Bids Near For River Reservoir

Contract may be awarded within 30 days for construction of a channel dam and off-channel reservoir storage north of Colorado City on Colorado River.

O. H. Ivie, general manager of Colorado River Municipal Water District, told the Record Saturday that plans and specifications already are complete for the project to aid control flow of salt water into the huge new reservoir north of Robert Lee.

"We hope to advertise for bids this week," he said.

Bids will be opened Tuesday in Big Spring for high volume lift pumps which will move water from the river channel into the storage area.

Texas Water Development Board Thursday in Austin gave official okay for the water district to construct the channel dam and reservoir.

The project will be 2 miles north of Colorado City about a half mile above the city dump grounds.

Channel dam will be 5 feet high, extending from bank to bank in the river.

The reservoir area, on west side of the river, will cover about 400 surface acres with most of the land owned by Dell Barber.

Ivie said the reservoir storage will be constructed on a levee principal on the side of a hill with levee construction on three sides.

Three large pumps and two small pumps will be installed to divert water from the channel. Large pumps will work with big flow of water and small pumps will be used for normal flow.

Ivie said water will be diverted to the storage area when flow of chorides in the river water is 500 parts or more per million.

Currently, this means that diversion will come with normal flow of water (now sometimes 5,000 parts per million) and during the initial stages of a heavy flow when surface particles are moved into the stream by heavy rain runoff.

Ivie said the salt content in the river has been increased over a period of 30 years by use of salt water pits in oil field activities. This practice was discontinued, however, in 1961.

"We are hopeful in time that the water content in the river channel will improve above the dam," Ivie said, "but this will be over a period of years."

The channel dam and storage area part is expected to improve the water below the dam. It is needed by the CRMWD to control the salt content in the big new reservoir being built at Robert Lee.

Only protest filed against the Colorado City project was by Mrs. R. P. Price, who owns land south of Colorado City which is irrigated by water from Colorado River.

Bell And Hester Win Co-Op Trip

Miss Sue Bell of Westbrook and Richard Hester of Ira Friday night were selected winners of the annual Lone Wolf Electric Cooperative oratorical contest.

Miss Bell 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bell of Wetsbrook, is a junior student in Westbrook High School.

Hester, 16, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hester of Colorado City. He is a sophomore in Ira High School.

The pair will receive free trips to Washington, D. C. sponsored by the Co-op, beginning June 6.

They will travel by chartered bus along with other Texas cooperative oratorical winners and six adult couples. During their four-day stay in Washington the young speakers will visit governmental agencies and historical sites and the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association.

Named as alternates for Miss Bell and Hester were Pam James of Ira High School and Woody Anderson of Colorado High School.

Finalists in the oratorical contest presenting speeches on "Full Speed Ahead Rural Youth" included Anderson and Christy Stubblefield of Colorado High, Miss Bell and Eddie Ranne of Westbrook High; Mike Britton and Pat- Patrice Baumann of Loraine High, Tim Haynes and Jo Ann Gunn of Roscoe High, Pam James and Richard Hester of Ira High.

Judges were James Eiland, assistant manager of Cap Rock Electric Cooperative, Inc., Chuck Elmore, [illegible] advisor of Cap Rock Cooperative, both of Stanton, and J. C. Galbreath of Sterett Supply Co. in San Angelo.

Farmers Union Sets Family Night

Mitchell County Farmers Union has announced a meeting for Saturday night, March 16, at 7:30 in Medallion Room, Lone Wolf Electric Cooperative.

Guest speaker will be Max Carfiker, former state representative of Roby.

There will be a family night program and refreshments, according to Gene Stewart, president of the recently organized Farmers Union.

Tommy Linam will be the union's new insurance agent to write all types of insurance including Blue Cross and Blue Shield, the union president also announced.

Foster's Kin Dies

Hosea Foster, 54, youngest brother of G. D. Foster, died unexpectedly Thursday night at Canyon.

