As It Sped Along

Camper Truck Smoke Kills Young Girl

AUSTIN (AP) — A smoldering, smoky fire inside a pickup camper truck as it sped along Interstate 10 east of El Paso caused the death early today of a young girl, state police reported.

Dead was Sandra Stephenson, 12, whose father, Manual Stephenson of El Paso, drove the truck.

The girl's brother, Victor, 7, and sister, Sylvia, 4, were partially overcome by smoke from a smoldering rug on the camper floor and were treated at an El Paso hospital and discharged.

The father said the family left El Paso about 3 a.m. driving east. At a roadside park near Sierra Blanca, about 100 miles east of El Paso, the father stopped to check on the children who had been asleep inside the camper. When he opened the door smoke billowed out.

Officers said it was believed the rug caught fire from the heat of the exhaust system under the camper floor.

Funds Repaid

STANTON (SC) — Mayor J. C. Epley said Thursday a shortage of funds discovered last week in the water and sewage department has been repaid. A shortage of $2,720.15 was confirmed by auditors Murphree, Unrah and Anz of Midland to the city council Tuesday.

Ten Perish In Farmhouse

POSEN, Mich. (AP) — Ten persons died today in a roaring farmhouse fire outside this Polish, potato-growing community in northeastern lower Michigan, firemen said.

All who died were related. Seven were children ranging in age from 15 months to 16 years.

Of 12 who normally lived in the two-story home, only two survived.

Edward Gralewicz, 48, who escaped, said the fire broke out in the first-floor laundry room about 1:30 a.m. and spread with incredible speed. Fire Chief Ray Wosniak sad it may have been caused by faulty wiring.

•

Kicked By Negro

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Paula Schroeders, 58, told police early today she was beaten and kicked by a Negro who told her, "I'm going to pay you white people back for sending me to Vietnam."

The Negro was wearing an Army uniform, the woman said. She is a local commercial artist.

She said she ran three blocks for aid after the early morning attack in her apartment near Ft. Sam Houston.

Police said she suffered multiple injuries, including several fractured ribs.

•

Three Flee Jail

CENTERVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Three prisoners escaped early today from the Leon County jail.

State police in Austin said they were Robert L. Metcalf of Buffalo, charged with auto theft; Stephen J. Kelly of Dallas, charged with theft over $50; and Rusty Mayes of Dallas, charged with auto theft.

Faces Health Care 'Crisis'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon said today the nation faces "a massive crisis" in health care and placed his seal of approval on a collection of proposals to do something about it.

Nixon told newsmen that demand for health care is increasing so much faster than the supply of professionals and facilities available that there could be a national breakdown in the area unless action is taken within two to three years.

The President helped unveil an eight-page "Report on the Health of the Nation's Health Care System," signed by Robert H. Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare and Dr. Roger O. Egeberg, assistant secretary-designate.

Finch and Egeberg listed a broad variety of concrete moves, proposals and ideas that, where not previously adopted, have at least been under wide discussion in Congress and within the HEW department.

Much of the report's emphasis was on spiraling costs of the medicaid program, which was described as "badly conceived and badly organized."

Meanwhile, the Senate Finance Committee searched for ways to stop the climbing costs of medicare and medicaid programs without extensive government intervention in fees charged by physicians and hospitals.

Up For Sale In Saigon

Saigon, like any war-torn capital, is a city of salesmen, instant entrepreneurs in the flood of American dollars. This young merchant holds up his wares, caged monkeys, in the South Vietnamese capital's animal market. There, one can find nearly any wild tropical animal, or reptile or bird, up for sale.

First Marines Leave Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — The first contingent of U.S. Marines to be withdrawn from Vietnam flew to Okinawa today as military spokesmen reported the lowest weekly number of American battle deaths in almost six months.

The Marines left with none of the fanfare accorded departing U.S. infantrymen three days ago. An advance party of 120 Leathernecks of the 9th Regiment departed from Quang Tri, a base 20 miles south of the demilitarized zone, in two four-engined transports.

They included 60 combat troops of the 1st Battalion and the rest payroll and administrative personnel who will prepare for arrival of the main body of the 8,000-man regiment expected in Okinawa within the next few weeks. The rest of the 1st Battalion will leave in a few days, spokesmen said.

U.S. headquarters said 153 Americans were killed in action last week, the lowest death toll since the week ending Jan. 11 when 151 U.S. personnel were killed.

Spokesmen said the relative lull in combat activity accounted for the marked decrease from the preceding week's toll of 241 Americans, and from the weekly average of 243 American dead in the first 26 weeks this year.

Another 1,548 Americans were wounded last week—772 of them hospitalized—compared to 1,674 the previous week.

South Vietnamese casualties and the number of enemy dead reflected similar drops—274 government troops killed and 586 wounded last week compared with 446 killed and 804 wounded the previous week, and 2,381 enemy killed compared with 3,485 the previous week.

The new casualty reports raised to 37,019 the number of Americans killed in action in Vietnam since Jan. 1, 1961. 238,147 wounded and 1,325 listed as missing, captured or interned. For the same period the U.S. Command lists 526,085 enemy dead.

The figures were released a few hours after the first contingent of 9th Regiment Marines left Vietnam.

Four Charged In Stanton Shooting

STANTON — Marcus Tarango, 35, the lone attendant at a service station on IS 20, was robbed and killed here shortly before 5 a.m. Thursday.

Three men and a woman, captured at a service station in Midland, have been charged in Martin County with the shooting and have also been charged in Midland with the carrying of concealed weapons.

The shooting occurred at a service station at Interstate 20 and the Lamesa Highway, north of Stanton. The suspects were arrested by Midland police as they refueled their car at a service station at Interstate 20 and the Garden City highway in Midland.

Charged with murder with malice aforethought and with robbery by assault in Justice of the Peace Court, Precinct 1 in Martin County are Sgt. Donald L. Smith, 21, and his wife, Wilma Smith, 20, both of 1203 Stanford, Steven Lewis Blanchard, 21, W. Highway 80, all of Big Spring, and George Lewis Hite, 21, of 1900 W. Tennessee, Midland.

Martin County Justice of the Peace Martin Gibson denied bond for Mrs. Smith, Blanchard and Hite. He said Sgt. Smith had not been brought before him late Thursday morning.

Smith is a jet engine mechanic for the 3560th field maintenance squadron, propulsion branch at Webb Air Force Base.

The four were charged in Midland with the carrying of concealed weapons, after a .22 caliber pistol and a nine millimeter automatic revolver and two knives were found in the car. Both guns were found underneath the front seat of the vehicle.

Notice of the shooting was given to Martin County Sheriff Dan Saunders by Curt Schiening of Sonora, who was in the station's restroom at the time and heard the shot. At the time Schiening came back into the station the culprits were departing in a station wagon at a high rate of speed.

MONEY FOUND

Approximately $125 was taken in the robbery, said Martin County Deputy Kathleen Lewis.

When the group was arrested, several women's stockings were found in the car and money was found underneath the floormat of the auto.

Tarango was shot at fairly close range with what appeared to be a small caliber weapon. It has not been definitely established that the .22 caliber pistol was the murder weapon. An autopsy was reported underway in Big Spring.

The station attendant, shot in the left temple, was still alive when found, but he was dead on arrival at the Stanton hospital.

The quartet of suspects were given a warning of the charges against them Thursday morning in Midland Justice of the Peace John Biggs court, before they were transferred back to the Martin County Jail.

Funeral services for Tarango are pending at Gilbreath Funeral Home in Stanton. He emigrated to Texas from Mexico in 1954.

Moody Hearing Opens Today On Legal Points

Michael Lee Moody, 24, former Midland policeman charged with child murder, was making a vigorous bid in 118th District Court here today, starting at 1 p.m., to force the state to provide him with a long array of the witnesses and evidence to be used against him in his forthcoming trial.

He is accused in the Aug. 30, 1968, slaying of Lori Margaret Gunn, 33-months old. The Gunn child was strangled to death and her body was found two days later in a sleeping bag hidden in a closet of the home of Moody's mother and stepfather, next door to the Gunn home

He is scheduled to go on trial for his life here July 28 in 118th District Court before Judge Ralph Caton. A change of venue granted by Judge Perry Pickett, of Midland, moved the trial here.

Last Monday, defense attorneys Van Culp and Gil Jones, filed a motion in court here asking that the state be compelled to provide it with a long list of material which will allegedly be used against their client. Included are requests for everything from police notes made during the investigation of the murder to the names and addresses of 176 persons the state says could be called as witnesses in the trial.

Attorneys for Moody with James Mashburn, district attorney from Midland, were in court at 10 a.m. today — the hour slated for the hearing. The defendant was not present, and Judge Ralph Caton issued an order to Sheriff A. N. Standard to bring the man from the Big Spring State Hospital, where he has been detained almost continuously since his arrest for the child's death Sept. 1, 1968.

Mashburn filed a reply to the motion of the defense attorneys this morning in which he said that much of the material for which they ask has already been made available to them. He contended that their requests for other items are not in accordance with law.

The hearing is dealing with the legal arguments of both sides on the right or lack of right of the defendant to certain items.

The state has notified Moody that it will ask the death penalty in his case.

Percy Labels Soviet Threat 'Pure Hogwash'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Sen. Charles Percy says it is "pure hogwash" to argue that the Safeguard missile defense system is needed to strengthen President Nixon's hand for U.S.-Soviet disarmament talks.

And Democratic Sen. Albert Gore says such an argument put forth on behalf of the antiballistic missile program—ABM—in opening debate by fellow Democrats John C. Stennis of Mississippi and Henry M. Jackson of Washington represents "a shift of strategy" by the pro-Safeguard forces.

Gore teamed with Percy to needle Stennis and Jackson as the ABM debate in the Senate heated up Wednesday.

Gore noted President Nixon and Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird had based their argument for ABM on the need to protect the nation's missile deterrent force. The Tennessee Democrat suggested ABM supporters were departing from that course when they contended Safeguard should be approved to bolster the President for impending disarmament talks with the Soviet Union.

"Has the senator noted a shift of strategy and logic today?" Gore asked Percy.

"Yes," responded the Illinois Republican "I've noticed that. And the argument is pure hogwash."

Up jumped Jackson and Stennis, each demanding recognition to rebut the contention.

1965 Voting Rights Act Okayed By Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House judiciary subcommittee today bypassed President Nixon's proposed voting rights legislation and approved a five-year extension of the existing law.

The administration proposal to shift the focus of the act from the South to the nation at large was never even offered during the brief subcommittee session.

Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., said approval of the 1965 act extension was by "overwhelming" voice vote. The full Judiciary Committee is also expected to approve the bill when it considers it next week.

GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, looking for cosponsors of the administration bill among the 15 committee Republicans, was able to find only two junior members willing to join him in introducing the measure Wednesday, Reps. Thomas J. Meskill of Connecticut and Charles E. Wiggins of California.

Also joining Ford were party whip, Rep. Leslie C. Arends of Illinois, Rep. John J. Rhodes of Arizona, the chairman of the Republican Policy Committee and Rep. Bob Wilson of California, chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee.

Notably missing from the list of sponsors, however, besides the senior Judiciary Committee Republicans were Rep. William M. McCulloch, of Ohio, the GOP's leading civil rights supporter in the House, and Rep. John B. Anderson, of Illinois, who holds the No. 2 GOP leadership spot behind Ford as chairman of the Republican Conference. Both are strongly supporting the existing law.

The lineup in the Judiciary Committee and on the list of sponsors signal the deep split in Republican ranks touched off by Nixon's proposal, which opponents have called a political payoff to the southerners who supported his presidential bid.

The 1965 law was designed to increase Negro registration and voting in the South. Since its enactment 800,000 Negroes have been registered and scores have been elected to local offices.

The chief provisions in the law are a ban on literacy tests in the seven states and a requirement that they get court approval before putting any changes in election procedures into effect.

Nixon has proposed extending the ban on literacy tests to all states and eliminating the requirement for prior approval of election changes. Under his bill the attorney general would be authorized to bring court action to block a change he found discriminatory. It is this proposed revision of the existing law that has drawn much of the criticism of civil rights leaders.

Gromyko Condemns Peking, Favors Washington Talks

MOSCOW (AP) — Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko condemned Red China today and made a bid for developing friendly relations with the United States.

Gromyko, in a major foreign policy speech before the Supreme Soviet—parliament—said the Kremlin favors talks with Washington "to find positions of agreement both on questions of bilateral relations and on unresolved international problems."

He warned Peking that attempts to use armed force against the Soviet Union "will be met with the necessary rebuff."

Despite the belligerent tone, he expressed readiness to hold talks with China "on a wide range of questions" but gave no indication that the Mao Tse-tung leadership had shown interest.

Gromyko's one-hour and 50-minute speech showed an increased Soviet willingness to deal with Washington and a hardening hostility toward China. It apparently reflected a pro-Western change in Kremlin foreign policy following a series of bloody incidents on the Soviet-Chinese border.

The Soviet foreign minister proposed talks on Berlin to prevent trouble from flaring up there again. The Kremlin attitude toward the divided city has been considered a barometer of its interest in getting along with the West.

His bitter criticism of Peking contrasted with marked mildness toward the United States. He passed lightly over Vietnam, which used to rate long diatribes here, and used a conciliatory tone in other references to Washington, stressing the desirability of talks.

Gromyko noted that the Kremlin already has expressed willingness to discuss missile limitations with the United States. He did not mention a date or place for the talks, which Washington says are due to start in August in Vienna or Geneva.

"I would like to express the hope that the two sides will approach this question bearing in mind its paramount importance," Gromyko commented.

"We are for developing good relations with the United States and want these relations to be friendly because we believe that this would meet the interests of both the Soviet and American peoples.

"We took note of President Nixon's statement that in his opinion a period of confrontation is followed by an era of talks. The Soviet Union stands for talks.

"If the U.S. government continues to follow in practice this line, we are willing, as we were before, to find concerted positions both on questions of bilateral relations with the United States and on outstanding international problems.

The 60-year-old foreign minister touched upon a possible summit meeting of American and Soviet leaders. But his remark apparently indicated only that such a meeting is under consideration but no final decision has been taken.

Steelworkers Fail To Show

TORONTO (AP) — More than 17,200 members of the United Steelworkers of America began a work stoppage today at the two main Ontario plants of the International Nickel Co. of Canada Ltd.

As bargaining for a new three-year contract and higher wages continued in a Toronto hotel, workers did not show up for the day shift at Sudbury and Port Colborne Inco plants. A total of 15,500 are employed by Inco in Sudbury and 1,700 at Port Colborne.

A company spokesman said picket lines were set up.

The company is the world's largest supplier of nickel. The strike would dry up production and cripple the steel industry on three continents.

The company produces 40 per cent of the world's nickel, used to harden steel. A prolonged strike could cripple the production of everything from silverware to jet engines in the United States, Canada, Japan and Western Europe.

Negotiations between the company and the union were suspended until 11 a.m. today. Both sides said they were far apart and prospects for an early settlement appeared slight.

Anticipating a strike, Inco began closing down its operations over the weekend and was reported operating at one-third capacity Wednesday night.

Homer Seguin, president of Steelworkers Local 6500 at Sudbury, said the work stoppage was not a strike but a "forced lockout because the company has not moved toward a settlement."

A company spokesman said "as far as we know the strike is on" when the morning shift fails to report for work.

The old contract between Inco and the Steelworkers expired at midnight Wednesday.

In bargaining sessions that lasted until early today, Inco improved its previous offer of an 87-cent an hour increase over a three-year period but the union was reported holding out for a $1.50 increase. A company spokesman did not say by how much Inco improved its offer.

Wages under the old agreement averaged $3.06 an hour. The base rate was $2.59.

Negotiations between the two sides, with W. H. Dickie, chief conciliation officer of the Ontario Labor Department mediating, have been going on since March 18.

A strike after the expiration of the last contract in 1966 was marred by burnings and vandalism.

Ex-SBA Official Noe Should Have Said No

DALLAS (AP) — The FBI special agent in charge in Dallas reported today the arrest of Randall Palmore Noe, 46, of Sherman after an indictment alleging he sought a bribe while he was an employe of the Small Business Administration.

The agent, J. Gordon Shanklin, said Noe had been employed by the Small Business Administration (SBA) at Harlingen.

Shanklin said Noe was indicted by a federal grand jury at Brownsville July 2. A warrant for his arrest was issued the same day by Judge Reynaldo Garza.

