength cannot be ascertained from season records of the two teams, since they did not meet the same opponents, Texas Tech was given 57th place among teams of the nation with West Virginia one rung behind.

Team Lacked Experience

Tech's gridders set no woods afire early in the season with its inexperienced team, only three members of which had ever played together prior to the 1937 season.

The Raiders were long on offense and defense, except in a couple of games, all the way, but were unable to do adequate scoring in those early games. With but one exception in three straight defeats, the Raiders out-played and out-gained their opposition. The exception was Detroit, which caught Tech on one of those bad days that comes to nearly every team. One other team made more yardage than Tech, and still another made more first downs, by one.

For the season, the Raiders, in winning eight and dropping three, scored 157 points to 86 for the opposition, rang the bell for 158 first downs compared with the enemies' 86, and outgained all opposition, running and passing, 3,239 yards to 2,067.

Season Record Given

This is the way points, first downs and yardage was scattered over the schedule:

Arizona State of Flagstaff—Won by Tech, 6 to 0; first downs, Tech 16, Arizona 5; total yards gained, Tech 340, Arizona State 113. Touchdown, Red Ramsey.

University of Texas—Won by Texas, 25 to 12; first downs, Tech 19, Texas 11; total yardage, Tech 254, Texas 335. Tech touchdowns, Balfanz, end, and Tarbox, halfback.

University of Montana—Won by Montana 13-6; first downs, Tech 20, Montana 6; yardage, Tech 377, Montana 236. Tech touchdown, Ramsey.

University of Detroit—Won by Detroit, 34-0; first downs, Tech 9, Detroit 8; yardage, Tech 218, Detroit 202. (Only shutout of season, and in six seasons, for Tech).

University of Arizona—Won by Tech, 20-0; first downs, Tech 7, Arizona 5; yardage, Tech 172, Arizona 120; Tech touchdowns, Calhoun, Holmes and Davis; extra points, Neely and Curfman.

University of New Mexico—Won by Tech, 27-0; first downs, Tech 15, New Mexico 5; yardage, Tech 332, New Mexico 108; Tech touchdowns, Holmes 2, Tarbox 2; extra points, Neely, Ramsey and Curfman.

Oklahoma A. and M.—Won by Tech, 14-6; first downs, Tech 9; Oklahoma 12; yardage, Tech 211; Oklahoma 249. Tech touchdowns, Calhoun 2; extra points, Neely 2.

Loyola University of New Orleans—Won by Tech, 25-6; first downs, Tech 24, Loyola 7; yardage, Tech 449, Loyola 146. Tech touchdowns, Calhoun 4; extra point, Curfman.

Duquesne University—Won by Tech, 13-0; first downs, Tech 13; Duquesne 5; yardage, Tech 292, Duquesne 72; Tech touchdowns, Tarbox and Curfman; extra point, Ramsey.

Centenary College—Won by Tech, 7 to 2; first downs, Tech 12, Centenary 13; yardage, Tech 280, Centenary 207; Tech touchdown, Tarbox; extra point, Curfman.

Creighton University—Won by Tech, 27-0; first downs, Tech 14, Creighton 7; yardage, Tech 314, Creighton 189; Tech touchdowns, Tarbox, Holmes, Murphy and Smith; extra points, Neely and Curfman 2.

West Virginia, on the other hand, sustained but one defeat and one tie throughout the campaign. The powerful Pittsburgh Panther spoiled an undefeated season for Coach Marshall (Little Sleepy) Glenn's hands, while Georgetown gained a 6-6 tie.

Mountaineer record:

West Virginia 14, W. Va. Wesleyan 0.
West Virginia 0, Pittsburgh 20.
West Virginia 6, Washington and Lee 0.
West Virginia 13, Xavier 7.
West Virginia 13, Waynesburg 0.
West Virginia 64, Western Maryland 0.
West Virginia 6, Georgetown 6.
West Virginia 34, Toledo 0.
West Virginia 26, George Washington 0.

Johnson To Meet Cazzell On Matt

Indian Bill Cazzell comes back to town Wednesday night, but a big Swede plans to make his return unpleasant.

The Scandanavian, Gust Johnson, is another tincar, and the two meet in the main event at the Auditorium this week. They are both hard workers in the ring.

Neither has developed a heart punch like that of Sailor Moran or a "button" hold like Prof. Tetsura Higami, but there should be action a-plenty during their tenure on the mat.

Said Jap jut jitsu artist also comes back to the local ring after an absence of a week to meet Jack Mandell. The Fort Worth boy has shown that he can give and take by his appearance here the past few weeks. But he has that sleep producing hold to contend with. Jack Hagen can tell you about that.

In the opening bout, Cyclone Mackey of Clovis and Otto Ludwig the burly German will square off. Shunted to preliminary action by recent reverses, the two should be fighting hard to get back into the select class.

Matches start at 8 o'clock.

ARKANSAS TEAM LOSES

No One Disputes 'Tallest Team' Claim Of Teachers

CANYON, Dec. 25. (AP)—No one has come forward to dispute its claim, so the West Texas State College Buffaloes are making good under the banner of "the world's tallest basketball team."

Undefeated in six straight games, the rangy sons of the Panhandle will leave here Sunday for Oklahoma City and the Southwestern All-College Case tourney rated a big threat.

Shakleford Leads Scorers

Coach Al Baggett, whose six feet, three inches is dwarfed by some members of his starting squad that averages six feet, five inches, is well pleased with the progress of the boys to date, "although the competition hasn't been the hardest."

Leading scorer of the mountainous team is Ray Shakleford, a strapping fellow of six feet, nine inches who has roped 72 points in six games. His specialty is a "cram" shot, whereby he merely strides up to the basket, takes a bit of a hop and "crams" the ball into the net with both hands. Next in line in the scoring parade is Lother Stephenson, who has used his six feet, seven inches to pour 53 points in the basket.

Firebrand of the freak outfit, however, is Ernest Schur, a midget of merely six feet who has scored 38 points. His speed is a big factor in the Buffalo victories.

The entire squad averages six feet, two and a half inches in height and 185 pounds in weight. The Buffs employ a deliberate down court movement, topped off by speed at the foul line. Needless to say, they have little trouble snagging backboard shots.

Height Not Everything

Capt. Conway Butler, six feet, one inch, and J. E. Pietzsch, of the same height, and Craig Walling, a guard who measures six feet, three and a half inches, are starters along with Shakleford and Stephenson, while Schur sees much action.

Coach Baggett realizes height isn't everything, however, and drives his squad hard to develop speed and aggressiveness. The Buffs are pointing towards the National Collegiate meet at Kansas City March 7-12.

East-West Entries In Usual Workout; East Scrimmages

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 25. (AP)—Although it was Christmas Day and the boys felt pretty mellow, scrimmage was added today to the practice program of the East team, preparing for the all-star charity football game with the West here New Year's Day.

Coaches Andy Kerr and Bernie Bierman lured out the members of an Oakland Amateur gridiron club to act as cannon fodder for their eastern marksmen.

The western squad, drilling at Palo Alto, chalked up a brief workout before going for an automobile tour of the countryside.

Total Taxes To Be Paid In U. S. In 1938 To Reach New High—$13,500,000,000

U. S. C. C. Report Cites Increase

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25.—A United States Chamber of Commerce committee predicted today the total taxes to be paid in 1938 would touch a new high—$13,500,000,000.

A special committee of the chamber said available data indicated federal taxes would constitute $6,400,000,000 of the total, with state and local taxes accounting for the remaining $7,100,000,000.

Income To Be Lower

The committee predicted the 1938 national income would be slightly below the estimated $69,000,000,000 for this year.

On the basis of this, the committee said, "tax collectors will dip into the national income and take about one out of every five income dollars."

Estimated total taxes for 1937 surpassed the previous largest collection of $10,300,000,000 in 1930, the committee said. The 1937 estimate was about $3,500,000,000 more than collections in 1921 when war-time rates were in effect.

"Tremendous Growth" Cited

To illustrate what it termed "the tremendous growth in the tax load," the committee said:

"The total volume of taxes in 1935 was about $10,400,000,000—$3,900,000,000 of federal and $6,500,000,000 state and local taxes."

Revisions Are Urged

The committee advised that state governments should follow the federal government in its projected revision of tax laws to "eliminate inequities and discriminatory features.

In some states, the committee said, "there are outstanding hardships resulting from inequitable provisions of tax laws." Then it added:

"If uniformly the states join with the federal government in efforts to remove or lighten those taxes which are most oppressive upon business operations, it will have a pronounced effect in encouraging economic improvement and increasing employment."

Guard To Be Placed Around Films Of Panay's Bombing

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 24. (AP)—Pan-American Airways officials said today an armored truck would meet the China Clipper at Alameda Monday to guard newsreel and news photographs of the bombing and sinking of the American gunboat Panay.

Vital interest has been displayed by the navy and state departments in the newsreel taken by Norman Alley, who is a passenger aboard the Clipper, Pan-American said. The armored truck will transport the film from Alameda to the Oakland airport, where an airliner has been chartered to carry the film to New York.

Pan-American said the chartered plane also would carry Alley and six government secret service operators. The airways company said the complete picture load included in the air express on the China Clipper has been insured by various shippers for more than $350,000.

Entire Stock Of Continental Oil Company Of Texas Sold

HOUSTON, Dec. 24. (AP)—The entire stock of the Continental Oil company of Texas was sold today to the Continental Oil company of Delaware, W. M. Gaston, president of the Texas firm, announced.

The deal is reported to have involved a cash consideration of $144,000.

The Continental Oil company of Texas is a small royalty concern which has producing acreage in Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas.

However, the bulk of the company's holdings are in the old Ocean field, Brazoria county, Texas' deepest producing pool, Livingston, Polk county, and Hankamer and Moss Bluff fields in Liberty county.

New Year's Greetings Broadcast By Russians On Polar Ice Floe

MOSCOW, Dec. 25. (AP)—The four Russian polar campers, on a drifting ice floe, radioed New Year greetings to the homeland today.

A strong snow storm and a north wind whipped across their floating home, and the thermometer was at 7.6 degrees above zero.

Their message said: "With all our hearts we wish success to our dear fellow countrymen in 1938. Do not forget, comrades, each occupation has its own pole. On the night of Dec. 31 we will raise glasses to country, a happy life and attainment of all the poles."

(There was no mention of Christmas which is not generally observed by the Soviet).

District Court Is To Open At Plains; Docket Is Well-Filled

PLAINS, Dec. 25. (Special)—Yoakum county district court is to open here Monday with Judge Louis B. Reed of Lamesa, presiding over the December session of the 106th district.

The docket is said to be well filled, a large number of cases having been continued from the spring term.

A grand jury and a petit jury will report Monday. Truett Smith, Tahoka, is district attorney and he will work with the grand jury.

BUYS OUT PARTNER

BROWNFIELD, Dec. 25. (Special)—Bruce Knight, of Hudgens & Knight, local hardware and furniture concern, has bought out the interests of his partner for many years, Claude Hudgens. Hudgens is retiring on account of his health.

19—Livestock For Sale

Texas Auction & Commission Co.

During the holidays the need for good cattle will be greater than ever so we need your help in supplying this demand.

Am quoting you the prices we had in our auction Tuesday 14th. Good bald face cows, $3.50 to $4.00; good Jersey cows, $3.00 to $4.50; good bald face calves, $6.00 to $7.00; cutter cows, $2.50 to $3.50; canner cows, $1.50 to $2.50; Jersey rannies, $3.50 to $4.00; springer and milk cows in demand selling $15.00 to $50.00; good bald face bulls, $4.50 to $5.50; light Jersey bulls, $4.00 to $4.50; mixed butcher cattle, mostly from $4.00 to $5.00. Market all over the country looks stronger for Holidays.

Our New Year Resolution: We shall be prepared and equipped to serve you better in 1938 than we have in 1937. Remember, we are bonded for your protection. The little business is just as important to us as big business, but we can take care of either.

We will have several hundred sheep at our sale Tuesday, December 28th.

Far East Situation

Secretary Hull conferred with President Roosevelt, Under-secretary Sumner Welles and Assistant Secretary Hugh Wilson before his reply.

Relies On Board's Findings

The United States continues to rely, however, on the facts contained in the findings of the navy court of inquiry. This may be taken to mean that this government does not admit the version of "mistake," as contained in the Japanese note, but does not intend to pursue the argument further.

After accepting Japan's note, Hull said in his reply:

"It is the earnest hope of the government of the United States that the steps which the Japanese government has taken will prove effective toward preventing any further attacks upon or unlawful interference by Japanese authorities or forces with American Nationals, interests or property in China."

Guarantees Are Listed

What Hull accepted as guarantees was the following:

1—That "rigid orders" were issued to Japanese military, naval and foreign office officials to observe more strictly repeated instructions against infringement of United States rights and interests in China.

2—That the Japanese government is "studying carefully every possible means of achieving more effectively the above stated aims."

3—That the Japanese government "is ascertaining, in closer contact with American authorities in China, the whereabouts of American interests and nationals," presumably so as to avoid unwarrantably interfering with them.

4—That the Japanese government is improving means of communicating intelligence with regard to the whereabouts of American nationals and interests in China to the Japanese authorities on the spot.

Japanese sources here said the question of indemnifications would be speedily settled by Japan's accepting any figure set by the United States. The Japanese note said that government "will make indemnifications for all the losses."

been removed. They failed to open it, however.

Similar Technique Followed

Similar technique was followed in raids upon the remaining stations.

Fent A. Stallings, Slaton, division special agent of the Santa Fe was investigating the robberies, with county officials of Dawson and Lynn counties, it was said last night. No information on any arrests had been received by local officials of the railroad.

All three stations have been robbed a number of times in recent years. Usually small amounts have been taken.

Seven Are Injured, One Seriously At Galveston

GALVESTON, Dec. 25. (AP)—Seven persons were injured, one seriously, when two automobiles crashed head-on near a cross road two miles east of Hitchcock today.

Miss Hazel Dickman of Texas City, 25, suffered serious face lacerations requiring 100 stitches. Others injured: Clyde Pavey of Galveston, driver of the automobile in which Miss Dickman was riding, face lacerations; K. Mowry of Galveston, passenger in the car, lacerations; Paul Shenk, jr., Houston, driver of the other car, bruises and cuts; Paul Shenk, sr., deep head lacerations; Mrs. Paul Shenk, sr., fractured hand; and Miss Viola Shenk, face lacerations.

