HALF MILLION GUARANTY FOR FACTORIES IS A POSSIBILITY

Chamber of Commerce Committee Approves the Plan In Principle

INDUSTRIAL AID

Report Will be Made To Board of Directors Prior to Jan. 1

What is considered by various spokesmen of the Wichita Falls chamber of commerce as a new departure in industrial development in the southwest, came yesterday with the approval in principle of the recently proposed guaranty fund for factories.

The committee having the matter in charge and consisting of W. M. McGregor, chairman; N. H. Britain, M. Bland and E. E. DeMontel, with J. T. Harrell, chamber of commerce president sitting with these members, conferred Wednesday on the exact wording of the agreement which will govern the guaranty fund proposition.

It was stated in chamber of commerce circles that the fund as now planned will total between $200,000 and $500,000, and a report on the proposal by the committee will be made to the board of directors prior to January 1, it was stated.

The plan is in line with the recent rport to the chamber of commerce by its general manager, Hubert Harrison, on possibility of industrial development in Wichita Falls and how to proceed in the matter.

It became known Wednesday that the guaranty fund committee had agreed on practically every detail of the agreement which has been drawn up and which would govern the financial assistance given incoming factories. The chamber of commerce officials, however, are not yet ready to publish full details of the plan.

For Industries

W. M. McGREGOR.

Who is chairman of the chamber of commerce committee considering the plan of a guaranty fund to aid incoming industries to Wichita Falls. The committee yesterday approved the plan in principle.

100 By 150 Feet

Plans call for a front space of 100 feet and 150 feet on the two streets.

Architects already have submitted plans for the building, but the drawings have not been accepted. Construction will start no sooner than Jan. 1.

"Because the building will be of fireproof construction, it will be better to wait until the coldest weather of the winter has passed, to make the concrete work easier," Mr. Parrish said.

May Change Plans

"Present plans call for an eight-story building, although changes in the plans may be made at any time," Mr. Parrish said. "At first I considered a building four or five stories in height. I wish to say that the size of the building has not been decided on definitely.

"Wichita Falls has had a remarkable growth during the last few years," Mr. Parrish said. "It has shared with the entire south in an era of development heretofore unprecedented. Wichita Falls is sharing with West Texas in one of the greatest building booms ever known. The boom is on a sound basis and is not at all temporary. Cities are building on a safe and sane basis and the advancement is not spectacular; but it is steady. West Texas especially is going ahead," he said with emphasis.

Mr. Parrish has been a resident of Wichita Falls since 1889, with the

The hole is being reamed down. Casing will be set to test tomorrow.

Veil of Mystery Hangs Thick Around Man's Violent Death

A clue—slim, but a clue nevertheless, was supplied last night in the August Hansen murder mystery when Sam Rice, a long-time friend of the veteran mechanic whose body was found beneath the railway bridge across the Wichita river Wednesday morning, gave city police the description of a man believed to have been the last to see Hansen alive.

Hansen's lifeless form was found at 9:30 yesterday morning lying half in the shallow water of the river and half on the south bank. A large abrasion on the forehead just over the right eye, with a small puncture of the skull under the wound, was responsible for his death. He had been dead at least since midnight, it was estimated.

Man Is Suspected.

What at first appeared to be a blank curtain of mystery thrown around the case was lifted somewhat by Rice's story, told to Chief of Police George Hodgins. Rice said, the chief reported, that he, Hansen and another friend had spent Tuesday night playing dominoes in an Ohio avenue parlor. They broke up about 11 o'clock, Ric esaid, and left the hall.

"When we left," he declared, "a man was standing on the sidewalk in front of the parlor and he either spoke to Hansen or Hansen spoke to him. I didn't pay much attention to it, but I noticed he followed Hansen when August started to walk north on Ohio toward the river. I went in another direction, but some how or other I was uneasy all last night I'll bet anything he's the one."

Rice furnished a meager description of the man and a search is now under way. He is said to have frequented the domino parlor, but a close watch kept there last night brought no results as he did not show up.

"We think he was murdered but thats about all we know," Spence declared. "We can't find a thing that would give the slightest indication as to who his assailants were. It seems to be as big a puzzle as the Hood case."

This latter reference was to the death about three months ago of W. A. Hood, a refinery worker whose body was found beneath the same bridge and almost at the same spot where Hansen's remains were discovered. Hood, too, had been struck in the head in such manner as to indicate foul play; and although officers worked diligently they were never able to find a trace of his slayers.

An investigation into Hansen's affairs yesterday revealed, briefly, that he has been employed as a mechanic in the shops of Contractors Machine and Supply company, having held that position for the last 18 months. His wife and family reside in Cleburne. Hansen had quarters in the machine shop, officials of the company said, and had been accustomed to sleep there.

NO SATURDAY WEDDINGS

Guests Cope Home Too Drunk For Sunday Synod Decides

MUENSTER, Wesphalia, Germany, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Protestant ministers are forbidden to perform marriages on Saturdays or on days preceding church holidays by a decree of the West Phalian provincial synod made known today.

The reason given for the order is that wedding guests, especially in villages where the festivities usually take place in saloons, drink so heavily and so long that Sunday morning often is well advanced before they begin to stagger home boisterously. This, it is explained, shocks the sensibilities of church goers, who, while on their way to services, encounter the celebrants.

Tribesmen Near Damascus Walls; French Are Uneasy

PARIS, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Armed bands of Drunes are harrassing French columns and prowling within the shadow of the walls of Damascus, cutting the railroads and doing considerable other damage. Their actions corroborated Premier Painleve's recent declaration that serious events are occurring in Syria.

The French foreign office has no official confirmation of the arrival at Beirut of two American destroyers, which steamed hurriedly from Alexandria, but the opinion is expressed by government officials that the United States is strictly within national law in protecting Syria.

BULL MARKET NEAR 10 YRS. STOCK RECORD

Greatest Boom Since Wilson's Peace Note "Leaked" Occurs

2,801,600 SHARES

Melon Cutting Is Only Explanation of Unprecedented Buy

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Wall Street today experienced its greatest boom stock market in nearly ten years. Total sales were calculated by the Associated Press at 2,801,600 shares, or 99,000 above the previous year's high, established on October 16, and the largest since the famous "three million share" market which followed the "leak" in President's Wilson peace note in December, 1916.

The average of 20 leading railroad and 20 leading industrial stocks attained the highest levels in history with more than 40 individual issues smashing their previous peak prices for the year. The advance, however, was by no means uniform, as several substantial losses were scattered throughout the list.

U. S. Steel common, which ordinarily fluctuates within one or two point range was the market leader, jumping over five points to 134 1-4, the highest price since 1917 when the peak price of 136 5-8 was established. Total transactions in this one issue exceeded 160,000 shares.

The rally like so many which have preceded it within the last few weeks was not associated with any outstanding development in the day's news. Wall Street, which is seldom without "explanations" for a price movement in either direction, was flooded with rumors that an era of "melon cutting" was in store. These apparently had their genesis in the investigation by the international revenue bureau of the undistributed surpluses of large corporations, many persons holding to the belief that a way would be found to tax these huge accumulations of capital, and that they would be distributed among stockholders in consequence.

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 4.—(AP)—Mrs. William J. Clark, whose husband was killed by blows from a hammer as he entered his garage in Hillside, N. J., yesterday, confessed today to chief of Detectives Galation that she and Joseph Cowen, a friend of the family, had saved an elopement fund of $2,000. STATE MUST PROSECUTE ITS OWN BOOZE CASES HEREAFTER, SAYS RULING FROM FEDERAL OFFICIAL

Federal Courts Not to Accept Jurisdiction in The Future

Recent orders from prohibition enforcement officials in Washington that federal courts are to take no jurisdiction in liquor cases worked up by city or state officers alone will have a far reaching effect in Wichita Falls, officials here said yesterday. It will ultimately mean that the criminal docket of federal court sessions held in Wichita Falls will be more than cut in half.

May Be Thrown Out

Some speculation has been aroused here as to whether or not cases now on the federal docket, placed there by arrests made by city or state officers, would be thrown out and sent to the state courts for trial. It was not believed that this will be done, although in the future the city and state officials must file their charges in the state courts.

The prohibition ruling, Bryant Skeen, enforcement agent for this district says, stipulates that a federal court will accept jurisdiction in no case not filed by a federal enforcement officer as a result of actual work he has done in a raid. If city police or a sheriff's or constable's force makes a raid and capture liquor, charges must be filed in the state courts. If a federal officer accompanies the raiders, however, and takes part in the arrest, the charge may be docketed in federal court.

To Federal Court

It has been customary in the past in this city to file the bulk of prohibition cases in federal court. State juries have shown a decided leniency with alleged liquor law violaters and penalties, when assessed at all, have been very light. Judge Atwell on the federal bench, however, has dealt heavily with all offenders and for that reason the federal docket has always been crowded with prohibition cases.

THE WEATHER

"Jane whispered an' told me how to spell 'arrive' today an' I let her have the rest of my all-day sucker."

LYRICS OF LIFE.
By Douglas Malloch.

I'm coming down to see your town,
I'd like to really see your town,
I hear a lot of things you've got,
You're grown in lots of ways,
I'm coming down. I want to see
How good a town a town can be—
And yet the places I would call
Are not the ones you think, at all.

I want to drop in someone's shop,
Some little tale repeat
About some store, the man next door,
Or someone down the street.
I'd like to see if you would say,
"I don't believe it," right away,
Or only grin and bear me through,
And maybe add a word or two.

I'd like to sit just back a bit
In church some Sunday morn,
Size up the crowd, the poor, the proud
The high, the low born,
And then on Monday go about
And look them up and seek them out
And try to find by careful search
Just how they act when out of church.

I'd like to walk, I'd like to talk
To your policemen, too,
See what they thought, see what they ought,
Or think they ought, to do—
Enforce some laws and let some go
They may not quite approve, you know?

"Joker" In State Vehicle Law Draws Fire From Mrs. Willmans

C DIDN'T GET ENOUGH TIME FOR THOUGHT

Dallas Woman, Candidate For Governor, Hurls a Broadside

DALLAS, Nov. 4.—The present motor vehicle law was passed by the thirty-tighth legislature without proper consideration by members of the house of representatives and contained a "joker," Mrs. Edith Willmans, Dallas candidate for governor, declares in a statement issued here Wednesday in which she describes the "irregular" manner in which the measure was passed.

Mrs. Willmans says in her statement that the bill came out of the room in typewritten form and copies were immediately placed on the desks of house members, instead of going to the printer and taking its place in a numeral order on th calndar. The regular order of procedure would have given members time to carefully consider the bill, she says.

Mrs. Willmans states that under the provisions of the "joker" all the funds derived from the weight of tax on motor vehicles were given to the highway commission to spend when the state's in the would-be better served if the counties were given 75 per cent of this fund for county road maintenance.

She says she objected on the floor of the house to the bill being taken up out of order and that the matter was later taken up while she was in the senate chamber, where she was called to look after a Dallas county measure.

CHEST FUND DRIVE AIMS AT $55,000

Figure Is Set Wednesday Morning at Meeting Of Committee

The community chest of Wichita Falls for 1926 totals $55,000 according to the announcement made by Joseph Huckins, III, chairman of the advisory committee of the Municipal Welfare board following the committee meeting Wednesday morning. The funds which will be raised in an intensive drive November 23-25, with final results given Thanksgiving day will be distributed among the following nine organizations:

Salvation Army; Young Women's Christian association; Texas Children's Home and Aid society, Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Red Cross, Municipal Welfare board, and Colored charities. These nine organizations were represented last year in the community chest.

All Submit Budgets.

All the agencies submitted budgets that had been cut as closely as possible in order to carry on the work of the year, and the committee after hours of careful study granted the budgets of each organization as presented.

Chairman Huckins said that the charitable work is being done efficiently by a lower per capita cost than that of any city in the United States. The budget this year is less than $1 per person.

The community chest fund is an increase of $3.00 over that of 1924, while the following comparison of growth of the city of Wichita Falls is shown as follows:

November 1924 to November 1925.

	1924	1925	Pct. of Increase
Scholastics	7,070	8,230	16.4
Telephones	6,623	8,569	29.3
Light meters	6,472	7,729	19.3
Gas meters	7,266	8,552	17.7
U. S. government population estimate	51,500	58,636	13.8
Per capita wealth			$3,289.00

(Based on four times the assessed valuation plus bank deposits.)

The drive for charities will begin November 23 when a group of 100 young business men will be organized into teams for a house to house canvas in the donwtown section.

Russian's Daughter Not As Wild As Some American Girls, So Her Dad Gets Naturalization Papers

"If You've Got Sense Enough to Control Your Child You're Better Than Most Americans," Says Federal Judge

HOUSTON, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Foreign born children are much better than American children, until they get too much American freedom declared Federal Judge J. C. Hutcheson today during examination of a foreigner who wanted American citizenship.

Max Wiseburg, born in Russia, had told the court that he was married and had one 15-year-old daughter.

"Are you raising your daughter to be as no-account as some of these American girls?" asked the court. He got an emphatic "no" from the applicant.

"Well," said the judge, "the more liberty you give American children, the wilder they get. These American children over here are just running wild. I'm ashamed to say that I cannot point to American children as examples for any of the foreign children. Are you raising your daughter to run her parents like these American children?" The answer again was negative.

"I'll admit you," said Judge Hutcheson. "You don't know as much about the government as you might, but if you have sense enough to control your child, you have more sense than most Americans. Mr. Clerk, swear this man in as an American citizen."

SHOW'S GOING TO BE A WOW, FOLAN CLAIMS

Director of Revue Optimistic Over Its Outlook

"The show's going over and it will be a wow! You can depend on that."

