Buffer Line Still Snags Cease-Fire; Could Change Fast

U.N. ADVANCE HEADQUARTERS, Korea, July 31. (AP) — Armistice negotiators argued stubbornly for an hour and 34 minutes today on where to draw the cease-fire line in Korea without getting any closer together.

It was the fifth successive day United Nations and Communist delegations devoted to the buffer zone issue. The announced result of each sessions was the same: No progress.

"The area of disagreement has neither broadened or narrowed," an official U.N. spokesman said. The Reds want U.N. forces to abandon their present battle line and pull back to the 38th Parallel.

Delegates meet again at 11 a.m. Wednesday (7 p.m. Tuesday CST). In their 16th session at Kaesong for another try at breaking the deadlock.

NO BREAK SEEN

"There was no indication of a compromise to me today," commented the briefing officer, Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols. "On the other hand, as you know, a position can be adjusted very quickly. That is neither optimistic nor pessimistic."

The U.N. wants the demilitarized zone established along present battle lines, cutting across North Korea for more than 80 miles. The Reds want a buffer zone centered on the 38th Parallel, pre-war political dividing line of North and South Korea.

South Koreans demonstrating in their temporary capital at Pusan

We oppose any cease fire at the damned 38th Parallel."

shouting thousands paraded through the busy streets of the southern port city Tuesday shouting "On to the Yalu."

RIDGWAY STATEMENT?

There was a similar demonstration in Seoul Saturday backing the South Korean government's demand to unite all Korea from Pusan to its southern tip to the Yalu River at its northern border with Manchuria.

From Tokyo came reports that Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, U.N. commander, may be planning to issue a statement on the thorny issue of where to establish a buffer zone that has deadlocked efforts to end the shooting war.

There was no hint when such a statement may be made.

It could contain the first public announcement of what Admiral C. Turner Joy, as the chief Allied negotiator, has been telling the Communists at Kaesong.

Joy stuck to his guns Tuesday as delegates met in the gloomy Kaesong conference room with a light rain pattering on the tile roof overhead. He used the first half of the forsession elaborated on and arguing for the U. N. position

Then he listened to Lt. Gen. Nam Il When the North Korean had finished, Joy suggested an adjournment until Wednesday — unless Nam had something more to say.

C. L. Williamson

Williamson Is Candidate For City Council

C. L. Williamson today announced his candidacy or the vacancy which now exists on the city council.

Wiliamson, formerly a councilman, made the announcement after the city council last night set a special election for Sept. 18 to fill the vacncy.

A petition has been handed Williamson asking that he run for the council vacancy.

The vacancy was created earlier in the year by the resignation of Ivan Gatlin to become head of the fire department. The election will fill his unexpired term.

Persons wishing to file as candidates must do so before Aug. 18.

WATER SYSTEM

A report on what city engineers considered a fair prorata cost for the new high school to tie on to the water and sewer lines in Towle Place was read to the council last night.

The report gave this cost to be $9,636.77.

Joe Burkett, developer of Towle Place addition, was instructed to present the report to the school board for its approval.

Texas Called Key State In New Coalition

WASHINGTON, July 31. (AP)—A ranking Republican pointed to Texas as the key state in some "effective program of political realignment" between Northern Republicans and Southern Democrats.

Senator Mundt (R-SD) declared "Texas is the key state, really there is enough power down there," Mundt said, "and enough leadership down there, and enough genuine rugged Americanism down if you will find a harness that will fit it — we beleive Texas can pull most of the South along on some effective program of political realignment."

Mundt said Speaker Rayburn "Could be speaker of the house under our program — the caucus of like-minded House members would determine that by their votes."

Mundt continued: "In Texas a few weeks ago their governor signed a new bill which facilitates this whole (alliance) movement and which was promoted in Texas by some of the folks intrested in the alliance program and opposed to New Dealism in all its forms. This provides now that in 1952 for the first time in Texas you can cross-file. There is a device so that you can amalgamate and add together the anti-Truman votes for President. And that was done specifically by those, including the governor, who are opposed to Trumanism in Texas."

Sen. Morse (R-Ore) assailed Mundt's plan for a coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats.

"The proposal is a repudiation of the basic Republican principals of Lincoln." he said.

"It places the Republican Party on the auction block. It is a denial of the historic record of the Republican Pary in defense of the human rights guarantee of the Constitution."

Richard W. McGee Is Given 30-Day Reprive

AUSTIN, July 31. (AP)—Gov. Shivers approved a 30-day stay of execution today for Richard W. McGee.

The reprieve was granted on recommendation of the State Pardons Board Monday to permit time for a sanity hearing.

Nationalists Admit Drive On Mainland

TAIPEH, Formosa, July 31. (AP)—Chinese Nationalist military quarters today confirmed for the first time that Nationalist General Li Mi is campaigning against Communists in Southwest Red China.

They had been silent for several days on a Rangoon report that Li's forces from Northern Burma had crossed into Yunman Province on a 100-mile front.

But today these officials, who declined to be quoted by name, said Li had gone into Yunnam, not to take over real estate, but to develop axpand and encourage guerrillas fighting Communists there.

The Nationalist officers backed up the claim of a Formosa relative of Li that the general's forces and the Yunnan guerrillas together dominate a third of the province.

They admitted that Li could be driven out of Yunnan if the Reds were to launch a determined campaign aginst him. And as if to prepare the public for such an event, they emphasized that Li was merely waging hit-and-run guerrilla warfare.

Meanwhile, the Nationalist Defense Ministry said guerrillas in Kwangsi province, which flanks Yunnan on the east, had hurled back a major attempt by Reds to crush them.

The ministry said the Reds withdrew, July 15, after 10 days of sharp fighting in which they suffered heavy losses including an entire regiment, part of which was killed and the rest captured.

The ministry added that Guerrillas were disrupting communications between Kiangsi and Indochina.

Iranian Refineries Completely Closed

ABADAN, Iran, July 31. (AP) — A red haired Scotsman pushed a button today and halted the last gasoline producing machine of the world's largest refiney — closed in the bitter oil row between Britain and Iran.

The Anglo-Iranian Oil Company's giant plant at Abadan Island has been slowing down production for the past month. Today it ceased altogether because no room remained in the acres of storage tanks.

More than a month ago the traffic of oil tankers was halted by the nationaliation dispute which centered over Iranian seizure of the AIOC's vast holdings. Both the Iranian government and AIOC demanded paymept for oil shipments. The company pulled out its tankers.

There was little fuss over the closing of the refineries' last operating unit.

Red-haired David Blair Watt, AIOC distillation units superintendent, pushed the electric switch button and the roar of gas flames heating the pipes died away. At the same time the flow of oil into the big pipeline from Aga Jari 150 miles away was choked off.

The shut-down climaxes the months-long dispute over ownership of the billion dollar AIOC which has choked off a major source of oil supply for the British navy and Western Europe.

HARRIMAN IN TEHRAN

Meanwhile U. S. trouble shooter W. Averell Harriman returned to Tehran from London today confident "no further difficulties" stand in the way of new British-Iranian oil talks.

President Truman's special envoy said he had only a few minor points to clear up with the Iranian delegation headed by Richard Stokes, Lord Privy Seal, would come here from London.

Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison told the House of Commons in London Monday that — as a result of talks with Harriman — Britain had decided to send the cabinet mission to Iran for a new try at settling its dispute with Iran. He added however, that certain points had to be clarified before the mission made the trip.

Stepping from his plane at Tehran airport, Harriman told reporters his talks with the British govenment "were useful and satisfactry."

British Ambassador Sir Francis Shepherd did not return with Harriman. The American said, "He'll come later."

President Is Advised To Sign Controls

WASHINGTON, July 31. (AP) — President Truman's key stabilization aides reportedly have advised him to sign the new economic controls bill today — and also to blast it as inadequate to curb inflation.

In Congress, the general expectation was that Mr. Truman will approve the bill by midnight, when the present law expires.

Some lawmakers termed the bill they sent to the White House Monday a good one and said the President has no justification for complaint. Others criticized it and declared more legislation will be needed to check inflation.

The United Labor Policy Committee, represeting most of organized labor, blasted the measure as a "callous betrayal of the consumers" and said it would back Mr. Truman if he vetoes it.

The measure provides for continuing wage, price, rent, consumer credit and defense production controls through next June, but in some cases it eases curbs which the President wanted tightened or unchanged. It lacks most of the additional anti-inflation powers the President requested.

The House approved the bill Monday by a roll call vote of 294 to 80. Senate passage was by voice vote last Friday. The bill is a compromise version of separate measures approved earlier by the two branches.

Price Director Michael V. DiSalle reportedly has told Mr. Truman it appears he has no choice but to sign the bill — that letting controls lapse would cause chaos in the defense production program and perhaps send prices soaring.

A government official who asked not to be named said, however, that DiSalle had urged Mr. Truman to recommend that Congress revise the legislation as soon as possible.

Shooting Case Set Today In Juvenile Court

A 16-year-old Mexican youth charged with having shot Jesus G. Luera, 19, at Avenue S and Twenty-fourth Street Sunday afternoon has been turned over to the county court by Bob Davie, district attorney, for prosecution.