Foster was engaged in the insurance business, farming, the cattle business, and was part owner of a Canyon bank. He was also a member of the board of Amarillo Savings and Loan.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in First Methodist Church at Canyon.

Survivors are his wife Frances and daughter Linda of the home; three brothers Paul Foster of Amarillo, Jack Foster of Happy, and G. D. Foster, Colorado City; one sister, Mrs. Otis Parker of Canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Foster attended the rites in Canyon.

Friday Is Deadline

On '68 Program Signup at ASCS Office

Friday, March 15, is the last day growers may file applications to take part in the 1968 voluntary cotton, feed grain and wheat programs of the Agricultural Stablization and Conservation plan.

Curtis E. Latimer, chairman of the ASC committee, is emphasizing this week the importance of signing up before the deadline.

Cotton program benefits include diversion payments and price-support payments in addition to the regular cotton price-support loan.

The 1968 feed grain program, Latimer explained, features diversion and price-support payments along with price support loans.

Price-support loans and marketing certificate are featured in the voluntary wheat program and no diversion is necessary.

All program benefits, including the loan, will be available only to farmers who sign up and then carry out the program provisions.

If a cotton and feed grain grower wishes, he may request at the time of the signup that half his estimated diversion payment be made in advance. The rest of the diversion payment and the pricesupport payment will be made later and after program performances has been determined.

Cotton farmers on the larger farms take part in the program by reducing their cotton planting by at least 5 percent below the farm's effective allotment and by meeting other program provisions. As much as 35 percent of the allotment may be diverted for payment.

Diversion payment rates are 10.76 cents per pound on the established farm yield for 5 percent diversion and 6 cents per pound for diversion up to an additional 30 percent of the farm allotment.

Growers on small farms (with allotments not over 10 acres or with a projected production of 3,600 pounds or less) will receive payment without having to reduce plantings. If the operator chooses to reduce the acreage on such a farm, an additional diversion payment will be made on the acres actually diverted at the rate applicable to "additional" diversion.

Loans of 1968 crop upland cotton will be available at a national average rate of 20.25 cents per pound for middling, 1-inch cotton at average location.

Price - suppor payments will be 12-24 cents per pound made on the projected yield of the acreage planted to cotton but not in excess of the farm's domestic allotment — 65 percent of the regular allotment.

Through Thursday, March 7, Latimer reported, 637 cotton growers in Mitchell County had signed up to divert acres from upland cotton production; 564 feed grain growers had signed up to divert acres; and 196 wheat growers had signed up to participate in the voluntary wheat program.

To date 25 percent of the county's cotton growers, 28 percent of the feed growers and 29 percent of the wheat growers have not signed up in the programs.

Advance payments in the amount of $171,355.91 have already been made to Mitchell County producers.

TITLE TO KIRBYVILLE

Wolves No. 3 In State

Tip Off At State Tourney

Kerry Campbell (31) and Mexia's Charles Dancer (14) leap for a tipoff in Austin during Colorado's 41-43 loss to the Blackcats. Also in view of Lacy Boles' camera are Randy Parker (far left), Mexia's Steven Sims (24), Lyneal James (15) and Mexia's Dale Story (30).

Coach Caddo Matthews brings his Colorado High Wolves home today the No. 3 team in Texas AA high school basketball.

They wanted No. 1 and you'll have a hard time convincing their fans they are not the best in Texas.

But two points dashed their hopes for a state championship Thursday afternoon in crowded old Gregory Gym in Austin as they fell, 41-43, to Mexia.

RISE UP

Then Friday they rose above the gloom of shattered dreams and trounced Robert G. Cole of San Antonio, 50-42 in Austin Travis High Gym for third place.

Kirbyville, conqueror of Cole Thursday, won the title Saturday, beating Mexia, 57-52.

What does it mean to be No. 3?

Well, when it all started a few months ago, Class AA listed 210 teams and 4,807 young athletes across the state.

So, you must be championship caliber to make it all the way to Austin as one of the four final teams.

