Ex-teacher seeks school board seat for at-large post

A fourth candidate announced for the Snyder school board Friday morning, retired Snyder school teacher Billy Bob McMullan.

McMullan, 60, announced for an at-large position on the board. He becomes the third candidate seeking one of three posts which will be elected by all district voters.

Incumbent board member J.D. Hinton and local business owner Ruben Martinez have announced as at-large candidates also.

McMullan, of 2804 35th St., retired as an ag instructor with the Snyder school system in May of 1986 after 33 years with Snyder ISD and 35 years in the teaching profession.

He has lived in Scurry County all of his life.

Hinton, 57, a retired architect, has served on the board some seven years. Martinez, 37, is president of Kalko Industries here, an oil well servicing firm.

Filing to represent District 1 Thursday was Vernon James Clay, 40, of 3011 Ave. K. He is an operator for Warren Petroleum.

District 1 is the board seat under the new voting plan which will represent an area with a greater than 50 percent minority population.

As of Friday morning, no candidates for the District 4 position had surfaced. This school trustee will represent all areas served by Snyder ISD outside the city limits in addition to the city developments located south of Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

The deadline to file for all five school board positions is next Friday, March 20.

The election will be held April 4.

Walsh is given go ahead

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dismissing lawsuits that struck "at the core" of independent counsel Lawrence E. Walsh's authority, a judge says Walsh can forge ahead with his investigation of the Iran-Contra affair and the man who tried to stop it: Oliver L. North.

U.S. District Judge Barrington D. Parker's rejection of two North lawsuits Thursday cleared one potential obstacle for Walsh, but still left him racing to develop a possible criminal case before North and other key figures are granted congressional immunity.

An immunity grant would prevent Walsh from using congressional testimony as the basis for a criminal case.

Turning down North's constitutional challenge to the Walsh probe, Parker said, "The nation demands an expeditious and complete disclosure" of the Iran-Contra affair. North, he concluded, "has not suffered an injury of sufficient keenness to warrant the court's intercession" in a criminal investigation.

Parker said North's challenge "strikes at the core of Walsh's authority to conduct a criminal investigation" and raises an issue of "grave constitutional importance."

North, a fired National Security Council aide, is the central figure in the investigation of arms sales to Iran and possible diversion of payments to the Nicaraguan Contras.

Walsh, commenting on the ruling, said, "We welcome the prompt determination of the court that the investigation of independent counsel continue without interruption or disruption."

Meanwhile, a similar challenge to the independent counsel law mounted by lobbyist Michael K. Deaver, a former aide to President Reagan, remained alive Thursday.

The U.S. Court of Appeals granted Deaver an emergency order, good through next Tuesday, that prevents the independent counsel in that case from seeking a grand jury indictment.

By Monday, attorneys for Deaver and independent counsel Whitney North Seymour Jr. are to file legal papers arguing their positions. Seymour on Feb. 25 announced his intention to seek a four-count perjury indictment, but now has been stopped twice by temporary court orders, the first by a lower court judge the day the suit was filed.

Cast members, singers for dinner show noted

The Snyder Junior High dinner theatre production, slated for next Thursday, will feature approximately 80 students in performance.

These will include some 20 Drama I students, under the direction of Ellie Dryden. They will present two Readers' Theatre selections and a melodrama.

In addition, approximatley 60 choir students, under the direction of Barbara Perkins, will present a variety of musical selections.

The Snyder Junior High choir and drama departments, plus two special guests, will perform at 7 p.m. at the junior high.

A Mexican food buffet will be served in the cafeteria and the production will be in the auditorium. Proceeds from the evening will help defray the cost of the central courtyard renovation project now underway.

Two Readers Theatre selections are "Charles" by Shirley Jackson and "Charlie Brown's All Stars" by Charles Schulz.

The cast of "Charles" includes Holly Floyd, narrator; Stephanie Arnold, mother; Trent Cox, father; Brandon Terry, Larry.

The cast of "Charlie Brown's All Stars" include Kristi Mize, narrator; Lloyd Bennett, Charlie Brown; Holly Scott, Lucy; Melanie Gannaway, Frieda; John Conger, Shermy; and Eric West, Linus.

The melodrama is "United By Love" by Audrey Burdell Cank.

The cast of characters include Erin Rambo, ma; Scott Rodgers, pa; Charity McCoy, Ivy; Scott Graham, Caleb Strong; and B.J. Thompson as Obediah Slithers.

Choir students offering selections will include J.K. Palmer, "Joshua Fit de Battle of Jericho" and Boys Choir, "Viva Tutti," and "Boatmen Stamp."

The Chorale will present selections from "All American." They include "God Bless The USA," "This Land Is Your Land," "Stand Up For Freedom," "Simple Gifts," and "America The Beautiful." The Chorale numbers are all choreographed.

Eddie Bowlin will perform "Gary, Indiana."

The program will also include two community guest performers: Marcie Dennis and Glenda Hollingsworth, who will entertain during the second half of the evening.

Lynn Bethel will provide dinner music.

Tickets are $12.50 which includes the buffet and entertainment. Only 220 tickets will be available and these must be purchased by Wednesday at either the American State Bank or the junior high office.

Kmart names new manager

A new manager has been named for the Snyder Kmart, N.C. Jakust, 34, who has transferred here from Louisville, Ky.

He has been with the corporation for 15 years and formerly served as a co-manager at the Kentucky store.

His assignment with the Snyder Kmart marks his first as a store manager for all operations. He has served in management-type roles the past 10 years, however.

Jakust is a native of Michigan and a graduate of Redford Union High School in Redford, Mich., a suburb of Detroit. He also attended two years at a Michigan community college.

He and his wife DiAnna arrived in the city early this week.

Jakust replaces former manager L.C. Greene.

AD official 'corrects' facts on foreclosure

Appraisal District head Ray Peveler said this week an Associated Press news story distributed throughout the state last week has created misconceptions regarding how and when a Texas property owner may lose their homestead.

Peveler noted the story stated taxing jurisdictions cannot foreclose on homestead property due to unpaid taxes under the law.

In fact, he said, taxpayers--even those claiming a homestead exemption on their property tax bills--can lose their property to satisfy delinquent taxes owed.

Peveler said the state's tax code not only allows foreclosure for non-payment of delinquent taxes, it also allows private industries and banking institutions to seize property to satisfy delinquent home improvement loan accounts if the homeowner is under 65 years of age.

Those over age 65 are exempt from these foreclosures. But, other individuals run the risk of having their homes seized if they fail to pay either property taxes or home improvement loans.

As an example, he noted, there are cases of individuals losing their homes for failing to pay loans taken out to add siding to their home.

In these cases, a private business — such as a siding company or a building contractor — has sued for payment and forced foreclosure.

While persons 65 years of age and over are protected from

Roger Enlow, editor of the Hood County News in Granbury, took his young son to a concert in Dallas recently. The boy's response brought about a painful sense of awareness.

Roger told the boy that he had grown up with the band. "They were popular when I was in high school."

To which Jeremy replied, "Dad, you mean they're still alive?"