Amarillo Woman's Condition Reported Extremely Critical

AMARILLO, Dec. 25. (AP) — The condition of Miss Irene White, injured in a traffic accident Wednesday night, was reported as extremely critical by hospital attendants here tonight.

Miss White, assistant in the local Red Cross office, was hurt in an accident near Memphis. Her uncle, J. W. Jones, was instantly killed in the accident.

Negro Is Charged As Result Of Fatal Paris Accident

Two Collisions Reported But No One Injured Seriously

Two collisions of motor vehicles were reported Saturday afternoon, but none was injured seriously, police and highway patrolmen said. One person, whose name was not available on police reports, was treated after a crash at 3 o'clock at Avenue Q and Twenty-third street. Motorists in a collision early that night three miles west of Lubbock were not hurt, said state patrolmen. Names of those figuring had not been learned.

Three Persons Are Injured In Crash Near Idalou

Three persons were injured painfully, but none apparently seriously when an automobile occupied by eight persons crashed into a Fort Worth and Denver freight train near Idalou about 5:30 o'clock Saturday morning, according to information given by one of the injured victims.

The crash interrupted a Christmas trip which was to have taken Lubbock county residents to Hollis, Okla.

Injuries Are Listed

The injured were Tony Phil McGee, 9, who received head lacerations and bruises; his aunt, Mrs. E. H. Abernathy, who was injured on the chest and back; and T. E. McGee, father of the boy and brother of Mrs. Abernathy, who received lacerations and bruises. The families reside on Lubbock route 4.

The boy and Mrs. Abernathy remained in Lubbock sanitarium where the father also received treatment.

Others Were In Car

Others in the automobile, according to McGee's report, were Mrs. McGee; their sons, Orus Framon, 5, and Curtis Eugene, 2; and Mr. Abernathy, and their son, Eugene H. Abernathy, jr. McGee blamed obstructions at the approach to the crossing for the crash.

The automobile, he said, was almost completely demolished.

Investigation of the accident was made by members of the state highway patrol.

Both Mrs. Abernathy and Tony Phil were reported last night as recovering normally at Lubbock sanitarium. Neither was seriously injured.

Ocean of Difference in Liners of Future

The ocean liner of the next decade, the U. S. Maritime Commission fears, will be a huge air transport capable of making the crossing in one-sixth the time required by the fastest ship. That is why the commission recommends the construction of 50-ton, 50-passenger planes, like that shown in the artist's visualization above, to augment the merchant marine.

Army Shows New Two-Man, Knee-High Motor Truck Which Does Work Of Eight Gunners

(By The Associated Press)

FORT BENNING, Ga., Dec. 25.—The army, with a touch of pride, has showed off its brand new two-man gang—a knee-high motor-truck in which a pair of machine gunners do the work of eight.

Officially, the vest-pocket warmaker is known as the Howie machine gun carrier, for its designer, Capt. Robert G. Howie.

It looks like a little metal raft on balloon wheels, with a stock midget automobile motor hung on the rear for motive power and a .30 caliber machine gun mounted at the front.

Efficiency Demonstrated

Corporal Berry W. Russell, who demonstrated its efficiency with the air of a proud parent, grinned, "It doesn't offer much more target than a couple of soldiers crawling on their bellies and it'll let 'em make about as much war as a regular machine gun squad."

The idea is to truck the carrier up near the line of battle, unload it—a two-man job with the use of ramps—and send it darting in and out of the fight or to let it run ammunition to non-mobile machine guns.

"It's like this," said Corporal Berry. "You're the enemy; now watch."

Prone On Padded Bed

He dropped prone on the padded bed of the machine, and took the lever-like tiller in one hand. He held the other ready to feed ammunition on his gunner, lying beside him, and used his feet to accelerate or brake the motor.

With a twist, he swung the midget up a bank out of the highway and went swerving across a brushy, gullied hill to disappear in the high grass. Then he came snaking back.

At a hundred yards, in sparse grass only knee high, the low silhouette of the driver and gunner could barely be seen.

"But she's got one fault," said Corporal Russell, "although it really just keeps a fellow fit. She rides pretty rough on your middle."

for months.

The commander-in-chief of the United States fleet did not reply to an inquiry wirelessed to the flagship Pennsylvania asking whether he would deny that destroyers off southern California were engaged in counter espionage patroling.

The sudden increase in guards at Mare Island and stricter enforcement of regulations regarding visitors remained unexplained.

'King Of The Hoboes' Starting Out On Second Million Miles

CINCINNATI, Dec. 25. (AP)—Jeff Davis, "King of the Hoboes," is starting off on his million miles next month, London-bound to contribute his bit toward making the world a peaceful place in which to live.

There's to be a conference of European organizations affiliated with his, the Hoboes of America, and high on the agenda is figuring out what the restless itinerant workers can do to help bring peace "throughout the world."

Jeff devoted today to helping hoboes and down-and-outers as well to Christmas cheer at an open house held by his organization and The Half Century club.

Christmas was not among the earliest festivals of the Christian church.

Negro Woman Shot At Slaton

A negro woman possibly was fatally shot, a negro man was hit in the thigh and two Slaton enforcement authorities narrowly escaped injury late Saturday night in a Slaton dance place.

A crap game was in progress. One negro, the one shot in the leg, won 20 cents from the one who had the gun.

"All right, I'll pay, but I'm gonna kill you," the gunman was quoted as sayin...

Intended Victim Dodges

He jerked the gun and his intended victim dodged behind the woman, who was shot in the stomach.

The woman grabbed the gun as she fell; the negro who, in the meantime, had been hit in the leg caught the gun, and W. F. Tarpley of the constable's office also grappled for the weapon. Tarpley's right hand was powder-burned from an explosion and the hat of Ragan Reed, constable, was knocked from his head because of his nearness to the muzzle of the seven-inch .45 caliber gun.

Three negroes were arrested and lodged in Lubbock county jail, one of them after being treated her.

Prisoners Are Freed As Christmas Gift

Eleven city jail prisoners received freedom Saturday morning as a Christmas gift from police chief Don Reeder.

The gift also was something in the nature of a present to the city because it meant that the department had escaped the expense of feeding the jail occupants. All had been convicted in Municipal court of minor offenses by Recorder Lewis Kittrell and were serving fines they were unable to pay.

When Reeder threw open the doors of the jail and all the prisoners took advantage of the opportunity to leave, Reeder reported, it became the first time since he was appointed chief that the cells have been empty.

Late Saturday afternoon members of the sheriff's department began escorting celebrants who had imbibed too much, to the county jail. In an hour or so, seven were placed behind bars, to await sobering and being charged in justice court.

Police also were busy with several arrests for drunkenness.

LOANS ARE INCREASED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25. (AP)—The Federal Home Loan bank board said today mortgage loans made by savings and loan associations in this country during November had increased one per cent over the same period last year. The loans totaled $53,770,000 in November, compared with $53,007,000 in November, 1936.

CCC Spends Big Sum In Texas

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25. — The Civilian Conservation corps announced today it spent $13,711,170 in an average of 75 camps operating in Texas throughout the 1937 fiscal year.

As of November 1, it employed 20,587 men and boys in activities including soil erosion work, technical work in the proposed Big Bend national park, protecting forest lands from fire, and in developing recreational facilities in state parks.

Average Remained 9 Months

The war department said the average enrollee during the year remained in camp about nine months, and that the average aggregate number employed during the year was 17,698. They made $30 monthly, of which approximately $25 was sent home to dependents. These home allotments totaled $5,470,226.

Enrollees in 32 camps worked on erosion projects under the supervision of the Soil Conservation service, Robert Fechner, CCC director, reported.

Methods Demonstrated

Work in these camps demonstrated modern methods of controlling soil wastage due to wind and water erosion by contour furrowing, strip cropping, the construction of terrace outlets, the building of check dams in gullies, and the planting of vegetative cover.

"The contribution of the CCC to erosion control in Texas has largely been in the construction of proper terrace outlets," said Fechner. "This has encouraged the terracing by private landowners of thousands of acres of gently-sloping lands. During the year, CC' enrollees built 9,567 terrace outlets, and constructed 330,348 linear feet of outlet channel. Planting, seeding, sodding of these channels has covered 1,340,683 square yards.

Gullies are Eliminated

"Elimination of gullies has been another important part in the program in the state. There were constructed 11,384 check dams to catch silt which forms a bed for future vegetative growth. Sheet erosion control work consisted of the planting of 34,923 acres to trees, shrubs and grasses. Restoration of land to sod in west Texas has been the basic defense in that area against wind erosion."

Twenty-three camps were detailed to the improvement and development of park areas, their work being supervised by the National Park service in cooperation with state authorities. The areas were landscaped, roads were constructed, water facilities built and varied types of structures erected for the convenience of visitors.

Forest Fires Fought

More than 15,000 man-days of labor were put in by enrollees fighting forest fires in the state. Nine camps on National Forest lands operated under the U. S. Forest service and state forestry officials, one camp operated in a state forest, and seven on private timberlands.

In addition to the fire fighting, the men in these camps constructed 50½ miles of truck trails, 22 new lookout houses and towers, 539 miles of telephone lines, and cleared dangerous fire hazards from the sides of 351 miles of roads and from an area of 2,500 acres.

Millions Of Trees Planted

The National Forest camps are located on the Sam Houston National forest, established in 1934 as the first of its kind in Texas. Some 13,000,000 trees were planted in this area partially devastated by excess cutting of merchantable timber and by fires. The trees were produced as seedlings by CCC enrollees at the Stuart nursery in Louisiana.

The bureau of reclamation directed the work in a camp near Ysleta in El Paso county. This work consisted largely of lining irrigation canals with concrete, widening and strengthening canals and constructing operating roads.

Other Accomplishments

Others accomplishments of CCC camps in the state during the year included:

Development of recreational lakes for boating and swimming in Dangerfield and Tyler state parks.

Work on the erection of a dam in Fort Parker state park to create a lake.

Construction of a bath house in Lake Brownwood state park, and partial completion of a similar structure in Garner state park.

Installation of indirect lighting and construction of trails in Longhorn Caverns state park.

Construction of swimming facilities in Balmorhea state park, one of the largest open-air swimming pools in the world. The pool is fed by a gigantic spring having an estimated daily flow of 22,000,000 gallons.

Completion of the first unit in the restoration of the Mision La Bahia del Espirito Santo in Goliad state park.

Construction of a recreation pavilion in Mother Neff state park, and of a concession building in Lockhart state park.

Annual Report Is Given Congress

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25 — Secretary Perkins told congress today that the American public wanted John L. Lewis and William Green to stop fighting, and that she thought they would—eventually.

"The American people want to see labor organized and strong enough to be an effective part of the civic and economic life of the nation, and because of that they are anxious that this breach be healed with honor and with justice and with due regard to a really practical and workable method of accomodation," the labor secretary said in her annual report to the lawmakers.

Has Followed Impartiality

"The labor department, she said, had followed "a strict rule of impartiality" during the long fight between Lewis' C. I. O. and Green's American Federation of Labor, and "has consistently refrained from taking any part.

Now, she added, "there appear to be strong forces at work within the unions, as well as among the American people generally, making for an equitable resolving of the differences and a move toward reconciliation."

Fore New Blasts

Meantime, both the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O. fired new blasts at each other as a result of the collapse of their joint peace conference earlier this week.

The federation said Lewis' "arrogant demands" led to the conference's failure. The C.I.O. maintained the collapse was due to federation leaders' "obstinacy."

Leaders on both sides agreed that peace was a long way off.

Miss Perkins' report, discussing that about one-third of the nation's wage earners made less than enough to support their families "in health efficiency and comfort."

Developmentss Are Cited

In the field of labor relations, Miss Perkins' report cited "two important developments," the sit-down strike and the Supreme court decision upholding the Wagner Labor disputes act.

She said the courts had held the sit-down illegal and urged some employers to discard their "serious misconceptions" of the Wagner act.

"It's purpose was to eliminate unfair practices on the part of employers," she said. "The (Labor Relations) board serves as a protector of the worker only when they are victims of union discrimination and specific unfair practices as set in the act."

Christmas Festivity

a special three-way telephone conversation with absent members of the Roosevelt family.

King's Message Is Heard

Millions of Americans heard the 4-minute Christmas radio message of King George VI of England. Speaking into two microphones mounted on his study desk in the royal family estate in Sandringham, the British sovereign voiced a plea to dispel " the shadows of enmity and fear" through the Christmas spirit of peace and goodwill.

Another ex-king in the day's events in the person of Haile Selassie, one-time "King of Kings" and "Conquering Lion of Judah," deposed monarch of Ethiopia, now living in exile in England. Selassie sent Christmas greetings to American radio listeners with a six-minute address in the Amharic language, concluding:

"In your prayers, please remember those weak and oppressed peoples who have turned their confident gaze toward the Star-Spangled Banner of the Land of Liberty as if to discern the star announcing redemption and peace."

It was a white Christmas for only scattered sections of the United States—grey skies in New York and sunshine in California— but fresh snow twinkled for the Dionne quintuplets in Callander, Ont. Gifts for the five-at-a-time little girls, now three years old, came from South Africa and other far-off places in the world. But the quins, gaily chattering, left their presents to troop outside and play in the newly-fallen snow.

Two Former Convicts Believed To Have Attempted Kidnaping

CENTERVILLE, Ind., Dec. 25. (AP)—Sheriff Arthur Quigley of Wayne county said today he believed two former convicts made the crude and unsuccessful Christmas eve attempt to extort $3,800 from John L. Bryan, Centerville State bank cashier, by grabbing 3-year-old Donald Bryan, the banker's only son.

Neither the sheriff nor Indiana and Ohio state police had found any trace, however, if the men who escaped leaving behind unharmed the boy, his mother, a nurse maid and a grocery clerk, all of whom were carried away from the Bryan home.

Stocks Drift In The Past Week

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 25. (AP)—Armament shares stemmed conflicting stock market currents for small gains this week, but most of the list drifted.

