Happy Thanksgiving

Costumed as Pilgrims, who first instituted the custom in 1621, Buster Barnes and Karen Kee pose with the traditional symbols of a bountiful harvest and a happy Thanksgiving. Other than the blessings of nature, they had another cause to be happy — fellow students at high school had chosen them to be Mr. and Miss BSHS. (Barr Photo Center)

Asian War Hits Lull, But Situation Cloudy

India Seems To Be Buying Time To Rebuild Armies

NEW DELHI (AP) — The Indian army has been ordered to withhold its fire against the Red Chinese troops who are observing a self-imposed cease-fire in the Himalayan war, informed sources said today.

Prime Minister Nehru earlier told Parliament: "So far as we know there has been an effective cease-fire."

But the Indian government has not formally reacted to Peking's declaration of a cease-fire to be followed by a Chinese withdrawal from their conquests in one month of border fighting.

India appeared to be buying time by using the lull offered by the Chinese to rebuild its defeated army units in Northeast India.

A Defense Ministry spokesman refused at his daily briefing to clarify the cease-fire situation. He would not deny that Indian troops might have fired since the Chinese cease-fire deadline Wednesday. But he said there has not necessarily been any firing.

Informed sources said the orders were for Indian soldiers to fire only when fired upon.

The Defense Ministry spokesman said orders were a military secret and refused to disclose them.

In Parliament earlier Nehru reported the Chinese had silenced their guns but he did not say that Indian troops also had ben ordered to hold their fire.

NOTHING ELSE

"As far as we know, there has been an effective cease-fire," Nehru told Parliament. "Apart from that, nothing else has taken place."

An editorial in the People's Daily, broadcast from Peking said that as of today "The Chinese frontier guards cease fire on Chinese initiative along the entire Sino-Indian border."

But the paper warned: "The cessation of the border conflict depends on the Indian side rather than the Chinese side, and now it depends particularly on whether or not the Indian government responds positively."

Nehru was studying Peking's terms of the cease-fire and a proposed troop pullback, but gave no hint of what course India would take.

Feeling ran strong in India, however, against what many said would be a compromise. The Hindustan Times called Peking's offer an ultimatum, rather than a peace offer.

DRIVE THEM OUT

Nehru has vowed that the Chinese must be driven from Indian soil.

In the four days preceding the cease-fire, Chinese shock troops drove to the edge of the Assam Plains on the northeast boundary and completed occupation of practically all the 51,000-square miles of territory in the northeast and northwest claimed by China.

Some Indians thought Peking's only purpose in calling for a cease-fire was to give its troops time to consolidate, should Communist peace proposals be rejected.

Nehru disclosed the latest exchange of letters with Premier Chou En-lai, dated Nov. 4 and Nov. 14, stated basic disagreements which still stand despite the cease-fire.

India wants the restoration of the situation before Sept. 8 when the Chinese began incursions into northeast India. China asks the reestablishment of positions of Nov. 7, 1959. The main difference is in the Ladakh region of northwest India.

PROPAGANDA

In his letter of Nov. 4 Chou called the invasion of India "border clashes." He said the demand for Sept. 8 positions meant

CLEAN, HARDWORKING PEOPLE

Assam Big Prize For A Conqueror

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The Assam Plain threatened by the Chinese Communist army on India's border is a rich land of rice, tea, jute and oil, a prize for any conqueror.

Situated at the eastern tip of India, Assam is just beyond the Himalayan foothills claimed by the Chinese invaders.

With a moderate climate and heavy rainfall, the state of Assam produces more than enough rice and fish to feed its 12 million cheerful, hardworking, brown-faced people.

Its cash crops, principally tea and jute, earn hard currency abroad. Tea is Assam's biggest cash crop and India's biggest foreign exchange earner.

Petroleum reserves, about 40 million metric tons, are just beginning to be drawn upon in quantity at the eastern end of the valley around Digboi.

The Assamese are medium to tall, and generally have almond eyes that mark their kinship with neighboring southeast Asians.

Villages amid rice paddies and the fisheries of the valley are clean and so are the farmers.

The Brahmaputra, one of the world's great rivers, rises in Tibet where it is called Tsangpo and flows east before it cuts through the Himalayas. It receives more water from the Luhit River—down which Chinese troops pushed—and then flows southwestward forming the broad flat Assam Valley 40 to 70 miles wide and 400 miles long.

Thereafter it turns south through East Pakistan to the Bay of Bengal.

High hills rise on both sides of the valley.

The Himalayan foothills on the north and east are thinly populated by tribesmen and for years have been separately administered as the Northeast Frontier Agency. This is rugged, forested terrain through which Chinese troops have forced a way.

South of the valley are more hills inhabited by tribesmen who include former headhunters.

Separate statehood was granted last summer to one of these areas, Nagaland.

The Chinese claimed land down to the Himalayan foothills line—the edge of the Assam Plain—on a map they submitted to Indian officials in 1960.

The question was raised in the Indian Parliament over other published maps, showing parts of Assam and the neighboring Indian states of West Bengal and Bihar as parts of Tibet.

Prime Minister Nehru said he did not know of such maps.

Go, Steers, Go

Fans of the Big Spring Steers are preparing to invade San Angelo Friday night with the intention of bringing the victory bell home. Philip Beyer, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Beyer, leaves no doubt about his affiliations in this uniform for the important contest.

Lack Of Gratitude Theme Of Sermon

Despite his many blessings, man still displays a singular lack of expressed gratitude to God for his blessings. Ingratitude has insidiously and unwittingly crept into our national way of life.

In these terms the Rev. Donald Hungerford, rector of the St. Mary's Episcopal Church, expressed one of the failings of modern society. He spoke before more than 300 persons at the annual Union Thanksgiving Service, held this year by the First Church of God, 2009 Main.

Looking over the congregation assembled in worship on this national day of Thanksgiving, Rev. Hungerford recalled the story of the healing of the ten lepers as told in the gospel of St. Luke. Ten were healed and only one gave thanks. So too in this city of more than 30,000, only a few have turned out to give thanks.

"It makes us want to say with Jesus: Where are the others?" he said.

We have the kind of material plenty which makes the historian conclude that no nation of people on the face of the earth ever had it so good. Along with the plenty, we have a task to perform, Rev. Hungerford said.

"We have the job of living thankfully. We are called upon to express a gratefulness for God's blessings in our lives," he said.

The assembly of ministers and worshippers congregated at the First Church of God for the first time for this service. The Rev. V. Ward Jackson, pastor, was host.

Chaplain B. G. Meacham, president of the Big Spring Pastors Association, presided at the service which saw churches from the entire city join hands in Thanksgiving. Ushers for the service were members of the Big Spring Kiwanis Club.

A harvest arrangement, somewhat different from the usual horn, was provided by Mrs. Truett Thomas and Mrs. A. L. Holley.

Rev. Jackson gave the Doxology and Invocation. Other ministers taking part in the service included Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, who read the President's Proclamation; the Rev. Byron Oran, pastor of the College Baptist Church, who read scripture; and the Rev. John Black, pastor of the First Christian Church, who gave the Thanksgiving prayer. The Rev. DeWitt Seago, First Methodist Church, gave the benediction.

The Thanksgiving offering will go to supplement costs of providing Bible study in the high school. More than 122 students are enrolled in five classes there under the instruction of Mrs. J. O. Johansen.

Holiday Death Toll 53; Texas Traffic Kills 12

By The Associated Press

The nation's traffic deaths mounted steadily today in the first hours of the long Thanksgiving holiday with 12 persons killed in two violent crashes in Texas.

The number killed in motor vehicle accidents since 6 p.m. (local time) Wednesday was 53. The count will continue until midnight Sunday.

The National Safety Council did not estimate the number of traffic deaths for Thanksgiving. A spokesman said the holiday is in midweek with most workers getting only one day off and comparatively few of them making long motor trips.

The spokesman said traffic fatalities for a Thursday-through Sunday period at this time of year would number about 480.

A survey of deaths in accidents for a recent non-holiday period of four days was made by The Associated Press. The survey, from 6 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 7 to midnight Sunday, Nov. 11, showed 459 deaths.

Plea Denied

WASHINGTON (AP)—A request for an increase in crude oil import allocations from 2,474 barrels a day to 20,000 barrels by a Texas firm has been denied by the Oil Imports Appeals Board. The action Wednesday was on a petition from the Southland Co. of Dallas.

Holiday Spirit In Buildup Area

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—A holiday spirit prevailed in most areas of the Cuban crisis military buildup in south Florida today, but there were no signs yet that the forces rushed here during the crisis is being dismantled.

Enough troops and military equipment poured into the area in recent weeks to launch successfully an invasion of Cuba if it had been ordered.

Officers and soldiers expect this force to be broken up soon and returned to normal duty, but the process has not yet started.

Meanwhile, hundreds of soldiers, airmen and Marines are on Thanksgiving dinner guest lists throughout the area. The hosts are private citizens and restaurants.

Final Pep Rally Set Tonight

Football fever is expected to reach its peak here tonight for the final pep rally and bonfire on the high school campus.

The pep squad, Big Spring High School band and members of the Quarterback Club have invited all Big Spring fans to participate in the giant rally. It begins at 7 p.m. on the campus near the gym.

Friday night, the Big Spring Steers will play the San Angelo Bobcats for the district title at San Angelo.

The huge pile of bonfire material was prematurely fired about midnight Wednesday. Several students were sitting up, watching the stack, but they went for hamburgers about midnight. While they were gone, the pile was fired.

The fire department was called in and the students immediately began searching out and hauling in more material for tonight's fire. Meanwhile, the victory bell is in safe keeping as students prepare for the trip to the district championship.

Minister Robbed

FORT WORTH (AP) — Two young thugs attacked and robbed the Rev. G. E. Caskey, 43, a Baptist minister from Winfield, Kan., in a park Wednesday. He told police the hoodlums took about $200 after beating and kicking him.

Mexico Claims Outbreaks Isolated

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The Mexican government dismissed a rash of terrorist outbreaks and bomb plots today as isolated, unrelated incidents. But armed forces maintained an alert and more than 100 persons were arrested.

The outbreaks coincided with the announcement by the Venezuelan government at Caracas that it had uncovered a leftist plot to blow up a new government-owned steel mill and seized bombs, ammunition, printing equipment and Cuban propaganda. Several Communists and sympathizers were arrested.

Most outbreaks in Mexico were attributed to various local factions —anti-Communists, leftists, frustrated politicians.

Threats also were reported Wednesday to blow up the court house and power plant at Brownsville, Tex., directly across from Matamoros, where 10 men were accused of plotting to blow up two Rio Grande bridges, and highways and public buildings in several Mexican towns. No bombs were found.

Extra guards were placed at a Rio Grande dam near Mission, 60 miles west of Brownsville.

In Matamoros, officials attributed the dynamite plot there earlier this week to a local politician who had failed to get backing in a bid to become mayor. Police seized 476 sticks of dynamite and 300 plastic bombs.

In Oaxaca, about 150 miles southeast of Mexico City, 91 persons were arrested following an armed attack last weekend on a small army outpost.

THE WINDS OF CHANGE ARE BLOWING

World Crises Create Feeling Something Big Is About To Happen

EDITOR'S NOTE — Three crises have set loose a clash of political forces around the world, and in Washington there is a feeling that something big is about to happen. John M. Hightower, a Pulitzer Prize winner and veteran AP diplomatic affairs writer, analyzes the situation.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — There is a sense of great drama in Washington as the last scenes of the Cuban conflict are played out. There is a feeling that something big is about to happen.

The question is: What?

Neither President Kennedy, who calls this a climactic period and a turning point in history, nor Secretary of State Dean Rusk, who says we are all on the edge of unpredictable events of high importance, has answered this question.

Neither, so far as a reporter can learn, is able to answer.

But both men are undoubtedly convinced that in Moscow and Peking, in New Delhi, and in other Western capitals as well as Washington, old policies are being reviewed and historic new decisions are in the making. They believe, therefore, that the shape of the world is changing.

The development not of one but actually of three crises at almost the same time last month is responsible for this belief. They are the crises between the United States and the Soviet Union over Cuba, between the Soviet Union and Red China over India, and between Red China and India over their undeclared border war. All three have loosed forces which, in their final impact, must have a profound influence on the future course of international relations.

The showdown between Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev over the installation of Soviet nuclear weapons in Cuba probably holds the greatest threat and the greatest hope for the future. In general terms, two courses are open to Washington and Moscow. Either they can move toward some adjustment of their differences, such as those over Berlin, and toward arms control agreements, or they can begin working overtime to get ready for the next disaster-threatening Cuban type confrontation.

From the U.S. viewpoint, the chief long-range gain of the crisis in the Caribbean was to show Khrushchev that Kennedy would face up to the full risk of nuclear war in defense of vital U.S. interests and commitments. The important question now is what conclusion the Soviet leader draws from this experience—whether he chooses to avoid dangerous challenges in the future or to arm more powerfully for even greater risks hereafter.

Militarily, the result of the Cuban crisis can hardly be considered decisive for more than a few years. Its immediate effect is to roll Soviet nuclear power back thousands of miles onto Soviet territory. But the experts agree that

You Can Still Get A Ticket

Two down and one to go. That was the status of the Herald's chartered bus fleet this morning.

Little less than two score seats remain for the special trip to San Angelo Friday evening to the Steer-Bobcat district title football game.

Tickets ($2.75 for the round trip) may be had at the Herald office Friday.

Those who want to avoid the trouble and strain of heavy traffic and at the same time enjoy the fun of being aboard with other fans may leave their cars in the parking lot at the rear of the Herald.

Departure has been scheduled at 5:30 p.m. with arrival at Bobcat Stadium about half an hour before game time. The return trip will begin soon after the end of the game, and the buses should arrive at the Herald about midnight.

The buses are due to be available for loading on the south side of the Herald office.

Don't delay getting your ticket for the trip.

U. S. Gradually Uncoils Buildup

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nuclear bomber crews shifted to normal duty after a month on special alert. Destroyers, cruisers, carriers steamed home from the blockade. Air Force reservists prepared to become civilians again.

The United States was gradually uncoiling the buildup of its armed might which at one point in the crisis had appeared on the verge of being launched against Communist Cuba.

But in the southeastern United States, Florida in particular, there was no relaxation yet.

Thousands of Army troops, including tank forces, and hundreds of fast, rocket-armed jet fighters and powerful bombers stood ready —just in case.

Radar searched the skies in the direction of Cuba and antiaircraft missiles were poised—the Soviets still have not pulled out their IL28 jet bombers.

KEEP WATCH

U.S. reconnaissance planes kept watch—the need for this surveillance underscored by the recent discovery of 25-mile range Soviet bombardment missiles the United States hadn't known were in Cuba.

However, there was a general easing of tension and it was reflected in a series of developments.

The more than 1,600 B52 and B47 nuclear bombers of the Strategic Air Command were ordered to return to normal alert—half of them ready to take off combat-loaded within 15 minutes of warning.

About 9 out of 10 SAC bombers have been on ground alert since the night of Oct. 22 when President Kennedy disclosed the presence of Soviet long range missiles threatening the United States from Cuba.

More than 14,200 Air Force reservists called to active duty with their troop-carrying squadrons on Oct. 27 were told they will be getting out starting Friday.

HOLIDAY PRESENT

Some 17,000 Navy men and Marines received a Thanksgiving present when the Navy unfroze discharges. The freeze had been ordered Oct. 23 for the stated purpose of assuring enough manpower to support the arms blockade of Cuba and reinforcement of the Guantanamo Naval Base at the eastern end of Cuba.

About 4,000 of these men are expected to get out of uniform early, in time for Christmas.

The vanguard of 63 Navy vessels, relieved of blockading duties, began arriving at East Coast ports including Norfolk, Va., and Key West, Fla.

At Norfolk, thousands of wives and children of Navy crewmen were at dockside as eight ships pulled in amid a drenching rain.

The Navy drew aside the screen of secrecy which has shrouded the blockade operation and the gathering of U.S. armed power to meet the Cuban missile threat.

It disclosed that a total of 183 ships, carrying more than 85,000 men, spread over a 2,100-mile front in the Atlantic and Caribbean while keeping offensive weapons out of Cuba.

NO MORE THAN 50

Not more than 50 were on the blockade line at any one time, the Navy said, with the others on patrol or antisubmarine watch.

Eight aircraft carriers—including the nuclear-powered Enterprise—joined in the quarantine. Each of them patrolled 10,000 miles.

Ninety cruisers and destroyers steamed more than 780,000 miles, by Navy count.

A total of 68 Navy and Marine aircraft squadrons numbering more than 19,000 men accounted for 9,000 separate patrol and surveillance flights that clocked better than 6 million miles.

Another 1,190 Marine and Navy planes and nearly 3,000 pilots were set to go at various bases.

A Marine battalion landing team turnaround—it was ashore in the United States only one day after coming home from a tour in the Mediterranean, then was ordered back on ship and sent into the Caribbean.

The Air Force and Army were anxious to tell in detail about their part in the Cuba preparations, but so far were denied permission to do so.

FLYING BANS LIFTED

With the unwinding of the crisis the government notified civilian fliers it was lifting restrictions on flying over all but the southern tip of Florida.

The Federal Aviation Agency clamped on the regulations Oct. 23, requiring civilian pilots to get military approval of flights south of about Daytona Beach and banning trips by planes without two-way radios and other navigational equipment.

However, the restrictions were continued for flights south of 25 degrees, 10 minutes north latitude, roughly a line between Miami and Key West.

Traffic Toll

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mexican highway accidents took 91 lives and resulted in 664 injuries during October, the Communications Ministry said today.

LABOR IN VAIN

By T. H. Tarbet, Preacher
Church of Christ, 2906 West Highway 80
P.O. Box 1382

Paul, who had taken the gospel to the people in Galatia, was now fearful that his labor was for naught. He saw signs of apostacy in the people he had converted. He wrote to them in Gal. 4:10, 11: "Ye observe days, and months and times, and years. I am afraid of you, lest I have bestowed upon you labour in vain."

From this statement we must conclude that there are no special holy days in Christianity; and that to observe such, is a sign of apostacy.

Does this apply to Thanksgiving day? Yes, if we observe it as a religious holiday. Not that it is wrong to be thankful then, or on any day.

It surely must be wrong to make Thanksgiving a religious day different from other days. The day certainly was not observed by the early church.

Sometimes men get the idea that giving of thanks is for only one day in the year; that there is another annual occasion for remembering the birth of Christ and still a different time for remembering the resurrection. How different all this is from Christianity at its fountain source, as we read of it in the New Testament. —adv.

Thousands Attend Chavez Funeral

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—Sen. Dennis Chavez, was buried Wednesday following services attended by thousands of persons whose votes kept him in Congress for more than a quarter of a century. He was 74.

The Democratic senator died Sunday at Washington of a heart attack after a long battle with cancer.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, one among many national dignitaries at graveside, called Chavez the champion of the least among us."

Sen. Chavez was concerned with unity of the hemisphere, and he became the outstanding spokesman for unity and progress in the Western Hemisphere," Johnson said.

Mexican Senate Leader Manual Moreno Sanchez sent personal messages to Mrs. Chavez, and to the U.S. Senate expressing the sorrow of the Mexican Senate over the death of Chavez.

Joint Church Services Held

STANTON (SC)—Members of the First Methodist and First Baptist Churches held their joint Thanksgiving service here Wednesday evening at the Methodist Church.

The Rev. W. H. Uhlman, Baptist pastor, brought the message, using the 103rd Psalm as his text.

