Demos Announce Listings For Ballots

Mitchell County Democratic Party chairman Rees Cates announced this week that the order of listing candidates for state and county offices on the May 4 primary ballot will be determined by the number of votes cast for governor in the county in the 1966 general election.

Under this system, candidates for county offices will be listed in the order of votes received by Democratic candidates for governor in the county in 1966.

In the contest for county judge, Jack Scarbrough, incumbent, will be listed first, followed by Jimmie Dyer, Jr., Colorado City attorney.

In the contest for county attorney, Jim Bob Calvert, incumbent, will be listed first, followed by Jack Hair, Colorado City attorney.

In the contest for county tax assessor-collector, Mrs. Mary Lou Wilkerson, incumbent, will be listed first, followed by Mrs. Ruth Coffey, Colorado City.

In the contest for county clerk, Jewell Rees, incumbent, will be listed first, followed by Mrs. Ruth Hall, Colorado City.

In the contest for county treasurer, Mrs. Ruth Coffey, incumbent, will be listed first, followed by Mrs. Mary Lou Wilkerson, Colorado City.

In the contest for county commissioner, precinct 1, James T. (Jimmy) Henderson, incumbent, will be listed first, followed by J. C. (Jake) Norris, Colorado City.

Precinct 1 Constable, D. L. (Delgert) Lee, incumbent, will be listed first, followed by Barry Lawrence Graham, Colorado City.

Qualifying dates for the office of Governor of Texas Wardner Carr's name was drawn for the number one place on the county's Demo ballot.

Don Yarborough's name will appear second, followed by Johnny Mac Hackworth, Edward L. Whittenburg, John Bill, Alonso Veloz, Pat O'Daniel, Eugene Locke, Preston Smith and Dolph Briscoe in that order.

Lieutenant Governor's race candidates will be listed with Ben Barnes first, Gene Smith second, and Don Gladden, third.

Comptroller — 1. Dallas Blankenship, 2. Robert S. Calvert, incumbent.

Supreme Court of Texas, Place 1 — 1. Matt Davis, 2. Scars McGee. Place 2 — 1. Tom Reavley, 2. James G. Denton.

Ballots for May 1 will be the new type, Democratic Chairman Rees pointed out. There will be a small "box" beside each name on the ballot with the voter to check the "box" beside the name of his choice. The ballot eliminates the old "scratching" method.

Two new names of candidates for Democratic Precinct chairmen will appear on the ballot. They are names of Joe Blackard, Buford, and Lindell Solomon, Cuthbert. Buford and Cuthbert have both been without Demo precincts chairmen in recent years.

Blackard's and Solomon's names will appear on the space for Mitchell County Democratic offices along with Rees County chairman, G. D. Foster, precinct 1 chairman; Leroy Cresseit, precinct 2; Wrigby Hreic, precinct 8; Ray Preston, precinct 7.

Voters are asked to note that precinct numbers for casting ballots do not necessarily coincide with commissioners' precinct numbers.

Voters at Cuthbert are being reminded by Rees that they will cast their ballots this May 1 at Fairview Baptist Church. The Cuthbert box has been moved from the old Cuthbert store where it was located for many years.

Landers voters will vote at Loraine. Spade citizens will vote at the Civic House in Colorado City.

Voting strength for precinct 1 in Colorado City is 2,451. Precinct 2 polled at Westbrook is 229. There are 71 registered voters at Cuthbert, 170 in Loraine, 373 in the box at Civic House for precinct 3, and 93 registered at Buford.

County Democrats have set their convention for Saturday, May 11 in District Courtroom at 1 a.m.

Wolves Defend Relays

12 Teams Run Here Saturday

Colorado High defends its Lone Wolf Relays championship here Saturday against a field of high school track stars stretching from Hamlin to Crane.

Twelve schools will compete for the title with preliminaries scheduled in the morning and finals in the afternoon at Wolf Stadium.

A Lone Wolf Relays queen will be crowned at the track finals. Candidates for the honor, who will present awards to track winners, are Ida Jean Passham, Sandy Waldrip and Peggy Robertson.

Admission tab for the meet will be 25 cents per person.

Here with Coach Dell Riley's 1968 track team will be Sweetwater, runner-up to the Wolves last year; Crane, fifth in AA competition last week in San Angelo Relays; Hamlin, Haskell, Anson and Winters, all of District 5-AA; Big Lake, Loraine, Westbrook, Coahoma, Eldorado, and Roscoe.

The Wolves, who trailed champion Brady at San Angelo after winning titles on previous weekends at Eldorado's Plateau Relays and Crane Invitational, have a tough assignment if they expect to repeat this weekend at Lone Wolf champs.

Graduated are a group of stars who played major roles in helping the Wolves score 101.5 points last March and set meet records in 440, 880 and mile relay.

However, the Wolves' Dan Steakley, a consistent performer in the dashes, is fresh from 10-second winning performance in the 100 at San Angelo and teammate Apolinar Melinar claims the winning 4:46.2 mile run at San Angelo.

C-City's 440-yard relay team of Dan Ramsey, Randy Riley, Rusty Steakley and Dan Steakley was third at San Angelo behind Brady and Stamford, but the finish was so close all three teams were clocked at 43.9.

Class AAA Sweetwater may have the inside lane toward the championship here Saturday with a squad that has more depth than any other competing school.

The Ponies' 440-yard relay team has the season's fastest time with a swift 42.5 plus a high jumper who has bettered 6 feet and a miler who won here in 1967.

Haskell's mile relay team likely to succeed C-City as District 5-AA winners this spring, ran a 3:28 in the Possum Kingdom Relays.

Eldorado may bring back Johnny Mayo who set records here last year in the shot put, and discuss with tosses of 53'10" and 143'10. The athlete already has bettered 160 feet with the discuss this season.

Only reason Mayo may not compete will be that his coach may take him to more prestigious meets to sharpen his competitive effort against the state's foremost throwers.

Crane's pole vaulters will be a feature because all five of them have ranged from 11 to 13 feet this spring.

Hamlin's Milton Davis will be one of the favorites in the weights. He won the AA discuss in San Angelo with 142'7.5", just ahead of Colorado City's Don Safford, 138'3.5". Here is Saturday's schedule for the relays:

Morning: (Finals) 9:30 a.m. — pole vault, and discuss 10 a.m. — (Preliminaries) 10 a.m. — 440 yard relay; 10:10 a.m. — 120 yard hurdles; 10:30 a.m. — 100 yard dashy 10:45 a.m. — 330 yard hurdles; 11:25 a.m. — 220 yard dash.

Afternoon: Finals: 1 p.m. high jump, broad jump and shot put. 2 p.m. — 440 yard relay; 2:10 p.m. — 880 yard run; 2:25 p.m. — 120 yard hurdles; 2:35 p.m. — 100 yard dash; 2:45 p.m. — 440 yard dash; 2:55 p.m. — 330 yard hurdles; 3:05 p.m. — 220 yard dash; 3:15 p.m. — mile run; 3:30 p.m. mile relay.

Coach Riley's Wolves scored 32 1/5 points last Saturday for runner-up honors in Division 3 behind Brady at San Angelo Relays.

Champion Brady scored 56 points winning both the 440 and 880 sprint relays and broad jump.

One of the features of the meet was Bradys 1:31.6 record performance in the 880 relay, nosing out C-City's Ramsey, Riley, Steakley and Steakley, who had set a new meet record of 1:31.8 in the prelims.

Here are the complete Division 3 results at San Angelo:

440 Yard Relay—1. Bard, 43.9; 2. Stamford, 43.9; 3.

Presidential Election Flurries of Activity

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

First flurries of activity on the 1968 presidential campaign front remind that it is going to be a long, long political year.

Entry of Sen. Robert Kennedy into the contest for the Democratic nomination set off more speculation than action.