The FBI agent said the indictment alleges that Noe "solicited $2,500 for himself in return for being influenced in performances of official actions in respect to an application for a loan with the SBA" at Harlingen.

Noe was arrested in Dallas Tuesday night. He was a Dallas car salesman.

It was the second time in about two months that charges have been brought against SBA officials in Texas.

Albert Fuentes Jr., at that time a SBA special assistant in Washington, pleaded innocent to charges of conspiracy in San Antonio.

The federal accusation claimed that Fuentes and a salesman, Edward Montez, sought 49 per cent of the E&S Sales Co. in return for obtaining a $100,000 SBA loan. The case has not come to trial.

Boysville Flag At Half Staff

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Never before had Boysville flown the American flag at half staff for one of its own residents.

But the nearby home for boys never had a reason to—not until last Friday, July 4, when it received word that Marine Pfc. Bobby Griffin, 19, a Boysville resident since age six, had been killed in Vietnam.

The flag flew at half staff as Boysville officials awaited further details from the Marines. They know only that Griffin, who "just couldn't wait to join the Marines," was killed when he stepped on a mine.

He was the first Boysville resident to die violently in the home's 25-year history.

He had served in Vietnam nearly a year and would have returned to the States soon. In his last letter, Boysville executive director Conley Lovelace recalled, Griffin wrote that he was "looking forward to coming home — coming back to Boysville."

A native of Loraine, Tex., Griffin had two brothers who also went through Boysville. They are living somewhere in California, Lovelace said.

Betty Joyce Franklin, Big Spring, has been named to the Dean's Honor list at Sul Ross State University for the 1969 Spring semester. She is a junior at Sul Ross and is majoring in elementary education. Her grade point for the spring semester was 4.0 and she ranked in the upper five per cent at Sul Ross.

Tank Spending Draws House Panel Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — A major tank shortage may be developing because of the Army's preoccupation with the new, sophisticated and trouble-ridden Sheridan weapon system, says a House armed services investigating subcommittee.

"We need more tanks. I am not at all happy about our tank combat situation in Europe," said subcommittee Chairman Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., Wednesday, in releasing a report on the Sheridan.

Further, the subcommittee accused the Army of trumping up a need for the Sheridan in 1959, pushing it into production before testing was complete, and covering up difficulties to keep budget funds flowing.

The tank strength in Europe has been sapped because the Army stopped making the mainstay M60 tank in 1967 while at the same time it was selling an unspecified number of the same model to Iran, Austria and Italy, the subcommittee said.

"Not only did the Army fail to maintain an adequate production rate of M60's during the 1960's, but they slowed down the production line and even closed it in 1967 to produce the M60E2, which still cannot be deployed because of deficiencies," the report said.

The E2 modification is an M60 tank fitted with a special turret that allows conventional shells and Shillelagh missiles to be fired from the same barrel.

The special turret is an offshoot of the Sheridan tank, which has been plagued by electronic difficulties, faulty ammunition, and mechanical breakdowns.

"Ten years of effort and some $1.2 billion have now been committed to the Sheridan-Shillelagh effort," the report said.

"Yet there is no convincing evidence that the system represents enough of an improvement in combat capability over existing weapons (used in a proper mix, or appropriately modified) to justify any such expenditures of time and money," it said.

Separately, Army spokesmen said the subcommittee did not give "full weight" to the combat performance of the Sheridan in Vietnam, where few have been deployed.

The Army said the Sheridan has increased fire power, mobility and over-all combat capability of armored cavalry units in the war zone. Problems "can be expected with the introduction of any new weapons system in combat situations."

DEAR ABBY: People think we are a happy pair with nice children and a lovely home. We have many interests and lots of friends. This is only on the surface. In reality, I am only the housekeeper. My husband has no time for me. He is so busy helping Tom, Dick, and Harry. I rarely see him. My love life is almost nonexistent.

Life is so short, it's a pity to live like this, but I have made my bed. Despite our religion, I'd leave him if it weren't for the children because I know he will never change. I am sure there are other unhappy wives here. Belfast men are so unloving.

"UNHAPPY IN IRELAND"

DEAR UNHAPPY: Belfast men are no less "loving" than other men. Your complaint is universal, Madame. And the solution is so obvious, I'm surprised you haven't thought of it yourself. Stop playing the role of the abused and martyred wife, and "kill" your man with kindness.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My husband's brother (I'll call him Danny) and his wife have separated after many years of marriage. I invited Danny to my home for Sunday dinner and he accepted. Then he called my husband at the office and asked if he could bring a date. Without asking me, my husband said he could.

When I was told of this, I let my husband know that I did not approve of it. In the first place Danny isn't divorced yet, and in the second place we have children at home and I don't think it's right for them to see their uncle with a date while he is still married.

Well, my husband insisted, telling me how depressed Danny was, etc., so I gave in, but I made sure my children weren't home that evening.

Now, my husband tells me that Danny is coming for Sunday dinner again, and he is bringing a girl. A different one! I am furious with my husband for being so wishy washy. I think it is wrong to receive a married man's dates in my home. What is your opinion?

OLD FASHIONED

DEAR OLD: I go along with you. And I also think it's inconsiderate of your husband to trap you into entertaining people you do not want in your home. It's YOUR home, too.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I disagree on something I consider vital to a good marriage. I disapprove of a married man taking his secretary out to lunch, or dinner, or even for a drink after office hours.

My husband says it is a nice way to show his appreciation for extra work, or a job well done. What do you say?

GEMINI

DEAR GEMINI: I say, if a boss wants to show "appreciation" he should try money.

Astros Due Grape Boycott Sticker

SAN JUAN, Tex. (AP) — An official of a farm workers union has sent a grape boycott bumper sticker to the Apollo 11 astronauts, asking that they leave it on the moon later this month.

Antonio Orendain, national secretary-treasurer of the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee, AFL-CIO, also said today the union sent three buttons for the moon-bound astronauts to wear.

Orendain, a top aide to union leader Cesar Chavez, said the bumper sticker reads "Don't Eat Grapes." Two of the buttons say "Boycott Grapes" and the third says "Don't Eat Grapes," according to Orendain.

Puzzle of Wednesday, July 9, Solved

CBS Signs LBJ For TV

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson has agreed to a series of interviews for CBS television reviewing his years in public office.

The first of the interviews, with Walter Cronkite, filmed at the LBJ Ranch last Saturday, will cover his role in the space program as senator, vice president and president, according to Richard S. Salant, president of CBS News.

The initial interview will be aired Sunday, July 20, but a definite time slot has not been set because of the network's coverage of the Apollo 11 moon mission, a CBS spokesman said. The interview is expected to run less than an hour.

In future interviews, Johnson will discuss other aspects of his political career and the major issues of his time.

The former president will be paid for the television series, but the terms were not disclosed.

The Washington Post estimated the broadcast rights to Johnson's memoirs might total more than $500,000 over a 10 year period, based on industry source predictions.

CBS officials declined to discuss the money to be paid for each program.

Retired Col. Haltom To Manage A&M Apartments

COLLEGE STATION — Charles C. Haltom, retired Air Force officer, will become student apartments manager at Texas A&M University effective Sept. 1. The 48-year-old Bryan native will succeed the retiring Calvin E. Moore, landlord of A&M married students.

College View and Hensel Apartments will house 804 families with completion of seven new units on University Drive. Moore has managed the A&M operation since married students quartered in dormitories.

"Col. Haltom is now learning the ropes with me standing by in an advisory capacity," explained Moore.

A former student at A&M, Haltom retired last year in the grade of Air Force lieutenant colonel after 28 years service. He entered pilot training in 1942 after three years wildlife science study at A&M. He commanded a squadron of B-24 Liberators during World War II and has served since primarily as base group commander and base executive officer at numerous stateside and overseas fields.

He was base executive officer at Webb AFB, Big Spring, at the time of his Air Force retirement and was in England three years prior to the assignment. His decorations include the Silver Star and Distinguished Flying Cross. The retired officer has three children, including two married daughters.

Haltom's son, Bob, is a junior and Texas Aggie Band cornet player. The elder Haltom also played cornet under Aggie bandmaster Lt. Col. E. V. Adams, in the first band at S. F. Austin High of Bryan in 1937.

Haltom and his wife Dorcas, who reside at 2101 Briar Oaks Dr., are members of the First Baptist Church and own and operate a ceramic studio in Bryan. His father, who worked in the A&M chemistry department, died in a Port Arthur boat explosion. His mother lives in Bryan.

The new student apartments manager is the older brother of Bart Haltom, former A&M footballer-golfer who is assistant pro at the Rockwood Municipal Golf Course in Fort Worth.

To Be Honored

Mr. and Mrs. Clint Henry, district supervisor for the Great National Life Insurance Company, will be honored at a company convention in Mexico City beginning July 11.

ABM Missile, What And Why

By The Associated Press

Safeguard antiballistic missile: What and why.

President Nixon's proposal: Deploy the Safeguard antiballistic missile —ABM—system, formerly called Sentinel, at 12 sites in this country, each equipped with radars, computers and two kinds of antiballistic missiles.

Purpose: To protect four Minuteman Intercontinental Ballistic Missile (ICBM) sites, seven Strategic Air Command bases and Washington, D.C., against missile attacks.

Initial recommendation: Two sites, at Malmstrom Air Force Base, Great Falls, Mont., and Grand Forks Air Force Base, N.D., to be operative by 1973 plus acquisition of land for 10 additional sites, to be deployed by 1975.

Cost: Official estimate was $6.6 billion, for the 12 sites, plus $600 million if two optional sites in Alaska and Hawaii are added. This does not include $1.2 billion for development of nuclear warheads. Critics say the full system will cost from $12 billion to $20 billion.

Key issue before Congress: Authorization of $891.5 million to start the first two sites and acquire land for the 10 other sites.

Lawrence Attends Science Institute

WACO — Pat Lawrence, a teacher at Big Spring High School, is one of 24 teachers participating in a summer science institute for high school teachers of biology and chemistry at Baylor University.

The institute, sponsored by the National Science Foundation, began June 30 and will continue through Aug. 22.

But, while the institutes are designed to improve the quality and qualifications of the teachers, Dr. Virgil Tweedie, professor of chemistry at Baylor and director of the institute, said the courses are not designed to provide the teachers with material to relay to their students.

Their program will consist of a lecture-laboratory course in organic chemistry entitled "Molecular Structure and Chemical Behavior" and one in biology entitled "Comparative Physiology."

In approximately 10 days the corner of Third and Scurry will be the site of a pleasant covered pavilion, where girl-watchers, boy-watchers and old-time whittlers can seek shelter from the hot Texas sun. Workmen are pouring the concrete foundation and installing supports for the roof. The 16-by-28-foot pavilion will be covered with concrete roof sections, and will include several planters.

Blast Hurts Homeowner

HOUSTON (AP) — An explosion in a private home about 7:40 a.m. today seriously injured the homenower, a neighbor and shook residences a half mile away.

The explosion was in Bellaire, southwest of the downtown area.

Authorities said the explosion apparently was caused by natural gas.

Fire Department officials said Claude Roach, 24, went into his home and struck a match, setting off the blast. He suffered burns.

His home and those of two neighbors suffered extensive damage. A neighbor, Mrs. Caroline Warner, 28, suffered cuts and was hospitalized.

W. K. Payne who lives half a mile from the Roach residence said his home was shaken and debris fell on his house for more than two minutes.

Col. Atkinson At Webb As DCO

A former West Point classmate of Col. Harrison Lobdell, wing commander, is the new deputy commander for operations at Webb AFB.

Col. Anderson W. Atkinson, who arrived for duty last weekend, replaces Lt. Col. Theodore Buechler as DCO. Col. Buechler left for a similar position at Laughlin AFB, earlier this month.

Although both Cols. Lobdell and Atkinson had been in contact throughout the years since their 1946 West Point graduation, the pair had never been assigned together. Col. Atkinson, who specifically requested a DCO position in the Air Training Command, had been channelled for Webb long before Col. Lobdell's arrival.

Col. Atkinson comes to Webb from Da Nang Air Base, Vietnam, where he served as DCO of the 366th Tactical Fighter Wing for six months. The wing flew F-4C Phantoms. Prior to that assignment, he was chief of the command center branch, operations, 7th Air Force at Tan Son Nhut AB, Vietnam, for six months.

The 23 year Air Force veteran has been affiliated with operations since entering the Air Force. He has been DCO of the 15th Tactical Fighter Wing at

COL. A. W. ATKINSON

MacDill AFB, Fla., as well as an operations staff officer at Headquarters USAF Europe in Germany, Headquarters USAF in Washington, D.C., and Hanscom Field, Mass.

The colonel's assignment to Webb is his first in ATC. All previous service time has been spent in the Air Defense Command and the Tactical Air Command.

Col. Atkinson received his wings at Stewart AFB, N.Y., in 1946. He is a command pilot who has logged close to 4,000 hours of flying time in 17 different aircraft.

Besides his degree from West Point, Col. Atkinson holds a master's degree in aeronautical engineering from the University of Michigan. He also has graduated from the Industrial College of the Armed Forces, Ft. McNair, Va.

The colonel is a native of Fordyce, Ark. His wife, the former Shirley Seaman, is from Joplin, Mo. One son, Randall, is currently a student at the University of Arkansas. The couple's other son, John, will attend Big Spring High School in the fall.

Officers Deny Beating Negro

BEAUMONT (AP) — A civil rights case against three highway patrolmen and a Woodville policeman, accused of beating a Negro, was expected to go to a jury today.

Leroy Barlow, 41, of Woodville, charged the four officers with violating his civil rights Jan. 20, 1968. He asserted he was hit "25 or 30 times."

Highway patrolman Edward Phillips, 33, testified Wednesday he struck Barlow once after Barlow first hit him during an arrest for traffic violations.

Highway Patrolmen Joseph Hennigan, 25, and J. L. Willmon, 36, denied striking Barlow. Woodville policeman Edward Summrall also testified that he neither saw the patrolmen inflict blows on Barlow, nor that he hit Barlow himself. He said the Negro was handcuffed when he arrived on the scene.

Youth Killed By Own Truck

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A youth sleeping in front of his grain truck while it waited in a line of 30 to unload was killed today when his own truck ran over him. He was Efrain Ramirez, 18, of Benitas.

Officers said when the line of trucks began moving, the victim's brother, Jose Ramirez III, 15, hunted in vain for him and then started the truck himself.

Coed Slaying Suspect Held

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A 28-year-old ex-convict has been held for trial in the slaying of a University of Michigan coed.

After a preliminary hearing Wednesday, District Judge S. J. Elden ruled that Ernest R. Bishop must face a first degree murder charge in court July 25.

Miss Margaret Anne Phillips, 25, who had befriended the convicted rapist, was fatally shot last Saturday in her apartment. She was the seventh young woman, and the third University of Michigan coed, slain in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area in the last 23 months.

District Court Docket Reduced By 90 Cases

Although there were 72 new cases filed in 118th District Court during June, the month ended with the docket 90 cases lighter than it was May 31.

Total pending cases on the docket, as of June 30, was 1,225.

A heavy report of disposed cases during June, including the disposal of 118 tax suits long on file, was responsible for the unusual decrease in the total.

M. F. Cox, district court clerk, said there were 28 new divorce suits filed to bring the month's total to 299; 26 new tax suits to bring the month's total to 376; 15 other civil cases to make a total of 571.

This brought the over-all docket total to 1,388. The total number of cases disposed of was 163 and so the end of June stood at 1,225.

There were three new personal injury suits, four workman compensation suits; one annulment, and no criminal cases filed in June.

Eight of the personal injury suits were handled during June to leave 16 on hand; one compensation case was cleared away to leave 40 on the docket; 26 divorce cases were rembved leaving 273 on file; 118 delinquent tax suits handled to bring the total on file down to 258, despite the 20 new cases filed. Nine other civil cases were handled and the total left on hand was 578. Criminal cases on file were 53 on May 31 and none was disposed of in June.

Commander Of First Unit To Be Returned Defends

FT. LEWIS, Wash. (AP) — The commander of the first U.S. troop unit withdrawn from Vietnam says the substitution of 650 men from other battalions for the trip home was a just move by the Army.

The returning 3rd Battalion, 60th Infantry of the 9th Infantry Division included 788 men, but only 138 were original battalion members. The rest were men near the end of their one-year tours of duty who were transferred into the 3rd from other units.

