Homecoming Parade To Start Activities

Merrymaking and the Mustangs and a wonderful weekend in store for Oltonites - present or past. That wonderful week, Homecoming, has arrived.

Festivities will mark Friday and Saturday but highlight of the occasion will be the gridiron battle when the Mustangs seek to "turn the tomahawks" on Morton's Indians.

Preparations have feverishly been underway for some days as classes worked on their floats for the gala parade. Theme of this year's parade, to be held at 4 p. m., is "Fabulous Flicks".

Three pretty misses, seniors at Olton High School, have been named candidates for Homecoming Queen with the lucky lovely to be crowned at the Homecoming Pep Rally at 2:30 p. m. Friday in the high school gym.

Candidates for the title are Connie Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hall; Janie Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Jones and Marsha Moss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Moss.

The queen and her royalty will be presented to the Homecoming crowd prior to the Mustang-Indians kickoff Friday night. Ball game time is 7:30 p. m.

All fans, and especially former students and teachers, are urged to attend the pep rally and to enter in the enthusiastic boost for the valiant, fighting Mustangs.

Olton Parents-Teachers Association is sponsoring supper before the game. Serving begins at 5 p. m. for the hamburger supper complete with hamburgers, chips, fruit cobbler and drinks. Serving will continue until 7 p. m.

The Homecoming merrymaking will be concluded with an after-game fellowship hour in the school cafeteria. Sponsored each year by the Student Council, all former students and teachers and their mates are invited to stop by for refreshments and visiting with old friends.

Mustangs To Meet Indians

It's homecoming in Olton this week and the Morton Indians will be the visiting team this year. The Indians are bringing a two and five record into this year's game with the Mustangs.

Coach Jim Curtsinger describes the Indians as being a very dangerous club. He says that their record is no indication as to the type of ball club that they have. He says that they just haven't put one all together yet.

They dropped a thriller to Lockney last Friday night 27 to 26. Lockney pulled it out late in the game for the victory.

The Indians have two All South Plains performers from last year's team. The two are Terry Harvey, 22, a halfback and number 73, an offensive guard, named M. C. Collins who is a great player.

Another halfback is Larry Thompson, 20. He is a very dangerous runner, especially around the ends.

Probable offensive starters for the Indians will be Larry Thompson, 20, Kevin Kuehler, 44, Terry Harvey, 22, and Keith Emery, 10, in the backfield.

On the offensive line will be Ted Thomas, 81, Darrell Betts, 70, Monte Dewbre, 72, Gerald Grusendorf, 50, M. C. Collins, 73, Tony Bramblett, 74, and Willie Holland, 24.

Probable starters for Olton will be Luis Rey, Marlos May, Keith Workman and Steve Stockdale in the backfield.

Leading the way on the line will be Mike Parsons, Jim Key, Alfred Garcia, Steve Lewis, Gary Durham, Emily Marquez and Luis Jiminez.

Five Day Gospel Meeting To Be Held At Local Church

A five day gospel meeting has been scheduled at the Main Street Church of Christ, Nov. 1 through 5. Services are scheduled daily at 7 p. m.

Due to the busy harvest season the pastors of the church deemed it wise to concentrate their efforts on the evening period of worship. The public is cordially invited to enjoy the spiritual revival which will last only five days.

The visiting evangelist is Curly Wiginton from Gainesville. Wiginton is from this area of West Texas, having spent his early life in Plainview. He began his full time ministry at Edmonson in 1963. From there he served the Church of Christ in Fredrick, Okla. for four years before moving to Gainsville over a year ago.

Wiginton has been instrumental in encouraging others to enter the full time gospel work besides being involved in many home study Bible courses wherever he lives. He has made two special trips to Australia in Evangelistic campaigns where many souls were led to obey their Lord.

"We believe in bringing Mr. Wiginton to Olton, that we have secured the services of a man who understands the needs of modern man to be converted to the unchanging word of God," according to Douglas Lawyer, local minister of the Church of Christ. He adds, "This gentleman knows the Book of Books and will be primarily preaching fundamental lessons of faith and obedience."

The special song director for this series of lectures is Ted Kell, one of the new instructors at the Sunset School of Preaching in Lubbock. "Ted Kell is unexcelled in his ability to get the congregation to sing with the spirit and understanding", Lawyer said.

Kell has written and edited a series of lessons designed for Christian camps for the past several years. He is quickly accepted by young people's groups and yet retains a special rapport with the adult generation. Those who know him best speak of him as one who radiates with the true spirit of Christ.

In preparation for this exciting spiritual endeavor the Main Street Church held a four nigh edification series of lectures designed to encourage the local church to become involved in making this one of our finest gospel meetings in the history of the Olton congregation.

Abe Lincoln of Lubbock delivered the challenging discourses on various books of the New Testament. Each night he brought several men who are studying for the ministry at the Sunset School of Preaching. After visiting with local Christians they were then invited into local homes for an evening meal and fellowship prior to the evening worship.

"The Main Street Church is excited about the prospects of this concentrated effort to serve Christ and wish to share this experience with any and all who will come be with us," Lawyer concluded.

PTA Supper Scheduled Friday Night

Homecoming Supper is being served Friday Oct. 30 by the local Parent-Teacher Association.

To be held in the school cafeteria, the meal will consist of hamburgers, chips, fruit cobblers and coffee. Serving hours are 5 p. m. until game time.

Tickets are priced at $1 and all proceeds will go to the Scholarship Fund. The public is invited.

HOMECOMING SPECIAL - - OHS twirlers, Margaret Gallaway, Marsha Parker and D'Lyle Wilks, will be featured during halftime ceremonies at the Homecoming football game Friday night.

Three Tied For Top Spot In Grid Game

It was a bad week for Enterprise football guessers!

The Mustangs fell prey to the tornadic Whirlwinds and a number of other games in the contest "went the wrong way".

No contestant missed fewer than four games and only two managed to predict that well. W. E. Thomas emerged the week's winner though with a guess of 14 to 26 on the tie breaker, missing by nine points.

Junette Noack also missed four games but was 14 points off with the tie breaker, predicting it to be 21-28. She'll claim the second place check for three dollars.

Eight contestants missed five games each but A. A. Smith got closest with the tie breaker score, missing it 12 points, to take third place.

Others who missed five games were Don Nafzger, Mrs. V. J. Trusty, Becca Roberson, Margaret Parsons, Harold Lloyd, Linda Hughes and Phil Hughes.

Top rung on the season ladder got a bit more crowded this week with three persons sharing the lead. Tied with 92 correct guesses each are Jack Williamson, Marilyn Miller and W. E. Thomas.

Contestants with 86 or more points are listed on page 8.

Anyone can still be a winner for the week. Just pick up last week's Enterprise and select a winner in each game, predict the tie breaker score and completely fill in the entry blank.

Entry blanks may be left with any sponsoring merchant before 4 p. m. Friday. While you're there, let them know you appreciate their making the contest possible.

They'll appreciate your business, too. Check their good buys.

Lillian George Rites Conducted

Funeral services were held Tuesday in the Main Street Church of Christ for Mrs. Lillian C. George, 82, longtime resident of Olton.

Doug Lawyer officiated. Burial was in Olton Cemetery under the arrangement of Parsons Funeral Home.

Mrs. George died Sunday in Methodist Hospital where she had been a patient four days. She had been confined to Littlefield Hospital three days before being transferred to Lubbock.

A resident of Olton 33 years, she was born Sept. 20, 1888 in Pike County, Ind. She was a member of the Main Street Church of Christ.

Survivors include one stepson, Wayne of Las Vegas, N. M. and two grandchildren.

Mrs. George was the beloved adopted grandmother of numerous Olton children with whom she baby sat.

Pallbearers were Elmer Mc Gill, Wayne George Jr., Jack Allcorn, Richard Roberson, Delmer Givens and K. Y. Givens.

Delwin Jones Warns Voters Against Amendment Number 3

State Rep. Delwin Jones of Lubbock sounded a warning to a group of Farm Bureau leaders Monday night when he asked them to "take a long, hard look" at proposed amendment No. 3 on the ballot in Tuesday's election.

Jones, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, charged that voters are being asked "to buy a pig in a poke." He said passage of the amendment could remove the matter from local control and put it under state authority.

Since the wording of the amendment does not specify what kind of system would be used in rating "productive value of the land" Jones pointed out "the state could take over the evaluation of the land for assessment purposes under some formula yet to be devised by the legislature." And he continued "such formula could be revised every two years". He also stated that "if assessments are made at Austin, some state board is going to have to administer the program."

Jones also warned that legislative voting strength of the agricultural Panhandle area is much less than that of the metropolitan Houston area, therefore "it is natural to assume that under any formula of that kind we would have a relatively high gross tax rate levied against us in this area."

Passage of amendment No. 3 would do away with existing farm tax treatment and Jones said "it could dilute tax support for schools in some areas."

Supporters of the amendment have said they have found "considerable interest" in substituting a state income tax for property taxes, with rebates to local governments.

An existing constitutional amendment, approved by Texas voters four years ago, is designed to provide relief, Jones argued, where taxes on agricultural land are excessive in terms of the land's ability to produce.