We admire quiet folks. They seldom have to explain something, because they rarely say anything. It's a trait we've tried, but failed to learn.

Talking can get you in trouble, and a story passed along by Danny Hukel in the Gatesville Messenger is a classic case.

A car was stopped by a highway patrolman. The trooper congratulated the driver, saying he had just won $100 for being the 100th car passing by with all occupants buckled up with seatbelts. The patrolman asked the driver what he might do with his new-found money.

"Well," said the motorist. "I think I'll go and get a driver's license, now that I can afford it."

"Don't pay any attention to him, officer," said his wife. "He always says something stupid when he's had too much to drink."

The mother-in-law had been sitting quietly in the back seat, but now spoke up. "I told them, officer, that we would never get far in this stolen car."

Stephen Henry, in the Levelland News-Press, told about a creative job applicant. The last question on the application asked why he had left his last job.

To which he wrote one word, "Turnover."

During the interview, the personnel director asked, "What do you mean by turnover?"

"They turned my job over to someone else."

Q. — Where do you get rid of used motor oil?

A. — There are no public facilities offered for such a service in Snyder. The landfill has no designated area for used motor oil, city officials note. Local service stations have individual storage tanks for vehicles they service and one station owner noted that his tank is emptied by a private business operator and dumped at a facility in Lamesa. He said at one time they could sell this used oil, but now they have to give it away.

Nuke plant

BAY CITY, Texas (AP) — Officials are investigating a vibration in a water line at the South Texas Nuclear Project that a Houston Lighting & Power Co. spokesman says was caused by "water hammer."

No injuries were reported when the vibration occurred Wednesday night, officials said, but about three dozen workers were sent home early.

The plant's Unit 1 was being cooled down following a month-long test of major systems that brought temperatures and pressures to the level they would be at during normal operation.

Four bombs

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Four bombs exploded in Belfast today injuring at least five police officers, four of them at a cemetery where a slain colleague was being buried, police said.

A car bomb blew up near Roselawn Cemetery on the outskirts of Belfast as the funeral cortege was approaching with the body of reservist Peter Nesbitt, who was killed by a bomb in Belfast Tuesday night, said Superintendent Leonard Bleakney, a spokesman for the Royal Ulster Constabulary.

Three of the police officers suffered shrapnel wounds and a fourth was in shock, he said.

Baby is returned to mom

CIUDAD JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) — A 9-month-old baby was returned to its mother by a woman who denied claims from the child's father that she bought the child for $50, authorities say.

Isela Gonzalez Vazquez, 18, turned her common-law husband over to police when he told her he had sold their baby to buy food. The husband, Martin Avila Morales, 18, was charged with child neglect and jailed.

Teresa Anvario de Salazar — a Torreon, Coahuila, traveling businesswoman — returned the baby to police, saying she had only taken it to provide temporary care, said Jose Refugio Rubalcava, commander of the State Judicial police in this border city.

Ms. Salazar said she gave the father 50,000 Mexican pesos, or about $50, only as a loan to Avila, not as payment for the baby.

"But of course, we already have the statement from the father saying he sold his daughter to this lady," Rubalcava said Thursday.

The charge against Avila could be changed when he appears before a judge, said Ricardo Perez Gallardo, an assistant state prosecutor.

"The case is weakening now because the mother doesn't want to press charges now that she has her baby back," said Rubalcava.

Although Avila said he had sold the baby to buy food, he said in his statement he did not share the money with his wife.

Don't let pills make you sicker

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I get anxiety attacks, am dizzy and hot most of the time, and my vision is blurry. I take Centrax, Synthroid and Procardia and wear Nitrodisc patches. What might be causing my symptoms?

DEAR READER — Centrax (prazepan) is a tranquilizer that can produce fatigue, dizziness and blurred vision. Procardia (nifedipine) is a calcium-channel blocker used to treat angina and high blood pressure; it can cause dizziness, flushing, nervousness and blurred vision. Synthroid (synthetic thyroid hormone) causes no symptoms when given in appropriate doses; however, in high doses, it can produce fatigue, sensations that resemble hot flashes, dizziness and vision problems. Nitrodisc (nitroglycerine delivered by a patch on the skin) can cause dizziness and flushing.

As you can see, each of your medicines could cause your symptoms. To complicate matters, anxiety itself can produce dizziness and flushing.

Your problem is common. As doctors use more and more medicines, there is an increasingly greater risk of side effects. One of today's most fascinating challenges is to separate drug effects from disease symptoms. As in your case, this may not be easy.

Review with your doctor all of the medicines you are taking and why. You need to know whether you are getting the right doses. You may need to have certain medicines changed or reduced. Check with your doctor and request that he or she address the problems that are bothering you.

For further information on medicines, I'm sending you a free copy of my Health Report, CONSUMER TIPS ON MEDICINES. Other readers who want a copy should send $1 and your name and address to P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I've seen ads for electronic exercise machines that stimulate skeletal muscles via electrical impulses sent through pads strapped to the body. These machines are available "by prescription only," but the advertisers appear to have a doctor available to write one. Are these machines hazardous?

DEAR READER — Electronic stimulation to replace exercise is a brand of quackery. It's true that certain forms of electrical muscle stimulation are useful in the rehabilitation of people with injuries and nerve disorders, but these should be used under the guidance of specially trained physiotherapists. Do-it-yourself home units are ineffective. In addition, the electrical stimulation can be very painful unless the electrodes are properly applied. Stay away from electronic exercise machines unless you are getting approved treatment under the supervision of a licensed MD or physical therapist who knows you.

Dallas ballet surpasses fund raising goal

DALLAS (AP) — The curtain won't go down on the Dallas Ballet — at least not for now.

Dance company officials announced Thursday that more than 2,400 contributors raised $535,000 in a week-long fund drive — $85,000 more than the $450,000 needed to keep the ballet alive.

"You'd never see this happen in any other place. We've seen Dallas at its very best this week," said Nancy Steorts, a member of the ballet's board of trustees.

Dancers were jubilant after the board reported the drive results.

Two AIDS drugs seem to work against each other

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two drugs which separately may be beneficial in treating AIDS show noticeably less effectiveness and may even harm patients when used together, scientists say.

Researchers at Boston's Massachusetts General Hospital and elsewhere said Thursday they tested the drugs AZT and ribavirin in several different human cell cultures and found they antagonized one another.

"It is conceivable that this mechanism happens in people as well," Dr. Markus W. Vogt said in a telephone interview. "This should be tested in animals before trying the combination in humans."

The researchers cautioned that desperate patients with the fatal disease who obtain the experimental drugs illegally may harm themselves if they mix the two.

"I am afraid that both AZT and ribavirin are or will be available on the black market, particularly in large cities on the East and West Coasts," said Dr. Martin S. Hirsch, head of AIDS research at the hospital.

"It is a natural temptation for people who are desperate and fear for their lives to attempt to combine these drugs," he continued.

The Boston researchers tested azidothymidine, or AZT, made by the Burroughs Wellcome Co., of Research Triangle Park, N.C., with ribavirin, an antiviral drug made by ICN Pharmaceuticals of Costa Mesa, Calif.

