Prospects for a bumper wheat crop in Texas and Oklahoma have materially improved in recent weeks according to John Manley, manager of the Oklahoma Wheat Growers association. Mr. Manley estimates the Oklahoma yield at 32,000,000 bushels and Texas yield at 45,000,000 bushels. That would be a record crop for Texas and observers in Texas believe the prospects are good for a record yield.

Thousands of men will be employed in the harvest of this wheat crop. Others will be required to handle it at the elevators and many train crews will be put to work hauling the wheat to regional elevators and the seaboard.

It is true the price will likely be low but the cost of production has been lower and so will the cost of harvesting. The farmer will have wheat for feed for his livestock and for his own food and will get some money out of it. The prospects for a big wheat yield is the first favorable indication for better business we have had in West Texas in many months.

There is commercialism and mawkish sentiment in Mother's day, it is true, but genuine homage can be paid to mother on that day as it can on every other day. While you are remembering your own mother, it would be a fine thing in remembrance of her to remember other mothers who are without able-bodied sons and daughters upon whom they can depend.

And a very practical way of observing Mother's day is to take some step toward reducing the high death rate in maternity for mothers in this country. This will follow better obstetrical care, and nursing provision for all mothers.

The railway accident record of 1930 was the best in history says the Railway Age, which points to a continuation of reduction in accidents in the early months of 1931 as indicating that the safety of employment and traveling on railways will be increased this year. Says the age:

"Only 935 employes were killed in 1930, or one out of each 1,632 persons employed. In 1929 the number killed was 1,348, or one out of each 1,264 employes. As recently as 1927 the number of employes killed was 1,490, or one out of each 1,194 employes.

"The number of passengers killed in 1930 was 50, as compared with 100 in 1929, 85 in 1928, and 82 in 1927. The number of passengers carried for each one killed in 1930 was more than 14 million, as compared with less than 3,000,000 in 1929, about 9,000,000 in 1928, and about 10,000,000 in 1927.

"Both the safety of employment and the safety of travel on the railways, as these figures show, increased about 40 per cent between 1927 and 1930, and this improvement was made in addition to improvements constantly made during the preceding 20 years.

"The number of fatalities at highway grade crossings declined from 2,485 in 1929 to 2,020 in 1930, and declined from 172 in January, 1930, to 144 in January, 1931. The railways are in only a small measure responsible for accidents at grade crossings, but the figures show that even they are now being reduced, principally owing to

'Plowing as Usual' Is Program for Farmers

WASHINGTON, May 8. (US)—American farmers are proceeding with a normal program of production inspite of the difficulties that confront them, the bureau of agriculture economics said today in its monthly survey.

A re-adjustment of crop acreage in line with price conditions is noticed as a result of efforts to produce low cost crops.

The survey also said observers believe farm land prices are becoming more stable although there is still considerable activity among purchasers of farm lands who believe they are a good investment at present low prices.

BODY CHARGED WITH IGNORING MONEY ERRORS

Reinstated Head Tells Of 'Firing' After Secret Session

FOUR MEN UNDER FIRE

Irregularities in Bus Operation Charged In Plea

Partial revelation of the turbulent conditions alleged to have existed in the Fairview Independent School district during the past several months featured the testimony given by three witnesses before Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court Friday in the hearing on a petition which seeks the removal of four members of the present school board.

C. R. Owens, superintendent of the Fairview school since last September, and M. A. Walker, defendant school trustee, were presented Friday. Owens left the stand shortly before 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and direct examination of Walker was still under way when court recessed at 5 o'clock to resume at 9 a. m. Saturday.

Friction between the four defendants in the action and Owens began early in the present school year, according to the statements made Friday, and reached its first climax on Feb. 27 when the resignation of the superintendent was demanded by a majority vote in a private meeting of the school board which "lasted until midnight." Owens was reinstated as superintendent, it was brought out, at a meeting held on March 2, at which citizens of the community were present in large numbers.

Considerable stress was laid by the plaintiffs Friday upon the charge that the Fairview school had been closed by the board after a term of only eight months, allegedly because of lack of funds with which to continue the session during the ninth month. Prejudice to the school's rating with the state board of education, and upon its being accredited with colleges and universities by an early closing was pointed out to the board, the plaintiffs claimed, in an effort to prevent the action. It was declared also by both witnesses that the services of teachers and superintendent alike without pay for the ninth month had been assured by Owens as an aid to completing the full school year. Despite those circumstances, the plaintiffs charged, the defendant members of the board carried through a proposal to close the school at the end of the eighth month of the year.

Charges brought against Walker, John C. Wells, Will Teel and J. M. Morrison, as revealed in testimony

What the mayor of New York said to the king of Siam and what the king of Siam said to the mayor of New York just then wasn't recorded. But it must have been interesting because, though both are heads of the governments of several million people, their traditional backgrounds are as far apart as the Far East and the East Side. This interesting photographic study of the two chief executives was made at the New York city hall as Mayor Walker extended the official welcome of the metropolis to the visiting Oriental monarch.

Young Widow and Lover Charged With Poisoning Texas Husband

SANDERSON, Texas, May 8. (AP)—Mrs. Bessie Mae Rivers Sharp, 20, and Willie Burleson, 30, were held in jail here today charged with murder for the poison death Sunday of the woman's husband, W. Telefus Sharp.

After a preliminary hearing today, Mrs. Sharp was bound over without bail to await action of the grand jury in July. District Attorney Julian La Crosse said Burleson refused to make a statement and a preliminary hearing in his case was set for next Tuesday.

Sharp and his wife and Burleson lived on a ranch near Sanderson. Mrs. Sharp has a child about 1 year old.

District Attorney La Crosse said Mrs. Sharp made a statement Sharp was given a dose of poison in a cup of cocoa the first time, but he did not drink it, complaining that the cocoa had a bitter taste; that a second dose of poison administered in castor oil when he was ill was ejected from his stomach; and that the third and fatal potion of poison was administered in a dose of salts last Sunday. Viscera from Sharp's body were sent to the state pathological laboratory at Austin, where an examination revealed the poison.

Mrs. Sharp substantiated her statement in testimony given today at her examining trial. She admitted having a love affair with Burleson saying she bought the poison March 17 after agreeing to marry Burleson after her husband died.

Sheriff Lee A. Cook and State Ranger Capt. W. L. Barter and Ranger Townsend and Miller arrested Mrs. Sharp and Burleson after results of the chemical examination at Austin were learned.

SENATE PASSES TRINITY RIVER CANAL BILL

Compromise Split Levy Bill Adopted in Upper Branch

OLEOMARGARINE TAX

House Measure Branded As 'Punitive' in Bitter Protest

AUSTIN, May 8. (AP)—Pushing the Trinity river navigation bill to a vote late today by imposing the previous question, the senate passed it finally 22 to 6.

Opponents forced proponents to submit to a record vote, although they said only a viva voce vote was desired.

Five amendments were offered but all were rejected.

A point of order which the chair sustained disposed of an amendment by Senator Williamson of San Antonio which sought to create the San Antonio canal and conservancy district. The chair held the bill pertained only to the Trinity river. The Williamson amendment would have called for the launching of a project to make the San Antonio river navigable from San Antonio to San Antonio bay.

Adjournment Tabled

The senate considered, but failed to agree on, an adjournment date. It discussed at length a house resolution to adjourn the legislature May 22, but tabled it subject to call without making a decision.

Senator Hornaby of Austin sent up amendments suggesting May 12 and then July 4 but withdrew them.

Senator Thomason of Nacogdoches expressed the belief the legislature would be forced to go into a special session if it voted to adjourn May 22. A heavy run of appropriation bills was ahead, he stated.

Senator Woodul of Houston charged the house was wasting time.

"Let's set a date and get through with it," he said.

The senate adopted a free conference report on the Oneal split tax payment bill. The house declined to take action on the report, ordering it printed in the journal.

Oleomargarine Taxed

The committee compromise bill would provide that any tax payer paying half of his state and county taxes by Nov. 30 of the year for which taxes were due, would be given until June 30 of the next year in which to pay the remaining half. He might continue to pay his taxes as at present.

The house passed a bill by representative Tarwater of Hale Center to levy a tax of three cents per pound on wholesalers of Oleomargarine. The bill was termed by Tarwater and others as a dairy re-

Giant Seaplane Dares Perilous Atlantic In Flight Toward Brazil

LONDON, May 8.—Germany's giant flying boat, the DO-X, is tonight roaring over the South Atlantic en route to the Brazilian coast from Portuguese Guinea, Africa, according to unconfirmed advices received here.

The advices stated that the DO-X took off from Babaque bay, near Bolama, Portuguese Guinea, shortly after dawn this morning.

Berlin dispatches declared the departure was not confirmable by officials of the Dornier company, but that they had expected Capt. Friedrich Christiansen to give the signal for the 1,500-mile transocean hop today.