"I've looked this proposed amendment over from all angles" Jones said "and I don't see any advantages in it to school districts, local taxing authorities, or - in particular- to the individual farmer."

Carnival Time At Olton High

Ghosties, goblins and gay galavanting - it's Hallowe'en Carnival time.

Lots of fun is in store for young and old who dare to enter the halls of OHS Saturday evening when classes and organizations will again offer their contribution to the celebration of the eve of All Saints Day.

Excitement begins at 7:30 with activities scattered throughout the high school building. Some of the festive offerings include the ever-popular dunking board; a marriage booth; a baffling maze; a pie walk with yummy homemade pies; a "weiner roast restaurant" and a hilarious show sponsored by the senior class.

A one-performance only, "A Day in Television Land", promises rollicking, rib-tickling pleasure. The single performance is set for 8 p. m.

Organizations participating, along with each high school class, are Future Farmers, Future Homemakers, Future Teachers, choir, National Honor Society and perhaps others.

Boy Scout's Highest Honor Received By Gary Gregory

Boy Scouting's highest award, the Eagle Scout rank, has been achieved by Gary Gregory, Olton High School senior. The prized Eagle badge was presented in District Court of Honor ceremonies Sunday afternoon in the First Christian Church in Lubbock.

Promotion to the rank of Eagle Scout is based on achievements and progress in the Boy Scout program, outstanding leadership, ability, exceptional high character and other virtues. Its attainment represents the ability to fulfill the highest ideals of scouting.

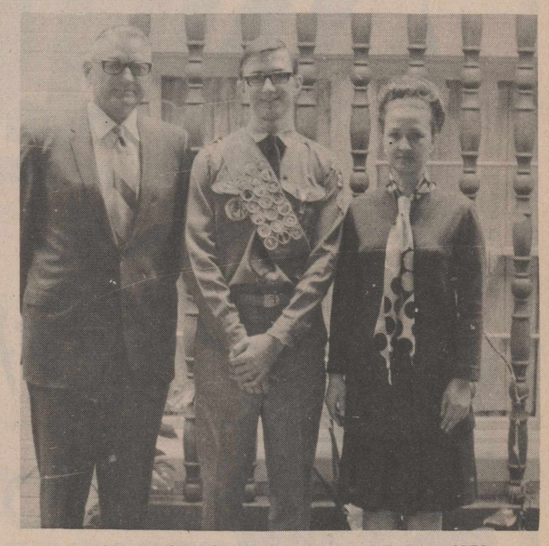

Gregory's career in scouting began with Cub Scouts. He has been a member of the Boy Scouts of America seven years. Active in the activities of Troop 220, he has always shown eager willingness to do even more than was expected as a member.

He has served as Den Chief two years and now that he has achieved the coveted Eagle rank, would like to work as assistant Scoutmaster for his troop.

A member of the Order of the Arrow, Gregory has attended Camps Tres Ritos, Post, Haynes and made the Canadian Wilderness Canoe Trip last year. He has also attended numerous camp outs and participated in the Cookout Camporee held this summer in Olton.

The new Eagle Scout has earned 21 merit badges and has held almost every office. He has served as assistant patrol leader and as Junior Assistant Scoutmaster.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Gregory, Gary's mother had the honor of pinning the prized Eagle Badge. His Scoutmaster, Wayne Cole, was unable to attend the Court of Honor ceremonies Sunday.

EAGLE SCOUT GARY GREGORY AND PARENTS

Nineteen candidates from the South Plains Council received their Eagle badges at the Court of Honor Sunday. Presentation of the awards was by Colonel Clyde Morganti, former commander of Reese Air Force Base and active supporter of the Boy Scouts of America.

Col. Morganti cited examples of three winners of the Congressional Medal of Honor whom he kenw personally. Each of the three honored Americans were Eagle Scouts, Morganti explained.

Discounting "coincidence", Morganti told friends and relatives of the honor Scouts "We train pilots in 53 weeks (now just 48) but character training begins long before that."

He explained that he had noted, through the years, that the easiest pilots to train were the ones who had been in the Boy Scouting program.

Morganti, in his address, told the audience that from a $5 bar of steel, horseshoes could be made and the steel's value would become $10.50. Or, he said, needles could be manufactured from that same amount of steel and the value would be $250. And yet another use can be made of the $5 bar of steel-

Fair For Whom?

Voters should be wary-and vote "no"-whenever any proposition sounds so innocent as proposed Amendment No. 3 on Tuesday's ballot.

The wording on the ballot is such as to appeal to anyone's sense of fair play: "... to provide by law for the establishment of a uniform method of assessment of ranch, farm and forest lands..."

What goes before and after those words, however, has more catches than the old line of "let me show you my etchings."

First, the amendment would "authorize the Legislature" to provide for the "uniform method of assessment." No one knows what the Legislature might provide. There are grounds for fear that a tax ceiling on so-called "farm lands" would be set ridiculously low.

Equal cause for caution is presented the farmer: What the Legislature can do by law can be undone at the next session. A city-dominated Legislature two years or four years from now might set rural tax valuations inordinately high.

The real "clinker" in the proposed amendment, however, is in the wordage that the assessments "shall be based upon the capability of such lands to support the raising of livestock and/or to produce farm and forest crops.

This doesn't really affect the true farmer. A man who derives his principal income from the land already is protected from having his farm over-taxed merely because a city happens to grow out to his land. What the new amendment would do is extend this tax shelter to big companies and land speculators who gobble up land around big cities and hold on to it for long-term gains.

For example, Company X might buy farm land for $300 per acre and hold it for 10 years while a city grows out to it and the acreage becomes worth $1,300 for development. The company realizes a profit of $100 per acre per year but the taxes are not increased.

Enjoying this tax shelter, the company would have no incentive to develop the land. Conceivably, it could hold the property for years while other taxpayers-home owners, for instance-are forced to take up the tax lag. The latter, after all, must pay taxes on the "market value" of their homes, not on the "capability" of their lots to produce crops.

In other words, one class of property owner-the speculator- would get special tax consideration at the expense of everyone else.

That should jar anyone's sense of fair play enough for him to vote "no" on Amendment 3.

Reason It Out

Let us reason together - bring the issue down to its simplest basic point - on proposed constitutional amendment No. 2 appearing on the Nov. 3 general election ballot. It concerns the open saloon or liquor by the drink question confronting the electorate.

When legalized sale of intoxicating beverages returned to Texas after the repeal of national prohibition, the open saloon did not. The amendment which Texans adopted in 1935, repealing state prohibition, authorized the sale of intoxicating beverages but specifically prohibited the open saloon.

That prohibition against the open saloon has represented progress in the effort to control and regulate the availability and use of alcohol in dealing with the myriad and sad problems which drunkenness and alcoholism create.

What the voters of Texas are being asked to do by those who advocate support of the amendment is, in actuality, an effort to liberalize liquor law regulations and increase the availability of intoxicants in a modern version of the old open saloon.

The basic issue thus is narrowed down to whether there should be a liberalization of liquor laws. It is an issue on which each voter can base his decision on reason and rationality and make a logical conclusion.

The move to liberalize liquor laws is in the same boat with that to liberalize curbs on marijuana. It is part and parcel of the same movement to liberalize laws on criminal activities or on pornography.

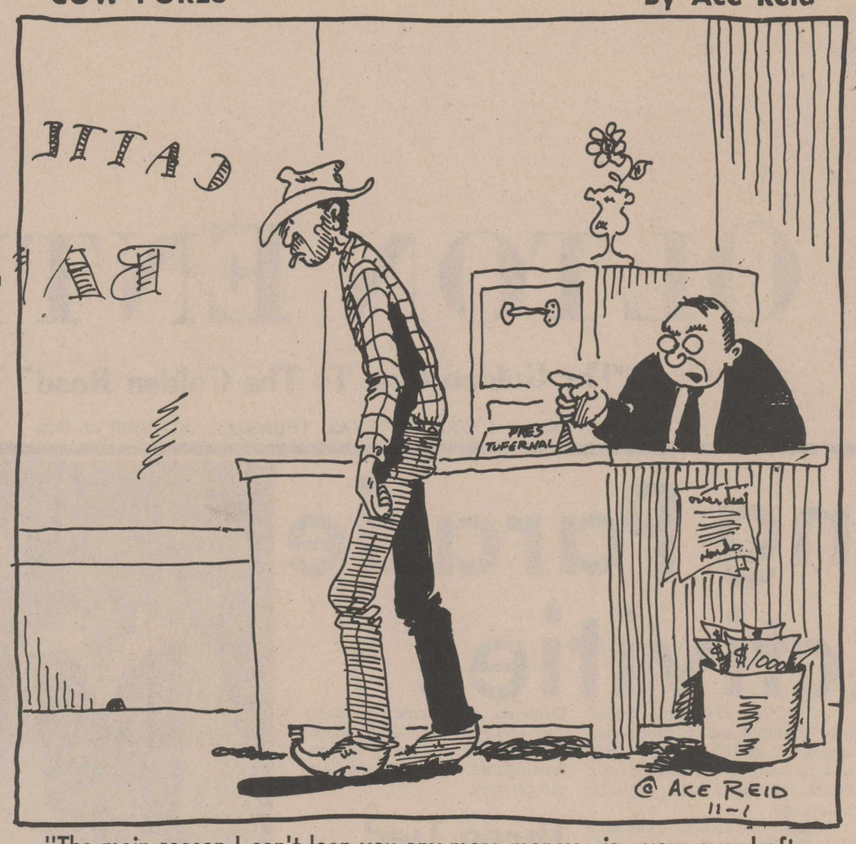

The result of such liberalization could only be to put gears in reverse, to slip backward.