The youth is scheduled to go before Judge Edgar Taylor at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon in juvenile court in connection with the shooting, according to Keith L. Merrick, county attorney.

"A person must be 17 years and older for prosecution in the criminal district court," said Davie in turning the case over to the county juvenile court today.

The youth has been in the county jail since shortly after his arrest by Vernie Head, chief deputy sheriff.

Luera was still in a serious condition at the Snyder Hospital today, but attendants said he was improving this morning.

Luera was shot below the right knee and in the right hip with a .45 automatic pistol.

A 14 - year - old brother of the 16-year old youth was questioned but not held by the authorities.

By The Associated Press

It's hot in Texas — all over the state, and the forecast today is for continued heat.

The highest recorded temperature Monday was 105 at Presidio and Cotulla. Other hot spots were Del Rio 104; San Antonio 102; Alice and Wink, both 101.

The highest overnight temperature was recorded at Del Rio — where it was 80. Sixty-five degrees at Dalhart made that the coolest place Monday night.

Folk in Corsicana complained that the termometer had reached 100 or better 16 out othe last 28 days.

The weather bureau reported scattered showers. Dalhart had more rain than any other place Monday night — 1.17 inches since midnight.

The bureau forecast more showers along the middle and upper coast and in the Panhandle.

Plane Crash Kills 3

LANGLEY AIR FORCE BASE, Va., July 31. (AP)—An Air Force B-26 bomber crashed near Langley Air Force Base early today killing its three occupants.

The dead were all officers. Names have been withheld.

Burglary of the Sunbeam Cash Food Market at Twenty-fifth Street and Avenue K last night resulted in a loss of $4,000 in cash and checks.

$700 to $1,000 In Cash Lost in Theft

Sunbeam Cash Food Market, 1101 Twenty - fifth Street, was robbed last night when a safe was broken open and about $4,000 in checks and cash taken.

Thieves sometime between 11 o'clock last night and 7 o'clock this morning entered an evaporative air conditioner on the roof of the building, crawled through a metal duct, and dropped from a ceiling louver to the floor, according to Malven Stevenso, president of the Sunbeam-Snyder Corporation.

1-TON SAFE

Stevenson said the safe, weighing about a ton, was moved on a dolly from the front of the building about 45 feet to a place behind the meat counter where it was broken open with tools.

The amount of cash taken was estimated between $700 and $1,000. The rest, he said, was in checks. Stevenson said he hoped fellow merchants and businessmen would be cautious in cashing checks.

Investigating the burglary were several officers of the police department, who also were taking fingerprints, and Vernie Head, deputy sheriff. They were given lists of some of the checks known taken. Five of them were:

By Thompson & Carr, Inc. to Dempsey Blue, about $254.

By W. S. Salmon to J. A. Abbott, for painting, $77.62.

By Thompson & Carr to H. T. Price, about $165.

By Loffland Brothers Drilling Co. to John Cheers, about $232.

L. M. Simmons to Sunbeam Cash Food Market, about $37.

"On Sunday the firm cashed several checks on the Loffland Brothers Drilling Co., and we will appreciate payees for whom we cashed those checks calling us and reporting the amounts of the checks so that payment can be stopped," Stevenson said. He added that he did not remember for certain the amounts of most of these or other checks.

An unsuccessful attempt was made to pry open the drawer of one of the cash registers, but it was empty, the manager said. Two other cash registers, each containing several dollars, were not marred. Each could have been opened easily by pushing a button, he said.

So far as was known early today, no merchandise was stolen.

School Name Suggestions

Most Snyder residents who have expressed an opinion favor naming public schools here for Texas heroes.

Mrs. Harold Brown, president of the Parent - Teacher Association city council said that each unit has received favor the names of Texas heroes by a two to one majority.

Other names suggested have included early residents of the county, former school superintendents and a few have suggested the schools be named for distinguished men from this area.

The school board asked that the PTA-council help by suggesting names for the schools. The council, in turn, asked that the public to express an opinion on what system should be used. Members of the council will meet tomorrow afternoon to draw up the list of school names which will be presented to the school board for consideration.

Disk Jockey Ahead In Race to Pick Bale Before Week Is Out

HARLINGEN, July 31. (AP)—It was back to the cotton patch today for the fast-talking disk jockey who bragged he could pick a bale in a week.

Ed (Boll Weevil) Keane started making good Monday on his boast —to prove his word and also to pick up a sackful of prizes skeptics have donated.

He picked 321 pounds, about 100 more pounds than the daily average he must maintain to get that bale. He was in the field from 5:10 a.m. to 7:40 p.m. with an hour and a half out for a light lunch of grapes and a short nap.

The temperature was 96

Vote on Lloyd's Motion To Dismiss Bairrington 3 to 2

Snyder's police force was cut in half last night after a surprise vote by the city council resulted in the firing of Chester Bairrington, chief of police here since April 11, 1950.

Seven other police officers immediately resigned, but two of them were back on the force this morning. The net result is that the department now is lacking a chief and has nine patrolmen, five short of the 14 it had before the council meeting last night.

The dismissal resulted from discussion of the discharging of Clyde Thomas, city policeman, by Bairrington last week. Thomas came before the council and said that it was his belief that he could not be fired by the chief of police since he was originally hired by the city council.

After Thomas left the chamber Claud Lloyd moved that Bairrington be fired, saying that he wanted someone as chief who could get along with Lloyd Merritt, sheriff. Jack Contella councilman, seconded the motion. Before a vote was taken, however Mayor Forest Sears asked the council if they did not want to hear both sides. Lloyd reiterated that he wanted his motion to stand.

CALL CHIEF

The majority of the council voiced their preference to hearing both sides of the controversy before taking a vote on the motion and Bairrington was called in.

Bairrington told the council that Thomas had been discharged for insubordination. He then gave several specific reasons for his charge. Contella questioned Bairrington about several points not related to the firing of Thomas.

After Bairrington left the chamber a secret ballot was taken on Lloyd's motion to fire the chief. A vote of three to two was recorded in favor of the motion. Mayor Sears did not vote.

Councilman R. B. Sears then moved that Thomas also be discharged. This motion was seconded by Contella. A unanimous vote in favor of the motion was recorded in another secret ballot.

The council then unanimously voted to give Bairrington 15 days pay when asking for his resignation.

A succession of seven policemen tendered their resignations following the notification of Bairrington. Those resigning were: Sgt. Harold M. Barnett, Jack Fillyaw, Jack Stephenson, Sgt. Dwain Smith, Lt. Ted Somerville, Richard Duncan, and Mark Search. Duncan later withdrew his resignation, and Mark Search was rehired this morning.

It has been widely discussed since the city elections last spring that the three American Legion-Veterans of Foreign Wars candidates, who took all three posts on the city council, wanted a change in the police department.

TWO ON DUTY

No motion was made and no action taken by the council as a body to relieve the emergency situation which existed last night with only two men remaining on duty in the police department on the night shift.

However, after the meeting adjourned Mayor Sears and Ernest Taylor, police commissioner, stayed on into the morning getting together a skeleton force to patrol the city.

Chester Bairrington

L. J. White, who was only sworn in last Saturday, was placed in charge of the department and named acting chief. White came here from Jacksonville, Tex. where he was assistant chief of police.

Before the meeting adjourned, councilmen said that applications for the chief of police would be received by the council.

It is the responsibility of the city council to select a new chief of police. The salary being paid for the position at the time Bairrington was discharged was $325 per month.

Clyde Thomas this morning issed the following statement:

"I want to thank the people of Snyder for their cooperation during my nine years on the police department, and particularly the businessmen who contributed to my salary during the time that I was a part - paid patrolman.

"I also want to thank the city council for their hospitality and courtesy throughout my career as a public servant here.

"If it took a sacrifice of my job to clean up the police department I was happy to make that sacrifice."

Leonard White, now acting chief of police here, came to Snyder Saturday to begin work with the department.

Ernest Taylor said White would be in charge temporarily and that the appointment might become permanent—but that the council would have to decide on that.

Police work runs in the White family. Leonard White's father is desk sergant at Palestine, Tex.

Veterans Name Committee To Study Rebuilding Clubhouse

A bigger and better clubhouse should be built to replace the $37,000 building that was destroyed early Sunday morning, was the consensus of members of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign wars posts at a joint open-air meeting last night adjacent to the burned structure.

The meeting was held as an open forum to let members air their views on what should be done to rebuild the clubhouse, and all were of the opinion that a clubhouse should be constucted to meet the needs of the future, and that in the meantime a temporary home will be sought pending the reconstruction work.

COMMITTEE

A special building planning committee, composed of Ralph Koepf, Charles Rhodes and Claude Ingram, was named to work with the board of directors of the Veterans Club, of which Jack Caperton, VFW commander, is chairman.

It is more than likely that the new clubhouse will be built at the present site, club officials said, pointing out that federal regulations regarding a permit other than on the present site would meet with some difficulty.

Then the question of selling the Veterans' 33 - acre Memorial Park to the county for a park came up for disucssion.