Wall Street's belief rearmanent would be a major administration policy brought forth buying in the steel and aircraft issues, especially Additionally, trade reviews were more hopeful that the bottom had been reached in steel mill operations and that an upturn was due.

Christmas Week Active

As is usual Christmas week, selling and buying for tax return purposes provided much of the activity. Transactions averaged better than 1,000,000 shares daily.

Bonds had an uneven week but inclined a little lower. U. S. treasury and government guaranteed issues flurried higher but lost most of their gains as institutions evened up portfolios for the year-end.

Commodities See Changes

Commodities, in their turn went through a period of mixed price changes. Cotton was bolstered by a revival in demand from spinners and foreign purchasing. Steel scrap prices increased in line with better prognostications for the industry after New Year's day. Grains and foodstuffs pointed downward.

Cheering to Wall Street were indications that overstuffed inventories in many lines had been dieted down to more normal proportions.

Dun and Broadstreet reported a last-minute rush in Christmas buying had lifted dollar retail sales above last year's figures.

JAMES W. KNOX

JACKSBORO, Dec. 25. (AP)—James W. Knox, 85-year-old banker, died today at his home after a short illness.

He was chairman of the board of the First National bank, which he founded more than 40 years ago. He also introduced Aberdeen-angus and Hereford cattle to this country and was an active rancher in Jack and Baylor counties for many years.

In his 'teens he came to Jack county and clerked in a general store when old Fort Richardson was a center of activity. Later he went into business for himself.

He was considered one of the oldest Masons in Texas, having belonged for 64 years to the Fort Richardson unit. He held various offices in masonry.

Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon here.

MAJOR HENRY C. GAMBLE

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 25. (AP)—Collapse of heart muscles was given today as cause of the death of Major Henry C. Gamble of Amarillo after he was found Friday slumped over the wheel of a parked automobile.

Gamble, who was identified by a brother, Oscar A. Gamble of Amarillo, was dead on arrival at a hospital. The cause of death was given by Justice of the Peace O. L. Wiley.

Major Gamble was commander of the second battalion, 142nd infantry, Texas National guard. He was a first lieutenant in the aviation corps during the World war and had continue military service since 1911.

W. D. GREET

EL PASO, Dec. 25. (AP)—W. D. Greet, 57, El Paso county clerk, died today in Providence hospital after an illness of several weeks.

Physicians said a blood stream infection was the primary cause of death.

Greet, who was one of the most unique figures in politics in the Southwest, was well known in California where he has many friends and some financial interests. He numbered his intimates in the moving picture and sporting world there by the score.

DR. G. M. GRAHAM

AUSTIN, Dec. 25. (AP)—Dr. G. M. Graham, 51, Austin pathologist and bacteriologist, died today of inflammation of the brain.

He was survived by his widow, a brother, Murray Graham of Austin, and a sister, Mrs. F. B. King of Taos, N. M.

If You're A 'Mooch', Beware The 'Loader'; Commission Unearths Fraud Expressions

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25. (AP)—Do you know what the salesman of worthless securities calls his customers?

If you are a woman separated from her money, for example, the salesman would tell his colleagues he had succeeded in "making a shawl touch."

This was among several expressions unearthed by the Securities and Exchange commission in its efforts to stamp out sales of "cat and dog" securities through "bucket shops."

"Wipe-Out Joints"

The "bucket shop" itself, from which high-pressure sales of valueless stocks and bonds are sold, has branch offices known as "wipe-out joints."

"A mooch" is the prospective customer. A new salesman is known as a "coxey" and wins his laurels by working on prospects who did not fall for the "opener's" line.

"The opener" is the man who makes the first telephone call and builds good faith by selling a few shares of a good security.

Then the "loader" enters the picture. His job is to switch the "mooch" to another good stock.

Artificially Raise Price

Enter the "reloader," whose task is to close in on the prospect by switching the "mooch" from the good stock into a "dog" or worthless stock on a part-payment basis.

The price of the "dog" is then artificially raised. When enough people have bought the issue at high prices, the operators "pull the plug" and the securities drop until the customer's stake has been wiped out.

Government labor officials estimate that more than one-tenth of the employed women in the United States are the entire support of families of two or more persons. In one-sixth of the urban families the only wage earners are women.

Tip Received From Newspaper 'Filler' Relieves Student Of Pain From Carbuncle

What is good enough for a "leading Vienna physician," is good enough for J. S. Henninger of 2111 Eighteenth street, sophomore student of Texas Technological college and today he is at least 50 per cent better than he was Monday.

He read in Monday's Journal in a small, one-paragraph "filler" about the Vienna physician who "claims to have used honey successfully in thousands of cases without a failure" and says it is the "best cure for wounds." He added "Even burns and carbuncles succumb to a honey treatment."

Henninger applied honey to a carbuncle on the "wrong side of my anatomy" and in 24 hours "half the pain and swelling were gone." He heartily endorsed the remedy.

New Telephone Directory Is To Be Issued Early Next Month

A new telephone directory is to be issued early in January by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., and it is expected to show an increase of several hundred names. Exact number is undetermined at this time.

The directory goes to press about Dec. 28. There will be a number of changes in numbers, but not as many this time as last, it was explained. Usually there are a number of changes in the numbers of customers in addition to changes of address.

Record number of telephones in Lubbock will be shown by the book.

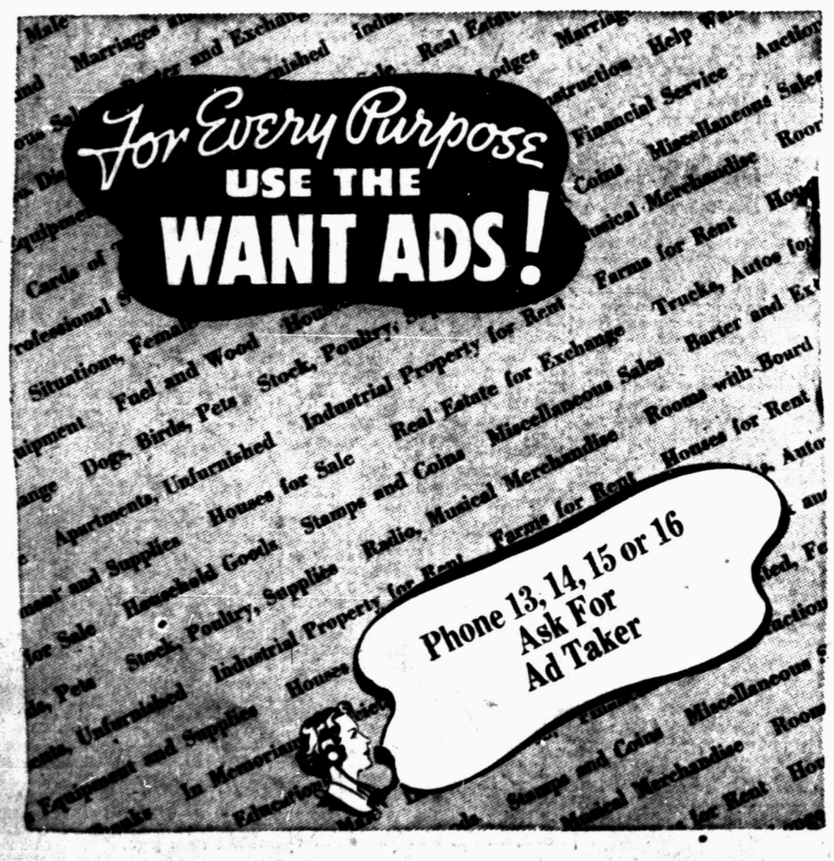

Bureau Of Fisheries Vessel Is To Seek Shrimp Winter Home

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25. (AP) — The commerce department has announced the first cruise of the bureau of fisheries vessel "Pelican" to search for shrimp in the off shore waters of the Gulf of Mexico would start soon after January 1.

The vessel will range the waters east of the mouth of the Mississippi river off the Alabama and Mississippi coasts. Cruises later will be made westward as far as Corpus Christi, Texas.

Bureau of fisheries investigators on the vessel hope to learn where the large Gulf shrimp go in winter.

The world's largest coin—a slab of copper weighing 32 pounds and measuring 24 1-2 inches by 13 1-2 inches—was auctioned off in London recently for $260. It was an eight daler of Charles Gustavus of Sweden, dated 1659.

Santa Has Company On Travels This Christmas; Many Visit Here

The Woman's Angle

by Margaret Turner

NOW seems as good a time as any to list a few "bests" for that brief period in the world's history designated as 1937, which is drawing rapidly to a close. As Jimmy Lovell, Dallas columnist, said, "It's a senseless but pleasant pastime."

Believing you would be more interested in reading of the motion pictures, the books and songs which were most to your liking during the past 12 months than you would be in our personal selections, we did a little research work, aided by a theater manager, a librarian, a radio announcer, an athletic manager and church secretaries.

POPULAR ALL YEAR

This time last year there was a general epidemic of reading "Gone With The Wind," that best-seller that won the 1937 Pultizer prize for its author, Margaret Mitchell. Until last Monday, not one of the four copies in the Lubbock County library had gone on the shelves; so great was the demand they were kept constantly on the reserve list, Mrs. Lola Mae Urguette, librarian, said.

BOOKS that seemed most popular during the last 12 months were: "My Great Wide Beautiful World," written by Juanita Harrison, negress; "An American Doctor's Odyssey," Victor Heiser; "Songs from the Slums," Kagawa; "The Best Plays of 1936" as selected by Burns Mantle; "Mental Howard," Howard; "Little Town in Transition," Lynd; "Conversation at Midnight," Edna St. Vincent Millay; "Drums Along the Mohawk," Edmonds; "Northwest Passage," Roberts; "Wake Up and Live," Brande; "Orchids on Your Budget," Hillis; "Streamline Your Mind," Mursell; "How to Win Friends and Influence People," Carnegie.

Make your own conclusions from that list and note the absence of novels.

MOST POPULAR SONGS

POPULAR songs in records followed the weekly Hit Parade selections as a rule said R. B. McAlister of radio station KFYO.

He listed them as "The Merry Go Round," "Never in a Million Years," "September in the Rain," "Let's Call the Whole Thing Off," "Serenade in the Night," "Sweet Leilani," "Plenty of Money and You," "Have You Got Any Castles?" "Harbor Lights," "The One Rose," "Sailboat in the Moonlight," "Was It Rain?" and "Vieni-Vieni."

"Will You Remember?" that lovely song introduced by Nelson Eddy in "Maytime" was the best-seller in sheet music, according to Fred Higbee. He has placed several dozen orders and is still receiving calls.

THE LEADING MOVIES

THE ten pictures which made the most money for the Palace last season were reported by Arlie Crites, manager of the Lindsey Theaters, as follows:

"Waikiki Wedding," with Bing Crosby and Bob Burns.

"The Plainsman," with Gary Cooper.

"Double Wedding," with William Powell and Myrna Loy.

"The Awful Truth," with Irene Dunne and Cary Grant.

"Saratoga," with Clark Gable and Jean Harlow.

"Stella Dallas," with Barbara Stanwyck.

"Mountain Music," with Bob Burns.

"Life of Zola," with Paul Muni.

"The Green Light," with Errol Flynn.

"After the Thin Man," with William Powell and Myrna Loy.

Recapitulation of the casts used in the ten pictures reveals the teaming of Mr. Powell and Miss Loy is well received here and show goers evidently like the man who put Van Buren, Ark., on the map.

THE FOOTBALL GAME

MORE cash customers attended the Tech-Duquesne football game than any other last season, said Hugh "Bo" Williams, Red Raiders business manager. He estimated a grandstand of 11,000 saw that classic played at Tech field Armistice Day.

MOST CHURCH GOERS

CHURCH secretaries believe it would be difficult to decide between Easter and Mothers Day as to their largest congregations. People were turned away from many Lubbock churches at both services because of lack of seating space.

First Baptist Young People Are To Have Watch Party

Young people of the First Baptist church will attend a watch party at 8 o'clock Friday night at the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam West, 3101 Twenty-second street, left Saturday morning to visit relatives in Rule.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Boone and son, Pat, jr., of Littlefield are the guests of Mrs. Boone's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Hopping.

Luncheon Today Is To Continue Party Series

MEMBERS of the Sub-Deb club will sit in a body at the morning service at the First Methodist church today. Afterward, they will go to Cocahougher's Cafe for lunch. Today's activities begin the second week of an annual ten-day round of Christmas entertainments.

Climaxing last week's activities were the Christmas party given Friday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock and a tea dance at 6:30 o'clock.

The party was given at the home of Miss Willouise Humphries, 2009 Broadway. The girls drew names a week ago and brought gifts which were placed on a tree and exchanged. They also brought toys and food to be sent to a needy family.

Refreshments were served.

Hostesses for the dance were Misses Dorothy Allen, Joy Stanford, Janelle Halsey and Brunette Beard. Dancing continued until 9:30 o'clock.

Club members and their escorts attending were Misses Marie Peterman, Kathleen Moore, Lorna Faye Lickey, Dorothy Kelly, Dorothy Sue Woolever, Beard, Dorothy Jean Butler, Humphries, Harriett Jarrett, Marion Manning, Ann Birkman, LaWanda Sherrod, Marie Barnard, Margaret Cammack, Pauline Barrier, Margie Leftwich.

Messrs. Charles Taylor, Charles Craig, Roger Kuykendall, Ed Weaver, Jimmy Kilpatrick, Shelby Harper, Horace Humphries, Albert Fortenberry, Dudley Brummett, David Weaver, Joe Jackson, Louis Murfee, Garmer Shaffer, Clark Kimmel, Bobby Thurman and Bud Kennedy.

Post Young People Honored With Dance On Saturday

POST, Dec. 25. (Special)—Several hundred young people will attend a dance given at the American Legion hall tonight by four matrons honoring their daughters and son.

Honor guests are Miss Rosemary Surman, University of Texas, Austin, student; Miss Marian Lee Mason, Post High school senior; Miss Maxine Durrett, student of Texas State College for Women, Denton, and Thomas L. Power, Texas A. and M. College, College Station, student.

Hostesses will be Mesdames A. C. Surman, Marshall Mason, J. R. Durrett and J. N. Power.

