'Madonna Type' Of Brunette Should Be Most Becoming In Red, Expert Claims

Marjorie Mulhall, Johnston's "Madonna type" of brunette.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third of a series of articles written for the Journal and NEA Service by Alfred Cheney Johnston, one of the foremost artists among American photographers. Each day he discusses a type of feminine beauty, explains how it best be enhanced by make-up and coiffure, tells which color schemes and styles of gowns he considers most effective.

By ALFRED CHENEY JOHNSTON

Written for NEA Service

In the preceding articles I discussed the Gainsborough blonde and the Greuze brunette. The one I am about to discuss is ageless. She has beautifully defined features, an expression soft as a dove's and a figure that is supremely graceful. I call her the "Madonna" beauty, because all of the great masters of religious painting, whether of Latin or Nordic origin, have pictured the Madonna in this way. She is a brunette, but neither typically Italian, Spanish, French or Irish—but rather a combination of all four.

Such a beauty is Marjorie Mulhall who poses for many of my pictures. She is about five feet, seven inches tall, has dark brown hair and dark eyes that are very beautiful in expression. Her skin is rich in color, with that sun-kissed hue so many girls try to attain by exposing themselves to the elements.

Naturally this type will use only an ochre powder for day time. In the evening the ochre powder should carry a trace of rose-water foundation to best bring out the beauty of her skin under electric lights. If any rouge is used, it should be more or less of an orange tinted one, especially for evening. Frequently this type can renounce rouge entirely and make her lips alluring and quickly in its stead. Her dusky hair, rich skin, soft eyes and pomegranate mouth are attractive either way.

With an oval face and beautifully shaped ears like Miss Mulhall's, the "Madonna" type of girl looks best with slight "sideburns," the hair drawn back to reveal the ears, and caught in a graceful knot at the nape of the neck. Ear rings are always attractive on this type.

Burgundy reds and brighter red shades with a suggestion of blue in depths are good colors for her. Black and white make a stunning combination, as do orange and brown, but there are very few shades of blue or green that do not have a tendency to make her creamy skin look muddy. Yellow, brown and beige are becoming, but grey should be avoided.

She wears tailored costumes to perfection.

Robinson Invades Hoover Home State

ROBINSON'S SPECIAL CAR EN ROUTE TO LOS ANGELES, Oct. 9 (AP)—Senator Joseph T. Robinson, democratic vice-presidential nominee, carried his campaign into the home state of Herbert Hoover today, following a long journey from the Middle West.

The senator broke the trip from Oklahoma with a few speeches en route, the last of which was delivered at Phoenix, Ariz., last night, on which occasion he availed himself of the record and character of his running mate, Governor Alfred E. Smith.

Roughly speaking, 400,000,000 people speak Chinese in its various dialects.

VAUGHN URGES STUDENTS FILE THEIR ADDRESSES

Postmaster John L. Vaughan today issued a statement urging persons who have changed their addresses and students of Tech to file their present address with the post-office.

Many letters to Tech students have been received here without the proper address on them, causing considerable trouble and in some cases resulting in the letters being returned to the mailing address. "This creates a bad impression of the local service although it is no fault of the department here," Mr. Vaughan said. "We have no record here of the students or of the one who change their address unless it is reported to us."

In addition to filing the present address with the postoffice it is requested that the students advise their parents of their address so the complications will be omitted.

An application of cold water to the top of the head, it is said, will produce sleep.

BIG DIRIGIBLE SPENDS NIGHT AT MOORING IN FORT WORTH

(By Associated Press)
FORT WORTH, Oct. 9.—The navy dirigible "Los Angeles" spent Monday night safely moored beneath a clam sky at Fort Worth after a flight of 46 hours from its home station at Lakehurst, N. J., with orders to take off at 9 a. m. today for the trip back to New Jersey via Chicago.

The dirigible completed at 6:45 p. m. Monday its long swing over the state and the route over hundreds of miles over the Lone Star state that gave the airship's crew a view of the Alamo and San Antonio with its streets thronged with American legionnaires.

Route Selected
 The route from Fort Worth north was selected by the commander from a list of many available routes charted in advance which would permit the ship to take advantage of weather conditions while carrying out a wish of naval officials to afford a large number of persons who have not seen the ship, that opportunity.

The route planned by Commander Wiley follows: Denton, Texas, Ada and Tulsa, Okla.; Erie and Paola, Kans.; Kansas City; Burlington, Iowa; Chicago, South Bend, Ind.; Toledo and Cleveland, Ohio; Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, Pa., and Lakehurst.