Such was Dan Folan's enlightening explanation Wednesday of what progress was being made on the Elks revue to be staged November 14, 16 and 17 for the benefit of the Optimists boys home. He made his weekly report at the Optimists club luncheon and declared that rehearsals were progressing in good shape. To prove it he presented two numbers by Mrs. Holckiss, one of the soprano soloists of the revue, who gave some excellent renditions of popular numbers. The accompaniments were played by Mrs. W. B. Franklin, pianist for the Majestic theatre orchestra.

Nearly Revived.

The noon-day program, accordingly, was plenty successful notwithstanding a determined effort by Jimmy Allred and Bert King to sandbag Judge B. D. Sartin into singing a "So-Long Mule" atrocity which he will present on the program. He got out of it only by resorting to physical opposition. Incidentally, a number of Optimists were drafted to appear in the supporting chorus for Judge Sartin.

Tickets on Sale.

Ticket sales are now underway although the reserved seats cannot be obtained until November 10. Tickets are now being handled by Optimist club members, however, and these may be exchanged for reserved seats on or after this 10th. No block of seats are being held out for any special organization and the public will be given an opportunity to get any seat in the house on a first-come first-served basis. The boxes have practically been sold out but the lower floor and balcony are being held open.

The club yesterday passed resolutions of smypathy on the death of Mrs. Featherstone of Aspermont, mother of Solan and Charles Featherstone, both members of the club.

TO EXTEND TICKERS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Plans of the New York stock exchange to extend its ticker facilities to the Pacific coast and to Florida were motivating factors in its recent decison to rase some $3,000,000 by he sale of 25 new seats, it developed today when a fight over the proposal was carried to an open debate.

CHARMING SAID OF VANITY FAIR REVUE MONDAY

Business Women's Club Has Truly Remarkable Presentation in Store

What's in a name? A good deal, if the name happens to be Business and Professional Women's club, it would seem. The hearty way those young women dig in to put their annual show over, and the unqualified success of the past four years argues well for "Vanity Fair Revue," their fifth annual effort.

What is it, you ask? Well, a peep at some of the scenery and the dancing numbers and the costumes that will be used, seems like a bit of New York stagecraft moved to Texas by mistake.

Marguerite Fisher, is to be praised for the manner of bringing the cast together, and under the tireless energy of Torry T. McKinney, director, the song and dance numbers really are working out wonderfully.

A Rehearsal

A scene in practic last night particularly catches the fancy, woven as it was around the music of Old Fashioned Garden. The scene is undoubtedly inspired by a gold cloth drop decorated in garden flowers. Beautiful flowers wave and weave about softly, truly lifelike, for indeed they are eight pretty girls, clad in soft green crepes for stems and leaves and crispy taffetas in gorgeous colorings of lily, rose, tulip, cornflower, periwinkle, sweet William, Moss rose, and the modest little pansy, half concealing these charming girls—what's a garden, though without a girl—a kiss, without a bug.

"Old Fashioned Girls"

Four delightful old fashioned girls, with a beautiful dancing number, the ever popular Bob Stiles, "Skinney" Williams and his ukelele supply the modern touch. Raybon Porter carries the solo part of this scene, an excellent number for his voice. The old fashioned misses are Doris Bradley, Orda Lee Jenkins, Dorothy McCloud and Josephine Berryman.

A take off on grand opera will please the skeptic and the rest of us. Raybon Porter as Rigoletto, Mrs. Hermoine Vaughn as Mimi from La Boheme; Mrs. J. S. Pitman, Bob Stiles as Count Hoffman, all in operatic costumes, should prove very diverting.

And It's Funny

The whole show is screamingly funny in places. The young women promise money's worth and the proceeds from the show go toward completion of the Business and Professional Women's new club house, where a lonely, tired little business girl without funds for extended vacation may take a few days or a week away from her work to rest her mind and soul in the country, incidentally where all the good business girls may have a good time together, in their own club.

HE BEGAN AS A LABORER.

Milton E. Ailes is dead. He was 58 when he passed on. He was president of the Riggs National bank, in city of Washington, one of the great financial institutions of America. He was born in Ohio. Not more than three decades ago he journeyed to Washington from the Buckeye state, "a young man looking for a job." He became a day laborer in the treasury department. He carried cord wood around to the fire places, which used to heat the great building, and he studied while he cleaned up the ashes.

His rise was rapid. He attracted the attention and then won the friendship of a great secretary of the treasury. In time he became an assistant to the secretary and won the friendship of presidents of the United States as well as the great financiers of America. He deserted his government post to go into the banking business, and thus it was that in a few brief years he became the president and the strong guiding head of one of the first banks of America.

It doesn't hurt a youngster to chop cord wood or to carry the ashes from the fire places or the stoves or the big heaters, that is, it doesn't hurt him if he is a glutton for books and information which will equip him for a real battle of life when he is called away from the wood pile and the ash pile.

Milton E. Ailes began as a laborer. He died the head of a financial institution that looms large America over. He wasn't an accident. He wasn't a creature of luck. He worked like a beaver, he studied as the giants of old studied in their boyhood by the light of the tallow dip or the pine torch and he made the journey from obsurity to opulence.

This is a human interest story for the boys and girls of America. It is just as important that a girl should develop her brain and train her hands as it is important that a boy should obtain some of his education in the school of hard knocks, hard work and hard application.

This is what won for the dead banker, who was a day laborer when a very young man, chopped cord wood and carried ashes while he was fighting for an education and for years before he died was a prominent figure in all the conclaves and conferences held by the bankers of America.

ANOTHER WAR COMING.

There is another war coming. Dr. Porkory is a Berlin professor of philolgy at the University college in the city of Dublin. He has advanced a theory that the Irish are descendants of Eskimos. He has discovered that in isolated parts of Ireland and Scotland, are to be found types with mongol features, oblique eyes, straight black hair and thick lips.

Anthropologically, he says, these types could only be connected with the Eskimos. In his famous lecture at the Dublin university, Dr. Porkory expressed the belief that the first inhabitants of Ireland arrived there about 4,000 years before Christ, "before which time the country was covered with ice."

Dr. Arthur Brisbane who isn't a professor of philolgy, but is a doctor of journalism, insists that the original Irish were of the first Arayan tribe and came out of the heart of Asia. Dr. Porkory must be looking for a row, and the Lord help him if he lands in the city of New York and a big policeman recognizes him. There are 14,000 policemen in the city of New York, and the vast majority are sons of Celts who came from Ireland or Scotland.

There are educators in class rooms, who know all the dead languages and some of the live languages, who are persistent seekers for trouble. Those Irish who have been branded as Eskimos will certainly make life interesting for the German professor.

NEBRASKANS KNOW THE WAY.

Nebraska has a powerful organization known as the Nebraska Poultry and Butter and Egg association. In order to advertise, the members of the association shipped a $530,000 breakfast to the people of New York in a special train of 40 cars. These cars contained butter fresh from the churn. Eggs fresh from the henery and chickens fresh from the barnyard, sufficient to satisfy the hunger of more than one million persons for one meal.

In addition to the butter and egg men executives of two big railways accompanied the train. It is said to have been the first time that a solid train of dairy products has been shipped to an eastern market.

Organization counts. Co-operative action counts. Orange growers of California were taught this. Tobacco growers of five states were taught the same lesson. Cotton growers are being drilled into line.

Organized marketing points the road to success. Now the Nebraskans are going to give it the acid test. They are going to ship their products to New York and other great cities and they look to their salesmen to do the rest.

Uncommon Sense

THE ROAD IN THE DESERT.

The city man was tired and disgusted.

He had traveled three days on a railroad train and two days in a four-horse wagon. Now he was on horseback.

The guide who rode ahead of him pointed to a mountain which looked ten or twelve miles distant, but was really more than a hundred.

"That's the place," he said. "We go this way now."

He pointed to a dusty winding trail, which led down toward a hot, sandy plain. Nothing was to be seen on either side of it but cactus and mesquite bushes and white patches where the sand was encrusted with acrid bitter alkali.

"We keep on this road for three days," said the guide.

The city man scowled: "Why do we have to take this terrible road. We've had trouble enough already with bad roads?"

"Because this is the only road that will take us where we are going," said the guide, "Of course if we wasn't goin' nowhere any road would be just as good."

The city man smiled feebly, and spurred on his horse. And at the end of the journey, when he was encamped beside a sparkling stream in a green mountain valley, with wild flowers blooming around him, and a cool breeze blowing from a mountain top not far away, he felt that the long dusty road was worth taking.

Most roads that "are going anywhere" are tedious somewhere along the way.

Some of them are tedious up to the last few miles.

But better hard roads to desirable destinations than beautiful roads that end in nothing.

I have lately talked to a young man just out of college who is beginning his business life on a rather tiresome road, and is worried about it.

He does not seem to be getting ahead very fast. He could do better work than he is being given to do—more interesting work. One day is much like another. No progress seems to be in sight.

He is really just going over his bad stretch of road, and even if he has to travel it for three or four years it will do him no harm, for it will teach him patince, which is valuable to the journey's end.

It is true, to paraphrase the old hymn that some seem to be carried to the skies on flowery beds of ease while others fights to win the prize or wade through bloody seas, but life is filled with inequalities, and they never seem to make a great deal of difference.

In the end the man who keeps plugging along gets there, if he thinks while he plugs and has a definite idea of where he is going.

Let him be sure of that, and the road may not seem so dull and uninteresting, for he will know that every day will carry him over the desolate stretches steadily, and that by and by he will be rewarded with the sight of a mountain valley.

There are many roads in the desert, but to some of us they are necessary, because the desert lies between us and the mountains.

And if we are really determined to gain the mountains, we must harden ourselves to trouble for a while, forget the sting of the sand and the bite of the alkali dust, and keep going, cheered by the thought that we are on the only road that will take us there.

ANOTHER SOUTHERN PORT.

Jacksonville is the only port on the east coast of Florida into which ocean going freighters of the larger size can enter with full cargoes. Jacksonville lies approximately 20 miles up the St. Johns river from the Atlantic ocean, and the demands upon its dock and its warf facilities may be inferred from the fact that in the month of September, 265 ships entered the port.

Now prominent engineers are planning to build a port at New Burlin, a point about eight miles below Jacksonville, and 12 miles from the Atlantic ocean. A group of New York financiers are behind the project and are ready to make an investment of $48,000,000. They are not only ready, but they have advanced $3,000,000 to defray the expense of the preliminary work and instructed their engineers to go ahead.

Florida business men know the value of publicity. They know the value of advertising. They know the value of selling Florida to the capitalists of the world. Some day the people of Texas will realize the value of publicity, the value of advertising and the necessity for selling Texas to not only the capitalist of the world, but the home seekers of the world.

California had climate for sale. Californians sold it. Florida had the everglades for sale and winter sunshine to sell with the everglades. They have sold or they are selling their land and their sunshine.

When will Texas come out of their trance? Texas has the products and the possibilities as well as the coast line and the land and the all year round tourist climate.

Some day the people of 47 American states are going to find these things out and pour in without an invitation or the telling selling points of attractive booklets.

MANY NATIONS AT HARVARD.

Statistics given out relating to the Harvard business school, the newest graduate school of the university, show that students come from 43 states, and three foreign possessions of the United States and that 13 countries in Europe and Asia are represented. The federal government is represented by 22 officers of the army and nine of the navy.

In the cosmopolitan group of 685 students enrolled in the school, 175 colleges, America and foreign are represented by their graduates. It is evident that the Harvard business school is not a shriveled localism or directed by shriveled localists. It opens its doors to the students of the world who are ambitious to get the best business training possible, and then go out in the big world and tackle the real things.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

Today's planetary aspects are distinctly favorable, and indicate that any enterprise undertaken, provided it does not savor of risk or speculation, will prove, in the long run, to be successful. The signs denote especially that commercial lines will be the most favored, although every field of useful endeavor promises a flourishing harvest. Social entertainments will also, under such influences, be free from failure or monotony. The vibrations, too, are very stimulating, and will evoke responsiveness of love and affection. Consequently, it is an auspicious occasion for either betrothal or marriage. In both cases, happiness will result. On the whole, it is safe to say that no opportunity that presents itself today for either the promotion of either physical or spiritual welfare should be allowed to slip.

Children born today will enjoy quite normal health, and the only threatening period will be past prior to the period of adolescence. Even then, there will be no need for alarm, if the proper safeguards are taken, and taken quickly. In disposition they promise to be winsome and attractive, and in every sense of th word, lovable. They will be tractable, and amendable to influence and environment. Without applying themselves with assiduity to study, they will learn quickly, and be blessed with common sense minds and practical vision.

If today is your birthday, lack of persistent effort or concentrated attention is the explanation of your apparent mediocrity. As a matter of fact, you are intelligent and intellectual. You have a keen mind and a clear perception, with much originality of thought. You, however, fail to capitalize these valuable assets, and fail to convert into action your brilliant ideas. You are erratic, and have not been able to command the support or co-operation of those around you, nor do you enjoy their confidence.

In your affection, you are changeable and fickle. That which you valued yesterday, you do not admire today. Constancy, and persistency of effort, do not belong to your vocabulary.

You possess charm of manner, and are an interesting and a fluent conversationalist. You are much sought for your brilliancy, but never for your solidity.