FINAL ELITE

You can look at it another way, too, for these 1968 Wolves who captured District 5-AA, bi-district and Region 1 titles while making basketball history for Colorado High.

When they stepped into Gregory Gym Thursday before 6,500 spectators they were in the final elite who battled their way up in a schoolboy basketball from a field of 1,113 Texas high school teams from Class AAAA to Class B.

The Wolves' 12-member squad towered above 21,267 players.

BIG FINISH

For the season the Wolves won 21 games against 11 defeats, including the state tournament.

Their success and championship play is written more in the last half of the season, because the Wolves are a team who came on late developing and improving as the season grew long, winning 14 of their last 16 contests.

Their last defeat, prior to Thursday's disappointment against slow operating Mexia, was the 59-61 defeat here in January to 5-AA Hamlin. A loss, by the way, the Wolves amended with a championship deciding triumph in Hamlin in the very last contest of their 5-AA competition.

WON FANS

Coach Matthews' team developed a excitement tingling reputation for "Cinderella" basketball, from rags to riches against the favorites. Their final second triumphs which won 'em district and bi-district honors will be warmed over as sports gems for years to come.

They needed none of that final moment spurting Friday against San Antonio Cole, a team which won District 29-AA, bi-district and Region 4 with 26 triumphs and only four defeats.

Like the Wolves, the Cougars had stumbled in Thursday's opening AA play, 39-54 to Kirbyville, after leading by 11 points in the third quarter.

DOMINATE

Against Colorado City they were hardly ever in the game. The Wolves dominated from the start.

Robert Bender swished the net for two points soon after the opening tipoff sending the Wolves into a lead they never relinquished.

With 1:43 remaining in the opening quarter, the lead stretched to 9-4, then to 13-4 at the period's end.

The pattern was evident.

Wolves Silent In Defeat

"It Kills Them" Coach Says

They had just died a little so they were slumped and silent.

Oppressive heat of outdated Gregory Gym came down around 'em and caused rivers of sweat over their spent bodies.

Only bright thing about 'em was that hospital-like white tile which walled the showers and dressing room up behind the bleachers around a couple of narrow turns away from the roar of the crowd.

SILENCE

Ten, fifteen, twenty minutes they looked blindly at the floor or walls, not bothering to even nod to each other.

The happy fans who had crushed about them the last few weeks with the compliments of victory weren't there this time. They could not find their way to the postmortem room.

It was just as well.

Coach Caddo Matthews and those splendid Wolves had just heard the buzzer sound, killing their chance for Colorado High's first state basketball championship in history.

SLOW PRESSURE

They had succumbed to the slow pressure of Mexia Blackcats, 41-43.

It was the state tournament in Austin — the first ever for a Colorado High team — and one defeat sidelines you definitely from any chance for a championship.

You got the feeling they still thought they should be champs. Maybe so, but none of us ever will know for sure.

REFLECT

With their silence you could see each of 'em looking into themselves trying incisively to figure how it happened. They didn't even lift their heads as a couple of fans who found the dressing room tried to hug 'em and tell 'em they were still champs for Colorado City.

Coach Matthews walked and paused alternately, but silently.

Every now and then he muttered "I'm sorry ... I'm sorry."

Strain of battle added to his tiredness which had been developing with illness since before bi-district.

COURTEOUS

Like most coaches when pressed by reporters, he groped for words to say. He was courteous, but his heart wasn't in it.

What caused it ... the defeat?

Don't you think if he really knew he would have rectified it probably in those final minutes of the game ... for a state championship.

"If we had it to play over again," he mumbled. "I guess we would play it differently ... maybe run and shoot more.

"I'm sorry ... sorry."

We'd get after 'em."

THEY TRIED

Anybody who saw the game, though, knew he and his kids had tried that.

"This kills the kids. They know they could have won."

The name of the game, however, is basketball and the team which scores the most in 32 minutes is the winner.

That's Mexia.

You can talk strategy and "if this" and "if that" all day long. Yet the score book tells the story.

