

Bill Raising College Costs Sent To House

AUSTIN (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee approved today a bill raising state college tuition to $135 a semester for the average resident and $705 for the average non-resident.

The measure now goes to the House for debate.

Rep. Grant Jones, of Abilene, the sponsor, said he did not know when the bill would be on the debate calendar, "but I've heard it might be Wednesday."

Estimates of how much the bill would increase state revenue ranged from $110 million to $115 million.

The bill requires state colleges to create tuition scholarship funds, but only for needy Texas resident students.

"Penalize those Americans again, huh," said Rep. Jack Johnson of San Antonio.

"Texas for Texans," grinned Rep. Hilary Doran of Del Rio, chairman of the subcommittee that handled the bill.

Jones' original bill raised resident tuition from the present $50 a semester to $125 and non-resident tuition from $200 to $500.

As approved by the committee, the measure puts tuition on an hourly basis. Rates would be $9 per semester hour for residents and $47 for non-residents. The average student takes 15 hours per semester.

Public junior college tuition would be left to the discretion of local boards, but could not exceed 60 per cent of the state senior college resident rate for students who live within a college's taxing district. Texans living outside the taxing district would be charged not less than 60 per cent of the state senior college rate. Non-Texans would pay at least the full state senior college tuition.

Gov. Preston Smith recommended $125 per semester for residents and $500 for non-residents. The House already has passed a bill setting non-resident tuition at $700 a semester.

Big Bomb Blast Rips Senate Wing Of Capitol

WASHINGTON (AP) — An early-morning bomb blast ripped up an interior section of the U.S. Capitol's Senate wing today just 30 minutes after a caller warned of the explosion and said it was to retaliate for the U.S.-supported invasion of Laos.

The blast caused extensive damage but no injuries. Capitol police said the bomb went off at 1:32 a.m. EST, following a call to the Capitol switchboard.

POLITICAL?

"Evacuate the building," a male voice said. "You may have received other calls like this one, but this one is real. Evacuate the building immediately. This is the real thing. This is in retaliation for the Laos decision. A bomb will go off in 30 minutes."

The Senate chamber itself was not damaged by the blast. The Senate convened as scheduled in midmorning, although visitors were not permitted in the Senate wing of the Capitol.

"This is apparently a political bombing," said Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania.

"SHOCKING ACT"

Meanwhile, President Nixon issued a statement through press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler calling the bombing "a shocking act of violence that will outrage all Americans."

But Nixon said the Capitol should remain open to all the people.

The blast pulverized a men's room and damaged other rooms, but did not touch the Senate chamber itself. Perhaps coincidentally, it came 17 years to the day after Puerto Rican nationalists shot and wounded five congressmen from the visitors' gallery of the House of Representatives. It also caused the most extensive damage to the building since the British set it afire in 1814.

Scott said the effect of the bombing will be unfortunate, both in this country and internationally.

GO TO JAIL

"It's likely to be exaggerated," he said. "They won't realize that it's one bomb in one washroom."

Scott also took the occasion to criticize federal judges in the District of Columbia, accusing them of too much leniency.

He said even if the person who placed the bomb is arrested "my guess would be they'll never go to jail, not with the type of appellate court we have in the District of Columbia."

Police, Army and FBI investigators were seeking clues to the identity of the male caller who warned the Capitol switchboard: "The Capitol building will blow up in 30 minutes."

Half an hour later, at 1:32 a.m. EST, the bomb exploded. Capitol Police Chief James Powell said one of his officers was within 200 feet of the blast but escaped injury despite windows breaking "right over his head."

The blast gutted a men's room directly across from the Old Senate Chamber, blasted doors off their hinges in several surrounding rooms, and blew out windows all the way out to the Senate's front door—perhaps 125 feet.

BLOWN AWAY

Bricks, doors, lighting and other fixtures were piled high in a corridor when newsmen were allowed a brief inspection about six hours after the blast.

The men's room—open to the public but generally only known about by people working in the area—was a grey-hulk filled with tiny pieces of plumbing fixtures and greasy plaster rubble. It was almost impossible to tell it had been a rest room.

A red brick wall on one side of the men's room was badly cracked and bulging out into the corridor. Plaster molding on the corridor wall was blown away and littered the floor along with glass from broken windows.

Gold lace curtains were pushed out against and sometimes through broken windows all the way down to the ornately painted committee and reception rooms on the north end of the Senate Chamber. The front door, another 50 feet away, was broken.

CLOSE SHAVE

The Senate barber shop, across a small hallway from the men's room, was badly littered and mirrors and windows were shattered but the barber chairs and other heavy equipment were not mangled or moved.

The outside of the historic Old Senate Chamber, which was used from 1800 to 1808 and was the scene of President John Adams inauguration, Nov. 22, 1800, was not damaged. The door was closed and newsmen did not look inside.

Capitol police said there had been six bomb threats since Christmas. Chief Powell said routine procedures were used between 1 a.m. and 1:32 a.m. when the blast occurred.

Sen. George Aiken, R-Vt., returned from viewing the damage and said he believes the warning phone call and its early-morning timing bear the "marks of organization."

Engineers in the office of the architect of the Capitol looked for possible structural injury to the historic and ancient west front.

TOO EARLY

Thomas F. Clancy, supervising engineer of the Capitol, said through a spokesman that it was too early to determine the full extent of the damage.

Windows were blasted out directly above the huge wooden beams that were braced against the West front several years ago, but there were no visible cracks or any other damage in the wall itself.

Nixon Makes Strong Pitch For Revenue Sharing Plan

DES MOINES, IOWA (AP) — President Nixon, seeking support for his controversial 1971 legislative goals from the legislature of rural-oriented Iowa, said today his ideas would "lead America to a new birth of greatness."

In an address prepared for a joint session of Iowa's Legislature, Nixon argued strongly for federal revenue sharing and reorganization of government, including the Agriculture Department.

"I want those decisions that affect rural America made by people who know rural America, and the people who know a place best live there," he said. "To put it bluntly I believe that legislators in Iowa know better than bureaucrats in Washington, D.C., what is best for Iowa."

Accompanied by Mrs. Nixon and four Cabinet members, Nixon flew to Iowa for the first in a series of regional forays to promote administration legislation. Nixon took the occasion to announce that he is adding $100 million to the $1 billion he originally proposed in special revenue sharing for rural community development.

He said the $1.1 billion total for the coming fiscal year represents "24 per cent more for rural development programs than is being made available to the states under existing categorical grant programs."

In all, the chief executive seeks $16 billion in various types of revenue sharing, which he said would eliminate "the cumbersome restrictions that now follow federal funds."

The chief executive also argued at length for cutting the present 12 Cabinet departments to eight and, in the process, abolishing the Agriculture Department and reassigning its functions.

Nixon today sent Congress a first annual report on government services to rural America and said it showed "important gains in the federal government's concern for the well-being of rural areas."

As examples, in fiscal 1970, we increased federal support for waste treatment grants in rural areas by 174 per cent over the previous year, and increased manpower development grants in such areas more than 50 per cent," he said.

THE LOCK HELD, BUT — Capitol Police Lt. George Reid looks through a demolished door in a Capitol hallway today after a bomb exploded in a rest room nearby. Note that the lock held the frame but the panel is missing from the force of the blast.

FIGHTING IN LAOS Bentsen Hints 'High-Noon Shootout'

SAIGON (AP) — U. S. Sen. Lloyd M. Bentsen said today the fighting in Laos may be near a showdown battle. He added that if the South Vietnamese win in Laos, it will buy a lot of time for the United States and the Vietnamese.

"It may be very close to a high-noon shootout," the Texas Democrat said. "The North Vietnamese obviously put a great deal of emphasis and importance on the Ho Chi Minh Trail. It is going to be a very serious confrontation."

Apparently that has been expected by both sides. If the South Vietnamese prevail in this, we will have really bought a lot of time, both for the South Vietnamese and ourselves."

Bentsen lunched with Gen. Lucius D. Clay Jr., commander of the U.S. 7th Air Force. He spent most of the afternoon with U. S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker at the Embassy, discussing the political situation. Tonight he was Bunker's dinner guest at the envoy's residence.

The senator arrived Sunday night on a two-week tour of the Indochina war theater as a member of the Senate Armed Services committee. After four days in Vietnam, he will visit Cambodia, Laos and Thailand and plans to submit a report to his committee on his return to Washington.

Bentsen will spend the next two days on field trips and then go to Phnom Penh, the Cambodian capital, on Thursday morning.

He will fly to the northern sector Tuesday and visit U. S. and South Vietnamese commands, including a stop at Khe Sanh, a major staging base and helicopter takeoff site for the Laotian campaign.

On Wednesday, Bentsen will tour in the northern and central sectors, looking into the Vietnamization program. He said he hopes to meet President Nguyen Van Thieu and other top government leaders as well as some opposition leaders.

On Wednesday night, a dinner reunion of Texans in Saigon is planned.

Hall Shot 90 Times, Liberis 147 Times

NUEVO Laredo, Mexico (AP) — Authorities sought clues today in the killings of two Texas men who died in a hall of gunfire.

Workmen came across the bodies last Wednesday beside an old road leading toward Monterrey.

The victims were identified as J. C. Hall of Fort Worth and Albert Liberis. Officers said Hall was shot 90 times and Liberis 147 times.

NO BANK HOLIDAY

Tuesday is March 2, and it is the anniversary of the signing of the Texas Declaration of Independence.

But it is NOT, repeat NOT, a bank holiday. Sunday's Herald confused the historic Texas date with another, that of San Jacinto Day, and in error said that banks will be closed Tuesday.

You can do your banking business as usual Tuesday, and in the meantime a number of people have started boning up on their Texas history.

Birth Control Hearing Slated By High Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to decide whether Massachusetts officials may prohibit the distribution of birth control devices to unmarried people.

The prohibition is contained in a 91-year-old state law that was declared invalid last July by the U.S. Circuit Court in Boston with a finding that it "conflicts with fundamental human rights."

The state, in an appeal filed last October, said Massachusetts has a right to protect "purity and chastity."

The hearing will be held next fall with a decision expected by June, 1972.

Massachusetts is one of 25 state with laws that make it a crime to distribute contraceptives to unmarried persons.

William R. Baird, an advocate of birth control, tested the law at Boston University in 1967 by inviting students attending his lecture to help themselves to contraceptives he had brought with him. Baird handed a package of vaginal foam to an unmarried woman.

He was arrested, convicted and sentenced to 90 days in Suffolk County jail. He served 35 days and then was ordered released by Chief Judge Bailey Aldrich of the Circuit Court.

ROME (AP) — "Get the men out!" screamed the militants. "Not in a dream, you get out instead!" came the moderates' retort.

The men stayed and even spoke. And the first national congress of Italy's women's liberation movement survived two days of hot rhetoric without a single karate chop.

Three rival groups contested for control of the microphone on Saturday and Sunday. The two Left-most groups walked out.

"It was bestial," said Isa Di Barbora, 30, a social worker and a moderate.

All three women's factions back Italy's new divorce law and want legalization of abortion and easily available education in other birth control methods. This not only ranges them against the Vatican, it puts them in opposition to the Communist party, which opposes abortion because it thinks the Italian masses do likewise. But the women's lib groups have drawn up a bill to legalize the operation and hope to collect the 50,000 signatures needed to get it introduced in Parliament.