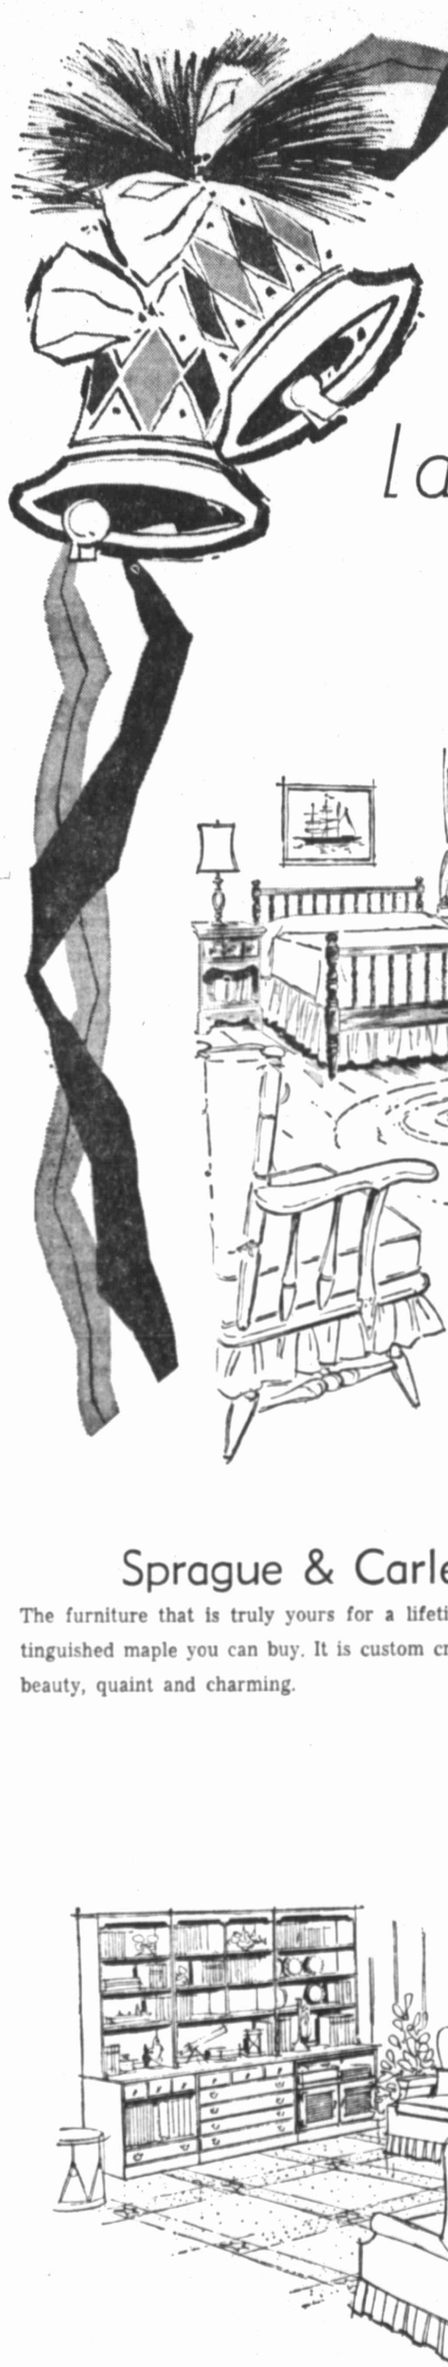

The sanctuary was comfortably filled by the faithful, and music was furnished by the combined choirs of the two congregations. Mrs. James Jones was organist and Mrs. John Wood the choir director. For a special, the choir sang the anthem, "Banners of God."

B. F. White, who with James Jones, headed the needy fund during the past year, said that approximately $200 in the fund had been used up. A collection was taken to finance activities during 1963 and F. O. Rhodes and Delbert Franklin were named to head the committee.

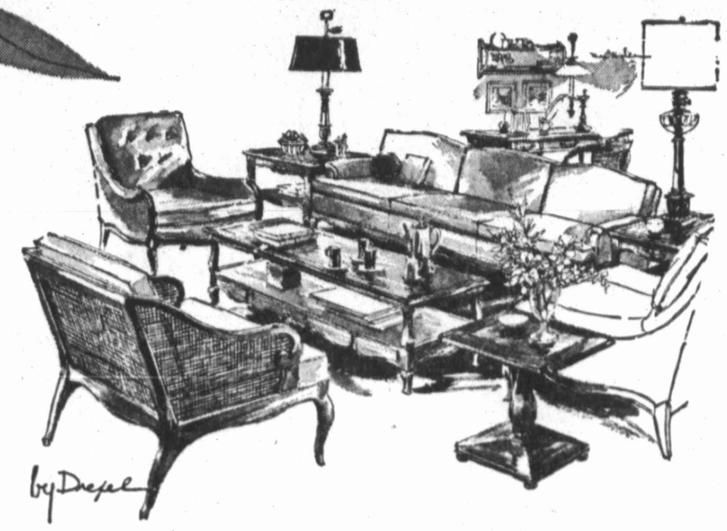

Next year's service will be held in the First Baptist Sanctuary.

Pact Is Made On Reservoir

DALLAS (AP)—The city councils of Dallas and Denton have agreed formally that Dallas will build Aubrey Reservoir on the Trinity River.

Their agreement provides for Dallas to supply Denton extra water if need arises before the dam and lake are finished.

The Aubrey site is in Denton and Cooke counties above the former Garza-Little Elm Reservoir site. It is part of a long range master plan for Dallas water supply.

There is a possibility that Army engineers may build the reservoir.

The two-city agreement stipulates that Denton may buy Dallas water at 2½ cents per 1,000 gallons if it needs the water before the reservoir is built. No date has been set for construction to start.

Santa's First Visit Planned For Dec. 7

Santa has scheduled Big Spring early this year on his roster of stops before Christmas. He has reported that, barring a pulled muscle or other injury to his faithful steeds, he will arrive in Big Spring about 2:30 p.m. Dec. 7.

In his telegram Santa noted that one or more of his helpers may drop in to give him an assist. He plans to chat with all the boys and girls in the area during his afternoon visit here and may need a little help, he explained.

A large crowd is expected to be on hand to meet the jolly gentleman. Knowing West Texas from his previous visits to Big Spring, Santa has scheduled his arrival here by Texas and Pacific Railroad. From the station, he will parade to the east side of the court house where he will make his headquarters. Not anticipating snow, his sleigh will be drawn by Shetland ponies.

There he will let the youngsters whisper their Christmas requests into his ear and will reward those who have been good with candy.

The city will be prepared for Santa's arrival. Christmas decorations will be hung out early, just in case Santa must change his plans and drop in early. Decorations will be hung starting Friday, immediately after Thanksgiving. All decorations this year will be the pole variety.

The College Park Shopping Center will hang separate ornaments. Special decorations have been purchased for that area. These will be hung either Tuesday or Wednesday following Thanksgiving.

Big Spring homes and businesses are also expected to receive a facelifting, with special emphasis on Yuletide makeup. Businessmen will be trying to lure customers into their establishments and private citizens will be vieing for prizes offered in the Home Decoration Contest sponsored by the retail committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Rules have not yet been worked out, but prizes are an electric yard pole lamp for first place, an electric blanket for second, and a sun lamp and holder for third. The awards have been provided by an anonymous donor.

Pain Is Progress; Restored Arm Is Improving

BOSTON (AP)—Pain is progress and hope for a plucky young Somerville boy.

The terrible pains that 13-year-old Everett Knowles Jr. sometimes feels in his right arm and fingers indicate to doctors at Massachusetts General Hospital that all is going well in the final and crucial chapter of a battle to make medical history.

Last May 23, the red-haired youngster's arm was restored to his body after it was severed by a freight train.

Doctors who have performed a series of operations say they know of no other case where a severed limb has been restored to use with feel and motion.

In an operation Sept. 11, surgeons reconnected numerous nerve fibres.

Dr. Ronald Malt said if the nerves didn't rejoin properly the arm would be a useless adornment, subject to amputation.

Malt added it would be at least months before a full assessment of the nerve operation could be made.

Permanent Cold Brings Damages

LONDON (AP)—Kathleen Swinchatt hasn't stopped sniffling since she was injured in a car accident three years ago. Because she may never get rid of her perpetual cold the high court has awarded her 1,250 pounds—$3,500—damages.

Mrs. Swinchatt broke her cheekbone and injured her nose while riding home from work with William Frost, who was ordered to pay the damages. The car ran out of control and crashed.

Mrs. Swinchatt complained: "It doesn't matter whether it's gloriously hot or bitterly cold. I always have a cold. It costs me a fortune in paper handkerchiefs."

Pakistanis Protest

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP)—Thousands of Pakistanis paraded here to protest the supply of U.S. arms to India. All shops, business houses and schools were closed.

Hospitals Schedule Yule Parties

Christmas celebrations will come a few days early at the Big Spring State Hospital and the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital.

Santa and his helpers will turn out in mass to help with gift-giving and Christmas decorating. Special parties are included in the planning.

Parties are slated for each ward at the state hospital with two or more civic clubs and organizations to sponsor each ward. Santa will make his appearance at each party. The events are to begin at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 20.

Gifts are being provided by volunteers and volunteer organizations. Each patient will be assured of at least one gift. Other parties for special groups, such as the adolescents, are slated between now and Christmas.

An all-patient cast will be featured in a Christmas pageant planned for the nights of Dec. 17-19. Chaplain Max Maguire will direct it. It will be staged each of the nights on the lawn in front of the administration building at the hospital.

Employes will have their parties separately. Gifts will be exchanged.

Employe activities at the VA Hospital have not yet been completed, according to V. J. Belda, director, but many of the patient activities are already well along in the planning.

The Christmas party will be a part of a full Christmas program slated for Dec. 20. Gifts will be presented to patients the following evening. All volunteer groups will meet on the wards that evening and distribute gifts.

Christmas trees will go up at the hospital Dec. 17. Volunteers will do this, as they have done in the past.

The Gift Shop sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary will be conducted Dec. 10-14. It will be set up on the second floor in the patient's television room. Purpose of the shop is to provide free gifts for all patients so they may participate in the giving associated with the season and send presents to their families.

Mars Ship Will Take Photographs

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet spaceship speeding toward Mars will come close enough to take pictures, radio them back to earth and then continue its flight as an artificial planet, Tass reported. It is now 4 million miles from earth.

The spaceship, launched Nov. 1 on its seven-month journey, was reported traveling according to schedule. The announcement did not say how far it would miss Mars.

DEAR ABBY

Curb That Temper!

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me if I owe this old lady an apology. I am a teen-ager. I help take care of an elderly, bedfast woman. She must be about 80. Once in a while she pulls my hair or throws a glass of water on me. Twice I lost my temper and hit her. Once I bruised her arm and the other time I blackened her eye. She told me I couldn't work for her until I learned to control my temper and apologize. Is it my fault that I can't stand old people who aren't mentally right?

KANSAS

DEAR KANSAS: You not only owe this lady an apology, you owe yourself a self-improvement program. Striking anyone (and particularly an elderly, bedfast person) is cruel and inexcusable. Until you can control your temper you should not be placed in charge of anyone. There is always hope for one with a conscience.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: That guy who said a wedding ring was only for women is nuts! I have worn a wedding ring, placed on my finger by my beloved wife, for 22 years. To me it is as important as the ring I placed on HER finger. It's gold, but it would mean as much if it were chicken wire.

HOOKED AND HAPPY

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I recently moved to a new community and was invited to join a neighborhood bridge club. It meets once a week and the members take turns being hostess. The other ladies all drink coffee and I am the only tea drinker in the club. One lady, when she is hostess, uses her best china to serve everyone else but she uses a plastic cup and saucer to serve me! When I asked her why, she replied, "Because I don't want to ruin my Wedgewood with tea stains!" I considered this an insult and told her so. She said my manners were worse than hers or I never would have brought the subject up. I'd like your opinion.

TEA DRINKER

DEAR TEA DRINKER: If your neighbor was sincerely concerned about staining her china with tea, she should learn how to wash dishes. Life is too short to be little. Ignore the incident. She is offbase a country mile.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO MRS. L.: Why don't you visit with your friend in the afternoon? It is obvious that your husband and her huband have nothing in common, so don't force two grown men down each other's throats.

* * *

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

It Was A Red Letter Day

PARMA, Italy (AP) — It took two months and a trip to the Soviet Union for a postcard sent from here to reach a village only 10 miles from Parma.

The postcard was addressed to the village of Felino in the district of Mosca.

Mosca is the Italian name for Moscow, and the card went off to the Soviet capital. The Moscow postoffice sent it back.

Backing Pledged On Navigation For Red River

DURANT, Okla. (AP)—Backing was pledged by Rep. Carl Albert, D-Okla., Tuesday night for efforts to make the Red River navigable.

The House majority leader said he believes navigation is economically feasible with proper engineering and construction.

He spoke to about 300 persons from Oklahoma, Texas, Louisiana and Arkansas.

Albert said he would support appropriations to continue planning surveys started two years ago with funds voted by Congress.

The congressman and others who spoke said barge transportation would result in an industrial boom for the area because of expected lower freight rates.

Albert cited industrial developments along the Ohio River and others as a result of navigable waters.

Henry Shane of the Tulsa office of Army engineers noted that Congress already has appropriated funds for dams that would control waters of the Red River.

Try And Get That Bell Now

Six members of the Big Spring High School pep squad, two members of the Key Club, and a whole bunch of Steers, are daring somebody to try to get away with the victory bell again. It is remounted on a trailer for this photograph Wednesday afternoon, but it being kept under lock and guard between now and the San Angelo game Friday night. Shown here are, the bell on its trailer, the car, loaded by Jack Lewis to pull the trailer, six members of the pep squad: Terry Cauble, Karen Lee, Judy Engle, Peggy Spier, and Sue Cook. Driver of the car is Vernon Jackson, and his co-pilot is Ronald Daratt.

Cactus Jack Garner Notes 94th Birthday

UVALDE, Tex. (AP) — Crusty John Nance Garner—Cactus Jack to thousands of cronies—received best wishes from the great, the near great and just folks today on his 94th birthday.

As birthday gifts, the former vice president got two new titles—those of admiral and colonel.

A few friends arranged to drop by the old white house where Garner lives to say hello.

Scores of others across the nation, including former President Harry S. Truman and and many governors, sent greetings to the spry elder statesman.

Gov. Price Daniel commissioned Garner an admiral in the Texas Navy, and Gov. Bert T. Combs made him an honorary Kentucky colonel.

From Truman came a hope that "I will be in as good shape at 94 as your are Thursday."

Reminiscing about his 46 years in public office, Garner said "I understand what it means to have the confidence" of the people.

"I'm proud of one record I set. I was speaker of the House at noon one day and vice president—presiding officer of the Senate—that same afternoon," he said.

After leaving the Texas Legislature he served 30 years in the House of Representives, he then won election as vice president.

Garner begins his 95th year in a house built in 1879 as servant quarters for the Garner mansion. Along with much of his fortune he has given the mansion away. It is now a city museum.

It was 72 years ago when he came to Uvalde to die. He was born in Texas' Red River County in 1868, three years after President Lincoln was shot, and he sought a dry climate when he learned he had tuberculosis.

Former Resident Dies In California

E. M. Rawlins, a former resident of Big Spring and Colorado City, died Tuesday in Bloomington, Calif., according to word received by Mrs. Henry Huestis, Sterling City Route. Funeral was held Wednesday.

Mr. Rawlins' three sons attended public school here and his father, Clark Rawlins, lives at Snyder.

District Governor Visits Lions Club

David M. (Doc) Ellis, Midland governor of Lions District No. 2-A-1, made his official visit to the Downtown Lions Club Wednesday.

He told the club that the movement offered an opportunity to extend some of the great virtues rooted in the American heritage. He also said that the district had agreed to make West Texas Boys Ranch one of its projedts.

INDIAN WAR

"the Indian government has put to the Chinese government humiliating conditions such as forced on a vanquished party."

Chou said the Sept. 8 situation "was unfair and pregnant with danger of border conflict and hence should not be restored."

Nehru replied Nov. 14 that Chou was "making a magnamimous offer of retaining gains of earlier aggression plus such other gains as it can secure by negotiations from the latest aggression."

The line the Chinese claim to have held in Ladakh in 1959 was actually captured by them only since the invasion of India began on Oct. 20, Nehru said.

UNCIVILIZED REDS

Events since Sept. 8 "have completely shattered any hope that anyone could have entertained about settling India-China differences peacefully in accordance with normal international principles observed by all civilized governments," Nehru wrote.

Latest reports from the northeastern front said the Chinese had halted at an outpost known as the Foothills, at a point where a mountain road emerges into a strip of jungle before descending onto the plains.

Thousands of Indians and more than 660 Westerners—Britons and Americans from tea and rice plantations north of the Brahmaputra River—fled before the Chinese onslaught.

Indian planes airlifted the Westerners to safety.

The Indian army withdrew its corps headquarters from Tezpur.

The main Indian force was established at Haayuliang, 120 road miles from India's largest oil fields at Digboi.

LIGHTNING SPEED

The Chinese advance followed the defeat of an Indian effort to hold a line at Walong in the Luhit River Valley Chinese troops pushed the Indians 80 miles down river in four days.

Grouped in small self-dependent units, the Reds cut down through the Himalayan wilderness with lightning speed when they unleased their surprise offensive Oct. 20.

Under China's unilateral plan, troops would be withdrawn from invaded areas in the northeast

OIL REPORT

Trend Gets Locations

The Spraberry Trend Area picked up locations in two counties on today's reports. Information about projects making hole was not available today with offices closed for the holiday.

In Martin County's section of the Trend, John L. Cox has spotted the No. 1 Meek about two miles north of Stanton. It is projected to 8,200 feet and spots C SW, section 47-36-1n, T&P survey, on a 160-acre lease.

Sohio Petroleum Co. staked the No. 468 Spraberry Driver Unit as a 7,750-foot location in Glasscock County's portion of the Trend. It is an old well scheduled to be deepened. Location is 1,980 feet from the south and east lines of section 8-36, T&P survey, on a 640-acre lease about 22 miles southwest of Garden City.

Sohio has also slated three water supply wells, all to be plugged back to 4,500 feet. They are Nos. 420 and 419 Spraberry Driver Unit in section 4-36-5s, T&P survey, and No. 466 Spraberry Driver Unit, in section 8-36-5s, T&P survey.

Applications For Farm Loans Are Now Being Taken

LAMESA (SC) — Applications are being taken for operating loans for 1963 crops, according to Billy J. Tilger, Lamesa supervisor of the Farmer's Home Administration office which serves Dawson and Borden counties.

Applicants must have sufficient farm experience to carry on sound farm practices, must need the credit and be unable to obtain financial assistance from other sources.

Loan funds may be used to pay farm operating costs, purchase essential farm equipment and livestock, pay farm development costs and living expenses. The interest rate is five per cent, Tilger said.

Repayment schedules depend upon the purpose for which funds are advanced and within a period consistent with the borrower's ability to repay.

Errant Pastor Will Return

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—The Rev. LeRoy Daniels, pastor of the Christal Farms Baptist Church in Tatum, Tex., disappeared Nov. 2. He was found Wednesday in Wichita where he had been living since Nov. 3 with Flora Jean Cole, 16.

An honor student at Tatum High School, Flora Jean had been the lead singer in the choir at Daniels' church.

Daniels, 27, was arrested on a Texas charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. He waived extradition. Officials said Daniels had been married four months before he disappeared.

Sheriff F. L. Gibson of Tatum was scheduled to pick up Daniels today and return him to Texas.

Flora Jean was taken to a home for girls. She told officers when they confronted her in the apartment she shared with Daniels, "I do not want to go home. I won't stay home. I'll run off."

The minister declined comment but police said when asked why he and Flora Jean had left Tatum he replied: "It's rather obvious isn't it?"

Daniels has been working as clerk in a liquor wholesale house since Nov. 9.

Officers said Flora Jean told them she and Daniels had seen each other secretly for some time. She said they decided to run away because they thought someone had been following them.

Mrs. Roy Cole, the girl's mother, was quoted at Tatum as saying Flora Jean had never dated. Mrs. Cole said she had known of no association the girl had with the minister except in choir activities.