POEMS THAT LIVE

BEAUTY

Oh, what a pure and sacred thing
Is Beauty, curtained from the sight
Of the gross world, illumining
One only mansion with her light!
Nnseen by man's disturbing eye—
The flower that blooms beneath the sea,
Too deep for sunbeams, does not lie.
Hid in more chaste obscurity.
A soul, too, more than half divine,
Where, through some shades of earthly feeling
Religion's softened glories shine,
Like light through summer foliage stealing,
Shedding a glow of such mild hue,
So warm, and yet so shadowy, too,
As makes the very darkness there
More beautiful than light elsewhere.

ELECTION CONTESTS HINTED

Kansas City Candidates May Demand a Careful Vote

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Hints of contests because of narrow margins separating candidates in Kansas City's most closely contested election in years, came today from supporters of the two groups of candidates headed by Mayor Albert I. Beach, republican and Ben Jaudon, domcrat and city treasurer.

DRY FORCES IN SESSION

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—(AP)—The "enforcement crisis" convention of the anti-saloon league, its greatest since the 1913 convention which launched the national prohibition drive, opens here tomorrow to take stock of the dry enforcement campaign and devise new strategy for the support of federal dry forces.

SUNSHINE PELLETS

A bear's a beast
That hibernates;
The kind that man
Oft' imitates.

A stitch in time saves embarrassment.

Breathe deeply, eat slowly and you will never feel lowly.

"Just a little croup" is often just a little diphtheria.

When chilling winds begin to blow
We order coal—a ton or so;
Then hug the stove until the spring
Find a pale, anemic thing.

If there is no hell, what has become of the food adulterator?

If we'd wear more loose, porous clothes we'd need fewer tight, porous plasters.

Medicine, long known as the art of healing, is fast becoming the science of prevention.

I'm weak and I'm weary
From hearing the theory
That ague's the cause of all ills;
For the fact of the matter
It's the plate and the platter
That run up the big doctor bills.

According to our observation, the "Charleston" is merely a modification of the St. Vitus.

HOW IT STARTED

"GOSSIP"

Strange are the ways of words. If one follow them far enough, it is possible even to associate a gossip with something godly. For that is how the word started.

"Gossip" was originally the Angelo Saxon "God-sib," a combination of "God" and "Sib," the latter meaning a realtion or kinsman of the Lord. In this sense of "kinsman of the Lord," the word was originally used to designate a god-parent, one who stood sponsor for a child. Its significance, now archaic, included also that of a friend, an intimate, a confident and the change in its form was first to "gossib" and then to "gossip."

It is with its old sense of intimacy and familiarity that a connection can be drawn with the present day meaning of the word "gossip," which might be called idle talk of personalities—a prattling of confidence. Yet what a far cry from a godfather to a modern gossip.

Pendulum Swings To Demos Again

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Chairman Oldfield of the democratic national congressional committee, declared today in a statement that the elections yesterday made it clear that the pendulum had begun to swing away from the republicans and indicated the election of a democratic congress in 1926 and a democratic president in 1928.

DEMO LEAD REMAINS

New Jersey Governor's Chair to be Held Again by Democrat

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 4.—(AP)—With only nine unreported districts, seven of them in Bergen county and two in Burtington, A. Harry Moore, of Jersey City tonight held a lead of 39,495 votes over his republican opponent, State Senator Arthur Whitney, and the democratic party was celebrating the election of its third successive candidate to the gubernatorial chair.

EXPLOSION IN A SCHOOL

Students In Assembly and Escape Injury In Blast

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—(AP)—School routine which demands the presence of all classes in the assembly room of public school number three, at 4:30 a. m., today probably saved several pupils in grade 8-A room from serious injuries.

While the children were in the assembly room an explosion occurred in their class room on the fourth floor which caused the entire ceiling to go crashing down upon the desks below.

SUB ROSA BY MIMI

Don't Hurt His Vanity.

By this time everybody knows that the theory, attired in the faultlessly fitting new suit, and the glossy new shoes and the immaculate new shirt—has seen how he smirts and sort of stands around waiting for loud cries of admiration—knows perfectly well that the term 'peacock' is not necessarily feminine only.

With this knowledge to go on, it ought to be apparent to you girls that if you want to attract these male beings, you'll have to be very, very, careful of old man Vanity.

For if you hurt a man's vanity you'll have done you cause a much greater harm than if you'd simply insulted him.

Vanity takes many different forms. Of couse the question of dress is very important.

If you think his new gray suit is perfectly dreadful it might bewell to keep that information to yourself until such time as he may discard it, when you could perhaps venture a suggestion as to the next one.

One of man's little vanities has to do with the question of singing If a man thinks he can sing at all, he thinks he sings darn well, and woe betide the maiden who exclaims one evening in desperaton: "Oh, Billy for Heaven sake, you're not going to sing? Honestly, you haven't the voice for it."

That spells her doom right there, poor girl. Billy looks up a more sympatnetic phone number.

Then even the best of boys—and men—have a few special parlor tricks—one or two imitations, perhaps some trick dance steps, perhaps anecdotes of their school-days and the great war.

You may think, secretly, that Tom looks perfectly asinine when giving his special performance, and that his stories are much too old to stay up late nights, but it would be rather unwise for you to give vend to any such utterance as: "Tom, do stop that foolishness. You're only being unconsciously funny."

Tom would consider you thenceforth and forevermore a girl of no appreciation.

In the same way when a man thinks he dances well, it would be better for you to let him go on thinking so—to agree with him enthusiastically, even if it is very hard on your new shoes—and then very gradually to suggest improvements, rather than to tell him the awful truth at one full swoop.

It's a good rule to remember: If he thinks he's good at anything, let it ride.

SYNOPSIS

Connemara Moore finds herself, after midnight, aboard a yacht in Long Island Sound. With her are David Lacy, Pooch, Doc and Sweetie, all strangers to her and, except for Doc and Sweetie, strangers to each other. Connemara insists that Lacy take $50,000 in bills which Pooch has mysteriously handed her. The company is surprised when another craft appears and a man on board greets Dave as a friend. It has been a night of wild adventure which Connie suffered rather than announce her engagement to wed.

"One of my college friends—he's in the government service. Let's get that anchor out. She's drifting like a seaweed in this tide."

For a few minutes McTish and Lacy were gruntingly occupied with the business of anchoring. Then, as the Bloody Nuisance settled herself to ride the waves as sweetly as a summer boarder rides the best porch rocking chair, Lacy got out a cigarette and lit it greedily.

"This has been something of a night," he said. "I need stimulant. McTish, you keep on watch and I'll gather myself a drop of coffee and get on some dry clothes. Ladies, how's your various thirsts?"

"I'd love a cup of coffee. I heard about it when I first came on board, but it never appeared," said Connemara. "I'm hungry, too."

"So'm I," confided Sweetie. "I could eat a hot dog made out of my own pet caioodle."

"Oh, do you like dogs?" asked Connemara, interested. "I'm frightfully fond of them—I have the most adorable police dog named——"

Sweetie was presently changed into a dapper youth.

"Named Rex, I'll bet a million," said Lacy.

"Then you lose. His name is Athos."

"What's d'you know about Athos, Sister?" asked Lacy wonderingly. "Did someone suggest the name to you?"

"Don't be silly. Why shouldn't I know about Athos, even if it was ages ago that I read 'The Three Musketeers.'"

"This is interesting. I didn't know that girls in your walk of life had definite literary tastes. I must look into this further. In the meantime, please excuse me."

He disappeared into the little bunk room at the back of the cabin. Sweetie looked understandingly at Connemara.

"It ain't the only thing he don't know, I betcha," she said. "He sounds to me like an awful bunch of ready language. But swell, too, in a way, if you get what I mean. Class, you know. I always like 'em classy. Gawd, I wisht I had some dry clothes. I'm soaking. And I've lost my lipstick, and my gum—" she hastily explored her left stocking, and came up beaming. "Say, what d'you know! Lookit!" She displayed a small shiny vanity case and a package of chewing gum. "They ain't hurt a bit neither."

She took a piece of the gum and passed another to Connemara. "Here," she said, "nobody ever said of me that I wasn't square with other ladies."

"Thanks," said Connemara. "Thanks awfully, but—well—the fact is, I don't chew gum."

"Oh!" said Sweetie, frankly staring. "Why not? Got false teeth?"

"No," said Connemara, improvising wildly, for she could see that Sweetie was all ready to be offended at the refusal of her offering, "but I've got an awfully fussy old maid aunt and she made me promise I wouldn't ever chew gum. You know," she went on, to change the subject, "I imagine that man"—she nodded toward the bunk room—"that man would lend you some clothes and you could dry yours. Mine are dry enough, but they're in rags, thanks to that wretch." She indicated Pooch.

"The dirty dawg," said Sweetie sympathetically. "Say, why don't you grind your heel in his face now he's tied up? I would, believe me, if he'd roughed me. If I had a needle and thread, I'd mend you up like a streak o' lightning. I'm quite a girl with the needle. I used to be head skirt hand at a big Fifth Avenue shop. Honest, I did."

"Well, for Heaven's sake," said Connemara, "why did you ever leave a good job for a wild life like this?"

"I got sick of it. Sewing, sewing, sewing all day long on nicer clo'es 'n I could ever have myself, and the forelady findin' fault—reg'lar poison ivy she was—an' all day long in the house at work! Then, when I'd get out to the movies, at night, I'd see life like it ought to be. You know—somethin' doin' every minute. An' then Doc, he come along—an' here we are."

"Here we are indeed," said Connemara. "And I wonder when we're ever going to get away. Women can certainly do impulsive things, Miss Sweetie. I don't like to call you that, it sounds too—too——"

"Don't mind that. You can call me Gloria-Swanson-Mary-Pickford-Lillian-Gish, if you wanta, but there ain't goin' to be honest-to-Gawd monickers spilled on this party. Say, I do wisht I could mend you up. You look like somethin' the cat brought in in that old coat and that dirty white stuff hanging out below. Hey, mister, in there—you——"

"Coming, Sweetie," said David Lacy, sticking his head out of the bunk room. "Just waiting for the coffee to boil up for the third time."

"You got any sewing things, needle and thread and scissors?" demanded Sweetie. "If you have, clear out o' that hole down there and let us ladies have it. We got to do a little private work, her and me."

David Lacy appeared now, with a tray containing steaming coffee in cups without saucers, an opened can of condensed milk, and some stray lumps of sugar. In his other hand he had a large tin of crackers. He was dressed in fresh dry clothes, and his hair, though still wet, was brushed, and the wetness gave rather the affect of fashionable slickness.

"Class," said Sweetie, whispering to Connemara. "What'd I tell you? He's class. Oh, boy, that coffee smells good! Come to mamma, darling!" She seized a cup, half emptied the condensed milk in it, added four lumps of sugar and seized a handful of crackers. Naturally she at once became incapable of further speech.

The coffee smelled and tasted good to Connemara too. She drank it gratefully, but her mind was on Sweetie's offer of a moment before. Connemara was suffering acutely from the knowledge that she was grotesquely dressed. Lacy had taken coffee to McTish and stayed beside him, talking in a low tone. This was Connemara's opportunity.

"Let's go into that place—where he was, and see if we can't find some dry things for you. And if there's anything to sew with, and you would get me together a little, I'd be eternally grateful."

Sweetie gulped the last of her coffee, crammed the last of her crackers in her mouth. "Awri'," she said, "I'm strong enough to do anything now."

The two girls moved together to the bunk room. A little rummaging brought to light some men's clothes, and with considerable giggling Sweetie was presently changed into a smallish, dapper youth in correct yachting get up of white trousers and blue coat. The clothes were large for her, but the general effect was good. She spread her own things to dry as best she could in the limited space, and then looked about her capably. A small box on the shelf that was evidently the dressing table—for there was a mirror above it and a comb on it—caught her eye, and she opened it and brought out in triumph a huge needle, a spool of white thread, and a pair of scissors.

"No thimble—but it don't matter. Say, take off them things and let's see what we can do."

P. T. A. ENTERPRISE INCREASES

Friday Morning Mrs. Warren of Amarillo Will Speak

BY PEGGY PIEDMONT

"Every day is a school day, and intelligent people can not live without learning, for the world is a real university," someone has said. Anyway, almost every day is a school day in Wichita Falls, and this week-end is no exception. For not only are there about four Parent-Teachers' associations meeting in the next two days but a very efficient woman from Amarillo has been brought here by the Federated Council of Parents and teachers to tell local women who are interested in the schools about a new line of work she is doing.

This woman is Mrs. C. R. Warren, co-operative worker, a sort of go-between the schools and the home. She is employed by the Amarillo P. T. A. and her work to some extent is to look after and assist the under privileged child. To investigate conditions in his home and try to arrange better surroundings for him that he may be a better pupil.

At a mass meeting to be held in the First Baptist church basement Friday morning at 10 o'clock, Mrs. Warren will tell Wichita Falls' mothers all about what she is doing in the Amarillo schools. Mrs. Homer McGregor, president of the Federated Parent-Teachers Council, is anxious that every mother in Wichita Falls who has children in school, will come and hear what Mrs. Warren has to tell them.

Interest in this co-operative work that is being done by Mrs. Warren, was begun last summer when she made a brief visit here, and local women were more interested in it after hearing her address at the district Mother's Council meeting held last spring in Canadian.

After hearing the work explained, the local Parent-Teachers Associations will plan on having similar work done here, providing the women who hear Mrs. Warren seem to favor what she is doing in the marillo schools, Mrs. McGregor said.

Another educational feature which is of national interest, is the Children's National Book Week, which will be observed all over the United States beginning Sunday. At the meetings of the Parent-Teachers associations this week, addresses will be made on the subject, and next week, special books for young people will be on display at the library, also a program will be given for the children there every afternoon beginning about 4:30 o'clock.