Less than a week after Kennedy's announcement, however, a Beaumont college teacher announced he had accepted an invitation from the senator's office to head up his drive in Texas. Ron Platt, chairman of the small group known as Texas Liberal Democrats and a Lamar Tech assistant professor, said the Texas Committee for Kennedy soon will open an Austin office.

Dissenting Democrats of Texas reffirmed its support of Sen. Eugene McCarthy for president despite Kennedy's emergence. Co-Chairman Don Allford said DDT welcomes efforts of the Kennedy backers and expects help from them in some areas in opposing President Johnson. DDT claims a force of about 3,000 working to organize precinct conventions for McCarthy.

On the opposite end of the political stage, supporters of former Alabama Gov. George Wallace held their state convention here and kicked off their drive for 14,259 signatures to petitions. Petitions are necessary to get Wallace name on the November ballot as presidential candidate of the new American Party headed in Texas by former State Sen. Weaver Moore of Houston. Signers must not participate in Democratic or Republican primaries or conventions.

State Democratic Committee, meanwhile, has emphasized its support of President Johnson. Gov. John Connally has announced he intends to head a Texas delegation to the national convention committed to the president's renomination.

To date, there is little evidence of any major effort to take the Texas Democratic conventions away from Johnson.

Texas Republications, already leaning toward Richard Nixon, were left one less choice when Gov. Nelson Rockefeller announced he would not campaign for the nomination.

COURT SPEAKS

Supreme Court will hear arguments April 17 on whether Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler should be required to honor the West Texas minerals claim filed by Cobra Oil and Gos Corporation in Pecos, Culberson and Reeves Counties.

Third Court of Civil Appeals agreed with Comal County trial court that a New Braunfels used auto parts and junk dealer had no right to keep the city from fining him for violation of "beautification" ordinances.

Court of Criminal Appeals upheld conviction and life sentence of San Antonian Jorge Maldenado for murder of a used car salesman. Same court affirmed the 99-year sentence of a Houston area druggist for possession of heroin.

OPINIONS

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin said State Liquor Control Board records and orders should not be made available for public inspection except as the result of legal proceedings. Apparntely, he classes hearings before LCB administrator on violation allegations as legal proceedings.

In other new opinions, Martin concluded that:

- Abolished "city" of La Grulla in Starr County can hold a new incorporation election in less than a year from the date its abolition was resolved in court (last November 15).
- A school district that had issued no unlimited tax bonds can revert to limited tax status under a different statute and issue bonds subject to voter approval.

APPOINTMENTS

Former Atty. Gen. Will Wilson of Austin and Baylor University President Abner McCall were named co-chairmen of the Anti-Crime Council of Texas (ACT). Council has as its initial goal defeat of the May 4 referendum on pari-mutuel betting.

State Bar headquarters announced R. Glenn Jarvis of McAllen and George H. Nelson of Lubbock have been nominated for president-elect of the State Junior Bar. George F. Christie of Fort Worth and James Green wood of Houston are vice presidential nominees; and Jack Norwood, Tyler, and Robert R. Sanders of Amarillo nominees for secretary-treasurer.

Carl F. Wheeler Jr. of Austin is the new president of the Texas Elementary Principals and Supervisors Association. Warren W. Green of Tyler is president-elect, Robert L. Holden of San Angelo first vice president, William C. Harter of Canyon, second vice president and Mrs. Shirley Hale of Houston, third vice president.

PARK AID

Action to protect historic San Jacinto State Park from erosion and flood has been asked by Attorney General Martin.

He suggests moving De Zavala Cemetary, which floods at high tide, and an appropriation to Parks and Wildlife Department to protect the rest of the park.

A $39,915 federal grant has been approved for development of outdoor recreation facilities at 3,840-acre Monahans Sandhills State Park in Ward and Winkler Counties.

Another $11,450 federal grant will go to 332-acre Big Spring State Recreation Park, two miles south of Big Spring.

State matching funds will double project financing at both Sandhills and Big Spring facilities.

DRAFT CALL

State draft boards must furnish 2,378 men in April and, for the first time in two years, part of the group will go into the U. S. Marine Corps.

Figure compares with the quota of 1,947 for the Army in March and is the largest monthly call for draft boards since October, 1966, when Texas' share was 2,845.

Local boards will send 8,500 men to armed forces examining and entrance stations in April for pre-induction physical and mental examinations in preparation to fill future quotas. March total was 7,200.

April induction and pre-induction quotas were mailed to local boards by state Selective Service headquarters in mid-March. National quota for April is 48,000, of which Army will get 44,000 and Marines 4,000. Draftees are in 19 25 age bracket.

TRAFFIC TOLL

Traffic death in Texas last year totaled 3,367, according to latest Department of Public Safety tabulations.

This was a decrease of 1.15 per cent (first in seven years) from 1966 when a record 3,406 fatalities from auto accidents were recorded.

DPS noted that there was a five per cent increase in vehicle miles traveled in the state last year, for a death ratio of 5.8 persons killed for each 100,000,000 miles of travel. This is a decrease in death rate from 6.2 in 1966.

Total of 885,268 traffic accidents were reported in the state during 1967, with economic loss estimated at $793,000,000 and 205,000 injuries.

RECRUIT NURSES

State Board of Nurse Examiners registered 1,741 more nurses in 1967 than the 36,862 in 1966, and most of the new ones came from out of state.

Of all the new nurses, 1,494 moved to Texas from other states. Texas lost only 778 to other states. Also 821 new RNs were registered after graduation from nursing school.

Recruitment programs by the Texas Hospital Association and the Health Careers Program were given much of the credit for the increased number of nurses. "And then a lot of people just like to move to Texas," an official said.

DRINK DEBATE

One of the great debates of the season seems to be over the method of legalizing sale of liquor-by-drink.

Former Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, campaigning for governor, argues no constitutional bill can be written on the subject, and that an amendment to the state constitution's "open saloon" ban is necessary to legalize mixed drinks. Eugene Locke is campaigning heavily for local option mixed drinks bill, as has Governor Connally.

Attorney General Martin, called on for advice by the House committee studying liquor laws, sidestepped the issue. He sent the committee the 29-year-old opinions of the people." While ac-Mann that the legislature in defining "open saloons" acted "in obedience to command of the people." While acknowledging the legislature can change laws, Martin suggested that courts, not the attorney general, must test constitutionality of the new "open saloon" definition.

House committee, which is compiling a report for the special session this year, was advised that the Liquor Control Board should be "more forthright" to regain confidence of public.

CHICKEN FEED

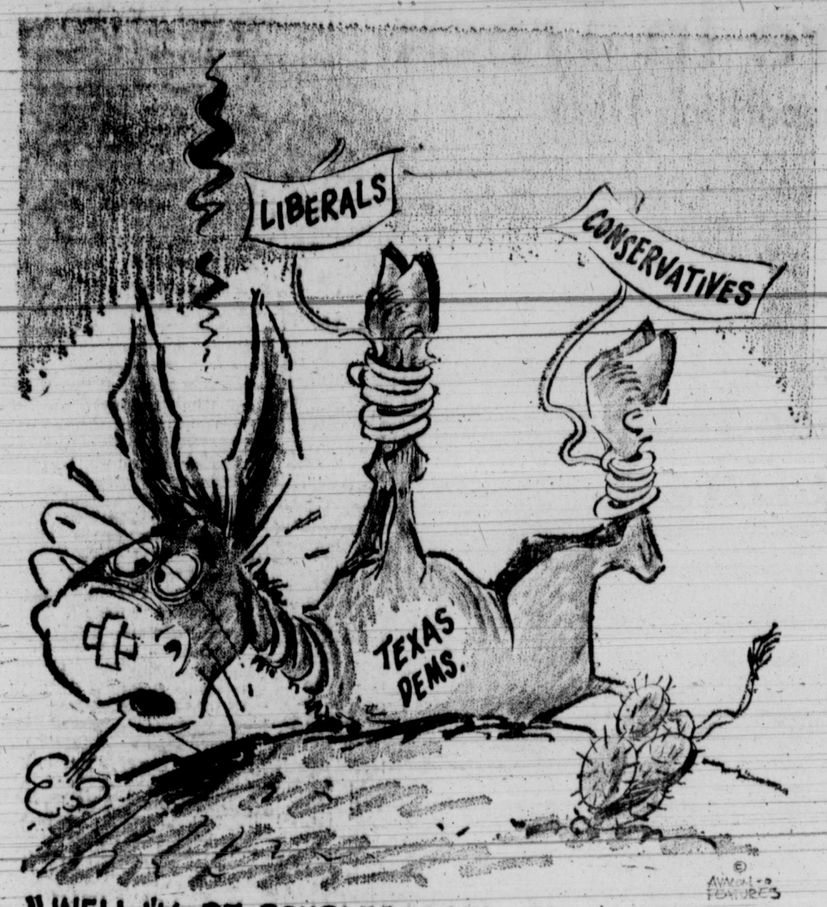

Kentucky Fried Chicken Company, of Colonel Sanders fame, has gone to court in Travis County to attack the state comptroller's classifying its establishments as "stores" rather than "restaurants."

