COLD WAVE SWEEPING DOWN ON TEXAS

About Our Friends

By STEP A. LONG

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson once wrote a friend: "I have learned one thing. You try and try with all the strength that is in you to help a person, and you can't. Suddenly you find that you can help in your own weakness as you can't in your strength. Woodrow had been so far from well, so discouraged and despondent. I had tried to give no sign of weakness, to be strong and help him. I seemed to have lost all the power. Then I was all weakness and that helped him as nothing else could have done. He's been wonderful. He has dropped everything and bent every energy to help me. And I have brought him up out of his own gloom. He seems really to have improved physically."

One of the best things that can happen to a person is for him to have to get out of himself, to be obliged not to think about himself, to be prevented from analyzing his own feelings, physical and mental, and to have to think of what concerns others—the welfare of his employees, what is best for his wife and his children and his folks, what is good for his friends and his neighbors and the world. Children brought to think about themselves are most unfortunate children. The unhappiest children are those who are accustomed to being amused and catered to. You have noticed such children. They snarl and whine and squall much of the time. The happiest child is the child taught to think of others and to do things for others, and to forget about himself.

"You never are sad," one woman said to another. "I don't have time to be sad," was the reply. "I am too busy looking after my home and my children and my husband that I never think about being sad."

"I would have been dead long ago," remarked one frail man, "had I had time to sit down and think about my ailments, but I have been so busy. I have had so much to do, that I haven't had time to be ill, much less die."

"I was dying with yellow fever," said a physician, speaking of the epidemic of 1888. "I had had the vomit which is the last stage; then my wife who was nursing me came down with the disease; I had to crawl out of bed to do something for her, and I forgot all about myself and got well."

The folks who think too much about themselves, the folks who are

TEXAS TO VOTE ON HIGHER PAY FOR GOVERNOR

AUSTIN, Nov. 2. (U.P.)—Six times rejected, a proposal to raise the pay of the governor of Texas above $4,000 is being voted upon in the Nov. 3 elections.

A constitutional amendment proposes to pay the governor $12,000 a year, the attorney general $10,000 and other departmental heads $6,000. The salaries were fixed in the state constitution adopted in 1876. Officials then were permitted to draw $2,000 a year, except the governor who was allowed twice that sum.

Various increases were proposed in 1907, 1913, 1919, 1921, 1927 and 1929. Voters refused the increase each time.

Other proposed changes in the state constitution, submitted to referendum, are: Limiting the governor's pardoning powers to cases favorably reported by a pardon board; creating a state monopoly of liquor traffic; insuring state employees against accident in line of duty; limiting one-county membership in the House of Representatives, and creating a retirement fund for teachers.

One Million Texas Votes Ready for Demos

PREDICT VOTE TO BE LARGEST EVER POLLED

NEW YORK, Nov. 2. (U.P.)—National wide fireside chats by the two principle candidates tonight will conclude the most expensive presidential campaign in American history and one which may prove the most significant since Abraham Lincoln first put the republican party on top in the United States.

A record-breaking number of voters will begin before dawn tomorrow to reveal the true political complexion of this country, and whether its party structure is about to collapse.

Betting odds favored re-election of President Roosevelt.

ROOSEVELT CLOSING CAMPAIGN TODAY
HYDE PARK, Nov. 2. (U.P.)—President Roosevelt closed his campaign for re-election today, supremely confident of victory Tuesday.

Eager to win the support of his "old neighbors and friends" the chief executive chose the rock ribbed republican counties in the vicinity of his Hyde Park home to make his final appeal.

This morning Mr. Roosevelt read some of the hundreds of telegrams praising his hard-hitting speech Saturday night in New York City.

Individuals from all sections of the nation predicted that that speech would play an important part in the outcome Tuesday.

The president will make his last campaign speech at 11:15 tonight on a nation-wide hookup. In the little study that serves as his executive office, he will speak for 15 minutes on a one-hour program arranged by the Democratic National Committee.

LONDON CHARGES RETURN NRA-AAA
TOPEKA, Kas., Nov. 2. (U.P.)—Gov. Alf Landon charged today that the "plain inference" from President Roosevelt's Madison Square Garden speech is that the new deal will revive NRA, AAA and "everything else."