The researchers said it appears ribavirin prevents necessary chemical changes in AZT that are required for the drug to interfere with reproduction of the virus which causes acquired immune deficiency syndrome.

In a multi-staged process, AZT must pick up phosphorus to become active against viral reproduction, Vogt said. Ribavirin, which goes through the same process, seems to compete with AZT to decrease its effectiveness, he said.

AZT, which reduced the symptoms and death rate of patients with AIDS in a trial last year, is being taken experimentally by thousands of patients in a new test.

Declarer's unlucky day

By James Jacoby

It's Friday the 13th, an unlucky time for declarer. It was unusual to open one no-trump with a six-card heart suit, but South liked his 15 high-card points and honors in all suits. Responder bid two clubs (Stayman) and then two no-trump. South bid three hearts, offering North an option of three no-trump (which makes easily) or four hearts. Fearing the club suit, North elected the heart game.

A low club was led to East's king. Without cashing the ace, East switched to the diamond 10. South put up the queen, covered by the king and ace. Eventually declarer had to lose another club, a diamond and the spade king. So what's unlucky? Declarer had the correct reading on the outstanding high cards. He felt it likely that East would have opened the bidding with A-K of clubs and another king (and maybe a jack or two). If East carelessly cashes his second high club before switching to the diamond 10, declarer can make 10 tricks. He would play low on the diamond 10 and win the diamond ace. Then he would run all his winning tricks, coming down to A-4 of spades and the lone diamond queen. What will West hold? If it's K-8 of spades and the diamond king, declarer puts West in with the diamond to lead away from the spade king. If West unguards the spade king, declarer drops it to make his contract. But there was no chance for any of this when East played a diamond back at the second trick. I call that a black cat crossing declarer's path.

A new book by James Jacoby and his father, the late Oswald Jacoby, is now available at bookstores. It is "Jacoby on Card Games," published by Pharos Books.

Oilfield safety seminar slated

Western Texas College has scheduled an H2S Safety Seminar from 7-11 p.m. on March 17.

This class will teach the rules set forth by the Railroad Commission in Rule 36 which requires special training for oilfield personnel who might work in areas with a high ratio of hydrogen sulfide.

Successful completion of the course will entitle students to a billfold card to carry as proof that they have taken the safety course.

Jim Johnson will be the instructor for the course. Fees will be $20 per person.

To enroll call 573-8511, ext. 240 on Monday, March 16. The office is closed this week for spring break.

Choosing Up Sides Hurts Those Kids Who Are Last

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My heart ached for the little boy whose teacher appointed two captains to choose up teams, and he was always chosen last. I'm 67 now, and when I read that letter, all the feelings of humiliation, anger and anxiety came flooding back like it was yesterday. I was always one of the last to be chosen for sports because I was small and poorly coordinated. I wanted to die when teams were chosen because when it got down to the last two kids, I was always one of them.

Once I sneaked out of the room and went to the restroom and cried. Another time I forced myself to throw up so I could go to the nurse's room to escape this cruelty.

I'm amazed that this humiliating system of choosing teams is still going on. I hope teachers everywhere will see this and realize how damaging it is to a child's self-esteem, and put an end to that brutal practice.

CHOSEN LAST

DEAR CHOSEN: I hope so, too. I heard from teachers everywhere who offered unique (and face-saving) ways to choose up teams. Here's a letter from a retired school teacher who had the right idea years ago:

DEAR ABBY: Re choosing up teams: I taught school from '34 through '67. My method: The last one chosen becomes captain of the next team. No one was ever last more than once.

DEAR ABBY: This is the first time I've written to you. I don't know where else to turn. My daughter, who has just turned 15, has informed me that she and her boyfriend are planning to "shack up" together with friends this summer. I'm not naive, and I'll be the first to admit that they will be sleeping in separate beds.

My problem is this: Do we as parents have a right to forbid her to go? We are still supporting her and are paying for her schooling.

NOT NAIVE

DEAR NOT NAIVE: You have every right to forbid her to go since you are supporting her, and she is living under your guardianship.

However, if you suspect that your daughter is already sexually active — or is about to be — I hope you have discussed with her the importance of "safe sex" in order to protect herself from an unwanted pregnancy and/or venereal disease. If you have not, you must.

Let her know that you are not condoning premarital sex, but as a responsible parent you do not want her to risk her future, her health, and possibly her life because of carelessness or ignorance.

New start for brothers turns to tragedy in Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — The dreams of an Asian immigrant family that survived an arduous trip to the United States were shattered after a scuffle that left one brother dead and another in jail as a suspect in the slaying.

Hann Louth, 19, has been arrested on an investigative murder charge and is in the Lew Sterrett Justice Center. His brother Hen, 15, was buried Wednesday.

The younger Louth died from a stab wound to the stomach inflicted during an argument with his older brother, the boy's mother said.

Khung Ly, a caseworker for the Multicultrual Alliance of Dallas and one of the pallbearers at Hen's funeral, said the older brother pleaded with ambulance personnel to save his brother's life.

"The big brother started crying, saying, 'Please help my brother stay alive. I love him very much,' " said Khung Ly. "He said, 'Please take care of mother and our family,' and then he died."

The two got along well, family and neighbors said, and the family had held together through the tortuous labor camps in Cambodia and their escape a year ago.

But under the pressures of trying to adapt to a strange, competitive society and subsist on the family's meager income, the nerves of the brothers sometimes wore thin.

Hen, who liked to play soccer and help with chores, was fatally cut in the confusing seconds of an argument over how a plate of rice was to be divided, said Ou Moeun, the boy's mother.

"I am old, and I came from Cambodia to America to survive," she said through a translator. "I only have two sons now, and I don't know what's going to happen to our future."

Jefferson Davis was elected to a six-year term as president of the Confederacy in 1861.

Official says 2,000 may have been killed in quakes

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — A senior provincial official estimates that the death toll in last week's earthquakes could climb as high as 2,000, based on an aerial inspection which he said showed whole villages wiped out by torrents of mud and water.

Prefect Jorge Gonzalez, chief administrator of Napo Province, said at a news conference Thursday that 2,000 people were killed, 5,000 disappeared and another 50,000 were left homeless by the series of very strong earthquakes that hit this Andean nation a week ago.

The International Red Cross has said 300 people were killed and 4,000 are missing. The national government has not released an official death toll. It says 75,000 people have been driven from their homes.

Gonzalez said the hardest hit region was a 640-square-mile zone surrounding the volcano El Reventador, 40 miles northeast of Quito. The region is home to about 100,000 people.

"There are homes buried or submerged in water, there are bodies in the mud and the rivers are contaminated with oil," said Gonzalez, a member of the opposition Social Democrat party.

He said officials may never know the final death toll from the earthquakes, the worst catastrophe to strike this small Andean nation this century.

The 10 earthquakes struck March 5-6 along the nation's 2-mile-high Andean spine, affecting an area from the Colombian border to Riobamba, 95 miles south of Quito.