Will Visit Chicago
 The Los Angeles will be the first large dirigible to visit cities on the route and Chicago will have its first sight of a large lighter-than-air craft since the Shenandoah was in that section—a trip in which that ill-fated ship was torn apart in mid air while flying home.

Five members of the crew on the Los Angeles were on the American-built Shenandoah when it fell to pieces near Caldwell, Ohio, in 1925.

Commander Charles E. Rosendahl usually in charge of the Los Angeles also was on the Shenandoah at that time. He is now in Germany preparing to be on the trans-Atlantic flight of the Graf Zeppelin. The Los Angeles' crew flew over Cleburne, Texas, Monday and dropped a note to Commander Rosendahl's mother.

Partain Chosen Texas Agent of Milling Company
 C. Y. Partain of this city, has been appointed Texas agent for the Monarch Milling company, and is establishing state headquarters in Dallas this week. It was announced here today. The company will continue to operate West Texas branch headquarters in Lubbock under the management of Fred Partain, also of Lubbock.

Following a conference with the milling company officials in Kansas City last week, Mr. Partain spent several days in Lubbock prior to going to Dallas to establish state offices.

A subsidiary of the Larabee Milling corporation, of Minneapolis, Minn., the Monarch company is a part of the second largest milling corporation in the United States. Southwestern mills of the corporation have a daily capacity of 18,500 barrels of flour per day.

Upon his return to Lubbock Mr. Partain will begin a campaign to acquaint housewives in this territory with the products of his company, it was announced today. One certain type of flour, milled especially for Texas trade, will be given particular attention.

Leiberman New Grollman Head
 L. L. Leiberman, formerly buyer of men's clothing for the Palace clothing company, of Kansas City, and considered as an eminent expert in his line, has been secured to manage the men's and boy's clothing department at Grollman's. It was announced this week.

WALLACE REVIVAL SERVICE GROWS IN INTEREST NIGHTLY

Dr. Virgil Wallace's sermon last night was one of the most searching that he has preached thus far in the revival meeting at the First Christian church it was announced by hearers today. For nearly an hour the audience followed him with close attention.

The sermon subject was "Lightning Bugs." By illustration, scathing criticism, and constructive argument the evangelist drove home the fact that the Christian life is vastly more than having one's name on the church roll, or conformity to certain beliefs, or obedience to certain commands, or punctilious observance of accepted ceremonies, but it must be an honest attempt to live the life of Jesus. He said "Every Gospel sermon is like a surgical operation. Many churches are needing a back door revival. One cannot take the path of the Christian life unless he goes to that path and neither can we teach the Gospel unless he first learns the truths of the Gospel. Petting church members is a tragedy before God. Like a lightning bug they must be shaken to produce light for the Master. We are prone to hugging the shores of our own experience."

Mrs. Wallace sang the great hymn "Just As I Am" and the music of "The Rosary" which makes a delightful and pleasing combination.

Dr. Wallace will speak on "A Near Jail Delivery" tonight.

Record Vote Seen For New York City
NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (AP).—Indications that New York City in November will poll a record vote for all time were seen by political observers today on the basis of the first registration day.

Reports from the five boroughs showed that 270,254 persons registered last night, while in 1924, the last presidential year, the total for the first day was 190,350. Registration will continue through the week.

Every effort was exerted by workers of both the republican and democratic parties to bring out the fullest possible registration.

Crash At Sea Told By Steamer Hanley
NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 9 (AP).—The steamer Hanley from Everett, Wash., with a cargo of lumber, arrived here today with damaged bow after a ramming and sinking the Thistle, a freighter bound from Cardiff, Wales, to Galveston, Texas. The collision occurred about 820 miles south of Newark. The 28 of the crew of the Thistlebanded life boats and clambered aboard the Hanley.

MOTHER MADE TABLEAU OF DEATH
 KILLED HUSBAND GOOD-BYE AND TURNED ON GAS, KILLING SELF AND THREE KIDDIES

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—A 30 year old mother kissed her husband goodbye as he started to work yesterday and then turned back into their home to prepare a tableau of death. An hour later police called the husband home to receive the tragic message. His wife had sealed their three children to death and then had lain down to join them in a gas-filled room.

Clyde Ryker, husband and father, could offer no explanation of the apparent triple slaying and suicide. Their home had been a happy one. Mrs. Ryker had been sick at times, but not seriously, he said.

Fumes of gas that leaked from the room gave warning of the tragedy to a neighbor, who summoned police.

Inside the room were grim evidences of the mother's deliberate preparations for death. Cracks and keyholes were stuffed with paper. On the floor were three little girls.

Neighbors could only guess that insanity of the mother had robbed Clyde Ryker of his home.