Landon indicated confidence in a republican victory at the polls tomorrow.

"The plain inference is that it does answer and that we are going to have the whole NRA, AAA and everything else again if the administration is returned to office," Landon said.

TEXAS HOLDS ONE MILLION VOTES READINESS
DALLAS, Nov. 2. (U.P.)—Democratic Texas held its 1,000,000 votes in readiness today to drop in the ballot box tomorrow for re-election of the Roosevelt-Garner administration.

Obscuring the national campaign were the more local issues of republican threats in two vital congressional districts and the attitude of voters on six proposed constitutional amendments.

Republicans saw little possibility of defeating any member of Gov. Alfred's administration.

The GOP concentrated its efforts on the congressional races in San Antonio and Houston, where a large urban population, including many new comers from republican states, is becoming increasingly independent of the democratic Texas voting habit.

Boy Scouts Honored By Special Service
By TOMMY LAMORE
The Boy Scouts, Troop One and Four, of Cisco, were honored at a special service at the First Presbyterian church Sunday evening, when pastor, Rev. M. H. Applewhite, delivered a sermon entitled "Youth and the Master."

Shows Fondness for Animals

The charm that has made her the favorite of King Edward VIII of England is revealed in this informal portrait of Mrs. Wallis Simpson, formerly of Baltimore, Md. Since her friendship with the King became known, not only England, but the entire world, has sought a view of Mrs. Simpson. This photo to him at one thing she may have in common with the King—a fondness for animals.

TRIAL OF MRS. HENRY, CHARGED IN HUSBAND SLAYING, STARTS TODAY

The second of the skeleton murder trials started today at nine o'clock in the eighth district court at Eastland. Mrs. Raymond Henry's attorneys will defend her of the charge she killed her former husband, H. L. McBee.

Fourteen of the venire 84 140 summoned for the trial of Mrs. Raymond Henry, charged in the death of her former husband have been examined during the morning and 13 had been rejected. B. M. Collier, insurance firm manager, was taken as first juror. Selecting of jurors will proceed during the afternoon. The state and defense has indicated they will be ready for trial.

Jack Smith, brother of Lynn, committed suicide in the face of trial on a murder charge in the case.

McBee, a highway worker, was missed by relatives in May, 1933. His body was found in December of the next year hanging from a post oak tree. The state charges McBee was murdered, buried exhumed about three weeks later and hung from a tree to give the appearance of suicide.

PEOPLE VOTE TUESDAY FOR NATION HEAD

Cisco people and others all over the United States will be going to the polls Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock to vote for candidates in the national election. Since there are no strong party candidates in the county or state other than democrats, only the national vote is significant. Six state constitutional amendments will be also voted on.

The polls will open at the city hall for West side voters, and at the Home Furniture company for voters for the East side vote. They open at 8 o'clock and remain open until 7 p. m. Poll taxes or exemption certificates are necessary to vote.

The West side ballot will be in charge of the following: Fred Grist, W. H. Hayes, Jim Flournoy, J. V. Heyser, Yancy McCrea, R. W. Mancill, O. W. Kean, L. Lee Mahoney, Jim Moss, Charles Robert, Royce Waters, Lee Humphreys, Hal Wagner, C. H. Hartman, A. D. Starling.

Judges and clerks for the East Cisco voting box will be: W. W. Wallace, C. P. Rainbolt, C. L. Gilmore, A. A. Michael, John Dill, J. R. Henderson, I. J. Henson, and Mrs. R. B. Carswell.

SEAMEN STRIKE TIES UP MANY VESSELS TODAY

HOUSTON, Nov. 2. (U.P.)—Union Longshoremen attempting to go to work at Port Houston today were turned back by striking seamen who have tied up twelve vessels.

The strikers, members of the "rank and file" branch of the International Seamen's Union, turned back members of the International Longshoremen's association who attempted to go to work. Bitter quarrels broke out when two trucks carrying negro longshoremen disregarded picket lines, but no violence occurred.

Two of the twelve vessels will attempt to sail today, but it was doubtful if they could clear port.