The tremblers spawned avalanches of mud and rocks that destroyed homes and villages, swallowed up entire villages in remote Amazon forest regions.

The mudslides also destroyed a 19-mile stretch of the nation's main oil pipeline, forcing Ecuador to stop payments for this year on its $8.2 billion foreign debt.

The government said it would take about five months to repair the pipeline and that oil exports would be halted for that period.

On Thursday, Venezuela said it had tentatively agreed to supply Ecuador's customers with oil until the pipeline is repaired.

Officials said details of the plan were still being negotiated. Ecuador had proposed that it continue receiving export payments, and repay the donor country later with oil.

The shattered pipeline also caused environmental damage, spilling oil into rivers near Baeza, 40 miles southeast of Quito.

Some of the worst quake damage was in Quijo and Gonzalo Pizarro, where all 400 residents disappeared after a muddy wall of water slammed into the towns, Gonzales said.

He appealed to the international community to maintain an air bridge between Quito and the devastated Napo areas to ferry food and supplies.

The Spanish Red Cross said it was giving $20,000 worth of supplies to Ecuadore, while World Vision, a Christian relief agency, said it was donating $10,000 in aid.

Man designs pet seat belts

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Buckle up your beagle and strap in your Siamese cat, says a man who started making seat belts for pets after his Yorkshire terrier was killed in a car accident.

"This is not a pet rock kind of thing," according to Gary D. Murray. "It's not a yuppie thing. It's to save animals' lives. I had one lady who was complaining she didn't like the color. I said, 'Listen lady, it's not for you. It's for the dog.'"

Murray, 38, recently received a patent for his red "Pet Luv" harnesses and is planning to mass-market the devices, which attach to regular car seat belts and sell for $16.95.

The Reno, Nev., resident was in San Francisco this week to show his invention to the the local chapter of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Chapter president Richard Avanzino said restraining devices such as the seat belts are a good idea, even for pets that enjoy traveling and usually are well-behaved.

"We hear of an untold number of incidents where dogs have jumped out of windows or out of the backs of pickup trucks, causing a serious traffic hazard," Avanzino said. "Not only can the pet be killed, but it can cause a lot of human suffering because of people having accidents trying to avoid them."

Mark McGuire, executive director of the Nevada Humane Society, said many accidents also are caused by pets that intertere with drivers and distract them from the road.

In 1982, Murray was driving a friend's car in Nevada when a tire blew and the car crashed into a tree. Murray, who only a short time before had himself started wearing a seat belt, suffered a cut on the head that required a few stitches. His dog, however, was thrown into the windshield.

3 more banks fail in Texas

By Doug Crichton
Associated Press Writer

Three more Texas banks have succumbed to economic and management troubles, and state officials say their hopes for a 1987 rebound in the beleaguered industry are rapidly fading.

The failures Thursday of the The First National Bank of Olney in North Texas, the Plaza National Bank in Del Rio and Western Bank El Paso increases to 15 the total number of banks that have been shut down in the state this year.

Texas continues to lead the nation in bank failures, accounting for almost 37 percent of the 41 banks that have closed nationwide. Twenty-six banks were shut down in Texas last year, also a record for one state in one year.

"During the fourth quarter of 1986, we were optimistically saying the number of failures for the year might be around 25 or 30," said Richard Nun, spokesman for the State Banking Commission. "But it looks like we will be proven wrong.

"I would like to think they won't continue at this rate, but there is no indication there will be a slow-down," Nun said.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. has found buyers for two of the three failed banks, said FDIC spokesman Bill Olcheski.

First National Bank of Olney, a separate institution from 80-year-old The First National Bank of Olney, will assume the failed bank's liabilities, Olcheski said. About $13.4 million in 2,700 deposit accounts in the failed bank were to be transferred today to the new owner.

"In 1983, the bank began to incur substantial loan and operating losses caused by poor oversight by the board of directors, lax loan documentation and collection practices by bank management and adverse economic conditions," Olcheski said.

He said the comptroller of the currency in 1983 and 1985 asked the bank to "take corrective measures to restore the bank's condition."

"However, these efforts were hampered by turnover in senior bank management," Olcheski said. "The First National Bank of Olney was unable to remedy its problems and losses finally exhausted the banks' capital funds, resulting in its insolvency."

The bank as of Dec. 31, 1986, had $16.6 million in assets and $17.3 million in deposits.

In El Paso, meanwhile, MBank El Paso, N.A., will assume the deposit liabilities of Western Bank El Paso, Olcheski said. The failed bank's only office was to reopen today as a branch of MBank.

East Side plans five-part film series to begin Mar. 18

"Making Things Right, When Things Go Wrong," a full-color film series about problems everyone faces, will begin at 7 p.m. Wednesday at East Side Church of Christ, 201 31st Street.

These five films feature the humor and practical advise of Dr. Paul Faulkner and are based on years of counseling experience and major research studies.

This film series shows you why things always seem to work well for some people, while others fail at nearly everything they try.

Truthfully, everyone struggles with problems related to friendships, marriage relationships, child-rearing, vocational crisis, personal ministry decisions and personal spiritual growth. "Making Things Right" is designed to be a step-by-step guide for putting a wide range of life's concerns back in order no matter how tangled things may have become.

Dr. Faulkner heads one of four programs in Texas certified by the American Association of Marriage and Family Therapists to supervise counselor training. His film series, "Marriage Enrichment Series," also featuring Dr. Carl Brecheen, has been viewed by more than 3,000,000 people across the United States, Canada, Australia, New Zealand and the United Kingdom.

"Making Things Right" is a five-part series of 35-minute presentations with titles including, "Choose a Positive Disposition," "Act Better Than You Feel," "Cut Your Line When It's Tangled," "Keep Cool, Even When You're Hot," "Make Your Relationships Right."

This series was produced by Earl Miller, producer of James Dobson's "Focus on the Family."

Hermleigh man wins award

Windle E. Cave, a resident of Hermleigh, has been named a winner of Lone Star Gas Company's quarterly Performance Enhancement Program (PEP) award.

Cave's award was announced by Lone Star Gas president David W. Biegler for his idea concerning the supplying of construction and maintenance trucks with water gel products for use in burn accidents.

An employee of Lone Star Gas since 1985, Cave is currently working as a construction and maintenance worker in the company's Snyder distribution office.

Lone Star PEP awards are given quarterly to employees who submit the best suggestions for improving company working conditions and service to customers. The company then gives the annual PEP awards for the best suggestions of the year. All quarterly winners are eligible for the annual award.

Look, nobody said being an upper high school would be easy.

East Side plans five-part film series to begin Mar. 18

"Making Things Right, When Things Go Wrong," a full-color film series about problems everyone faces, will begin at 7 p.m. Wednesday at East Side Church of Christ, 201 31st Street.

These five films feature the humor and practical advise of Dr. Paul Faulkner and are based on years of counseling experience and major research studies.

This film series shows you why things always seem to work well for some people, while others fail at nearly everything they try.