When the Ward Flyers returned to this country from their European tour, they were met at the steamship docks by numerous circus agents, seeking their signatures to contracts. The Hagbeck-Wallace representatives however were first on the job and also offered the highest salary, so that when this noted circus comes to Lubbock for afternoon and night shows on Friday of this week, the Ward Family of Aerialists will be seen flying from trapeze to trapeze in the dome of the big tent.

The Wards were a sensation in Europe and are duplicating that success in this country. These boys and girls are about the best aerialists to every bank in the spotlight and their leaps and catches are nothing short of marvelous. Jimmy Ward twice daily performs a triple somersault in the air, which is something for the other male flyers to attempt.

The Wards are but one of the international features with the Hagbeck-Wallace Circus.

The committee on legislation also will report tomorrow on a proposal to change the date of the annual encampment from October to February.

Thought For Today

Is there no balm in Gilead? Is there no physician there?—Jeremiah 8:22.

Giving comfort under affliction requires that penetration into the human mind, joined to that experience which knows how to soothe how to reason and how to ridicule taking the utmost care never to apply those arts improperly.—Friedrich Schlegel

Coolidge

Fasting, James' series in Plymouth, N. Y. President Coolidge the other day dropped in on Black River Academy, which he attended as a boy. An interesting picture was taken during the visit.

In the foreground stood the president, grouped beside and behind him were two scores of more children sitting cross-legged on the ground or standing with folded arms, trunk perpendicular to maintain the serious looks that the situation undoubtedly required.

Now the interesting part of that picture—aside from the fact that any photograph of children is interesting in itself—lies in the fact that Calvin Coolidge himself, a matter of 40 years ago, was a quite undistinguished member of the group, such a student as you would expect to see looking over a group picture of Black River Academy pupils in those days, would have picked the silent Coolidge boy as a future occupant of the White House.

Little as it is, the boy who became president of the United States, who will eventually rise to a place of honor, fame and power. And there is no way of knowing of that just which one of them may be.

We were very proud and surprised that any American boy might have been named in the future as president of the United States. But that was the point. The point was that we never can tell in advance where the light of greatness is going to burst forth.

At this moment there is some one where in the country a child is being born, and some one else who will some day be in the White House and rule the nation. For so you know he may be the only little nuisance who lives next door to you—now don't blush—he may be your own son. Only one thing is certain about him, however, and that is the great suspicion of his lofty destiny.

That's the way it is all through life. A child, and a grown man likewise has infinite possibilities. You never know what lies under the surface.

You may know a man for years and think him quite undistinguished and ordinary. Then some unexpected crisis comes to test him, and you discover to your surprise that he is a man of rare nobility and courage.

For you never can tell about people, any more than you can tell about children. They are often a great deal finer, wiser and braver than you suspected.

The Faked Fiddle

Sometimes it does seem as if it hardly paid a man to struggle after the truth.

Joseph Brennan of New York had a violin—an heirloom, handed down by his grandfather. Brennan for years prized it highly. It bore a label with the name "Guarnerius," and Brennan's life was made contented and happy by the thought that this fiddle was a masterpiece, an instrument worth probably $100,000.

But Brennan, the other day, decided to see the exact truth. He went to an expert. And the expert emphatically told him that his violin was a fake and not even a very good fake, worth perhaps $100 at the most.

Now the violin, instead of sweetening and brightening his life, is a source of unhappiness and regret. However, unwisely the pursuit of knowledge may be, Brennan would be far, far better off if he had continued to take the superlative excellence of his ancestral fiddle on faith.

One of the big college football teams is to travel 10,000 miles this year. A football player has to get an education some way.

THE PLAINSMAN

Says That Girl on Broadway says fewer girls would see the necessity of flying across the ocean if they would only take their film tests before making the effort.

Today's papers are carrying good news in the light of banking figures in Lubbock. This city's three good banks, the Citizens National, The Lubbock National and the First National, are showing a total deposits gain of $672,247.24 for October 3, 1928, as compared with deposits of a year previous—a total of $3,647,188.96 as compared with $2,974,941.73, the combined deposits for a year ago.

As is the usual thing all three banks this year have gained over their figures of a year ago. Business conditions in this section are satisfactory, bankers said in commenting on their figures.

While the cotton crop in Lubbock county and in the South Plains section will probably be lighter than usual, the probability is that growers will receive a good price for their yield. That fact has bolstered financial conditions over the entire section, coupled with the fact that this year's feed crop is one of the best if not the very best that has ever been harvested.

It is good to get such reports from the banks. They make everybody feel good, and no doubt the bankers themselves feel better than any other group in Lubbock. Deposits, as have been chalked up year after year in all of Lubbock's banks, reflect the confidence of the public in all of the bankers here—something which is as important in itself as the regular increase in total deposits.