Most of those attending the weekend meeting were under 30 and often pretty. They came clad in slacks, mini skirts and hot pants. But unlike many of their militant American sisters, they wore makeup and bras.

They numbered about 150, however, and that in a nation of some 25 million women. And their still slight political punch was weakened further by factionalism.

Here is a breakdown of the three groups and their goals:

1. Movement for the Liberation of Women, or MLD: 18 months old, platform moderate and geared to equal job opportunity, free nurseries, legalization of abortion and promotion of birth control. Welcomes cooperation from the men. Allied with the extraparlimentary Italian Radical party.
2. Rivolta Femminile, or Feminine Revolt: eight months old, same goals as MLD but vehemently refuses to cooperate with men and sometimes to talk with reporters.
3. Italian Front for Female Liberation, or IFLF: three days old, insists on linking women's lib with a host of revolutionary movements including the Viet Cong and ultra-left groups who challenge the Italian government. Open to cooperation with men and not interested in ending male domination.

Murder Suspect In Custody Here

Whitmer Jean Ballard, 45, accused of the Dec. 2, slaying of Glasscock County rancher Steve Currie, 71, was transferred to custody Friday afternoon in Howard County Jail. Glasscock County Sheriff Royce Pruitt released Ballard to Howard County Sheriff A. N. Standard's custody.

Ballard's extradition was ordered a week ago by a California judge. Ballard was indicted for murder Dec. 14 by the Glasscock County Grand Jury, and had been the object of a wide search until his arrest by California Highway patrolmen Jan. 4 near Riverside, Calif.

Orville B. Davis, 49, second suspect in the murder, was transferred Friday from Howard County jail to Martin County jail by Sheriff Pruitt. According to Sheriff Standard and District Attorney Wayne Burns, Ballard and Davis are not being kept in Glasscock County because there is no jailer there to supervise prisoners at night.

Davis was arrested in a Midland motel Jan. 3, and indicted by a Glasscock County Grand Jury Jan. 18.

California authorities have notified Burns that the extradition papers on Judy Dunham, third person to be charged in the murder, have been received. No date on a hearing for the woman has been set, according to Burns, but he said that one should be upcoming soon.

Burns added that he contemplated no immediate action against Ballard and Davis, but would await the outcome on the extradition of the woman.

DEAD END — This farm home near St. James, Minn., was lucky. Plows were able to clear the highway to the edge of the farm before having to quit because of the huge snow drifts in the area after a weekend storm dumped up to 14 inches of snow on the southwestern Minnesota area. Many other farms in the area were cut off by the heavy snow.

RECOGNITION FOR TEENS

You have the opportunity, for another week, to pay tribute to youth leaders in Howard County. Turn to the Youth Achievement Award nomination blank on Page 1-B of today's Herald, and follow instructions. That form must be used.

Seniors and juniors of Big Spring, Coahoma, Foran and Sands high schools will receive recognition for outstanding work in school, church and civic activities. All of them will receive special certificates, and handsome awards will go to the finalists and eventual winners.

You are urged to participate in this program to let young people know that their good works are appreciated.

HOT PANTS UNROMANTIC?

Neiman-Marcus Calls Them 'Cocktail Shorts'

By GODFREY ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP) — Right now hot pants may be the hottest thing in town.

They're a nice fashion for men, too—so long as the right girls wear them.

One Dallas store, Sanger-Harris, advertises them as "skimpier, shorter, jazzier—they're for grown-up city girls to wear in town."

Neiman-Marcus thinks the name unfortunate. They call what they sell "cocktail shorts."

"We don't call them hot pants because the name is not relevant and kind of bad taste," a spokesman for the store explained. "It doesn't add any romance to the style. Our customers wouldn't want it said they were wearing such things."

So what are the advantages anyway? Weren't micro-minis about as far as anyone could go?

They're more comfortable than slacks just as slacks were more comfortable than a dress because you didn't have to wear nylons," one hot pants wearer explained. "They're more informal, too, but you have to be pretty daring to wear them to the office because they are short-short. I've bought several and I like them. You can wear them with tights or nylons or long boots."

The mini-pants were shown here to the trade in January, when manufacturers from New York and California trotted out their latest wares at the Dallas Apparel Mart, the main wholesale distribution center for the Southwest.

The orders poured in and they'll be in shops throughout Texas by summer. Big fashion stores have a few on the racks already, but it's still the more daring avant-garde girl who wears them. After all, although they can be worn with a maxi or midi coat, they're still a summer thing.

Mrs. Kim Dawson, director of the Apparel Mart, who also runs a model agency, said:

"All my girls are wearing them. Older women aren't buying them—and they shouldn't. It's a young girl's style—the micro-mini in another form.

"It's for young people with good legs, hopefully sun-tanned. And it's a man fashion. Very much so."

"The girls like it because it's a perfect foil for them to show off their bodies at the right time of their lives. Besides, it's the newest thing to do. It's an innovative fashion that puts you a step ahead. And it's the with-est girls who wear it."

The fashion folk say hot pants can be worn all through the day—for sports, for cruising, for street wear and late in the day at a cocktail party or the discotheque. They can be worn with knee socks or panty hose so the legs that emerge from them can come in different colors.

As one Dallas girl put it: "I like 'em because they're fluid, kinda flirty, and very cute."

She can say that again.

Sweetwater Staff Sets Training

Girl Scout service unit teams from the 16-county West Texas Girl Scout Council will meet in Sweetwater March 2 and March 9 for training conducted by three staff members, Mrs. Jewell Jennett, Miss Arlene Estes and Miss Marcia Prior.

The two sessions will be at the Highland Heights Methodist Church from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., and participants are asked to bring sack lunches.

Service teams are adults who serve in the Girl Scout program as service team chairman, troop consultants and troop organizers. Present members of the team as well as those interested in serving in these capacities are invited to attend.

Training will include orientation to the work of the team as a whole and an in-depth study of each team member's role.

Travelogue Program Focuses On Burma

Mrs. Harwood Keith presented the new slate of officers to the Modern Woman's Forum at its meeting Friday at Coker's Restaurant. They will be installed in October.

The new officers are Mrs. H. M. Rowe, president; Mrs. C. R. Moad, first vice president; Mrs. W. A. Laswell, second vice president; Mrs. S. R. Nobles, treasurer; Mrs. Margaret White, secretary; Mrs. Hugh Duncan, corresponding secretary; Mrs. T. G. Adams, historian; Mrs. Fred Whitaker, parliamentarian; and Mrs. J. P. Dodge, federation counselor.

The program, given by Mrs. Keith, followed the club's "Armchair Travelogue" theme, as she told about the topography and people of Burma.

"Burma has been called the 'Golden Peninsula,'" she said.

"because of the country's fertile soil, endless forests, minerals, gems and several large rivers."

"The country is also called 'Happy Land.' The people have demonstrated courage and tenacity in their search for a higher standard of living without the sacrifice of their Buddhist ideals. Pagan, the former capital, has become the most-visited of Southeast Asian ancient cities. Pagan fell in 1287, and Rangoon is now the country's capital."

Mrs. S. R. Nobles presided at the business meeting. The Western District convention will be March 12-13 in Monahan. Members planning to attend are Mrs. Keith, Mrs. Rowe, Mrs. Moad, Mrs. White, Mrs. Dodge and Mrs. Lobles.

In other business, Mrs. Ruby Martin became a new member. The next meeting is at 3 p.m. March 11 in the home of Mrs. Hugh Duncan, 1600 Tucson.

The communication does not get through. Only as we understand accurately and are understood correctly can we achieve successful relationships."

Mrs. Mabe offered hints for both the speaker and listener in improving personal communication lines.

"It is always tempting," she said, "to believe that when our ideas do not get across to someone, the fault lies in his incapacity to grasp them. She said that the speaker must credit his listener with a capacity to understand the best he has to offer, and to present it in a clear and explicit manner. The voice tone, facial expression and receptiveness to other's comments all have an impact on those you wish to reach."

For the listener, Mrs. Mabe said "The emotions and desire to be right often stand as barriers to effective communications. When we are engaged in a heated discussion or an argument, most of us do very little listening to the other's point of view, for we are thinking up arguments to prove we are right."

"Listening is one of the most important, most difficult and most neglected skills in communications. It demands that we concentrate not only on the explicit meanings another person is expressing, but on the implicit meanings, unspoken words and undertones that may be far more significant. We must learn to listen with the inner ear—if we are to know the inner man."

"Effective communications are based on practices that lead to mutual understanding. We must show a preference for having our human relationships proceed along lines of constructive good will rather than destructive antagonism. We must want to build bridges of understanding between minds rather than prevent them from being built or destroying those that already exist."

Mrs. Cantrell presided at the meeting, and the devotion was by Mrs. E. R. Moren. The next meeting is at 2 p.m. March 12 in the home of Mrs. J. W. Elrod, 1800 main.

Six tables were in play during Friday's duplicate bridge at the Big Spring Country Club. Mrs. Elmo Wasson and Mrs. J. Gordon Bristow won first place. Second went to Mrs. E. L. Powell and Mrs. Hudson Landers.

Tied for third, fourth and fifth places were Mrs. Owen Worrimer and Mrs. Jack Hallett; Mrs. Ray McMahon and Mrs. Jim Raoul; and Mrs. J. Y. Robb and Mrs. Hayden Griffith.

'Old' Invader Might Be On Its Way Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — An invader who first crawled ashore at Mobile, Ala., in 1918 and has claimed upwards of 120 million acres of United States land since, may be on its way out.

After 13 years of research, scientists say they may have a pesticide to control the South American fire ant which has spread across nine Southern states and is still going strong.

The pesticide is a mixture of mirex and corn cob grits sprayed by airplane over infested areas. The ants drag the bait into their mounds and in a matter of weeks the mound population dies from poisoning. Each mound houses about 100,000.

Fire ant damage to livestock and pastures costs millions of dollars annually and the ant's venomous bite causes painful, scarring injuries to millions of men and beasts each year.

A 1970 survey showed the pests have infested 120 million acres in Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Texas. They take over an additional several million acres each year.

The Agriculture Department, urged by Congress, started research on control-eradication of the fire ant in 1957. The federal-state program now spends about $15.2 million a year.

Fire ants usually erect their mounds on cleared land. The mounds are six to eight inches high, a couple feet wide and, in a badly infested area, only a few feet apart.

The ants spread five to six miles a year. A single female fire ant can reproduce an entire future colony.

Like many other, the control has been challenged in some quarters on ecology grounds. Conservationists argue pesticide residues wash into streams and harm freshwater life.

The Agriculture Department's answer is that a study has shown the program to have minimal adverse environmental impact; and that benefits to man and animals far outweigh the adverse effects.

The department said following an application of mirex bait, the only non-target organisms affected were a few other species of oil-eating ants, and poison levels found in birds and fish were consistently less than fatal.

County Court Trial Postponed

No trial was to be held this afternoon in Howard County Court. Michael N. Moore, 22, Gail R. Box 256, had been set for trial, but the case has been postponed.

Mrs. M. W. Buecker, 38, 1501 Thorpe, is scheduled for trial Wednesday at 9 a.m. Mrs. Buecker is charged with circulating a worthless check.

M. H. Boatler, Silver Heels Addition, found himself confronted with a homemade bomb in his yard Saturday. Boatler reported the finding to the Howard County Sheriff's Office, and Webb AFB was notified. A Webb demolition man who examined the bomb discovered that it was a dud. It is believed that someone had attempted to construct the bomb and abandoned it on the Boatler property.

