Minute Men Proposed for U.S. Security

DENVER — (AP) — A modern organization of minute men to meet threats of Communist sabotage was proposed today. It was termed the key to a adequate security.

The plan was offered by C. B. Lister of Washington, executive director of the National Rifle Association. Lister helped draft the first manual on home guard organization in World War II. He asked his board of directors to help establish a new internal security force of civilians in their states "while there is time."

"Russia could cripple this nation in 12 hours without ever using an atom bomb," Lister declared in an interview elaborating on his plan.

"A lot of talk — and very little action — on civilian defense plans, centering most on disaster relief, has betrayed the average American into a sense of security."

"But the Communists could attack without warning. They could do it through their cells scattered over the United States."

"While our top military men are wrangling over long range strategy, they are overlooking their own back yard. They are neglecting to provide protection for the base to put their strategy into action and keep it in action."

Lister said, "that protection — much as the military thinker may hate to admit it — can be provided by civilians without cost. Those civilians want to protect their home, their jobs and their way of life. All they need is a little direction."

Texas Group Seeks Price Support Plan

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A delegation of West Texans continue talks today at the Agriculture Department in an effort to iron out problems of the new cottonseed price support program.

No solution was reached after a long conference here yesterday. George A. Simmons, manager of the Lubbock Cotton Oil Mill was spokesman for the group.

Simmons said the governments recently announced plan to guarantee farmers $49.50 per ton for their cottonseed is not working.

"There is great confusion all along the line in the handling of cottonseed," he said. "Very few farmers are getting $49.50 because they don't have the necessary storage. Ginners and millers are just as unhappy, because they cannot pay higher prices for cottonseed and still compete with products made from corn, soybeans, and animal fats."

The government through the Commodity Credit Corporation is willing to buy Texas cottonseed outright for $49.50. Her husband is actually taking over only a (See TEXAS, Page 2)

Broadcaster Loses Mystery

PARCHMAN, Miss. — (AP) — Mississippi's phantom broadcaster has lost his mystery, his secret radio transmitters, and his privileges as a prison trustee.

Frank Moody, 28, was shifted to a prison work unit yesterday. The Federal Communications Commission had been trying for days to pin down the unauthorized radio broadcasts in this area.

Joe McKinney, regional manager of the FCC, revealed Wednesday night it finally did and told the story of the broadcasting convict.

Moody had built three radio transmitters and broadcast daily to persons in Pascagoula and Bayou La Batre, Miss. He gave helpful hints on how to win an "indefinite suspension of sentence" from Governor Fielding L. Wright, McKinney said.

Two amateur radio operators, one in Arkansas and the other in Tennessee, first reported the broadcasts to the FCC, early in October.

Sunday, federal men went to the trusty's cage at the state prison. Moody led them to the transmitters.

Moody is serving a 50-year sentence which mushroomed from a seven-year sentence in 1939 for armed robbery in Jackson County. Penalty for two escapes during his first four years ran the total up.

Top Communists Given 5 Years, $10,000 Fines

GLEE AFTER ADJOURNMENT — Senate pageboys couldn't withhold their glee as the Senate adjourned and celebrated by throwing papers in the air throughout their quarters. The scene in the House, when it adjourned a few hours earlier, was much the same as the Senate scene above.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Eugene Dennis, Communist leader, today was sentenced to five years imprisonment and $10,000 fine.

He was the first of the 11 top Communist leaders convicted of conspiracy to teach the forcible overthrow of the United States government.

Other sentences: John V. Williamson, five years imprisonment, $10,000 fine. Robert G. Thompson, three years imprisonment, $10,000 fine. The other eight received five years imprisonment and $10,000 fine.

A recommendation of 10 years each was made by U.S. Attorney John F. X. McGohery. He made no recommendation for a fine.

This suggestion to Federal Judge Harold Medina came one week after the top leaders of the American Communist Party were convicted of conspiracy to teach the forcible overthrow of the United States government.

Judge Medina delayed sentencing of Communist leaders until the defendants and their lawyers could make statements in court.

Judge Medina said he would give each defendant and his lawyer a chance to speak before sentencing.

The defendants, convicted last week of criminal conspiracy, immediately began speaking with Eugene Dennis, general secretary of the Communist Party, taking the floor first.

"We are not guilty of any crime," Dennis asserted, "and least of all of the allegation that we conspired to teach and advocate the overthrow of the government by force and violence."

As soon as Dennis finished, other defendants rose in order and said his statement would serve for them.

But Benjamin J. Davis, Jr., Negro defendant and member of the New York City Council, rose a moment later and announced that he wished to speak separately "inasmuch as I was deprived an opportunity to serve as my own counsel and to address the jury."

Davis, a lawyer, said American Negroes "have been oppressed for over 300 years."

He declared that the Negro people would not be intimidated. None of the defense lawyers wished to say anything.

Then, in an atmosphere of mounting tension, McGohery began a lengthy summation of the case against the defendants, preparing to tell the jury what sentences the government thinks should be imposed.

Merchandise In Burglary Is Recovered

Approximately $100 in merchandise was recovered this morning a few hours after it was stolen in the burglary of a Santa Fe Railroad commissary car east of the Pampa depot.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Rufe Jordan reported the burglary was reported to him by Roy Spencer, who took over management of the car yesterday.

Jordan, assisted by City Patrolmen Shirley Nickols and E. S. Johnson, checked over the car's supplies with Spencer and learned that seven pairs of work shoes, two jackets, two pairs of plaid shirts, and a carton of cigarettes were missing in addition to $15 of $18 in cash.

Searching the nearby weeds by following footprints, the officers discovered all of the merchandise, but not the money, about 150 yards from the burglarized car.

The car was one of two commissary cars attached to the section hand train for the use of track workers. The cars carry virtually everything from work clothing down to candy and tobacco.

CITY PATROLMAN FIRED FOLLOWING MIXUP OVER ARREST OF PAMPANS

City Patrolman Geoffrey Williams was fired this morning following the arrest of two prominent white men in The Flats early Monday night.

The men, Carl T. "Shorty" Harris and Arlin Smith, were held in the City Jail that night without charge, for approximately 25 minutes before they were released on orders of Chief of Police J. O. Dumas.

According to Dumas and City Manager Dick Pepin, Williams and Patrolman Clarence H. Godfrey were dispatched to The Flats on a call from Patrolman G. W. "Wash" Callahan who reported spotting a New Mexico licensed car with three white men prowling around the Negro section.

When the patrolmen arrived at S. Gray and Maple they spotted Harris' car parked across the street from the Owl Bar and Grill. Harris, accompanied by his ex-wife and Mr. and Mrs. Arlin Smith, had picked up a Negro maid intended to take along to White Deer to help at a dinner party.

Williams questioned the two couples' asking them what they could make statements in court.

Judge Medina said he would give each defendant and his lawyer a chance to speak before sentencing.

The defendants, convicted last week of criminal conspiracy, immediately began speaking with Eugene Dennis, general secretary of the Communist Party, taking the floor first.

Negotiations To Be Resumed

HOUSTON — (AP) — Negotiations may be resumed this weekend between the CIO Oil Workers International Union and the Mathieson Chemical Corporation.

Arthur Hajeate, secretary of Local 227 of the union, last night bowed out of the Mathieson strike.

Henry Holland, Mathieson attorney, had said he would deal with the union on an official appointed by O. A. Knight, president of the OWIU.

Knight "fired" Hajeate as secretary of the local and Billy Kieka as president. He appointed Ivan B. Haven, an international representative, to take over their official duties.

The local union refused to recognize Knight's action. Hajeate suggested at a mass (See NEGOTIATIONS, Page 2)

Mexico Wins First Inning in Struggle

MEXICO CITY — (AP) — European tourist spots get their innings today in the struggle for the Yankee dollar.

Mexico got off to a good start by attracting the annual meeting of the American Society of Travel Agents. The 600 or more agents help U. S. tourists make up their minds about where to spend the $225,000,000 a year of tourist money.

But today the representatives of European tourist societies were on the program to tell what Europe holds for the U. S. traveler.

Blind Husband and Children Injured

ABILENE — (AP) — A mother suffocated today beneath the body of her daughter, critically injured in a tornado which exploded their home early today.

Mrs. Ruby Lee Person, 37, a teacher, was the lone fatality of the brief storm which appeared to have died out near this West Texas town.

Her daughter, Mina La Dell, 11, was injured critically.

Long nails from heavy timber of the house were driven into her body as she lay helpless over her mother's face.

Allay Person, 51, the husband and father, and Eddie Earl, 14, a son, were less seriously injured.

Person is blind, and his wife had been supporting the family. Some 1,000 telephone circuits were disrupted in the town. W. L. Blakey of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., in Abilene, said.

The Persons' three-room frame house was demolished. A vacated barracks just behind their home, several barns and other smaller buildings also were wrecked. Power and telephone lines were ripped down, trees uprooted and two gas meters torn loose. They caught fire, but were quickly extinguished.

The storm roared into the northern section of this town of 40,000 persons about 12:29 a. m.

Johnson Says He's Running Department

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Secretary Louis Johnson declared today he is running the Defense Department in the interests of the American people and world peace.

He said he intends to howl to the line despite "straw men" and "false rumors" which he attributed to the Navy.

Johnson was the climax witness before the House Armed Services Committee which has heard Navy charges that present defense policies are wrong and are hurting national security.

Johnson said all he is trying to do is see that the money of the taxpayers is put into the most modern and efficient defense equipment so that they get a hundred cents worth of defense for every dollar spent.

And, throwing his "wholehearted support" behind unification of the armed forces, the secretary said that there is "an essential and honorable role" for each of them to fulfill under present strategy plans.

Before Johnson went on the witness stand Gen. George C. Marshall told the committee that money is "the root of the present trouble in the armed forces."

Marshall, wartime Army chief of staff, said all commanders want more than they can be given and somebody has to find "a more economical way of doing things that have to be done."

Johnson said that in addition (See JOHNSON, Page 2)

No Indictment Returned in Solon's Case

AUSTIN — (AP) — A false swearing charge against Senator Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Texas) was dropped by the Travis County Grand Jury last night.

The charge of false swearing by affidavit had been brought yesterday against Johnson in Justice of the Peace Court by former Ranger Captain Frank Hamer of Austin.

Johnson commented he was not surprised at the action brought by Hamer, "because it's pretty much in keeping with the line that's been followed all along."

Hamer filed the complaint in connection with the court battle between Johnson and former Governor Coke R. Stevenson over the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senator last year.

Hamer alleged the "false statement" was in an affidavit filed by Johnson in 12th District Court here a year ago in an injunction suit brought by Johnson against Stevenson and others, including Hamer. Hamer said he had been accused of going into Jim Wells County and attempting to have voting results changed by "threat and intimidation."

Johnson came out the winner in the nomination fight after the long series of court battles. Informed that the grand jury had refused to indict him, the senator said the dispute had been resolved in his favor through many courts and a Senate committee. He added:

"I had thought that every group had considered it and decided unanimously, but not being a lawyer, I hadn't thought of a Justice of the Peace Court."

Stevenson lost the Democratic nomination to Johnson by 87 votes. He had charged that 200 fraudulent votes were added to the total of precinct 13 in Alice, Jim Wells County.

Hamer was closeted with the grand jury 12 minutes yesterday.

Rail Strike In 7th Week

ST. LOUIS — (AP) — The Missouri Pacific Railroad strike dragged into its seventh week today and no one will predict now when it will end.

There are fears in some quarters that negotiations are stale-mated.