Board Nullifies Cotton Penalty

FORT STOCKTON, Tex. (AP)—Pecos County farmer William Ramsey's $24,939 penalty from the Department of Agriculture was nullified Tuesday by a Texas board of review.

The three-man board also upheld legality of Ramsey's cotton acreage allotment transfers, which the USDA had ruled were illegal.

Ramsey contended he never owned the land but was leasing it from Dr. Harold Lindley of Pecos.

ION ENGINE BELIEVED IN SPACE TEST

POINT ARGUELLO, Calif. (AP)—The Air Force has fired a space probe which can take a 100-pound payload 5,000 miles into space. It won't say what the probe hopes to accomplish.

There was speculation it might be a test of an ion engine—a small electric propulsion power source scientists say may someday power vehicles moving about in outer space. But the Air Force wouldn't comment on the speculation.

Americans Over World Pause To Give Thanks

By The Associated Press

Americans the world over paused today to observe their unique holiday — Thanksgiving—with prayers, feasting and family reunions.

Although the holiday's origin dates back not only to the old world but to the ancient world (the Biblical accounts of harvest festivals), Thanksgiving is regarded as an American custom and a symbol of a nation's way of giving thanks for the bounty of its wealth, both material and spiritual.

Since the Pilgrims first observed Thanksgiving in 1621, the holiday has survived wars, crises, and depressions. More than any other national holiday it continues to mirror American spirit and spirituality.

KENNEDY MOOD

Today, the mood for the Thanksgiving observance spans from Hyannis Port, Mass., where President Kennedy and 27 members of his family reaching through three generations are having their tradition-tinged Thanksgiving reunion.

Because the clouds of the Cuban crisis seem to be receding, there is much for the President and the nation to be thankful for on this holiday. The President said as much at a news conference Tuesday.

A passage from his 1961 Thanksgiving proclamation is strikingly pertinent to the emergency of the past two months:

"We give thanks, too, for freedom as a nation; for the strength of our arms and the faith of our friends; for the beliefs and confidence we share; for our determination to stand firmly for what we believe to be right and to resist mightily what we believe to be base."

GREETINGS

Extending Thanksgiving greetings to members of the armed forces this year, the President said:

"Among the blessings for which we Americans are especially thankful on this Thanksgiving Day is the existence of a dedicated and strong military establishment. During this Thanksgiving season we have particular reason to be grateful to the men and women of the armed forces. Your devotion to duty, your self-sacrifice, and your immediate readiness to face any danger has been most evident during the past several weeks. I want to express my personal thanks to each of you for your whole-hearted and ready response when danger has threatened. I know all Americans join me in wishing you our most sincere thanks and appreciation."

HOMES OPENED

In Miami, Fla., some 600 families invited servicemen, who are in Florida as part of the Cuban crisis buildup, to their homes for dinner. Familes in Key West and Fort Lauderdale followed suit.

Secretary of the Navy Fred North spent Thanksgiving Day at the Guantanamo Naval Base in Cuba.

Des Moines, Iowa, re-enacted the first Thanksgiving Day at Plymouth, complete with men in Pilgrim costumes carrying muskets and "Indians" to make it more realistic. The holiday service at the Plymouth Congregational Church has become so attractive that it draws attendance from throughout Iowa.

In the state of Virginia, Gov. Albertis S. Harrison Jr., has ignored the long-accepted Plymouth Rock version of Thanksgiving and said the day would serve as a memorial to the Virginians "who gathered at Berkeley near Richmond in 1619 to observe America's first Thanksgiving ceremony."

As usual, there will be much sharing.

FOR HOMELESS

In Pittsburgh, Pa., as in many other cities and communities, turkey dinners with all the trimmings for the homeless was served by the Salvation Army and the St. Joseph House of Hospitality.

The town of Plymouth, Mass., went all out for the holiday that started there. The townspeople started with church services and singing from the ancient Ainsworth Psalter of 1612.

The day's celebrations reflected both the religious and festive aspects of Plymouth's first Thanksgiving which included sports and feasting among the 50 surviving Pilgrims (from the original 120) and their 90 Indian guests.

In Milan, Italy, a group of Italian exchange students offered thanks for their days in the United States by holding a big feast for Italian and American students, city officials, professors, businessmen and Italian art world personalities.

AT CHURCH

In Holland, some 3,000 Americans celebrated Thanksgiving at services in two churches.

American ambassador John S. Rice read President Kennedy's proclamation at a church service in the Pieterskerk in Leyden, where Pilgrim fathers worshipped three centuries ago.

American Consul General Barr V. Washburn read the proclamation at another ceremony in the Netherlands Reformed Church at Delfshaven, where the Pilgrims embarked for America.

CRISES

it is only a matter of time until Soviet nuclear submarines can threaten American security from points close to shore.

There is a parallel between the Kremlin's power play in the Western Hemisphere and the Red Chinese invasion of India. In each case, there was a bald use of force to achieve a political objective.

The Soviets are believed to have been aiming for U.S. surrender over Berlin before they were thwarted. The Communist leaders in Peking wanted full control of long disputed territory on India's northern border; probably they also have been determined to humiliate India by military defeat, and thus assert dominance in Asia.

But, while they proved militarily superior, their scheme in the long run threatens to backfire. They have compelled Prime Minister Nehru to face the weaknesses of his neutralist policy and to seek large-scale U.S. military assistance.

Ambassador B. K. Nehru told the National Press Club this week that "the politics of world power will not ever again be the same."

In New Delhi, the prime minister must now decide, in fact, whether he will relax once more into a kind of pacifist neutrality or arm, commensurate with his country's needs, with long-term American help. For he has no guarantees that the Chinese, having invaded once, will not do so again.

Among Western diplomats, there has been a widely held theory that, in attacking India, the Red Chinese wanted, apart from their more immediate aims, to force the Soviet Union's hand in the long power struggle within the Communist bloc. The issue between Peking and Moscow has centered on which of them should lead the bloc, and whether, on the average, methods of force should be preferred to the methods of economic and political pressures and indirect aggression.

Khrushchev, with a general policy of what he calls "peaceful coexistence," has usually advocated the less risky methods of expanding Communist power—a fact which made his Cuban adventure all the more astonishing. In line with this policy, he has courted the friendship of India and other neutralist or non-aligned nations, though China was and is his ally, despite all their differences.

It seems unlikely in the extreme that, in these circumstances, the Chinese attack on India should not have proved extremely embarrassing to Khrushchev; and the obvious reluctance of the Soviet government to back its ally suggests that this is so.

U.S. officials assume, in fact, that the Chinese-Indian crisis has brought on a hidden crisis between Peking and Moscow, with future effects on both their policies which are, for the moment, incalculable.

An open split between them would change the political map of the world. It would raise the serious possibility of trouble between the two great Communist nations along their extensive Asian borders. It would open up a whole new range of possibilities for the Western powers as the Soviets adjusted to unprecedented new conditions.

Should the effect of the strains be to enhance Soviet power within the bloc, and should Khrushchev now choose, as a result of the Cuban crisis, to move into a period of peaceful adjustments with the West, the result could be to move the whole world back further from the brink of nuclear war.

Whether these or other quite unforeseeable results will flow from the clash of political forces set loose by the three crises, neither Kennedy nor Rusk, nor any other world leader, can say at present.

But there seems to be no doubt in any of their minds that the winds of change are blowing.

Another Accident Reported At Marcy-Birdwell

Five minor fender bendings, one at Birdwell Lane and Marcy Drive, were investigated by Big Spring police after noon Wednesday. No injuries were reported.

One collision in front of the high school, involved vehicles driven by Jane King, 1603 Osage Drive, and James Tarbet.

Locations of other collisions, and drivers of vehicles involved, were: US 80 west city limits, Alvin Ames Bentle, Hobbs, N. M., Lewis Ewell McCollough, Sherman, and a towed car; Marcy and Airbase Road, Rupert W. Madrey, 704 Main, and Margaret V. Bustamente, Ellis Homes; Marcy and Birdwell Lane, Sherry Lynn Aton, 2609 Rebecca, and Aubrey Lewis Huff, 1901 Runnels; 1300 block Johnson, Robert Lee David, and driver of car which left the scene.

Thurman Rites Slated Friday

Last rites will be said at 10 a.m. Friday at the St. Mary's Episcopal Church for Jesse A. Thurman, 68, who died here Wednesday following a long illness.

Mr. Thurman came here in 1934 from Amarillo and for many years operated a shoe shop. Mrs. Thurman preceded him in death in 1954. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park beside her grave, and Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home will be in charge of arrangements.

One daughter, Mrs. LaVern Taylor, survives.

Pallbearers will be Garrett Monroney, Gordon Montgomery, Don Thurman, Ollie Thurman, Sam Thurman Jr. and John Nobles.

Car Burglaries Are Reported

Two car burglaries were reported to Big Spring police Wednesday. The first was reported by H. E. McMahan, 1208 Marijo, and involved an old model .25 calibre pistol taken from the glove compartment of a car parked at 1012 W. 3rd.

A. F. Reynolds, 1505 E. 36th, Lubbock, reported a tire, wheel, bumper jack, gas tank cap, and an unknown amount of gasoline taken from his pickup parked in the 2100 block of Northwest Fourth since Nov. 16.

Supreme Court Sustains Caton

Mrs. Shelby Hall, 69-year-old Big Spring rooming house operator, has lost her last effort to compel Safeway Stores Inc., to pay her for injuries she alleges she received in a fall on the parking lot of the company's Big Spring store.

The Texas Supreme Court has sustained the judgment of Judge Ralph Caton of 118th District Court denying the woman damages.

A jury in the court here returned a verdict awarding Mrs. Hall $17,500. The defendant corporation asked for a judgment outside the verdict and Judge Caton set aside the verdict and denied damages.

She appealed the case to the Civil Court of Appeals which in turn sustained the district court judge. She then carried her case to the Supreme Court where a judgment Wednesday again upheld the finding of Judge Caton.

Mrs. Hall sought $2,500 damages in her original suit. She claimed that she slipped on ice at the Safeway Parking lot here and fell. She suffered a broken arm and other injuries, she contended, charging the defendant was careless in permitting the ice to form on the lot. The accident occurred Feb. 24, 1960.

The jury awarded her $17,500, July 23, 1961.

The courts have held consistently the defendant had no knowledge of the condition of the parking lot.

WHAT ARE THE REDS AFTER?

Border War Creates Cloud Of Unreality

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
An AP News Analysis

The Indian-Red Chinese border conflict is enveloped in a strange cloud of unreality which seems to cause more puzzlement than panic among the world's harried diplomats.

It is always possible that an armed conflict in Asia could develop into a general Asian war, which in turn would threaten to spawn World War III. Already, the United States and Britain have been involved in arming the Indians and buttressing them against the potentialities of Communist attack.

The Red Chinese in the event of a widespread war conceivably could call upon a reluctant U.S.S.R. for military help.

With such dangerous possibilities, one would expect loud cries around the world for United Nations mediation of some sort.

But that has not happened. One gets the impression that few believe in the reality of the Indian-Chinese war, in spite of all the shooting. The tendency seems to be to regard it as a Red Chinese probe, an attempt to get something for nothing, to pick up a piece of real estate and nail it down, to secure the borders of Tibet.

But that is an extremely remote piece of real estate, and despite weighty discussions of military strategy and possibilities, it does not seem to have a great deal of importance.

In fact, the area of the present fighting is so remote that it was two years before the Indians stumbled onto the information that the Chinese had constructed a road from Chinese Turkestan to the area of the border. They found out because of a clash of border patrols a couple of years ago.

The most nagging question about all this is: Why did the Red Chinese do it in the first place? It cost them a great deal.

The attack shook the so-called neutralist leaders of Africa and Asia—men like Gamal Abdel Nasser and Kwame Nkrumah—who had been inclined to listen with sympathy to the Communist viewpoint.

The developments hurt the world Communist movement, made a mockery of the notion of peaceful coexistence to which even the Red Chinese give lip service.

If the Chinese are contesting with the Soviets and others for influence in Africa and Latin America, which they seem to have been doing, the attack certainly has not helped their campaign.

Since, as real estate, the border area does not amount to a great deal, it would appear that there had to be better reasons.

There probably are important reasons for the adventure from the viewpoint of Peking.

For one thing, they are flexing their muscles, demonstrating that they are the power in Asia. For another, the state of the Red Chinese economy and its internal problems probably require some sort of aggressive movement to provide excuses for internal policies.

For another thing, the border campaign has demonstrated to the Kremlin that Red China is in a position to make things mighty awkward for Moscow and the world Communist movement. Red China is apparently resentful at the lack of sufficient economic help from Moscow, to say nothing of its resentment at Moscow's reluctance to sponsor Peking's membership in the nuclear weapons club.

Khrushchev, who spent much time, effort and money wooing Prime Minister Nehru and other neutrals, may have felt that the time had come to apply pressure to the Red Chinese. Perhaps Peking was warned that if it should get itself into an Asian war involving Britain and the United States would have to go it alone.

Possibly, the Red Chinese never meant the action against the Indians to go beyond the general area of the disputed frontiers. But if Peking's cease-fire falls through, the border conflict could well grow into something much worse.

Fierro, Hernandez Are 2-4A Leaders

Albert Fierro's great performance against Abilene High School last Friday night enabled the Big Spring star to replace the Eagles' David Jefferies as the passing leader in District 2-AAAA.

Fierro now has completed 42 of 108 passes for 774 yards in gains and nine touchdowns.

Jefferies has 58 completions in 127 attempts but his bombs have gone for only 740 yards in gains Jefferies, held scoreless by Big Spring, had had 16 aerials intercepted and had thrown for eight touchdowns.

No one else in the conference has a chance of overtaking the two leaders.

Mike Love of Odessa Permian has the rushing leadership in the league sewed up. Love has gained 1,159 yards in 150 carries for a 7.7 average.

A distant second is Rusty Harris of Abilene High, who has picked up 912 yards in 137 carries for a 6.7-yard average.

Humberto Hernandez of Big Spring regained the lead in yardage gained from pass receptions. He has caught 15 fewer passes than Bob Bearden of Abilene but has gone for gains totaling 389 yards, compared to 388 for Bearden, who was fairly well hobbled by Big Spring last week.

Four-Day Low Ball Meet Gets Under Way Today

The four-day Low-Ball Partnership Golf tournament sponsored by the Big Spring Golf association gets under way at the Muny course today.

Entries can choose their own partners and play 18 holes any time between now and Sunday, in order to become eligible for the merchandise prizes.

Entry fee is $2. Only requirement is that a linkster be a member of the association.

BSGA officiation will accept entry fees at the course. This is another in the series of tournaments scheduled by the 150-member association, which was organized earlier this year to promote golf.

Patriot Tackle Draws A Fine

DALLAS (AP)—A $500 fine was assessed Jess Richardson, 265-pound defensive tackle for the Boston Patriots, for "intentionally bumping" an official in last Sunday's Boston-Houston American Football League game at Houston.

The fine, stiffest in AFL history, was levied by commissioner Joe Foss, the AFL office here said.

The Boston player was ejected from the game. The AFL office said Richardson argued over a decision too vociferously.

Packers Seek 11th Straight Victory Today

By The Associated Press

The Green Bay Packers and the Texas Longhorns hope to provide the bulk of the excitement in a Thanksgiving Day football program unusual for its significance.

The Packers, class of the National Football League where class abounds, seek their 11th straight victory of the season in a clash with the potent Detroit Lions that could settle the Western Conference championship.

The Longhorns, also unbeaten but in slightly less celebrated company, take their No. 4 rating among the nation's college teams into their annual Thanksgiving game with arch-rival Texas A&M. For Texas, there's much at stake. A victory means the Southwest Conference championship; and a victory or a tie means a spot in the Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day plus the Longhorns' first unbeaten regular season in football since 1923.

Seven other noteworthy games are on the menu, including an American Football League test at Denver between the Broncos and the New York Titans, and six more college contests—North Carolina State at Wake Forest, Virginia Military vs Virginia Tech at Roanoke; Wichita at Tulsa, William and Mary at Richmond, Montana at Colorado State U. and Trinity (Tex.) at Texas Western.

VMI can win the Southern Conference title by whipping Tech, and there's always a chance that Colorado State U. could end its losing streak, now at 25 games and only three short of the all-time major college record. Otherwise, the emphasis is on Green Bay-Detroit, Texas-Texas A&M, and New York-Denver.

A victory by the powerful Packers, and they may have all-league halfback Paul Hornung back on the attack, would clinch a pennant-tie for the defending NFL champs—putting them three up on Detroit (currently 8-2) with three games to play. The Lions lost a previous meeting with Green Bay, 9-7, when the Packers intercepted a Detroit gamble pass in the last minute and Hornung kicked his third field goal of the game with time running out.

A sellout crowd of some 55,000 is expected at Detroit's Tiger Stadium for the game, which will be telecast nationally (CBS), starting at noon, Eastern Standard Time.

The Texas-Aggie collision before about 60,000, at Austin, Tex., will be televised (also by CBS) right after the Packers and Lions are finished, with kickoff time 3 p.m. Eastern Standard Time. Texas needs the victory or tie to close out Arkansas' waning hopes of winning the conference race and the Cotton Bowl invitation. Arkansas, which ends its season Saturday when the college activity picks up in full again, is reportedly headed for the Sugar Bowl if it misses the Cotton's host role.

At Denver, the Broncos must win to keep alive their chances of winning the AFL's Western Division. This one also is available to the armchair quarterback, starting at 3 p.m., Eastern Standard Time, (ABC).

Heights Still Tops In Loop

The College Heights Gray-Y football squad stayed in first place in the standings last weekend by trouncing Park Hill by a score of 22-12. Close behind is Lakeview, which has a three won and one lost record by virtue of a game forfeited because of an ineligible player.

Competition Saturday will find College Heights squaring off against winless Cedar Crest at 10 a.m. At 9 a.m. Washington meets Boydstun and at 11 a.m. Lakeview takes on Park Hill. Airport sits this round out.

Reviewing past activity, College Heights has defeated Lakeview (by forfeit after losing 12-6), Washington, Boydstun and Park Hill. Lakeview has lost to College Heights and won over Airport, Washington and Boydstun.

Boydstun has defeated Park Hill (by forfeit), Cedar Crest and Airport and has lost to College Heights and Lakeview on its last two times out. Airport has beaten Park Hill and Cedar Crest, losing out to Boydstun, Washington and Lakeview.

Washington has tied Cedar Crest, defeated Airport and lost to College Heights and Lakeview. In addition to its tie, Cedar Crest has lost to Boydstun, Park Hill and Airport. Park Hill has come out on top in a skirmish with Cedar Crest, but has lost to Boydstun, Airport and College Heights.

Jayhawks Leave Soon On Kansas Cage Tour

The 1962-63 Howard County Junior College Jayhawks leave this weekend for an extended road trip into Kansas that will send them out against some of the nation's finest juco quintets.

The Hawks open play against Coffeyville, Kansas, the national champion, Monday night and then challenge Chanute, Garden City, Hutchinson and finally Ark City in that order, taking only one night off between games.

Coach Buddy Travis' club will be idle the evening of November 29, between their appearances at Hutchinson and Ark City.

Coach Travis conceded that the going was apt to get bumpy for the Hawks but added that he would find out in a hurry whether his boys could go with the best.

A dozen players are now working out under Travis and assistant mentor Verdell Turner.

They include Walter Carter, 6-feet-6, from Gate City, Va., a young man who set a school scoring record last year with 820 points; Ernest Turner, 6-2, Grand Prairie; Lou Balenton, 6-5, El Paso; Jim Wilburn, 6-2, Eunice, N. M.; Bill Thompson, 6-0, Stamford; Bill Sinches, 6-1, San Angelo; Conroy Lacy, 6-1, Turkey; Charles Cumbers, 6-7 ½, El Paso; Jackie Swanner, 6-3, Plainview; Jim Oldham, 6-4, Lubbock; Dick Ebling, 6-2, Big Spring; and Bruce Lockwood, 6-1, El Paso.