Stores pay a higher license fee than restaurants, so K.F.C. is suing to recover $1,480 it paid under protest for its 17 establishments in Texas. K.F.C. says it should have been required to pay only $146.

The 98th District Court of Travis County has not set the suit for trial.

SHORTS

Governor Conally approved $4,648 grant to Golden Crescent Council of Governments in the Victoria area . . . Sharon Connally, daughter of Gov. and Mrs. Connally was married Saturday to Robert C. Ammann III at the governor's mansion, the fourth daughter of a Texas governor to be married in the historic residence . . . Maj. Gen. Thomas S. Bishop, Adjutant General of Texas, will request more than $300,000 from the Legislature when it meets in special session to pay for new riot-control equipment . . . Attorney General Martin will file a support brief in an Alabama federal court suit against the State of Alabama over whether state's having separate wet and dry areas violates the constitutional rights of residents in dry areas.

"WELL I'LL BE DOUBLEDOGGED DULLDOGGED!"

By OMAR BURLESON
United States Congressman
17th District

In view of the fact the U. S. Senate has recently passed a Civil Rights Bill, including the "open housing" provision, and the fact that a great many communications are being received on the subject, the following is a reprint of a release of July 7, 1966:

Section IV of the Civil Rights Bill of 1966 provides in substance that the owner of property for sale, rent or lease may not decline to sell, rent or lease to any person because of race, creed or color.

Other provisions of the measure make radical changes in an effort to confer "rights."

In 1783 the people of America were fearful that Government might restrict their freedoms. The First Congress of the United States in that year proposed the Bill of Rights.

The Bill of Rights essentially tells the government what it can not do and comprises the first ten Amendments to the United States Constitution. Many countries have an abundance of natural resources, vast lands and climate as good as ours, but 40 million immigrants came to this land seeking something called freedom.

They came here with the hope of security and the promise of the precious right to live as free men with equal opportunity for all.

In July 1868 a new guarantee of freedom was ratified. Its purpose was to guard against human slavery. Its guarantees were for the further equal protection of all. It is the 14th Amendment to the Constitution, and it reads in part as follows: "No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws . . ."

Laws enacted during the past three or four years, and the proposal now before the Congress, erode the rights and freedoms of every American property owner.

If anything more is needed to guarantee individual rights let it be that the individual American property owner, regardless of race, color or creed, should be allowed, under Law to retain:

1. The right of privacy.
2. The right to choose his own friends.
3. The right to own and enjoy property according to his own dictates.
4. The right to occupy and dispose of property without Governmental interference in accordance with his own judgement.
5. The right of all, equally, to enjoy property without interference by Laws giving special privilege to others.
6. The right to maintain what, in his opinion, are desired surroundings for tenants.
7. The right to contract with a real estate agent or other representative of his choice and to authorize him to act for him according to his instructions.
8. The right to determine the acceptability and desirability of any prospective buyer or tenant of his property.
9. The right of every American to choose whomever, in his opinion, are congenial tenants in any property he owns and to maintain the stability and security of his income.
10. The right to enjoy the freedom to accept, reject, negotiate or not to negotiate with anyone.

The prohibition against the individual to do with his property what he wishes, so long as he does not infringe upon his neighbor, is the denial of the third element of fundamental rights guaranteed under the Constitution.

When government attempts to confer privilege by legislation upon some, and by so doing takes away the rights of others, it does grave violence to the Constitution.

Loss of these rights diminishes personal freedom and creates a springboard for the future erosion of our liberties.

Sermon Of The Week

Tells One Sure Way To The Right Trail

By WEEMS S. DYKES
First Christian Church

Matthew 7:13-14 — "Enter Ye in at the straight gate: for wide is the gate and broad is the way, that leadeth to destruction, and many there be which go in thereat: Because straight is the gate, and narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it."

* * *

When I was a little boy I used to go over and spend the night with a couple of neighbor friends who were about my age. How well I remember one morning even before the break of day hearing an old hound baying in the woods. All of a sudden Robert and Paul bounded out of their bed, jumped into their clothes and were off to the woods to see what the old hound had treed. I just gave them my blessing and turned over and tried to get some more sleep. I don't know what the old hound found, or whether he was just sniffing up the wrong trail, but I do know that in life many a person has gotten on the wrong trail and never seem to find the thing in life for which they were searching.

Joe Evans, old timey cow boy of the west who is now deceased, tells about men who have gone bear or lion hunting, and that as the hound dog crossed the trail of the animal it went sniffing down the back part of the trail instead of the front part of it, and at the end, not only the hound but the hunters were all tuckered out. The bear and lion must have been laughing as they watched from some mountain top as the old hound began his sniffing up the wrong trail.

One reason these hunters failed in their hunt was that the hound was more eager to bark than to be sure.

That often happens when one engages an inexperienced guide, to lead them through the big woods of a forest, the price is right, but the way is not sure.

Men from time immemorial have been sniffing up the wrong trail of life, they have been going back over the same trails their forefathers traveled. Fighting the same old battles, carrying the same old prejudices, and promoting the same old schemes, and getting the same old head aches and heart breaks.

King Solomon tried the trail of sensous pleasure to give him the answers to life.

He tried the pursuit of knowledge and then said, "To the writing of books there is no end, and much study is a weariness of the flesh."

He tried the accumulation of wealth and found no joy in the cold lifeless possession of things. Vanity, Vanity, all is vanity, saith the preacher!

Solomon finally said, "Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter: Fear God, and keep his commandments: for this is the whole duty of man. For God shall bring every work into judgement, with every secret thing, whether it be good, or whether it be evil."

The Old Testament is full of illustrations of nations and people sniffing up the wrong trail of life.

Moses leading the people of Israel through the wilderness! Forty years in the wilderness, sounds like the modern song, "The music goes round and round and comes out here!"

Joshua took over leadership and confronted the people with these words, "Now therefore fear the Lord, and serve him in sincerity and in truth: and put away the gods which your fathers served on the other side of the flood and in Egypt; and serve ye the Lord. And if it seems evil unto you to serve he Lord, choose you this day whom you will serve; whether the gods which your fathers served that were on the other side of the flood, or the gods of the Amorites, in whose land you dwell: but as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord."

Here was a call to decision! Here a challenge was offered! Here was a God to be served!

Put in modern language by John Oxenham it says, "To every man there openth a way, and ways, and a way. And the high soul climbs the highway, and low soul gropes the low. And in between on the misty flats the rest drift to and fro, But to every man here openeth a highway and a low, and every man decideth the way his soul should go."

The Prodigal Son chose the low road and ended up in a hog pen! He sniffed up the wrong trail.

King David chose the wrong trail of sensual pleasure and the Prophet Nathan, cried out and said to him, "Thou art the man. Who has brought disgrace in the land!

The Pharisees sniffed up the wrong trail of legalism and brought unhappiness and misery into the lives of the people of their day.

