LOBO BAND WINS W. TEXAS CONTEST
Breckenridge Wins District Meet; Strawn Close Second

CISCO TRACK TEAM MAKES FOUR FIRSTS

Breckenridge high school, by virtue of 50 "premium" points, was allowed for having students in the event of not, carried off honors at the district Inter-district league meet at Rancho, Saturday. The Breckenridge contestants won 56 points added to the 50 premium points gave them a total of 106.

Strawn high school won more points on places than Breckenridge, with 60. But had only enough students entered to count them 40 premium points which placed their total at 100, six below that of Breckenridge.

Strawn captured first honors in track and field events with 40 points. Breckenridge took second with 28. Cisco third with 23. Other schools placed as follows: Mineral Wells 17, Breckenridge 14, Stephenville 13, Grayford 7, Flatwood 5, and Hockley 1.

Four Firsts. Cisco boys debate team won place in the contests with unanimous decisions over Stephenville and Strawn. This team consisted of Billy Murray and Haywood. They will represent the district in state meet, competing against other teams. The two boys, tutored by Supt. R. N. Clark deserve commendation for the work that they have put into preparations for the contest.

Places Taken. The track and field events the team captured places as follows: 100-yard dash, B. Miley first with time of two minutes, eight and one-fifths seconds.

200-yard dash, G. Miley, with a time of 23 seconds flat.

400-yard dash, Little, 10 feet and 10 inches.

800-yard dash, Jeter, Miley and G. Miley.

1600-yard dash, G. Miley second.

3200-yard dash, a slow track and a dash to a considerable degree.

The district record was broken by the Cisco team, as they won the 100-yard dash, threw the discus 130 feet and four inches for a record while Pope, Mineral Wells, tied the high jump record of 4 feet and 2 inches.

Eastland, was high with 10 and one-half. Stevens, Ranger, was second high with 10 and one-half. Cisco, was with 9 and one-fourth points.

Year-Old Girl Burned to Death. WAUKA, Oklahoma, April 18.—A 14-year-old girl, Lively, 14, was burned to death and Mrs. Paul Truett, probably fatally injured early today in the automobile in which they were riding caught fire and overturned on the Addington road five miles from Wauka.

Truett applied the brakes when the car suddenly burst into flames and the machine skidded about a foot and toppled over, pinning the girl underneath.

Truett rescued Mr. and Mrs. Lively, but the girl was so badly burned that she was brought to the hospital here.

LAST HOUSEHOLD OF A PROUD DYNASTY

Their abdication ended 991 years of monarchical rule over Spain. Standing, left to right, are the Infante Don Jaime; Infante Don Alfonso of Orleans, son of Princess Eulalia; Prince of the Asturias; King Alfonso XIII, who was born to the throne which he has had to relinquish; and the Infante Don Gonzalo. Seated, left to right, are the Infanta Beatrice; Infanta Isabel Alfonso; the Queen Mother, Christina; the Infante Don Juan; Queen Victoria; and Infanta Christina.

58 NEW LAWS ARE PASSED IN HOUSE SAT.

AUSTIN, April 18.—Fifty-eight new laws were finally passed by the house of the Texas legislature today in a rapid fire session without a quorum. They now go to the senate for approval. Action on 54 of the measures this morning took but 145 minutes.

Numerous other bills were taken up but withdrawn when opposition was announced. Included in the list passed was a bill which lets the adjutant-general, instead of the governor, name the state service officer who looks after claims of World War veterans. Another charges non-resident fishermen $5 a year to fish in Texas or $1.10 for a five-day permit.

Secret Search for Kidnapers Pushed

MONROE, Wis., April 18.—A secret search for the kidnapers who freed Fred E. Blumer, near-by manufacturer, after a week's imprisonment, spread today over three states as Blumer resumed direction of his brewery.

The kidnapers' victim, rested after 18 hours of sleep which steadied his jumpy nerves, told newspapermen that the gang of captors included at least six men, two of whom attended him as valets.

LISBON, Portugal, April 18.—Portugal recognized the Spanish republic today.

HOUSE OF DAVID CLUB AND CISCO TIE IN 11 INNINGS. The hayfaced clan from the House of David didn't lose their nocturnal frays with the Cisco Red Sox Friday evening but the indiscretion of a spectator was the only reason they did not after 11 innings of furious battling. The session was called at 10:45 when the restlessness of the customers forbade further extension of time.

The score was five-all. The teams kept on an even footing throughout the game, both teams scoring a run in the initial canto. There was no further scoring until the fourth when the Red Sox counted to take the lead. Two singles and two bases on balls allowed Bryan to cross the plate for this tally.

Negro Is Hanged by Tennessee Mob

UNION CITY, Tenn., April 18.—A crowd forced its way into the county jail here today, took George Smith, 20, negro, and hanged him to a tree in the court house yard.

The negro was being held on suspicion of attacking and beating a daughter of Ben Howard, farmer.

The town was packed with the usual Saturday afternoon crowds. Since noon a mob had milled about the jail shouting threats of "There'll be a bonfire in the old town tonight."

He Was Doomed to Die by Fire

DE RIO, April 18.—Glen Kaley, 30, was doomed to die by fire. Kaley was severely burned at the Marathon Oil company's refinery here when escaping oil caught fire. Last night he dropped a lighted cigarette on his handbags and they burned off. Today he was dead.

He is survived by a wife and child. He will be buried at San Angelo.

JURY COMMISSION. E. J. Poe, Cisco; A. M. Hearn, Eastland; and C. B. Pruitt, Ranger, compose the jury commission appointed by Judge Elzo Ben late Friday to select petit jurors for the May term of that court. Members of the commission are to meet at Eastland Monday, April 20, at 10 o'clock.

