City Gets First Quarter Sales Tax Payment

The City has received a check for its first quarter sales tax, amounting to $8,600, Mayor Billy Hatch told members of the City Council Monday, July 2.

This is the first payment since the tax became effective January 1, 1974, as there is a three-months lag after the end of the quarter before payments are made by the state.

The amount was about what members expected, and they anticipate the total for 1974 will be approximately $32,000.

However, it was pointed out that the first quarter is one of the best of the year from the sales standpoint.

The council voted unanimously to re-mark the parking spaces around the square, removing one of the most controversial issues to come up recently.

A single row of parking down the middle of the street will be retained, with entry from either lane, but the angle of parking will be returned to 45 degrees, that formerly used.

Part of the council members admitted they couldn't park correctly under the new markings, and the suggestion was made that red brick paint be used to completely obliterate the offending lines before new ones are put down.

Not in several years has the proposed city budget had so thorough a review as that given the budget presented Monday night. This was a preliminary budget presented by City Manager Lyman Daniel so the council members will have some idea of the city's financial situation in 1975.

This proposed budget listed receipts of $266,480, with begin ning cash of $94,905, for a total of $361,385 funds available.

At the same time, projected expenses total $363,638, which could call for the city to dip into its reserves.

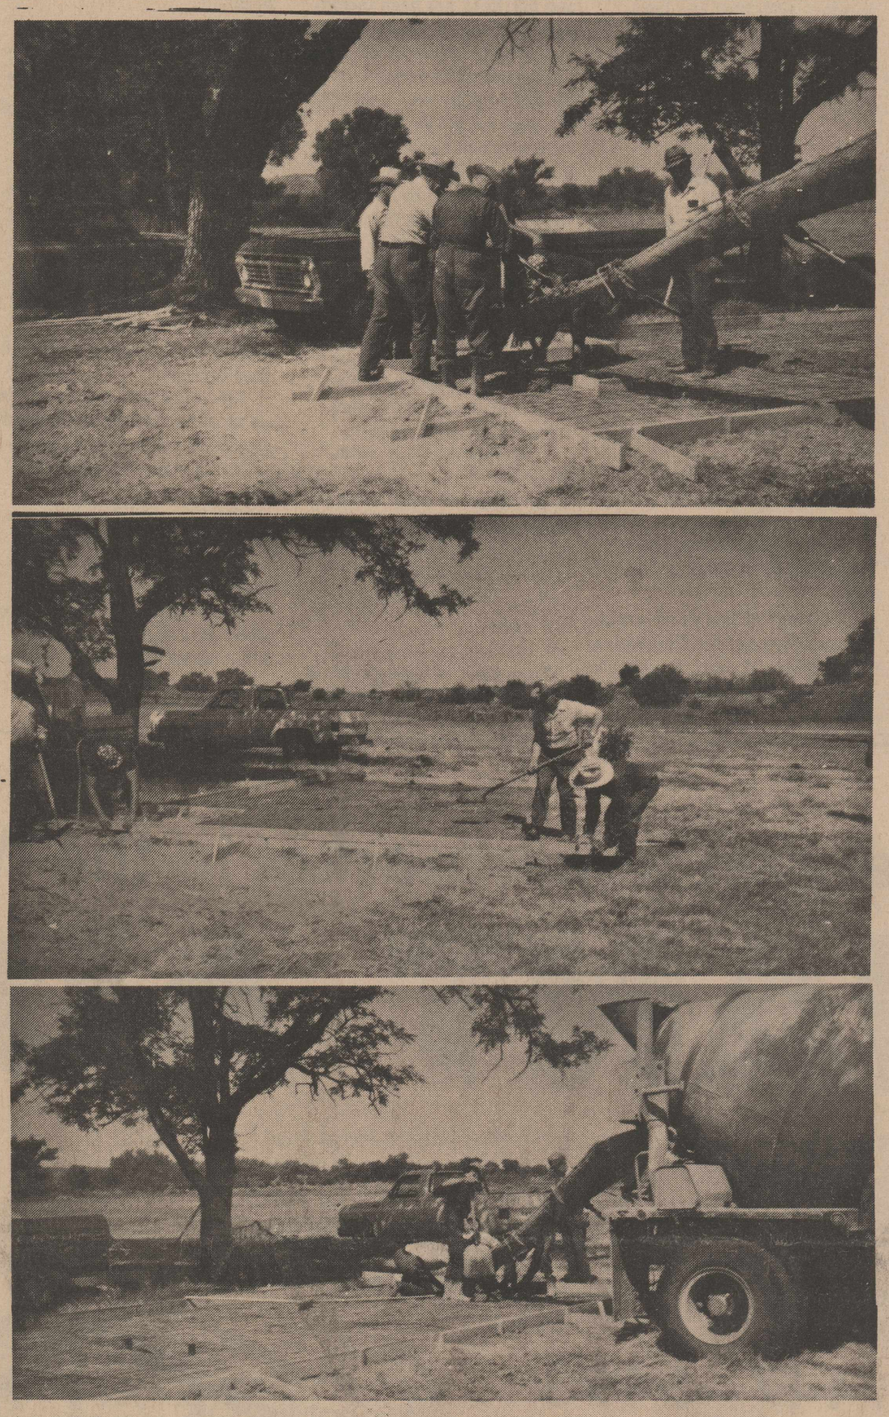

The budget was reviewed item by item, with stops for explanations and discussion on most of these.

Since this is one of the major pieces of business the council will consider during the entire year, members took home copies of the budget to study until the next council meeting.

In further action, the council approved correction deeds which will restore to Willie Smith access to his property in

COUNTY PARK BECOMES REALITY
These three scenes show pouring of the concrete for picnic areas in the new County Park seven miles north of Wellington. Contractors working on US 83 are cooperating with the county to do work for which specialized equipment is needed.

Construction Work Progresses In Collingsworth County Park

Construction on the Collingsworth County Park seven miles north of Wellington on Salt Fork River has become a reality, with the combined efforts of the county itself, contractors working on Highway US 83, and a number of individuals.

It is now possible to picnic in the unfinished park, although County Judge Zook Thomas has warned that the road leading in to it crosses work areas and extreme caution should be used.

Concrete floors were poured late last week for three picnic areas.