Mrs. W. A. Mann, who has been working on plans for economizing in Howard County Jail operations, gained approval for the county's purchase of four dozen stainless steel sectional trays to be used in serving prisoners. County Sheriff A. N. Standard submitted a letter also requesting the purchase. Cost of the trays is $60 plus possible shipping fees.

No action on bids on the cost of additional shelving for the law library had been taken shortly before noon. This was the last item on the agenda for the commissioners' consideration.

CENSUS BUREAU SAYS: Latins Earn Less Than The Average American

WASHINGTON (AP) — Persons of Spanish origin in this nation are younger, earn less and are out of work more than the average American, the Census Bureau says.

The bureau said that persons of Spanish origin have only 8.5 years of formal schooling, compared with 12 years for the national average.

But this is changing, the bureau said Sunday, with the younger, more educated generation of Mexican-Americans, Puerto Ricans and immigrants from other Spanish-language countries.

The data came from a November, 1969, survey by the bureau.

As of that date, there were 3.2 million Americans of Spanish descent or 5 per cent of approximately 200 million people.

The median age was 17.8 years for Mexican-Americans and 28.4 years for Cubans-but, as a group, they were about 10 years younger than the average persons from other ethnic backgrounds.

JOBLESS RATE
The family income averaged $5,600 a year—70 per cent of the average family's annual take. Seventeen per cent of the families earn less than $3,000 a year.

And the unemployment rate was 6 per cent, 1.7 times the national rate, at the time the census was taken, of 3.5 per cent.

Most of the Spanish origin peoples are in the lower-paying jobs, the bureau said. Only 25 per cent of the men and 41 per cent of the women hold white-collar, higher-salaried positions, compared with the national average of 41 per cent men in white-collar jobs and 61 per cent of the women.

Of the 9.2 million Spanish origin peoples, 4.6 million said they usually spoke in Spanish at home.

The average Spanish-speaker was just over 21 years old. This contrasted sharply with the average of 42 years for persons who speak languages at home other than English or Spanish.

Most of the Spanish-speakers were born in the United States rather than having immigrated recently. In the Southwest, where 79 per cent of the Spanish-origin population lives, 70 per cent were born there.

The 1969 census showed that half of the Mexican-Americans 35 and older had only 7.3 years of education. For those between 25 and 34, the median schooling went up to 10.8 years.

READ, WRITE
The median education of Cubans, Central and South Americans who immigrated here and were between 25 and 34 years old was 12.4 years.

It noted that 91 per cent of persons between 10 and 24 years old said they could read and write English. This contrasted with 72 per cent for persons 25 and over.

For males 16 and older, 5.1 per cent were unemployed in contrast to the national average of 2.7 per cent for that age bracket. For females, the unemployment rate was 7.5 per cent of the Spanish-origin population, compared to 4.7 per cent for women of other origins.

Put another way, Spanish American men made up 4 per cent of the labor force but were 7.4 per cent of the unemployed males; women made up 3.6 per cent of the labor force, but 5.6 per cent of the unemployed.

Harte Names Manager At San Antonio News

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — James L. Smith, widely experienced newspaper consultant and executive, assumed new duties today as general manager of the San Antonio Express and News.

Houston H. Harte, president of the Express Publishing Co., announced Smith's appointment to the post Sunday.

Smith has just finished four years with the Christian Science Publishing Society in Boston which publishes the Christian Science Monitor, one of the nation's most prestigious newspapers.

His immediate past assignment was in a consultant capacity, developing long-range financial and operational plans for the organization.

Prior to this, he served for more than three years as personnel director for all church operations which included the publishing society, all administrative offices of the church in Boston, elsewhere in the United States and overseas.

Smith worked for the Copley Newspapers from 1953 to 1967. It is a corporation operating 16 newspapers in California and Illinois. He began as labor relations director, then director of industrial relations of the Union-Tribune, the Copley newspapers in San Diego. Later, he was named corporate director of

Prairie View A&M To Reopen After Screening Of Students

PRAIRIE VIEW, Tex. (AP)—Prairie View A&M college, closed Sunday after three days of demonstrations and violence, will open again within a week, school officials said, but only after a screening of students.

Dr. Alvin L. Thomas, the president, suspended classes Saturday and damaged several buildings and up to 1,500 of the predominantly black school's 4,000 students demonstrated.

Thomas said Sunday that students would be notified in a few days to report for readmission and classes will take up where they left off.

He said college officials will admit only those who are serious about getting an education.

In closing the school, Thomas said: "Our students have been manipulated by a small band of professional agitators to the point that it has been futile during the past few days to reason with them."

Disruptions began last Wednesday when about 1,500 students marched to Thomas' home and made 19 demands, including one that he resign.

After failing to reach agreement with Thomas, the students marched back on campus and a fire was set. It destroyed the office of the dean of men.

Windows of the book store were broken and some books looted, and a campus patrol car was overturned.

Early Thursday another fire, called arson by Thomas, damaged the college ROTC building.

Two students were arrested Friday and charged with acting to produce injury to property.

Late Sunday they were still being held in lieu of $100,000 bond each.

Thomas met with a student committee Friday night and agreed to 16 of the 19 demands, including liberalization of the dress code, better cafeteria food and dormitory conditions and student involvement in college policy making.

He also promised a study of women's curfew hours and revision of a student code which minutely regulates behavior.

"We will do everything within our power to restore an atmosphere conducive to teaching and learning as quickly as possible and reopen the college," Thomas said.

IN WAKE OF RACIAL TROUBLE 'Boot' 94 Pupils

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP)—Racial trouble at Texarkana High School has led to suspensions for 94 pupils, both white and black, for the rest of the school year.

Members of the school board reached this decision Sunday at a session which began at 1 p.m. and lasted far into the night.

They voted earlier to ask a grand jury probe of the situation.

Parents were promised notices today by mail or telegram advising whether their children are being re-admitted.

School authorities had suspended 224 pupils temporarily because of what they described as boisterous behavior by a group of white pupils and fighting on campus Feb. 17. Forty-seven of this group failed to meet with the board.

The officials summoned police after fighting began outside the Student Union Building and officers arrested five pupils.

Police had been called to the school earlier because of a report that racial trouble could be expected.

The school board then notified 120 parents by mail that hearings would be held on whether to re-admit the suspended pupils for the rest of the current semester.

A spokesman for the board declined to say how many of those barred until the semester ends are white and how many are Negro. He said 16 will be re-admitted.

Suspended pupils will be allowed to complete their semester's work through correspondence courses, the board ruled.

Thirty-two pupils and their parents appeared at a five-hour board session Friday, and cases of 28 more pupils were heard Saturday at a meeting which lasted 7 1/2 hours.

Dr. John L. Griffin, president of the Texarkana Human Relations Council, told the board by letter Friday that Negro pupils were discriminated against by teachers and in extracurricular activities at the school.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—Both vulnerable, and as South you hold:

♠ 10 7 5 4 ♥ Q 10 8 ♦ 10 7 3 2 ♣ A 5

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South

1 ♠ 3 ♠ 1 ♠

Pass 3 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Four hearts. True, you haven't very much, but partner's bidding has indicated that he probably can take close to nine tricks in his own hand. The queen of trumps is a sure winner, and the doubleton club should produce a trick for him.

Q. 2—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠ 3 2 ♥ A 8 6 5 ♦ A K J 10 8 5

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♠ 1 ♠ 1 ♠ 1 ♠

2 ♠ 2 ♠ 2 ♠ 2 ♠

What do you bid now?

A—There is, of course, no doubt that you must insist upon reaching a game contract, but care should be exercised to reach the right one. Our preferred call is a jump to four clubs. This jump by responder is forcing in our system. If partner has a really good heart suit, he should proceed to four hearts. If not, he should go to five clubs, for which there should be a reasonable play.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, and as South you hold:

♠ 8 5 ♥ 6 4 ♦ A J 6 3 ♣ K J 5 2

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South

1 ♠ 1 ♠ 1 ♠ 1 ♠

1 ♠ 1 ♠ 1 ♠ 1 ♠

What action do you take?

A—This is an average hand in high cards (10 points). With mild trump support for partner, the hand justifies a redouble, and that is our choice.

Q. 4—East-West vulnerable, and as South you hold:

♠ K Q 7 3 ♥ A J 10 5 ♦ 8 3 ♣ K J 6

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South

1 ♠ 1 ♠ 1 ♠ 1 ♠

1 ♠ 1 ♠ 1 ♠ 1 ♠

What do you bid?

A—With this magnificent holding you should insist upon a game contract. Rather than jump the bidding in a four card major suit, we would prefer a false cue bid of two diamonds, forcing to game and asking partner to select the suit. Proceed to game in either spades or hearts, whichever he selects.

Q. 5—Neither side vulnerable, and as South you hold:

♠ 6 5 4 ♦ A K J 8 4 ♣ A 10 8 6 3

The bidding has proceeded:

East South

What do you bid?

A—Pass. It would be delightful to be able to double the three diamond bid for penalties. Unfortunately, however, we cannot blow both hot and cold for we find the double of three, especially in a minor, very useful as a takeout signal. It is better to pass and play for a profit. If you double, partner likely will bid spades.

Q. 6—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠ 6 5 4 ♥ 10 8 5 3 ♦ K J 10 8 5 4

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♠ 1 ♠ 1 ♠ 1 ♠

3 ♠ 3 ♠ 3 ♠ 3 ♠

What do you bid now?

A—Four diamonds. This will mark you holding six hearts and four diamonds, and should permit partner to make the decision in an enlightened manner.

Q. 7—Neither side vulnerable, and as South you hold:

♠ 7 ♥ K J 4 ♦ A 10 8 7 6 4 2 ♣ K J

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♠ 1 ♠ 1 ♠ 1 ♠

1 ♠ 1 ♠ 1 ♠ 1 ♠

What do you bid now?

A—The proper approach to the current problem is this: "What would be my response if partner had opened with a bid of two no trumps?" I think under those conditions you would be willing to bid a slam in diamonds. Your partner's jump rebid to three no trump describes a hand of about the high card content of an opening two no trump bid, so that a six diamond bid is our choice.

Q. 8—Neither side is vulnerable, your partner has opened with one spade, and you hold:

♠ A 8 7 4 2 ♥ J 10 6 4 ♦ A J ♣ 6

What is your response?

A—Three spades, forcing to game. Despite the possession of six trumps, a leap to four spades would be improper. Such a bid denotes a highly unbalanced hand with great trump support, but it must not contain as many as 10 high card points. This hand is the equivalent of an opening bid, and the jump bid showing strength is clearly indicated.

Grace Baptist Church Honors Albert Medlin

Albert Warren Medlin has been honored by members of Grace Baptist Church who have named him honorary chairman of the board for life.

Medlin was born in Dickens, and the early years of his life were spent in Chimal, Mexico, with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Abrams Medlin.

He was graduated from South San Antonio High School and attended Texas Tech in Lubbock.

Becoming a Christian in Oklahoma at the age of 19, he was ordained as a deacon soon afterwards. He was one of the prime motivators in the organization of Grace Baptist Mission as an arm of Trinity Baptist Church here in 1958, serving as Sunday school superintendent and adult teacher. The mission at 109 Wright grew continually from a beginning with 43 members until it became an organized church.