Smith to Go on Trial May 19. Norman Smith, alias Norman Stewart, charged with robbery with firearms, will go to trial in Judge Geo. L. Davenport's 91st district court on May 19. A special venire of 60 men has been ordered summoned from which to select a trial jury.

Smith is alleged to have held up, at the point of a pistol, Geo. E. Kistler in the Laguna hotel in Cisco and robbed him of a valuable diamond. Smith disappeared after the hold up and was not apprehended until a few days ago when officers located him at Tyler. He had already been indicted, however, and gave bond following his arrest.

TAKEN TO DALLAS. Orville Black, 1930 Lobo football star whose wrist was badly fractured when he fell from the running board of a car on West Seventh street Friday morning, was taken to Dallas Friday evening for treatment by a specialist.

F. F. T. TEAMS LEAVE TODAY FOR A. AND M.

Vocational Instructor E. H. Varnell, of the Cisco high school, and 19 members of the vocational classes of the school were due to leave at 6 o'clock this morning for College Station where they will take part in the annual F. F. T. state judging contest. One of the boys, Arch Spruill, will represent the 19 schools of this vocational district in the state F. F. T. public speaking contest, which if he wins, will bring him a cash prize of $100 and the right to represent the state in the national public speaking contest at Kansas City next September.

The group of boys and their teacher were to travel by truck, arriving at College Station this evening in time for the opening of the contests tomorrow morning. They will return Tuesday.

The boys make up five teams. They are: Polarity — Paul Morton, James Matthews, Albert Wendt.

Livestock — Elmer Roy Lee Garrett or Joe Bob Winston, Ted Waters and Wilborn Garrett.

Dairy — Andrew Watson, Chester Norvell, Byron Ray.

Plant Production — Bobbie Thurman, Ben Camp, Avery Holt, Fimley Winston and Tipton Page.

Terracing — Carl and Adolph Stroebel and J. C. Thurman.

The Cisco high school has made an excellent record in past state judging contests. Twice in the past three years its plant production teams have won first place and if successful in this division this year the school will receive permanent possession of the trophy that has been awarded.

In 1928 the dairy team of the local school won first place.

BLAZING WELL DEATH TOLL IS NOW THREE

KILGORE, April 18.—Burns received when the Upchurch and Allen No. 2 Brightwell gusher blazed last night claimed two more lives today raising the death toll to three persons.

R. C. Holcomb, 34, pipe line worker who saved himself from instant death by covering his face when a flash sent off an inferno of blazing oil died in a hospital here today. His hands and the upper torso were seared.

Earlier in the day Claude Upchurch, 47, part owner of the well died in a Tyler infirmary. Flames stripped Upchurch of his clothing and badly burned his body before he could move. He also suffered a fractured leg.

Funeral services for Upchurch will be held Sunday afternoon in Corsicana. He is survived by his wife and three small children.

Efforts to locate relatives of J. W. Smith, 35, pipe line worker, who succumbed a few hours after the fire, had proved fruitless tonight. No plans for funeral services had been made.

Two other victims were still alive tonight. Condition of L. H. Gray, vice-president of the Sabine Pipe Line company was grave. He was carried to a Longview hospital. Physicians held more hope for the recovery of E. T. Greene, paint worker who was taken to Tyler with Upchurch.

Ainsworth to Face Trial Monday, May 4

John Ainsworth, under indictment by an Eastland county grand jury on a charge of robbery with firearms, is scheduled to face trial in the 88th district court Monday, May 4. A special venire of 60 men has been ordered from which to select a jury to try the case.

Ainsworth, a well known Eastland county man, is charged with having helped up, at the point of a pistol, Miss Pauline Head, in the box office of the Arcadia Theatre in Ranger on last February 13. He is alleged to have forced Miss Head to give him $58 of the theatre's money. Ainsworth is out on bond.

LEGISLATURE TO ROUND WORK UP NEXT WEEK

AUSTIN, April 18.—Principal work of the 42nd Texas legislature will largely be rounded up next week. All indications point to passage Monday of the combined cigarette and natural gas tax bill. With continuation of the present taxes on sulphur, oil franchises and occupations, it is expected the cigarette and natural gas taxes will make up the difference between the ad valorem tax income and the $44,000,000 appropriations expected to be made.

At this stage it seems likely that a state income tax, a public utility commission for oil and gas regulation and an intangible assets tax, all are doomed to wait at least another session of the legislature.

Motor traffic, traffic regulations, congressional redistricting and decision on a state highway bond issue, all are expected to get final action one way or the other during the week.

Sandino Reported Marching on City. PUERTO CEREZAS, Nicaragua, April 18.—(Via Radio to New Orleans.)—Austin Murphy, company overseer, reported to the Standard Fruit and Steamship company here that a Sandino follower had revealed that Sandino and his lieutenant, Alta Mirano, with 200 men, were at Sandino on the Wanks river preparing to march overland to Puerto Cabezas.

Murphy, who said he had been captured, and released told company officials the native had boasted of Sandino's presence.

Broadway of America Motorcade, En Route to Hot Springs, Stops Here

Gathering momentum as it goes the motorcade of the Broadway of America Highway association, en route to Hot Springs, Arkansas, and third annual convention of the association, passed through Cisco yesterday at noon, stopping over for luncheon at the Laguna hotel.

The twenty cars, collected at intervals between San Diego and this city, headed by an escort of state highway police, swept into the business district heralded by a screaming of sirens and parked in a line down the center of D avenue. The motorcade was greeted at Putnam by a committee composed of J. E. Spencer, secretary of the chamber of commerce, J. C. Williams and J. R. Graves who accompanied them to Cisco. Upon arrival here accommodations were provided at the Laguna hotel and lunch spread in the club dining room.

A. J. Klaus, representing the San Diego California chamber of commerce is serving as marshal of the group and to him falls the duty of keeping the stream of cars moving on a schedule which demands an average speed of 30 miles per hour.