The road leading into the park from US 83 has been grad ed, and roads within the 20-acre recreation area are also graded.

Staking the park areas to be floodlighted is due this week. Water from the Samnorwood Rural Water Project was piped earlier to the north edge of the park, and it is now within the park boundaries.

Heavy earth-moving machinery was required to cut down a hillside and to move dirt within the park. Negotiations with road contractors working at the site made this possible.

The park will be free of flooding by any forseeable amount of water from Salt Fork.

A considerable amount of finishing work remains, and Judge Thomas said this will go forward as fast as possible although several months will be required. Getting the graded areas set to grass will be one of the long-term projects.

Buck Breeding, Commissioner of Precinct 4 has represented the county at much of the on-site work, and he is in the process of securing contributions of work from several individuals.

The total contract price for the park is $43,144. A matching funds federal grant of $21,972 was approved by the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation in December, after earlier approval of the project came from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The State of Texas will provide $400 in funding and Collingsworth County will furnish the remaining $21,572.

This park lies on the north

Truman Spring Holds Church of Christ Services

Truman Spring, evangelist from Houston, will be a guest speaker at the Church of Christ in Wellington Wednesday evening, July 10. Services will be at 8:00 p.m.

"Many will remember that Brother Spring was in Wellington for a gospel meeting in March of this year," said Tom Anderson, minister.

In his July 10 speaking engagement he will be telling of a 3-Fold Mexico Project which is carried out by Churches of Christ and which he helps to promote throughout the world.

"The project consists of an exentsive printing operation to make printed tracts, lessons, etc. readily available in the Spanish language. A Bible correspondence course in Spanish is also printed and distributed. The second part is the maintaining of the Lida Baxter Institute of Preacher Training.

"This institute is in Mexico City and is devoted to the training of native men in the preaching of the Gospel. The third phase of the project is like on the job training as these preacher trainees go out in pairs to preach and teach throughout Mexico.

"Brother Spring plans to make a slide presentation which will be both interesting and informative," concluded Mr. Anderson.

Watson on Drug Advisory Board

Bob Watson was notified late last week of his appointment to the Panhandle Regional Alcohol, Drug Abuse Services Coordinating Board, set up to serve the non-metropolitan areas of this part of Texas.

The appointment was announced by W.W. Nicklaus, chairman of the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission following its regular meeting Thursday, June 27.

"It is with great pleasure that I take this opportunity to inform you that the board of Directors has appointed you to this new advisory board," said Mr. Nicklaus.

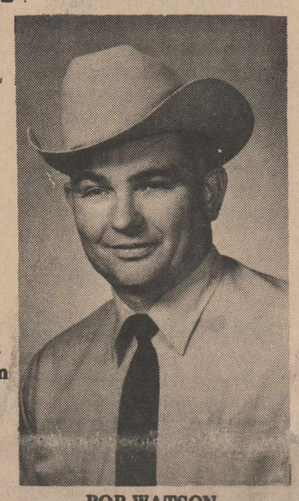

"The topics you will address will not have easy solutions; however, I am sure that this new advisory board will develop innovative approaches," he continued.

The first action of the Alcohol/Drug Abuse coordinating board will be to set up a master plan for the needs of the rural areas of the Panhandle.

This will cover resources available to use for educational purposes, treatment purposes and conseling purposes, Mr. Watson explained.

"When someone from rural communities need help, they will know where to turn," he said.

Amarillo has its own alcohol and drug abuse service, and Mr. Watson said he believes the new board will serve the remainder of the counties included in PRPC.

City-County Law Enforcement Study Continues

Both the City of Wellington and Commissioners Court are continuing their study of a combined law enforcement body which would incorporate the police and sheriff's departments.

The City Council in its regular meeting Monday night, July 1, approved a resolution requesting that the Criminal Justice Department of the Governor's office make a feasibility study of the proposed combined law enforcement. This will be submitted to the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission and is necessary in order to get CJD funding.

The council members reviewed in detail the proposed agreement which the city and county would enter into. This was considered paragraph by paragraph, and councilmen were of the opinion they wanted clarification of certain points. These deal principally with the city's per cent of funding; the number of law enforcement officers the city would still have to hire; and the final decision-making authority.

The members took the proposed agreements home to study until the next council meeting.

The Commissioners Court held a special session Monday night, also, but it was called for another matter, and since the law enforcement body was not on the agenda, no action could be taken legally.

Members did discuss it, however, and both County Judge Zook Thomas and Cliff Hartman, Commissioner of Precinct I, said they considered the discussion favorable.

Pan-Fork Encampment to Open Sessions on July 8

Approximately a thousand boys and girls from Baptist Churches over much of the Panhandle will be at Panfork Baptist Encampment for the three sessions to be held through July.

Health Department Surveys City Water

Four recommendations have been made to the City of Wellington by the Texas State Department of Health for consideration so the water system may be operated and maintained in accordance with the department's acceptable practices.

Mayor Bill Hatch was notified of the recommendations by Charles Maddox of the Domestic Water Supply Branch, Division of Environmental Engineering, for the Department of Health.

They were made following a sanitary survey by Roland Dove, representative of the department on June 19.

The first recommendation was that an additional certified operator be employed by the City in order to assure that one will be available at all times, including vacation, illness, etc.

The second recommended that the monthly reports of the water works operation, which are being submitted to the Texas State Department of Health, should include daily pumpage figures as well as monthly totals.

The abandoned water wells should be plugged and sealed properly to prevent possible contamination of fresh water strata, read the third recommendation.

The fourth recommendation stated that prior to the construction of any major improvements or additions to the water system, completed plans and specifications should be submitted to the Texas State Department of Health for review and approval, as required by the "Rules and Regulations for Public Water Systems."

Calling up the ways of their forefathers, the early Methodists of the Wellington area, members of First United Methodist Church will hold a community-wide barbecue Friday, July 12, in Ellison Park. Besides the beef, prepared by a time-honored recipe still known by some of the local men, there will be an evening of fellowship and visiting.

Serving hours are 7:00 to 9:00 p.m.

It is a fund-raising event, according to Mrs. Bob McAlister, and all monies derived from it will go to the church building fund.

Tickets are now on sale, with G.B. Hopper as chairman. They may also be had from any member of the finance committee.