FIRST TIME

Sure, old Gregory Gym throws a fright into any team conming into the state tournament, especially for the first time. It was first time, however, for Mexia also and both teams reflected the tightness and tension.

Coach Matthews used seven players in this Thursday afternoon losing battle. His starters Kerry Campbell, Lyneal James, Randy Parker, Robert Bender, Smoke Johnson — Billy Williams and Willie Hopkins.

Mexia, with a 26-5 record, used only six — Raymond Rhodes, Charles Dancer, Benjie Reed, Steven Sims, Dale Story and John Posey.

Only two seniors were among the entire 12 — both from Colorado City.

POOR DAY

The scorebook reveals plainly the Wolves had a poor day at the basket.

This inefficiency plus Mexia's talent with a crowding full-court press and a slow-down offense did the Woves in. Even with Mexia's tactics, the Wolves still had enough shots to have pulled off victory, if they had hit only a smaller-than-usual average.

In the first quarter they missed 10 field goal attempts, hitting only 3 of 13 for

New Jr. High Guidance

Starting For 8th Grade, Parents

News guidance program for eighth grade students in Colorado Junior High School will get underway Monday.

L. B. Gibson, principal at Junior High, will confer with every eighth grade student and his parent by appointments arranged in his office.

The new counseling program is the result, said Earl Cook assistant superintendent of Colorado Independent School, of "the increasing demand placed on students for course selections in high school."

Parents of all pupils who will complete the eighth grade and who will enter high school in September will receive a letter from Mr. Gibson's office assigning a time for the three-way conference between principal, parent, and student.

The principal will, at the assigned time, explain Colorado High School graduation requirements and help each student plan for the next four years study course.

He will attempt to answer questions of either student or parent concerning the new two-way study plan for a high school diploma, announced by James McMath, superintendent, in February.

School board approved the plan upon recommendation of the superintendent. The high school now offers two routes toward a diploma — general preparation or vocational plan designed for students who do not plan to attend college and the academic preparation plan for college bound students.

School administrators are stressing the fact that there is no ironclad rule for either plan and students may change or adjust their course to either plan.

Parents who receive letters with an appointment time which is not convenient are requested to call the Junior High School principal's office and request a more convenient time.

The new individual counseling program for eighth graders is one of the most comprehensive steps taken to date under the school system's counseling service.

There are, this year, 150 students in the eighth grade, the principal will counsel with each of the 150 separately, talk to a parent of each student, and help individual pupils to chart their course for next year and the years to follow.

IN CHURCH NUPTIALS

Miss June Brown Becomes Bride Of Steve Taylor

Miss June Brown became the bride of Steve Taylor Friday evening in a double ring ceremony in North Side Church of Christ.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Brown of 716 Vine Street and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Taylor of 1543 Waco Street.

Leslie Mickey, minister of the church, officiated in the ceremony.

Altar was centered with an arch entwined with greenery, red and white flowers and white satin bows. Arrangements of red and white flowers decorated other parts of the church.

The bride was given in marriage by a friend, Bill Martin. She wore a formal length gown of lace fashioned with an empire waistline and a front panel of silk organza outlined with pearls. Her face train was attached at the shoulders.

Her veil of silk organdy was caught to a headpiece of [illegible] lined with pearls. She carried a bouquet of carnations atop a white Bible.

Mrs. Phillip Anderson sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly."

Miss Jackie LaVern of Quanah, the bride's former roommate at Abilene Commercial College, was maid of honor.

She wore a formal length gown of red peau de sois fashioned with an empire waistline and bell sleeves. She carried a long stemmed carnation with red streamers.

Mike Greening of Quanah, the bridegroom's roommate at Angelo State College, served as best man.

Jimmy Lewis and Bubba Kennedy were ushers.

Villa Inn party room was setting for a reception honoring the couple after their marriage.

Bride's table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of red and white flowers and red satin hearts. Red tapers completed table decor.