The next move is up to the four striking brotherhoods, which are preparing an answer to the latest company offer. The railroad suggested that the remaining 93 unsettled claims be submitted to arbitration.

An answer to this proposal is expected to be made by the union late today.

Prospects are bleak, however, that the unions will agree to the plan. Frank Aldrich, local chairman of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, said flatly yesterday that arbitration would not be acceptable.

The 93 disputed claims are left-over cases from the 282 that led to the strike Sept. 9. The number was cut down in direct negotiations.

Pumps Discussed At Meeting of Water Workers

Twenty-nine water workers attended the October meeting of the Canadian Water Works Association last night at Canadian.

B. D. Turner, Byron-Jackson Pump Co., explained the advantages of submersible pumps and showed a movie. He said submersible pumps work best in crooked-hole wells.

W. T. Ball, children's president of the Green Belt Water Works Association, reported on the recent water workers meeting at Wellington and invited the Canadian association to attend the regional meeting Nov. 15 at Plainview.

C. C. Carter, mayor of Perryton, presented a short talk.

Attending the meeting were: Lewis J. Ogilvie, Marvin Ions, Booker, W. D. Richardson, Melvin Anderson, C. C. Cortz, J. D. Mayberry, Perryton; J. O. Dunne, Miami; Elzlie Immel, Higgins; H. J. Ellis, White Deer.

"Tradition, opposing interest and fear of loss of identity have all played a part in the turmoil on the subject of unification, and in the operation of the unified military establishment since we first settled it in 1947. The present controversy, in my opinion, is a continued adherence to the above-mentioned considerations."

The secretary said the committee might be surprised to hear it, in view of testimony from the Navy, but the fact is that the policy-making joint chiefs of staff have "unanimously agreed on an emergency war plan, involving the maximum utilization of Army, Navy, Marine and Air Forces."

And, he said, these war plans "bear only the slightest resemblance to the erroneous picture that was painted by some of our witnesses." Some of the testimony he said, was tragic.

"A state man was built for you," the secretary went on, "by those who would have you believe we expect of win a war by push button tactics and atomic blitz."

Some of the Navy witnesses have contended that defense strategy is geared to the thought that the Air Force B-36 bomber, designed to carry the A-bomb, can win a war with a "blitz."

Johnson said he knows no competent military man who believes we could win a quick and easy victory.

Lipscomb Co. Pioneer Dies

HIGGINS — (Special) — Funeral services for Mrs. N. B. Edendorough, early day resident of Lipscomb County, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow from the First Methodist Church in Higgins.

She died at 3:30 a. m. Thursday in the Shattuck, Okla., hospital.

The former Lou Ellen Parker was born May 5, 1872, at McComb, Mo., and in early childhood moved with her parents to Atoka, Texas, where she married N. B. Edendorough Feb. 21, 1895.

Four years after their marriage, the couple moved to Grand, Okla., and stayed there until 1900, when they bought a farm 14 miles southeast of Higgins.

They celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in February, 1945, shortly after moving into town. Mr. Edendorough died Oct. 9, 1946.

She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Bill Deakins, Steacy, Texas, and Mrs. Ada Brannon, San Antonio, and by six of her ten children: Mrs. Winnie Goettsche and Mrs. Amy Miller of Higgins; Mrs. Cleta Lorey of Coalinga, Calif.; Spence of Coalinga, Lynn of Okmulgee, Okla., and Nigel of Canyon, Okla. She is also survived by 18 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Services will be conducted by the Rev. Hugh Longino, pastor of the church, and burial will be in Higgins Cemetery under the direction of the Carl Mason Funeral Home of Shattuck.

Quartets Parade Set Tomorrow

BORGER — Borger's first annual "parade of quartets," featuring Barbershoppe organizations from Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico, will be held tomorrow night beginning at 8 at the Junior College Auditorium.

Proceeds will be divided between the polo emergency fund and local charities, it was said, with the exception of expenses.

Quartets from the Pampa chapter of Barbershoppers will take part in the evening's entertainment.

Sympathizers in growing numbers formed a chanting picket line.

A 100-man police detail, alerted for possible disturbances, ringed the Foley Square courthouse, closed all doors except the main entrances, and carefully scrutinized every person entering the building.

Inside the courtroom, the convicted men were seated on a bench at Medina's right.

A U. S. marshal was assigned to guard each prisoner. Ten more marshals lined up along the rail in front of the spectators' section.

Medina denied all defense motions for arrest of judgment, for a new trial and for acquittal.

McLean Boy Has Polio

McLEAN — (Special) — Joe Cooper, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cooper, McLean's first polio case of this year, is reported doing well at the polio center at Plainview.

Cooper became ill Sunday night and was taken to Plainview Monday. It has also been reported that he is not paralyzed.

This is the first polio case in McLean this year, Dr. J. H. Kritzler said.

Man Is Fined on Charge of DWI

Fred Hinkley, 322 N. Sumner, was fined $50 and costs after pleading guilty in County Court this morning on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

He was arrested by City Police Officers Patterson and Cotton shortly after midnight last night in the 100 block of S. Hobart.

It was Hinkley's first offense. An automatic six-month suspension of his driver's license goes with conviction on that charge.

People Cause of Cost Increases

MINERAL WELLS — (P) — Gov. Allan Shivers told Texas manufacturers that as long as legislators and administrative officials respond to the people's demands, government costs will increase.

He said last night in a speech at the annual convention of the Texas Manufacturers Association that many state agencies could be eliminated. But, he added, that he had never known the Legislature to create a single new agency unless it was demanded by some influential group, industry, profession or other segment of our population.

While warning against too great an increase in government spending, Shivers said the Texas Legislature will nevertheless have to expand the current budget in January.

"We are not providing adequately for our state hospitals for the mentally and physically sick, or for out aged citizens who have no place to go except to a state institution."

Away With Steno Says Man Who Ought to Know

By EDWARD S. KITCH
AP Newsfeatures

CHICAGO — H. P. Edgar is the nom de plume of a Chicago business man. He used the pseudonym because he expressed his personal opinions about office secretaries in rather tart terms.

A few of his comments, penned under the title of "Goodbye, Miss Jones," for a commercial magazine, are:

"Some 40 years ago I was elevated to the dignity of a private secretary. Until recently I have shared a common belief of many business men that stenographers are necessary. But I have made a great discovery. Secretaries are not only unnecessary, they are an outright nuisance.

"I have discovered that (1) secretaries drive you (2) distract you, (3) baby you, (4) cramp your style, and (5) take charge. I have found furthermore that secretaries keep people out and let people in the wrong people; that they lose things, misunderstand you, get things wrong; that they make appointments for you that you wish they hadn't; they create maddening detail, and in no time have a vested interest in the office and in you. I repeat, they are a nuisance.

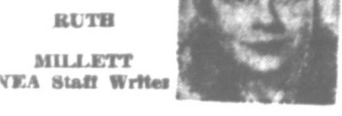

"The chief trouble with secretaries is that most of them are women. True, some of them are decorative, but are you in business for art and fancy work or for cash?

"And note this, women are sinister. They want you to take them out to dinner, and if you are not on constant guard they marry you. They despise the idea of a man running his life. They want to oversee your diet, your etiquette, your address list and, worst of all, they pry. Back to the good old days, when we kept them out of the office.

"My indictment is by no means concluded. Secretaries are noisy; they talk. Secretaries are nosy; they pry. They are vain; they primp. They want curtains on windows instead of memoranda to yourself. They want carpets instead of spittoons on the 'Church Proud of Women in Creative Posts' WSCS Circle Members Told

"The Church today is proud of the women who stand in posts of creative leadership, and they, in turn, are bound up and greatly strengthened by the many who follow in the trails they blaze," Mrs. Lee Harrah told members of Circle One of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church at a meeting Wednesday afternoon. The meeting was in the home of Mrs. Thurman Cline, 1125 Terrace. Mrs. Harrah brought out that it was Huldah, a woman, who preserved the book of Deuteronomy.

Members answered roll call by naming some outstanding women of the Bible. Mrs. Walter Purviance, study chairman, assisted by Mrs. Ben Ward and Mrs. Harrah, presented the fourth and fifth chapters of the study, "Women of the Scriptures."

The closing prayer was given by Mrs. Purviance. Refreshments were served to 15 members.

Circle Two met with Mrs. Claude Byrd, 1212 Mary Ellen, with 11 members present.

Mrs. W. R. Campbell, chairman, led the group in prayer and conducted the business meeting. Mrs. J. E. Kirchman concluded the study on "Women of the Scriptures."

Good Bed, Properly Made, Aids Health With Restful Sleep

Bedmaking techniques run the gamut from "once around the bed" to not making it at all. So says a survey of American homemakers. Most of the homemakers interviewed were quite squeamish about leaving the beds unmade altogether because of the damage it would do to their reputations as housekeepers. Even more important, however, is the damage it would do to their families' sleep.

Tightly drawn sheets and "hospital" corners are not a finicky housewife's quirk; they're a real aid to restful sleep. Many of the interviewees objected to the amount of time consumed each day in making beds, but it's well worth it.

Much worse than wrinkled sheets, however, is lumpy bedding. Good quality bedding is the first requisite for good quality sleep. When a weary sleeper crawls into bed to rest, he'll be even wearier when he gets up if his bedding is of the sagging, lumpy variety.

Level, well constructed bedding is not only essential to restful sleep support, but it adds greatly to the appearance of the bed.

Prophets Were Realistic Idealists

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

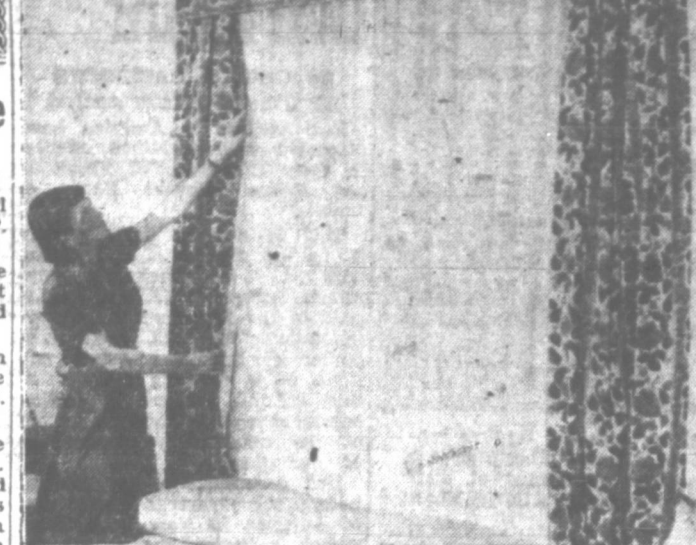

The prophets of Israel were both realists and idealists.

They were realists in the fact that they lived intensely in their immediate environment and in their world. They were saints and men and women, but they were not hermit saints, who had withdrawn from life. They knew the life around about them. They saw clearly the evil in those who had refused to recognize God's call and God's way. They perceived clearly the social injustices and oppressions of the strong against the weak and of the unjust against the worthy and the innocent. And they saw how the mass of evil in individual living corrupted and perverted the soul of the nation.

Their indictment was detailed and specific and they did not hesitate to denounce evil in high places as well as in low. Their loyalty to their God was above their loyalty to the state or its king. In that ancient day they were in the spirit and courage of that Scottish saint who plucked his sovereign by the sleeve and called him "God's sille vassal."

It is this realism that is the marvel of the Hebrew prophets, as it is of the Bible as a whole. But the prophets were idealists as well. Over against the evil

First Baptist Faithful Workers Class Installs New Officers

Officers were installed at a meeting of the Faithful Workers Class of the First Baptist Church, held at the church. The session was preceded by a 1 o'clock pot luck luncheon.