It will be a beef barbecue, slow-cooked many hours in a pit and served with the traditional trimmings.

A.J. Fires heads the barbecuing committee and he will be assisted by Henry Sullivan, Cliff Campbell, and several others who are yet to be named.

Plans are being made for 300 to attend, and in addition to the food and visiting, there will be musical entertainment through the evening.

Kiwanis Continues U.S. Flag Project

In a joint Kiwanis-Wellington FFA program, Flags raised in front of each subscriber's home or business on each of ll designated holidays. The year's cost is $ll, however, Mr. McAlister said since two of these holidays have passed, the cost for the remainder of the year, which begins with Memorial Day, will be $9.

Future Farmers put out the flags in the early morning of each holiday and take them down in the evening.

New subscribers named by the Kiwanis president are Oris West, Sam White, Mrs. G.L. Jones and Hiett and Hiett Construction.

"POLLO BORRACHO"

1 broiler-fryer (2½-3 lbs.) chicken, cut into serving pieces
¼ c. corn oil
1¼ tsp. salt
¼ to ½ tsp. garlic powder (to suit personal taste)
½ tsp. crushed oregano
1 tsp. paprika
1 No. 303 can tomatoes, chopped
5 medium-sized zucchini squash, washed and sliced, but DO NOT PEEL
1 c. red Burgundy wine
1 tsp. flavor enhancer
¾ tsp. pepper
½ tsp. cumin seeds
1 cube or individual pkg. chicken bouillon
1 large onion, sliced

Heat corn oil in a Dutch oven or a large heavy kettle. Sprinkle the chicken pieces with Ac'cent and brown well on all sides in the hot oil. Add all seasonings, salt, pepper, garlic powder, oregano, cumin seeds, paprika, and bouillon cube or powder. Reduce heat to medium-low and add the remaining ingredients, chopping the tomatoes as they are added with their juice, onion slices, zucchini slices, and the wine. Cook covered for approximately 30 minutes and then continue cooking uncovered for another 15-30 minutes as necessary until the chicken is done and the volume of liquid is somewhat reduced. Makes four servings.

Proper Storage Fights Illness

"Clostridium perfringens" is the culprit in most food poisoning cases, which start with improper food storage, one nutritionist noted.

"Around us constantly, perfringens creates problems only when they build up to substantial numbers in food," according to Frances Reasonover, foods and nutrition specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Although usually mild, perfringens bacteria can cause serious illness -- even death -- in older persons and infants the specialist warned.

Foods containing perfringens are boiled, stewed, and lightly roasted meat or poultry -- plus meat and poultry stews, sauces, gravies, pies, salads, casseroles, and dressings.

"Most high-level contaminations stem from storing such foods improperly -- leaving food at room temperature too long or improper refrigeration."

Miss Reasonover noted that meals prepared for large dinners, banquets or institutions often involve perfringens illness outbreaks.

She blamed this on steam tables, "which may not keep internal temperatures above 140 degrees F.

"The same thing happens in trying to cool large quantities of food. Unless cooled quickly to safe temperatures (under 40 degrees F.), bacteria continues to grow.

Home Management

By Mrs. Arla Felts

July 1 marked the beginning of the Collingsworth County Extension emphasis on management. All kinds of better management will be emphasized this year through our Home Demonstration and special interest programs. The Family Living subcommittee believed this to be an area of great concern for people in this part of the world.

Let us begin with appliance news. Many people have asked about the popular, new slow cookers -- should they buy one, what kind to buy, are they safe? Here are some questions for those, considering the purchase of this appliance:

1. Will it be used or would it just be "nice to have";

2. Is it multipurpose or does it just do one thing? (Some models feature bases that can be used as food warmers or pots that can also be used in the oven.)

3. What temperature does it keep the food? (140 degrees is recommended to prevent spoilage.)

4. Where will you store it? (To be used it must be stored in an easily accessible spot.)

5. Has it been given a UL seal for safety?

STANDARD EQUIPMENT

Microwave ovens are now being included as standard equipment by a major Los Angeles area home builder. The homes will range from $43,000 to $127,000. It is believed to be the first time that microwave ovens have been included as part of a new home's standard appliances. We predict this trend to spread as this appliance increases in popularity.

TOASTER INNOVATIONS

A toaster that makes "love" or "peace"? One manufacturer has introduced a Toaster-Writer that brands the words "love" or "peace" on bread as it toasts.

NO MORE SCORCH

A new no-scorch self-cleaning iron automatically tells when the iron has reached the correct temperature for the fabric. The color-coordinated system simplifies temperature selection. It is said to assure precise temperature control, making easier, safer and more convenient ironing.

COOL IDEAS

A new-energy-saving refrigerator will be on the market this fall from several manufacturers. It will cost $1.50 a month to operate instead of $5-$7 for similar 16-17 cubic models. A small compressor and added insulation make the economy possible-at the cost of some storage area.

Be on the look out for a "talking refrigerator". One brand now includes a built-in tape recorder, radio and message center. You have to be careful what you say while you cook!

If you would like more information on buying appliances, you may be interested in receiving the Smart Shopper Series to begin in the fall. This is available to all individuals regardless of race, color, National origin, sex, or religion - free of charge. Call the County Extension Office for more information.

To save energy, pre-heat oven only when baking. Broiling and roasting don't require pre-heating.

Moving from one home to another is never an easy task. To make the most of its excitement and anticipation, get organized and let it be a real adventure, says Patricia A. Bradshaw, housing and home furnishings specialist.

Who's New in the Wellington Area

Mr. and Mrs. Van Schooler of Morton, formerly of Quail, are the parents of a daughter, Sallye Suzanne, born June 17 in St. Mary of the Plains Hospital, Lubbock. She weighed ten pounds.

The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bourland of Ennis. Mrs. Schooler is the former Fredda Bourland.

Mrs. Bryan Denley Retires from Teaching After Seventeen Years

Mrs. Bryan Denley has retired from the Floydada School System and Wellington will again be her full time home. She was special reading teacher there 5 years.

This ends her teaching career of 17 years, she says, although she will return to Floydada on occasion to do substitute teaching.