Since the organization of Grace Baptist Church and during the building program on Wright Street and later at the new location at 2000 FM 700 West, Medlin has served as deacon, chairman of the board, trustee, Sunday school superintendent, adult Sunday school teacher and was active in Vacation Bible School work. He has also served as lay preacher, filling pastorates at Grace Baptist, Trinity Baptist and various other churches in this area.

Besides using his personal vacation time to work in Vacation Bible School, he has helped with actual church construction, repair and upkeep, waxing floors, moving lawns—anything which needed doing.

He has lived in Big Spring since 1937 and was employed by Continental Oil Co. for 26 years.

He and his wife are the parents of four sons, Albert Wade, attending school in Abilene, Marlin Ralph, a sophomore majoring in Chemical Engineering at Lamar Tech in Beaumont, Phillip Dean, a junior in Forsan High School, and John Stephen, a sixth grader at Forsan.

today. Sadat said Israel's refusal to give up all occupied Arab territories closes the door to peaceful settlement in Middle East.

Egypt Says Israel's Refusal Closes Door To Settlement

By The Associated Press
Egypt says Israel's refusal to give up all occupied Arab territories closes the door to a peaceful settlement in the Middle East. But Egyptian President Anwar Sadat says his government will keep trying.

The Israeli Cabinet met Sunday and was reported studying several proposals for partial withdrawal from the territory seized in the 1967 war, but the cabinet announced last week that Israel would never return to the prewar borders.

The Israeli position "closes the doors to all peaceful settlements because the liberation of occupied areas is for Egypt something beyond any discussion or bargaining," said an Egyptian government statement distributed by the Middle East News Agency.

ARAB SOLUTION
Sadat, speaking in Cairo to the Palestine National Council of guerrilla leaders, said Egypt still intends to seek a negotiated peace with Israel but not at the expense of the Palestinians.

He told the council that Egypt had rejected a separate peace with Israel.

"There is no such thing as an Egyptian solution or a Palestinian, Jordanian or Syrian solution," he said. "There is only an Arab solution."

In effect replying to guerrilla leaders who oppose any negotiations with Israel, Sadat said Egypt's participation in the indirect peace talks with U.N. envoy Gunnar Jarring as go-between has "unmasked the enemy's expansionist ambitions" and put Israel on the diplomatic defensive for the first time in years.

GET READY
He told the commando chiefs that if this tack failed, Egypt still would have made the necessary military preparations.

The Soviet Union, meanwhile, urged that a meeting of the Big Four U.N. delegates on the Middle East situation be moved up from Thursday to today. U.N. sources said Britain and France had agreed to the change, but the United States referred the request to Washington.

The Soviet Union wanted the meeting to discuss Israel's reply to Egypt's offer last week to sign a peace agreement. Israel said it was ready to enter into detailed negotiations with Egypt on boundaries and other elements of a peace treaty. But it rejected Egypt's demand that it withdraw from all occupied Arab territories.

Rail Union Members Free To Walk Out At Any Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — Free to strike at any time, some 190,000 members of the United Transportation Union kept working today as union officials continued contract negotiations with the nation's railroads.

Emergency legislation passed by Congress three months ago to halt a brief nationwide strike ran out at midnight, Sunday. But the union, as predicted by labor officials, continued voluntary talks with the National Railway Labor Conference.

Work rules, governing who handles individual jobs, and how they are carried out, were the last major stumbling block, said Assistant Secretary of Labor W.J. Usery. Usery and George Ives, a member of the National Mediation and Conciliation Service, have been guiding the talks through final stages.

The UTU is the last holdout of four rail unions that struck briefly in early December. The Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks, Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Workers and the Hotel and Restaurant Employees Union reached settlements in February covering 243,000 railroad workers.

The agreements provided wage increases averaging 44 per cent over 42 months.

Congress' emergency laws banning the strike provided for President Nixon to suggest a solution if agreement wasn't reached by today. The President's report Feb. 18 asked for partial strikes that would not create a major emergency, or imposition of the recommendations made by federal mediators; that a 32 per cent wage hike be made, provided work rules changes management wanted also were effected.

The unions vigorously opposed changes in work rules, saying thousands of workers would lose their jobs. Management said they were necessary for efficiency.

Carriers faced even more labor difficulty as March began.

The Brotherhood of Signalmen has said it will strike March 5, and the American Train Dispatchers Union has voted a strike, but set no date. However, the Railway Labor Act, exhausted before last December's strike, remains in effect for the signalmen and dispatchers, so President Nixon can obtain a 60-day cooling off period should agreements not be reached.

Suspected Killer Of Four Gives Up Without Struggle

SOEDERHAMN, Sweden (AP) — A man in his 60s believed to have killed four persons at the local magistrates' court today was captured three hours later in a local department store. He gave up without resistance.

A lawyer familiar with the case said the shooting was the culmination of a three-year dispute between the man and a woman he formerly lived with. They had met today to reach a financial settlement.

The shooting occurred during a closed court hearing. Police who rushed in after the shots found the bodies of the woman, Justice Yangve Carlsson, and the two lawyers. The man had fled.

A blizzard hampered the hunt for the killer. The county police chief was on strike with other Swedish civil servants but said he would consult with his union whether to return to duty.

Police reinforcements were sent from nearby towns, and a national police alert was ordered.

Coahoma Adds Fifth Candidate

COAHOMA — A fifth candidate was added Monday to the field for the trustees' race in the Coahoma Independent School District. He is Roland Beal, a Cosden employee.

Other candidates for the two places on the board are Waymon Leopard and Carroll Choate, incumbents, Don Allen and Joe Swinney. Deadline for signing as a candidate is Wednesday at the office of W. A. Wilson, superintendent of schools.

End the SHAME and TEARS of BED WETTING

PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL HAS ENDED BEDWETTING FOR HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS IN THE PAST TWENTY YEARS

When children discover that a playmate wets his bed, the result can be merciless teasing and serious psychological problems. The entire family can be effected. The cost and work of taking care of a bed-wetting child can cause friction and irritability among parents. It is quite possible that your child will eventually outgrow bedwetting, but what happens until that time comes? Medical authorities have stated that a bedwetting child feels that he is a disgrace to his family. Statistics prove that a bedwetting child achieves below his real ability in school. And the child is embarrassed and ashamed. But, now, bedwetting, when not caused by organic defect or disease, can be ended. Safely. Permanently. Our method is endorsed by many doctors. Read their statements in our 16 page brochure: "Is There A Solution?" Also read what other people say who have had the same problem. Send this coupon for your free copy. No cost or obligation.

You should be so foxy

Installing GAS air conditioning now means you'll beat the rush that always comes with the first hot or dusty spring day. While everyone else is waiting for the overworked installers you'll be cool, calm, and collected.

GAS air conditioning cools your whole house quietly and efficiently. You'll save on repairs, too, because there is no compressor to break down or wear out. And, GAS air conditioning cools your whole house for what you might have been paying to cool just two or three rooms before.

So, be foxy. Call Pioneer and tell them you'd like to find out more about installing GAS air conditioning in the winter. A representative will tell you what it will take to include it in your present forced air heating system. You may be able to use the same ductwork for heating and cooling. It costs nothing to get a complete survey of your home or business.

A Changing Of Mood?

Seen in retrospect, the 1960s were years of political ferment that culminated in a period of increasingly strident dissent. The mood of that period is all the more sharply perceptible if one contrasts it with present conditions.

After a lackadaisical decade during which people were bent on getting back to "normalcy" after World War II and Korea, the 1960s opened with the appearance of the Kennedys and the New Frontier. There followed a slowly building crescendo of concern about the way things were going — concern that was manifested more and more in anger and even violence.

In foreign affairs the United States and Russia worked their precarious way through the Cuban missile crisis. Then they appeared to settle down to a detente, never formally agreed to but reasonably secure. Domestically, however, the Free Speech Movement in Berkeley and the first riots in Watts presaged what the rest of the decade held in store.

The domestic turmoil seemed to peak in the late Johnson years, when the outgoing president and his secretaries of state and defense found it necessary to severely restrict their public appearances for fear of open hostility. President Nixon's first two years in office saw a continuation of this, though with some diminution — until the invasion of Cambodia and the killings at Kent State.

Now the nation seems to have pretty much spent itself, so far as the mood for confrontation and agitation is concerned — witness the recent slimly attended anti-war demonstrations. By and large, the nation seems to be in the throes of attempting to redirect itself.

There is no certainty as to that; it may be that what we are witnessing is only a brief downturn before another spate of unrest. This seems doubtful. After almost a decade of mounting unrest and turmoil and what Daniel Moynihan has called an "excess of moral energy," it is more likely that the present quietude indicates a change in attitude.

It suggests a growing realization that change, when it comes, will come slowly — that some, though not all, of the disruption spawned in the 1960s was more harmful than helpful. The slowdown in the tempo of dissent may, as some maintain, merely reflect a rising disinterest. However, in our judgment — colored by optimism, admittedly — what is now going on indicates a more restrained and mature approach to the many complex problems that confront the nation.

Misdirected Energy

The recurring testimony before a congressional committee, while not yet conclusive, calls for attention to the complaints that the military has been engaging in civilian espionage.

Some of the incidents related are almost like something out of comic opera and would be ludicrous if they did not possess such ominous potentials. The truth of this matter should be explored, and if the military indeed has been expending its energies in this field, the error should be corrected and the practice halted. This is civilian government, and internal security is not the business of the military unless so proclaimed by the proper civil authorities in a period of emergency.

Girl Watching Chaps

Robert E. Ford

There are some people strange enough to go to athletic events to watch the game.

That's not the point at all. Games gather a crowd of people together so they can watch each other.

You could get the same effect in church except that the worshippers are much too restrained for the services to be a spectator event. Some of the church ladies do, however, get a lot more out of attending than the minister intended.

WE CHISELED our way into a Texas Chaparral basketball game the other Sunday afternoon in SMU's Moody Coliseum, sitting about on the 50-yard line, we guess they call it. Best seats in the house.

The Coliseum is designed for minimum space and maximum height, resulting in the spectators looking straight down. In this position you can't identify the players unless you recognize the bald spots beginning to grow atop their heads.

Observing from this position, the players are foreshortened and they look no taller than you or I.

This illusion that you and I are supermen, too, was dastardly ruined, quite innocently, when Joe Hamilton, the rookie from North Texas, trotted onto the floor. He is five feet 10, and even from overhead you could see he wasn't any John Beasley, who is 6-9.

But who wants to talk about basketball?

The Sunday afternoon crowds at Chaparral games take on the flavor of neighborhood picnics.

THE WOMEN look like they just stepped out of the kitchen and the men just arose from their easy chair where they had been snoozing after Sunday dinner. There was no high style here. Some women had babies in their arms.

Circling the court, close in, was the usual fringe of kids hoping to snare an out-of-bounds ball and throw it back and thereby become the hero of the moment.

The Chaps have a gigantic roster of the players at the east end of the court where you can see how many points each has scored at any moment.

The figures are put in place there by three micro-mini-skirted young ladies.

The scoreboard is so large that the young ladies must drag out an aluminum ladder and climb it to revise the point totals.

It is an awfully awkward arrangement, but there is not a girl-watcher in the world who would change the system.

Star of the half-time show was a little thing named Victoria Vetri who says she is auburn-haired but who looks like a blonde to most people.