Mrs. C. E. McMinn installed the new officers, using as her theme the presentation of the Faithful Workers' before it began a "tour" to last six months.

Those receiving their "Wings" as officers were Mrs. J. H. Tucker, teacher; Mrs. O. W. Hampton, president; Mrs. Spencer Matlock, membership vice president; Mrs. Louis Tarpley, fellowship vice president; Mrs. M. L. Epps as assistant; Mrs. Minor Langford, ministries vice president; Mrs. E. L. Tarrant, stewardship vice president.

Mrs. A. J. Hindman, secretary and treasurer, with Mrs. Dean Cason as assistant; Mrs. Max Crocker, members in service; Mrs. O. B. Schiffman, publicity. Group captains are Mrs. Val Mathes, Mrs. E. E. Copeland, Mrs. W. H. Thompson, Mrs. Myron Spencer, Mrs. T. J. Owen and Mrs. Bob Clements. Mrs. Epps led in prayer.

Following the installation services a short business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. O. W. Hampton. The meeting closed with a prayer by Mrs. Schiffman.

Mrs. R. W. Tucker, assistant superintendent of the adult department number 2, gave the invocation. Miss Ann Spencer, a guest sang solo, "I Know," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Frank Turpen.

Members attending were Mrs. H. W. Kiser, Mrs. Val Mathes, Mrs. W. H. Lewis, Mrs. C. E. McMinn, Mrs. J. A. Hopkins, Mrs. E. E. Copeland, Mrs. C. D. Norwood, Mrs. Bob Clements, Mrs. Joe M. Edgar supports his remarks with quotes from literary observers like this one by Sir Oliver Twinkle in "No Widows for Mine," he said: "People wouldn't be half so busy if they weren't so busy about nothing. A hureterat and a secretary are principally concerned in making work for the rest of us."

A footnote by the editor of "Commerce Magazine" explains: "Mr. Edgar's warning against matrimonial-minded secretaries is voiced against a background of experience; he married his!"

BRIDGE CLUB RATTLED

MCGREW, Neb. — (AP) — Mrs. Ward Wise's bridge club meeting. Mrs. Benny Roberts and Mrs. V. E. Gatch scored a grand slam against a rattlesnake that slithered across the front yard as they were leaving. They used honest-to-goodness spades and clubs (not the card variety) to do the job. Mrs. Fred Foster took home the prize — 11 rattlers from the snake.

District Church Meeting Held In Canadian

CANADIAN (Special)—The district meeting of the Panhandle Christian Endeavor was held in Canadian, with 43 young people and adults present for the rally.

Registration began at 9:30, with Opal Pyatt, Mary Ellen Tepe, and Louise Zybach as registrars. The Rev. Gordon Miller gave the welcoming address. Nancy Alexander sang a solo and Louise Zybach gave the devotional. A discussion group followed, led by Mr. Miller, on the topic, "What Does Christian Endeavor Mean in My Life?" Lunch was then served.

The group assembled again and divided into two groups for discussion periods. The Rev. R. C. Bolton, pastor of Washington Avenue Christian Church in Amarillo, was in charge of a group discussing social planning. The Rev. Bedford W. Smith, pastor at Memphis, led a discussion on weekly program planning.

At 5:30 a banquet was served in Fellowship Hall by the women of the church. Grant Gross, president of the association, was in charge of the evening services. LeJuana Ballard and Bonnie Hazlett sang a duet as did the Rev. and Mrs. Gordon Miller, and Ralph Warren from Amarillo sang a solo. The Rev. V. Alex Billa, pastor of West Amarillo Christian Church, brought the sermon for the evening on the text, "Go ye therefore."

The next rally will be held in Dalhart.

Elice Hobbs YWA Hostess

Elice Hobbs was hostess to the Jaxie Short YWA of the First Baptist Church at her home at 1021 Christine.

Roll call was answered with the name of a missionary or a verse from the Bible. Miss Hobbs, president, appointed June Brown and Senora Mayo to the stewardship committee.

After the committees gave their reports, Jeanene Worrell sang "O Zion Haste," and gave a short devotion on "Missions." Refreshments of cocoa, gingerbread, nuts and mints were served.

Those attending were Pat Burleson, June Brown, Betty Moseley, Jeanene Worrell, Billie Groninger, Senora Mayo, Jan Doggett, Donna Silyman, Wanda L. Uedeker, and counselors, Mrs. Homer Doggett and Mrs. Floyd Hatcher, a visitor, Verda Ruth Elkins, the hostess and her mother, Mrs. V. L. Hobbs.

Mrs. Lane Hostess To Church Group

"The French Speaking People and Mountain Folks" was the topic of the lesson at a meeting of Group 2 of the Women's Council of the First Christian Church. The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. John Lane at the Kingsmill Gasoline Plant.

Mrs. Lloyd Rinehart presided and Mrs. Morris Enloe opened the meeting with prayer. The group voted to purchase articles for the annual project and take them to the next meeting.

Mrs. Carolyn Lyles was appointed program chairman. Those present were Meses. G. I. Harkrader, C. H. Mundy, C. C. Jones, Ed Zmoky, Morris Enloe, Carolyn Lyles, J. W. Lee, M. M. Ely, L. H. Adair, Bert Kiser, Lloyd Rinehart, John Beverly, Shearer, and the hostess.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Bert Kiser, Wednesday, Nov. 2.

McCullough WSCS To Hold 'Week of Prayer' Meeting

Mrs. Carl Deckman was hostess to the McCullough Methodist Women's Society of Christian Service at a 1 o'clock luncheon.

A regular business meeting followed, with Mrs. E. L. Roberson in charge. The lesson was presented by Mrs. Glen Jones and Mrs. Hulen Monkers.

Present were Mrs. D. T. Sharp, Mrs. Monkers, Mrs. A. N. Rogers, Mrs. Coyle Ford, Mrs. Allen Weatherford, Mrs. Robertson, Mrs. Kit Autry, Mrs. Joe Autry, Mrs. A. McClendon, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Max Frost, Miss Adlee Martin, the hostess and one guest, Mrs. F. M. Scott.

The next meeting will be a "Week of Prayer" meeting on October 28, at the church. All members are to be present and each one is to take one guest.

Christian Science Services

"Probation After Death" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 23.

The Golden Text is: "He that shall endure unto the end, the same shall be saved" (Matthew 24:13).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright: for the end of that man is peace." (Psalm 37:37).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The way is straight and narrow which leads to the understanding that God is the only life" (page 224).

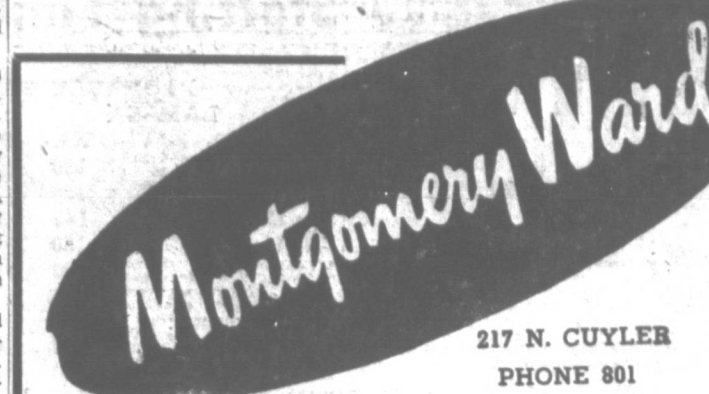

Central YWA Elects Officers

An election of officers of the YWA of Central Baptist Church was held at a meeting Monday night, in the home of Evelyn Patterson, 1414 North Russell. Officers were elected as follows: Freda Worley, president; Patty Williams, vice president; Evelyn Patterson, program chairman; Juanita Prescott, secretary; treasurer: Para. Mae Roenfeldt and Virginia Becker, social committee, and Sharon Jeter, mission study chairman. Mrs. Everett Sheriff is counselor.

Harvesters Battle Unbeaten Golden Tornadoes Tonight

Texas-Rice Battle Is Feature SWC Weekend Attraction

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

Rice's football-wise Owls fly against the Texas Longhorns tomorrow in the No. 1 spot on the Southwest Conference hit parade.

Some 70,000 are due to jam into Memorial Stadium to see this ancient struggle between two of the nation's top-rated teams. It can establish Rice as the solid conference favorite or it can project a glittering struggle at Dallas a week hence as Southern Methodist, victim of Rice, battles to get back into the championship running against Texas.

Rice finds itself in a somewhat surprising role — under dog to a team that wasn't rated in the first division before the season started. Those who put money on the line have established Texas as a 6-1-2-point favorite. Rice, the team that beat the team picked by almost everybody to win the title, expected to lose to Texas.

Another conference game matching Baylor with Texas A&M and three intersectional jousts round out one of the most important schedules of the season. Texas A&M will be making its last stand; it must win over Baylor or be eliminated from the title race. There appears little hope for the Aggies. Baylor, the only undefeated, untied team left in the circuit, should have little trouble with the Aggies even on their home field. Baylor is in an unusual position. It has the one unblemished record in the circuit yet is not a conference favorite. The Baylor might be sore enough over this to run up a top-heavy score on the Cadets.

In the feature intersectional battle, mighty Kentucky, rated seventh in the nation, plays a Southern Methodist team that not only has tumbled mightily in the ratings but faces the boys from the blue grass country without that man, dauntless Doak Walker. Walker is due to listen to this one from a hospital bed. On the hilltop comes a battle cry of "Win this for the Doak." Matly Bell's embattled force might do it, too.

Texas Christian plays Mississippi at Fort Worth in a night game. It's the second time these schools to meet in less than two years. The other time was the Delta Bowl when Ole Miss won 13-9. Mississippi has lost a couple of games. Texas Christian hasn't done much better but the Horned Frogs are moving back upward now. They ought to win this one.

Arkansas plays tough Vanderbilt at Nashville. The Razorbacks are crippled but they're still an obstacle for the best. Without the great fullback, Leon Campbell, they are nowhere near the team that played Texas last week. But the Razorbacks ought to be even bets to win.

Our record for the season in the prognosticating line is 19 wins, five losses and one tie. Not good, not bad. Maybe this will improve it.

Baylor vs. Texas A&M at College Station—What you gonna have in basketball at Aggie land this year? Baylor by four touchdowns.

Southern Methodist vs. Kentucky at Dallas—Kentucky won't be rated seventh nationally after this one; Southern Methodist by a touchdown.

Arkansas vs. Vanderbilt at Nashville—Arkansas may not win in the Southwest Conference but it's poison to outsiders; Arkansas by a touchdown.

Texas Christian vs. Mississippi at Fort Worth—The Mississippi doesn't flood often and it's a dry year; Texas Christian by two touchdowns.

Reapers Battle To Tie Nixson

The Junior High School Reapers played their third tie game of the season yesterday afternoon as they battled the Elizabeth Nixson Junior High School of Amarillo to a 0-0 deadlock. It was the second tie between the two schools this season. The game was played in Amarillo.

Earlier this year the two clubs battled to a 6-6 draw. Since then the Reapers played a 7-7 tie with Sam Houston, lost to Horace Mann of Amarillo and to the Berger Junior High eleven. The lone victory this year for the Reapers so far is against Guymon, Oklahoma.