Sinches has, no doubt, come fastest among the freshman boys and is destined to play a lot of basketball this season with the Hawks.

The Hawks actually opened their season a couple of weeks ago, at which time they decisioned a good Webb AFB student pilot team, 75-55.

HCJC has since scrimmaged ACC and McMurry's varsity troops, with good results, along with two Midland high school teams.

After returning home, the Hawks meet the Texas Western college freshmen here the night of Dec. 4, then go to San Antonio for a tournament Dec. 7-8. They visit Texas Tech for a contest with the Tech freshmen Dec. 11, play McMurry's B team here Dec. 14, Henderson County of Athens here Dec. 15 and open conference play at Clarendon Dec. 18.

On Dec. 28-29, the Hawks will be hosts for their own tournament.

Red Sox Brass Ponders: What To Do With Pete

BOSTON (AP)—Now that the Boston Red Sox have acquired the right-handed power they have needed for so long—slugging first baseman Dick Stuart—two questions remain.

1. What do the Red Sox do with their present first baseman, who happens to be Pete Runnels, the 1962 American League batting champion.

2. And will Stuart, a controversial fellow, use Fenway Park's notoriously chummy left field wall (315 feet) to advantage of disadvantage before Boston's often hypocritical fans?

Though Johnny Pesky didn't say so Wednesday while commenting on the trade, the newly named Red Sox manager left the impression that Runnels will be traded away this winter.

Runnels, 35, also plays second base but Boston has young Chuck Schilling well installed there. Thus, Runnels' trading value might be more than his worth as a utility man.

Stuart, 30, had a horrendous year with Pittsburgh in the National League last season. But he says he expects to return to his 1961 form now that he's in a smaller park. Two years ago Stuart hit 35 homers and drove in 117 runs.

"I was happy with the Pirates," Stuart said. "But I wasn't happy with that deep outfield in Forbes Field. It's going to be much easier on me mentally in Fenway Park.

"I've always thought that potentially I can be a great home run hitter, but I'd never realize that potential in a big park like Forbes Field.

"I won't predict how many home runs I might hit in Fenway but it'll be much easier to put the ball out there."

Boston fans hope "The Wall", as it's known hereabouts, doesn't prove to be the attractive nuisance it has for assorted other right-handed sluggers. Many have joined the Red Sox and swung for the left field fence on practically every pitch—until their average dropped to a low enough point that they were traded away.

The Red Sox gave up pitcher Don Schwall and catcher Jim Pagliaroni to get Stuart and relief pitcher Jack Lamabe in the interleague trade announced Wednesday.

Joe Routt To Be Added To Shrine

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Joe Routt, All-America guard at Texas A&M who was killed in World War II, will be inducted posthumously into the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame Dec. 4 in New York City.

At the request of his mother, Mrs. E. O. Routt of Chapel Hill, Tex., the award will be accepted for the 1936-37 gridiron great by Tommy Blake, sports information director of Texas A&M.

Steers Take 2 Drills Today For Angelo Go

The Big Spring Steers took brief e that a holiday season was at nd today, then made preparaons for two drills.

The afternoon workout, which ll probably continue until dusk, ll be the last for them before eir all-important game in San gelo Friday night against that y's Bobcats.

Tonight, the athletes will make brief appearance at a bon fire d pep rally, which will be held north of the high school building and which starts at 7 p.m.

The Longhorns will board a bus relatively early in the afternoon Friday and arrive in San Angelo in time to bed down for a while in the San Angelo Central High fieldhouse.

The coaches themselves have been 'burning the midnight oil,' seeking to perfect new defenses for the powerful San Angelo attack.

They lament that what looks good on paper doesn't always work out on the field. The job of trying to blunt any one or all of 20 formations the Bobcats are capable of running can become very complex.

The Steers have been worked into an emotional high pitch for this game. The coaches must now try to see that they don't get 'too high.' They realize that an overwrought team makes mistakes that opens up avenues of scoring for the opposition.

The Steers are so close to their first District 2-AAAA championship they can smell it—so near and yet so far. San Angelo is the defending titlist and is favored by virtually everyone in the state outside of Big Spring to smash the Steers' house of cards and proceed into the playoffs.

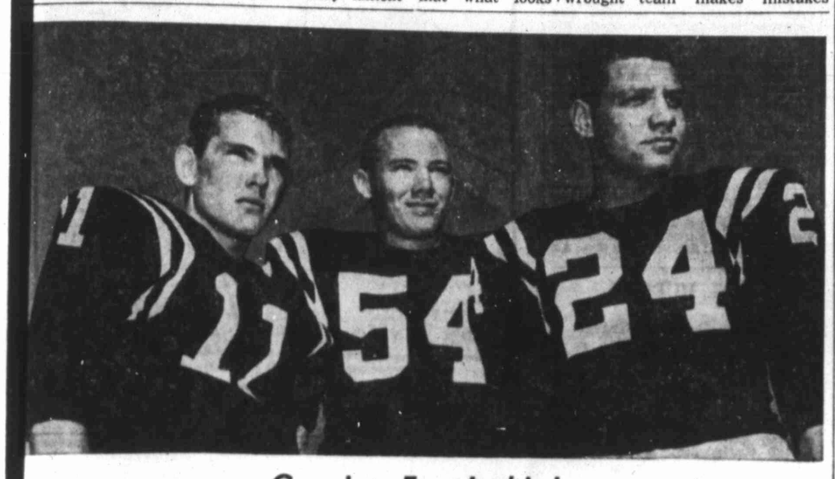

School officials at San Angelo say there hasn't been a complete sellout of tickets there but only goal line ducats are now available. It's virtually assured, however, that the biggest crowd ever to see a Big Spring play football will be on hand. More than 12,000 are expected. All tickets sent here have been sold, which means more than 3,000 of the throng will be from Big Spring.

San Angelo reportedly is in tiptop shape for the battle. Two backs who had been sick with the virus, Bill Paschal and Sammy Ray, both returned to the drill field Tuesday.

Charley West, Eddy Nelson and Dickie Spier of the Big Spring team are favoring minor ailments but all will probably play. West has a sore shoulder, Nelson a pain in his chest and Spier a bothersome backside.

The Steers will necessarily have to wear their white jackets (with black numerals). They prefer their black jerseys but league rules dictate that a visiting team must be outfitted in white.

A number of B teamers have been promoted to the A team and will make the trip. They've earned the right, since they've taken a steady pounding in practice this week.

Gunning For Jaybirds

These three Forsan Buffaloes hope to shoot down the Jaybirds when Jayton invades Forsan for an eight-man, bi-district football game at 2:30 p.m. today. Left to right, they are Harry King, Jimmy Flynt and David Roberson, all backs. Flynt has an injured hand and may see only limited action, however.

Blue Chips On Line In Forsan Contest

FORSAN — Today's eight-man bi-district football game between Forsan and Jayton, scheduled to start here at 2:30 p.m., looms as a tossup.

The Jayhawks, coached by Sonny Arthur, have lost only one game, the up-and-coming Buffaloes but two.

The winner today advanced to the regional finals against Oklaunion.

Gail toppled Forsan in an early season game, 28-6. In addition, the Buffs lost an 11-man contest to the strong Big Spring B team. In 6-B competition, Forsan sailed through undefeated outscoring the opposition, 105 points to 28 for four opponents. Overall, the Bisons ran up 224 points to only 64 for the opposition.

Oscar Boeker is in his first year as coach of the Buffaloes.

Jayton dropped a verdict to Three Way but otherwise has been all winning.

Sterling City, the only common opponent the two teams met, yielded to both clubs. Jayton turned back the Eagles, 38-34, after which Forsan topped Sterling, 22-14.

Forsan will carry about a three-pound weight advantage into the game.

Harold Murrell, a 200-pounder, is considered the big threat in the Jayton backfield.

Forsan's chances will be improved consirerably if Jimmy Flynt, out with a broken hand, returns to uniform. It was touch and go earlier this week whether the doctors would release him for play. He's a halfback on offense and a linebacker on defense.

Texas Western Will Lean Heavily On Big Springer

EL PASO — Bombs may fall on Kidd Field this afternoon when the Texas Western Miners close out their 1962 football season by hosting the Trinity Tigers.

Coach O. A. (Bum) Phillips' Miners have taken to the airways the past two games and Trinity also likes to throw the football.

Jerry Tucker, Texas Western's freshman quarterback who has blossomed into a promising passer, has been amazing the past two games with his bombs.

In a losing cause last Saturday night, the Big Springer youngster cut loose 24 aims and completed 13 despite the bitter cold and wind against Arizona. The previous week, against New Mexico State, Tucker fired 18 bombs and found the range on eight occasions and two touchdowns.

His passes were good for 94 yards against the Wildcats. This means the nervy freshman has completed 21 of 42 passes the past two weeks for 256-yards and two touchdowns. His record for the season is 58 passes, 28 completions, 317 yards.

Jay McCarty, Trinity's 6-1, 180-pound senior quarterback, also likes to take to the air, which points to an interesting duel.

"I look for a lot of passing in the game," Miner boss-man O. A. (Bum) Phillips said. "Trinity throws the ball quite well and I'm certain our pass defense will get another workout."

The Miners went into the Arizona game Saturday night as the sixth best team in the nation on pass defense. The Miners were tough on the Arizona chunkers, allowing only two of nine passes to be completed. However, one was a 19-yard strike to Lou White and a fourth quarter touchdown which gave the Wildcats a 7-0 victory.

Trinity also has a fine outside running game which is spearheaded by Obert Logan, a 5-11, 175-pound sophomore, who has fine speed.

"Logan is one of the better runners we will face this season," Phillips said. "I just hope he doesn't give us as much trouble as that other Logan (Jerry Logan, West Texas State) did."

Selkirk New Sens' Boss

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Selkirk, best known as the man who replaced Babe Ruth in right field for the New York Yankees, is the new general manager of the Washington Senators.

Selkirk, 54, signed a two-year contract Wednesday. His salary wasn't announced.

Senators' President Elwood R. (Pete) Quesada announced that Joe Burke had been given a pay raise and a new job as business manager of the American League baseball team.

Burke served as assistant general manager under Ed Doherty, fired after the Senators finished last two years in a row, and had been acting general manager since Doherty's departure.

Quesada said Selkirk will be in charge of the baseball side of the operation with Burke handling business details.

Selkirk, who left a post as field coordinator with the Baltimore Orioles, scheduled a meeting Friday to prepare the Senator choices for the major league draft sessions next week.

"We should come to some agreement over the weekend as to what we need most," he said.

Mertzon Opposes Hobbs Contingent

BLACKWELL — Mertzon and Hobbs clash in a bi-district six-man football game at 2:30 p.m. today.

The winner meets Balmorhea in regional finals next week. Balmorhea moved up last week by toppling Fort Hancock, 43-34.

Mertzon unseated Flower Grove as the 3-B titlist. The Green Hornets are coached by Harold McGehee.

Hobbs boasts a 6-4 won-lost record and rules as co-champion of 4-B. Hobbs shared the crown with McCaulley, a team it beat, 52-44.

Mertzon finished regular play with a 5-5 record and has won its last three games. The Hornets were outscored by the opposition over the season, 261-258.

JULIUS BOROS

Lema Favorite At Orlando

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — With handsome Tony Lema tabbed as the one to watch, a group of professional golfers billed as the best field for a PGA tournament in two months teed off today in the 72-hole, $35,000 Orlando Open.

The 6,798-yard Rio Pinar course was in top condition following a night rain as the first threesome of a field of 159 pros and 10 amateurs moved out to the first tee.

Judging from their performance in a pro-amateur preliminary Wednesday the money players were ready to give par 71 a sound licking. Four of them, including defending champion Gay Brewer Jr., fired 4-under-par 67s.

Four more, among them two-time winner Julius Boros, had 68s. Another foursome chipped two strokes off par for 69s, seven shot 70s and five had even par 71s.

Lema, the hottest player on the fall tournament circuit, was in the group that shot 69. The 28-year-old pro from San Leandro, Calif., has won three tournaments since September—including last week's Mobile Open—and has come in second in two more.

The field will be cut to 80 after Friday's second round, and down to 60 after the third round Saturday. The final round is scheduled for Sunday.

Elliott Could Have Won Over Snell, Says Cerutty

PERTH, Australia (AP)—Percy Cerutty, eccentric kingmaker of milers, says his boy Herb Elliott would have run Peter Snell into the ground if the two had come together next week in the British Empire Games.

"I was heartsick when Herb announced he did not plan to race again," the white-goateed physical training fanatic from Melbourne said today. "I was looking forward to a great race."

Snell, powerfully built New Zealander whose time of 3 minutes, 54.4 seconds last January shaved a tenth of second off Elliott's world mile mark, is favored to win both the half mile and mile in the games, which open here today.

Elliott, now a student at England's Cambridge University, will be watching from the sidelines as a newspaper and television commentator.

"Peter is a good boy and has proved it, but he would have to run at least a 3:54 to beat Herb if Herb had decided to make a run at it, and I don't think he could have done it," Cerutty said. "My personal opinion is that no living man could beat Herb over the mile if Herb had kept his dedication."

"Remember Snell beat Elliott's mile record by only a step and he has not yet come within two seconds of Herb's 1,500 meter mark (3:35.6), Cerutty said.

Cerutty said Elliott was superior to milers John Landy, Roger Bannister and Snell because of his huge chest and enlarged lung and heart power. Also Cerutty added Herb had greater determination.

Russians Defeat Yankees Again

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—The visiting Russian basketball teams made a sweep of their doubleheader against United States squads Wednesday night, winning the men's game 66-63 and the women's 50-40.

In the opener 6-foot-6 Ravela Saimova utilized her height to pour in 19 points as the Soviet women defeated the Hutchinson Flying Queens of Wayland College from Plainview, Tex.

In a rough game in which 27 personal fouls were called against the U.S. All-Stars, Aleksandr Petrov scored 21 points for the Russian men's team.

The Soviet men now have a 4-2 mark in the tour series while the Russian women have won six against no losses.

Texas, Bears, Rice Picked By Writer

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

Texas goes after its ninth undisputed Southwest Conference football championship, carrying with it a ticket to the Cotton Bowl, as it closes the season against bitter enemy Texas A&M today.

Those ancient foes, playing in a nationally televised (CBS) tilt at Austin, can make some sharp decisions — all for or against Texas.

Texas needs only a tie to win the Cotton Bowl host spot but that might mean the Longhorns would be tied for the championship by Arkansas. Then all Arkansas would have to do is beat Texas Tech at Lubbock Saturday.

But while it would give Arkansas its fourth straight conference title or tie for it, Texas still would go to the Cotton Bowl since it clipped Arkansas in regular season play.

Texas is better than a two-touchdown favorite to win and to sew up everything, including its first undefeated season in 39 years.

A Texas victory would make the rest of the conference race a lackluster affair although it still has another week to run after this.

Baylor and Southern Methodist clash at Dallas Saturday with nothing riding on the outcome except which team finishes sixth or seventh.

Southern Methodist, which has won only two conference games out of five but gave the best of them a mighty tussle, is a mild favorite.

Rice and Texas Christian, fighting for third place, tangle at Houston. The Owls are a touchdown choice but with a wild offensive struggle anticipated it could be a matter of the last team with the ball.

Arkansas is a three-touchdown pick over Texas Tech, which is trying for its second victory of the waning campaign. Tech is having its worst season in history—or it will be that way if Arkansas wins.

The season record for picking is 23-13-2. Here's how they look this week :

TODAY

Texas vs. Texas A&M at Austin —No hesitation here; Texas by three touchdowns.

SATURDAY

Baylor-Southern Methodist at Dallas—Others will take SMU but here's a vote for Baylor.

Rice-Texas Christian—Rice can match Texas Christian in offense and should be stronger defensively, so the choice is Rice.

Arkansas—Texas Tech at Lubbock—Oh, come now. Why make a choice in this one; it would only make Texas Tech feel worse.

Mustangs Face Muleshoe Foe

By The Associated Press

Mighty Denver City, making its start toward a second state Class AA championship in three years, meets oft-beaten Muleshoe Thursday to open the playoffs in two division of Texas schoolboy football.

Denver City, favored all season to whip through the field without appreciable trouble, reaches the playoffs with an unbeaten, untied record and 429 points in 10 games. Only Jacksboro of the same class has a better one. The Tigers rolled up 436 points in a 10-game sweep.

The Denver City-Muleshoe game is one of six scheduled Thanksgiving Day.

Most of the playoff games come Friday night. A smattering are set for Saturday.

The top game in Class A matches defending champion Albany with Burnet at Brady Friday night. Albany has won two state titles in a row but isn't rated as strong this season.

The Albany Lions lost three games in the regular campaign, although all were to Class AA teams. They wound up the season with smashing triumphs in their district games.

Burnet has a better record, 9-1, but didn't have as strong competition.

While Class AA and A are moving into the state playoffs, Classes AAAA and AAA will be rounding out their fields. Ten district champions are to be determined in AAAA, which already has six. Class AAA will decide six, already showing ten.

Wichita Falls, defending champion of Class AAAA, is behind the eight ball and can't even share its district title unless Irving, the Wichita Falls upset conqueror, loses to Arlington.

The playoff schedule in Classes AA and A:

Thursday—Dalhart vs. Canyon at Dalhart, 2 p.m.; Muleshoe at Denver City, 2 p.m.; Crane vs. Comanche at Colorado City, 7:30 p.m.; Clifton vs. Forney at Hillsboro, 8 p.m.; Frisco vs. Van Alstyne at McKinney, 2:30 p.m.; Seagraves vs. Rotan at Snyder, 2:30 p.m.

Friday—Olney vs. Winters at Stamford, 7:30 p.m.; Northwest at Jacksboro, 8 p.m.; Rockwall vs. Duncanville at Garland, 8 p.m.; Pewitt vs. Daingerfield at Texarkana, 8 p.m.; Lockhart at Rockdale, 7:30 p.m.; Kaly vs. Livingston at Conroe, 8 p.m.; Humble vs. West Orange at Liberty, 8 p.m.; Hondo at Pleasanton, 8 p.m.; Aransas Pass at Sinton, 7:30 p.m.; Donna at Freer, 8 p.m.; Sunray vs. Lefors at Pampa, 7:30 p.m.; Hale Center vs Petersburg at Lubbock, 7:30 p.m. Big Lake at Fabens, 2 p.m.; Burnet vs. Albany at Brady, 8 p.m.; Jefferson vs. Rains at Pittsburg, 7:45 p.m.; New London vs. Garrison at Henderson, 7:30 p.m.; Waco Midway at Alto, 8 p.m.; Academy vs. Smithville at Bastrop, 8 p.m.; East Chambers vs. Waller at Cleveland, 8 p.m.; Pearland vs. Three Rivers at Alvin, 8 p.m.; Blanco vs. Dilley at Jourdanton, 8 p.m.

Saturday—Mineola vs. Rusk at Kilgore, 8 p.m.; Hillsboro vs. Mason at Killeen, 7:30 p.m.; Missouri City Dulles vs. Palacios at Bay City, 8 p.m.; Munday vs. Everman at Jacksboro, 8 p.m.; Ingleside vs. Rio Hondo at San Benito, 8 p.m.

Salvation Army Has Many Holiday Tasks

Christmas wouldn't mean much to some 1,700 Big Spring and Howard County residents if it wasn't for the Salvation Army and its Christmas committee.

Major Robert F. Short, commandant of the local Salvation Army, said that his agency distributed baskets of food and toys to 320 family groups in the community last Christmas.

"We have no reason to believe there will be fewer families in need of help this Christmas" said the major. "We will begin receiving applications for Christmas baskets and toys Nov. 27. The deadline—tentatively—is Dec. 12. We have to close the lists then in order to make sure we are adequately supplied with foods, toys and other essentials to serve those who have asked for baskets."