These programs will include stories and plays. Miss Tobin will be in charge of one of the plays, while Mrs. H. G. Tolbert and Miss Ida Moore, principal of the Sam Houston school, will give the other one.

And then on Thursday afternoon the library board assisted by Martin's Book Store and the Women's Forum, will bring Charles Finger here to lecture at the First Methodist church.

Mr. Finger is probably the most widely known writer of children's stories of today and his lectures on his own work are said to be especially interesting to grown-ups as well as to the children.

It is thought by those in chase of the Kemp public library, that the local Boy Scouts will also secure Mr. Finger's assistance while here on a program which they are planning for Children's National Book Week.

She showed how it is much easier now to obtain good books for children than it was a generation ago; she pointed out the fact that books are now written from the child's point of view and that children's authors do not expect them to come to the writer's point of view. Mrs. Buchanan's talk was in lince with National Children's Book Week which begins Sunday.

The devotional was led by Miss Gladys Wisdom; Miss Karmen Yeager entertained with a number of piano solos; Misses Arabelle and Thelma Wooten played a piano duet; and Misses Frances and Ruby Wright also played piano duets.

Roll call was answered with "Noted Artists of the Toos Society," and Mrs. Stanley McGregor read a paper on "Couse-His Type of Work." Mrs. Hilburn read one on "Toos Society of Artists."

An enthusiastic discussion was held by the club members on the Toos colony of artists in California, which proved doubly interesting, due to the fact that many of the members visited it this summer.

During the social half hour, the hostess assisted by Mrs. W. P. Lowery, served a refreshment plate to Mesdames R. E. Hilburn, H. E. Bachman, A. W. Burnside, Joe D. Harris, O. R. Haynie, I. W. Karrenbrock, Stanley McGregor, E. E. Scannell, Burke Taylor, W. E. Timblin.

Duci de Kerekjarto As Much of a Wow As His Name On Majestic Bill

The audience warmly appreciated a splendid bill at the Majestic theatre last night. Duci de Kerekjarto made his listeners worship him and Bill House in "Oh, Teddy" brought down the house.

Applause greeted Duci de Kerekjarto, Royal Violinist Virtuoso, when he came on the stage, for those who heard him last year remembered him well. Five selections constiutted his offering and every one of them proclaimed him an artist.

His splendid technique and full rich tone held his audiences spellbound until the last number was played. The "Nightingale" and "The Witches Dance" were two numbers that went over especially well. Two encores and several curtains proves that a vaudeville audience still appreciate good music.

"Oh, Teddy" Registers."

Bill House in "Oh Teddy" has a "wow" of an act. Everything he does is funny and the supporting cast are all exceptionally capable. The skit, which is woven around a henpecked husband who goes shopping in an exclusive lingerie shop on Fifth avenue with his wife and daughter, has clever lines and good comedy play all the way through it. The daughter runs off and marries a salesman and the father has a flirtation with a lingerie model. Billy House is fat but good company. The entire act is unroariously funny and goes over big.

Reeder and Armstrong have a double piano act. They play the piano well and their chatter and songs led a humorous twist to the act.

Wayne Beeman and Alma Grayce in "You'll be Surprised" have a pleasant surprise in store for the audience. They mingle skating, dancing and singing and also get their share of the laughs.

Windsors Wives.

Sheldon and Dailey are the Merry Wives of Windsor. Sheldon gives Daily an earful about her husband. Sheldon had him before Dailey and so she has all the dope. Sheldon hands out most of the wise cracks at the expense of the wife with the new but second husband and most of them get over in good shape.

There will be afternoon and matinee performances today and Friday. The spotlights of Grantland Rice and Aesop's Fables precede the regular bill and "The White Sheep," featuring Glenn Tryon, follows.

Madge Kennedy In Feature Film.

"Bad Company" which opens at the Olympic theatre marks the return to the screen of Madge Kennedy in what promises to be one of the best pictures this little comediene has ever made.

For the past two years Miss Kennedy has confined all her efforts to the legitimate stage and recently completed a sensational appearance in the musical comedy "Poppy" ir which she toured the country ar.er playing one solid year in the show on Broadway. The unusual connection between the show "Poppy" and her present screen vehicle is that she portrays the part in the film of a very notable musical comedy actress such as she really is in real life.

The picture that comes to the Olympic theatre is an adaptation of the magazine story "The Ultimate Good" published in Everybody's magazine from the pen of John C. Brownell. In the story, a celebrated musical comedy actress, would save her brother from the clutches of bad company. There is nothing too big for her to do to save him, even to the committing of burglary. As a burglar she doesn't prove so successful as the men she would rob see through her scheme.

Co-starring with Miss Kennedy in "Bad Company" is Conway Tearle. He too, makes an effort to save the brother and finally succeeds but almost at the cost of his good name.

"Bad Company" is considered in the film circles as one of the big pictures of the year. It is ideally casted with a list of supporting characters headed by Charles Emmett Mack, Lucille Lee Stewart and Bigelow Cooper.

The production was directed by E. H. Griffith, the well known director.

Thrills, Comedy In "White Sheep."

Hal Roach, it is said, has crowded his newest feature comedy production, "The White Sheep," a Pathe picture, not only with laughter but with thrills as well. The biggest of these is a sensational fight that takes place in a raging river as the hero of the picture and one of his enemies battle it out in a farm wagon as it floats down stream.

Other stirring episodes heighten the interest of the picture. The story, which was written and directed by Hal Roach, is a novelty creation introducing melodrama with broad farce comedy and is promised as one of the most unusual features that have come from the stdios of this famous comedy producer.

Glenn Tryon, last seen in "The Battling Orioles," has the part of "The White Sheep," the timid member of a black sheep family who in the emergency of the moment attains courage and proves to be a regular whirlwind. Blanche Mehaffey has the leading role opposite the featured player. "The White Sheep," is an attraction at the Majestic theatre this week.

"Goat Getter" Is a Comedy-Drama.

Billy Sullivan, one of the screen's best-known juveniles, will be seen at the Mission theatre in "The Goat Getter," a new Harry Brown-Rayart comedy-drama, today and tomorrow.

oung Sullivan will be rem with pleasure by Wichita F diences for his excellent work Leather Pusher stories and t Steppers series, in both of w was recently starred by Unive is generally accorded by critic one of the most talented an working boxers that the scre ever known. Added to this fa is the fact that young Sulliva ing is invariably characterize very real sincerity—which al enough to account for his ever ing popularity.

Others prominent in the sup the star are Kathleen Myers movie star, Virginia Vance as oughly up-to-date flapper, an liam Buckley, as the champion ager.

SKIN CLEARED UP

The usefulness of Thedford's Black-Draught has long been known to Mrs. A. B. Leach, of Yale, Okla., who says that she has been using this well known vegetable liver medicine for 28 years.

"I was in very poor health," says Mrs. Leach, telling of her condition at the time she first began to take Thedford's Black-Draught.

"I would eat, but it didn't seem to satisfy or do me any good. I was bloated, felt oppression at the stomach. The fulness in the right side was awful.

"I did not feel like doing a thing. Eating even made me tired. I sat around, feeling so miserable. One day I looked in the glass and my complexion scared me—no color in my face. My ears looked waxy; skin flabby, pale. I was in a bad fix.

"I had been taking medicine, as I was told that it was inactivity of my liver that was causing this trouble. About this time—nothing having done me any good—I began to look for relief.

"I read of Thedford's Black-Draught, and my husband went to the druggist for it. I began its use, and my! how I began to improve. My appetite became more normal. Gradually the bloating disappeared and my skin cleared up. I began to see marked improvement and, from then till now, I have praised Black-Draught as the best liver medicine made.

"I keep Black-Draught in the house and have used it ever since. I regard Black-Draught as my family medicine and expect to keep it for years to come."

Thedford's Black-Draught is made from selected medicinal roots and herbs and contains no dangerous or harmful mineral drugs. It has been in use for 80 years and has been found to relieve constipation, indigestion and biliousness, when due to a torpid liver.

DOROTHY DIX ADVICE

Modern Girl a Worthy Descendant of Her Pioneer Grandmother—Her Unfair Brother Who Keeps Eligible Beaux Away. Supporting Clinging-Vine Husband Now Part Of Woman's "Equal Rights

Miss Dix—I and almost all girls I know are self-supporting. People say that the modern girl is inferior to our grandmothers. You think that our grandmothers would have faced what the modern girl is facing? ROMOLA.

Answer:

We were never any braver and more competent women in the days of Romola than our grandmothers. There was nothing they did not do. Those pioneer women who set out for a new country, and who had to win the wilderness from the wild, were braver than that of our forefathers, who in addition to all the hardships the men had to endure, they had to dare the perils of child birth, and with no help of doctors or nurses, and the certainty that if anything went wrong they must die in agony.

There was nothing our grandmothers could not do. They cooked and sewed and weaved and worked in the fields and fought, when the necessity arose, with wild beasts and savages, and made homes and brought up children, and established civilization in the wild places.

It is because of the splendid heritage that these women left us, because of the grit and courage and initiative and daring that they bred into the race that the women of this generation have accomplished so much.

It would be a shame for the grandmothers of these women to be weaklings, and they are not. That is why we find so many girls standing on their own feet, earning their own living instead of sitting down with idle hands letting some poor old father or overworked brother, support them.

The granddaughters of the women who walked behind the covered wagon half across the continent simply couldn't be weaklings. They were bound to have backbones, and so have the girls who have the strength to resist temptation, to deny themselves luxury, often to stifle the longings of their own hearts in order to do what is right and to lead clean, upright lives, instead of doing what is called the easiest way.

I am not saying life isn't hard for the modern girl. It is. She has problems to bear that are as hard as her grandfother knew on the frontier. She has to walk as warily as her grandmother walked in a blockhouse. Wolves in sheep's clothing prowl around her that are just as dangerous as any that ever lay in wait for her grandmother in the wilderness.

It is the qualities that gave her grandmother the strength to endure and the strength to endure, and the highest compliment that can be paid her is to say that she is worthy to be her grandmother.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—Some time ago my brother brought his chum, a most attractive young man, to the house. The young man seemed to take a great fancy to me; in fact, devoted much time to me that it made my brother jealous, and he was very cross about it. Said he asked the young man to visit him, not me. And since whenever the young man says anything about coming to see me, my brother raises some objection and teases him. Is this right?

SALLY.

Answer;

Your brother is treating you very badly. Moreover, he is acting like a fool. It is a brother's duty to help his sister secure a good husband, not to stand in the way of a happy one.

A young girl can have no more valuable asset than a brother who has enough sense of family obligation to help her play the game. He can take her about so that she may meet the right sort of young men, and he can bring eligible youths to the house, and thus give propinquity its opportunity to get in its work as a matchmaker.

After all, a girl has to pick and choose among the men she knows, and if she is never brought in contact with the right sort, she is forced into taking the kind she can get. So it is very emphatically brother's duty to help sister to a good husband if he can.

Every brother should also consider it his duty to be his sister's chaperon. He knows what the young people are doing for better than mother or father can and so he should keep a careful eye upon her. Likewise he knows the character of the boys, and he can warn her against the ones with whom it is dangerous for her to associate.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I have been married for the last three years to a man who is everything that is sweet and good, but he simply can not make a living. I have worked, trying to help him, doing all of my housework, but can not make ends meet. Since we have been married my husband has not bought me a stitch of clothing; not that he does not want to, but he can not afford it. I am 25 and have no children. What shall I do?

MISERABLE.

Answer:

That depends upon how much you love the man. If, in spite of his being so ineffectal, you are still crazy about him, go to work and learn some way of supporting him, instead of expecting him to support you.

Face the fact that you will have to make the living and study some trade of profession and perfect yourself in it until you have skill enough to command good pay. Thousands of women are doing this. The old proverb says that there is a woman behind the door of every man's success. Believe me, you will nearly always find some failure of a man behind every woman's success. It is the man who couldn't make good himself who forced his wife into making good.

After you once accept the situation and go to work you will find it much less wearing on the nerves to support your husband than it is to try to nag him into working. The thing that gets on a woman's nerves and wears her to a frazzle is trying to put pep into the pepless, and galvanize the inert into being a hustler, and breathe ambition into the shiftless and generally trying to substitute her own backbone for her husband's.

Of course, the clinging vine man is not an appealing type In fact, he is harder for a thrifty, go-getter kind of woman to endure than any other sort of husband, because laziness is one of the vices for which we can have only contempt.

But we must bear in mind that there are men to whom nature gives no aptitude for business, who never see an opportunity even when it knocks them down and who are born so tired they simply can't bring themselves to make any effort. And sometimes these men have as a compensation a tenderness and understanding and a gentleness that makes a woman love them still in spite of all their faults.

Plenty of men bear patiently with lazy, shiftless wives who never make them a decent home. Why shouldn't women stand for husbands who are no providers? We have equal rights nowadays you know and equal wrongs.

RED FURL IS BILLED FOR IKARD DEATH

His Case Set Down For Trial On Next Thursday

Jess "Red" Furl, one of the two survivors of a midnight gun battle in an Archer county mesquite thicket a month ago, went back to Archer City last night in custody of the other survivor of the same battle—back to face trial for his life later on. His case has been set for Thursday, Nov. 12.

Since Sheriff Harrison Ikard of Archer county and two robbers whom he surprised at a hidden cache were killed, Furl has been held in the county jail here. Yesterday, however, an Archer county grand jury returned an indictment charging him with murder; and last night he was taekekn back to Arche City by Deputy Sheriff R. S. "Cowboy" Mumford who was with his chief when Ikard met death and who himself shot down one of the robber-slayers after the sheriff reeled and fell in front of blazing pictols.