15-Hour Hop

At the same time, the officials declared it strange that the DO-X, whose wireless operators in flight, had not communicated its departure to the Dornier works at Friedrichshafen after the take-off.

Advices received here yesterday reported the 50-ton seaplane had been taxied from Boloma to Bubaque bay in preparation for the hop-off on the most hazardous stage of its long-delayed flight to South America.

If the DO-X is en route to the Brazilian coast, as reported, it should be sighted over Fernando do Noronha, its first scheduled landfall some time tonight, since the cross-water hop was expected to take not more than 15 hours.

Fernando do Noronha is the Brazilian island penal settlement 200 miles off the coast of Brazil. It is almost directly due west of Natal, Brazil, where the DO-X is expected to make its first halt.

Station Closed

Direct confirmation of the DO-X's reported departure from Boloma is unobtainable tonight since the wireless station in the African coastal town closes down at noon.

The huge airliner's projected South American flight was begun from Friedrichshafen last January. In Lisbon a fire broke out which delayed its continuance for weeks. Again, after it reached the Canary Islands a mishap occurred in landing which necessitated further repairs.

The present flight began last week from Las Palmas, in the Canaries, the airship flying to Villa Cisneros, Portugese gold coast, and thence to Boloma.

Secretary of Navy Lets Reporters Down With Hard Bump

CHICAGO, May 8. (US)—Reporters surged about Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams today when he paused in Chicago on his way to the Pacific coast.

"Would it," asked one of them, "be in bad taste to ask you for a comment on Gen. Smedley Butler's revelations of his activities as a spy in Mexico in the Huerta regime?"

"No," said the secretary, "it would not be in bad taste."

Pencils poised expectantly. This was going to be good. The reporters waited for the secretary to speak. Finally a braver reporter than the rest broke the silence with:

"Er—beg pardon, Mr. Secretary?"

"—But," said Mr. Adams, picking up his conversation where it had been hanging in the air, "I have nothing whatever to say about it."

TAKE-OFF UNCONFIRMED

RIO DE JANEIRO, May 8.—Unconfirmed advices received here tonight declared the German airliner DO-X will take off from Bolama, Portugese Guinea, for South America at 4 a. m. tomorrow (midnight Friday, eastern daylight time).

The Condor syndicate, Brazilian representative of the Dornier works, builders of the DO-X, have been unable to confirm or deny reports from London that the DO-X is already en route to Natal.

RESERVE BANKS REDUCE RATES

Rediscount Charges Cut By Federal System

WASHINGTON, May 8. (AP)—A reduction in rediscount rates has been ordered by seven of the twelve federal reserve banks.

The banks at Chicago, Cleveland and St. Louis today lowered their rates from 3 to 2½ per cent. Thursday New York dropped its rate from 3 to 2½ per cent, the lowest rate in the history of the federal reserve system, and the Dallas bank announced a decrease from 3½ to 3 per cent.

Speculation centered on whether the remaining five banks in the system soon would announce decreased rates. These banks and their rates are: Richmond 3½ per cent; Atlanta 3 per cent; Minneapolis 3½ per cent; Kansas City 3½ per cent and San Francisco 3 per cent.

Mine Disorders Smoulder Under Guard Patrol

LIDE-ROWE OIL SUIT SIMILAR TO DANCIGER'S

Judge's Ruling Rendered Without Prejudice In New Attack

ONE CASE REMAINS

Central Pipe Line Co. Plea Based on Inability To Fill Contract

AUSTIN, May 8. (AP)—J. D. Moore, district judge, late today denied without prejudice one of two petitions seeking to enjoin the railroad commission from enforcing proration and set the other for hearing Monday.

The petitions, filed today, applied only to the properties in which the plaintiffs are interested. One was filed by the Lide-Rowe Oil company, et al., and the other by the Central Pipe Line company. Both pertained to property in the Henderson area in the new East Texas district. The Lide-Rowe petition was denied.

Similar Case on Appeal

The petition of the Lide-Rowe company was similar to that in the Danciger case, in which the railroad commission's right to prorate was upheld by C. A. Wheeler, the other district judge here, and which is on appeal. It alleged the commission's proration order was unconstitutional because it deprived a person of property without due process of law and that the commission exceeded its authority, which was merely to prevent physical waste.

Other plaintiffs in the Lide-Rowe suit were the Bill & Dave Oil corporation, the Lide-Taylor company, C. M. Joiner, A. V. Lane, George J. Greer and J. Z. Werby.

They claimed they had five wells which had been producing 43,500 barrels daily but the commission cut the production to 1,935 barrels.

Contract Inoperative

The Central Pipe Line company said it had spent $65,000 building a pipe line from Overton to a lease on which there was one well. The company was given a contract to run 1,500,000 barrels of oil from that well, it claimed. The petition said the well would produce 24,000 barrels daily but the commission had reduced it to 387 barrels.

Such action would make it unprofitable to run the pipe line and the company would be deprived of that property, the company stated.

The railroad commission also was accused of interfering with a contract by making it impossible of fulfillment.

Fred Upchurch, assistant attorney general, representing the railroad commission, argued the contract had been made after the proration order had been entered.

Judge Moore had granted Carl Estes of Tyler a temporary injunction but Estes had suspended its enforcement until July 1.

Murder Indictments Follow Dual Capture in Dramatic Battle

NEW YORK, May 8. (AP)—The law moved swiftly today to punish Francis Crowley, captured with a girl and man companion in a dramatic gun battle late yesterday, and held for two slayings.

In a matter of minutes Crowley and Rudolph Duringer, were indicted for first degree murder, Crowley for the killing of Patrolman Frederick Hirsch, of Long Island, and Duringer for the slaying of Virginia Brannen, a dance hall hostess. Detectives announced both signed confessions.

Bronx and Nassau county prosecutors said the two defendants would be brought to trial within a week if cases against them could be prepared by that time.

Duringer was locked up in Bronx county jail and Crowley placed in Nassau county hospital for treatment of wounds he received in yesterday's battle with 100 police in West Ninetieth street, Manhattan, rooming house.

The girl companion of Crowley, Helen Walsh, 18, was taken to an unrevealed private home under guard of a police matron as a material witness. Authorities said she had made statements about the patrolman's killing which would help to convict Crowley.

Fairview Ouster Suit Hearing Opens

brought out by the plaintiffs Friday, include that of having allowed school buses to operate without surety bonds having been furnished by their owners; of having permitted a bus to be operated by one of the school trustees, its ownership nominally being vested in the trustee's brother-in-law; of having permitted the trustee's son to be employed as driver of the school bus. An effort also was made to show that one of the defendants had been given a contract to supply milk to the school cafeteria.

Discrepancies Cited

The four defendants also were charged by the plaintiffs with having refused to investigate alleged discrepancies in the financial records of the school as compiled during the year 1929-1930 by Owen's predecessor. According to testimony given by both Walker and Owens, Owens resigned as superintendent of schools at Henrietta to accept the position at Fairview, and C. R. Roberts, formerly Fairview school head, accepted the vacated position at Henrietta. Walker admitted that Roberts' withdrawal at Fairview was due principally to "ugly rumors" about financial matters of the school, and because of public discontent with his administration. Under the persistent questioning of Luther Hoffman, plaintiffs' counsel, the witness stated that the Henrietta position pays a smaller salary than that at Fairview. He also declared that Owens had been elected unanimously by the Fairview board after a thorough investigation of his record as a school executive and teacher.

Walker declared that before Christmas, in 1930, members of the school board had presented Owens with a number of written criticisms of his direction of school affairs. Among those named were that he had endeavored to effect the return of a football player to eligibility for interscholastic games; that he allowed pupils to return to classes after "cuts" without punishment; and that he did not hold faculty meetings with proper frequency. The superintendent, according to the witness, agreed to carry out the board's suggestions to the fullest possible extent. With reference to alleged complaints from faculty members relative to the superintendent's conduct of the school, the witness admitted under determined questioning that he knew of only four of the 18 teachers who had voiced any complaint. They had taught for several years under Owens' predecessor, he said.

Student Walkout

It was brought out that a public meeting of citizens was called late in February for the purpose of discussing the controversy, with a view to harmonizing the dissenting elements. According to the plaintiffs, as revealed in Owens' testimony and in Walker's answers, no official action was to be taken by the board prior to its regular meeting to be held on March 2. On the night of Feb. 27, however, according to both Owens and Walker, the school board held a called meeting. Walker stated that Owens was called "between 11 o'clock and midnight," and was notified that the board had voted to ask his resignation.

On the following morning, Walker admitted, when word of the board's action reached the student body, partcically all of the old students in the school "walked out" of classes, disrupted the entire school in protest against the expulsion of Owens, and made the conduct of school impossible.

The next meeting of the school board, on March 2, it was pointed out, was in the form of a public meeting, and a committee of about nine citizens remonstrated with the board relative to their action in asking the superintendent's resignation. During the evening, Walker testified, the board rescinded its former action, and re-elected Owens to the position of superintendent. It also was shown that two members of the board, having voiced their determination to resign, were prevailed upon by members of the citizens' committee to retain their positions on the school board.