The group also discussed several other possible sites, including a seven - acre tract on the Big Spring - highway that could be bought at a reasonable price.

Not until after Aug. 18, when the park bond election is held, will a definite site be selected, Caperton said.

The veterans voted unanimously not to appeal to the public for financial aid. However, they will accept voluntary donations, Caperton said.

The first donation came from Melvin Newton, who gave $250 for the new building fund. Newton is a charter member of the Snyder Legion post, and in making the gift said:

"I am for the war veterans, first because of the fine community work they have performed here. They have responded to calls in all major drives in a big way, giving their time, money and efforts for the betterment of this area."

Another donation of $50 from Boss Baze, a veteran and member of the Veterans Club.

It was revealed at the meeting that the clubhouse safe, which was not harmed in the fire, contained $2,400 instead of about $1,800 as was first believed, Hilton Lambert, Legion commander, said.

INSURANCE HIGHER

It was also announced that the building and contents was covered by $35,000 insurance, $30,000 on the building and $5,000 on the contents, and an insurance adjuster has recommended that the full $35,000 insurance coverage be allowed.

Pending the rebuilding of the clubhouse, the veterans voted to investigating a temporary meeting place. Two possible places were mentioned, one on the Lamesa highway, and the other on the Post

Another joint meeting will be held next Monday evening, the exact place to be announced later, Caperton said.

As a result of the fire, Jim Norred, manager and caretaker, lost about $2,000 personal property, not insured, the veterans were told. Only a small portion of his household effects were saved. The Legion and V.F.W. members dug down into the pockets at a free will offering, and came up with $312.42 for Norred.

The veterans also voted unanimously to keep Norred, and his assistant, Joe Holland, on the club payroll despite the fire disaster.

Norred told the assembled group that he was awakened about 2 o'clock Sunday morning, and found the east wing of the structure blazing; that he went to the telephone to call the fire department, but th phone was dead. He said he jumped into his car and raced to a nearby filling station, where the call was made.

Members of the VFW auxiliary are planning a shower for Mrs. Norred, wife of the caretaker.

WEATHER

House Votes Tidelands Belong To States; Senate Hurdle Next

WASHINGTON, July 31. (AP)—The House has decided the states have undisputed right to the riches of their tidelands for three miles out to sea — 10½ miles in the case of Texas.

That includes the vast deposits of oil already known to lie under the coastal waters of Texas, California and Louisiana.

But Monday's 265-to-109 roll call decision by the House is still far from becoming law. It must be acted upon by the Senate; and, if passed there, would go on to President Truman.

The President in 1946 vetoed a similar bill, and Congress did not muster enough strength to override the veto.

The bill passed by the House makes these main provisions:

Gives coastal states, except Texas, title to land for three miles out to sea. Texas gets title to 10½ miles out because the terms under which she was admitted to the Union specified that her boundaries ran out that far.

Gives states ownership of oil and other minerals under their submerged lands.

The federal government gets full power from the state boundaries out to the edge of the continental shelf. That is where the sea bottom falls off steeply, forming the oceanic deeps.

Gives the federal government the right to lease submerged lands beyond state ownership.

Royalties collected by the federal government from exploitation of its submerged lands would be earmaked, 37½ per cent for the coastal states, and the rest for retirement of the national debt.

The Senate Interior Committee has before it similar legislation, a quit-claim bill.

Texas, California and Louisiana have for years leased out oil production rights on submerged coastal lands. They have collected millions in royalties.

Some years ago, the federal government stepped in with a claim to the underwater coastal shelf.

The Supreme Court has ruled the federal government has paramount rights and full dominion over the submerged lands.

4 Ambulance Calls Answer One Emergency

Harland Edward Dodd, 26, of Slaton, suffered a serious laceration of his right hand yesterday afternoon when he fell on a broken soft drink bottle while stepping from the Santa Fe switch engine on which he was engineer.

The accident occurred at 4:45 o'clock near the H. C. Denson Truck Co. office about a mile north of town on the Lubbock highway.

Dodd was taken by a Bolger-Barnes ambulance to the Snyder Hospital where he was treated by Dr. Q. D. Conklin, who said the laceration was very deep and of a serious nature.

Because of confusion resulting from an incorrect address given, four ambulance runs were made in connection with the accident.

The first ambulance was called to a point on the Clairemont Road, but a few moments later a correction was telephoned the funeral home which then dispatched another ambulance to the scene. The driver was then ordered to take Dodd to the office of a physician who had in the meantime—and unknown to the driver or Dodd—been summoned to meet the ambulance at the hospital.

The ambulance then took Dodd to the hospital, but before it arrived at the scene of the accident, another party had telephoned the funeral home from near the scene and requested an ambulance be sent to the R. & W Construction Co. office, which is next door to the Denson office. The first ambulance, back from the call on the Clairemont Road, answered the call to the construction company office to learn then that all calls were for the same emergency.

County Will Call For Bids on Sewer Line From City to Airport

The commissioners court yesterday afternoon authorized the county's engineers on the airport project, Ash-Wilson & Associates, to call for bids on the construction of a sewer line from the airport to nearest city line.

No date for advertising for or receiving bids was decided. The engineers said they would make the arrangements necessary to obtain the bids.

The court also voted to set a price of seven and one-half cents per yard as standard to pay for caliche used in the county road project.

The commissioners agreed to grant $15 worth of groceries to a woman who requested financial aid to feed herself and four children. She said her husband was serving a jail sentence here and therefore was not earning wages. She asked that the county pay some overdue bills she owed and help hef buy some food.

Man Facing Second-Time Driving Charge

Ray H. Price, 41, charged with driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated, as a second offense, was arraigned before W. C. Davidson, justice of the peace yesterday afternoon. He was held to await action of the grand jury, and his bond was set at $750 by the court.

Price entered a plea of guilty to driving while intoxicated on May 3, and was assessed a total of $73.50, which included fine and costs.

He was apprehended by the police July 28 on a similar offense, and felony charges filed. The complaint was signed by Hal Barnett, policeman.

Midland Told She Must Hurry If She Is To Join in CRMWD

(Special to the Daily News)

BIG SPRING, July 31 —Any change in plans for the Colorado River Municipal Water District project will have to be made soon, representatives from Midland were informed in an informal meeting with the district directors yesterday.

Mayor pro tem J. W. Starr, J. B. McCoy, city councilman, and W. H. Oswalt, city manager, all of Midland, had made inquiry about the status of the project in view of their city's general investigation of the water situation. Starr explained that they were simply seeking information about the project. Mayor Perry Pickett, now on vacation, had made the inquiry originally.

S. W. Freese, district engineer, estimated that material for an important section of the pipeline will be scheduled within 30 days. If the line is to be enlarged to care for any anticipated increase in demand, arrangements for additional material and financing would have to be made by that time, he said.

The cost of enlarging lines from the lake in Southwest Scurry County to Big Spring and on to Western Martin County with a pipeline from there to Midland would be about one million dollars, Freese estimated. A separate line for the complete distance might approach $3 million, he added.

Freese said that materials for the third section of the pipeline from Western Martin County to Odessa were arriving now and that enlargement of this 27-inch line was not possible at this time. Accommodation of an increased demand, such as would be imposed by Midland, would require a 36-inch line from the lake to Big Spring instead of the 33-inch line agreed upon in the contract. The 27-inch line from Big Spring to Western Martin County would have to be increased to a 30-inch line, Freese stated.

R. T. Piner, president of the district, said that additional financing might present difficulties now because the bond market has deteriorated since the original $11,750,000 revenue bond issue was floated. This issue is to finance the lake, pipelines and other facilities. Oswalt checked with Freese on a hypothetical interpolation of cost figures for Midland and expressed appreciation to the board for its courtesy.

Attending the meeting were James Rosser, R. A. Schooling and W. J. Ely of Snyder, George Mims, George White and R. L. Cook of Big Spring. Charles Perry, W. E. Bruce, P. C. Harbour and J. L. Rhoades of Odessa, all members of the board of directors; Col. E. V. Spence, general manager, Freese; Paul Horton, legal consultant; J. B. Thomas of Fort Worth president of the Texas Electric Service Co., and Beeman Fisher, Fort Worth, assistant to the president.

Government Prepares to Begin Buying to Bolster Farm Prices

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP) — Weakening markets point to the possibility that the government soon may be working harder at keeping farm prices from going "too low" than at keeping them from going "too high."

Recent price declines have carried several commodities down to or below levels at which the government is committed to support them. Developments indicate that several others may drop to support levels by harvest time.

The Agriculture Department's $6.75 billion Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) is fully prepared to step in to prevent excessive price set backs. It operates through the department's far flung system of farmer committees.

Farm commodities whose prices probably will have to be supported in some degree before the summer is over include wheat, cotton, oats, barley, and peanuts.

BELOW PARITY

Wheat already is selling below the support rate of 90 per cent of parity. Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices, declared by law to be equally fair to farmers and those who buy their products. Price ceilings may not be placed on any farm products selling below the parity level.

Cotton prices have turned down rather sharply since the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) slapped on a ceiling at 45 cents a pound last winter. New crop cotton is being sold for future delivery at less than 33 cents a pound, or only slightly more than a cent above the support rate.