In next game for the Reapers is on November 3, when they play Horace Mann of Amarillo at Harvester Park.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK —(AP)—Joe Pavlikowski, who plays "defensive" safety man on the Hughes Devore's St. Bonaventure football team, has returned four pass interceptions a total of 213 yards this season. . . . He ran one back 99 yards against Dayton and another an even 100 yards against Canisius. . . . and Darrell Royal, Oklahoma quarterback, has intercepted 16 passes during his college career. . . . No wonder a cagey coach like Rip Engle says he'd swap two pass completions for one interception. . . . Most surprising publicity item of the college grid season is an open thank-you note from William and Mary to Michigan State, praising the wonderful hospitality displayed by the Spartans everywhere but on the field. . . .

THE EYES HAVE IT

George Krehbiel of Detroit, one of the few racing writers who can afford to own horses too, showed up in the press box recently wearing hand new eye glasses. . . . Someone told George he looked very well in cheaters. . . . Krehbiel mugged a bit as he replied: "When I was being fitted with glasses, I told the optician I thought I would get through life without needing them. And what do you think the dirty bum said to me?—You dang near did it."

Guerillas Roll Over Pups From Plainview, 27 to 13

The Guerillas hung up their second victory of the year over the fighting Plainview Bullpups last night as they rolled to a 27-13 victory at Harvester Park. Though the victory was important, better still was the unveiling of backfield replacements for the injured members of the team, Charles, Ely, Darrell Wilson and Sid Mills.

Billy Davis, who took over one halfback post, and Howard Musgrave, who took over the other, performed well in their first starting roles, as did Dick Murray, hard-running fullback.

Davis looked exceptionally fine as he combined hard running with speed for several long gains, one touchdown, and another touchdown run of 80 yards which was called back when Pampa was guilty of clipping after Davis had already outrun the field. Musgrave also scored one touchdown, and provided other good yardage with his smooth running. Murray went 26 yards around end for a touchdown in addition to many good line smashes. The other Guerillas touchdown came on an end run by quarterback Harold Smith, who was trapped several times, but outran all the defense to score standing up. Davis, Murray and Jim Bob Cox each ran over one extra point.

The Guerillas scored twice in the first four minutes of play.

Slingin' Sam Is Still Tops

WASHINGTON —(AP)—It was on Sept. 9, 1937, that Sam Baugh, a gangling guy from Texas, reported for his first practice with the Washington pro football Redskins.

Just to show you how long ago that was, Sam Baugh, who is now a star, is still speaking, let's look at a few of the sports headlines of that week:

Charley Gehring and Ducky Medwich were the leading hitters of the American and National Baseball Leagues.

At Forest Hills was of the new foreign sensation, Baron Gottfried von Cramm.

Max Schmeling was arguing that the reason Joe Louis hadn't signed for a return bout was because he was afraid.

A special mile race went to Glenn Cunningham.

They're all out of active circulation now except Baugh.

And Baugh—

Well, he's back in the old groove. The National Football League figures rate Baugh as the No. 1 passer again this season.

He's thrown more completed passes (48), gained more yards (807), and completed more throws for touchdowns than any other passer in the league. He also has the best average on completions, a flashy 60 percent. One of his throws, to Hugh Taylor, is the longest completion of the year, 76 yards for a touchdown against the New York Giants.

There's one other statistic that's equally impressive:

Now in his 13th season as a Redskins and 35 years old, Baugh has been playing longer than any other man in the league.

The oldest—and apparently the best.

If Experience Counts, Steers Due for Lesson

AUSTIN —(AP)—If experience is a good teacher, then the underdog Texas Longhorns are due for a lesson. Four of them were sent to football from the Rice Owls at Memorial Stadium Saturday afternoon.

Ten of the eleven players scheduled to start for Rice in this important Southwest Conference game are lettermen. Four of them have earned three letters each.

Every member of Rice's offensive first string has seen prior varsity service.

Compared to this experience, Blair Cherry's lads are strictly "greenhorns." There's not a single member of the Longhorn squad who has lettered more than twice, and only four of the prospective starters have picked up more than one monogram.

The Longhorns will be led in the battle with the Owls by the two oldest members of the squad—fullbacks Ray Borne and of Houston and Bobby Coy Lee of Austin.

Texas Thinclads Win CC Race

AUSTIN —(AP)—Three of four men on the Texas cross country team tied for first place yesterday as the Longhorns downed the North Texas State Eagles 12-25.

Low score wins in cross country running, first place being awarded one point, second place two points, and so on.

Longhorn Captain Dick Brooks, Don Sparks and Sophomore Tom Rogers hit the finish line in a dead heat with time of 23:03 over a 2.6 mile course over Austin city streets.

Don Edwards of North Texas State was fourth with a time of 25:57.4. A teammate James Young finished fifth. Lowell Hawkins of Texas was sixth. Ben Sparks of North Texas seventh. James Carruthers of Texas eighth and Robert Hoblitt of North Texas ninth. Carruthers' points were not counted as he was the fifth Texas runner. A North Texas runner pulled a leg muscle and was unable to finish.

New Mission Manager

SAN ANTONIO —(AP)—The San Antonio Texas League Mission will have a new manager next year.

The new manager will not be named until the convention of the National Baseball Association in Baltimore the first week in December, Byrd said.

Ty Cobb scored 2,244 runs during his 22 years in the major leagues.

Osborne Injured As Trouble Strikes Again

The Pampa Harvesters will attempt to snap a two-game losing streak tonight at Harvester Park when they play host to the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes. Both teams will put unbeaten records on the field. The Pampans are unbeaten on their home field this season; the Lamesans are unbeaten in five games played this season.

Pampa has rolled over North Dallas, Graham, El Paso High and Vernon. The two defenses were suffered at the hands of the second and third ranked clubs in the state, Wichita Falls and Lubbock. Lamesa, meanwhile, has compiled its record with a 7-0 victory over Levelland; a 20-0 conquest of Seminole; a 26-2 trouncing of Plainview; they trampled Big Spring 20-7 and routed Quanah 33-0. So you can see that only one touchdown has been scored against the boys from District 3-A-A to date.

Another injury cropped up on the Harvesters yesterday afternoon, despite the fact there was no contact work. Weymer Osborne, husky, tough guard, pulled a leg muscle and was forced to the sidelines. He will be out of action tonight. That makes three the number on the hospital list who will see no action. The other two are Jimmy Parker and Charley Smith.

The Tornadoes got into town yesterday afternoon and immediately suited out and took a 45-minute workout at Harvester Park. The squad—numbered 29, with some big boys. The team looked fast, and spent considerable of their limbering up time on passing, a weapon that could cause trouble tonight for the Pampa eleven.

The Harvesters yesterday worked on defensive lineups for the various formations expected of the visitors. Scout reports on the Lamesa club are that they run from everything, T, single and double wing and spread formations.

Leading that defensive forward wall for Lamesa is center Bill Hart, who tips the scales at 180 pounds. He is aided on one side of the line by guard Jim Bob Booth, 145 pounds; tackle Robert Adair, 180 pounds and 180-pound Jerry Phillips at end. The other side of the line has Keith White, 150-pounder at guard; Jamie Pearson, 160 pounds at tackle and T. J. Womack, 160 pounds at the other end.

Quarterbacking the visitors will be Bobby Hawkins, whose older brother does the signal calling for the Texas Tech Red Raiders. Dick Echols, 160-pound speedster, leads the ball-carrying corps. Aiding him will be Delbert Dickenson, 150-pounder. Larry Lattimore, a hard-hitting fullback, fills out the backfield.

Hawkins handles the passing and placekicking chore for the Lamesans. But the whirlwinds' attack is primarily on the ground, not through the air.

Leading the Green and Gold into the fray will be Jimmy Hayes, the leading ball carrier on the team who has an average of 7.7 yards per try. Carroll Smith, who played his finest game of the season last weekend against Lubbock. He completed 6 of 14 passes attempted and called a good offensive game. At fullback will be Carl Kennedy, who also had his best game of the year against the Westerners. The Junior fullback has finally appeared to have hit his stride. At left halfback will be Pete Cooper, co-captain and hard runner.

The line will be flanked by Tommy Allison and Weldon Witcher, with John Nolan as a first-line replacement. At the tackles will be Eddie Scheig and Paul Boswell. Glenn Tarpley will get the call when one of the starters needs a rest. The guards

Lamesa Eleven Relies on Speed Of Backfield

By FERRY ROBERTS
Lamesa Reporter Sports Editor

LAMESA — (Special) — Lamesa's undefeated, untied Golden Tornadoes will go after their sixth victory in a row tonight when they tangle with the powerful Pampa Harvesters in Pampa. The Tornadoes, who have won five straight games this season, and six in a row, counting their closing victory over Midland last year, are expected to be in top shape for the game Friday night.

Lamesa has allowed only nine points to be scored on them this year. They contributed two of these points themselves when Plainview scored a safety against them when a Lamesa punter stepped out of the end zone. The only touchdown scored against the Tornadoes this season came on a seven yard pass play in Big Spring. No team has scored on them through the line. In fact, the Lamesa line has only allowed one team, Plainview, to gain 100 yards against them this season.

The Tornadoes have met and defeated Levelland, 7-0; Seminole, 20-0; Plainview, 26-2; Big Spring, 20-7, and Quanah, 33-0. None of these teams have been outstanding, so you could class Friday night's usual against Pampa as the Tornadoes first real test of the season.

Coach Bob Harrell will probably start eight or nine lettermen in the game with the Harvesters. He will start J. Womack, a two letterman senior, and Jerry Phillips, a 185-pound, two letterman senior, or Marshall Crawford, a 160-pound Sophomore, at ends; Jamie Pearson, a 160-pound letterman and Robert Adair, a 180-pound, at quarterback, Dick Echols, 160-pound letterman, at fullback, and Keith White, 155-pounder, at guards, and Bill Hart, 180-pound letterman at center. His backfield will shape up with Bobby Hawkins, 150-pound letterman, at quarterback, Dick Echols, 160-pound letterman, at fullback, and Larry Lattimore, a 160-pound two letterman, at fullback.

Certain to see some action are 140-pound Ronald Chapman, a letterman, at quarter or halfback, and guards Doy Beck and Richard Zeek, both playing their first year of ball.

Star of the Lamesa backfield is halfback Dick Echols, a shifty broken field runner who uses his downfield blockers to the greatest advantage. Echols is the leading scorer on the Tornado squad this season with 36 points to his credit.

Bobby Hawkins and Ronald Chapman, both men under in the Tornado's T-formation, handle most of the passing chores. Hawkins has been exceptionally able in finding ends Jerry Phillips and T. J. Womack for gains this season.

Lamesa's line, led by Bill Hart, Jim Bob Booth and Womack, has proven itself to be more than equal to every forward wall met this season. However, they will be facing their toughest competition against Pampa.

Opinion in Lamesa is divided as to how the Tornadoes will fare in their game with the Harvesters. It looks like they may be meeting more than their match in the team that has given both Wichita Falls and Lubbock more than a little trouble this year.

Important Games On Schoolboy Card

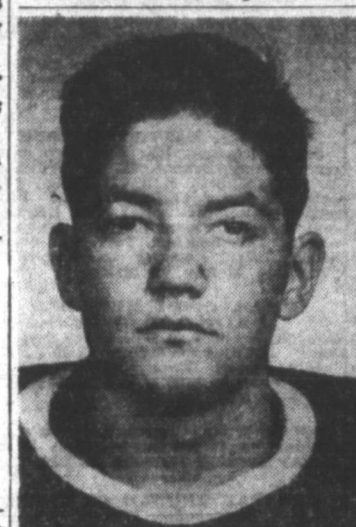

By WILBUR MARTIN
Associated Press Staff

The real toughies in Texas Schoolboy football tangle tonight and the list of undefeated, untied teams is due to a trimming.