Yule Lighting Winners Told

Winners in an annual Christmas lighting contest sponsored by the Lubbock Garden club under the direction of Mrs. Clark M. Mullican, retiring president, were announced Saturday. Mrs. J. E. Hartley, 1518 Avenue O, winner of first place in general display, will receive a sun-gold loving cup in addition to a cash prize.

Winners of second and third places in general display were: Mrs. Parker F. Prouty, 3019 Twenty-first street; Mrs. L. S. Mast, 1620 Avenue Q.

Other selections were as follows:

Christmas tree—K. N. Clapp, 1642 Thirteenth street; Mrs. Bradford Knapp, Tech campus; doorway—Mrs. J. O. Ellsworth, 2307 Twenty-second street; Marian Chandler, 2416 Thirty-fourth street; Mrs. Fred Snyder, 2701 Nineteenth street.

Double window—Mrs. Vernice Ford, 3013 Twentieth street; Mrs. F. A. White, 1411 Eighth street; Mrs. Hector Mackay, 3119 Twentieth street; single window—Mrs. G. H. Nelson, 2120 Seventeenth street; Mrs. A. J. Humphreys, 1602 Avenue K; Mrs. F. R. Friend, 2005 Broadway; scene—Mrs. R. T. Campbell, 1621 Avenue Y; Mrs. H. L. Brady, 1631 Broadway.

Madeline Hughes Is Wed To Mr. Stokes

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Miss Madeline Hughes and W. T. Stokes, former students of Texas Technological college, which took place Wednesday in Midland. Rev. Winston Borum of the Midland First Baptist church officiated with a ring ceremony.

Mrs. Stokes, a daughter of Mrs. J. A. Hughes, 1912 Avenue N, is a graduate of Lubbock High school and Tech college. She was a member of D. F. D. social club and Alpha Chi honorary society in college. Since graduation she has been teaching at Toyah.

The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Stokes, 3601 Twenty-first street. He is a graduate of Lubbock High school and is employed by the Geophysical Research corporation at Lovington, N. M., where they will live.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Edwards, 2012 Twenty-fourth street, are his mother, Mrs. Corra Edwards, and brother, Holland Edwards, of Paris, Texas, and sister, Miss Jewell Edwards of Brownfield.

Maxine Hensley To Wed Today

Miss Maxine Hensley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Hensley, 2116 Fifteenth street, will become the bride of Julian F. Smith of Austin in a single ring ceremony performed at the Hensley home at 9 o'clock this morning. Dr. Jack M. Lewis of the First Presbyterian church will officiate.

Background for the ceremony will be arranged of holly and flowers. Miss Eva Browning will play "The Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin" (Wagner) as the couple approaches the improvised altar.

Miss Hensley, who will be given in marriage by her father, will wear a brown brocaded crepe dress with beige and brown accessories and corsage of talisman roses.

Will Have Reception

Several relatives and friends will be guests. Cake and coffee will be served at the close of the ceremony, then the couple will leave on a short trip. After Tuesday they will be at home in Austin where Mr. Smith is employed by the Shiner-Seine Paper Co.

Guests will be the bride-elect's sisters, Mrs. Gus Crawford of Houston, Mrs Gaylord Hankins of Fort Worth, Mrs. Ralph Bedford and Miss Jerry Hensley; their brother, Joe Dick Hensley; the bride-elect's parents, and Messrs. Crawford and Hankins; Mr. Bedford and family; Miss Rachel Campbell, Bruce Ferrell of Austin, Miss Geneva McGehee of Littlefield and Miss Betty Lindsey.

Miss Hensley is a graduate of Lubbock High school and former student of Texas Technological college. The bridegroom-elect, also a former Tech student, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Smith of Elgin.

Numerous courtesies have been extended to Miss Hensley since the engagement became known two weeks ago.

Wilson Couple Is Married In Hatchett Home Friday Night

The marriage of Miss Jerene Shaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Shaw, and Lloyd Swann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Swann, all of Wilson, took place at 8 o'clock Christmas Eve in the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Don Hatchett, with Rev. Paul McCasland, Wilson Baptist pastor, officiating.

The bride wore a rust frock with black accessories.

Cedar boughs outlined the door facing between the living room and the dining room which was hung with a wedding bell. Lights were placed among the baskets of flowers.

Guests included the couple's parents, Thurman Anderson of O'Donnell, Mrs. Reba Davis of Amarillo and Miss Mary White of Tahoka.

The couple will be at home in Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kennedy, 802 Avenue L, have as their guests their son, Bob Kennedy, Mrs. Kennedy and child, Don Lewis of Borger; a son, Jimmy Kennedy, Misses Mildred Moran and Miss Helen Devin, all of Oklahoma City.

Byran Harper, of Barksdale Field, La., is the Christmas guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Harper, near town.

Tech Graduates Wed Saturday

Jimmy Gammill, son of Mrs. Gussie Gammill, 2305 Eighth st., and Miss Nina Ruth Short, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Short of Meadow, were married at 9 o'clock Saturday morning at Seaman hall, Dr. L. N. Lipscomb, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating.

Attendants were Miss Hope McLean of Spur, former student of Texas Technological college, and L. D. Brown of Plainview.

The bride wore a navy dress, white hat with navy veil, navy and white accessories and corsage of white rosebuds.

The couple left for Ruidoso, N. M., to stay until New Year's Day when they will go to El Paso for the Sun Bowl game. They will live in Jal where the bridegroom is elementary school principal.

Both are former students of Tech college, Mrs. Gammill having been graduated in 1936. Mr. Gammill was president of the 1935 graduating class. He taught in Hereford before going to Jal.

Mrs. N. M. England and son, Nick, of Greenville arrived Friday to spend the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Butler, 2224 Thirty-fifth street. Mr. England is to come later for a visit.

Leroy Paulger of Enid, Okla., is here to visit his mother, Mrs. Elda Mae Paulger, 1814 Avenue X.

Conventions, End-Of-Year Visits With Relatives Included In Journeys

SANTA CLAUS wasn't the only traveler this Christmas. With the holiday coming on the week-end folk were given an opportunity to go home for Christmas, to go to near-by winter resorts or visit with relatives down state or elsewhere. Entertaining in Lubbock this Christmas puts the emphasis on informal parties, family reunions and the like. Perfect weather contributed to the holiday season traveling. After-Christmas conventions are attracting the attention of several Lubbock folk.

Dr. and Mrs. D. D. Cross and daughter, Betty Jane, are in Evergreen Valley, N. M., to spend Christmas and will eat dinner today at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Middleton. Reports Friday were that a deep snow had fallen.

Misses Mary, Myrtle and Beulah Dunn left Saturday for San Antonio to attend the 24th annual convention of the Texas Music Teachers' association which begins Monday and continues thrugh Wednesday. Miss Mary Dunn is president of the organization.

Mrs. M. E. Ware, president of the South Plains Music Teachers' association, Mrs. Lillian Butler of Slaton and Miss Lois Mangum also plan to attend the convention.

Miss Mary Dunn will be honored at a progressive series breakfast Tuesday. She is retiring as president this year.

To Go To St. Louis

Miss Willena Nelson and Fred Day are to join 65 other college students and ten adult counselors at Dallas Monday to leave for St. Louis, Mo., where they will attend a National Methodist Students conference that begins Tuesday and continues through Thursday.

One thousand students and counselors over the United States representing the Protestant Methodist church, the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and the Methodist Episcopal church will attend the meeting, the first official conference in which they have been united. Rev. Cecil R. Matthews of the First Methodist church plans to leave Sunday for the conference.

Mrs. Ann Grady and small daughters, Mary Sue and Hal Ann, are spending the holidays in Vernon with Mrs. Grady's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Long.

Mrs. Jennie A. Guy of Tulsa is the guest of her son, Chas. A. Guy, and Mrs. Guy, 2610 Twentieth street.

Presleys In Austin

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Presley are spending the holidays in Austin with a daughter, Mrs. Jess Thornham, and family. Another daughter, Mrs. Allan Trussell, and Mr. Trussell of Mississippi also are visiting there.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Underwood of Amarillo and Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Prouty of Oklahoma City are the guests of their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Parke P. Prouty, 3019 Twenty-first street.

Mrs. J. K. Millwee of Plainview is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. L. B. Wright.

George Zarafonetis is spending the week-end with relatives in Hillsboro.

Mr. and Mrs. George Smallwood, 1607 Avenue Y, are leaving Sunday for Dallas, where they will join their son, Ronald Smallwood, and his wife of Corpus Christi for a visit with their daughter, Miss Virginia Smallwood.

To Appear In Play

Miss Smallwood, a student at the Dallas Little Theater, is to appear with the Dallas cast that supports the noted actress, Blanche Yurka, who is to be guest star in the Greek play, "Lysistrata," that will be produced January 3, 4 and 5 at the Dallas Little Theater building under the direction of Charles Meredith.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Neal of Hobbs, N. M., are spending Christmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gamel, 1612-A Eighteenth street.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Pray of Fort Worth are the guests of Mrs. Pray's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Nail, 1410 Seventeenth street.

Frank Spuhler of Tucumcari, N. M., visited friends here last week. A graduate of Texas Technological college, Mr. Spuhler has

The marriage of Miss Julia Blackwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Blackwell, 1408 Avenue N, and Weston R. Parris of Lubbock, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Parris of Denton, took place Christmas Eve at 9 o'clock in the First Presbyterian church with Dr. Jack M. Lewis, pastor, reading a ring ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was gowned in black faille with marquisette and lace trim. Her small hat was covered with a shoulder veil. She wore white gloves and a corsage of gardenias and her other accessories were black.

Collier Parris was his brother's best man.

Christmas greenery and white candles decorated the altar.

Mrs. R. C. Douglas, jr., who arrived Wednesday from Galveston, played two organ numbers, "The Evening Star" (Wagner) and "Poeme" (Fibich) preceding the ceremony and accompanied Kenneth Smith who sang "I Love You Truly" (Bond). She played the traditional processional and recessional and as the vows were exchanged played "Traumerei" (Schumann).

After a short trip, the couple will be at home at 1941 Broadway.

Mr. Parris is with the Goodrich Silverton stores and Mrs. Parris is employed at Jenkins Jewelry store.

Henry Godeke Is To Be Wed In Beloit

Henry Lawrence Godeke, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Godeke, 3001 Twenty-first street, and Miss Ellen FitzGerald of Beloit, Wis., will be married at high noon today at the home of the bride's parents in Beloit. A simple, informal ceremony will be performed in the presence of several friends and relatives.

The couple will take a wedding trip to Milwaukee, where Mr. Godeke spent his childhood, then go to Iowa City, Ia., by January 1 to make their home.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Beloit college. Mr. Godeke is a former student of the University of Wisconsin, Madison, a graduate of Texas Technological college and he has a master's degree in engineering from the University of Iowa, Iowa City. Last year he taught at the University of Illinois, Urbana. At present he is in charge of the mechanical laboratory at the University of Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Godeke had planned to attend the wedding but were unable to go because of Mr. Godeke's health.

Marriage Of Wilton E. Lynn And Miss Orr Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Berry Orr of Hereford are announcing the recent marriage of their daughter, Miss Genevieve Orr, to Wilton E. Lynn, son of Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Lynn, 1916 Fifteenth street. The couple is spending the Christmas holidays in Hereford and will be at home temporarily in Lubbock after this week.

Mrs. Lynn is a graduate of Hereford High school and former student of Texas Technological college. Mr. Lynn, graduate of Lubbock High school, is a 1934 graduate of Tech college.

KNIT SPORT SHIRT

A new all-'round utility shirt for sportsmen who ride, hunt or golf in chilly weather is of knitted wool. In pull-over style, it is fully tailored, with two breast pockets closed by buttoned flaps and a single-fastner closure at the throat.

HANDLE KNIVES WITH CARE

Store carving knives carefully. Otherwise they are likely to be dulled in rubbing together. The ideal carving knife for hot meat should have a stiff thin blade about nine inches long. A more flexible blade may be used for cutting cold meats.

Be sure to have plenty of storage or closet space in your "rumpus" or "whoopee" room. If built-in closets are not available use portable ones for holding games and cards. To save dusting, cover the furniture or game tables when they are not in use.

Fashion Profile Change Is Predicted

This is the sleek but curved fashion profile of 1937. Notice the accented bust, long, incurving waistline and slender molded hipline—all revealed by the smart black crepe frock finished with a silver semi-neckiace. The swept-up coiffure offers decided contrast to the summer's page boy bob.

Although Royalty Set The Styles, Past Year Was "Headache" For Designers

BY ADELAIDE KERR
AP Fashion Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 25 (AP) — The fashion twelve months of 1937 has been a year of headaches.

Styles have been a knotty problem to those who designed them, tried to sell them or essayed to wear them.

In the first place the coronation influence launched a vogue for "regal splendor" — and turning out "regal splendor" at $10.75 is no small trick. It kept designers working overtime.

Next came the vogue for the corsette waistline with its concavt diaphragm inspired by the clothes and figure of the Duchess of Windsor. These too were difficult to design and make practical for women whose diaphragms, to put it mildly, were not concave.

The fashion marts which live by selling styles were likewise faced with a first class "headache." Reports from the market are that business has not been good with fabric manufacturers, clothes manufacturers or retail shops.

There is one bit of balm in Gilead, however. Reports from the market note an increased trend among women to buy quality — good classic tailored and sports clothes designed without fashion whimsies, which are always wearable and smart.

Lillian Russell Revival

The women who wore the fashions of 1937 suffered another "headache." A number of them, hearing of a "vogue for elegance," shimmering satins and gleaming lames, decided the mode was not for them and a limited income. They clung to last year's frocks.

Others, trying to cram their figures into those slim-waisted corselette dresses, struck a snag they could not get around in haste. This fall's fashions displayed a slim twentieth century version of the Lillian Russell figure with an accented bust of greater fullness, a slim waist and slender molded hips. Women who were overplump could not fit into a concave diaphragm frock. Those who were over-thin lacked the required curves. Only the slender women with a good figure could make the fashion grade. The rest threw up their hands in despair.

Nor did their fashion worries end with their figures and frocks. They mounted even to their heads. Paris hairdressers announced the banishment of the page-boy bob with its long curls and launched a new coiffure swept up from the face and neck.