If we don't want to go through life sniffing up the wrong trails along the way, then let us find a guide who knows the way, "I am the Life, the truth and the way" saith, Jesus.

If we don't want to go down the road of darkness, let us remember that Jesus is the light of the world.

If we don't want to end up in the pig pen of sinful shame as a Prodigal son, let us come to ourselves and remember that in our Fathers House are many mansions.

I say to you there is one sure way to the right trail of God and it is by way of the cross of Calvary. "I must needs go home by the way of the cross, There's no other way but this; I shall ne'er get sight of the Gates of Light. If the way of the cross I miss The way of the cross leads home the way of the cross leads home, it is sweet to know, as I onward go, The way of the cross leads home."

We'll not sniff the wrong trail of life if we follow Christ as the Guide of Life. "This is my beloved Son. Follow ye him!"

Senator's Point

To Attend Day of Hearings

By RALPH YARBOROUGH
United States Senator

Tomorrow, March 29, the Senate Education Subcommittee will travel to Austin for a full day of hearings on the present and the future of higher education in the United States.

The hearings will be held on the campus of the University of Texas, and we hope to have testimony from some of the leading educators and citizens of our state.

This will be the first time a Congressional Education Committee has ever held a hearing in Texas. I have been a member of the Education Subcommittee for 10 years. I shall be present as a member of the Subcommittee. Senator Morse of Oregon, the Subcommittee chairman, and Senator Murphy of California are also expected to attend.

We will hear testimony on the working of the Higher Education Act of 1965, which is up for renewal this year, and I hope to hear new ideas on how the government's role can be improved to assume a well-educated and prosperous future for our nation.

Two of my bills are before the Subcommittee. One is my "Professors Emeritus Act" which would bring to tired but active professors back on the job in the small colleges and developing schools, where we have critical shortages of teachers. Since I introduced this bill last month I've had a very warm response from college deans and presidents. Many schools force college teachers to retire at the age of 62 or 65 years, even if they want to keep working. My bill would bring them back to work, fill the gaps at junior colleges or our newer and less prosperous schools.

Another of my proposals before the Subcommittee is the Universal Higher Education Act. Its aim is simple: to make a first rate college-level education available for every qualified American who wants one. A century ago an English writer remarked that while "Grace is given of God . . . knowledge is bought on the market. To put it another way, the rich get wiser and the poor drop out.

The federal government is already doing a great deal to help youngsters who come from modest means. This week my office announced that more than $7 million have been allotted for students at 81 Texas colleges for grants and fellowships to help financially deprived students. My bill calls on the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare to devise ways where every qualified American would be guaranteed a good education, regardless of his financial situation.

We expect these hearings to cover a wide range of subjects, and the Subcommittee will hold further hearings in Washington. Many deans and scholars and several industry spokesmen will testify before the Subcommittee. These hearings in Austin on Friday could have great impact on the future course of higher education in Texas and America.

Outdoors In Texas

Look Before You Fish

A topflight fisherman, through experience gained by trial and error, can look at a stretch of water and be able to tell fairly accurately whether or not it will hold fish.

This is one reason why just a few fishermen catch most of the fish. They devote their time to working water where fish are likely to be.

Many casual fishermen spend much of their time fishing "dead" water where they stand no chance whatsoever of catching anything.

One of the best bass fishermen we know finds a likely stretch of shoreline and prospects along it for a few minutes, and if he hasn't had any action in that time, he hauls off to another spot. He keeps on continually and systematically trying different places until he pinpoint a concentration of fish.

A spot he tries in the morning, for instance, might be visited again in the afternoon. In bass fishing, things have a way of changing in a hurry.

Far too many fishermen, be they using artificial or natural baits, will stop at a certain spot and camp there for hours. This whether they are catching anything or not. Any fisherman should be able to tell within a reasonable length of time, no more than 30 minutes, whether a certain locale holds cooperative fish. If after this time he's had no action, he should move.

The typical fisherman seresses the mechanics of the sport. He reads everything he can get on the right tackles to use, the correct baits and how to manipulate them.

Even with this knowledge he'll catch nothing in dead water. On the other hand, just an average fisherman can take fish of he's at a spot where the fish are concentrated.

A skilled white bass fisherman of our acquaintance stresses the importance of first finding the fish. Every one thinks he has some magic, some secret strategy. Yet he does nothing that many other fishermen do except catch fish consistently.

One of his favorite lakes is Lake Buchanan in Central Texas. When he gets on Buchanan he immediately devotes his time to locating the fish, realizing that they can move from day to day.

If gulls are working, he'll fish below them, reasoning that they are feeding on shad that white bass have pushed to the surface.

Should there be no bird activity, he'll try different spots where he's taken whites in the past. It is a simple strategy that will work on any lake.

He'll spend only about 15 minutes or so at one spot. After taking maybe 15 to 20 casts without action, he'll pull the anchor and try another spot. He firmly believes in the simple fact that in white bass fishing, like any kind of fishing, a person must first find the fish before he can catch them.

This is true of any species — black bass, white bass, crappies or catfish.

Fish are not distributed evenly throughout any impoundment. They are isolated in scattered pockets. So, the angler must first find a concentration before he can catch anything. It is as simple as that!

Presidential Election Flurries of Activity

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

First flurries of activity on the 1968 presidential campaign front remind that it is going to be a long, long political year.

Entry of Sen. Robert Kennedy into the contest for the Democratic nomination set off more speculation than action.

Less than a week after Kennedy's announcement, however, a Beaumont college teacher announced he had accepted an invitation from the senator's office to head up his drive in Texas. Ron Platt, chairman of the small group known as Texas Liberal Democrats and a Lamar Tech assistant professor, said the Texas Committee for Kennedy soon will open an Austin office.

Dissenting Democrats of Texas reffirmed its support of Sen. Eugene McCarthy for president despite Kennedy's emergence. Co-Chairman Don Allford said DDT welcomes efforts of the Kennedy backers and expects help from them in some areas in opposing President Johnson. DDT claims a force of about 3,000 working to organize precinct conventions for McCarthy.

On the opposite end of the political stage, supporters of former Alabama Gov. George Wallace held their state convention here and kicked off their drive for 14,259 signatures to petitions. Petitions are necessary to get Wallace name on the November ballot as presidential candidate of the new American Party headed in Texas by former State Sen. Weaver Moore of Houston. Signers must not participate in Democratic or Republican primaries or conventions.

State Democratic Committee, meanwhile, has emphasized its support of President Johnson. Gov. John Connally has announced he intends to head a Texas delegation to the national convention committed to the president's renomination.

To date, there is little evidence of any major effort to take the Texas Democratic conventions away from Johnson.

Texas Republications, already leaning toward Richard Nixon, were left one less choice when Gov. Nelson Rockefeller announced he would not campaign for the nomination.

COURT SPEAKS

Supreme Court will hear arguments April 17 on whether Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler should be required to honor the West Texas minerals claim filed by Cobra Oil and Gos Corporation in Pecos, Culberson and Reeves Counties.

Third Court of Civil Appeals agreed with Comal County trial court that a New Braunfels used auto parts and junk dealer had no right to keep the city from fining him for violation of "beautification" ordinances.

Court of Criminal Appeals upheld conviction and life sentence of San Antonian Jorge Maldonado for murder of a used car salesman. Same court affirmed the 99-year sentence of a Houston area druggist for possession of heroin.

OPINIONS

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin said State Liquor Control Board records and orders should not be made available for public inspection except as the result of legal proceedings. Apparntely, he classes hearings before LCB administrator on violation allegations as legal proceedings.

In other new opinions, Martin concluded that:

- Abolished "city" of La Grulla in Starr County can hold a new incorporation election in less than a year from the date its abolition was resolved in court (last November 15).
- A school district that had issued no unlimited tax bonds can revert to limited tax status under a different statute and issue bonds subject to voter approval.