Members of the houseparty included Mrs. Bill Martin, Mrs. Randy Taylor, Miss Cheryl May, Miss Janet Wood and Mrs. Robert Jameson.

For their honeymoon trip to Dallas the bride wore an emerald green silk suit with black accessories.

Following their trip they will be at home at 2012 Walnut Street in San Angelo, where the groom will continue studies at Angelo State College.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding included Kenneth Tidmore of Quanah, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jameson of Silver, Miss Grace Mann of Fort Worth, Mr. and Mrs. Baz Jones of Houston, Mrs. Randy Taylor of Seminole, Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Mize Jr. of San Angelo.

SALT CEDAR EYED

Brush Uses Water Says SCS Booklet

Worthless brush and woody plants waste nearly as much water as is used for all other purposes in Texas, according to H. N. Smith, State Conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service, at Temple.

"One of our greatest potentials for saving water is reducing this waste by noneconomic plants," he noted.

It is estimated that 10 million acre-feet of water could be saved annually by a complete brush control and grassland restoration program in Texas. This is more water than is presently being used annually for industrial and municipal purposes.

That information is part of a new publication, recently released by the Soil Conservation Service, "Grassland Restoration, Part 5, Effect of Water Yield and Supply," by C. A. Rechenthin and H. N. Smith, booklet available at the local Soil Conservation Service office.

A portion of the publication holds special interest to the Rolling Plains area. Using the limited research available, Rechenthin and Smith give a detailed study of the effects grassland improvement has on water supplies.

For example: In this area the treatment of saltcedar would save three acre-feet of water for each acre treated. According to Giles Birchum, Jr., range conservationist, Colorado City, the brush survey made in 1964 showed about 5,575 acres with saltcedar growing in Mitchell County.

"The control of saltcedar would result in a savings of 16,719 acre-feet of water annually. These savings would be 3,000 more acre-feet of water than was consumed by the residents of Colorado City in 1967, according to records obtained from the Colorado City Water Department," Birchum added.

"It is a conservative estimate that in the Rolling Plains area alone, a comprehensive grassland restoration program would save over [illegible]0,000 acre-feet of water for the Colorado River Watershed.

"An important fact to remember is that worthless brush and woody plants produce little or no forage and use water inefficiently. If we are to continue at our present level of water consumption, it is a must that we retard and eventually control this robber of our water supplies," said Birchum.

Lady Bird Johnson Writes Federation

Mitchell County Federation of Women's Clubs have received a letter addressed to their president Mrs. J. W. Watson at the White House and signed by Lady Bird Johnson.

The wife of President Lyndon B. Johnson experssed appreciation for the county federation letter of Jan. 24 endorsing a Colorado City Record column following the Eartha Kitt incident at a White House luncheon.

Mrs. Johnson's letter follows; "Dear Mrs. Watson — Thank you so much for your heartwarming message after the luncheon of the subject of safe streets held here at the White House.

"We heard testimony from so many marvelous women who have used their ingenuity and wisdom, and just plain willingness to work to combat the ills of poverty, inequality, lawlessness, and delinquency in the cities of America. There will always be a few voices of despair, but the record of success in our time will be written by those who take the path of constructive citizenship.

"Your warm support is most welcome, and I am sending you a few of the wonderful suggestions that were made. These happen to be some of the ideas used in Indianapolis in recent months to reduce the crime rate, by a considerable degree.

"Please know how deeply I appreciate your thoughtfulness. Sincerely, Lady Bird Johnson."

Enclosed with the letter to Mrs. Watson was a 15-point paper, "How Citizens Can Fight Crime and Encourage Law Enforcement."

Ron Haley, Handler For Old Vet 'Chief'

A recent front page feature story in the Wichita Eagle, Wichita, Kansas, had a Mitchell County soldier, Spec. 5 Ron Haley as its subject.

Haley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Byrno, Landers Community, is post animal specialist who supervises feeding and care of 18 buffalo and 52 horses, and is handler for "Chief."