18 SHIPS TIED UP IN NEW YORK PORT
NEW YORK, Nov. 2. (U.P.)—With eighteen ships tied up in the port of New York, leaders of the faction of the International Seamen's Union striking in sympathy with west coast members, indicated today at least one and possibly three more ships would be added to the list before tonight.

GOVT OPENS ITS INVESTIGATION OF STRIKE
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 2. (U.P.)—The government's twice postponed investigation into the general maritime situation opened today as the Pacific Coast strike spread to dependent industry and federal intervention to break up the walkout, was suggested.

Development in the strike centered on the efforts of ship owners to have skeleton crews placed on the ship.

In Washington ship owners' representatives sought federal action on what they termed a "national emergency" in the shipping industry.

Admiral William Standley, chief of naval operations, reported that the navy could place "safety crews" on the vessels if authorized by President Roosevelt.

All west coast shipping was at a stand still and what was taking on the appearance of a general maritime strike for the country was spreading slow paralysis in Atlantic and Gulf coast ports.

ROCKING TITLE CLAIMED
MONTREAL (U.P.)—Armand Vezina, claimant to the world's "rocking" title, estimates he has covered 50,000 miles in the past five months in his rocking chair. He said he once rocked 88 hours without a break.

After Head-on Plane Collision

In aviation as in motor accidents, it's the innocent bystander who often is the most severely injured. Ferdinand Rausch, student pilot, was put in the hospital when his plane was rammed at Roosevelt Field, L. I. by a plane in which Lutton Evans was taking off. Evans was uninjured. Pictured are the wedged together planes. Rausch's with tail in air.

COUNTY CHAIRMAN ISSUES CALL TO VOTERS OF EASTLAND COUNTY

To the voters of Eastland County: The people of the United States tomorrow will elect the public officials who will direct national, state and local affairs for the next two to six years. A president and a vice president of the United States, various senators and congressmen, a governor of Texas, members of the state senate and house of representatives county officials and precinct officials will be chosen.

For all of these places the democratic party has named candidates. A critical condition confronts the national administration, which is being attacked from without and within by forces that are often selfish in purpose and sinister in influence. President Roosevelt, Vice President John Garner and the administration which they lead have carried out their pledges to restore prosperity, return the national government to the people and free it from the inequitable, oppressive and destructive forces of special interests. Because of the great, broad, visioned, and statesmanlike program that they have put into effect to return the control of the government of this nation to the people, they are being fought by the disgruntled and the selfish, and with all the power and influence at the command of the privilege-seeking plutocracy of Wall street and great wealth.

It is the duty of the democrats of Texas and of Eastland county to go to the support of the national administration and to the support of state and local candidates with all the force and power inherent in the ballot. As your county chairman, I call upon you as democrats to go to your various polling places tomorrow and to register in behalf of honest and humanitarian government.

Yours Sincerely,
OSCAR LYERLA
County Demo. Chairman

REBELS KILL CHILDREN BY AIR RAIDING

MADRID, Nov. 2. (U.P.)—Two rebel airplanes flew over Madrid today, dropping two bombs in an outlying district and striking a school house. Several children were casualties.

Nationalist airplane bombs dropped through clouds over Madrid crashed into a crowd today and killed three children; two women and three men were wounded.

Women and children were waiting to buy sugar rationed because of the siege in front of a grocery store when the air alarm sounded. No plane could be seen because of the clouds, but as the group huddled in fear, the bombs smashed down upon them.

On the battle front nationalist and loyal forces, facing each other at only 400 yards, clashed south of the city in what both sides believed would be a decisive battle. Loyalist troops had their front lines only three and three quarters miles south of the great Madrid airport.

The civilian population evacuated the village of Brunete less than 15 miles west of Madrid during a terrific bombardment today. The imminent rebel capture of Brunete threatened the loyalist who were trying to prevent a decisive rebel attack on the front northwest of the capital.

Police Find Car Abandoned Here

A Chevrolet coupe, '35, was found abandoned on E. avenue, Saturday morning with driver's license attached to the steering wheel showing ownership of Frank Soudley of Odessa. The car was registered in Oklahoma as 106-190; in Texas as F37-077. The key was in the lock.