1681 PERSONS

Short said the Salvation Army suited out 220 food baskets and 100 baskets of toys for children to 1,681 persons in 1961.

The operation cost the citadel $2,500. Its income for Christmas purposes from the Christmas kettles, donations and other sources was $500 short of this total.

"We went in the red last year," Short said. "This year maybe we will have better luck and get enough money to break even."

He said that much help comes to the Salvation Army in its problem of providing Christmas cheer to the needy from many outside agencies.

"Local churches cooperate with us. Many individuals personally ask that they be provided with names of worthy families in need of aid. Clubs follow the same program.

"We see to it that the families who are not 'farmed' out to other organizations or individuals are remembered."

APPLICATIONS

He pointed out that the applications which are processed at the citadel, include the name and address of the family. The number of persons in the family is also listed and the reason for the family's distress and need for help is determined. The age of each member of the family is recorded (this permits the purchase of clothing of the right size) and other essential details about the group ascertained.

"We work toward the idea of eliminating duplication in community Christmas efforts," Short explained. "We want to make certain every family entitled to a basket gets one and we would like to make equally certain that no family gets more than one.

"We are happy that about 85 per cent of the churches work with us at this season—this helps tremendously in our efforts to avert doubling of gifts."

The work of getting funds from donors, the collection of food and other essentials is in the hands of a Christmas committee. Jack Alexander heads up the group this year and Robert Stripling, Byron Lillie, Dr. W. A. Hunt and Mrs. J. E. Hogan are the members.

"I haven't had a chance to confer with the fire department," Short explained, "but we always have been given the toys the department repairs and renovates each Christmas season. These we distribute in the baskets to the families where there are children."

KETTLES

One source of revenue the Salvation Army has for its Christmas fund is the Christmas kettles which are set up on the streets. Short said that the kettles will go in operation Nov. 30. There are three stands operated. The workers who man the kettles are recruited by the Salvation Army. From time to time, members of civic clubs take over tours of duty at the booths.

Short said that the average basket dispatched to a family costs $10. This, he explained, is for the basic basket items—meat, potatoes, sugar, flour, cornmeal and a fruit cake. Usually each basket contains a dressed hen. If ham is available at reasonable prices it will make up the meat element in the basket.

The schools, he said, usually conduct a canned foods drive. Each boy and girl is asked to bring a can of food to the schools.

"We take the lot and allocate it to the baskets," he explained. "Individuals make specific gifts," he added. "All of these go into the preparation of the baskets."

CONTACT OFFICE

Short urged any person who wants to give a Christmas basket to a needy family to contact his office before doing so.

"If this is not done, we have no way to find out that this specific family has been cared for," he pointed out. "If anyone—individual or an organization—wants to be Santa Claus to a family, we will be delighted to give them the name and address of a worthy group in need of help. The donor has only to advise us how much he wants to invest in his gift.

He can prepare his own basket, if he likes, or we will prepare one for him with the cash he donates. He can deliver the basket in person, or we will deliver it for him"

He repeated that $10 will insure a basic basket for a family. However, he emphasized, gifts to the Christmas fund can be in any amount—the bigger the better.

He said the Salvation Army already has a list of a considerable number of worthy family groups who will not have Christmas unless the public comes to their aid.

Be Ready With A Gift Cache

It seems to happen every year — that moment of sudden despair when the doorbell chimes, in walks a friend bearing gifts, and you realize with a sinking sensation that you haven't a thing for her! It's even worse when the caller is a relative. This year, resolve to avoid embarassment by wrapping and tucking away a few small gifts that would be appropriate for a person of any age and size.

Impossible? Not at all! Such small remembrances as bath accessories — pretty shower caps, bath caddies, long - handled back brushes, after - bath powder and lotion—are suitable for any age from subteens to great - grandmas, and are always welcome. Any woman loves a gift that makes her feel beautifully feminine, and glamourous bathtime accessories have that faculty.

Holidays Are Most Lethal For Motorists

Short days and long periods of darkness combine to make the holidays the most lethal time of the year. Hazards are intensified by carefree shoppers and an increased number of delivery vehicles.

Here are 10 tips for motorists and pedestrians to make the season safer:

Wipe snow or mud from the bottom of your shoes so your feet won't slip off the accelerator or foot pedals.

Drive at reduced speed. You can't stop quickly on slippery pavement.

Apply brakes slowly to avoid skidding. Pump them lightly so the wheels won't lock.

Avoid following cars too closely. Your windshield might be sprayed with grime, compounding already reduced visibility.

Use the "light touch" on the accelerator to avoid spinning wheels.

Travel on routes protected by modern traffic signs—the reflective kind that shine brightly in headlights.

Approach intersections with extra caution. The lights of Christmas decorations often blend with the colors of traffic signals, causing confusion.

If you're walking, wear light clothing to alert motorists that you are in front of them.

Hold your umbrella high enough so you can see in all directions when crossing the street.

Cross streets only at intersections and then only when the light is in your favor.

Wax Is Handy For Holidays

Add sparkle to your holiday entertaining with some unusual uses of wax. Here are some suggestions:

Pink cones make attractive ornaments if sprinkled with artificial snow while wet from a dunking in self-polishing wax.

Waxed berries and leaves from broad-leafed evergreens provide a bright seasonal touch to fireplace mantels.

Silver ornaments like candlesticks and trays will resist tarnishing when treated with a liquid furniture wax. Clean the silver, wash in soapy water, rinse and dry before applying.

Don't forget to brighten your door knobs or knockers with either furniture wax or auto cleaner-polish. They provide your guests with their first impression of your home, and you'll want it to be one of brightness and gaiety.

Word Adventure

Teen-age scholars are flattered by the gift of a dictionary for Christmas. Newer dictionaries make looking up "those new words" easier and more inviting to young inquiring minds.

Outboard Motor Is Ideal For Sportsman

There isn't an outdoorsman who wouldn't be all smiles if he found a new outboard under the tree on Christmas morning.

Whether he's a hunter, fisherman, camper or water skier, there's an outboard motor designed for him. There are motors to fit any shopping budget, too.

When buying a motor, the major considerations are how the outdoorsman will use the motor and what type and size boat must be propelled.

Campers who like to brave the wilderness in canoes usually prefer a lightweight motor—normally the lighter the better. On a portage, every pound counts. Since standard double-end canoes demand little power, a motor of 3 to 4 h.p. is adequate. If the motor is to be side-mounted, a larger motor would not only be wasted, but it would unbalance the canoe and prove dangerous. However, if the outdoorsman is to travel in a heavy freight canoe, a 6 to 7.5 h.p. model would be a good choice.

Fishermen want a motor that can get them to where the big ones are biting with a minimum of delay, but it must also throttle down to a snail's pace for trolling. For fishing boats 12 to 14 feet in length, the average for most fishing boats, a 14 h.p. motor is a perfect choice.

Hunters who use a boat to travel to their shooting sites or to camp will need a motor matched to the size of their boats. For most boats up to 15 feet in length, a motor of about 25 h.p. provides plenty of power.

Water skiers need a motor matched to their boat for top performance. An engine of 25 h.p. is almost a minimum, with 45 or 75 h.p. also used.

Get Your Cards In The Mail Early This Year

It's a rare homemaker who escapes rugged correspondence chores at Christmas time. It's a wise one who eases her writing tasks by preparing for them well in advance and organizing them to make them less time-consuming.

Begin addressing Christmas cards in November. For each addressed envelope, make a small file card with name and address for reference when addressing cards next year. Sign the cards and stamp envelopes well in advance of the Christmas season. Have them ready for mailing about 10 days before Christmas. You may want to use red or green ink. Use of colored ink is simple with a cartridge pen, for cartridges come in those colors.

All gifts should be acknowledged by an informal note except those from relatives or friends you may see on Christmas Day. The messages need not be long. If you send your thank-you immediately after Christmas, you might use a "Happy New Year" note paper.

Christmas Letters

Party invitations come thick and fast at Christmas. Almost all such invitations should be acknowledged in writing says Jerlyn Madison, consumer consultant for Shaeffer Pen Co. Engraved invitations should be acknowledged formally in the phraseology used. Although informal invitations can be answered by telephone, a note of thanks, accepting or declining, is considered better form.

Garrett-Posey Rites Are Held At Odessa

Marriage rites uniting Miss Wanda Posey and John R. Garrett were solemnized at 9 o'clock this morning, Nov. 22, in the First Baptist Church, Odessa. Dr. John S. Rasco, the pastor, officiated in the single ring service before a background of white mums and baskets of greenery.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Posey, 806 W. 18th St., are parents of the bride. Garrett is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Garrett, Dallas.

Mrs. Paul N. Brown of Odessa, pianist, provided a program of nuptial music which included the Processional from Lohengrin and Recessional by Mendelsohn.

Wearing a white satin brocade gown, the bride was accompanied to the altar and given in marriage by her father. The gown was designed with scooped neckline, long tapered sleeves and pearl embroidered bodice. The skirt was waltz length and full. She carried white frenched mums.

Miss Paula Jane Harbour of Victoria, maid of honor, was attired in a princess dress of iris blue nylon acetate. She carried a bouquet of golden frenched mums.

Martin Bulach of Indianapolis, Ind., was best man.

WEDDING TRIP

Leaving afterward, the couple drove to Ruidoso, N. M. For travel the bride chose a blue suit, white feather hat and white gloves. Other accessories were black suede.

The Garretts will make their home in Odessa at 304 Dotsy.

A graduate of East Texas State College, the bride served as president of Alpha Phi Sorority, and was president of Panhellenic Council. She is now teaching English in Ector County Public Schools.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of Texas, and is employed as petroleum engineer at Pan American Oil Company.

OUT OF TOWN GUESTS

Among the wedding guests were Mrs. R. L. Bluhm and Ray Bluhm of Big Spring; Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Bluhm of Lamesa; Mr. and Mrs. Claude Garrett of Dallas; Mrs. Raleigh Clark of Houston; and Mrs. C. C. Posey of Panhandle.

MRS. JOHN R. GARRETT

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Greenfield have had as their guests, Mrs. Greenfield's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otis White of Floyd, N. M.

Ribbon Rosettes Made For Club

Rosettes, carnations and bows were made in a demonstration for the College Park Home Demonstration Club Tuesday morning. The program, held at the home of Mrs. Harold Herriot, was presented by a guest, Mrs. J. F. Skalicky.

Members agreed to hold a workshop on gift wrapping at the next regular meeting Dec. 4. Also they discussed plans for helping with the Hereford sale to be held Dec. 8, and to attend the HD Council's Christmas party Dec. 12 at the First Methodist Church.

A devotion was given by Mrs. Herriot. Four members were present and Mrs. Joe Mitchell was introduced as a new member.

Keeps Trim In The Swim

MIAMA, Fla. (AP) — Mrs. Emmie Jackson turned in her Women's Army Corps (WAC) sergeant's stripes some years ago, but she still manages to stay fit and trim.

Mrs. Jackson says her secret is an almost daily swim in the Atlantic Ocean off Miama Beach, where she has lived the past 10 years. Before moving to Florida, she lived in Washington, D. C.

Admitting to 67 years of age, Mrs. Jackson usually swims about 14 blocks or so in the calm surf. She learned to swim when she was 49.

Mrs. Jackson says she tries to keep active and avoid a rocking chair existence. She says proudly, "I'm not in a rut about anything."

Wests Observe 50th Year Of Marriage

Horace West and Gertrude Williams were married Nov. 28, Thanksgiving Day, in 1912 at the home of her mother, Mrs. A. E. Williams, Hamilton, Texas. Observing the anniversary date, open house will be held Sunday at their home, 705 Creighton St.

The Wests lived for 22 years at Breckenridge before moving to Big Spring 20 years ago. They are the parents of six children, four of whom are living. They are Howard West, Abilene; Mrs. Bill (Alice) Owen, Dallas; Mrs. Lillian Clark, Big Spring; Travis West, Marysville, Calif.; Mrs. Ocie (Claudia) Mason, Big Spring. There are 14 grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. West are members of the Primitive Baptist Church.

Expected to attend the golden anniversary celebration, are Mrs. N. O. Williams of Gatesville; Jimmie Lawrence, Santa Monica, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Greer of Sweetwater; Mr. and Mrs. Horace Noel, Wichita Falls; Mrs. Sitha Hedspeth, Hamilton.

An invitation is extended to their friends to call during the hours from 2 until 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon. A daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ocie Mason, Big Spring will assist in receiving guests.

Reapers Class Installation Service Held

The Reapers Class of the First Baptist Church at Coahoma had an installation service Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Paul Allen.

Mrs. H. B. Graves, wife of the pastor, installed Mrs. Jim Hodnett as teacher; Mrs. Tolley Hale, president; Mrs. Charles Parrish, vice president; Mrs. Horace Wallin, secretary.

Group captains were named as Mrs. Raymond Morrison, Mrs. Jack Darden and Mrs. Ruby Null. The devotion was given by Mrs. Hodnett, after which the 10 members told what they were most thankful for.

Secret pal gifts were exchanged, and refreshments served to 10 members. Members were told of the Christmas party to be held Dec. 11 at 7 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Hodnett. Each will bring a dish, and husbands are invited guests. There will be a gift exchange.

YWA Leaders Are Supper Honorees

Sponsors and a new member were honored by the Stadium Baptist Young Women's Auxiliary at a salad supper in the home of Miss Jackie Buchanan Monday evening. The gathering opened with prayer by Mrs. Sam Arrington.

Sponsors of the group are Mrs. J. D Buchanan and Mrs. Arrington. The new member is Miss Virginia Grisham.

A social was planned for December with the date and place to be announced later.

Six members attended and one guest, Mrs. H. I. Cox, president of the Stadium Baptist WMU. Mrs. Cox dismissed the gathering with prayer.

Spicy Chicken

Clever cooks include ½ teaspoon whole allspice (tied in a cheese cloth bag) in the stewing kettle when preparing chicken stock, fricassee or good old-fashioned chicken and dumplings.

Party Held Honoring Appletons

COAHOMA (SC) — The home of Mr. and Mrs. James Coates of the Luther community was the scene of a birthday dinner for the Forest Appletons.

Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Davis of Olton visited in Sand Springs with Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Latimer. The Davises are Mrs. Latimer's uncle and aunt.

Mrs. E. A. Richters is recovering after minor surgery at the Medical Arts Hospital.

The Noble DeVaneys have returned to Dallas after visiting with his mother, Mrs. R. B. DeVaney and with the C. H. DeVaneys.

The B. B. Fords have been visiting in Lubbock with their daughter, Mrs. Sammie Buchanan and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Fowler and family of Garden City visited in Coahoma with Mrs. Jesse Fowler and with the Ted Fowlers and the Hershel Fowlers.

Duplicate Winners Are Told

Eight and one-half tables were in play for the initial session of duplicate, scheduled each Tuesday at the Big Spring Country Club. Games, directed by Mrs. Ty Allen, are open to both members and non-members of the club.

Placing in the north-south division were Mrs. Don Greenwood and Mrs. E. G. Patton, first; Mrs. John Stone and Mrs. Grover Cunningham, second; Mrs. J. H. Holloway and Mrs. B. B. Badger, third; and Mrs. J. J. Havens and Mrs. Roy McMahen, fourth.

East-west places were taken by Mrs. Ward Hall and Mrs. Elvis McCrary, first; Mrs. M. L. Patterson and Mrs. Fred Kasch, second; Mrs. Ayra McGann and Mrs. Joe McCullough, third; and Mrs. Morris Patterson and Mrs. Hudson Landers, fourth.

The Christmas series to be played, ending Dec. 18, will be the best four out of five, according to Mrs. Allen.

Flower Displays Shown Gardeners

Flowers in the church for holidays and special occasions was the demonstration by Mrs. John Knox for members of the After Five Garden Club in the home of Mrs. Tom Ivey, Silver Heels Addition, Tuesday morning. Cohostess was Mrs. Dee Thomas.

The report on the annual Texas Garden Clubs Inc. meeting, last month in Abilene, was given by Mrs. Bessie Love.

The nominating committee, appointed by Mrs. Love, was Mrs. Paul Sheedy, Mrs. Perry Chandler and Mrs. Dee Thomas.

Refreshments were served to 16 members and three guests, Mrs. Knox, Mrs. Edgar Patton and Mrs. Jerry Cockrell.

Thanksgiving Is Program Theme

"Thanksgiving" was the program presented for the Mary Zinn Circle, First Methodist Church, meeting in the home of Mrs. S. P. Jones Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. W. A. Laswell gave the opening prayer and directed the program. Taking part in the discussion were Mrs. Dave Duncan, Mrs. C. E. Shive, Mrs. Harwood Keith, Mrs. Felton Smith, Mrs. H. H. Stevens and Mrs. S. R. Nobles. They read communications from missionaries in other countries.

The devotion was given by Mrs. Jakie Bishop.

Assisted by her granddaughter, Miss Karen Agee, the hostess served refreshments to 11 attending.

Skewer Fish

Know how to skewer a whole fish after you've added a stuffing? Insert small metal skewers at about inch intervals and criss-cross string (or dental floss) over and under the skewers to lace loosely together. These skewers are the sort used in trussing poultry.

MRS. EUGENE COLEMAN

Miss Brenda Woods Is Bride Of E. Coleman

Miss Brenda Woods became the bride of Eugene Coleman in a double ring ceremony performed by Howard Swinney in the Knott Church of Christ at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Woods, Knott. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Coleman, Ackerly.

Palms formed the altar background which was centered with a basket arrangement of gladioli.

Nuptial selections were "O, Promise Me," "I Love You Truly" and the processional recorded by the Harding College Choir.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white waltz length gown designed with Chantilly lace bodice, scalloped neckline and petal point sleeves. The full, pleated satin skirt was sprinkled with lace applique, and featured a bustle effect. Her elbow length veil of illusion fell from a seed pearl tiara. A string of pearls completed the ensemble.

The bridal bouquet was a white orchid in feathered chrysanthemums carried atop a white Bible.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Dick Nichols of Big Spring. Serving as best man was Darrell Hicks of Midland.

The reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. With the couple in the receiving line were their parents and the bride's attendant.

The refreshment table, covered with a white linen cloth, was centered with an arrangement of white and pale yellow chrysanthemums. Crystal and silver appointments were used. A miniature bride and groom topped the three-tiered white wedding cake.

Presiding at the register was Mrs. Dub Grigg of Midland. Members of the house party were Miss Neva Jackson and Miss Penny Jones, both of Lubbock, and Miss Paula Woods, Knott.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. W. O. Jones, Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. Mike Reese, Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Covie Williams, Ackerly and Miss Abbie Garrett, Midland.

For the wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride chose a knit suit of apricot, which she wore with brown lizard accessories. She wore a corsage of orchids from her bridal bouquet.

After the wedding trip the couple will make their home at 1016 North Loraine, Midland, where the bridegroom, a graduate of Sands High School is employed with the Pittsburg Paint Co.

The bride is a graduate of Sands High School and Howard County Junior College. She is employed by the McKee Insurance Company of Midland.

Auxiliary Elects Officers

Sue McKinney was elected president of the Girls Auxiliary, Stadium Baptist Church WMU, Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. D. C. Boren.

Others elected to office were Becky Sims, vice president; Deborah McKinney, secretary-treasurer; Diane Morris, program and prayer chairman; Carol Nanny, social chairman; and Deborah Morris, stewardship and community missions.

Duties and the Ten Commandments for Officers were explained, and a story, "A Golden Carriage," told by Mrs. Boren, the councilor.

Concluding the meeting, refreshments were served to the seven members.

Mission Book Is Reviewed For Baptist Circle

The mission book, "New Frontiers in an Old World," was reviewed for the Lucille Reagan Circle, First Baptist Church, in the home of Mrs. J. H. Greene Tuesday morning. Taking part in the review were Mrs. Billy Watson, Mrs. Lonnie Coker and Mrs. W. F. Taylor.

Mrs. G. G. Morehead gave the call to prayer, and named missionaries having birthdays this month.