APPOINTMENTS

Former Atty. Gen. Will Wilson of Austin and Baylor University President Abner McCall were named co-chairmen of the Anti-Crime Council of Texas (ACT). Council has as its initial goal defeat of the May 4 referendum on pari-mutuel betting.

State Bar headquarters announced R. Glenn Jarvis of McAllen and George H. Nelson of Lubbock have been nominated for president-elect of the State Junior Bar. George F. Christie of Fort Worth and James Green wood of Houston are vice presidential nominees; and Jack Norwood, Tyler, and Robert R. Sanders of Amarillo nominees for secretary-treasurer.

Carl F. Wheeler Jr. of Austin is the new president of the Texas Elementary Principals and Supervisors Association. Warren W. Green of Tyler is president-elect, Robert L. Holden of San Angelo first vice president, William C. Harter of Canyon, second vice president and Mrs. Shirley Hale of Houston, third vice president.

PARK AID

Action to protect historic San Jacinto State Park from erosion and flood has been asked by Attorney General Martin.

He suggests moving De Zavala Cemetary, which floods at high tide, and an appropriation to Parks and Wildlife Department to protect the rest of the park.

A $39,915 federal grant has been approved for development of outdoor recreation facilities at 3,840-acre Monahans Sandhills State Park in Ward and Winkler Counties.

Another $11,450 federal grant will go to 332-acre Big Spring State Recreation Park, two miles south of Big Spring.

State matching funds will double project financing at both Sandhills and Big Spring facilities.

DRAFT CALL

State draft boards must furnish 2,378 men in April and, for the first time in two years, part of the group will go into the U. S. Marine Corps.

Figure compares with the quota of 1,947 for the Army in March and is the largest monthly call for draft boards since October, 1966, when Texas' share was 2,845.

Local boards will send 8,500 men to armed forces examining and entrance stations in April for pre-induction physical and mental examinations in preparation to fill future quotas. March total was 7,200.

April induction and pre-induction quotas were mailed to local boards by state Selective Service headquarters in mid-March. National quota for April is 48,000, of which Army will get 44,000 and Marines 4,000. Draftees are in 19-25 age bracket.

TRAFFIC TOLL

Traffic death in Texas last year totaled 3,367, according to latest Department of Public Safety tabulations.

This was a decrease of 1.15 per cent (first in seven years) from 1966 when a record 3,406 fatalities from auto accidents were recorded.

DPS noted that there was a five per cent increase in vehicle miles traveled in the state last year, for a death ratio of 5.8 persons killed for each 100,000,000 miles of travel. This is a decrease in death rate from 6.2 in 1966.

Total of 885,268 traffic accidents were reported in the state during 1967, with economic loss estimated at $793,000,000 and 205,000 injuries.

RECRUIT NURSES

State Board of Nurse Examiners registered 1,741 more nurses in 1967 than the 36,862 in 1966, and most of the new ones came from out of state.

Of all the new nurses, 1,494 moved to Texas from other states. Texas lost only 778 to other states. Also 821 new RNs were registered after graduation from nursing school.

Recruitment programs by the Texas Hospital Association and the Health Careers Program were given much of the credit for the increased number of nurses. "And then a lot of people just like to move to Texas," an official said.

One of the great debates of the season seems to be over the method of legalizing sale of liquor-by-drink.

Former Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, campaigning for governor, argues no constitutional bill can be written on the subject, and that an amendment to the state constitution's "open saloon" ban is necessary to legalize mixed drinks. Eugene Locke is campaigning heavily for local option mixed drinks bill, as has Governor Connally.

Attorney General Martin, called on for advice by the House committee studying liquor laws, sidestepped the issue. He sent the committee the 29-year-old opinions of the people." While ac-Mann that the legislature in defining "open saloons" acted "in obedience to command of the people." While acknowledging the legislature can change laws, Martin suggested that courts, not the attorney general, must test constitutionality of the new "open saloon" definition.

House committee, which is compiling a report for the special session this year, was advised that the Liquor Control Board should be "more forthright" to regain confidence of public.

CHICKEN FEED

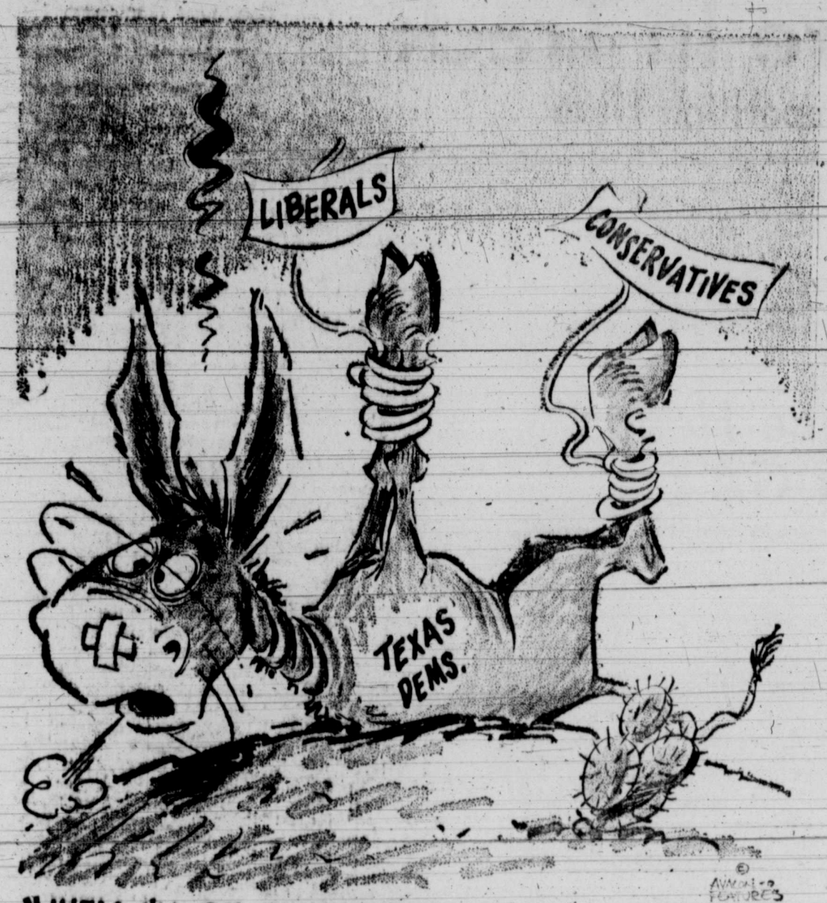

Kentucky Fried Chicken Company, of Colonel Sanders fame, has gone to court in Travis County to attack the state comptroller's classifying its establishments as "stores" rather than "restaurants."

Stores pay a higher license fee than restaurants, so K.F.C. is suing to recover $1,480 it paid under protest for its 17 establishments in Texas. K.F.C. says it should have been required to pay only $146.

The 98th District Court of Travis County has not set the suit for trial.

"WELL I'LL BE DOUBLEDOGGED BULLDOGGED!"

By OMAR BURLESON
United States Congressman
17th District

In view of the fact the U. S. Senate has recently passed a Civil Rights Bill, including the "open housing" provision, and the fact that a great many communications are being received on the subject, the following is a reprint of a release of July 7, 1966:

Section IV of the Civil Rights Bill of 1966 provides in substance that the owner of property for sale, rent or lease may not decline to sell, rent or lease to any person because of race, creed or color.

Other provisions of the measure make radical changes in an effort to confer "rights."

In 1789 the people of America were fearful that Government might restrict their freedoms. The First Congress of the United States in that year proposed the Bill of Rights.

The Bill of Rights essentially tells the government what it can not do and comprises the first ten Amendments to the United States Constitution. Many countries have an abundance of natural resources, vast lands and climate as good as ours, but 40 million immigrants came to this land seeking something called freedom.

They came here with the hope of security and the promise of the precious right to live as free men with equal opportunity for all.

In July 1868 a new guarantee of freedom was ratified. Its purpose was to guard against human slavery. Its guarantees were for the further equal protection of all. It is the 14th Amendment to the Constitution, and it reads in part as follows: "No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws . . ."