She was there to plug a motion picture, "When Dinosaurs Ruled the Earth," in which she stars.

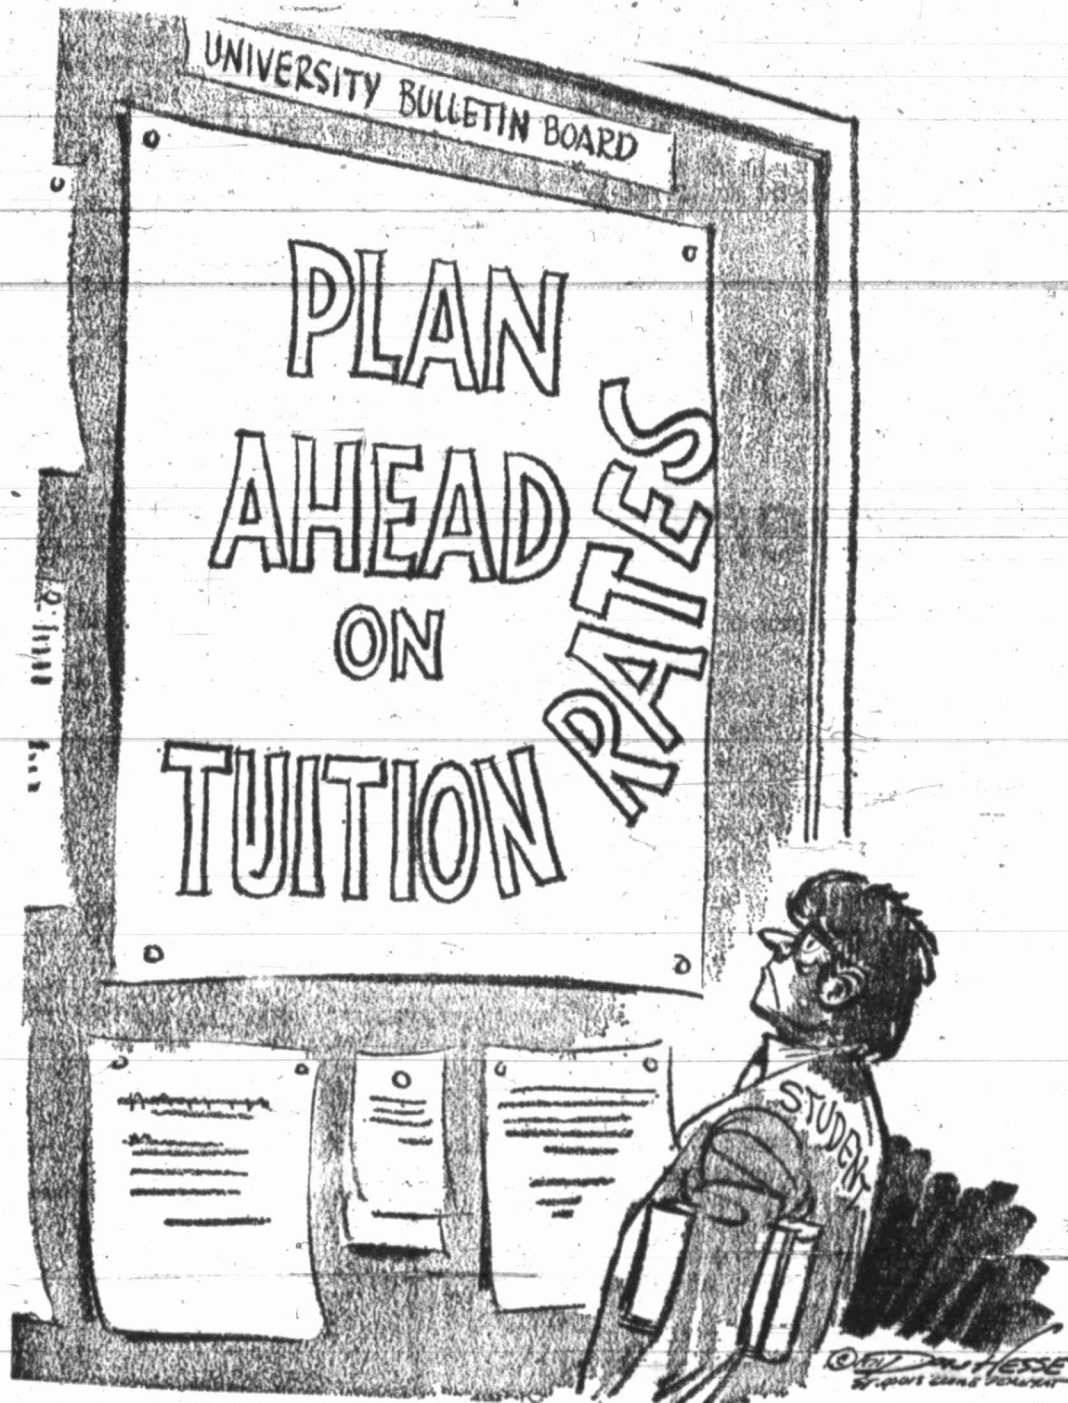

Presumably she is a star. Certainly her measurements alone should win her an Oscar at 37-21-35.

THE MAN introducing Miss Vetri invited her to shoot at the basket, and after acting coy for a moment, she did.

Anyway, she shot as well as the Chaps did in the first half, missing the basket by only 10 feet.

Except for the kids, who got in free, Moody Coliseum looked deserted and it appeared the Chaps weren't going to get rich out of this game.

Then at the half the place quickly filled, and suddenly you knew why. The Apollo 14 blastoff had occurred moments before. Not from Moody Coliseum. The space people did that from some place in Florida. It would have been a good halftime show, though.

One-Number Banking

John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — The situation still persists in some banks, in which you wait at one window to transact business for your checking account, another for your savings, and another for mortgage payments.

"It's sort of like going to the supermarket and paying for your carrots at one register, your steaks at another, instead of gathering all your purchases into one basket and paying for them at one checkout counter."

"One day the guy who runs our bank said, 'This is really dumb; a bank of all places, wasting money.' That, allegedly, is how the Beverly Bancorporation of Chicago sized up the situation."

"We should do something about it," they quoted their guy as saying, presumably to all the other fellows in the executive bull pen. "And lo and behold we did," the bank says in a brochure. "We created total banking by computer."

At Beverly Bank and nine others operated by the Bancorporation, customers now have a single number for savings, checking accounts and mortgage. They can transact all their business at one window. And they receive one monthly statement.

The bank benefits in numerous ways: it consolidates files, eliminates the confusion of multiple business units at different points in the facility, and finds it easier to use one service to sell another.

Beverly was one of the first to switch permanently and completely to one-statement, one-number, one-window banking. But hundreds have followed.

"It's like a Christmas tree," says a spokesman for Seattle First National which has integrated its credit card into a one - one system called First Line Account.

"We intend to use other services on it also. Some banks will have installment loans, savings bonds, mortgages, savings, checking, credit card all on one statement."

Industry officials generally agree that the growing interest in one-number, one-statement banking is not only a logical development but the biggest thing since Supercheck swept the scene last year with tremendous vibrations.

Bits And Pieces

One thing and another: Capsule report on marriage in these inflationary times: Two can still live as cheaply as one, but it costs twice as much.

Believe me, flying saucers date far back. When I was a boy, however, only married men saw them.

George Washington once stood in a small boat — and violated all the safety rules. Capsizing is a major cause of boating accidents and standing in a small boat is the easiest way to make it turn turtle. Your chances to get to shore are a lot better if you stay seated.

Someone said recently that parents should pull a few wires if they want their children to concentrate more on their school work — telephone, ignition and television.

GEORGE WASHINGTON had one of the most interesting hobbies of all the nation's presidents: He relished the chance to watch a cock fight. Most sports minded of all, the presidents was Theodore Roosevelt. He boxed 10 rounds the night before he was sworn in as chief executive.

Words to live by: The late President John F. Kennedy: "Our greatest adversary is not the Russians. It is our unwillingness to do what must be done."

A SURE WAY to get ahead in this world, according to Willard Wirtz, one-time Undersecretary of Labor, is to:

1—Get to the office early, depart last, and, when you go home, leave the lights on; 2—Telephone other officials whom you wish to impress before they come to work in the morning and after they go home at night. Be sure to leave a message that you called; 3—Defend against the above tactic — train your co-worker or secretary to say you have just left for a conference with a VIP.

IT'S THOSE times when I'm preparing to leave a freeway in some metropolitan area that I dearly wish I had taken a course in speed reading. How else can you keep from going to exits past the place you intended to depart the thoroughfare?

Threat To Canal

Omar Burleson

WASHINGTON — For the last several years a dense fog has hung over the Panama Canal — figuratively, that is.

Six years and $21 million after it was created, the Atlantic-Pacific Inter-oceanic Canal Study Commission has submitted a report of more than 1,000 pages to President Nixon. From what has been seen and read of the report, it is more impressive from size than contents.

THE COMMISSION did recommend to the White House a site for a new sea-level canal, across Central America, about 10 miles west of the existing lock canal, at a cost of $2,800,000,000. Other than this recommendation the report seems to raise more problems than it solves.

The two great artificial waterways of the world, the Suez and the Panama Canals, are in sharp focus now to all the world. The Suez Canal has long been closed by Egypt while the Panama Canal has never been closed by the United States except for repairs to locks.

STRANGELY ENOUGH, the nation most desirous of opening the Suez Canal is the Soviet Union, an ally of Egypt. Once the Suez is open, the winter-land-locked Soviets will have control of a warm water route from the Black Sea through the Suez and the Red Sea to the Indian Ocean. Soviet shipping is awaiting at Port Sudan and Aden and, as is well known, is greatly increasing their ship traffic in the Indian Ocean. In time of war the enormous Russian fleet will be free to roam in about all the oceans and seas of the world.

This is mentioned to point out the strategic importance of the United States in maintaining control over the Panama Canal. It is a reason why the Communists have for years attempted to subvert United States sovereignty over the canal and continue to do so.

IT IS DISTURBING, therefore, that the Presidential Commission, appointed in 1964, has now delivered to the President recommendations which would require the United States to give up its sovereignty in the Canal Zone and build a new sea-level canal under international control. The report, if approved and implemented, would require the negotiation of new treaties, give Panama participation in the canal operation, income and policies affecting the security of our nation.

The example of the Suez Canal should remind us that when the British and French gave up sovereignty and ownership, treaty rights they maintained were of little value. The Soviets immediately moved into the vacuum left by the British and French and now they are in a position to gain what they have been seeking for 50 years.

IT SHOULD BE obvious that a defense treaty with Panama would be of little or no value if we did not maintain the right of sovereignty in the defense of the canal. There would be little point in sharing the responsibility of defending it, if Panama should be given ultimate authority in decisions. The Panamanian Government is subject to instability, as has been seen a number of times in recent years.

The Panama Canal is too important to us to surrender it to other hands.

Ski Tourers

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — This winter there are probably about 50,000 ski tourers in the northeast, a state agency says, and the number doubles every second year.

Special Service

BUFFALO (AP) — City residents will be able to dial an operator or the 911 police-fire, emergency number without depositing money at any of the city's 600 outdoor pay telephones by early 1972, the New York Telephone Co. has announced.

Lindsay In Line?