Mrs. Denley taught her first school at Prairie View, now part of the Samnorwood system in the early 1930s. She taught in Wellington for a number of years, although she took time out to rear her two daughters.

She taught at Daugherty a year before going into Floydada. Much of the time she was on that faculty, she spent week ends here to see after her beauty shop, The Magic Mirror.

We Can Be a Town Where Nothing Is Impossible

"Nothing is impossible for Wellington," an out of town educator here to organize the emergency medical technicians course said when a larger crowd turned out than could be mustered for the same course in Amarillo.

This is the image of Wellington that is growing up in the area.

But is it the image we have of ourselves?

It is the one we must have if we are to become the town of the future in the Eastern Panhandle. It must be backed, of course, by realistic thinking and exploring all feasible means of reaching our goal.

"Wellington -- where nothing is impossible" can call forth the knowledge and ability and hard work from all men and women who are leaders or potential leaders, locally, or on area and state levels in their particular fields. Some of them are working at that pace now and it is how we have been tapped for some of the things we already have.

We must be certain our projects are sound and we will have to stretch our efforts farther than we ever have before. We must get rid of our habit of taking "No" for an answer. If one avenue fails (and it often will) another must be explored. That is how some of Texas fast-growing areas got that way.

With this we can correct our housing shortage and revive our water development. We can search out new crops and develop our recreational potential and look for other sources of income.

"Wellington -- where nothing is impossible" is a good image but it will have to be earned.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex. — The energy crisis may bring lower auto insurance premiums, and the State Insurance Board has put off its annual rate hearing to see if that's possible.

The hearing won't take place until late September this year.

By then, the Board hopes to get statistics on accidents and insurance claims for the first quarter of 1974.

The 55 miles an hour speed limit approved in special legislative session last December did not take effect until January 20. Driving was also curtailed sharply during early months of the year because of gasoline shortages.

If statistics for the first three months show lower rates are possible, the reduction would not go into effect until a month or more after the September hearing.

Texas Department of Public Safety has been asked to provide accident report details for the Insurance Board's 40 rating territories.

An average statewide reduction of 4.3 per cent was ordered last year, and many companies have granted further "deviation" reductions below the statewide rates fixed by the regulatory agency.

CONVENTION WINDING UP — The Constitutional Convention is racing toward a conclusion, but critical decisions — perhaps the toughest of the deliberations to date — remain.

President Price Daniel Jr. is hopeful of adjournment by July 15. Before that time, 121 votes must be rallied for the final document (and separate referendum items) to be submitted to voters.

ACCIDENTS PREDICTED — Col. Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, estimated 42 lives would be lost in July 4 holiday traffic accidents.

Speir, who declined to make Christmas-New Year period forecasts because of changing traffic conditions tied to the energy crisis, said the situation has become more stable. He said gasoline is available in most areas, and guessed this will bring additional auto movement on the highways during the mid-summer holiday.

Thirteen died in July 4 traffic last year, but the holiday period was only 30 hours long then, compared to an 102-hour period this year (with the fourth falling on Thursday). Eighty died in 1972 holiday traffic over a similar 102-hour period.

All available DPS troopers and department facilities will be used to curb unsafe and reckless drivers, Speir said.

TRAINING CENTER ESTABLISHED — Gov. Dolph Briscoe ordered establishment July 1 of a new State Employees Training Institute to upgrade the unskilled and disadvantaged for jobs in state government.

The center, to be housed in The University of Texas, Austin, Extension Service facilities, will provide "intensive, short-term remedial education and skill training for new state agency employees and will have the capability to expand training for new responsibilities."

Texas Education Agency and UT division of Extension were assigned cooperative roles.

COURTS SPEAK — The State Supreme Court will review a $200,000 damage suit against an Alpine dentist who shot to death a youth he believed to be stealing a battery from his car.

The High Court in a divided decision held an El Paso lawyer's license should be suspended three years (rather than revoked) for theft of $401 of a client's money.

A life sentence assessed a Fort Worth man in the killing of a policeman was affirmed by the Court of Criminal Appeals.

A July 25 hearing has been set in 167th district court here in a civil anti-trust suit filed by Atty. Gen. John Hill against Associated Milk Producers Inc. (AMPI). Hill claims "coercive" tactics were used by the nation's largest dairy cooperative to get a virtual monopoly on Texas milk production.

A pre-trial conference has been scheduled in Austin's 53rd district court July 16 on Frances "Sissy" Farenthold's $2.5 million campaign finance lawsuit against Governor Briscoe.

The state settled its suit against Atlantic Richfield for $2.8 million. The case is the fourth settlement in 27 suits Hill filed against oil companies seeking fair market prices of "in kind" payments for oil and gas royalties from public school land leases.

AG OPINIONS — An appropriations bill provision that U.S. citizenship or application for naturalization is a requirement for all state employment is unconstitutional, Attorney General Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

- Attorneys fees against delinquent taxpayers are calculated on the basis of the amount sued for by taxing entities represented by county or district attorney.
- A district court may exercise probationary powers whether or not it has employed a probation officer to assist it. A probation clerk may perform some of the officer's duties directly under court supervision.
- A town whose incorporation has been declared void in a court order is not entitled to receive city sales taxes collected for it by the comptroller.
- The Wharton County court of domestic relations has jurisdiction in civil cases where the matter in controversy is at least $200 but not more than $5,000.

SHORT SNORTS

Site of the first of four artificial reefs (to be constructed of surplus Liberty ships) has been approved in the Galveston-Freeport area.

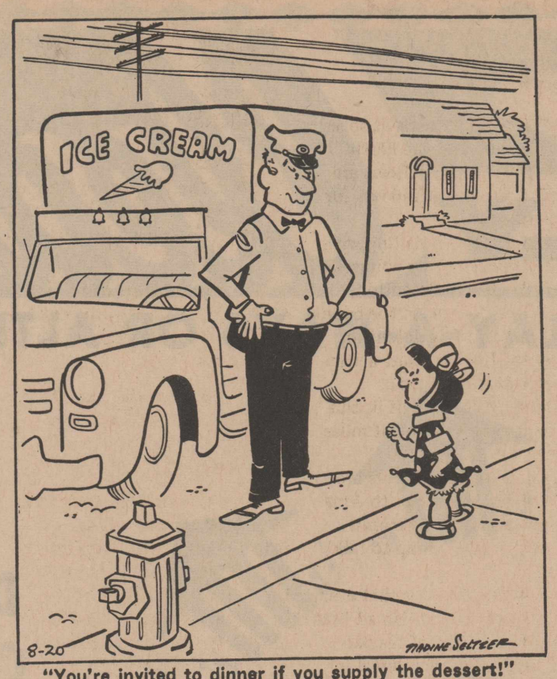

E. L. Galyean of Austin is new acting executive secretary of the 152,000-member Texas State Teachers Association, succeeding L. P. Sturgeon who retired June 30.