New Year Is Welcome

American women generally however, found it less flattering and less youthful than the longer curled coiffure. Furthermore, they complained, many hairdressers did not understand how to handle it or adapt it to their faces.

Those who persevered met a final problem in hats. Very few looked well on those swept-up hairdressers. Many women took one despondent look and went back to their old coiffures.

from Lou to Louella . . .

DEAR Louella: One can't walk down Broadway without bumping into scores (really, I'm not exaggerating) of former Lubbockites, here for the holidays. I'll not list them because I presume you've been reading all I know in the papers. It seems like old times.

In fact, this Christmas has been so much merrier than usual that everything about it reminds me of the joys I used to have as a child at Yule time.

Many Original Cards

Cards! Did you ever see so many original ones as have been sent out this year? Of course, I haven't seen some of the cleverest but I've heard recipients talk.

Jimmy Roberts made the black and white block printed silhouettes he and his wife, Mary Rita, sent. All the local artists mailed handmade cards but I won't try to describe them from heresay.

AMONG the cleverly composed cards I received were the Bradford Knapps', showing a smiling photograph of the couple; Mrs. J. B. Slaughter's, showing a picture of her new ranch home, near Post; one of three types of comic cards sent by Jay Slaughter, jr., and wife; the Arno Dalbys' greeting that was printed on a reproduction of an ancient Hooley's Opera program (Chicago, 1893) in which was at least an hour's interesting reading; the miniature "newspapers" sent by the Ed Warrens of the Post Dispatch and the Jimmy Allens of Tech college, and so forth and so fifth.

Rachel Campbell had a wonderful Christmas in the form of the Austin boy friend, Bruce Ferrell, who came here also to attend the marriage of his pal, Julian Smith, and Maxine Hensley.

Anent Wrong Number

Incidentally, did you ever wonder why the operator always says "Are you calling Hensley's" when you ask for 77? Well, I have and the other day I got bold and asked one of the Hensleys. It is because the number is so similar to a taxicab number that people get it confused and would, except for the operator's query, get the family out of bed all hours of the night.

Margaret Turner, a cohort, has been receiving Margarets by the dozens since the holidays started: Margaret Williams of Greensboro, S. C. (daughter of Mrs. L. G. H. Williams); Margaret (Mrs. Seaman) Smith of Big Spring; Margaret (Mrs. Arthur) Waghorne, recently of Denver but moving to El Paso; Margaret (Mrs. G. W., jr.) Parker of Fort Worth, and Margaret Ann Mannville of Tucson, Ariz., two-year-old niece of another cohort, to name a few of them.

I HEARD that Ophelia Mae Beall is not exclusive in being the fourth generation having an old-fashioned name. Amelia Ann Pryor also is the fourth consecutive Amelia in her family. Maybe I've started something now. Do you suppose there are many others?

Do you remember that a long time ago I told you that it was a secret but Jimmy Gammill was getting married Christmas? Now, I know of another engagement, that of a youthful red-haired school marm who teaches in a nearby town and lives here during vacations. She has been engaged frequently but this is the first time she has displayed a diamond ring.

Ben Powell Married

Ben Powell, son of Mrs. C. B., is married, his sister Josephine told me the other day. She lived at Hobbs, where Ben works, I think.

Lt. Jack Thomas of Brooks Field, San Antonio, who arrived here Friday by automobile to spend Christmas with his parents, flew to Lubbock a week ago Saturday and back on Sunday. He said his wife, the former Gladys Franklin, was to spend Christmas Day with relatives in Rule, then maybe come to Lubbock some time this week.

I saw another aviator, Austin Davis of March Field, Calif., last week-end in Lubbock. I knew the moment I saw him that he had been in California. I think it's the hair, but anyway California puts its stamp on every male Texan who stays there long. They come back with kinky, rather long, shiny hair and smooth complexions. Truman Hutson, who is spending Christmas here, is a good example of what I mean.

THE Lubbock younger set is taking the town, as usual, this Christmas season, but this city is not alone in that regard. I read in the San Angelo society pages of the holiday doings of several people whom you know, the Jack Bradleys, J. W. West, Moy Wiginton and Courtney Neeb.

Ina Mae McCollom, another school marm who teaches at Lorenzo, is spending the holidays in and near Fort Worth with Jewell Cruse of San Antonio, former Lubbockite, and Christine Anderson, another Lubbockite who works in Fort Worth. Christmas Day, Ina Mae went to Whitewright to eat dinner with her sisters, three from Harlingen and two from Trenton. Mrs. R. S. McCollom, their mother, wanted to go but didn't feel quite equal to the drive.

Hot Springs Decorated

One of my near relatives came back from a visit in Hot Springs, Ark., the other day with a most unusual story of Christmas decorations.

Hot Springs, in addition to millions of colored lights like those strung over Lubbock streets, is decorated with greenery and, swung above downtown streets, three or four-foot reindeer and stars, all illuminated. Then, along the downtown walks, are groups of white angels, seven or eight feet tall, from which soft Christmas carols constantly are emitted. A person couldn't help getting the Christmas spirit there, said my cousin-in-law.

I'd like to have seen Hot Springs, but I'd hated to cope with any more Yuletide thrills than I had in Lubbock.

I learned, just the other day, that Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Powell are spending the winter in Corpus Christi, with their son, Maurice, who works on the paper there.

Yours, Lou.

Christmas Bride

MRS. WESTON PARRIS

Mrs. Weston Parris, pictured above, was Miss Julia Blackwell before her marriage at the First Presbyterian church Christmas Eve. After a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Lubbock.

REVERSIBLE "SHORT-WARM"

A noted men's shop is sponsoring an original style in fingertip length overcoats for hiking, motoring and spectator sports. The unique feature is that it is reversible, one side being pure llama wool, the other shower-proofed tan poplin, making it an all-weather garment. The coat is double-breasted with notched lapels and a large collar. It has extra large pockets and side vents, for greater freedom. A smart touch is given by four rows of stitching on cuffs and bottom of the coat.

WEIGH YOUR POWDER

Cosmetic experts agree that different types of skin need different weights of face powder. Therefore, to get the most natural effect in make-up, it is important to find the correctly balanced powder for your individual skin type. One manufacturer of cosmetics blends powder in three different weights; one for sensitive, dry skin, one for normal skin, and a special blend for skin inclined to be oily.

For a seasonable relish put three cups of cranberries through a food chopper. Follow these with one orange which has been cut in half and freed of seeds. (The rind and pulp are used, however.) Add one and a half cups of sugar and let the combination chill for several hours. Half a cup of crushed pineapple may be added.

RHEUMATISM
Your pharmacist will tell you that the chances are that your rheumatism, neuritis or sciatica is caused or aggravated by excess uric or other circulating poisons. That being the case, he can also tell you that one swift and safe prescription is Allenru—often the terrible pain and agony are gone in 48 hours—ask any live druggist in America for 8 ounces prescription Allenru. Costs about 85 cents. Adv.

Texas Exporting Is Given Boost

BY OLEN W. CLEMENTS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOUSTON, Dec. 25.—Cotton took a back seat to oil in 1937 as Texas' chief export commodity.

The seven major Texas ports—Houston, Galveston, Texas City, Beaumont, Port Arthur, Corpus Christi and Brownsville—closed the year far ahead of last year's total tonnage.

Houston Leads State

Houston led the state in tonnage, taking rank near the top of the nation's list of major ports. Galveston led the world in cotton exports.

Warehouses and docks bulged with commodities at the end of the year. All Texas ports anticipated expansion programs that include more docks, warehouses, compresses and additional facilities.

Port Houston closed the season with a 10.72 per cent increase in tonnage over 1936 to lead all other Texas ports. The chief export here was petroleum and petroleum products, with cotton a close second.

Valued In Millions

Export and import tonnage valued at $457,384,526 moved through Port Houston the first 11 months of 1937. Last year the total tonnage for the same period was valued at $409,307,131. A total of 24,666,624.7 short tons in export, import and coastwise traffic was handled at Port Houston in 1937.

The far-eastern crisis and the Spanish war hurt Texas gulf ports exports late in the year, port outhorities said.

Galveston, trailed closely by Houston in cotton exports, moved 14,000,000 bushels of grain, the first in four years. Cotton exports late in the year had passed the 800,000 mark for the season, which began on August 1. Exports for the calendar year were well above the million bale mark. Receipts late in December were 1,431,420 bales.

Construction had been started by the Galveston Wharf company on a $250,000 banana wharf for use of the United Fruit company. The Todd Galveston Dry Docks, Inc., plant on Pelican spit, across the channel from Galveston, had an active year. Mayor Adrian F. Levy said New York officials of the dry dock company planned to expand the dry docks early in 1938.

Cotton Shows Decline

Beaumont's municipal port tonnage, exclusive of 18,000,000 tons of oil products, spurted from 220,193 short tons in 1936 to 335,000 tons for 1937. The cotton movement at Beaumont showed a decline during the first 11 months with 11,289 bales having been moved as compared to 13,763 bales last year.

Scrap iron tonnage at Beaumont boomed to 70,760 tons, more than double the tonnage of last year. Flour, most of which moved coastwise, totaled above the 70,000 ton mark.

A shipside warehouse and a barge terminal costing $400,000 were under construction at Beaumont late in the year.

At Texas City, oil, scrap iron and cotton were the major exports. Port Arthur and Corpus Christi moved heavy tonnage all season. Corpus Christi had a $25,000 oil dock under construction.

Brownsville, newest of Texas ports, had a building boom on with the John A. Hastings interests erecting a $250,000 warehouse and compress and installation by the American Procooling corporation of a procooling plant costing $100,000. The Brownsville navigation district built a wharf 450 feet long and a transfer shed. No cotton was exported by Brownsville in 1937.

Beauty Routine For Night Outlined

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer

On the thorough manner and regularity with which she does her nightly beauty routines depends the success of the average woman's battle to ward off as long as possible the marks of the passing years.

One who does a few simple things to her skin but does them expertly each and every night has much greater chance of always looking younger than she actually is than the girl who cleans her face almost every night, uses her creams and lotions fairly regularly. Indeed, the face of the former fares better in the long run than the face of the woman who has a professional facial once a week but who never does anything for her complexion between appointments.

Brush, Sister, Brush!

"Naturally, it's good for my business to have all my customers order scalp treatments along with their shampoos," says one frank Fifth Avenue hairdresser. "But I'd rather work with hair that is brushed for three minutes every night than with hair which gets a scalp treatment once a week but never is brushed between times."

And he's right, of course. Scalp treatments are wonderful—for taut nerves as well as the hair. A girl who has one once a week and uses a hairbrush nightly isn't likely to have problem hair or scalp ailments. But the and is the catch. For hair health, nothing can take the place of old-fashioned brushing. It can be supplemented, but never replaced.

Practically every facial expert urges the customers to use creams correctly between visits to her shop. The cynical can say it's because she wants to sell more creams, but any woman who went on for years doing nightly routines in hit or miss fashion, then started doing them regularly can take a minute to two for stroking it into the skin (be sure to use it lavishly around eyes) and put a softening preparation on your hands. The last is not to be taken lightly. Don't you see, all too often, old hands on young women?

If you refuse to sleep with cream on your face, apply it before you step into your hot tub and leave it on until just before you get in bed. Naturally, we didn't include daily bathing, teeth brushing and use of mouthwash in the short lists of necessary beauty rites. These you must do anyway, skin care or no. You'd better!

To save time in making starch for a large family wash first make a very stiff starch. Put articles requiring the most starch—such as collars and cuffs—into this. Then dilute the mixture with warm water and starch the rest of the laundry.

Beautiful Model

So beautiful that New York photographers urged her to come to Broadway, Katherine Weary now commutes from her home in Detroit to satisfy the demand for her pictures. Miss Weary is a brunette with sparkling dark eyes, a vivacious personality, and a magnetic smile. Her skin is very fair, complexion flawless, figure perfect.

Commission Dockets To Be Set Jan. 3

On January 3, in Austin, attorneys who have cases involving bus and truck permits before the Railroad Commission of Texas, are to meet for a setting of the docket, Jess C. Levens, an examiner and former Lubbock resident, announced here.

"We will set all cases on our dockets for that day," Levens said. "Attorneys with clients who have made applications, should be on hand. We want to clean up the docket just like they do in court."

At present some 500 cases are to be heard by the three examiners. Lovens is the senior examiner.

IDENTIFIED SHEETS

One manufacturer of sheets and pillow cases now labels each sheet with a projecting tab, so that the housewife can see at a glance whether it is cot size, single bed, twin bed, double or extra wide.

Serve mint sherbet in peach or cantaloupe halves. The combination of flavors is delicious.

Security Blanks To Be Mailed Soon

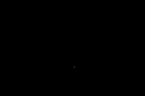

Social security reports on forms SS-2 and SS-2-A, for the six months ending Dec. 31, are to be made out and forwarded to the internal revenue department as soon as possible after the close of business for 1937.

Change was made several months ago in the period for these reports. Time to be covered will be six months instead of three as formerly. The Lubbock office of the Northern District of Texas collector's office will be prepared to furnish information to interested parties. It is in the federal building here.

SOUR MILK USES

Do not throw away sour milk unless it has become moldy or has an unpleasant smell. It is excellent for making biscuits, muffins, certain cakes, puddings and pie fillings, and will keep in a usable stage in the refrigerator for five or six days. Keep covered.

Hollywood On The Loose..

Spends Two Days On Make-Up And Then Shows Film Chiefs How It Really Should Be

BY ROBBIN COONS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 25.—Annabella from France spent two days, soon after arrival at 20th Century-Fox, undergoing the usual Hollywood routine of experimental hairdress and make-up. Each of the experiments required from one to two hours to apply.

Annabel'a

"May I have just one test of myself as I like to look?" she asked.

Request granted, she spent 15 minutes with comb and her own vanity case, and stepped before the camera.

Next day, when Production Chief Darryl Zanuck saw the tests, he had the film stopped on a certain frame.

"That's the make-up," he said. "It's perfect."

It was—of course—Annabella's own. She'll use it in "Jean" opposite William Powell.

Auto Graphs

SALLY EILERS was "abducted" the other morning.