FEW ABOVE MINIMUM

Only relatively few farm products have climbed above minimum price ceiling levels since price control authority was set up last year. They include beef cattle, veal calves, sheep, lambs, cotton wool, rice and soy beans. Rice and soy whole, have dropped six per cent those levels.

Beef cattle are selling at ceiling prices now, but agricultural officials believe the price will drop below those levels in the fall when marketing of cattle and hogs normally increase.

Easier feed prospects coupled with the possibility of peace in Korea are the major factors in recent declines in farm prices, officials said. Those prices, as a whole, have dropped six per cent from a record set last February.

Club Hears Talk on Bonds

Edgar Taylor, county judge, was guest speaker at the Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting last night.

Judge Taylor discussed the pending bond elections which would provide for the establishment of county parks and an annex to the courthouse. The elections are to be held simultaneously on Aug. 18.

At the business meeting, club members voted to spend $100 to send Miss Nancy Teague, recently elected Miss Snyder to the Miss Texas Contest at New Braunfels. Twenty - three other contestants, five from West Texas, will compete for the Miss Texas title there with the winner to represent Texas at the Miss America pageant in Atlantic City, N. J.

Billy Holman reported that the Junior Chamber and the Jaycettes, made a profit of $1,509 from the operation of concession stands during the rodeo. The Jaycettes will be paid about $385 for their work on the project.

Police Shakeup

Chester Bairrington has been dismissed as chief of police. We regret his departure. From what we know of him, we believe he was a useful public servant.

He took a police department that was laughable and made of it an efficient organization which can claim some of the credit for the relative tameness of our boom days.

We also believe that a city council which is eager to dismiss a chief of police should be equally eager to replace him, in the interests of the peace and safety of the community.

But this view was not the prevailing one at the city council last night. When the heads had rolled, the chief of police had been fired and at least five patrolmen had resigned, the councilman who moved to fire the chief and the councilman who seconded the motion left without making any further motions to take care of the temporary emergency.

Their job was just half done.

White has been a policeman five years.

Acting Chief White went to Sheriff Merritt today and pledged the full cooperation of the police department with the sheriff's department.

Merritt accepted the pledge and said, "Snyder and Scurry County for the first time in many months will have full cooperation between the city and county in law enforcement. This is all for the betterment of the city."

San Angelo Bans Air Conditioners Without Pumps to Save Water

SAN ANGELO, July 31 — Air conditioners and cooling systems not fitted with pumps to recirculate water used in them have been banned by the San Angelo city commission in a continuing effort to meet the critical water shortage.

The ruling goes into effect immediately, and is expected to mean a saving of "close to 2,000,000 gallons of water daily," J. E. Williams, water superintendent, said.

The commission also requested the Upper Colorado River Authority to make arrangements to close the flood gates of the San Angelo Dam on the North Concho River in the event of rain on the watershed. They ask that 10,000 acre feet of water be impounded there, an amount about equal to the supply available annually from Lake Nasworthy.

Polio Puzzles Health Office

AUSTIN, July 31. (AP)—There is no pride at the state health department over this year's polio slump.

There is only fear of what might come next. Take State Health Officer George W. Cox' word for that.

The disease this year has struck 594 victims in Texas through July 21, the last statewide report showed. Last year in the comparable period 1,288 victims had been felled.

"Polio is the most unpredictable disease in the world," said Dr. Cox. "It climbs to new highs, as it has done in Texas for the past three years, and we wonder why. Then it drops way down and again we wonder why.

"We just never know what it's going to do next."

Dr. Cox considers 1951 with a bad polio year.

"If we have even one case, it's bad," he said. "And we've had 594. Of course, we are thankful there hasn't been more."

Why there hasn't been more no one knows.

The state health counselor will hazard only one guess.

Some communities this year might be reaping rewards of clean-up campaigns during the recent bad polio years, he said.

Two Fire Alarms Answered Yesterday

Two fire calls were answered by the fire department yesterday.

The first, early in the afternoon, was a trash fire at the rear of the Snyder Bowling Alley on Twenty-fourth Street and Avenue R, and the second was at the R. E. Gray residence at 701 Twenty - ninth Street.

Neither fire caused serious damage, but the first threatened two tents, and a number of buildings in the area before firemen brought it under control.

Youth Burned Yesterday Improves at Hospital

Richards suffered second and third degree burns yesterday morning when gasoline in which he was washing clothes ignited. He was seriously burned on both hands and arms, with less serious burns on his chest and face.

It is a simple story of people just like you and I, it is simply told and in this simplicity lies it's greatness.

I was so thoroughly moved by this picture that I unhesitatingly and unreservedly PERSONALLY RECOMMEND IT TO EVERYONE OF YOU and I feel certain that after you see it you will agree with me that it is a WONDERFUL, WONDERFUL, MOTION PICTURE.

Birthday Suit's Best, But Loose Clothes Are Good

BALTIMORE, July 30. (AP) — You may find it impracticable to spend the summer in a refrigerator at the North Pole—so here's another suggestion:

Sit under a large white umbrella, painted green inside, in your birthday suit.

This umbrella — birthday suit suggestion, which has the added advantage of being scientifically sound, comes from Dr. Douglas H. K. Lee, professor of physiological climatology at Johns Hopkins University.

Dr. Lee has traveled to some of the world's hottest places to determine what clothes are most suitable to beat the heat. He spent five weeks in Death Valley last summer finding out — the hard way—what to wear in desert country.

"If you're planning to swelter in Baltimore or Washington (or any city where it's hot and humid' this summer," Dr. Lee says, "there are no clothes like no clothes."

He concedes his prescription may go a bit too far beyond the bounds of conventionality — to say nothing of legality — and so modifies it to this extent:

"Wear clothing as loose, light and porous as convention and the law allow."

That's because of the humidity, he explains.

The clothing should be "as loose, light and porous as possible to allow for air movement over the damp skin. You need this air movement because it's hard for perspiration to evaporate in humid climate."

Undergarments should be light, absorbent, and hung, rather than stretched, over the body. Above all, construction about the waist should be avoided so that air can move freely over the skin on the lower part of the body.

Not one to bow to the dictates of anything so unscientific as fashion, Dr. Lee recommends a light, loose, flapping hat.

Curiously enough, in hot dry climates, Dr. Lee's advice is "don't shed your clothes, put more on" for insulation.

But "where 'it's not the heat, it's the humidity,'" he says, "do just the reverse."

TALK OF THE TOWN

BY FRANCES BROOKS

From the Scurry County Times, Nov. 11, 1937: "MISS LEATH IS 'MISS SNYDER' IN FIELD OF 16!"... Quoting, "Horence Leath, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Leath, was named "Miss Snyder" in a Hollywood search-for-talent contest sponsored by the local Parent - Teacher Association in the school auditorium last Thursday evening... Judged on grace, poise, and beauty, Miss Leath won from the field of 16 of Snyder's most beautiful high school girls... Miss Leath, along with winners in the amateur contest, will perform before motion picture scouts in San Antonio in December, with winners of similar contests from numbers of Texas cities. The Elkins sisters, Juanita and Jettie D., were winners in the amateur contest of 19 numbers. The Eluvanna harmony duet presented "My Little Buckaroo".

"Lynn L. Logan, mascot of Snyder High pep squad, won a Shirley Temple frock, in contest with 12 other small girls, as Snyder's most typical "Shirley Temple"... King Sides, school principal, was emcee and Mrs. Aubrey Stokes was in general charge of arrangements for the affair. Judges who were not concerned with any contestant made the decision for the P.T.A.-sponsored contest."

Miss Snyder of '37 is now MRS. RICHARD BRICE, who with her husband runs a store located on the Brice lease several miles out Clairemont Road. That's twice we've had to eat our words about no Miss Snyder for 16 years. Anybody else know of another Miss Snyder?

Shopping ladie's habits: "Blondes make purchases quicker than brunettes and it's easier to sell to a fat person if she's sitting down", says George Warner, 51, who wrote his testimonial after selling for 30 years down in Biloxi, Miss.

"My observation over 30 years of studying homespun philosophy is that blondes are not only much quicker to buy than brunettes but are much quicker to become dissatisfied with their purchases.... I have reason to believe that in any department store, more merchandise is returned by blondes than by brunettes, and less by red heads than either of the other two types"... ... ...

As for fat ones, he said, "Fat people's feet usually give them trouble and they naturally are more comfortable sitting down. The more comfortable they are, the easier it is to sell them. A fat person is an easier mark for a salesman late in the afternoon than early in the morning, because as the day progresses, so does the ache in her feet. Her resistance is low in the p.m."

A letter from MRS. HOMER GRAHAM, now in Paducah, Ky., voluably opins her plight..... "Homer started to work at the Atomic Plant the day we arrived and was sworn to secrecy (worse than the Masonic Order)..... He hardly speaks to me for fear he will let something out." ...Also, she sadly confides that Paducah turned off its lights during the War, discovered it was a lot cheaper that way, and has never turned them back on! Unfurnished apartments there bring $140 monthly and are practically unavailable ... She managed a hotel room, where they now live, "only by pulling a faint in the lobby".