Top game of the heavy schedule matches Highland Park (Dallas) and Wichita Falls, a couple of undefeated, untied teams.

Right behind this tilt for public interest is unbeaten Lubbock's game, with once-defeated Amarillo.

An estimated 5,000 persons will

TOMMY ALLISON, husky Senior end, is expected to see a lot of action tonight as the Lamesa Tornadoes unleash their speedy backs on wide end sweeps. Allison is also a prime target for Harvester aerials.

Kentucky Hopes Matty Is Right

LEXINGTON, Ky. —(AP)—Kentucky wouldn't object one bit if Matty Bell becomes the country's best football prophet.

Bell, the cagey Southern Methodist grid boss, gazed into his crystal ball a few days ago and promptly forecast this Southwest champions would lose to Kentucky in Saturday's intersectional clash at Dallas.

That was before the flu germ floored SMU's all-American Doak Walker, though, and sent the classy quarterback to the hospital. But Walker or no Walker, Kentucky has a lot of respect for the Mustangs. Coach Paul Bruant put it this way:

"SMU is the best team we've played since I came to Kentucky (in 1946). Their record proves that."

"I don't know whether or not we have a chance to beat them."

make the 120 mile trip from Lubbock to Amarillo for this game, by special train, plane, bus and automobile.

Only eleven teams in the City Conference and Class AA sport perfect records. Two, John Reagan of Houston and Baytown, are unbeaten but tied.

Four City Conference games were played last night. Sunset stomped North Dallas, 47-0, in a Dallas District tilt; Northside beat Amos Carter-Riverside, 19-7, at Fort Worth; Austin blanked Jeff Davis, 13-0, at Houston, and San Antonio Tech crushed Lanier, 34-0, in San Antonio.

Lamesa, Yaleta, Grand Prairie, Henderson, Marshall, Port Arthur, Corsicana and Galena Park are the other undefeated, untied teams.

Port Arthur and Corsicana are idle this week. Galena Park may have a tough time with Galveston and the same goes for Grand Prairie with Mineral Wells.

Some of the top games tonight include Austin-Temple; Henderson-Tyler; McAllen-Harlingen; Hollis, Okla.-Quanah.

The schedule:

Tonight — Woodrow Wilson (Dallas) vs. Forest (Dallas), Arlington Heights (Fort Worth) vs. Poly (Fort Worth), Reagan (Houston) at Brownsville, San Jacinto (Houston) vs. Lamar (Houston), Alamo Heights (San Antonio) vs. Brackenridge (San Antonio) at Kerrville, Lubbock at Amarillo, Lamesa at Pampa, Highland Park (Dallas) at Wichita Falls.

Hollis, Okla., at Quanah, Brownfield at Levelland, Plainview at Bowie, El Paso High at Phoenix, Ariz., Brackenridge at Brownwood, Grand Prairie at Mineral Wells, Cisco at Stephenville, Bonham at Denison, Sherman at Gainesville, McKinney at Greenville, Denton at Sulphur Springs, Texarkana at Gladewater, South Park (Beaumont) at Marshall, Kilgore at Longview, Tyler at Henderson, Conroe at Lufkin, Palestine at Bryan, Hackensville at Nacogdoches.

Orange at Port Neches, San Benito at Beaumont, Pasadena at Freeport, Galveston at Galena Park, Baytown at Texas City, Hillsboro at Cleburne, Austin at Temple, Waco at Ennis, Weatherford at Waxahachie, Victoria at Corpus Christi, Laredo at Kingsville, McAllen at Harlingen, Robstown at Edinburg.

Tomorrow — Adamson (Dallas) vs. Crozier Tech (Dallas), Sam Houston (Houston) vs. Lamar (Houston), Jefferson (San Antonio) vs. Harlandale (San Antonio), Roswell, N.M., at Austin (El Paso).

WARREN'S WARMUP

By Warren Hesse—Hesse Sports Editor

QUESTION: What are the home towns of the following professional football teams: Bears, Packers, Hornets, Browns, Rams?

HERE WE GO AGAIN. THE AVERAGE TOOK a little raise last weekend. I got some breaks from some of the wild guesses I took and hit 21 of 26 and had one tie. That brings the season's record to 50 out of 68, plus 3 ties. I want to thank Wisconsin, Iowa, Northwestern and California for winning for me. Borger and Wellington were two local clubs who let me down. But my percentage moved up to .704 for the year.

So, for this weekend, to get the average back up to the high .700's, I'll take PAMPA over the undefeated Lamess eleven. Some quarters may consider this an upset, but I'll string along with the fightin' Harvesters.

Around the rest of the district, I like LUBBOCK over the Golden Sandstorm, in one of the major schoolboy battles in the state. I'm off of Borger this week. They've treated me too rough. I'll take YSLETA, BOWIE HIGH should take Plainview in El Paso.

In the Class A games, LEFORS will continue victorious against Tulsa; PHILLIPS to nip Dalhart in the top A game.

Nationally, KENTUCKY looks like the club to defeat the floundering Southern Methodist eleven.

BAYLOR will continue victorious at the expense of the Texas Aggies.

TEXAS is my choice to upset Rice in the top thriller of the Southwestern weekend. Loyalty, huh!

TEXAS TECH should gain a victory at the expense of Arizona. The Raiders will be their healthiest of all season.

VANDERBILT over Arizona. I might be sorry later.

MISSISSIPPI over Texas Christian. Ole Miss isn't going to be beaten this trip into Texas.

WEST TEXAS STATE over Trinity. The boys from Canyon are due to win one. Homecoming is a good time.

TULSA over Bradley. What happened to Tulsa last week helped many a bookmaker.

MINNESOTA over Michigan. The Wolverines are headed for their third straight loss in this Little Brown Jug battle. The Gophers got a whiff of the roses last week.

WISCONSIN over Ohio State. My Badgers caught me flat-footed last week against the Navy. Let's go, Alma Mammy!

NORTHWESTERN over Iowa. This should be one of the best games in the Midwest this week. Those Hawkeyes don't quit.

ILLINOIS over Purdue. Purdue is having a sorry season. So is Illinois. But I'll take the Orange and Blue.

PITT over Indiana. No danger here. The Hoosiers simply don't have it this season.

MISSOURI over Iowa State. With ease. The hard-luckers are starting to hit it good.

VILLANOVA over Duquesne. Memories of Tulsa will drive Villanova on.

ARMY over Columbia. Lou Little isn't going to upset the Army this season. The Cadets will march.

NAVY over Pennsylvania. As the handicappers say, "There's plenty of danger here."

NORTH CAROLINA over LSU. Choo Choo is the boy again. Watch him locomote.

OKLAHOMA over Nebraska. The Sooners are on the march again this weekend.

OKLAHOMA A&M over Kansas. This should be another nip and tuck affair. I'll stick with the Aggies.

CALIFORNIA over Washington. These Bears treated us right last week, though they needed a 102-yard run to do it.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA over Oregon. The boys from down south will bounce back this weekend.

STANFORD over Oregon State. The UCLAs are rated 40 notches higher than the boys from up north.

ANSWER: The Chicago Bears; the Green Bay, Wisconsin, Packers; the Chicago Hornets; the Cleveland Browns; the Los Angeles Rams.

Dyer in Houston

HOUSTON — (AP) — Eddie Dyer, St. Louis Cardinal manager, and Al Vincent, manager of the Tulsa Oilers of the Texas League, will skipper teams in a benefit baseball game here Sunday.

Cammer Takes Football Apart Kuckhahn, Army's New Star, Is Minnesota Type Who Makes Straphangers Out of Tackles

By DAVE CAMMER

WEST POINT, N. Y. — (NEA) — He isn't Doc Blanchard, and he won't make the home town folks in Minnesota forget Bronko Nagurski.

But if anybody should be asking, Karl Otto Kuckhahn, Army fullback in the 21-7 earthquake of Michigan, is a right nice side of beef to wear your brand.

He is the Minnesota type of fullback who played high school football in that state.

Kuckhahn, big and blond, moved into the starting spot when Army's injured, Gil Stephenson couldn't go. He has been around the Plains for some time. Now a Senior, he came into partial prominence last fall against Cornell, when the lighter Stephenson, a trap-running, scat fullback in Army's T, couldn't jump through the Big Red line.

Earl Blaik, who still respects those "five yards on the barrel head," sent in Kuckhahn, until then something of a "meat Wednesday" tackling dummy.

Otto belted for three consecutive first downs, scored once—and the Mules went on to make hay. He also muddled people from the back-up spot, although in Blaik's scheme of platoon football, he sees scant defensive shelving.

Against Michigan, Kuckhahn, strictly a straight-ahead smasher, gained 65 yards in 13 shots—a five-yard average. His game-icing touchdown, from the seven, carried three Michigan tacklers into the end zone.

"A leg injury benched him for the Davidson and Penn State games," says Coach Blaik. "At Michigan I didn't expect him to be able to carry the load for long. That's why I had a halfback, Herb Johnson, a 170-pounder, running from fullback the entire week preceding the game. Otto surprised me. He surprised all of us. He went practically the entire distance on the offense."

Kuckhahn, five feet 11 and 198 pounds, has Steinway legs, runs splay-footed. He has the glister and broken field grace of a pole-hopper high-tailing east on a west bound road. No ballroom routine.

Now hailing from Loganville, Wis., where his dad is a pastor, the only way the natives could show their appreciation would be by smoke signals. Loganville's latest census reads 236 folks, while the rival "town," Rattlesnake Den, doesn't rate a Rand McNally population count in an Atlas that lists civic densities down to 3. Otto's former home, St. Charles, Minn., comes in at 1507 persons.

In high school there, Kuckhahn majored in football, baseball and basketball. Apparently Minnesota wasn't impressed. Bernie Bierman's scouts beat that sagebrush pretty thin.

Claassen Likes Texas Over Rice, Kentucky Over SMU

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK — (AP) — Here are the results of another session behind the crystal football.

Army over Columbia: Columbia is the only team to have beaten Army since the days of Blanchard, Davis & Co. That upset came two years ago, 21 to 20. Army has personally advised Coach Lou Little that "it is ready this time." It could be a massacre but probably won't.

Kentucky over Southern Methodist: Perhaps Doak Walker's illness will inspire the other SMU players to do better but there is nothing like having a healthy all-America player in your backfield. Kentucky is the nation's leading offensive and defensive club among the majors.

Minnesota over Michigan: If Michigan gets its passing attack functioning, this could very easily go the other way. But with Minnesota this close to the Rose Bowl, why should the Gophers falter?

North Carolina over Louisiana State: The LSU backfield lineup hasn't jelled. It will take team work to subdue Charlie Justice and his mates.

Pittsburgh over Indiana: Pitt has a winning streak and the Hoosiers have lost all four this season. Neither string will be broken Saturday.

California over Washington: The Huskies are trying out an all-Sophomore backfield in the middle of the season. That's too late.

Texas over Rice: The Texas injury list is supposedly a mile long, with only one able bodied fullback available. But the Longhorns are the pick in a squeaker.

Okahoma over Nebraska: Nebraska is rated on a par with Kansas and last week the winning Oklahomans trounced Kansas by three touchdowns.

Southern California over Oregon: This could be the Trojans' second straight defeat because Oregon has been waiting for this game since the 8 to 7 affair a year ago.

Alabama over Mississippi State: Two one-time greats meeting in mid-season with only one major triumph between them. Alabama has the stronger offense.

Baylor over Texas A&M: Baylor to continue among the nation's dwindling list of unbeaten teams. Skipping over the others in a hurry.