Members volunteered for service at the Howard County Rehabilitation Center, the project of the general missionary society. They will furnish transportation to the center for those who need it.

Residents of a local rest home will be visited by the group during the holiday season.

Mrs. Morehead will be hostess for the Dec. 10 meeting.

Two Circles Hear Tolford Durham

Modern day family problems were discussed by Tolford Durham, chief social service director at the Veteran's Administration Hospital, in the home of Mrs. H. C. Ernsting Tuesday morning. The occasion was a joint meeting of the Sylvia Lamun and Maudie Morris Circles of the First Methodist Church.

Mrs. Paul Kionka directed the program entitled "Responsible Adults for Tomorrow's World," which closed the study.

The hostess served refreshments to the 17 present.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

Few dinner tables are so lavishly decorated as those set for the Permian Basin Medical Society Tuesday evening at the Big Spring State Hospital. The beautiful orchids that graced the speaker's table and the African violets that were placed along the guests' tables were the results of the green thumb of MRS. PRESTON HARRISON. I tried so hard to keep just one little plant alive, not caring if it ever put on one purple blossom; Mrs. Harrison's collection includes pink, white and purple . . . at least that's all I saw. There's no telling what other colors were about the various tables.

Freeze Egg Whites

If you are feeding your baby egg yolk, put the leftover egg whites in your freezer in the proper amounts for making meringues, kisses or angelfood. After they're removed from the freezer and thawed, they'll beat up as usual.

Monthly Class Meeting Held

The monthly social gathering of the Barbara Reagan Sunday school class, First Baptist Church, took place Tuesday in the home of Mrs. R. F. Durham with Mrs. Wayne Bonner as cohostess.

The devotion was given by Mrs. Bonner who closed with a Thanksgiving poem. Each member then said what they were most thankful for this year.

Clothing and food were brought to the gathering to be packed in a Thanksgiving basket for a needy family. Plans for the Lottie Moon Christmas offering in December were made as part of the class project.

Mrs. W. F. Taylor, teacher, closed the meeting with prayer, and the hostess served refreshments to ten.

She Is A Pet Coed On The Campus Of MIT

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — At 15, Susan Reid Hemley is the youngest girl ever enrolled at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, one of the world's great scientific and engineering centers.

More than 97 per cent of the 6,600 students at M I T are men from all parts of the world. Women have been going to the famed school for generations, but not many at one time, and certainly not at 15. There are only 170 women students this year, and half of them are in graduate classes.

MEDICINE IN FAMILY

Susan will concentrate on life sciences at M I T. Her ultimate aim is to be a doctor. That's in the Hemley family tradition—with a dentist father, a nurse mother, a radiologist brother, an orthodontist uncle, and a sister trained in psychiatry for social work.

How did Susan qualify for college so young?

"It's like this," she explains thoughtfully. "I am really the product of the environment they provided for me. They enriched it, geared it to the intellectual, and I feel it was bound to rub off on me.

"I like to know something about just about everything."

She plays the piano and loves to read.

In the Forest Hills, N. Y., school setup, a qualified junior high school student can cover three years in two. "So I gained a year that way," Susan says.

GOES AT OWN PACE

"I don't find I have any particular problems," Susan emphasizes. "And I think that's because I've been allowed to go at my own pace. No one has been pushing me."

SUSAN HEMLEY

In the women's dormitories, she is accepted as just another student. The women at M I T enjoy special living quarters, with tutors—a married couple—presiding over each dormitory. Next fall, through the million-dollar gift of a woman alumna, all the women's living quarters will be consolidated at a site overlooking the Charles River.

Susan feels no sense of strangeness in being in a school predominantly populated by men. Her choice of studying medicine included recognizing in advance that she was entering a field of study in which women are heavily outnumbered.

BIOCHEMISTRY FASCINATING

Will she ultimately marry?

Susan isn't ready to commit herself. Her M I T friends say "she has a good head on her shoulders," and her balanced outlook toward the future is shown in her words, "Any girl thinks of marriage as something that may be in her future and will require a future decision."

But at the present, Susan explains, she looks forward to medical research.

"I especially am interested in the molecular side, the atomic side," she says. "Biochemistry is fascinating and I may get into nerves—the molecular angle."

A Discussion Of Wills Program Presentation

The importance and proper handling of wills was explained by Mrs. L. D. Harris for the 1955 Hyperion Club at the home of Mrs. Bill P. Johnson Tuesday afternoon. The program was prepared by Mrs. Walter Ross, who was unable to attend.

Mrs. Harris said that the law gives everyone the right to dispose of property as they wish, but when a properly drawn will is not made, an estate is distributed strictly according to law, which does not take into consideration the needs of your dependents.

In the absence of Mrs. Raymond River, president, the business session was directed by Mrs. Harris. Names were drawn for the Christmas gift exchange.

Mrs. L. B. Edwards will be hostess for the Christmas program on Dec. 4.

Cohostesses, Mrs. James Owens and Mrs. D. H. McDaniel Jr. served refreshments to the 14 attending.

Young Adults Have Supper

Young Adults of the Sunday school department, First Baptist Church, numbering 55, were served supper Tuesday evening at the church. The dinner table featured dried arrangements and fruit.

Guests were Jack Hendricks, Mrs. Vonnie Downey, Ira Shantz, Glen Faison, Mrs. Morris Rhodes and the pastor, the Rev. Robert Polk, all members of the cast for a mock opera, "The Grasshoppers' Opera."

After dinner entertainment was the opera presentation.

Cake Decor HD Demonstration By The Agent

Mrs. Delaine Crawford, Howard County Home Demonstration agent, demonstrated the art of cake decorating for members of the Airport HD Club Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Bill Bunn.

A devotion, given by Mrs. Ernest Miller, included a poem, "Power of Prayer." Members and guests participated in games, won by Miss Grace Wilks, a guest, and Mrs. Miller. Other guests were Mrs. Bernard McCormick, Mrs. O. C. Mason and Mrs. Crawford. Eight members were present.

Plans were made to help with the Hereford show Dec. 8, when the club will provide pies. Also members decided to decorate a tree for the sixth floor patients in the VA Hospital. The club's Christmas party was announced for Dec. 18 at the home of Mrs. Jack Dunning.

Door prize was won by Mrs. Vern Vigar, and the cake used in the demonstration went to Mrs. Miller.

Air Force Plans Study Of Ozone

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force has announced plans for what it called the most thorough study of atmospheric ozone ever made.

The one-year research program, starting next January, will involve the launching of more than 700 balloons.

Ozone is oxygen that has been electrically charged. Carrying the faint odor of chlorine, it is poisonous to human beings and can harm materials such as rubber if concentrated.

The Air Force said the project was made possible by the recent development by V. Regener, of the University of New Mexico, of a sensitive, simple and rugged measuring device.

The stations participating in the program are at Bedford, Mass., Albuquerque, and the Canal Zone; Florida State University, Tallahassee; Goose Bay, Labrador; Thule Air Force Base, Greenland; University of Wisconsin, Madison; Colorado State University, Fort Collins; University of Washington, Seattle; Eielson Air Force Base, Fairbanks, Alaska; and Ft. Churchill, Canada.

Wet Weather In Some Areas

By The Associated Press

The weather menu for Thanksgiving appeared a little soggy, foggy and chilly for many parts of the nation.

Rain and snow flurries dampened scattered sections in the eastern half of the country. Rain also splashed the Pacific Northwest coast. Fog shrouded many areas west of the Appalachians, in the Southeast and along the Pacific Coast.

More cold air spread across the north central region, with stiff winds making the weather chillier. The cool air dropped temperatures from 10 to 15 degrees below readings of 24 hours earlier in the north central section. Readings were in the teens and 20s from the Upper Great Lakes region through South Dakota into parts of Colorado, Montana and Wyoming.

Skies were cloudy and rain fell from the Appalachians eastward as warm air from the Gulf spread northward into the North Atlantic states. Thundershowers sprinkled areas from Florida northward into North Carolina.

Snow flurried across sections of the Upper Great Lakes region while skies were generally fair to partly cloudy in the western half of the nation.

Warmer weather moved into areas east of the Appalachians, with temperatures 15 to 20 degrees higher than Wednesday morning. The 38-degree mark in Millinocket, Maine, compared to 7 above Wednesday morning.

Decision Stands On Injection Case

AUSTIN (AP) — The Supreme Court has refused to reopen an Oct. 17 decision which allowed a water injection well to be drilled in Marion County at irregular spacing limits.

Dorothy Manziel first asked a Travis County district court to set aside and cancel a Dec. 12, 1960, order of the Railroad Commission permitting Whelan Brothers to drill a well and inject water in a Marion County oil field.

The regulations governing the field call for 660 feet of spacing of wells from lease lines. The Whelan well was 206 feet. The district court cancelled the commission order, but the Supreme Court said the commission should be upheld.

The high court said the difference in 660 feet and 206 feet as granted by the commission would not damage the mineral rights of the Manziel lease.

The action of the court overruled a motion to re-hear the case.

Weather? Try It Texas Style

By The Associated Press

You couldn't order much nicer fall weather than the Texas variety for Thanksgiving Day.

Skies were cloudless throughout the state. The mercury edged below freezing in the Texas Panhandle but held in the low 40s to high 50s elsewhere about the state.

Although a fresh cold front was pushing southward, little change was in prospect. Forecasts called for clear to partly cloudy skies through Friday. The Weather Bureau predicted it would turn a little cooler in northern areas of the state Thursday night.

Temperatures in early morning ranged from 30 at Dalhart, 33 at Amarillo and 37 at Junction up to 58 at Brownsville.

Stay With Corps

WASHINGTON (AP)— Sargent Shriver has denied reports that he is planning to run for governor of Illinois. He said he wants to stick to his "big, satisfying, challenging" job as head of the Peace Corps.

Commission Out Of Gas Dispute

AUSTIN (AP) —The Supreme Court has held that the Railroad Commission lacks the jurisdiction to settle a dispute between United Gas Pipeline Co. and the City of San Antonio.

United sought to void an April 1 contract between the city and Alamo Gas Supply Co. to furnish it gas for 20 years. The contract ended 40 years of United sales to the city.

The high court upheld a June 13 ruling by the Court of Civil Appeals in Austin and refused to review the case.

Ex-President Of France Dies

LE HAVRE, France (AP)—Rene Coty, former president of France, died Wednesday night of heart complications following an attack of the flu. He was 80.

Coty served as president of the French Republic from December, 1953, until January, 1959, when he was succeeded by Charles de Gaulle.

Coty was the last president of the Fourth Republic and was instrumental in bringing De Gaulle back to power after the May, 1958, uprising of Europeans in Algiers.

Under the Fourth Republic, the post of president was largely honorary.

Coty, born in this channel port city, was a lawyer before he entered public life and became a deputy in the National Assembly in 1923. He was a minister of reconstruction and urban affairs in three governments in 1947 and 1948.

The most dramatic moment in Coty's public career came in May, 1958, when France was faced with bloody chaos following the Algiers revolt. Coty, his voice breaking, took to the radio to appeal for calm and order. He was instrumental in bringing De Gaulle back to power, telling the Parliament he would stand for no other politician.

After he retired as president, Coty became a member of the Constitutional Council, a high legal body.

Ready To Rush

Police officers get ready to pour into a downtown Toronto, Ont., Canada branch of the Bank of Montreal after an alarm was raised during a holdup attempt. The two men who attempted to loot the vault fled empty-handed, but an employe mistook the arriving officers for holdup men and a brief exchange of gunfire resulted. There were no injuries.

Walker Ruled Competent To Stand Trial

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—Edwin A. Walker, the controversial former Army major general, has been ruled mentally competent to stand trial on charges of seditious conspiracy and inciting an insurrection.

U.S. Dist. Judge Claude F. Clayton, who is an Army National Guard brigadier general, handed down the ruling Wednesday at the end of a two-day hearing to determine whether there was reasonable cause for a mental examination of the 53-year-old Walker.

The Texan was arrested here Oct. 1 following the desegregation rioting at the University of Mississippi which killed two persons.

Shortly before Clayton ruled in the Walker case, he ordered chief U.S. Marshal James McShane released from the Lafayette County jail. McShane had surrendered to Sheriff Joe Ford on state charges of inciting a riot and breach of peace during the rioting.

TWO INDICTED

McShane and one other person —who has not yet been identified —were indicted last week by the county grand jury after it probed the rioting which followed the arrival of Negro James H. Meredith on the university campus.

The judge set no date for Walker's trial. He accepted a mental test given Walker earlier this month at Dallas, Tex.

The judge said the examination made by Dr. Robert L. Stubblefield, professor at the Southwestern Medical School in Dallas, "was essentially negative. No opinion was expressed. It did not say whether he was sane or insane."

Clyde J. Watts of Oklahoma City, Okla., one of Walker's four attorneys, said Clayton's decision in placing the mental test in the case record would be appealed. Walker said afterward he felt he had been subjected to a great injustice.

ARMY TROUBLE

During the hearing Walker also discussed his controversial reprimand and loss of command of the 24th Division over a troop indoctrination program in Germany. He later resigned his Army commission.

Walker said he had been misquoted in reports saying he described former President Harry S. Truman and others as Communists.

"I had not mentioned President Truman or called anyone a Communist," said Walker.

Clayton said he would hold a hearing for McShane late in January. The Justice Department claimed McShane was "doing duties as a federal official" on the university campus.

After the release on a writ of habeas corpus of the former New York policeman, County Dist. Atty. Jesse Yancy Jr., said, "The case now rests in the hands of the federal court."

McShane was in charge of a team of some 300 federal marshals to accompany Meredith onto the campus.

In other developments the Mississippi Senate approved a resolution which blamed rioting at the university on the "ruthless and corrupted administration in Washington headed by the Kennedy Klan." The measure drew 12 dissenting votes and faces House action. The resolution also expressed defiance and utter contempt for the Kennedy administration."

Horse-Airplane Mishap Is Fatal

MARFA, Tex. (AP)—A frightened horse pitched his rider into the landing gear of a low flying Border Patrol plane Tuesday, killing the rider.

The victim was Ysidoro Rodriguez Chapairo, 23.

Herbert Nice, district director of the Immigration Service at El Paso, said the plane was observing a Border Patrol jeep as it flew over Chapairo.

He said the horse became frightened by the sudden appearance of the plane.

The craft's landing gear was badly damaged, but pilot Dudley Clanahan managed to land safely.

The incident occurred on a ranch 35 miles southwest of here in West Texas.

French Chefs Save Time In Cooking Short Cuts

Take it from us. Contrary to current American belief, French chefs are just as interested in using shortcuts in cooking as the rest of us.

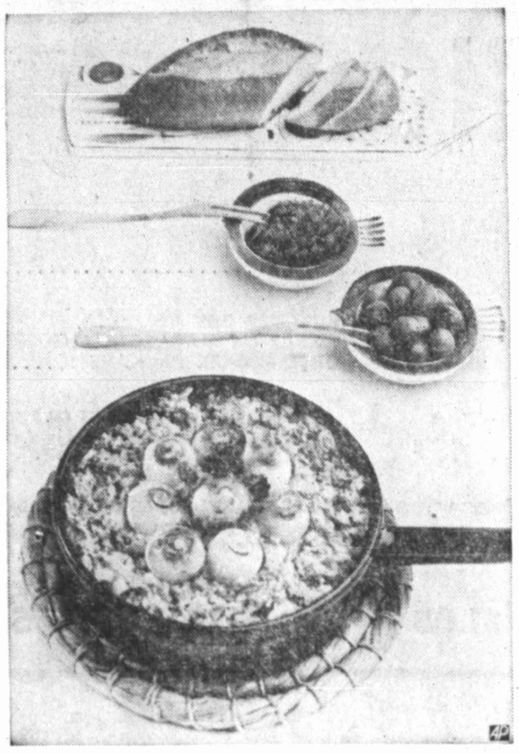

One young French chef, George Oddoux, has a time-saving way of preparing white sauce. As any cook knows, this basic sauce—often made in home kitchens—is always stirred during cooking against "lumping." Now George comes along and imparts a secret to a friend of ours who passed it along to us.

In the American white-sauce method now in current use, butter is melted in a saucepan over low heat, and flour is stirred in. Then milk (or other liquid) is added all at one time and the sauce is stirred constantly while it is cooked until it thickens smoothly and uniformly.

By George's method, the butter is melted and the flour added over heat. Next off heat the extremely hot liquid is stirred in and the heat of the liquid accomplishes some thickening. Then the saucepan is covered tightly and returned to low heat for 10 minutes to complete the cooking of the starch granules in the flour. No standing over the range while you stir for 10 to 20 minutes.

When we used George's shortcut in the following delicious canned salmon and vegetable dish, his method worked perfectly. Try the recipe and find out for yourself!

This is a great all-in-one luncheon or supper dish, hearty enough for any man. With it serve crusty French bread plus pickle relish and olives if you like. For dessert, a fruit salad is crisp and refreshing.

ALL-IN-ONE-DISH

SALMON AND VEGETABLES

- 2 large carrots (pared and sliced to make about 1 1-3 cups)
- 6 ribs celery with leaves (sliced to make about 2 cups)
- 8 small white or yellow onions (peeled)
- 3 cups water
- ¼ tsp. salt
- ¼ tsp. pepper
- ½ tsp. dried crushed thyme
- 2 tbsps. minced parsley
- 4 tbsps. butter or margarine
- 4 tbsps. flour
- 1 can (1 lb.) salmon
- ½ cup heavy cream

In a saucepan, bring to a boil the carrots, celery, onions, water, salt, pepper and thyme; boil rapidly until onions are tender—20 to 30 minutes. Turn into a strainer set over a measure. Dump vegetables into a container, add the parsley and 1 tablespoon of the butter; stir to coat vegetables with butter, and keep warm. Pour vegetable stock back into saucepan for reheating. In another saucepan over low heat, melt the remaining 3 tablespoons butter; stir in the flour; remove from heat; while stirring vigorously and constantly, gradually but quickly add 1 cup of the boiling-hot vegetable stock; the sauce should be smooth and thickened. Stir in liquid from salmon can. Cover and over very low heat cook the sauce without stirring for 10 minutes. Stir in cream. Add salmon (in chunks) with the vegetables. Cover and reheat if necessary. Makes 6 servings.

Organized Kitchen Is Efficient

How much organization can your family take?

Do kitchen affairs run smoothest when there are well-ordered plans? Or does a set schedule create tension? It may be that what might seem hit - or - miss arrangements work best for your family because with them everyone is relaxed.

This question is pertinent when it comes to packing school lunches for youngsters, whether they tote their noontime meal regularly or occasionally, and whether they do the preparation or you do it yourself. No kitchen organization is worthwhile if it creates a strained atmosphere. Better to have things casual and the family happy!

But whatever the temperamental tendencies of the members involved, highly organized or carefree, some families like to use what might be called The Pantry and Freezer Plan.

This involves giving over a small amount of storage space to canned and packaged foods to be used only for lunch boxes, refilling at regular shopping times. Available here may be favorite soups; canned fish and meat for sandwich use; buffet - size cans (about 8 ounces each) of fruits and vegetables — the latter to be added to soups, sandwich fillings or salads. Surprise items also often appear: small boxes of raisins; individual packages of crackers, cookies or potato chips. These pantry foods are, of course, supplemented by such fresh vegetables as tomato, carrot, lettuce, celery and cucumber; and such fresh fruits as oranges, apples, pears and grapes.

Then into the freezer go small packages of food specially ticketed for lunch box use. Pie-dough trimmings are sometimes made into a few meat or fish turnovers or individual fruit tarts or pies. Some sliced leftover meat or poultry parts add to sandwich variety, and are usually easily saved from Sunday's main meal.

Teen - age youngsters with hearty appetites often enjoy two sandwiches — one regular main-course type, the other sweet. The former might be chopped corned beef with chili sauce and lettuce, or tuna mixed with celery, drained canned peas, grated carrot and mayonnaise. The latter might be cream cheese and dates or raisin-cinnamon bread.