THE ADVENTURES OF PATSY

COBB TESTIFIES

Ty Cobb, former Detroit outfielder and one of baseball's most famous players, testified in a congressional inquiry into whether or not organized baseball violates anti-monopoly laws. The Washington hearing is being conducted by a House judiciary subcommittee. Cobb suggested that the game's controversial reserve clause might be modified to help the players.

Yankees Win Despite DiMaggio Mental Lapse; Bums Keep Lead

By The Associated Press

How does a guy who has been labelled "The Perfect Player" feel after pulling his first "rock" in a long and brilliant baseball career?

"Foolish," admitted Joe DiMaggio, the great outfield star of the New York Yankees.

For the first time since he came up to New York in 1936, DiMaggio felt like digging a huge hole in Yankee Stadium and diving into it. The flawless flychaser, recognized for his ability to do the right thing at the right time, really pulled a dilly last night before 39,684 unbelieving specators.

Fortunately for him, The Yankees came on to win — beating the Detroit Tiger, 5-4 — to minimize DiMaggio's mental lapse.

MENTAL LAPSE

This is the sequence of events that led to DiMaggio's "rock." The score was tied, 2-2, when the Tigers came to bat in the eight. Doubles by Gerry Priddy and George Kell with one out put the Tigers in front, 3-2. Steve Souchock, an ex-Yankee, flied deep to DiMaggio. Kell tagged up and headed for third.

DiMaggio made no attempt to head him off. Instead, he calmly began to jog toward the Yankee dugout with the ball in his right hand. Dick Bartell, alert Tiger third base coach, took in the situation at a glance and waved Kell plateward. Kell scored the second run of the inning.

"I thought it was the third out," explained the embarrassed Yankee Clipper later.

BUMS PULL AWAY

While the American League's activity was limited to one game, every team but Brooklyn and Pittsburgh was active in the National. Even without playing, the pace-setting Dodgers saw their lead increased.

An eighth-inning double by Roy Smalley drove in the tying and winning runs as the Chicago Cubs nipped the New York Giants, 7-6, in the only game played in daylight. It left the second-place Giants 9½ games behind Brooklyn.

A two-run eighth inning rally, climaxed by Del Rice's double, gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 5-4 victory over the Boston Braves and boosted the Redbirds into third-place tie with the Philadelphia Phils.

Cincinnati's Reds spotted the Phils a 5-0 lead and roared back to win 6-5 on a ninth-inning single by Bobby Adams and a triple by Connie Ryan.

Fort Worth Pulls Up To 1st Division

By The Associated Press

Fort Worth finally got a toe hold in the first division and the August stretch drive in the Texas League looks like it'll be a lulu.

The Cats whipped San Antonio, 6-1 Monday night behind the six-hit pitching of Bill McCahan and that gave them a share of fourth place with the Missions.

In other games, Dallas rallied to beat pace-setting Houston, 4-2; Oklahoma City edged Shreveport, 2-1, and Tulsa blanked Beaumont, 2-0.

Fort Worth has been trying for a long, long time to get back to the first division it bounced around in during the early part of the season. It finally made it by getting nine hits and taking advantage of two San Antonio errors.

Doubles by Jim Fridley and Bob Cullins and an error by Ben Steiner gave Dallas two runs in the eighth inning and the edge over the Buffs.

A walk, stolen base and Johnny Creel's single scored Al Cross with Oklahoma City's winning run, and while Tulsa may have won, Tom Gorman still set himself a league pitching record.

The Beaumont twirler had pitched 35 scoreless innings before the game, hurled seven more to give him 42 consecutive scoreless innings and a new record. It bettered by one the mark set by H. L. Guyn in 1907.

U. S. Delegate in UN Says World Would Go To Yugoslavia's Aid

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., July 31. (AP)—The United Nations will go to the rescue if Russia attacks Yugoslavia, Chief U. S. Delegate Warren R. Austin says.

Austin told news correspondents taking part in the radio-television show "United — Or Not?" (ABC) Monday night that such support for Yugoslavia would come under the "peace through deeds" resolution adopted by the general assembly last fall.

"If Yugoslavia is attacked, we (the U. N.) will go to her rescue," he said in response to questions. The former Senator from Vermont emphasized, however, that he did not believe such an attack was imminent.

Austin also said he thought a cease-fire would be agreed upon in Korea and denounced the Czech imprisonment of Associated Press Correspondent William N. Oatis as "a terrible offense to our moral sense."

Hemsley Applies For Manager of Browns Job

HARLINGEN, July 31. (AP)—Rollie Hemsley, minor league's "Manager of the Year" last season, says he has 'formally applied" for the job of managing the St. Louis Browns.

Hemsley, a former major league star, is managing the Texas City Texans in the Class B Gulf Coast League.

TV Reception Affects Real Estate Values

By HOWARD C. HEYN
(For Bob Thomas)

HOLLYWOOD, July 31. (AP)—Many an elegant dwelling goes begging these days, right in the heart of the hills made famous by movie millions.

Know why? No TV.

Those mystic picture waves just won't hurdle barriers like radio will. And people rich enough to live in such neighborhoods won't buy where television reception is bad.

It's getting to be quite a serious problem, one promising to affect property values.

TV CENTER

Focal point for TV — and most househunters, apparently — is Mt. Wilson whence all telecasts save one emanate. The Los Angeles metropolitan area is far more hilly than outsiders realize. Reception is very largely a matter of what lies between the receiver and Mt. Wilson.

Some of the most luxurious residential sections — deep in canyons north of Beverly Hills and Westwood — get no television at all. Malibu, a seacoast colony at the base of the Santa Monica mountains, is almost a dead loss. San Diego television can be picked up there easier than the local stations. Aerials are high in Brentwood and Holmby Hills.

The problem isn't limited to elite districts. Television aerials in Tujunga, Sunland and San Fernando go up 50 to 60 feet. These communities lie beyond the Beverly and Hollywood Hills, near the base of the San Gabriel Mountains. Mt. Wilson is a peak in that range.

Strangely, in some places near these mountains reception will be perfect on one side of the street and terrible on the other.

Generally speaking, if you can't see Mt. Wilson from your roof, you can't get much on your TV screen.

CURE SEEN

Television engineers are fairly certain that reception ultimately will be made possible in canyons and on nearly all hillsides, by use of reflectors and perhaps booster antennae.

One station here recently brought a number of fringe areas within the scope of its TV beam by tilting the top section of its Mt. Wilson antenna.

Hal Humphries, Radio-TV editor of the Los Angeles Mirror, tells the story of an apartment dweller who gave his landlord notice because TV reception was lousy.

"I don't blame you," the landlord observed. "I'm getting ready to sell this place for the same reason."

Barbara Payton, Tom Neal to Be Married

HOLLYWOOD, July 31. (AP)—Actress Barbara Payton, Franchot Tone's ex-girl friend, is going to marry the other fellow.

She and Actor Tom Neal announced they will fly to Mexico to be wed Sunday.

Miss Payton's name figured prominently in a custory suit between Tone and his former wife, Jean Wallace, last December. Tone testified he had been dating her frequently.

She said she and Neal met at a party a week ago and decided "in about four minutes" to be married.

She formerly was married to William Hodge, when both were students at Lubbock, Tex., and to John Payton an accountant, by whom she has a four-year-old son. Neal's former wives were Gay Parks, Dupont heiress, and actress Vicky Lane.

The first batter for each side was picked off first base in the Dallas-Oklahoma City twin bill opener last May 27.

When the Chicago Cubs swamped the Philadelphia Phils 19-8 on May 18, that was the worst beating ever suffered under Eddie Sawyer's management.

State Department China Expert Goes to Loyalty Board Today

WASHINGTON, July 31. (AP)—Oliver Edmunds Clubb, director of the State Department's Office of Chinese Affairs, goes before the department's loyalty security board today to answer undisclosed charges against him.

Clubb's appearance before the secret panel follows full clearance Monday by the panel of John Paton Davies, Jr., another career diplomat. State Department press officer Michael McDermott said Davies had been heard and cleared on both loyalty and security questions.

Both men were suspended from duty on June 27 pending hearings, but the State Department did not disclose the development until July 19. It did then, it said, because the news began to leak out.

Under the board's regulations the specific accusations against the men were not made public. Both served extensively in China and their names were mentioned during the recent Senate investigation of the MacArthur firing.

Davies' hearing began last Monday and late Monday the State Department announced the board had returned him to active duty on the policy planning staff, following full clearance.

This is a highly "sensitive" division in the department which makes long-range foreign policy plans and studies. The term sensitive is used to describe jobs where valuable, secret information is available.

Davies' suspension was lifted and he was put back to work "without prejudice and with the full confidence of the department."

The department said he will be sent shortly to Frankfurt to work in the office of the High Commissioner for Germany. It said he had been given his assignement last spring because his United States tour of duty is due to expire next month. Under the law career diplomats can serve only three consecutive years in the United States between foreign assignments.

The board's action is subject to review by the loyalty review board of the Civil Service Commission. McDermott, however, told newsmen the department had no fear in restoring Davies to duty because the evidence is "overwhelmingly in his favor."