The Wichita Eagle story calls him "The ideal choice to care for Chief." He lacked one semester of completing his degree in animal science at Texas A&M University when he joined the Army three years ago. Haley hopes to complete work for his degree, then enter veterinary school. Haley grew up on a Mitchell County ranch.

He arrived at Fort Riley in Sept. 1967 after serving a year in Vietnam. In November he was assigned to the old horse [illegible] and quartered next to the stable.

"You [illegible] but feel a sense [illegible] and Chief," the story quotes Haley as saying. "Most of the time you're too worried about just keeping him alive, but you feel a little awestruck when you realize he's the last of the hundreds of thousands of horses used to settle this country.

"Sure, he's a ham actor. He cuts up every time he hears a camera shutter click. Whole busloads of people come down here to see him and he poses for them. Somehow, I think he knows he's something special," Haley told the Eagle reporter.

Wolves

a zone defense, shooting when they had the best opportunity or holding off until Cole in desperation made mistakes.

Cole, who had the advantage of playing in last year's state tournament, saw the strategy taking effect and in one quick stretch their top guns — Senior Bob Kaikaka (6-4), Senior John Moncrief (6-4) and Senior Johnny Munoz (5-11) — failed in four consecutive field goal attempts.

In the second, Matthews pulled his starters and substituted an entire new team yet the Cougars could pull no closer than 13-8.

ALL PLAY

Before the game was over [illegible] got into the [illegible] last AA competition before moving up next year to Class AAA.

At the half, the count was 25-20. And the Wolves came out in the third they missed five baskets while Munoz was pulling Cole up to within two points, 25-23.

Bender made it 27-23, Moncrief retaliated for 27-25.

Then, the Wolves spurted with Lynell James hitting with a jump shot and a rebound, followed by Smokie Johnson's success from the circle.

When the fourth quarter started the Wolves were riding a comfortable 38-28 lead.

ALL GRATIS

With deliberate play, the Wolves repeatedly drew Cole out of its zone defense, causing the Cougars to foul themselves into sure defeat.

Infact, the Wolves scored all 12 points in the final quarter from the free throw line, never needing a field goal.

Johnson led C-City scoring with 14 points — 3 field goals and 8 free throws without a miss. James con- [illegible] em from the field, and Kerry Campbell hit for 9.

Kaikaka, the tall senior who came into the state meet with a 14.5 season average, led Cole with 20 points.

a miserable 23 percentage through the second quarter when it was 4 of 14.

CONNECTING

Not until the third quarter did the Wolves connect with two field goals in succession.

When they appeared on the verge of moving into a lead for victory, their luck hit bottom again and they missed five consecutive field goal tries in the fourth quarter. Two of these were layups that rolled out of the goal's rim.

Remember, these were the Wolves who had ripped Crane for 77 points, Quanah [illegible]

Five minutes 57 seconds ticked away on the big clock hanging over the center of the court in the fourth quarter before the Wolves could finally shake the [illegible] for a field goal.

COOL AGAIN

Then they cooled at the free throw line missing 3 out of five [illegible] for victory.

Colorado City fans are an easily [illegible] bunch. And even late in the game they figured for the most part, the Wolves would turn the trick.

The luckless shooting had begun to take its toll and Mexia kept wasting time when it had the ball.

FRANTIC

Before long the catchup attempt was almost frantic.

Johnson struck with a couple of 15-footers late in the fourth pulling C-City up 39-42. Then Campbell sank a one-hander for 41-42 with 53 seconds remaining.

But [illegible] Reed, a [illegible] who was a thorn in Colorado's side all afternoon, came right back with a free toss for the 41-43 [illegible].

In these final seconds Mexia missed [illegible] free throws, while the Wolves threw the ball away, lost the ball amid frantic dribbling.

[illegible]

The end came with Hopkins shooting desperately from the corner after the Wolves brought the ball in from out of bounds in their end of the court. His shot hit the rim, bounced up and hit the rim again before falling into a scramble of players.