"In fairness to the individual soldier it was decided that those who had been there the longest would go home first," Lt. Col. Peter B. Petersen of Arlington, Va., the 3rd's commander, said Wednesday.

"Suppose my battalion as constituted did go home. Consider the reaction of an adjacent battalion which had people who had been there 11½ months when they saw people going home after one or two months of their tour."

Petersen, 36, had completed 8½ months of his own tour of Vietnam duty and will return to Southeast Asia Sunday to join the 9th Division staff.

His views were seconded by Sgt. John Griest, 24, of Holtwood, Pa., who was a member of the 3rd Battalion throughout his 11 months in Vietnam.

"I feel it was about the fairest way they could have done it," said Griest. "No matter what way they do it, some guys are going to be hurt or disappointed."

The substitution of men from other units caused some bitterness among displaced members of the 3rd Battalion.

A Bevy Of Beauties

This group of beauties is part of the large contingent of Texas girls who will be after the title of Miss Texas in Ft. Worth Saturday night. Talent Winner In Action

Miss West Texas, Marcia McEntyre of Odessa, is shown playing the flute during talent competition in Fort Worth Wednesday night. She was the winner in the preliminary round on opening night.

Miss West Texas Swings With Flute

FORT WORTH (AP) — If you got it, flute it.

Marcia McEntyre did Wednesday night and won the preliminary talent competition in the opening night of the Miss Texas pageant.

Marcia, 19, entered as Miss West Texas, whipped out a swinging flute solo and shared judging honors for the evening with Dana Dowell, Miss Longview, who was the swim suit winner.

Competition will be resumed tonight in Will Rogers Auditorium, second of three evenings of preliminary competition that will determine Saturday's 10 finalists.

From this group a new Miss Texas will be selected, succeeding Glenda Propes of Henderson, and will represent the state at the Miss America pageant in Atlantic City in September.

Miss McEntyre, a West Texas State University music major from Odessa, scored with two familiar tunes, "Flight of the Bumblebee' and "Swinging Shepherd Blues."

She said she aspires to the Miss America title "because I think it would be wonderful to represent the greatest country in the world."

Miss McEntyre moves into swim suit competition tonight and said that's the toughest part of the pageant :"It's just hard for me to parade around before 3,000 people in a swim suit."

The brown-haired, blue-eyed beauty, who plans to teach music on a university level, shapes up at 35-23-35. She's the daughter of the Odessa Permian High School band director and also plays the piano and the saxophone.

Miss Dowell, 18, stands 5 feet-6, also is brown-haired, has statistics of 36-23-36 and is stunning in a white swim suit. Her home is at White Oak, outside Longview. She's likewise musically inclined and will present a trap drum solo in the talent division.

She considers drums among the most expressive of musical instruments, she said — "the heart beat of the band."

The pageant band, she said, contributed to her swim suit triumph.

"I think the band helped make me feel like I was at home," she said. "They were happy and laughing, and it helped me relax."

Miss Dowell said she would like to be Miss America "because she represents the most ideal—not the most perfect—the most ideal girl in America. Nobody wants to be perfect, because variety is what makes you an individual."

She will be the Kilgore Junior College drum major next fall and the feature drummer for the school's stage band. She is, however, a pre-med major.

Taylor Named To TBA Committee

J. P. (Jimmy) Taylor, vice president, First National Bank, Big Spring, has been named a member of the Texas Bankers Association agriculture committee for District 6, TBA President Derrell Henry, Odessa, has announced.

Legion To Pick New Officers

American Legion Post 355 will elect officers for the coming year at 8:30 p.m. today in the Legion Hall, south of town. Members will also discuss plans for next year and outline future activities.

Outgoing officers are Dr. Halvard Hansen, commander; Art Pierce, first vice commander; Chester Cathey, second vice commnder; Dr. Gale Kilgore, adjutant; Roscoe Cone, finance officer; and Cecil Walker and Jack Pearson, trustees. Carl Knappe and George Zachariah will remain in office as trustees.

Hansen also said the post will elect delegates to the state convention in San Antonio July 18-20.

Police Check On Burglary

Big Spring police this morning were investigating the burglary of the John Tucker residence, 1606 Lancaster.

Capt. Stanley Bogard, chief of detectives, said police had a suspect in custody in the burglary in which approximately $80 worth of merchandise was taken.

He said the house was entered July 1 and a man was caught in the residence by Tucker. Bogard said Tucker would give the man a chance to return items already taken from the house, before any action was taken.

Entry into the residence was gained through a rear door.

Listed as missing was an air conditioner, a wrist watch, an extension cord, a motorcycle helmet, a box of copper plumbing fittings, two wrenches, a frozen chicken, a flashlight and three bottles of beer.

Bogard said the culprit had taken these items from the house and had returned the second time when Tucker caught him.

No Link With Tax Valuations

"The notices concerning the public hearing on the revised zoning ordinance have nothing to do with tax valuation or the county equalization hearings," Larry Crow, city manager, said today.

"The notices were sent out by lot number because we are required by law to give every property owner 15 days notice," he said. The public hearing on the revised zoning ordinance will be July 24 at 7:30 p.m. in Municipal Auditorium.

Grass Fire

A small grass fire at the Big Spring rodeo grounds, off west FM 700, was extinguished by firemen at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday. No damage was caused. Firemen said it was caused when the burning of weeds in the area got out of hand.

Hansens To Attend State Legion Meet

Dr. Halvard T. Hansen and his wife, Lela, will leave Friday July 18 for San Antonio to attend the 51st Annual Convention of the American Legion, department of Texas, July 17-20.

Some 3,000 delegates and alternates, plus other members, are expected to attend the Legion meeting while the Auxiliary anticipates about 1,000 delegates.

Besides regular business, a memorial service honoring World War I veterans, founders of the Legion in 1919, is scheduled Sunday to conclude a 15-month observance of the Golden anniversary of the world's largest veterans group. Other special events include the Parade of Champions Contest for Uniformed Organizations (with more than $2,900 in prizes for the winners), a barbecue for delegates and guests, and a bathing beauty pageant — crowning Miss American Legion of 1969 — all taking place Friday.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes is scheduled to give the keynote address at the convention, while James R. Wilson, director, American Legion's National Security Commission in Washington, D.C., will elaborate on the Legion's stand on the anti-ballistic missile system proposed by President Nixon.

The election of department officers for the ensuing year will conclude the convention.

City Was Ahead Of New Law

A Texas Air Control Board regulation prohibiting cities of more than 5,000 population from burning refuse in open dumps presented no problems for Big Spring when it went into effect July 1 according to Ernest Lillard, director of Public Works.

Big Spring had abandoned the burning of solid wastes back in 1965, he said, when it started disposing of refuse by sanitary landfills. It was one of the first cities in West Texas to begin such projects.

Lillard also said Big Spring has already filled in two sites: one north on Birdwell Lane and the other next to the sewer plant. For the last year and one-half it has been burying refuse at a location south of the Cosden refinery on IS 20.

Of the three methods of disposing of solid wastes — burning, burying in landfills, or composting into a usuable soil conditioner — the landfill method is considered the most economical. Burying refuse allows marginal land to be reclaimed for such uses as parks, golf courses and botanical gardens.

The debate workshops are headed by Dr. Ben Chappell, speech professor and director of TCU forensics. Participants are involved in case conferences, argument analysis and sessions in affirmative and negative evidence preparation.

Fair Condition

Billy Joe Pinkney, a 17-year-old Big Spring State Hospital patient injured Friday night when he was apparently struck by a T&P Railway Co. train, is listed today in fair condition at Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital. Pinkney was taken to the hospital in serious condition Friday night with a fractured leg and head lacerations after the engineer of a westbound train said he thought his train had struck a man at the Birdwell Lane crossing.

No Quorum, But Parks Board Studies Needs

Lack of a quorum delayed action by the Parks and Recreation Board Wednesday on an appropriations request for 1969-70.

Jim Baum, Mrs. Odell Womack and Don Newsom were the only board members to show up at the 4 p.m. meeting, and Baum set them up as a committee to make recommendations to the board concerning future activities and funds needed.

Birdwell Park restrooms, a project planned last year but never acted upon, received top priority from the committee, and completion of the "Big Spring" site improvement was second. Plans for the spring site include extending the dam completely across the opening into Cosden Lake and completing the walkway around the pool.

The committee also recommended the installation of approximately 10 bounce ball courts on the concrete clearwell at the water filter plant, Fifteenth and Virginia. "We can get about 10 courts for a relatively cheap price," Newsom said.

Improvements at the City Park included lighting for croquet courts and widening the Wasson Road and US 87 entrances. Johnny Johansen, parks superintendent, spoke against widening the Wasson Road entrance because "it slows down traffic." Newsom said several trees had died and needed to be replaced and he felt curbs and gutters were necessary.

Roy Anderson, assistant city manager, told the group the Highway Department improvement project for US 87 South would probably necessitate one entrance for the City Park and the overnight camp grounds.

Baum proposed the group study the possibility of building a fishing house at Moss Creek Lake, and said he would present some cost estimates at the next meeting. "I think a lot of our people go over to Colorado City to fish during inclement weather," Baum said.

Lighting the high school baseball park was suggested by Newsom.

"We need a baseball field for adults and older teens," he said. "We have two semi-pro teams, the Tigers and the Cardinals, which Midland wants to include in their league play." This would include games with Midland, Odessa and Andrews, Newsom said, and the Big Spring clubs would have to furnish a park for home games.

"The American Legion team is dormant right now because of lack of practice space," he said. "I feel sure if they had a place to play, the team would be revived." Newsom estimated the costs for building a ball park at $25,000 minimum, "and lighting the high school park would cost practically nothing."

"We have a field in Big Spring, all we'd have to do is light it," he said. He predicted the high school teams would have to play night games in the near future, but school officials would probably not consider lighting the field for some time.

"If we light the field, we will be able to use it during the summer, and most of the games of the season are played during early summer," Newsom said.

Newsom also suggested building more storage stalls for golf carts at the golf course clubhouse. "I understand there is a waiting list with about 20 names on it," he said, and the stalls rent for $7 per month. "They almost pay for themselves," he said. Revenue from the rented stalls during June was $92, Anderson said.

The committee also suggested a resolution asking the city commission to employ a director of parks and recreation. Baum said the committee would make recommendations next week to the Parks and Recreation Board.

Trustees Cut Budget By Less Than $60,000

School trustees in two five-hour meetings this month sliced $58,530.50 from salaries and $6,916 from other categories according to recomputation of the proposed budget, Don Crockett, assistant superintendent-business, said today.

The recomputations also reduced expected receipts, causing a reduction of $18,429, leaving a net decrease of $47,017.50. However, recomputation of annual insurance premiums accounts for $10,000 less in estimated expenditures, which gives a total of $57,017.50 dropped from the proposed $4,873,825 budget.

Salaries were adjusted for 110 employes, including administration, principals, guidance personnel, vocational personnel, special education, and secretary clerks. All will still get salary increases.

Salary adjustments for 17 people in administration cut $7,598.82 from the proposed budget; 18 principals, $11,319.04; reading coordinator and elementary and secondary guidance personnel (nine people) $6,028.62; 17 vocational personnel, $11,436.84 (including deletion of one vacant position from the proposed budget); 21 special education teachers, $18,128.95 (including deletion of two vacancies); and 26 secretary-clerks, $1,648.98.

Adjustment of the athletic director's salary and the reduction of the swimming coach's $1,723 local increment totalled $2,369.25.

Trustees also dropped the Coordinated Vocational Educational Laundry program, cutting $4,000 from the proposed budget; swimming pool rental, $1,000; swimming program budget, $1,696; and CVAE state travel, $220.

Trustees tentatively approved the amended budget Tuesday night and scheduled a public hearing for Aug. 12.

Rural Safety Week Proclaimed

Gov. Preston Smith has proclaimed July 20-26 Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Week, coinciding with the observance of National Farm Safety Week.

At the same time he urged rural residents to use the new SMV (slow moving vehicles) emblems, triangular shaped with a red and orange surface that is visible day or night from 500 feet way, on their machines when traveing on state highways. After next Jan. 1, a new Texas law will require all motor vehicles designed to operate at a maximum speed of 25 miles per hour or less to use the emblem.

The Safety Week focuses attention on the need to reduce farm accidents, which last year claimed 297 lives in Texas, a six per cent increase over the previous year.

Countdown Set To Start For Moon Men

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Technicians today located a leak in the pressurization system of the Apollo 11 rocket and the space agency sought a means of correcting it so that the countdown could start on time tonight for the moon landing mission.

Officials said they did not think the problem was serious enough to delay the lengthy countdown, set to start at 8 p.m.

The leak cropped up this morning in the helium pressurization system of the first stage of the 36-story-tall Saturn 5.

Helium is stored in four 31-cubic-foot high pressure bottles. It is used to pressurize the propellant tanks and to operate certain valves.

As the technicians troubleshot the problem, the Apollo 11 astronauts, Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins climbed into the command ship trainer to practice the engine maneuver that will shoot them out of earth orbit and set them on a quarter-million-mile course to the moon. They are: 4th graf 105.

They are to orbit the moon July 19, and the next day Armstrong and Aldrin are to fly a fragile lunar module (LM) to man's first landing on the lunar surface.

Early on July 21, first Armstrong, then Aldrin step outside for an exploration period scheduled to last about 2½ hours.

The countdown is 93 hours, but it is spread over 5½ days. This allows for several planned holds to give the crew rest and time to correct any problems that might arise.

Commission To Pick Grand Jury

A special jury commission meets at 10 a.m. Friday to draw the names of 20 Howard Countians for grand jury duty. The commissioners are Ted Phillips, M. R. Koger and Mrs. Ruth Apple.

From the 20 names they will select, Judge Ralph Caton will pick 12 to comprise the district court grand jury for the new term of court which opens July 22. The grand jurors will go into session on that date. Fifteen felony complaints naming 17 defendants are slated to be laid before the jury for action.

Still Trying For No-Hitter In Eighth Inning

New York Met pitcher Tom Seaver, left, was working on no-hitter Wednesday night (see scoreboard in background) when this photo was taken in the eighth inning. At bat is Chicago Cubs third baseman Ron Santo, who flied out to center field. Seaver's bid for perfect game was spoiled in ninth inning. Mets took Shea Stadium contest, 4-0.

Mets Win Again, 4-0

By The Associated Press

Their dizzying dash towards the more respectable neighborhood in the National League standings has turned everything topsy-turvy for the prosperous New York Mets.

TOM SEAVER

Tom Seaver pitched a one-hitter, beating Chicago 4-0 for the Mets' seventh straight victory Wednesday night. It trimmed the Cubs' lead over New York to three games in the East Division race. It should have been a source of great joy. It was, believe it or not, a source of great disappointment.

That's because Seaver flirted with immortality by retiring 25 consecutive Cubs before rookie Jimmy Qualls ended his perfect game bid with a one-out single in the ninth inning.

That single by the No. 8 hitter in the Cubs' line-up deprived Seaver of his line in the record book but it couldn't keep New York from continuing its tear towards the top. Yet, it added the touch of aggravation that always seems to follow the Mets.

BUCS WIN TWICE

Elsewhere in the National League, Pittsburgh nipped Montreal twice 4-3 in 10 innings and 3-2, Philadelphia split with St. Louis, winning 7-1 before losing 5-3, San Francisco bombed Houston 10-3, Cincinnati edged San Diego 4-3 and Los Angeles dropped Atlanta 3-1.

Seaver drove in a run with a second inning single as the Mets jumped on Ken Holtzman, knocking out the Cub left-hander and taking a 3-0 lead in the first two innings.

Then Seaver became a one-man show, retiring the Cubs 1-2-3 in every inning. He struck out five of the first six batters he faced and fanned 11 for the game.

Randy Hundley bunted Seaver's first pitch in the ninth inning and the pitcher threw him out for the 25th Cub to go down in order. Then Qualls rapped the next pitch for the hit. Seaver then retired the next two hitters easily to end the game.

He termed the one-hitter "a disappointment" but around the Mets, that word is commonplace. If every disappointment was a one-hitter, they'd never complain.

Pittsburgh swept the Expos, winning the first game on Richie Hebner's leadoff triple in the 10th inning and a one-out single by Jose Martinez and then taking the second one on an eight-inning pinch double by Willie Stargell.