Bill Overpaid

J. W. Boyd, part owner of the grocery business of Boyd brothers at Thrift, was on the stand for a short time Friday afternoon. His testimony concerned the handling of a check said to have been given by Roberts in May, 1930, in payment of a school account for groceries, and which was said to have exceeded by almost $100 the amount of the bill due. The grocers' check for the difference was said by the witness to have been returned to the school superintendent.

Friday's hearing was heard by a crowded courtroom, most of those present being from the Fairview community. It is to be resumed Saturday morning.

Mr. Hoffman is being assisted by Otis E. Nelson and District Attorney Sam B. Spence, while Judge A. H. Carrigan of this city and F. L. Jackson of Burkburnett represent the defendants.

the 'Cross Crossings Cautiously' campaign of the American Railway association, and to protective measures adopted by the individual lines."

The federal reserve bank of the New York district lowers its rediscount rate from 2 to 1½ per cent, the lowest rate in the history of the federal reserve system. Two years ago such action would have been followed by fresh gains in the stock market and while the present action has been followed by a slightly firmer tone on the market there has been nothing like a general upward swing.

But a low rediscount rate is sign of a plenitude of money and if there is some hesitancy about employing it for stock speculation there are industrial concerns that will be calling for it. These concerns will use it to employ men and to purchase materials. It is from such employment and purchases that relief must come, although it is admitted that a little boom in the stock market right now would be a prety good tonic.

Wet Track Awaits Preakness Today

BALTIMORE, May 8. (AP)—Nine of the East's best thoroughbreds today peered out over a rain-soaked pimlico track where tomorrow they will answer the bugle call for the fortieth running of the $50,000 Preakness—first of the rich 3-year-old stakes of the year.

A heavy early morning rain with only an occasional glimpse of the sun augured none too well for the old hilltop feature, but if the skies withhold any additional moisture for another 24 hours, the racing strip should be fast by the time the field parades to the post at about 5 p. m. eastern standard time tomorrow.

Should the track get another dose of water, C. V. Whitney's Equipoise, leading money winning juvenile of 1930, is almost certain to rule the public choice.

TRINITY BILL PASSES SENATE

Split Tax Compromise Adopted

lief measure and branded by opponents as a punitive tax measure to destroy another industry.

An amendment to place the tax at five cents was defeated. It was estimated the tax would yield approximately $400,000.

Opponents claimed the tax was not high enough to protect dairy interests and that its result would be to increase the price of Oleomargarine to persons who could not afford to buy butter. A vicious attack was made on the bill by Representative McGill of El Paso, who said he had eaten Oleomargarine for 10 years and would continue to eat it even if the price was higher than butter.

Fraud Charged

Tarwater said large sales of Oleomargarine were being made by fraud and that the food content of one pound of butter was equal to that of 25 pounds of Oleomargarine.

The house refused to set a bill to increase the tax on sulphur for special order Tuesday. It would raise the tax from 55 cents to $1 per ton.

A bill to remit state taxes in Orange county to permit the county to undertake a county-wide drainage program, was set for special order Tuesday.

A constitutional amendment resolution to authorize the state to levy a graduated income tax on individuals and corporations was engrossed, 95 to 27. It was drafted by Representative Barron of Sherman. The maximum tax was limited to 10 per cent, two per cent less than the maximum federal income tax.

Afghanistan King Asks Forgiveness For Modern Ideas

CAIRO, Egypt, May 8. (US)—Ex-King Amanullah of Afghanistan has gone to the Holy of Holies of Islam in Mecca, to pray to Allah to forgive him for having tried to modernize Afghanistan too rapidly.

Like an ordinary moslem, Amanullah made the pilgrimage to the shrine of Islam and there, facing the black-draped "Kaaba," the "stone that fell from Heaven," made his prayers. The "Kaaba," supposedly a meteorite, is the magnet of all Islam.

Amanullah, it is believed, has talked with King Ib'n Saoud of Arabia on the possibility of awakening Islam so that the Mohammedan nations may regain some of their lost power and glory.

Ib'n Saoud, too, would like to hasten the modernization of Arabia but is forced to be cautious by the fanaticism of his wild Arab clans. Nevertheless, there is talk of an awakening of Islam as the herald of the next "rise of Asia."

Franklin, Abilene business man, for the purpose of extorting money from him. The jury reported at 6 o'clock after deliberating five hours.

White testified he only sought a cash settlement from Franklin after his wife, Melba White, had told him Franklin had attempted to attack her. Franklin declared his life had been threatened unless he paid $10,000 to keep the matter out of court. He denied the alleged attempt to attack the young woman.

Melba White and her brother Goldman Marsh, also are under indictment on charges of kidnaping in connection with the case but it is not thought probable they will be brought to trial.

The verdict is believed to be the first returned in a kidnaping case in Texas since the newly enacted law made the offense punishable by death.

Judge Takes Carnera Case Under Advisement

NEW YORK, May 8. (AP)—Sometime next week Primo Carnera, the Italian man mountain, and Jack Sharkey, Boston's constant contender, will find out whether their preliminary gesture toward a fight at Ebbets field, Brooklyn, June 10 were just a waste of time.

Federal Judge John Knox, who learned of the fight game through weeks of trial of Jack Kearns' damage suit against Jack Dempsey listened to the pleas of attorneys for Madison Square garden of Illinois today, heard Carnera's legal reply, and took under advisement the garden request for an injunction. He requested briefs be filed not later than Monday.

Judge Knox seemed little impressed by the business of suspensions.

"Doesn't the commission suspend and reinstate almost at will?" he asked. "Some one is always being suspended in the papers."

Although several of the interested parties were in court, Carnera was left at home.

"We did not wish to frighten the court," one of his handlers explained.

Richards and Tilden Meet on Courts Today

NEW YORK, May 8. (AP)—Vincent Richards and William T. Tilden II, who used to play for silver cups and "expenses" in their amateur tennis days, meet tomorrow in Madison Square garden in the first of a series of five matches that are expected to bring them around $35,000 each.

Richards is guaranteed $25,000, Tilden is taking a percentage of the gate receipts as co-promoter of the match. In addition a purse of $10,000 has been promised the winner of the series.

Tilden has been playing an average of one match every other day since mid-February when he started a nationwide tour with Karel Koreluh, former professional champion. Richards has been making up for this by taking on all the amateur stars who would face him in practice.

Lubbock Commission Cuts City Tax Rate

LUBBOCK, Texas, May 8. (AP)—Lubbock's city tax rate today was reduced from $1.25 to 95 cents on the $100 valuation by the city commission at a special meeting. The new rate, the lowest since 1917, will mean a saving of $75,000 to tax payers during 1931, city officials said.

Texas-Oklahoma C-C Groups Unite For Designation of Highway 41

Special to The Record News.

SAYRE, Okla., May 8.—Pursuant to resolutions adopted at the semi-annual convention of Oil Field Highway 41 association at Cordell, the Western Oklahoma Chamber of Commerce and representatives of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, the Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce, the Sayre Chamber of Commerce and the chambers of commerce of all other towns along the highway in Oklahoma and Texas are to present resolutions to the Texas Highway commission and the Oklahoma Highway commission asking that all gaps in the road in Oklahoma and Texas that have not been disignated as a state road, be so designated at once, in order to make a continuous state road from Oklahoma City to Denver, Colo.

The Texas Highway commission has previously indicated by an official resolution that it would designate the road across the Panhandle as a state highway when sufficient funds were available to improve it. The resolution was adopted early in 1930 and the backers of the highway believe that in view of the extensive road building programs in Texas and Oklahoma mapped out for 1931, the highway commissions of both states will be willing to take over and complete it.

The Oil Field 41 Highway association adopted resolutions endorsing the Western Oklahoma Chamber of Commerce and the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and pledging their hearty support in the campaigns they are carrying on for the building of good roads in all sections of Western Oklahoma and West Texas. The next annual meeting of the association will be held at Dalhart, Texas, Dec. 7, 1931.

Young County Votes $75,000 For Brazos River Bridge

Briand Seen As French President After New Victory

PARIS, May 8. (US)—Foreign Minister Aristide Briand tonight emerged victorious from the two-day debate on his policies when the chamber of deputies voted confidence in the cabinet, 460 to 115.

The climax of the debate came this afternoon when Briand, delivering a two-hour address in defense of his policies asserted:

"I have made an outbreak of war today more difficult than ever before in history."

The overwhelming majority polled by the government is seen as greatly strengthening the possibility of Briand's election to presidency when the chamber and senate convene Wednesday to choose a successor to President Gaston Doumergue.

GRAHAM, Texas, May 8.—The Young county commissioner's court has voted $75,000 for the reconstruction of the Brazos river bridge near Newcastle which collapsed six months ago. The money was voted to meet the state highway commission proposal to pay two-thirds of the bridge cost and half of the cost of completing the highway to the Throckmorton county line.