Grants totalling $7.2 million have been approved for improvement of law enforcement and criminal justice.

Texas Water Rights Commission dissolved 18 water districts.

The Governor's Committee on Aging approved $658,000 in grants and ratified earlier action taken at meetings held without adequate notice last December and March.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Invisible Fence

Barbed-wire fences may be harder to climb, and wooden fences harder to see through. But for sheer versatility, nothing beats the invisible fence erected around every piece of property by the laws of trespass and nuisance. Consider an example:

The Benson family lived next door to a vacant lot on which the owner kept a large pile of sand. Whenever the wind blew from that direction, sand would seep through the doors and windows of the Benson house.

Finally Benson sued the neighbor on grounds of nuisance. In court, the neighbor argued that he could not be blamed for what the wind did. But the court held it was unlawful—a breach of the invisible fence—for him to allow his sand to invade the Benson premises.

Other courts have taken a similar attitude toward leaves dropped from an overhanging tree, vines spreading into a lawn, eaves jutting over a boundary line (by a matter of inches), and sound waves from a neighbor's howling dog.

And, of course, the invisible fence also bars anyone from walking across your property without permission.

How high does the fence extend? Courts used to say it extended all the way up to heaven —a theory that, if enforced literally, would make every airplane flying overhead a trespasser.

Nowadays, your invisible fence extends only to a "reasonable" height. But still, your protection goes higher than the average housetop.

In one case a telephone company strung a wire 30 feet above a man's back yard, contending it was using only the "free and open" air. However, a court ordered the wire removed, since space that close to the ground might well be used someday by the owner himself.

"The space occupied by the wire," said the court, "was a part of his land. The law protects it from hostile occupation."

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where a penitentiarized holdup man sued his victim for damages because she testified in court that he was the man who robbed her.

Which could lead to the establishment of a sort of double jeopardy threat against people who get robbed and tell.

And Congress is fixing to appropriate taxpayers' money to pay lawyers to help such folks as poor hoods and muggers wishing to sue vindictive victims who interfere with their freedom to rob.

Juvenile Detention Center Is a Problem for Collingsworth

Law enforcement officers worry quietly but deeply about one problem most people do not know even exists. It is, however, common to many Texas counties.

What do you do with a juvenile picked up in Collingsworth for violation of the law?

You do not book him into the county jail. That is a certainty.

Instead, no matter the hour of day or night that the youngster is apprehended, he must be taken the 100 mile trip to be held in the Potter County juvenile facilities at Amarillo--the only one now available to Collingsworth County and most other area counties.

When this county's jail was built, 10 years ago, it was one of the finest small jails in the state. Updating of laws made it obsolete several years ago, although it is still the only maximum security jail in this part of the Panhandle.

Since the new Texas Juvenile Code became effective January 1, juvenile offenders cannot be housed in it, because they would have contact with adult prisoners.

"We don't have a place to put them at all if they are picked up," said Sheriff John Rainey of juveniles.

"We have had to turn several of them loose because we cannot put them in this jail. Of course, if there wasn't anyone in the jail at all, I guess we could, but if there is even one adult, we cannot." It is rare indeed for the jail to be completely empty.

Neither can women legally be housed in the jail.

"They (the state) haven't flat said we can't, but they are going to," explained Mr. Rainey.

With the next session of the legislature, officials expect that persons arrested for being drunk or on a DWI charge can no longer be placed in jail, but in a detoxification unit.

To secure funding Collingsworth County is asking $14,000 from the Criminal Justice Council to make a preliminary study of such a facility.

Until that facility is secured, Bob Watson, probation officer for the 100th Judicial District Probation program, and Mrs. Kenyard Poteet, its female probation officer, tells how juvenile offenders are handled.

"As an example, a juvenile is picked up as a run away and needs to be detained," Watson detailed. "At present it is required we take him to the detention facility of Potter County, or on the weekend, the juvenile cells of the city of Amarillo, total of 220 miles round trip.

"Then if a detention hearing is required (the law says there must be one within 24 hours) the probation officer goes back to Amarillo, picks the youngster up, returns him to court in this county, where District Judge (Bob) Montgomery or County Judge Zook Thomas will hear his case.

"If the decision is to detain the child, he must be taken back to Amarillo for a grand total of 660 miles."

"Then probation officers are faced with the prospect, if this is a runaway, of going to Amarillo again and putting him on a plane for his home."

If the juvenile is held in detention at Amarillo, the probation officer's time-consuming trips are not over. One round trip requires four hours of travel time under present speed limits, alone---and the 100th District probation officers are handling juvenile offenders for five counties.

"There may be visiting with him for interviews or counseling while he is in detention, then returning him to the county after the period of detention is over for further court action," Mr. Watson continued.

"When you think of it, this is a staggering amount of miles per kid."

The probation officers are not alone in their trips to Amarillo concerning the juvenile. His lawyer must go up to talk to him.

Texas law requires that every juvenile have a guardian ad litum, someone, not one of his parents, look after his interest in court. Sometimes his attorney serves in this capacity, but again it may be another individual. He, too, must go to Amarillo as many times as necessary.

There are more compassionate reasons for having the child closer to home.

Recently, Mrs. Poteet took a young runaway girl to the Potter County detention facility. That night the youngster got sick and Mrs. Poteet had to return to take care of her needs. Potter County houses Collingsworth's juvenile offenders, but it does not service them, Mr. Watson points out.

The next day, Mrs. Poteet returned to Amarillo to place the youngster on a plane for her home.

"Housing our juveniles in Amarillo creates a hardship on parents of the lower economic children, which are most of those involved in juvenile court, said Mr. Watson.