Matty Alou, who had six hits in the doubleheader, opened the seventh inning of the nightcap with a single and came around to score Pittsburgh's tying run on a sacrifice, a wild pitch and an error. Then Fred Patek beat out an infield single with two

Rebels Upset By Angels

The Rebels dropped their first game in Sophomore league play here Wednesday evening, losing to the Angels, 8-7, despite a two-run surge in the final round.

The win was the eighth in 12 starts for the Seraphs while the Rebels are 11-1. The Rebs had already clinched first place in the circuit.

The Angels made the most of 10 hits, including two each by Ronald McKee, K. Froman and R. Hudson.

The Rebs pulled to within one run of the Angels with a two-run outburst in the fifth, only to have the Angels to break loose for two more tallies in the sixth.

Tommy Gonzales registered the mound win, rationing out six hits to the Rebs. Three of those were by Sam Stone.

Snickle Beal clubbed a home run for the losers.

Mike Harris Exits School System For Amarillo Job

MIKE HARRIS

Mike Harris, one-time physical education director at the YMCA, has resigned as a teacher-coach in the Big Spring school system to accept employment as director of intramural athletics at Amarillo College.

Harris, a native of Lubbock, has served as an eighth grade football coach and head swimming coach on the high school level.

His decision to take the Amarillo job came before the school board announced its decision to abandon competitive swimming here and, in fact, helped the trustees make up their mind.

Athletic director Spike Dykes said he had made an effort to find a successor to Harris but had met with total failure. He pointed out that swimming instructors all over the state are in extremely short supply.

Harris does not plan to move to Amarillo until some time next month. Several years ago, Mike coached football at Paint Rock.

At Amarillo College, he will have no coaching duties but will teach wrestling, weight-lifting, handball and possibly swimming.

Yankees Slam Cards, 12-4

The Yankees yielded four runs to the Cardinals in the first inning, on a grand slam home run by Casey Lovelace, and then dominated play thereafter in winning a semifinal game in the Little League City playoffs here Wednesday night, 12-4.

Both are National league teams and the contest was unreeled in the National park.

Bob Bradshaw settled to pitch a stunning three-hitter for the Yanks. The Yanks pulled ahead with five runs in the third and scored every inning they went to bat thereafter. Bradshaw fanned ten.

Ricky Crittenden had a double and two singles for the winners. Bradshaw struck a double and a single in two official trips. Steve Corson and David Guinn each had a double and a one-baser for the Yanks, who are favored to defeat the Wildcats in the title game tonight.

American Cannons Lust For Victory

NEW YORK (AP) — The American League hopes to roll out the old home run cannon to try to snap the National League's six-game win streak in the July 22 All-Star game at Washington with sluggers like Reggie Jackson and Frank Howard in the starting line-up.

The big surprise in the line-up, announced Wednesday by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn was the absence of Baltimore's Brooks Robinson, the third base starter five years in a row. Brooks gave way to Sal Bando of the Oakland A's.

Baltimore, breezing along in the Eastern Division, wound up with outfielder Frank Robinson and first baseman John "Boog" Powell in the starting eight (pitchers are picked later). Oakland, running second to Minnesota in the Western Division, also had a pair—Bando at third and Jackson in the outfield.

Rico Petrocelli, Boston's shortstop who has developed into a long ball threat, topped the balloting of players, managers and coaches with 286 votes. The next best was Jackson's 260. Players were not permitted to vote for their own teammates.

Howard, the giant-sized Washington slugger who is fighting with Jackson for the home run title, was one of three repeaters from the 1968 starting line-up. The others were catcher Bill Freehan of Detroit and second baseman Rod Carew of Minnesota, the current batting leader.

Baltimore and Oakland each had two starters and Minnesota, Boston, Washington and Detroit one each. By divisions the East had five, the West three.

Members of the National League's starting line-up will be announced Friday afternoon. The remainder of the 28-man squads, including pitchers, will be selected by the managers and announced over a 10-day period.

Starters:
C—Bill Freehan, Detroit.
1B—John Powell, Baltimore.
2B—Rod Carew, Minnesota.
SS—Rico Petrocelli, Boston.
3B—Sal Bando, Oakland.
OF—Reggie Jackson, Oakland.
OF—Frank Howard, Washington.
OF—Frank Robinson, Baltimore.
Mgr.—Mayo Smith, Detroit.

DeMolay Chapter Eying Diving Endurance Mark

The Leon F. Moffett chapter, Order of the DeMolay, will start a diving marathon here at 8 a.m. Friday, aimed at breaking the international record.

The endurance contest, which will involve about 30 members diving in shifts, will be staged in the pool of Dr. R. G. B. Cowper. Ben Cowper, son of the pool's owner, is a member of the chapter.

The boys hope to continue diving at least until midnight Saturday.

The international record for DeMolay marathon diving, established by the Osman chapter of Austin, Minn., is 24 hours.

Each boy entered in the unique competition could spend as much as two hours plunging into the pool.

Another Retirement

Earl Morrall, center, quarterback of the Baltimore Colts and last year's NFL player of the year, joins Whitey Ford, former New York Yankee pitcher (left) and Bill Cressy Jr., President of the Oakland Seals Hockey Club in a pyramid handshake at a press conference Wednesday. Morrall said he may retire from football to devote his time to a new business venture as president of Earl Morrall Associates, a Trans National Communications Inc.

Namath, Morrall May Both Leave Pro Ball

By The Associated Press

Not one, but both key quarterbacks from last year's Super Bowl might be missing when the pro football season opens.

Joe Namath, the reluctant quarterback of the New York Jets, announced his retirement a month ago. On Wednesday, Namath's Super Bowl opponent, Earl Morrall of the Baltimore Colts, indicated he might retire, too.

Morrall was named vice president for operations of Trans National Communications Inc., which owns the Oakland Seals of the National Hockey League, among other enterprises.

He told a San Francisco news conference he would fly to Detroit to set up his TNC office and then discuss his possible retirement with the Colts in Baltimore this weekend. The Colts open training camp on Sunday.

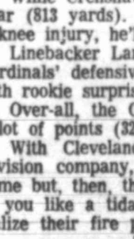

"My communications with them will be the deciding factor," said the National Football League's 1968 Player of the Year. "At this point, I'm right in the middle."

So is Namath, but for a different reason.

The flamboyant Jet star said in Corona, Calif., where he's making a movie, that he's sticking to his decision not to obey Commissioner Pete Rozelle's order to get rid of his part interest in a Manhattan restaurant allegedly frequented by gamblers.

Namath said he has no plans to report to the Jets training camp which opens this weekend on Long Island, as much as he'd like to.

"I would change my mind if someone would say where I was wrong," he said. "If I have been wrong, I won't want any part of the restaurant."

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Now that Big Spring's Charley Johnson is ready to again become a full-time member of the St. Louis Cardinal football organization, coach Charley Winner reasons his passing game will be stabilized.

Winner has no regrets about how the Red Birds retreated into the wings last year—eight wins and a tie in the final ten games. His problem of picking a regular for the quarterback's spot has yet to be resolved, however.

Jim Hart has become a seasoned performer. For one thing, he threw far fewer interceptions in 1968 than the preceding year (18 compared to 30).

However, Johnson had his hand firmly on the throttle two years ago when he shucked his mufti for military raiment and he's still highly respected around the NFL as a kinetic force who can create the chemistry and the imagination needed to change the Cardinals into a cobra-quick striking unit.

The Cards beat divisional winner Cleveland twice in two outings last year. For that reason, they feel they hold the whiphand over the Browns.

John Gilliam, acquired from New Orleans, likely will take Bobby Joe Conrad's outside receiving job away from him and join tight end Jackie Smith and Dave Williams in posing coverage problems for the opposition.

Willie Crenshaw had his best season as a ball carrier last year (813 yards). If Johnny Roland has fully recovered from a knee injury, he'll lend more energy to the St. Louis attack.

Linebacker Larry Stallings is out of the service, too. The Cardinals' defensive alignment is young but should be better, with rookie surprise Jamie Rivers established in the middle.

Over-all, the Cardinals were 9-4-1 last year. They scored a lot of points (325) but gave up a lot, too (289).

With Cleveland, New York and Pittsburgh as Century Division company, the Cardinals must go full throttle every game but, then, they don't play it any other way. They come at you like a tidal wave. Only a rash of injuries could neutralize their fire power.

When you consider the fact that Boston has doubled the home attendance of Baltimore this season, it makes you wonder if the Oriole baseball fans deserve a contending club.

Baltimore has made a shambles of the divisional race this season but is struggling to attain the 500,000 plateau in attendance. Boston is pushing toward a million and could go over two million if the scramble for the pennant should tighten up.

The Red Sox are outdrawing Los Angeles of the National League by more than 200,000 at home. That, in itself is no mean feat.

* * * *

Al Valdes, the one-time professional catcher who guided the Rebels to 11 straight victories in the Sophomore Teen-Age league here and clinched the pennant in so doing, credits the pitching of Snickie Beal and Troy Kerby with much of the team's success.

It stands to reason that any club with which Valdes works would have pitchers long on moxie, since he was a great one at working with pitchers in his salad days as a ball player.

Al hasn't lost any of the enthusiasm he showed when he was one of the top minor league backstops in the game.

* * * *

Steve Sogge, quarterback for the University of Southern California team last year which offered O. J. Simpson as its running threat, is now preparing for a career in the major baseball leagues by serving his apprenticeship as a receiver for Albuquerque of the Texas League.

* * * *

The Los Angeles Stars of the American Basketball Association have high hopes for Simmie Hill, the former West Texas State cage star who has played here against Howard County JC.

Coach Bill Sharman of the Stars, himself a one-time West Texan, says Hill gives the Los Angeles club a big strong front court man it needs to become a contender next season.

Jim Hardy, general manager of the Stars, goes even farther. He insists that, next to Lew Alcindor, Hill was the best pro prospect in this year's collegiate draft.

Rodenhaver New OC Golf Coach

ODESSA — Barry Rodenhaver, University of Maryland, has replaced Jimmy Russell as golf coach at Odessa College.

Rodenhaver has been assistant pro and associate golf coach for three years since receiving his master's degree at Maryland. He is a graduate of North Penn High, 1959, and Penn State, 1964.

As Expected, U.S. Stars Make Charge

LYTHAM ST. ANNE'S England (AP) — Jack Nicklaus and Bill Casper cranked up a typical American challenge in pursuit of New Zealand's Bob Charles at the outset of the second round of the British Open Golf Championship today.

Nicklaus, starting nine shots behind Charles' record-equalling 66 in Wednesday's kickoff round, grimly tackled Royal Lytham's 6,848-yard par 71 course and promptly conquered at least the first half of it.

Nicklaus, the blond belter from Columbus, Ohio, went out in a two-under-par 33. He bogeyed the third hole but then the long game and putting that has carried Nicklaus to the heights clicked with two straight birdie 4s on the sixth and seventh, and a birdie deuce at the ninth.

Casper, of Anita, Calif., starting off with a solid one-under-par 70, had less of an assignment to overhaul Charles and went about it in workmanlike fashion. He, too, shot an outgoing 33 with two birdies and seven pars.

The field of 130 was blessed with an overnight rain that freshened the course and encouraged bold play. The ball was staying where it was hit, which is mostly what the top stars want.

Only the low 70 and ties will survive tonight's 36-hole cutoff. After Friday's third round the field again is cut to low 45 and ties for Saturday's final.

George Archer, the U.S. Masters champion from Gilroy, Calif., withdrew from the championship because of illness.

The 6-foot-6 Californian, who shot a 79 Wednesday, was stricken with gastroenteritis and a heavy cold soon after he arrived in Britain.

Surprisng Wildcats Win Again In City Playoffs

The upstart Wildcats, who barely made it to the playoffs, have barreled into the finals of the Little League City championship round and tonight face the Yankees for all the blue chips.

Both are National League teams. Tonight's engagement, down for 8 p.m., will be unreeled in the National park. Hayes Stripling III likely will pitch for the Cats.

The Tabbies have defeated the Talons of the International League, 24-1, behind Bubba Stripling; the Braves of the Texas League, 9-4; and the champion Rockets of the International League, 5-4, in that order to attain the finals.

Greg Halfmann, on the hill for the Wildcats Wednesday night, limited the Rockets to three hits. One of those was a home run by Tim Brewer.

Hayes Stripling drove out three hits and Bubba Stripling had two doubles for the winners in the game and the brothers scored four of the Cats' five runs.

The Cats waited until the final inning to win the game, when Ken Newman doubled home a teammate. It was his second hit.

Hayes Stripling hurled against the Braves Tuesday evening, limiting the losers to five hits.

In that game, Warren Jones smashed both the winners' hits while Majors collected two blows for the Braves.

In the tournament opener Monday, Angel Pineda had three safeties for the Wildcats.

Sens Win For Nixon

By The Associated Press

Ted Williams summed it up after winning Wednesday night something like Richard Nixon must have after winning last November: "It's about time."

"I've known him since 1950 and I've been a Nixon man all the time," Williams insisted after his Washington Senators blanked Cleveland 3-0 with the President in attendance. But Nixon's three previous trips to the ballpark this season meant nothing but grief—and losses—for the Senators.

Elsewhere in the American League, Kansas City nipped Minnesota 4-3, the Chicago White Sox tripped Oakland 5-3, Baltimore edged the New York Yankees 6-5 in 10 innings, Detroit took Boston 6-5 and Seattle walloped California 8-0, then lost 5-0.

The Senators, who had beaten Cleveland 10 of 12 without Nixon's help, took a 1-0 lead in the first inning on Mike Epstein's bloop double. The President arrived an inning later with daughter Tricia and son-in-law David Eisenhower, just in time to see Del Unser single for one run and Frank Howard do the same for another.

Joe Coleman breezed with a four-hitter, struck out 11 and gave the President the final ball of the game when he stopped by the Washington clubhouse. Nixon wouldn't take it, though, until Coleman autographed it.

"He really shows me something by coming out," Coleman said. "It gives you a big boost when you know he's in the stands. I hope he keeps coming out, especially when I pitch."

Ed Doherty, a Senators official, reported the President kept watching the scoreboard during the game, hoping Baltimore would lose so Washington could up ground.

"He was overjoyed when Dave McNally was knocked out," Doherty said. "And he kept rooting for Howard to hit a home run. Everytime Howard came up, he jumped up and shouted, 'Hondo, Hondo, hit one.'"

Hondo didn't, but Pete Ward did, a three-run pinch hit shot in the eighth inning that powered the White Sox past Oakland and prevented the Athletics from gaining on Minnesota in the AL West.

Nixon's Troop Cutback 'Only A Drop In Bucket'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic leaders have quietly approved a call for a far greater cutback in U. S. troop strength in Europe than now planned by the White House.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield described as inadequate President Nixon's order to withdraw some 15,000 military men from overseas bases during the next year.

The White House did not disclose the specific areas involved, but the order announced Wednesday exempted Vietnam and other spots of trouble and tension.

RIGHT DIRECTION

"This is a step in the right direction, but it's only a drop in the bucket," Mansfield said in an interview.

It was learned the Senate Democratic Policy Committee already has agreed to back a resolution urging the administration to substantially reduce U. S. manpower in Western Europe.

A Senate source said Democratic leaders discussed the issue Tuesday and agreed in advance the resolution would have their formal endorsement.

"The trend is fine," Mansfield said after the announcement of the forthcoming 15,000 man recall. "The only thing to do is accelerate it."

He said the United States is maintaining 2,700 bases, 400 of them major installations, covering 4,000 square miles in 30 foreign nations.

CUT IN HALF

All told, he said, some 1.75 million troops, dependents and employes are based overseas.

Mansfield said it would represent real progress if those figures were cut in half.

The White House announced 14,900 men will be brought back to the United States during the next year "in the interests of lessening budget and balance of payments costs and of reducing the American presence overseas."

This, plus a reduction of some 5,100 civilian employes abroad, could lead to eventual balance of payments savings of $75 million, the White House said.

Civilian payroll cutbacks are to be general, including a 10 per cent reduction in South Vietnam.

But the military cuts do not apply to forces in Vietnam, South Korea, Berlin, to other areas of Southeast Asia where U.S. forces support military operations, or to manpower committee to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

IT'S PRINCIPLE

Presumably, this means reductions in U.S. forces in Spain, Japan, and Turkey.