In accepting the proposition Young county stipulated that the county funds be used for replacing the bridge so that the work could be expedited to do away with detours made necessary by the collapse.

The state highway commission has authorized a survey of the site in order that plans may be drawn up for the bridge, and it is expected that an engineer will be on the ground in a short while to begin work on the plans and specifications. The plans will then be submitted to the state body and it is hoped that the contract can be let at an early date.

New York's Great Event Opening Its Tallest Building The Eagle of Skyscrapers Beating Rain Insurance

By EMILE GAUVREAU

Today marks the official opening of the world's tallest man-made structure, the Empire State building, at 34th street and Fifth avenue, New York, which rises 102 stories on the site of the old Waldorf-Astoria. The event should be fittingly celebrated, as events of this kind were celebrated by the Florentines and Venetians of the Renaissance period.

The new ravisher of the skies is not merely to be distinguished as the tallest office building in the world. It should be regarded as an addition to the art treasures of the city, a structural masterpiece, breath-taking in its heavenly assent, a work of the highest engineering art, a triumph of the talents and restless energies of man, who sees in all conditions and things so many challenges to his vision and daring.

The Woolworth tower was apostrophized as a "skylark of stone" by an American woman. The Chrysler building was, to one poet, "a glittering spire, pinning the stars against the scarf of night." The Empire State should inspire similar tributes. If the Woolworth is a skylark, the Empire is a soaring eagle.

Lloyd's, London, is a casualty company which will issue indemnity insurance on practically anything. If you want your spectacles insured against breakage, if you want your baggage insured against theft, if you want a baseball game insured against loss, Lloyd's will issue you a policy for a stipulated premium. It will insure you against rain.

The 25-year forecast on rain, however, which the Scripps institution of oceanography vouchsafes us may put Lloyd's out of business as far as the weather is concerned. A rain and snow calendar, dating from 1931 to 1956, will give all the "dope." The predictions are to be based on a theory of cycles of sun spots.

The theory, of course, may be "all wet." Weather addicts, however, will have to take that chance and keep on paying premiums of insurance to Lloyd's.

The American people find themselves between the devil and the deep sea. On the one hand, according to Governor Roosevelt, Americans are under the rule of a national machine "geared to the pace of 50 years ago." On the other hand, wherever this reactionary regime does not function, we have rackets, crimes, bench sales, corruption, bank failures.

This might be a good time to inaugurate a third party which is neither reactionary nor axe-grinding, whose interest is neither to use the government and the people as a pawn, nor betray both for a handful of silver. With Prof. John Dewey as a guide, even the frail bark of a new American party might be able to weather the fiercest bales. Some would say this is the hour to launch the good ship, when the Republican and Democratic cyclops are throwing boulders at each other. It might be a nobler experiment than prohibition.

A Hope to End War

IN REMINDING the Indiana world peace committee that modern warfare means defeat for all of its participants, Undersecretary of State William R. Castle put his finger on the one hard, material fact that holds our real hope for those who believe in an enduring world peace.

The secretary, making his speech at Indianapolis, expressed himself thus:

"Certainly the nations are beginning more clearly to realize that war today means defeat for all participants. It means defeat because it means sooner or later a world-wide economic depression such as we have at the present time. During war there is a tremendous stimulation of industry, a stimulation which raises production far beyond normal consumption, and the readjustment is a long and very painful process—as many of us know too well."

As a matter of fact, this simple and important fact was presented to the world more than a century ago. An accident of invention kept people from recognizing its truth.

The end of the Napoleonic wars found France badly beaten and England victorious. Yet to all outward appearances England was a beaten nation. She had rolled up a national debt of unprecedented size. Her taxation was almost unbearable. Commerce and industry were crippled. The great fleet was supreme on the seas, but the treasury that supported the fleet was empty.

The parallel between England's condition then and in 1918 is instructive. England's quick recovery from the Napoleonic wars was due chiefly to the rise of the factory. Steam power was a new thing in the world. By trebling productive powers and making huge new markets available, it made it possible for Britain to liquidate her terrific war debt and go on to a greater prosperity than she had ever dreamed of before.

Since 1918 no such new factor has appeared. England, again victorious in a frightfully expensive war, is being forced to admit the truth of Mr. Castle's remark—that there can be no victor in modern warfare. Yet the same lesson would have been learned a century ago if it had not been for the steam engine and the great British coal fields.

The instructive truth was hidden then. Today it cannot be ignored. In that fact there lies more hope for world peace than in all the high-sounding treaties and international agreements ever projected.

The "Clinging Vines" Stand Alone

THE belief that women are necessarily weaker than men is being effectively blasted by the athletic activities of the modern miss. It seems not unreasonable to predict that the time will come when women will meet on an equal basis, and stand a good chance of winning.

When that time arrives the ideal of equality which women have demanded during the past two decades will become reality. The last barrier will be removed.

This spring two lusty young women have been signed by professional baseball teams. The skeptic says it was for publicity. Be that as it may, it is admittedly true that there are some surprisingly good women ball players. They have shown exceptional ability in other sports, such as tennis, golf and swimming for years.

This tendency suggests interesting possibilities. Will we hear over our radios: "Susie Jones socked the apple over the fence—it's a homer!" or "Buxom Betty Brown crashed through left tackle for eight yards," or "Kid Katherine floored the Mauler with a left hook to the jaw"?

Such thoughts cause us to smile now. But remember—30 years ago we should have laughed if somebody had suggested women would beat men in golf and tennis and swimming. . . . There aren't any clinging vines any more.

It Finally Happened

WHAT experience would await a fallen aviator in a South American jungle, and whether by any chance he might survive to recite it, has been a constant question in the minds of many who have read so often during recent years of intrepid flights over those tropical wastes. One answer has been given, for Count Edmondo di Robillant is reported now as convalescent in a hospital at Rio de Janeiro after 13 days of wandering in the jungle.

If the Count di Robillant recovers fully, and is capable of describing adequately the experiences and observations of those ill-numbered days, he may have a best seller. The mystery and danger felt by every member of civilization to lurk in the dark thickets beyond the Amazon make the romance of the Italian flier's adventure irresistible. Some intimation of the sufferings endured is given by the fact that his mechanic and companion became mad after a few days and hanged himself.

If the story be told completely in the ensuing weeks, the account of Di Robillant's rescue by Lieut. Francisco Mello will run a close second to the chief episode in public interest. Aviation has occasioned another thrilling drama of personal endurance and heroism.

Quotations Worth Noting

It is the mothers' duty to inculcate character in their children. The unbalancing of these duties is responsible for so-called flaming youth.—Judge Francis B. Allegretti of Chicago.

The great disaster of our civilization is the morbid hatred of sex. —D. H. Lawrence.

In America it is the men who are in the harem.—Michael Arlen.

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

This newspaper puts at your disposal a corps of trained researchers in Washington who will answer questions for you. They have access to the government departments, the libraries, museums, galleries, and public buildings, and to the numerous associations which maintain headquarters in the nation's capital. If they can be of assistance to you, write your question plainly, and send with two cents in coin or stamps to The Record News Information Bureau, Frederick J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q.—When will the public lands near Boulder dam be open to settlers?—I. S.

A.—These lands will not be opened to settlement until the dam is completed and water can be furnished for irrigation purposes which will not be before 1935.

Q.—Was dueling common in colonial days in Virginia?—G. K.

A.—There are records of very few duels in Virginia prior to the revolution. One of the earliest was that fought by Edward Stallings and Captain William Eppes in 1619, at Dancing Point on the James river, the former being killed.

Q.—Who was Cassandra?—H. L. R.

A.—Cassandra was the daughter of Priam and Hecuba. She was beloved by Apollo. Cassandra promised to listen to his addresses, provided he would grant her knowledge of futurity. This she obtained, but she was regardless of her promise. Apollo in revenge determined that no credence should be given to her prophecies.

Q.—Did the government buy Spectacle island near Boston?—N. C. H.

A.—The records of the department of commerce indicate that the government does not own Spectacle island in its entirety but acquired in 1896 approximately 1.15 acres for a consideration of $2,200. This parcel of land is the northeast corner of the northern part of Spectacle island, Boston harbor, Massachusetts.

Q.—Are birds increasing or decreasing in this country?—C. H.

A.—The biological survey says that the number of small birds in the United States is increasing while the number of large birds is decreasing. Large birds have been hunted more than small ones and they suffer more when woods and forests are cleared.

Q.—Why are locomotives now built with so many wheels?—C. H. W.

A.—Many wheels are used to reduce the weight at any one point on the rails.

Q.—If a person were stung by bees until the swellings added one-third to his normal size, would he weigh more?—R. T.

A.—The public health service says that there would be no increase of weight except in the amount of formic acid injected by the bee stings. This would be so little that it should be disregarded.

Q.—Do young Filipino girls enjoy sports?—L. M.