"It is not fair to separate a child that far from his family. Of course, he will be separated some, but not as if he is a hundred miles away," believes the juvenile probation officer.

This, then, is a problem Collingsworth County, and all other Texas counties in the same situation must solve.

The $14,000 the county is asking from CJC would cover a survey and feasibility study for the facility and to update the jail to meet the new Texas code.

The combined juvenile-women's-alcohol facility would serve the 5 counties of the 100th District. Its location in Wellington would be likely, since the application is made by Collingsworth County and this is headquarters for the probation program.

In the meantime, probation officers must log a thousand miles or more for each juvenile handled.

Clerk-Carrier Exam Called for Wellington PO

An examination for a clerk-carrier in the Wellington Post Office will be held in the near future, L.B. Bratten has announced.

The date of the test has not been announced, but the closing date for taking applications is Friday, July 26.

If there are enough applicants, the test will be held in Wellington, otherwise it will be in Amarillo.

Persons taking the test must be at least 18 years of age or over and a United States Citizen. Mr. Bratten said the starting salary is $4.86 per hour.

I Saw... by Virginia Robey

Work on the Ex-Students Reunion goes on. When Amelia Morgan Brown visited her aunt, Mrs. J.M. Allred in West Covina, Calif., last week, they talked of the reunion August 3, and the Allreds plan to come. She will be remembered by students of the 1930s as Willie Clyde O'Bryant. Dr. Allred, who has taught 38½ years, tell her family she is retiring. The visit to the Panhandle will probably include J.M.'s former home at Happy.

Just before Estelle Peeples Gregory returned to her home in Springfield, Oregon, she noted that she had been away from here since 1943. But every one of those 31 vacations she has lived in Oregon has been spent in Collingsworth. Estelle grew up at Samnorwood. Her mother, Mrs. W.O. Peeples, now lives in town.

At different times, Nadine Birchfield of the Wellington State Bank and former fire chief Jim Sikes have brought in this clipping, "Firemen Don't Have a Chance."

When the fire trucks are delayed 40 seconds in traffic, people say: "It took them 20 minutes to get here."

When four men struggle with an eight-man ladder: "They don't even know how to raise a ladder."

When they open the floor to get at the blaze: "There goes the axe squad."

If the chief stands back where he can see and direct his men, people say: "He's afraid to go where he sends his men."

If they lose a building: "It's a lousy department."

If they make a good "stop" folks say: "The fire didn't amount to much."

If lots of water is necessary: "They are doing more damage with water than the flames."

If a fireman gets hurt: "He was a careless guy."

If a fireman inspects a citizen's property: "He's meddling in somebody's business."

If he wants a fire hazard corrected: "I'll see the mayor."

"If he gets killed and leaves a family destitute: "That's the chance he took when he joined the fire department."

Firefighters have overheard remarks like these. But they work on regardless, saving lives and protecting our community--because this vital job must be done.

The response to Irene Brown Bartel's delightful book, "No Drums or Thunder," continues.

There is a good story in every community that has existed in Collingsworth County. One that keeps coming to mind is Quail. Mrs. G.T. Stephens, The Wellington Leader correspondent, has considered writing a Quail history from time to time, and she is most qualified to do it, in both ability and background. She should be encouraged to do this.

Martins and Whites Tie for Lead in Softball Standing

The lead changed hands several times and one extra inning was needed before Lee's could post a win over Martin's.

John Dodge popped out to second base and Colquitt Nash went home for the winning run for Lee's.

Lee's came up with 15 runs on 11 hits and was led by Darrell Colson (CF) with three singles. Ray Mackey also had two singles and Lanny Ford had a triple.

Martin's Seed came up with 14 runs on 10 hits. James Hall had a triple and a single, Sammy Coffee had two singles and Payton Mallard had a single and a double to lead the hitting for Martin's.

The second game was a practice session with a team from Childress losing to 3-C Construction in a close 11-10 game.

Childress led throughout the game until the bottom of the seventh inning and last chance for 3-C to win.

Runners were on first and second when Arnold Fincher came to bat, Arnold knocked in the winning run with a powerful home run over the right field fence.

Kenny Black (LF) led the hitting for 3-C with three singles. Arnold Fincher had a home run and a single. Tony Stephens (SS) came up with two good doubles and Alton Belew (second) and Billy McAlister (CF) had two singles each.

Eleven runs were made on fourteen hits.

Kevin Woods (R) had a triple and two singles to lead the hitting for Childress. Holland (first) and Dorset (C) had two singles each. Ten runs were made on eleven hits.

Whites Auto aced two victories from Wellington teams June 30.

In the first game Whites jumped to an early 5-0 lead and then took a 15-9 decision over 3-C.

Ricky Wright banged out three big hits (a double and two singles) to pave the win for Whites.

Fifteen runs were made on 14 hits.

Arnold Fincher again was the slugger for 3-C. He hit a homer, a double, and a single. Kenny Black and Tony Stephens each had a double to help with 3-C's hitting.

Nine runs were made on eleven hits.

Whites downed Lee's in the second game, 13-7.

Ricky Wright and Billy Farris led the hitting for Whites with two doubles each. Maurice Farris had a single as did Don Shanks.

Payton Mallard (LF) had three singles and Lanny Ford (RF) had a double and a single to lead the hitting for Lee's.

After leading throughout the game 3-C gave up six big runs and lost to Whites 8-7, June 28.

Wright came up with a double and a single along with Billy Hughes' (third) triple to lead the hitting for Whites. Eight runs were made on nine hits.

Kenneth Patterson (R) had a double and a single and Rodney Porter had two singles to lead the hitting for 3-C. Seven runs were made on nine hits.

Martin's out lasted Lee's to take a 14-13 win in the second game.

The score was 13-12 with Lee's leading in the bottom of the seventh, when Payton Mallard got by an error and Teddy Martin came up with a double to bring Mallard in and tie the score at 13 all. Brent Wade then drove in the winning run with a double.

Payton Mallard (LF) had two triples and James Hale (CF) had a triple to help lead the hitting for Martin's. Fourteen runs were made on twelve hits.

Fincher had two triples and a double to lead Lee's hitting. Darrell Colson had a triple and a double and Raymond Mackey had a double and a single to round out the hitting for Lee's.