Emerging from her home, she was surrounded by a gang of boys, ages 14 to 17, and ushered solemnly to the curb. There stood a worn old vehicle, once an automobile.

Sally Eilers

Sally effected her ransom payment smilingly. Her name went on the car amidst others which kept it good company: Lombard, Gable, Richard Dix, etc.

The youthful leader had a list of other names. He showed it to Sally, explaining: "We paid $35 for this old bus. When we get all these autographs on it, we can sell it for $175!"

She Has Some Doubts

IN "Headline Huntress Gloria Stuart wears a fox fur coat reputedly valued at $1,500—but she is beginning to have some doubts about it. In a number of scenes she appears with Rex, a tiny mongrel dog. Every time she walks into the scene, Rex leaps for the coat and clamps his teeth on hard.

GLORIA STUART

"I've never been able to break Rex of the urge to hunt rabbits," remarked his master, Henry East—perhaps relevantly, although Gloria isn't sure.

Intriguing Names

MICHAEL WHALEN has been taking golf lessons, at studio expense, for a picture. He has been taught to swing, but he still considers himself a golfless golfer. Just when the club is supposed to strike the ball they cut to a closeup of another player. When the ball is seen again it's zooming down the fairway.

CLAUDETTE COLBERT

Add I-mean-it handshakes: Bette Davis's.... Don't let it bother you — it doesn't worry Claudette—but watch next time you see her in a picture for one good view of the right side of the Colbert face. You won't find it. She has the notion that the left exposure is her "good camera side"—and in a recent film she had a set rebuilt to avoid making an entrance the other way!

Nominated for most intriguing home-town names: Fergus Falls, Minn. (Frank Albertson's); Squaw Valley, Calif. (Stuart Erwin's); and Wahoo, Neb. (Darryl Zanuck's).

NEW MEXICO GINNINGS

CARLSBAD, N. M., Dec. 25. (Special)—Cotton ginnings in the Carlsbad-Artesia area of the Pecos valley amount to 33,460 bales for the season, a late check here shows.

Southern Eddy county reported 16,930 bales ginned, with 16,500 for the Artesia district.

Gilbert gin here reported 3,081 bales, largest in the area.

PURCHASES HALSELL TRACT

AMHERST, Dec. 25. (Special)—W. C. Stout, of the Earth community has purchased a 266-acre tract near that town from Halsell Land Co., for a consideration of $10,640, it was announced here by Manager Will Rowland.

The tract has a 3-room house and several small barns. Stout owns two sections of land near his new property.

Visitors from the United States spent an estimated $8,000,000 in trips to Bermuda during the last year.

Carole Lombard Is Lovable Liar In "True Confession," At Palace Today

Broadway Offers Musical Stars

PALACE — Sunday, Monday and Tuesday: "True Confession" (Paramount). Carole Lombard, Fred MacMurray, John Barrymore, Una Merkel, Edgar Kennedy.

Here's a girl who is an incurable and sensational liar, and she talks herself into one enveloping situation after another—climaxed when she is brought to trial for murder. Even her husband, who is an attorney, believes her guilty, and rises to fame when he wins her acquittal.

BROADWAY—Sunday, Monday and Tuesday: "New Faces Of 1937" (RKO-Radio). Joe Penner, Harriet Hilliard.

Plot laid around a man who attempted to produce a flop show with a girl's money so that he could pocket the proceeds. But with the aid of several good actors, the show proves a success and the girl and the production's author find romance.

LINDSEY—Sunday, Monday and Tuesday: "Submarine D-1" (Warner). Pat O'Brien, George Brent, Wayne Morris, Frank McHugh, Doris Weston.

A melodrama dealing with the lives of the men who man the undersea craft of the navy. Two young sailors develop certain devices, one of them for sending imprisoned men in a sunken submarine to the surface safely by the use of air lungs, and another for raising the vessel itself.

LYRIC—Sunday and Monday: "The Crusades" (Paramount). Loretta Young and Henry Wilcoxon.

LYRIC—Tuesday: "King of Gamblers" (Paramount). Lloyd Nolan and Claire Trevor.

A young reporter finally gets his story with the aid of his girl friend. She is favored by a vice lord and the scribe is helped through her knowledge of gangland activities.

TECH—Sunday and Monday: "When Love Is Young" (Universal). Virginia Bruce, Kent Taylor, Walter Brennan.

The story of a country girl who smarted under the snubs of classmates and went away to New York to win fame in a series of exciting adventures.

TECH—Tuesday: "Four Days Wonder" with Jeanne Dante, Alan Mowbray, Walter Catlett.

TEXAN — Sunday, Monday and Tuesday: "Double Wedding" (MGM). William Powell, Myrna Loy, Florence Rice, John Beal.

A woman who likes to guide the destinies of others runs into a trailer-residing Bohemian and fur flies thick and fast when they clash.

PALACE—Wednesday: "Beg, Borrow Or Steal" (MGM). Frank Morgan, Florence Rice, John Beal.

A lovable bluffer leads his estranged wife and daughter to believe that he is a wealthy man. Hearing of his daughter's impending marriage to a banker's son, he sends word that he regrets there isn't time for them to come and be married in Europe on the Riviera. But they call his bluff and then things are in bad shape for him.

BROADWAY — Wednesday and Thursday: "Paradise Isle" (Monogram). Movita and Warren Hull.

A native girl discovers a blind shipwrecked artist washed up on the beach. She nurses him back to health and falls in love with him. Although he is blind he realizes a great tenderness for the girl. After a successful operation, in which he regains his eyesight, he decides to spend the rest of his life with her.

LINDSEY — Wednesday: "Borrowing Trouble" (20th Century-Fox). Jed Prouty, Spring Byington, George Ernest, Shirley Deane, Russell Gleason.

The Jones family is in trouble again because they have underbid on a room; campaign, principally upon a young kid. Pa has become master and he protests at the activities but is overruled.

LINDSEY — Thursday: "Adventurous Blonde" (First National). Glenda Farrell, Barton MacLane, Anne Nagel.

Another Torchy Blane story. Warn Torchy and her detective friend are about to be married ether reporters frame them and send them on what is supposed to be a planes murder story. The joke become quite realistic however when the phoney corpse turns out to be really dead.

LYRIC — Wednesday and Thursday: "Modern Times" (United Artists). Charlie Chaplin.

TECH — Wednesday and Thursday: "Wings Over Honolulu."

Pat O'Brien, Doris Weston and Wayne Morris talk it over in "Submarine D-1," now showing at the Lindsey.

Kent Taylor seems happy enough to have pretty Virginia Bruce in his arms in "When Love Is Young," now on at the Tech.

Keep The Christmas Spirit!

ANOTHER Christmas has come and gone, and most of us will settle once more into the routine of our existance.

Nothing The Avalanche-Journal or anyone else can say or do is likely to cause any change in habits. But, even though we may not do it, we all know that now is the best time to look back and to resolve that we will attempt to put a little more of the Christmas spirit into our daily lives in 1938.

Unless we are types of beings who deserve pity, there is something about Christmas that gets into all of us. We are inclined to be more generous with our worldly goods, to be more considerate of others, to make special efforts to make others happy. They are practices which should be part of our daily life but which, unfortunately, are not.

The resolution to try to do better through the coming year can do no harm and there is the possibility it may bear fruit.

The Debt Owed Frank Kellogg

ONE of the somewhat pathetic figures on America's governmental stage was Frank B. Kellogg, whose death occurred Wednesday.

His career was outstanding even among great men. His vision embraced the world and the centuries in its scope. His accomplishments at one time seemed to be of magnitude of which generations unborn would have to be the judge. Yet he died a disappointed old man who had lived to see the collapse of the things for which he had striven hardest and which were closest to his heart.

He served his nation as ambassador to Great Britain, as judge on the World court, as United States senator, as secretary of state and in several lesser capacities. But the honor of which he was proudest was the fact that he was awarded the Nobel prize in 1929 for having apparently done more toward the cause of world peace the previous year than any other person.

Rated by himself as the greatest achievement of his 81 years was the Kellogg-Briand peace treaty of 1928 in which 64 nations pledged themselves not to settle disputes by war. Yet the ink was hardly dry on that document before Japan began its rape of China—an example of national banditry matched only by Italy a few years later in the conquest of Ethiopia. Australia alone among the continents has been entirely free of war since the pact came into being. Not one nation on the globe has been free of rumors of war.

To say that Kellogg's efforts—or those of any good man in any good cause—were wasted would be preposterous. His efforts failed, of course, to give the world peace. But civilization and humanity are indebted to him for having taken another step toward a goal we may never reach but toward which we must forever strive.

What Fools Some Mortals Be!

BY way of demonstrating that people who have more time and money on their hands than they know what to do with can make fairly complete spectacles of themselves, divers idle members of New York "society" threw a cocktail party for their dogs the other day.

Some 150 prize pooches gathered in a ritzy New York restaurant, attended by their owners, and indulged in an afternoon of cocktail-sipping and canape-munching. The whole thing was a "benefit," of course; it was solemnly announced, afterward, that no less than $300 had been raised for an eleemosynary institution known as the Bide-a-Wee Home for friendless and dejected dogs.

So it was all a worthy cause, and doubtless deserving of our cheers; but somehow the cheers are a trifle hard to produce. These effervescent flowerings of a class which has abundant money and abundant leisure, but which has no faintest idea how to use either, are a little out of place in a country as beset with serious problems as our own.

With Our Contemporaries

"Less than five years ago some business men were telling us that before the depression had run its full course there would be left no insurance companies, that everyone of them would be busted and out of business," Homer Steen says in the Floyd County Hesperian.

The One-Minute Sermon

Be not thou envious against evil men, neither desire to be with them.

For their heart studieth destruction, and their lips talk mischief.

Through wisdom is an house builded, and by understanding it is established.—Proverbs 24, 1 through 3.

Authentic Portrait Of Cleopatra Blurred By 'Reconstructions' Of Emil Ludwig In His 'Fictional' History; Eve Curie Writes Interesting Book On Life Of Her Mother, Madame Curie, Translated By Vincent Sheean

"CLEOPATRA," The Story of a Queen" by Emil Ludwig. (Viking Press, New York)

SOME little time ago, Emil Ludwig brought out "The Nile" which was probably the best book he ever wrote. In the near future he is coming out with a life of Franklin Roosevelt which also apparently is designed to be a magnum opus.

Emil Ludwig

In between the two he seems to have felt the need of a breather, so now we get "Cleopatra" which is a superficial and somewhat hearts-and-flowers work that Mr. Ludwig turned out with one hand.

History And Fiction Clash

Cleopatra represents popularized biography at its most popular, so to speak. That is to say it is one of those books that reads like a cross between history and fiction, a book in which the author is never at loss to know precisely what his character really thought at a given moment, or what exact shades of emotion were experienced or what words were used in conversation.

That is fair enough. Yet it is a trick and a poor one, hardly worthy of the men who wrote "The Nile." The reader never knows how much of what is spread before him is sober fact and how much is a "reconstruction" brought about by a vivid imagination, having finished the book, he has no way of knowing whether he has been given an authentic portrait or a dream-picture bearing scant resemblance to reality.

That aside, "Cleopatra" is first-rate reading. Mr. Ludwig's prose is as vivid and as supple as his subject, and a great many people will probably get a lot of enjoyment out of the book.

Best Of Its Sort

"MADAME CURIE a biography"; by Eve Curie. (Doubleday, Doran, N. Y.).

EVE CURIE'S biography of her mother, "Madame Curie," is the best thing of its sort in a good many months. Its impact has been considerably diminished by serialization before book publication, but its impact is sufficient as it is. Being compounded of knowledge and perfect frankness, there is every reason for the book to succeed in a season when these qualities have not been more prevalent than usual.

The appendix is merely a list of Mme. Curie's prizes, decorations, and honorary titles. There are eight of the first, including two Nobel prizes. One of these was for chemistry; the other in physics. There are 16 medals and decorations awarded by bodies from Roumania to Chicago. And there are 105 honorary titles.

Other Part Is Better

The other part is the better, however. The discovery of radium, and the bitterness and love and grinding labor that went into that discovery is of course the theme of the book. Or rather of its scientific side. Besides all this runs the strange miracle which constitutes the personal side of Mme. Curie's life.

For she was born into a good but poor Polish family, intelligent and with a marked gift for concentration. It was not she who was sent to Paris for study, but her older sister. When at last Marie Curie got to France she lived there on ambition, and almost starved her physical self to death.

But she had two great triumphs in life—the first being her scientific contributions which her publisher remarks, changed the thought of a world as Joan of Arc changed its history. The second was her daughter says a perfect love. But her husband was killed accidentally before the recognition of their work was general, and once again Marie struggled on alone. When power came, she did not care about it—indeed the well meant ceremonies inflicted upon her may have shortened her life.

EVE CURIE

Miss Curie's biography of her mother, one of the great scientists, is full of photographs and of the Vincent Sheean touch. This is not surprising, for Sheean translated the book, and the author had the family archives to draw on. The prophets say it's a sure best seller.

Companionable Again

"SUMMER MOONSHINE," by P. G. Wodehouse. (Doubleday, Doran, N. Y.).

THE English-Speaking Union really ought to award some kind of prize to Novelist P. G. Wodehouse. Just when the doings of pompous statesmen persuade Americans that they can never really feel any intimate understanding for the English along comes Wodehouse with another novel that makes everything friendly and companionable again.

His most recent effort is "Summer Moonshine," and while it is a typical Wodehouse novel it contains enough of the perennial freshness and good spirits to make one forget that it is very much like its Wodehousian predecessors.

This yarn deals with a titled English family which, having fallen on hard times is forced to accept paying guests at its flossy ancestral estate. To this place comes a young American, enamored of the daughter of the household, who has managed to get herself engaged to a caddish young Englishman—who, in turn being a fortune-hunter, really wants to marry the young American's wealthy step-mother.

This, as you can see, lays the foundation for a plot complicated as only Wodehouse can complicate it; and from it there emerges a gay, witty and eternally-moving story that is as light as a puff of thistledown and that is pleasantly readable from start to finish.

Not least among Wodehouse's distinctions, by the way, is the fact that he is one of the very few English novelists who know how Americans talk.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE religious revival known as the Oxford Group movement has penetrated New Deal circles—with curious effects. When a political capital as Washington gets religion, trouble—and excitement—strike town, too.