THE TIMES is convinced that reason will lead voters of Wichita County, this area and the state to halt the inroads of liberalization. It will lead them to mark their Nov. 3 ballots one way:

AGAINST "Repeal of the prohibition against open saloons found in Section 20. Article XVI of the Constitution of the State of Texas."

Rebels Without A Cause?

By DAVE LLEWELLYN

"Rebels looking for rebellious causes" — an appropriate description of my generation? Rebels we are in heart, it seems, and causes seem only the byproduct of rebellion.

So it may seem, but it is not so. Rebels raise rebellion, but they cannot raise causes. Causes have purposes to be achieved and goals to be reached; and rebels reject order and achievement.

"Self-determination" is the rebel demand, but the achievement of causes demands submission.

"Without a cause" is the only way rebels come.

Submission Required

From irresponsibility to responsibility, from independence to submission — that is how far the cause-worker is from the rebel.

If there is a cause in operation, whether a long-standing one like the Red Cross or a new creation like the Black Student Union, supporting it is a force of yielded people. They have yielded their personal wills to a higher principle.

Rebellious causes, of course, do exist, but they are not operated by rebels. In relation to the opinions of the world, these people may be rebellious, yet in relation to the purposes of their cause they must be submissive.

To accomplish anything through acting together, they must submit to discipline and be willing to subordinate their own personal plans and desires to the plans and programs of the leader of the cause to which they are committed.

Now that this is clear, I must admit that it is nevertheless true that the majority of my generation are rebels looking for causes. The point is that when they identify with their causes they cease to be rebels. They become, instead, reconstructionists. This remains true, even though the cause may be rebellion itself.

Advocating rebellion is not my purpose. Advocating submission is. The activists of my generation have often been shown as examples of rebellion, but to see them only as such is to miss their remarkable sense of dedicated submission.

Self-Dedication

My cause is Jesus Christ. His organization is the church. The success of His cause requires submission.

The cause of Jesus Christ must not be controlled by rebels. I am not speaking of revolutionaries only. A rebel is anyone who refuses to submit his will to the higher will of Jesus Christ. Again, I am not speaking of submitting to the church itself, but to Jesus Himself.

Spiritually rebellious leaders are making the church a lost cause. We need new submission to Jesus. We need personal declarations to God, like Isaiah's, "Here am I; send me."

Smith-Yandell Vows Pledged In Church Of The Nazarene

Miss Cheryl Lynne Yandell and Daniel R. Smith pledged wedding vows Saturday in the Church of the Nazarene.

Insets of Venice lace enhanced the neckline, bodice and cuffs. Her A-line skirt, with fullness at the back, swept to a chapel length train.

A coif of lace flowers enhanced with seed pearls and sequins held her shoulder length veil of imported illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of feathered white carnations atop a white Bible.

For the traditional "something old", she wore a gold wedding band belonging to her grandmother. Her gown was "new" and she "borrowed" the Bible. She also wore the traditional blue garter.

Homer Worley's Return From California, Hawaii

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Worley returned Tuesday evening from Hawaii and California. They flew to California Oct. 14 and stayed two days with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Mason, Deanne and Curtis Jay, who live in Chatsworth.

They went to Honolulu by 747 Pan American Jet. There they saw the National Cemetery at Punch Bowl Crater and the Monument over the "Arizona" which was sunk during World War II with many members of the armed forces aboard. The Texans viewed Pearl Harbor and the Diamond Head mountain.

They visited Mr. and Mrs. Kazuo Susukii, the parents of a war veteran who was in service with the Worley's son, Paul. Alvin Suzuki and Worley were at Fort Ord California when they were sent to Fort Rucker, Ala.

In Honolulu Mr. and Mrs. Worley toured the Polynesian Cultural Center. There the cultures of six islands are displayed.

They learned that people surf at all hours.

The Worleys went back to Chatsworth for several days. They saw the Hearst San Simeon State Historical Monument which is on a knoll of the Santa Lucia Mountains overlooking the sea. There are 123 acres of gardens, terraces, pools, guest houses and the La Casa Grande which is presently a museum. That building is 137 feet high. It was built of marble by the late William R. Hearst. His father purchased 240,000 acres at 75 cents per acre. His family lived at the foot of the knoll but oftentimes they camped out at the present location of La Casa Grande. The Museum contains pieces of art from all over the world. The ceilings are formed by material brought from ancient castles. The swimming pools are of glass over marble underlaid with gold.

Owens-Walden Wedding Vows Solemnized In Hereford Home

Wedding vows were solemnized Saturday afternoon for Miss Debra Walden and Roger C. Owens. The double ring ceremony was read in an altar setting in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Walden of Hereford.

Coral carnations massed in silver epergne with white tapers marked the nuptial area in a bay window draped with white and beige draperies.

The Rev. Clifford Trotter, pastor of First United Methodist Church, directed the exchange of vows.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Owen of Hereford.

Mrs. Amos Walden, aunt of the bride, presented nuptial selections and accompanied Miss Sherry White as she sang "Twelfth of Never" and "Theme from Romeo and Juliet".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of white tiffany worsted designed by the bride and her mother. Fashioned with princess lines, the skirt was subtly flared. The high circlet neckline was slashed to the top with self-covered buttons extending down the front. Seed pearls adorned the cuffs of the lace bishop sleeves.

Her three-tiered fingertip veil, sprinkled with lace flower appliques, was gathered to a coif of organza seed pearls.

She carried a nosegay of roses and baby breath tied with white satin streamers. For "something old" she wore a strand of pearls belonging to her great-aunt, Mrs. Mary Knight.

Miss Becky Bell was maid of honor. Bridesmaid was Miss Daun Hopson. They wore formal length dresses of coral tiffany fashioned with A-line silhouettes white wide-brimmed hats with coral ribbon draping over the shoulder. They carried coral carnations with matching streamers.

A reception was held following the ceremony. Guests were registered by Miss Renee Walden, sister of the bride.

The bride's table was laid with a white cutwork linen cloth brought from Switzerland by the bridegroom's great-aunt, Miss Dellas Stagner. The two-tiered cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, was decorated in sweetpeas in shades of coral.

Presiding at the bride's table were Miss Joette Hanna, student at Texas Women's University, and Miss Kelly Barber, student at Amarillo College. Assisting were Mmes. Clifford Trotter, Phillip Cotton of Oklahoma City and Danny Smith.

For a wedding trip to Fort Worth and Dallas, the bride chose a three-piece brown wool suit with brown snakeskin accessories. She added a white rose corsage lifted from the bridal bouquet.

The bride is a 1969 graduate of Hereford High School but attended Olton schools for a number of years. She attended McMurry College and has been employed in the office of Dr. Ronald Zimmerman.

Owens is a graduate of Hereford High School and holds a BBA degree from the University of Texas. He is general manager of Excel.

The couple are at home at 3117 South Seminole Street in Amarillo.

Relatives attending from Olton were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. E. W. Walden, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Walden and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Amos Walden. The bride's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Sides of Littlefield also attended.

MRS. ROGER C. OWENS

GEORGE BUSH DOESN'T BELIEVE IN HIDING BEHIND A PARTY LABEL.

HE BELIEVES IN TELLING YOU EXACTLY WHERE HE STANDS ON THE ISSUES.

HERE'S WHERE HE STANDS ON AGRICULTURE AND RURAL DEVELOPMENT.

"History has proven that no country is strong unless its farm economy is healthy. During the voting on the 1970 Farm bill, I voted against the proposed $20,000 limitation on farm subsidies. Without a drastic revision of our Agricultural legislation, I believe such limitations will cause more problems than they will solve. We also need to develop attractive opportunities for young people in rural areas. This is why, for the past two years, I have fought for passage of the Rural Job Development Act. It provides tax incentives for industries locating in rural areas.

I do not pretend to know all the answers to the problem of building a sound rural economy. But, I do know this — economic stability for rural America is vital to this nation."

PATTI AND LISA BRIMHALL

Cook Of The Week

Favorite recipes are shared this week by two young sisters who share many of the same likes. Patti and Lisa Brimhall are the daughters of Dr. and Mrs. Van Brimhall.

The Brimhall family has lived at Olton just a little more than a year, moving here from Roswell, N. M., when Dr. Brimhall became associated with Olton Feedyards. Both girls, however, were born in California.

Patti, a sophomore at OHS, began cooking when she was a Brownie Scout and the recipe for brownies, which she shares, is the one she first used, making refreshments for her troop. She now considers them her "specialty".

Reading is Patti's favorite pastime. She loves to sing and is a member of the OHS choir and the choir at her church, the First United Methodist.