Laws enacted during the past three or four years, and the proposal now before the Congress, erode the rights and freedoms of every American property owner.

If anything more is needed to guarantee individual rights let it be that the individual American property owner, regardless of race, color or creed, should be allowed, under Law to retain:

1. The right of privacy.
2. The right to choose his own friends.
3. The right to own and enjoy property according to his own dictates.
4. The right to occupy and dispose of property without Governmental interference in accordance with his own judgement.
5. The right of all, equally, to enjoy property without interference by Laws giving special privilege to others.
6. The right to maintain what, in his opinion, are desired surroundings for tenants.
7. The right to contract with a real estate agent or other representative of his choice and to authorize him to act for him according to his instructions.
8. The right to determine the acceptability and desirability of any prospective buyer or tenant of his property.
9. The right of every American to choose whomever, in his opinion, are congenial tenants in any property he owns and to maintain the stability and security of his income.
10. The right to enjoy the freedom to accept, reject, negotiate or not to negotiate with anyone.

The prohibition against the individual to do with his property what he wishes, so long as he does not infringe upon his neighbor, is the denial of the third element of fundamental rights guaranteed under the Constitution.

When government attempts to confer privilege by legislation upon some, and by so doing takes away the rights of others, it does grave violence to the Constitution.

Loss of these rights diminishes personal freedom and creates a springboard for the future erosion of our liberties.

Sermon Of The Week

Tells One Sure Way To The Right Trail

By WEEMS S. DYKES
First Christian Church

Matthew 7:13-14 — "Enter Ye in at the straight gate: for wide is the gate and broad is the way, that leadeth to destruction, and many there be which go in thereat: Because straight is the gate, and narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it."

* * *

When I was a little boy I used to go over and spend the night with a couple of neighbor friends who were about my age. How well I remember one morning even before the break of day hearing an old hound baying in the woods. All of a sudden Robert and Paul bounded out of their bed, jumped into their clothes and were off to the woods to see what the old hound had treed. I just gave them my blessing and turned over and tried to get some more sleep. I don't know what the old hound found, or whether he was just sniffing up the wrong trail, but I do know that in life many a person has gotten on the wrong trail and never seem to find the thing in life for which they were searching.

Joe Evans, old timey cow boy of the west who is now deceased, tells about men who have gone bear or lion hunting, and that as the hound dog crossed the trail of the animal it went sniffing down the back part of the trail instead of the front part of it, and at the end, not only the hound but the hunters were all tuckered out. The bear and lion must have been laughing as they watched from some mountain top as the old hound began his sniffing up the wrong trail.

One reason these hunters failed in their hunt was that the hound was more eager to bark than to be sure.

That often happens when one engages an inexperienced guide, to lead them through the big woods of a forest, the price is right, but the way is not sure.

Men from time immemorial have been sniffing up the wrong trail of life, they have been going back over the same trails their forefathers traveled. Fighting the same old battles, carrying the same old prejudices, and promoting the same old schemes, and getting the same old head aches and heart breaks.

King Solomon tried the trail of sensous pleasure to give him the answers to life.

He tried the pursuit of knowledge and then said, "To the writing of books there is no end, and much study is a weariness of the flesh."

He tried the accumulation of wealth and found no joy in the cold lifeless possession of things. Vanity, Vanity, all is vanity, saith the preacher!

Solomon finally said, "Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter: Fear God, and keep his commandments: for this is the whole duty of man. For God shall bring every work into judgement, with every secret thing, whether it be good, or whether it be evil."

The Old Testament is full of illustrations of nations and people sniffing up the wrong trail of life.

Moses leading the people of Israel through the wilderness! Forty years in the wilderness, sounds like the modern song, "The music goes round and round and comes out here!"

Joshua took over leadership and confronted the people with these words, "Now therefore fear the Lord, and serve him in sincerity and in truth: and put away the gods which your fathers served on the other side of the flood and in Egypt; and serve ye the Lord. And if it seems evil unto you to serve he Lord, choose you this day whom you will serve; whether the gods which your fathers served that were on the other side of the flood, or the gods of the Amorites, in whose land you dwell: but as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord."

Here was a call to decision! Here a challenge was offered! Here was a God to be served!

Put in modern language by John Oxenham it says, "To every man there openth a way, and ways, and a way. And the high soul climbs the highway, and low soul gropes the low. And in between on the misty flats the rest drift to and fro, But to every man here openeth a highway and a low, and every man decideth the way his soul should go."

The Prodigal Son chose the low road and ended up in a hog pen! He sniffed up the wrong trail.

King David chose the wrong trail of sensual pleasure and the Prophet Nathan, cried out and said to him, "Thou art the man. Who has brought disgrace in the land!

The Pharisees sniffed up the wrong trail of legalism and brought unhappiness and misery into the lives of the people of their day.

If we don't want to go through life sniffing up the wrong trails along the way, then let us find a guide who knows the way, "I am the Life, the truth and the way" saith, Jesus.

If we don't want to go down the road of darkness, let us remember that Jesus is the light of the world.

If we don't want to end up in the pig pen of sinful shame as a Prodigal son, let us come to ourselves and remember that in our Fathers House are many mansions.

I say to you there is one sure way to the right trail of God and it is by way of the cross of Calvary. "I must needs go home by the way of the cross, There's no other way but this; I shall ne'er get sight of the Gates of Light, If the way of the cross I miss The way of the cross leads home, the way of the cross leads home, it is sweet to know, as I onward go, The way of the cross leads home."

We'll not sniff the wrong trail of life if we follow Christ as the Guide of Life.

"This is my beloved Son. Follow ye him!"

Senator's Point

To Attend Day of Hearings

By RALPH YARBOROUGH
United States Senator

Tomorrow, March 29, the Senate Education Subcommittee will travel to Austin for a full day of hearings on the present and the future of higher education in the United States.

The hearings will be held on the campus of the University of Texas, and we hope to have testimony from some of the leading educators and citizens of our state.

This will be the first time a Congressional Education Committee has ever held a hearing in Texas. I have been a member of the Education Subcommittee for 10 years. I shall be present as a member of the Subcommittee. Senator Morse of Oregon, the Subcommittee chairman, and Senator Murphy of California are also expected to attend.

We will hear testimony on the working of the Higher Education Act of 1965, which is up for renewal this year and I hope to hear new ideas on how the government's role can be improved to assume a well-educated and prosperous future for our nation.

Two of my bills are before the Subcommittee. One is my "Professors Emeritus Act" which would bring retired but active professors back on the job in the small colleges and developing schools, where we have critical shortages of teachers. Since I introduced this bill last month I've had a very warm response from college deans and presidents. Many schools force college teachers to retire at the age of 65, or 65 years, even if they want to keep working. My bill would bring them back to work, filling the gaps at junior colleges or our newer and less prosperous schools.

Another of my proposals before the Subcommittee is the Universal Higher Education Act. Its aim is simple: to make a first rate college-level education available to every qualified American who wants one. A century ago an English writer remarked that while "Grace is given of God . . . knowledge is bought on the market. To put it another way, the rich get wiser and the poor drop out.

The federal government is already doing a great deal to help youngsters who come from modest means. This week my office anounced that more than $7 million have been allotted for students at 81 Texas colleges for grants and fellowships to help financially derived students. My bill calls on the Secretary of Heath, Education and Welfare to devise ways where every qualified American would be guaranteed a good education, regardless of his financial situation.

We expect these hearings to cover a wide range of subjects, and the Subcommittee will hold further hearings in Washington. Many deans and scholars and several industry spokesmen will testify before our Subcommittee. These hearings in Austin on Friday could have great impact on the future course of higher education in Texas and America.

Outdoors In Texas

Look Before You Fish

A topflight fisherman, through experience gained by trial and error, can look at a stretch of water and be able to tell fairly accurately whether or not it will hold fish.