Several minor New Deal officials have taken the chief tenet—public confession of doubts and personal wrongdoing—too literally, and have almost lost their jobs. They have revealed their suspicions of goings-on in their departments, mentioning cabinet officers and such by name, and their tales were relayed to their bosses. A noted political writer bitterly anti-Roosevelt was recently converted, concluded that he should be more fair to the President, and now his articles sound as if they had been written by presidential publicist Michelson.

Chief exponents of the idea are neighbors of C.I.O.-er John L. Lewis. They are aiming to convert him in the hope that he will "Christianize" the C.I.O., exile all communistic members and abandon violence for persuasion. John listens, but he still believes that the doctrine of "one big union" (including communists) is good gospel.

PSYCHOLOGIST: Tokyo's foreign office would presumably resolve the Panay incident more promptly and graciously if it knew that the man behind the Roosevelt-Hull diplomatic ink bottle is the shrewdest student of Oriental psychology in the United States—Maxwell M. Hamilton, chief of the Division of Far Eastern affairs.

Prematurely gray, the Apollo-like Mr. Hamilton war born at Tahlequah, Okla., 41 years ago. After studying at Washington and Jefferson, a spell in the army, and graduating from Princeton in 1919, he was sent to China as a student interpreter in the consular service. He rose rapidly until he became chief assessor in the Mixed Claims court—the agency which tries all civil and criminal cases over which this country has extra-territorial jurisdiction. In that courtroom—a crossroads of the eastern world—he got an instinctive understanding of the Oriental mind.

Mr. Hamilton is credited with having suggested that President Roosevelt appeal over the heads of the war lords direct to the emperor—a blow at Japan's religious and political pride. He is also said to have advised the strategy under which Nippon is supposed to be losing "face," not only within her own dominions but across the Yellow sea. And for bringing the world's haughtiest nation to its knees he gets $8,000 a year.

PATIENCE: The only Progressive on Capitol Hill still absolutely loyal to F.D.R. is the youngest and least experienced legislator—Young Bob" LaFollette of Wisconsin. His unswerving trust chills friends who envisage him as nominee of a new independent party in 1940.

Oldster George Norris still admires Mr. R. Personally, but his fingers are slightly crossed as he watches a procession of private utility magnates cross the White House threshold. Burton K. Wheeler is completely off the reservation, and even "Bob" Wagner has been discouraged. Messrs. Borah, Nye and Frazier were never completely sold, though they approve some New Deal aims. "Bob" alone upholds the Roosevelt end of the argument when the others voice their misgivings in the Senate dining and cloakrooms.

"Bob" puts up a strong argument, however. When the veterans criticize Mr. R. for not galloping further to the left, or for his recent comaraderie with Big Business, he points to the Chief Executive in years backed the labor bills as strongly as F.D.R. He thinks his friends have "ants in their pants."

Mr. Hatchen won by a vote of 218 to 75 for Mr. O'Donnell—the worst defeat any candidate has suffered in modern Press Club history. Moreover, re-elected members of the board of governors were almost unanimously regarded as anti-New Dealers. The incident is important because of frequent charges that the Washington press corps is sycophantically and slavishly pro-Roosevelt. It may have been once—in fact, the majority were before the November election but it isn't any more.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

LAST week's convention of the Steel Workers Organizing commitee did more to revive the faded fortunes of the C.I.O. than anything that has happened since the recession began.

The radical wing of the union was deftly squelched and the rank-and-file voted to give full authority and a free hand to responsible and experienced leaders—headed by Philip Murray—in next year's contract negotiations with the steel companies. This practically guarantees renewal of the 440-odd S.W.O.C. contracts without an argument.

The steel union is the C.I.O.'s proudest exhibit in support of its claim that its member bodies respect their contracts. Although the S.W.O.C. is as new an organization as the United Automobile Workers, and its members as unversed in union discipline, steel companies which have signed up with it have had no trouble whatever with sit-downs or other unauthorized disturbances cooked up by professional troublemakers. The communist element that has raised so much cain in the U.A.W. has been unable to make any headway among the organized steel workers.

MURRAY: Both these achievements amount to personal triumphs for Philip Murray. Less publicized than some of his more theatrical brethren, Mr. Murray is one of the ablest and shrewdest labor leaders in the country. A realist, he doesn't believe in crying for the moon. He has realized from the beginning that the greatest weaknesses of the C.I.O. lay in trying to take in too much territory too fast and giving radical organizers too much rope.

There would have been no abortive "Little Steel" strike if he had had his way. He wanted to organize Republic Steel, Inland Steel and Youngstown Sheet & Tube as much as the next fellow, but knew it would be suicidal to force the issue before the union was strong enough in those companies to assure victory. The radicals in his union overruled him then for the first and only time. Their rashness incurred a beating which strengthened his hand.

Assurance that steel union contracts will be renewed in 1938 lies in the fact that steel executives who have dealt with him know that his demands will be reasonable and that he keeps his word. Even the bare renewal of present agreements will be a big boost to C.I.O. moral and prestige under recession conditions.

A Tenant Farmer Who Wouldn't Stay Down!

He Makes 27 Crops Instead Of One And Earns Real Money

BY EUGENE RUTLAND
NEA Service Correspondent

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 25.—"After all these years, I am no longer a sharechopper."

Those words, uttered by sturdy, determined H. L. Majure, Phillips county, Arkansas, farmer, are full of meaning for the south and for all America.

Behind the words lie 22 seasons of toil, poverty, mean sharecropper cabins and the hand-to-mouth existence of one-crop farming. Ahead of them lies hope, not only for Majure and his proud family, but for everyone.

For what Majure has done others can do, and there lies hope. Majure is the winner of the Plant-to-Prosper competition run by the Memphis Commercial Appeal in an effort to stimulate diversified, scientific, self-sustaining farming in the south and help point a way to liberate the sharecropper.

Made A Try For It

Majure, with only a fifth-grade education, had never known anything but a life of renting land, buying on credit, making a single crop, and usually paying out for "rent and furnish" to landlord and merchant, the whole proceeds from his crop. Year after year it was a bare living, and nothing ahead for Majure.

But 22 years of that could not kill ambition in Majure. He decided that one-crop farming would never get him anywhere. Along came the newspaper's Plant-to-Prosper competition. Majure decided to enter and make a try for it.

Today he is on the way to ownership of 40 acres of fertile, well-handled land. On New Year's Day he will move into a new five-room house which he built with his own hands.

This year, in addition to a better living than he ever had before, he is money ahead. The 40 acres he is buying is too small to support his family, but he is able to pay cash rent for 53 acres more. Majure is on the road to freedom.

Won't Owe Anyone

AND he is not the only one. Take C. W. Armstrong of Tishomingo county, Missouri. Seven years ago he bought a 36-acre wornout hill farm, and moved into a one-room cabin.

Today he has a new house built with his own hands from lumber cut on the place. He has a fine electrified farm, well terraced, and producing 718 pounds of cotton to the acre. When he settles up at the end of this year he will have $1200 and won't owe anybody a dime.

H. L. Majure decided he wanted "something every month" from his rented farm in Phillips County, Ark., and from a share-cropper became a prosperous farmer.

There were hundreds of other entrants in the Commercial Appeal contest, whose achievements were scarcely less remarkable. But Majure's achievement, judged greatest among 5000 tenant farmer entrants, stands out. Let's see what he did and how he did it.

Money Every Month

He decided that he would try to have some income every month of the year instead of a single money payment when he sold his cotton in the fall. Today he has 27 sources of income instead of one.

They include corn, spinach, mustard greens, turnip greens, English peas, snap beans, lima beans, Crowder peas, speckled peas, blue hull peas, tomatoes, cucumbers, sweet corn, watermelons, cantaloupes, squash, clay peas, soy beans, carrots, sweet and Irish potatoes, milk, butter, chickens, eggs, meat and cotton.

Because he had a little money coming in all the time, Majure did not have to borrow to plant his crops or to live. He also grew enough fruits and vegetables so that his

Utah Co-Ed, Beautiful To Look At, Is Also One Smart Gal

OGDEN, Utah, Dec. 25.—Greta Garbo has a coed second cousin here who rivals the movie queen in beauty and who has received the ranking of "genius" from college authorities.

The coed is lovely-to-look-at Ruth Louise Olsen, 18. She passed the Ohio State psychological examination for university students at Weber Junior college here with a score of 142.

"This gives her a percentile rank of 100, the highest possible, and places her in class No. 1, or that of genius," said psychology instructor John Benson.

Only one college student in 5,000 or more achieve a rating as high as that, Benson explained.

"If she is properly directed, Miss Olsen is capable of leadership and great success," he asserted.

Blonde, slender Ruth Louise said her relationship through a paternal grandparent to Greta Garbo had been discovered several years ago when the actress met the Ogden girl's uncle at Salt Lake City. Ruth likes the movies a lot, but as for seeking a career in Hollywood—that never entered her mind.

She Likes Children

"I WANT to be an English teacher," she explained with an alluring smile. "And because I love children I want to teach in the lower grades."

Ruth is the youngest of a family of 10 children. She speaks Spanish and German, is fond of all sports and enjoys dancing. She sings, plays the flute and the clarinet. She is attending college on a high school music scholarship. Her scholastic record, as you might guess, is "straight A."

Socially inclined, Miss Olsen never has been known to say, "I vant to be alone now."

4-H Cotton Test Is Completed

Thirty-one of the 60 4-H club boys of the county who completed a cotton demonstration durfng 1937 averaged slightly under a bale per acre for the 148.5 acres planted to the crop, said Homer E. Thompson, club leader and assistant county agent.

From the nearly 150 acres, a total of 66,185 pounds of lint cotton was harvested, or slightly over 132 bales.

Net income was $4,202, or an average of $28.40 per acre. This was above the cost of picking, ginning and cost of seed.

Yield Per Acre Greater

Yield was about 24 pounds per acre greater than that of the father of the boys, or of adjoining farmers. The greater percentage of yield was better than that of half and half cotton, in spite of the fact that most of the 60 boys had to replant one or more times, the final planting not being equal to the pure seed which the boys purchased for first planting.

Some cotton was not planted until late in June, owing to the first plantings being rained or hailed out.

More than 20 of the boys participating had entered the Anderson-Clayton cotton contest for the county. Records of these boys, as well as others completing, were forwarded to College Station.

Texas Shipments Of Livestock, Poultry Show Big Gains

AUSTIN, Dec. 25 (AP)—Forwarding of Texas livestock and poultry and egg shipments to out-of-state points in November showed increases over the same month last year in figures released by the University of Texas bureau of business research.

Shipments of all classes of livestock totaled 7,572 cars last month as compared to 6,659 last year, reflecting a 14 per cent gain.

Interstate shipments of poultry, including turkeys, numbered 761 cars. There were 581 last November. Turkey shipments of 700 cars this year increased 29 per cent.

Heaviest Business In Futures Contracts Reported In Chicago

CHICAGO, Dec. 25 (AP) — The biggest business in wheat futures contracts in seven years was transacted on the Chicago Board of Trade this year.

The grain exchange's figures also disclosed that the volume of trading in all grains was the largest since 1933.

Traders credited increased public participation in the market coincident and production of bigger crops.

Up to December 18 total volume of trading involved 14,418,685,000 bushels of wheat, corn, oats, rye, barley, and soy beans. Wheat accounted for 10,720,683,000 bushels of this total.

Near-Record Crops May Bring American Farmers Most Money Since 1929

By PAUL D. SHOEMAKER
Associated Press Farm Editor

BIGGEST crop production since 1928.

Largest estimated cash income since 1929.

These two facts stand out in the 1937 story of agriculture in the United States.

After the drouth years of 1934 and 1936, nature smiled on the nation's producers of food and fiber and gave them near record-breaking crops—only 6 per cent less than the all-time peak of 1920, the bureau of agricultural economics estimated.

Farm cash income estimated at about $8,700,000,000 may have to reach back to 1929 to find a year that produced as much money for agriculture. Economists figure farmers can count as much and perhaps more than in 1930 when $8,451,000,000 went into rural pockets.

The bureau placed 1936 farm cash income at $7,850,000,000.

In addition thousands of farmers have "money on the farm" in the form of overflowing corn cribs, bulging silos and oat bins and tons of hay—in contrast to last year's shortage—which they expect to convert into cash by feeding hogs and cattle to be sold in 1938.

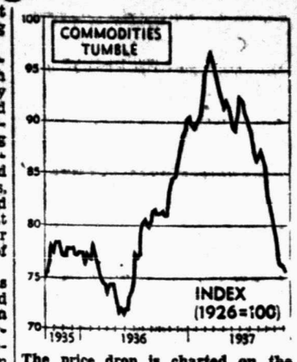

Extraordinarily heavy crop production followed freakish weather in some parts of the country. Early in the year California fruit and vegetable growers experienced several spells of well below freezing weather which did extensive damage. Floods swept the Ohio and middle upper Mississippi valleys, and when spring came rains pelted the corn belt so frequently that farmers despaired of getting their corn and oats planted because of soggy fields.

But fine growing conditions brought a big corn crop, estimated at 2,651,393,000 bushels, more than 1,120,000,000 over last year's harvest. Lack of rainfall cut corn production in Nebraska and Kansas in half, however, and the deficiency in moisture again extended over most of the high plains area. Grasshoppers again damaged crops in Colorado and some other western states.

Wheat production was estimated at 886,895,000 bushels, up 240,000,000 bushels from 1936, sufficient to give the country a sizeable exportable surplus. Only dry weather in the high plains and damage from rust in some sections kept wheat production from booming into the billion bushel bracket.

Cotton planters, favored with "made-to-order weather" produced the largest crop in history, a crop forecast at 18,746,000 bales of 500 pounds each. Indicated yield per acre, 264.6 pounds, highest on record, compares with 197.6 last year.

Mid-November found congress convening in special session to enact "permanent farm legislation," based on the "ever-normal granary," crop control, crop insurance and soil conservation.