Furl disappeared in the darkness after Ikard and the two thieves were killed. He gave himself up in Megargle the next day, however, telling officers that he was the third member of the trio that was at work at the hidden cache of stolen goods when Ikard and Mumford surprised them. He was brought to Wichitn Falls for safe keeping when tension in Archer City grew to fever pitch because of the slaying of the popular officer. On the recommendation of District Attorney Ben Allred, no bond was allowed for Furl.

When Mumford returned he also took with him Raymond Nix, one of three men who escaped from the Archer county jail some six weeks ago and who was subsequently captured along the banks of Holliday creek on the edge of Wichita Falls. He is wanted htre on a liquor charge.

Danger Signals Of Indigestion

The Disease That Strikes Like Lightning

Beware of Indigestion—the disease that kills more people and kills them quicker than any other. This warning, by physicians, is particularly applicable this season of the year when your system needs all of its healthy vigor to withstand colds, flu and other winter ills.

What are the warnings that nature gives you of the approach of indigestion? The medical books tells us:1. Gas, which means that your food is fermenting instead of digesting. 2. A feeling of fullness or oppression in the region of the stomach after eating. This means that the gas has ballooned your stomach and is pressing up against your heart and lungs. 3. A dull lazy feeling, which means that you are not getting nourishment from what you are eating. 4. Restlessness, unrefreshing sleep, which means that the poisons of indigestion are disturbing your brain and nerves. 5. Sometimes pain and fluttering around the heart, though this symptom may come later.

Don't take chances with indigestion—you are too apt to lose. If you have had any of the symptoms mentioned above, get your digestive organs to work at once with Ferraline, Nature's great stomach treatment that has given relief to thousands. Ferraline immediately aids and assists every one of your digestive organs, including your stomach, liver and bowels. Ferraline makes your digestion "perfect and complete." You feel its helpful effect from the very first dose. Get a bottle of Ferraline today at any drug store. Ferraline is so much superior to any other remedy for indigestion that the owners have instructed every druggist to refund the purchase price, One Dollar, if you do not get relief, so it costs you nothing if you are not delighted with results. Delay might be dangerous. Get Ferraline today from your druggist.—Adv.

Ping Bodie, One-Time Room Mate of Babe Ruth, Says Rich Men's Wives and Charities Caused Swat King's Downfall

ONCE THE BAMBINO KNOCKED A PRIVATE DICK CUCKOO AND THEN SAID "NOW GO TELL RUPPERT"

But Ping Says the Diamond Hero Is Coming Back and that He Is the Greatest Player of the Baseball Age

Some years ago someone asked Ping Bodie, picturesque outfielder, how he liked rooming with Ruth.

"Rooming with him," snorted the agile minded Ping. "Why, I room with the big monkey's baggage."

This was literally true. In every city where the team played, the Babe was carried off to outside diversions.—Excerpt from this week's Collier's article entitled "I have been a Babe and a Boob."

A criticised member of the New York American baseball team and world's home-run king, has ridden the tide of prosperity and popularity better than the average man could have ridden it, he has been "cured" of his indiscretions and he is bound to make good. Thus says Ping Bodie, for two years a room mate of the mighty Bambino, last year a member of the Wichita Falls club in the Texas league and this winter a traffic policeman.

HIS BIG HEART IS CAUSE OF TROUBLE.

"Babe is alright. His big trouble is his big heart. Another thing: everybody looks at the rotten side of his life. I cannot praise Ruth too much. In my opinion he is the greatest baseball hero of the century and while his tactics off the playing field may not have helped him, nor baseball, on the field he was an honor to the game," Bodie says.

"Rich men's wives, liquor, a desire for a good time, and a heart that is so big that it is his greatest enemy, caused Ruth's downfall, but his sickness has helped him. I know he will go straight from here on out," Bodie says.

PING ROOMED WITH HIM IN 1920-21.

"When I roomed with Ruth while I played center field for the Yanks in 1920 and 1921, he was at the zenith of his career. Ruth is naturally a 'good fellow.' He was a likeable cuss and there was nothing he would not do for anybody in need. The women would not let Ruth alone. Many a night he broke a resolve to stay in his room and rest for the next day's game because a flock of women pestered him to death.

"I have known Ruth to go into a baseball game with his hips as raw as a beefsteak, caused from sliding on the bases; his legs injured, or his fingers and wrists sprained. He went into the game with a heart to win for the Yanks. He did not go in as an individual player seeking the honors that were his, but as one of the Yanks, trying to win the game. No matter how badly he may have been injured, he went into games without a whimper. He played the game as few play it and he is due much credit.

HIS SACRIFICES WERE MANY, TOO.

"These yaps that tell you how on account Ruth is don't know what he did. They don't realize what sacrifices he made for the game. They are always ready to bring up the rotten side of his life but they do not give him the credit that he deserves.

"Just because Ruth went out and got on a spree is no reason to condemn him. None of us are perfect. Ruth simply was such a good-hearted guy that he could not resist the temptations that were put before him. And they were many," Bodie says.

"In the first place, Ruth did not give a hang about money. Why, when the orphans home in Baltimore burned up, Ruth dug down in his jeans and forked over a big roll of money and in addition, he arranged for a tour of the orphan boys' band over the entire western circuit with the Yanks that brought in enough money to start the orphanage on its way to serving the poor kids. But the critics say nothing of this.

NO CHARITY CAUSE EVER TURNED DOWN.

"I never knew Babe Ruth to refuse financial or moral support to any worthy cause for charity. Every time anybody came to him for help, they got it.

"Ruth is a superman. There never will be another baseball player like him. There never was a finer baseball player, or a player more devoted to the game. Because of Ruth's remarkable ability to hit the ball and hit it hard, he became the most popular and most-talked-of man in America. The popularity ruined him, not because of the influence it had on his life directly, but because of the mob of folks who liked Ruth and who liked to frolic with him.

"This year I look for Ruth to come back and do better than he ever has before. I do not expect he will break the record he set in 1920, when he knocked out 59 home runs in the season. I think Ruth has hung up a record that even he cannot break. I think it is a record that no big league ball player ever will break.

PING SAYS LAZZERI IS A COMING HERO.

"The Yanks have signed up Tony Lazzeri of the Salt Lake club in the Pacific Coast league. Tony last year got 60 home runs in that league, but he will not be able to repeat in the majors. They play a better brand of ball. But he will make good.

"It is a hard thing to say, but I believe the best thing that ever happened to Ruth was his physical breakdown. I think it brought him back to his senses. You watch what I say. He is going to stage a comeback.

"I believe Ruth has settled down. Press reports say he has promised to do right. I know he will keep his promise. He owes it to himself, and to the game.

"When Ruth was at the peak of his career in 1920, he was having what he thought was the best time of his life. He was chasing around all the time. If he wasn't taking in a cabaret, he was playing the horse races or frolicking around at night. He would get one a spree one night that would last until well into the next day. But when he got in his uniform and on the ball field, you never could have told that he had broken training. He could hit the ball as hard when he was on a spree as he could when he was sober.

TOLD THE SLEUTH TO GO TELL RUPPERT.

"The ball club even put detectives on Ruth's trail to keep him straight, but this didn't help much. Ruth was so playful that he led the detectives a merry chase. One time he got one of the detectives who had been trailing him in a corner and punched his nose and said, 'Now go tell Ruppert about this.'

"But in spite of Ruth's weakness for a good time and for liquor, deep down in his heart he was a swell guy. He would give you the shirt off his back. Well, as I said before, he is too big-hearted for his own good," Bodie said.

Bodie played first base for the Wichita Falls Spudders this year and was somewhat of a swat artist himself. He got 37 home runs and maintained a batting average of .341.

GREATEST HERO OF THE AGE; HE SAYS.

"Just a happy-go-lucky guy, out for a good time, free with his dough, a likable chap that everybody fell for and the greatest baseball hero of the age—that is Ruth," Ping concluded.

Ping is somewhat of an idol here. He occupies a corner in a downtown section and although signal lights carry the burden of traffic regulation, Ping stands there like a Dutch windmill, waving his hands at the automobiles and tipping his hat to the oil king's daughters who drive by in limousines and yell at him. Everybody knows Ping.

This is one of many pictures of the great Bambino with whom our own Ping Bodie once roomed. Here Babe Ruth is shown making friends with Miller Huggins again after the manager had fined him $5,000 for a night out. "He's just a big hearted boy," says Ping "but he'll come back and come back strong."

where he sent two money orders to Cleburne. These were issued at the postoffice sub-station in Saul's store. One order was for $70, made payable to his wife, and the other was for $6, payable to one of his children.

That was the last seen of the men. His bed was not used Tuesday night, it was found, and it is supposed he remained in the cit yuntil late in the evening. On his way back to bed, presumably, he crossed the railroad bridge in preference to the pedestrian structure a few feet down the river.

Robbery was probably the motive for his pockets were emptied of cash. The body was taken to the Burris-Dalton funeral parlors and notification sent to his relatives at Cleburne.

MAN CHARGED WITH TAKING P-T CLOTHES

Cut Hole in Show Case At Fair and Got Costly Suit

A search started at the conclusion of the Texas-Oklahoma fair came to a successful conclusion Wednesday with the arrest by Sheriff Fred K. Smith of Lewis Leezer, a young man giving his residence as this city, and against whom charges of theft of some valuable clothing have been lodged. Leezer, in a written confession to Assistant District Attorney George Anderson, admitted his guilt and stated he would plead guilty to the charge.

Cut Hole in Wall.

On the night the T-O fair closed, a hole was cut in the wall of the merchants exhibit hall on the grounds and a valuable suit, a Stetson hat and an expensive overcoat were removed from the show case of the Perkins-Timberlake company. Sheriff Smith and Deputy Sheriff McCormick were called and given a full description of the missing goods.

They kept watch and a few days ago saw a man on the streets here wearing an overcoat tallying exactly with the description given of the stolen one. They learned who he was and where he lived; and kept a further watch.

A little later the sheriff saw the same man wearing the missing hat, and yesterday he appeared with the overcoat. He was accordingly arrested and the complaint filed.

"All through the Plains country, one sees building. Plainview is in the midst of its greatest period of expansion and development," he said. "Much property is changing hands.

"In many instances property values have advanced three to one during the last six months. There is much enthusiasm there and the prospects of getting another railroad have served to increase the spirit of optimism that accompanies the development.

It's Cruel to "Physic" a Child

DR. CALDWELL AT AGE 63

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he did not believe that a sickening "pudge" or "physic" every little while was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which regulates the bowels. A single dose will establish natural, healthy bowel movement for weeks at a time, even if the child was chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement, but, best of all, it is often months before another dose is necessary. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

MRS. WILHELMY SAVED BY FRIEND

Doctor Advised Operation Friend Said Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound First

St. Paul, Minn. — "I was all rundown from overwork and worry, had no appetite, could not sleep at night, and looked like a corpse. I have six children (five boys and one girl) and did not get any strength after my last baby was born. I was getting worse and thinner everyday. The doctor said I had to go to the hospital, but this I could not do on account of my family. So I went to a friend of mine and told her what the doctor had told me and she said, 'Now do as I tell you. Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as I have done. It helped me.' So I started taking the Vegetable Compound and I noticed after the first few bottles that I felt considerably better. After taking 9 or 10 bottles I got over my fainting spells. Everybody who sees me now notices the great improvement in my health. I am gaining in weight and strength and am feeling fine. Eat well and sleep good nights."—Mrs. MARY WILHELMY, 309 Duke Street, St. Paul, Minnesota.

Nat L. Inge, presiding judge, city hall box; R. E. Strange, clerk, city hall box; Boyd Dooley, clerk, city hall box; Mrs. Kathleen Gorsline, clerk, city hall box; Dan White, presiding judge, court house box; F. B. NOTICE OF ELECTION
Ordinance No. 650

An ordinance providing for the holding of an election in the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, for the purpose submitting to the qualified voters of said city who are property taxpayers therein a proposition for the issuance of bonds of said city in the amount of twenty-five thousand ($25,000) dollars for the purpose of acquiring public parks in said city, and levying a tax on all taxable property in said city to pay the principal and interest of said bonds, and declaring an emergency.

Whereas the board of aldermen of the city of Wichita Falls deems it necessary and expedient to borrow money on the credit of the city in the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) and to secure the payment thereof by the issuance of bonds of said city in that amount for the purpose of raising funds to pay the cost of acquiring public parks in and for said city.

Now, therefore, be it ordained by the board of aldermen of the city of Wichita Falls, Texas:

1. That an election be held in said city on the tenth day of November, 1925, at which election the following proposition shall be submitted:

Shall the board of aldermen of the city of Wichita Falls be authorized to issue the bonds of the city of Wichita Falls in the sum of twenty-five thousand ($25,000) dollars to mature serially in from one to thirty years from the date thereof, bearing interest at the rate of four and three-quarters per centum per annum, payable semi-annually, for the purpose of providing funds for acquiring public parks in and for said city and to levy a tax sufficient to pay the interest on said bonds as it accrues and the principal thereof at maturity?

2. The said election shall be held at the city hall and in Wichita county court house in the city of Wichita Falls and shall be conducted by the following named persons:

Nat L. Inge, presiding judge, city hall box.
R. E. Strange, clerk, city hall box.
Boyd Dooley, clerk, city hall box.
Mrs. Kathleen Gorsline, clerk, city hall box.
Dan White, presiding judge, court house box.
F. B. Mashburn, clerk, court house box.
Robert McCulloch, clerk, court house box.
Walter Robbins, clerk, court house box.