Dieke Homers in Last Inning With Bases Full for Sun Win

V. E. Dieke became a hero to his Sun Oil teammates and many fans at Memorial Park last night by almost single - handedly pulling his team from seven runs behind to win over the American Legion 10-9 in the last inning.

In the first game Halliburton beat the National Guard 17-1 in a badly lop - sided game.

But Dieke's playing— and the amazing last inning rally that saw Sun Oil come from far behind— was the most exciting last inning yet played in Memorial Park.

The score was 9-2 in favor of the Legion when the Sun Oilers got their last chance at bat. The first man up made an out. Then Ted Masters, the Legion's hot pitcher, walked a man. The next batter fanned out, leaving two away and one on base with the score still 9-2.

Masters walked another man, then Brown for Sun Oil came to bat. He had already made the only hit of the game for Sun Oil until the last crucial minutes, Brown hit a double and scored two runners.

Raspberry the next batter, drew a walk. Masters then walked two more batters and scored Brown from third base. That brought the score up to 9-5 and things were looking up—but still almost hopless. Another walk given up by Masters scored the sixth Sun Oil run, and left the bases loaded.

Dieke came to bat. He had pitched the entire game for Sun Oil and had held the Legion scoreless after the third inning. In the second and third, however they had scored their nine runs. With three men on base a home run would mean a win for Sun Oil. Dieke got it. The crowd and his teammates went wild over Dieke.

Big Spring In Third Straight Shutout Win

By The Associated Press

The Big Spring Broncs are on a streak in the Longhorn League. They have won three straight shutouts and have gone 29 innings without allowing the opposition to score.

They hung up their third straight scoreless game Monday night defeating the Odessa Oilers, 13-0.

Tony Iglesias was the winner, continuing a record that makes the string even more impressive: All of the Bronc shutouts have been hurled by rookie moundsmen.

The victory cut the San Angelo lead to four games. And it gave Big Spring undisputed second place a half game ahead of the Roswell Rockets.

Leading San Angelo lost to Midland, 8-2, to allow the Broncs to cut a game off their lead. Roswell split a double-header with Sweetwater to fall a half game back.

The Rockets won the first game of the twin bill, 5-3, but lost the second, 7-5, when the Swatters broke loose for four runs in the sixth inning.

Vernon whammed Artesia, 11-3, in the other game of the night.

Armando Sanchez tripled with the bases loaded then stole home to give Sweetwater its big inning and the second game victory.

Vernon, playing under its new manager, Homer Matney, for the first time, had two five-run innings to blast Artesia. They scored five in the fifth to come from behind, then got five more in the eight to sew it up.

Isreal Ten scattered eight hits and struck out nine men, five in a row, to pitch the Midland Indians to victory over San Angelo.

Temple Near, Yet So Far

By The Associated Press

Always a brides maid but never a bride.

That old saying is beginning to haunt the Temple Eagles who have been knocking at the door of the Big State League lead for almost a month. They trail the Gainesville Owls by a game now and have been within a game and a half of the leaders for a fortnight.

When Gainesville loses, the Eagles lose. When the Eagles win, Gainesville always seems to come up with a victory. Temple Monday night blasted Texarkana, 11-2; Gainesville rallied for four runs in the eight inning to nip Waco, 7-6.

Third-place Sherman-Denison continued to slump losing to Austin, 7-6, the sixth straight loss for the Twins.

Wichita Falls blanked Tyler, 4-0, in a battle of second division clubs.

Moe Santamauro homered for one of the Texarkana runs, but it was not to drive in the other. Ken Dickhens got a two-run homer for Temple in the fourth after Harry Kaires had tripled with the bases loaded.

A walk, a hit batsman and three hits accounted for the four Owl runs in the eight. Wes Gibson doubled, Wiley Moore tripled and Harry Scherting singled to drive in the runs.

Austin made it three straights over Sherman-Denison and beat Bud Lively to do it.

Bicycle Tourists Get Use of Star's Home

LOS ANGELES, July 30.—Actor Brian Donlevy offered four girl tourists the key to his apartment and they took it.

The girls, graduates of the University of Washington left Longview, Wash., June 16 on a bicycle trip.

Since then their sleeping places have included the police department back yard at Santa Maria, Calif., a drive-in theater at Ukiarh, Calif., and various state parks.

The girls, Anne Hume, 21, of Seattle, Pat Ivy, 21, of Yakima, Gayle Opperman, 21, of Los Angeles and Shirley Wills, 22 of Tacoma, passed through Malibu Beach Monday.

Donlevy vacationing there heard of their rugged 1500 mile trip. He gave them the use of his town apartment which currently he is not using, while they are here.

Abilene And Lobos Winners

By The Associated Press

The Lamesa Lobos moved into third place in the West Texas-New Mexico League and the front-running Abilene Blue Sox strengthened their position as five games were played around the circuit Monday night.

The Lobos split a pair with Pampa, winning the first one, 5-4, but losing the second, 6-4. The Albuquerque Dukes, tied with Lamesa going into the action, lost to Borger, 10-8, to allow the Lobos to take over third place uncontested.

The Blue Sox, opening a series with second-place Lubbock, nipped the Hubbers, 4-2, to build their lead to six and a half games. The loss left the Hubbers two games in front of the Lobos.

Clovis rose from the cellar to smack the Amarillo Gold Sox, 12-7, slowing that club's drive toward a higher position.

Fred Schmidt scattered eight hits to pitch Abilene to its victory. Julio Moreno was touched for ten hits.

Borger fought off later allies by Albuquerque and matched one of them with an uprising of their own to take the decision. The Dukes got four runs in the sixth but the Gassers picked up five in the last of the same inning then snuffed out an eighth inning threat.

Clovis scored eight times in the first four frames and coasted the rest of the way.

Lamesa got five hits in the first game and made them count for five runs. They were limited to five again in the second game, but couldn't make them produce. The Oilers got only four.

Connally Outburst Denounces Administration's Extravagance

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, July 31. (AP)—Many a man is unhappy at seeing money pulled out of his pocket and pumped around the world in foreign aid.

This particular kind of unhappiness seized upon Senator Tom Connally Monday and he made it known.

The tall Texas Democrat, whose white hair dangles over his collar like an actor's, is usually genial but at times can be short-tempered.

Monday was one of those times and before he had his say on foreign aid something else happened which probably didn't improve his temper.

He's chairman of the Senate's powerful Foreign Relations Committee, where membership and chairmanship carry importance and prestige.

COMMITTEE FUSS

His committee was holding hearing on President Truman's request for $8.5 billion for arms and economic aid for other countries.

It sometimes happens that important Senate committees squabble over the right to hold hearings on a particular problem.

It's hard to analyze the reasons for such a squabble in any given case. The members of one committee may feel the others are trespassing on their territory.

At any rate, the Senate's Armed Services Committee demanded the right to have equal voice in the hearings on foreign aid, since most of the money asked for will be spent on arms.

CONSENT FORCED

Connally wanted no part of this but was finally forced to consent. He said he gave in because he was "having rocks thrown" at his head and he accused John Kenneth of "holding a gun" at his head.

It was after this unpleasant experience that Connally and his committee sat down to listen to William C. Foster, head of the Marshall plan part of the foreign aid program, say why the $8.5 billion is needed.

Of that total $6.3 billion would go for arms for other countries and $2.2 billion would be in economic help. Only $373 million of the latter sum would be in economic help for Southeastern Asia. (This country has already put more than $109 million into such help for that area since 1948.)

CONNALLY BOILS

Connally came to a boil while Foster was testifying. Turning angrily to the ECA chief, he declared: "You want to take the money that is squeezed out of the taxpayers and go over there (Asia) and support some of those wobbly countries.

"You fellows who spend all of your time spending the government's money never think where the revenue comes from, you are chasing a problem out there when our main problem is in Europe."

This explosion caused a buzz in the Capitol since Connally — as a fellow-Democrat of Mr. Truman and chairman of the committee — ordinarily would be expected to help push the President's program through.

And Connally's opposition to aid for Southeast Asia further complicates our foreign policy problems where the water gets just a little muddier every time someone else jumps in and starts sloshing around.

Identity Of Man Found In Swamp Mystery

NEW ORLEANS, July 31. (AP)—Part of the mystery surrounding a man found dead in a Louisiana swamp is cleared up but his identity remains a puzzle.

Sam Jones, the one first identified as the victim, gave officers his version of how the man died. Jones said that Donald Easterwood, once tried and acquitted on a charge of murdering Jones, knew the man's name.

Easterwood, 26, was arrested at his Baton Rouge home after this disclosure by Jones Monday and jailed at nearby Gretna on a charge of investigation of murder. He refused to say anything because his lawyers were not present.

Easterwood had been free on bond as a material witness. He was first arrested last week after Jones was found alive in Denver, Colo.

John Faulkner, chief deputy criminal sheriff, said the 40-year-old Jones signed a statement in which he said the man fell on a knife and killed himself during a fight. Faulkner quoted Jones as saying he put the body in the swamp.