The kind of cutbacks Mansfield wants would have to come in the NATO area, exempt from the Nixon order.

The United States has 228,000 men in West Germany alone.

Mansfield said the Germans are in far better economic shape than the United States to provide forces for their defense.

But he added:

"It isn't balance of payments, it isn't Vietnam, it's principle—an occupation army a quarter century later."

"The fact that the government might like them there," Mansfield said, "doesn't mean that the people want to have them there.

Meanwhile, West Germany agreed Wednesday to provide $1.52 billion in the next two years to help maintain American troops and their dependents in Germany.

Hoover Jr. Dead

Herbert Hoover Jr., son of the 31st president of the United States, died Wednesday in Pasadena, Calif., at the age of 65.

Son Of 31st President Dies

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Herbert Hoover Jr. shunned publicity most of his life and when he died at age 65 Wednesday there were no press announcements of his passing.

The son of the 31st president of the United States served as the No. 2 man in the State Department from 1954 to 1957 under the late John Foster Dulles.

Hoover died in Huntington Community Hospital which said he had been hospitalized for about a week. Spokesman declined to name the illness or give the cause of death.

Hoover once said there were three ingredients that made life worth living for him—the outdoors, far away places and mining engineering.

Public office held no glamor for him and he avoided capitalizing on his father's name.

The younger Hoover was 25 years old when his father became president. Already married, the son busied himself in research and engineering positions at Harvard Business School, Western Air Express, and Transcontinental and Western Air during his father's four-year term in the White House.

His major speciality was in petroleum geology. From 1954 to 1957, he served as undersecretary of state in the Eisenhower administration after serving as a special consultant on petroleum to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Hoover, born in London, earned a bachelor's degree at Stanford, like his father, then went on to take a master's degree from Harvard.

He listed himself as a Republican but his hobbies and professional interests seemed to outstrip his political nature. He belonged to many professional engineering and petroleum societies and had been president of the International Radio Relay League and the International Amateur Radio Union.

His father, at the age of 80, watched as the younger Hoover was sworn in as undersecretary of state. And the son was asked why he had given up a successful business career for governmental work.

"I do not think of such service in terms of sacrifice," Hoover replied, "for the chance to serve one's country, at any time and in any way, is the greatest privilege that a man can have."

The family requested that contributions be made to the Patient Assistance Fund of the Huntington Memorial Hospital.

There was no press announcement of the death and newsmen learned of it from a paid classified in a newspaper.

A private funeral will be held at Pasadena's All-Saints Episcopal Church at 2 p.m. Monday.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	Pass	2 ♣
Dble.	Pass	2 ◇	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Deuce of ♣

When North was unable to keep the bidding open, South did not abandon hope for game. Holding 24 points in high cards and distribution, he doubled East's reopening bid of two clubs. When North dutifully responded with two diamonds, South leaped directly to four spades.

Since North denied having as much as six points, South's action was unwarranted. He should have assumed that if his partner held a high card or two, the latter could be depended on to proceed, if game was in the offing.

West opened the deuce of clubs against the final contract. The four was played from dummy and East won the trick with the jack. He continued with the king and declarer ruffed as West unblocked his ten of clubs. South began drawing trump, however, when East showed out on the third round, it suddenly dawned on declarer that he and West were down to the same size in spades. If he drew the remaining trump, the opposition might run several club tricks when they regained the lead.

South switched his attentions to the diamond suit, by playing the ace and another. West was in with the king, and a club return forced declarer to ruff once more and thereby established a spade trick for West. South still had to lose a heart and his contract went on the rocks.

Since the odds favor a four-two division of the outstanding spades, declarer would have been well advised to protect his trump holding from the enemy's assault in clubs. A measure of caution on South's part would have paid off handsomely.

When East leads the king of clubs at trick two, it is suggested that declarer discard a heart from his hand instead of ruffing. Observe that he has to lose a heart trick eventually, so that he gives up nothing by taking the sluff. He gains considerable timing, however, for East cannot continue clubs profitably. If he leads the ace next, for example, it establishes North's queen.

If East is permitted to hold the second club trick, he is temporarily unable to press the attack. A heart return can be won in the closed hand, trumps drawn in four pulls and West given his diamond trick. South ruffs the club return with his remaining trump and claims 10 tricks—five spades, two hearts, and three diamonds.

Teachers Go To School

Several Big Spring residents have attended or will be attending teacher programs sponsored by the West Texas Education Center for Region XVIII.

A workshop in June 16-20 and 23-27, designed to familiarize Adult Basic Education (ABE) teachers with ABE goals, classroom teaching techniques and the family structure from which ABE students come, was attended by Dr. and Mrs. D. Approximately $500 damage was done to the right front door of an auto driven by Peggy Ann Cole, 17, 1323 Harding, when it was in collision with an auto driven by Bill L. Jones, 38, Topeka, Kan. Approximately $150 damage was done to the Jones Car.

B&PW Notes Advancement

"The national Business and Professional Women's organization was founded July 16, 1919, and has had 50 years of bringing advancement in the careers of business and professional women," said Mrs. Cass Hill at the 50th anniversary dinner of the local B&PW club Tuesday evening at Coker's Restaurant.

Mrs. Hill is past president of the local club and a past district director. She stressed that working women have gained in prestige, from the filing clerk to the highly-paid executive. She said that at the end of the first year, there were 284 clubs and 2,500 members. Now the membership is 180,000 and they are financially capable of conducting a vigorous and constructive program.

"The federation has continued essentially unchanged in its basic goals and objectives during the past half century," continued Mrs. Hill. "It is proud of its heritage of having the largest all-inclusive membership of business and professional women in the United States, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands."

Mrs. Weldon Nuckolls presided and introduced five local past presidents including Mrs. Lina Flewellen. Mrs. C. L. Rowe, Mrs. Fred Hyer, Miss Bessie Love and Mrs. W. U. O'Neal.

Other guests were Mrs. Joy Ogle, district director, Mrs. Arloine Hutcheson, Mrs. Stella Tiller and Mrs. Helen Bass, all of Odessa.

The dining tables were laid with white cloths, and the head table was centered with an arrangement of yellow roses in a green container.

Mrs. Bill Griese, pianist, accompanied Mrs. Frank Arner and Mrs. Nuckolls as they sang three popular selections. The song, "Meet Me In St. Louis," was dedicated to Mrs. Hill, who will serve as page at the national convention July 20-25 in St. Louis.

Describes Lion's Club In Sweden

"There are no women's organizations affiliated with the Lion's Club in Sweden," said Monica Barrdunge, guest speaker at Wednesday's luncheon of the Downtown Lion's Auxiliary. The group met at the home of Mrs. Charles Havens, 616 Tulane.

Miss Barrdunge told of her father's activities in the Lion's Club in Hanosand, Sweden. She stressed that his favorite project is at Christmas, when the club assists the poor and handicapped The club also donates gifts to patients at the hospitals in Hanosand.

Miss Barrdunge displayed products from Sweden including handmade mats and wood and glass decorator items. She gave the auxiliary a banner from her father's club, explaining that in Sweden, each Lion's Club has a separate banner and each town has its own symbol.

Mrs. B. M. Keese was elected president, and she introduced a guest, Mrs. H. C. Petty.

An arrangement of red and white gladioli was used as the centerpiece on the buffet.

Accentuating The Form

Two designs shown by Olga Friday reflect the new trend toward see-through fashions for lingerie. At left, a tricot slip is simply tailored for a smooth fit under body-hugging fashions for fall. Dropped waistline blends into a short, flared skirt. A lace-trimmed pajama set, right, features a hidden shell-cup bodice with a lycra band and stretch straps. Pajama top, with shift-gown styling, can be worn alone.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

If you have a grill, don't throw away those dead ashes in the bottom of it after you get through cooking your hamburgers or steaks — if you can afford them.

The ashes are great to put in those big outdoor ashtrays on patios to snuff out a cigarette. If you don't believe it, gather some and try it.

MARY ANN WEBBER

* * *

You know, I didn't believe you, Mary. I gathered some and, honest to goodness, when I stuck a lighted cigarette in it, it went out as quick as you said. No smoldering at all.

Just think of the many cars with ashtrays on the dashboard where you can never snuff a ciagrette out.

I know you all are laughing. I did too until I tried it. Then I laughed on the other side.

I also put some ashes in flower beds along with the litty bitty leftover pieces of charcoal and mixed it good.

Wonderful, too, for potting plants.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:

This morning my brother, sister, and I were arguing over who was going to read the funnies in the newspapers.

Since there are only two parts of the funnies and three of us, my mother said, "Here, let me see both sections." She took her scissors and cut them into four separate parts.

Now there is no arguing about the comics anymore, and we can finish reading faster by taking turns like that.

Dear Heloise:

For a little extra treat for your kiddos, try fixing little toasted, open-faced peanut butter sandwiches.

All you have to do is to cut the bread in small squares, spread with peanut butter and top with a small piece of bacon. Toast until bacon is done.

Just takes a few minutes and the children just love them.

In fact, I have used these at parties for the grownups and was always complimented on the tasty hors d'oeuvres.

DOTTIE

Dear Heloise:

Here's a helpful hint I discovered one very hot day last summer.

My two-month-old baby girl had finished her bottle and needed to be burped. Because she was wearing only a diaper, I couldn't pat her bare back with the palm of my hand without hurting her skin. Putting a hand towel between my hand and her hot little back was ineffective, because it kept sliding off after a couple pats.

So I put one of my cotton quilted pot holder mitts on my hand to burp her. It works nicely and the mitt absorbs some of the moisture from her warm skin.

PATRICIA RICH

* * *

Dear Heloise:

I inherited an old wardrobe chest from a relative last year that was a beautiful piece of furniture, but I really had no use for it — or so I thought.

I had always wanted extra storage space in my dining room so I decided to use this chest.

Well, I just polished it up real well and got my husbnad to put small shelves in the side that had been used to hang clothes.

Then in the upper small side I stored tall vases and candlesticks. The drawers below held napkins, candles, napkin rings, playing cards, and scorepads.

On the shelves I put glasses, small snack trays and pitchers.

It really is a conversation piece anytime anyone sees it. And oh, so handy.

A LOVELIER YOU

Use Easy Method Of Exercise Anywhere

By MARY SUE MILLER

Never was there anything so cinchy as today's fitness routines. They are guaranteed not to bore or tire you. Not even to get you het up. You can take them in a variety of "gyms" at your convenience. All you have to do is flex your muscles. For instance:

Take this lying down on bed, floor or beach to neaten your waist. Lie on back with legs together and hands clasped on top of head; stretch tall as possible. Now, contract waist muscles with an accordion-like action — harder, hardest. Hold for six seconds; relax and repeat tiwce.

Sit and trim your hips. Just square your weight evenly on buttocks. Then contract muscles with utmost force and hold for five seconds; relax and repeat three times.

While standing and waiting for a bus, let's say, improve you legline contours. Simply contract and draw leg muscles upward, starting at ankles and continuing through thighs; reverse action slowly to release muscles. Repeat three to six times. Unless you're strong as a wrestler, the routine goes unnoticed by eye witnesses even if you wear mini-minis.

To firm up the bosomline when in a swimming pool, float on back and get a grip on edge. Alternately push away and pull toward poolside, so that you feel forceful tug in chest muscles and upper arms. Continue for one minute, turn on stomach and repeat.

So easy and yet so effective!

LAZY GIRL'S EXERCISES

Here's an effortless way to trim off heavy spots. All you do is lie down or sit down, and flex your muscles. If that's for you, send for "Lazy Girl's Exercises." Based on the isometric principle of exercise, routines trim head-to-toe figure.

Mother Involved In Daughter's Activities

By RHODA LEMONS

"We waited 13 years to have our only child, a daughter, Christi, and now I want to become involved in all the things that interest her," said Mrs. John Turner, 2714 Ann.

Christi, now nearly nine, has been a Brownie and Girl Scout. This means that Mrs. Turner was a Brownie leader and Girl Scout Day Camp worker. Christi recently attended vacation Bible school at First Baptist Church and Mrs. Turner worked in that program.

"I do everything I possibly can with her," said Mrs. Turner. Her husband joins in whenever possible and backs them all the way. Turner is employed in the polystyrene plant at Cosden Oil and Chemical Company.

"We love the different hours he works," said Mrs. Turner. "It keeps life from being monotonous, because he goes to work and comes home at different hours. We certainly don't lead a scheduled life."

One week, the family will have its main meal at night, and the next week, dinner will be served at 3 p.m.

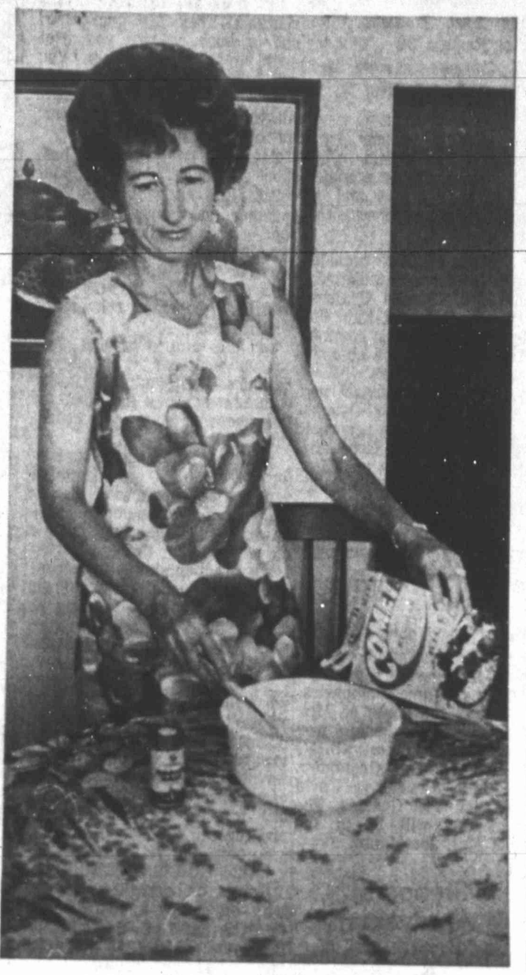

Mrs. Turner was reared in Tyler, but she and her husband lived in Colorado City about 20 years. A licensed beauty operator, she returns to Colorado City weekly to serve as hairdresser at a retirement home at the Root Valley Fair Lodge.

"The residents are so grateful, it makes one happy to be able to help a little," said Mrs. Turner. She started this work over four years ago, and after they moved here she has continued driving over. After working so many years, she has to "keep busy."

Christi is a third grader at Kentwood Elementary School and Mrs. Turner is treasurer of the Kentwood PTA. She was formerly hospitality chairman.

"I enjoy my home, and housekeeping is no chore for me," said Mrs. Turner. She designed and drew the plans for their home, and she got what she wanted. The home is both comfortable and livable. Christi has a room done in red and white with an adjoining playroom equipped with a miniature television set and built-in furnishings.

Mrs. Turner is interested in refinishing furniture, and she has completed several handsome pieces. Her latest accomplishment was antiquing an old piano into a piece of beauty. Christi will start taking piano lessons in the fall, and Mrs. Turner will join her.

MRS. JOHN TURNER

Mrs. Turner is now on a leave of absence from Exemplar Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, but has served as both vice president and president. She is president of Esther Sunday school class at their church.

"My husband and I share a love for playing bridge," said Mrs. Turner, who also plays with the Newcomers Club. "I get up a game as often as possible," said Mrs. Turner, "as it is the most relaxing thing I do."

The Turners enjoy cooking out in the summertime, and they often serve homemade ice cream. They entertain small groups of friends for bridge and dinner.

Bearing fruit trees in their backyard provide a 'budget boon' to the Turner's pantry, because Mrs. Turner makes peach and apricot preserves from the fruit. Also, she freezes "all the blackeyed peas she can find."

Rice Tastes Good When Leftover

Most homemakers with growing families like to keep a pretty sharp eye on the budget.

One of the best ways to stretch the budget and keep valuable food from going to waste at the same time is to utilize leftovers. Some of the more common leftovers are rice, green peas, roast beef and boiled potatoes.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture makes these suggestions for developing leftovers into tasty dishes.

—When cooked rice is covered and stored in the refrigerator, it tastes just as good reheated as when it was first prepared. Reheat in a small amount of water and serve as is. For breakfast, reheat in milk and add a few raisins. Rice gives body to soups and meat loaves, too. It's one of the foods reported plentiful this month by USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service.