Before moving to Olton, she was active in 4-H and won numerous ribbons in cooking and sewing. She especially enjoys crocheting and embroidering.

Patti's favorite subject is math and she particularly likes geometry and algebra.

Lisa is also a math fan. She likes everything about school but considers math "fun". Her next favorite subject is history.

A fifth grader, Lisa loves animals - especially horses. Her favorite pastime is riding or caring for their horse, Although the family has more than two horses, Lisa considers "Peanuts" and "Nancy" very special.

In addition to the horses, the family has a large yellow and white cat named "Thomas" but nicknamed, by Lisa, "Precious".

Lisa has already decided what she wants for her future - she plans to be a veterinarian just like her dad.

Warm, Fresh Air

. . . direct from the manufacturer

Natural gas is the healthiest, most economical way to heat your house this winter. Gas is economical because it's the direct way to produce heat — you don't pay to convert heat to another energy source and then back to heat. And with gas you can afford to bring clean outside air into your home this winter instead of having to re-heat the same old stale air time after time.

So, if you're building or remodeling, be sure to specify gas heating. Gas is the "natural" fuel. It's like buying direct from the manufacturer. Call your heating contractor, plumber, or Pioneer Natural Gas.

Research Group Seeks Control Of Addiction

Your doctor now has available a way to conquer completely heroin addiction. This announcement was made today by Doctor Paul Williamson of Practice Research, Inc.

"First, we put the patient on methadone which might be described as a milder narcotic," Doctor Williamson said. "When an addict takes methadone, he can hold a job or go to school. This is impossible on heroin. In six months to a year, after he establishes a normal life, we then use electrosleep to take him off methadone.

"Electrosleep has been used for as much as ten years in Germany to fight addictions," the doctor said. "It is now being manufactured in Texas, in New York and will shortly be manufactured in Nebraska. The Russians have had a similar technique for twenty years and the Japanese for about eight.

"We have the means, but we haven't the people," Doctor Williamson said. "It is the function of Practice Research to tell the people and the doctors what now can be done. We cooperate in any way possible with all existing anti-heroin programs. Our work is funded by foundations.

"For example, in Fort Worth, there is an entirely private program run by Doctor P. J. Carter. He has had great success with many addicts. Our job is to inform the people and to do anything within our power to assist Doctor Carter."

Whirlwinds Blow Away Mustangs' Hopes

Olton's Mustangs were outmuscled by the Floydada Whirlwinds 28 to 7 Friday night.

Floydada played their typical game of using the big plays for the victory. They intercepted three passes for the night and returned one punt for a TD late in the second quarter of play.

Floydada intercepted an Olton pass on the third play of the game to take control of the ball at the Olton 34. On second down Van Mitchell got to the Olton 22 for a first down.

Selman gained two yards to the 20 on first down and was stopped for no gain on second down. Two passes fell incomplete and Olton had stopped the Mean Green at the Olton 20 to take over the ball on downs.

Olton tried the ground route this time and came up four yards short on fourth down. With the Mustangs needing four for the first down Steve Stockdale punted to the Whirlwind 33.

Floydada marched up field getting two first downs and moving to the Mustang 25 before losing the ball over to Olton on downs.

Once more Olton was unable to gain a first down, having to punt to Floydada. Only this time the Mustang defense held the Whirlwinds, forcing them to punt the ball back to Olton on fourth down. Gary Durham made two great tackles in the Whirlwind backfield on that series of plays. Durham was the defensive player of the game for his efforts Friday night.

The game was a total standoff for the first 15 minutes of play with neither team able to score. Walter Harris scored for the Whirlwinds with nine minutes left in the second quarter of play. Floydada used an intercepted pass to set up the score as Steve Puckett had grabbed one out of mid air and returned it to the Mustang 39.

After the kickoff which Luis Rey returned 24 yards to the Olton 29, Olton was unable to move the ball again. Stockdale punted again on fourth down to the Floydada 34.

On second down Hale passed to end Steve Puckett and aided with a face mask penalty the ball was placed at the Olton 16. Mitchell got 7 yards to the 9 and on second down Harris scored. Extra point try failed and the Whirlwinds had a 13-0 lead.

Luis Rey returned the kickoff 21 yards to the Olton 32. Workman got five yards to the 37. Stockdale passed to Parsons for a first down at the Mustang 49.

On first down, Springer caught a pass at the Floydada 47 good for 4 yards. But the Whirlwinds stiffened and forced Olton to punt on fourth down. Stockdale punted into the end zone with the ball being put in play on the Floydada 20.

On first down Mitchell broke up the middle to the 37 and a red flag moved it to the Olton 47. But the tough Olton defense led by Durham, Key, and Arroyos stopped the drive on the Olton 43. Floydada punted to the Olton 2 with 1:59 remaining in the second quarter of play.

Olton had their back to the wall from the two and moved it out to the seven before punting on third down. Workman punted from deep in the Olton end zone with the Floydada defense trying to block the kick.

Puckett received the kick on the Olton 48, broke one tackle and squirreled his way down the sideline out-running the last Olton defenders for the TD. Harris ran the extra points try to make it 21-0 at halftime.

Olton kicked off to Floydada to start the third period of play and stopped them on the Olton 31. Taking over after Floydada lost on a fourth down and three situation was no good.

On second down Luis Rey broke up the middle for 9 yards to the 40. Stockdale kept on the next play good for the first down at the 43.

Next he passed to Emily Marquez at the Floydada 24 for another first down. On first down Stockdale went to the air again this time to Parsons for a first down at the Whirlwind 12.

Workman got three yards to the nine. Stockdale passed to his left end Alonzo Springer for the TD. Extra point kick was good to give Olton 7 points, making it 21-7.

Rick Briggs intercepted his second pass of the night on the next to last play of the third quarter to set up the final Whirlwind score of the night at the Olton 28. Nine plays later Harris scored for the Winds from the Olton 1 foot line. Kick was good and Floydada had the lead 28-7.

Later in the fourth quarter Olton punted to the Floydada 7 and a penalty moved the ball back to the 4. Floydada chose to punt to Olton on second down.

Both teams moved up and down the field for the remainder of the game with each other unable to score on the other.

Playing outstanding defense for Olton was Gary Kelley and Emily Marquez who both made several great tackles during the night.

Steve Stockdale was named the game's offensive player of the week for the Mustangs. "Bull" Durham was the defensive player of the week for the Mustangs.

VOTE YOUR CONVICTION

The Olton teachers and administration urge all voters to carefully study Amendment 3 to the Texas Constitution that will be on the November 3 General Election Ballot.

Since this is controversial it is suggested that you read your papers for stories and editorials and compare with the conclusions reached by our Texas State Teachers Association Legislative Committee.

(Summary)

Amendment 3 is one of numerous proposals to amend the Texas Constitution which will be on the November 3 general election ballot.

This amendment would permit tax assessment of ranch, farm, and forest lands "based upon the capability of such lands to support the raising of livestock and/or to produce farm and forest crops."

* This could almost destroy the tax base of many school districts.

* It would drastically alter the present principle of taxation based on market value.

*Special treatment would be given one group of taxpayers, and the door would be open to other exceptions.

* Those whose land is producing, and those who own homes and businesses, would have to pay higher taxes to make up for revenue lost under this amendment.

* Amendment 3 would not be good for education or for the citizens of Texas.

* Since our area is a high production area, it is believed that our better farmland would be taxed on higher values.

THE MAJORITY OF THE OLTON TEACHERS ARE OPPOSED TO AMENDMENT 3.

Here's a watertight statement about Vanguard's rubber gasket joint.

It won't leak

The idea of using a rubber gasket joint in Vanguard PVC plastic pipe was revolutionary. It meant no more bands or solvents. Easier, faster, trouble-free installation. But that was just a beginning.

Next we put the pressure on. We hydrostatically tested it. We put it through all sorts of temperature tests. We twisted it and turned it. Then we field tested it. We gave it more punishment than you or those inevitable ground shifts could ever hope to.

Just as we anticipated—the rubber gasket held.

So, whatever your needs for plastic pipe, Vanguard is it. Bend it any way you want. We'll make a watertight statement about Vanguard's rubber gasket. It won't leak.

Just be reasonable.

Vanguard is available in ½ to 15-inch diameters.

SCOUT NEWS

Four workers with the Cub Scout program in Olton attended a Pow Wow Saturday in Lubbock. Those attending were Claude Burnett, Cubmaster and Mmes. Floyd Prentice, Alfred Allen and Travis Walters.

Scout workers heard Bobby Rountree make a plea for scouting materials for the State School in Lubbock. The school needs uniforms, handbooks and any other material pertaining to the Cub Scout program.

Persons who have such items that they will donate to the School may bring them to Burnett.

AUTO THEFT

"Auto theft is as disheartening to insurance underwriters who pay for so many stolen cars as it is to those who lose them," states an officer of the Independent Insurance Agents Association of California. "In 1964, one out of every 153 cars was stolen; but in 1968, one out of every 107 cars was stolen, according to U. S. government figures. The auto theft problem is another factor which causes automobile insurance rates to rise."

Vocational Guidance Week Proclaimed, CVAE Girls Study Household Tasks

Vocational Guidance Week has been proclaimed for the first time, statewide, this year. Governor Preston Smith, proclaims Oct. 25-31 as the special week.