Pleased With Patrol. Mr. Klaus was well pleased with the cooperation afforded the motorcade by the Texas highway patrol. At El Paso a cordon of the officers in uniform and on motorcycles, joined the line of cars travelling ahead in V-shaped formation to clear the road and insure safe transportation for the group. Similar escorts have continued with the motorcade since and will continue until the Arkansas line is reached. "The importance of state highway patrolmen of this character cannot be overestimated," said Mr. Klaus. "They do more to insure safe highways than any other single factor."

The motorcade was due to spend last night in Fort Worth, to eat lunch today in Mt. Pleasant and to continue to Hot Springs, Arkansas, this afternoon.

Opens Monday. The convention opens at Hot Springs Monday and continues through Tuesday, 21.

About 20 cars and 60 persons were with the motorcade by the time it reached Cisco. Mr. Klaus anticipates that the bulk of the cars will be picked up between Fort Worth and Hot Springs.

Roads have been fine all the way, he said.

New officers will be elected at the Hot Springs convention and plans for a vigorous advertising campaign will be laid. One of the points to be stressed in this campaign is the fact that the entire route is now 93 per cent complete as compared with 60 per cent at the time of the first convention three years ago.

Whose Running You Interference? As a citizen of Cisco are you playing the game? Or do you want to carry the ball all the time? Teamwork is just as essential to good citizenship as it is in football or baseball games.

In today's issue of the Daily News the Chamber of Commerce tells you straight from the shoulder some facts that should set you thinking. Perhaps you have figured that what happens to Cisco doesn't concern you in the least, that you are living in a little world of your own bounded by your walls and that it doesn't make any difference to you what happens outside those four walls.

If so the chamber of commerce has something to say to you. Give it fair hearing.

Whose running interference for you, cutting down the back-liners — unemployment, bankruptcy, hunger and idle capital? On page 6 will be found the first of a series of ten advertisements which will appear each Sunday and Thursday.

TAKES PRIZE 3RD TIME IN SUCCESSION

For the third consecutive year, the Cisco Lobo band Saturday won first place in the class A division of the west Texas high school band contest at Abilene, thus securing permanently for the school the principal trophy awarded to the winning band. In addition to the main trophy the band has collected three other trophies, one for each year that the Cisco organization, directed by G. W. Collum has won.

Winning of this contest three years in succession is a distinction rarely attained and Mr. Collum and his band members were jubilant Saturday as they returned from the contest in which 15 high school bands from all over West Texas participated. The contest music this year was the most difficult of any that has been required.

Abilene won second place in the class A division, and Lubbock third. Colorado took first honors in the class B division; Wink first in the class C division and Breckenridge first in the class D division.

Personnel. The following are the members of the Lobo band:

Dick West, Julian Ely, Pauline McClintock, J. B. King, Mack Statham, Leonard Skiles, Lois Pulley, Duward McClelland, Wilton Keeter, John Huey, J. W. EDMONDSON SUCCUMBS TO HIS WOUNDS

SPUR, April 18.—Weakened by drinking poison last night J. N. Edmondson, 39, died of peritonitis in a hospital here early today in another chapter in the chain of tragedy involving the young mechanic and the Foreman family.

Shot in the side by C. R. Foreman, father of the 19-year-old girl found dead in a Crosbryton room with him last Sunday, Edmondson had only a slight chance of recovery. His attempt to end his life by swallowing poisonous rubbing alcohol destroyed this, doctors said.

While his nurse went for saline to scotch his parched lips, Edmondson leaped from his bed, placed a chair against the door and raised a bottle of rubbing alcohol to his lips. The nurse made her way into the room through a window but too late to prevent him swallowing the alcohol.

He had written a note reading: "I did not kill Elsie. He didn't kill me. I did it myself."

Fears for Safety of Americans Felt

BALBA, C. Z., April 18.—Fears for the safety of Americans and other foreigners in the interior of Nicaragua were expressed today after it appeared that the coastal region was insufficiently protected from insurgent attacks.

The forces of Augusto Sandino were believed concentrating for a systematic attack on the plantations and all employees of the United Fruit company were armed for defensive purposes. There were no reports from the Nicaraguan national guard detachment under two United States Marine lieutenants sent out yesterday to meet a band of insurgents not far from Puerto Cabezas.

Officials of the Spaniard Fruit company said their reports showed that eight employees of the company were the only Americans known dead in the bandit-infested region.

AUSTIN, April 18.—Trial of 71 charges against 14 defendants growing out of the Sherman riots of May 9 was set today by District Judge J. D. Moore for trial at the term of his court beginning here on June 1.

DAILY BIBLE THOUGHT

THE FEAST OF HARMONY—Better is a dry morsel, and quietness therewith, than a house full of sacrifices with strife.—Proverbs 17: 1.

THE GOLDEN RULE—As ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them.—Luke 6: 31.

WHY NOT CITY-COUNTY CONSOLIDATION?

"County home rule, as the term suggests, simply would apply a time honored constitutional principle—LOCAL SELF GOVERNMENT," editorializes The San Antonio Express in discussing the Beck resolution for submitting to the people the proposed county home rule amendment. The Express advises the senate of Texas to pass the measure in order "that the voters may be enabled to adopt this much needed reform at the general election in 1932." And then The Express asks this question:

"Why maintain two separate governmental organizations (city and county) to perform what one could do as well and at perhaps less than half the cost? Under the present system it appears a large proportion of the taxpayer's dollar is wasted needlessly. He pays a heavy annual tribute to tradition—to old-fashioned methods maintained because it always has been done that way."

Why continue to pay "a heavy annual tribute to tradition?" Why not submit the Beck resolution to the people? They pay the taxes. They should be given the big voice in forms of local government. As for the Beck measure, "it would not compel, but merely empower, the community to reform its own local government."