—Combine green peas with other vegetables — such as snap beans or carrots. Any of these vegetables add variety to macaroni or tossed green salads.

—Leftover roast beef is commonly sliced for sandwiches — whether served hot with gravy or cold with lettuce. Or it can be cut into small pieces and fried with diced potatoes and onions for a roast beef hash.

—Boiled potatoes can be diced for potato salad. They're also good fried alone or scrambled with eggs and small pieces of ham. Shape leftover mashed potatoes into patties and fry in margarine until crispy.

Chicken And Rice Make Good Meal

Use rice with this delicious recipe.

CHICKEN WINGS WITH BEAN SPROUTS

2 tbsps. salad (not olive) oil
8 (about 1¼ lbs.) chicken wings
¼ cup Japanese-type soy sauce
¼ cup water
1 tbsp. sugar
1 large scallion (green onion), chopped fine (green top included)
1 large clove garlic, peeled and minced
1 can (1 lb.) bean sprouts, drained and rinsed

In an eight-inch skillet heat the oil. Add wings and over moderate heat brown on both sides. Pour off oil. Add soy sauce, water, sugar, scallion and garlic; leave uncovered and turn heat low; simmer, turning a few times, until tender. Browning and simmering should take from 20 to 30 minutes. Remove wings; add bean sprouts; mix well and heat quickly and briefly. Arrange wings over bean sprouts; serve with rice. Makes three servings.

Mincemeat, Apple Adds Spice To Pie

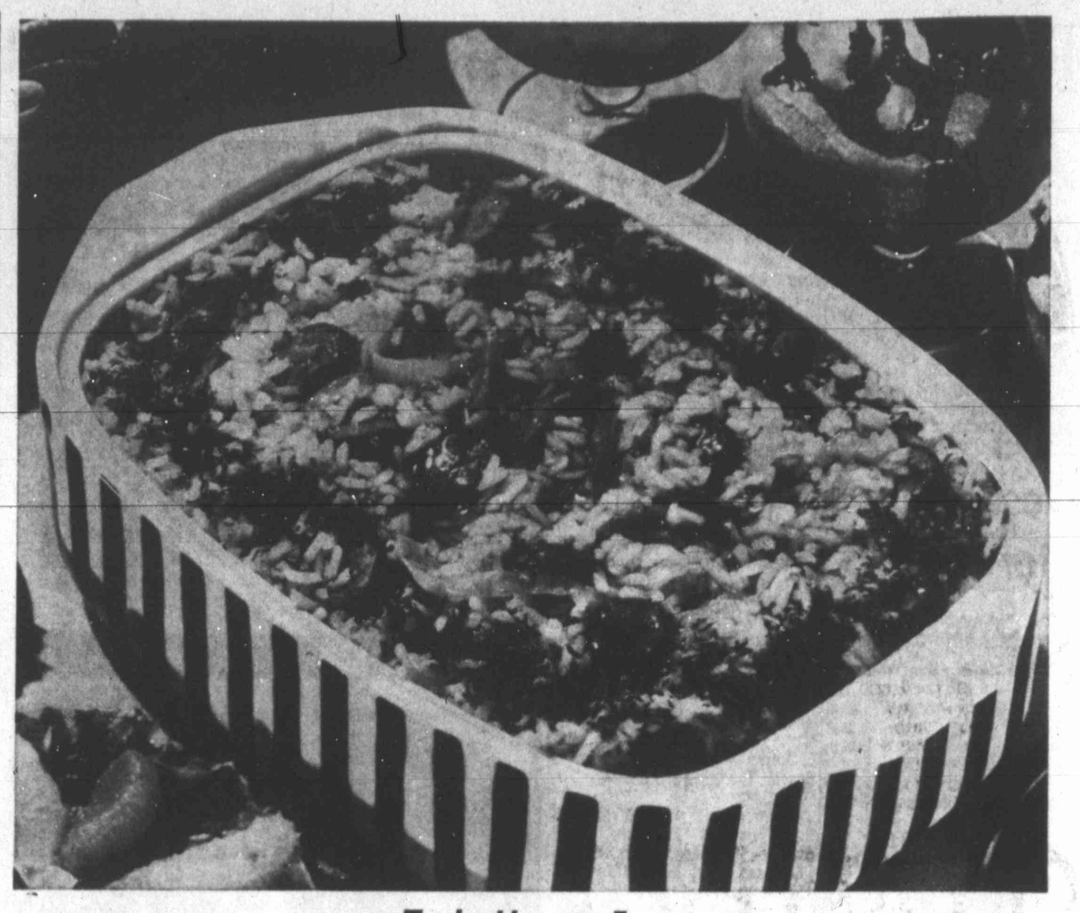

Add apple to mincemeat for a pie filling that's not overly sweet.

APPLEMINCE PIE

1¾ cups ready-to-use mincemeat
1½ cups finely chopped pared apple (1 very large cooking apple)
2 tsps. grated orange rind
Pastry for 2-crust 8-inch pie

Mix together mincemeat, apple and orange rind. Line eight-inch pie plate with pastry; add mincemeat mixture; top with pastry strips (one inch wide) in lattice fashion; seal edges.

Bake in preheated 425-degree oven until apple is cooked and pastry is brown — about 35 minutes. Serve hot or reheat.

Truly Hearty Fare

This dish is surprisingly low in calories, and yet, is very filling with a main meal of rice and sausage. It can also be used as a satisfactory money stretcher and will aid with the budget.

Rice Adds 'Goodness' To Meals That Take Little Preparation

Here are two tasty new recipes called "Easy-Do Meals with Sausage." These sausage and rice samplings, served with a citrus fruit salad, rye crackers, and frothy butterscotch pudding, form the basis for meals well within the calorie budget as well as the food budget. And even the dieters will feel happily full!

RISOTTO WITH SAUSAGE

Peel and slice one medium-size onion. Saute in three tablespoons cooking oil. Add two tablespoons butter or margarine. Add two cups uncooked rice, stirring constantly. Stir in one quart soup stock (or four cups boiling water and four crushed bouillon cubes). Bring to a boil.

Cover. Simmer-boil 30 minutes. Then stir in one cup thin-sliced skinless frankfurters, or use small-diced bologna, ham bologna, pepperoni or Polish sausage. Cover and simmer-boil five minutes more.

The rice-sausage partnership needn't be limited to family meals. Here's an unusual soup that you can serve your diet-conscious bridge club as well as your famished family.

SHRIMP-RICE-SAUSAGE SOUP

Combine four cups boiling water, four beef bouillon cubes, two-thirds cup cooked rice, one-half cup fine-chopped cooked or canned shrimp, and one-eighth teaspoon nutmeg.

Add three thin-sliced skinless frankfurters, or use diced thin-sliced ham bologna, cellulose casing removed. Simmer five minutes.

Serve in soup tureens topped with grated Parmesan cheese.

The addition of shrimp and a dash of nutmeg lift it out of the ordinary class.

Add Onion To Rice

Next time you are cooking rice as an accompaniment for meat or fish, add a sauteed chopped onion to the cooking liquid and rice.

Old Freezing Idea

Frozen foods date back to prehistoric times. People in northern climes threw fish into the ice to preserve them.

Unusual Swiss Balls

These meat balls will give your family a special treat because it incorporates the flavor twist of the Swiss people into its ingredients. Double-rich evaporated milk gives it an extra richness.

Serve Meat Balls With Swiss Accent

A new way to make and a new flavor twist gives bake-in-the-oven meat balls top billing for family supper or company-coming dinner. Double-rich evaporated milk is the headliner in both the meat balls and in the tangy flavored sauce that tops them. It is the ingredient that binds the ground beef and seasonings — holding in all of the juices that make them so temptingly tender and flavorful. In the sauce, extra-creamy rich evaporated milk smooths together the cream of chicken soup and Swiss cheese making a no-stir, no-watch gravy sauce. With this recipe you save food value and flavor, too, with the milk that lets you bake in goodness. Complete the meal plan with fluffy rice and a quick toss of fresh vegetables for a salad.

MEAT BALLS WITH A SWISS TWIST

1 lb. ground lean beef
¼ cup evaporated milk
¼ cup catsup
1 tbsp. dried parsley flakes
1 tbsp. prepared mustard
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
10 ½-oz. can cream of chicken soup
½ cup grated Swiss cheese
½ cup evaporated milk
¼ cup water
2 to 3 drops Tabasco

Turn on oven and set at 350 (moderate). Mix in a two-quart bowl beef, one-fourth cup evaporated milk, catsup, parsley flakes, mustard, salt and pepper. Shape with wet hands into 16 meat balls, about one and one-half inches in diameter. Put meatballs into a shallow one and one-half quart baking dish. Bake 20 minutes, or until brown. Drain off drippings. Pour over meat balls a mixture of soup, cheese, one-third cup evaporated milk, water and Tabasco. Bake about 10 minutes more, or until bubbly. Sprinkle with parsley flakes. Serves four.

A Devotional For The Day

They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength. (Isaiah 40:31)

PRAYER: Lord God, grant me insight into my duties this day that my faith may be strengthened through works that express through me Thy love and compassion. In Jesus' name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

The Unpretty Picture

The program which Tom Eastland, Chamber of Commerce manager, has presented to several civic groups is a point well taken. In it he projects pictures contrasting the attractive with an abundance of the ugly. It is understandable that those of us who live in fairly tidy and comfortable neighborhoods do not really conceive of the squalor and sordid surroundings in which some of our citizens have to live. Somehow the paths don't seem to cross.

This ought not to be the case, and something should be done toward correcting this situation, gradually but surely.

But what is hard to understand is how we can let ugliness and untidiness creep into the middle of areas which are supposedly the center of activity and free from blight. Consequently, visitors who drive right through the middle of town get some wrong impressions — or are they right impressions? Eastland's projection of a journey along Third and Fourth Streets is certainly not exhilarating.

There are some samples which show how old buildings have been demolished and the lots cleaned by the City. This is not always the best solution, but it is a better solution than old, hazardous collections of junk. One example which commends itself is that set by Boy Scout Troop 11. These youngsters have taken what once was a mass of weed, brush and sometimes refuse on East 6th and turned it into an attractive park. It's only a tiny spark, but wouldn't it be fine if others could strike a similar spark?

More Than Walking Away

Happily, the first contingent of nearly a thousand men has returned from Vietnam. Others are supposed to follow until some 25,000 have been withdrawn. A great deal of show is being made of this, and for what purpose is not entirely clear. Surely it is not necessary to impress our enemies as well as our allies. If it is to impress the electorate, then it is cheap.

It can be dangerous, too, if it raises false hopes. The truth is that not a great deal has changed, and the wholesale removal of our men from Vietnam is an option that has existed all along — just pick up our marbles and turn the game over to North Vietnam Communists.

Of course, we can do this any time, but although the war is admittedly unpopular, to do this prematurely will be to seal the doom of hundreds of thousands of Vietnamese who want something besides the communism which North Vietnam seeks to impose. Some will say there is no use prolonging a bad situation or perpetuating a mistake, but these are easy phrases which presuppose that we had no interests whatsoever, nor did the free world, in standing against ruthless taking over of countries against their will.

The current weariness with the war may serve some useful purpose, however, in that other Asian countries which are prime targets to intimidation and seizure are beginning to point out what a unilateral withdrawal of the United States would mean. At least, they think the war has had some meaning, and so did many of the thousands who have died.

Circumventing 'Guidelines'

WASHINGTON — The American people are not being told the whole truth about the controversy over school "guidelines."

Both the National Education Association and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People have issued statements denouncing as a "weakness" the latest declaration by the Nixon administration about its plans to be more flexible in fixing exact dates when "segregation" in the public schools must be ended.

BUT THE FACT is that the new statement modifies in only a procedural way the policies of the Johnson administration. There is still a flagrant violation of federal law in trying to force schools to "integrate" artificially. Congress in 1964 and in 1968 passed laws specifying exactly what cannot be done to overcome "racial imbalance."

The "guidelines," for instance, issued by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare under the Johnson Administration were, in one respect, a violation of law. For the Civil Rights Act of 1964 stipulates clearly that any "regulations" could become effective only if approved by the President of the United States. While Mr. Johnson assented to most of the "regulations," he never formally approved as a "regulation" all the "guidelines" which HEW, on its own initiative, adopted in an effort to correct "racial imbalance" in public schools. These included the assignment of quotas of children to schools by race and busing them from one school to another or from one school district to another.

ALSO A 1968 provision which is in an appropriations bill for HEW declares:

"No part of the funds contained in this act may be used to force busing of students, abolishment of any school, or to force any student attending any elementary or secondary school to attend a particular school against the choice of his or her parents or parent in order to overcome racial imbalance.

"No part of the funds contained in this act shall be used to force busing of students, the abolishment of any school or the attendance of students at a particular school in order to overcome racial imbalance as a condition precedent to obtaining federal funds otherwise available to any state, school district, or school."

STILL IN effect is a section of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 which limits the jurisdiction of the courts. It says:

"'Desegregation' shall not mean the assignment of students to public schools in order to overcome racial imbalance . . .

"Nothing herein shall empower any official or court of the United States to issue any order seeking to achieve a racial balance in any school by requiring the transportation of pupils or students from one school to another or one school district to another in order to achieve such racial balance."

THERE IS, moreover, nothing in the statutes which permits the assignment of teachers by a quota system based on color. Yet the "guidelines" — which now are being put into effect by the Nixon Administration in a slightly different way — cover methods of assigning certain quotas of teachers as well as students in public schools and contain threats to withhold public funds if there is noncompliance by certain fixed dates.

The only real change made by the Nixon Administration in its announcement last week is the adoption of a plan which concentrates the task of enforcement of the "guidelines" in the Department of Justice. Coincidentally, HEW is given the problem of negotiation and conciliation and the making of arrangements for the use of public funds so as to accomplish the desired objectives.

TODAY AMERICA is witnessing an example of deliberate circumvention of law in order to achieve what is deemed a desirable objective. The Nixon Administration, however, at least has appeared to recognize that this is a legal question and has decided to seek more help from the courts in dealing with enforced integration or "racial discrimination."

Billy Graham

I can't bring myself to believe as I ought, although I have prayed for more faith. How can I increase my faith? J.M.

D. L. Moody once said: "I suppose that if all the times I have prayed for faith were put together, it would amount to months. I used to say, 'What we want is faith, if we only can turn Chicago upside down.' I thought that some day faith would come down and strike me like lightning. But faith did not seem to come. One day I read in the tenth chapter of Romans, 'Faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the Word of God.' I had closed my Bible and prayed for faith. I now opened my Bible and began to study, and faith has been growing ever since."

There is a sublime secret. Faith is not something mystical which is given to a select few who pray earnestly for it; it is simply taking God at His Word. How are we to know what His Word and will are? Read His Word. Too many of us depend on emotion, religious feelings and such, as a basis for faith. But the Bible says: "Faith cometh by hearing and hearing by the Word of God." How may you increase your faith? By reading, absorbing, and believing the Word of God! Try it, I believe it will work. It has worked for me and thousands of others.

AND THEY THOUGHT THEY'D BE ALONE!

Big Talent In Small Package

NEW YORK (AP) — She is still tiny, still vibrant, still beautiful.

But at 22, celebrating her 15th anniversary in show business, child star Patty Duke is definitely no longer a child star. She is now a mature mite 5 feet tall —weight 98 pounds—and anxious to tackle mature roles.

"WHEN I WAS younger it used to bother me that I was so small," she said. "It doesn't anymore, although I suppose it wouldn't hurt if I were a couple of inches taller."

In her latest film, "Me, Natalie," she plays a love-awakened 18-year-old girl moving about in the world of the wounded young.

Patty is planning soon to move from the West Coast back to Manhattan, where she was born in Bellevue Hospital on Dec. 14, 1946. Her father was a cab driver, her mother a restaurant cashier.

AT 7 PATTY started her phenomenal acting career. In the busy years that followed she appeared in several plays, more than 50 television shows, and a number of movies. A landmark of her life, of course, was the winning of an Oscar in 1963 as "best supporting actress" for her part in "The Miracle Worker." Then only 16, she was the youngest person ever to receive the award.

Inevitably, Patty's childhood wasn't a normal one, but she doesn't feel her early stardom left any permanent emotional scars.