Along with regular packaging materials for lunch boxes, empty cottage -cheese containers can be put to practical use. They'll hold potato or other salad to eat along with sliced meat or turkey or a chicken wing or drumstick; one of them will also hold a baked pear or apple with a special sauce, or a portion of leftover pudding.

Blueberry Kuchen Is Between Cake And Tart

Wind up the blueberry season with this homey dessert that's somewhere between a cake and a tart.

BLUEBERRY KUCHEN

- 1½ cups plus 1 tbsp. sifted flour
- ¾ tsp. each baking powder and salt
- ½ cup butter or margarine (soft)
- 1 large egg
- 1-3 cup superfine granulated sugar
- 1 pint basket (about 2½ cups) large cultivated blueberries
- ½ cup confectioners sugar (sifted)

Sift together the 1½ cups flour, baking powder and salt; with a spoon, gradually work into butter until blended. Beat egg, gradually adding granulated sugar, until thick and ivory colored; add to flour mixture, blending well. Turn into a round heat-resistant glass cake dish (about 8 by 2 inches); with a small spatula spread over bottom and around sides almost to top. Mix blueberries with the 1 tablespoon flour; spread over dough. Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven for 15 minutes; continue baking in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 15 to 20 minutes or until crust is well browned (Don't worry if flour shows on berries.) Remove from oven. Sprinkle with half the confectioners sugar and let stand 10 minutes; sprinkle with remaining sugar. Serve warm.

Planned-Over Turkey Saves In Time-Money

Do you know why economy-minded homemakers always roast a turkey large enough for several meals?

Because the larger the bird, the greater the yield of meat in proportion to bone, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

"Planned - over turkey" for meals following Thanksgiving not only saves you money at the meat counter, but saves you time in the kitchen.

A good plan is to remove all of the meat from the bones as soon as possible after the big, festive dinner. Carefully slice the larger portions and then dice or grind the remaining meat.

Divide into portions just right for a meal and carefully wrap each portion in freezer foil. Label as to light or dark meat and whether sliced, diced or ground.

FREEZING

Freeze immediately. This way you can have your "planned-over turkey" over a longer period, but not more than six weeks, for the meat begins to dry out.

For your first "planned-over turkey" meal, serve cold or hot sliced turkey, using alternate layers of white and dark meats. Cold turkey is good with such tart foods as sauerkraut, pickled beets and pineapple fritters.

Make your sliced hot turkey plate a full dinner. Use oven-proof plates. Cover with thin toast or waffles. Spread generously with sharp cheese. Then add sliced turkey. Sprinkle with more cheese and dot with sliced stuffed olives. This is just as tasty as it is colorful.

You can add a vegetable to this same dish by covering the sliced turkey with canned asparagus, canned whole string beans or boiled broccoli.

TURKEY A LA KING

Use your diced meat in turkey a la king, always a favorite and so easy to prepare. Prepare a medium thick white sauce. Add to it, ¼ cup chopped celery, ¼ cup finely chopped onion, ¼ cup finely chopped green pepper and ¼ cup sliced mushrooms, which have been heated in only a suggestion of water until "hot."

Stir in 2 cups diced cooked turkey and season to taste with salt and pepper.

Heat thoroughly over low heat. Serve on buttered hot toast slices or cubes, English muffins, or steaming hot beds of fluffy rice. Garnish with thin slices of bright red pimiento.

GROUND TURKEY

Use ground turkey meat in a chowder. To prepare, brown 2 slices chopped bacon in a frying pan. When slightly crisp, add ¼ cup chopped onion and continue cooking until onion is soft and bacon quite crisp.

Meanwhile simmer together, until tender, 1 cup diced celery, 2 cups cubed potatoes and 1 cup diced or ground cooked turkey in 2 cups turkey broth or canned, diluted consomme. When vegetables are tender add 1 cup whole kernel corn and the cooked bacon and onion along with 2 tablespoons flour and add 1 cup of milk. Season and simmer leisurely 15 minutes before serving.

To save the step of thickening broth, use canned cream of chicken soup diluted as directed with milk.

Cheese Menus In November

Get to know all members of the cheese family during this month when dairy counters are heaped high with all kinds. Reports show that cheese is a feature item among plentiful foods.

Cheese is about as versatile a food as we have. Traditional cheese sandwiches, cheese dips and hot dishes made with cheese have been basic menu items for centuries.

But how long since you have used cheese as appetizers? in soups? and with vegetables? Here are a few USDA-tested recipes that can help extend your enjoyment of cheese:

Try Creamy Blue Cheese Balls as an appetizer. Combine equal parts blue and cream cheese, fashion into balls and roll in finely shredded chipped beef, crumbled bacon or finely chopped nut meats. Spear with fancy appetizer picks and arrange attractively, atop assorted crisp crackers.

Ceddar Surprises also make a fine appetizer. Remove ready-to-bake biscuits from package, roll flat with rolling pin, place a 1-inch cube of cheese in the center of each biscuit and fold sides of biscuit over to "hide" the cheese. Bake according to package instructions and serve piping hot. These can be readied ahead of time, refrigerated and baked as needed.

Or try Edam Surprise. Scoop out centers of Edam or Gouda cheese spheres, mash with sour cream or whipped cottage cheese, adding a smidgen of herbs for taste variation. Return cheese mixture to shell, piling into lofty peaks. Place on platter and surround with crisp crackers.

SWISS CHEESE SOUP

- 2 chicken bouillon cubes
- 2 tbsps. minced onion
- 2 tbsps. flour
- 2 cups shredded Swiss cheese (about ½ lb.)
- ½ tsp. nutmeg
- 1 cup boiling water
- 2 tbsps. butter
- 5 cups milk
- 1 tsp. salt
- Dash of pepper

Dissolve bouillon cubes in boiling water. Saute onion in butter over low heat. Blend in flour. Stir in bouillon and milk. Cook until smooth and slightly thickened. Remove from heat and add cheese, stirring until melted and uniformly blended. Add seasonings and serve at once.

Cream Cheese 'n Tomato Soup also clicks on fall menus. Cut cream cheese into tiny squares and float atop steaming tomato soup, adding a sprinkling of chopped chives for added color and flabor intrigue.

Cheese belongs with vegetables, too, as in Buttered Green Beans and Blue Cheese. Sprinkle crumbled blue cheese over steamy hot, tenderly cooked buttered beans for an unusually delicious vegetable idea.

Or, try Brick 'n Spinach. Cook fresh or frozen spinach until serving perfect, drain, stir in shredded brick cheese, transfer to serving dish and add a scattering of buttered bread crumbs. It's elegant in appearance and flavor.

French Fries a la Parmesan is another soul-warming concoction for these fall days. Sprinkle hot French fries with Parmesan cheese until uniformly coated, serve immediately while piping hot.

WHAT'S FOR DINNER MRS. SKINNER ?

SECOND-TIME TURKEY

- 1 10-oz. pkg. SKINNER Pure Egg Noodles
- 2 cups left-over turkey
- 1 can condensed mushroom soup
- ⅔ cup milk
- ¼ cup diced green pepper
- ¼ cup sliced stuffed olives
- ½ cup grated cheese
- Crushed potato chips

Cook noodles as directed on package; drain. Blend condensed soup with milk. Add green pepper, olives, and grated cheese. Combine noodles, turkey and soup mixture. Pour into greased casserole. Top with crushed potato chips. Bake at 325° to 350° F. for 30-35 minutes. Serves 6. Average cost per serving: 26c.

A simple dish that makes having left-over holiday turkey the nicest thing that ever happened! One caution: To be sure it tastes its best, be sure you use Skinner Pure Egg Noodles, the noodles made with 100% amber durum wheat.

A Devotional For The Day

Always and for everything giving thanks in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ to God the Father. (Ephesians 5:20. RSV.)

PRAYER: Help us, O Lord, to render unto Thee the homage due Thee for Thy bountiful goodness and holiness. In our defeats as well as in our successes, keep our hearts in love and help us to give thanks. In our Lord's name we ask. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

The Art Of Thanksgiving

The spirit of thankfulness is one that requires a certain capacity. It is an art that not everyone nor every nation can exercise effectively, and the inability to feel it is a sympton of spiritual atrophy.

Almost anyone may express thanks in the abstract. In a vague way, this is a statement of appreciation for good fortune or for having had things go better than others have had them go.

On the other hand, being specific in our thanks requires that we first acknowledge the source of goodness. We cannot truly thank God without first having acknowledged that He is an omnipotent God.

Having sincerely done this, we then give thanks as an expression of faith—faith that God does hear our petitions and that He does care. We become part of a two way spiritual flow which nourishes that tiny spark of divinity in each of us. We achieve a bigness of soul, which in reality is true humility.

Thanks, then, become more than words or forms. They are the attitudes and the attributes of our innermost beings. They are the manifestations of love not merely for material things, but for opportunity to serve, unfold and perpetuate the blessings of liberty, to respect others as creatures of the same Creator, to move in dignity as sovereign souls, to be eternally grateful that we can lift up our eyes and our hearts to Our Father.

Make Ready For Opportunity's Knock

The Texas Parade, commenting on the interstate highway program, conjectures that the "stepchild routes" might be added to an extended program. The current IS system is due to be completed by 1972 if Congress continues making adequate appropriations.

There is logic to such speculation. For instance, studies indicate that the average motorists saves 2 cents per mile driving on roads of IS standards, and trucks may save up to 5 cents per mile. This being the case, savings to motorists would more than equal the costs in a decade.

Another reason is that experts figure than 41,000 miles of roads completed to IS specifications will mean the saving of 5,000 lives in traffic each year. (Texas, with 3,000 miles in the IS system, would have some 300 to 400 less deaths per year.)

Finally, the IS system is already proving that traffic estimates are almost too conservative. Interstate highways have a tremendous drawing power because people will go a lot farther out of the way to get on them than most observers dared to predict. Hence, it may be necessary to provide additional roads of identical or comparable quality to help carry the load.

One of those routes is US 87. Fortunately, cities and counties along the route have been making progress in helping the state improve the road largely to IS standards. For instance, between here and Lubbock, only the stretch from Lamesa to the Howard County line (and a short stretch just out of Lubbock) need to be converted into divided highway to give virtually an IS road between the two points. Progress is being made toward similar improvements from Lubbock to Amarillo and north.

If we can keep up this good work, when the time comes to extend the US system, it will require a minimum of time and expense to convert US 87 into one of the routes. This would be a natural designation.

Kennedy's Image In Britain

LONDON—President Kennedy is Britain's candidate for hero-in-the-strife, but in order to clinch the title the President would have to do a number of things that are more in the British definition of statesmanship than they are in the American concept of the same. For example:

HANDS OFF CUBA: While JFK drew cheers for ordering Soviet missiles removed from the Caribbean, he will risk jeers and dissatisfaction in Britain if he should follow American interests all the way and should rub out the Communist enclave in the Western Hemisphere. The explanation for this seeming two-mindedness of British thinking lies in John Bull's peculiar adherence to balance-of-power politics.

A COMMUNIST CUBA is regarded here as a hostage. The U.S.A. has proved that Russia can stay in Cuba only on sufferance. We can carry out a total blockade against Castro without fear of escalating a nuclear war. We could probably bomb Cuba with conventional high explosives without inviting a nuclear exchange. We might even invade and subjugate part or all of Cuba, and not involve the rest of the world in war.

BUT, AS THE British see it, Cuba is invaluable to the West as a diplomatic pawn. It is one place where we can retaliate with "short of war" methods whenever Russia gets nasty about Berlin—a place where the Allies hold an enclave behind the Iron Curtain, but hold it more or less on sufferance. The British view is that shrewd statesmanship calls for Mr. Kennedy to tolerate Castro so that Khrushchev will be forced to tolerate the beleaguered garrison in West Berlin.

HANDS OFF KATANGA: The British darkly suspect that American "copper kings" are at the bottom of America's policy for a united Congo. If Katanga under Tshombe were allowed to practice "self-determination" and become a separate province, the British interests in the Union Miniere copper - producing firm would be served. It is a Commonwealth matter with Britain, for the products of Katanga fit into the economic pattern that embraces the Federation of Nyasaland and North and South Rhodesia. Mr. Kennedy is said to be inconsistently backing the break-away of Nyasaland from the Federation while opposing the break-away of Katanga. Why the President should meddle in matters far from the American sphere of influence and knowledge is beyond the British—except when they explain it as a Big Business plot to grab their profits.

HANDS OFF THE Common Market: British papers have quoted with rancor some opinions offered by the American magazine U. S. News and World Report, which they regard as the mouthpiece of Wall Street. This magazine recently said that when Britain joins the Market, "The Commonwealth would be written down in importance for Britain—and eventually it would be written off . . . In political and security matters (Canada, New Zealand and Australia) will move more and more toward the U. S." Britons would like Mr. Kennedy to stay on his own side of the ocean in these matters. Commenting acidly on last September 11th, the Liverpool Daily Post spoke for a sizable segment of British opinion:

"WHAT IS NEEDED is a major change in the policy of the Kennedy Administration. The President has deployed his Grand Design for Europe, but he is going the wrong way about putting it into practice. His high-handed tactics are doing nothing to make the world . . . happier, friendlier . . ."

GIVE A HAND TO British Industry: Repeated losses to American firms in NATO armament contracts get blamed on the President and Defense Secretary McNamara, the Big Businessman of the Pentagon. During the summer and autumn, the English Electric Aviation, Ltd., had to close down work on the Blue Water missile because of American competition. Earlier, they lost the sale of their Centurion tank to the West German armed forces. There were previous losses, most of them laid to a "squeeze-out" process by American business and government. The "Scotsman" magazine says: "In the P-1127, vertical-take-off fighter, Britain has got an excellent machine for future NATO purposes. But it will be up to the Minister of Defense to make sure that this potential money-winner does not soon develop an American rival."

IN CUBA, Katanga, the Common Market and Defense, Mr. Kennedy is acting upon reasons that seem best to him and his advisers. But he can't do this and remain a hero to the British. American Presidents have always been expected to do their duty by England.

This Thanksgiving Day

One More Blessing To Count

By JUNIUS GRIFFIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

Anyone searching for one more blessing to count this Thanksgiving Day might consider the absence of confusion which has attended the date of the observance through the years.

Thanksgiving was observed by Americans as a day of feasting, worshiping and family reunions on dates from January to December before becoming an annual fourth Thursday in November observance.

POPULAR tradition assigns the origin of the observance to the Pilgrims' harvest in Plymouth, Mass., in 1621. In 1789, President George Washington proclaimed the last Thursday of November as a day of general thanksgiving.

Since then, presidents have proclaimed Thanksgiving observances using dates in eight of the 12 months.

Washington allowed five years to lapse before he issued a second proclamation for a day of thanksgiving. Two other presidents followed his example.

Andrew Jackson refrained for the sake of separation of church and state. Zachary Taylor left the matter up to the judgment of state governors.

FEBRUARY was the month Washington chose for his third proclamation in 1795.

April was singled out for Thanksgiving Day by President John Adams in 1799, by Madison in 1815, and by Lincoln in 1862. Adams chose May 9 in 1798.

In 1812, President Madison picked the third Thursday in August for the holiday. September had a Thanksgiving Day proclaimed by Madison to fall on the second Thursday of the month in 1813.

Madison designated Jan. 12 as Thanksgiving Day in 1814, and said the holiday should be a time of "public humiliation and fasting and prayer in appreciation of the abundant fruits of the season and other blessings."

A WOMAN editor, Sarah Josepha Hale, waged a forceful 25-year campaign that finally caused Thanksgiving to become a regular recurring holiday.

Sarah, as editor of Godey's Lady's Magazine, wrote in 1827:

"We have too few holidays. Thanksgiving like the Fourth of July should be a national festival observed by all our people as an exponent of our Republican institutions."

President Lincoln proclaimed an August Thanksgiving in 1863, but came back three months later with another one in November—the month in which the holiday generally has been observed since.

PRESIDENT Johnson, taking over the White House after Lincoln's death, delayed Thanksgiving until the first Thursday of December 1865.

General Grant, in the first year of his presidency, appointed Nov. 18 for the Thanksgiving festival, but for the rest of his term followed the Lincoln tradition of setting it on the fourth Thursday in November.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt experimented by choosing the next-to-the last Thursday in November for the holiday. But Congress decided in 1941 that Thanksgiving should be celebrated on the fourth Thursday — and its been that way since.

Only The Carving

NEW YORK (AP)—Thanksgiving day is a fine time for all of us to count our blessings.

There are some people who go through life fighting down any inclination toward gratitude. They fix their gaze on the dark part of the cloud with the silver lining, and are always sure things will get a lot worse before they get any better.

But no matter how dark and dour your lot may be, or how drab your future, there are always a few things to be grateful for on Thanksgiving Day.

Such as:

Radio stations haven't started driving us crazy yet with "Jingle Bells," and there are still 21 shopping days before Christmas.

You have 39 days to go before you have to buckle down and start living up to your New Year's resolutions.

As you didn't have to go to work this morning, no bus driver could start your day off wrong by giving you 20 nickels back in change for a buck.

On Thanksgiving Day, no wife asks you for money to go shopping or expects you to paint the kitchen.

Unlike the Fourth of July, the kids don't shatter eardrums with firecracker blasts. This is a day of quiet, rest and meditative pleasure.

You don't have to mow the lawn, rake leaves, pick bugs off the tomato plants, put up storm windows, fear hurricanes, write your congressman or listen to a campaign speech.

As the local supermarket is closed, no strange lady shopper can bawl you out for being in her way—or run you down with her cart.

You don't have to attend a P-TA meeting, go on a Boy Scout hike, escort your daughter to a high school dance, or take your wife to a concert.

No bill collector comes to your door with demands upon your pocketbook on this day of calm joy. The postman not only doesn't knock twice—he doesn't knock once.

Yes, a man has a lot of blessings to count on this day of blissful serenity. He does, that is, until the dinner is served piping hot on the table, grace has been said, and then his wife announces firmly:

"No, I'm not going to carve the turkey. You're going to have to do it this year!"

As the head of the house reluctantly accepts the knife, his feelings of gratitude evaporate in a rush of self-pity. Another happy holiday has been shot out from under him!

It's Never Safe To Jump To Conclusions

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

One thing a doctor must never do is to jump to conclusions. Neither should patients.

Recently I was taken to task by a reader for not recommending worm medication for a child with abdominal pain. This reader, having learned a de-worming method, has been passing it on to relatives and neighbors whenever anyone complained of stomach cramps.

My thanks for her well-meant suggestions, but worms are not the sole explanation of bellyache. I'm not one to minimize the prevalence of intestinal worms. On the contrary, I've done at least my share in pointing out how frequent they are.

But proper de-worming procedures usually involve the use of rather vigorous catharsis. There has to be a treatment powerful enough to destroy both worms and eggs.

Use of such strong medications could be disastrous if the bellyache happened to be an inflamed appendix. This is a highly probable way of making it rupture. Either intussusception, or partial obstruction of the bowel, can cause cramps but must not be treated with laxatives. Recurrent pain could be due to kidney infection. Enlargement of lymph glands can cause abdominal pains in children. So can food allergies.

Worms? Perhaps at times, but frequently the worms cause irritation and the like without ever making the child (or adult, for that matter) complain of stomach pain.

On the other hand, pinworms invariably produce rectal itching. (Tape worms or round worms can cause vague stomach distress.) In all cases, eggs, worms, or segments of worms can be found by proper stool examination. (For pinworms, a very simple test is to use a strip of sticky tape which will trap the worms or eggs if they are present.)

There are very good reasons to be sure that the trouble is worms and not something else. Abdominal pain deserves careful examination, and it is not safe to jump to conclusions.

Find out for sure, first. Otherwise sooner or later you are going to stumble into a tragic error.

Dear Dr. Molner: I thought the ovaries were stationary, but my doctor says my right one is down behind the womb. How could this happen? What can be done? I'm worried.—Mrs. J. B.