Every time you look at the Notre Dame football team, it's first down and Gael to go.

Or, to put it another way, every time you looked at Tulane's Green Wave, it was fourth down.

Poor Tulane was so tired that, when the Greenies went back to kick, they called it pant formation.

Here's another All-Star team. This bunch are so easy to get in along with you can call them by their first names:

LT—Jerome, Cornell
LG—Thomas, Indiana
C—Abraham, Stanford
RG—George, Syracuse
RT—Simon, Oregon State
RE—Henry, Columbia
QB—Warren, Penn
HB—Lawrence, Minnesota
FB—Morris, CCNY

Most fighters would rather undergo check-ups than autopsies.

Fair Deal Not Like Labor Party!

We would be the last to embarrass someone out of sheer malice, but Truman and Barkley's faces must be rather red these days. If they are not, those men are more bland than we thought.

In their speeches of recent days they have been super-super-declamatory in denying their plans of social security are trends toward statism and socialism.

But now they must blush—be known as blank knaves—for the British publication, "Statesman and Nation," which always plunders for the Labor Party (socialism), points to the Fair Deal and Truman as blood-brothers-in-suffering.

In its issue of Oct. 8, it has these rather revealing things to say:

"The Labour movement in Britain is fighting its defensive battle to preserve the Welfare State which it has built since 1945. It is high time that British Socialists realized how much they owe to the American trade unions. They appreciate that the British experiment is the testing ground for a future American planned economy and Welfare State."

"Today, because the struggle for the Welfare State is the dominant issue in both countries, Right speaks to Right and Left to Left as never before. Mr. Truman's political future is bound up with that of Mr. Atlee and Mr. Churchill's with Sen. Taft's."

"A fraternal message to the American trade unions in their struggle for the Welfare State would be a modest first beginning of what should become an enduring alliance."

Of course, this passage comes as no surprise to many Americans. If there are any red faces anywhere they must be among those planners in Washington. If Truman, Barkley, et al. are any core in denying that the Fair Deal is socialist, then they must be densely dumb.

If they are not dumb, they are dishonest.

Already there are ominous signs that the new Christmas shopping season is about to begin. In fact, the stores are already showing signs of preparation for a major war.

Tall, handsome floorwalkers are being flown in from basic training camps and schools of high strategy such as how to handle five indignant fat ladies at once without losing the bloom from a lapel gardenia. Actors who play Santa Claus are brushing up on cowboy and gangster talk so as not to make fools of themselves in front of the kiddies. NEW YORK — The tumult and the shouting have died and I observe that Major General Harry H. Vaughan is still holding down his job in the White House as an ostensible military aide to President Truman. He has not been indicted nor arrested and, as of this hour, no person with clean hands has made any charge against him beyond criticism of his ethics and sense of propriety.

Actually, Gen. Vaughan is a political rather than a military aide to the President and should not have worn his soldier suit during the performance of the duties of this office. I believe it was the naive vanity of a National Guardsman, a Rotarian sort of fellow who never thought to become a major-general and, having got his stars, naturally wanted to catch the limelight of the cameras. He was a soldier, that caused him to wear his regimentals in a sedentary civilian position long after the war. This was unwise because the ethics of the corps of officers of our Regular Army, which always plunders for the Labor Party (socialism), points to the Fair Deal and Truman as blood-brothers-in-suffering.

grifter in the prizefight trade, always volunteering to hustle you sandwiches, carry your typewriter, run across town to get your laundry or anything like that. He latched onto Vaughan and imposed on this propinquity to turn little tricks for himself. The evidence suggests to me that he became a name-dropper and seized an importance that Vaughan did not intend him to have. That was careless of the general and, in the end, he found that he was being held answerable for conduct by Maragon which he would not have permitted had he known in time. But Maragon's very ignorance and clumsiness precluded him from the really sinister and dangerous machinations of Harry Hopkins and others who had the run of the White House under Roosevelt. After all, Maragon wasn't sitting in at cabinet meetings as Henry Wallace had.

He told me that when he was a passenger agent for the Baltimore and Ohio he looked the Roosevelt funeral train from Washington to Linden, N. J., and back from Linden to Washington and that the Pennsylvania got only 19 miles of business each way. I took his word, never suspecting that he would be dumb enough to lie about such a thing. But I soon learned that there wasn't a word of truth in it. So Johnny gets found out and the worst to be said of Gen. Vaughan in this regard is that he hadn't the heart to be shifty to a fellow who was all over him.

This is in the nature of a review because when the campaign was hottest I discerned that the original motive was malice and revenge. I say that if PDR had been George Spelvin his manipulation of the settlement of Elliott's loans of more than a quarter of a million dollars would have been an indictable offense. Roosevelt convinced this swindle so as to stick an innocent trust company with his scam son's financial obligation to his discarded wife and her children. But no grand jury would waste an hour on the scandal dredged up on Gen. Vaughan because no criminal act was even alleged.

MR. KAISER'S NEW LOAN
 (Chicago Daily Tribune)

Go down to Wall street or to the underwriting houses of Chicago, and you will be told that it is extremely difficult today to find any large amounts of risk capital for starting a new business. These pessimists apparently never heard of Henry Kaiser.

When Henry wants money for a new venture, he sends word to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, He, and a few happy individuals with similar connections, are the only exceptions known to the maxim that the so-called profit system should really be called the profit and loss system. The way Henry operates, he takes the profits and we taxpayers take the losses, if any.

Mr. Kaiser's latest bite on the taxpayers is a $4 million dollar loan to his Kaiser-Frazer corporation, automobile builders. The loan was applied for and granted within a few days. Normally RFC red tape ties up loan applications for months.

Mr. Kaiser undoubtedly had what to him appeared compelling reason to seek capital from the government rather than ask investors to share his risk. The risk involved, according to the best information in the automobile trade, is the launching of a new model, the complete with Chevrolet, Ford and Plymouth. That is a man sized undertaking.

Kaiser-Frazer's record since it was started after the war with slathers of government help has hardly been such as to cause investors to beat on its doors. Its common stock, sold to the public in 1945 at $10 a share and in 1946 at $20.25 a share, had dropped early last week to $3 a share. It jumped a point and three-eighths in a day at the news that Henry still had that magic touch at the RFC.

The American free enterprise system will eventually be destroyed if our Government continues its present practice of operating with an unbounded degree of ignoring the necessity of adopting some systematic plan for retiring the national debt, of incurring deficit financing in connection with the nation's budget, for continuing to increase the taxation of its citizens, of collecting last year's taxes (the highest on record), of continuing a high budget that includes billions of unessential expenses. When we pile on top of these fiscal practices the present socialist measures as agricultural subsidies and federal housing, now in effect, and possibly the many other socialist schemes proposed, we very clearly face in this nation a much lower standard of living for all and eventual bankruptcy and disintegration.

Unquestionably, the location of the Nation's Economic Problem No. 1 is right square in the center of Washington.

If I weren't in the—ahem—can, as it were, I might even be able to run for governor. I'd be a cinch to get the women's votes. —Love swindler Sigmund Engel, 72.

fight, the peoples of the European nations and Britain will insist upon staying out of a scrap which would mean complete destruction for them, and their politicians would immediately adopt the idea that with Russia and the United States they could destroy their governments, could re-establish empires in the world. Honest military men are now telling us that our multi-million-dollar radar defense system is entirely useless against a stratosphere attack. The climatic touch of irony is Sen. Wiley's warning to the desk brass in the Pentagon Building that their monstrous quarters provide the juiciest target in the world. The boys have no way to defend their huge club, nor have they the gumption to scatter.

I believe this is the silliest age in history. The Soviet dictators cling to their idea that they will collapse economically. When Britain announced her latest and latest crisis, the Kremlin boys said: "This is it." They discovered we were having a little business lull instead of a depression. Just as Stalin's boys were becoming discouraged, coal, steel and automobile unions threatened our prosperity.

Now, each of the rivals is waiting for the other to collapse. For this reason a rise in business prosperity in the United States will do far more to stop Russia than the rearmament of Europe. Reducing taxes, ceasing to spend the money on how much better off the United States is, but the Truman administration causes the exact reverse, because politicians must have billions to spend to buy votes.

The Nations Economic Problem

By THURMAN SENSING
 Director of Research
 Southern States Industrial Council
 Nashville, Tennessee

Recently there was considerable news in the papers that the states of New England had been harder hit by recession. Any section of the country, in fact, the Governors of some of the New England states demanded a conference with the Secretary of Commerce to lay before him the necessity of providing Federal aid for the states.

One would gather from all this that New England now the location of the Nation's Economic Problem No. 1.

This is quite a change from the middle 30s, when the President and his Committee were proclaiming far and wide that the South was the Nation's Economic Problem No. 1. The South never accepted the label, though, as New England seemed to do; it was pinned on the South, Southern Governors never got together and asked for Federal aid; it was thrust upon them, to such an extent that it was possible to move South. The fact that the South has accepted no more outside aid than it has a tribute to the independence and self-reliance of the Southern people, to their belief in state rights and local self-government and freedom of the individual. Primarily, it was never anything more than a bid for the Southern vote anyway.

What gave the South's labelling a measure of credibility, of course, was the fact that the South had at the time, and had since the days of the Civil War, a lower than national per capita wealth and an increase of 131 percent since 1940 has been nothing short of amazing. A few comparisons will bear this out. Between 1940 and 1947, collections of Federal individual income taxes in the South rose by 2,132 percent compared with an increase of 1,846 percent outside the South. Between 1939 and 1947, demand deposits of Southern commercial banks increased by 295 percent compared with an increase of 149 percent in non-Southern banks. Commercial banking assets in the South increased 231 percent between 1939 and 1947, compared with an increase of 149 percent outside the South. The value of manufactured goods produced in the South increased 209 percent between 1940 and 1947, compared with 169 percent outside the South. Many other comparisons will bear this out.

It is not to be believed, however, that either New England or the South is the location of the Nation's Economic Problem No. 1. Under our traditional American free enterprise system, which has produced a steady increase in our standard of living and the highest standard any people have ever known, the inherent ability and energy of the American people will always pull us out of our economic difficulties. That is, if left free and unhampered by impossible restrictions and regulations and not burdened by overpowering debt. The danger now is that this will not be the case, and that danger lies at the seat of government in Washington.

The American free enterprise system will eventually be destroyed if our Government continues its present practice of operating with an unbounded degree of ignoring the necessity of adopting some systematic plan for retiring the national debt, of incurring deficit financing in connection with the nation's budget, for continuing to increase the taxation of its citizens, of collecting last year's taxes (the highest on record), of continuing a high budget that includes billions of unessential expenses. When we pile on top of these fiscal practices the present socialist measures as agricultural subsidies and federal housing, now in effect, and possibly the many other socialist schemes proposed, we very clearly face in this nation a much lower standard of living for all and eventual bankruptcy and disintegration.

Unquestionably, the location of the Nation's Economic Problem No. 1 is right square in the center of Washington.

fight, the peoples of the European nations and Britain will insist upon staying out of a scrap which would mean complete destruction for them, and their politicians would immediately adopt the idea that with Russia and the United States they could destroy their governments, could re-establish empires in the world. Honest military men are now telling us that our multi-million-dollar radar defense system is entirely useless against a stratosphere attack. The climatic touch of irony is Sen. Wiley's warning to the desk brass in the Pentagon Building that their monstrous quarters provide the juiciest target in the world. The boys have no way to defend their huge club, nor have they the gumption to scatter.