ZERO WEATHER PREDICTED FOR U. S. ELECTION

Weather forecaster warns Texas Monday that a cold wave from the northwest would strike by nightfall, sending the temperature from summer levels to 20 degrees in the Panhandle and to the freezing point in west and northern sections of the state.

Amarillo had the prospect of a 20 degree temperature and a snow during the night. The cold was expected to strike there by sundown, although the mercury hovered near 50 degrees and a warm southwest wind was blowing Monday morning.

Livestock warnings were issued for the northern portion of the state.

Dr. J. L. Cline, federal observer in Dallas, said the breeze probably would extend as far south as Abilene Monday night.

RAIN, SNOW PREDICTED FOR ELECTION DAY
By United Press
Rain, snow and temperatures as low as zero were predicted today for the National election.

The midwestern will be in the midst of a cold wave. Snow was predicted and heavy rains were forecast for some of the populace of Atlantic coast states, including Pennsylvania and western New York.

The midwestern cold wave may strike the eastern states by late afternoon of election day, the weather bureau said.

Fair weather was predicted on the west coast.

Snow covered the Rocky mountain region today where a cold wave was sweeping down toward the southwest. The forecast for tomorrow was for fair weather and slowly rising temperatures.

Two deaths were reported in the storm that swept Utah.

POPULAR VOTE OF 42,000,000 PLUS FORECAST

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2. (U.P.)—More than 3,000,000 additional voters are expected to cast ballots in the Landon-Roosevelt election than went to polling places four years ago.

Due to the woman suffrage amendment, approved Aug. 26, 1920, and normal population growth, the number of votes cast in Presidential elections increased from 18,528,743 in 1916 to 39,916,522 in 1932.

The average presidential election year increase since woman's suffrage has been more than 3,000,000, pointing to a probability of more than 42,000,000 votes in the Roosevelt-Landon race.

Although the woman suffrage amendment was proclaimed more than two months before the 1920 election, many women were unable to vote that year because of registration requirements.

The nation's presidential election votes for candidates of all parties since 1916:

1916—18,528,743; 1920—26,705,346; 1924—29,022,261; 1928—36,879,414; 1932—39,916,522.

WATER PLANT AT LAKE NOT NEAR FINISHED

Work has been resumed on the water treating plant at Lake Cisco and five carpenters and a number of other laborers are at work building the forms preparatory to pouring the concrete for the walls and partitions. The open ditch in which 1,000 feet drain pipe will be laid, has been dug and laying of pipe will take care of common labor without in the next few days. R. S. Glenn is engineer in charge for the state and Wesley Harrell for the city.

The project to cost around $60,000 was originally scheduled to be completed within four months but after the lapse of seven months more remains to be done. Lack of skilled and common labor had been the main contributing cause of the delay, it is stated. Wesley Harrell, engineer for the city states that the cost will exceed this first estimate in order to complete it.

Little by Little They are Tempted!

When a fellow does some little thing he thinks he has no right to do, he never knows what it may get him into. Now, there was Tom Peterson. Tom's parents were solid, respectable folks, who had sound ideas about how to get along in the world and keep out of its troubles.

"Evil is cunning, insidious thing, Tom," Mother Peterson had warned. "If you ever let it catch your eye it may hypnotize you as a snake does a bird."

"Keep out of pool rooms," was one of the things Tom had been advised to do. "Not that knocking celluloid balls around a table with a stick is a vicious practice," said Father Peterson. "It is the influences you encounter in pool rooms that are dangerous."

One day Tom was walking down the street with an acquaintance. When they reached the door of the Palace pool parlor the acquaintance stopped. "I'm going in here," he said. "Come in, I'll show you a new shot." Tom hesitated—still what harm could there be in watching this fellow make a fancy shot?

It was a fancy shot, too. "I'll show you how it's done," said the acquaintance. He put the cue into Tom's hands. Tom could not make the shot. He had never held a cue before; so the acquaintance showed him how to make some simple shots. Tom was fascinated. Before he knew it he had been shooting pool for two hours. During the same time he met several young fellows; they were pleasant. "Nice chaps," thought Tom.

When Tom went home, he felt rather sneaky. He did not say anything to his parents about where he had been. Next day he dropped around for more pool; he continued to drop around.