A county government is largely a farmer's government and one of the highest authorities in America says it is the most wasteful and inefficient of all forms of government for the very substantial reason that it is headless. A city-county government would be just as successful as the manager plan of municipal government.

Why politics in local affairs?

Why not keep some of the money in the pockets of the people?

SPAIN HAS A REPUBLIC.

Spain has joined the column of republics the wide world over. Alcala Zamora is the first president of the new nation. All the monarchists who held office are out. Their successors call themselves republicans, but they are socialists for the most part. This appears to be the end of the Spanish Bourbons, dating from the reign of Philip in 1700. Alfonso assumed the throne in 1902 at 16 years of age. He had a stormy reign.

There is a new Spain. It will be governed by the people for a time at least. Then a dictator may snatch the reins from Alcala Zamora.

Alfonso was willing to go. He abdicated without ceremony and then the dethroned king and his family and the monarchists who had ruled throughout the ages decamped for alien climes where neutrality laws will protect them. Alfonso is said to be one of the private multi-millionaires of the world. He is said to be worth 14 or 15 million dollars in fairly liquid assets. He has many large investments in England. He will make England his home. Why should he worry? An uncrowned king with millions at his command has much to be thankful for in these days of popular upheavals. There are only 12 monarchs left in the world. These are the kingly nations: England, Italy, Belgium, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, the Netherlands, Rumania, Japan, Belgium, Siam and Abyssinia. Nine of the 12 reigning monarchs are mere figureheads. They are puppets of the royal show. They are directed by prime ministers and lawmakers chosen by the people. As for Italy, Mussolini is the real king. His word is the law of the modern Romans. As for the king, he is merely tolerated. Regardless of the pessimists, there is a rising vote of democracy around the world.

SIX-HOUR WORKING DAY IS SUCCESS.

Is the six-hour working day coming the country over? It will be adopted as a permanent operating policy by the Kellogg company, Battle Creek, Mich. Louis J. Brown, president of the company, has been experimenting with the plan since Dec. 1. He has returned the verdict that the plan had proved suitable for both stockholders and employees. Also that production was increased, consumption was stimulated and overhead was decreased.

Since inauguration of the plan the president said in his report the company has worked four shifts in its plant, six hours each, to replace the former three shifts of eight hours each. At the same time he said it increased the base wage 12 1/2 per cent. Indeed, he said the company discovered many unexpected advantages. Incidentally, the plan originally was put into force as an emergency measure to relieve unemployment in Battle Creek and 20 per cent more workers were added. Now it is to be the permanent operating policy of the Kellogg company.

Sen. Couzens hails from Michigan. He is said to be one of the foremost champions of the six-hour work day.

OTHER OPINIONS

BEST TIME TO ADVERTISE

For an advertising and reading era. The two facts co-ordinate. There are more newspaper readers in the nation today than ever before and the readers expect to find what they need and want brought before them in the advertising pages. The business man, the housewife, the fashion fan and the movie addict all turn daily to the advertising pages of their daily newspaper. Every merchant, distributor of goods and purveyor of amusements know these things to be true. But the singular delusion prevails among the general run of such public suppliers that they should advertise flamboyantly when business is booming and cut down their advertising space and expenses when business is slack and their customers few. They pursue just the policy that keeps business slack. They go square against the policy that has built up many of the largest businesses in America.

John Wamamaker, the most typically successful merchant in our history, held religiously to his policy. "When business slows down I swell my advertising, for the people will always buy bargains." His great stores in Philadelphia and New York continue that policy and thrive upon it richly. The Marshall Field store in Chicago became famous and gathered the richest custom in the United States by its lavish advertising and complete service to poor and rich alike. In that store any day you may rub elbows with a scrubwoman on one side of you and a millionaire from Chicago's gold coast on your other side all at the same counter.

Still it seems as hard to convince the millions of merchants that "the early bird gets the worm" as the nervy advertiser sells the goods as it is to convince Scott McBride that prohibition is a failure. Nevertheless every merchant with gumption confesses that it is the best advertised goods of the nation that sell most readily and in largest volume.

Local business depression can best be overcome by keeping before the eyes of the people, in attractive advertising, the goods the people are known to universally want and the favorable prices for which they may "now be had."—Atlanta Constitution.

In the Political Arena

By HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD

"Build Texas" was the inaugural slogan of Gov. Ross Sterling in his initial message to the legislature of Texas. He visited Dallas this week for the first time since New Year's day. He returned to Austin on a night train. He was there on personal business. An Associated Press writer, making mention of the trip, said "the governor had kind words for the legislature and nothing to say about his own administration. He said the members of the legislature were working hard and accomplishing things, terms this session probably the best in years."

"Build Texas" covers a lot of ground. A prosperous agricultural Texas linked with an ever expanding industrial would place the Lone Star commonwealth in the vanguard of the profession. All this is a reminder that the Texas Weekly says Texas spent $62,000,000 on its public schools in 1930, $46,000,000 for teachers and $16,000,000 for maintenance and free textbooks. Fifteen years earlier the total spent was $13,766,000, per capita of $12.19 against the per capita of $43.79 in 1930. Isn't this building Texas?

Again, the university bureau of economic geology reports Texas produced in a single year $11,805,000 worth of cement, $946,000 worth of asphalt, $6,000,000 worth of clay products, $1,600,000 worth of lignite, $322,000 worth of Fuller's earth, $3,440,000 worth of gypsum, $838,000 worth of lime, $1,038,000 worth of miscellaneous minerals including graphite, mercury, salt, sand, lime brick, manganese, basalt and green sand, not to mention $67,474,000 worth of natural gas, $26,561,000 worth of natural-gas gasoline and $323,340,000 worth of petroleum.

Building Texas? Yes. Texas produced 13,800,000 pounds of the mohair of the United States total production of 16,006,000 pounds in 1930. Of the 336,007,000 pounds of wool produced in the United States last year, Texas yielded 41,600,000 pounds, leading the nation.