Bankers most of us know are more than mere business organizations. They are institutions, as much a part of the life of a community as the people who make up the community. We are service institutions, as the banks of Lubbock would stand on our heads and work all night to do something to benefit this city and this territory. We are service institutions, as the banks of Lubbock would stand on our heads and work all night to do something to benefit this city and this territory.

It is used to be popular with novelists to present in villainous roles the grasping selfish banker who lay awake nights trying to figure out a way to foreclose on the poor widow's farm or residence. You don't read that kind of thing now-a-days because the people know that such is not the case. The banker may measure up to that kind of figure, but instead of figuring out a way to foreclose on the poor widow's farm or residence, he is trying to map out some plan whereby he can extend credit in order to keep from foreclosing.

The banker of yesteryear who stood aloof and kept himself away from the public has disappeared. In his place is a man who is as accessible to the public as the public is to him. He is ever ready to listen to the difficulties of the citizen who is unable to pay his bills, and he is ever ready to invest his money in the most profitable way possible to the citizen. He is the friend of the people, the guardian of their pocketbooks. His work is a work of service.

There may be sections in the United States where banks are not so accessible to the public as they are in Lubbock and on the South Plains, but if there are the Plainsman can not locate them. This is a new country, a section where there are big tasks for the citizen to accomplish. Money in large quantities is needed at the unbroken prairie is changed, made like into level acres of cultivation. Money is needed to build business structures, to transform vacant lots into high class residential property. The bank plays a leading role.

The bank of the banker is not one of the best. He must safeguard the capital of the investors in his bank and at the same time must put his money to work for the other fellow who is playing a part in the onward march of progress. Everybody's troubles are his troubles—and through it all he must keep his head when others all about him are losing theirs and blaming it on him.

These facts are only a few of the many reasons that the good reports of our banking institutions should be appreciated by the citizenry as a whole. For as the banks prosper, so do we all prosper—in one way or another. And the men who operate the banks and the rest of us follow the advice and teachings of the preachers we make good citizens when we refuse to listen to them when we degenerate to an unworthy citizenship, so if the preachers are for Hoover he is the man to tie too.

Democratic Victory Is Remote If Republicans Can Win Bulk Of Independent Votes, Dutcher Finds In Capital

BY RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The importance of the vaguely bounded independent vote has been receiving more and more attention with the approach of the presidential election.

If the republicans get the bulk of it a democratic victory will be a mere possibility. If the democrats get it they will have an extremely valuable nest egg to say the least.

As a matter of fact there probably is a much larger normal independent vote than the La Follette total indicated. There must have been many of progressive tendencies who refused to jump a third party four years ago and yet found no reason for bolting from one major party to the other.

The progressive vote, considered in a broad sense might be placed at a proportional mean between the La Follette total and the combination of Wilson and Roosevelt vote of 1912.

There is sound reason for believing that the progressive or independent vote, because of its "fluidity," is generally underrated.

One who formerly heard that the United States is normally republican and the fact that republican presidents have served 52 of the 68 years since the Civil War is used to prove it. On the other hand, it is easily demonstrable that the country was normally conservative and that conservative republicanism of the stamp type has had a surprising number of ups and downs.

In figuring what the nation is normally it is hardly fair to go beyond 1890. Before Lincoln's election we were normally democratic; for the next 24 years we were consistently republican. The democrats were hopelessly divided in 1860 and had not even recovered in 1876, when Tilden, their candidate, won a popular majority of 250,000 votes.

The republicans won in 1880, Cleveland, with the aid of thousands of republican bolters who couldn't swallow Blaine and who were certainly the progressives of the day, as in 1896. McKinley was re-elected in 1900 by some 850,000 votes.

But then new complications entered in Roosevelt's success in the murdered McKinley and the presidency was again out of conservative republican hands. In 1904 the republicans had to nominate a progressive and the democrats felt they had to nominate a conservative. The progressive won.

Roosevelt then put through the nomination of Taft in the belief that Taft was also a progressive and would carry out his policies. The nation took Roosevelt's word for it, elected Taft in 1908 and got four years of conservative—sometimes called reactionary—administration.

Standpat conservatism dropped down to bedrock in 1912. Roosevelt ran as a straight-out progressive and Wilson was distinctly a progressive democrat. Together their votes beat Taft's by three to one. There followed what Wilson meant to be eight years of progressive democratic rule and the first four years of it at least, beat all records for progressivism. What we may continue to call the progressive vote saved Wilson's neck in 1916.