Thirteen hits were made on sixteen hits.

Lancer Homes, a team that was also in the league, had to drop out and forfeit the remaining games.

The next games will be played July 8. Everyone is urged to come out and watch what promises to be an exciting finish for the league champion.

Extension Agents To Attend Course

The county's two extension agents, Mrs. Arla Felts and Don Reeves, will join other agents and specialists of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at the State Extension Conference Sunday through Friday, July 14 to 19.

It will be held at College Station.

Fifty mini-courses in as many subject matter areas will be offered on the Texas A&M University campus during the week, and each Extension staff member will take part in at least two of these courses, according to Dr. William C. Welch, conference chairman and Extension horticulturist.

Conference theme will be "Extension Energy - Fuel For Progress."

Opening general session for the conference will take place at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the Rudder Center Auditorium, with Dr. John E. Hutchison, Extension director, addressing the group. Dr. Jack K. Williams, president of the Texas A&M University System, will give the welcome.

Special entertainment for the opening session will include a 30-minute variety show presentation by the Bryan-College Station Community Singers.

Mini-courses are slated each morning and afternoon, Monday through Thursday.

Questions People Ask About the Catholic Church

Q. I'm a boy. Do you think girls should be allowed to play in our Little League baseball?

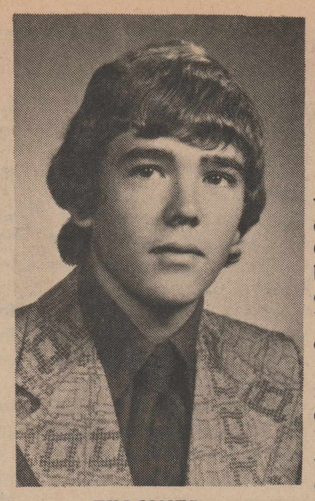

A. I have a suggestion. Why not organize a Girls' Little League, with women coaches, etc., and then have them play the Boys' Little League in in a World Series competition, to decide once for all who plays baseball better, boys or girls? Try it, you might like it.

Q. I have heard you say that you admire such sex-goddesses as Raquel Welch, Ann-Margaret, and Elizabeth Taylor. How can a priest carry on like that?

A. I really don't know what a sex-Goddess is. I don't believe in goddesses, only in the One True God. These girls are human. I admire their beauty, as any man would do, just as I would admire any other beautiful creation of God. I don't think that is "carrying on". All our greatest artists, poets, and sculptors have worshiped beauty since time began, since it reflects the Eternal Beauty of God. That was a silly question, wasn't it?

TIM JONES

Tim Jones an Official Host at WTSU in 1974

AMARILLO, Texas -- Tim Allen Jones, 1974 graduate of Wellington High School, will serve as an official host for West Texas State University beginning with the 1974 fall semester.

Jones is one of six entering freshmen named to the 10-member Campus Services organization. He will receive a $400 scholarship during each semester of participation with the group.

Campus Services members "serve as hosts and hostesses for visitors to the West Texas State campus," says Keith Winter, Director of Development and supervisor of the Campus Services office.

Winter described those selected for the position as a "good-looking group of kids, enthusiastic, and noted for their high academic and leadership abilities."

They come with "high recommendation from their principals and high school counselors."

In addition to their duties as hosts and hostesses, Campus Services members are expected to be familiar with University regulations and activities, in order to act as informed tour guides and as recruiters offering first-hand information on college life at high school visitations.

The students, who must live on campus, work approximately 20 hours per week, and are required to maintain a 2.5 average on a four point scale the first semester of participation.

Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. J.H. Jones of 1507 Dalhart Street, Wellington, was president of the student body at Wellington High School. He was elected Most Valuable to School in 1974.

He served as copy writer for the yearbook for two years and edited the school newspaper his senior year. Jones participated in the parliamentary procedure, ready writing and informative speaking contests of the University Interscholastic League.

Jones was a two-year member of the tennis team, and he was also active in football and basketball.

Clyde Hall Named Head of State VFW

A Lubbock business man who grew up and received his education in Collingsworth County, Clyde W. Hall has been elected state commander of the 78,000-plus member Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) organization.

He and other officers were named Sunday near conclusion of the four-day 54th annual VFW convention, conducted this year in the El Paso Civic Center.

"I'm highly honored," Hall told The Avalanche-Journal today. "I will endeavor to represent my comrades — who saw fit to elect me to this honored office — to the best of my abilities in the ensuing year."

The new state VFW chief, owner and operator of Precision Engine Service, and his wife, Juanita, live at 7002 Ave. Q.

Hall's responsibility will encompass a total of 423 posts in Texas' 28 districts.

L.N. Kirkpatrick of Eden, a past state commander, administered the traditional oath of obligation prior to a reception for the Lubbock resident at the Downtown Holiday Inn in El Paso.

Fort Worth already had been picked as next year's convention city and Amarillo was chosen Sunday by the session's 4,000 delegates as site for the 1976 meeting.

Hall, a native of Honey Grove, was reared in Wellington and moved to Lubbock nine years ago from Amarillo.

Mr. Hall is a brother of Kermit Hall and Mrs. Paul Wauer.

The new state VFW commander, a life member of Lubbock VFW Post 2466, has held numerous local, district, state and national offices.

During his two terms as commander of the Lubbock post, 1967-68 and 1969-70, he was awarded All State Commander honors as head of the largest local organization at that time in Texas. Lubbock Post 2466 had more members than any other state post for eight consecutive years.

COMMANDER CLYDE W. HALL

Hall served as commander of the 18-county VFW District 7 from 1968 to 1969 and was state department surgeon and junior vice commander prior to being selected senior vice commander in 1973.

He served as national aide-de-camp in 1969 to then Commander-in-Chief Ray Gallagher.

During World War II Hall served as a line chief for the U.S. Air Force in European Theater Operations (ETO). He joined the USAF on Oct. 19, 1941, and served until Dec. 3, 1945, attaining the rank of master sergeant before separation.

Hall, an alumnus of the University of New Mexico at Albuquerque, was instrumental in chartering the VFW post at Seminole during 1972.

The new state commander, a Baptist, has been a member of the VFW for more than 22 years.