Now why shouldn't Texas take its place some day among the leaders of the manufacturing states?

"Build Texas?" Yes. There are builders everywhere. Gladewater is to be the site of a new oil refinery erected by Wichita Falls interests. Many East Texas towns are receiving tangible benefits from the oil developments in that section, and more than $4,000,000 is being spent now for pipelines alone.

Archer City is to have a new oil refinery of 250 barrels daily capacity supplying local territory and getting its crude from nearby wells. The largest natural gas compressor in the world (according to claims) is being constructed at Fritch as a part of the 950 mile system which will pipe Texas natural gas to Chicago. It comprises 12 units of 1250 horsepower each and is the largest of 10 similar stations along the line.

A new pipeline program entailing the expenditure of $259,000,000 is included in projects now under way or ready to begin in the oil and gas fields of Texas and Oklahoma and Kansas, and William C. Edwards is responsible for the information. "Building Texas" activities are reported from all sections and pipe-laying the natural gas of Texas to far distant consumers is assuming gigantic proportions.

Encouraging signs that Texas is living at home is given in the announcement from the university bureau of business research that, while from 1923 to 1930 Texas shipped in nearly 1,000,000 more hogs than it shipped out, in 1929 its exports were 23,000 greater than its imports.

Jumping from swine statistics to building, it is announced that more than $3,000,000 worth of building projects were under way in Texas, according to March 30 report to the federal emergency employment committee, and that 80 per cent of the total sum will be expended for labor is held as a most encouraging prospect.

Highway construction in a dozen Texas counties is being started as a result of contract lettings by the state highway commission. Contracts let included the work of the closing of two or three of the worst gaps in main traveled roads of the state. March-April lettings by the highway commission total $1,811,229.

Laredo is looking forward to a March increase in tourist travel when the La Salle county paving is completed to furnish a paved highway from North Texas cities to the border. June 1 has been set for the completion of the work on the Mexico City-Monterrey highway, passable now in dry weather, and with 6000 men at work toward the objective of making it an all-weather road such as that which now extends from Laredo to Monterrey. To make a complete job of building Texas, the state must be given a magnificent system of north and south and east and west highways. This is the auto age and the modern highway and the auto are linked together.

The lamp is the official spokesman of the Standard Oil companies. Editorially, The Lamp makes a suggestion "that producers agree to the curtail production in both the United States and the Latin-American producing countries on a percentage basis." So that is that. James G. Cloud of Tulsa, Okla., president of the Independent Petroleum association of that state, has returned this verdict:

"Prostration has ruined Oklahoma as an oil producing state and most of the operators admit that they would have been better off if they had never submitted to it. I have become convinced it is a tank failure and means ruin to independent oil operators, lease and royalty owners alike."

President Cloud is for the return of "the law of supply and demand." Under the operators admit that they would have been better off if they had never submitted to it. I have become convinced it is a tank failure and means ruin to independent oil operators, lease and royalty owners alike."

Under the operators admit that they would have been better off if they had never submitted to it. I have become convinced it is a tank failure and means ruin to independent oil operators, lease and royalty owners alike."

Under the operators admit that they would have been better off if they had never submitted to it. I have become convinced it is a tank failure and means ruin to independent oil operators, lease and royalty owners alike."

BARTHELMESS IN GREATEST ROLE IS HERE

Richard Barthelmess has made much of the greatest role of his career at the Palace theatre when the First National production "The Finger Points" opened its local engagement. He plays the part of a Big Town reporter who in order to get money to spend on the "sob sister" he loves, covers crime in exchange for bribes he extorts from gangdom.

Barthelmess portrays with rare understanding the changing character of the young man who comes from the South with high ideals as to the duty of the press to the public and gradually falls under the power of greed which finally brings its retribution—with the added tragedy that the public never finds out that he is not the honorable man he pretends to be.

Fay Wray as the "sob sister" of the newspaper who loves the unfortunate youth and keeps his secret to the last, gives a performance of rare beauty. Regis Toomey, as the tipping reporter who also loves the girl, and who, unwittingly, brings down the vengeance of the gang on his friend, does admirable work.

Authentic to the last detail is the editorial office of the newspaper where most of the exciting action of the piece takes place. The photography is unusual and extremely effective.

You have never fully realized the depth of the Barthelmess genius until you have seen him in "The Finger Points."

catcher who threw to the pitcher enabling him to tag Thornton en route home with victory for the locals.

Grover Cleveland Alexander, manager of the House of David team, disappointed fans when he did not take part in the game. The veteran National League pitcher occupied the coaching line during the game.

About 350 saw the game, one of the best crowds to which they have played on their trip through Texas. The portable lighting system was entirely satisfactory.

Charlie Bryan pitched the entire route for Cisco and turned in a much better performance than either of the two pitchers used by the visitors. Charlie allowed nine hits while the Cisco batters touched the two visitors for 11 hits. Charlie struck out eight men.

The Cisco Red Sox encounter another hard game this afternoon at 3:30 at the local lot when they meet the Dr. Pepper team of Brownwood. Satch Henson will pitch for the Ciscoans.

Modern automatic Electric Cookery is like having a dependable cook—except there's no cook's salary to pay, and the Electric Range never spoils a meal or talks back to its owner. Wouldn't it be wonderful to have a servant like that in your home?

Investigate the modern Electric Range today. Have a trained representative demonstrate how you can prepare your meal at any convenient time, place it in the oven and entrust its finished perfection to the never-failing accuracy of the automatic timer and temperature controls. He will also explain the convenient payment plan, which enables Electric Cookery savings to make the moderate monthly payments.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

The Rich Man and Lazarus.

Text: Luke 16:19-31.

There was a certain rich man, which was clothed in purple, and fine linen, and fared sumptuously every day.