I believe this is the silliest age in history. The Soviet dictators cling to their idea that they will collapse economically. When Britain announced her latest and latest crisis, the Kremlin boys said: "This is it." They discovered we were having a little business lull instead of a depression. Just as Stalin's boys were becoming discouraged, coal, steel and automobile unions threatened our prosperity.

Now, each of the rivals is waiting for the other to collapse. For this reason a rise in business prosperity in the United States will do far more to stop Russia than the rearmament of Europe. Reducing taxes, ceasing to spend the money on how much better off the United States is, but the Truman administration causes the exact reverse, because politicians must have billions to spend to buy votes.

news behind the news

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Washington politicians and observers derive ironic interest from reports that James A. Roosevelt, prospective Democratic candidate for governor of California next year, heads a movement to abolish the system of non-partisan politics and government which has prevailed in that state since the regime of the late Hiram W. Johnson as governor.

Although his distinguished father possibly did more to eliminate non-partisan politics in national affairs, to smash ancient machines like Tammany Hall and to ally himself with the guineas like Harold L. Ickes, Henry A. Wallace and even the late Mr. Johnson himself, the son recently voiced a plea for a return to "old-fashioned politics."

Young James, as well as certain leaders in both parties in California, has become concerned especially over the legal system of "cross-filing," under which a candidate may enter the primary election of a rival party. The popular Earl Warren, for instance, has won both Republican and Democratic nominations for governor under this method.

REFORM — Young Mr. Roosevelt's critics contend that he urges abolition because the present procedure has a sometimes worked to the disadvantage of the Democrats. He gave some substance to this charge when, in a recent Sacramento speech, he said that although non-partisan politics was necessary when "Governor" Johnson was breaking up the Southern Pacific Railroad's "grip" on the state, it had been used as a smoke-screen for the Republicans in recent years.

There are members of both parties who believe sincerely that California's present electoral procedure tends to prevent the building of responsible party government. They point out that Governor Warren has not been able to create an organization to carry on his program.

But others fear that the reform of the reform will result in a return to the "bossism" of the early days of the turn of the century.

Incidentally, these same issues have been raised in many other communities, especially major cities and counties, where similar criticism has been directed against President Truman, who has pursued and extended Franklin D. Roosevelt's strategy of appealing to all groups, classes and factions without regard or respect for party lines.

Although once a regular organization man, Mr. Truman now relies more strongly on labor unions, liberal ADAs, racial groups and the general independent fringe of voters.

In fact, his failure to achieve the major portion of his "fair deal" program at the first session of the 81st Congress flowed directly from this brand of politicking.

He commanded the votes of all-for-loyalty Democrats, Republican "Progressives" and members of their seats to the various factions he had mobilized behind his legislative program, or, as his opponents call it, his "welfare state."

But these relatively non-partisan blocs were unable to prevent against the solid ranks of the Democrats and Republicans who, forgetting party lines themselves, opposed Mr. Truman's ideology and philosophy.

HERESY — It is doubtful if the Democrats of California will actually conduct a non-partisan campaign next year, however. They will probably talk against the system, especially the cross-filing procedure, but for the moment they will seek to profit from it.

Nevertheless, the son's present attitude seems like heresy, in view of FDR's oft-expressed hope that the permanent result from his all-things-to-all-men attitude would be utter abolition of party lines.

Indeed, after he named Secretaries Stimson and Knox to his cabinet, he frequently referred to his regime as a "coalition government."

OBJECTIVE — It may be another instance of the zone suffering, politically, from the grandiose sins of the fathers, as some California editors suggest. For instance, the Sacramento Bee, an influential, independent Democratic newspaper, comments:

"Mr. Roosevelt's objective, of course, is to elect Democratic officeholders, no doubt including himself. And if the Democratic Party wants to accomplish that, it should concentrate on putting up better men than the Republicans."

TRAITS — President Truman has revealed two notable traits in handling problems and personalities on the National Security Resources Board — namely, his stubbornness and his new-found cockiness.

For instance, although there was every indication that the Senate would not confirm Mon C. Wallgren as chairman, the White House directed that he be so listed in the official Congressional Directory. And there he name appears today. He has also said the rejected nominee to work, although it is almost impossible to ascertain his duties or performances.

Despite the rejection of Leland Olds as member of the Federal Power Commission, Mr. Olds has been employed as a $50-a-day adviser by NSRB's Energy Resources Division. If he works the twenty days permitted each month to men engaged on such a basis, he will earn a larger annual salary than he did as a member of FPC.

There are many kinds of growth which people like to brag about, and you have no trouble hearing their enthusiastic shout. Like the blatant civic leader when the population gains, or the farmer when his crops shoot up from beneficial rains. But the most amazing growth, of which you'll never see the beat, is the way a sprouting youngster grows a pair of youthful feet.

Now when first he comes upon the scene, his parents like to think that his dainty little toes are so dainty and so pink. But it isn't long that he graduates to baby shoes, and from that time on the shoe store bill gives Pop and Mom the blues. For it seems like just last week you bought the kid another pair, but his feet outgrew the brogans "fore they'd given all their wear."

And when adolescence comes you'd swear his feet could grow no more, but his shoes are small and once again you take him to the store. There the clerk will raise his eyebrows and reach high upon the shelves, and you've got to face the fact the kid is needing Number Twelves! You can talk about the growth of towns, of crops, and things to eat, but you'll never find a thing that grows as fast as youngsters' feet.

Gas Important Part Of Texas' Economy

Texas oil and gas operators are continuing to find more natural gas than they can sell, but in order to get the full value out of the raw natural resource, giant strides have been made in recent years to conserve a maximum amount of the energy-loaded vapors, the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association points out in recent reports.

Gas, both from oil wells and from wells which produce gas exclusively, has become very important in recent years to Texas' over-all economy and industrial structure.

Reserves at the end of 1948 totaled 95.7 trillion cubic feet, according to the Committee on Natural Gas Reserves, American Gas Association. This is 5.7 trillion, or 6.3 percent greater than the total at the end of 1947.

The picture (figures indicate trillion cubic feet): Reserves, December 31, 1947, 90.0; added to reserves during 1948, 5.4; production during 1948, a minus 2.7, which gave a reserve on December 31, 1948 of 95.7.

It is apparent that the 1948 production amounted to only 2.8 percent of the total, year-end reserves, and less than 1-3 of the reserves added during the year.

During December, 1948, Texas production came from 5,750 gas wells and 60,736 oil wells. There were 2,952 more oil wells connected to gas processing plants or pipelines than during December, 1947, when 57,744 wells were connected. For June, 1949, the Railroad Commission reported that 6,056 gas wells were producing, and that 55,187 oil wells were producing casinghead gas. Thus, gas pipeline connections were extended to 7,453 additional oil wells from December, 1947, to June, 1949.

There are 155 natural gasoline plants in Texas which process gas to recover liquid hydrocarbons. These plants have a daily liquid capacity of 9,029,750 gallons, or 46.5 percent of the U. S. total.

In addition, there are 34 cycling plants in Texas which have a liquid productive capacity of 4,029,700 gallons daily. Texas' cycling plants represent 56 percent of the total U. S. capacity.

During July, 1949, the Oil & Gas Journal reports that there were another 49 natural gas processing plant projects under construction in Texas. These new plants will process an additional 1.7 billion cubic feet of gas daily.

During 1948 Texas' natural gas production totaled 2,954,389,000 gallons, or 44.5 percent of U. S. 1948 production.

Outlook Said Good for Texas Through Oil, Gas

MINERAL WELLS — An optimistic future for Texas industry based on oil and gas production was predicted by an oil industry spokesman at the Texas industry conference yesterday.

R. E. Anderson of Vernon, president of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association, asked that no segment of industry be taxed unfairly to meet the needs for more state funds.

Anderson said he was optimistic "that our other business neighbors will join us in support of our institutions of learning, welfare and governmental administration." He said Texas oil and gas operators now are paying 61 percent of all the state business and property taxes.

Promotion Campaign Begun by LP Group

A broad promotional program for the stimulation of LP-Gas markets has just been approved by the Board of Directors of the National Gasoline Association of America, according to a recent announcement by James E. Pew, NGA's president. Objectives of the program are, 1) to effectively stimulate and assist sales through national advertising and promotion of LP-Gas at the local level; 2) consolidate the gains made by the LP-Gas industry in recent years; and 3) expand markets for LP-Gas and LP-Gas appliances and equipment.

National in scope, the program is to be a joint effort of the NGA, the Liquefied Petroleum Gas Association and the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association. The program will consist of four operations: advertising, publicity, dealer and distributor training and special public relations. A budget of $500,000 has been outlined for use in 1950 and it is contemplated that double this amount will be required for each of the succeeding four years.

Engineer Found Dead in Oklahoma Home

TULSA — (P) — George Samuel Bays, 60, a consulting engineer for Stanolind Oil and Gas Co. and a widely known figure in the oil world, was found dead Wednesday night at his home.

Bays had telephoned his secretary 15 minutes earlier to summon his doctor.

Death was attributed to a heart attack. Survivors include a son, George S. Bays, Jr., of Baytown, Texas, and a daughter, Mrs. Ruth Bays Holt, Kingsville, Texas.

tion of natural gasoline in Texas is nearly double the amount produced in 1941.

Carbon black production in Texas during 1948 totalled 903,384,000 pounds, the greatest output on record. This made up 69.6 percent of total U. S. production.

Texas 1948 output ran counter to the national trend; total U. S. production declined from the previous year for the first time since 1942. Texas 1948 production was one percent greater than in 1947, whereas all other states showed a decrease of 7.3 percent.

The number of plants (42) operating in Texas remained the same as the previous year. One channel plant was added, and one was shut down.

The average value of the natural gas used — 4.73 — cents per thousand cubic feet — was the highest on record.

Hearing Set On Ector Cut

AUSTIN — (P) — Reductions of the maximum efficient rates of production in three Ector County fields are proposed by the Railroad Commission.

The commission Wednesday set public hearing for Dec. 8 for operators to show cause why the reductions should not be made.

Reductions are proposed as follows:

1. TXL Devonian field, from top allowable of 233 barrels per well per day, plus 233 barrels for new wells, to 13,700 barrels for the reservoir.

2. TXL Upper Clearfork field, from top allowable of 120 barrels per well per day, plus 70 barrels for new wells, to 70 barrels per well per day plus 70 barrels for new wells.

3. TXL Silurian field, from top allowable of 180 barrels per well per day plus 180 barrels for new wells to 90 barrels per well per day plus 90 barrels for new wells.

Other hearings were set as follows:

Nov. 16 — Application of S. D. Johnson for discovery allowable rights and new field designation for the reservoir of his W. R. Canan well No. 1, Cooke County regular field.

Nov. 16 — Application of Kay Kimball for discovery allowable rights, new field designation and field rules for the reservoir of his George Anderson well No. 1, Cooke County.

Nov. 18 — Application of the Union Producing Co. for discovery allowable rights and new field designation for the reservoir of its A. M. McFaddin well No. A-9, Victoria County.

Hajecate Ousted As Oil Workers' Union Official

HOUSTON — (P) — Arthur Hajecate, ousted as secretary and treasurer of Local 227, Oil Workers' International Union, CIO, has threatened to call a mass meeting of all of District 4 of the union, if necessary, to keep his position with the local.

Hajecate and Billie Kieke, president, were fired Tuesday night by the International Executive Board Council of the union meeting in Denver, Colo., according to a telegram from O. A. Knight, international president.

The action was taken, Knight stated, because of "continued failure to comply with the constitutional and bylaws of the international union," and "in order to preserve the interests of all of the members of the local and of the international union as a whole."

Ivan B. Haven, an international representative at Beaumont, was named temporary administrator of the affairs of the union.