A.—Before the United States bought the Philippines the little Filipino girl enjoyed no outdoor life. This condition has, however, changed. She now plays tennis, basket ball, golf, croquet and other games.

Q.—Is Paul Robeson in Europe now?—M. C.

A.—He is making a farewell concert tour in the United States before going to England where he is to play the lead in Eugene O'Neill's "The Hairy Ape."

Q.—Which country has Tacna and which Arica?—C. B.

A.—By treaty, the province of Tacna was allotted to Peru and Arica to Chile.

Q.—When was chess first played?—L. E. M.

A.—Chess is a very ancient game antedating any extant records. Although the first authentic literature on chess came from the Arabs and Hebrews, it was already widespread among the Mohammedan nations. It is probable that it originated in China, passed into India and from there spread to Persia. It was then adopted by the Arab conquerors and introduced into Europe.

Q.—Which is better for the eyes, daylight or electric light, to work by?—P. A. B.

A.—If the eyes are properly protected and there is no glare from the standpoint of the eyes, there is very little choice between daylight and electric light.

FOARD CLUBS SHOW GOODS

Food Exhibit Draws Ten County Entries

Special to The Record News.

CROWELL, Texas, May 8.—Substantial proof that an enormous amount of home foods can be preserved and canned, even in the driest of years, was shown at the exhibit of home raised and home canned foods that was held in Crowell Wednesday with every home demonstration club of Foard county participating.

Ten communities had exhibits. Foard City won first place; West Rayland, second, and Gambleville, third. A large crowd was present throughout the day and all who viewed the hundreds of different varieties of home foods on exhibit left with a greater appreciation of the work being done among the rural women by the A. & M. extension service, through its home demonstration agents. Miss Dosca Hale is the Foard agent, Miss Elsie Phillips of Quanah, Hardeman county agent, and Mrs. Homer Ferguson, Quanah, acted as judges for the contest.

Two hundred and eight different varieties of home canned and preserved products were exhibited in the winning booth, with a total of over 250 entirely different varieties in all of the booths. The average for each display was around 175 different products.

Particularly outstanding about the exhibits were the facts that Foard county has just experienced its dryest year and that the products on exhibit were merely the "left-overs," since it is so late in the season and a great part of the home products have been consumed during the winter.

For these reasons the products exhibited more than doubled the number that officials of the event had expected.

The home demonstration clubs having exhibits were Thalia, Margaret, Vivian, West Side, Two-in-One, Wilmodausis, Ayersville, Foard City, Gambleville and West Rayland.

TWO GRAINS OF SUGAR

They look alike . . .

but . . . most women know better when it comes to brands. There have always been "just-as-goods." And, as always, most women prefer to buy the really, the genuinely best. That's the reason for the overwhelming preference for Imperial Sugar. Some sugars may look alike, but most women have found that it's safer and more satisfactory to insist on Imperial. Use it in this recipe—for certain success!

7 Minutes Icing

1 egg white — ¼ t. cream of tartar
1 cup sugar — 3 T. cold water
½ teaspoon vanilla

Put ingredients in top of double boiler. Beat with rotary egg beater until thoroughly mixed. Place over rapidly boiling water, beat constantly and cook 7 minutes or until icing will stand in peaks. Remove from fire, flavor and beat until thick enough to spread.

IMPERIAL SUGAR

Used by more food manufacturers and by more housewives than any other brand in Texas.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper

(Copyright, 1931, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Returning to a General Diet

The process of elimination should now be well established with those who started this spring eliminative diet course. The first two days of the course consisted of an acid fruit diet. The following five days of the course is a non-starchy vegetable diet, making a course of seven days in all.

Many of you have undoubtedly noticed quite an improvement in your health by this time. This is because your diet is simple and you are not interfering with the digestive processes by using the usual bad combinations. You have also been increasing the elimination of toxins through the eliminative organs. But you should remember that a cure is at best but a temporary change and it cannot be permanent, whether it is brought about by a special diet or by a drug, unless you are constantly on the alert to correct your everyday habits of eating, exercising and thinking to allow the body to function in a normal way without conflicting with the unchangeable laws of nature.

Now is a good time to build into your mind these health habits.

We know that the function of breathing is so important that if the inhalation and exhalation of air to the lungs is stopped for only a few minutes death must take place. It is therefore important for us to learn to breathe properly so that the body can obtain a greater supply of oxygen and can eliminate the gaseous waste products through the lungs. Such games as basketball, baseball, wrestling, boxing, etc. which produce heavy breathing tend to develop the diaphragm because of extreme exertion. As only a small percentage of people take up the sports which compel deep breathing, for those of you who are in the majority, it is advisable to start some form of breathing exercises to develop diaphragmatic strength and control. One of the simplest exercises to use is inhaling and exhaling slowly and deeply while you are taking your daily walk. Inhale slowly and swell up the waist and lower ribs so that the circumference around that section of your body is the largest possible. Do this slowly while taking four steps and while taking the next four steps force the air out of your lungs until your waist measures the smallest possible circumference. The last breath should be forced out with a kind of grunt. Every few days you can increase the length of time of inhaling and exhaling so that you can take five steps while inhaling and five while exhaling. Then increase these to six, and so on, until as high as 12 steps can finally be taken while you are drawing the air in and the same number while exhaling.

Walking is one of the most healthful forms of exercising which you can indulge in and you should plan on having a good daily walk. One of the best times for this is in the evening just before you go to bed. Do not walk long enough to tire yourself out at first. Try to increase the distance a little each day. Suppose you can walk a half mile without tiring the first day. Try to add maybe an eighth of a mile a day until you are able to walk four or five miles without becoming tired. You will find in this way you can build up your vitality to an amazing degree.

This is the fifth day of the eliminative diet, and you should continue with the non-starchy vegetable diet for two more days, also using the enemas, sponge baths, etc. After this, use the diet outlined in my Friday's menus.

I am sure that all of those who are taking this course will notice a great benefit at the end of that time and I would be glad to have any of you write in to me if any special problems have arisen, and I would also like to hear of the benefits which have been received.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Good Blood

Question—B. J. C. asks: "What do you think of cocoa and apricots as the best foods for the marrow in the bones? Also, what is the importance of the marrow in building blood cells?"

Answer—Red blood cells are manufactured in the marrow of the bones, but there cannot be said to be any special foods which influence their formation. The main thing to do is to keep the blood in good condition and to build up the general health.

Sleeping Soundly

Question—V. R. H. asks: "Do you think sleep before midnight is better than after?"

Answer—Scientists have found that there is no difference in sleep. You will sleep just as soundly before 12 as after and vice versa. The first few hours of sleep are the deepest, however, and a person who goes to bed at 9 o'clock will sleep the soundest from then until 12 o'clock; if he goes to bed at 12 o'clock, he will sleep his soundest from about 12 until 3 or 4 o'clock.

Polypi

Question—M. L. asks: "Is there any cure other than surgically removing polypi of the nasal passage?"

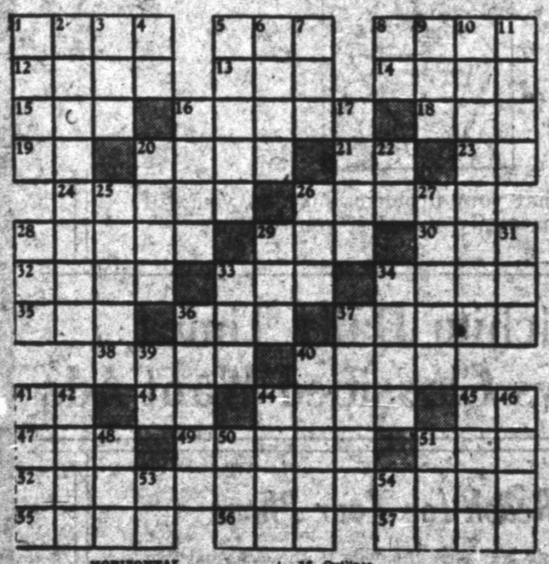

Answer—A diet taken to cure catarrhal troubles will often reduce nasal polypi through removing the irritating discharge from the nasal passages. Such a treatment should be combined with ultra-violet light treatments directly to the polypi. If this is not effective, one can always fall back on surgical measures. In such a case the operation is simple and not dangerous.

WHITE LIMITS TRIBE TO FIVE HITS AS SPUDS WIN, 3 TO 1

The Rambler's Corner

Excerpt from Commercial league standings of Friday morning:

Pine stick in hand
I sit and whittle
Waiting for a win
By Noble-Little.

On our Spuds being in sixth place:

The Bucs and the Sports,
We are pleased to rehearse,
Are trailing the Spuds.
Things could be worse.

We're West Texans!

The fact that the East Texas league is temporarily on the rocks should not cast gloom over the efforts of Honest John McCloskey and his associates toward organizing the Panhandle league. The situation in East Texas was peculiar to that section, and has no relation to West Texas and the Panhandle.