This is one reason why just a few fishermen catch most of the fish. They devote their time to working water where fish are likely to be.

Many casual fishermen spend much of their time fishing "dead" water where they stand no chance whatsoever of catching anything.

One of the best bass fishermen we know finds a likely stretch of shoreline and prospects along it for a few minutes, and if he hasn't had any action in that time, he hauls off to another spot. He keeps on continually and systematically trying different places until he pinpoint a concentration of fish.

A spot he tries in the morning, for instance, might be visited again in the afternoon. In bass fishing, things have a way of changing in a hurry.

Far too many fishermen, be they using artificial or natural baits, will stop at a certain spot and camp there for hours. This whether they are catching anything or not. Any fisherman should be able to tell within a reasonable length of time, no more than 30 minutes, whether a certain locale holds cooperative fish. If after this time he's had no action, he should move.

The typical fisherman seresses the mechanics of the sport. He reads everything he can get on the right tackles to use, the correct baits and how to manipulate them.

Even with this knowledge he'll catch nothing in dead water. On the other hand, just an average fisherman can take fish of he's at a spot where the fish are concentrated.

A skilled white bass fisherman of our acquaintance stresses the importance of first finding the fish. Every one thinks he has some magic, some secret strategy. Yet he does nothing that many other fishermen do except catch fish consistently.

One of his favorite lakes is Lake Buchanan in Central Texas. When he gets on Buchanan he immediately devotes his time to locating the fish, realizing that they can move from day to day.

If gulls are working, he'll fish below them, reasoning that they are feeding on shad that white bass have pushed to the surface.

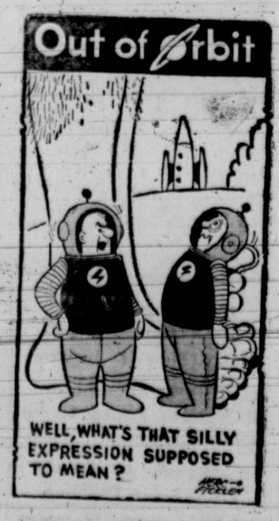

Should there be no bird activity, he'll try different spots where he's taken whites in the past. It is a simple strategy that will work on any lake.

He'll spend only about 15 minutes or so at one spot. After taking maybe 15 to 20 casts without action, he'll pull the anchor and try another spot. He firmly believes in the simple fact that in white bass fishing, like any kind of fishing, a person must first find the fish before he can catch them.

This is true of any species black bass, white bass, crappies or catfish.

Fish are not distributed evenly throughout any impoundment. They are isolated in scattered pockets. So, the angler must first find a concentration before he can catch anything. It is as simple as that!

48 YEARS EXPERIENCE

Rhodes Manages Rockwell Lumber

Roy Rhodes is new manager of Rockwell Bros. Lumber Company here but is no stranger to Colorado City.

Rhodes, who was named to the head position at Rockwell in January, has lived in Colorado City three different times in the past 19 years.

He has hed 48 years experience in the lumber yard business.

Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes live at 917 East Ninth Street in a home they built about three years ago.

They were transferred here by Burton-Lingo Lumber Company the first time in January, 1949, and lived here for 20 months. Their older son, Roy, was graduated from Colorado High in 1950.

The Rhodes were then transferred to Snyder for three years, coming back to Colorado City for the same period of time.

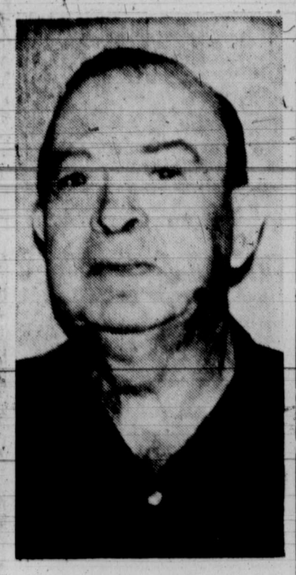

From Colorado City they were transferred to Abilene for four years and to Monahans for four years.

After the sale of Burton-Lingo, Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes returned to Colorado City where he has been employed by local lumber companies.

They are members of First Baptist Church and he is a member of Masonic Lodge and Knights of Pythins.

They have three children, all of whom attended Colorado City schools. They are Major Roy Rhodes of Fort Ruckner, Ala., Mrs. Wendell (Rita) Autry of Ravenna, Ohio, and Burton Rhodes of Lake Colorado City.

Major and Mrs. Rhodes have three children — Connie, Pam and Gary. The Autrys have two children, Sharon and Norman. The Burton Rhodes are parents of a three-month-old daughter, Tammy.

Roy Rhodes

In announcing his managership of Rockwell Bros., Rhodes said he planned no major changes in the company's operation.

CONVERSATION CORNER

Ruth Coffey's

FELL HEIR to one of those funny little "reminder" cards which was headed "Things To Do Today."

On the little card there are listed five things. One, get organized. Two, talk to wife. Three, get reorganized. Four, talk to wife. Five, Abandon entire idea. Six, talk to self."

And that's about as organized as the average man ever gets. For that matter, it's just about as organized as the average man's wife ever gets, too.

MAIN PROBLEM seems to be that all of us are so over-organized by everything from zip code to area code to account number to birth certificate to income tax to insurance premiums that there's no time left to get personally organized in, anyhow.

Only the brave determined character insists on even trying to get organized. Only the incurable optimist would ever go so far as to write notes to himself or outline projects for the day.

Us disorganized people operate differently. We don't just wind up talking to ourselves. We start out like that.

IT'S BECAUSE of us disorganized people that the Internal Revenue Service has to establish and enforce deadlines.

We are the ones who make light companies rich staying up all night April 14.

We are the ones who run out of gas . . . pay fines at the library . . . decide to go to the bank on Saturday when it's closed . . . forget to call the beauty shop in time . . . and lose everything we put away for safe keeping.

LIFE has a way of teaching things whether you're willing to learn or not, however.

Have never learned to live by a budget or hammer a straight nail or stand up on roller skates.

Did learn, finally, that nobody can be two places at once . . . that a woman can nearly always outsmart a man and all their kids can outsmart both of 'em.

And that when you talk to yourself you're assured of at least one good listener.

SEEN LATELYS were Rodney Tiller over this way from Conhoma . . . Johnnie Tartt (Mrs. B. W.) who handed out the "Things To Do Today" card.

Saw Raymond Fuller on the downtown scene . . . Dwight Tomb . . . Jo Tiller (Mrs. Johnny) lunching solo . . . Betty (Mrs. J. C.) Garrett, office drop-in . . . Gus Chesney strolling by . . . Tom Rees, attorney.

Chatted a minute with Eddie Braswell . . . and with C.O.P. (Chief of Police) Jesse Browning.

THE BROWNINGS had their two daughters home last weekend. Their daughter Gayle was here from Nashville Tenn. where she's enjoying a career with a travel agency.

Here from Lovington, N. M., was the Browning daughter Mrs. Tommy Jones and sons Greg and Tommy Gale.

Relatives from Snyder joined the family. So did Paul Yeager and his wife from Alpine where he's a Sul Ross student.

HEAR TELL our Roger Richards, son of Bea and Lloyd (Pint) Richards, will be in a play presented by Angelo State's drama department, April 9, at Colorado High School.

Roger, senior at ASC, will play a slave in "Roman Comedy." The college actors will also stage their show at Goodfellow, at Webb and at Dyess Air Force Bases.

Did you know that the Richards' daughter Jill is studying in New Orleans at Meadows-Draughns business college?

And that Wesley Richards, first son, is now in Bay City, Michigan, working on sonar installation for the destroyer O'Callahan? Wesley was recently promoted to petty officer, first class, United States Navy.

His wife and family are in San Diego, Calif., to be the O'Callahan's home port after a journey down the Great Lakes to the Atlantic, through the Canal Zone, then to the Pacific and West Coast.

CLOUD NINE belongs now at the home of Dolores (Smith) and Charles Wood.

The couple have adopted a baby daughter to be named Staci Lynn.