Some 2,300 counselors, including 167 vocational guidance specialists who work with students and adults, are helping young Texans find their way into the right technical schools, colleges or jobs, according to John R. Guemple, Texas Education Agency associate commissioner for occupational education and technology.

According to the U. S. Department of Labor, 80 out of every 100 workers in 1975 will need some job preparation - but not a college or university degree.

Today, according to figures compiled by the Agency, potential job seekers face a startling maze of 23,000 choices - from the professions to the semi-skilled trades. There is, in other words, something for everyone.

The problem for the student, the adult, or the brand new dropout is evident: how to find the right "something."

Recognition is given this week to the CVAE (Co-ordinated Vocational Academic Education) program for girls.

Mrs. Maretta Baumgardner has been teaching seventh and eighth grade girls a two-hour course on fundamental household tasks this semester.

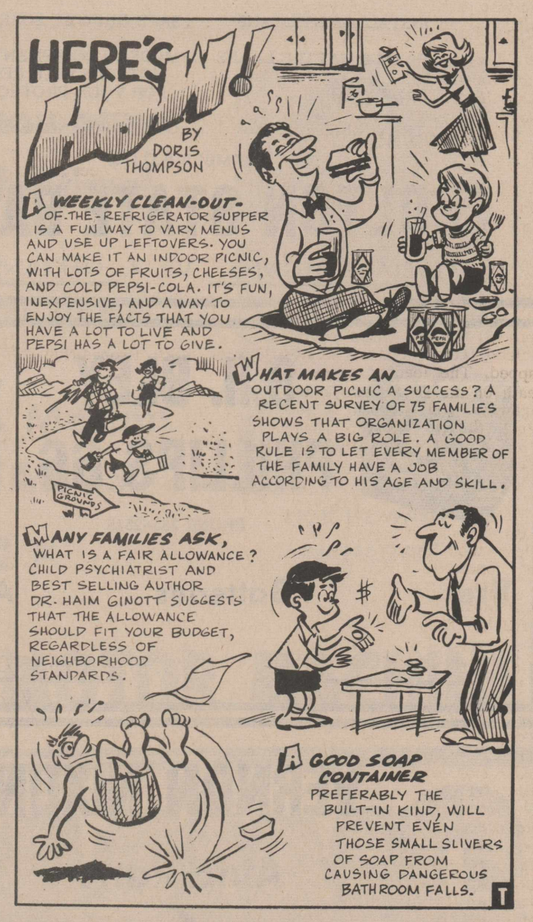

Already the students have studied child care and help each day with the kindergarten class at H. P. Webb Elementary School. Each student works with one or two youngsters and thus learns basic lessons in caring for children.

They also made scrapbooks illustrating numbers for the kindergarten students.

The course also includes an introduction into preparing foods for children as well as elderly people. The basic information each girl receives would benefit her considerably should she become a drop-out. Mrs. Baumgardner, however, has high expectations for her girls in the CVAE class and feels they will not become drop-outs.

Next semester, the class will learn fundamentals in sewing, although they have already made aprons during this semester.

The class includes Magdalene Cortez, Lita Marroquin Carmen Amaya, Maria Apodaca, Emily Talamantez Susie Sanders, Geneva Standifer, Janie Douglas, Irene Tinner, Rumalda Gonzales, Rosemary Morales, Vickie Cantu Mary Ann Fonseca, Rosa Martinez, Lupe Carrasco and Mary Lou Garcia.

Why Preston Smith ?

Preston Smith believes in working hard. For you. And that's why he's doing such a good job as Governor of Texas.

When Preston Smith entered public service, he didn't start by asking Texans to elect him Governor. That would have been foolish, because being Governor carries great responsibilities. And it demands the clear, steady judgement that comes only from experience.

Preston Smith had the good common sense to work his way up—gaining insight into how our state government functions.

He served six years each—as State Representative . . . as State Senator . . . and as Lieutenant Governor. Only then, when he felt fully qualified, did he seek the Office of Governor.

Now, after two years he has expanded the duties of the Governor's Office to better serve all the people of our State.

Yes, Preston Smith believes in hard work. For 20 years, he's been working for Texas—doing a good job. You can help keep him as Governor. Vote. Vote for Preston Smith on Tuesday, Nov. 3.

Preston Smith

is doing a good job. Let's keep him working for Texas.

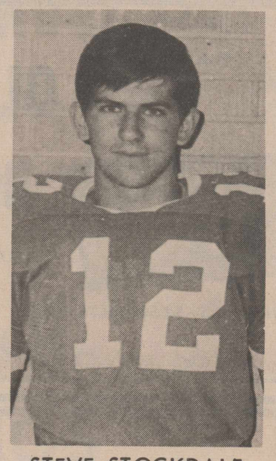

(POL. ADV.—Paid for by the Committee for the Re-Election of Preston Smith, Mickey Smith, Chairman.)

"Googol" is a word coined by Dr. Edward Kasner, mathematician, to designate a number composed of the digit 1 followed by 100 zeros. It has been estimated that the number of raindrops falling on the city of Chicago in an entire century wouldn't add up to one googol.

Athletes Say Vote 'No' To Liquor By The Drink

Don Maynard and Randy Matson today joined other outstanding Texas athletes, Bill Glass, Lindy McDaniel, Coach Jim Carlen, Texas Tech football coach, and Coach Grant Teaff, Angelo State College -- in opposing Proposition 2, liquor by the drink. Matson, shot put great, now coaches at West Texas State University. Glass is a former all - pro End for the Cleveland Browns, and Mc Daniel is a New York Yankee Pitcher.

"If a person went to a funeral once a week caused by a drunk driver, he would wake up. I hope everyone in Texas who can vote will vote against Proposition 2 on Nov. 3. I wish I were in Texas now to lecture on it," said Don Maynard, Wide Receiver of the 1968 World Champion New York Jets in a recent telephone call from him at Shea Stadium, New York, N. Y.

"The world was concerned about three guys getting back from the moon, Yet thousands are getting killed on the highways: over 50,000 in 1969 alone for the U. S. I'm not interested in the moon. I'd rather take care of 50,000 in my own country. And this figure doesn't include the injured or handicapped. The leading cause of death on the Expressways and highways and streets is the drunk driver. About 50 percent of traffic fatalities are caused by people who were drinking," Maynard pointed out.

"A lot of people don't complain about anything unless it affects them directly. They are not concerned about a killer or rapist until it involves them or someone close to them directly. They don't think it could happen to them. You have to hit some people pretty deep to get them to wake up.

"People shouldn't expect anything more of their children than they are doing themselves," Maynard continued. "The kids say: Do it now. Instant gratification. Don't worry about tomorrow or the consequences. If people indicate they aren't worried with the social conseuences caused by open bars--the increased traffic fatalities and crime-- can we blame the youth if they call us hypocritical?

"Let's compare it to deer hunting. Even the hunter will admit the necessity for restrictions on his sport. Does he say: "Let them kill off all the deer like the buffalo, etc.' No regulations amounts to anarchy.

"Parents who are concerned with teenagers and the mounting drug problem should consider this election in a serious manner," Maynard warned. "People are angered about statistics with the war in Viet Nam--yet teen-agers are dying from drug abuse and drinking drivers are slaughtering thousands at home, but nobody's concerned," the football hero charged. "I believe in prevention and doing something for the living. I don't send flowers when someone's dead," Maynard said in the interview from N. Y.

It's tough to be a teen today, and I hope our teens have one less pressure put on them--that of having the embarrassment of having to make a decision regarding how to get rid of a cocktail hostess hovering over you as you try to eat your pizza, pushing for you to buy another drink. I have lived in cities where liquor by the drink was served. Seldom if ever do they ask them for identification.

If people want to drink in the privacy of their homes or clubs, that's one thing. But I'd hate to see every pizza parlor, tea room, and barbecue stand be pushing mixed drinks on the kids.

If you don't think that can happen, you haven't visited New York or Chicago lately.

"A little bit extra makes the difference if you win or lose, not only in sports, but also in the game of life. I hope Texans block Proposition 2."

Soybean Producers Vote Assessment For Research

Soybean producers in 23 Texas counties have joined the growing list of agriculture producers who have voted to assess themselves for funds for research and market development of their products, Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has announced.

In recent voting, 86 per cent of farmers voting in the 23 counties approved a self assessment of a half cent per bushel for research in and promotion of soybeans, the Commissioner said.

Of the 288 votes cast, 244 favored the assessment, 40 voted against and four votes were declared invalid.

Nine producers were also elected on the same ballot to a board charged with administration of the new program. Those elected are Raymond L. Tidwell of DeKalb (Bowie County); W. A. Mabry of Petersburg (Hale County); Wesley A. Schumacher of Plainview (Hale County); E. O. Feagley of Littlefield (Lamb County); Clarence R. Mason of Muleshoe (Bailey County); Carl Pate of Kress (Swisher County); Royal D. Burnside Jr. of Baytown (Harris County); R. G. Dunlap of Floydada (Floyd County); and Loyd Goldston of Petersburg (Hale County).