Voters living east of Lamar street and northeast of the Wichita river and southeast of the Wichita Valley railway track in said city shall vote at the city hall box; all voters living west of Lamar street in said city shall vote at the court house box.

3. The said election shall be held in accordance with the general election laws and only qualified voters who are property taxpayers in said city shall be allowed to vote.

4. The ballots to be used at said election shall contain the proposition substantially as above set forth, followed by the words "for the issuance of bonds" and "against the issuance of bonds."

5. Notice of said election shall be given by the mayor by publishing a copy of this ordinance with the words "Notice of Election" prefixed thereto ten days next preceding the date of said election in the Wichita Falls Record News, a newspaper published in said city.

6. That because of the insufficient number of public parks now in the city of Wichita Falls due to the rapid growth of said city, and that due to this deficiency the health of the citizens is thereby impaired and creates an urgent necessity demanding and requiring that the provisions of the city charter providing for the reading of the ordinances on three separate days and providing that ordinances shall not go into effect until thirty days after its passage be suspended and the same are suspended and this ordinance is passed as an emergency measure and shall take effect and be enforced from and after its passage.

Passed and approved this the 26th day of October, A. D. 1925.

Proper Education of Children Advocated As World Panacea

MILLER GIVES FINE TALK TO PARENT ASS'N.

"We Can Look Above And See the Peak" He Asserts

"We are going through the swamps today, but we can look above and see the mountain tops; and by teaching children at an early age the moral and spiritual ventures of life, the world will not go to the devil," so said Rev. Leslie Miller, pastor of the Grace Methodist church, in an inspiring lecture to the Parent-Teacher association of Austin school yesterday afternoon when 200 mothers were present.

"We are not admitting that all is right with the world," he said, "but there are certain tendencies that point to the sunrise of good things. There are a multiplicity of organizations brought together for the unselfish service for the spiritual and moral welfare of our people—and our children," and he mentioned the work that is being done by the P. T. A. and mothers' councils over the country.

A New Science

"There is a new departure cominb up in the scientific world—coming from the biological and social science, it is the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of humanity.

"Two thousand years ago the Savior said 'The nation that seeks to live by the sword ,the same shall die by the sword.' The saying was thrown down because it seemed so idealistic at that time. It has taken 2,000 years for men to see the practicality of the statement.

"The greast task is for he community and the nation to impress on tis own people the great fact of blood relationship of the human race. The welfare of the whole is necessary in that the welfare of its parts may be obtained. Only as a human race that can learn to play, work, toil, love, and if necessary, fight, togetlier shall it rise or fall."

Mrs. C. R. Warren of Amarillo was introduced by Mrs. Fred C. Barron. Mrs. Warren is a cooperative agent between the home and the school and works under the Amarillo school board in such a capacity. She holds the unique position of being the only woman in the state who does such a work in the public schools, it was said yesterday at the meetings. She will speak to a mass meeting of women at the First Baptist church Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

Mary Florence Cowden opened the program with a song, "Sweeping and Dusting" with Miss Mattilyn Wilson music instructor, at the piano. Rooms wining prizes for having the greatest number of mothers present included: First floor, Miss Mary Denny; second, Miss Effie Savage; third, Miss Frances Smith.

More Truth Than Poetry

TO AN AI

Oh brute with the foreshortened name,
With club-like feet and flattened muzzle,
Departed is the flare of flame
Reflected in the cross-word puzzle.
You think no doubt you've had your fling,
That men can do henceforth without you,
But cheer up! we are going to sing,
About you.

In this, our rushed and hurry world
Where men are mad for pelf and power,
When on their errands they are whirled,
At plus a hundred miles an hour;
When, though we play or work or woo—
We must be zippy, keen and zestful,
We find that just to think of you
Is restful.

While other creatures pass you by
With darting flash of fur or feather,
Upon a jungle bough you lie
And stay there, sometimes hours together.
Intent upon their daily bread,
They run and race and dash and scurry,
But you stretch out upon your bed
And do not worry.

You do no brave heroic deeds,
You have no business rules to guide you,
And yet somehow your creature needs
Are all supplied you.
How wise are you, disdaining vim
Despising pepful ways and breezy,
To blink all day upon your limb
And take things easy!

ONCE UPON A TIME — THE THREE LITTLE ELVES—IV.

by W. J. ENRIGHT.

THE STORY UP TO NOW

A CRUEL WOMAN SENT HER LITTLE STEP-DAUGHTER OUT ON A BITTER WINTER DAY TO FIND SOME STRAWBERRIES. THE LITTLE GIRL CAME TO THE HOUSE OF THE THREE LITTLE ELVES. SHE WILLINGLY DIVIDED HER CRUST OF BREAD WITH THEM. THEN THEY ASKED HER TO SWEEP AWAY THE SNOW FROM THEIR DOOR. SHE GLADLY DID SO AND UNDER THE SNOW FOUND STRAWBERRIES GROWING. THE THREE ELVES WISHED HER THREE GIFTS—THAT SHE SHOULD GROW MORE BEAUTIFUL, THAT GOLD SHOULD DROP FROM HER LIPS WHEN SHE SPOKE, AND THAT A KING SHOULD MARRY HER.

WHEN THE LITTLE GIRL SAW THE STRAWBERRIES SHE GOT HER BASKET AND QUICKLY FILLED IT.

SHE THANKED THE LITTLE MEN, SHOOK THEM EACH BY THE HAND AND HASTENED HOMEWARD TO GIVE HER STEP-MOTHER THE FRUIT SHE HAD LONGED FOR. © McClure Newspaper Syndicate

NO SOONER HAD SHE ENTERED THE HOUSE AND BIDDEN THE FAMILY GOOD EVENING THAN A GOLDEN GUINEA FELL FROM HER LIPS. SHE TOLD THEM ALL THAT HAD HAPPENED AND AT EACH WORD A GOLDEN GUINEA CAME TUMBING DOWN.

OF COURSE, AFTER THAT, THE STEP-SISTER WISHED TO GO IN SEARCH OF STRAWBERRIES, SO HER MOTHER MADE HER A SPLENDID COAT OF FUR AND GAVE HER A BASKET OF BREAD AND BUTTER AND CAKES TO EAT BY THE WAY.

TOMORROW—SHE VISITS THE LITTLE MEN.

Poor old Pop Boone; he's gone!

Wichita Falls sport fandom won't get to read any more Palaver, won't in their war on Fort Worth's Cats be enabled to pick up a paper from the enemy camp anymore, peruse the veteran Cowtown scribe's comment on those Cats and their stiffest opponents, our proud Spudders, and then turn red under the gills and start cussing the venerable stockyards author.

Pop, with his discounts from a Fort Worth angle on the Cats and Spudders in the past afforded quite a bit of interesting copy for Wichita Falls readers. True, most of it aroused the ire of Spud backers, but the writings served their purpose, for the average sport fan feels he has been gypped if not given an almost daily portion of athletic views by some scribe with whom they differ widely. In other words, Pop in balking Wichita Falls fandom drew more readers than he would had he romped serenely on never chirping a crack of the future tending to miff Spudder fans.

With the sale recently of the Record to the Star Telegram, Pop broke away from the sheet he had worked with over a span of six years. He turned down offers from San Antonio, Houston and Dallas, and joined the staff of the Fort Worth Press. Now Pop's buried. He's buried with a newspaper which can never hope to attain anything like state circulation. Few readers outside of Fort Worth will ever see his stuff again.

PING, THE COP

Ping Bodie, that winter time traffic officer, is no copper you can afford to trifle with, so some of the chauffering boys sadly aver. He knows his traffic regulations down to the finest technicalities, and is very quick, if not kind, to explain them when e'er a controversy may arise on some point.

The rotund traffic guiding gentleman called the hand of one driver in no uncertain terms the other day. Ordinarily there wouldn't be anything startling about that, but the general swing of events and the course of conversation taken afforded bystanders several lusty guffaws, but the mirth outbursts were not at the expense of Ping. You can always lay your last bottom dollar to that.

How It Started

Some ritzy bird in a drawing home upholstered machine bursted into a left turn at Seventh and Scott. That is permissible at this intersection, but this particular motor helmsman, after making the one southpaw swing hesitated momentarily as if suddenly remembering something the better half had ordered him to bring home for chow, took a squint at the little red and write sign under the traffic light, and when veered to post again as if to retrace his tracks. He got no further.

* * *

"Heah! What d'yuh think you're riding? A figure eight!"

Our noble Pingus had charged from an adjacent corner.

"That sign there says left turn doesn't it? Grinned the driver sheepishly, pointing to the traffic light. "And that's what I did."

"Yeah, but it doesn't say U turn! The famous officer cracked right back at him.

Apparently amused by the situation, the driving person chuckled and then asked: "Well, what's the difference between a U turn and a left turn?"

"Three dollars!" snapped Officer Bodie and climbed into the seat beside him.

DUKE GOING EAST

Dick Griffin and Duke Trammel intend to invade eastern ring circles the first of the year, if Trammel, the youngster, listens to Griffin, the veteran, and follows his instructions to the letter it is more than likely the Fort Worth welter will create quite a ripple in his class.

* * *

Trammel, as we've mentioned here often, has the greatest natural punch of any welterweight in the southwest, possibly the entire south. And coming out of a slump recently under Griffin's tutelage he's started back-tracking to the pugilistic heights he once held in this section. His sudden about face doesn't seem merely a spasmodic uprising.

* * *

Duke put Jack Ercanbrack away in short order. Then he stopped Elmer McMullen, always a tough one for any fighter, in three rounds. Monday he romped over to Baird, fought Walter Varner who had beaten him before, and won out this time in three rounds.

* * *

Griffin has defeated nearly all the bantams and featherweights of any class, and should continue to get across when the pair make their trek to the big money centers. If Trammel stays in and pitches at the gait he has started, the tour ought to prove very profitable for both.

* * *

CHAMPIONSHIP CALIBER

It is quite possible Griffin may lead the youngster to a championship. Not inside of the next few months, but sooner or later. Mickey Walker is no longer a legitimate welter. Neither is Dave Shade, the outstanding title contender. Trammel has speeded up greatly, and is learning to use his left. Little by little, Griffin may be able to pound ring generalship into him.

* * *

Griffin expects to stick around Wichita Falls until January. With this object in view he has trained scrupulously for his match with Avery tonight, hoping to stow the New Yorker away quickly as one step toward building himself a Wichita Falls following sufficient to make it worth while staying here and taking on other bouts.

* * *

Avery apparently has the same ideas, that of becoming a Wichita Falls drawing card. Tabby Levine and Frankie Fink, both Hebrew battlers, were great favorites for a period. Lew believes that if he can get over against Griffin he will come in for his share of ring patronage, too.

Indians Depart for Stephenville Today

John Tarleton Opponent Friday—Eleven Battles McMurray Wednesday

Tribe Crippled on Eve of First of Series of Three Games—Stephenson Out With Sickness

Wichita Falls Junior college's Indians are scheduled to hit the trail today for Stephenville where Friday they clash with John Tarleton in conference encounter. The Tarleton outfit at present stacks up as the potential conference champions. So it appears Mosley's Tribe is in for a bit of tough sledding in this, the first of a series of three games billed within the next nine days.

Weakened by the absence of Doyls Stephenson, dependable halfback, who dropped out yesterday because of illness, but strengthened by the return of Dummy Deems, quarter who reported for practice Wednesday, although injured, in fact, knocked cold in Tuesday's workout, the club goes into this game rated as the under dog.

Mosley intends to send his men through a short practice session this morning on the college grid before departing for Stephenville.

Returning from the Tarleton contest, the tribe hardly will have time to rest up before a trek is made to Abilene for a non-conference affair Wednesday with McMurray college. Then, Weatherford college invades Spudder park Saturday for a conference tilt.

Wednesday's workout consisted of signal drill, punting, passing and other forms of light practice.

Mosley had not intended to line up such a formidable schedule but after signing with McMurray was forced to bill another conference game when the Abilene school quit the organization. The trible must play four conference games before being eligible to compete in basket ball and baseball as well as track.

CHAMP'S PRESS AGENT CALLS TURN ON DEMPSEY-WILLS GO, OPINING JACK WILL SLIP OUT

Fighter's Attorney and Syndicate Leader Promptly Deny Assertion While Tex Sits Back and Watches

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—(AP)—The Dempsey-Wills agreement for a championship battle in Indiana next year, engineered by Floyd Fitzsimmons and a South Bend syndicate, but regarded with skepticism in fistic circles ever since it was drawn up, jumped back into the limelight today.

In Los Angeles, Rob Roy Benton, Dempsey's press agent announced he was "quitting the Dempsey camp rather than be a party to what he declared was an impending invalidation of the Fitzsimmons contract, but there were hasty denials to this from Ray Cannon, Milwaukee attorney for Dempsey as well as Andrew C. Weiburg, head of the South Bend syndicate.

Up to Fitz.

Cannon was quoted as saying "the Dempsey-Wills bout under the direction of Floyd Fitzsimmons will take place if Fitzsimmons lives up to the letter of his contract with Dempsey," while Weisburg scoffed at the idea that the proposed bout will fall through, revealing at the same time that Dempsey "is guaranteed a cool million for swapping punches" with his negro challenger.

Benton further asserted that the present contract would be invalidated in order to give Jack Kearns a chance to manage at least two more Dempsey fights before his contract with the title holder expires next Semptember, adding his belief that Cannon was now representing both Dempsey and Kearns. Benton offered no substantiating details for these statements.

Champ Would Lose Coin.

This also met with denial from Cannon, however, while Weisburg pointed out the champion would lose a substantial forfeit if he finds any one else before meeting Wills under the syndicate auspices.