Truthfully, everyone struggles with problems related to friendships, marriage relationships, child-rearing, vocational crisis, personal ministry decisions and personal spiritual growth. "Making Things Right" is designed to be a step-by-step guide for putting a wide range of life's concerns back in order no matter how tangled things may have become.

Dr. Faulkner heads one of four programs in Texas certified by the American Association of Marriage and Family Therapists to supervise counselor training. His film series, "Marriage Enrichment Series," also featuring Dr. Carl Brecheen, has been viewed by more than 3,000,000 people across the United States, Canada, Australia, New Zealand and the United Kingdom.

"Making Things Right" is a five-part series of 35-minute presentations with titles including, "Choose a Positive Disposition," "Act Better Than You Feel," "Cut Your Line When It's Tangled," "Keep Cool, Even When You're Hot," "Make Your Relationships Right."

This series was produced by Earl Miller, producer of James Dobson's "Focus on the Family."

Hermleigh man wins award

Windle E. Cave, a resident of Hermleigh, has been named a winner of Lone Star Gas Company's quarterly Performance Enhancement Program (PEP) award.

Cave's award was announced by Lone Star Gas president David W. Biegler for his idea concerning the supplying of construction and maintenance trucks with water gel products for use in burn accidents.

An employee of Lone Star Gas since 1985, Cave is currently working as a construction and maintenance worker in the company's Snyder distribution office.

Lone Star PEP awards are given quarterly to employees who submit the best suggestions for improving company working conditions and service to customers. The company then gives the annual PEP awards for the best suggestions of the year. All quarterly winners are eligible for the annual award.

Navy's Robinson scores 50...

Holcombe leads TCU past Marshall, 76-60

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) - A spectacular farewell performance by Navy's David Robinson highlighted the first day of the East Regional in which all four games turned out to be one-sided affairs.

Robinson scored 50 points in a losing cause Thursday as Michigan beat Navy 97-82 to advance to the second round of the NCAA tournament. Michigan rode a career-high 33-point performance by Garde Thompson to a meeting with second-ranked North Carolina, which easily disposed of Pennsylvania 113-82 after leading by only two points at halftime.

Saturday's other contest will feature No. 19 Texas Christian, a 76-60 victor over Marshall, against No. 18 Notre Dame, which got 27 points from David Rivers and 24 by Donald Royal in an 84-71 triumph over Middle Tennessee State.

Robinson's school-record and career-high effort came on a day in which the 7-foot-1 all-American was named the recipient of the Naismith Award, given annually to the finest college basketball player in the nation.

"Anyone who knows me knows I don't place a lot of emphasis on awards," said Robinson. "I'd be a lot happier if (Kansas center) Danny Manning won it and we went to the second round."

Robinson made 22 of 37 shots from the floor, grabbed 13 rebounds, notched three steals and blocked two shots.

Unlike Thompson, who received offensive help from teammates Gary Grant (26 points) and Glen Rice (21 points), Robinson did not get the support he needed. Navy's 13-game winning streak came to an end because while Robinson made 13 of 25 shots from the floor in the second half, the rest of the Middies converted only 4 of 19 field goal attempts.

Thompson made 9 three-pointers to help Michigan, 20-11, pull away from the Middies in the second half.

Navy finished the season 26-6.

Carven Holcombe, the Southwest Conference Player of the Year, was bothered by the flu but scored 30 points to lead TCU to an easy victory over Marshall. Despite his illness, Holcombe made 14 of 17 shots from the floor after playing all 40 minutes.

"He told me in the dressing room after the game that he was very weak from the flu," said TCU Coach Jim Killingsworth. "I'm not surprised he waited until then, because he probably thought I'd rest him."

TCU improved its record to 24-6 in rebounding from a disappointing loss to Texas A&M in the opening round of the SWC tournament last weekend. Marshall, which entered the game on a roll after winning 20 of its last 21 games, finished at 25-6.

North Carolina, the top seed in the East, used an explosive second half to dispose of the Ivy League champion Quakers, who finished 13-14.

North Carolina, 30-3, opened the half with a 15-2 run and kept pulling away, outscoring the Quakers 58-29 in the second half.

Notre Dame Coach Digger Phelps prepared his team for little-known Middle Tennessee State by showing them films of last year's NCAA tournament opener, in which another little-known opponent, Arkansas-Little Rock, upset the Irish.

Thus inspired, Notre Dame bolted out to a 37-31 halftime lead against Middle Tennessee, expanded it to 10 early in the second half, then used Rivers and Royal to stem a late Raider rally.

The victory was the 10th straight for 23-7 Notre Dame; the Raiders closed their season at 22-7.

Aggies 'Duked' in Midwest; Xavier stuns No. 14 Missouri

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - Winning is the only similarity Duke Coach Mike Krzyzewski sees between his 1986 NCAA runner-up squad and the Blue Devil team he has brought to the second round of the 1987 tournament.

Duke, 23-8, defeated Texas A&M 58-51 Thursday and faces Xavier of Ohio in second-round play in the Midwest Regional at the Hoosier Dome on Saturday. Xavier used a 29-point performance by junior guard Byron Larkin to upset No. 14 Missouri 70-69 in the opening game Thursday.

No. 3 Indiana and Auburn meet in Saturday's opening game. Indiana, cheered on by the majority of the 29,610 fans, the largest first-round attendance in NCAA history, overpowered Fairfield 92-58 in the final game of a Thursday doubleheader that drew 55,172. Auburn edged San Diego 62-61 in the opening evening game when Paul Leonard was called for a double dribble with one second to play while driving for the potential winning basket.

"They kind of muck it out," Krzyzewski said of his Blue Devils. "That's what we've kind of done the last two months. I think it shows some character about our youngsters."

Duke overcame a series of physical problems to advance.

Krzyzewski said sophomore guard Quin Snyder became nauseous before the game and had a temperature of 100 degrees. Sophomore forward Danny Ferry suffered a hip injury in the first half and, although he returned, Krzyzewski said his availablity for Saturday was uncertain. And junior guard Kevin Strickland scored a game-high 20 points despite having his right shoulder pop out of joint in the first half.

Duke had its lowest point production of the season as it overcame having Ferry, its leading scorer for the season, go scoreless. Robert Brickey came off the bench to contribute 12 points.

"We have had to face adversity a lot of times, but we have guys who can come off the bench," said Duke guard Tommy Amaker, the only returning starter from last year. "We always know there's someone who can come in and do the job."

Texas A&M, playing in the tournament for the first time since 1980, finished 17-14. Winston Crite was high for the Aggies with 13 points.

"They showed more patience than we did," said Texas A&M Coach Shelby Metcalf, who had seen his club win the Southwest Conference tournament after finishing eighth in the regular season. "I thought the big difference is they've been here (in the tournament) and we haven't."

Mike Jones scored 24 points and Jeff Moore contributed 14 points and 14 rebounds to Auburn's victory, giving the Tigers an 18-12 mark. Danny Means, who missed a free throw that would have tied the game with six seconds left, was high for San Diego with 18 as his club finished 24-6.