Andrew Tully

WASHINGTON — John V. Lindsay is the worst mayor in the history of New York City — which has had a lot of atrocious ones — and he will give the candidates of both parties the fright of their lives in the 1972 Presidential campaign.

Mostly, this shows the poor personality profile of the other candidates, including President Nixon. None of them so far has managed to excite the electorate. On the other hand, and unfortunately for this poor Republic, Lindsay has charisma — which in this age means he's handsome, articulate, charming and looks good on television.

PRIVATELY, even John Lindsay must wonder about this curious state of affairs. He has steered New York into virtual bankruptcy, undermined police authority, made the relief program a sordid joke, capitulated to the city's lawless labor unions. In so doing, he apparently has written a new textbook on how to become a Presidential candidate.

All over the country, mayors of both parties have stamped Lindsay as their candidate. In the spirit of 1964, they have declared that failure is success. Even in public, influential Democratic leaders eye him wistfully. The Gallup Poll reports that Lindsay showed the highest favorable rating — 81 per cent — among college students, most of whom will be able to vote in 1972.

IT IS NO WONDER that certain White House staffers have leaked the intelligence that President Nixon is considering Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., among others, as a running mate next year. And that Hatfield dutifully told a television audience that of course he would support Nixon for re-election.

THIS IS NOT to say that Nixon is running scared — yet. He is confident he'll have all American ground troops out of Vietnam by 1972's summer, that inflation will be under control, that unemployment will be reduced. But Lindsay's celebrity clearly has prompted the President to entertain serious thoughts about giving his ticket the liberal flavor it would lack with the renomination of Spiro Agnew.

MEANWHILE, Nixon and the Democratic candidates might find comfort in pondering Lindsay's sources of strength. He appeals to two major constituencies — the youth and the blacks. Neither had enough muscle to beat Nixon in 1968. It should be noted that a lot of young people and blacks copied out when Hubert Humphrey was nominated — but it also must be pointed out that the electorate in many big, usually liberal, cities is moving to the center, if not to the right.

OBVIOUSLY, Lindsay believes he can halt this trend, possibly by sheer force of political charm, even though his two opponents polled more votes in his last victorious run for the mayoralty in 1969. Obviously, a large number of politicians in both parties agree. It all suggests that the 1972 Presidential race will wind up as a beauty contest.

Poor Eating—Poor Teeth

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail: Each year one out of seven Americans spends some time as a hospital patient.

Even the cost of reading about the U.S. government is going up. The monthly price of a subscription to the Congressional Record has been increased from $1.50 to $3.75, a hike of 150 per cent. In 1983, when the Record was started, Uncle Sam spent about $265 million. In fiscal 1972 federal spending will come to about $230 billion.

Are you that one out of 500 persons who never gets any dental cavities? Perhaps chiefly because of poor eating habits. 50 per cent of U.S. children have some form of gum disease. Because the beginning stages are painless, it may not be spotted until the child visits a dentist.

What did President Theodore Roosevelt, President John Kennedy and bandleader John Philip Sousa have in common? All three had the same unusual hobby—collecting wildfowl decoys.

Man is the most voracious and wasteful creature that ever lived. It took nature several hundred million years to store up the fossil fuels—such as coal, oil and gas—which mankind will have largely depleted in a 400-year span.

Irony: More men than women now consult psychiatrists, but many more women than men are inmates of mental institutions.

Pick up a horseshoe, a rusty nail or a crooked pin, and you'll have good luck.

Chapel In Batik

NELSON, B.C., Canada (AP) — When the sun rises over the mountains in this West Kootenay community, its light streams through the glowing colors of 16 batik panels framed in the east windows of the chapel of Notre Dame University. Depicting scenes from the life of Christ, the panels were designed and executed by Mary Baravalle, wife of E. D. Baravalle, registrar of the university. "I tried to emulate the colors of old stained glass, using mostly strong primary colors," said Mrs. Baravalle.

My Answer

Billy Graham

Due to illness I am burdened by debts. What's the use in trying to live right anymore. I thought of praying for financial help. Is this wrong?

M.T. When you were a little boy you did not hesitate to tell your father about your problems and your needs. Do exactly the same thing with God, your Heavenly Father. Go to Him in the name of His Son, your Savior, and tell Him every difficulty and ask Him to open things up for you.

However, in your question you intimate that "we try to live right" only because things are going as we want them to go. I am sure that you realize that when we live close to God there are times when things around us all seem to go wrong. The Bible tells us that there are times when God permits all kinds of troubles and sorrows to come into our lives, not that He does not love us but rather that these difficulties should drive us closer to Him in trust and dependence. The Bible says: "For whom the Lord loveth He chasteneth, and scourgeth every son whom He receiveth." This is done in love and it is for our good. Remember that He has promised that "all things work together for good to them that love God." Give your heart completely to Him and put all of your problems and troubles in His hands. You will find when you do this that He has a way out for you.

A Devotion For Today...

All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made. (John 1:3)
PRAYER: O Lord, thank you for Your abiding Word. Help us to put confidence in You, the infinite, all-knowing, and all-wise God. Amen.

Just Tell 'Em

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter married a man last spring of whom we violently disapproved. She became pregnant immediately. Her husband asked her to get an abortion. She refused, so he tore her wedding ring from her finger and literally threw her out of their apartment and took her key. She then came home to live with us.

Our problem: She wants to send birth announcements to out-of-town friends and relatives when the baby is born, but she is bitter about her husband and does not want his name to appear on the announcements. I believe that since he is the baby's father and is still her husband until she takes steps to divorce him, (which she has not done), his name should be on the announcements. Or may we, as the grandparents, send out birth announcements in order to exclude his name from the card? Please hurry your advice as the baby is due soon.

COMPLICATED MESS: Such "complicated messes" are not covered by my good friend, Amy, the etiquette expert, so your best bet is to use common sense.

To those whom your daughter wants to send the news of her new arrival, a personal note should suffice. ("I've had a baby and am home with mother and dad again," should do it.) An announcement in which the father's name is deliberately omitted would raise questions which would have to be answered later.

DEAR ABBY: What can a fat man do about flabbiness? A woman has it easy. She can just put on a girdle and it helps to firm her up so she doesn't look like she is spreading all over the place. I suppose a man could do the same thing, but in today's society no normal man would be caught dead in a lady's girdle.

FAT MAN

DEAR FAT MAN: There are girdles for men. Ask around.

DEAR ABBY: What do you do when you are 11 years old and your mother still makes you take a bath with your 4-year-old brother? No matter how much I protest, she makes me.

TOO BIG

DEAR TOO: You don't say whether you are a boy or a girl. If you are a boy, perhaps your mother is trying to conserve hot water, in which case, I suggest you cool it. (Not the water — the protest.) If you are a girl, tell her that Abby said a girl deserves to have privacy when she feels she needs it. Case dismissed! Good luck.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

ELGIN, Ill. (AP) — Barbara Asp loves appaloosa horses and wins championships with them. Her collection of trophies includes those for Chief Luscious Pokey who won the Chicago International last year along with the state title as a yearling and came right back this year to win as a two-year-old.

She won the Illinois Appaloosa Yearling Championship this year with Chief Powders Dawn. She has trailed the two horses more than 10,000 miles for shows at the Houston Astro-dome, Huron, S.D., and will travel to the Dixie National in Louisiana early in 1971.

Neck Traction

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would much consequence can cause like to know just what "neck traction" is for arthritic changes in bones of the neck and back. — Mrs. F.H.

Not all arthritis is of a serious nature. Virtually all of us, by the time we reach the mature years, have some arthritic changes. This has been well demonstrated by examining large numbers of people.

Merely having such changes doesn't mean that we necessarily have any pain, or difficulty in walking or in the use of arms and hands. It's seemingly just a part of aging — even the bones of dinosaurs show that they had such changes, too.

However, sometimes changes that otherwise wouldn't be of there at all, but is really at the point where the nerves are getting some pressure, at the spine. I don't say "pinched" just under a bit of pressure.

That is often the explanation of complaints such as, "My arms and hands go to sleep at night, but they lose the numbness after I get up." When such people go to bed, it changes the position of the bones, so pressure develops.

Anyway, in certain cases, perhaps painful, perhaps annoying in other ways, the trouble can be alleviated by drawing the bones of the spine apart slightly. And I mean slightly! Just enough to relieve pressure on some set of nerves or other.

And that is done by "neck traction." Often this is a rather simple procedure, with a pulley contrivance that can be hitched to the top of a doorway. Then a chin strap or similar harness is attached to one's head. This in turn is attached to a weight, from 5 to 10 pounds, which exerts an upward pull at the head. The real purpose is to draw the bones of the spine just a tiny bit apart, as well as stretch tense muscles.

There are all sorts of varieties of this technique, depending on the individual case, but that's the principle. Traction is fairly prevalently used, and perhaps should be used more often than it is. It will often provide relief for a long period of time.

Arthritis sufferers can be helped. Dr. Thosteson's booklet discusses many types of arthritis and related joint diseases as well as outlining effective treatments and medications. For a copy of "How You Can Control Arthritis" write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Inaugural Dance

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (AP) — Peter MacDonald, who was inaugurated in January as Navajo Tribal chairman, decided to hold, for the first time in tribal history, an inaugural dance.

He decreed, however, that two dances be held on the sprawling reservation which stretches over sections of Arizona, New Mexico and Utah.

Nicklaus Sets Eye On Bigger Targets

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — Nobody has ever won the PGA, U.S. Open, Masters and British Open in the same year.

Jack Nicklaus has it on his mind.

"I've got one leg and I'm thinking about the Masters," he said. "And, that's a golf course I know I can play."

The svelte Golden Bear shot 73 Sunday for a seven-under-par 281 total to win the 53rd Professional Golfers Association Championship at the tough PGA National Golf Club.

"Normally, I head for the Masters trying to get a first leg on the Big Four," said the 31-year-old fairways giant. "This time I've got the first leg."

The PGA, normally the last of the Big Four events in August, was moved to February for one time only.

The Masters comes up in April at Augusta, Ga., the U.S. Open is scheduled at Merion Country Club at Ardmore, Pa., in June and the British Open at Royal Birkdale at Southport, England, in July.

TOUGH COURSE

Merion, one of the nation's classic courses, was the site of Ben Hogan's victory in the 1951 U.S. Open. Bantam Ben shot a four-round total of 287.

Nicklaus played Merion as an amateur. His 72-hole aggregate was an astounding 268, 19 shots better than Hogan.

Hogan won the Masters, U.S. Open and British Open in 1953, then didn't enter the PGA.

Arnold Palmer was the latest threat to score the Grand Slam in one year. The golfing idol from Pennsylvania took the Masters and U.S. Open and then lost in Britain to Australian Ken Nagel during a rain-delayed final round.

"All pro golfers try to set themselves apart from the rest," said Nicklaus. "The major championships do this. I've got 11 now and want to win more than anybody who ever lived."

Bobby Jones is the leader with 13. Nicklaus and Walter Hagen have 11 and Palmer, eight.

WASN'T WORRIED

Nicklaus' road to Sunday's PGA triumph was a bit rocky. The Ohio Bomber bogeyed three of the opening five holes and led by one shot on several occasions.

"I wasn't ever really worried," he said. "I knew if I did my part, I would win."

Nicklaus began the day with a four-stroke lead over Gary Player, five on Gibby Gilbert and seven shots over the other also-rans.