Well, I'd stop worrying, if that's all that has happened. The ovaries normally are held in position at the side of the uterus by certain ligaments, but it is not unusual for them to be displaced. It isn't a serious condition and requires no treatment and is no cause for concern. Unless, of course, the ovary is large, and cystic and causing symptoms, but that's quite another matter.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: A friend told me her doctor gave her pills that made her not want to eat, and they worked. Where could I get such pills to help me reduce?—C. C.

The same place your friend did—from a doctor's prescription. I don't think pills are necessary for a person who really wants to lose weight. Diet will do it if you stick to the proper food.

Appetite-depressing pills make it easier to stay on a reducing diet. However, they don't teach you good eating habits afterwards. And you can't keep on with the pills indefinitely.

For another point, these pills can have unpleasant side effects—nervousness, jitters, sleeplessness. They should be taken, if at all, only under a doctor's direction, as your friend did.

Packed-Off Pachyderm

DENVER (AP)—Timbo ate himself out of his happy home at the City Park Zoo.

At 3½ years of age, Timbo was 3,000 pounds of elephant with an enormous appetite who in time should stand 11 feet tall and hit the scales at 10,000 pounds.

So he was shipped to the Cheyenne Mountain Zoo near Colorado Springs, which has ample quarters for the largest pachyderms.

Trying To Save Money

CUYAHOGA FALLS, Ohio (AP)—Although Ohio had snow earlier than anticipated this season, principal Robert Heath of Preston School reported only one problem in his area:

"Too many mothers tried to squash this year's shoes into last year's boots."

Around The Rim

He Sells Service

As a filling station operator, I suppose he would have to be considered small potatoes. He only has two gasoline pumps, one for regular and the second for Ethyl. He has no employes, but his wife helps out sometimes at the cash register. The location is not the best, as it is on a back street.

But it's a real pleasure to drive in there. For all the super-duper conveniences of many larger stations with a lot of employes and automatic equipment, some of these operators could take a few lessons from this fellow.

IN THE FIRST PLACE, his station is clean and inviting. From the front drive, through the office area, and on into the rest rooms, the station is about as spotless as a filling station can be. The drives are swept, the merchandise on the shelves is neat and orderly, and the rest rooms are spic and span.

The operator is friendly, even helpful. He wipes the windshield, checks the battery, radiator and oil without being asked. He also wipes off the headlights and brushes out the floor mats, and cleans the rear window too. He never fails to ask if I want the tires checked. He even makes sure the spare tire is up to snuff.

ALSO, HE KNOWS something about cars and is helpful in the event of automotive trouble. He even has a few parts around, just in case.

This small operator has pride in his business, both in the appearance of his station and in the service he offers.

"About all I can offer is good service," he said. "All the other fellows have gas, oil and grease." He's right, of course.

"MY REGULAR customers expect me to look out for their cars," he said. "I do my best to spot trouble for them before it happens."

I suspect, however, that this fellow would offer the same kind of service, even if he had the biggest station in town on the busiest street. It would be the same if he were a plumber, or a shoe salesman, or legislator.

More than the brand name or the location, most of us are probably concerned with the people with whom we trade. The family bus may not be the latest model, but it is just as important to the owner. It's comforting to know the service station man is concerned about it too.

Soviet Concept Challenged

MOSCOW — Among government planners, economists, and students of industrial development in the Soviet Union, the raging question and debate is this: Can Prof. Lieberman be right?

Lieberman sponsors an iconoclastic notion: Planning from the top isn't necessarily perfect.

He first presented his case befor academicians, and then was granted permission to publicize it.

SOON HIS IDEAS got into the newspapers and were generally discussed—heatedly, fervidly — pro and con. The professor argues that plant managers and directors do not have enough freedom. They are hampered by orders, directives, and rulings from on high.

He thinks that the executives of steel mills, or machine tool plants, or other enterprises ought to have discretion. They ought to be able to choose their suppliers and select their customers. They ought to be allowed to maximize their profits, and the plant executives who make the biggest profit ought to get the highest rewards.

WHAT A DIRTY capitalist idea to be bruited about in the Soviet Union: Incentive pay—based not necessarily on the quality of production, not on meeting of pre-determined goals, but on producing the type of goods other factory managers or consumers really want.

The Soviet system always has embraced incentive rewards to plant managers and assistants—even going down to workers who exceed normal output—for overfulfilling goals. "Overfulfilment" is a term of praise.

BUT LIEBERMAN has challenged the concept. He has argued that overfulfilment often is obtained at the expense of quality. Factories will produce shoddy, and this poor output has to be bought by other factories to which the output is assigned.

Instead, he argues, the plant manager should be allowed to produce according to customers' specifications and charge an appropriate price. If, thereby, he managed to generate higher-than-expected profits, he ought to be rewarded in two ways:

First, in his own compensation.

Second, by being granted additional investment capital to increase his output.

IN THIS WAY, argues Lieberman, the most efficient and most knowledgeable executives would be granted the go-ahead. Output would improve. And the entire system would benefit.

In a land in which theoreticians abound, the professor's idea was immediately confronted with counter-theory.

The counter-attack—as you can imagine—was intense. In any system (even in the U. S. system), those in power have a vested interest against change. So Prof. Lieberman's plan isn't likely to be tried out in the near future.

THE SOVIET SYSTEM, as I have noted in a previous article, is rigidly controlled and rigidly contrived.

Nevertheless, the Lieberman thesis is important for one reason: It was permitted to get out of the cloistered halls of Kharkov University where he teaches. It was given wide currency. It is a symbol—a measure—of some discontent.

Even those who run the country know that all is not perfect and are willing to let an iconoclasm be publicized and debated.

Cuba's Sabotage Of Ships

WASHINGTON—The worst example of cruelty to human beings since the torture chambers of yesteryears was reported last Sunday night.

Twelve Canadian seamen and their captain struggled for life in the midst of a violent storm on the Atlantic as their ship wallowed helplessly because Cubans had deliberately filled the vessel's tanks at Havana with a small amount of oil and a large amount of water.

FIVE TIMES other ships passed by, either without seeing the Canadian ship's flag of distress or because, in the heavy seas, they were unable to come in close to the small ship.

For nine days the battle for life went on. Then came the tanker "San Gaspar," which had to leave the Canadian vessel behind but took the grateful seamen into Hamilton Harbor, Bermuda.

Certainly this looks like a piece of human interest news, but it got scant attention from the news broadcasters on Sunday night, though it has a far-reaching significance.

HERE IS THE dispatch which came over the wires of the United Press International at six o'clock Sunday evening—in ample time for news broadcasts during Sunday night.

"Hamilton, Bermuda—the captain of a Canadian freighter said on his arrival here today that his ship had to be abandoned in a fierce Atlantic storm because Cubans filled most of his fuel tanks with water when he left Havana.

"Capt. Edward Clark, 61, arrived here aboard the tanker 'San Gaspar' which picked him and 12 crewmen up from the 'East Star.'

"THE 'EAST STAR,' a 155-foot long Canadian freighter, had been drifting fuelless for nine days until its flares were sighted last night by a plane looking for bodies of crewmen from a Greek freighter, Clark said.

"Capt. Clark, of St. Josephs, Newfoundland, said his small ship was full of water in the No. 1 hold, was listing 25 degrees, and waves were breaking over it when help finally came.

"DESCRIBING THE ordeal as 'the worst experience of my life,' the captain said it all started when the 'East Star' took on what he thought was a full load of fuel for the return trip from Havana.

" 'We took on 18 tons and 88 gallons of fuel in Havana,' he said, 'and it was 15 tons water.'

"Trembling with emotion, the white-haired capatin—a ship's master for 34 years—told how he tried to keep the ship's lights going with what little fuel he had left and how finally radio communications from the 'East Star' failed.

" 'We cut our engines and drifted with the wind nine days,' he said. 'This was the night of Nov. 7. We raised the "LV" (distress flag) in plain sight of five ships but they went right on.' "

ASKED THE NEXT day whether he thought the Cubans had deliberately filled his ship's tanks with water, Captain Clark said: "Well, in my 34 years as a ship's master, I've never seen anything like it."

Who did it? Was it done by the Cuban government or by Cubans who happen to be bitter against foreigners? Canada in recent months sent supplies to Cuba despite protests from people in this country. Lately, the Canadian government has lined up with the United States against Castro. The act of sabotage could have been a reprisal against the Canadian government by members of the Castro regime in Havana.

ALTHOUGH THE STORY broke Sunday evening, no comment was forthcoming from Ottawa as to what the Canadian government intends to do about the sabotage. The item should be of interest also to the United States government, which had been trying to "quarantine" Cuba and to persuade other countries to join in what amounts to an economic blockade of the island.

OFFICIALLY A distinction has been made between the shipment of military weapons or equipment and food and non-military supplies. But if the Cubans are sabotaging foreign ships in the harbors of Cuba, many of the seamen of the world will not wish to risk voyages to that country. The seamen's unions in this country have refused to handle cargoes of ships which engage in Cuban trade, but the seamen of other countries have continued to man European ships bound for Cuba. By so doing, they have left the merchant ships of the Soviet Union and the Communist-bloc countries free to carry missiles and military equipment, while the ships of other countries transport food and non-military items to help meet the serious shortages which the Castro regime is experiencing.

Mounting Of The Guard

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—With the command "Sound the Adjutant's Call" and the short, snappy response of the band, Ft. Gordon has revived an old, colorful Army tradition—the formal mounting of the guard.

From the First Training Regiment, the 36 members of the guard mount wore winter greens with trousers bloused over spit-shined boots. They were armed with rifles and wore helmeted liners.

This formal guard mount will be a weekly event in a continuing salute to customs of the U. S. Army. Such traditional ceremonies have almost become lost in the shuffle of space age progress, a Ft. Gordon spokesman said.

Ski Tours On Any Budget

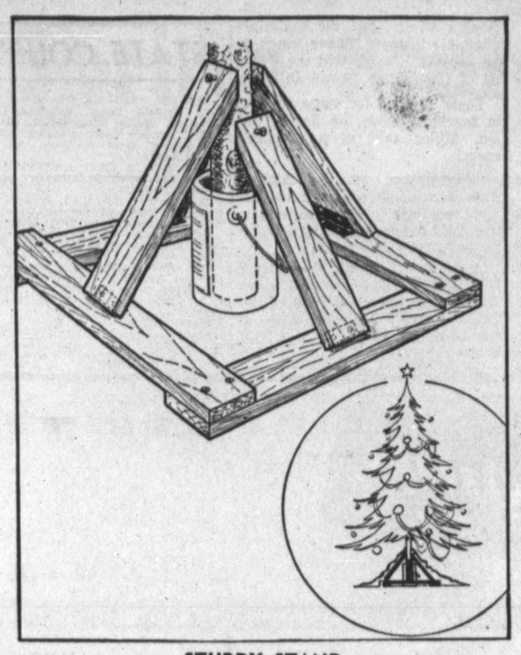

Over the Christmas vacation this year, families will be able to enjoy ski tours tailored to their own needs and budgets, thanks to a new service introduced by a major car rental concern.

A do-it-yourself ski tour package—a rented car, complete with six-pair ski rack, tire chains, snow and highway information and advance ski lodge reservations now is available throughout many winter resort areas.

Traveling by rented car frees families from schedule restrictions that accompany group tours, getting them to the slopes early for the best skiing. According to the Hertz experts, the ability to transport bulky skis, poles and boots in a personal auto also cuts down the number of times equipment must be dismantled, checked and reassembled.

Let It Set

If your lipstick seems to disappear only a short while after it was applied, allow it to set for 10 minutes or more before blotting.

STURDY STAND
Easy to make to hold tree

Will Support 12 Foot Tree

In less than an hour and for under a dollar, using only basic tools, you can construct a sturdy, nontilt, nontip Christmas tree stand.

Unlike most ready bought stands, this one will easily support a 12-foot tree. It automatically adjusts for any size trunk.

The principle of the stand is that the weight of the tree actually supports itself.

For the base you will need four pieces of ¾-inch by 3-inch pan lumber. For diagonal braces, two pieces, ¾-inch by three inches by 16 inches; two piece, ¾-inch by three inches by 14 inches. Bevel cut one end. Other materials needed are two pair 2-inch by 2-inch loose pin hinges, 16 No. 10 by ¾-inch flat headwood screws, eight No. 10 by 1¼-inch flat head wood screws, and four No. 10 by 2-inch flat head wood screws.

Overlap base pieces to form a 24-inch square. Drill two pilot holes at each corner and fasten with No. 10 by 1¼-inch screws. On straight end of each diagonal piece, fasten one hinge, using No. 10 by ¾-inch screws.

Measure in one-half inch from inside of base at center of each base piece. Place 16-inch braces on upper sections of base, center hinges and fasten. Drill ⅛-inch hole into bevel of each brace and insert No. 10 by 2-inch screw.

An empty gallon paint can will do for the bucket. Place in center of base, insert tree and tighten the screws.

Coffee Kit

A portable coffee kit is a welcome gift for the traveling folks on your list. Any electric outlet may be used to plug in the water heater for hot drinks, soup or boiling eggs. The zippered cases hold cups, spoons and plastic jars with locking covers.

Few Tips Can Save Plants

The millions of house plants that will be sent and received this Christmas will live longer, healthier lives if you observe a few simple care tips.

Make sure the foliage and flowering plants you send — or receive — are professionally grown and kept in red clay flower pots. If your holiday plant has arrived in a thin-walled, nonporous container, it's best to transfer it to a clay pot. Clay dissipates excess water and also leaches out harmful salts in the soil, providing the constant moisture condition necessary for healthy roots.

Horticultural experts say that overwatering is a leading reason why holiday gift plants prematurely fade away. One simple rule of green thumb gardening indoors is to water all your plants at the same time each day until water runs out of the drainage hole in the bottom of the clay pot.

Overheating is another hazard. Place them away from radiators or other heat outlets.

Learn To Play A Cheery Note

One of the best of Christmas gifts is a musical instrument. Different from a toy, a musical instrument stands a good chance of leading a child to a lifetime activity that has more than Christmastime benefits.

There is a variety to choose from — an instrument for every personality, musical need and Christmas budget.

Here are a few "instrumental" ideas from the American Music Conference:

"Preschool Children" (3 - 6 years) — Easy-to-play musical instruments are ideal for small fry and excellent ways to introduce children to the fun of music making. Tots do best with rhythm sticks, melody bells, toy xylophones, drums and triangles. Five- and six-year-olds are ready for harmonicas, plastic flutes, ocarinas and even ukuleles. Prices range from $1 to $10.

"Grade School" children (6-12 years) — Most music educators recommend introducing children to regular band or orchestra instruments at an early age. As soon as a child has learned to read, he is usually ready to tackle simple tunes on almost any musical instrument. Woodwinds and brasses of school quality can be purchased for less than $100. Stringed instruments — violins, cellos, basses — start at $50.

"Junior High" to high school students (13-20 years) — It is never too late for a girl or boy to start playing a musical instrument. In addition to band and orchestra instruments, "on-the-go" teen-agers find the so-called solo instruments — guitar, accordion, banjo, ukulele — crowd-pleasing additions to parties, picnics and other informal get-togethers.

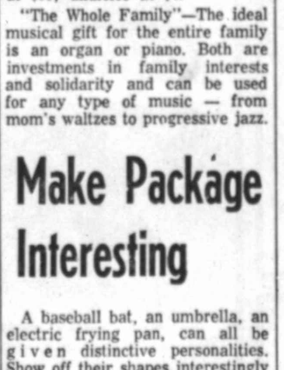

Guitars start at $20; a 12-base accordion at $75 (a standard 120-base accordion at $300); banjos at $50; ukuleles at $4.

"The Whole Family"—The ideal musical gift for the entire family is an organ or piano. Both are investments in family interests and solidarity and can be used for any type of music — from mom's waltzes to progressive jazz.

Make Package Interesting

A baseball bat, an umbrella, an electric frying pan, can all be given distinctive personalities. Show off their shapes interestingly by wrapping them around with wrapping especially chosen for the recipient. Cut a round face out of heavy white paper and draw humorous features. Use matching cellophane tape to secure face to top of gift. If it's for a male, tape on a bow tie made of satin ribbon. For a female, tape ribbon bows on each side for earrings.

Three small gifts can be packaged together to look like a tiered party cake. All that's needed are three deep boxes of ascending size. Cover each box and lid with sculptured foil gift paper. The gifts should be wrapped in tissue in a matching color and placed in separate boxes with the smallest on top. Tape boxes together neatly. Top with a bow.

JEFFERSON AND THE ORDEAL OF LIBERTY. By Dumas Malone. Little, Brown. $7.50.

By The Associated Press

Malone's magnificent, multi-volume biography, "Jefferson and His Time," rolls majestically along like the Potomac; or, if Mr. Jefferson would prefer, like the James.

The present volume extends from Washington's second administration, during which the President unhappily lost the brilliant services of his secretary of state through Jefferson's resignation, through the election of 1800 when Jefferson himself became President after a bitter ordeal.

The tremendous amount of information on every pertinent incident is what one would expect from a historian of the stature of Malone. But beyond this is the extraordinary judgment which he brings to every controversial point. Informing us without boring us, there is always the judicious comment, the caution against precipitate conclusions that makes him as fair to Jefferson's enemies as to the man himself. The climactic struggle with the forces typified by Alexander Hamilton is handled not as melodrama, but as credible history.

While the Sage of Monticello unquestionably is Malone's hero, he is a hero whom his biographer is wise enough to criticize when criticism is in order.

There is not likely to be another such comprehensive life of Jefferson in our time. And the present series must continue to come from the presses. It has been 11 years since the previous volume, "Jefferson and the Rights of Man," appeared. On the present scale, two more volumes are indicated. This must not be left an unfinished masterpiece. For that reason, more power to the Guggenheim Foundation and the Thomas Jefferson Memorial Foundation for giving Malone the time he now apparently has to continue his great work without the interruptions that have slowed him in the past.

Legislature Urged To Act To Help Increase Oil Flow

AUSTIN (AP)— The legislature should enact laws to increase Texas' share of oil production, its committee on saving taxes said Wednesday.

The committee also suggested changes to save $12 million in education and recommended a study of a merit salary plan for school teachers further.

"The statewide oil allowable subject to the market demand statute should be changed in order for Texas to more nearly obtain its pro-rata part of the national production," the committee said.

Stanley Woods of Houston, a spokesman for independent producers, told the legislators Monday that Texas should junk the allowable system and base oil production on a percentage of national oil output.

Under the producing day allowable system, the Railroad Commission has held wells to 97 producing days this year, the lowest in proration's 30-year history.

A subcommittee said it found the commission's accounting and reporting division should use the state comptroller's data processing equipment to reduce "considerable paperwork and duplication." It said the commission should review a requirement that monthly financial statements be filed by railroads.

Recommendations on education included:

Consolidation of small high schools and area grouping of county school superintendents and ex-officio county superintendents, for a saving of $6 million a year.

Re-allocation of revenue from the state available school fund to the foundation school fund to save more than $500,000.

Distribution of available school fund money be based on a slightly changed formula, for a saving of more than $500,000.

Pitfalls Observed In Communism Study By Schools

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The study of communism is spreading rapidly in the public schools but the instruction is often distorted and even dangerous.

That warning to the nation's top school officials was voiced by Richard I. Miller, who conducted a nationwide survey for the National Education Association.

Teachers are not prepared properly to teach their students about foreign affairs, and the materials available to them "leave much to be desired," Miller told the Council of Chief State School Officers.

There is need for more realism in teaching about the Soviet Union, Miller said in a prepared speech.

"Comparison of the highest American ideals with selected Soviet realities is distorted education, and dangerous besides," Miller said.

Students not properly equipped to question those comparisons, Miller said, may find themselves, "as did many U.S. prisoners of war in Korea, unable to cope with brainwashing."