The Hoosiers, seeded first in the region, coasted to their 25th victory in 30 starts as reserves played much of the second half. Indiana was ahead by 25 when All-American Steve Alford sat down for the night with 15:09 to play.

Alford, Indiana's all-time scoring leader, finished with 13 points to bring his career total to 2,213.

Dean Garrett topped Indiana with 20 and Rick Callaway had 17 for the Hoosiers.

Fairfield, 15-16, was led by Jeff Gromos with 21.

Former WTC player edges Baylor, 42-41; SFA wins NIT opener

by The Associated Press

One team that was snubbed by the NCAA and another that was almost snubbed by the National Invitation Tournament are both making it hard for others to ignore them.

Cleveland State, ignored by the NCAA playoff selection committee, got off to an auspicious start in the NIT with a 92-73 victory over Tennessee-Chattanooga Thursday night.

In another first-round game, Stephen F. Austin - which squeezed into the tournament at the last minute only because Louisville decided to stay home - defeated James Madison 70-63.

In other action in the far-flung tourney Thursday night, it was La Salle 86, Villanova 84; Florida State 107, Rhode Island 92; Arkansas-Little Rock 42, Baylor 41; Illinois State 79, Akron 72 and Vanderbilt 74, Jacksonville 72.

First-round play will conclude tonight with Arkansas State at Arkansas; Seton Hall at Niagara; Mississippi at Southern Mississippi; St. Peter's at St. Louis; Oregon State at New Mexico and Fullerton State at California.

The 32-team tournament began Wednesday with Nebraska edging Marquette 78-76; Boise State nipping Utah 62-61, and Washington defeating Montana State 98-90 in overtime.

Cleveland State 92, Tennessee-Chattanooga 73

Ken McFadden scored 21 points to pace visiting Cleveland State over Tennessee-Chattanooga. The Vikings, 25-7, of the Association of Mid-Continent Universities, grabbed the lead in the first 14 seconds and never let go.

The Moccasins came within two points with 17:38 remaining, 54-52, on a layup by Maurice Head. But Cleveland State then ran off 10 straight points to lead 64-52 with 13:19 remaining. The Moccasins never got closer than

SWC baseball wars open this weekend

by The Associated Press

The Southwest Conference baseball regular season race gets under way this weekend, and the Baylor Bears could be the big sleeper.

Texas A&M, 45-23 last year, is the defending regular season

NIT

10 points again

Stephen F. Austin 70, James Madison 63

Clarence King scored 19 points to lead Stephen F. Austin over visiting James Madison. The Lumberjacks extended their winning streak to 12 and improved their season record to 22-7.

James Madison ended its season at 20-10.

La Salle 86, Villanova 84

Lionel Simmons scored 21 points, including a running jumper at the buzzer, to boost visiting La Salle over Villanova, the 1985 NCAA champion.

Larry Koretz scored 23 points, 18 of them in the first half, and Rich Tarr added 14 second-half points as the Explorers held off a withering Villanova comeback.

La Salle, which held a 41-37 halftime lead, improved its record to 17-12, while Villanova finished its season at 15-16.

Arkansas-Little Rock 42, Baylor 41

Former Western Texas College standout James Dawn made two free throws after time had expired to boost Arkansas-Little Rock over Baylor.

Darryl Middleton had put Baylor on top 41-40 when he made one of two free throws with 24 seconds remaining. But Dawn was fouled as time ran out and calmly hit the free throws that won it for the Trojans.

The Trojans, 24-9, led 21-20 at the half and by three points on three occasions in the second half. The Bears, 18-13, and runner-up in the Southwest Conference, held a two-point lead on five occasions.

Illinois State 79, Akron 72

Tony Holifield scored 23 points to lead Illinois State over Akron. Holifield scored 15 of his points in the second half to help Illinois stem an Akron comeback.

Marcel Boyce finished his collegiate basketball career as the game's high scorer with 24 points.

Host Illinois State improved its record to 18-12. Akron, this season's Ohio Valley Conference runner-up, closed its season at 21-9.

Borden players named All-17-A

Kelli Williams and Elana Himes, who helped Borden County to the semifinals of the Region I Tournament, were named to the Girl's 13-A All-District Basketball Team.

Chosen to the boy's all-district squad from Borden County were Shannon Bond, a 5-11 junior, and Mickey Burkett, a 5-10 junior.

Williams, a 5-4 senior, is a three-time all-district choice. Himes, 5-10 and just a sophomore, makes her first appearance.

Also chosen to the elite squad for the third straight time was O'Donnell senior Stacy Bessire.

Honorable mention selections from Borden were 5-3 senior Tammy Johnson, 5-5 sophomore Kate Phinizy and 5-6 freshman Lisha Sternadel, and 5-11 senior Brice Key and 5-8 freshman Brian Bond.

TOURNAMENT ACTION -- Wylie's Brad Baack is ready to slide as Snyder second baseman Van Echols eyes the throw from catcher during Thursday's third game of the local baseball tournament going on here. Snyder won 14-4 in five innings and will play Levelland at 5 p.m. today. See related article below. (SDN Staff Photo)

Face Levelland at 5 today...

Tigers swat Bulldogs, 14-4

Casey Hale's two-run double in the bottom of the fifth inning powered Snyder's Tigers past Wylie via the 10-run rule, 14-4, here Thursday night.

The Tigers, now 2-3, advance to the semifinals of the Snyder Baseball Tournament, where they play Levelland at 5 o'clock this evening.

Levelland received a first-round bye and did not play Thursday. In other games, Lubbock High downed Lamesa 3-2 and Lubbock Dunbar nipped Pecos 6-5.

At noon today, Lamesa and Pecos were to meet in the consolation bracket. Lubbock High and Dunbar were scheduled in a 2 p.m. semifinal contest. Wylie will go straight to Saturday's 12:30 p.m. consolation championship game.

Other Saturday games are for third place at 3 p.m. and for the championship at 5 p.m.

Thursday's nightcap was dedicated by the Tiger ballclub to the memory of Jerry McWilliams, long-time sports booster who died Wednesday.

Hale's single capped a 10-hit ballgame for the Tigers, who never trailed the Bulldogs.

Snyder had taken a one-run lead in the first inning when Van Echols reached on a fielder's choice and scored later as Kenneth Pickering banged a two-out single. Echols and Pickering would go on to account for six of the Tigers' hits and seven RBI.

Snyder added four more runs in the second inning off of Wylie starter Mark McClellan. Albert Rodriquez led off with a walk and - one out later - Brad Gratman, Echols, Scott Lanier and David Martinez slapped consecutive basehits. That brought across three of the runs and a routine ground out by Dennis Martinez forced in the fourth, giving Snyder a 5-0 lead.

Tiger starting pitcher Reynaldo Gomez had given up a pair of singles in the first two innings but struck out five batters. He got into trouble in the third, however, as Wylie showed good offensive potential. The Bulldogs got singles from John Atkins, Brent Greaves and Matt Tucker, and benefitted from two errors to score four runs.

Gomez was able to keep the visitors in check after that, though. He allowed just two more hits the rest of the way.