By 1920 Wilson had alienated huge numbers of progressives who rode on the landslide which buried Cox. Four years later saw enough progressive sentiment to form a third party, but we are now wending eight years, of what may be called a conservative regime—the longest period of it since reconstruction days.

The last 46 years of the presidency are thus seen to have been divided equally between the conservative republicans and the democratic and progressive republicans. They are divided as follows: Conservative republican: 1880-84, 1888-92, 1896-1900, 1908-1912, and 1920-28. Democratic: 1884-88, 1892-96 and 1912-20. Progressive republican: 1900-1908.

The progressive this year can take his choice. Many La Follette leaders of 1924 and the Nation and New Republic, the two leading liberal weeklies, have declared for Smith. On the other hand, members of the most effective progressive group in public life, including such senators as Howell of Nebraska and Fraser and Nye of North Dakota have declared for Hoover.

In New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Harlem's own particular Park avenue is but one block long and is known as Striver's Row. Here lives the social aristocracy of the "black belt"—those "who's who" of the negro arts and crafts, some of whom have been thinly disguised in the stories of Carl Van Vechten.

The location is 139th street, and it is doubtful if New York boasts a more exclusive block.

The buildings themselves are among the most beautiful designed and architectured in Manhattan, having been planned by the late Stanford White for another generation.

When riches and fame and wide popularity came upon certain individuals of the negro capital of Harlem, they began to look for a particular quarter in which to dwell.

Today, with all the homes personally owned, all the regulations of an ultra-exclusive neighborhood are rigidly enforced. The block has its own "neighborhood association," newboys and peedlers are not allowed to cry their wares, no stores or shops are tolerated and no signs may be hung. Shade trees—rare indeed in New York—shelter its streets.

The late Florence Mills, "Harlem's blackbird of song," was an early dweller here. Once, however, having been denied admittance to a certain uptown apartment, because of her race, Miss Mills bided her time and saved her pennies. Then she bought the place—and moved in.

A half dozen of the literary and sophisticated set have homes here. One of the earliest settlers on the block was Mrs. Walker and her daughter, who made millions through a device for taking kinks out of curly hair. The Walker mansion on the Hudson is one of the show places of the river resort belt. The Walker salon has, for years been a rendezvous for the intelligentsia of all races and creeds.

I recall a certain gathering—the first I had attended of the Harlem intellectuals—in this block, when among those present was a stationer, the one who had won the name of the poet of the Soviet revolution, a young Mexican cartoonist, still very much in vogue; two writers of the sophisticated school; a Chinese scholar and a Hindu mystic—to say nothing of a scattered group of New Yorkers, most of whom were whites.

Here the races mix with casual freedom. Few salon gatherings and teas but are attended by a dozen or more of the sophisticated from the uptown white intellectual circles.

On this street dwell, also, a number of the colored performers who have made money and reputation in the theatre. Flurry Miller, of the team of Miller and Lyle, has an ornate establishment, as has also Evelyn Freer, one of the colored revue favorites.

Harlem cafes are no longer mere "slumming" places. They are attended by whites as freely as are the number of the negroes have sought to "find" places which the whites have not yet discovered.

Thus Small's, one of the most popular dance resorts of Harlem was but a tiny first floor under the stairs in the old building. Today it has a large basement on upper Broadway.

Select Jury To Try Miller At Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tex., Oct. 9 (AP)—A jury was selected in district court here yesterday for the trial of Clyde Miller, 23, charged with murder in the death of Bruce Collier, 22, of Newlin. Collier's body was found in the wreckage of his automobile after a collision with a train near Newlin on Christmas Eve, 1927. Investigators, however, found what they thought were indications that Collier had been struck in the head and killed several hours before the accident.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—As the presidential campaign approaches its decisive stage, political managers are concentrating on special groups of voters in their efforts to turn the flow of these important ballots towards their national ticket.

One of the most important of these groups is that of organized labor. Such great national organizations as the American Federation of Labor and the Railroad Brotherhoods have adopted a neutral attitude leaving their membership to decide between Herbert Hoover and Alfred E. Smith. But these organizations frankly say that they are laying the records of the candidates before their membership so that they may vote intelligently, insofar as their ballots may affect labor.

Support Is Divided.

A few individual unions have endorsed the Democratic presidential candidate, while several outstanding leaders in the labor movement, such as John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, and W. N. Doak, vice president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, are actively at work for the Republican candidate. State bodies which have endorsed Governor Smith include the New York Federation of Labor, which after William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, had, without committing himself, said some kind thing about the Democratic nominee's labor record. Prior to that time, however, Green had been one of those in the national federation's executive council who opposed the endorsement of any man's candidacy by that body. The council declined to take any side after a two day's discussion, during which Daniel J. Tobin, president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters was credited with leading a fight for Smith.