Meanwhile Tex Rickard professed to see signs of a reconciliation between Dempsey and Kearns which would enable the New York promoter to stage a big battle in the Metropolitan district.

Disclosure that Paddy Mullins, manager for Wills, already had received $50,000 from the Indiana syndicate and is to receive $50,000 more some time before the bout, came as a surprise here. Benton's statement to this effect was confirmed in South Bend by Weisburg, although Mullins had said here he received only $25,000 of his advance guarantee.

BURK FAVORED IN GAME WITH SEYMOUR CLUB

The Burkburnett Bulldogs have improved so much of late with the return of Johny McDonald to their lineup, that they are favored to beat the Seymour club here Friday afternoon. McDonald is one of the best backfield men Coach Herb Ludgate has on his string.

It was the ground gaining of this youngster which abetted the Bulldogs in sending Iowa Park out of the class B race Tuesday afternoon by such a lop-sided score.

With McDonald back in the half position the Bulldogs have one of the best backfields in the district. Buckner, Warren, McDonald and Wolfe compose a secondary defense that can be ranked with the best of them.

Ludgate also has a line that is more than worthy of mention. The forward wall has both weight and driving power.

Fair Ones Fall In Flocks For Great Iceman

URBANA, Ill., Nov. 4.—"Red" Grange, receiving as many as 200 mash notes and letters a day congratulating him on his gridiron achievements, never fails to answer a friend, no matter how busy he may be.

The story was told today that Grange spent nearly a half a day making a personal canvass among friends to dig up a pair of tickets for a negro whose supreme wish was that he could see "Red" perform in the Michigan-Illinois game. At the time Grange got the appeal, all the 68,000 seats had been sold.

The ticket officials could not help him. That did not stop Grange. He started his canvass and wasn't thrown for a loss. He got the tickets.

Howard Payne Outplays Trinity But Loses, 6-0

Allen Grabs Yellow Jacket Pass for 75 Yard Dash

BROWNWOOD, Nov. 4.—Although the Howard Payne Yellow Jackets outplayed the Trinity Tigers here this afternoon, the Tigers won, 6 to 0 in one of the hardest fought football games ever played in Brownwood.

From the first until the beginning of the fourth quarter the Jackets outplayed the Tigers but with the opening of the fourth the Tigers started toward their goal with the ball and took it to the 18-yard line where Whitaker, Tiger half, failed to kick from placement.

Score in Second.

The score came on the first play in the second quarter when Cook, holding a kick for McAlister, fumbled the ball. McAlister attempted to pass, but Allen, Trinity tackle caught the ball, blocked by Elms and Eichelberger, Trinity ends. Allen saw-sawed 75 yards down the field for a touchdown. Elms, Trinity end, ran interference perfectly.

Howard Payne made 14 first downs to Trinity's three. The Tiger team was outweighed by a few pounds.

Pettit, freshman quarter, played an excellent game for the Tigers as did Manning, center, Bogge, guard, Whitaker, half, and Schley, Tiger fullback.

For the Jackets E. B. Grady, half, Boyd, substitute full, and Cook, end, starred.

The lineup:

Trinity: Elms and Eichelberger ends; Allen and Yantis, tackles; Manning (captain), center; Pettit, quarter; Whitaker and Fergusson, halves; Schley, fullback.

Howard Payne: Nunnally and Cook, ends: Jobes and M. Rodgers, tackles; M Hodges and Burns, guards; Caldwell, quarter; E. B. Grady, and McAlister halves; Bissett (captain) fullback.

MUNN MEETS M'GILL HERE

The Passing Hour

REMEMBER

Out yonder stormed the soul of Coy
Whose drive could never fail—
And there's the turf that Brickley tore
The day his hoof beat Yale.

The chalk-marks that a Hogan crossed—
That knew a Hardwick's spike—
Are out there glinting in the sun,
Or very much their like.

DeWitts, Pierkarskis, Shelvins—go
Away from fields of fame
And all the younger years can know
Is the old, eternal GAME!

Manassa, Colorado, where Jack Dempsey was born, will name its high school after him. Uncle Sam should be equally commemorative and christen a ship yard for the illustrious war builder.

Education moves as mysteriously as Providence it wonders to perform. "The Jack Dempsey high school."

Yet the good right and equally effective left of the heavyweight champion have probably induced more concentrated reading among the male young than the combined efforts of Fulton, Bell and Edison.

The Babe's Loss.

BABE RUTH'S own assertion that his combined losses, gambling, business failures and downright sucker debts, amount to $250,000, forms an interesting summary not only of the delightful spendthrift habits of the entertaining vagabond we are pleased to term baseball's bad boy, but of the terrific earning capacity indicated that supports the assertion he is paid at the rate of about $75,000 per year.

Ruth probably did not earn much in excess of $10,000 a year until four seasons back, when he whacked out his astonishing home run record (beaten this year on the coast) and at his spending gait, $10,000 must have been so much chicken feed. If in four years he has sloughed off a quarter of a million, his annual check has been in the neighborhood of $50,000, since the remainder could easily be charged to his profits from other sidelines. $50,000, of course, is not $75,000, but it was considered by these United States enough for a president and two-thirds of an advertised stipend is a fair estimate of what any ball player draws.

Interesting, of course, are Mr. Ruth's philosophic conclusions that he is through with playing the sucker game and intends hereafter to bank his money.

Interesting, if true, and not too late.

Pittsburgh winners of hot checks on the series are not the only disappointed people. Think of the disappointment of the gents who expected to win the phoney money.

"A second best navy," Admiral Wiley told the Kiwanis club in Dallas, "is like a second best poker hand—you know what happens to that." Yeah, a big guy with a tough mug and a lotta chips puts it over the small straights or high threes.

Maybe the admiral meant the second best poker player.

Will It Pass Around?

EDOUARD HOREMANS, the Belgian, meets Young Jake Shaefer on November 30 for the 18.2 billiard championship held by the latter. Those who have long watched the star of the great Willie Hoppe rule the green baize wonder whether the title is in for another tenure or whether it will be passed around now that Schaefer has twice succeeded in winning it.

Hoppe, of course, is himself an ever present threat, although he has been quoted as preferring to devote his time to exhibition play rather than to challenge matches for the 18.2 crown. But aside from Hoppe, is there another balk line wizard good enough to defeat Young Jake?

Horemans himself believes that he is For a year ago he voiced the opinion that another 12 months would round out his play enough to put him in a class with the two leaders.

Not inconceivable. Schaefer, after a few years of practice, became good enough to beat Hoppe. Why no Horemans?

Young Stribling will be of age after Christmas, and you will never be able to convince him that education pays.

It May Be the Overhead.

A PECULIAR feature of professional football lies in the small number of substitutes used. For instance, on Saturday, October 17, the Philadelphia team made but two changes in defeating the New York team, which made five.

On the same date, a glance at the line-up of teams engaged in games reported in the same papers which carried stories of the pro battle, it was difficult to find college line-ups that did not use from 17 to 22 players.

Probably the overhead accounts for the few substitutions.

MONTY'S PUPS WOULD SCRAP BURK SECONDS

Wichita Falls Juniors Drill For Week-End Clash With Olney

The Coyote Pups are working for a game with the Burkburnett second string team, after their clash with the Olney Hillbillies here this week. The Burk game probably will be played on Friday, Nov. 13, according to Coach Montgomery.

Wednesday afternoon the club went through a hard workout which included a heavy scrimmage practice and signal drill. Montgomery is trying hard to form a line that will hold off the offense and at the same time make openings for the backfield.

At present the coach has Giles, Nichols, Davenport, Herndon, Powell, Mix and Anderson working on the line as first string men, but has several likely looking men ready to step into place should any of them fail to come through.

Ray George is the only cripple on the list at the present time, and his return soon is very doubtful.

In O. L. Beach, Montgomery has a backfield man that is making a great fight to break into the backfield. Beach is a good passer, and fast. He should break in the game soon as a regular.

With the hopes of their first win Saturday the Pups are working on during the afternoon with determination and a good show of fight.

NURSE SUES TWO JAGS.

Woman Hurt in Upset on Soapy Floor of Kearns-Dempsey House.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Such a slippery place was the apartment house formerly jointly owned by Jack Dempsey and Jack Kearns, that Anderena F. McFhee, a nurse, yesterday brought suit for $26,700 damages against the heavyweight champion and his former manager. She alleges that the employes of Dempsey and Kearns kept the floors so slippery with soap one day that she lost her footing and received injuries that kept her abed for five months. The champion and Kearns recently entered into an arrangement whereby Kearns became the sole owner of the apartment house.

ELECTRA HITS BALL HARD IN PREPARATION FOR ENCOUNTER WITH AMARILLO'S SANDSTORM

The Electra Tigers went through a brisk workout Tuesday afternoon and scrimmaged Wednesday. A change or two were seen in these drills with Mike Brown back in his old position ata left end of the regulars and Willis Carnahan at the other wing. Carnahan probably will be ready to step into the Amarillo set to Nov. 11. It is very unlikely that he will dislodge Roy Coolidge at the center position, as this youngster has displayed a mighty brand of football at this post. Sanderlin is still on the injured list, and probably will be out of the next contest. Carnahan probably will be used at one of the ends with Ralph Turner at the other, as Mike Brown is still on the ineligible list. Louis Kent showed up well at this position last Friday in the Quanah go, and is very apt to see action in some stage of the game, as Carnahan is weakened somewhat by an injured knee. Carnahan is a good passer and it would not be surprising to see him called back to heave the oval on pass formation.

The Tigers were sent through a lengthy workout Tuesday afternoon which included punting, passing, charging, and signal practice. Coaches Reese and Cook sent the club through a passing session after which Coke took the linemen and put them to charging, while Reese had the backfield men receiving the ball from the center. Reese spent a large part of this time teaching the candidates the art of side-stepping.

Dandy Dick Must Win In Hurry In Order To Fulfill His Fistic Plans

Cowtown Feather Would Stay in Wichita Falls Until First of Year, Then Go East

The outcome of that ten-round encounter tonight with Lew Avery, New York Hebrew featherweight tiffster, means a great deal to Dandy Dick Griffin of Fort Worth who at present is calling Wichita Falls his home. Should Dick, one of the classiest feathers in the country, manage to win decisively over Avery it will make him a strong Wichita Falls drawing card. In that case, Griffin would be enabled to stay in Wichita Falls and earn enough money on the side to carry him over through a two months' training spree he has panned to fit him for another invasion of eastern cauliflowerdom in company with Duke Trammel, Fort Worth welter, the first of the year.

Dick in Shape.

Should Griffin go over strong against Avery all will be to the ok for him, but should he fail it will mean that he must continue jumping from city to city for his matches, thus hampering him in enacting any special form of training routine in preparation for his return to big time company. Boxing is not going over so well in southwest cities at present, so any tour of this sector Griffin may make would not be exceptionally profitable.

Starting three weeks ago, Griffin has been conditioning himself diligently for the battle with Avery. And he will be rewarded tonight, if pre-fight dope means anything. For in their workouts, Griffin stacks up as the class of the two. Avery, however, is a tough and rugged little fellow. He may surprise his opopment, but Dick is expected to win, possibly by the knockout route.

On Scott Street.

The card, promoted by Don Wofford, will be staged under the auspices of the American Legion in the old ku klux hall at 812 1-2 Scott. The curtain raiser is to go on at 8:15 o'clock.

Matchmaker Wofford has arranged what appears to be a very interesting program. Wildcat Monte and Young Murdock, Wichita Falls featherweights, are billed in a special six-round event. These lads bear no love for each other. The mill, advertised as a grudge fight, should prove hard and fast.

Jack Ercanbrack, welterweight, formerly of Houston, but now living in Wichita Falls, will meet Sammy Riley of Altus, old Wichita Falls favorite, in a four-rounder. Ercanback several weeks ago fell before the mighty right hook of Duke Trammel in a main event here.

Battling Lencho, Mexican sparring partner of Vicente Aguilar, tangles with Bozo Kennen in a four-rounder.

WAINSCOTT, DOB SON, TAYLOR, PACK TACKLES, MAY BE OUT OF QUANAH GAME SATURDAY

The Coyotes, still somewhat crippled up following lats week's Vernon encounter, participated in a light workout Wednesday afternoon in preparation for the game at Quanah Saturday.

Signal drill received the greater amount of attention under the direction of Coach McCallum. No new plays will be given the squad, it is understood.

Swede Wainscott, tackle who was injured in the Lion contest, was on the field, but not in uniform. The big tackle had three fingers heavily taped and an injured side appeared to be still very painful. It is not likely he will be able to play this week-end. That's one of McCallum's largest worries. It'll be hard to find a man to take the position. Wilks Dobson, tackle also, is out with a game leg. It is possible he will not be able to perform Saturday. Zeke Taylor, another tackle, is in a bad way, too. Seems the Coyotes are going into the game minus tackles, for Lofton Edmondson is the only remaining athlete on the squad located at this position.

LAREDO CHEERS DEMPSEY.

LAREDO, Texas, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Jack Dempsey, world champion fighter, was accorded an ovation by thousands of persons gathered to greet him here when he arrived from Mexico early today. He was accompanied by Jack Lee, his sparring partner. They have been in Mexico two weeks.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 4.—(AP)—The cotton market was fairly active today and although the trend of prices continued to be upward it was more of a tow-side affair than on either of the preceding two days of the week. After a steady opening, prices eased off to a level 2 to 30 points under yesterday's close mainly on selling due to a belief that the technical position of the market had been weakened by the advances of the preceding days. The liquidation of the New York December position was also a cause of unsettlement. The market rallied in the afternoon and in the last half hour trading became excited and prices bulged sharply to highs 43 to 46 points above the lows. The close was firm, showing net gains for the day of 7 to 13 points.