"My arm isn't as strong as it should be yet," said Gomez, who finished up basketball season only a couple of weeks ago. "I was pretty cold at first but I think I got better later."

Snyder added two more runs in each of the third and fourth innings and closed the game with five in the fifth. An Echols double in the third scored Rodriquez, who had walked, and Earl Ware, who came in to pinch run after Lee Fletcher singled through short.

Pickering scored on an error to deep centerfield to open the bottom of the fourth inning and Dennis Martinez later walked aboard and tallied on a double steal attempt.

In the fifth inning, Echols greeted new pitcher Randy Abbott with a leadoff single. Lanier walked and Wylie opted to put Shawn Sieracki on the mound. He faired no better however as David Martinez judged him for a walk to load the bases.

Pickering followed and came up with a two-run single. Dennis Martinez walked to stack the bags again and Michael Long popped a sacrifice fly to centerfield to bring in Snyder's 12th run. Hale then singled up the middle to end the game.

"I think we're improving every time. We had some timely hitting and good baserunning tonight," said Snyder Coach Albert Lewis. "We're awfully young and it's going to take time, but if we can get the pitching I think we'll come around."

Gomez dolled out eight hits and two walks while striking out nine batters. Offensively, Pickering was three-for-three and Echols went three-for-four. Gartman, Lanier, Hale and David Martinez knocked one basehit apiece.

Wylie fell to 1-3 with the loss.

Snyder is expected to start Skip Coward on the mound against Levelland, which comes in with a 2-3 record. Rodriquez will relieve if necessary.

Lee pacing tourney; Snyder in 20th place

SAN ANGELO -- Midland Lee shot a first-round 313 to take an early lead in the San Angelo Golf Classic, held here Thursday.

The tournament was to conclude today with an 8 a.m. tee time.

Snyder High School shot a 367 to tie for 20th in the tournament with Fort Stockton. There are 23 teams participating.

In second place is San Angelo Central No. 1 with a 317. Andrews, Odessa Permian and Abilene Cooper are knotted in a tie for third place with 323.

In scores involving District 2-4A schools, San Angelo Lake View No. 1 shot a 347 to tie for 10th with Plainview, Big Spring shot a 361 for 17th place, and San Angelo Lake View No. 2 shot a 464 for 23rd place.

Memo Valdez of San Angelo Central No. 1 leads the medalist race with a 74. Midland Lee's Bobby Gee and Larry Bryan hold down the next two positions with scores of 76 and 77 respectively.

For Snyder, Mike Trull turned in an 83, Wade Hatter a 92, Ken Meckley a 94 and Marc McQueen a 97. The Tigers have only four players participating.

NCAA may impose even more penalties

DALLAS (AP) - The chairman of the National Collegiate Athletic Association infractions committee says Southern Methodist University could face even tougher sanctions, including the loss of its football program, if anyone in the administration condoned the illegal payments to student athletes.

"The question is whether the institution knew whether (the boosters) continued the payments and did nothing to stop him," Frank Remington, chairman of the infractions committee, told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram Thursday in a telephone interview from Madison, Wisc.

Remington, a law professor at the University of Wisconsin, said the NCAA has the authority to ban football forever.

"It's never been done forever, but the rules allow it," Remington said. "I'm not saying that we'd do that."

But David Berst, chief investigator for the NCAA, said it's too early to predict tougher sanctions against the school.

Phone charges up; LD rates decrease

WASHINGTON (AP) — Telephone subscribers would pay as much as $1.50 more each month, but long-distance rates would drop and poor households could get financial help under a plan headed for approval by federal regulators.

The plan would raise the $2-a-month subscriber line charge in three increments, beginning in June and reaching as much as $3.50 in April 1989.

As the charge increases, more of the costs of the local telephone network are shifted from long-distance rates to subscribers, so the cost of long-distance goes down.

Federal Communications Commission officials estimated long-distance rates would decline by at least 15 percent over the next six years, saving consumers an estimated $17 billion.

A small part of that savings would be used to subsidize the cost of telephone service for poor people under a new program called Linkup America.

Members of a state-federal advisory panel that approved the plan on Thursday heralded their action as "historic." FCC Chairman Mark S. Fowler, a member of the panel, said it ultimately would mean more jobs and lower prices for goods and services.

But consumer interests attacked the higher charge as unjustified. Gene Kimmelman, legislative director of the Consumer Federation of America, called it "an ongoing consumer ripoff that will now cost consumers over $3.5 billion in total."

And members of Congress who have sought to stem increases in phone costs were wary.

"Many questions need to be answered before I can judge whether this compromise advances long-term consumer interests or is simply an FCC flim-flam," said Rep. Edward J. Markey, D-Mass., chairman of the House telecommunications subcommittee. His panel has scheduled a hearing on the matter March 25.

The subscriber line charge helps pay the cost of the line that connects a customer's telephone with the phone company's central office. Part of that cost also is buried in long-distance rates, and as a larger share is paid by subscribers, less is underwritten by long-distance rates.

Since the charge was initiated at $1 in June 1985, long-distance rates have dropped about 30 percent.

The plan approved unanimously by the advisory board would increase the charge to $2.60 in June, $3.20 in September 1988 and $3.50 in April 1989, though board members said the final increase may not be needed and would depend on the results of careful monitoring by the FCC staff.

The board's action virtually assures approval by the FCC, since three of the five FCC commissioners are board members. Four state telephone regulators also sit on the board, and their approval of the plan is expected to make it more palatable in Congress, where some members want to cap the charge at the current $2 a month. The FCC is to vote on the plan within a month.

Backers say proposal would 'grow' new jobs

AUSTIN (AP) — Some 22,000 jobs and $650 million in new income would be created under a program proposed in the Legislature that officials say would expand and diversify Texas agriculture.

"This package of legislation puts Texas agriculture in the forefront, puts it in the marketplace and will put it back in the black again," said Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower.

The four bills and three proposed constitutional amendments would help Texans begin raising new kinds of crops, expand the state's role in processing food for market and provide loans for starting new agriculture-related businesses.

Several lawmakers are sponsoring pieces of the plan, which they said Thursday is vital to help rural Texas overcome the current economic crisis.

"It's important when we talk about economic diversification, when we talk about creating new jobs, that we don't forget about rural Texas," said Rep. Bruce Gibson, D-Cleburne.

"I think we all want a bright future for Dallas, Houston and San Antonio. It's also important that we have a bright future for Dime Box, Lampasas and Muleshoe," Gibson said.

Key parts of the program would:

— Establish a $45 million loan guarantee program that would encourage bank lending for businesses that would market new agricultural crops, process food or fiber or export Texas farm products.

— Reserve state Treasury funds for investment in banks that make loans to diversified agricultural businesses.

— Create a Texas Growth Fund to increase equity capital available to new or expanding businesses with the potential to create large numbers of jobs.

— Authorize grants to community and regional institutions for training and assistance to new or expanding businesses.

— Create a Texas Job Start revolving loan fund program to help low-income and minority Texans start their own businesses.