The Texas Soybean Association, of which W. B. Tilson of Plainview is president, was authorized to hold the referendum after a public hearing before Commissioner White.

Producers of peanuts, grain sorghums and turkeys earlier had voted similar funds for research and promotion of their products.

Everything But The Kitchen Sink

BY MOZELLE TROTTER

Bits and pieces - that's what this week's offering amounts to. 'Bout as trivial, too, I fear.

'Snitching a few minutes off from what I shoulda been doing, I looked over some of our exchange papers earlier this week and came up with all sorts of goodies - things to clip, ideas to copy and entertainment.

Noticed in one of the papers, a short feature article about a couple and their bottle collection. You know, bottles are becoming quite a thing. Old ones and NEW ones. A number of Avon bottles are reported to be worth $15. Pretty good considering we used to think empty bottles were just trash.

(Do you suppose this increase in bottle value could affect the enormous amount of trash we Americans are piling up to de-beautify our country? We may start saving our trash and throwing away "valuables".

Anyway, for some time I'd heard how "this bottle" was going to be "worth something" and I succumbed to the fever. I've been hoarding Avon after shave - if it should happen to be rationed, I'd be rich!

I've got bottles made like cars and bottles in all sorts of shapes. They may not be worth a nickle - and probably won't now that I have them - but I like them.

'Nother subject.

Everyone knows that prices have gone up, up, up. Did you know that the price of "us" has gone up, too?

According to this little item I read, chemicals in the human body 30 years ago were worth a "commercial value of 98 cents.

Today, the same authorities say, the same chemicals are worth $800. Now how about that?

Didn't know you'd increased in value that much, did you? And if you've added a few extra ounces - why that just makes you that much more valuable!

I got a lot more valuable information, reading those exchanges, but I'd better not exhaust my supply in one telling.

FUTURE CITIZENS

More than three-fourths of the world's 1.2 billion children live in the developing nations. UNICEF aid helps protect these children from malnutrition and disease and prepares them for future citizenship.

SKIDS ARE DEADLY

Skidding accidents cause 10,000 deaths yearly. Knowing how to control a skid can be a life saver, adds Liberty Mutual Insurance Companies. Never jam on the brakes or step down on the accelerator. The most effective ways of regaining control are steering in the direction of the skid and stabbing the brakes.

BETTER MEDICAL CARE

In the developing nations, nearly half the population are under 15 years of age. Approximately three-quarters of the world's children live in areas where the average income is less than $500 a year. The United Nations Children's Fund helps provide better food and medical care for these youngsters.

POLLUTED WATER

One hospital bed out of four in the world is occupied by a patient disabled by polluted water. Providing safe water is one of UNICEF's programs.

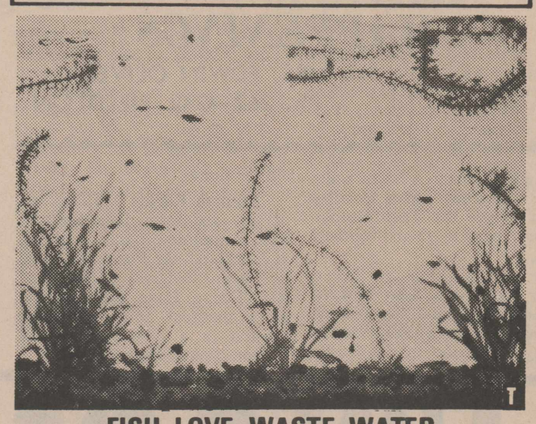

LEPROSY VICTIMS

There are an estimated 11 million victims of leprosy in the world. For 65¢, UNICEF provides enough sulfone tablets to treat one of them successfully for three years.

THREE NEW BABIES

Every time your pulse beats, three new babies are born into the world. Only one of these is delivered by a trained attendant. UNICEF helps by training and equipping more midwives in the developing countries.

FISH LOVE WASTE WATER

Whether you spell the word "efficiency" or e-fish-ency, a major oil company's plant cleans up waste water so well that these fish thrive in it.

Thanks to modern purification processing, water drawn from Puget Sound and used for cooling at Texaco's nearby refinery is returned to the Sound in better condition.

LESTER'S CLEANERS

SENSING THE NEWS

By Anthony Harrigan
EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT
Southern States Industrial Council

On the Cumberland Plateau, Tennessee--In this region of flat-topped mountains and V-shaped valleys, the traveler discovers anew the magnificent land that lured early settlers from the eastern seaboard. It is a refreshing land, not only in terms of climate but intellectually.

Nowadays, the headlines tell of urban and environmental "crises." The public is bombarded with messages concerning the population "explosion." The beautiful open lands of eastern and middle Tennessee are a reminder that much of America is still unspoiled and uncrowded. Any American who truly longs for natural beauty and privacy can find it in these hills and valleys. This Tennessee region constitutes a rebuke to those Americans who downgrade their country and describe it solely in terms of ugliness and confusion.

No doubt people today need constant reminders that the crowded metropolis of the Northeast isn't the sum total of America. The strife-ridden big city is a real and disturbing part of the national scene, but not the only part. In many other regions there is a harmony between God's and man's handiwork, between the physical environment and the way of life of the people. An automobile journey through the Tennessee countryside results in clearer perspective on the realities of the republic. A stable existence persists to a much greater degree than a reading of LIFE and LOOK would suggest.

The distorted view of American realities stems in large measure from the fact that the networks and magazines are published in metropolitan centers where the breakdown of sound values is most pronounced and where the fads of a small segment of the population are regarded as the wave of the future for all elements in the country.

Though the networks and slick magazines are powerful instruments for projecting the values of the confused few to the country at large, they are not capable of absolutely transforming the national character and outlook. Regional accents and viewpoints prevail. The American people -- in Tennessee and elsehwere -- are wise enough to know that a picture on the TV tube cannot encompass or fully represent the reality of America or the world.

In the 1920's and 1930's a group of scholar-writers at Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tenn., dubbed themselves the "Agrarians." They counseled people in their region to return to the land and traditional values. Ironically, this state -- the home of the "Agrarians" -- became the founding place of the atomic age. At Oak Ridge, west of Knoxville, began mankind's march into the atomic age. But the land around Oak Ridge is almost as unspoiled as it was in 1796 when Tennessee became the 16th state in the Union. Atomic energy has not cancelled the validity of the independent spirit that always has characterized this state.

Neither Tennessee nor any state of the Union will return to a wholly "agrarian" way of life. But the emphasis of the literary "Agrarians" on an ordered mode of life was not futile. Many people in this country, while desiring a strong industrial economy, are aware of the need for balance in their communities and personal lives. They still admire the self-reliance of the pioneers and regard this quality as essential to a modern people. They have kept their faith in America and its promises.

At a time when one hears incessant criticism of the United States and its way of life, it is important to bear in mind that America the beautiful still exists and that the vast majority of its people still uphold American principles and traditions.

Texas Seeks Better Meat Products, Adds Training School For Inspectors

Texans have a right to be proud of their meat and poultry industries, and they also can show deserved pride in activities of the Veterinary Public Health Division of the Texas State Department of Health which is charged with inspection of meat and poultry processing operations.

Slightly more than a year ago, the State Health Department opened a school at Yoakum to train meat inspectors, a decision made mandatory by a new Texas Meat and Poultry Act. Faced with the choice of letting the federal government take over all inspection or providing adequate state inspection, the Texas Legislature decided in favor of state controls. The federal government still inspects all red meat and poultry processed for interstate (across state lines) shipments.

Since its inception the new Veterinary Meat Inspection School has turned out just over 400 trained meat inspectors. Four hundred and 23 persons are employed in the meat inspection program. A total of 789 slaughterhouse and processing plants are under state inspection.

The amount of red meat and poultry inspected is staggering. For a 10-month period ending June 30, more than 324 million pounds of red meat--beef and pork--came under the critical eyes of Health Department inspectors. In addition, 63 1/2 million pounds of poultry were inspected.

"Objective of the program is better products for all Texans," said A. B. Rich, D. V. M., director of the Division of Veterinary Public Health, "and inspection is essential to make certain that only wholesome meat and meat products reach the tables of consumers." The program also will upgrade the meat industry and encourage it to provide better products, said Dr. Rich.

Cooperation between federal and state meat inspectors has been good, and a new federal registration becomes effective December 1 with a registration deadline of March 1, 1971. The new regulation affects such allied, interstate operations as meat brokers, meat wholesalers and warehousemen. Knowing the identity of each of these operators is important to members of the Compliance and Evaluation Staff of the United States Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service. While the inspectors in the state and federal plants are the first line of defense against unfit meat and poultry, the Compliance and Evaluation Staffs are the federal and state governments' second line of defense.

Some meats are processed for non-human food purposes. These meats are used from animals which died other than by slaughter or were suspect animals before death. Since this meat has the potential for being diverted from its intended non-human food use, the new registration will help in tracing all meat and protect wholesomeness of meat which you eat.

Safety Association Tells 12 Hunting Precautions

"Hunting season every year brings needless tragedy to Texas, and in almost every incident carelessness is the culprit," the President of the Texas Safety Association said today.

George Wm. Perry, a Dallas attorney who heads the statewide safety group, urged Texas hunters to learn and use the basic rules of weapons handling and hunting safety.