Cochran Named Field Man for Farm Bureau

William S. (Steve) Cochran of Aspermont has been employed by the Texas Farm Bureau as a field representative in 16 counties in this area, according to J.T. (Red) Woodson of Gober, TFB president.

Cochran will act as liaison between county Farm Bureau organizations and the Texas Farm Bureau, assisting the county units in implementing and carrying on various programs. He will continue to reside in Aspermont.

A native of Stonewall County, Cochran is a graduate of the Aspermont school, Sul Ross University, and Texas Tech University. He holds both the BS and MS degrees from the latter institution with a major in agricultural education.

Cochran taught vocational agriculture at Aspermont for eight years, taught distributive education one year at Hamlin, and also farmed. He was a director and membership chairman for the Stonewall County Farm Bureau prior to his employment by TFB.

In high school, Cochran received the Lions Club Citizenship Award and the English Award. He was on the Senior Livestock Judging team, a member of the Collegiate FFA chapter, and served on the board of directors of the Rodeo Club at Texas Tech. Both Cochran and his wife went through college on rodeo scholarships.

He is married to the former Eileen Wistoke of Everson, Wash. They have two young daughters.

Counties being served by Cochran include Donley, Hall, Childress, Collingsworth, Scurry, Fisher, Wilbarger, Baylor, Throckmorton, Haskell, Knox, Foard, Stonewall, Motley, Hardeman, and Cottle.

Miss Edyth Jackson, teacher in the Pampa Schools, is visiting her mother, Mrs. S.B. Jackson, and other relatives this week. Miss Jackson underwent major surgery earlier in the summer and is recovering well.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—by Deskins Wells

EARLIER in the year, I wrote that the estimate of 16 million bales seemed too high in view of the floods in the Mississippi River basin and of late planting on the irrigated land of the South Plains. Now the estimate has been lowered to 14 million bales.

* * *

COTTON should be a good price again this fall. About six million bales of the 1973 crop will be exported and it is believed that nearly this amount of the 1974 crop will be exported. Domestic consumption which was 7.5 million bales last year is expected to account for 8 million bales this year.

* * *

ADD TO THESE considerations the fact that the August 1 carryover will be only 3.4 million bales you get an optimistic picture of what the price will be next fall. Cotton uses less energy than the synthetics so there will be less competition from these man made fibers as energy becomes more costly from year to year.

* * *

RIGHT NOW cotton growers should mark July 15 on their calendars. That is the time all farmers must measure and certify crop acreage. Those who don't sign up for the program stand to lose 20 per cent of their allotted acreage.

* * *

LEE O'NEIL has this to say about No Drums or Thunder: "It certainly brings back memories of days long past. It is a book young people should read--maybe they would realize what a price was paid for what they now enjoy and may lose." Lee also adds this observation: "I see you have had plenty of rain Out here(Lubbock) it has rained in streaks; but as a whole it is dry. It rains up to the Caprock and quits."

* * *

WE NEED rain now for our fast growing crops which are not suffering yet. Nearly all of the tillable acreage in the Wellington area has been planted. The exceptions are those spots that stood in water during part of May and June. These will be planted in maize or wheat later.

* * *

MILO IS another crop that will be a good price next fall in all probability. Nature has had her say on the mammoth corn crop that was predicted last spring. The heart of the corn belt has turned into the wet belt. There is a vast region of cornland in Indiana, Ohio and Iowa where the rains and floods were so extensive that corn planting was delayed and some will not be planted in corn this year.

* * *

AS USUAL this is the anxious time of the year for the row crop farmer. Perhaps we could accomplish more if we concentrated on the good that is here instead of worrying about the bad that may never happen.

* * *

A STORY from the Texas Department of Agriculture says that farmers and ranchers in Collingsworth County whose families have held the same land since 1874 or before will be honored by the TDA's "Family Land Heritage Program." The story continues: Any family who is certified by Judge Zook Thomas will qualify. The land must have been in use for agriculture by the family since 1874.

* * *

JUDGE THOMAS will have a hard time finding such a farm and such a farm family. The Rowe Ranch was not started until 1878 and the Rocking Chair was established about that time. If he searched long enough Zook might find some record or tale of Indians growing corn on what is now Collingsworth County soil; but that is highly doubtful. The Comanches took a very dim view of tilling the soil.

Visiting in the Albert Gollihugh home were Mr. and Mrs. W.F. Howard and boys, Bill, Kelley, and Dennis, of Mobeetie.

Dodson Co-op Pays $16,603 in Rebates

Members of the Dodson Co-op Enterprises, in their annual meeting Friday, June 28, re-elected two directors and all officers, then heard a report of the rebuilding and updating of their gin plant.

Rebates totaling $16,603.37 were paid during the meeting, representing twenty per cent of the net earnings for the 1973 ginning year. Net earnings totaled $83,016.85, and the four-fifths which was retained is going toward the gin rebuilding, aimed at making this plant one of the most modern in the southeast Panhandle.

The large crowd heard Benjamin C. Byrd, certified public accountant from Altus, give the financial report.

Darrel Murphy, gin manager, reported on the gin rebuilding, which he said is still in the early stages, due to slow delivery on some of the parts.

"We are looking foward to another good year," he said.

Roland Mayhugh and W.R. Jones were re-elected to terms on the board of directors, while the holdover directors are Mr. Birchfield, Mr. Watts, Mr. Patterson, Art Kane and Fred Covey.

The three younger Gollihugh children, Rhonda, Keith and Bryant, are staying with their grandmother in Wellington while their parents, Becky and Debbie tour with the Young Believers.

The family has lived at Columbus since 1969, and prior to that, they lived in Germany while Sgt. Gollihugh was assigned there.

A new fire department siren was approved for southwest Wellington, needed principally for storm warnings. The present sirens cannot be heard in that part of town, many residents have told council members.

The council voted to send three firemen to the annual Firemen's and Fire Marshals school held at Texas A&M the last week of July. The Collingsworth County Farm Bureau will pay the tuition of one fireman, the city will pay the tuition of the other two, plus vacation pay for all three. These men give up a week of their vacation time to attend the school, it was brought out.

Panel discussions covered National goals and standards of probation and Texas Plans for Adult and Juvenile Probation.

The adult section was given by T.J. Gizelbach, program coordinator for directions of the CJD, Austin.