Endorsed LaFollette.

Four years ago the National Federation departed from its traditional non-partisan attitude by endorsing the independent candidacy of the late Senator Robert M. LaFollette, of Wisconsin, who received a substantial popular vote in many labor centers. This year, however, so far as official word from the union headquarters go, the majority of union men must act on their own judgment as to the attitude of candidates towards things closest to their interests.

Candidates Favor Labor.

Both candidates, as well as their managers and well-wishers, have been laying their plans to influence the great body of organized workers in the country towards their cause. Mr. Hoover made labor the topic of one of the few set speeches of his campaign, speaking at Newark, in the center of the vast industrial district of New Jersey. He also has emphasized his belief that the Republican protective tariff system is essential for the protection of the American working man, and the happiness of his family. Governor Smith and his campaign managers have been just as solicitous of the welfare of the worker and the Democratic candidate has been pointed to as one whose official record as Governor of New York has shown that he has the interest of labor at heart.

SPAFFORD IN FAVOR DRAFT

URGES THAT LEGION MEN FIND STAND OF CANDIDATES

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 9.—Recommendations that Legionnaires examine every candidate for congress and the United States senate to determine his attitude toward a universal draft in war time were laid before the American Legion convention here today by Edward E. Spafford, retiring commander, in the course of his address to the tenth national convention of the order here today.

Commander Spafford also recommended that the savings which the legion has succeeded in accumulating this year be placed in a sinking fund, the principal and interest of which would be untouched for twenty years.

Much of the commander's message was devoted to tributes to the staff of men who worked with him this year. He was especially warm in his praise of the finance administration of the organization and said that for the first time in the history of the organization it would be unnecessary to borrow money to carry the work of the order over the new year.

"The universal draft," Spafford Baker was to speak here this fall. Dalton said he barred the state executive because Baker refused to restore full citizenship to Tom Craft, convicted bank robber now on parole. Dalton, with four other republican leaders, called on Baker at Jefferson City and made the plea for Craft on the grounds such action would "help the Butler county republican ticket this fall."

Baker is a republican.

Anticipate Legion Air Mail Heavier

DALLAS, Oct. 9.—Anticipating heavy air mail from the American Legion convention at San Antonio, officials of the National Air Transport company were concentrating a fleet of planes at Fort Worth to carry the pouches to Chicago.

The Texas Air Transport company, which has the contract from San Antonio to Fort Worth, also is expected to place several extra planes in service today, it was learned here.

Missouri Governor Barred As Speaker

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., Oct. 9.—Governor Sam A. Baker of Missouri, will not be allowed to speak here under auspices of the Butler county republican committee, its chairman, Grover Dalton, announced last night. He notified the republican state speakers bureau to that effect, saying he understood

Removal Of Police Captains Advocated

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 9 (AP)—Immediate removal of Police Captains James Cross and John Freeman was recommended by the special grand jury investigating bootlegging and alleged police bribery. GOLDTHWAITE, Tex., Oct. 9 (AP)—Charged with murder in the death of Ruby Osborne, Bert Mayfield today was granted change of venue to Coleman county after his attorneys had pleaded he could not get a fair trial here.

EGG BARRAGE ANSWERS SPEAKER

ANTI-SMITH CAMPAIGNER MEETS WITH SPARSE SUCCESS FROM MISSISSIPPI CROWD

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 8.—Denied use of Pounder Park by Mayor Walter A. Scott, former Congressman William D. Upshaw of Georgia, delivered one of a series of addresses.

In the district, considerable time will be spent in drill upon this particular phase of the game during the week.

The Monday afternoon workout at Merrill Park revealed a hustling crowd of youngsters bearing down in a strenuous tackling practice. Linemen used little merrily with the backs when the latter attempted to return punts in practice. The boys were all hitting low and the tackling looked better.

At the same time, the backs often ran away for good gains, many taking a sidestep to advantage. Dowell Johnson and Powers demonstrated an effective straight arm while others outdistanced their pursuers.

The squad is scheduled for a scrimmage session this afternoon.

in opposition to Governor Alfred E. Smith on property of a Jackson church last night, and received an egg shower.

Upshaw was not struck by the missiles, but others were, including Mrs. T. S. Ward, whose husband has offered $100 reward for the name of the thrower. George Horroh, member of the Hinds county democratic executive committee, challenged the guilty party to meet him face to face.

Frequently during the address Upshaw, persons in the audience shouted "Hurrah for Al Smith."

Upshaw told his audience he is a democrat of the South who will not follow my party into the White House under the leadership of Tammany Hall. Upshaw added that Smith is not fitted "morally or spiritually" to lead the nation.