Johnson and Campbell connected in the third quarter to give C-City a 31-30 lead at 3:05 — the first for the Wolves. [illegible] with a layup [illegible] 33-31 for the Wolves.

[illegible] right back for Mexia to tie it 33-33 with a one-hand shot close in and Dancer sent his mates into 33-35 lead when he intercepted a bounce pass and struck for two points.

Come to think of it, that erratic passing by the Wolves when crowded effectively by Mexia's full-court press should get some of the blame for the loss.

CONVERSATION CORNER

Ruth Coffey's

DREAMS are funny things. They are rather like a little journey to a strange place.

Sometimes the setting is a long ago and far away place filled with faces no longer smiling here on this earth and voices long hushed.

Other times the dream sequence takes place in the here and now. A dream can be ridiculous . . . delightful . . . frightening . . . comforting . . . confusing.

Dreams can be real and familiar as your own face in the mirror or so unreal you wonder if the pork chops for supper did it.

Everybody dreams, scientists hold. And some of us dream in technicolor complete with sound effects.

USED to be an old superstition saying that to tell a dream before breakfast would make it come true.

In some instances that might mean instant disaster. Like the dream in which you stand barefooted in a princess slip at the airport or on the church steps. In other cases it might be a real boon. Ever dream, for instance, of picking up silver dollars every step you took?

Recall one dream so vivid this dreamer didn't speak to the spouse of the house for one whole day and one whole night. Flat proof of desperation.

HAD A DREAM just the other night that should have been told before breakfast.

Dreamed I sat down at home and wrote the Sunday column. Ah, it was a masterpiece!

It was all about "obligations." moral, social, familial. In that dream it proved to be a dissertation of great merit, a veritable work of art.

Come the dawn . . . the dream was gone. And so was that column, every word. All that remained was the feeling it had much to say and said it. Beyond that . . . double blank.

OBLIGATIONS, methinks in the cold light of day, are with us always.

Some obligations are amusing — as evident in hearing a woman with dead serious air announce "I'm obligated to six tables."

Other obligations deal with dollars, dependants, debts. Obligations in the realm of human behavior patterns are less easily defined or captured in words.

Have felt all a life long that people who like each other, love each other, are under a strong obligation. The obligation not to wound or to worry if at all possible.

People who share the same home, family, job are under absolute obligation of being pleasant . . . honest, sympathetic, warm . . . even a little foolish with laughter and affection.

Add to these obligations, the obligation of just living up to the commandment "Be ye kind one to another," and you are fulfilling the one obligation that becomes yours with liking — loving.

What a sad commentary it is on human nature that people are sometimes prone to "give to the world the best," and save all the worst for home or close associates!

HEAR TELL the identical triplet sons of Doris Wynne and Colonel Quinton Hamrick were graduated from Trinity University last May and are all three now in military service.

Glynne "went Army," writes his mother Doris, while Lynne and Wynne joined the Air Force in which their father is a career colonel.

The Hamricks live in San Antonio where Quinton is at Randolph AFB. Come May 1968, he's been assigned to head the Air Force R.O.T.C. Department at University of Tennessee at Knoxville — where Doris was born, by the way.

HEAR, too, that Carroll Bowles, son of Lela and Bill Bowles finally completed his call from Vietnam to his parents.

Carroll already has received his orders to return to the States April 24 and report to Fort Hood.

He's grandson of the Ted LeFeures of Loraine and of C'City's Perry Bowles.

SEEN LATELYS included a former C-Citian who lives now in Loveland, Colorado. She is Mrs. Jim White who, with her husband Jim is visiting in the home of her brother Dee Rynum and his wife.

Saw Yvonne Sadler, wife of J. A. Sadler, Jr. . . . Ruby Cawthorn, wife of Drue . . . Ruth and Laura Grantland at the Down Town . . . Ditto Mabel (Mrs. Frank) Kelley and Hilda (Mrs. Bob) May . . . and Inez Hock whose son Jim has had another promotion by Campbell's Soup Co. He'll be moved to the Denver office as "head man."