"I have some regrets, but the good outweighs the bad," she said. "I'd like to have spent more time in school, but I was given greater opportunities.

"When I have children, I wouldn't want them to take up a theatrical career unless they really had the urge to. I think children have enough responsibilities while growing up without having to compete with adults in an adult world."

An instinctive performer and a conscientious one, Patty spends most of her spare time reading scripts, searching for roles that she feels will expand her acting horizon.

"IT'S PART of the homework," she said. "But acting to me is secondary now. My goals are personal. I want to be happily married and have children."

At the moment, however, Miss Duke is unhappily married. She is separated from her husband, Harry G. Falk Jr., a television director who is double her age.

To Patty life is summed up in the word "adjustment."

"You have to learn to adjust to the things you have but strive to change what you don't like about your life—and avoid becoming cynical."

HERE ARE THINGS Patty likes:

"Friendly, open people—dogs —the innocence of children—daisies—folk songs—the sound of rain—lobster, and almost every kind of food—white wine—anything colored blue—collecting antiques—simple gold jewelry—sensitive men with a good sense of humor."

And here are her dislikes:

"Injustice and untruths—being alone—anything colored orange—the sound of fingernails on a blackboard—long winters —chill—the smell of the sea at low tide—the taste of liquor—and insincere people."

Execs May Bridge Idealism Gap

By LISA CRONIN
(Subbing for John Cunniff)

NEW YORK (AP) — Successful businessmen and women are giving up fat corporate paychecks or the leisure of retirement to serve their communities in a trend that may bridge the idealism gap between generations.

"You have to cross a bridge at some point and decide what to live for," said Louis Rader, a General Electric Co. vice president who will head the University of Virginia's electrical engineering department this fall.

"BUSINESS is one of the most challenging careers I know," he said. "But I believe that people like myself ought to be able to contribute in other areas as well."

Crowning a successful business career with service in government or university life verges on becoming a tradition with top American businessmen.

Examples range from Joseph P. Kennedy, father of the late president John F. Kennedy, who became ambassador to England after making millions on Wall Street to Chicago banker David M. Kennedy who took a six-figure pay cut to become President Nixon's Secretary of the Treasury.

BUT RECENTLY the urge to serve appears to be hitting a broader spectrum of corporate life.

Those who want to help are swelling the ranks of the few organizations that offer service opportunities to high-level professionals.

SCORE, the Service Corp. for Retired Executives, is a Small Business Administration project to provide free advice for troubled small businesses.

VITA, the Volunteers for International Technical Assistance, Inc., is attempting by mail to bridge the technology gap between nations. Headquartered in Schenectady, N.Y., this organization uses American professionals who provide problem-solving advice to people in underdeveloped countries.

"The International Executive Service Corp. is a New York-based organization that sends retired businessmen abroad to give advice to businesses in underdeveloped countries. IESC has sent more than 1,000 volunteers abroad since it was founded in 1965.

"THESE VOLUNTEERS work as hard or harder than they did in business," said Frank Pace Jr., president of IESC. "The American urge is to contribute if the job is meaningful."

Finding the right way for the trained professional to contribute is a major challenge, Pace said. But it can and will be met, for the need is there.

Clearly all the idealism isn't stored on the under 30 side of the generation gap.

Unexplained Swelling Of The Feet

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am in my early 60s and have been bothered with swelling of my feet and ankles for two years. Have had a physical checkup recently and tests showed nothing.

My feet swell regardless of whether I am sitting, standing, or walking. What could be done, and what is causing it?—M.D.R.

Valuable as they are, "tests" are not the sole answer to some complaints. Swelling of the feet is a prevalent complaint. There are a lot of possible causes. Some will show up readily in tests ordinarily used in a check-up. Others won't.

I'll list a few causes: heart, kidney, or liver conditions; excessive salt in your food; varicose veins; constricting garments which interfere with circulation, including tight girdles, circular garters, etc.; overweight; arteriosclerosis.

Some women retain fluids in the system readily, which is likely to be particularly pronounced at menstrual time.

Occupations which involve prolonged standing in one place (such as sales work behind a counter or at a chashier's cage) may be a factor. (Walking, however, ordinarily is not.)

With such a variety of causes the treatments can range through such approaches as the use of diuretics (drugs to promote loss of excess fluids), low-salt diet, loss of weight, change in exercise habits or type of clothing, correction of varicose veins.

Or, if heart, kidney, or liver disease is the underlying cause, some more specific treatment may be in order — and in such a case, the swollen feet may be a symptom giving you a warning that treatment needs to be started.

Let me ask a question, though, about that "physical checkup." Did you just ask for a general checkup? If so, the routine test (listening to heart and lungs, urine tests for diabetes, blood count for anemia, and so on) wouldn't necessarily show what was causing the swelling of the feet.

Did you tell the doctor that this swelling was bothering you? If not, you should have. Granted, you had your feet with you at the examination, but were they visibly swollen at the time?

Feet (and ankles) aren't all the same. Some are naturally rather big yet not swollen. Smaller extremites can actually be swollen without appearing to be.

I do not mean to scold, but it is important for the patient to tell the doctor of any condition that is bothersome or out of the ordinary. There are, so it seems, three kinds of patients: those who tell the doctor nothing, with a seeming attitude of "it's up to you to find out;" those who have to describe every isolated pimple and itch; and those who, wisely, tell the doctor, "I want a general checkup — but I wish in particular you could see what's making my feet swell." Or whatever the specific problem is.

Around The Rim

Opinion Of Opinions Counts

I have sat through far more public hearings on various city issues than I care to remember, and probably 75 per cent of them were without oppostion. In those that featured opposing sides, the one issue always cropping up is, who should be heard by the commissioners during the hearing.

I GUESS we have had as many differing opinions as we have had different commissioners, city managers, city attorneys, etc. I know I have heard almost as many different explanations.

My own opinion has been that we are all in the "city boat" together, and all of us should have a chance to be heard on any changes in city law. Of course the opinions expressed by persons attending a hearing are only that — the commission can vote any change it likes, without regard to the statements made at a hearing. Usually, they are swayed by the opinions they hear, but even if every man, woman, and child in the city attended a hearing, the commission legally could vote and approve a law change in the face of total opposition.

THE CURRENT interpretation at city hall concerning public hearings on zone changes is that all property owners within 200 feet of the concerned property must be notified, and that the opinions of these persons will be given greater weight than the opinions of persons living farther away, from 201 feet on out.

HOWEVER, according to Mr. Herb Prouty, city attorney, all persons in the city have a right to be heard at these hearings. Giving greater weight to persons' opinions living closer to the affected site is supported by "case law", Mr. Prouty said, but not detailed in "statutory law". Which is to say, the differentiation is not written down anywhere as a law, but has been supported in cases that have gone to trial.

There is one other legal requirement, and that is that notification of such hearings must be published in advance, giving the time and place of such hearings.

SO THERE you have it, in the event of a zone change in your neighborhood. If you live within 200 feet, the commission will listen more attentatively to what you think about it. If you live 201 feet or farther away, they will listen, but may not give your opinion as much weight.

In any case, the commissioners can take the action they believe proper, no matter who shows up, where they live, or what they think.

President Should Get More Than He Gives

WASHINGTON, D.C. — President Nixon's hedgehop trip through southern Asia and into the Balkans is one on which he's likely to receive more than he gives. The days of American giveaway are bygone, and we are the needy nation for donations.

THUS FAR Asia southward of Vietnam, including English-speaking Australia and New Zealand, has talked a good fight against the Communists whose invasion they fear, but has contributed only token forces. (The scheduled withdrawal of 25,000 Americans next month is also token.) The pledge of fighting men is one donation that Mr. Nixon has a right to expect, and Americans have a right to demand that the President makes a pitch for that.

WHILE HE'S about it, Mr. Nixon ought to pick up advice, and not given any on America's world role. There is no doubt what the counsel of non-Communist Asia leaders will be. To a man these leaders have been saying to us, "Hang on." The American Security Council's Washington Report recently published such statements by Sir Gerald Templer who beat the Reds in Malaya, by Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman of Malaysia. The report also cited past statements to the same effect by the prime ministers of Laos and Singapore and even by Prince Norodom Sihanouk of Camobodia. The Indian government of Pakistan would be still more isolated.

WE ARE needed in Asia. This is what we've always said, but now it is the Asians who are saying so. When they encourage us to stay on, Mr. Nixon has a very good opportunity to name a price, and the price need be only in what LBJ once called "Asian boys" of which there is a surplus. We are in an excellent position to point out that in Vietnam we are withdrawing bodies, but not withdrawing ships, planes and guns.

The battle of Ben Het, recently fought and won, is a just-about-perfect illustration of the President's current war policy. A handful of Green Beret advisors and American artillerymen stuck out a siege in which the main defenders were South Vietnamese and the main opponents were North Vietnamese. American airlift brought in supplies and evacuated the wounded, and eventually the B-52's of the U.S. Air Force shattered the enemy and lifted the siege.

WHEN HE GETS to Rumania, the President will have to stay on the receiving end for the plain reason that the U.S. has nothing it can offer to an entrapped satellite of the Soviet Union. We long ago gave up our Captive Nations policy which urged the captives to revolt. Even when Secretary Dulles was thundering for liberation, we did nothing for the fighting Hungarians. And as willingly as President Johnson intervened in South Vietnam and the Dominican Republic, he did not and could not budge to the assistance of the resisting Czechs. If Mr. Nixon gets anything out of the Rumania visit, it will be in the form of advice on what the Balkan Communists intend to do for themselves against the re-Stalinized Kremlin.

IT IS HARD to see how this entire trip is justified. The risks of official tourism are very high and the benefits are very speculative.

Naked Truth — The Bare Facts

WASHINGTON — There is so much nudity in the arts these days that it's losing its shock value. I predict that if the trend continues, we're all going to take nudity for granted, and no one is going to get too excited about it any more.

Rather than fight it, I believe we should figure out ways of adapting nudity to other spheres of our society, such as politics and diplomacy.

For a start, I think it would be a good idea for the Soviet-American disarmament talks to be held in the nude, with all participants sitting around the table unclothed.

Now, before you start writing letters to your editor, let me explain the advantages of holding the disarmament conferences in the nude.

First, it would show that both parties have nothing to hide. When you're talking to someone with no clothes on and you have none on yourself, it's almost impossible to lie.

ANOTHER REASON why nudity could work at a disarmament conference is that without any clothes, the conferees would soon forget that they were Russians and Americans and would start thinking of themselves as members of the same human race.

One of the more obvious arguments in favor of a nude disarmament conference is that neither side could accuse the other of having something up its sleeves.

Nor would there be any danger of the parties carrying bugging devices on them (providing no one with a hearing aid would be permitted to be a delegate).

AT THE BEGINNING, when the delegates arrive and leave the conference hall, they could cover themselves with their brief cases, but I'm sure that after a few days they'll be less self-conscious and this wouldn't be necessary.

If the idea works, and we have a good disarmament conference, it is my feeling that the principle could be adapted in other areas.

For example, if all military officers were made to discard their uniforms and ribbons and appear in the nude, I doubt if anybody — Russians, Americans, Chinese or anyone else — would have much interest in military matters.

Whether we like it or not, the uniform is one of the big attractions in waging wars, and without clothes, it would be very difficult for someone to give orders without the subordinate breaking up in laughter.

AFTER THE MILITARY, the next step would be to force all our politicians to take off their clothes before going about the government's business. In this way the public would see their politicians for what they really are, and congressional debates between Everett Dirksen and William Fulbright would be more revealing.

Had Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller gone nude to South America, I am certain he would have been cheered everywhere he went.

What Others Say

Israeli concern over whether or not the U.S. Congress will approve a $4 million grant to help finance a large water desalination plant in their country is justified.

Israel shares with all nations of the Middle East a desperate need for water. Industrial expansion and population pressures have been so great that available supplies will not be able to meet the demand within the next 10 years. Desalination of water from the Mediterranean is the only practical alternative.

In combination with land reform, irrigation of the deserts could do much to stabilize the life of the Arab world and perhaps reduce historic tensions between it and Israel.

At the same time, the politics of the Middle East affect this sort of decision just as they affect trade relations and defense policy.

Several years ago, when former President Eisenhower proposed that the United States promote the development of desalination projects in the Middle East, he suggested a series of plants for the area. In July, 1967, a group of British investors recommended three such stations, one for Israel, one for Jordan and a third for the Gaza Strip. Political and economic realities argue strongly for a regional approach to the problem.

Fulfillment Of A Dream For Astro Armstrong

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — As a boy, Neil A. Armstrong had a dream. He wanted to land on the moon. In a few days he and Air Force Col. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. are to do just that.

"For me to fulfill the dream is a stroke of incredibly good fortune," Armstrong said. "I suppose the chance of doing what thousands of people through history have wanted to do, the chance of this chain of events taking place in this section of history is beyond the ability of the oddsmakers to calculate."

At a time of concentrated involvement in Apollo 11, Armstrong is nevertheless looking ahead, to the next giant step. In his desire to fly, to continue questing eternal mysteries, he wants to rocket again into space.

JUST A BEGINNING

"With the first lunar landing, I don't agree that we've reached the peak," he said in an interview. "I think it is just a beginning. I really suspect that the flights of the next decade will be even more interesting, more engulfing than the ones of the past."

"The objective of our flight is to take men to the moon, make a landing and return safely to earth," he said. "It will demonstrate to mankind that we can do that kind of a job. How well we'll use what we learn in the future, only history will tell. Based on the experience of the last decade, I believe we will use that knowledge."

"Even now," he said, "our future direction is beginning to emerge. People are looking at things that can be practical in space. I don't know what the decision of the nation will be, but I can envision space stations, space shuttles, lunar shuttles, advance lunar exploration and planetary exploration."

Why this overwhelming desire to fly?

'IT'S A TOOL'

"I don't think I fly just for the sake of flying," Armstrong replied. "It's a way of performing a service and it's a tool

"Why does a carpenter like to saw? Oh, maybe he doesn't, but he's fortunate if he does. He doesn't really consider his job as sawing. He considers his job as building.

"I like to consider our job as building—building a transportation system, building the state of man's knowledge, building man's inclination to learn more. That airplane and that spacecraft are my saw."

Armstrong also knows there are dangers in his business.

"Everything conceivable has been done to assure our safety on Apollo 11," he said. "We have high confidence in our systems. Otherwise we would not go.

"But we must realize things can go wrong.

"On any flight, those things that are new are the most dangerous. In our case it will be the descent to the surface, the landing, the lunar surface activity and the liftoff from the moon."

Armstrong does not compare Apollo 11 with history's great explorations and voyages like those of Columbus, Magellan, Lindbergh and Byrd.

"Our flight varies from many of the great explorations of the past in that they probed into great areas of the unknown," he explained.

"Hopefully, that's not the case with us. We think we know a good bit about the area where we're going. There are some details which are still masked by distance. But, all in all, ours is not a flight into the unknown."

Moon Landing Stamp

The Post Office released this copy of a new moon landing stamp Wednesday in Washington. An engraved master stamp die for the commemorative stamp will accompany the Apollo 11 astronauts on their journey to the moon. On its return to earth the die will be used to produce the special jumbo-size, 10-cent airmail postage stamp. It will be issued in Washington in August. It will measure 1.05 by 1.80 inches.

Absentee Voting Begins July 16

Absentee voting for the Aug. 5 special election opens July 16, and not July 17 as first announced, according to the office of Pauline Petty, Howard County clerk. The absentee voting ends on Aug. 1. Mrs. Petty said ballots for the special election, which will be devoted entirely to the consideration of nine constitutional amendments, are on hand and that other election supplies are due to arrive this week.

New Car Service Center Features Car Wash Unit

Need your car completely serviced, gased up and washed and dried quickly?

In Big Spring, Tompkins Car Wash and Service Center, 2100 Gregg, will be providing these services. At 7 a.m. Friday, the new business will open its doors and remain open each day until 10 p.m.

The center will provide the latest Sinclair products and service.

Owned by Charles and Tommy Tompkins, area Sinclair jobbers, the station and service center will be managed by Jerry McCormick, 1605 E. 16th.

McCormick, besides being a mechanic, also has been a sheet metal worker. He attended mechanic's school at Howard County Junior College and is a 1959 graduate of Big Spring High School. He has also operated a farm, about 10 miles north of town.