The situation involved the alleged up-and-coming city of Tyler, oil boom center. It developed that the city of Tyler was a consistent flop when it came to supporting a baseball team. The other three cities in the league, Henderson, Longview and Kilgore, were doing their part, but Tyler, according to private information the Rambler received, would not even feed their ball players. It was a mistake to locate a club there in the first place—a mistake either on the part of the organizers of the league, or on the part of Tyler citizens in misjudging the baseball wants of their town.

It can be safely stated that no such condition will be encountered in the Panhandle league. McCloskey has been organizing leagues long enough to know that a ball club can't be forced on a town. He will pick the right towns for his league, towns that will give active support to their ball clubs.

Anyhow, West Texas towns know more about baseball, and know better how to play it than any of these anti-proration hamlets of the piney woods. Half of the ball players in the East Texas league came from West Texas in the first place. If they don't know how to appreciate good class D baseball, then McCloskey will show 'em how. When we start a league over in this neck of the woods it goes! We're West Texans! It may be pointed out that the former West Texas league flopped. Well, it did. But it more than paid for itself before the crash came, and it crashed under different circumstances. We're on the way to recovery from the depression now. The depression caught the old West Texas league right in the neck. Even if it did flop, it turned out such a fine bunch of ball players that the various club-owners never did regret the loss. If it hadn't been for the old West Texas league the Spudders never would have had Lin Storti in their midst.

The other day two ball players, Turkey Johnson of Durant, Okla., and Pat Kelly of Buffalo, N. Y., sagged down in a chair in the Rambler's corner and told me they were hungry. I didn't have but a coupla thousand dollars in my pocket, but I saw to it that they got bacon and eggs and coffee. And at the restaurant counter they told me their story.

Johnson had been a third baseman, and Kelly an outfielder, on the Tyler team. They said they had realized the Tyler outfit was going to crash, so they got out. Another reason they left was that they were starving. Part of their story was even humorous. They said that after each game the players would rush through with their showers and start the daily tour of restaurants and business houses asking handouts, either in the form of cash or grub. The Tyler treasury couldn't even stand the feed bills.

Tyler had a pitcher named Lefty Harris, a fine prospect, according to Kelly. One day he was heaving over his fast ones, and with every heave he would emit a great grunt. A fan stepped over to the dugout and asked Kelly what made the pitcher grunt.

"Huh," replied Kelly, "you would too if you pitched that way without having eaten in three days!"

They had another pitcher, attested Kelly, and you can believe it or not, who was deaf and dumb. I had known plenty of pitchers afflicted in the latter fashion, but never had I heard of one unable to hear, so I asked Kelly to repeat that statement. He swore on the copy hook that it was true.

Kelly went on that the first day in camp he stood near this deaf and dumb pitcher and talked to him 30 minutes before he realized he wasn't being heard. They were standing in a hotel lobby. Finally after Kelly had talked and talked, the deaf mute pulled out a pencil and paper, and wrote the question: "Are you a ball player?"

"Well," said Kelly, "I thought he was ashamed of being a ball player and I answered him loudly that I was and proud of it. Then he wrote on the paper that he couldn't hear.

"He was in the toughest jam of anybody on the club, for he couldn't ask anybody for something to eat."

The Morning Mail

Chillicothe, Texas, May 7, 1931.
Dear Rambler:

Well I aint had much to say for a few days gist been injoying the many congratulations that have forcomming from our latest victory. Course now a feller cant be blamed for that. As I figure it a feller gets too many busts in the snoot in this life to try to be too shy and bashful like when he does get a chanct to crow a little.

Chillicothe has two base ball teams this year and the Growling Cub was down to tother ground a little while this afternoon and was watching Coach Hill's bunch of Eagles work out, and boy wuz they hot I'll say they were them thar kids was a shoving that ole apple around that diamont gist like hit was being shot from a shot gun, and they wuz a hittin that there base everytime that they heaved. Now gist as a friendly tip to some of the Sunday school leagues what plays some base ball you might get into communication with Coach Hill pretty soon and get some games with them. From the way them kids wuz a cavortin around out there this afternoon they is going to be as hard to beat in base ball as they wuz in football and believe me they was shore hot in football.

I see by the papers that that there Dizzy Dean is making everybody around him as dizzy as hisself especially the oposin team. I got a hunch tho that them thar Spudders is liable to make him dizzier than he is now before the seasons over.

I wuz a lookin at The Record News tother day and I see where a feller down to Wichita that has one of them places where you can get paintin done if you need it. Well he went an stuck out a little bait at the Cubs kind o fishin like. I want to tell him that these Cubs down here are shure curious and when they see something kind o strange they gist wants to take it apart and look inside, and we wont forget him afore the seasons over, and Fred confidencialy I think I will start that left hand rookie I wuz a tellin you about when we come down there. So fur this year he has pitched nineteen ennins and they has only got six hits so if I start him dont be disapointed if you get beat. Well I wont have anything to say any more until I get the paper in the morning. WHICH ONE? RECORD NEWS O-COURSE.

—THE GROWLING CUB.

P. S.—Fred we is thinking of having a big show and some good feeds about the fifteenth of July and we shore want you to come down one of them days if pot all three.

CYRUS SMITH POUNDED EARLY

Indians Push Over Lone Tally in Ninth

Special to The Record News

SAN ANTONIO, Texas,—After getting off to a shaky start, Cyrus Smith settled down and held the Wichita Falls Spudders scoreless the last seven innings, but Lester White limited the San Antonio Indians to five hits to win his game, 3 to 1, Friday afternoon.

The Spudders got their start in the opening round on Garms' three-bagger and an error by Deviveros and scored two more runs in the second inning on Red Badgro's triple, Fuss' double and White's single.

After that the Spudders got only three hits off Smith.

The Indians did not score until the ninth when Sanguinet singled to center and Stebbins followed with a triple to right.

Close Shave

It was the only round in which the Tribe got two hits off White and he was becoming perceptably unsteady when with two down he walked Hamilton, but Monk Edwards popped to Garms and ended the game with two runners on the bags.

It was a fast game played in one hour and a half and in which only 17 runners got on the bases, nine Spudders and eight Indians, and of this number the Spudders had only four left on the sacks while five Indians perished.

In the last five innings the Spudders went out in order on grounders, pop-ups or fly balls, as only one struck out during the game and nobody walked.

In the fifth inning Bob Sanguinet made a long running one-hand catch of a line drive to rob Gullic of what appeared to be a hit good for at least two bases.

The Tribe got to White in only four innings, once in the second on a single by Hamilton, once in the sixth on a Texas leaguer by Smith, once in the eighth on a single by Deviveros and twice in the ninth on Sanguinet's single and Stebbin's three-bagger.

In the third inning White walked two batters when Heath took his base with one down, and after Smith popped to Geygan, Flaskamper drew a pass, but Chubby Orr sent a hot grounder to Stanton, who tossed the ball to White, covering the bag and retired the side.

Geygan Stars

Masterly stop of a sizzler back of second base by Geygan, followed with an accurate shot to Stanton, deprived Sanguinet of a hit in the fourth inning, and a couple of double plays, one by Scharein and Geygan in the second inning and another by White, Scharein and Stanton in the eighth nipped a prospective Indian batting rally in each instance.

It was also a double play by Deviveros, Flaskamper and Stebbins that halted the Spudder onslaught in the opening round and prevented further damage for the time being.

MR. DEAN IS SOME TOUGH!

Dizzy Slams Door in Face Of Sports, 4 to 0

HOUSTON, May 8. (AP)—"Dizzy" Dean had everything tonight and before 12,000 baseball fans he dazzled the Shreveport Sports, 4 to 0. It was the Buffs' eighth consecutive win and, thanks to Galveston's win over Fort Worth, advanced the Bisons within a half game of the top.

Dean gave the Sports only four base hits, scattered over many innings, fanned nine and passed only one. Dean also took a hand in the scoring, starting the sixth rally with a double, and scored the first run. Score:

SHIPPERS 11, STEERS 6

BEAUMONT, Texas, May 8. (AP)—All those base hits the Exporters have been storing came out in the eighth inning today when they made eight runs to defeat the Steers, 11 to 6, in the series final. Most of the rally came after two were out, one run in that inning crossing the plate as Hughes hit into a double play. Then started a collection of base hits that didn't cease until two pinch hitters had delivered, Goldstein's double tying the score. Schuble hit a home run over left field fence to put Beaumont in the lead. Score:

The Texas Electric Service company Frigidaires outslugged the Dixon Sign company baseball team of the Commercial league Friday afternoon on Harrison field and came out on top of a 11 to 7 game. Both clubs enjoyed one big inning, scoring seven runs each in their big frames. Keith hurled shut-out ball until the sixth when he weakened, but a 10-run lead was enough for Blue and Pigg to pull the game out of the fire. Score:

PRELIMINARIES START SLOWLY

Petrolia Girl Wins First Round Tennis Match

AUSTIN, May 8. (AP)—Unless the finalists gain a little speed, the preliminary track and field meet of the 21st annual meeting of the University of Texas Interscholastic league today did not indicate there would be many state records shattered when the surviving competitors do their stuff tomorrow.