Eventually Tom met a fascinating panther-like young man with a soft voice. He took a great interest in Tom. He taught him some different shots.

Tom's new friend suggested one day that they play for a penny a game "just to make it more interesting." As the days went on, they played for higher and higher stakes. Whenever Tom lost—and didn't have the money—his friend would say generously, "Oh, that's all right! Give me your I. O. U."

The first thing Tom knew he had given over $200 worth of I. O. U's. He was dismayed; and he saw no way of paying up.

Tom began to think and talk of making money in big bunches.

"Money is the easiest thing in the world to get," said Tom's friend. Casually he pulled out a roll. "I always have plenty of it."

"How do you get it?" asked Tom with keen interest. "I'll tell you some time," was the reply.

Tom's friend was deeply interested in all the hold-up news. He could explain the foolishness of those who got caught and the ease with which a fellow with brains could have done the trick.

Tom, too, became interested in holdups. He and his friend often entertained themselves working out holdup schemes. Tom was becoming more and more mesmerized; incidentally he was getting more and more in debt.

One day Tom's friend proposed that they stick up the treasurer of the Century Mills as he came from the bank Saturday morning with the payroll. He would have to stop his car at a railroad crossing in a secluded spot. They would jump out, take the money, and the car, and drive away. It would be easy and there would be about $5,000 a piece in it.

When the treasurer of the Century Mills came along and slowed up at the crossing, the two boys, with handkerchiefs tied across the lower part of their faces, jumped from concealment and covered him. But the treasurer showed fight. In the mixup he was killed.

Tom's friend went to the gallows and Tom went to the penitentiary.

There are 550 species of grass in Texas or one half of the 1100 species found in the entire United States yet Texas produced only 775,000 tons of tame hay last year, the Texas Planning Board discovered during a recent survey.

In its study of the underground water resources of the state, the Texas Planning Board computed the average combined daily flow of the eight major Texas springs at 556,500,000 gallons.

OUT OUR WAY

UNDER THE DOME AT AUSTIN

By GORDON K. SHEARER

United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN, Nov. 2 (UP)—Texas

Senators finally decided they knew very little about radio when they endeavored to tax it. Senator Gordon

Burns, admitted he was no expert on it.

"But I do know they charge a lot and pay no taxes," Burns said.

Senators came to the defense of the small town broadcasts. Some advanced the idea of exempting radios in communities of less than 2,500 population. Then they discovered that the most powerful station in the state is located in an unincorporated community of less than 200 people.

Houston broadcasting stations are in surrounding suburbs and would escape under the population bracket.

As an alternative it was decided to exempt stations of 1,000 watts or less. None knew just what the waiting was but that sounded reasonable and was adopted.

Just because the inauguration next

January will continue the same governor in office and not install a new one, Austin citizens will not omit an inaugural ball. Charley

Cook, has been named head of a citizens committee for the affair.

The inauguration will be on Jan. 15

Both the governor and lieutenant governor favor a short ceremony. It probably will be held in the hall of the House of Representatives. The ball however, will be a big affair—

probably in Gregory gymnasium at the University of Texas.

Texas senators concluded there is a field for investigation by meteorologists in West Texas. A West Texan sought legislative permission to sue the highway department because a road grade had left a depression on his property which he claimed filled with water.

His petition asserted the water came from rainfall and other precipitation.

Senators had not heard of any snow or hail in the area.

Rufus P. Higgs, Stephenville, is being put forward for State Highway Commissioner as a logical appointee from the "Hub of Texas."

Higgs is a newspaper editor. Fellow editor Harry P. Schwenker, publisher of the Brady Standard, is ram-rodging the Higgs movement. Gov.

Allred will have a place to fill on the commission Feb. 1. Stephenville has had one highway commissioner,

John Cage of that place was on the commission in 1925-26.

Quintitude of the "lobby" at the special session of the Texas legislature has proved alarming to some.

"We will have a good crop of taxes if we do not have a late frost" was the way one observer viewed the situation.

Many members fear a "late frost"

will knock off many of the taxes before the crop can be gathered.