Besides the usual attention a customer can get, he also will be offered the use of the firm's car wash.

McCormick says a customer should first stop in front of the station, where four regular and four Ethyl gasoline pumps will serve gas to your vehicle. At this point the auto will also be vacuumed and the customer will be given a clean damp towel to wipe off the inside of the car, while it goes through the car wash.

Within a matter of only two minutes, the customer's car will go through the various phases of the car wash.

Once his car is guided onto an automatic trolley the first thing cleaned are the tires. Then under soapy water, a set of brushes clean the windows and sides of the car. A hanging carpet material cleans the top of the car and the front and rear windows. The final touches on the tires are then placed on the car by another set of brushes before the auto passes under a rinsing machine and waxing area.

The customer should tell the attendant before hand if he wishes the car waxed.

Just before the finishing touches are placed on the car by two attendants, a huge dryer blows warm air over the vehicle to dry it.

Price of the regular car wash is $1.50, with a wax job it will be $2, but with a fill-up of 17 gallons of gasoline, a car is washed and dried free.

The customer can also get a bargain when his gasoline tank holds less fuel. He can get his car washed and dried for 59 cents when it holds between 11-17 gallons and for 89 cents when it holds between 5-11 gallons of fuel.

The telephone number of the new center is 263-3030.

Woman Charges Discrimination

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A Dallas Negro woman has asked for an injunction against the Dr. Pepper Bottling Co. for what she claims is discrimination against her.

Mrs. Wilsey Martin alleges in a suit filed with U.S. Dist. Judge Joe Estes that the company made her handle jobs which should be done by men. She said she stacks cases in a dirty, un-airconditioned warehouse alongside Negro and Mexican-American men, while white women in similar classifications are not required to do such work.

Mrs. Martin seeks additional wages she claims she would have received if she had not been discriminated against.

She also seeks $5,000 for back and neck injuries she claims she suffered in 1967 for which the company refused to pay medical expenses.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Today it is best to keep things running smoothly where some big venture is concerned, leaving unimportant details behind. Associates will discuss important points of your relationship.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Get yourself on a higher level of consciousness if you want to make really big strides in the days ahead. Forget fussing about your appearance and concentrate on property. A financial expert gives you much admirable, needed advice.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Put aside those small, unimportant duties at home. Concentrate on a big matter in the business world that can bring fine benefits. Seek the finest type of pleasure you like this evening. Be cheerful.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Stop wasting so much time on unimportant little duties. Push those private worries out of the way. Get involved in some important activity. Think more. Avoid being emotional; it can be very destructive.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Stop worrying about money so much. Participate in the activities that will bring you the affection and admiration of good friends. Gain that personal aim with relative ease now. Be more sure of yourself.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) This is the way to proceed now: Concentrate more on business deals, how to add to your abundance. Participating in civic work is also good. Forget petty personal worries. Show that you have real ability.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Those you have met recently have the answers to perplexities you have at present. Get them. Your limitations are not what you think they are. Forget them. Acquire more knowledge that will be helpful in the future.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get into some light and airy activity that will relieve tensions you are under, but avoid those frivolous friends. Follow your intuition so that you have better relations with one who holds you to promises. Be fair.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Instead of taking your problems to an executive, try to come to a better understanding with your co-workers. Get more done. Have a reconciliation with an important partner. That credit matter can wait awhile.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get busy with the work ahead of you and make this a profitable, good day. You'd be very wise if you avoid some frivolous appeal. Much can be accomplished now that your co-workers are in a cooperative mood.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Go along with that charming person who can help you to forget the woes of the day. Enjoy the hobbies that most appeal to you. You have not been as affectionate with your mate as you should have been, so now is the time for just that.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Be careful that an associate does not take up so much of your time that you lose out on some important duty or deal. Listen to what your kin have to suggest. This can lead to real advancement.

David Berry Coming Home

CWO David Berry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Berry, 2900 Cherokee, will be returning to Big Spring Saturday after spending the past year in Vietnam. He has been stationed in Tay Ninh, close to Saigon, where he has been a helicopter pilot.

He will be home on a 30-day leave and then will be stationed at Fort Wolters at Mineral Wells.

Berry went into the service April 7, 1967, and went to Vietnam on July 7, 1968. While there he received the Distinguished Flying Cross.

He completed basic training at Fort Polk, La., and then was stationed at Fort Wolters for eight months of pilot training. He also underwent five months of pilot training at Fort Rucker, Ala.

A 1964 graduate of Big Spring High School, Berry attended Howard County Junior College and the University of Texas.

Lynda Vaughn, injured in an auto crash near Fayetteville, Ark., seven years ago, works at her job as key punch operator in Dallas, Tex., despite doctors' prognosis that she probably would never be able to leave the hospital.

'I Don't Ask Unless I Really Need Help'

DALLAS (AP) — What does a girl with a stubborn streak do when told she will never have a chance to lead a normal life?

If the girl is Lynda Vaughn, she does everything in her power to prove otherwise.

An automobile crash seven years ago near Fayetteville, Ark., left Lynda with a broken back and pinched spinal cord. Her mother was killed in the same accident; her father critically injured.

Doctors told the pert, sandy-haired girl that she would probably never be able to leave the hospital to which she had been confined.

For a girl who loved the outdoors and had been active in sports at her small high school near Longview this was the wrong approach.

"I've got a stubborn streak, and I'm not even going to tell you what I told that doctor," she said.

"I was about to rot away in that hospital and I knew I had to get away from there in a hurry," she said.

A friend who worked at St. Luke's Hospital in Houston secured the necessary application papers for Lynda's admittance to the Texas Institute of Rehabilitation Research.

After a plane trip from Fayetteville to Houston, she underwent nearly eight months of intensive treatment and therapy.

Anxious to return to Dallas, Lynda wrote to the Texas Employer's Insurance Association, her former employer, and asked for a job.

"I made sure I had a job in Dallas when I left that place," she said.

She even had her drivers license renewed.

"They told me not to do it, but I knew I'd be driving sooner or later anyway." Today, she's on her second specially equipped car and loves to travel.

"I even changed a flat one time during a trip to visit kinfolks in Arkansas—you know, that tire can get heavy."

Aside from her duties as a keypunch operator, Lynda enjoys working outside in the yard and does sketches and cartoons for her friends.

She lives in a guest house and has learned in the last six years to take care of herself. "You don't realize how much you use your legs until you don't have them," she said.

"I had a lot of help at first, but you can get too dependent. I don't ask unless I really need help," she related.

"There is a life for a cripple," she continued, "It gets kind of hard sometimes, but anybody can do it."

Fed Warning Draws Retort From Maddox

By The Associated Press

A new federal warning to the State of Georgia and the City of Chicago on school desegregation has drawn a sharp retort from Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox, while Chicago school officials deny their faculties are segregated.

"As far as I'm concerned, they can take their ultimatum and ram it in their satchels if they want to," Maddox told an Atlanta news conference Wednesday. "Phooey on the whole crowd!"

In Chicago, the city's school board president, Frank M. Whiston, and Schools Supt. James F. Redmond said, in a joint statement, "We have never practiced segregation of faculty in Chicago, but we have permitted seniority of choice of schools by our teachers."

Asst. U.S. Atty. Gen. Jerris Leonard warned Wednesday in Washington that the government would press lawsuits against Georgia and Chicago unless they move to end public school desegregation.

It was the third day in a row that the Justice Department acted to end school desegregation, and the 10th and 11th warnings issued in that time.

The Georgia warning, in a letter to the state superintendent of education, Jack P. Nix, demanded a "complete disestablishment" of dual schools for white and black pupils in the state's 194 school districts. Ninety-seven are now considered in compliance with federal guidelines on desegregation.

Nix said, "I don't think the state can set policy if desegregation means reorganization of schools. The state board doesn't have that authority."

In the Chicago situation, the Justice Department letter to Whiston demanded complete faculty integration. Leonard said a department survey showed a third of the city's schools have all-white or all-black faculties.

Chicago has the nation's third largest public school system, behind New York and Los Angeles.

Thomas Murray, a school board vice president, said an Illinois law requires that teachers be assigned to the school of their choice in relation to their tenure.

A Negro school board member, Mrs. Carey B. Preston, said the teachers' union would have to work with the board to solve the problem.

Warren Bacon, another black school board member, said he welcomed the warning but added:

"I do not think the action the federal government has taken is broad enough nor is it a significant counterbalance to the disgraceful relaxation of federal guidelines for the desegregation of Southern school districts."

Two Georgia civil rights leaders also were critical of the federal action.

"I am not too enthusiastic about the Justice Department trying to speed up desegregation in Georgia," said Sam Williams, second vice president of the Atlanta chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

John McCown, executive director of the Georgia Council on Human Relations, said, "We view it with mixed emotions. We don't know if this is a delaying tactic or whether it is possible. If it is, we'd like to see it done."

Big Spring Girl Is Candidate For Girlstown Title

Donna Stone of Big Spring is a candidate for the Miss Girlstown, U.S.A., title at the Girlstown open house program Sunday.

Girlstown, U.S.A., is celebrating its 20th anniversary with the open house. After a tour of the facilities there, the program naming the new Miss Girlstown will commence. Other candidates for the title include Billye Nairn,, Texas City; Beatrice Moody, San Antonio; Linda White, Beaumont; and Patricia Weeks, Midland.

Girlstown was founded in April, 1949, near Abilene. On July 13 of that year, nine girls moved from there to the present location nine miles south of Whiteface on FM 1780, donated by the late Tom Duggan of Lubbock. Since then nearly 1,000 girls from across the country have found a home at Girlstown.

A barbecue will finish the day's activities.

Lions See Both Views

Contrasting pictures of "beautiful Big Spring" were projected for the Downtown Lions Club by Tom Eastland, Chamber of Commerce manager.

Addressing the club in its Wednesday meeting at the Settles, Eastland said that alongside many attractive and desirable buildings and homes in Big Spring, there were numerous things which needed to be cleaned up or cleared out.

In going after industry, it is necessary to have the type of town that people would enjoy living in, he declared. The things which are conducive to a happy, attractive community are marred by decaying vacant buildings, unkempt shacks and businesses, rubble-strewn lots.

The city is helping considerably with its program of demolishing unhealthy and unsafe buildings, he said, but the major push will come when people want it done, he said.

"Pride comes from doing things for yourself," Eastland added. The cycle works two ways — industry provides jobs, and jobs provide money. and money helps increase pride in attractive homes and businesses. But when the cycle reverses, it's hard to attract industry that will provide the jobs.

"It's time we must do something," Eastland told the club, adding that he did not feel a federal program was the answer.

Among guests for the day was Chuck Ellmore, president of the Stanton Lions Club.

How's Junior?

Actress Sophia Loren looks up wide-eyed as she telephones her home from Rome airport Wednesday to make sure her six-month-old son, Carlo Ponti Jr., is all right. This was shortly before she left by plane for Moscow to film "I Girasoli" (The Sunflowers), which is being produced by her husband, Carlo Ponti. Miss Loren's son will make his movie debut in the film but he will leave for the Soviet capital at a later date.

City Turned To U. S. For Help-- Got It

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer

GRAND PRAIRIE, Tex. (AP) —Until recently, there wasn't much grand about Grand Prairie. It was more or less a bland prairie, or worse. Perhaps much worse.

It was a city of slums, squalor, shacks and the smoldering threat of social and racial unrest.

Outsiders usually caught only a fleeting glimpse of the downtown area as they sped along US 80 between Dallas and Fort Worth.

Now Grand Prairie is a city on the move, thanks to a progressive citizenry and federal funds. Blighted areas are being replaced by civic pride and dignity.

And Grand Prairie, a city of 52,000 is emerging as a model for what can be done through responsive leadership and government cooperation.

With federal assistance, the city has performed mini-miracles, stretching the local tax dollar to the ultimate in a massive rehabilitation program.

"All programs properly coordinated and scheduled have provided $25.6 million in public improvements at one-fifth the cost locally with no increase in city taxes" city officials say.

This means roughly that a local tax dollar buys $5 in improvements.

Slums and blight have melted into new housing streets parks schools, youth centers, libraries recreation facilities, playgrounds and even sidewalks.

But to understand fully the Grand Prairie story, its unique problems and progress, one must look back to the early 1940s — the World War II years.

"To be perfectly frank, we feel the government contributed directly to some of our problems with the military facilities and the defense plants that are in and close to the city," said City Manager Cliff Johnson.

"Now we are asking the government to help us."

The military and defense plants brought a sudden, stunning population increase of from 2,500 to 20,000 between 1940 and 1950.

"The city was not geared to handle the problems when all these people moved in," Johnson said. "It was a city built without controls—a town without adequate drainage, housing, streets, schools, government. . .

"It deteriorated very rapidly."

The situation reached "such magnitude that it was impossible to cope with the problems with limited financing that the city could provide."

About 10 years ago, the city turned to Washington for help, and got it. That was a beginning.

Since then, city officials have adopted a concept of "cooperation and coordination" of all programs with other governmental agencies—federal, state, county and whatever.

The first target was the forlorn South Dalworth section, an area of human misery and blight that, as one resident said, "would boggle the imagination today."

This was the first urban renewal project in Texas and the first of two in Grand Prairie. It transformed slums into an area of civic pride.

Then came concentrated code enforcement programs, beautification projects, open space programs, water and sewer grants, a municipal airport, community renewal programs.

Private enterprise joined the action. Joint city-state programs were initiated. The city approved a $6.5 million capital improvement program. A golf course was built. Youth centers opened.

And then last year, voters approved 4-1 a $14 million capital improvements program that will provide the city's share of costs for all cooperative programs now planned.

"This bond money, with our growth pattern," Johnson said, precludes "the necessity for a tax increase in the foreseeable future. We feel like we can now meet the problems we have."

When these problems are solved, Johnson said, the city can focus on preventing future problems instead of treating old ills, which is necessary for a "really successful community."

But despite the wonders brought about by federal funds in Grand Prairie, Johnson is not necessarily an advocate of governmental financing.

"For us, under the circumstances, it worked," he said. "It may not work for somebody else. I'm not advocating this for anybody, anywhere, under any circumstances.

"Some cities don't have problems that we're correcting. Some of the programs that we're using simply wouldn't fit other areas. Our city chose this approach, and it works.

"But I believe it is up to every individual city to decide its own method of financing. When I was city manager at Hurst, the council felt we could handle our business without federal funds. And we did it."

Johnson pointed out that Grand Prairie, with its many federal projects, "wanted local control over all programs and in every case so far we've been able to maintain this control. I think that is very important."

Johnson's assistant, Doug Driggers, said he believes many cities have "shied away" from federal participation because most projects are extremely complex, require long periods of time to complete and involve a great deal of paper work on the part of the city.

"Many people don't understand the programs and don't want to take the time to learn," he said.

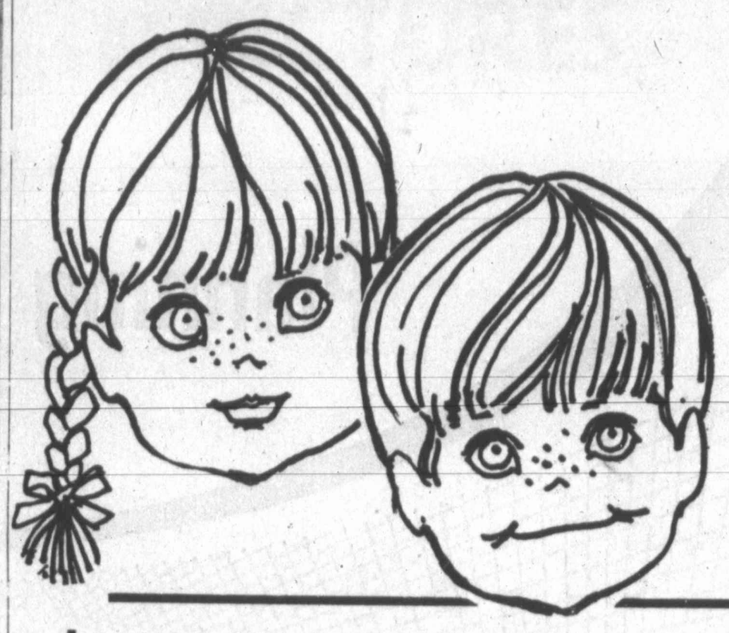

The people of Grand Prairie took the time.