J. C. Petty of Kaufman High school was not satisfied in slinging the discus farther than the 141 feet and 9 inches he negotiated last year in setting a state record one time but he hurled it in excess of that yardage in three successive tries. His record for the preliminaries was 151 feet and 2 inches. His other efforts netted 144 feet 11 inches and 148 feet 9 inches.

Nearly Equals Record

B. Ashton of San Jacinto High, Houston, needed only one-tenth of a second's worth of speed to lower the 9.8 seconds state record set by Russell of Hereford last year in the 100-yard dash. He made it in 9.9 seconds.

H. Green of Abilene negotiated the 220-yard dash in 21.5 seconds to equal the state record hung up by Russell of Hereford last year.

Other qualifiers in the discus throw were Wolfe of Stephenville, Skripka of Rosenberg, Eaton of Electra, Wheeler of Santa Anna, Smith of Main Avenue (San Antonio), Latham of Spur and Reynolds of Sherman.

Those qualifying as finalists with Ashton in the 100-yard dash were Helbin of Northside (Fort Worth), Carr of Bay City, Pool of Sherman, Mynier of Brackenridge High (San Antonio), Stringfellow of Terrell, Trainer of Sonora, Green of Abilene, Wicker of Woodrow Wilson (Dallas), Hutzer of Main Avenue (San Antonio).

Petrolia Girl Wins

Katie Bernsen of Violet, Nueces county, Mabel Givens of Petrolia and Lois Houston of Paint Rock won their first round tennis matches in straight sets.

Miss Bernsen defeated Lucy Estes of Port Lavaca, 7-5, 6-4.

Miss Givens beat Sarah Lee Morton of the Corsicana State Home, 6-3, 6-1, and Miss Houston defeated Lucile Stengel of the prep school, Hockley county, 6-4, 6-3.

Opal Hale of Queen City was victorious over Ruby Smith of Big Spring, 5-7, 6-1, 6-4, and Beulah McClelland of Longview beat Agnes Kelly of Ball, Galveston, 6-1, 4-6, 6-4. Juanita Bills of Masonic Home, Fort Worth, Frances Morris of Main, San Antonio, and Mabel Lee Hall of Georgetown drew byes.

Main Avenue High of San Antonio won the preliminary one mile relay with 3 minutes 30.6 seconds.

Floydadan Stars

Lowell Gamblin of Floydada came through the one mile run in 4 minutes and 42.5 seconds against the state record of 4 minutes and 33.8 seconds set by Simpson of Denton in 1926.

E. Wallace of Eagle Lake and Ralph Beck of Pharr-San Juan tied with 16 seconds each for first in the 120-yard high hurdles. The state record is 15 seconds, set by Baldwin of Wichita Falls in 1924.

W. Bubois of Santa Anna was low man in the 880-yard run, making the course in 2 minutes and 3.8 seconds. Brothers of San Angelo holds the record of 2 minutes 1.2 seconds set in 1929.

E. Wallace of Eagle Lake was out in front in the 220-yard low hurdles with an official time of 24.7 seconds, seven-tenths of a second away from the state record of Ablowich of Greenville, made last year.

Black of Masonic Home (Fort Worth) was first in the 440-yard dash with 51.2 seconds, one second over the state record made by Thomas of Electra in 1923.

Leads Pole Vault

R. Harris of Austin was first in the pole vault, his distance being 11 feet.

C. Cranger of Austin made 5 feet 10 inches in the running high jump, 5¼ inches under the 1928 state record of Yarborough of Kaufman.

W. Gray of John H. Reagan (Houston) led in the running broad jump with a distance of 21 feet 4 inches.

R. Erwin of Groverton made 47 feet 4¾ inches with the 12-pound shot put to lead the finalists.

W. Camp of San Jacinto High (Houston) threw the javelin 170 feet and 8 inches for first place, 6 feet and 11 inches short of the state record set by Hodges of Austin in 1928.

Rural Pentathlon—Rearden of Cottle county, McDonald of Montague county, Griffin of Grayson county, Vie of Kaufman county, Earle of Marion county, Vines of Callahan county, Abel of Milan county, Gray of Tom Green county, Wimberley of Travis county, Blume of Fayette county and De Vilbiss of Bexar county qualified.

Rural Pentathlon, 100 Yard Dash—Griffin of Unity, Earl of Lodi, Vick of Friendship, Vines of Iona, Gray of Hess, Wimberley of Bluff Springs, Abel of Fox and De Vilbiss of Thelma, qualified.

Rice Owls Take Lead in Prelims Of Southwest Conference Track Meet

FORT WORTH, May 8. (AP)—Final events in the seventeenth annual track and field meet will be held Saturday afternoon with the Texas A. & M. Aggies defending champions. In the preliminaries of five events today, the Rice institute Owls led in placing men with 11. Texas A. & M. finished second with eight qualifiers.

Others were: University of Texas 5, Texas Christian university 1, Southern Methodist 1, Baylor 4, and Arkansas none.

Preliminaries in the 440-yard run, 100-yard dash, 120-yard high hurdles, 220-yard dash and 220-yard low hurdles, were held today on a fast dry track with the sprint men enjoying the advantage of a strong wind to their backs.

Although not officially a record, the 120-yard high hurdles mark was smashed in both heats today. In the first half, Harlan, Texas A. & M. leaped the bars in 14.6. In the second heat, Korschel, Rice, finished them in 14.09. Wright, University of Texas, holds the old record of 15 seconds established in 1926.

No field preliminaries were held today.

The University of Arkansas with five entries failed to place a man in the preliminary track events today. It is the consensus of Southwest conference track coaches that Texas A. & M. 1929 and 1930 champions, Rice institute and the University of Texas will battle Saturday for the championship. Several records in the field events may tumble but critics are doubtful of new records in the track events.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, May 8. (AP)—Reports of a better tone in the stock market were followed by increased activity and strength in cotton today on covering and Wall street buying. July contracts closed at 10.10 with the general market closing very steady at net advances of 12 to 18 points.

There was a little buying on the decline in the local bank rate which was announced after the close of the previous day, but the demand was light and was quite readily supplied by some local and southern selling.

Brokers with Wall street connection were active buyers while there was a scattering demand from trade or commission house.

Reiterated reports of crop delays in the South as a result of recent unfavorable weather conditions and the rains in the eastern belt, were considered contributing factors on the advance.

The market however, appeared to pay little attention to news of this sort until the stock market turned upward, when there was evidently more disposition to buy on the technical position and coming uncertainties.

Liverpool reported continental liquidation and hedging in the market. Egyptian futures in Alexandria were 6 to 13 higher and Indian spot cotton in Liverpool four points higher.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, May 8. (AP)—The cotton market, after ruling sluggish during the morning, had a good recovery in later trading today. The close was steady at the top, the general market showing net gains for the day of 15@19 points.

Liverpool cables came in 3@4 penny points worse than due but rallied some later. Private cables stated that there had been continental liquidation and some hedge selling. Manchester cabled that the home trade in cloths was more encouraging but that India was disappointing.

After fluctuating rather aimlessly most of the morning the market rallied sharply near mid-session buying being stimulated by rather favorable weekly statistics and firmer stocks and bonds coupled with unfavorable crops news from the western belt.

The market became quiet firm and active in the late trading owing to advancing stocks and bonds and short covering. The close for July showed a net gain for the day of 15 points and October a net gain of 16 points.

Stocks Reverse Trend In Vigorous Recovery in Prices

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, May 8. (US)—A vigoros recovery in prices was witnessed on the stock exchange today.

The advance in many stocks ran to substantial proportions. There were few laggards. During the early dealings, steel common and American Can continued under pressure but except for relatively few other issues, the main body of the market refused to follow their decline. This was a further demonstration of the tendency evidenced most of the past week and repeatedly noted here. In the subsequent rally, however, Steel, Can and others of the more prominent group recently under pressure participated actively.

The incentive for the sudden sharp reversal in trend, which gathered momentum during the afternoon was difficult to ascertain except in the recognized technical or internal conditions which have been partial to sharp recoveries.

Lowering of the rediscount rate had no direct influence on stock quotations, although high grade bonds and in fact the entire bond market responded to the action.

The stimulus of a reviving bond market may have overlapped into a stock market already made favorable for a rally. In any event volume swelled appreciably to 2,700,000 shares, and closing prices of many stocks were at or near the best prices of the day.

Leadership on the constructive side again rested with Woolworth, although Radio and General Motors, together with the irrepressible Auburn were quick to join the five-and-ten-cent issue in providing a real fright for the bears.

There is little question but that short covering contributed a major influence in the sharp run-up in prices. The sponsors of Woolworth maintained their favorite on the upside throughout the day, giving professionals who had gone short not even a resting spell.

The experience of the Woolworth bears alarmed some of the more nervous shorts in other stocks and the market quickly took on the appearance of a complete bear rout for the day at least.