"They can't fool me that way,"

said Senator Tom DeBerry, of Bogota

who took alarm when hearings on proposed taxes were waived in the house. "I don't know who agreed nor what was agreed too, but I just knew there was some understanding."

List of Disasters Calls Red Cross Workers Into Action on 150 Fronts During Year

Raging flood waters and the twisting winds of tornadoes brought death to thousands of persons and left untold millions of dollars property damage over the eastern section of the United States during the spring of 1936, calling an army of Red Cross workers into the disaster field spreading simultaneously over more than a score of states. A graphic description of the administration of relief to victims of 150 disasters in 39 states by the Red Cross during the year was given yesterday by J. E. Spencer, chairman of the Eastland chapter, American Red Cross, when he revealed that only nine states in the Union escaped some type of catastrophe.

Mr. Spencer recalled how, during the spring months, requests for assistance were pouring into Red Cross headquarters in Washington from all sections of the country by telegram, wireless, telephone, letters, and personal appeals. "No call went unheeded," he declared. "Aid was dispatched to sufferers at once by the Red Cross. Trained disaster relief directors rushed to these scenes of destruction and distress by airplane, by boat, fast trains automobiles, and in some places where all transportation was out of the question, afoot. Our Eastland County Chapter has contributed $263.00 to those disasters, including the San Angelo flood disasters.

The number of disasters during the fiscal year which has just closed was much higher than the average year," he said. "For over a period of 10 years the average has been about 91 disasters annually.

"The number of families aided through disaster periods during the past year amounted to approximately 131,000. In this relief work the Red Cross expended $5,232,052.48, although at the end of the fiscal year on June 30th relief work was still incomplete as a result of the spring floods and tornadoes. In the spring floods and tornadoes alone the Red Cross was called on to aid 77,000 families, and in the tornado zone in Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina and Tennessee more than 6,000 families required this assistance.

Fires led in the list of disasters requiring Red Cross assistance for victims, with 45 instances recorded. Floods came next with 35, tornadoes with 32 and others in this order: epidemics, 11; hurricanes, 8; typhoons, 5; shipwrecks, 3; and earthquakes and hailstorms 2 each. The following disasters occurred at least once: bombing explosion, forest fires, ice locks, land slides, refugee relief, and windstorms.

"For the past 35 years the flag of the Red Cross has flown upon every scene of major disaster in the United States," Mr. Spencer recounted. "The Red Cross has carried assistance in the form of food, clothing, shelter, medical aid, rehabilitation of homes and families to more than 1,200 scenes of disaster large and small. During this time millions of dollars have been expended by the organization as an agency of the American people in giving relief. Thousands of families, left homeless and hopeless by the forces of nature, might otherwise have sunk into destitution were it not for the helping hand of the American people through this society, and of the people who support it and actively work for it through the years."

Mr. Spencer explained that the Red Cross policies of relief have been worked out over the years through actual experience of the workers in the field, and that, in simple terms, relief is given on the basis of need rather than on loss. He pointed out that loans are never made, and that assistance is always given with on strings attached. When a family such as one among the thousands assisted during the past year receives Red Cross aid, it is in the form of an outright gift with no obligations to be fulfilled later.

"Every dollar contributed for relief is accounted for to the Congress of the United States through a War Department audit, as are all other Red Cross expenditures," Mr. Spencer said, concluding by saying that disaster relief work is financed in part through funds received at Roll Call time, November 11th to Thanksgiving Day, each year.

WELLS TO SPUD NORTH OF CITY DURING WEEK

Two deep wells are spud in just north of Cisco limits this week, it is announced. The Hickok's Charley Kleiner No. 2 is installing machinery and will be spudded within the next few days. The Lone Star well is the Boggs No. 3 and the rig is about completed, is a steel rig and will spud the latter part of the week unless hindered by weather or other unforeseen development. The Hickok rig is completed.

The Hickok well will be No. 2 Charles Kleiner, section 83, block 4, H&TC Railway company survey, one mile north of Cisco. The company's application calls for drilling to 4,000 feet unless oil or gas in commercial production is found in a lesser depth.

The Kleiner No. 1 is reported as a 10-million-foot gas producer. The No. 3 Kleiner is a north offset to the gas producer.