HOOVER MAKES SCHEDULE FOR GOTHAM VISIT

DAY IN NEW YORK WILL BE BUSY ONE WITH CONFABS SLATED

By JAMES L. WEST (Associated Press Staff Writer) WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—Herbert Hoover had before him for approval today a tentative schedule for his one-day visit to New York City on October 22, when he will deliver the fourth and last of his campaign addresses to the eastern section of the country.

The draft was prepared in New York by party leaders in conference with George Akerson, personal assistant to the Republican candidate. It called for a busy day, including conferences with political managers before the visit to Madison Square Garden where the address will be delivered.

The excursion into the home city of the Democratic presidential candidate will be less strenuous than that to be made to Boston at the beginning of next week, a journey which calls for overnight rides in going to and returning from the Massachusetts metropolis.

One More Major Address. After his New York address, Hoover will return to Washington tomorrow perhaps a week before packing up for his journey across the continent, during which he will deliver at least one major address.

Amplifying one section of the speech he delivered last Saturday at Elizabethtown, the Republican standard bearer, in a formal statement made public last night, said he entirely agreed with the proposal to dedicate the great government plant at Muscle Shoals to agriculture and the disposition of the surplus power on such terms and conditions as will safeguard and protect all public interests.

He declared there was no question of government ownership about Muscle Shoals as the government already owns both the power and the generate plants. He added that the Republican administration had recommended that it be transferred to agriculture for research purposes and development of fertilizers in addition to its national defensive reserve.

RECORD SHEEP TRADE LOOMS

150,000 FEEDER LAMBS TO BE SHIPPED OUT OF SAN ANGELO

(Special To The Journal) SAN ANGELO, Oct. 9.—No less than 150,000 feeder lambs and breeding ewes will be shipped from the San Angelo sheep and goat territory during the first 15 days of this month, according to indications of two major buying companies alone, which have either received or contracted for even 100,000 head.

Clay Kitchen, representing John Clay and company of Denver, Fort Worth, Kansas City and St. Joe, Missouri, has received or contracted for 70,000 and D. S. Hughes, H. Casidy, Southwestern Commission company of Fort Worth has contracted or received 35,000 lambs and ewes.

Lambs weighing heavy this year, averaging from 60 to 70 pounds were contracted months ago at 10 to 12 cents per pound and ewes are bringing from $8 to $8.50 per head. Most of the lambs are going to Colorado, Nebraska, Michigan and New York while the ewes are selling mostly in Kansas and Nebraska, according to the buyers.

It is estimated that small buyers and local sales will increase the output of lambs and ewes in this section to easily 150,000 and perhaps reach 200,000. There is probably more than 4,000,000 head of sheep in this territory and 1,500,000 goats.

FLEXIBLE RATE SCALE SOUGHT

GALVESTON INTERESTS SUPPORT STEAMSHIP LINES PLEADING

(By Associated Press) GALVESTON, Oct. 9.—Representatives of local port interests took the stand today in support of the coastwise steamship lines for a more flexible system of rate making in the re-hearing of the consolidated southwestern rate case before Examiner Charles M. Bardwell of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

E. H. Thornton, traffic manager of the Galveston member of Commerce speaking for the group, which also represents the Galveston Cotton Exchange and Board of Trade and the Texas City Board of Trade, said the Southern Pacific steamship line, the Mallory steamship line and others were in the forefront in their contentions to the extent of allowing them to meet competitive conditions. Galveston will oppose, however, any plan which will affect interior shippers, he added.

William P. Simmons, general traffic manager for the Southern Pacific, cross-examined at a session last night, defended the relationship between the company's steamship and railroad properties, and argued for rates which could be quickly changed when competitive conditions arose.

NEARS RECORD 'Marrying Justice' Hopes For 200 In Two Years

"Uncle Billy" Clark, Lubbock's marrying justice, has high hopes of reaching his goal of performing 200 marriage ceremonies within two years. He now has 197 to his credit and has until the 15th of this month to get the other three.

One ceremony was performed last night and one late Saturday night to keep his record on the upward trend.

His chance of reaching his desired goal is augmented by the fact that licenses are being issued from the county clerk's office at the fastest rate in months. Two more were issued yesterday afternoon to increase the month's total to twenty-one.

One was granted to E. M. Fleischer and Lucille Gillen. The other couple didn't want their names published, as yet.

CURTIS AVERS SMITH OKEHE WILSON TARIFF

ASSERTS DEMO LEADER OKEHE UNDERWOOD PLAN OF TARIFF

GRAND FORKS, N. D., Oct. 9.—The challenge of Chairman Raskob, of the democratic national committee to show that Gov. Smith had endorsed the Underwood tariff bill of the Wilson administration was picked up today by Senator Curtis Avers.