Another good well was reported for the North Snyder field of Scurry County, Texas, today when Cities Service Oil Co. (Del.) completed its Jolly No. 7 for a potential of 1,745 barrels of oil daily. Jolly No. 7 is located CSE NW Section 393, Block 97, H&TC survey and is bottomed at 6,866 feet.

Music Club Elects Officers

McLEAN — (Special) — Mary Lou Watkins was elected president of Mrs. Willie Boyett's Junior Music Club at its first meeting of the fall season.

Other officers elected for the coming year are: vice president, Donna Ruth Magee; treasurer, Gail Mulliken; assistant treasurer, Glenda Switzer; reporter, Mrs. C. J. Magee.

Bobby Weaver and Lou Ann Carpenter were introduced as new members.

Members of the club presented piano and accordion selections and refreshments were served to 24 members and guests.

WAC-Reservist Texas Goal Set

AUSTIN — The participation of 1000 WAC-Reservists in the Organized Reserve Corps program is the goal set by the Texas Military District by Aug. 1, 1950, Col. Oscar E. Abbott, the executive, announced here. At the present in Texas, there are 34 Wac officers and 90 enlisted women training with the Organized Reserve Corps units.

With the recent changes in regulations that has made possible the assignment of Wacs to all types of reserve units and the decision that former women veterans, regardless of marriage or the existence of dependents, can enter the WAC-Reserve will ease the way for the campaigner to obtain the goal set forth.

Since WAC assignments to combat and service units, many Organized Reserve Corps Unit commanders have lauded the work of the WAC-Reservists in filling vital spots of administrative specialists wherein vacancies were present.

"It is not the mission of the Army to train WAC-Reservists to become combat soldiers, but to see that they fill a need in the administration of units, replacing enlisted men who then can train for combat duty," Col. Abbott said.

Five Cattle Killed in Wreck

GLAZIER — (Special) — Five head of cattle were injured and had to be destroyed when the truck in which they were riding overturned north of Glazier Monday.

The body of the truck, owned by Hurdie Smith of Glazier, was demolished. Everett Howard of Glazier, driver of the truck, was not hurt.

The cattle were owned by Raymond Williams, also of Glazier.

Let's reduce the present delinquency rate . . . (7 out of every 100 babies born this year will be classed as delinquents in 1961) . . . it can be done if every parent accepts his share of responsibility in family life. Today's children are tomorrow's leaders of America . . . if they need a helping hand, it is ours to give.

As Good Parents You Should:

- 1--Give the love and companionship so necessary to your child's welfare;
- 2--Attend church with your children;
- 3--Support personally the many fine organizations that provide recreation for boys and girls;
- 4--Devote some of your time to personal service in the activities that minister to the young;
- 5--Help spread good cheer and human understanding to families not as fortunate as your own.

Wise parents know that duty to their children is more than food, clothing and shelter.

They know that the home life needs to be more attractive to childhood; that wholesome recreation for their own boys and girls and their neighbor's children is the best way to prevent trouble and sorrow when the critical years are upon them.

Someone to Love

By IRENE LONNEN ERNHART Copyright, 1949, MEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Jenny's marriage to Tod Duncan has been unhappy because Tod can't forget Liz Conover, who jilted him before his marriage and who now is trying to win Tod back. Liz invites Tod to a cocktail party given by her father's advertising firm. When he returns to his basement apartment he finds Rick Morris, an old friend, visiting. He remembers to apologize the next day for accusing Rick with being in love with Jenny and then tells Jenny he has been offered a very good position with the Conover firm. It will mean an end of skimping, he says.

XXV

THE write-up of the Conover party gave more space to Tod than it did to the guest of honor, it seemed to Jenny.

The pictures of Tod were extremely flattering—"Tod Duncan, former All-American." And Liz was looking her usual perfect self, like something out of a fashion magazine.

Jenny didn't blame Tod for feeling heady, after such an experience, and to have received Mr. Conover's job offer on top of it.

They began at once to look for a house. The bright young men in the Conover agency could not live in a musty basement in an obscure and slightly tawdry section of town. Tod would have chosen a house in some exclusive new development, but Jenny found one in a less pretentious suburban neighborhood, a modest colonial with an acre of ground and a small orchard.

It was wonderful to get the twins into the pink and white freshness of a nursery all their own. Nice, too, to be able to buy the things one needed from Max, without feeling guilty.

Max was thinking of selling his shop. Business had declined some and he had always dreamed of buying a trailer and going to Florida. Now seemed an opportune time. He suggested that Jenny go into partnership with Nina and take over the shop.

"But, Max, there's no need now for me to work with Tod's new job, and besides I haven't the money to invest in anything like that."

Max waved his hand and shrugged. "Borrow like I did."

"There's still Tod and the twins, my first and most important job."

Max turned away, lighting one of his long cigarettes. "If you change your mind," he broke off, shrugging again.

There was something vaguely puzzling to Jenny in Max's attitude, and as Nina's too. Nina had forgotten the quarrel and she warmly urged Jenny to do as Max suggested.

Jenny hired a girl to look after the twins while she shopped for furniture for the new house and conferred with a decorator. The furniture that had been her mother's looked out of place in the spanking newness of the house, and Tod wanted everything new. The bill for the furniture frightened her, but Tod waved it aside airily.

He'd have it paid off in no time once he got a few good accounts lined up. Besides the furniture was a good investment. He wanted to have a big housewarming and invite a lot of important people.

They scarcely had a moment to gether any more. Tod worked late quite often, and he was always having to see an important client out of office hours. He saw an awful lot of Liz too, openly under guise of business. But his openness did not prevent its being observed.

Maurice Cory's gossip column carried a small note. "Is there a marital rift in the office for a certain prominent football player turned advertising genius? Or is it strictly business with that beautiful boss's daughter he's been squiring to cocktail parties?" Jenny didn't mention it to Tod. But she wondered whether gossip about Liz and Tod had anything to do with Max's suggestion that she might change her mind about going into partnership with Nina. Then Tod one evening mentioned a new account he'd acquired for the firm only that day. "You see, Jenny, I told you it wouldn't take long to pay for the furniture. The commission on that single account will almost do it. If it hadn't been for Liz!"

"You see an awful lot of Liz, don't you?" Jenny said. She tried not to let that note of coolness creep into her voice.

"After all, Jenny," he burst out as he rose from his chair, "there isn't any way to avoid seeing a lot of Liz when we work in the same office. But think what it's meant to work there!"

Yes, she was thinking, it certainly had changed things. It was as though a magic wand had been waved over them. A month ago they had been lost in a welter of trying to save a few dollars making over the money situation. Funny how much money really meant. Everyone was always saying, "Money can't buy everything," but that was silly, wasn't it? Because there were few worthwhile things that money couldn't buy.

It brought a comfortable place to live, and fresh air and sunshine and exquisite new outfits for the babies. You didn't have to shop around to save three cents on a dozen of oranges, or spend hours waiting for a few minutes of a little overalls for the babies out of remnants you'd picked up in a basement somewhere.

THEN came the night of their housewarming.

Jenny was uneasy because Rick was practically the only person present with whom she was acquainted, excepting Liz Conover, of course. She felt uncomfortable, because these people moved in a world she had never known.

Jenny and Rick slipped off upstairs to the nursery to look in on the twins. There was so much noise downstairs Jenny was afraid they might wake them. She and Rick were talking in whispers over the cribs in the nursery when they heard voices from across the hall. Jenny froze and Rick gripped her arm hard as they listened.

Negro School To Get Band

DENTON — Fred Moore School, Denton's new Negro institution, may soon have a band as a result of an idea of a North Texas State College janitor.

Clarence Jackson, colored janitor at the college, got the idea of a band at the open house held recently at the Negro school. He began his drive for funds at NTSC and it has spread throughout the city. Contribution will be in two instruments. The NTSC School of Music has promised to support the project, and other county schools and local merchants will be asked to help.

The main leading the drive is noted for his consistency. Clarence has worked at North Texas State under the administration of three college presidents.

Calvin Coolidge wrote a history of the United States in five hundred words.

Books by NTSC Teacher Adopted

DENTON — Six art books of which Dr. Cora Stafford, head of the Art Department at North Texas State, is co-author, have been adopted by the state of Arkansas as official textbooks.

The books, written by Dr. Stafford and Ivan Johnson, director of art education in Dallas, are texts on art study for grades one through six. Books one through three were adopted as state texts for Texas last year, but books three through six were not completed at that time. The authors are now working on books seven and eight which will complete the series.

CANS FOR AMERICANS
NEW YORK — (AP) — Americans now open more than 75 million cans a day, says the American Can Co. The estimate is based on government reports which indicate the equivalent of 28 billion standard-size fruit and vegetable cans are being made annually.

Citrus Men Protest Wage Rate Set

AUSTIN — (AP) — No Mexican national agricultural workers will be approved to work in the lower Rio Grande Valley at wage rates under 40 cents per hour.

The Texas Employment Commission was notified of that ruling Tuesday by Robert C. Goodwin, director of the Federal Bureau of Employment Security.

The notice came by telegram shortly after TEC had announced that a survey showed valley farm labor wage rates to vary from averages of 20 to 40 cents per hour in 11 areas.

Goodwin told TEC Chairman Harry Benge Crozier that the presence of thousands of illegal entrants in the area had depressed wage rates in the area and that otherwise the rates would be at least 40 cents per hour.

The international agreement between the United States and Mexico, he said, specifically rejects wage rates based upon the presence of illegal entrants in an area.

Meanwhile, at Harlingen, a spokesman for valley shippers and growers said the valley "has been sold down the river."

Austin Anson, executive manager of the Texas Citrus and Vegetable Growers and Shippers Association, said:

"We are not yet ready to accept Mr. Goodwin as the dictator of labor policies for the Texas citrus and vegetable industry," he said.

"Goodwin's statement is exactly in line with what he tried to put over last week at the Washington conference."

"We, the Farm Bureau, and thousands of individual farmers signed a blank check with full confidence in the Texas Employment Commission, feeling the TEC was capable and could determine the prevailing wage and advise us when their findings were determined and the prevailing wage they arrived at from this finding was agreed upon."

"We feel our Governor and the TEC still will give us a fair deal."

Luther Wyrick of the Cameron County Farm Bureau said he doubted the 40 cents would make a big difference in vegetable plantings this fall.

Earlier, the Farm Bureau estimated 85 percent of valley farmers would not plant vegetables if they had to pay 40 cents an hour for Mexican help.

Farmers began filing work orders soon after the Border Patrol announced it was going to pick up all aliens not under contract and hustle them back across the Rio Grande.

Last week, farmers swamped the valley's six TEC offices with applications. More than 2,000 asked for more than 18,000 aliens at rates varying from 20 to 40 cents an hour.

Bid From Museums Net Free Pictures

LONDON — (AP) — Six British museums bid $168,000 for paintings by a artist and poet William Blake at an art auction and then got them for nothing.

A secret clause in the will of the late Graham Robertson, London playwright who collected Blake's works, specified that "institutions serving the public should have the free works for which they were prepared to pay considerable sums."

The sale of Robertson's collection of paintings by the 19th Century artist brought a total of $246,396. Those not taken by museums and art galleries were bought by private collectors.

The ace of comedians and the leading comedienne of the screen have teamed in a comedy romance that will go down in cinema annals as one of the most rib-cracking laugh marathons ever produced. It's the longest fun-frolic you've ever had—105 minutes of gags, wisecracks, hilarious situations, slapstick action and dialogue everybody can understand. Don't miss the merriment... it is personally guaranteed.