Radio's strength was primarily due to short covering, brought on by more aggressive sponsorship which commenced when the first quarter report appeared showing small earnings but the equivalent of the net income for the full year 1930.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 8. (AP)—Prospects of drouth becoming worse in Canada did much to turn grain prices upward today. Official reports indicated that moisture supplied overnight to spring wheat areas both in Canada and this country was too scant to be of any important help. Wheat was bullishly affected also by purchases to prepare for a possible surprise in the United States government crop summary due after trading had ended.

Trade comment after the report had been issued was that the government report favored bulls as showing a probable harvest of 6,000,000 bushels less wheat than the average of recent private estimates.

Wheat closed firm, unchanged to ⅜ cents higher, corn ⅜@⅝c up, oats ¼@⅜c advance, and provisions 5 to 20 cents down.

Canadian wheat supplies were estimated at 16,000,000 bushels less than was the case at this time last year, and North American exports for the week were about double those of either the week previous or a year ago.

Corn and oats stayed with wheat. Wet cold weather adverse to planting and corn growth were factors promoting price upturns.

Provisions receded with hog values.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, May 83¼c, offers; July 61½@⅝c, 63½c; Sept. 61⅝c, 63¼c; Dec. 64⅜@½c, 66½c. Corn, July 59½c, 60⅜@¾c; Sept. 58¼@⅜c, 59⅝@¾c; Dec. 51¼c, 52½c.

FINCH FUNERAL SERVICE HELD

Wichita Woman's Body Sent to Alva, Okla.

Funeral services for Mrs. Alice Finch, 77, who died Friday morning at the home of her son, Robert Finch, 1400 Taylor, after a brief illness, were held Friday afternoon from the chapel of the Hines mortuary.

The body is to be forwarded Saturday morning by the Hines mortuary to Alva, Okla., for burial.

Mrs. Finch was the widow of the late Rev. John Finch, Baptist minister of Texas. She was a native of Lancaster, England, coming to the United States with her husband following their marriage in 1876. They removed in 1921 to Winnsboro, Texas, following a residence for many years in Eastern cities.

Mrs. Finch took an active interest in church affairs during her residence here, despite advancing years and failing health. She was a teacher of the Clasby Gleaners Sunday school class at the First Baptist church, and was an arden worker in the Womans' Missionary society and in the B. Y. P. U.

Surviving in addition to the son here are two grandchildren, Alice and Gladys Finch.

Negro Charged With Theft of Clothing

Albert Jackson, a negro, was charged with theft over $50 in a complaint filed by George W. Anderson, assistant district attorney, Friday afternoon in connection with the theft of three suitcases containing clothing.

According to Mr. Anderson, the alleged offense was committed last December, the bags being taken from an automobile on Elizabeth street.

Oda Tilton, convicted about three weeks ago on a charge of theft from the person and given three-year prison term, withdrew his notice of appeal Friday and accepted the sentence given by the trial jury, it was announced. A motion for a new trial, presented last week in the 30th district court, was overruled by Special Judge W. W. Cook.

Tilton was indicted originally in connection with the theft of more than $300 in currency from a man in a local hotel.

Wichita Falls Visitors

Brief Bits of News About Folks of This Section

Another out of town visitor who likes Wichita Falls very much is Mrs. Jimmy Lyle of Jonesboro, Ark., who is visiting in the home of Mrs. W. M. Langford, 1644 Collins. Mrs. Lyle describes this city as being a lovely place but a "trifle windy."

Mrs. Joe L. Mathews of Archer City shopped here Friday.

Out of town shoppers in Wichita Falls Friday included Mrs. Frank Lawrence of Grandfield, Okla., Mrs. W. W. Wood of Electra, Mrs. E. E. Carlton of Ringgold, Miss Ruth Carlton of Ringgold, Miss Kate McNess, Grandfield, Okla., Mrs. G. A. Hogue of Iowa Park, Mrs. G. R. Hogue of Iowa Park, Mrs. J. H. Ethridge, Misses Grace and Daisy Ethridge all of Tipton, Okla.

Wichita Falls Youth Off to the Seas Again

Clifford Hall, 1313 Kemp boulevard, employed during the past several months with the Texas company here, is "off to the seas again," according to information obtained Friday.

Mr. Hall left several days ago for Houston, and a letter received by his father, Dr. Gaines B. Hall, Friday recites that he is shipping on a merchant steamer within the next few days.

Shortly after graduating from Wichita Falls High school, a few years ago, Mr. Hall spent almost a year on merchant ships plying between the United States and Europe, and between this country and South America. Several weeks on shore in Europe were utilized between trips for short sight-seeing tours in Holland, Belgium and France. At the conclusion of his former season at sea, Mr. Hall and a companion made a three-day hitchhike from New Orleans to New York, where he spent about a month before returning to Wichita Falls.

Nothing that applies to any other picture applies to "Trader Horn." The reason, boiled down considerably, is that "Trader Horn" is not Hollywood, but Africa. It is so much more important than the average picture that the critic who uses four stars for the best would either call out the firmament or would decline to give an opinion.

To a theater critic, it is like a new world. To the average moviegoer, then, it must indeed be a miracle. There is no acting, no plot, no scenery, no make-up, no ballyhoo, no prominent names connected with it, and yet I still have vivid reminders of the strained position on the edge of the seat.

No football game or world war battle or not even a crash of two zeppelins in mid-air could be more exciting than those hungry lions fighting over their prey, and if it's blood-curdling you want, wait for the scene where the hundreds of 12-foot alligators slither off into the water and raise gaping jaws at huge snakes hanging down from trees. It's terrible.

It is difficult to tell about it without making it sound like lantern slides brought home by a missionary and shown to wide-eyed boys in Sunday school classes, or like an educational film. It is nothing of the sort—infinitely more exciting than "With Byrd at the Couth Pole" and "The Silent Enemy" and in fact, a greater picture than either aspired to be.

It is especially interesting to watch the audience unlax when the three whites in the picture finally get back to semi-civilization, casually look at their watches and gasp at the discovery that they have been sitting there for a little over two hours. A Mickey Mouse comedy helps to dispel the African atmosphere remarkably.

STEPHENS GETS SHALLOW WELL

Oil Development Quiet In Duncan District

Special to The Record News.

DUNCAN, Okla., May 8.—Lee Morrison apparently is completing his No. 2 Hightower, in the SW-SW-NE of 15-3s-5w, in the Stephens county field southwest of the town of Loco, for a shallow producer.

The No. 2 Hightower, an old producer deepened, was drilled to 1138 feet and logged several showings of oil. Operators were preparing to abandon the test when heavy oil filled up 500 feet of the hole. The well is being rigged to pump and is estimated good for a small producer.

Other oil development in Stephens county was at a standstill at the end of the week.

Crane & Rankin's No. 1 Adkins, in the NE-NE-SE of 14-1n-5w, a wildcat just north of the Oil City field, is still shut down at 3265 feet.

Paul Turner and associates' No. 1 W. M. Andrews, in the NW-SW-SW of 5-2s-7w, a wildcat six miles south of Duncan is still shut down at 1827 feet.

Ross Southard and associates' No. 1 O. R. McKinney, in the NE-NE-NE of 25-1n-8w, a wildcat three miles northwest of Duncan, is still shut down at 1063 feet.

Committee Has Convention 'On Its Hip'

Special to The Record News.

LUBBOCK, Texas, May 8.—"We've got this convention on our hip," is the typical West Texas manner in which Maury Hopkins, assistant manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce had today in expressing the way preliminary plans for the 13th annual West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention are developing.

A number of committees have met in Lubbock in the past few days, working out their part of the convention. Today, the convention work committee, with Walter D. Cline of Wichita Falls as chairman met and completed their plans.

A number of West Texas cities, including Mineral Wells, Amarillo, Sweetwater, and Dallas are making a strong bid for the 1932 convention.

ONLY 7 MORE PIANOS TO LOAN
FREE
Seven Pianos (Grands, Players and Uprights, both new and used instruments) will be placed in homes of Wichita Falls and vicinity, and they may be used until we need them—which will be an indefinite time. This offer is caused by lack of floor space, due to the reason we are overstocked and a larger demand now for certain styles of Grand and Upright Pianos. Our warerooms are crowded and other Pianos constantly arriving are taxing our floors to the utmost. We must have the room. Our entire stock has been priced at greatly reduced figures, and any one contemplating the purchase of a Piano in the next few months cannot afford to miss the opportunity. All Pianos not sold outright will be placed in the homes of families who are interested in owning a Piano in the immediate future and for the valuable advertising we will receive by having good families use them. We reserve the right to select the homes in which these Pianos are to be placed.
Positively No Charge for Anything
No carriage, no rent or any expense whatever. No phone orders. You must call at the store to make your selection. No matter if you live out of town, you are just as welcome to one of these instruments as those residing right in the city. There are no strings to this offer, which comes but once in a lifetime.