In two speeches in North Dakota, at Devils Lake and here, Curtis Avers declared that "endorsement" of the Underwood bill in his address of acceptance.

The republican vice presidential nominee based his assertion on language in the speech of Governor Smith.

The democratic party does not and under my leadership will not advocate any sudden or drastic revolution in our economic system which will cause business upheaval and popular distress. This principle was recognized as far back as the passage of the Underwood tariff bill. Our platform recites it in unmistakable language.

Curtis declared that "Mr. Raskob or Raskow, or whatever his name is," had declared, if he were correctly quoted, that he would resign his position if it could be shown that Governor Smith had endorsed the Underwood bill. He called on the democratic campaign chairman to "resign before night."

MORE SENIORS Nearly Hundred Percent Boost In Tech Class

An increase of almost 100 per cent is shown in the senior class of the Texas Tech this year over the class of the last session. Of the total enrollment of the institution which now stands at 1,760, 118 are classified as seniors.

It is estimated that the class will reach near the 200 mark by the end of the session. Of the school's enrollment, 1,015 are men and 745 are women. Freshmen lead the classes with 825, sophomores are second with 514, juniors number 284, seniors 118, and graduates 19. At this time last year only 65 were enrolled in the senior class.

BANK DEPOSITS SHOW LUBBOCK IS PROSPEROUS

HALF MILLION BOOST OVER SAME PERIOD FOR LAST YEAR

That Lubbock is enjoying an era of prosperity is indicated by a report of the bank deposits of the city which show an increase of more than half a million dollars over the total of a same date for a year ago. The total of deposits of the three local banks when the compilation was made on October 3 showed $3,647,126.99 in deposits, an increase of $672,247.24 over the $3,974,911.75 of a year ago.

Officials of the three local banks were unanimous in the opinion that the city is now on the soundest financial footing in its history. Diversification was cited by bankers as one of the reasons for the prosperity of the section. Although the cotton crop was pictured as likely to be comparatively small the feed crops and dairy herds were said to be in fine condition. It is thought that the cotton yield will approximate that of last year, with a better price and a steadier market.

Deposits for the different banks were: Citizens National, Oct. 3, 1928, $1,257,493.37; Oct. 3, 1927, $1,158,732.57, a gain of $100,741 was noted; Lubbock National, Oct. 3, 1928, $940,832.45; Oct. 3, 1927, $845,035.23, gain was $236,787. First National, Oct. 3, 1928, $1,448,862.97; Oct. 3, 1927, $1,173,153.95, gain of $275,709.02.

PARIS OUSTS NEWS AGENT

PREMATURE PUBLICITY OF DIPLOMATIC NOTE STARTS INQUIRY

(By Associated Press) PARIS, Oct. 9.—The New York American, has been requested to leave France before Thursday because of his connection with the publication through the Hearst news service of a memorandum covering the Anglo-French rivalry in the bureau of the ministry of foreign affairs notified Horan that France considered him an "undesirable foreigner" and warned him that he might be the object of a decree of expulsion.

The continental edition of the London Daily Mail today printed a statement furnished by the Paris bureau of the International News Service saying that Horan had consented to accept a decree of expulsion and thus undertook to leave French soil.

The statement was issued after Norman Armour, who is in charge of the American embassy in the absence of Ambassador Herrick, had twice visited the foreign office in behalf of Horan.

Horan said he had been detained by the police for seven hours yesterday and only released after he had signed a report of a cross-examination on how he obtained the memorandum.

Horan said that the memorandum in question, which contained private instructions to French diplomatic agents, was handed him in the course of luncheon with the request that it be cabled to the United States. He added that Mr. Hearst had since telegraphed that he assumed responsibility for the document's publication.

Neither France nor Great Britain has yet authorized publication of the naval agreement or the correspondence which led to it.

BLOODY ARREST

Tell-Tale Torn Trousers Attest To Trouble

A pair of torn, blood-spotted trousers remain as the aftermath of an arrest Saturday night.

Constable J. C. Roberts, owner of the said garment, feels that the city ought to at least have the pants cleaned and repaired.

It all happened Saturday night at the fair grounds when Roberts stated to assist two new city officers in arresting a somewhat rowdy visitor at the fair. And it took all three of them to do it, and then with the aid of a "billy club" and a pair of handcuffs.

It seems that the man in question was being a big time and didn't want to worry about being arrested. A tap on the head with a club cooled his ire somewhat, but it was not until Roberts, who was scuffling with him on the ground, snatched hand cuffs over the flying hands that the man was calmed.

Hence, the torn trousers.