As it turned out, Billy Casper, a two-time U.S. Open king, made a charge at the end to finish two behind Nicklaus and 52-year-old smooth swinger Tommy Bolt shot a closing 69 to take third at 284.

"I never looked at the names, only the numbers on the scoreboard," Nicklaus said. "I knew where I stood."

Nicklaus' putting keyed his 11th major championship and the tip that made it possible.

Playoff Spots Are Undecided

By The Associated Press

The races for two National Basketball Association playoff berths apparently are going right down to the wire, but even Alfred Hitchcock would have trouble writing suspense into the Cleveland Cavaliers' script.

While the Detroit Pistons nipped the Atlanta Hawks 106-105 Sunday, while the New York Knicks held off Baltimore 110-104 with a late burst, while the Milwaukee Bucks were rallying to beat Boston 111-99...

While all this was going on, the hapless Cavaliers were being demolished by Los Angeles in a 61-36 first half en route to a 107-90 shellacking.

In another contest, the Philadelphia 76ers turned back Cincinnati 131-121.

Detroit's nettle victory enabled the Pistons to pick up ground on both second-place Chicago and third-place Phoenix in the Midwest Division, but they still trail the Bulls by three games and the Suns by two.

With the Pistons trailing Atlanta 105-103, Bob Lanier's three-point play with 40 seconds left put them in front and Jimmy Walker wrapped it up with two free throws 30 seconds later.

"Deane Beman told me I wasn't finishing my backswing on putts," Nicklaus said. "He helped me before. I stopped playing bridge and went outside at 11 p.m. to hit some balls on the Astroturf around my pool."

That moonlight episode spurred Nicklaus to his "best putting tournament ever" in a week where his key shots on the green kept the long hitter from Columbus a step ahead of the field.

Casper, who leaves today for a golfing trip to Morocco where he'll play as guest of King Hassan II, sat in the press tent as Nicklaus birdied the 17th hole and parred No. 18 to win by two.

"I figured I'd be a couple short," said Casper. "I began the day with the idea that a good round might enable me to finish second, if I did."

A large crowd was on hand to see the final round when Airport-Cedar Crest nudged Park Hill 26-24 for third place.

David Rodriguez had 10 points for the winner, and Del Poss 9 for Park Hill.

In second round games, Kentwood outscored Airport 57-42 with Casey Wilder hitting 30 points and David Rodriguez 28.

Washington carried out Park Hill 34-20 on Tommy Churchwell's 24 points, followed by Bubba Stripling with 8 for Park Hill.

All tournament choices were Elroy Green and Dan Crosby (Lakeview), Allen Parlee (Moss), Daren Crooks (Boydston), Phil Woods (College Heights), David Rodriguez (Airport-Cedar Crest), Bubba Stripling and Del Poss (Park Hill), Steve Evans (Kentwood), Chris Burrow (Washington Place), plus the unanimous choices.

Trophies went to the top teams, and were supplied by Newsom's, Prager's, General Welding Supply, Jay's Farm and Ranch Supply, and Barber and Mirror. The sportsmanship trophy was won by Boydston.

Countdown For Derby Starts

By The Associated Press

The countdown starts this week for the Kentucky Derby, America's most glamorous horse race.

The $100,000 Flamingo Stakes at Hialeah Park in Florida Wednesday is the first major stepping stone leading to the Triple Crown Classic at Churchill Downs in May.

After the Flamingo, other major steps in the countdown include the Wood Memorial, the Louisiana Derby, the Arkansas Derby, the Santa Anita Derby and the Blue Grass Stakes.

Three prominent Derby hopefuls are expected to go in the Flamingo at 1 1/4 miles. They are His Majesty, Jim French and Executioner. The probable field may also include Eastern Fleet, Bold and Able and Twist the Axe.

Foster Says No One Will Recognize Or Pay Him

By The Associated Press

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — Bob Foster is disillusioned with the light-heavyweight championship. "I'll fight anybody if they'll put the money up," said Foster after arriving here for his Tuesday night title defense against Hal "TNT" Carroll, of Syracuse, N.Y.

"Nobody wants to put money up," said the 6-foot-3 Foster. "Foster was trying to explain why he had to fight for 'peanuts' in Scranton while only six days later Muhammad Ali and Joe Frazier meet for the heavyweight title for $2.5 million each."

Then why did he have to guarantee Dick Tiger $100,000 in 1968 to get a shot at the 175 pound championship?

"They knew I'd beat Tiger. That's why it cost me," Foster said. "These guys (today's light-heavyweights) know they can't beat me. They sit around and rely on the WBA to snatch the title for them."

That's exactly what the World Boxing Association did. It decided that Foster hadn't defended his title within a reasonable time against a worthy opponent. The WBA said it would recognize Vincent "Rondeau" who knocked out Jimmy Dupree Saturday night.

Kentwood Is Gra-Y Champ

Kentwood captured the city Gra-Y basketball title Saturday evening in a blistering game with Washington Place, 43-40.

Once again it was the story of sharpshooting by Casey Wilder, who poured in 26 points for the victors. Tommy Churchwell had 17 for Washington.

These two were the only unanimous all-tournament choices. Casey had 80 points in three games and Tommy 57. Both of their teams will go Saturday to Lubbock to take part in the regional YMCA race. If they place in the top four, they are eligible to go the following week to Waco for the state finals.

Boos and whistles of derision broke out from the crowd when Miss Schuba went to the victory stand.

When Miss Lynn appeared at rinkside a bedlam of cheering broke out and the crowd chanted "Lynn, Lynn, Lynn."

Miss Schuba was disheartened by the display.

The 20-year-old Viennese bookkeeper is recognized as one of the great skaters of compulsory figures but only a couple of hundred people—competitors, coaches and parents—were on hand when she built up her big lead in a specialty which has little spectator interest.

This was the first year since 1965 that the United States has not won a gold medal in the world championship.

Miss Holmes' silver medal was the highest American placing. Judy Schwemmer of Indianapolis and Jim Sladky of Syracuse, N.Y., got the bronze medal in the dance event.

Russia took two gold medals— from the pairs and dance— plus one silver and one bronze. Czechoslovakia and Austria each got one gold medal.

France and West Germany each got a silver medal. Canada got one bronze.

Yanks Have Poor Record In Skate Test

LYON, France (AP) — An unrewarded triumph by Janet Lynn was the high spot of a disappointing medal harvest for Americans at the World Figure Skating Championships which ended Saturday night.

Miss Lynn, pert and smiling, dazzled the capacity crowd in the Lyon Sports Palace with a scintillating free skating exhibition that completely charmed spectators and judges alike.

The judges gave her the highest marks passed out during the four nights of competition—but they weren't enough to hoist her above fourth place, and she missed a medal.

Trixi Schuba of Austria had practically won the women's gold medal in skating the compulsory figures which count for 50 per cent of the final total.

Julie Holmes, of South Pasadena, Calif., and Tulsa, Okla., took second place, and Karen Magnusson of Canada third.

Miss Lynn, 17, of Rockford, Ill., had been placed fifth in the compulsory and even one of the best free skating exhibitions of her life couldn't pull her into the top three.

Boos and whistles of derision broke out from the crowd when Miss Schuba went to the victory stand.

Foyt Capitalizes On Petty's Miscue In Speedway Event

ONTARIO, Calif. (AP) — Texan A. J. Foyt and the Wood Brothers put it all together in fine style for a hard-fought lucrative victory in the first Miller 500 Grand National race for stockcars.

The face, in bright sunshine and balmy weather, on the new Ontario Motor Speedway high-octane course, earned the veteran driver prize and lap money totaling $51,800. It drew 75,000 spectators.

Foyt piloted a thoroughly prepared 1969 Mercury that seemed never to falter during the grueling 3-hour 43-minute race Sunday. The machine was prepared and serviced by the expert Wood Brothers—one of the world's best pit crews.

The reputation was tested just before the race's half way point, when Foyt's crew scurried to put on two tires and add 20 gallons of fuel in just 18 seconds.

Second, and winning $15,150 for the effort, was Buddy Baker of Charlotte, N.C., followed by Richard Petty of Randelman, N.C., who earned $11,950.

The veteran winner had bested the best of NASCAR's drivers on the new $25.5 million course. His average speed—134.168 m.p.h.

ed the best of NASCAR's drivers on the new $25.5 million course. His average speed—134.168 m.p.h.

Foyt, one of the winningest drivers the sport has ever known, beat Baker across the finish line by only 8.5 seconds, with Petty trailing by another 11 seconds.

One of the day's biggest chunks of bad luck hit Petty with less than 50 miles to go. He was leading with Foyt a half lap behind when he dived behind the wall to make a pit stop.

He missed his own pit by several feet and was forced to drive around the track and try again.

During this second attempt he was passed by Foyt, who never gave back the lead.

Placing in order behind Petty were 1970 Grand National Champion Bobby Isaac of Catawba, N.C., Dick Brooks of Porterville, Calif., and LeeRoy Yarbrough of Columbia, S.C.

NIT AND NCAA

Tourney Berths Shape

By The Associated Press

Marquette and Fordham expect a ring and Memphis State hopes against a runaround Tuesday when invitations go out for the post-season college basketball tournaments.

The NCAA probably will tap Marquette and Fordham for at-large berths, but the NIT could be looking past Memphis State.

"Now that we've won our 18th game, it would be very disappointing if we didn't get an NIT bid," said Memphis State Coach Gene Bartow after the Tigers pounded Wichita State 85-77 Saturday night and threw the Missouri Valley Conference race into turmoil.

Memphis, with an 18-7 record, is 5-5 in the Missouri Valley race and still has a chance to catch front-running Louisville, 8-4. Winner of the conference gets an automatic berth in the NCAA tournament—something Bartow wouldn't turn down, either.

Another club which hopes to join Memphis State in New York this month is UC-Santa Barbara, with a 20-6 record against some pretty tough competition. Hawaii is in with a 22-4 record.

OTHER ASPIRANTS

Other teams considered NIT material are St. John's of New York; Providence; Holy Cross; Syracuse; Rutgers; Massachusetts and St. Bonaventure.

The NCAA, meanwhile, has several entrants already—Penn. Western Kentucky, University of the Pacific, Miami of Ohio and Weber State. All have won conference championships.

Penn. the country's fourth-ranked team, plastered Yale 93-63 Saturday night to win its second straight Ivy League crown; Western Kentucky, No. 9, clouted Murray State 73-59 to cop the Ohio Valley Conference for the second straight year; Loyola 88-75 to take the West Coast Athletic Conference.

Miami, Ohio, won the Mid-American Conference and Weber State took the Big Sky Conference last week.

Marquette's whirlaway Warriors have won 23 games this year and 35 in a row and must be considered the number one independent choice from the Midwest region by the NCAA selection committee. Fordham's cinderella team from New York with a 21-2 mark appeared to be a likely choice from the East.

Denver Makes Nifty Comeback

By The Associated Press

Denver was losing the battle, but finally won the war after Larry Cannon went off.

The Rockets trailed Memphis 62-56 at the half, but got rolling behind Cannon's second-half scoring to pound the Pros 118-111 in the American Basketball Association Sunday night.

Cannon fired in 33 points and teammate Tom Workman shot 27 to pace Denver's comeback.

In other games, Pittsburgh beat Indiana 113-110, the Floridians ripped Virginia 136-128, Kentucky slammed Carolina 122-112 and Utah defeated Texas 125-123.