And there was a certain beggar named Lazarus, which was laid at his gate, full of sores. And desiring to be fed with the crumbs which fell from the rich man's table; moreover the dogs came and licked his sores.

And it came to pass, that the beggar died, and was carried by the angels into Abraham's bosom: the rich man also died, and was buried.

And in hell he lift up his eyes, being in torments, and seeth Abraham afar off, and Lazarus in his bosom.

And he cried and said, Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and send Lazarus, that he may dip the tip of his finger in water, and cool my tongue: for I am tormented in this flame.

But Abraham said, Son, remember, that thou in thy lifetime receivedest thy good things, and likewise Lazarus evil things: but now he is comforted, and thou art tormented.

And beside all this, between us and you there is a great gulf fixed: so that they which would pass from hence to you cannot; neither can they pass to us, that would come from thence.

Then he said, I pray thee therefore, father, that thou wouldest send him to my father's house:

For I have five brethren; that he may testify unto them, lest they also come into this place of torment.

Abraham saith unto him, They have Moses and the prophets; let them hear them.

And he said, Nay, father Abraham: but if one went unto them from the dead, they will repent.

And he said unto him, If they hear not Moses and the prophets, neither will they be persuaded, though one rose from the dead.

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for April 19, The Rich Man and Lazarus, Luke 16:19-31.

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D.

Editor of The Congregationalist
The golden text, always appropriate to the lesson, seems in connection with this lesson to be an intrinsic part of the teaching and conclusion. "Lay up for yourselves treasures in Heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal."

The parable is the story of Dives, the rich man who lived almost wholly to himself and who built up treasure on earth to the utter neglect of treasure in heaven. Living luxuriously every day, he disregarded the poor beggar, Lazarus, who sat at his gate, hungry and full of sores, desiring even the crumbs that fell from the rich man's table.

It is a story of everyday life and of contrasts that are just as present, and just as marked, in modern American cities as they were in the ancient world, though the hungry and the needy may not today be found sitting at the rich man's door. Our modern laws and police authorities do not allow public begging, but they have not abolished the beggar's needs.

Some Exceptions.

I would, of course, be a great mistake to associate every rich man with the rich man of the story. There are plenty of rich people who are responsive to the needs of their fellow men, who are not only charitably disposed so far as helping others is concerned, but who have deep and real compassion for the suffering and the needy. But there is something about wealth that tends to circumscribe the soul when it ought to give the soul larger opportunities of expression and expansion.

We have today, as the world had in its former days, the thoughtless and the selfish rich who are occupied entirely with their own purposes and pleasures, and to whom the sufferings and needs of their fellow men make very little appeal.

From the earthly scene the parable turns to a striking contrast.

Both Dives, the rich man, and Lazarus, the beggar, die. The rich man is represented as going to Hades, the unseen world, which here is pictured as a place of torment for his sins; while the beggar is carried to a place of blessedness, symbolized in the expression "Abraham's bosom."

It ought to be remembered that we are dealing with an eastern story, manifestly symbolic and imaginative in form. Whatever our literal and specific ideas may be of Hell or of Heaven, it is not quite in harmony with the nature of a Bible story such as this to make it a basis for them, nor is it necessary for a full and adequate interpretation of the story and its teaching.

In the world of actual rewards where character and goodness, and not mere circumstances and possessions, are recognized, Dives and Lazarus have changed places. The selfish, and mean, rich man finds a destiny in torment; the beggar, despite his poverty, is worthy of a place of blessedness. Here in the place of torment Dives perceives the beggar whom he refused to see on earth, and he appeals to father Abraham to send Lazarus to relieve his sufferings. That the sufferings were not entirely without some element of purification, would seem to be suggested in the fact that the rich man in the story so far forgot his selfishness as to think of his brothers.

But Abraham expressed the truth that is well exemplified in life, the truth that religious people have too often forgotten—namely, the assurance of pain and the sufferings of hell are not in themselves enough to warn people against evil and to turn them to righteousness. "If they hear not Moses and the prophets," said Abraham concerning these brothers of Dives, "neither will they be persuaded if one rose from the dead."

Fear Alone Fails.

After all, it is only the love of righteousness and truth that constitutes character. If a man cannot be won to the love of righteousness, the fear of punishment cannot do much to change his cause in life. The teaching of this parable is somewhat different from that which we have often given to it. Its central purpose is not to assert that fear of punishment changes man, but to remind them of the immediate and present opportunities of grace.

The wealth that you possess, the parable proclaims, may not be wealth at all; it may be the treasure that through your pride in it and selfish use of it is cursing your life. Similarly, the adversity which is upon you, your suffering and your need, need not destroy your character or your chance of blessedness. In the realities of life and in the destiny that God has for man, his place is not marked by wealth or position. It is marked by what he is and by his attitude toward his fellow men.

TOTAL OF 183 CONVENTIONS FOR COLUMBUS

COLUMBUS, O., April 17.—Columbus, capital city of Ohio, and one of its metropolises, has taken a tremendous stride in the competition of American cities for conventions. Chicago ranks first in the 1931 line-up for national conventions, with 183 scheduled. New York is second with 178. Philadelphia third with 151, and Columbus fourth with 139, says Worlds Convention Dates.

George M. Trautman of the chamber of commerce of Columbus, Ohio, gives the following reason for the extensive competition of American cities for conventions. He places the minimum per day expended by guests during conventions, at $10. In 1930, when Columbus entertained 311 conventions of all kinds, the registered attendance reached 166,000.

The minimum days spent by each visitor, he estimated, at 3. Thus, the merchants of Columbus received $4,980,000 from the visitors to the conventions there last year. Mr. Trautman attributes Columbus tremendous increase in convention popularity to the fact that it is a typical American city and that 94 per cent of its population is American born.

PUBLIC NOTICE!