At the start Liverpool was hardly as good as due but first trades here showed gains of one to five points. After a brief period of steadiness on a rather unfavorable weekly weather report and the market eased off on realizing and buying for a reaction until finally prices were forced down to 18.85 for December, 18.99 for January and 18.81 for March, or 27 to 32 points down from the initial highs. Around noon and in the early afternoon the market rallied some but did not maintain the recovery but towards the last of the afternoon trading became very active and December soared to 19.29, January 19.35 and March to 19.24, or 13 to 22 points above the previous close. The market closed near the best.

Two private crop reports were issued during the day, one estimating the crop at 15,300,000 bales and the ginnings to November 1, 11,060,000 while the other made the crop 14,960,000 and the ginnings 11,090,000 bales.

Exports for the day totaled 30,165 bales.

NEW YORK FUTURES.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—(AP)—A sharp recovery featured the cotton market today. The covering movement which had been in evidence on Monday continued in Liverpool and New Orleans over the local holiday and became more active in the market here at the opening. January sold up to 19.40 in late trading or 64 points net higher and 129 points above the low price late Saturday, January closed at 19.35, the general market closing very steady at net advances of 40 to 58 points.

The opening was firm at an advance of 38 to 50 points in response to active covering and rebuying by recent sellers, who appeared to be influenced by the strong showing of Liverpool over the holiday, an unfavorable weather map and rumors of light ginning returns. This first wave of buying was supplied on an advance to 19.90 for December and 19.55 for March, or 50 to 53 points above Monday's closing quotations. There was evidently some hedge selling here, and realizing by recent buyers for a reaction but offerings were absorbed on reactions of 25 or 30 points fro mthe best and the market steadied again. There appeared to have been some early selling in belief that the market would meet increased selling in late trading but very little pressure of that sort developed.

The highest prices of the day were touched just before the close when December sold at 20.00 and March at 19.63. Last prices were within five or six points of the best.

Three private crop reports gave crop figures ranging from 14,960,000 to 15,300,000 bales, and estimates of the ginnings to November 1 from 10,920,000 to 11,090,000 bales. There was enough difference between these private crop figures to emphasize uncertainty as to the probable figures of next Monday's government report and much of the day's trading was attributed to pre-bureau covering or evening up.

Exports for the day 39,168 bales, making 2,600,870 so far this season. Port receipts 48,632. U. S. port stocks 1,276,903 bales.

Western Union Must Pay $540

AUSTIN, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Holding that John W. Furrh's contract to sell 1,000 bales of cotton to Borrance and company of New York City was not a wagering contract, the Texas supreme court today awarded judgment of $540 to Furrh of Marshall from the Western Union Telegraph company. This amount represents that which the plaintiff claimed he lost when the Western Union failed to deliver a telegram January 17, 1921.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Breaking all records for volume since the famous three million share session which followed the "leak" on the Wilson peace note in December, 1916, today's stock market moved irregularly higher under the leadership of U. S. Steel common, which recorded the rare feat of moving up over five points in one day to 134¼, the highest price since 1917 on total transactions in excess of 160,000 shares. The day's total sales were 2,801,600 shares, or 90,000 shares above the previous high record established on October 16.

Wall Street was inclined to attribute the spectacular advances in high priced industrials stocks to the prospects of stock dividends, resulting from the investigation by the internal revenue bureau of the undistributed surpluses of these corporations. Speculative belief that a way would be found to tax these undistributed assets made to the stock dividend theory. Bullish enthusiasm also was created by the lowering of call money rates, further reports of business expansion, rumors of increased and extra dividends and steadily increasing public participation in the speculative movement, as reflected in the enormous increase in odd lot orders.

Motors set the pace in the early trading but the advance in those issues was checked by profit taking and bear selling, and speculative interest on the long side spread to the steels, equipment, oils, tobaccos, public utilities and specialties. Rails failed to participate in the advance as extensively as the industrials although Atlantic Coast Line, Seaboard Air Line, "Nickel Plate" and Wheeling and Lake Erie common and preferred broke through to new maximum prices for the year.

Dupont scored a spectacular advance of 21 points by touching a new high record at 244¾. American Chile common and the certificates, American Linseed, International Combustion Engineering, Loose Wiles Biscuit second preferred, Sloss Sheffield Steel, United Cigar Stores and Youngstown Sheet and Tube all moved up 3½ to nearly 10 points to new peak prices.

Erratic movements took place in the motor group, although General Motors, Willys-Overland common, Dodge Brothers "A" and Hupp attained new maximum quotations. Hudson opened 7 points higher at 137, advanced to 138, broke to 130 and then rallied to 136. Mack Trucks duplicated its high at 242 and then slipped back to 235¾, off 3⅛. Chrysler broke five points to 245 and White showed a small fractional loss after having sold above par. There were several weak spots. Loose Wiles Biscuit closed 14 points lower at 125 after having touched a new top at 140. Commercial Solvents "A" and "B" Federal Mining and Smelting, New Shipbuilding, Standard Milling, United Drug and U. S. Realty closed about three to six points lower.

Call money renewed at 5 per cent and then dropped to 4½ as interior banks returned funds that had been withdrawn to meet November 1 requirements. Time money and commercial paper rates held steady.

Weakness of French francs, which broke nearly 15 points to a new low record for the year around 4.000 cents featured the foreign exchange market. Demand sterling was slightly firmer around $4.84⅝. Japanese yen showed a further advance at 41⅞ cents in reflection of the reported shipment of gold from that country to the United States. Italian, Belgian and other continental currencies showed narrow and irregular changes.

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 4.—San Antonio prices continued to top on hens and many of the outside markets were making an endeavor to work thir supplies into that market to avoid the easing trends reflecting their over supply. VEGETABLES.

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Grapefruit shipping was resumed yesterday by Texas with the movement of two of a total of 28 cars, the Arizona rollins being incompletely listed was two, and the Florida shipments at 23 cars. The Imperial Valley of California also contributed a car to the day's movement. One of four cars of peppers rolled yesterday was of this state's origin and one of 20 cars of tomatoes. With weather improvement in the next few days increasing quantities of these two commodities are expected to get under way, there being an appreciable acreage to tomatoes in the Winter Garden district. Potato shipments of the nation yesterday were 1,183 cars and apple rollings 99. Total movement of other commodities follow:

Cauliflower 15, celery 61, egg plant one, mixed vegetables 41, cantaloupes two, grapes 347, spinach two, string beans 10, lemons 15, lettuce 34, cabbage 1170, sweet potatoes 50, onions 145, oranges 29, pears 14.

Cabbage at Rochester, N. Y., yesterday continued to advance, the usual terms f. o. b. market on Danish type settling around $20@25 ton against $25@28 ton at Kenosha. This gives encouragement to the outlook for the forthcoming Texas deal. Sales at table grapes at Fresno yesterday were hardly sufficient to make a quotable market. The market was weak. Settling back from the recent boom, potato business at Idaho Falls was weak with the cash track sales of Russets, mostly for California shipment reported around $3.25, but with most shipments rolled unsold. Wenatchee Valley points reported boxed apples, usual terms selling f. o. b. for $1.90 to $2.00 for fancy Delicious and $2.15 for extra fancy winesaps. One cash track sale of "C" grade Arkansas blacks in the Yakima Valley brought $1.25.

LIVESTOCK REVIEW.

FORT WORTH, Nov. 4.—Mid-week cattle trade was bottomed on arrivals of 4,500 grown cattle and 2,000 calves. This number of cattle was 600 greater than arrived a week ago and lacked by but five head of equalling the number of arrivals a year ago.

The calf supply stood a dozen head more than a week ago and 650 more than a year ago.

Consignments ran to she stock and to mixed cars. Few beef cattle were around, those generally of strong weight. The steer trade was steady, two cars selling early at $6.85@7.00.

Butcher cows and other she stock were fully steady, making full recovery from the downturn of the first market day of the week. Small drafts of cows made up to $4.50. Full loads took the scales at $3.60@4.50. Selling was fairly active from th estart. Yearlings surprised the trade by presenting offerings that commanded a string of prices ranging from $7.50 to $10.00. Heifers were of a common sort getting action at $4.50 to $5.00. Canners and cutters were unchanged. Early selling bulls were in the weighty class., clearing at $4.10 an $4.15 in carlots.

Another wave of lower prices overwhelmed the calf market, attaching chiefly to heavy averages. The take-off amounted to around a quarter. Bulk of the light weight calves made a spread of $7.50 to $7.75.

Three cars of hogs faced a dime to 20c higher market. Top was made by truck hogs at $11.55. Carlots made $11.00 to $11.50. Pigs $10.75. Packing sows $9.50 to $10.00.

Sheep trade confined to a few choice lambs selling at $14.00.

IRRIGATION

Fourth of Series

The symptoms of Texas root rot of cotton. Many plants when affected by a disease or alkali will show it by becoming stunted in their growth or the leaves will gradually turn yellow. But in the case of a plant affected with root rot no such evidence of the disease being present is given.

A cotton plant or a plant of any susceptible variety will continue to look normal and healthy right up to the time it begins to die.

The first symptoms visible to the eye of the farmer is a sudden wilting of the leaves much the same as though the plant had been pulled out by the roots.

In a day or so after the wilting takes place the leaves will turn color, seem to shrink in size, and in many cases drop off leaving the plant bare.

If a freshly infected plant which has been dead two or three days is pulled out of the ground the outer surface of the bark will be found to be cracked and full of numerous yellowish colored threads. The bark is easily removed with the fingers and will leave the woody portion of the root fully exposed.

The disease is in every case confined to the roots of the affected plant except that it will occasionally show an inch or so above ground on the stem.

Sometimes in wet weather threads will appear on the surface around a plant which has the fungus on its roots. These threads are growing out from the roots, and soon risappear when dry weather sets in.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Prospective shipments of wheat to Chicago from Duluth tended today to turn the market here downward, and so too did reports of improved conditions for threshing in Canada. Closing prices on wheat were unsettled, 1⅞ to 2⅝c net lower, new style, December $1.49⅝ to $1.49⅞ and May $1.45⅝ to $1.45⅝, with corn at ⅛ to ¼c advance, oats ⅛ to ⅝c off, and provisions unchanged to 10c down.

Strength of corn prices was attributed mostly to wet weather over the corn belt. Oats sympathized with wheat.

Increased offerings depressed the provision market after an early advance.

Market Gossip

R. E. Flowerree and Co., Brokers, basement Staley Bldg., today received the following market comment from Fenner and Beane of New York, New Orleans and Chicago:

COTTON.

After slipping 25 points during the early trading, largely on realizing sales, cotton turned strong again in the afternoon and ended with a net advance of about 15 points.

The market opened strong when New York made a full response to our advance while it was closed Tuesday but soon met with realizing sales and began to slip. Large crop estimates probably induced most of the selling that caused the dip.

Increasing volume of reports of damage in the northwest, expectation of more bad weather and resistance of the market to pressure apparently caused the buying that lifted prices in the afternoon.

Statement of the weekly review of the weather bureau that recent freezes have done serious damage to the crop have made the trade pay more attention to private wires claiming damage.

Ginnings forecast were construed as quite bullish.

Sentiment is more favorable to the buying side and a good trading, if not higher market is likely between now and bureau day.

GRAINS.

Wheat: A prospect of clearing weather in western Canada was the reason for the setback in Liverpool wheat prices and relative easiness in the Winnipeg market.

Canadian receipts at interior points were considerably larger than any day recently. These items have checked the advances in our market, but they do not afford any great amount of wheat actually available.

Until such times as there is a large supply of actual wheat in position for delivery, we do not look for much break.

Corn showed more activity than for a long time with previous sellers inclined to protect themselves fearing that weather conditions do not warrant any heavy movement from the country. Some of the trade leaders display friendliness, but as yet the market lacks outside trade.

We think fundamentals permit the expectation of ultimately higher prices for corn, although do not look for any straight away upward move.

STOCKS.

Urgent demand forced many stocks to new highs during the early trading. Hudson Motors continued its sensational performance, showing an advance of seven points on initial transactions. Other good advances were made by Mack Truck, American Can, Montgomery Ward and U. S. Rubber.

General Motors was taken in large blocks and advanced to a new high. Offerings were of considerable magnitude, causing setbacks and rather confused trading in motors, which however did not have an unsettling effect on the balance of the market.

Rails were vigorously bought, and considerable buying in Bangor Arastook on possible increase of the common dividend rate to $5.

Call money dropped from a renewal rate of 5 per cent to 4½, and renewed the buying wave. U. S. Steel advanced about 4½ points to a new high for the year.

Oils also came in for greater attention in the trading under leadership of Marland, and the buying in Hudson Motors was resumed on the report that a prominent auto manufacturer was buying it for control.

Brief Is Filed In Boundary Dispute

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—(AP)—The government filed in the supreme court today its brief in the boundary dispute between Texas and Oklahoma over the location of the 100th meridian.

It is insisted that the present line located by Jones, Brown and Clark had been established as the correct boundary and had been so recognized by the supreme court in the Green case. The government pointed out that public lands located in the strip under controversy had been disposed of on the assumption that the present line was the correct boundary.

"She probably will have returned to New York from Paris by the time I arrive," he explained, "but I am not going to see her."

Valentino, who recently announced he and Mrs. Valentino were enjoying a "marital vacation," said he planned to spend the Christmas in Italy, returning here early next year.

In case there are no ties on counting the Elephant no other puzzle, of course, will be presented.