E. M. Owen was coffee breaking . . . So were Jo and Johnny Tiller . . . Steve Caylor, bridegroom, was an office dropin . . . Ditto Red Ballard.

BRIEF ENCOUNTERS brought pleasant chats with Wilma (Mrs. Pierce) Hudgins of Loraine, pianist for the Loraine Quartet by the way . . . Elna (Mrs. Jinks) Powell and Emily (Mrs. Dave) Bridgford getting beautified.

That reminds me to remind you that our Dr. Bill Bridgford left Feb. 28 for a tour of South America. After touring Colombia, Peru, Chile, Argentina, Uruguay, Brazil including Brasilia and Sao Paulo, he'll visit Rio de Janeiro, then Panama. Billy Bruce is due home March 25. He's member, by the way, of one of those flying travel clubs.

FAMILIAR FACES round about places were those of Mr. J. Ed Richardson . . . Mary (Mrs. Grady) Beach . . . Virginia (Mrs. Toby) Dearen and Annette Callaway (Mrs. Leon) together . . . Pearl Lindsey hamburgering . . . Don DeLaney at the lunch counter . . . Kack McClelland, too Mrs. Tom Pritchett was on the downtown scene.

Office visitor was Isla (Mrs. Jim) Watson. Small world isn't it? Isla brought with her several priceless old photographs of her cousins, the Headlee family, including my second grade teacher Miss Alta Headlee.

Repeat . . . small little old bitty world, isn't it?

Specialist Speaks On "Alcoholism"

Shelby Parnell, rehabilitation specialist of Texas Education Agency was speaker Wednesday afternoon in Medallion Room of Lone Wolf Electric Cooperative building.

The program was sponsored by Mitchell County Home Demonstration Council.

Parnell, who is associated with Big Spring State Hospital spoke on alcoholism, addiction to alcohol and rehabilitation.

He reported that 71 per cent of today's people are drinkers and three percent of that number uses the alcohol to neutralize tension.

Parnell, who has worked for the last 19 years in rehabilitating alcoholics, said that alcoholism is a self-inflicted disease and that each alcoholic costs $570 per person per year in taxes.

In rehabilitating alcoholics Parnell emphasized the importance of creating in the individual the knowledge that he (the alcoholic) is a creature of God and helping him to get rid of the false sense of insecurity.

per cent of the alcoholics that has come to Big Spring Hospital have been rehabilitated.

"A person can become addicted to anything that tends to make him or her comfortable," the group heard.

Attending the program were Mrs. Jewell C. Richter, Mrs. Len Strain, and Mrs. J. L. Strain, Mrs. J. D. Gibson, Mrs. W. E. Harris, Mrs. Bruce Byrne, Mrs. Sidney Compton, Mrs. N. O. Brown, Mrs. Henry McGuire and Mrs. Charles Williams, members of Looney HD Club.

Also, Mrs. Floyd Griffin of Baumann Club; Mrs. Don Blassingame and Mrs. A. J. Hooks of Buford Club.

Mrs. E. T. Strain, Mrs. P. H. Pace, Mrs. Muriel Thurman, Mrs. P. E. McMillan and Mrs. Earl Hunter of Fairview Club; Mrs. Nolan Fincher of Spade Club.

Mrs. Bill Jackson of Plainview Club, Mrs. Tom Jackson of the Carr Club, Mrs. Raymond Wheeler and Mrs. T. L. Helman of North Loraine Club and Miss Janice Miller, county HD agent.

Volunteer Workers Go To Hospital

Mrs. Jewel Richter and Mrs. Roxie Witten were at Big Spring Hospital Tuesday doing volunteer work with the Circuit Riders organization.

The two local women played games and visited with hospital patients during the day.

Mrs. Nina Farmer invited all persons interested in doing this volunteer work to contact her at Rhode-Cowan Clinic or telephone RA 8-3974.