Montgomery Ward & Co. has filed a complaint with the Federal Trade Commission against Unfair Tire Advertising!

... Newspaper and magazine advertisements are being published throughout the country in which nationally advertised tires are compared with a "mail order" tire ... We have been asked if the "mail order" tire referred to is our RIVERSIDE. The reason for this is obvious. Ward's is the oldest mail order house in America. So, when anyone says "mail order," most people naturally think first of Montgomery Ward & Co. No! the tire referred to is not Ward's Riverside!

RIVERSIDES

Are Equal to or Better Than ANY Tires Made Regardless of Name or Price!

Montgomery Ward & Co. is one of the largest distributors of automobile tires in the world. And for 19 years, Riversides have been one of the best known tires in the industry. Millions have been sold. They are made by one of the largest rubber companies in America. They are built to the most rigid tire specifications known. They are the finest quality it is possible to produce. They are backed by the fairest, squarest guarantee ever written, and they sell for less than other nationally known tires of equal quality. These sound like extraordinary claims. But they are facts. And Montgomery Ward & Co. stands behind every word.

The big tire companies have found it impossible to meet Riverside quality at Riverside prices—so most of them now sell what are known as "second quality" tires at the same price we charge for Riversides, a first-quality tire! Furthermore, a recent check disclosed that close to 90% of all the newspaper advertising of the leading tire companies is being devoted to their second-quality tires. Why? Evidently to confuse the reader. The reader notes that the prices are the same as Riversides, and assumes that the quality is the same. But the nationally advertised tires offered at Riverside prices are not equal to Riversides in quality. Always compare QUALITIES as well as PRICES. The table at the right lists some of the best-known first-quality tires that compare with Riversides in quality. YOU compare the prices!

As an example of how you save —note the price on this popular size $ 4.95 Size 29 x 4.40/21 And savings on other sizes are in proportion—Note the list at the right

IS IT A GAMBLE, OR IS IT A HABIT?

We know of a case where six different physicians in a neighborhood town were called by a family during the last few months. Inquiry proved that not a single one of these physicians had received pay for his service. Further investigation developed the fact that this is a very common practice with a surprisingly large number of families and that although our physicians have long tolerated this situation steps are now being taken to remedy it.

You Only Fool Yourself When You Resort to Such Practice

Such tactics are bound to result in inconvenience at least to those who persist in following it. The physicians of this section are big hearted and liberal in their desire to help but they justly resent being imposed upon. They can, if necessary adopt the same system the large stores use and an exchange of names of those who use such methods, or the establishment of a central bureau where those who habitually try these tactics will be listed. The physician is entitled to such protection and if you are one who owes several physicians

You Have Only Yourself to Blame If the Answer Is, "I Can't Come"

You would never think of calling your coal man, garage man, grocer, meat man or any one else except your doctor at any hour of the night. And they wouldn't ignore your call if you did. So, be fair to the man who does serve you when you most want service. Pay up your old account and pay on the first of the month. Your physician will appreciate it and only asks for fair consideration. If he does not get it, you'll only have yourself to blame when you get his first refusal to come when called.

MAD MARRIAGE

LAURA LOU BROOKMAN Author of "HEART HUNGRY," etc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Gypsy McBride, 19-year-old New York typist, marries Jim Wallace today after she meets him at the home of her wealthy cousin, Ann Powbridge. Gypsy has been sited by Alan Crosby, just returned from a year and a half in Paris studying art, and Wallace's fiancée had broken their engagement to marry a wealthier man. Jim and Gypsy go to Forest City where Jim has a thriving law practice. His relatives are hostile to Gypsy. They snub her, Marcia Lorry, Jim's former fiancée, marries a Phillips, millionaire's son. Months pass and news comes that Brock Phillips has been killed in a fall from a horse. Marcia returns to Forest City. She consults about her financial matters and later tells Jim that she has been a mistake. Jim tries to remain loyal to Gypsy but sees the situation and worries. One day in a beauty shop she overhears a gossip that "Jim Wallace is going to leave his wife." Next day Gypsy leaves Marcia Phillips coming up the stairs.

CHAPTER XXXIX

There was no chance for rest. Already Marcia was half up the stairs. She looked cool and serene in a white silk sports dress and broad-brimmed sun hat. Everything about her suggested the exquisite grooming. Gypsy's green house dress was rumpled and her nose was gleaming. She forgot the letters in the box. She did not even try to summon a smile but stood there staring. Gypsy, whatever else her might be, was never hypocritical.

Marcia called in her sweetest. "I'm so glad to find you here," she came up the steps. Her manner and expression had their usual air of superiority. "Won't you come in?" "Thanks. Isn't it nice and cool here?" Marcia said as they entered the living room. "You know, I thought you might be out at the club on the tennis tournament, everyone in town seems to be."

"The club" of course was the exclusive Country Club. Gypsy had had about the tournament, but had never been invited to the clubhouse. "I don't know anything about tennis," she admitted.

"Really? Well, I often think that sports are boring. I'm good at any of them, but sitting through tournaments and consulting the winners and all seems to be the thing to do. I had your strength of character and could stay out of it." Gypsy made no reply. She was staring at Marcia's slim kid gloves with her own grimy ones.

"You know, for neighbors we never see each other," Marcia admitted after a moment. "I thought you promised to come to my party." Gypsy's embarrassment showed on her face. "I—I've been awfully busy," she lied. "There are so many things to think about in a time like this. I suppose I'm out there more than I need to be but I love you. Would you like to see the garden?"

Marcia leaned back in her chair and smiled. "I'd like to," she said. "How is Aunt Ellen?" "Oh, she's fairly well. Feels the same. I'm rather concerned about Aunt Ellen's such a darling. What you think so? She's been so wonderfully kind to me. I've been telling her to get away somewhere where it's cooler but I don't suppose she'll go." "You're here yourself for quite a while," Gypsy spoke casually, wondering if her voice betrayed trepidation. "Indefinitely."