Lone Star's new well is the No. 3 J. G. Boggs, 660 feet north of the No. 1. It is 910 feet from the east lines of the farm, section 83, block 4, H&TC survey. It will be drilled to 3,710 feet. The No. 3 Boggs 60 feet north of the No. 1 Boggs, which had initial production of 110 barrels from the Lake sand.

Colored Present Hallowe'en Program

The pupils of the colored school joined with others in celebrating Hallowe'en by having a program Saturday night. Songs and recitations in keeping with the Hallowe'en theme were enjoyed, after which costumes were judged. Andrew Harrison won first place, wearing a clown suit of green and yellow; Virginia Patterson, dressed as a pirate, won second place. Games were played such as crack, or eating contest, peanut race, jelly bean race, biting the apples in a tub of water, and chewing the string with the marshmallow in the center. Professor W. L. Armstrong of Breckridge presented several students in songs and piano selections. Opal Mae Stoneham sang "Robins and Roses", and "Until the Real Thing Comes Along". Louise Foster played two selections entitled "Night Wind", and "All My Life". A number of visitors from Eastland were present. Refreshments were served. A call has been issued by the colored students for old magazines. They are used in making scrap books. Points of Interest Teacher Retirement

Senate Joint Resolution No. 18, "Proposing an Amendment to the Constitution Authorizing Establishment of Teacher Retirement System," the second amendment on the ballot to be voted on November 2. All persons employed in the public schools, colleges and universities supported wholly or partly by the state will be eligible for membership. It is further provided that no person who has not taught twenty years in the state of Texas is eligible for retirement benefits, but will be entitled to a refund of his part of the money paid into the fund. Recipients of retirement benefits are not eligible for any other form of pension or relief from the state. The amount contributed by each person shall not exceed 5 per cent of the compensation received from the state during any one year and in no case shall it exceed $180 per year. The percentage-rate of contributions by the teacher will be set by law; whatever the amount, the state will match it. This method is known as a teacher-state contributory plan. It is a common and desirable feature of sound retirement systems both in business and in government. A financially sound teacher retirement law can be enacted for the benefit of public education in Texas by exercise of legislative statesmanship, provided the teacher retirement amendments is approved by the people on Nov. 2. Without this approval no retirement plan for teachers is possible.

DEEP INTO THE BIG WOODS on a hunting trip. No luxuries here, as "Herb" Welch—famous Maine Guide—makes noon camp and serves up beans, johnny-cake, and coffee hot from the camp-fire coals, winding up with Camels all around. Hearty outdoor appetites welcome the sense of digestive well-being that smoking Camels encourages. "Herb" says: "Anything that goes into the woods with me has to earn its way. Camels more than earn theirs. Camels are a swell thing to have on the trail...a pleasure and a necessity. I've lived on one meal a day—just dried meat and water at that—and I've dined on the best that the state of Maine offers—but no matter what I'm eating, it always tastes better and digests better when I smoke Camels. And I like Camel's cheery 'lift.'"

Camel
Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS... Turkish and Domestic... than any other popular brand.

WHEREVER...WHATEVER... WHENEVER YOU EAT—

For Digestion's Sake— Smoke Camels!

YOU eat over a thousand meals a year! Many kinds of foods. At all times and places. Sometimes you are free of care—at others, worried and nervous. Yet, thanks to Camels, you can help digestion meet these conditions easily.
Smoking Camels speeds up the flow of fluids that start digestion off well and keep it running smoothly. Tension eases. Alkalinity increases. You enjoy your food more—and have a feeling of greater ease and contentment after eating. Mealtime or any time—make it Camels!

To millions of men and women, Camels are the last word in cigarette enjoyment. Camels are so mild, they do not get on your nerves—or tire your taste—facts that steady smokers especially appreciate.

ROUTES 100 TRAINS A DAY. H. M. Wright says: "I have to have healthy nerves and good digestion. So I smoke Camels. They do not get on my nerves. And they insure a sense of well-being at mealtimes. Camels set me right."

ANOTHER CHAMPION SMOKES CAMELS. Dorothy Holderman set a glider record for both men and women. "Imagine how gliding affects digestion!" she says. "But a few Camels at mealtime bring my digestion right back."