Earlier in the year congress passed the Bankhead-Jones farm tenancy act, providing for loans to worthy farm tenants to enable them to become land owners. The soil conservation act was amended to continue its administration in the department of agriculture until 1942, instead of turning it over to the states at the end of this year. The department of agriculture in August authorized loans up to nine cents a pound on top grades. Later in the year loans of between 44 and 50 cents a bushel on corn. Cotton planters were told by the department of agriculture they would be paid a subsidy of up to three cents a pound on cotton to provide growers a maximum price of not more than 12 cents.

Short supplies of prime cattle during the fall, a result of the feed shortage due the 1936 drouth boosted prices to a nine year high of $10.90 a hundred.

With increased income farmers spent freely, replacing old and obsolete equipment, giving implement manufacturers the greatest volume of business they have had since 1930. Several manufacturers continued experimental work with mechanical cotton pickers and announced that progress had been made.

Experimental work in growing vegetables and flowers out of water solutions containing chemical plant food elements, without soil, was continued in greenhouses at half a dozen agricultural college experimental stations.

Agriculture's outstanding athletic event—the national corn husking contest—was won this year by tall Ray Hanson of Bingham Lake, Minn., in a driving rain at Marshall, Mo.

Nature Smiled On The Average Farmer

Congress Passed Five Measures

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25. — Congress enacted five pieces of legislation during the special session—one for each week.

The measures, all minor in character, authorized:

1. Payment of about $225,000 for transportation of senators and representatives to and from the capital.

2. Exemption of federal credit unions from all but property taxes.

3. Payment of salaries of senate and house page boys for the session.

4. The secretary of agriculture to furnish information on an elixir of sulfanilamide, which caused a number of deaths in the south and middle west.

5. Loan of capitol paintings of George Washington and other historic figures for an art exhibition.

Vast Potential Market Nation's Agricultural Products Revealed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25 (AP)—Government economists declare a study of the American diet disclosed a vast potential market for many agricultural products.

Only about 25 per cent of the white non-relief families have diets rated "very good," the bureau said, while 20 per cent were reported living on diets considered "very poor."

If all city families could have first class diets, the bureau added, a 33 per cent increase would follow in the dairy industry, 20 per cent increase in fruit and vegetable production, and 15 per cent increase in egg production.

Cotton Supplies At New All-Time High

AUSTIN, Dec. 25 (AP)—Dr. A. B. Cox, director of the University of Texas bureau of business research says cotton supplies currently are at an all-time high.

"The increase in supplies of cotton in the United States on Dec. 1 from last December was 5,558,000 bales," Dr. Cox said, "the greatest increase for any like period in history."

The indicated supplies in this country, by the bureau's statistics, were 18,623,000 bales as of Dec. 1 compared with 13,065,000 bales last year and 13,406,000 two years ago. The alltime high for any Dec. 1 was that of 1931—18,674,000.

KENNEDY NAMED CHAIRMAN

MULESHOE, Dec. 25. (Special)—W. G. Kennedy, former county judge, was elected chairman of the Bailey county agricultural conservation committee for 1938. G. W. Damron was named vice chairman and W. L. Key, third member. Lonnie Arnold was named alternate.

Officers were named from the three community boards.

Yoakum County Denver Pool Extended

BY JOHN B. BREWER
Special Oil Writer

Extending of the Denver pool, farthest south in Yoakum county, another mile east by Shell No. 1 Geo. Baumgart; logging of oil saturated lime by Stogner & Pipkin No. 1 Pollard, extreme northwestern Yoakum wildcat, at intervals between 5,198 and 5,256 feet, and completion of Ajax Drilling Co. No. 1 D. H. Snyder, Jr., half mile north extension to the Snyder pool in eastern Howard county, for a 24-hour flow of 583.54 barrels were among West Texas' principal oil developments this week.

Exploration extended farther into the South Plains around Lubbock with the starting of one wildcat each in Lynn and Lamb counties. One test was spudded and rig was being built for another in west central Ward county near Clayton H. Mahres and others' No. 1 Pat Wilson, which in July developed production of 133 barrels daily from the Delaware sand after a shot.

Locations Decrease

Locations decreased to 33 for field tests and eight for wildcats in 13 counties from 58 for field tests and four for wildcats in eight counties the week before. The number of completions was the same as during the preceding week: 33 producers and five dry holes in nine counties compared with 30 producers and eight failures in 11 counties the week before.

Two wildcats seeking Delaware production struck sulphur water this week: Brewer & Collins No. 1 C. M. Caldwell in eastern Culberson county and M. L. Benedum No. 1 Joe C. Trees in northwestern Pecos county. No. 1 Caldwell awaited casing and deepening of No. 1 Trees from 4,995 was expected, drilling 8,000 feet being scheduled.

Shell Well Flows

Shell No. 1 Baumgart, east extensioner to the Denver pool in Yoakum county, flowed 132 barrels of oil in six hours, bottomed at 5,000 feet, after treatment with 4,000 gallons of acid, and was retreated with 6,000 gallons. The well is 1,320 from the south, 440 feet from the west line of section 828-D-John H. Gibson, one mile east and 4,430 feet north of Toddie Lee Wynne, American Liberty Oil Co. trustee, No. 1 C. A. Thomas, recently 2 1-2 mile southeast extension to the Denver pool.

Wynne No. 1 Willard, two miles southwest of Wynne No. 1 Thomas and only 1 1-2 miles northwest of the most northeasterly production in the Wasson field in Gaines county, logged more soft formation carrying an oil odor in drilling to 5,000 feet, and cemented 7-inch casing at 4,820 preparatory to testing. It is in the southwest corner of section 38-AX-Psl.

Stogner & Pipkin No. 1 Pollard, northwestern Yoakum wildcat in the northeast corner of section 106-D-John H. Gibson, showed oil stains and some porosity in cores from 5,216-48 feet, stopped at 5,256 and prepared to run and cement pipe around 5,100 feet.

Bennett Is Active

Honolulu No. 2 Bennett, which last week extended the Bennett pool in southeastern Yoakum county one-half mile southwest, flowed 35 barrels of oil hourly from a total depth of 5,247 feet after two acid treatments totaling 6,000 gallons. It is in the northeast corner of section 677-D-John H. Gibson. Shell No. 1 Bennett, also in the northeast quarter of section 677, ran tubing to test at 5,259 feet.

Skelly and Sun No. 1 Kiser, one mile southwest of Bohago and Bond No. 1 West, first and most northerly of southwestern Yoakum's three strikes, was abandoned at 4,871 feet having plugged back from 5,300 feet and tested mostly water. It was in the northeast corner of section 640-D-John H. Gibson.

J. R. Meeker and others' No. 1 Wright, Cochran county wildcat in the southeast corner of section 26, league 96, Mills county school land, topped the solid brown (San Andres) lime at 4,105 feet, 331 feet below sea level, and drilled ahead below 4,265 feet in lime.

Rotary Is Moved In

Cellar and pits had been dug and rotary was being moved in for John L. Baldridge's No. 1 Alamo Lumber Co., Lynn county wildcat 990 feet out of the southwest corner of section 151, HE&WT Ry. Co. survey. J. W. Murchison (Toddie Lee Wynne) was moving in rotary for No. 1 Neunschwander in Lamb county, 660 feet out of the southeast corner of labor 1, league 660, Capitol Syndicate Lands, five miles southeast of Littlefield.

H. C. Wheeler dug cellar and pits for No. 1 F. E. Gardner, an Andrews county wildcat 660 feet out of the southwest corner of section 15-A35-psl, nearly four miles east of the Means field and six miles north by northwest of the town of Andrews.

Brewer & Collins No. 1 C. M. Caldwell, eastern Culberson county wildcat which attracted attention by striking gas and high gravity oil in promising amount between 490 and 509 feet in mid-November, struck sulphur water in the Delaware lime from 1,885 to 1,889 feet, where it shut down for 8 1-4 inch pipe. The lime was solid at 1,889 feet, 1,930 feet above sea level. Location is in the northwest quarter of section 14-42-psl.

Benedum No. 1 Trees, northwestern Pecos county wildcat, with an elevation of 2,528 feet, topped the Delaware lime at 4,808, struck sulphur water in the top of the Delaware sand at 4,862 feet and was to run a Schlumberger survey. It is in the southwest corner of section 9-8 H&GN.

J. E. Fitzpatrick of Fort Worth and associates spudded No. 1 F. I. Dyer in west central Ward county 150 from the northwest 2,970 feet from the southwest line of section 135-34-H&TC, 1 1-2 miles southwest of Mahres No. 1 Wilson, Delaware producer. The same operators were building rig for No. 1 H. B. Carr, 660 from the northwest, 3,300 feet from the southwest line of section 125-34-H&TC, two miles south of the discovery.

Hantho & Nelson No. 1 Bert Fletcher, western Runnels county wildcat in Good pre-emption survey 58 1-2, was cleaning out following a 20-quart shot between 4,124-60 feet. Earlier it was treated with 10,000 gallons of acid through gun perforations in the casing with little apparent benefit.

Small World Wheat Supplies May Offset Price-Depressing

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25. (AP)—The bureau of agricultural economics said today small world wheat supplies may offset to some extent the customary price-depressing effect of southern hemisphere grain which usually starts to market in January.

Indications are that total supplies for the current season, excluding Russia and China, will be only about 25,000,000 bushels more than the very small supplies of last year, the bureau said.

French Chamber Of Deputies Approoriate For Monument

PARIS, Dec. 25. (AP)—The French chamber of deputies have approved an appropriation of 1,500,000 francs ($50,000) for the monument to Gen. John J. Pershing, commander of the World war A. E. F., at Versailles. The people of Versailles contributed a similar sum.

General Pershing attended dedication of the monument, an equestrian statue of Pershing, at Versailles last October.

Tenant Farmer

Then Majure carried the idea farther. Finding that he could grow most of his own food, he decided to apply the same thing to feed for his stock. So he began growing his own hay, small grains and corn. These he turned into cash through his hogs and cows.

Only $97 For Food

THE Plant-to-Prosper campaign taught him to conserve his soil, and land on which soil-depleting crops had been grown were planted in winter cover crops like soy beans and peas. He rotated his crops. He stopped erosion damage. He also sodded 12 acres into permanent pasture in Bermuda grass, lespedeza and hop clover.

"When I moved on to this farm, I'm sure it wasn't making more than a fourth of a bale of cotton to the acre; this year I'm picking 14 bales from 20 acres," says Majure.

With their family of six, the Majures have reached a point of self-support at which they spent only $97 for food not raised on their own farm last year. "And we lived good," adds Majure. "If we could grow our sugar, coffee, flour and salt, I expect we wouldn't have to spend anything on store-bought stuff."

Made Money, Too

The pantry backs him up. There are 96 cans of beef there, and 34 quarts of pork, 32 quarts of tomato pickles, 28 quarts of sweet potatoes, 24 quarts of string beans, 33 quarts of English peas, 80 quarts of blackberries, and many more of beets, squash, corn, apples, lima beans, tomato juice, carrots, peaches and preserves.

The Majures have not only lived well and provided a good living for the winter, but made money, too. Their gross income from the 93 acres was $2301.87, with a net gain of $1217.25. And that does not include $147.40 spent for home furnishings, $101 for education, $26 for medical care, $20 for recreation, livestock bought for $125 and machinery at $68—and, best of all for a one-time sharecropper, $5 to charity.

They All Helped

The children all helped, becoming active in 4-H Club work, and Mrs. Majure organized and helped run a Home Demonstration Club. When Majure decided to "make his break" last year, he called the whole family into a "council of war." All agreed to help, and all share the satisfaction of achievement.

Majure's magnificent rise from a hopeless sharecropper status to independence and the road to ownership through diversified and self-sufficient farming are regarded by the judges as a beacon light pointing the way to ultimate solution of the desperate sharecropper and one-crop farm problem in the south.

TARZAN'S QUEST. By Edgar Rice Burroughs

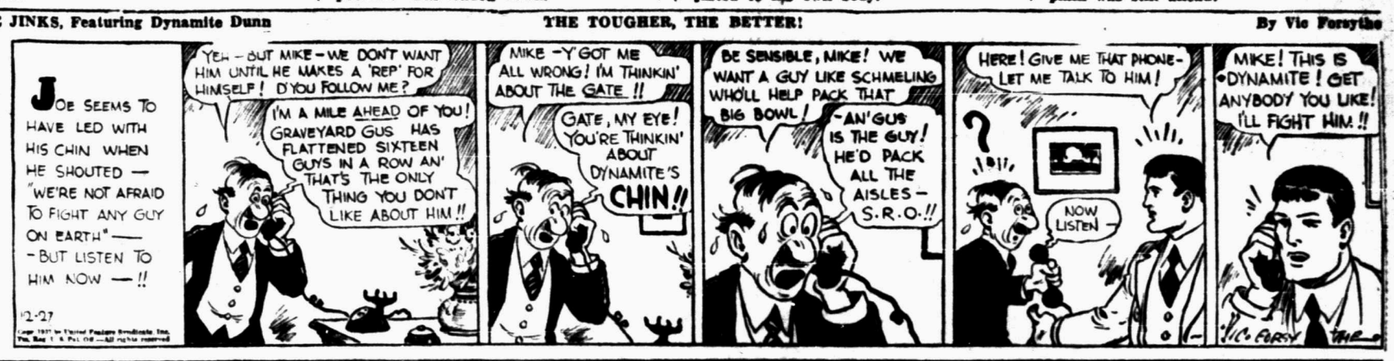

With a solemn warning to Muviro that he might never return, Tarzan moved out into the clearing, followed by Brown. Neither man spoke; their desperate plan had been too well formulated to require speech. So, in silence, they reached the grounded airplane.

While Tarzan was busy over the slain aviators, Brown inspected the cockpits and the baggage compartment. "Plenty ammunition," he said, handing his companion a box of cartridges. "That's about all you can manage—you ain't got no pockets. I'm loaded down."

"How about petrol?" Tarzan asked. "Not much more'n a hatful," the American replied. "It'll do if it don't take too long to warm up." Now Tarzan handed Brown a parachute he had taken from one of the dead fliers; the other 'chute he adjusted to his own body.

The two men climbed into the plane. "Here's hoping," Brown prayed under his breath as he opened the valve of the air starter. The answering whir of the propeller brought a smile to his lips. But the dangerous take-off from the rock-strewn plain was still ahead!