Thoeni became the first man to score two victories in one meet this season.

Barbara Ann Cochran of Richmond, Vt., also won slalom and giant slalom events on Heavenly Valley's slopes for the first women's double victory of the season.

THE VEGA DRIVE IS ON

There's a very good reason we're trying to get you to come in and drive a Vega: If you drive one, you'll want to buy one. Because Vega is a great car to drive. For lots and lots of reasons. First off, Vega is little, so it's maneuverable. Yet Vega is very stable for a little car because of its wide stance and low center of gravity. Vega is also very peppy for a little car. Its 140-cubic-inch overhead cam engine lets you merge onto freeways and climb steep hills with ease. And once you get a Vega going, it's easy to get it stopped, thanks to the big 10-inch front disc brakes. One more thing. Just sitting still in a Vega is quite an experience. Its foam-filled front bucket seats are amazingly comfortable. Stop in today. Drive a Vega. Then, let's talk. You'll be impressed.

NEWSPAPER MELODRAMA 'Big Story' Moral: Don't Get Involved

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Incident in San Francisco," an ABC film feature and pilot for a projected series, apparently is based on a theory that it's about time to get back to the good old-fashioned newspaper melodrama.

Maybe it is: The Sunday night program was a busy two hours, so well produced and so updated with contemporary situations that they almost concealed the presence of all the stereotypes found in "The Front Page," TV's early "Big Story," and old Frank McHugh movies.

PEPPERY PUBLISHER

The implicit moral of the show was "don't get involved."

It was the story of a man who did, a substantial citizen played by Richard Kiley. He was returning to a parking lot for his car and found three young bullies roughing up an elderly musician. He waded in on impulse and when two of the toughs had fled, one boy had fallen to his death and the old man was in critical condition. All witnesses had disappeared.

The Good Samaritan found himself under police investigation, charged with homicide, his job in balance and stuck with an expensive lawyer's fees.

Enter the young reporter, played by Christopher Connelly who presumably would have the lead in the series. He, practically alone, believed the man's story and sets out to find witnesses. There was the mandatory cynical editor with the heart of gold and the peppery publisher.

The search for witnesses turned up a syndicate overlord, a victim afraid his sordid police history would be publicized, and one eyewitness who claimed up until after the final commercial—a silence which helped bring about the big fight scene at the end.

ADULTS ONLY

NBC's "Children's Theatre"

Saturday morning was probably as interesting to grownups as it was to the young audience. Called "Circus Town," it was an excellent report on circus buff of Peru, Ind.—some 2,000 ranging in age from 6 to golden-agers who spend months each year producing a big, amateur show.

The most unusual part showed the training and practice sessions. We saw a small boy struggling with protective ropes learning to do a back flip. There was a little girl being instructed on locking her thumbs around a trapeze bar before taking a little swing. A retired circus bareback rider was teaching beginners how to keep their balance on a trampoline.

"Joyce and Barbara: For Adults Only," the latest of the proliferating syndicated talk shows, was unveiled on a New York station Saturday night. The titillating promise of the title proved illusory and the half-hour is pegged on the theory that two female interviewers asking gossip-column and women's magazine type questions are better than one well-prepared questioner.

Joyce Susskind's husband David produces the show and Barbara Howard has developed a sort of Rona Barrett TV style. The half hour seen in New York centered on David Frost.

Knights Receive District Honor

The Big Spring Commandery No. 31, Knights Templar, has been presented the coveted Gilbough Banner award. The award goes to the top commandery each year in District 9.

"We are very proud of this honor," Commander T. R. Morris said. The annual inspection this year was conducted by C. W. Westbrook, grand captain of the guard of the Grand Commandery of Texas.

Big Allied Drive In Laos Begins Its Fourth Week

SAIGON (AP) — American transports flew hundreds of South Vietnamese reinforcements to the northern front today and the U.S. Command sent more helicopters to strengthen the allied air and ground drive in Laos.

The drive to cut North Vietnam's Ho Chi Minh trail network began its fourth week. The intensity of the fighting eased somewhat, but an American field commander predicted hard fighting ahead.

Some of the reinforcements already are crossing into Laos to bolster the weary men strung along Route 9 and to the north, and south of the highway. A spokesman in Saigon, Lt. Col. Tran Van An, said South Vietnamese strength across the border remains at 16,000 troops, but the South Vietnamese have suffered more than 1,000 casualties. Informal sources said up to 16,000 additional troops were being flown to the northern sector.

99 MISSING

South Vietnamese forward headquarters issued a revised casualty report which said 390 Saigon troops have been killed, 99 are missing and 981 have been wounded in Laos. Field reports indicate the losses are much higher. The report also claimed that 3,227 North Vietnamese troops have been killed.

Maj. Richard Gardner, a spokesman for the U.S. Command, said 1,400 of the enemy had been killed by American air strikes.

Scores of scheduled military passenger flights were canceled, and the four-engine C130s diverted to the reinforcement missions.

SHOT DOWN

Gardner said additional American helicopters had been moved to Khe Sanh to support the Laotian operation, but he refused to say how many. Other sources said they would replace those shot down and also would increase the fleet, which numbered about 600 at the start of the Laotian operation.

Lt. Gen. James W. Sutherland, commander of the 9,000 U.S. troops acting as a blocking force on the Vietnamese side of the border, said the North Vietnamese appear to be marshaling all their forces for an attempt to thwart the allied effort to cut the supply network through southern Laos.

"This is it," said Sutherland. "The enemy has chosen to react with everything he's got left so it appears we'll have to fight him right here."

Very little contact was reported in the Laotian operation Sunday night and this morning.

Field reports said the remnants of a North Vietnamese regiment had withdrawn after five days of heavy fighting from around Hill 31, the South Vietnamese paratrooper base north of Highway 9 and about 12 miles inside Laos. Both sides suffered heavy losses, military sources said.

CREW RESCUED

The paratroopers are still operating all around Hill 31 but are not on top of it, the reports said.

The U.S. Command announced the loss of another helicopter in Laos Sunday. The crew was rescued, but one man was wounded.

Hard fighting continued in eastern Cambodia, where 23,000 South Vietnamese troops are trying to destroy North Vietnamese base camps and supply depots. Saigon headquarters said its troops battled two North Vietnamese battalions on Sunday three miles northwest of Snuol and killed 47 out of an enemy force estimated at more than 500 men. Two South Vietnamese were reported killed and 23 wounded.

The U.S. Command announced that American troop strength in Vietnam dropped 4,400 men last week to total 326,200, the lowest level since October 1966. The command also announced the phasing out of 16 Army units, including the first three from the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry division, and said this will mean a further reduction of 3,280 men.

For Howard Co.
In U.S. Bonds

County Bond Chairman Robert Currie announced that the 1971 United States Savings Bond sales goal for Howard County is $600,000. January sales were $54,527 with 9 per cent of goal achieved.

During January Texas sales amounted to $17,375,765 — an increase of 9.5 per cent over the total January, 1970, sales of $15,840,000.

This is 10 per cent of the annual dollar goal of $181.9 million.

Farm Bureau Planning $3.1 Million Home Office

Plans for constructing a new Texas Farm Bureau home office building in Waco and several bureau programs and activities were discussed in a District 6 conference of county Farm Bureau presidents recently in Big Spring.

Construction on the four-story, contemporary design building of approximately 100,000 square feet, is expected to start in the near future, according to Howard County Bureau President Derwood Blagrove, who represented the local organization at the conference.

The headquarters will be located on a suburban site overlooking Lake Waco in northwest Waco. Funds for the new structure will come from contributions, through membership dues, given by bureau members over the past 19 years.

Total cost of the edifice, including 59 acres of land on which the building will be located, is $3.1 million. Low bidder on the construction was Smith Building Co., of Waco.

The bureau has outgrown its present office quarters, located in the Citizen National Motor Ramp bank building in Waco. The state's largest general farm organization has 121,158 member families in 204 organized county farm bureaus.

Other matters discussed at the meeting included: state and national legislative issues, program expansion activities, coordination of county and state farm bureau programs, responsibilities of county and state farm bureau leaders, and a financial report from the state farm bureau.

Tobacco Firms In Good Health Despite Ad Bans

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Cigarette manufacturers say they're doing all right despite antismoking campaigns and a government ban on television and radio advertising.

The surveys said profits increased even more because of higher prices.

Palmer predicted the federal ban on television and radio cigarette advertising, which went into effect the first of this year, would have little influence on cigarette consumption.

He said the companies have switched to other forms of advertising, including newspapers, magazines and billboards.

The American Cancer Society, which along with the U.S. Public Health Service has led the fight against cigarette smoking, says its surveys show nearly two-thirds of the adult population in the United States are nonsmokers. The figure 10 years ago was 50 per cent.

But meanwhile, the population of the United States has increased from about 180 million to more than 203 million.

Most cigarette manufacturers don't release exact sales figures, but surveys by Marketing

Communications, Forbes and Barron's indicate gains in cigarette sales last year of from one to three per cent.

In 1970 the number of cigarettes produced in the United States increased 17.4 billion to 575 billion.

Even Liggett & Myers, Inc., which has reported a slight decline in cigarette sales for several years, posted a 10 per cent increase in operating income from cigarettes last year.

John Palmer of Washington, president of Tobacco Associates, a flue-cured tobacco trade organization, noted that last year's increase in production was a reversal of the recent trend. For instance, he said, in 1969 fewer cigarettes were produced than in 1968.

Also, the figure for cigarette exports jumped last year from 25 billion to 29 billion.

Administration Hauls Out Its Top SST Guns

WASHINGTON (AP) — Accusing supersonic transport opponents of "at times almost hysterical sloganeering," Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe said today America is too close to proving the plane with actual test flights to kill it now.

The best way to answer charges that SSTs will blot out the sun, cause skin cancer, shatter eardrums, melt icecaps and disturb animal life is the current program to build and test fly two SST prototypes, Volpe told Congress.

Ten years and $1.1 billion have been invested in that program, Volpe said, and the test flights are scheduled for 1973.

Volpe's case before the House appropriations subcommittee for a full $290 million to keep the SST prototype program on schedule launched a full week of SST hearings in the House and Senate.

NOISE PROBLEM

A House vote on whether to halt funds and possibly kill the U.S. SST program could come in two weeks. Congress is supposed to make a final decision by the end of the month.

Volpe accused SST opponents of the same kind of "get a horse philosophy" that greeted automobiles, and the sewing machine, steamboat and airplane.

He said American technology has overcome the SST's noise problem—the government announced last week a breakthrough toward an engine as quiet as present jetliners—and said he is confident it can overcome any environmental problems as well.

But if the test flights and concurrent environmental research show the SST will do "irreparable harm to our environment," Volpe said:

"I will do everything possible to ensure that a U.S. SST does not fly in commercial service—and this is a commitment I make on behalf of this administration."

50,000 JOBS

Volpe said it is inconceivable America would give up its world aviation lead and said leaving SST production to other countries would cost 50,000 direct American jobs and $22 billion impact on world balance of payments over 12 years.

Opponents get their hearing Tuesday and will emphasize both the alleged hazards to the environment and disputed reports the British-French Concorde is in trouble, giving America no competition to match other than the Soviet Tupolev-144, which is scheduled for its first commercial flight late this year.

The hearings, three days in the House and then two in the Senate, are on the administration's request for full $290 million funding this year to keep the SST alive.