"Last year 24 persons died as a result of hunting accidents in this state," said Perry. The TSA leader pointed to hunting accident records which showed there were 92 separate accidents involving 142 persons.

"The tragedy is that these accidents just do not have to occur. Sixty-nine of the people involved in the hunting accidents last year were under 21 years of age. Forty of those involved were 16 years old or younger," Perry noted.

He said that this was clear-cut evidence that many people are hunting before they have been given proper instruction in safe hunting practices.

"Parents need to make sure their youngsters understand the rules of safe hunting and make sure the youngsters obey them," Perry urged.

There are twelve basic rules for safe gun handling, according to the Texas Safety Association.

1. Treat every gun as if it were loaded, never take anyone's word that a gun is empty.
2. Always point the gun muzzle in a safe direction, never aim at anything you don't intend to shoot.
3. Be sure of your target, never shoot at unidentified noises, wait until the whole animal or bird is visible.
4. Know the correct way to carry your gun, under your arm, on your shoulder, cradled in your arms, and in both hands.
5. Keep the safety on or the chamber unloaded until ready to fire and keep your finger out of the trigger guard.
6. Check bore frequently -- through the breech end -- to be sure it is clear of foreign objects.
7. Agree beforehand on the area each hunter will cover.
8. Be sure the action is open when handing a gun to another person, or stopping to eat, talk or rest.
9. Transport unloaded guns in cases for their protection and keep them out of sight to prevent theft.
10. When hunting in a group no hunter should carry a gun so that it even points at another person.
11. Unload gun before crossing fences and pass the gun under first.
12. Correct unsafe gun handling whenever you see it by explaining and demonstrating the right way to handle a firearm.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Radar Vs. Motorist

Citizen Haines, given a ticket for speeding, determined to fight his case in court. At the hearing, officers relied on radar evidence to prove the charge against him. According to radar, Haines had indeed been travelling well over the speed limit.

But the police overlooked one thing. They failed to produce evidence that their radar equipment was in good working order on the day Haines was arrested. Result: he won an acquittal.

This case illustrates how the law, while accepting the benefits of technical progress, is also concerned with fair play for the individual. Almost everywhere, in traffic cases, courts will insist on evidence that the radar equipment was working properly when it was put to use.

Today it is standard practice for such equipment to be checked regularly. Usually this is done by tuning forks or by clocked road tests. Even so, some motorists, still not convinced, have challenged the entire principle of radar, calling it too experimental to be trusted in the courtroom.

In an earlier day, the law too was skeptical about radar as a scientific principle. But now that skepticism has largely disappeared. As one judge put it:

"X-rays, electrocardiograms, time by watches, identity by fingerprinting, and ballistic evidence are freely accepted in our courts for their general reliability, without the necessity of expert testimony as to the scientific principles underlying them. The use of radar for speed detection may now be said to fall in this category."

In one case an arrested motorist, flagged down by radar, tried a different tack. He claimed he was the victim of an illegal "speed trap." But the evidence showed:

1) that the vehicle containing the radar equipment was plainly marked as a police car; and

2) that the officers manning it were dressed in their regular uniforms.

Unable to see any "trap" in this situation, the court ordered the motorist to pay his fine. The judge felt that a speeder could not complain merely because the police had found a new and better way to catch him.

VOTE AGAINST
LIQUOR BY THE DRINK

FICTION - Liquor-by-the-drink will make for temperance.

FACT - With the Texas Restaurant Association actively supporting a return to open saloons, (they have probably contributed $500,000 to the campaign) do you suppose they intend to sell LESS liquor?

FICTION - Liquor-by-the-drink tax income will be significant.

FACT - Some new tax money would come in. Any increases however great must be weighed against increased:

* law enforcement costs * welfare payments
* family and child care for deserted, deprived children
* loss to industry through absenteeism, poor productivity and accidents
* institutional care for criminals, alcoholics, injured, insane
* loss of tax dollars from non-productive alcoholics

FICTION - Liquor-by-the-drink legalized would aid enforcement.

FACT - When the Alcoholic Beverage Commission acknowledges its inability to police adequately 1,300 clubs, how can we expect liquor law enforcement in thousands of bars, lounges and restaurants?

FICTION- The churches are trying to enforce their Morality.

FACT- Of all men, churchmen know that morality cannot be enforced. Think! Churchmen did not push for this vote. They have no vested interest. They have nothing to gain. They oppose liquor-by-the-drink because they care about people.

FICTION - The overwhelming majority of Texas citizens violate liquor laws.

FACT - This is pure speculation. A sizeable minority do not drink at all. Many more are law abiding citizens.

FICTION - The return to open saloons will NOT increase availability.

FACT - According to Shannon Jones, TELL "expects to cooperate with business leader in various areas of the state to aid in the success of local option elections." Every statistic of the Distilled Spirits Industry indicates an amazing increase in outlets with liquor-by-the-drink.

BARS ARE GOOD FOR:

*profits for those who operate them
*more business for repair shops because of the wrecked cars *more business for hospitals and doctors

THE ONE GROUP THAT SURELY WILL PROFIT FROM LIQUOR-BY-THE-DRINK:

*the firms that make the liquor

- Businessmen in the liquor industry are investing heavily to legalize liquor-by-the-drink. They are not doing this to sell less liquor and make less money! Do Texans want a few to profit from the misery of many?

Tomorrow's Vehicles Must Be Changed If Traffic Crashes Are To Be Reduced

"If the cost of traffic crashes is to be reduced, then certainly, tomorrow's vehicles must be engineered to survive without major damage in a front or rear impact of ten miles per hour," said a top Texas safety official.

Lloyd F. Palmer, General Manager, Texas Safety Association, made the comments before the Annual Membership Program of the Private Truck Operators Association of Texas.

Palmer, discussing the many factors involved in traffic crashes, said the Texas accident menace needed to be attacked on two broad fronts.

He explained that to deal with the problem, most crashes must be prevented from occurring and the cost of collisions which do occur must be reduced.

"A recent study," said Palmer, "has shown that today's automobiles cannot withstand a five mile per hour impact on their bumpers without a great deal of damage."

Conducted by the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety, the study showed damage to standard American sedans in front-end collisions at five miles per hour ranged from $171.30 to $309.25. At ten miles per hour damage ranged from $459.05 to $615.75.

"Surely companies that today are producing such outstanding vehicles can engineer their cars so that a minor impact will not result in a major repair bill. When they do this, they will help push down the accident costs that all of us are paying," commented the safety executive.

Palmer also discussed emergency medical care. He said that prompt emergency medical care can spell the difference between a fatal and a non-fatal traffic crash. The safety leader said delayed or improper handling of traffic crash victims can magnify injuries and run up the costs of collisions.

He related several experiences where traffic crash victims were not provided with quality emergency care and discussed civic action programs being undertaken to improve such care in areas of West Texas.

Palmer said that concerned citizens in two West Texas towns, in order to assure quality emergency care in their areas, formed volunteer ambulance corps, bought their own ambulances, got training from the State Health Department, and are now making lifesaving runs regularly.

In another location in West Texas, the operator of a private ambulance firm could not afford to have both attendants and drivers. Palmer said that citizens in that area formed a volunteer attendants corps, received training in emergency treatment, and now an attendant goes on every run.

"We need better emergency medical services in our state and there is no valid reason why we cannot have it," Palmer said.

The TSA official also outlined specific proposals for traffic accident prevention measures and pointed out that recent studies indicate that problem drinkers, chronic alcoholics, may be involved in a majority of all fatal traffic crashes.

"Yet this same group probably makes up only seven per cent of the driving public," Palmer pointed out.

"Obviously, the removal of these problem drinkers from the traffic stream will drastically reduce the number of traffic crashes," he said.

Palmer said that medical authorities and safety specialists recommend that a state law be established declaring a person intoxicated when he has .10 per cent blood alcohol concentration as a means of protecting the 93 per cent of Texas drivers who are not abusive drinkers.

Palmer said that three months ago the Texas Safety Association predicted that in the year 1980, some 5,300 Texans will lose their lives and 330,000 others would be injured in traffic crashes. He said that the economic loss would probably top 2.3 billion dollars.

"I believe that these were conservative projections and they are based upon our interpretation of trends that appear to be well established. Only prompt and proper remedial action can keep these predictions from becoming horrible realities," said Palmer.

Army ROTC Scholarship Applications Available

Are you a high school senior? Or the parent or educator of one?

If so, are you informed about Army ROTC scholarships awarded annually to provide financial assistance to outstanding young men interested in the Army as a career?

Did you know that the scholarships pay for college tuition, books and lab fees and also provide a $50 monthly allowance?

Did you know that on Sept. 1 the Army began accepting applications from high school seniors desiring to compete for the nearly 1,000 four-year ROTC scholarships to be awarded to students entering college in 1971? And that the application period runs through Dec. 31?

A scholarship winner may attend any one of over 250 colleges and universities throughout the 50 states, Puerto Rico and the District of Columbia offering Army ROTC. He may pursue any course of study recognized by the college and leading to a baccalaureate degree. Following graduation he must serve as an active duty Army officer for a minimum of four years.