FAMILIAR FACES here and there places belonged to pretty Martha Sparks, blond daughter of Flo and Wann, granddaughter of Lilly Sparks . . . and to dark jowled George Womack.

Mary Anne McCloud (Mrs. Austin) and her daughter Sharon were office visitors . . . So was Sefton Pickens . . . Mrs. J. D. Gibson, too.

Charles Walker and Judge Austin McCloud were spied sipping pink milkshakes!

The Joe Morrens were hamburgering together . . . Saw Calvin Vanzandt at the Corner. Also Luna Bilberry (Mrs. Henry) of the L.T.N.S. (long time no see) department.

Thanks, Buddy –

State Highway Patrolman Buddy Hertenberger deserves a bit of thanks for reminding not only State officials, but all of us about the splendid work in Mitchell County by Paul Logsdon and his Texas Highway Department maintenance crew.

Riding down a highway with all the comforts of our modern cars, we usually have our thoughts elsewhere than for those who help with the safety and convenience of our travel.

Logsdon has 22 employes under his supervision and a few college youths will join the ranks this summer during vacation periods. Out there on State 208 at the engineer's office, the Texas Highway Department has 37 more employes busy with highway jobs all except 8 living here.

So you see, our Texas Highway Department staffs here — and you can add the asphalt inspectors also — add up to a sizeable amount of our business-industry in addition to being dedicated, helpful neighbors.

Sign of economic progress

When vacant land is turned into productive property, it means increased tax revenue, added employment and a general boost in local business. That's why we look upon industrial development as such an important part of our job. Recognizing that our growth depends largely upon the growth of the communities we serve, we work closely with local leadership in supporting community development projects and in soliciting new industry. We want to be a full partner in continuing efforts to promote the growth of these communities. We consider it part of our citizenship responsibility as well as good business.

Class Gets Weeds From West Texas

First grade pupils of Bunker Hill, West Virgina, have adopted a new project. They hope to grow a tumbleweed.

At request from their teacher Mrs. Reva M. Hoffman the class was shipped a big tumbleweed from the Colorado City area by Sefton Pickens, manager of the local Chamber of Commerce.

"We have had such fun," Mrs. Hoffman wrote to Mr and Mrs. Pickens, "showing our tumbleweed all over school. Now we are planting some of its seeds and are trying to grow one for our room."

Each of the 25 pupils also wrote a thank-you letter to the Chamber of Commerce here.

DEALERS OFFER FREE WIRING SPECIAL FOR ELECTRIC RANGES

Mrs. Modern Homemaker who spends much of her time in the kitchen preparing meals for the family knows just how important a good range is to her and to her family.

Since the range is the focal point of activities in the kitchen for the lady of the house, the many automatic and beneficial features of the electric range makes it her biggest helper.

Only the electric range has the completely automatic features so advantageous to the housewife. For instance, if she needs to be away from home attending a meeting at the school, or at church, or visiting friends the modern homemaker with the automatic electric oven has no problem. She can prepare her meal in advance, place it in the oven and set the timer for the oven to turn on at a specified time. After the meal is cooked or warmed, the timer will turn off the heat but keep it serving hot until dinner time.

And this is only one of the many automatic controls on new electric ranges which make them easier to use and more efficient than ever. Many models have high-speed, high-wattage units for faster cooking, and most have thermostatically controlled surface units that automatically maintain the correct degree of heat throughout the cooking process. Accurate pushbutton or dial temperature controls and precise even-heat elements eliminate pot-watching and the danger of burns or boil-overs.

New electric ranges come in a number of styles, designed with the streamlined, built-in look that is desirable for modern kitchens. Some of the models have double ovens which come with separate controls so foods that require different heat and timing can be cooked simultaneously. While a cake is baking in one oven, a roast with vegetables can be cooking in the other. And for the roast, some models have meat thermometers that control the "doneness" desired in roast, steak or other meat and let the housewife know when the meat is ready.

Other electric models have automatic rotisseries in the ovens so meats will baste in their own juices as they turn. Also available are models with surface griddles and barbecue grills for "out-door cooking" indoors all year long.

Many options in electric ranges give the homemaker the chance to choose just what she likes best and is most convenient for her. It might be the traditional free-standing model, which needs only to be plugged in, has square corners and fits flush with the front and tons of standard cabinets and counters.

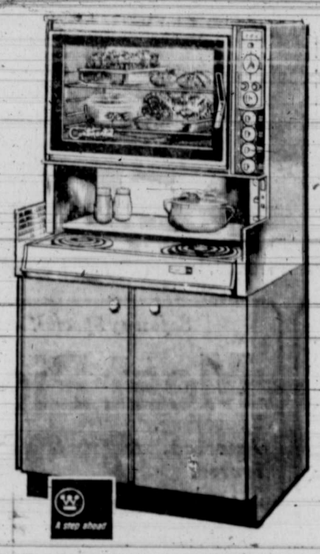

Or she may prefer the free-standing style with the eye-level oven and with or without a waist-high oven to go along. And popular with new homebuilders or those having their kitchens remodeled are the built-in models, with either single or double ovens and counter top surface units mounted with the cabinets or on an island in the middle of the kitchen.

Another favorite is the drop-in model that slides onto a low platform base and is especially practical for small kitchens.

Yes, the new electric ranges offer just about anything the homemaker desires and in decorator colors to match any kitchen.

Manufacturers of electric ranges continue to add new features to their products, bringing delight to the home maker who uses them. And the easy-cleaning features offered on a number of models are probably the most welcomed by the lady in the kitchen.

Some models have self-cleaning ovens which automatically burn off all food and grease stains. Others have ovens with disposable foil linings and some have oven walls, often Teflon coated, which may be removed for washing in the sink.

Even a frown can worry Mother. And when he has a fever — she always fears the worst!

Did you know, Mother, that more children fall victim to spiritual neglect than any of the crippling diseases we dread? It has wrecked the fond hopes and bold dreams of hundreds of thousands of parents.

Yet it isn't a disease, at all!

It is a HESITATION; hesitating to start our child in Church School, hesitating to go with him and worship God, hesitating to discuss at home the need for moral and religious foundation for the whole family.

Face it today! Do something about it next Sunday! Choose YOUR church. And make it YOUR church. And through a lifetime of worship and faith it can be for your child . . . HIS church

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

PROBABLY COMING DOWN WITH SOMETHING!

Zetagathians Feature Art Forum

A forum of art was featured last Thursday in a meeting of Zetagathian Study Club in the home of Mrs. Sam L. Majors Jr.

Participating in the forum were Mrs. L. S. (Bunky) Girvin Jr., Mrs. James G. McMath and Mrs. Kenneth E. Rogers.

Mrs. Ann Davis was leader for the afternoon.

Mrs. Girvin began her discussion by asking, "Are there enduring values on which to judge art?"

She emphasized that only time can tell which art is valuable. Art is a matter for individual appraisal, the speaker continued.

"Buying pictures for the love of art is practically a thing of the past," she said. "The profit is uppermost."

Mrs. McMath distributed books showing various paintings. She discussed the pictures and artists.

Mrs. Rogers showed projection slides and presented a resume of each.

The resignation of Mrs. Billy Wilkinson was accepted during th beusiness session.

Attending the meeting were Mrs. Eduardo Aquilar, Mrs. Warren Anderson, Mrs. Harland Birdwell, Mrs. J. S. (Jay) Craddock Jr., Mrs. Davis, Mrs. R. F. Fee Jr., Mrs. Girvin, Mrs. Larry Kinard, Mrs. Curtis Latimer.

Also, Mrs. McMath, Mrs. Bob Rejly Mrs. W. S. (Bill) Rhode, Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. O. B. Trulock Jr., Mrs. Wal[illegible] Price and Mrs. Majors.

Easter program for the club will be April 4 in the home of Mrs. Irdwell. "What is Love?" will be topic of program study by Rev. Harland Birdwell, vicar of All Saints' Episcopal Church.