What had this other girl come to? Gypsy knew very well it was merely to discuss the heat and Aunt Ellen's health. There was no other purpose back of Marcia Phillips' visit. She was puzzling over the problem when Marcia's brook in again. "Forest City has been very good to me," she said languidly. "I suppose I'm sentimental about the place. My happiest days have all been spent here." She eyed Gypsy narrowly. "Oh, don't be shocked! Suppose it's not the conventional thing for a young widow to say. It's quite true. I've known happiness in this little town anywhere else."

"I like the town myself," Gypsy said. Why must everything she said to this sleekly beautiful creature sound so bonal? "Oh, do you really? I didn't know. I thought you might be anxious to see New York again." "Gypsy shook her head. "We're planning on going east soon." For an instant she thought Marcia had dropped her pose and that the gray-blue eyes. If she were correct the look disappeared quickly as it had come. Marcia picked up a palm leaf fan from the table and fanned herself idly.

"What are your plans?" she asked quietly. "Why—I don't know! Just usual thing, I guess. Jim won't be able to arrange a vacation because there's been so much work and the other partners have been away. Later perhaps we'll go." "I see," said Marcia. She hesitated a moment, dropped the fan and studied its design. "How long have you been here?" "Four months. We came the week in March." Marcia nodded. "You and Jim. I know each other long before your marriage, had you?" "Not very long." "That's what I understood. Of course, Jim and I have been

TEXAS FRUIT SHIPMENTS IN MARCH CLIMB

AUSTIN, April 18.—Shipment of 6,957 cars of fruits and vegetables from Texas farms during March, while recording a decline of 4.1 per cent as compared with shipments during February, amounted to 21.8 per cent more than the figure for March of 1930, according to the report of the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas. An even larger gain is recorded in the figures for the first three months of this year; in the first quarter of 1930 shipments totaled 15,989 cars, while those for the first quarter of 1931 numbered 19,810 cars. The most important individual commodities were cabbage, with shipments of 2,663 cars during March and 6,100 during the first quarter; mixed vegetables, with 1,713 cars during March and 5,041 during the first quarter; spinach, with 1,614 cars during March and 5,138 during the first quarter. In each case a substantial gain was recorded for the first three months of the year over the figures for 1930, but only shipments of cabbage showed a gain during March over those during February.

Strawberries to the number of six cars, were shipped during March, the first for the year. Only one car was shipped by April 1 last year. The first onions of the season, to the amount of 39 cars, were also shipped, compared with four cars during March of last year. Potato shipments increased from 19 to 54 cars from February to March, while beet shipments increased from 236 to 331 cars. Last year in March 47 cars of potatoes were shipped, while no beets were forwarded during March last year. Turnips and rutabaga, to the number of 182 cars, were shipped during the first quarter of this season, while 320 cars of greens were shipped; neither of these commodities was represented in shipments for the first three months of 1930.

Lewisville—440 acres to be planted to melons this year, considerable increase over that of previous years.

long, serious moments when Gypsy asked herself what she would do if Jim himself came to her and asked for his release. That would be entirely different. That would be—oh, why think about it! Jim would never do such a thing.

That evening she made an effort to look attractive when Jim arrived home. They had dinner served on the screen porch. There were cool drinks and an iced desert. Gypsy studied Jim's face covertly, decided that he was tired.

"Have you made any more plans for your vacation?" she asked. "Don't you think you really need a rest?"

He said vaguely that he might take some time off next month.

It was out of the question for the present.

"Listen, Gypsy," he said, "there is no reason you should stay here scorching just because I must. If you'd like to go up to the lakes for a couple weeks—or some place else if you'd rather—go ahead!"

The girl said quickly that she would rather stay. Somehow Jim's enthusiastic dismissal of her was a little depressing. Later in the evening he spoke of an engagement with some business acquaintance and drove away.

The second week in July was scorching hot. All day long the sun beat down unceasingly on the dry earth. The lawn which Sam had worked so faithfully to turn into thick green velvet became singed and brownish. The garden wilted. Jim came home to dinner looking worn and weary. Several times he complained of headaches. Gypsy tried to keep the house cool and inviting but there were days when not a breath of wind was stirring.

Throughout this ordeal she was fighting to keep up her courage. It was Abbie Manley—Abbie who would never intentionally have harmed anyone—who brought the news that was the last straw for Gypsy.

TOSS AS WELL AS RECEIVE

Many promising young men fail to make the football team and become stars because they want to carry the ball all the time—they are not willing to do some ball tossing while the other members of the team do some ball "toting." Citizens of a community are the players in the game of city building—in the forming of economic conditions for their town that will make for mutual prosperity and happiness.

These citizens want the other fellow to patronize them and help them carry on, they want jobs given them, their sons, their daughters—they want good salaries and good service—they want all city conveniences—in fact they want all that might be coming their way—but strange to relate, they are not willing to do their part—they want to carry the ball all the time and are not willing to do some tossing, themselves.

It is a well known fact that you can't continually take from a vessel without putting something back into it—We cannot expect to draw our wages from a community unless we put some of it back into the common treasury—the economic life of the city.

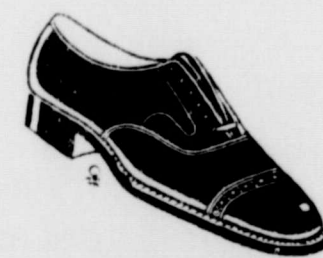

BUY AT HOME!

Buy at home is the key word---you want the other fellow to trade with you or in some way contribute to your wages, then don't ask him to do all the tossing, let him carry the ball part of the time---that is team work. Ask yourself, "Am I a Good Teammate in My Town--- Am I letting the other fellow carry the ball part of the time?"