Under subsequent questioning while under the influence of a truth serum (sodium pentothal) Jones said that Easterwood knew the man's name.

John Painter, a friend of Jones who first reported Jones alive in Denver, quoted Jones as saying he felt much better now that he had told his story of the man's death and had "gotten everything off his chest."

Jones is being held under a murder charge in connection with the unidentified "John Doe."

Thieves Prefer To By-Pass Car's Doors

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 31. (AP)—Mrs. H. M. Doak told police that someone broke into her car.

"They broke the right ventilator wing glass and ruined the ventilator glass frame," she told the desk sergeant Monday.

"What did they steal?"

"Nothing."

"Well, then, you shouldn't be so angry."

"But none of the four doors was locked," Mrs. Doak explained.

Eighth Generation of Family To Take Role in Passion Play

By HAL BOYLE

SPEARFISH, S. D. (AP) — If you were an actor, would you want to play the role of Jesus Christ?

Many actors don't. They feel it is too exacting.

Josef Meier, producer of the Black Hills Passion Play, has probably portrayed the Christus more often than any man in history. In nearly 25 years he has acted out the agony of Christ more than 5,000 times before a total audience of more than 10 million people.

For seven generations members of the Meier family played the role in the Passion Play at Luenen, Germany, handing it down from father to son. Now at 48 he is preparing to relinquish it to a member of the eighth generation — his nephew, Heinrich, 20.

"I have no sons," said Meier. "So I am preparing my nephew to carry on our family tradition."

But the role is so arduous that it will probably take four years before Heinrich, who now shouts in the mob scenes, will be ready to step into the great role.

Meier brought the cast of the Luenen Passion Play to the United States in 1932 and determined to remain.

"You could see even then the way Germany was going politically," he said. "And I thought a man ought to be free in his working, thinking and dreaming."

His goal after becoming an American citizen was to find a natural ampitheater where he could give the Passion Play an outdoor summer setting. He discovered it here in the Black Hills in 1938.

"This was the closest I ever found to what my boyhood dream of America was," he said. "It is an ideal natural surrounding in which to tell the story of Christ."

Since then he has built a $250,000 open air theater here with a permanent stage 780 feet long. It is three times the length of the stage used in the famous Oberammergau Passion Play.

Some 150,000 spectators from all parts of the country view the spectacle each summer.

Allies Active In Air; Troop Action Light

EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, July 31. (AP) — Allied warplanes swept through low clouds today and hammered Red positions in the "Iron Triangle" on the western front of Korea as ground fighting again dwindled to patrol activity.

The primary target was the area around Pyoggang, northern apex of the shattered old red troop-massing area.

Marine fighters and B-26 bombers hit the Kumsong area east of Pyonggang.

Reds between Kumsong and Kumhwa, eastern Allied-held anchor of the old Triange, hurled two light probing attacks at allied lines early this morning. Both were turned back.

Those were the only attacks reported by the Eighth Army.

Allied troops held mountain-top positions along the Eastern Front won Monday after a five-day battle.

Nineteen Flying Boxcars swooped through low hanging clouds to within 400 feet of the ground and dropped supplies to these forces. They parachuted 70 tons of ammunition, barbed wire and rockets to troops on the ground that could scarcely be seen through the mists. The Fifth Air Force reported it has flown more than 175,000 combat sorties in Korea. That's an average of 43 a day.

The Navy reported the cruiser Helena led a naval attack on Communist artillery in besieged Wonsan on the East Coast where Red guns recently damaged two U. S. rocket ships.

Tourists Keep Narrow Gauge Railroad Out of Junk Heap

RIDGWAY, Colo., July 31. (AP) — Two old narrow gauge railroad runs that failed in regular business are enjoying boom revivals as tourist attractions in the western Colorado mountains.

Patronage by railroad fans, sightseers and nature lovers has been so heavy, that the two little lines may escape the junk yard where most narrow gauge roads in the west have gone.

Regular passenger trips have been revived by the Denver & Rio Grande Western on its Durango-Silverton line up the Animas River. The road bills it as "A Trip to Yesterday." To meet the demand, the railroad has added a miniature "Vista Dome car" to its collection of old-time coaches.

The little train is filled to capacity thrice-weekly on its Sunday, Wednesday and Friday runs. The rails wind through the 14,000-foot high San Juan Mountains, crossing sparkling streams and passing through wild flower paradises. The train stops at many pioneer gold and silver camps.

The "Galloping Goose" of the Rio Grande Southern Railroad was declared an uneconomic "dead duck" last winter, but the Goose is flying high again this summer on runs starting from the town of Ridgway.

Three of the "Galloping Goose" trains are being used to accomodate tourists on trips out of Ridgway. The "Goose" trains are powered with an automobile motor. The passenger car is a converted box car.

The "Galloping Goose" offers tourists two different trips. Both are on Saturday and Sunday. One starts from Ridgway, swinging over Ophir Loop to Trout Lake and then going to a turn-around at Lizard Head Pass. The other runs from Durango through Thompson Park to Dolores and returns to Durango.

Rides on the narrow gauge are an interesting experience for most tourists. The train stops frequently while grazing sheep wander idly across the track, or slows while a lazy cow ambles down the ties.

Spectacular mountain scenery — not visible from the nearest motor highway — is the reward for those who make the journey. Photographers call the trips a "seventh Heaven" for scenic snapshots.

Finished product from the Polaroid Land camera looks like this. Contrast can be controlled by varying the exposure when taking the picture with the Land camera. The print above is actual size and comes from the camera in one minute ready to mount in your photo album.

New Camera Develops And Prints Picture in 1 Minute

Snyder camera fans are being shown an amazing new camera which, among other things, can detect radioactivity following an atom bomb explosion.

Radioactivity detection, however, is not the camera's feature which will make it one of the most wanted "really new" pieces of equipment to come on the market re-

PRINTS PICTURE

Being distributed by Craft Studio and Camera Shop here, the camera's most outstanding feature is that it delivers the completed picture to you in just one minute—no fuss and bother with sending the films off to be developed or spending hot, tiring hours in a darkroom developing them yourself.

It is the Polaroid Land camera. And it is the only camera on the market which takes the picture and develops it too.

The Land photographic process, which produces a finished picture in one minute, uses a light - sensitive "negative" material which is something like conventional photographic film.

Ordinarily this negative, after exposure, would be developed, fixed, washed and dried, and then used to make positive prints in another series of similar operations. But in the Land camera, the negative and positive are developed at the same time, by the same chemical compound.

The negative and positive rolls are placed in their containers in the camera with the negative moving past the lens [illegible] camera and around a roller, where it meets the positive sheet.

When the camera back is closed, the upper and lower rollers press the two sheets together. As the sheets are pulled to process a picture, a small sealed "pod" containing a jellied compound, attached to the positive sheet, passes between the rollers and breaks out along one edge, allowing the mixture to flow out. The rollers spread the reagent between the two sheets, and development takes place.

A true and lasting photographic image forms on the white positive paper which is not light sensitive. The image is made of metallic silver carried over from the negative in precisely the right amounts to depict the scene as you photographed it.

COSTS COMPARABLE

Cost of operating the camera is similar to operating costs of other cameras. An eight - exposure roll of film for the camera costs $1.75. Usually an eight exposure roll of film for a standard camera costs about 50 cents, but developing and printing costs run the final expense for a finished picture of a similar size up to about the same as finished pictures from the Land camera.

Both brown and white, and black and white pictures can be made with the camera, and both types of film are available.

RADIO ACTIVITY

Back to that atom-bomb radioactivity detection. Of course everyone hopes never to have need for a radioactivity detector, but with this camera and film you have just that.

Radioactivity and x-rays fog camera film, blanking out any picture that may have been shot on undeveloped film, but it does not show up on standard film until developing.

The Polaroid Land camera which develops its own film can detect within one minute if there is any radioactivity present by going through its normal picture developing process. If the picture is completely blurred and gray looking it indicates that there is dangerous amount of radioactivity present in the area.

Aside from having the many obvious advantages, the camera has some disadvantages. Chief of these disadvantages are the fact that the negative used by the camera is a paper negative and can not be used for making further pictures with a standard enlarger or copying setup. A second disadvantage is that all pictures produced by the camera are one size.

However, both of these disadvantages have been recognized by the manufacturer and a copying and negative producing service is offered by them at a cost of 25 cents per picture. From the negative enlargements any size can be made on standard photographic papers. Or the company will reproduce any Polaroid Land camera picture you desire.

Actually the camera's pictures are the size of jumbo prints made from films of movie, box or candid cameras, so the size of the print is not a big disadvantage. Its pictures are three inches wide and four inches deep.

Taking a picture of taking a picture. This is a photograph of Jack Craft, owner of Craft Studio & Camera Shop, taking a picture of Mrs. Craft with a new Polaroid Land camera. The camera takes the picture, develops, prints, and delivers it in one minute.

TEHRAN, Iran, July 31. (AP)—The lower house of parliament voted today to extend martial law another two months in Khuzitan province where Iran's oil industry is centered. The action now goes to the Senate for ratification.

Martial law was declared in Khuzistan last March when a strike throughout the oil area caused bloody rioting. The measure expired July 28.