Selection is based on academic excellence, extracurricular activities, physical standards, Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) or American College Testing Program (ACT) results, and evaluation of motivation and leadership potential following the student's appearance before a scholarship selection board.

It is of note that from 16 to 24 per cent of our American business executive making from $100,000 to $300,000 per year, and top government executives, took ROTC training.

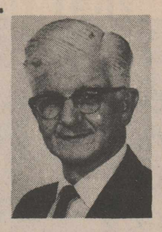

The Army plans also to award 400 three-year scholarships and 630 two-year scholarships to college men already enrolled in ROTC.

For details, residents in the Fourth Army area of Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and New Mexico, should write to Army ROTC Scholarships, Headquarters Fourth U. S. Army, Fort Sam Houston, Tex. 78234.

LEWIS LLEWELLYN

Going in Two Directions

If Jesus Christ came to the world in the flesh again today, would He again be at odds with the religious Establishment?

It was Establishment leaders, you know, who plotted to have Him put to death, lest His "revolutionary" ideas supplant their long-accepted program and they be removed from authority and power.

Today there are two conflicting trends in the organized Christian church.

"Relevant"

In an effort to be "relevant" — to adjust the policy and program of the church to our present times — some have redefined the work of the church, even to the point of revising the meanings of words.

For example, Dr. Walter Hollenweger, World Council of Churches secretary for evangelism, said recently, "To confess Christ means to think salvation in terms of the conflicts and tasks of our time."

This desire to accommodate the church to the wishes of the world has led one Church of England minister, Rev. Philip Cauwood, vicar of St. Mary's Church in Peterborough, England, to substitute "wine and cheese parties" for the traditional Sunday evening services.

Paul Harvey has pointed out that the recent record of the church shows that denominations which have adjusted their policies to make the church more like the world are the ones that are having the most trouble with decreasing membership and money.

But the U.S. News and World Report states that the "old-fashioned, God-fearing denominations are gaining in membership at the rate of three per cent a year — at a time when 'liberal' religious bodies are stagnant or declining."

But, while membership declines in some major denominations, as doctrines are diluted to make mergers possible, the effort to bring all religions together continues and is accelerated.

Louis Cassels, UPI religion writer, reports, "During the past year, significant efforts have been made by the World Council of Churches, the largest Christian ecumenical organizatian, to bring Moslems, Hindus, and Buddhists into interreligious discourse."

He reports that consultations among representatives of the major religions of the world began in Lebanon in March of this year.

Which Side?

Is it conceivable that church leaders are contemplating uniting with Moslems, Hindus, and Buddhists in a worldwide religious hodge-podge? Why?

Jesus said, "I am the way, the truth, and the life. No man cometh unto the Father but by Me."

"I am the door," He declared. "By Me if any man enter in, he shall be saved. . . . I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly. I am the good shepherd. The good shepherd giveth His life for the sheep."

Is it possible that we will come to the point that we no longer consider it necessary to adhere to the most basic of the teachings of Christ — that salvation is available to men only through His sacrifice on the cross of Calvary?

If Jesus came back in the flesh today, which side would He be on?

Which side are you on?

NEED MUCH MORE RANGE WEED AND BRUSH CONTROL- Some 82 percent of Texas rangelands are infested with one or more species of woody plants. They have reduced forage production by one-half to two-thirds of potential and caused the efficiency of livestock production to decline, says G. O. Hoffman, Extension range brush and weed control specialist. He notes that control measures are being carried out on some 1.2 million acres annually, about 10 percent of the acreage that should be under control each year.

Former Resident's Son Plays Football For Arizona Team

(Editor's Note: The article printed below was handed to us by Mrs. Lee Neinast, former resident.)

Pride can carry a team a long way. A prime example is Antelope Union High School.

Last week, the Rams were buried by arch rival Parker 41-0 for one of the worst losses suffered in the school's history. After the game, the Antelope 11 decided that it would never happen again.

Friday, the Rams made prophets of themselves by destroying in the Lake Havasu City Knights 22-7 behind two Keith Neinast touchdowns and a stingy defense.

Antelope's pride may have been shaken at the start of the game as the visiting Knights grabbed the opening game kickoff and marched for the games first score. Havasu quarterback Steve Kingsbury did the damage with a four-yard plunge before adding the extra point. After that it was all Antelope.

The Rams took the ensuing kickoff and tied the game three plays later as Neinast went 54 yards for the six points. Antelope's attempt for a two-point conversion failed.

During the second quarter, the Rams upped the score to 13-7 as Neinast broke loose for a 19-yard TD before adding the PAT boot. On the next kickoff, the Knights fumbled and Neinast was there to pick it up. Antelope started from the Knights' 37 bur the drive faltered on Havasu's 18-yard line.

In the third period, the Rams' Neinast and Chuck Allen trapped Kingsbury in the end zone for a safety making the score 15-7. Late in the game, Antelope quarterback Luis Martin hit Kenny Murdock with a game ending touchdown. Neinast added the extra point. Neinast rushed for 108 yards while Doug Cannan added another 80 for the Rams, who gained 213 yards on the ground.

Francisco Gonzalez also stopped a Havasu drive by intercepting a Kingsbury aerial.

The victory upped Antelope's record to 2-1 while the Knights' mark dropped to 1-2.

Friday Antelope journeys to Gila Bend to open its Class B west division B championship quest.

Multi-Million College Youth Seek Better Communication

College enrollment now totals more than 7,500,000, according to the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

As individuals, these young people have different ambitions and different goals. But, as I see it, they have one characteristic in common: They are, for the most part, dissatisfied citizens.

They are dissatisfied with conditions as they find them, and they want to change things. They want to bring about social reform.

A small number of today's students -- an estimated two per cent of the total -- are extremists, militants, troublemakers. They feel that no substantive change in society can occur without violence and destruction.

The only way in which these militants can be held in check, and prevented from winning the allegiance of other students, is under due process of law. They are not open to reason.

MOST STUDENTS HAVE CONSTRUCTIVE AIMS

The great body of today's concerned students, however, are by no means militants. They are restless. At times, their methods are disruptive, but they are not terroristic. Basically, their aims are constructive:

-- They want college education to be more relevant and more meaningful.

-- They want peace.

-- They want to eliminate racial injustice.

--They want to rid the country of poverty and slums.

--They want to stop pollution.

--They want to know for sure that they can trust business and industry.

--They want a system of government that is fully responsive to the desires and the needs of the people.

-- In this age of affluence, they have come to feel that life should be more than comfort and money; they want to step up the quality of life.

AS INTELLIGENT AS THEIR ELDERS

These young people are not dumb. They are just as keen and intelligent as their elders were at their age. They have ideas that are worth listening to.

More than that, their ideals, their creative thinking, their recommendations, their enthusiasm and energy, and their humanity are needed to help solve today's problems--and for the good of the future.

The older generation would certainly be foolish not to recognize this. The National Chamber, therefore, has issued an urgent call to action to business leaders in all parts of the country to strengthen their existing lines of communication with young people, and to develop better lines of communication.

Much is already being accomplished in this direction, and much more will be. Local and state chambers of commerce, trade and professional associations are forging new and effective working partnerships with both college and high school students.

The young people are being heard, and taken seriously. They are being encouraged by business in every way possible:

-- To exchange thoughts and opinions with local leaders, and to express their views on social and economic issues;

-- To get a better understanding of how the economy functions, by studying factual materials prepared by the National Chamber on its subject, and by studying at firsthand the operations of plants, factories and other business concerns in their community;

-- To learn more about community problems by visiting informally with the mayor, police chief, judges, civic leaders;

-- To participate in research related to community planning;

-- To serve on local chamber committees, and to become actively involved in policy-making and decision-making processes.

This is the sort of cooperative action that means something to college and high school students, and they appreciate it.

It is a realistic way to bridge the generation gap. It is a positive way to make use of our greatest national asset, the fine young people of this country who have something worthwhile to contribute.

SCOUT'S HIGHEST

watch springs, enough to value $150,000.

Eagle Scouts are the "watch springs" of the Boy Scout program, he explained.

Included in the program was the following poem:

KNIGHTS OF TODAY

A proud mother watches her boy where he stands
Apart from his comrades tonight
As they place on his camp-battered tunic a badge
An Eagle, the emblem of right

It seems just a few short months have passed
Since he joined with the youngster next door
How proud he was then of his
Tenderfoot Pin
As he told her the message it bore.

But the years have gone as he struggled along
To learn what the Scout law's about;
He practiced them daily, the
Oath and the Law
Until now he's an Eagle Scout

You may smile your worldly old wisdom at this
And say "Why it's only a pin"
But I tell you no honors he'll gain as a man
Will mean just as much to him.

The red, white and blue of the ribbon you see
Are the symbols of Honor and Truth.
He has learned how to value
these fine attributes
In the glorious days of his youth.
And the outflinging wings of the Eagle that rests
On the breast of this Knight of Today
Are the things that will lift him above petty deeds
And guide him along the right way.
Yes, it's only a pin, just an Eagle Badge,
But the heart that's beneath it
beats true
And will throb to the last for the things which are good
A lesson for me . . and for you.