Hightower said the principle behind the bills is to change Texas' farm and ranch economy from one oriented toward particular commodities to one aimed at markets.

"This is the most important piece of agriculture and economic development legislation to be put forward in my memory. It gives a future to Texas agriculture," Hightower said.

"This package looks forward two years, 20 years, 50 years down the road and allows our agricultural people to be able to build, to be able to grow at a local level new businesses and new enterprises that will help this state grow out of the economic doldrums."

Since much of the program would be financed through the sale of bonds, actual costs to the state government would be only about $1.2 million, Hightower said.

The lawmakers said that House Speaker Gib Lewis, D-Fort Worth, had endorsed the program and that Gov. Bill Clements' support was being sought.

Hightower said the legislation puts the state into action on economic development rather than just talking about it.

"Everyone's talking about economic development. What these folks are doing in introducing this legislation is to put the walk to that talk. We're going to make a difference with this," Hightower said.

Homeless suspected of starting fatal fire

DETROIT (AP) — A blaze that began in an abandoned building and took the lives of three firefighters is a sign of Detroit's decline, the mayor said in describing the tragedy as the worst in the fire department's history.

The five-alarm fire, which began about 3 p.m. Thursday, destroyed the warehouse and a paper products company next door, which made up a city block.

A lieutenant and a trial firefighter, who was to receive his badge on March 23, died of smoke inhalation after a roof in the paper supply building collapsed on them about 6 p.m. Another lieutenant died after an explosion rocked the three-story warehouse.

More than 120 firefighters with 30 pieces of equipment worked on the blaze as falling rubble from the warehouse building squashed cars parked nearby, and streetlight and telephone poles were toppled.

The buildings were in a light industrial area about five miles from downtown Detroit where many businesses and homes have been boarded up or torn down.

Two men were questioned today by police homicide investigators in connection with the fire, said police spokesman Marvin Redlawski. He did not know their identities.

The fire was believed to have been started by homeless people trying to keep warm, the Detroit Free Press and The Detroit News reported. Authorities early today declined to confirm the reports.

Truck driver suspected in beating, abduction incident

ODESSA, Texas (AP) — Authorities launched a nationwide search for a truck driver who stopped to help a stranded motorist and ended up abducting and shooting an El Paso mail carrier and her 9-year-old daughter, officials say.

The girl, Angela Lamos, was shot in the back of the head and was in critical condition at Medical Center Hospital. Her mother, 35-year-old Gail Lynn Amos, was in stable condition with a bullet wound to the neck, Ector County Sheriff's Lt. Jeff Schwende said Thursday.

Ector County Sheriff's Lt. Jeff Schwende said the suspect — 30 to 35 years old, 6 feet tall and about 230 pounds — was still at large late Thursday.

The episode began shortly after midnight when the woman had car trouble on Interstate 20 west of Colorado City, said Schwende.

The mother and daughter apparently were abducted by an armed man, investigators said. Schwende said he did not know what caliber weapon was used in shooting the victims.

The wounded and beaten woman was found about 5 a.m. alongside the road by a motorist, who put her in his pickup truck and drove her to a truck stop in Penwell, 15 miles away, authorities said.

The girl was found four hours later, in a pasture 100 yards north of Interstate 20, by deputies using helicopters. There were no tire tracks in the pasture, said Schwende.

"Where (the girl) was found in the pasture, a vehicle couldn't get there; the helicopter had to airlift her to the ambulance," he said.

Fuel clerk Diana Segler, who worked at the truck stop to which the driver took the mother, said the woman "was beaten. The man beat her with a pistol."

"I went up and talked to her," Ms Segler said. "She just looked anguished and in shock. Her eyes were big and frightened. She was holding herself in the stomach area. She just said, 'My baby. My baby.'"

Ms. Amos had worked for the El Paso sector post office since August 1978, said Jarone Batson, director of employee and labor relations for the El Paso Sectional Center.

"She was on vacation and she was returning from Dallas, that's where her mother lives," said Batson. "She was due to return (today)."

Batson said Ms. Amos is a single parent and that the girl was the her only child.

Foreclosure law profiled

foreclosure proceedings under the state property tax code, penalty and interest for unpaid taxes continue to accrue until the balance is paid.

The homeowner's heirs are legally liable for any delinquent taxes owed also. Failure by the heirs to clear the debt allows foreclosure at that time.

Peveler noted that those with questions concerning the homestead exemption may receive more information by contacting appraisal staff at 2612 College Ave. or by calling 573-8549.

Daughter awarded $250,000 judgment against her father

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A Tarrant County jury has ordered a Hurst man to pay his daughter $250,000 to compensate her for three times she said he forced her to have sex with him.

"This jury believes me," sobbed Kristine Thompson Whisenhunt Thursday after the verdict was announced. "I've never been so relieved in my life."

Mrs. Whisenhunt, 22, testified that she was 15 when her father forced her to have sex with him.

She said she filed the civil suit against Charles Roger Elder because she hopes it will encourage some other sexual abuse victims to step forward.

Douglas Wright, her lawyer, had asked jurors to award more than $1 million in damages.

"If there's any other little girl out there that this is happening to, they should tell a teacher, tell somebody at church, tell somebody so something can be done," Mrs. Whisenhunt told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

The jury of seven women and five men awarded Mrs. Whisenhunt $75,000 for past physical pain and mental anguish, $100,000 for future mental anguish and $75,000 in exemplary damages or damages to act as a penalty or set an example for others.

Elder, who testified during the trial, denied the assaults.

Michael Rake, a lawyer who represented Elder, said he and his client were disappointed by the verdict.

"The best my guy could do was to say he didn't do it," Rake said. "I think it is hard to overcome the testimony of a young, attractive female by a somewhat older, male client."

Russia's Bolshevik Revolution took place Nov. 7, 1917, as forces led by Vladimir Ilyich Lenin overthrew the provisional government of Alexander Kerensky.

Brakes ignite for minor fire

Snyder firemen extinguished a small fire in a truck on College Ave. just before 8 p.m. Thursday.

According to reports, units were dispatched to the 3400 Block of College Ave. where they extinguished a fire in the right rear brake system of a 1982 International truck owned by White's Testers of Snyder.

Damage to the truck was said confined to the brake.

Shoplifting arrest noted

Police arrested an 18-year-old suspect on a misdemeanor theft charge just before 2 p.m. Friday.

That arrest came in response to a call from employees of Munden's Discount Center reporting a shoplifter leaving the store.

The suspect was stopped at the intersection of 35th St. and Ave. V.

City officers also jailed one suspect Thursday morning on a misdemeanor warrant for failure to pay a fine levied for taking trash out of a city dumpster.

Disturbance call ends in commitment

A disturbance call shortly after 11:30 a.m. Thursday ended with a 31-year-old man sent to the Big Spring State Hospital on an emergency mental commitment.

According to police reports, the man apparently began attacking vehicles that stopped at the stop sign at the intersection of 37th St. and El Paso Ave.

He reportedly attacked more than one vehicle, but damage was listed to only one.

The man reportedly broke an outside mirror off of it and scratched the paint on its side.