Eight Murder Counts Face 17-Year-Old Boy

SAN FRANCISCO, July 31. (AP)—A 17-year-old delivery boy faced eight counts of murder today after tearfully admitting he deliberately started an apartment house fire that killed seven women and one man.

The San Francisco grand jury voted to indict Kenneth Skinner Monday night shortly after his mother prompted him, police said, to admit he deliberately started the early morning fire. Previously he had cliamed he started it accidentally.

Police said he broke down and cried, "I got a crazy idea. I was filled with [illegible] dreamed anyone would be killed."

Artist Undertakes 30-Year Job To Carve Statue in Mountain

By HAL BOYLE

CUSTER, S. D., (AP) — If all goes well, Korczak Ziolkowski will complete at the age of 69 the greatest memorial ever made by man upon this earth.

"And if I live only the biblican span," smiled the sculptor, "that will give me a year to gaze at the mess I made."

His 30-year project is to carve a 563-foot high statue of the Great Sioux chieftain, Crazy Horse, on Thunderhead Mountain near here.

It is to be a vast memorial to the North American Indian. And Ziolkowski hopes eventually to group a $50 million Indian University and medical center around it.

ONE-MAN PROJECT

He began the memorial virtually as a one-man project [illegible] years ago. Among the people of the Black Hills he met both ridicule and active opposition. They thought Ziolkowski would soon give up the project for lack of financial support and go back to Boston.

But he didn't. In the last three years he has [illegible] a white line of his proposed statue on the mountain, and has blasted away 240,000 tons of rock.

Where do his funds come from to fashion the biggest monument in history? He couldn't tap the bank accounts of millionaires. He wouldn't ask for federal aid. The South Dakota Legislature never voted him anything. But millions of tourists drive through the state each year. And the half dollars they pay to view the Crazy Horse site are financing the memorial.

REAL INDEPENDENCE

Ziolkowski is fascinated at his discovery that the half bucks of the common man promise him more real artistic independence than is allowed by the patronage of governments or multi-millionaire dilettantes.

Ziolkowski is an admirer of the Mt. Rushmore [illegible], 30 miles away, and of Gutzon Burglum who sculpted there the giant stone faces of four American Presidents. But he is bitter at the jealousy he says some South Dakotans have shown in feeling that Crazy Horse might prove a rival attraction to Mt. Rushmore.

His basic attitude, I suppose, is—well, so why not?

"Rushmore was built mostly by federal funds," he said, "and Crazy Horse is being built by John Q. Public. And I'd rather have John Q. Public do it."

It took an estimated $900,000 to create Mt. Rushmore, and they had to blow off only 360,000 tons of granite, Zialkowski says. He also says he could put four Mt. Rushmore's in the head alone of his Crazy Horse Memorial. And he thinks some people out here feel that is giving an Indian too much prestige — even in his old hunting grounds.

Sea, Land, and Air Cluttered By the Scientifically Curious

NEW YORK, July 30. (AP) — If you see a strange character casing your back yard this summer, it's probably a college man trying to find something geological, archeological, biological, anthropological, paleontogical, astrophysical, botanical, zoological, architectural — or what have you.

A partial count shows at least 200 expeditions being sponsored this summer by American colleges, scientific societies and government agencies.

Most of these are confined to the continental United States, but there are many others working in Europe, Canada, Alaska, the other Americas, Africa, Asia and on the seven seas.

The research experts are trying to climb the highest mountains and plumb the deepest oceans. They are looking for flora and fauna; ferreting out fossils of strange and long-vanished animals. They are seeking to pierce the veil of ages to discover how man came to this continent. They are trying to beat the march of progress by recording all the evidence they can find of past American civilization before it is wiped out to make room for better living.

SEAL COUNTER

If, for example, you see a gent solemnly counting seals in Alaska, it's likely Dr. George A. Bartholomew, assistant professor of zoology at the University of California. He is taking a seal census and studying their behavior for the U. S. Fish and Game Commission.

If you see a woman floating down the Mississippi river on a raft, that's Mary Ellen McGrady. She's a graduate student at the University of Michigan on a 90-day, 1,800-mile jaunt to study the inter-play of psychological reactions for use in a master's thesis she is preparing.

Down Florida way, you might find National Geographic Society and University of Miami scientists studying the life story of a lobster that leaves home as an infant and sets out to sea.

From coast to coast and border to border there are at least 70 expeditions scratching, digging, climbing and drawing out the story of life on the American continent.

SOME JUST DIG

Some, like the Carnegie Museum of Pittsburgh, are excavating at Vernal, Utah, and in Montana, delving into the ancestry of the horse, or exploring Indian burial mounds in the upper regions of the Ohio River to determine what type human lived there as long as 10,000 years ago.

The states of New Mexico, Nevada, Idaho, Oregon, Washington, California and Texas, are overrun with students, professors and scientists doing research in bat caves, on Indian relics, ruins, prehistoric animals and humans. Some are studying fossil fish and plants. Others, the movements of quail and fish.

Other groups are studying earth tides, community projects and mountain regions. Just name a subject. Some one is studying it.

So, if perchance you see several strange craft slowly edging through the bayous of Louisiana, mapping the country as they sail along, hold your fire and don't call the FBI.

At least not until you find out, first, whether they are one of the new kind of specie, the college expert research teams roaming our land today.

Even Greater Sums for Air Force Regarded As Necessary

By JOSEPH AND STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON —Before very long, the air force issue is going to come out, or perhaps burst out, into the open. The preliminary drumfire has already been heard from the friends of air power on Capitol Hill. Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall and Under Secretary Robert A. Lovett now have before them the Air Staff's program of requirements for an expanded force of 150 groups.

Even if the plan is accepted by Secretary Marshall and the President (which seems likely) its first disclosure is bound to be a bit explosive. If only because of the immense outlays and grave issues involved. As a minimum, the cost is estimated at "several billions" of supplemental appropriations by the present Congress and $15 billion additional in the 1953 budget, with recurring huge appropirations in the subsequent budgets.

The chief issue raised is, of course, the proportion of defense investment between the services. The Navy is considered to be approximately large enough already. The Army is reaching its planned manpower ceiling, although still deficient in many types of vital equipment. But while the curves of expansion of the brother services are thus levelling off, the Air Force expansion curve is to shoot upwards precipitately; and it is not to level off until annual air force expenditure is far above either Army or Navy expenditure. The kind of trouble this can give rise to is only too easy to imagine.

Building the defense establishment squarely around the Air Force; increasing the already vast defense budget by such huge further sums — these are serious steps to take. On any realistic appraisal of the world situation, however, there is no alternative to taking these steps, except to take unforgiveable risks with the American future. The reasons why a greatly expanded air force is needed at this time are, in fact, quite unanswerable.

First, the air defense of the continental United States is rapidly becoming a larger and larger job. The Soviet atomic bomb stock is increasing continually, which means that the Kremlin is getting nearer and nearer to the point where the war planners in Moscow can hope to deliver a crippling blow against this country. The existing Soviet strategic air force, of imitation B-29s, is expanding. And at the recent air show in Moscow, the Soviets displayed a truly long-range heavy bomber of B-36 type, which air intelligence credits with a 5,000 mile striking radius.

Since the smaller and less costly standard Soviet heavy bomber can efficiently hit targets anywhere except in this hemisphere, the production of this huge, very long - range bomber can have only one purpose — to attack this country. Moreover, it is the Soviet practice never to display new aircraft types until they are ready for actual production. Which means that this new Soviet very - long range bomber is already going to combat units.

Second, the threat of the Soviet strategic air force, to our allies and to us, also increases the requirement for the American strategic air force. It was originally designed solely to destroy the industrial vitals of the Russian war machine. Its first priority must now be the destruction of Soviet strategic air. This is an immense task in itself. Furthermore, it is essential for the destruction of the Soviet industrial vitals to go forward concurrently; otherwise the defense will learn from experience to take the measure of the offense. Thus, in effect, the American strategic air force must now be built big enough to do two jobs at once.

Third, the importance of tactical air in ground war is now so great that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's staff has evolved a rule of the thumb — "The fewer divisions you have, the more air groups you need." For the defense of Western Europe, it is necessary for Gen. Eisenhower to have a tactical air force ready at all times for combat, which will be capable of dominating the very large Soviet tactical air force from the moment when the first shot is fired. For this purpose alone, it may be necessary to double the present requirement for American tactical air power.

* * *

Nor are these requirements, and the Soviet air threat that begets them, mere dreams of air propagandists. The new Soviet bomber of B-36 type is not the ten engine jet that has been wildly reported. It is a huge, four engine plane, of fairly conventional design. But it exists, has been photographed, and by the magic of the intelligence analysts has been shown to have approximately the characteristics given above. Equally, the air force actually has in its hands a MIG-15 engine, and has more than ruefully examined the decidedly superior high temperature alloys and remarkably skillful welding that make this the best jet engine now in production.

In plain language, the Soviets have now been proven capable of building air power on an all - too impressive scale. And if we do not wish to commit national suicide, American air power cannot be allowed to fall behind.
